
17 probably, you know, the way it worked. I would have stepped across the hall and said,

18 here's an article. It's come up from the Prepublication Classification Review Board.

19 They said there is no classified in it. It's going to run.

20 And then I would move on to other things in a very busy day.

21 Q And since this statement was being signed by Director Brennan, Director

22 Clapper, Director Panetta, Director Morell, do you know if you flagged this for the 23 awareness of the director or deputy director?

24 A They would have seen -- you know, if I provided them a copy, which is

25 probably the -- which is my normal process, they would have seen, you know, who the

1 authors were.

2 So, again, I don't have -- I have no recollection of us actually discussing the piece

3 other than, you know, heads-up. And then, you know, I went off to figure out how to 4 take care of COVID.

5 Q Then this statement would have been classified as something that would

6 have risen to the level of being written by former senior officials. Is that correct?

7 A Sure.

8 BY MS. [redacted]:

9 Q Okay. Great.

10 I would actually like to step back in time and ask about the process by which it was 11 submitted to the PCRB initially.

12 You're aware that Michael Morell submitted this to the PCRB for approval,

13 correct?

14 A Correct.

15 Q And are you aware that in Mr. Morell's initial request to the PCRB for review

16 that he described this statement as a rush job, and it needs to go out as soon as possible?

17 A No, I don't recall knowing that at the time. I would like to enter exhibit 3.

18 [Makridis Exhibit No. 3

19 was marked for identification.]

20 BY MS. [redacted]:

21 Q Which will be a Michael Morell email to the PCRB dated October 19, 2020.

22 This, once you have a chance to review, does contain the statements that I just alluded

23 to.

24 A Okay.

25 Q Do you know how long it normally takes the PCRB to review a statement

1 submitted for -- that will ultimately be externally published?

2 A It depends on if they find things that they believe are classified, then there is

3 an iterative process with the author. If they see nothing classified, it can be done

4 relatively quickly.

5 Q Do you think that it normally takes them about a day or a few days to get

6 things done?

7 A I would often see pieces the same day they were submitted if they didn't

8 touch on classified.

9 Q Okay.

10 And do you have any idea why Mr. Morell described the statement as a rush job to 11 the PCRB?

12 A I don't know. I mean, you would have to ask him. I don't know why he 13 would have said that.

14 Q Based on your interactions with the PCRB and your office's role in flagging

15 some of their approved pieces for senior staff within the CIA, do you know what would 16 qualify as a rush job?

17 A You know, just because it was characterized that way, I don't know that the 18 PCRB did anything unique. You could certainly ask them.

19 But, you know, why Mr. Morell wrote this, I don't know.

20 Q And as we've discussed, this came to your office on the same day,

21 October 19th. You flagged it for individuals in the senior staff chain, and this was 22 ultimately published on October 19, 2020 in Politico.

23 So the PCRB was able to review and approve this statement to be published within 24 one day. This is -- would you say that this is a fast review process or about right for 25 something that does not have classified information?

1 A It's about right for a short piece that doesn't have classified information in it.
2 Q Okay. Great.
3 And were you aware that the Biden campaign was considering Mr. Morell to serve
4 as either director of national intelligence or to potentially run the CIA in the, you know,
5 upcoming Biden administration, during the same time period in which he was 6 spearheading this effort to publish the statement?
7 A No, I was unaware of any of those kind of discussions.
8 Q Great.
9 And so when the Office of the Chief Operating Officer was made aware of this 10 statement prior to its publication, was that directly -- were you directly made aware of it 11 or did it come to your office generally?
12 A It would come to my staff.
13 Q Come to your staff?
14 A Typically.
15 Q And did your staff bring it directly to you?
16 A That's what they would do, yes.
17 Q That's what they would do.
18 And so this was, again, as we've established, you were made aware of this 19 because it contains senior official signatures and would be externally published.
20 I would like to enter exhibit 4.
21 [Makridis Exhibit No. 4
22 was marked for identification.]
23 BY MS. [redacted] :
24 Q Which is a production from the CIA to the House Judiciary Committee and 25 the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence dated February 7, 2024. And I

1 would like for you at this point in time to look at the pages Bates numbered CIA 230
2 through 231?
3 A I'm sorry. CIA --
4 Q So the Bates stamp at the bottom corner.
5 A Oh, I'm sorry, 230. Okay.
6 Ms. [redacted]. And take your time to review.
7 BY MS. [redacted]:
8 Q Yes.
9 A 230 and 231?
10 Q Correct.
11 A Okay.
12 Q So on the page Bates stamped 230, which should be the first page that you
13 read, at the top of the page there is an email that says, "You may notify former DDCIA
14 Morell. Thank you."
15 And could you please read for me the signature block of that email.
16 A Executive assistant, Office of the Chief Operating Officer.
17 Q Thank you.
18 So as you've told us, it was a standard part of your role to notify senior officials
19 that there was going to be something published that may be relevant to the CIA's
20 operations.
21 In this particular chain, it appears that the Office of the Chief Operating Officer is 22 speaking back to the PCRB, letting them know that they may give final approval to 23 Mr. Morell for publication.
24 Is that an accurate description?
25 A The approval word is -- we didn't approve or disapprove things, myself, the

1 director, the deputy director. It was simply a notification. So once we were -- once I
2 had notified the director or the deputy director, I would tell my executive assistants.
3 They would close the loop with the Prepublication Classification Review Board and tell
4 them that, you know, the notification had occurred.
5 So as long as you understand that there's not an approval step here. This is 6 purely a heads-up.
7 Q So do you notify every -- or request that the PCRB notify every author of a
8 statement that is going to be publicly published that the senior staff has been notified?
9 Mr. Green. I'm sorry. Could you repeat that question?
10 Ms. [redacted]. Absolutely.
11 BY MS. [redacted]:
12 Q So is it a standard procedure for the COO's office to talk to the PCRB once
13 senior staff has been notified so that they may let the original submitter of a document
14 for review know that that process has occurred?
15 A Is it -- I'm sorry. I'm just struggling with the distinction you're trying to get 16 at.
17 Q I guess I just am wondering if it is not your role to approve or disapprove of 18 the publication of a document that the PCRB has approved of, why would you need to 19 notify Mr. Morell that the senior staff has been made aware of this document?
20 A Oh, so, you know, one of my executive assistants wrote this. I think they 21 were just purely telling the Prepublication Classification Review Board that the 22 notification had occurred. They could have easily sort of said notification completed.
23 Why they chose those words and included Mr. Morell's name in there, I don't
24 know.
25 Q Right. And so it would be standard for your executive assistant to 1 communicate in this fashion with the PCRB?

2 A Sure.

3 Q But it's not standard for them to say that you may notify Mr. Morell that this

4 interaction has occurred?

5 A Why they chose that specific language, I don't know.

6 Mr. Green. And I'm sorry. I think there is one link that may be missing here. I

7 don't know that we've established that the PCRB told Mr. Morell that senior agency

8 officials had been notified.

9 Ms. [redacted]. Correct.

10 Mr. Green. I mean, if you want to ask Mr. Makridis that, he can give you his view 11 on it.

12 BY MS. [redacted]:

13 Q Did the PCRB make such notification, to your knowledge?

14 A I don't know. I think it's unlikely that that would be the process they would 15 undertake. I think they would just tell the author the piece is completed.

16 Q Okay.

17 BY MS. [redacted]:

18 Q So is this your office just notifying the PCRB that, like, hey, my work on this is

19 done. I've flagged it for the senior staff. You can tell Mr. Morell that he can go ahead

20 and publish it, separate of your review?

21 A A more precise, you know, interpretation here or language that probably

22 should have been used is, you know, to tell the Prepublication Classification Review Board

23 notification had been completed without the inclusion of any names, right, because this

24 was an issue between the Prepublication Classification Review Board and our 7th floor.

25 So it was not intended to be go tell the author. So I can't speak to why those -- it

1 was written in this way.

2 Q So it was like just one box that needed to be checked before the PCRB would

3 say, okay, this piece has been cleared?

4 A Right.

5 BY MS. [redacted]:

6 Q Did anyone in your office express concerns about the content of the letter?

7 A Certainly not to me.

8 Q Not to you.

9 Did anyone else at the CIA who you interacted with express concerns?

10 A I didn't discuss the letter with anybody. So I don't think there was any 11 opportunity to express concerns.

12 Ms. [redacted]. Did you, yourself, undertake any sort of review of the letter, or was 13 it just simply a function of you would print it out and you would go hand it to the deputy

14 director or the director?

15 Mr. Makridis. Pretty close to that. I would look at it. You know, look at it

16 very quickly to make sure that it was something that I just needed to bring to their

17 attention. Clearly this was. And I did that. But I did not undertake a thorough

18 reading, review of the letter.

19 Again, I just want to emphasize we were a few weeks away from trying to get the 20 workforce vaccinated. My time was spent trying to figure out how to get vaccines

21 overseas. It was the beginning of a new budget cycle. I was just following the process.

22 BY MS. [redacted]:

23 Q Are you aware if the CIA's PCRB made any edits to the statement before it

24 was published?

25 A The way it came up, I assumed it was the way it went in, but I don't know

1 that that would be a question for the PCRB.

2 Q Thank you.

3 Now I would like to look at another page in exhibit 4, Bates stamped 233. I'll give 4 you a second to look through that.

5 Mr. Green. Sorry. Is it 232 to 233, or is it 233? I don't know if it's a second

6 page of the email that begins on 232. The reason I ask is because it doesn't look like

7 there is.

8 Ms. [redacted]. Right. No, it's just the contents of the bottom page of 233 that 9 we'll focus on for right now.

10 Mr. Makridis. But it starts right here at the bottom of --

11 Mr. Green. You should read 232 and 233.

12 Ms. [redacted]. Yes.

13 Mr. Green. And I know there's a lot of redaction here, but just so the record is 14 clear, we don't have any reason to believe that Mr. Makridis was a recipient of this email.

15 Is that correct? Or he's not listed.

16 Ms. [redacted]. He is not listed.

17 Mr. Green. Thank you.

18 Mr. Makridis. Okay.

19 BY MS. [redacted]:

20 Q Great.

21 So I'd like to read into the record at the bottom of the page Bates stamped 233.

22 "Here is a PCRB submission of interest for OPA's situational awareness. PCRB received

23 for review the attached talking points for media engagement on the Hunter Biden laptop

24 story. The manuscript is by former DO officer, Marc Polymeropoulos. PCRB has

25 determined the manuscript contains classified information, the removal of which would

1 enable publication."

2 Do you see that?

3 A I do see that.

4 Q So on October 20, 2020, the day after the statement was published, this

5 email was sent with the subject line: "PCRB Item of Interest, 20 October, two of two."

6 These are talking points for media engagement on the Hunter Biden laptop story

7 that the PCRB flagged for CIA's Office of Public Affairs, as denoted in the statement we

8 just read.

9 There is an email address cc'd on the account denoted as DIR_COO_EAS. To the 10 best of your knowledge, what was that account associated with? Was that associated 11 with the Office of Chief Operating Officer?

12 A Yeah, the EAS is executive assistants. So, yes.

13 Q Great.

14 And so in its review, the PCRB found that some portions of those talking points

15 included classified information based on this email, correct?

16 A That's what it seems to say, yes.

17 Q Based on the contents of the PCRB's email and the fact that the related

18 statements had already been published prior to the approval of these talking points,

19 would you say that Mr. Morell and Mr. Polymeropoulos could have been mistaken in their

20 assertion that we are 100 percent confident it does not contain classified information

21 when referencing the October 19th statement, as they did when submitting to the PCRB?

22 Mr. Green. I'm sorry. A couple of questions, actually. When you say related

23 statements, what -- I read this as attached talking points to a different document than 24 what we had just previously spoke about.

25 Ms. [redacted]. When I say related statement, I mean the October 19th public

1 statement that was submitted by Mr. Morell and Mr. Polymeropoulos to the PCRB for
2 review.
3 Mr. Green. Okay. And I'm sorry. Do you mind -- can we have the question
4 read back, or do you want to repeat the question?
5 Ms. [redacted]. Absolutely.
6 BY MS. [redacted]:
7 Q So the PCRB found that the talking points submitted by Mr. Polymeropoulos
8 related to the October 19th statement did contain classified information. Do you think 9 that Mr. Morell could, therefore, have been mistaken in his assertion to the PCRB, as we 10 saw in the previous exhibit, that they were 100 percent confident it does not contain 11 classified information?
12 A I don't know. I don't recall ever seeing this document. I don't recall ever 13 seeing the actual talking points. So I just don't know what the reference here is on 14 classified information that the PCRB saw. So I don't know. I don't know.
15 Q Do you think, based on the fact that during its cursory review, the PCRB did 16 find aspects of the media talking points, which were not fit for public consumption, that -- 17 A I'm sorry. The media talking points or the article?
18 Q The media talking points, that they found classified information that was not 19 fit for public consumption.
20 Do you think that the CIA could have conducted further review of the original
21 October 19th statement based on the fact that both were, you know, published within a 22 day?
23 A I think this would -- I don't know. The question would probably go back to 24 PCRB to understand what it is that they found classified, what the overlap was with 25 potentially the letter. I just -- I don't know.

1 Q Do you have any concerns that Mr. Morell and Mr. Polymeropoulos had 2 been, you know, shopping the statement around for signatures prior to their submission
3 of the PCRB, in which the PCRB was, you know, ultimately able to determine that there
4 hadn't been classified information in the statement but, you know, it hadn't been 5 reviewed yet, it could have contained classified information that they had not, you know,
6 meant to include, but it could have been in there?
7 Do you think that maybe it would have been more appropriate for them to submit
8 to the PCRB first and then seek signatures?
9 A Yeah. And you know, not having participated in the authorship of the 10 letter or the coordination process they went through, you know, I don't know what steps
11 they took to protect the information that they were putting in a letter. So, you know,
12 that's a question for, you know, Mr. Morell or the other co-authors.
13 Q Okay. Thank you.
14 I'm now looking at page 232 --
15 A Going back.
16 Q -- which is the top email associated with this chain. Could you please read
17 the contents of the email at the top of the page, just the written contents.
18 A "Interesting to see what was submitted and approved by PCRB. Please do 19 not forward."
20 Q And could you please read the signature block?
21 A Branch Chief, Nontraditional Intelligence Threats Branch, 22 Counterintelligence Mission Center.
23 Q Is that particular signature block associated with the CIA?
24 A Most likely. I mean, given, you know, the title, but I don't know who the 25 person is.

1 Q So have you ever seen this email before?
2 A I certainly don't recall seeing it.
3 Q What do you think the branch chief meant when saying that it was 4 interesting that the PCRB had approved the statement and the talking points?
5 A I don't have a view. I don't know what he or she focused on and what they
6 found interesting. So I don't know.
7 Q Do you think that it is possible that the branch chief might have been 8 referencing the nature of the statement just mere weeks before the 2020 Presidential
9 election?
10 A Gosh, I have no idea.
11 Q But do you think it's possible that could have been a concern?
12 A I think a lot of things are possible. The Agency is an apolitical organization.
13 I don't know what he or she -- I don't even know if it was a he or she -- what the 14 reference was here or if they were careless with their words. I don't know.
15 Q Do you think that the branch chief might have been referencing the fact that 16 former senior intelligence officials were using their former titles to spread information
17 that was untrue about the Hunter Biden laptop story based on, you know, suppositions
18 that it was Russian election interference?
19 A I don't know. This is a question best addressed by the branch chief.
20 Q But, again, it could be possible that that was a concern?
21 A Many things are possible. I just have no idea what he or she was thinking.
22 Q Do you personally believe that it was appropriate for the former senior 23 intelligence officials to use their titles to discredit a story that was unfavorable to the 24 Biden campaign weeks before the election?
25 A Look, I honestly wasn't focused on the letter. I just, you know, performed a

1 process in the middle of a very busy week, month, you know, latter part of a year. So I
2 didn't form an opinion, and I just moved on.
3 BY MR. TRAINOR:
4 Q But as you sit here today, Mr. Makridis, what is your opinion?
5 A Look, I spent 38 years at CIA, apolitical. I didn't engage in politics. I've 6 chosen to do the same now that I'm on the outside. And so that's the path I've chosen.
7 I can't speak for the authors and why they chose that particular path.
8 Q Mr. Makridis, it's a very simple question. I don't think it undercuts your 9 view that you've served apolitically.
10 My colleague is asking you, in your judgment, was this appropriate for them to use
11 their titles in this fashion?
12 Mr. Green. What do you mean by appropriate?
13 Mr. Trainor. Well, was it appropriate for former senior intelligence agency
14 officials to leverage their titles to put a piece out prior to an election. Appropriate.
15 Something is inappropriate, not appropriate, ethical, unethical. You can use your 16 judgment on what we're talking about.
17 Mr. Green. Appropriate under the PCRB process, under Agency guidelines,
18 under general --
19 Mr. Trainor. No, no. I'll make it easier. Under his opinion as a former 20 intelligence officer.
21 Mr. Makridis. I would not have done this because I think you stay clear -- I
22 personally believe you stay clear of politics. So but that's my view. I'm not suggesting 23 anything about anybody who wrote -- whoever signed the letter.
24 BY MS. [redacted]:
25 Q Thank you.

1 And do you think that the branch chief might have had any concerns about the 2 rushed nature of this statement, as Mr. Morell described it?
3 A I certainly don't take that away from the one sentence here, but, again, a
4 question for the branch chief.
5 Q Okay.
6 I would like to submit a production from the CIA to the House Judiciary Committee
7 and House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence, which is dated March 29, 2024,
8 which I believe would be the fifth exhibit.
9 [Makridis Exhibit No. 5
10 was marked for identification.]
11 BY MS. [redacted]:
12 Q I'll give you time to review this.
13 And for this, we will look at the page Bates stamped 157. It should be the third
14 page in, I believe.
15 A Okay. 157?
16 Q 157, yes.
17 So the bottom email, which will be the first in this particular chain, reading from 18 the bottom up, could you please read the contents of that bottom email to me?
19 A "This frustrates me. I don't think it is helpful to the Agency in the long run.
20 Sigh."
21 Q And it includes a URL link to the Politico article, which does link to the 22 October 19th statement on the Hunter Biden email story signed by 51 former intelligence 23 officials.
24 Why do you think this individual was frustrated by the publication of the 25 statement?

1 Mr. Green. I'm sorry, and, again, for the record, Mr. Makridis is not a recipient
2 on this. Is that fair?
3 Ms. [redacted]. Based on the redactions that we have been given by the Agency,
4 we cannot confirm if Mr. Makridis was an a recipient.
5 Mr. Green. Okay.
6 Mr. Makridis. I don't recall this email. But why was the person frustrated? I
7 don't know. I guess it's an interesting question to ask the person. Again, I don't recall
8 this email.
9 BY MS. [redacted]:
10 Q Do you have any personal frustrations with the October 19th statement?
11 A You know, I think the Agency's work is best done when it sort of doesn't sort
12 of splash across the press in any way, but that's a general statement, and I think most CI
13 officers would sort of say the same.
14 BY MR. TRAINOR:
15 Q What do you mean, exactly?
16 A We have a very important mission to protect the country and the public, and 17 I think that's, you know, best done without, you know, a bunch of publicity.
18 Q Do you think Mr. Morell knew that as well?
19 A You would have to ask him. I think it's a general statement that I think a lot
20 of people believe, but I don't know.
21 Q Do you have a relationship with Mr. Morell?
22 A Yeah, I know him. I've known him for 20 years or so.
23 Q How would you describe him? Friends? Acquaintances? Business?
24 A Somewhere between friends and acquaintances. We intersect on business.
25 I knew him at the Agency. He was President Bush's briefer before I became President

1 Bush's briefer.

2 Q Have you spoken to him about the October 19th letter?

3 A No.

4 BY MS. [redacted]:

5 Q Did Mr. Morell, seeing that he was the Presidential briefer prior to yourself,

6 did you guys have any interactions on, you know, how to do that job, how to uphold that

7 position?

8 A Sure. That's just like any other job when you take over from someone, you

9 sort of learn the ropes before you do the job.

10 Q So based on the interactions that you had regarding, you know, that position

11 and others that you might have held that interacted with Mr. Morell at the Agency, do

12 you think that he shared a similar sort of moral compass on when to engage on political 13 items and when to not?

14 A You know, that's not a topic that we ever discussed. You know, it was

15 really focused on the business of the organization, whether it was being a briefer or, you

16 know, other roles. So we didn't really discuss things of that nature.

17 Q Okay.

18 Now, the second part of this sentence that you've read, "I don't think that it is 19 helpful to the Agency in the long run," do you have any idea what this individual might

20 have meant by that statement?

21 A I don't know.

22 Q As we discussed earlier, part of your role as the COO was to help implement

23 and manage the multi-year strategy of the CIA. Do you think, based on your own

24 knowledge as the CIA, that this statement was helpful to the Agency in the long run?

25 A You know, the CIA strategy is a big, broad thing about analysis, collection,

1 resources. So that's what I was engaged in. You know, whether or not someone
2 believed that this was helpful or unhelpful, I can't comment.
3 BY MR. TRAINOR:
4 Q Well, sort of based on your prior assertion that you don't think that the 5 Agency's work should be splashed all over the press. You know, on that operating 6 assumption, is it fair to say that you did not think this was helpful? You would share
7 these sentiments?
8 A As I said, you know, people do what they choose. I have not engaged in 9 this kind of activity or, you know, anything that might be politicized or political. So, you
10 know --
11 Q So let me ask it a different way. Is politicizing the CIA's work helpful?
12 A As a broad question, is politicizing CIA's work helpful? Not really.
13 Q Why not?
14 A I think it's a distraction.
15 Q So it's frustrating?
16 A Whoever wrote this, yes. Clearly they were frustrated. Again, I don't -- I
17 don't know. And I don't know what was frustrating them. It could be many things, 18 right?
19 BY MS. [redacted]:
20 Q Right.
21 And where you are now, where you sit now, do you think that this statement was 22 politicized?
23 Mr. Green. Sorry. Which statement are we talking about? The email or are 24 we talking about the --
25 Ms. [redacted]. The October 19th statement?

1 Mr. Makridis. The letter?

2 BY MS. [redacted]:

3 Q Signed by Mr. Morell, Mr. Polymeropoulos and 51 others.

4 A Well, I'm sitting here talking to a committee, so I guess the answer is, yes, it's 5 become political.

6 Q Do you think their initial intent was to be political?

7 A I don't know. Again, I didn't participate. No one asked me about the 8 letter.

9 BY MR. TRAINOR:

10 Q But you've read the letter, correct?

11 A Sure. Well, you know, I had to sort of see it before I showed it to the 12 director, and certainly I read it before coming in today.

13 Q Well, at the time you showed it to the director, did it strike you as a political 14 article?

15 A It struck me as an opinion piece. And beyond that --

16 Q And what did it strike you as reading it again in preparation for this

17 interview?

18 A Same. It was an opinion piece.

19 Q Opinion piece of -- it's a political opinion piece, right? Drafted before an

20 election, right? October surprise. You're familiar with these ideas, these concepts.

21 Mr. Green. Sorry. What was the question?

22 BY MR. TRAINOR:

23 Q The question is, in your experience, given what the opinion piece was

24 conveying, when it was conveyed, what it was conveying, it's fair to say it was a political 25 opinion piece in your judgment?

1 A You know, given this, as you said, the timing and the nature of the piece, it
2 certainly could be construed that way.
3 Q Do you construe it that way?
4 A Look, I didn't focus on it. I truly did not. I just had so many things going
5 on at the time. It was like, okay, here's another opinion piece. It wasn't the first. It
6 wasn't the last that I saw. I just moved on.
7 Q I don't doubt it, Mr. Makridis. I think this might be helpful to explain why
8 we're asking these questions. This is part of Congressional oversight.
9 A Yes, absolutely.
10 Q And one of the things we value with witnesses, say you, for instance, with a 11 deep experience in this world, right -- we're staffers. We don't -- so we rely on 12 witnesses to come forward and to give us information to satisfy our constitutional 13 obligation.
14 So recognizing at the time you didn't -- you're saying these were my feelings at the 15 time. But here you are, right. You have read it again in preparation. Presumably, 16 maybe we shouldn't presume anything, but you're aware that this thing mushroomed.
17 So then the question becomes -- well, of course, I lost my train of thought.
18 The question becomes, in your experience, this is a political document, and it's 19 ultimately unhelpful to the Agency. Fair to say?
20 A Well, that's what the author of this said, that it was unhelpful to the Agency.
21 So clearly someone felt that way.
22 Q But I'm asking you. How do you feel?
23 A You know, I saw so many opinion pieces during my time. It's -- you know,
24 people have various thoughts, and after they leave the Agency, they are free to express
25 them, right. And so --

1 Q Well, let me ask you this. Have you seen anything like the public statement
2 in all of your years of experience?
3 A Like? You mean with that many -- what's the like?
4 BY MS. [redacted]:
5 Q I think, you know, with that many signatories, of that caliber, who had all
6 held prestigious positions within the Intelligence Community, especially in the CIA, people
7 you knew personally.
8 A No, I had not seen anything of that nature.
9 BY MR. TRAINOR:
10 Q So did that strike you at the time that you read it?
11 A Certainly the number of signatories. You know, one of the reasons that I
12 showed it to the director or deputy director was this is being signed by a lot of people 13 who used to sit in your chairs, so you should be aware.
14 Q So that's significant?
15 A So from that perspective, it's significant. Former directors, deputy 16 directors, you know, that rises to the level where I felt that I wanted to make sure the 17 director and the deputy director were aware.
18 BY MS. [redacted]:
19 Q And when you did speak to the director and/or the deputy director in this 20 case, did you also have any communications with any of the signatories of the public
21 statement before, you know, it was either submitted to the PCRB or while it was under 22 PCRB review?
23 Mr. Green. I'm sorry. About the letter?
24 Mr. Makridis. About the letter?
25 BY MS. [redacted]:

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A I don't recall any discussions of that nature.

3 Q Okay. So you didn't have any communications with Mr. Morell or 4 Mr. Polymeropoulos, Ms. Wood?

5 A No. I mean, you know, if Mr. Morell had called me about some other issue,

6 I could have had a conversation with him. But I have no recollection of discussing

7 anything about the letter or the opinion piece or whatever it was.

8 Q And to your knowledge, or, you know, to your memory, did either the 9 director or deputy director show interest in reaching out to them to ask clarifying

10 questions about this piece?

11 A No. We had no discussion other than the notification that this was coming.

12 And then, you know, what they chose to do beyond that, I couldn't say. I don't know.

13 Q Thank you.

14 Now I would like to enter exhibit No. 6.

15 [Makridis Exhibit No. 6

16 was marked for identification.]

17 BY MS. [redacted]:

18 Q Which is an email from James Clapper's document production dated

19 October 18, 2020. And while you're reading through this, we will look at the second

20 email in this chain.

21 A Thank you.

22 Q Please let me know if you need help finding --

23 A The second?

24 Q So we will --

25 A Page two?

1 Q It would be sort of beginning on page 1 into page 2. The subject line is on
2 the bottom of page 1.
3 A So this is a note from Mr. Morell to Mr. Morell. Is that what I'm reading?
4 Q So this --
5 A Is a draft or --
6 Q No. This was sent to James Clapper to other signatories, which was 7 produced to us by James Clapper.
8 A It does say from Michael Morell.
9 Mr. Green. Hold on. Up there.
10 Mr. Makridis. Oh, okay. Okay. I apologize. I apologize.
11 BY MS. [redacted]:
12 Q No problem at all. I understand it's a little difficult to read on paper the 13 structure of the emails.
14 But the email that we will be looking at was sent to a broader listserv seeking 15 signatures. So I believe that is why it looks like it is an email to himself.
16 A Okay.
17 Q On page 2, would you please read into the record the top paragraph of Marc
18 Polymeropoulos' email?
19 A Oh, the second subparagraph. If you want to agree?
20 Q So starting -- oh, sorry. This would have been --
21 A Michael Morell's.
22 Q Mr. Morell, sorry. Yes. Just the paragraph beginning "Marc and I."
23 A "Marc and I drafted the attached because we believe the Russians were 24 involved in some way in the Hunter Biden email issue and because we think Trump will 25 attack Biden on the issue at this week's debate and we want to give the VP a talking point

1 to use in response."

2 Q Were you ever made aware of this email chain or that the intent behind the

3 statement published on October 19th was to give then former Vice President Biden

4 talking points at the Presidential debate prior to the statement's publication?

5 A I certainly don't recall seeing anything like this.

6 Q Did anyone at the CIA have any awareness?

7 A Gosh, that's speculative. It's possible. Big organization. But I don't

8 recall anyone raising this to my attention.

9 Q Thank you.

10 And days later, candidate Biden did, in fact, use the statement as a talking point at 11 the final Presidential debate, correct? Do you have any recollection of that?

12 A Gosh, I don't remember the debate. Maybe. But that's a long time ago.

13 I don't recall the debate.

14 Mr. Trainor. Do you recall if you watched it?

15 Mr. Makridis. I watched at least part of it, but I don't recall the substance of the 16 debate.

17 BY MS. [redacted]:

18 Q During the debate on October 22, 2020, then former Vice President Biden

19 said, quote, look, there are 50 former national intelligence folks who said that what this,

20 he's accusing me of, is a Russian plan. They have said that this has all the characteristics

21 for five former heads of the CIA, both parties say what he's saying is a bunch of garbage.

22 Nobody believes it except him and his good friend Rudy Giuliani.

23 Do you think that then candidate Biden's statement was a -- during the debate,

24 was a mischaracterization of the October 19th statement?

25 A I'm sorry. Can you read that -- I apologize. Can you read that one more

1 time?

2 Q Absolutely.

3 So in this quote from President Biden, pulled directly from the Presidential debate

4 on October 22nd, he says that his opponent at the time, then President Trump, was

5 accusing him of something that was ultimately a Russian plan and that then President

6 Trump was saying a bunch of garbage, and no one believes it except for him and his good

7 friend Rudy Giuliani.

8 Do you believe that this is a mischaracterization of the October 19th statement?

1 [10:59 a.m.]

2 Mr. Green. Yeah, I don't think he's in a position to compare kind of snippets of

3 what you're reading to a document that he doesn't have in front of him, if that's what

4 you're asking him to do.

5 Ms. [redacted]. Well, this was a public debate that was watched by millions of 6 people.

7 Mr. Green. Sure.

8 BY MS. [redacted]

9 Q Millions of people are familiar with then candidate Biden's statement

10 regarding this October 19th statement and the New York Post article that started it all.

11 Would you say that it's accurate that the New York Post article on 12 Hunter Biden's laptop was a Russian plan?

13 A So, I haven't read the New York Post article. It's back here somewhere. It

14 was the first one you gave me, but I didn't read it at the time or since, so I don't know

15 exactly what it says.

16 Why candidate Biden expressed that view, I think -- I mean, I don't know. I don't

17 know what his interpretation was, what other facts or data he had. Yeah, I'm sorry, I

18 can't answer.

19 Q But your generally aware that now, a couple of years later, it's established

20 that the New York Post story was not Russian election interference? It was, in fact, true

21 and the Hunter Biden laptop investigation is -- was a formal investigation that the FBI was 22 leading?

23 Mr. Green. Can you break that down into parts? If there's a question there.

24 Ms. [redacted]. Right.

25 BY MS. [redacted]:

1 Q So the New York Post story was not Russian election interference, correct?

2 A I believe -- again, I have not read the story. So if that's what the -- I mean, I

3 can look at the headline or you can give me time to read the story, but -- smoking gun

4 email reveals how Hunter Biden introduced Ukrainian businessmen to VP Dad.

5 Q Uh-huh.

6 A Right.

7 Q Right.

8 BY MR. TRAINOR:

9 Q So I think generally, as far as you know, the Hunter Biden laptop that has

10 been the subject of all of this, are you aware that that's been authenticated, meaning it

11 was, in fact, Hunter Biden's laptop?

12 A That seems to be the broad view, but I really haven't looked at the details

13 and tried to, you know, unearth the -- you know, I grew up as an analyst, right? And

14 analysts like to sort of dig through data. I haven't had time or inclination to do. So I

15 know what the general consensus seems to be, yes.

16 Q And you have -- have you read stories that speak to this?

17 A No. I honestly have not.

18 BY MS. [redacted]:

19 Q So focusing on the October 19th statement itself, would you agree that

20 suggesting Hunter Biden's emails, without access to any confirming intelligence, as the 21 signatories did not have access to confirming intelligence, but would you agree that

22 suggesting Hunter Biden's emails were a potential Russian intelligence operation would 23 be a fairly sweeping claim to make?

24 A Let me look at the -- do you mind if I look at the --

25 Q The October 19 statement?

1 A -- the October 19 statement.

2 Q It would've been one of the --

3 A Early ones.

4 Q Right.

5 A It's a broad statement with caveats. You know, we don't know, you know,

6 this sort of -- they're basing it on experience. It's different than -- you know, I don't have

7 this kind of Russia experience. It's not issues that I worked during my career at CIA.

8 So, you know, they're basically saying, based on our experience, and I think that's

9 a question for them, is, what in your experience made you think this.

10 Q Well, you were an analyst, as you said.

11 A Right.

12 Q So you have experience in --

13 A But certainly not access to -- or, look, I never worked, you know -- I've

14 worked weapons issues, strategic weapons issues, not Russian political or malign

15 influence or those kind of issues that seem to be in play here. So I don't have that type

16 of background or expertise.

17 BY MR. TRAINOR:

18 Q Well, as to the substance, but generally --

19 A To the --

20 Q -- speaking, given how they couched it and phrased, I think my colleague has 21 a question there. Give me your background as an analyst.

22 BY MS. [redacted]:

23 Q Have you ever seen any other publications that make as broad a claim about

24 election interference in this particular fashion about Hunter Biden's, you know, emails?

25 Is that normal? Is that standard? Would you have ever made such a sweeping public

1 claim without having any evidence?

2 A So the question is, have I ever seen other publications that make sweeping

3 claims about malign influence or -- sorry --

4 Q I apologize.

5 A -- I'm just trying to to get to the nub of the question.

6 Q I understand.

7 So this is a broad claim generally, yes?

8 A Yes. Are we looking at the same paragraph that we --

9 Q Paragraph 4.

10 A It is not these --

11 Mr. Trainor. Yeah, read it into the record, if you would, Mr. Makridis.

12 Mr. Makridis. It is -- one second.

13 It is for all these reasons that we write to say that the arrival on the U.S. political

14 scene of emails purportedly belonging to Vice President Biden's son Hunter, much of it

15 related to his time serving on the board of the Ukrainian gas company Burisma has all the 16 classic earmarks of a Russian information operation.

17 Ms. [redacted]. Do you think that was a fair statement for them to publish without 18 having any intelligence to back that claim up?

19 Mr. Green. I think on the sake of fairness and just for Andy's sake, I'd ask that we 20 read the next paragraph into the record as well.

21 Ms. [redacted]. That's fine.

22 Mr. Trainor. Sure, yeah.

23 Mr. Makridis. We want to emphasize that we do not know if the emails provided

24 to New York Post by President Trump's personal attorney, Rudy Giuliani, are genuine or

25 not in that we do not have evidence of Russian involvement, just that our experience

1 makes us deeply suspicious that the Russian Government played a significant role in this 2 case.
3 Mr. Green. And thank you, sir. If you wouldn't mind asking your question
4 again.
5 BY MS. [redacted]:
6 Q I think the same question still stands. As they've noted, they had no
7 evidence to back up whether or not their claims were true or false. Do you think it was 8 appropriate for them to publish the statement that the Hunter Biden emails were Russian 9 disinformation?
10 A So whether it's appropriate or not, I can't say. I'm not one of the people
11 who signed the letter. They do say that it relies on their experience, and so what that 12 experience is, what specifically they saw in this that made them, you know, suggest that it
13 was hallmarks of a Russian information operation, I don't know. I've not discussed this 14 with any of them. So I don't have a view here as to what it is that they saw or, you 15 know, whether it's appropriate or not. That's sort of up to the individual, I think.
16 Q Well, we're -- sorry.
17 Mr. Trainor. Well, as a former --
18 Ms. [redacted]. We're about out of time, but can I just ask, yes or no, would you 19 have signed this statement?
20 Mr. Makridis. As I said earlier, I've stayed out of politics and things that could be 21 politicized, so I would not have sign- -- for that reason, I would not have signed the
22 statement.
23 Ms. [redacted]. Thank you. Our hour's up.
24 Off the record.
25 [Recess.]

1 Ms. [redacted]. Mr. Makridis, thank you again for joining us today.

2 EXAMINATION

3 BY MS. [redacted]:

4 Q I want to return to something that you said in the prior hour. You were

5 asked about the letter from the 51 formers, and you said it wasn't the first op-ed you'd

6 reviewed, and, you know, it wasn't the last. You recall saying that or something along

7 those lines?

8 A Yes, even though I didn't review them.

9 Q Sorry. You're right. But you had seen --

10 A Yes, correct.

11 Q And in fact, it was pretty common for op-eds to be put through the PCRB

12 review board process, correct?

13 A Yes, that's correct.

14 Q Because when you join the CIA, you know, you don't sign away your right to 15 speak on national security issues after you leave, correct?

16 A Correct. You sign a secrecy agreement.

17 Q And that secrecy agreement says you can't discuss classified information,

18 correct?

19 A Correct.

20 Q But it doesn't say you can't speak at all?

21 A Correct.

22 Q And in fact, people have the right, after they leave the Agency, to speak

23 publicly, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Okay. I want to talk through the process that the PCRB goes through, and

1 I'm going to introduce as exhibit 7 a printout of the PCRB website.

2 [Makridis Exhibit No. 7

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY MS. [redacted]:

5 Q And I'll give you a minute to review. I don't know if you've seen this before.

6 A Probably haven't.

7 Q And I can you tell you we're mostly going to focus on the first paragraph on 8 the first page and then the section on review timeline which is on page 5.

9 A Okay.

10 Q But take your time.

11 A Give me a minute to read.

12 Q Yeah, as long as you'd like.

13 A Okay.

14 Q And you've had a minute to review this now.

15 A Yes.

16 Q Actually, before I get into this, have you submitted anything to the PCRB

17 since leaving the Agency?

18 A I have.

19 Q Okay. And so you're generally familiar with how the process works?

20 A I submitted my course outlines --

21 Q Okay.

22 A -- to the PCRB.

23 Q Okay. So you're familiar with the process of how it works when you're 24 active with the Agency?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. So I want to look at the first page of this document under the 2 header, Protecting Secrets and Each Other: The Prepublication Classification
3 Review Board. And I want to talk about the mission of what the PCRB is looking for.
4 So it says here that the CIA officers sign the standard secrecy agreement. This is a
5 life-long obligation -- it's about halfway down the paragraph -- this is a life-long obligation
6 which exists to help avoid the damage to national security and to the Agency's mission
7 that disclosing classified information would inflict.
8 Do you see where it says that?
9 A I do.
10 Q Okay. So what's your understanding of what that means?
11 A Of the mission of the --
12 Q The purpose of the PCRB.
13 A The PCRB is to make sure classified information doesn't make its way out,
14 either in piecemeal fashion, or I think they described a mosaic effect, that could damage,
15 you know, national security.
16 Q And so the goal is to prevent damage to national security. That's what you
17 just said, right?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Does the CIA have any role beyond -- I'm sorry -- does the PCRB have any 20 role beyond looking for classified information?
21 A No. As constituted, hence the name, Prepublication Classification
22 Review Board. Their writ is to look for classified information.
23 Q Okay. And the individuals, the PCRB employees who do that work, do you 24 have any information about how they're trained to do that?
25 A You know, that's a great question. I don't know the process.

1 Q Okay.

2 A I do know that they're pretty experienced as a group, but I don't know what

3 their -- the training regimen is.

4 Q There was a statement made in the earlier hour about -- and I'm

5 paraphrasing -- whether Mr. Morell's representations that the statement contained no

6 classified information would have impacted the PCRB review.

7 In your experience, would PCRB reviewers be impacted by the submitter's

8 opinions on whether there was or was not classified information in the document?

9 A No. That's not their role.

10 Q And what do you mean by that?

11 A I mean, their role is purely to look for classified -- or information that could

12 be read as classified. I think they're trained to not look for substance. They look for 13 purely classification.

14 Q Okay. Because it's the disclosure of classified information that could 15 damage national security, correct?

16 A As it says here in the document.

17 Q Okay. And a little further down in that paragraph, it says the CIA created

18 the Prepublication Classification Review Board, PCRB, to review materials produced by

19 CIA personnel, former and current, both employees and contractors, to determine if they

20 contain such classified information before they are shared with publishers, blog

21 subscribers, a TV audience, ghost writers, co-authors, editors, family members, assistants,

22 representatives, or anyone else not authorized to receive or review such classified

23 information.

24 Did I read that correctly?

25 A Yes, you did.

1 Q Okay. So the CIA is actually anticipating that after individuals leave the 2 Agency or maybe even while they're still at the Agency, that they will be having
3 discussions, they may be submitting things to publishers, to TV, to other audiences,
4 correct?
5 A Yes. As you said, it's a life-long secrecy agreement.
6 Q Right. But it's not a vow of silence, in other words?
7 A No.
8 Q Okay. And people still retain their First Amendment rights to an extent 9 with the exception that they can't discuss classified information?
10 A Correct.
11 Q Okay. On page 5 of this -- and I should say this is a website, so it's -- 12 A It's not --
13 Q -- there's no page numbers on the website. It's just as printed, page 5.
14 A So you're looking at the review timeline?
15 Q Review timeline.
16 You were asked in the earlier hour about the statement that the review of the 17 October 19th letter was a rush job. You remember broadly that discussion?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Okay. In the section under review timeline, it says, the PCRB review
20 timeline is dependent on the type of and the content within the submitted work. The 21 board makes every effort to accommodate tight deadlines for items such as academic 22 papers, op-eds, and the like. And then it goes out and it says, but review might require 23 several weeks in some circumstances.
24 Do you see where it says that?
25 A I do.

1 Q So it says on the website of the PCRB that if there's a tight deadline, they're
2 going to make every effort to accommodate it, correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q In your experience with the PCRB, have you submitted items on a deadline?
5 A You know, I just submitted my, as I mentioned, my course outlines which 6 they did it pretty quickly, even though I didn't tell them it was on a particular timeline.
7 Q And do you recall, pretty quickly, was that a couple days, was it a day?
8 A A day or so --
9 Q Okay.
10 A -- but it was pretty quick.
11 Q So you submitted a course outline, and within a day or so, they got back to 12 you and said it was cleared?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Okay. So as we just said couple times, the purpose of the PCRB is to review
15 for classified information. Does the PCRB or the CIA, I guess, and any other Department, 16 look for any information beyond classified information when it's deciding whether to 17 clear a manuscript?
18 A The CIA does not look at substance. It looks for classification.
19 Q Okay. In your judgment, would it be appropriate for the CIA to request
20 changes to a manuscript or a document for any reason other than the fact that it 21 contained classified information?
22 A Appropriate. Well, the current guidelines, you know, as articulated
23 through our Office of General Counsel, is that PCRB focuses only on one issue. And I
24 think earlier you mentioned First Amendment rights. So as constructed today, it's 25 purely looking for classification and nothing else.

1 Q Okay. I'm a little concerned that there might be statements or an
2 argument made after this interview that the CIA Director, Haspel, having learned about 3 this op-ed should've stepped in to stop it from being published.
4 That actually would've been inappropriate unless there had been a determination
5 that the letter contained classified information, correct?
6 A Well, it would not have come up actually to my office had it -- if it hadn't 7 already cleared --
8 Q Okay.
9 A -- the review board. So by the time it got to my office, it was clearly 10 free -- or in their view free of classification. I'm not aware of any director stepping in, in 11 this situation, but --
12 Q In any circumstance, right, correct, writ large, with all of the -- you said that 13 it was the process that when senior officials, or former senior officials, had signed on to 14 something, it would be flagged for you, and then you would make the director aware?
15 A Correct.
16 Q In any of those instances, would the director have stepped in to stop an item
17 from being published after it had been cleared by the PCRB?
18 A In my experience, no.
19 Q And it actually would've been inappropriate for her to have done so,
20 correct?
21 A Well, the guidelines are pretty clear, and you read from them here. And so, 22 you know, I don't believe she or any other director would've stepped in knowing the
23 guidelines.
24 Ms. [redacted]. Okay.
25 Mr. [redacted]. A couple of questions, Mr. Makridis. So you said it would be

1 inappropriate. I want to break that out. So first of all if the director --

2 Mr. Makridis. Well, I didn't say it would be inappropriate.

3 Mr. Green. Yeah, I don't think he used that word.

4 Mr. [redacted]. I'll rephrase.

5 BY MR. [redacted]:

6 Q First of all, it would've been inconsistent with the guidelines for the director

7 to step in for any reason other than classification, correct?

8 A It would've been inconsistent with past practices, that's correct.

9 Q And the guidelines, I think you said, correct?

10 A And the guidelines as articulated in this document.

11 Q If somebody, as a former senior executive at the CIA had come in and

12 suggested changing the guidelines, such that the director could attempt to intervene to

13 stop publication of something with which they disagreed or which posed a reputational

14 risk for the Agency, in your judgment, would that be an inappropriate or inappropriate

15 use of CIA --

16 A Yeah. So anything of that nature would go through our Office of General

17 Counsel. So it would be up to, you know, that determination about, you know, how far

18 do CIA authorities extend. And so that discussion would've happened between the 19 director and the chief, the general counsel, in this case, ourselves.

20 Q Sure, but the general counsel would ask the client what the policy objective

21 is. You were a very senior executive. You would've served as that client. Is that an

22 ask you would have made or supported if another senior executive had come up with the 23 idea?

24 A Would I have -- is the question, would I have asked the general counsel to 25 change the guidelines?

1 Q Would you think it was a wise move to change the guidelines to allow for
2 requests to hold a piece for reasons other than classification? Would that be a good use
3 of CIA's power if it were lawful, in your judgment?
4 A "If it were lawful," that's the key phrase in there, and, again, I'm not an
5 attorney, I don't have those -- that background or skills. That would be a question for an
6 attorney, can CIA change their, you know, their rules and regulations, so.
7 BY MS. [redacted]:
8 Q Okay. We're going to move on from the website. I want to return to 9 another line of questioning in the prior hour and this involves, it's exhibit 4, and it's 10 Bates-stamped page 230. This is the email from your executive assistant to the PCRB.
11 A I'm not sure I have them in order, but exhibit 4 --
12 Q So the cover email -- or the cover letter is dated February 7th, 2024.
13 A Oh, thank you.
14 Q There was some discussion in the prior hour about why -- I'm sorry.
15 Withdraw that.
16 You said in the prior hour that the top email here, the one that's timestamped
17 11:43:57 a.m., that appears to have been sent from your executive assistant, correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q And that email reads you may notify former DDCIA Morell, correct?
20 A Correct.
21 Q And you were asked why your executive assistant would've written that, and 22 you said "I don't know." Correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q Okay. There was a question about whether it was common to notify senior 25 executives that their op-eds or their manuscripts had been flagged for the head of the

1 CIA, and I think the statement was made that it's not clear that that was a notification
2 given to Mr. Morell, correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q Okay. And in fact, we don't know what your executive assistant meant
5 here. Your executive assistant isn't testifying today.
6 A Correct.
7 Q I want to introduce the actual email that was sent back to Mr. Morell, which 8 does not reference anything about senior executives at CIA.
9 A Is it -- that's not in my package?
10 Q No. We're going to introduce it now. This will be exhibit 8. I think it's 8.
11 [Makridis Exhibit No. 8
12 was marked for identification.]
13 BY MS. [redacted]:
14 Q Have you had a minute to review this?
15 A I'm -- sorry.
16 Q Yeah.
17 And I'm just going to read this into the record so the record's complete, so bear
18 with me.
19 A Okay.
20 Q It says, Dear Michael -- and this email is from email addresses JAMESAG2, 21 which is the representative of the PCRB, to Michael M., which I'll represent to you is 22 Michael Morell. It's dated Monday, October 19th, 2020, timestamped 12:44:00 p.m.
23 In full it reads, Dear Michael, the Prepublication Classification Review Board
24 completed its review of your article, titled, question mark, Public Statement on the 25 Hunter Biden Emails, question mark -- I think when this was submitted to us, I think the

1 question marks are actually supposed to be quotation marks.

2 A Yeah, I think so.

3 Q They just converted due to a coding issue.

4 The board determined that it contains no classified information and can be

5 published. Agency approval for publication of this material does not represent agency

6 endorsement or verification of this work. If you add new material, please resubmit it

7 before sharing, highlighting the new language to expedite our review. The PCRB

8 appreciates your cooperation with prepublication review. You may reach out to you us

9 via prb@ucia.gov with questions or concerns. Kind regards, PCRB staff.

10 Did I read that correctly?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Okay. And that's the full text of the email that went back to Mr. Morell,

13 correct?

14 A I don't know. I'll take your word for it. I wouldn't have seen the 15 response.

16 Q Well, what I read into the record is everything that we have on the email in 17 front of us, correct?

18 A Oh, everything that's on here, yes, correct. I apologize.

19 Q Okay. And this email to Mr. Morell says nothing about senior staff at CIA

20 being notified, correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q And it just says, pretty standard, this is cleared, if you change anything, if you

23 make any edits, notify us, correct?

24 A Correct.

25 Q Okay. And is this, in your experience, again, your personal experience

1 submitting things to the PCRB, is this kind of a standard email that the PCRB would send
2 to submitters?
3 A I believe it's very similar to the email I got.
4 Q Okay. It's consistent with what you've seen in the past?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Okay. And it actually says here, the last line of the first paragraph reads,
7 Agency approval for publication of this material does not represent agency endorsement
8 or verification of this work. Correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q So it makes it clear on the face of the email that they're clearing it and that it
11 contains no classified information, no comments beyond that. Is that fair to say?
12 A That's what it says, yes.
13 Q Okay. I want to return to another line of questioning from the prior hour.
14 And you touched on this, I just want to go through it in a little more detail, the language
15 that's actually in the October 19th letter. So if you can pull that letter out again, and I 16 think that's exhibit 2.
17 A I think I have a couple different copies of it. Just the letter itself?
18 Q Just the letter itself.
19 A Yeah.
20 Q You mentioned this in the prior hour -- I just want to make the record
21 completely clear on this -- you noted that the letter is caveated. Do you recall saying
22 that?
23 A Yes. They say things like "We don't know."
24 Q The use of the term "caveated" in particular, what did you mean by that?
25 A You know, phrases like, you know, -- let's find it in here -- "We do not have

1 evidence," you know, "We don't know," those are caveats.

2 Q And a caveat is something that says, this is our statement, but we -- you

3 know, it may or may not be accurate. This is our understanding based on what we

4 actually have in front of us. Is that a fair -- I'm just looking at definition of the term

5 "caveat."

6 A Broadly speaking, yes, I think that's correct.

7 Q Okay. And I want to make it clear, put into the record, exactly how the

8 authors caveated this. So I think you read this line in the prior hour. Again, it

9 says -- fifth paragraph down -- We want to emphasize that we do not know if the emails

10 provided to the New York Post by President Trump's personal attorney, Rudy Giuliani, are 11 genuine or not. Correct?

12 A That's what it says, yes.

13 Q So they say on the face of the letter that we don't know if the emails are 14 genuine or not. They could be real, they could be not. Fair to say?

15 A That's what it says, yes.

16 Q Okay. And then on the second page, the very last paragraph, I should say

17 the lead-in to this, the letter describes a number of public reports -- so a Washington Post

18 article, media reports about the FBI opening an investigation into Russian involvement.

19 And then that last paragraph says, We do not know whether these press reports

20 are accurate.

21 Do you see where it says that?

22 A I do see that.

23 Q So the authors again caveated the letter by saying, We don't actually know if 24 they're accurate, we're taking them at face value. Is that fair to say?

25 A Say the last part again, please.

1 Q We don't know if these press reports are accurate or not, we're just
2 reporting on what we've seen in the press. Is that fair to say?
3 A I think that's what this language suggests.
4 Q Okay. So twice in the letter the authors used specific language that 5 caveated their statements, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And I'll give you a minute to review from the top down -- and this might take 8 you a minute -- nowhere in this letter is the term "disinformation" used, correct?
9 A Can I read it?
10 Q Yeah.
11 A Again.
12 Okay. I'm sorry. Your question again?
13 Q This letter doesn't use the word "disinformation," does it?
14 A Specifically "disinformation," no, it does not use that word.
15 Q Okay. Then a couple more points on the record -- sorry -- for the record.
16 The sixth paragraph down on the first page, it says, If we are right -- suggesting that they 17 could, in fact, not be right, correct?
18 A That's, I think, how it reads.
19 Q Okay. And then on the second page, the third paragraph down, it says, Our 20 view. You see where it says that?
21 A I do.
22 Q Would you agree that the use of the terms, If we are right, Our view, We do 23 not know if the emails are genuine -- all of that suggests that -- makes it clear that the 24 authors are only giving their opinion, that this is not a factual assertion of any information 25 that they may or may not have knowledge of?

1 A Yes. This is an opinion piece.

2 Q Right. It's an op-ed piece, and that's clear on the face of the email -- or the 3 letter, correct?

4 A Yes, it appears that way.

5 Q Okay. In the prior hour, there was some discussion about whether -- and

6 we're going to move on from that -- whether the Hunter Biden laptop had been

7 authenticated. Do you recall that discussion?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Okay. And you said you believed that that was -- that there were reports to 10 that effect but that you, yourself, had not done any analysis. Is that a fair summary of 11 what was said?

12 A That's correct.

13 Q Okay. I want to introduce as exhibit 9, a Washington Post article that

14 shows that the actual facts are more nuanced, and at least one analysis has found that 15 the laptop is not authenticated.

16 [Makridis Exhibit No. 9

17 was marked for identification.]

18 BY MS. [redacted]:

19 Q And this is a Washington Post article dated March 30th, 2022, entitled,

20 Here's How The Post Analyzed Hunter Biden's Laptop. We've actually highlighted the 21 sections I'm going to refer to, to try and -- so the article itself is not highlighted on the 22 website -- I need a copy for myself.

23 A Here's an extra one.

24 Mr. Green. Do you have a sense of the article?

25 Mr. Makridis. Yeah, I do.

1 BY MS. [redacted]:

2 Q Yeah, I'm only going to focus on the first section.

3 A Okay. I apologize.

4 Q So, again, the statement was made earlier that the laptop had been

5 authenticated. You were asked if you were familiar with that. I just want to make it

6 clear that this is an email -- this is an article from the Washington Post, dated March 30th,

7 2022.

8 This article says that, well, thousands of the emails on the laptop, or the supposed

9 laptop, are authentic communications that can be verified through cryptographic

10 signatures.

11 Although further down it says, the vast majority of the data, and most of the 12 nearly 129,000 emails it contained, could not be verified by either of the two security

13 experts who reviewed the data for The Post.

14 Do you see where it says that?

15 A I see that, yes.

16 Q And then on the following page, it says, the security experts who examined

17 the data for The Post struggled to reach definitive conclusions about the contents as a

18 whole, including whether all of it originated from a single computer or could've been 19 assembled from files from multiple computers and put on the portable drive.

20 Do you see where it says that?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Okay. So at least one analysis, the analysis done by the Washington Post,

23 has concluded that either the laptop is not authentic, or they can't reach a definitive

24 conclusion either way, correct?

25 A Right. It appears to be an inconclusive --

1 Q Okay.

2 A -- judgment.

3 Q So the statement earlier that, you know, that it's generally accepted that the 4 laptop is authentic, this article at least refutes that statement?

5 A It raises some questions.

6 Q Okay.

7 BY MR. [redacted]:

8 Q Sticking with the laptop, I was struck when you were testifying previously in

9 the previous hour, you were describing a fair amount that was going on at the CIA in 10 October 2020. You remember that discussion?

11 A I do, yeah.

12 Q Did you read stories about the Hunter Biden laptop at the time so far as you

13 recall?

14 A I don't recall reading stories.

15 Q Was it something you were paying attention to?

16 A No.

17 Q What were you paying attention to at CIA in October 2020?

18 A October 2020 was, I don't know, maybe 6 weeks before we were supposed

19 to get our first vaccine. We were the first Federal agency to vaccinate our workforce.

20 We were trying to figure out how to get it overseas.

21 As you recall, the early COVID vaccine needed special handling requirements, so

22 making sure that we had freezers that went down to minus 30 degrees. All of that, as

23 well as trying to figure out how do we bring the workforce back, and how do we stage

24 that in a way that we could keep everyone safe and avoid having an outbreak at CIA,

25 which we successfully accomplished. We had no real outbreaks other than some small,

1 you know, group of people.

2 And as I mentioned earlier, it was also the beginning of the budget, and we were

3 trying to figure out, okay, what is this year going to look like, given the uncertainty of

4 COVID, and do we move money, you know, how do we accomplish our mission, and what

5 is it going to cost to bring the workforce back. So it was a very fraught and busy period.

6 Q And since October 2020, have you spent much time paying attention to the 7 Hunter Biden laptop story one way or the other?

8 A I honestly have not.

9 Q Okay. You're not really an expert in this, right?

10 A No, I'm not.

11 Q Do you have any view one way or the other about whether the laptop is 12 authentic, or is it not something you pay attention to?

13 A I truly don't pay very much attention. I've got a lot of things to do, and that

14 just sort of hasn't risen to the level of me spending a lot of time on it -- or any time on it

15 for that matter.

16 BY MS. [redacted]:

17 Q Okay. And just a couple more questions on a different topic area. In the 18 prior hour, you were asked, I think, whether you would've signed the letter, whether you

19 thought it was harmful to the Agency.

20 I just want to return quickly to two of the emails that were put in front of you.

21 This is from what's been marked as exhibit 5 and exhibit 4. It's page 232 from exhibit 4

22 and page 157 from exhibit 5, and we'll start with 232 from exhibit 4?

23 A Just give me a second to come to the right pages.

24 Okay. All right, 157 was one of them.

25 Q 157, yeah.

1 A And is the other one a different document?
2 Q Yeah, it's the --
3 A Oh, I got it. It's right here. 232. Okay.
4 Q Okay. And just for a clear record on this, starting with email marked
5 as Bates stamp 232, it's an email dated October 20th, 2020, timestamped 11:54 a.m.
6 You're not on this email, correct?
7 A I don't recall having seen this email before.
8 Q Okay. And --
9 A It doesn't show up here with --
10 Q You don't recall seeing this email, and it doesn't appear that, to the best of 11 your knowledge, you weren't included, you weren't copied, or you weren't in the "to"
12 line?
13 A Yes, that's correct.
14 Q Okay. And the same with the email that's Bates-stamped 157, you don't 15 recall seeing this email before?
16 A No, I do not recall seeing this email before.
17 Q Okay. And to the best of your knowledge, you weren't on the "from" line
18 or the "to" line or copied on it?
19 A I don't recall anything like this.
20 Q Okay. So to the extent that you were asked to comment on what these 21 authors or what the writers of these emails might have meant, you wouldn't know
22 because you're not part of the email, you weren't the person sending the email, correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q Okay. You were asked if you would've signed the letter. You said you
25 probably would not have. You would agree that somebody who has left the Agency has

1 a right to sign a letter like that, right?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And when you say that you agree, can you elaborate at all a bit?

4 A Look, I think the point I was trying to make is that, you know, I've sort of

5 stayed out of the political fray. That's the way I conduct myself, and that's why I

6 wouldn't have signed the letter. Others choose different paths. They're free to do so.

7 I can't speculate on why they did it or what their thinking was, or any of that. I was just

8 trying to speak for myself about what I would or wouldn't do.

9 Q But there's no prohibition from the -- the CIA doesn't prohibit people from 10 signing letters, making statements, things like that?

11 A No. There's nothing that you sign as a CIA employee that would prohibit 12 you from those things.

13 Q Okay. You said in the -- just now and you said this in the earlier hour too,

14 that there were a lot of things going on, -- a lot of other things going on in October of 15 2020. I think you said that this was just another opinion piece that had gone across your 16 desk. You didn't pay a lot of attention to this?

17 A That's correct.

18 Q Okay. And you were asked if this was a political piece, and you said, Well, 19 I'm sitting in front of a congressional committee, so I guess that means it's political.

20 Do you recall saying that?

21 A I do.

22 Q What did you mean by that?

23 A It's that, you know, that the piece clearly has become political simply 24 because you're asking questions about it, you know, you're interviewing people about it.

25 I'm assuming I'm not the only person you've interviewed. And so it has become that.

1 Q So when you said that, when you meant is, it's become political because it's
2 the subject of a congressional investigation. Is that a fair summary?
3 A Clearly. I'm here, right? As I said before.
4 Q But you weren't making a comment on whether the letter, absent the 5 congressional inquiry, would be a political piece or not?
6 A I was not making that --
7 Q Okay.
8 A -- comment.
9 Q Is it fair to say that but for this investigation, but for the fact that you're 10 sitting here today, you probably wouldn't be thinking about this letter today?
11 A That's fair.
12 Ms. [redacted]. Okay.
13 Mr. [redacted]. Let's go off the record for a moment.
14 Ms. [redacted]. Yeah, off the record.
15 [Discussion off the record.]
16 Ms. [redacted]. Back on the record. We do have another exhibit to introduce.
17 This will be exhibit 10, and this --
18 Mr. Makridis. My bipable comment was on the record?
19 Ms. [redacted]. We needs copies for the witness, yes.
20 [Makridis Exhibit No. 10
21 was marked for identification.]
22 BY MS. [redacted]:
23 Q This is the letter than Chairman Jordan and Chairman Turner sent to you on 24 March 6th, 2024.
25 And I'll give you a minute to review.

1 You've seen this?
2 A Yes.
3 Q You've seen this before?
4 A Yes.
5 Q Okay. When you received it, for example?
6 A Yes.
7 Q The chairman's letter states that, quote, The CIA's Prepublication
8 Review Board, upon receiving the draft public statement, raised the statement to the 9 Office of the Chief Operating Officer for consideration.
10 Do you see where it says that?
11 A I do. Bottom of the first paragraph, yes.
12 Q Okay. You made it clear in the prior hour that neither you, nor your office,
13 played any role in determining whether the statement contained classified information,
14 correct?
15 A Correct. Once it clears the Prepublication Classification Review Board, I 16 assume it has -- or when I would get it, it would be clear there was no classified
17 information in it.
18 Q And next question. So you played no role in determining whether the 19 statement could be cleared, correct?
20 A Correct. That's the purview of the PCRB.
21 Q And along the same lines, nobody in your office played any role in 22 determining whether the statement could be cleared, correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q Okay. So to the extent that Mr. Jordan and Mr. Turner's letter to you says
25 that the letter was raised to your office, quote, for consideration, that's not an accurate

1 statement, correct?

2 A It was not for consideration. It was a situational awareness.

3 Q Okay. And so maybe the more appropriate term would be for notification.

4 Is that right?

5 A Or notification.

6 Q Okay.

7 A Yes, that's correct.

8 Ms. [redacted] Okay. That's it. We can go off the record.

9 [Recess.]

1 [12:11 p.m.]

2 Ms. [redacted]. The time is now 12:10. We'll begin the third hour.

3 BY MS. [redacted]:

4 Q So, Mr. Makridis, I want to just return to an exhibit entered during the

5 previous hour, which is, I believe, Exhibit 8, the email from PC- -- PCRB staff to Mr. Morell

6 notifying him that they have completed their review.

7 A Thank you.

8 Q The time marked as the date and time in which this email was sent to 9 Mr. Morell is 12:44 p.m., correct?

10 A Correct.

11 Q On October 19th?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Now, comparing that to -- sorry. A little bit of a shuffling of papers

14 here -- Exhibit 4, page Bates stamped 230 --

15 A Trying to find the exhibit. Oh, yes. Okay.

16 Q Looking at the email from the executive assistant of the COO's office to the 17 PCRB on Monday, October 19th, that was sent at 11:43 a.m., correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q So it's accurate that the PCRB did not notify Mr. Morell until after this email

20 saying you may notify DDC Morell came from your executive assistant?

21 Mr. Green. Is there -- before he answers this, can you just represent to us that 22 these are all the same time zone and everything has been formalized.

23 Ms. [redacted]. Yes.

24 Mr. Green. Okay.

25 Mr. Makridis. Yes, that's the way it would appear.

1 Ms. [redacted]. Thank you.

2 BY MS. [redacted]:

3 Q Now, looking at the statement itself published on October 19, 2020 -- so this

4 would be exhibit --

5 A Oh, the letter?

6 Q Yes, the letter. Which I believe was exhibit 2. In the fourth paragraph

7 down and fifth paragraph down, it states that -- it states that the emails purportedly

8 belonging to Vice President Biden's son has all the classic earmarks of a Russian

9 information operation, correct?

10 A Yes, that's what it says.

11 Q So is it fair to say that the signatories of this statement were conveying that 12 this was some kind of Russian influence campaign, either disinformation, misinformation,

13 interference?

14 A It depends on classic earmarks. I don't know what that particular phrase

15 meant to them, but I think what they were trying to convey is that -- clearly, that they had 16 some concerns or suspicions.

17 Q Right. And as someone who spent significant time as an analyst yourself,

18 while not particularly on this similar subject, but to you, when you read Russian

19 information operation, does that seem to you that they are trying to say that this was 20 some kind of influence campaign by the Russians?

21 A Well, you know, I don't know since I wasn't involved directly in this kind of 22 work, but Russian information operations, I think, has a pretty broad definition. So

23 I -- yeah.

24 This is the Russian -- trying to influence how Americans vote in the election.

25 Clearly, that's what they, sort of, believed.

1 Q Right. And at the end of this statement, the 51 former intelligence officials
2 all used their former titles in their signature blocks and, you know, many of these titles
3 include, you know, former Director of National Intelligence, former director of the Central 4 Intelligence Agency.
5 If you were an average citizen reading this statement, do you think that the titles
6 of their former office could have boosted the legitimacy of their claim that the Russians
7 were trying to influence how Americans vote in this election? Do you think that that 8 would appear more legitimate because of their former titles that they have attached to 9 the statement?
10 A I think it's possible.
11 Q It's possible. Thank you.
12 BY MR. TRAINOR:
13 Q You think it's probable?
14 A I mean, that would depend on who read the letter, how far the letter -- how 15 much of the letter they read, did they go through all the -- the names of the authors
16 and -- that's speculation. So that's why I said it's possible.
17 Q But just -- but it's fair to say that former high-ranking intelligence officials
18 conveying their opinion about a subject that is presumptively in their expertise will carry 19 more weight with an average reader than if somebody who never worked a day in their 20 life in intelligence said the exact same thing?
21 A I think, generally speaking, that's true.
22 Ms. [redacted]. Thank you.
23 BY MS. [redacted]:
24 Q So to your knowledge, did any of the signatories and/or anyone at the CIA do 25 any kind of due diligence to determine the veracity of the claims that they were making in

1 the statement while it was under CIA review or beforehand?

2 A That would not have been part of the normal process. All I can speak to is

3 the PCRB process. That would not have been part of the normal process.

4 I don't know if anyone else was involved or what discussions may have occurred.

5 I wasn't privy to any of that.

6 Q Right. And so, to your knowledge, none of the signatories, not Mr. Morell

7 or Mr. Polymeropoulos, did any kind of due diligence to confirm the veracity of their

8 claims beyond just their personal experience having worked in the intelligence field?

9 This was not based on firm evidence, but simply a gut feeling?

10 A I'm unaware of any -- your question was did they reach -- tell me again your

11 question.

12 Q Right. So I mean, was there any -- to your knowledge, did Mr. Morell, for

13 example, reach out to anyone at the FBI or anyone on Hunter Biden's team or even

14 anyone within the CIA to say, hey, we have this concern that this could be Russian

15 disinformation. Is that accurate?

16 A I have no knowledge of anything of that nature.

17 Q Thank you.

18 Were you aware that prior to the statement being released, the Director of 19 National Intelligence at the time, John Ratcliffe, stated, quote, "Hunter Biden's laptop is

20 not part of some Russian disinformation campaign. Let me be clear, the intelligence

21 community doesn't believe that, because there is -- doesn't believe that because there is 22 no intelligence that supports that," end quote?

23 A I don't think I saw the statement either then or subsequent to then.

24 Q Were you generally aware that he made statements to that effect?

25 A I truly didn't focus on it.

1 Q Okay. Based on your experience working in the CIA and your interactions
2 with other components of the intelligence community, as the Director of National 3 Intelligence, then-Director Ratcliffe would have had access to all of the relative -- or 4 relevant classified information he needed to -- to make that kind of statement, correct?
5 A Someone who sits in the role of DNI has access to all the classified 6 information the intelligence community has.
7 Q Thank you.
8 Despite this, the PCRB did allow a statement to be published saying that the 9 laptop had all the classic earmarks of a Russian information operation, which I understand
10 it's not within the purview of the PCRB to edit things beyond whether or not there's 11 classified information. However, that statement that was published on October 19th by 12 the 51 former intelligence members was ultimately contrary to the findings of 13 then-Director of National Intelligence Ratcliffe, correct?
14 A From the statement you just read, it appears so.
15 Q Thank you.
16 Do you think that any of those members who signed the statement had access to 17 information that Mr. Ratcliffe did not have access to?
18 A I don't know what information they had access to or what experience they 19 refer to in the letter, so I don't -- I can't answer.
20 Q Did it concern you that the motivation -- you know, we've talked about this a 21 little before, but I want to return to it. So the intent that Mr. Morell laid out in his 22 emails to Mr. Clapper that we've looked at before to give then-candidate Biden talking
23 points in his debate with then-President Trump, did it concern you that this motivation
24 had not been disclosed in the letter in its final publication to the American public?
25 A I guess I'm not sure what the question is. Should they have disclosed --

1 Q Well, do you think that it would have been important information for the 2 American people to understand that, you know, if they are so certain that this is Russian
3 election interference potentially, that they tell the American public that there's a
4 possibility that, you know, the things that you hear in the rest of this, you know,
5 campaign could potentially be Russian disinformation and that you should be aware and 6 educate yourself? Don't you think that would be a more helpful tool for the American
7 public?
8 Mr. Green. Yes. I'm trying to have him answer, but just so the record is clear,
9 that's a purely hypothetical question you're asking him, right? I don't -- I don't think 10 we've established that's actually what the letter said, that everything you may hear in the 11 rest of the campaign is disinformation.
12 Now, if you want to ask him the question, feel free. I'm just trying to make sure
13 that we're clear?
14 Ms. [redacted]. Happy to clarify.
15 BY MS. [redacted]:
16 Q Nowhere in the statement do they tell the American public that, you know,
17 this information could be leveraged during the presidential campaign, correct?
18 A Yes. From what I've read, that doesn't say that directly at all.
19 Q Now, in his testimony before this committee, Mr. Morell told us that 20 Secretary Blinken called him prior to Mr. Morell's drafting of the October 19th statement,
21 and I'm happy to, if you need it later, to give you access to that testimony.
22 But were you aware that he made statements to that effect?
23 A No. He and I have not discussed any of this.
24 Q Did you know that this conversation between Mr. Blinken and Mr. Morell 25 occurred prior to the approval of the statement?

1 A I was unaware of any discussions between them.

2 Q Okay. I'd like to actually enter into the record what I believe will be exhibit

3 11 now.

4 [Makridis Exhibit No. 11

5 was marked for identification.]

6 BY MS. [redacted]:

7 Q Which is the Michael Morell testimony from April 4th, 2023, before this

8 committee. This is an excerpt directly from the transcript. I'll give you a second to 9 review.

10 A Okay.

11 Q So --

12 A It's not clear who is speaking -- I'm sorry.

13 Q Absolutely. So the line of questioning, which at this point is led by 14 Chairman Jordan, states the following: "There were two separate communications.

15 There was the first or email, and then there was the subsequent email with the USA

16 Today article?"

17 Mr. Morell responds: "Yes, sir. Yes, sir."

18 "What was the time of the email?" Said by Mr. Jordan.

19 And Mr. Morell responds: "So I don't know for sure, Congressman, but I believe 20 he" -- and I apologize that this isn't clear, however, I'm happy to get you the broader 21 transcript.

22 When Mr. Morell says he, he's referring to Secretary Blinken.

23 A Okay.

24 Q "But I believe he" -- Secretary Blinken -- "called to ask the question first and 25 then followed up with the email." Now, the question related here is whether or not he

1 had heard about the Hunter Biden laptop story.

2 So Mr. Jordan responds. "Close together?"

3 And Mr. Morell says: "I think -- you know, given the time stamps on here, I feel

4 that, you know, when I say -- Congressman, I say, just wondering if you guys -- if you think

5 the Russians played in the Hunter Biden -- the Russians played in the Hunter Biden

6 thing?"

7 Now, to clarify -- and, again, I apologize that it's not abundantly clear here, but I'm

8 happy to provide an expanded version of the transcript, if you would like, following the 9 end of this transcribed interview.

10 But Mr. Morell is indicating that Secretary Blinken, then who would have just been

11 part of the Biden campaign, reached out to him directly to ask if he had any idea whether 12 or not the Russians were involved in the Hunter Biden laptop story.

13 Were you aware of any such discussions between, you know, Secretary Blinken,

14 Mr. Morell?

15 A No, I would not have been aware of any of that. So just to be clear here,

16 where it says, "Congressman, I say -- just wondering if you guys -- if you think the Russians

17 played in the Hunter Biden thing" -- that's Mr. Morell quoting --

18 Q Secretary Blinken.

19 A -- Secretary Blinken.

20 Q Yes. I understand --

21 A I know -- yeah, it's a little --

22 Q It's a little hard to read the transcript sometimes, but yeah. And I'm happy

23 to provide an expanded transcript if you guys would like that for during the --

24 Mr. Green. The question, was he aware of this exchange between Morell and 25 Blinken?

1 Ms. [redacted]. Right.

2 Mr. Makridis. I was not aware of this exchange.

3 BY MS. [redacted]:

4 Q Were you aware of any discussions between the CIA and then at the time

5 Mr. Blinken when he was working for the Biden campaign?

6 A I'm not aware of any discussions.

7 Q And are you aware that Secretary Blinken, when working for the Biden

8 campaign at the time, called Mr. Morell, and that phone call was the impetus for 9 Mr. Morell drafting this statement?

10 A I was unaware of that.

11 Q And are you aware that Mr. Morell, based on the testimony he gave before

12 us on this committee on April 4th, had not even read the New York Post story regarding 13 the Hunter Biden laptop prior to his phone call with Mr. Blinken?

14 A Not aware.

15 Q In hindsight, does this kind of coordination between Mr. Blinken, who at the 16 time was working for the campaign, and Mr. Morell give you any kind of pause?

17 A I don't know. These are just a few excerpts of a conversation. It's hard

18 to, you know, make a judgment based on a couple of -- I have no idea what their

19 relationship is or what their conversations were like, so I'm not sure I'm in a position

20 where I could answer that.

21 Q Right. But if you were in Mr. Morell's shoes, would you feel comfortable

22 speaking to someone who is actively working on the Biden campaign about, you know,

23 potentially drafting a statement that implied that there was Russian disinformation

24 involved in a story very relevant to the current presidential campaign at the time?

25 A Look, I don't think I could put myself into Mr. Morell's shoes. So I

1 just -- there's too much to know and understand to make a judgment about what
2 someone else decided to do.
3 BY MR. TRAINOR:
4 Q Well, but I think the question is putting yourself in that position, right?
5 You're a high-ranking former intelligence official. I'm sure you have friends.
6 Assume you had a relationship with Mr. Blinken, who at the time is a senior
7 campaign advisor to the Biden campaign. If he calls you up and he asks you similar to 8 what he asks Mr. Morell, would you feel comfortable doing what Mr. Morell did,
9 essentially, in this instance?
10 A I think that's impossible to answer without having all the backdrop of the 11 relationship, and so it's purely speculative. And I'm not sure how I would actually 12 answer that question that made any -- any sense.
13 Q But given your prior testimony about the concerns of separating politics
14 from CIA, is it fair to say that you would have deep concerns about this entanglement 15 between a political campaign and your prior career as an intelligence official?
16 A What I said before was that I wouldn't get involved in things that appeared
17 political, and I would -- that's what I've done to date, and that's what I'll continue to do.
18 So I guess you can draw a conclusion from that.
19 Q I guess the conclusion is you would not do what Mr. Morell did then. Is 20 that fair to say?
21 A I wouldn't get involved in politics.
22 BY MS. [redacted]:
23 Q Now, to expand a little bit, perhaps ask the question a different way, would 24 it give you pause that the Biden campaign could have been trying to capitalize on the 25 credentials of former intelligence officials to quash negative reporting for political

1 purposes? Would that, in general, give you pause?

2 A I don't know how I would make that determination unless someone actually

3 told me that. You know, if I was in a position where someone said, I need your

4 credentials because I want to do X, Y, or Z, it's purely speculative. And I don't

5 know -- not being in that position, I don't know how I would answer that question.

6 Q Right. But if someone had asked you --

7 A Had asked me exactly what?

8 Q We would like you to create a statement that helps, you know, undercut the

9 story about the Hunter Biden laptop because we believe that it is some kind of Russian

10 influence campaign, you said that you would stay out of it.

11 Would it give you pause that they were asking you to be involved in that kind of

12 statement?

13 A Certainly, I would pause.

14 Q And would it concern you if the Biden campaign was able to capitalize on the 15 approval process of the CIA to score debate talking points ahead of an American

16 presidential election?

17 A I'm sorry. Can you rephrase the question?

18 Q So as we've talked about, the CIA was involved in the review and approval of 19 the statement for publication to make sure that it was fit for public consumption.

20 A That -- that there was no classified information in the statement. Beyond

21 that, CIA didn't have a role.

22 Q Okay. Would it give you pause that the Biden campaign was ultimately

23 able to capitalize on the CIA's approval process to get a statement published that would 24 score debate talking points for a presidential election?

25 Mr. Green. What do you mean by capitalize? I mean, I think Mr. Makridis has

1 testified that there was a process, and this publication went through it.

2 Ms. [redacted]. Right. But -- so based on this conversation and based on the

3 testimony that Mr. Morell provided on April 4th in his transcribed interview, then a senior

4 official in the Biden campaign, now Secretary Blinken, called him, asked him his opinion

5 on the Hunter Biden laptop story, and that was the impetus for Mr. Morell writing the 6 story.

7 This wasn't Mr. Morell on his own terms deciding that it was necessary to get the 8 story out there. This was something that was prompted by an official who was working

9 for the Biden campaign at the time.

10 BY MS. [redacted]:

11 Q Do you think that there is a significant difference between Mr. Morell, a 12 former intelligence official, deciding to write the statement on his own and an official on 13 the Biden campaign prompting him to write such a statement?

14 A Well, certainly, those are two different things --

15 Q Okay.

16 A -- as you stated.

17 Q Now, for this next one, we'll kind of go slowly, but we're going to look at 18 exhibits 4 and 5 side by side.

19 A Sorry. Which is exhibit --

20 Q So that would have been the productions made by the CIA to the 21 committees dated February 7th and March 29th.

22 Now, for exhibit 4, we're going to focus on -- and, again, this is --

23 Mr. Trainor. February 7th letter.

24 Ms. [redacted]. February 7th and March 29th.

25 Mr. Makridis. I think that is this one here. This is February 7th.

1 Mr. Green. Okay.

2 Mr. Makridis. And March 29th.

3 Ms. [redacted]. Yes. And so we're going to focus in the exhibit 4 dated February

4 7th on the pages Bates stamped 232 and 233.

5 And for the exhibit 5 dated March 29th, we're going to look at the pages Bates

6 stamped 178 through 180. I'll give you a chance to just refresh your memories on -- on 7 those pages.

8 Mr. Green. Yeah. I don't think we've looked at 178 through 180 yet.

9 Ms. [redacted]. Oh, I'm sorry.

10 BY MR. [redacted]:

11 Q Yes. Take your time. Read through it.

12 A And then just page 232?

13 Q So it's 232 and 233.

14 Now, since you've been able to kind of look at both of them, can you confirm that

15 the first two emails, which would be on Bates stamped page 180 for exhibit 5 and Bates

16 stamp page 233 for exhibit 4.

17 Can you confirm that these first two emails sent in both exhibits -- so starting from

18 the bottom of the pages -- have the same subject lines throughout the subsequent email

19 chain?

20 A Wait. So we're starting with 180 and working up?

21 Q Yeah. So if we look at 180, which would have been the bottom one --

22 A Yeah.

23 Q -- working up is the first email in the chain.

24 A PCRB item of interest 20 October --

25 Q Correct.

1 A -- two of two.

2 Q And that's the same subject line throughout that exhibit?

3 A Yes, all the way up to 178.

4 Q All the way up to 178.

5 Mr. Green. Yeah. I'm -- so some of them say FW and some of them don't.

6 Ms. [redacted]. Correct. So some have been forwarded, but not all of them

7 have.

8 BY MS. [redacted]:

9 Q And now on pages 232 through 233 in exhibit 4, if you could please look at

10 the subject lines, they also read PCRB item of interest 20 October two of two, and then

11 again the second email in each of these exhibits have been forwarded on to other 12 senders.

13 Can you confirm that the dates and times of the first two emails -- so, again,

14 starting at the bottom of the page. So 180 and 233 -- that the first two emails sent in 15 both of these exhibits are the same? So I'll help, seeing this is a little bit of a 16 walk-through.

17 But in exhibit 5 and exhibit 4, the first email is both sent at 9:49 a.m. Can you

18 confirm that's accurate?

19 A That appears to be what they both say.

20 Q And then the first email that is forwarded reading, FYSA, which is an

21 acronym for, for your situational awareness, both of those have been sent at 10:00 a.m.,

22 correct?

23 A I'm sorry. Where is the --

24 Mr. Green. Sorry. Say that one more time.

25 Ms. [redacted]. So this -- it's at the bottom on exhibit 4, the very bottom,

1 shows -- so I'll kind of put this up.

2 So this email forward, FYSA, in exhibit 4 is dated -- 10:00 a.m.

3 Mr. Green. Yep.

4 BY MS. [redacted]:

5 Q And the same email is also dated at 10:00 a.m., but there are redactions in 6 the exhibit 5?

7 A Apologize. Here this says 10:11 a.m.

8 Q But the time stamp below it, at the bottom of the page?

9 A 10:02.

10 Mr. Green. 10:02.

11 BY MS. [redacted]:

12 Q Which one are you looking at? Sorry.

14 Q Oh, yes. So -- I know this takes a second, but page 179 in exhibit 5, the for 15 your situational awareness email, is dated at 10:00 a.m. Correct?

16 A Okay. Yes, 10:00.

17 Mr. Green. I'm not sure if you're going to particular knowledge here, but -- so

18 10:00, FYSA, and then 10:00, FYSA.

19 Mr. Makridis. Okay.

20 Ms. [redacted]. Based on the similar subject lines and the time of the first two

21 emails which were sent within the same time zone, can you confirm that the 22 non-redacted content of the first two emails sent in both exhibits are the same?

23 So both, say -- again, starting from the bottom on page 180 in exhibit 5, it

24 forwards the -- here's the PCRB submission of interest for OPA's awareness dated at 9:49

25 a.m., and then it is forwarded at 10:00 a.m. saying FYSA that is the same as what was sent in exhibit 4 at 9:49 a.m. and at 10:00 a.m., FYSA?

Mr. Makridis. Yeah.

Ms. [redacted]. Great.

BY MS. [redacted]:

Q Now, the third email responses in both exhibits do differ, as we have noted. However, based on the similarities we have just walked through, both exhibits appear to show a different third email response regarding the same initial chain, correct?

The first two emails appear to be the same. The third email in the chain appears to be different.

A The third email has gone to a different person. Is that what you're saying?

Q Yes.

Mr. Green. So just so we're clear, the third email in this says FYSA, and the third email in this says this. So is the question, is FYSA different than this?

Than the good morning?

Ms. [redacted]. Correct. I mean, it starts to differ after the first two emails, right? So we can at least establish that the first two emails appear to be a part of the same chain in both documents?

Mr. Green. I think he can just testify to what the words on the page say.

Ms. [redacted]. Right.

Mr. Makridis. I have no other knowledge of them.

BY MR. [redacted]:

Q But they appear to be the same?

A From what you've put in front of me, yes, I think.

Q So we can then assume that the third email response in the document Bates stamped 178 through 180, which would have been exhibit 5, is also in reference to the

1 manuscript created by former DO Officer Marc Polymeropoulos as it does in exhibit 4 on 2 page 233, correct?
3 Mr. Green. So one more time.
4 BY MS. [redacted]:
5 Q So the third email response, which would be on page -- sorry. I know this is 6 a little slow of a walk-through.
7 But on 178, in exhibit 5, which starts with "Good morning" --
8 A Yes.
9 Q -- we can assume that that is in response to the same initial chain as what is 10 depicted in exhibit 4 where it says, "PCRB received for review the attached talking points
11 for media engagement on the Hunter Biden laptop story. The manuscript is by former 12 DO Officer Marc Polymeropoulos"?
13 Mr. Green. Obviously, your examination. If you want to represent to us that 14 the two -- that the chains are the same and then they differ on the third, I don't think he 15 has any reason to not take that representation.
16 Ms. [redacted]. Okay. Yes.
17 Mr. Green. That may shortcut some of this.
18 Ms. [redacted]. Yes. That is what I am representing to you. Thank you. I 19 appreciate your help.
20 Mr. Green. Yep.
21 Ms. [redacted]. Now, on page 178, focusing solely on exhibit 5, it reads: "Good
22 morning." Redacted and redacted. "It appears" -- redacted -- "is actively involved in a
23 pro-Biden campaign and may be disclosing classified information in his efforts.
24 It is difficult to believe that the timing of the attached" -- blank -- "and 25 the" -- blank -- "are coincidental" -- and there's more redacted information, and then it

1 ends with, "Thanks." And the signatory of this email is redacted. These redactions
2 were made by the CIA, not by us.
3 Based on the fact that these were in response to the same initial email chains,
4 would it stand to reason that Mr. Polymeropoulos is the individual referenced in exhibit 5
5 on 178 that is actively involved in a pro-Biden campaign?
6 Mr. Green. I -- go ahead.
7 Mr. Makridis. I'm not sure how I would -- not knowing --
8 Ms. [redacted]. Do you have any reason to say that it was not him who they were 9 referencing?
10 Mr. Green. I'm also -- I'm not super-comfortable with him speculating about 11 what's been redacted by the CIA.
12 Ms. [redacted]. That's fair, but we can at least establish that they are both in 13 response to an email chain referencing Marc Polymeropoulos' manuscript talking points.
14 Mr. Makridis. It appears that way.
15 BY MS. [redacted]:
16 Q It appears that way. Thank you.
17 Do you think it is a problem that the CIA approved the statement and subsequent 18 talking points that were submitted by Mr. Polymeropoulos despite having concerns that 19 an individual -- speculatively, Mr. Polymeropoulos -- was actively involved in a pro-Biden 20 campaign and could have been disclosing classified information in his efforts?
21 A So the PCRB's job is to look for classification. I have no idea who this 22 person is, why they believed what they believed, whether they contacted the PCRB.
23 There's too many holes here for me to -- to comment.
24 Q But just looking at the email chain itself, it stands to reason that this is an 25 internal discussion to the CIA?

1 A It looks like an internal CIA email, yes.

2 Q So someone at the CIA was speculating that an individual involved in the

3 PCRB item of interest dated 20 October, which we have denoted, based on previous

4 evidence, is Marc Polymeropoulos' talking points, could have been involved in a

5 pro-Biden campaign, correct?

6 A I mean, if you're representing that these are all the same documents, these

7 responses are to the same documents, I understand. But I'm not sure what the question

8 is.

9 I don't think I can, sort of, parse out who said what, what role they were in, what

10 position they were in, whether the PCRB was aware of their concerns.

11 Q That's fair. But the CIA --

12 A Well, you can't say the CIA. I mean, CIA --

13 Q An individual at the CIA had these concerns that it was a pro-Biden

14 campaign, correct?

15 A Well, that's what it says here.

16 Q Yes. Do you think, based on their concerns, that the approval of the 17 statement tacitly involved the agency in a domestic election?

18 A I'm not sure -- so this is someone saying that they believe that something

19 here was a pro-Biden campaign.

20 Q That the PCRB item of interest dated 20 October, which is Marc

21 Polymeropoulos' talking points --

22 A I mean, I think CIA approves things based on classification or -- and that's it.

23 So I don't know how to go further than that. That's a process that really looks only at 24 one thing, and that's the release of classified information.

25 BY MR. TRAINOR:

1 Q Let me ask you this, Mr. Makridis, so the PCRB has a concern about the 2 potential dissemination of classified information. It exists to prevent that, correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q So, presumably, someone at the agency, if not at the PCRB, says, somebody 5 actively involved in a presidential campaign may be seeking to disclose classified
6 information. That's a separate question, isn't it?
7 It sort of builds on the concern about disseminating classified information.
8 That's a no-no. And then it says, and they're doing this to support a presidential 9 campaign. So we have two -- would you agree both -- both parts of this are -- should be 10 concerning?
11 Mr. Green. I'm just going to interject. There's a whole bunch that's embedded 12 in that question that I don't think we've established on the record.
13 We don't know if this top chain is from the PCRB or if someone else then 14 forwarded it outside that process. And I think a lot of the words that you used there are 15 not actually in the email.
16 So if you're asking him to answer that hypothetically, he can do that. But I think 17 if it's tethered to this email, there's some assumptions there that I don't think he has the 18 knowledge to answer.
19 BY MR. TRAINOR:
20 Q I appreciate that. It is tethered to the email. And any parts that are 21 hypothetical, I'd ask you to respond to the question as asked. The record has been 22 made, but if you would answer my question.
23 A Sorry. Give me your question one more time just to make sure I'm 24 answering the right question.
25 Q Yes. I think what I was trying to tease out here is, PCRB, we have to look

1 for classified information. We can't disclose that, correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q Okay. Now, someone trying to assist a presidential campaign using

4 classified information -- potentially using classified information from the CIA, fair to say

5 even bigger no-no, if I may?

6 A Use of classified information, regardless of the purpose, is a no-no.

7 Q Right.

8 A Whether that's for personal gain, political gain, or just a mistake. That's a

9 no-no. So I -- the focus here is on classified information. That the 10 publication -- pre-publication classification review board, when they set this up, said

11 there is -- basically, by setting it up, there is no classified or classified had been removed.

12 I don't know which. Whatever had been done had been done.

13 But there was no classified in it, and that's really the focus of the agency, whether

14 or not there's classified information. And you're right, it's a no-no to use classified

15 information for any purpose when you're no longer a CIA employee or to a group of 16 people who aren't cleared for the information.

17 Q Right. And -- but what is significant here is this person is then saying this is

18 being used in pursuit of a presidential campaign, right? So someone -- someone at CIA

19 made this representation. We didn't say it. Somebody -- somebody said it.

20 A I see that.

21 Q Right. So somebody used their judgment to say, hey, not just classified

22 information, pro-Biden campaign guy trying to use classified information.

23 Doesn't that add -- doesn't that tell us that there's an additional dimension of 24 concern?

25 A The dimension of concern for CIA is classified information. So none

1 of -- you know, that construct you just created wouldn't hold up if there wasn't classified
2 information in it.
3 BY MS. [redacted]:
4 Q Well, also --
5 A So that -- the goal of the agency's pre-publication classification review board
6 is to prevent the release of classified information for whatever purpose.
7 Q The CIA's mission is also -- you know, its jurisdiction is restricted to foreign
8 intelligence matters, correct? It is not meant to be involved in U.S. domestic issues --
9 A Does not --
10 Q -- unless it emanates from overseas?
11 A Correct. It's an overseas -- it's a foreign mission.
12 Q So it would be irresponsible for any official to be involved in a pro-Biden
13 campaign if they were part of the CIA?
14 A There's Hatch Act --
15 Q Correct.
16 A -- kind of issues. So if you were a serving officer, you can't get involved in 17 political campaigns.
18 Q And just to close out on this email, the second part says, "It is difficult to 19 believe that the timing of the attached and the attached are coincidental."
20 And we've established that the attached is the PCRB item of interest dated 21 October 20, 2020, which was Marc Polymeropoulos' talking points related to the October 22 19th statement.
23 When they say that it's hard to believe that the timing of that attached and the 24 blank are coincidental, do you think it could be that the CIA staff member in question
25 found it difficult to believe that the timing of the attached talking points and the October

2020 presidential debate were coincidental? Is that at all possible?

Mr. Green. I mean, if you're asking him to speculate and try and give evidence on what the CIA has redacted, I don't think it's appropriate for him to do that.

Ms. [redacted]. Right. But I'm asking based on the timeline of these emails sent and the content of the email in question, that it could have been possible that they were concerned about the timing of these talking points in tandem with the American presidential debate.

Mr. Makridis. I have no -- I don't know who this person is, what they thought, how they thought, what connections they were making.

You know, a lot of things are possible, you know, from reading any sentence. So I -- I mean, it's pure speculation.

BY MS. [redacted]:

Q Would you find any such timing yourself, personally, to be coincidental? That this was submitted a mere few days before the American presidential debate and mere weeks before the actual election itself?

A I don't know. I just -- I'm just not focused on this. So I'm not sure I can give you a good answer or give you any answer.

Q Now, I want to focus on exhibit 5, a different page.

A Which one is 5?

Q So exhibit 5 would be the -- dated March 29th, and we're going to look at pages we haven't read before, which is, I believe, 157 through 158. We've looked at part of this, but not -- we haven't discussed the entire email chain.

A 157 and 158?

Q Correct. And 158 is just the tail end of the --

A Says unclassified.

1 Q So the subject line of this email chain is letter from former IC officers, and it
2 is dated on October 20th, 2020.
3 Could you please read the content of the top email into the record?
4 A "I also love that at least a few of the random signatures belong to individuals
5 currently working here on contracts."
6 Q Thank you. This email sent between CIA staff members on October 20,
7 2020, referencing the October 19th statement that had been submitted by Mr. Morell for 8 review and approval by the PCRB references concerns that there were signatories of the 9 statement who were on active contract with the CIA, correct?
10 A That's what it says.
11 Q Do you have concerns that there could have been individuals on active
12 contract with the CIA involved in the statement?
13 A The PCRB review process would have looked at -- at that. So they would 14 have handled that issue if it were a problem.
15 Q Do you think it's appropriate for individuals who are on active contract with 16 the CIA to be involved with a statement that was intended to give talking points to the 17 Biden campaign, which they would have known about because Mr. Morell told them the 18 exact intent of the statement when asking for signatures?
19 A So, to be honest, I know the rules for CIA employees. I don't know exactly 20 what the rules are for contractors and what they're allowed to do and not do when 21 they're on contract. So I'm not sure where the -- where the lines are there.
22 Q Right. You consult now, not necessarily for the Intelligence Community,
23 but just in general on a variety of issues that are sometimes related to national security,
24 as you've stated before.
25 Would you yourself sign on to a letter as someone who actively consults and could

1 have the potential to be consulting for an intelligence component to this kind of
2 statement?
3 A I wouldn't sign on for the reasons I mentioned before, staying out of the 4 political fray.
5 BY MR. TRAINOR:
6 Q Well, let me ask you this, Mr. Makridis. If you were running the CIA now,
7 never mind what the rules are for contractors, which you say you're not familiar, if CIA
8 came to you and said, hey, Mr. Makridis, you got --
9 A If I was a director of CIA, is that what you're saying?
10 Q You're a director of CIA, got a ton of experience.
11 Should contractors be permitted to sign on to opinion political statements while 12 they have an active contract with the CIA? Yes or no?
13 A Purely hypothetical.
14 Q It's a hypothetical. But what is your judgment?
15 A My judgment is I would make a call to the office of general counsel and have 16 that person come in, and we would have that discussion.
17 Q But just asking your opinion.
18 A So my opinion, should contractors be under the same strictures; is that the 19 question?
20 BY MS. [redacted]:
21 Q So let me rephrase. Mr. Morell testified before Congress on April 4th, 22 2023, that it would be inappropriate for a currently serving staff officer or a contractor to 23 be involved in the political process.
24 Do you agree with Mr. Morell's statement?
25 A I think that's generally understood.

1 Q Generally understood. Thank you.

2 Do you think that there should be any restrictions or safeguards preventing

3 intelligence contractors or consultants from engaging in political activity in the weeks

4 before a U.S. presidential election, especially if they have access to sensitive information

5 that could be relevant?

6 A I think that's a legal matter, and that would have to be determined by office

7 of general counsel.

8 Q And you're not aware if there are currently any restrictions preventing CIA

9 contractors from using Federal Government resources for partisan activities?

10 A I don't know what the rules are. I think it depends on how contracts are 11 structured. So I can't say that I'm familiar.

12 Q Is it possible that any of these signatories who has now been confirmed that

13 at least a few of them were on contract with the CIA, as confirmed by internal CIA emails,

14 do you think it is possible that any of these signatories had access or could have used

15 information to promote the statement internally within the CIA?

16 A Gosh, I don't know.

17 Q Is it possible that, given the inside access afforded to them as contractors for

18 the CIA, that some of these signatories could have leveraged their positions to expedite

19 the statement of the CIA's review process?

20 A You know, I don't have any firsthand knowledge. It seems unlikely. The 21 process is pretty well-worn process.

22 Q Okay. Thank you. Did you speak to any other offices or staff outside the 23 PCRB at the CIA regarding the statement?

24 A At the time or -- no.

25 Q At the time, while it was under review.

1 A No.

2 Mr. Green. And other than, you know, providing notification he had to be here

3 to testify.

4 Mr. Makridis. Providing notification to the director or deputy director.

5 BY MS. [redacted]:

6 Q To the best of your knowledge, was the statement sent to any of the other

7 intelligence agencies?

8 A I -- I have no -- I don't know. I don't know. And I don't know who would 9 have sent it.

10 Q Okay. I would like in the same exhibit, exhibit 5, for you to turn to the page 11 Bates stamped 67. Should be at the front of the pack.

12 A Okay. Is it just this one page, or is there --

13 Q It's just the one page. Thank you.

14 So this email dated October 19th, 2020, with the subject line request quick turn

15 and dash link to attachments is an email from an information analyst working under

16 ODNI's chief operating officer to the CIA, PCRB, and it states that the DNI pre-publication

17 has no objections to the product's release, but that they defer to the CIA to provide the 18 official clearance decisions to the requesters.

19 This confirms that the CIA coordinated, to some degree, with ODNI regarding its 20 review of the October 19th statement, correct?

21 A That's what this implies, yes.

22 Q Is it standard protocol to engage with the ODNI's pre-publication group

23 regarding submissions to the CIA's PCRB?

24 A It's possible. I don't -- don't know enough the details about exactly how 25 the PCRB does their job. So clearly, they -- they did it in this instance.

1 Q Have you ever interacted with any of your counterparts at ODNI regarding,
2 you know, these kinds of statements when you are, you know, maybe notifying for your
3 director at the time. Did you also occasionally, you know, reach over to ODNI, so to 4 speak, to let them know that this was also coming down the pike?
5 A I don't recall reaching over to ODNI on -- on any of these.
6 Q Do you think that the review of this submission rose to ODNI's COO's level
7 due to the impact the statement could have had on the 2020 presidential election? Is 8 that at all possible?
9 A I don't know the DNI process. They may have a similar process in place
10 that we did. Anything written by a former senior would rise up to the chief operating 11 officer to inform, you know, their principals. So they may have had a similar process in 12 place.
13 Q Okay.
14 A But I -- I don't know.
15 Q Thank you.
16 Mr. Trainor. Mr. Makridis, I want to direct your attention back to the 51
17 intelligence official public statement.
18 Ms. [redacted]. Exhibit 2, which would have been the letter.
19 Mr. Green. Yep.
20 BY MR. TRAINOR:
21 Q I think you testified earlier you never had actually seen something analogous
22 to this type of public statement that many former intelligence officials, something weeks
23 before an election. Was that fair to say?
24 A I think what I said is I hadn't seen anything with that many officials on it
25 regardless of what -- you know, regardless of the content.

1 Q Have you ever seen something similar with active or former contractors with
2 the CIA putting their names to a letter like this or any --
3 A You know, if contractors were to write something and it were to go out, it
4 would not have probably risen to my level on -- in the process that I just described earlier.
5 So I don't know.
6 Q Have you ever seen public statements with this many former intelligence
7 officials signed and released three days -- concerning a presidential campaign three days
8 before a presidential debate?
9 A Well, given that it was -- I was only in that job for four years and there was 10 only one presidential election in that interval, I don't know if I can comment on whether 11 things like this would have come up before or other presidential elections. I would not 12 have been in the loop on that process.
13 Q Do you have any prior awareness of whether or not something like this has 14 happened before?
15 A I don't have any awareness one way or the other.
16 Q Okay.
17 Ms. [redacted]. Just one final question from me.
18 BY MS. [redacted]:
19 Q Given the fact that individuals internally at the CIA had concerns about the 20 political nature of the statement and subsequent talking points, do you think that any of 21 the signatories who were on active contract could have been, you know, violating the 22 trust and access of their positions by signing on to a politically charged statement that the 23 CIA had concerns about, frustrations about?
24 A I don't know. I -- I don't know who was involved as far as, you know, what 25 the roles were, who they knew at the agency. I don't have any insight into how people

1 may or may not have used their roles.

2 Q But as you've testified before, you yourself would not have made the same

3 decision that those signatories did?

4 A Because I stay out of politics --

5 Q Thank you.

6 A -- for good reason.

7 Mr. Trainor. One more question. I think you said when our Democrat friends

8 were asking you questions in the last hour, absent the congressional investigation that

9 emanates or emanating from this statement, the October 19th statement, you would not

10 find that statement political? Do I understand that correctly?

11 Mr. Green. I'm not sure that that's what he -- go ahead.

12 Mr. Makridis. Would I find what political?

13 Mr. Trainor. So I think you were asked at the last hour in minority questioning,

14 did you -- is it your opinion this statement of the 51 former intelligence officials was a

15 political statement as -- because of the congressional investigation that followed? Was 16 that your testimony?

17 BY MS. [redacted]:

18 Q Or was it inherently political?

19 A Well, I said I wouldn't be involved in politics, right? So that's what you're,

20 sort of, getting at. Can you read this? I mean, it's talking about President Trump, Vice

21 President Biden. I mean, you can't not -- you can't read that and say there isn't politics

22 involved of some nature.

23 Q Right. And the CIA officials at the time, as we've seen in the email chains,

24 agreed that this seems to be a pro-Biden campaign, so inherently --

25 A That's a single email from some person that we don't know who it was.

Q Right. But at least one person at the CIA had concern that this was part of a pro-Biden and inherently political regardless of the involvement of the -- of Congress?

A That's what the email that you put in front of me said.

Ms. [redacted]. Okay. Thank you. We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

Ms. [redacted]. It's 1:11. We're back on the record.

BY MS. [redacted]

Q I want to return to the discussion that we were having earlier about Mr. Morell's conversations with Mr. Blinken.

Do you recall that discussion?

A Yes.

Q I want to introduce as exhibit 12 the rest of the transcript or other portions of the transcript.

A Of the one I just received?

Q Yep. So you have, I think, marked as 11.

A This is the old first one? Oh, it's the same --

Q It's the same one. It's just a -- oh, wait. Hold on.

Ms. [redacted]: [redacted], this isn't -- these aren't the right pages.

Ms. [redacted]. They're not?

Ms. [redacted]. Sorry. We'll pull those back and get them.

Mr. Makridis. I don't have one.

1 [1:12 p.m.]

2 Ms. [redacted]. Okay, we'll get back to that.

3 I want to turn instead to the emails we were just talking through, and let's start

4 with the email that's Bates stamped page 233 that's in exhibit 4.

5 Mr. Green. And which is exhibit 4?

6 Ms. [redacted]. Sorry. Exhibit 4 is the February 7, 2024, letter and the 7 accompanying production.

8 Mr. Green. Got it. Thank you.

9 BY MS. [redacted]:

10 Q Before I get into this, do you know Marc Polymeropoulos?

11 A I don't think we've ever met.

12 Q Do you know who he is?

13 A I do know who he is.

14 Q And what's your understanding of who he is?

15 A Former DO officer, been retired for a few years.

16 Q Are you aware that at the same time, the same time frame, so October 19th,

17 20th, 21st of 2020, Mr. Polymeropoulos had also sought clearance on an unrelated

18 manuscript?

19 A No, that didn't come to my -- I don't recall that.

20 Q And it wasn't brought up in the prior hour, correct?

21 A Right.

22 Q So I want to look at this email on the bottom of page 233. The email reads:

23 "Here is a PCRB submission of interest for OPA's situational awareness." And OPA is the 24 Office of Public Affairs, correct?"

25 A That's correct.

1 Q "PCRB received for review the attached talking points for media engagement
2 on the Hunter Biden laptop story. The manuscript is by former DO officer Marc
3 Polymeropoulos. PCRB has determined the manuscript contains classified information,
4 the removal of which would enable publication."
5 Do you see -- did I read that correctly?
6 A I see that, yes.
7 Q Okay.
8 So this says that the review board is commenting on talking points, correct?
9 A That's what it appears to say, yes.
10 Q And the October 19th letter was a letter. They weren't talking points,
11 correct? So the letter that was signed by the 51 former intelligence officials was a 12 letter. It was not talking points?
13 A It was not talking points.
14 Q So this letter, this email from the PCRB is not commenting on the 15 October 19th letter, correct?
16 A It doesn't appear to be.
17 Q Okay. It's commenting on talking points?
18 A It says talking points, yes.
19 Q And we talked through in the minority's prior hour that the rule of the PCRB
20 is to look for classified information, correct?
21 A Correct.
22 Q And in this particular email, the PCRB found that, in fact, the proposed 23 talking points did contain classified information, correct?
24 A Has determined the manuscript contains classified information.
25 Q And so the PCRB did not clear this manuscript or these talking points,

1 correct?

2 A That would be the normal process.

3 Q I mean, it says -- the email says, "PCRB has determined the manuscript

4 contains classified information, the removal of which would enable publication."

5 So in other words, with the information currently in, it's not cleared for 6 publication, correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q So turning to in the other -- keep this out. But in the other exhibit, which is

9 exhibit 5 --

10 A Which is 157?

11 Q 157, yes, that email -- I'm sorry. Page 178.

12 A I'm sorry. Page what?

13 Q 178 -- actually, I'm sorry. Page -- this is very confusing. I apologize.

14 The bottom of page 180. Do you see where it says, "PCRB has determined the 15 manuscript contains classified information, the removal of which would enable 16 publication"?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Okay. So whatever manuscript this email is talking about -- I realize the line

19 before it is redacting -- that email or that manuscript also was not cleared unless the 20 classified information was removed, correct?

21 A Yes, that's what the language suggests.

22 Q So then turning to the email on page 178, which is earlier -- which is a later

23 email in this chain.

24 A Are we looking at the top?

25 Q The top, yeah, the top email.

1 First of all, we don't know who this person is? We don't know who sent this
2 email?
3 A It's redacted.
4 Q It's redacted. So and we don't know what office this person was in?
5 A There is nothing here to indicate an office.
6 Q Okay, so --
7 A That's not --
8 Q -- we know nothing about who sent this email, basically?
9 A I think that's probably correct.
10 Q Okay.
11 The text of the email says that somebody, whose name is redacted, may be 12 disposing classified information in his efforts. Do you see where it says that?
13 A First line.
14 Q But, in fact, whoever it was, was not cleared to discuss classified
15 information. In fact, the PCRB said that the manuscript contains classified information, 16 and it has to be removed for it to be published, correct?
17 Mr. Green. If you're linking the first with the bottom.
18 Mr. Makridis. With the last.
19 Ms. [redacted]. Right. Exactly.
20 Mr. Green. But we don't have any --
21 BY MS. [redacted]:
22 Q We don't know but that's what it appears to be on the face of it?
23 A If they were linked.
24 Q And my point is just that whoever it was that sent this email made a 25 statement. That statement might have been incorrect.

1 A Certainly possible.

2 Q Okay.

3 And, in fact, assuming this chain is all one chain and that all these emails are

4 linked, in fact, whoever it was that sent the email was not -- whoever it was that

5 submitted the manuscript was not cleared to discuss it, absent removal of classified

6 information?

7 A Yes. It says the manuscript --

8 Q Right.

9 A -- isn't cleared, yes.

10 Q Okay.

11 Like I said, there's a lot of papers.

12 Okay. If you can turn to page 157. What's the Bates number on 157?

13 A Same document?

14 Q It's majority exhibit 5.

15 Just a couple quick questions about the email at the top of the chain regarding the 16 contract -- people -- "individuals working here on contracts." Again, the from line and 17 the to line, actually, in both of these emails are redacted, correct?

18 A Yes, identifying information is redacted.

19 Q Right.

20 So the individuals who sent and responded to the emails are redacted, and there's 21 no information about who they are or what office they might be from, correct?

22 A There is certainly nothing that I can see here that would indicate an office.

23 Q So looking at the face of these emails, we don't know who this person was 24 that suggested there were individuals working here on contracts, correct?

25 A There is nothing here to identify that person.

1 Q And so we don't know if the person who sent this email actually would have
2 knowledge of that or not, correct?
3 A Not knowing who it is, correct.
4 Q Okay. We can put those aside.
5 I want to return --
6 A Put these aside?
7 Q Yes.
8 -- to what we began to introduce the last time, the discussion about Mr. Morell's
9 interactions with Mr. Blinken. And, again, you recall that conversation in the prior hour?
10 A Yes.
11 Q We're going to introduce as exhibit 12.
12 [Makridis Exhibit No. 12
13 was marked for identification.]
14 BY MS. [redacted]:
15 Q Additional portions of the transcript, of Mr. Morell's transcript. And the 16 prior exhibit, exhibit 11, I think you were just given part of page 19. I'm going to read
17 out loud from the top of page -- sorry, the bottom of page 20 to the top of page 21.
18 So the majority counsel asked Mr. Morell --
19 A Is that Ms. [redacted]?
20 Q Ms. [redacted], yes.
21 "Thank you. And you said now Secretary Blinken was employed by the Biden
22 campaign at the time he sent this email, correct?
23 "Answer: It's my understanding is that he was employed.
24 "Question: When he called you, did he direct, suggest, or insinuate in any way
25 that you should write a letter or statement on this topic?

1 "Answer: My memory is that he did not, right. My memory is that he asked me
2 what I thought.
3 "Question: Okay. It wasn't: The campaign could use some help on this.
4 Could you --
5 "Answer: He did not say that.
6 "Question: -- cook up something that we could use?
7 "Answer: It's not my memory that he said that. "
8 Did I read that correctly?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Okay, so --
11 A And the answers here are from Mr. Morell?
12 Q Mr. Morell.
13 So when Mr. Morell testified, he was actually asked if Mr. Blinken asked him or 14 insinuated or suggested that he should write a letter or statement on the laptop. Do
15 you see where -- that's a correct recounting of what this says, right?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And he said, pretty straightforwardly, that, no, neither Mr. Blinken nor the 18 campaign asked him to write the letter, correct?
19 A It says, "It's not my memory."
20 Q Okay.
21 A He doesn't recall.
22 Q Right.
23 And he says -- the question was: "Okay. It wasn't the campaign could use
24 some help on this. Could you --
25 "Answer: He did not say that."

1 Do you see where it says that?

2 A I do see that.

3 Q Okay. I just wanted to clarify the record on that piece of what Mr. Morell

4 testified to when he was before the committee.

5 A Okay.

6 Are we done with this document?

7 Q We're done. I just wanted to clarify the record as we go.

8 Finally, in the prior hour, you were asked about ODNI Director Ratcliffe's

9 statement about the laptop. Do you recall that conversation?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Okay.

12 And the statement was made that Mr. Ratcliffe would have made presumably

13 more information -- more access to information than the 51 IC letter signatories, correct?

14 A As DNI, he would have access to any classified information he chose to read.

15 Q Okay.

16 So I want to look at another intelligence product that would have also had access

17 to presumably classified information.

18 I'm going to introduce as exhibit 13.

19 [Makridis Exhibit No. 13

20 was marked for identification.]

21 BY MS. [redacted]:

22 Q The March 2021 National Intelligence Council Intelligence Community

23 Assessment about foreign threats to the 2020 U.S. Federal elections. This is a long

24 document. I'm not going to ask you to read the whole thing, because we'll be here for a 25 while?

1 We want to look at Key Judgment 2, which is on page Roman numeral one.

2 A Okay. So you're asking me to read?

3 Q Key Judgment 2.

4 A Key Judgment 2?

5 Q And, actually, can you turn back to the cover page of this document. This

6 document was drafted by the National Intelligence Council, correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q That's sometimes known as the NIC?

9 A The NIC, yes.

10 Q What is the NIC?

11 A The NIC is all of the various intelligence agencies have a representative at 12 the National Intelligence Council. They weigh in on big strategic matters.

13 So as you can see from the logos, you know, most of the Intelligence Community

14 or all OF THE Intelligence Community is represented in these kind of publications.

15 Q Okay.

16 So people working with the NIC through these various intelligence agencies would

17 have access to probably pretty substantial classified information. Is that fair to say?

18 A If they were writing the document, they would all have the same access.

19 Q Okay.

20 And I want to look --

21 BY MR. [redacted]:

22 Q You're a former analyst, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q How many years did you spend as an analyst again?

25 A Of my 38 years at the Agency, probably 20 of them.

1 Q Is the NIC considered a relatively prestigious analytic job to get?

2 A Yes, because you're, you know, weighing in on big strategic issues. They

3 tend to send, you know, experts. And it varies, you know, who goes to the NIC and sits

4 on these kind of meetings. But it's typically people who have a fair amount of expertise.

5 BY MS. [redacted]:

6 Q Looking down in the -- and I'm sorry this is small print. At the bottom in

7 italics --

8 A I have my glasses.

9 Q -- it reads: "This Intelligence Community Assessment was prepared by the 10 National Intelligence Council under the auspices of the National Intelligence Officer, NIO,

11 for Cyber."

12 And then I'm going to go through each one of these agencies and ask you to clarify

13 what each one is.

14 It was drafted by the National Intelligence Council and CIA. That's the Central 15 Intelligence Agency, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q DHS. That's the Department of Homeland Security, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q FBI. That's the Federal Bureau of Investigation, correct?

20 A Correct.

21 Q INR. That's the Bureau of Intelligence and Research at the State

22 Department, correct?

23 A Correct.

24 Q And NSA. That's the National Security Agency, correct?

25 A Correct.

1 Q And coordinated with CIA, DHS, FBI, INR, Treasury. That's the Department
2 of the Treasury, correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q And NSA.
5 A That's what it says, yes.
6 Q So what it's saying is all of these agencies played a role in producing this 7 assessment, correct?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Okay.
10 So turning back to Key Judgment 2 on Roman numeral one. And, again, the 11 statement was made in the earlier hour that Mr. Ratcliffe had said that the Hunter Biden
12 laptop was not Russian disinformation, that he would have had access to classified
13 information when he made that assessment.
14 So I want to read Key Judgment 2 into the record. It reads: "We assess that 15 Russian President Putin authorized, and a range of Russian government organizations
16 conducted, influence operations aimed at denigrating President Biden's candidacy and 17 the Democratic Party, supporting former President Trump, undermining public
18 confidence in the electoral process, and exacerbating sociopolitical divisions in the U.S.
19 Unlike in 2016, we did not see persistent Russian cyber efforts to gain access to 20 election infrastructure. We have high confidence in our assessment. Russian state and 21 proxy actors who all serve the Kremlin's interests worked to affect U.S. public perceptions 22 in a consistent manner.
23 A key element of Moscow's strategy this election cycle was its use of proxies
24 linked to Russian intelligence to push influence narratives, including misleading or 25 unsubstantiated allegations against President Biden, to U.S. media organizations, U.S.

1 officials, and prominent U.S. individuals, including some close to former President Trump
2 and his administration."
3 Did I read that correctly?
4 A You did.
5 Q In the middle of that paragraph, it says, "We have high confidence in our
6 assessment."
7 Do you see where it says that?
8 A I do.
9 Q Are you familiar with the term "high confidence"?
10 A I am.
11 Q Can you explain your understanding of what that means?
12 A So typically, on broader judgments, and especially from the National 13 Intelligence Council, they oftentimes carry a confidence level: High confidence, medium
14 confidence, low confidence.
15 And while it's not -- you know, I can't equate it to a number. I can't say high 16 confidence means 90 percent or -- it means that there's general agreement among the 17 authors, that there is enough information to support whatever the judgment is, as 18 opposed to a judgment where authors or co-authors differ.
19 Q Okay.
20 A Which would get a different confidence level.
21 Q So in this case, all the authors that we just walked through, CIA, DHS, FBI,
22 INR, NSA, and then Treasury as well, they would have all agreed that -- they would have 23 all agreed that the statement could be made with high confidence?
24 A Agree is a tricky word because you're dealing with a lot of individuals, and 25 they all may have had slightly different views. But generally, they clearly agreed to

1 some extent here. Otherwise, would you have seen alternative views.

2 Q Okay. And there's no alternative views here?

3 A I haven't read the document. Nothing certainly in Key Judgment 2.

4 Q Okay.

5 And, again, I realize this does not use the words Hunter Biden laptop specifically,

6 but it does say that a key element of Moscow's strategy was to push influence narratives,

7 correct?

8 A Yeah. This is a broad judgment about intent.

9 Q But it says that Moscow was using proxies to push influence narratives,

10 correct?

11 A Without any specificity.

12 Q Right. But it does say that that was happening?

13 A It does say that.

14 Q Okay.

15 Ms. [redacted]. Okay. I think we're good. We can go off the record.

16 [Whereupon, at 1:31 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] We can go on the record, please.

2 [redacted] This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has

3 requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent

4 to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other

5 intermediaries to censor speech.

6 Would the witness please state your name for the record?

7 [redacted]. [redacted].

8 [redacted] My name is [redacted] and I am with Chairman Jordan's staff.

9 On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here today to 10 answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to appear

11 voluntarily.

12 I'll now have everyone else from the committee who is here at the table introduce

13 themselves as well.

14 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

16 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

17 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

18 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

19 [redacted] [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.

20 [redacted] And [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.

21 [redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will

22 follow during today's interview.

23 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1

24 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period

25 of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more

1 questions and the interview is over.

2 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to

3 take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

4 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

5 make a written record. So we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do

6 you understand?

7 [redacted]. Yes.

8 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our

9 best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to 10 just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

11 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks

12 down at the end of the table can hear you.

13 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we

14 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

15 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 16 counsel if they so choose. And it is my understanding that you are appearing today with

17 counsel. Is that correct?

18 [redacted]. Correct.

19 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?

20 Mr. Bopp. Michael Bopp, with Gibson Dunn, representing [redacted].

21 Mr. Halse. Ehren Halse from King and Spalding on behalf of Alphabet.

22 [redacted] Thank you.

23 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner

24 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not

25 understand one of our questions, please let us know.

1 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics. So if you need clarification at 2 any point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not
3 remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to 4 tell us if you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to 5 know the information. If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say
6 so. And please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide 7 a more complete answer to the question.
8 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by 9 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand
10 that?
11 [redacted]. I do.
12 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an 13 interview. Do you understand this?
14 [redacted]. Yes.
15 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to 16 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section
17 1001. Do you understand this?
18 [redacted]. Yes.
19 [redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to
20 today's questions?
21 [redacted]. No.
22 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make note that the content of what we discuss here
23 today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview
24 to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.
25 And for the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain

1 with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript. And any copies of 2 those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.
3 All right. That's the end of my preamble.
4 Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?
5 [redacted] Yeah. We just want to thank you for traveling across the 6 country to be here today.
7 [redacted]. Thank you.
8 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:04. We will start the first hour of 9 questioning.
10 EXAMINATION
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Good morning. Can I have you state your full name again for the record, 13 please?
14 A [redacted].
15 Q And where are you currently located?
16 A I live in San Carlos. I'm currently in D.C.
17 Q Or where's your current place of employment?
18 A Yeah, I -- I'm not currently employed.
19 Q Okay. Where was your previous place of employment?
20 A Google Alphabet.
21 Q And when did you first join the company?
22 A March 5th, 2007.
23 [redacted] If we could have you speak up just a bit, the acoustics in here are 24 terrible. Thank you.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q And what's your educational background?

2 A I have an undergraduate degree in Management Science and Information

3 Systems Studies from Trinity College Dublin, Ireland.

4 Q And starting with your positions at Google and Alphabet, what

5 positions -- can you go over your professional background, what positions you held at the

6 company?

7 A Yes. I started on the Google Checkout Product team. I was a risk and

8 compliance specialist. Then I moved into a checkout business analyst role. Then I

9 became a manager of a business analyst team of Checkout. I then became the business

10 analyst Lead of Digital Content and Commerce, which was a collection of what has now

11 become the Google Play Market. It has gone through a number of different names, but 12 at that time it was known as Digital Content and Commerce.

13 I then became a business analyst manager of Consumer Operations, then a

14 strategic program manager in what was then called Product Quality Operations. It is

15 now known as Trust and Safety. I then led the User Testing and Research team in Trust

16 and Safety. For a brief period I took over the broader User Advocacy team in Trust and 17 Safety. And then I founded the Responsible Innovation team in Global Affairs.

18 Q Okay. During any of these roles, did you work with or were you employed

19 by DeepMind?

20 A No.

21 Q Starting with when you became a part of the Trust and Safety team, formerly

22 the Product Quality team, when did you first get that position?

23 A I'm afraid I actually don't remember.

24 Q Do you recall approximately how long you were in that role for?

25 A The original Trust and Safety role?

1 Q Yeah.
2 A Approximately a year.
3 Q And at a high level, what were your responsibilities in that role?
4 A As part of the strategy team and as the strategic program manager, I looked 5 at user research. So I looked at user feedback through surveys that Google had 6 conducted to understand where users felt that our products were not living up to 7 company standards.
8 In Product Quality Operations, our primary focus was on the quality of Google's
9 products, including search and, at that time GEO, what became Play Market. And so my 10 focus was on understanding users and trying to share that information with people who 11 could fix the issues raised.
12 Q Did one of the products include YouTube?
13 A I don't remember supporting YouTube, no.
14 Q And what was your position after the Trust and Safety role?
15 A So after the first Trust and Safety role, I -- I'm sorry. I lost my timing.
16 I believe that was when I led CONOPS. So I went into CONOPS for Business
17 Analysis, and that was due to reorganization. So I did the same role around user 18 research.
19 Q And what were you the cofounder of that you mentioned?
20 A I was the founder of Responsible Innovation.
21 Q Okay. And what is Responsible Innovation?
22 A Responsible Innovation was the Operations and Governance team to put 23 Google's AI Principles into practice.
24 Q And had you worked on issues related to AI Principles prior to becoming the 25 cofounder?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And in what way?

3 A I was one of the members of the writing team coming up with what the AI

4 Principles were.

5 Q And when did you first join that team?

6 A It was around September 2017.

7 Q And how many people were on that team?

8 A Approximately eight. It was not a formal team, so sometimes more,

9 sometimes less than eight.

10 Q And what do you mean by it was not a formal team?

11 A We all had full-time jobs, and we participated part time in helping write the 12 AI Principles.

13 Q Who decided who would be on the team?

14 A I don't know for sure. My VP had nominated me.

15 Q Who was your VP at the time?

16 A [redacted].

17 Q And what was his title?

18 A He was VP of Trust and Safety at that time.

19 Q Who were the other members of this team?

20 A There were members from our public policy, legal, and technical teams.

21 Q Do you remember who from the Public Policy team participated?

22 A [redacted] and [redacted].

23 Q Do you know who at the company approved this team or decided that this

24 team was necessary?

25 A My understanding was Kent Walker, chief legal officer of Google.

1 Q And you recall joining around September of 2017?
2 A Yes.
3 Q And how long did you work on developing these principles?
4 A Given my background in user research, I worked on the principles research
5 from about September 2017 until about January or February 2018.
6 Q And how often would you meet with the team during this September 2017
7 to roughly February 2018 time period?
8 A With the group of eight or so, only about every 2 months.
9 Q So you only met a handful of times?
10 A Only a handful, yeah.
11 Q Was there a actual or de facto lead of the team?
12 A Kent Walker as the sponsor.
13 Q And after February 2018, when did you first cofound -- how long was the gap
14 until you cofound the Responsible AI team?
15 A Publicly launched, publicly in Google around September 2018.
16 Q Folks installed in the September 2017 to January-February 2018 period, did
17 the principles address concerns related to ethics?
18 A Yes. The AI Principles were originally described as the ethical charter for 19 the company's technology.
20 Q And at a high level, how did your team assess what was ethical as it applied
21 to AI Principles?
22 A Sorry. Prior to?
23 Q No, I just said at a high level, how did your team assess what is ethical for the 24 AI Principles?
25 A My Responsible Innovation team or --

1 Q No, during this September 2017 to January-February 2018, informal team.

2 A We weren't assessing. We were still conducting research.

3 Q What was -- was there a final work product at the end of February 2018?

4 A Yes. In June 2018, our CEO, Sundar, announced the AI Principles publicly.

5 Q What about February 2018, was there a final internal work product that your

6 team had completed?

7 A I completed my research, but then other members of the team with 8 different expertise than me took over the role then.

9 Q Of drafting?

10 A Of drafting, yes.

11 Q Did you play any role in the drafting, other than your initial research?

12 A Not drafting, no. I'm not a writer.

13 Q Do you know who played a role in the drafting?

14 A I believe it was my legal colleagues on the working group.

15 Q Did you have an opportunity to review the drafted principles before the CEO

16 announced them?

17 A I did.

18 Q Did you have an opportunity to make any changes?

19 A I had an opportunity to. I don't think I did.

20 Q So in fall 2018, there's a public launch of your Responsible AI team. Who 21 else did you cofound this team with?

22 A Kent Walker is who I reported to.

23 Mr. Bopp. He asked who else cofounded the team with you. Did anyone

24 cofound the team with you?

25 [redacted]. No one cofounded.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Okay. It was just you?

3 A Yes.

4 Q And had Mr. Walker assigned this to you?

5 A No. Not to that degree, no.

6 Q And can you tell us a little bit more about how it came about? Was it

7 self-initiated or did someone above you ask you to take on this project?

8 A No one asked me to take it on. The AI Principles would need governance,

9 and I just took it on myself to design that governance.

10 Q So right before you launched the Responsible AI team, what is your position,

11 let's say, in the summer of 2018?

12 A I was the user research and testing manager in Trust and Safety.

13 Q In 2018, while you're still with Trust and Safety, are you working with 14 YouTube at all?

15 A No.

16 Q During your time, understanding that your focus was on user research,

17 during any position you had with Trust and Safety, did you ever have a opportunity to 18 work on any community guidelines or content moderation policies?

19 A No, I don't believe I did.

20 Q In the lead-up until summer of 2018, did you have any interactions with the 21 company's Government Affairs team?

22 A Government Affairs were members of the working group on the AI

23 Principles, yes.

24 Q And you gave us the two names that you recall on the working group.

25 A Yes.

1 Q Other than that working group, do you recall any interactions with Public
2 Policy or Government Affairs team?
3 A Not up to that point, no.
4 Q Walk me through the transitions. Once you've decided that there's a need
5 for governance and that you might be in a position to take the lead on that, who did you
6 at the company reach out to to inform them of your interest in doing this and who 7 ultimately approved it?
8 A Kent.
9 Q So Mr. Walker in both cases?
10 A Yeah, uh-huh.
11 Q And when did he first approve the -- have you lead the Responsible AI team?
12 A I believe it was around August 2018.
13 Q And what are some of the initial steps you had to do when founding the 14 Responsible AI team?
15 A I had to design the objectives and the mission of the team. I had to identify 16 potentially what skills would be needed on the team and identify the potential number of 17 people who would be on that team.
18 Q At a high level, what did you determine the mission of the team to be?
19 A The mission of the team would be to put Google's AI Principles into practice.
20 Q And at a high level, what were those principles?
21 A There are 11 principles, and seven of what we call aspirational things that we 22 won't do or try and achieve and four applications we will not pursue.
23 The seven aspirational are we will build technology that is socially beneficial. We 24 will not create technology that creates or reinforces unfair bias. We will create 25 technology that's privacy protecting and safe. We will build technology that's

1 accountable to people that is scientifically excellent or colloquially known as accurate and
2 high quality. And we will make our technologies available to other people in a way that
3 aligns with those principles.
4 And then the four applications we will not pursue are we will not cause overall
5 harm through our technologies. We will not build AI technology that could be used for 6 large-scale surveillance, violating international norms. We will not build technology that
7 violates human rights. And we will not build technology that could be used for weapons
8 technologies.
9 Q Was there a principle that addressed avoiding unfair bias?
10 A Yes. Our Principle No. 2 says we will not create or reinforce unfair bias.
11 Q And what does that mean?
12 A That we want our products to work equally well for all users, regardless of 13 identity, regardless of access to technology.
14 So as a business priority, we want to make sure as many people have a positive 15 experience on our products as possible, which means identifying and preventing when 16 negative experiences are happening so we can mitigate against issues caused by unfair
17 bias.
18 So preventing harm is the overall mandate of the principles.
19 Q One of the other principles you said was to be accurate?
20 A Scientifically excellent is, yes, our wording.
21 Q Were there instances that you came across, either in developing these 22 principles or then trying to govern them, where you found that principles were in conflict
23 with one another?
24 A We did find that the principles were not mutually exclusive.
25 Q And what are some examples of when they weren't maybe on there?

1 A Yes. We found that, for example, the principles of being scientifically
2 excellent or accurate and privacy could sometimes be a tension, that in order to make
3 sure that something is working as intended and accurate, sometimes it would be helpful
4 to have more data to prove that, but because of our privacy principle, we couldn't have
5 access to that data. So maybe we didn't always know if it was fully working as intended
6 because we didn't have as much data as we needed.
7 Q So sticking with this privacy versus scientific excellence or accuracy and 8 trying to follow both of those principles, was there a priority or hierarchy to the 9 principles? How did your team assess what principles should win out?
10 A There wasn't a hierarchy of principles. For my team, we got involved when 11 there wasn't an existing team handling a principle.
12 Q Okay. Say a little bit more. Were there existing teams handling some of 13 the principles initially?
14 A Yes. Google has a privacy organization that's existed since the time the 15 company was created. So they have far more expertise than my team would have with 16 privacy.
17 Q And what's the name of that team, just --
18 A Honestly, it's gone through name changes. I don't know its current name.
19 Q In the fall 2018 time period, do you recall?
20 A My understanding is it was the Privacy and Security organization.
21 Q What about the scientific and excellence or accuracy principle, was there a 22 team for that?
23 A We generally considered two main teams for that, our Research
24 Organization, who had more expertise on the technical side. My team were not an 25 engineering team. And then the Trust and Safety organization. Again, their original

1 name was Product Quality Operations, so they looked at quality and accuracy.

2 Q For the avoiding unfair bias principle, which -- was there a team in charge of 3 that principle?

4 A No, that was ours.

5 Q I'm sorry?

6 A No, there wasn't another one. So that fell into ours.

7 Q Which other principles do you recall in fall of 2018 fell within your team?

8 A The -- off the applications we will not pursue, there were teams focused on

9 surveillance, for example, weapons, and overall harm. They fell into our world. And of 10 the aspirational ones, fairness, accountable to people were the two that fell into ours.

11 Q And what does that mean, to be accountable to people, used in this context?

12 A Yeah. Honestly, it's a pretty broad bucket. It accounts for things like

13 explainability, the ability to explain the technology that a user is interacting with, so

14 understands and is this AI or not. Transparency falls into this and what areas could we

15 provide more transparency into the technology or where would that transparency cause

16 harm.

17 Another aspect is known as interpretability, which is more of an engineering term.

18 Can the developers understand what they develop or not?

19 And we also have contestability, the ability for people to essentially contest a

20 decision. And that's where user feedback comes in. If someone says, I don't agree

21 with the outcome of the AI technology, contestability is the bucket it would fall in.

22 So accountable to people essentially encompasses all of those things that are 23 user-facing.

24 Q To that last point, being able to contest, can you say a little bit more?

25 What were some of the ways that your team considered enabling people to contest the

1 product?

2 A So we weren't a solution or fixing team. So enabling may not be how I

3 would describe what our team did. We identified areas where users felt they couldn't

4 contest, and we would share that information with other teams so they could address it.

5 Q Is there an example that you can recall?

6 A An example would be for our Trust and Safety team, when they suspect

7 fraud in an account and they may have to put a pause on an account, they didn't always

8 tell the users either that there was a pause or why there was a pause on the account.

9 And their reasoning, which was reasonable for them, was, well, we don't want fraudsters

10 to know why their account was shut down.

11 So we raised possibilities is there a compromise to tell legitimate users, while

12 stopping fraudsters from taking it too -- like, getting too much detail off it. So that type

13 of discussion and issue is how we flag it to another team who had accountability to then 14 fix the issue.

15 Q Uh-huh. And using this example, whether specifically or another

16 hypothetical that's easier, once your team identifies something like this, you know, a way

17 potentially for a user to contest, does your team prepare a memo? Is there a meeting

18 between your team and the team that will implement it? How -- what is the next step in 19 terms of the teams communicating with each other?

20 A Generally, because we met so often, it was shared in our -- in our what we 21 call just our syncs, our regular meetings, yeah.

22 Q And who is in the syncs?

23 A It would change all the time, depending on the product and the issue just

24 because products can be quite large. The different issues were owned by different

25 people.

1 Q Okay. Would there be representatives for each of the teams either in
2 charge of or affiliated with the AI Principles?
3 A No, not at all times. So an example of the contestability, it may just be a
4 member of my user research arm of my team talking to someone in Trust and Safety's
5 research team.
6 Q So are there several standing meetings during this time? We'll stick with,
7 like, post-fall 2018, once you got the team up, where there's a standing meeting with all
8 the teams involved and then sometimes like more bilateral meetings between your team 9 and the --
10 A I don't remember -- I don't remember having any large group meetings. As 11 I was setting it up, my -- I was so low at the start, so I couldn't attend meetings with large 12 groups of people. So it's issue-dependent on the meeting, So, no, not standing 13 meetings, no.
14 Q Let's turn back to when you're first starting up the team. You said 15 you -- one of your initial tasks was to figure out what skills would be needed for your 16 team. At a high level, what skills did you assess were needed?
17 A In general, social sciences skills.
18 Q And why is that?
19 A Because Google already has the best engineers in the world. I didn't need 20 a technical team. I wanted to augment their skills with social sciences skills that were 21 less represented. So it's a gap analysis really of what I felt was already at Google.
22 Q And were you looking for any team members with a background in studying 23 ethics?
24 A I was looking for philosophy majors, uh-huh.
25 Q How many people did you initially assess that you thought your team would

1 need?

2 A I think I initially assessed that I'd need 12.

3 Q And did that assessment change?

4 A Certainly over time, yes.

5 Q Walk me through from fall 2018 to however long you remained in charge of 6 the team. How did the team grow? How quickly and to what --

7 A So in fall 2018, it was me until, I believe, winter of 2018. I had one member

8 join. In quarter one of 2019, I had three join, I think. By summer of 2019, we might

9 have been at six or eight.

10 And then in early 2020, I believe, my former team in Trust and Safety was moved

11 over to me. And so then we increased to about 24. And then I think by end of 2020, I

12 was at 30.

13 Then COVID hit. I think I went down then to around 26 over 2021 and 2022.

14 And by the time I finished in December 2023, we were 24.

15 Q By early 2020, before Trust and Safety, your former folks come join your 16 team, did you have a primary deputy at that time?

17 A By the time the team moved over, it was the manager of the team, yes, who 18 I had hired as my replacement in 2018 moved over, yeah.

19 Q And who's that?

20 A [redacted].

21 Q From the initial fall 2018 until the team expands in early 2020 with Trust and 22 Safety, who had the hiring power for your team?

23 A In what regard?

24 Q Let's say you find someone that meets one of the needs of the team. Did

25 have you the authority just to hire that person on your own? Did you have to get it

1 approved by someone above you?

2 A Well, Google's hiring process involves a number of different committees and

3 people involved. So, no, I would participate usually in setting the criteria and maybe

4 one interview, depending on how junior or senior the person was. And then other

5 people from teams we would work with would interview that member without input

6 from me.

7 And then if they -- depending on the outcome, it goes into a system. And if I

8 remember correctly, there were two interview committees who would then assess the

9 writeups of me and the other interviewers. And then that would get rolled up to a

10 senior hiring committee.

11 That was the process in general of hiring that I had to follow. And then,

12 obviously, that was managed by our HR team.

13 Q Who decided to have the Trust and Safety folks join your team in early 2020?

14 A I actually don't know who made that decision.

15 Q Can you say a little bit more about why that decision was made or why that 16 restructuring ultimately happened?

17 A My understanding was the work was related and it was more efficient to 18 have the teams together.

19 Q And prior to early 2020, for this Trust and Safety team, for these folks, which 20 AI Principles were they most heavily engaged with?

21 A They're most heavily engaged with, number one, be socially beneficial and,

22 number two, do not create or reinforce unfair bias.

23 Q And for these Trust and Safety folks, was it -- were they focused on AI in 24 particular or were they focused on all of the company's products?

25 A It was not AI-specific. Trust and Safety was the company's Trust and Safety

1 team, except YouTube who has their own Trust and Safety team. So this team would 2 have been supporting the same overall approach Trust and Safety was, which was not just
3 AI.
4 Q When you're in the AI Responsible Innovation team, did you have 5 interactions with the YouTube Trust and Safety team?
6 A No.
7 Q During any of your roles at the company, did you have interactions with the 8 YouTube Trust and Safety team?
9 A Yes, more recently.
10 Q And what was the context of those more recent interactions?
11 A They had asked me to help ensure that their AI Principles review process
12 aligned with my central review process.
13 Q Can you say a little bit more about what was the YouTube team seeking to 14 do in either developing or incorporating their own AI principles?
15 A Well, the AI Principles are Google's AI Principles, so every part of Google is 16 posted online with the AI Principles. And although my team is a central expert team on 17 the AI Principles, we aren't either responsible or accountable for doing it during every 18 part of the AI Principles.
19 So among my responsibilities is to train people across the company to understand
20 that the AI Principles exist and that within their work they should be considering it. So
21 as part of that role, in terms of education, awareness, as well as process design, which I
22 led, the YouTube team had attended one of my AI Principles teams training -- I don't think 23 it was mine -- and had been running their own AI Principles review, as they should be,
24 across the company and wanted to make sure it essentially met my standards and aligned
25 with the central process.

1 Q To your understanding, just practically speaking, how does it look like to
2 have YouTube apply or follow the AI Principles with respect to the algorithms amending
3 videos? What does that look like?
4 Mr. Bopp. I'm not sure I understand the question. You're saying how does
5 it -- what does it look like? Can you rephrase that? Do you mind?
6 I don't understand it. Maybe you do.
7 [redacted]. No, I'd ask for clarity, if you can.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Yeah. So you have a number of principles laying out -- you know, like we've 10 gone over the principles of scientific excellence, privacy. How -- how does it look like to 11 have YouTube follow those principles?
12 A I didn't get into that level of details. All I shared was, again, our trainings,
13 that their employees should go through and generally what the AI Principles mean, but I
14 didn't get into any technical details with them.
15 Q Were those -- was there any discussion with the YouTube team about what 16 to do when there appears to be a conflict or some sort of tension between the two -- two 17 principles?
18 A No, it didn't come up.
19 Q Was there any discussion regarding the unfair bias principle?
20 A No.
21 Q When did this discussion occur?
22 A Around August or September 2023.
23 Q And who is your point of contact at YouTube Trust and Safety?
24 A Director of compliance. I think he may have had a longer title, but it was 25 related to compliance efforts.

1 Q Do you remember his name?

2 A [redacted] is his first name. I honestly don't remember his surname.

3 Q So summer 2018, CEO puts out the AI Principles. Fall 2018, you

4 cofound -- or found the team. I should say cofound.

5 Was there an internal work product or a handbook as far as when it comes to

6 governance or how to start to implement these AI Principles?

7 A I certainly had my own scratched off. But when I had to talk to Kent, he 8 wanted it to be a discussion because obviously we had not built a team like this before.

9 And so at the launch of the team, because nothing had happened yet, he actually just 10 wanted me to kind of get started, hire the team, and we'd go from there. So at the 11 start, no.

12 Q What about once you got the team up and running?

13 A Yes, then I created a training for Googlers to understand the AI Principles

14 that exist and me and my team are there to help.

15 Q And when approximately were the first training materials completed?

16 A I believe by the end of 2018. We'd actually borrowed external training

17 materials as our first work product by the Markkula Center who has a established center

18 of ethics and technology. We use their training, and then I just put the AI Principles as a 19 kind of first slide into that.

20 Q And just at a high level, what did the training cover? What did it look like?

21 A So if I recall, we did change the training soon after, because the training

22 focused on what is ethics and it was quite philosophical and we did not find it applicable

23 in a technology environment.

24 Q And so what were some of the changes you made to make it more

25 applicable?

1 A We reduced the theoretical what is ethics, what is philosophy. It just was
2 not useful for our engineers. And we focused on case studies, proposing that if you're
3 working on this type of product, here's how the AI Principles may apply. Let's discuss 4 more practical use cases. So it became a case study exercise.
5 Q How frequently were the training materials updated once you got this 6 revised, more applicable version?
7 A We went through a few rapid iterations. So there's probably four different
8 versions in the first 4 months, and after that, maybe once a year.
9 Q Starting with the once it's more -- it's been revised to be more applicable
10 and then going forward, would you ever solicit external feedback?
11 A Not on our training, no, just on that very start with Markkula Center.
12 Q Did the trainings go over how to handle situations where there appeared to 13 be tension between the principles? So you gave the one example earlier of privacy and 14 scientific excellence.
15 A I don't recall if it went into the tensions of the AI Principles, no.
16 Q Separate from the training, just in general, when working with the engineers,
17 whoever it is at the company, once you've come across an instance of a potential tension 18 between -- we'll stick with the privacy and scientific excellence example -- first, typically 19 how did that come to your attention?
20 A The process for my team's work was a product manager or their legal 21 counsel would -- what we call would flag the product to my team. So it would be a
22 discussion often with legal, or a Google Form submission would come to my team, just 23 giving us a brief overview of what the product was. And that's how we got it. It was a 24 form open to any Googler in the company, and that was how most people got to my 25 team. And through the training, that's how they knew to get to that form.

1 Q And can you say a little bit more about what this Google form looks like? Is 2 it just accessible by only those within the company?
3 A Yes, it is a Google-privileged form that a product manager or their legal 4 counsel would just enter product information that would just go to my team.
5 Q And would you get an email notification, or how did you receive this access
6 to this document?
7 A My team system, I believe, was that one of the programs managers would 8 get a email notification. It was like an alert that, once someone submits, it went to the 9 program manager, saying the team needs to review. And that one program manager
10 would bring it to our team meeting.
11 Q Did you have the ability to go back to a previous Google Form if you needed
12 to reference it for whatever reason?
13 A I would, but the team would not.
14 Q Okay. And was there a time period of how long you can go back to 15 reference a previous Google Form?
16 A No, I don't believe. I just -- I'm hesitating because we did move systems,
17 again, as part of our iterations of our process. And the -- maybe the oldest ones would 18 not then be accessible. And once we moved to a new system, only the ones on the new 19 system were accessible.
20 Q Once you moved to the new system, did the name change?
21 A Which name?
22 Q The Google Form.
23 A Yeah, it wasn't a form anymore. So it simply dropped the form, and it was I
24 believe just AI Principles submission was the name.
25 Q We'll just pick 2020 as a starting point. How many AI submissions would

1 your team receive, say, on a monthly basis?

2 A In 2020?

3 Q Yeah.

4 A Estimate of maybe 10 a month.

5 Q Okay. And how did the pace or the frequency change over the years that 6 you were in charge?

7 A Increased with the pace of the AI development in the company, yeah, so

8 increased each year.

9 Q And what -- I'm sorry. I think you said this earlier, but when did you leave

10 your position as head of the Responsible AI team?

11 A December 15th, 2023.

12 Q So by end 2023, how many AI submission was your team receiving on a 13 monthly basis?

14 A I'd have to do the math. We received about 500 that year.

15 Q And these could be for any product in the company. Is that right?

16 A Any product in scope. Again, YouTube had its own process. Cloud had its 17 own process. DeepMind was not part of my coverage. So, yes, with limitations, we 18 supported the company.

19 Q To your understanding, does YouTube have a parallel system that folks could 20 submit for AI?

21 A That's my understanding.

22 Q Who's the head of the AI governance, whatever the right word is, for the 23 YouTube team?

24 A [redacted] was my contact. I don't know if he was the lead or just my contact,

25 because he worked in compliance and I worked in compliance.

1 The Reporter. Do you have a spelling for that?

2 [redacted]. I believe it was [redacted]. I just don't know the surname.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Was Gemini one of the products that fell within the scope of your team?

5 A We didn't see it, no.

6 Q Whose team would that fall under?

7 A I don't know. The model was DeepMind's model. But in Google, we have

8 a development process of data, model, and product, and my team reviewed products.

9 Models came out of research teams, either Google Research or DeepMind. And Gemini,

10 at the time I was in the company, was a model. So it was sill in DeepMind.

11 Q And sitting here today, what's your understanding of where it is?

12 A That was my understanding, yes.

13 Q Still a model?

14 A No, I know from the public media it is now a product.

15 Q Oh, okay.

16 A Yeah.

17 Q So you -- so it was December 15th, 2023 --

18 A Yes.

19 Q -- you left? And why did you leave that position?

20 A My team was moved into Trust and Safety to scale the Responsible

21 Innovation work.

22 Q And what became your next position after that?

23 A I became AI risk and compliance advisor in the Office of Compliance and 24 Integrity.

25 Q Were you aware that the company was considering moving the Responsible

1 Innovation team to Trust and Safety?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And when did those discussions first begin?

4 A I don't know when they first began.

5 Q When did you first become aware?

6 A Around October 2023.

7 Q And were you supportive of the decision?

8 A I loved my job. I wanted to keep doing it.

9 Q And the restructuring meant you could no longer --

10 A Correct.

11 Q -- continue the position you were doing?

12 Who -- to your understanding, who was the ultimate decisionmaker for this

13 particular restructuring?

14 A I'm not sure. It was communicated to me by HR.

15 Q When it came to starting your next position, was there someone already in 16 that role or was it a newly created role?

17 A Was there someone in the advisor role?

18 Q Yeah.

19 A No, it was a new role.

20 Q For when -- for most of the folks, I think you said it was 24 people in 21 December 2023?

22 A Uh-huh.

23 Q Where did the rest of the folks end up, to your understanding?

24 A My understanding, 21 moved to Trust and Safety, and three remained in the 25 Office of Compliance and Integrity.

1 Q And given your responsibilities up to the end of 2023, which position was
2 primarily responsible for handling those responsibilities going forward?
3 A Which positions?
4 Q Yes.
5 A Ultimately, the VP of Trust and Safety, I believe.
6 Q And who's the VP of Trust and Safety at that time?
7 A [redacted].
8 Q Were you given any reasons of what spurred this change, why it was 9 necessary to take place at the end of 2023?
10 A I was told it was to help the teams work to scale.
11 Q And by that, did you understand that to mean that the team would need to 12 expand the amount of work coming in most likely to expand?
13 A Yes, that was my understanding.
14 Q And who communicated this to you?
15 A HR.
16 Q Were you -- was Mr. Walker still at the company at this time?
17 A My understanding is he is.
18 Q Yeah. Was he still -- who was your direct report in December of 2023 prior 19 to the restructuring?
20 A My direct manager?
21 Q Yes.
22 A The chief compliance officer for Google.
23 Q And who is that?
24 A That's Spyro Karetsos?
25 [redacted] Can you spell that?

1 [redacted]. S-p-y-r-o, K-a-r-e-t-s -- I'm sorry. We weren't big on surnames at 2 Google. Karetsos.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q From fall 2018 until December 2023, which office were you based out of?
5 A I was in Shoreline building.
6 Q Prior to the restructuring on -- in December 2023, did you have any 7 conversations with Google leadership about the restructuring?
8 A No. I don't believe I did, no.
9 Q Did you have any conversations with anyone at the company about the 10 restructuring, other than HR?
11 A My VP, Spyro, yeah.
12 Q And did you share your thoughts on what you thought the right approach 13 would be?
14 A I shared my personal feelings, more emotional than work related, with him.
15 So we didn't get into details.
16 Q Okay. And just at a high level, you generally would have preferred if there
17 was not a restructuring?
18 A Selfishly for myself, yes.
19 Q Independent of the restructuring, just in the -- up until mid-December of 20 2023, did you have any direct interactions with the C-suite of the company?
21 A Yes. Kent, yeah. We, I think, met maybe monthly in a group on our 22 responsibility efforts.
23 Q And was it just the two of you? Was it part of a broader meeting?
24 A No, it was Kent's regular AI Responsibility council meeting.
25 Q And when did those meetings first start?

1 A January 2023.
2 Q Was there anything in particular that spurred those meetings that led to lead
3 you to start meeting monthly?
4 A We had a lot of exciting gen AI technology, and so Kent wanted to make sure
5 it was developed responsibly so he set up this meeting.
6 Q So after the restructuring, you take on an advisor role. Who is your direct
7 report at that time?
8 A My manager remained Spyro, still the chief compliance officer.
9 Q And how did your day-to-day responsibilities change?
10 A I was no longer a people manager, so my -- all my people had moved on.
11 So my people manager responsibilities, I didn't have them anymore. And my day-to-day
12 governance and operations role had changed. So it essentially changed 90 percent, 95
13 percent, uh-huh.
14 Q And what did your day to day look like once you became in the new 15 position? Let's just start with the new position.
16 A Very different every day. Google had been going through a significant 17 number of layoffs. And because I'd been in the company such a long time, people came 18 to me for advice. And so I became more a career advisor than risk and compliance
19 advisor for that time, given the changes at the company.
20 Q And how long were you in this position for?
21 A About like 3 months, before leaving on March 4th, 2024.
22 Q And did you leave the position or the whole -- the company in March 2024?
23 A I left the company on March 4th.
24 Q Do you have any direct interactions with the CEO while you were at the 25 company?

1 A No.

2 Q When you left the company March 2024, was there anyone who filled your

3 position formally, to your understanding?

4 A Not to my understanding.

5 Q Did you have opportunities to -- in the new position to continue to interact

6 with your old team members who are now with Trust and Safety, or was that outside the 7 scope of your new responsibilities?

8 Mr. Bopp. You're saying after [redacted] changed roles, whether she had the 9 opportunity to continue to interact with her former team members?

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q Yeah. The responsibilities changed 90, 95 percent. Is there 5, 10 percent

12 of where you were still working with your prior team or was it a pretty dramatic change?

13 A Pretty clean-cut.

14 Q In the time from 2018 until mid-December 2023, did you have any 15 interactions with the Government Affairs and Public Policy team -- we'd gone over the 16 working group -- but post that time?

17 A Yes, on an ad hoc basis.

18 Q And just -- or it could be hypothetical too, but what would be the type of 19 instance that would lead you to have an interaction with that team?

20 A Sometimes they'd send across work product from external groups. And

21 given my expertise from building AI governance at Google, they felt I'd have a lot of

22 expertise. And as I said, I moved my responsibilities with Education and Awareness, So

23 they wanted me to share that. So every so often they'd share something with me for 24 my opinion.

25 Q And when it's coming from an external group, is that -- what type of external

1 entities are we talking about?

2 A There were a number of different types. It could be universities,

3 government groups, nonprofits. Who else? Yeah, just schools sometimes. Yeah, a 4 mixture.

5 Q And was this team responsible for the company's Global Affairs and

6 interactions with governments around the world or was it primarily focused on the U.S.?

7 Mr. Bopp. You're asking about the Public Policy team?

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q That's right. To the extent --

10 A My experiences were our Global team members. So I think it was the 11 Global team, yeah.

12 Q Did you have any communications with the Government Affairs/Public Policy

13 team about work that the executive branch in the U.S. was doing as it related to AI?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And what were some of those interactions?

16 A Before the White House commitments were announced, the Public Policy

17 team had shared with me a draft and asked if I had any opinions on it, if, given my

18 experience doing our AI, again, and governance for 5 or so years, if I had any thoughts on

19 what was workable, what was not workable, and just share that with the Public Policy

20 team.

21 Q Do you recall how far in advance you had an opportunity to review before it

22 became public?

23 A I don't remember how far in advance.

24 Q Do you recall the -- when approximately this occurred, either when you first

25 reviewed or when it became public?

1 A I would estimate it was either late 2022, early 2023 when I would have seen
2 a draft.
3 Q And do you recall what your initial reaction was when you'd seen that
4 version of the draft?
5 A I think I remember thinking, great, we're doing many of these things already.
6 So it looks good for me personally looking at it. Processwise, it meant to me, like, Oh,
7 I'm not wide off the mark if they're getting this type of input from other people. So I
8 saw quite a bit of alignment. I told Public Policy Team that, that, yeah, we're already 9 doing so much of this.
10 And then I also identified the areas that we weren't doing and just saying, just 11 calling out we haven't done, for example, external testing. But I'd actually been asking
12 for external testing resources for a couple of years. So I said, I actually like that idea. I 13 had wanted to do it myself.
14 So there were the types of comments of here's my experience, here's what's 15 worked well for us, or we haven't done this before. That looks interesting.
16 Q And what does external testing mean in this context?
17 A So our internal testing involves not just our dedicated team for testing on 18 Responsible Innovation. We also work with trained Googlers from across different 19 teams and otherwise to help us kind of expand the pool of testers. So that's our 20 external testing. We've been doing that since my Trust and Safety days when I led 21 testing team. That's internal testing.
22 External testing means they're not Google employees. We would have to source 23 external people to get a broad representative -- representation of our users because we 24 also have to recognize Google employees aren't always representative of our global users.
25 And also my background in user research shows that you have to listen to as many people

1 as possible.

2 So external testing could allow for more broader representation of our global

3 users. So external people testing our product would be external testing. But as I said,

4 at least in my time, we hadn't got to do that.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Whether internal testing or external testing, was there an analogous

4 application for things within the company that are still in the model stage, not yet in the 5 product stage?

6 A Sorry, could you rephrase what you said?

7 Q Sure, sure. So you said --

8 A Sorry.

9 Q You were just -- your previous answer was referencing internal and then,

10 potentially, later external testing as it relates to products.

11 A Yeah.

12 Q Is it the same language, or is there an application to models? Like, so we 13 are looking at, earlier, development models and product.

14 A Yeah. Yeah, I wasn't as close to the model, so my understanding was that 15 there was internal testing. Again, I don't know about external testing.

16 Q Okay.

17 Who was your main point of contact, if you had one, of who worked on Gemini

18 while it was in the model stage?

19 A At the model stage, it was [redacted], was a product manager on the 20 Responsible AI team. So they are -- sorry. We were Responsible Innovation, which

21 was up in governance. Our partner team was Responsible AI, which was a technical

22 team. She was a product manager on that team. And she worked most closely with

23 DeepMind.

24 And for Gemini, I don't think I had gotten a single name for DeepMind Gemini.

25 So she was the one person that I'd known. And she was closer to our world in the 1 Google side.

2 Q Okay. Who was the head of the Responsible AI team while you were

3 there?

4 A [redacted], director of product management.

5 Q And from fall 2018 until mid-December 2023, how frequently would you

6 work with her?

7 A That's a long timeframe.

8 Q Yeah.

9 A Like, fall to early 2020, I don't if we worked together very often. And I think

10 in 2021 we had worked together more frequently. There was -- sorry. I'm trying to 11 remember the order for her.

12 We did not have regular meetings until 2022. Then we started having regular

13 meetings. And then we discontinued them. It was better our teams were meeting

14 [inaudible]. So, then, in 2023, we had maybe biweekly group meetings where we'd 15 share what our teams were working on.

16 So, yeah, it was part of a group thing we met.

17 Q In 2022 and 2023, did you get a sense of how big her team was?

18 A I think she was around 10 people.

19 Q So your answers earlier talked about internal testing. How many folks

20 within the company, approximately, were able to conduct internal testing as it related to 21 AI principles?

22 A About 1,500.

23 Q Other than the external testing, were there parts of the White House draft 24 that either your team hadn't applied or hadn't considered?

25 A Well, similar to the AI principles, I wasn't just looking for my team's work but

1 my understanding of what was happening across the company.

2 An example of that is one of the commitments [inaudible] like cybersecurity

3 testing. My team wouldn't have done that, but I know we've had security testing teams.

4 So my comments weren't just specific to my team.

5 But, no, the external testing was the only one off the top of my head that I didn't

6 even think there was maybe another team at Google doing it.

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 When sending your response or initial reaction back to the Government Affairs

9 and Public Policy team, do you recall if that was, like, an email? A written work

10 product? Did you have a meeting with them?

11 A I think they shared the draft on that Google document where I just put my 12 comments in the document.

13 Q Okay.

14 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please? Our first hour is up.

15 [Recess.]

16 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

17 Thanks, [redacted], for being here today. Thank you again.

18 EXAMINATION

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q I want to start a little bit just to cover your background a bit more.

21 You worked at Google for over 15 years. Is that right?

22 A Seventeen.

23 Q Seventeen. Okay. And we've talked about how you founded the 24 Responsible Innovation team in 2018?

25 A Correct.

1 Q Before that, you also helped found Google's Ethical Machine Learning team.
2 Is that right?
3 A Yes, ma'am.
4 Q What did that team do?
5 A It essentially was the precursor to Responsible Innovation. It did testing of 6 what became ethical principles.
7 Q And prior to that, you also co-founded and led Google's initial machine
8 learning fairness efforts. Is that right?
9 A Correct.
10 Q And when did those efforts begin?
11 A My efforts began in around 2014, but the company ones I think I would refer 12 to there was probably around 2016.
13 Q So is it fair to say that you've been working in this area of AI responsibility
14 and ethics for about a decade?
15 A Yep.
16 Q And you've been working on it just as long as Google has?
17 A Correct.
18 Q In 2018 we talked about how Google released its AI principles, right?
19 A Yep.
20 Q And what role did you play, again, in the development of those principles?
21 A I was one of the members of the working group. And given my role at that 22 time was based on my user research work in Trust and Safety, I led the initial research
23 into what the AI principles categories could be. So I did the initial research for what 24 became the AI principles.
25 But, as I described earlier, my role kind of ended early 2018 as it moved into final

1 writing, given I'm not a writer.

2 Q And before we go much further, I just want to make sure we have a common

3 understanding of what we're talking about when we say "artificial intelligence" or "AI." I

4 know that you're not an engineer, but could you just explain generally what we're

5 referring to what we say "AI"?

6 A So there certainly isn't a single definition, either in industry or in Google.

7 But how I think about it is, artificial intelligence is the science of making technology smart.

8 And, generally, AI learns from training data trained on the world and then makes

9 predictions on outcomes.

10 Q And we've also talked a little bit about generative AI. Could you explain

11 what that is?

12 A Yes. So generative AI is slightly different than AI. Where traditional AI

13 learns from data that it's seen and it makes a prediction based on it, generative AI, as per

14 its name, generates new data. So it may not have seen it before; generates it. It's still

15 based on predictions and otherwise, but it can generate things that maybe we haven't

16 seen before.

17 Q You mentioned -- or we talked a bit, sorry, about the AI principles in the last 18 hour, and I want to go a little bit more into them in detail.

19 You're clearly very familiar with them, but I want to introduce as our exhibit 1 the 20 June 7th, 2018, blog post that first announced the principles.

21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1.

22 was marked for identification.]

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q Are you familiar with this post?

25 A Yes.

1 Q I want to turn to the principles section. But before we start going through
2 them, do Google's AI principles only apply to generative AI, or do they apply to all types of 3 AI technologies?
4 A They apply to all custom AI technologies. Why the distinction is necessary
5 is, we have a lot of off-the-shelf AI technologies, where the control is in generally
6 commercial partners' hands. And we don't dictate commercial partners' usage.
7 Q So any AI that Google --
8 A We build for our users, yeah.
9 Q And, generally, what was the goal of the team when researching and 10 authoring these principles?
11 A The goal of the working group was to -- what was originally shared with us
12 was to define the ethical charter for the development and deployment of advanced 13 technology. So to define an ethical charter for development of technology.
14 Q Have these principles substantively changed since their release in 2018?
15 A The principles have not changed since 2018.
16 Q So, walking through each in a bit more detail, the first is, "Be socially
17 beneficial." Is that right?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Could you explain generally what that means?
20 A It generally means that any technology we provide should be helpful, useful
21 to individual users, consumers, businesses, the world more broadly. So we don't just 22 take for granted, is also what this principle is saying, is that we need to deliberately
23 ensure that our technologies are helpful, useful, and beneficial.
24 Q Do you think it's important that this is the first principle of the list of 11?
25 A As I said previously, they're all equally important for my team. But as an

1 anchor, it's a pretty broad one. So starting broad is always useful.

2 Q And why was it important for Google to hold this principle?

3 A The mission of the company is to make helpful and useful products, and so

4 we wanted to reflect that in the principles, that we are continuing the mission of being

5 socially beneficial.

6 Q And talking about the work of your Responsible Innovation team, how would

7 this principle be operationalized?

8 A So, usually at the input stage, when a product team or their council submits

9 to my team for a review, they have to state this.

10 And so it's more the work on the product team to make their product socially

11 beneficial. And my team has to see and verify that that sounds like it's going to be 12 useful for the world. But we don't do additional work on it.

13 Q The next principle is, "Avoid creating or reenforcing unfair bias." Is that 14 right?

15 A Correct.

16 Q And I know we talked about this in the previous hour, but could you just 17 explain again what that means?

18 A So we have found in our data that our data reflects real-world biases. So it

19 doesn't mean that we can make all of our products fully fair, but we have to actively work

20 to make sure that they're not unfair in ways that we can investigate and protect against.

21 So this wording was specific, about not creating or reenforcing unfair bias,

22 because unfortunately no one has solved the fact that we can't always avoid reflecting

23 unfair bias. So it's acknowledgment of our role versus, kind of, the world's role in 24 creating bias.

25 Q And could you explain, is there a risk that's associated with AI specifically

1 that creates an extra risk of creating or reenforcing unfair bias? Or why is this important
2 related to AI?
3 A So any technology can reenforce or create bias, but with AI, because 4 AI -- and one of the biggest components of AI is machine learning, where it learns from 5 data, so it will learn from existing biases in the data. And given the scale at which AI can 6 be deployed, it could mean that these biases then are scaled and exacerbated.
7 It doesn't mean they always will, but, again, these principles are trying to get 8 ahead of issues and prevent them. And so AI, we found, could exacerbate existing 9 biases.
10 Q And you mentioned that this principle was important because Google
11 wanted to make sure that all users, regardless of identity or their access to technology,
12 could access Google's products. Is that right?
13 A Correct. It makes business sense that our products would work for 14 everyone.
15 Q And that applies to users of different political beliefs?
16 A Anyone.
17 Q In your experience, when people were coming to your team with product
18 ideas, did they generally intend to create or reenforce bias in their products?
19 A Never. Engineers and product managers were essentially raising their 20 hands, saying, "Help me understand something I may not see or I may not understand."
21 Because they never intended, but we as a company had previous examples where our 22 products had not met our goals despite the best intentions, and so our product teams
23 recognized they could be next.
24 Q So you found that it was important to have this principle even though
25 nobody in the company, in your experience, was necessarily trying to create or reenforce

1 unfair bias?

2 A No, we have no experience of anyone trying to, but we know that the data,

3 to no fault of the engineers, could create bias.

4 Q How did RESIN, or your Responsible Innovation team, operationalize this

5 principle in its work?

6 A Yeah. So all 11 principles were reviewed in our work, but specific to this

7 one, we conducted testing -- so testing for fairness, which we had built on the same

8 concepts of security testing.

9 So, when I was building the team for testing, I'd worked with the security experts

10 to understand how they had set up testing, and then set up testing first in Trust and 11 Safety. And part of the Trust and Safety testing became fairness testing. And then

12 that was the team I described earlier as moving over to RESIN, Responsible Innovation,

13 and continuing that testing.

14 So testing was the main operationalization of this principle.

15 Q And what did that testing -- what might that testing show? Or what was 16 the purpose of that testing?

17 A The testing was to understand if a product was more or less likely to produce

18 potential harms based on bias.

19 As an example, for our image-based products, we wanted to make sure that our

20 image-based products were inclusive of our global user base, and so we would test to see,

21 are different groups represented?

22 Q So the third principle is, "Be built and tested for safety." Is that right?

23 A Correct.

24 Q Could you explain what that means?

25 A Yes. So this is the traditional safety and security that Trust and Safety and

1 our security organization would run. So this was one of the principles that my team
2 would pass over to experts. We would not hold ourselves accountable to this.
3 But, basically, it is to ensure that there is not harmful content, that users are not
4 damaged either financially or economically in any way by our technologies. So there's a
5 lot of testing for essentially financial protection, security-of-our-systems protection,
6 infrastructure protection. So, again, that moves closer into our cybersecurity work. So
7 this principle captures many different facets of safety.
8 Q What are some examples of those risks of harm that you were trying to 9 avoid?
10 A Specific to safety or overall?
11 Q Specific to safety for now.
12 A Specific to safety would be nefarious actors trying to either get into Google's 13 systems or potentially nefarious actors trying to get into our cloud customers' systems to 14 extract private information, extract financial information. And so ensuring that our 15 infrastructure, technical infrastructure, could protect against external attacks.
16 Q And you said that your team used the Trust and Safety experts to 17 operationalize this principle. Is that right?
18 A That's correct.
19 Q The fourth principle is, "Be accountable to people." Is that right?
20 A Correct.
21 Q What does that mean in general?
22 A It means, obviously, a lot of different things to different people. We have 23 expanded it since the initial writing.
24 So, as I explained earlier, some of the key concepts of being accountable to people 25 is for our technology to be explainable, so end users can understand what is happening in

1 the technology; that the technology should be interpretable, so that developers designing
2 the technology can interpret the results and fix bugs or otherwise; that it's contestable,
3 that people can either contest decisions or appeal decisions, which was the wording we
4 originally had here; and then "opportunities for feedback" means that users, either
5 through surveys we send out or through our Google feedback channels, can send us
6 feedback that then the product teams would act upon.
7 And so we are being accountable to our users; we're being accountable to 8 external people. And so a lot is captured in that one.
9 Q Why was it important to Google to make sure that its products were both 10 accountable to people but also explainable and interpretable?
11 A A number of different reasons. I'll start with -- because I'm biased, coming 12 from the Trust and Safety organization -- it builds trust when users feel they have some 13 control. When users feel they have a say in our technology, they're more likely to trust
14 it. And if something goes wrong, that they don't understand it, being able to contest
15 that decision or even just share feedback on that decision makes them feel more heard 16 and understood.
17 So, from a user perspective, it's important to them to trust the technology.
18 Then, obviously, from a company perspective, when users trust our technology, they're 19 more likely to use it.
20 Q And what about the explainability and the interpretability aspects?
21 A So, quite different.
22 The explainability aligns with what I was saying, that if users understand the 23 technology -- the example I use is, in Google search results, if an ad appears, not many 24 people like the ads, so they can click on it and say, why did this ad show? So a user has 25 control to click on it. It'll show the reason. Maybe you searched on something similar.

1 So that's a very basic explanation.

2 But then there's another link that says, want to hear more or have control? You

3 click on it, and it brings a whole page of the options of how ads are aligned, which

4 explains to the user exactly why that ad appeared. So that's both explanation and

5 control.

6 So explanations is for an external user and important for trust.

7 The interpretability for developers is developers understanding the technology so

8 they can debug it. If something is going wrong, how to understand it enough that they

9 can fix relevant issues. And AI, being an advanced technology, is not as simple as going

10 into a line of code and maybe fixing it. It's really how it's learnt over time. It can be a 11 lot more complex to interpret.

12 So, again, just claiming deliberate steps for interpretability was important in the 13 principles.

14 Q How did your team operationalize the principles of accountability?

15 A Some aspects, something like explainability -- because I had a user

16 researcher on my team where her expertise was in explanations and UX, so user

17 experience on a product. So she handled a lot of our explainability work, conducting 18 research, advising product teams.

19 But things like interpretability is more an engineering problem, so engineering

20 research teams handled interpretability.

21 And then for feedback and appeals, Trust and Safety owned the channels of 22 feedback and appeals, so they handled that. So it wasn't one team.

23 Q The fifth principle is, "Incorporate privacy design principles." Is that right?

24 A Correct.

25 Q What does that mean generally?

1 A Protecting user data. And, again, we had a whole established organization
2 who handled everything related to privacy. So they were everything from a research
3 organization to the technical solutions team and user experience. They grouped all of 4 those steps.
5 Q Why is that principle important to Google?
6 A Privacy is a key pillar of our technology. Again, it goes back to trustworthy.
7 Our users have to trust our technology, know that we'll keep their data private, in order
8 to use our technology.
9 Q The sixth principle, at the bottom of that page, is, "Uphold high standards of 10 scientific excellence."
11 A Yes.
12 Q We talked about this also a little bit before, but could you explain generally
13 what that means?
14 A So scientific excellence is just making sure that not only is Google keeping
15 itself to the highest standards of AI advancement -- obviously, we want to produce 16 technology that's exciting and useful for everybody -- but it also is trying to take into 17 account that also it needs to be developed in the right way and following established
18 principles, whether they are engineering best practices or scientific method, as outlined
19 here, and not essentially perpetuating junk science or things that -- around this time,
20 we'd seen some stories of AI being claimed to solve things that it cannot solve. And so
21 trying to avoid and note that not every AI solution is really a solution.
22 Q How did at the time or how does Google ensure that the standards it's 23 upholding are scientifically rigorous and accurate?
24 A I'm not on the engineering team, so this is one of those that the engineering
25 team handled.

1 Q And your team generally turned to the technical experts for this principle?
2 A Yes. And we sometimes, depending on the riskiness of the product, would
3 ask for validation that another engineering team had approved it, or if it was lower-risk,
4 we wouldn't necessarily need validation. The team themselves would be like, "Of 5 course I followed these engineering practices." Yep.
6 Q And, finally, the seventh principle is, "Be made available for uses that accord
7 with these principles." Is that right?
8 A Yep.
9 Q The second sentence says, "We work to limit potentially harmful or abusive
10 applications." Do you see that?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Can you explain generally what that means?
13 A So that sentence -- but, also, it's very tied to the first sentence, "Many 14 technologies have multiple uses" -- accounts for the fact that AI technologies are what's 15 known as dual-use, that they can be used for good or harmful purposes and the exact
16 same thing can be used for good or harmful.
17 So, when Google makes its technologies available, we obviously don't want
18 harmful applications, but when we make it available, as captured in the first statement,
19 that's when we make it available to commercial partners. And we try and not take a 20 very hands-on or heavy approach with our commercial partners. We trust them that 21 they know their business better than us. But we do believe that we should help them as 22 much as possible to be responsible and build in guardrails as appropriate.
23 So we will work to build those guardrails, but ultimately it will be the commercial 24 partners' decision, what to use the technology for.
25 Q So the principle about being made available applies more to Google's

1 partnerships or selling products to commercial partners?

2 A Yes, not to the ones that we would deliver directly to users, which we have

3 that full control over, but for commercial partners or open-source. So commercial is the 4 biggest bucket, but we also make some of our research open-source.

5 Q We talked a little bit earlier about specifically safety and security harm, but

6 you had asked should you talk about harm generally.

7 Could you tell us about how these AI principles work generally to mitigate the 8 harm that potentially could be caused by artificial intelligence technologies?

9 A If I understand the question correctly, the AI principles, a part of this overall

10 harm prevention, was based on the research that we'd done at the time we were writing

11 the principles. And it took into account issues within Google's technology that we'd 12 already seen needed to be addressed but needed to be addressed at scale, essentially,

13 more formally.

14 My user research had also shown that external research and groups had identified

15 areas that they were concerned about AI, and so needed to take into account those

16 harms, those, kind of, other people saying, "This is the harm I'm concerned about," kind

17 of, "Google should take that into account."

18 And then the third group was direct from our users. From my years in Trust and

19 Safety and having access to the feedback channels and otherwise, I heard directly from 20 users of where they were scared about AI or otherwise. And so hearing about what

21 they believed harms were informed what we then considered the harms that we should 22 work against.

23 So it was really, kind of, external input from a wide range of sources that helped

24 us define harm. And we were very conscious that we didn't necessarily want to define

25 harm just for ourselves, just for Google, and that we wanted to make sure we were

1 defining it for users, for society, and using their language and concerns as primary input.
2 Q And you said this was the research done in the late 2017, early 2018 time
3 period?
4 A Yes.
5 Q What did Google -- or, what did your research show that some of those 6 potential harms could be?
7 A Well, in the first bucket of our own experiences, there had been an incident
8 in 2015, which became known as the "gorillas and Photos incident," where Google Photos
9 were supposed to label people by their activity or otherwise, and it labeled Black people 10 as gorillas, which obviously was offensive and was not the intention of the 11 engineers -- back to our previous point of, they didn't intentionally state this unfair bias.
12 And so we had learned from experiences like that to take into account that we 13 want to prevent that type of offensive content, and harmful.
14 Our research had also shown that people were fearful that AI would exacerbate 15 essentially how unknown technology is, which goes back to the question around trust,
16 that AI appeared kind of almost fundamentally scary to some people. And so something
17 like "be accountable to people" was, how do we bring people along this AI journey with 18 us?
19 So there were practical things we saw in our research that fed into what we 20 needed to work against.
21 Q Are you familiar with the term "deepfakes"?
22 A I am familiar.
23 Q Could you explain your understanding of what that is?
24 A Deepfakes are -- my understanding -- I haven't worked on deepfakes -- but 25 my understanding of deepfakes is when AI technologies are created to imply something

1 happened to a real person when it didn't.

2 Q Is that another example of a harmful application or a potential harm from

3 AI?

4 A That's a potential harm, correct.

5 Q Are you familiar with an incident at the beginning of this year where

6 pornographic AI-generated images of Taylor Swift were spread on social media?

7 A I read that in the news, yes.

8 Q Is that another example of a potentially harmful application of AI?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Is that kind of application of AI something that Google's principles are hoping 11 to address or prevent?

12 A Yes, yeah, covered in safety and harm. Uh-huh.

13 Q And why is it important generally for Google to limit the potential harm of AI

14 technologies that it custom develops?

15 A We are a business. If we harm our customers, we will lose customers.

16 And so, from a business perspective, it is the right thing to do, to make sure our 17 technology is safe, useful, inclusive of as many people as possible.

18 Q And it's fair to say that Google wants to be inclusive of as many as people as 19 possible to get as many customers as possible?

20 A Yes.

21 Q Do you think that the AI principles help Google accomplish that goal?

22 A I do.

23 Q During your work on the working group with the AI principles, did anybody

24 from the U.S. Government tell you that you had to adopt AI principles?

25 A No.

1 Q Did anyone from the U.S. Government tell you what to put in the AI
2 principles?
3 A No.
4 Q Did Google adopt its AI principles as a result of coercion or pressure from 5 any external stakeholders?
6 A No.
7 Q You mentioned earlier that you founded the Responsible Innovation team
8 because these AI principles needed governance. Is that right?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Could you explain what you meant by that? What do you mean by 11 "governance," and why do they need them?
12 A I'll start with the second question first. Based on the same concept of 13 "engineers don't intend to cause harm, don't intend to be unfair to anyone," that process 14 can help ensure that that's true, that we can make sure that we're building guardrails into 15 technology.
16 So, similar to AI principles, I don't believe anyone at Google was trying to violate
17 or never wanted to follow the AI principles, but we're not all experts -- like, I'm not an 18 expert in privacy. If I was building a product, I would need help to understand what 19 privacy is. So the principles help establish what to look out for and what teams to work 20 with.
21 So that was the need for it, is the AI principles are meaningless if they're just up
22 there and people don't know how to apply them. So that was the starting point, really,
23 to make them meaningful.
24 And then my governance approach -- again, coming from a user research
25 background, I conducted a lot of research about what does good governance look like and

1 has anyone built anything similar in the responsible-AI space before. They hadn't. But,
2 instead, I built it on good governance of risk management. So I conducted a lot of user
3 research on what does good risk management look like. And then, as I explained in a
4 previous answer earlier, what I initially set up had to go through a number of iterations
5 before we got to a more steady state. So governance was built on existing risk
6 management governance.
7 Q And you talked a bit about the actual process that your team followed, and 8 you were responsible for designing those processes, of the AI review. Is that right?
9 A The original processes. Once I had a team, I had people better than me
10 helping design the process, yes.
11 Q And that process included people from all around Google being able to 12 submit their products for review by your team?
13 A Correct.
14 Q What kinds of products were submitted for review? Was it just generative
15 AI? Was it something else?
16 A No. We got products from across different product areas. An example of 17 another product that went public maybe, like, the year before was the Pixel Camera.
18 There had previously been cameras in our Pixel phones before, but they didn't work as 19 well for everyone. And so we engaged with the product team to help them on their 20 testing, and the camera ended up winning awards for how it had actually become more 21 inclusive of many different types of people.
22 So Photos -- and the Geo team, as they were coming up with their new AI versions
23 of directions, point A to point B, we were testing that their AI was accurate. Obviously,
24 that one was important. So it was more their expertise in accuracy, but we would just 25 help them test. So, in that type of case, we were more like a consultancy testing team.

1 It may not be our area of expertise, but we could kind of try and break the product under
2 their guidance. So -- and a number of different products.
3 Q And when a product was submitted to your team for review, if you were 4 looking at a principle that your team didn't necessarily have expertise in, how did you
5 refer it to another team for a review of that principle?
6 A Honestly, it was mostly personal relationships. Some members of my 7 team, like myself, had been in the company a number of years, and we had our network
8 of people to simply ping quickly and be like, "Jump into this meeting" or otherwise. It
9 was quite informal, some of the transfers.
10 More formal was actually the privacy one, just because they were so long
11 established and formal. We knew to get the product team to submit in the privacy
12 team's forum, which is equivalent to ours.
13 Q You mentioned in 2023 your team conducted reviews of about 500 products.
14 Is that right?
15 A Correct.
16 Q We talked about this a little bit in the last hour, but it wasn't completely
17 clear to me. Could you talk about the difference between be a model and a product?
18 A Yeah. So how we think about the AI development lifecycle or generative AI
19 development lifecycle is, there's data, model, and then product.
20 So the data set, as it sounds like, it's just a collection of data. Either researchers
21 create that themselves or product teams do.
22 The model is using that data to try and achieve a general aim. An example might 23 be, I want a text model that's able to come up with text sentences. And so this model is 24 trained on text data to come up with a text model.
25 But if you actually want to use that model for a particular use case, like I want this

1 text to be used in a conversation agent, you then have to do training and fine-tuning for
2 that specific use case, because a general text model is a bit too broad and not very useful
3 for the use case.
4 So then it goes through other changes to become, then, a product, which is
5 user-facing. A model generally isn't user-facing; it's only researchers.
6 I generally use an analogy that it's like a car with a car engine. The model is the 7 engine. And then the car is the product that the engine is put into, where you can swap
8 out that engine as you get it. You can also change your car model, and then maybe that 9 same model goes into the car. And so there's a bit of, kind of, almost modulated
10 approach to it.
11 Q So the same model could be used in couple of different products?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And a product might change which model it's using?
14 A Yep.
15 Q Did your team review the user-facing products or the models?
16 A We were user-facing products, yeah.
17 Q You also mentioned in the earlier hour the Responsible AI team. Could you 18 explain how their work was different from your team's work?
19 A Yeah. So I generally described our relationship as kind of like we were the 20 bookends of our partnership.
21 So we identify issues through our testing or through our AI principles review.
22 When we've identified issues, they would go to the product team and the Responsible AI
23 technical team to fix the issues and work on solutions. So we handed it over to them.
24 And then once they said that they were done with those fixing solutions,
25 sometimes we would validate, again, depending on -- we took a risk-based approach, so it

1 would depend on the riskiness. If it was a higher-risk product, we would validate them
2 at the end. So it'd come back to us then, and we'd say, yeah, we've run more tests, it
3 seems okay or within an acceptable band.
4 So that was the relationship. They were the technical team working with the 5 product teams that we handed our work over to, and then sometimes they would hand it
6 back.
7 Q And, lastly, you mentioned the AI Responsibility Council that your VP
8 convened. Is that right?
9 A My SVP.
10 Q Okay. Could you explain what that was?
11 A Yeah. So the AI Responsibility Council was a council of executives who 12 came together often -- I think I said monthly, but, again, it was mostly monthly -- and that 13 they would come together to discuss the current AI topics and any potential flags coming 14 from my team, from the Responsible AI team, or from the product teams. And so they 15 would convene to discuss what's being done about it, what are those concerns, and what 16 are the next steps.
17 [redacted] We can go off the record.
18 [Recess.]
19 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q You stated earlier that your team provided an ethics training for Google
22 product engineers. Is that correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q And you also stated that the content of that training eventually shifted from 25 "what is ethics" to more concrete case studies of what the ethical thing is to do is in a

1 given situation. Is that right?

2 A Correct.

3 Q Do you recall what those case studies were?

4 A I recall two of them.

5 One was on facial recognition and the broad questions or the implications of facial

6 recognition in different use cases. So we discussed when facial recognition might be a

7 good idea, when facial recognition may not be.

8 And the second example was using the Google Photos and gorillas incident

9 because it was a real one, and so people could see not just how to wrestle with those

10 questions but the reactions when we got it wrong.

11 Q And was any document created with regard to these case studies, like any

12 internal document that Google produced?

13 A For facial recognition, it wasn't shared in the training but there was a

14 document. Because we had publicly announced we would not make a general-purpose

15 facial-recognition technology available, and so we had an internal document

16 accompanying that announcement publicly.

17 For the Google Photos one, I'm not familiar with documentation. It really was a

18 case study to be discussed in the training.

19 Q And who put together these case studies?

20 A My ethicists, philosophers.

21 Q Which Google teams did your team provide these trainings to?

22 A A number of different teams. I think our last numbers was, like, 10,000

23 Googlers had gone through our trainings. I believe, volume-wise, Cloud was the 24 organization with the largest number of people who went through our training.

25 Q Would that include the AI product teams?

A Yes.

Q You stated that there was an official machine learning fairness program at Google. Is that correct?

A There had been, yes.

Q There had been. And that officially began in 2016?

A By our definition of "official." So, yes, me and a couple of people who had been working on user research in the space of, again, what happened with the gorillas and Photos incident, we essentially kind of found each other and decided that we should conduct research together.

Q And you said "had been." For how long did that program last?

A Until about 2018, when then the AI principles launched, and so then it became just one of the 11 efforts that we then supported.

Q Who was responsible for creating that program?

A The ML fairness one? Me and the three people that were doing similar research.

Q Who were the other two people?

A [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted].

Q [redacted] --

A [redacted] [redacted].

Q What role did you play in the creation of the program?

A Again, given my operations background, I started working on potential policies and processes that teams could follow to test for fairness issues.

Q Can you describe some of those policies and processes?

A So the process was testing. I had already started investigating testing products from the Trust and Safety perspective, and so sharing that testing was a good way of identifying if there were issues with different products.

And so the testing program became the main process that we designed for teams to essentially plug-and-play themselves. I didn't yet have a full testing team myself, and so I designed the process that teams could follow themselves.

Q When the program kind of ended in 2018, did it shift or did it transition to the Responsible Innovation program, or did it just terminate?

A It essentially got subsumed by the work on principle No. 2, "Do not create or reenforce unfair bias," because of the research and testing that we had done. It became how we did that principle. So it was more subsumed as part of that.

Q So it's fair to say it's ongoing -- that effort is still ongoing through that principle?

A It's still an open research question, correct.

[redacted] So is it the same personnel, largely, who went from working on the machine learning to the No. 2 principle on AI? When you say it was subsumed, was that --

[redacted]. Yeah. No. The people I named -- [redacted] is no longer at the company, and [redacted] pretty quickly moved into a different role and discontinued his work on that effort.

BY [redacted]

Q What's the difference between responsible AI or machine learning fairness and trust and safety?

A Team-wise or definition? Sorry, could you clarify?

Q You can start with a definition. What does Google mean with those different terms?

A So the different terms were? Sorry.

1 Q Yeah, if you could just distinguish between responsible AI and machine
2 learning fairness and trust and safety, what each of those mean, or how they're different
3 from one another.
4 A Okay.
5 Machine learning fairness is a subset of responsible AI because, because 6 responsible AI, in general, is the concept of, kind of, ethical principles of AI, of which 7 fairness is just one of them. So ML fairness is a subset of that.
8 And then trust and safety traditionally has meant more content safety, content
9 moderation, and things like that. So it's more on the content side, while responsible AI
10 tries to be on the, kind of, process side, how are things developed. And trust and safety
11 is on the what will be seen by users.
12 Q Does responsible AI involve any aspects of looking at the content, or is that 13 reserved for trust and safety?
14 A Yeah, trust and safety has existed longer than the responsible AI effort, so it
15 remains in that org.
16 Q Earlier, you mentioned a Google AI Responsibility Council. Is that correct?
17 A Correct.
18 Q Is that different than Google's Advanced Technology Review Council?
19 A It is the next version of it. The ATRC, Advanced Technology Review Council,
20 was the original version of AIRC, which became the AI Responsibility Council.
21 Q So it's now called the AI Responsibility Council.
22 A Yes.
23 Q Okay. Gotcha.
24 [redacted] Any change in the scope of responsibilities or focus for the new 25 version of the council?

1 [redacted]. The scope, yes, accounted for generative AI. Previously, ATRC was 2 AI-focused, and so AIRC accounted for our generative AI developments.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q Which Google products did your team review and provide feedback on that
5 have gone public? I know you've mentioned the Pixel Camera. And Google Maps?
6 Or Geo? Or --
7 A Yeah, there was a number of Geo features --
8 Q Uh-huh.
9 A -- not a whole new product. But we also, because it's public-facing,
10 features also would fall under my team's scope. The one I remember is the efficiency
11 or -- I think it was about -- like, reducing your carbon footprint was one of the Geo
12 projects they used with AI. My team consulted on that. I don't remember the rest of 13 Geo.
14 So Camera, Photos. Another product that comes to mind is, our Google Magic 15 Editor in Photos was a big project. My team had spent a lot of time on Magic Editor.
16 And we helped on some of the initial generative AI features in Docs. So, when 17 generative AI was put in as an experiment in Google Docs to summarize content, we had 18 consulted on that project as well.
19 There was many more. I'm sorry. Yeah, where my team was directly involved
20 with the product team, they're the ones that come to mind.
21 Q Could any products be approved to go public without being reviewed by 22 your team?
23 A They could. We took a risk-based approach as a company, and so, given 24 our training, we essentially were training product teams to make these decisions
25 themselves. But, as I explained earlier, sometimes there were just areas that an

1 engineer was like, "I'm not trying to do this thing, but I don't know if I am. Could you
2 help out?"
3 So, yes, they certainly could go without my team. We were trying to scale our 4 work. We were only 24 people, and, in a 180,000-person company, we wanted to train
5 as many people to self-service -- what we called it -- themselves.
6 Q And, to your understanding, was Kent Walker involved in the Advanced 7 Technology Review Council?
8 A Yes.
9 Q What was his role?
10 A He was co-chair.
11 Q And what did the council do? Could you explain a little bit more about it?
12 A So they would discuss topics coming from my team, from product teams, to 13 both kind of educate themselves what's going on and share suggestions about, like, if my 14 team was having trouble resourcing a particular project, help us prioritize our work.
15 But it was mostly a knowledge-sharing council. It was a pretty multidisciplinary 16 group, and we wanted to keep people informed.
17 Q Would things be escalated to that council? How did it come before the 18 council?
19 A Some things were, but they were mostly legal escalations that would go to 20 that council. And so my team wouldn't handle the escalations in most cases.
21 Q Do you recall what kinds of escalations?
22 Mr. Halse. This is, I think, getting into some potentially privileged issues. I
23 know you've been mindful of that so far, but I just wanted to raise that for the record.
24 So, to the extent you recall, [redacted], not being privileged or having legal opine on 25 what --

1 [redacted]. Yep.

2 Mr. Halse. -- got escalated, I think that that's okay.

3 [redacted]. An example of a non-privileged thing that was escalated was the AI

4 principles. People had discussed whether they should be updated to take into account

5 generative AI or were they still fit for purpose. And so a council like that would be the

6 ones who discussed it. And I brought my team's thoughts, my own thoughts, and 7 shared that with the group.

8 So, as an example of the type of thing that -- that would be a company-wide thing,

9 to change our principles -- that council was who would discuss it.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q When did that discussion occur?

12 A Around March of 2023.

13 Q Do you recall in that discussion if there were any principles in particular that

14 people were concerned the principles may not apply the same to generative AI?

15 A The one that comes to mind is "Be accountable to people," No. 4. As I

16 explained earlier, it includes a lot of different things that we've learnt can be

17 encompassed in that principle, so it feels that we're putting a lot in a single principle. So

18 there had been feedback that maybe we should break that out and make it specific

19 that -- like, explainability. Telling people they're interacting with a generative AI model

20 seems more important than ever. Maybe we need to take that into account in that

21 principle. So that principle I remember being called out.

22 Q Do you recall if there was any discussion specifically to the scientific 23 excellence or accuracy principle?

24 A I actually don't remember that being called out.

25 Q What about the unfair bias principle?

A That wasn't called out.

[redacted] To your understanding, was Kent Walker involved in overseeing the design, development, or deployment of Gemini.

[redacted]. I don't know.

BY [redacted]

Q We talked quite a bit about the internal AI principles that Google developed and published.

Are there any voluntary AI-related frameworks or commitments that the company has chosen to adopt or sign that you're aware of?

A So the White House commitments were the most recent ones I think I recall.

In general, the only other ones I might be familiar with is the ISO global standards. Our engineering organization had adopted the ISO engineering standards, and I remember being asked to consult on the ISO 4201, on the AI trustworthy standard. I'm not sure we've committed to that, but we partake in ISO standards discussions.

Q Do you recall what your initial reaction was reviewing the AI trustworthy standards for the --

A ISO?

Q -- ISO global?

A Very technical. I didn't, at that time, think my team was going to be the best place to respond, because they weren't social science standards, so they didn't take into account things like responsibilities, transparency. It was very technical. It was, here is how to go from, like, data to model. So I remember that being my initial reaction, thinking maybe my team won't be helpful here.

Q Uh-huh.

And what about the White House commitments? Were those more technical, or

1 were those closer to the social sciences and, kind of, responsibility standards?

2 A They're very high-level and closer to our, kind of, social-science/trustworthy

3 goals, yeah.

4 Q Are you familiar with the executive orders that the Biden administration -- I

5 guess this was the Biden White House -- has put out on responsible AI?

6 A I'm aware of them, yeah.

7 Q Did you have any discussions with anyone in the executive branch prior to 8 those executive orders being issued?

9 A No. I don't --

10 Mr. Bopp. Relating to the executive order?

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Relating to the executive orders.

13 A Not directly. My engagements were through our Public Policy team,

14 "engagement" being the comments that I mentioned earlier.

15 Q Prior to the engagement, your comments, on the draft of the public policy

16 we had provided you earlier, what sort of interactions had you had with the Public Policy

17 and Government Affairs team before then but after the 2018 working group?

18 A More ad hoc. As these types of drafts came out, Public Policy would share

19 them with me for my feedback.

20 Q Uh-huh. Are there any other drafts that come to mind that were raised

21 during that time?

22 A I remember providing feedback on a draft of the Department of Defense

23 ethics principles. I believe that was 2019 maybe, actually -- sorry -- maybe a bit earlier,

24 2019 I think.

25 Q Are there any other examples that come to mind?

A The NIST AI Risk Management Framework I also had provided feedback on. I think they're the main ones. Yeah.

Mr. Halse. Counsel, I'm sorry, one thing. I think you had asked about whether she reviewed anything, but I think it was in the context of the executive order.

[redacted] you didn't review any drafts of the executive order?

[redacted]. No. The White House commitments are the ones that come to mind, yeah.

Mr. Halse. Okay. Thank you.

[redacted] Thank you.

BY [redacted]

Q For the NIST AI Risk Management Framework, just to clarify, you had an opportunity -- was it to review an earlier draft? Or what was the nature of your interaction with the Public Policy team?

A So the Public Policy team had asked me to engage in a discussion with I believe it was NIST and a couple of other industry folks who were in similar roles to me who would have practical industry experience, if we could share that experience with NIST as they were drafting it.

So I'd seen a bit of a draft, and then, once it was drafted, I engaged again to share my expertise on a public panel discussing how the AI RMF was progressing.

So a couple of knowledge-sharing sessions where I'd share how I had adopted my own principles in AI risk management and what worked and what didn't, again, because I'd gone through quite a number of iterations myself. So I tried sharing which things had done well or not.

Q And do you recall the general timeline of when, say, the pre-discussion started and then how long until the post-draft discussion took place?

1 A It was a couple years. I remember it was quite a broad gap between 2 engaging and -- yeah. Maybe more accurate than that I don't think I could get you.
3 Q Okay. For the pre-draft discussion, do you recall which other industry
4 partners were invited?
5 A Not accurately, but generally it was usually Microsoft and Twitter who were 6 engaging in those. We were companies who had responsible innovation boards (ph), so
7 they were generally the ones that would show up. If I was there, then they were only 8 other companies who generally had the same processes in governance.
9 Q Do you recall who from Microsoft and Twitter would generally attend these 10 type of discussions?
11 A [redacted] from Twitter. And Microsoft, no. They would 12 change between their legal team and their responsible innovation team, so, no, it was 13 always different, so I don't remember the names.
14 Q Separate from these discussions, did you have a point of contact at 15 Microsoft's responsible innovation team or someone you knew?
16 A No, not a standing relation.
17 Q Do you recall, at a high level, what issues were raised during the discussion
18 before the drafting took place?
19 Mr. Bopp. Just to be clear on the record, "before the drafting," what drafting are 20 you referring to?
21 [redacted] The drafting of NIST's -- what ultimately became NIST's AI Risk
22 Management Framework.
23 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
24 [redacted]. I feel, in the earlier stages, it was talk about structural things that 25 had to be in place. I think we had discussions on whether you need to build standalone

1 governance teams, like we had done, or if you could integrate into existing processes.
2 So I kind of remember just a healthy debate, because some of the companies had built
3 standalones, some had not, and so the pros and cons of that.
4 So very, very, kind of, almost structural, organizational, to where you would house
5 a governance structure, I think the earlier discussions were.

1 [12:14 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q If you could say just a little bit more. So by structural versus standalone, a

4 system where companies on their own have a standalone sort of framework as opposed

5 to government or some sort of entity --

6 A Oh. No, sorry. So regardless of what governance framework to adopt,

7 because at least like me and the other companies, we already had our governance set up.

8 So these types of frameworks didn't have a lot of impact on us. But if we were trying to

9 think about, well, the next 10, hundred, however many companies, how should they think

10 about their governance? Should they adopt these frameworks? And we were

11 generally thinking that not every company can spin up their own framework, so maybe

12 these frameworks would be helpful. But where will that framework live? Will it live in 13 a standalone governance team or should it be integrated maybe into their existing

14 compliance team or legal team? If they have a trust and safety team, should it be 15 integrated there?

16 So that's more what I meant structurally. It wasn't the framework itself. It was,

17 if these frameworks are adopted, where do they live? And we were just sharing.

18 Obviously, I built my own standalone one. I had the pros and cons of that. And, again,

19 I forget which company said they don't have enough people to build a standalone one, so

20 they trained their, like, compliance staff to do it or something like that. So that's what I

21 meant by, like, early structural, where would these frameworks live.

22 Q And then as the drafting process is taking place, is your feedback at any 23 point solicited, either directly or through the Public Policy team?

24 Mr. Bopp. Are you asking general or specifically with respect to the NIST

25 standards?

1 [redacted] Specifically with the NIST standards.

2 [redacted]. I don't remember seeing a document with the draft on it. I

3 remember discussions. Like I said, more panels with other industry leaders. So, no, I

4 don't remember it being solicited in between those steps.

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q The discussions taking place post-drafting, when you say it was after the

7 drafting had largely taken place, was this before it had been publicly issued? So there's

8 like a more finalized draft, but it's still internally being worked on. Is that right?

9 A My understanding was that it was a finalized draft. I think it was, like, fairly

10 public but was not kind of the announced version. So that was what we were 11 responding to, a kind of finalized draft, was my understanding.

12 Q So those discussions happening after the finalized draft, do you recall what

13 issues being discussed?

14 A For this one I do. They had given the draft of their governance structure,

15 and similar to the White House commitments, I looked at that and was like, yeah, I've

16 been doing most of these things for a number of years, but here's a couple of things that

17 stand out. So I remember my discussion point was around they had pretty, maybe,

18 strict wording around metrics and measurements, which I found quite unwieldy that,

19 through our iterations of our processes, it's very hard to come up with metrics and 20 measurements in such a new area of technology.

21 So my feedback was focused on, hey, everything else I have a lot of experience to

22 share and how we've done that. This one, here's all the difficulties I've found doing

23 metrics and measurements. So I remember that being, because it was perceived as a

24 provocative statement to say that I just thought that bullet point was very tough.

25 Q Who perceived it as provocative?

1 A My team, my Standards team. As I mentioned, they would host me and
2 generally get me involved in these discussions. And they said maybe focus on the things
3 we agree with and we can support, which is -- I'm generally happy being a supporter, but I
4 felt it was important just to acknowledge it's very hard to measure these things.
5 Q And so when you said this is your perspective and you're talking with the 6 team, is this an internal team discussion before the more public panel?
7 A Yes. The Public Policy and Standards people in Google who asked if I was 8 okay attending this panel, and I said yeah. And we learned a lot in our processes, happy
9 to share. They were like, what do you want to share, and that was it. They invited me
10 to the panel, I said what I shared, and that was pretty much it.
11 Q Yeah. And who on either the Public Policy team or your team made the 12 more general remark that it would be great to highlight areas of support?
13 A I don't remember. It was a little small group discussion. It was pretty 14 informal.
15 Q Did they give a reason why it would be good to highlight areas of support?
16 A No. Google just likes being seen as collaborative.
17 Q Collaborative with the Federal Government or -- 18 A No. Just we have a lot to share. We are one of the most advanced, 19 responsible AI governance teams in the industry. And we have a lot to share, and we 20 should be open about sharing it.
21 Q As it relates to these specific set of discussions, they are being led by NIST?
22 A I believe the logistics were organized by NIST.
23 Q And were there other government entities involved, to your knowledge?
24 A Not to my knowledge.
25 Q Turning back to the metrics and measurements. What sorts of metrics and

1 measurements, you know, can be measured or folks would like to be able to measure as 2 its relates to AI?
3 Mr. Bopp. Wait a minute. I'm not sure -- I'm sorry. I'm not sure when you
4 say folks who would like to measure, are you -- is there anyone in particular you have in 5 mind?
6 [redacted] Just as a general concept. So this is a framework meant to apply to 7 different companies across the board, different stages.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q And focusing on the response that it could be difficult, "unwieldy," is the 10 term you used, to actually conduct certain metrics and measurements. I'm just trying to 11 get a sense of like what we're referring to, which metrics, measurements.
12 A Yup. So I believe they wanted to say, like, how trustworthy an AI product
13 or a model was. It's a very broad statement. It's very hard to answer that question, 14 again, both based on my experience in user research and as we were testing these 15 models ourselves. So that very broad statement of how to measure trustworthiness, it's 16 hard.
17 Q And just to push a little bit more. I think there's probably some obvious 18 use cases, but why is that a measurement that's difficult to -- why is that a metric that's 19 difficult to measure?
20 A Number of different reasons: Who gets to define trustworthiness? Who 21 thinks it's trustworthy? Is it the end user? Is it maybe an auditor of that? Is it the 22 company thinks it's trustworthy? So it's the who thinks it's trustworthy. And what 23 specifically would the metric be? What even is the metric of trustworthiness? Is it 24 usefulness? If so, is there a metric for usefulness? Is it helpfulness? What even is 25 the metric for helpfulness? So just -- it even spins off so many different questions that

1 they in themselves in identifying the right question is hard. So it's a very broad bucket.
2 Q Prior to this initial internal discussion with Google, prior to the panel post
3 the finalized draft of NIST Risk Management Framework, this type of discussion on 4 metrics and measurements, was that something your team had considered earlier at any 5 point?
6 A We considered it and felt that we weren't the right team. It was probably 7 better suited in the engineering team who had more hard technical and quantitative 8 skills.
9 Q And to your knowledge, did the engineering team or any other team at the 10 company attempt to try to find a metric or measurement for trustworthiness?
11 A My understanding was researchers were looking into it.
12 Q And do you know which research teams?
13 A I do not.
14 Q And to your knowledge, did anything come of it, of the research?
15 A I am unsure. The Google Research team publishes thousands of papers a 16 year. I did not stay on top of it.
17 Q In the prediscussion with just the internal company folks before the more 18 public discussion, post-finalized draft or NIST AI Risk Management Framework, when the 19 comment was made that this position or this view might be a bit provocative, was there 20 any discussion about how best to present that view?
21 A Nope. They left it up to me.
22 Q And did you ultimately share this view in the post-finalized discussion that
23 took place?
24 A I did share that metrics was very hard, yes.
25 Q And do you recall what the reaction was to your sharing that view?

1 A Nope. I don't recall any reaction.
2 Q Separate from the NIST AI Risk Management Framework, do you recall any 3 other discussions either directly with someone from the executive branch or through the 4 Government Affairs/Public Policy team where you highlighted that trying to measure
5 something like trustworthiness presented a number of difficulties?
6 A Nope.
7 Q A few answers earlier, you mentioned that, when using the example of 8 trying to measure trustworthiness, it raises a number of questions, such as who even 9 determines what would be trustworthy. Did any members, whether it's industry or 10 government side, try to address some of those questions, provide an answer of what they 11 understood the answer might be as it relates to trying to measure trustworthiness?
12 A No.
13 Q So do you understand NIST AI Risk Management Framework had sent 14 a -- was referencing, I take it, to apply a set of guidelines/principles for metrics and 15 measurements, it was laying that out there but without filling in the details of how it 16 actually would work? Is that a fair summary or --
17 A Sorry. That they --
18 Q I'm just trying to get a sense of how specific NIST was willing to get, either in 19 the final language of the framework itself or in the discussions with you and your other 20 industry partners.
21 A Well, in the discussion, I don't remember NIST engaging much in the 22 discussion. It was me and the other industry leaders sharing. And so I don't remember
23 any discussion there. And on the final language, I don't remember if it got more specific 24 in that area.
25 Q Are you familiar with the White House's October 2022 blueprint for an AI bill

1 of rights?

2 A I'm aware of that.

3 Q At a high level, to your understanding, what is it?

4 A If I remember correctly, it was a similar set of, like, principles making sure

5 the consumers essentially had rights while engaging with AI.

6 Q Did you have an opportunity to review or were you solicited to provide any

7 sort of feedback or information sharing prior to a finalized draft of that blueprint?

8 A I don't remember engaging in the bill of rights, no.

9 Q When you had an opportunity to review the blueprint in the AI bill of rights,

10 do you recall what your initial reaction was to it?

11 A I think I read it first publicly. I don't remember if it was actually shared

12 internally with me. So when I read it publicly, it just seemed reasonable. So I didn't 13 engage further.

14 Q In a couple other instances, like with the NIST framework and with the White

15 House commitments, were there any areas that, like, it didn't apply to your team or there

16 were things that your team hadn't adopted that stood out to you as it relates to the 17 blueprint for an AI bill of rights?

18 A For the White House commitments, the external testing was the one area

19 that we hadn't already done. But I think I said, I think I remember looking and saying

20 we're covered for everything else that they mentioned.

21 Q And for the blueprint, nothing stands out?

22 A Doesn't stand out.

23 Q Are you familiar with the White House's February 2023 executive order

24 about further advancing racial equity?

25 A No, I don't think I am.

1 Q We've talked about a number of times where you engaged with the Public
2 Policy and Government Affairs team. Do you recall instances where you engaged
3 directly with the executive branch as part of your role in the company?
4 A I don't recall directly engaging on substance. I think I would have engaged
5 for logistics, just if I was attending one of these NIST panels. Usually, once Public Policy
6 had introduced me, I'd have to connect with them on location, timing, and things like
7 that.
8 Q And so with the logistics communications, once you're connected with NIST,
9 you're saying -- let me take a step back.
10 You were on public panels with people from NIST. Is that right?
11 A Correct.
12 Q Were you ever in any discussions that took place in a nonpublic setting, just 13 meetings between industry folks and the government?
14 A I may have had had group meetings that were not public reporting, similar 15 content, sharing my expertise, but can't remember specific instances.
16 Q And would those have been with NIST, to your understanding?
17 A This was, to my recollection, the kind of main or only one that I engaged
18 given the risk framework being so close to the work I'd already been doing for a few 19 years, yeah.
20 Q Do you have any -- as part of your role at the company, did you have any 21 direct interactions with anyone in one of the White House offices?
22 A No. I don't think so. Sorry. The White House offices?
23 Q Yeah. EOP or NSC or just White House staff?
24 A No.
25 Mr. Bopp. No. Do you recall?

1 [redacted]. Don't recall. Not that I recall.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q As it related to your interac- -- not direct interactions for the most part, but

4 as it related to the Public Policy/Government Affairs team working with you to coordinate

5 with NIST, do you remember who your point of contact was at the company's

6 Government Affairs/Public Policy team?

7 A At Google Government --

8 Q Yeah.

9 A [redacted].

10 [redacted] Is he, to your understanding, the main point of contact for other

11 Responsible AI teams at Google, such as [redacted]'s team?

12 [redacted]. He was, yeah.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q During any of these discussions, was [redacted] a part of the panels or any of the 15 meetings with NIST?

16 A I don't remember her being on any of the panels, no.

17 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have any interactions with the 18 FBI?

19 A Not that I recall.

20 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have interactions with HHS?

21 A Not that I recall.

22 Q When either the discussions that took before the drafting of the NIST AI

23 framework or the panel after the draft had been finalized, do you recall any discussion on 24 issues that related to that second principle related to unfair bias?

25 A No, I don't recall.

1 Q So in your earlier testimony, you mentioned that Gemini was being
2 developed through DeepMind, that YouTube has its own kind of silo team structure.
3 Was Google Search one of the products that would have fallen within your team's 4 purview?
5 A We had supported Google Search, yes.
6 Q And that would include, I don't know what the correct term was, but for 7 image search?
8 A Image search is part of Search, yes.
9 Q Did you ever have discussions with the search team about how the unfair
10 bias principle would or would not apply to image search?
11 A I had.
12 Q At a high level, what was the nature of those discussions?
13 A They were asking us to test after, I believe, there had been public attention
14 on some image search results not being inclusive of different types of users. So they 15 asked us to test different use cases, search terms that could raise similar issues.
16 Q And what sorts of use cases and search terms did they highlight?
17 A Things like scientist, historian. If we looked them up or how representative
18 of our global user base or kind of accuracy would appear there. And CEO was another
19 example I remember my team testing. So we would test them for the team and report
20 back our results.
21 Q So you recall scientists, historians, CEOs. Do you recall other examples?
22 A Nurse, teacher. So it was generally job-focused.
23 Q And what was the concern? Why were these examples being raised?
24 A Because there had been public news stories that similar searches had raised 25 questions around how representative of Google's user base our products were.

1 Q Do you recall when these news stories first began to come up?
2 A I don't recall.
3 Q And you talked about being representative of Google's user base. What 4 were the results initially showing, and what was the concern or the disconnect that it got 5 elevated to your team?
6 A Example was with historian. Most of the images shown were 18th, 19th
7 century historians, when most of our users, if they look up "historian," are probably 8 looking for more contemporary results.
9 Q What was the issues related to CEOs?
10 A When people looked up CEOs, it showed almost all men with just Barbie
11 shown as the only female representation of a CEO.
12 Q And do you recall how, what, long the gap was between when the news
13 stories began and the search team came to you with these cases and examples?
14 A I don't remember the gap, no.
15 Q Who from the search team met with you or your team to raise these cases
16 and search terms?
17 A A product manager. I don't remember. It's been a number of years.
18 Q Other products that you recall that come to mind where the principle of 19 unfair bias was raised in similar context where there are use cases that came up?
20 A Mostly it wasn't raised as a standalone given it's one of our 11 principles.
21 Our submissions to our process were assessed against all 11 principles, so in most cases it
22 wasn't called out. The other one that comes to mind, I think I already mentioned, was 23 when the pixel camera was being launched, because we already had existing data in 24 Google and the gorilla photos that showed that there is a greater risk of unfair bias if we 25 don't get the camera right. It will exclude users. And obviously, our overall goal is to

1 include as many people as possible.

2 Q When your team is looking at the image search, use cases and search terms

3 that were provided, just to clarify, were those use cases and search terms provided to you

4 from search team?

5 A Similar. So we would have a seed set to start testing on, and then my team

6 would expand based on user research.

7 Q Do you recall if there were any topics or areas that your team included after 8 that initial seed set?

9 Mr. Bopp. You're asking for examples that they found, or what are you asking

10 for?

11 [redacted] So if I understood her testimony correctly, the search team came with 12 initial set of use cases and search terms, seed set. After looking at those, the --

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q Was it the Responsible Innovation team at this point in time?

15 A I don't know if we were the Responsible Innovation team yet. It may have

16 started in the Trust and Safety testing time before we had a full-time team.

17 Q So you had the Trust and Safety, Response Innovation team would then

18 potentially expand if they thought there were other search terms and use cases that

19 would be appropriate to look at based on the seed set? Is that a fair summary?

20 A Yes. I believe so. Yup.

21 Q In that second category, once you already looked at the seed set, do you

22 recall what sort of topics or examples that your team included?

23 A They would have -- I'm -- yeah. I probably will have to say no, I don't

24 remember. It was likely job categories. We kept testing more and more job

25 categories.

1 Q Can you just walk me through, at a high level, what that looks like just 2 operationally as far as your team first testing and then how your findings are 3 communicated to the search team?
4 A So once a team flags a product -- so for us, all 11, we just have our standard
5 process to get through each of the 11, here is just things that we look for. And then if 6 we find something in that initial assessment, we go deeper into that analysis. And 7 deeper could mean we conduct our own user research again just because that was where 8 I built the team from with a background in user research, which is, have users raised 9 these issues before and could they help us understand where this is happening, and we'll 10 start testing. Is this happening at scale? Or maybe it's a once-off. We have to 11 understand kind of where on the long tail it is.
12 So we do our own research and do user research. External research, have other 13 maybe academics or researchers identify similar issues. Can we use their research to 14 inform our effort? We do a lot of -- again, trying to get a broad understanding of the 15 issue, because most of the issues we'd see are not unique to Google. It is the 16 technology. AI is a new technology. It's hitting a number of issues that we try and 17 learn from other people who are also kind of at the forefront of AI.
18 And so that's where we spend a lot of our time, is people on my team who do
19 their own research, trying to understand how do I even test this, what am I looking for,
20 and that's based on external and user input to the process.
21 Q Okay. As it relates to the image search instance we've been talking about,
22 do you recall what external research, if any, was applicable or helpful here?
23 A At that time, it was there was quite a lot of attention on it, so my team
24 would analyze the news stories and what examples were found in the news stories. But 25 also, there had been a couple of public research papers. One that comes to mind,

1 Latanya Sweeney from Harvard had done a research paper on Google Search results and
2 ads, and where she had found issues. So my team brought in that research as well. So
3 mostly media.
4 Just, again, some of these issues were so new there wasn't existing research
5 corpus. We had to go with what was happening right now and listening to the external 6 world on that.
7 Q And as it relates to this particular example with image search, they provided
8 the use case or search terms, your team is conducting all this research, tested everything.
9 Is there a work product that's prepared? How do you communicate back your findings
10 to the search team?
11 A Not all the time. We do what are called sprints or war rooms, where we sit
12 in a room like this with the product team. And my team, after having done their own
13 research, only then starts conducting the tests in real time with the product team. It
14 makes it more effective for the product team to try and start fixing it and noting it. So 15 that would actually happen verbally in meetings, again, these sprints or war rooms that 16 my team would most often hold.
17 Q So as it relates to this image search example, once your team has conducted
18 the research, you meet with the search product teams. Are they adjusting the search
19 findings, then, in real time? You're seeing the results --
20 A No. It's a lot more complex than that, that they would -- there'd be so
21 many engineers and product managers, that image search -- I'm not an engineer to know
22 the different pieces of it, but they would know things, what we're saying, which things
23 that they believe are due to maybe the underlying data where it's due to the model. So 24 they would, at least from our experience, kind of intuit to know who they would have to 25 talk to next and where to go.

1 But, no, the system's quite complex. There would be no fixing in real time, no.
2 Q Do you recall how long this process took from when the search team first 3 raised the issue with your team to when the adjustments or meetings or whatever it was 4 were completed?
5 A I remember it being a rolling partnership with the team, which means that
6 we could be -- my team could be engaged like once a month to do more tests. And so
7 my recollection is it was a yearlong partnership of different tests, different efforts, trying 8 to improve the results by the product team. So, yeah, it wasn't a once-off. It was an 9 engagement, what we would call an engagement, which happens more than once.
10 Q We've gone through a number of the use cases, search terms, like scientists,
11 historians, CEOs, nurse, teacher. Do you recall which examples that do come to mind
12 was the easiest to resolve or if you heard from the search team was ameliorated?
13 A No. I wouldn't have an accurate response to that.
14 Q Were there any examples that took a while to get right or that required a 15 further back and forth?
16 A Many. And I don't actually know if their tests are still ongoing, which goes 17 to my previous comment on trustworthiness, that we want to try and get it more
18 representative, but we found it very hard to define "representative." Is it representative
19 of our global use today -- global users today? Last week? Should it be more 20 representative of global attention, like, which historians are getting the most clicks versus 21 what historians are from the most countries [inaudible]. So a very hard problem.
22 That's why the engagement was so long, that we would keep testing and listening to user
23 feedback.
24 So we didn't almost make the decision. It was launch this new updated version,
25 our team would launch. We would analyze the user feedback and say, users seem to

1 like this version better. Maybe we're getting closer to it. So that's why it was so long
2 and so hard that it was waiting for user feedback to say if we were on the right track.
3 Q And your team had the primary responsibility of assessing the user feedback
4 and then communicating it to the engineers?
5 A Not after the first couple of times. By then, we had become Response
6 Innovation, our and focus was identifying the issues, not always being the one listening to 7 the feedback. That remained in Trust and Safety.
8 Q And what was the name within Trust and Safety that continued that role?
9 A My understanding is the team name had changed. It was User Advocacy
10 when I was there. But I know for sure User Advocacy doesn't exist anymore, so I don't 11 know the new team's name.
12 Q As it relates to the image search example we've been discussing, was there
13 any discussion about how the unfair bias principle was either in conflict with or consistent 14 with the scientific excellence or accuracy principle?
15 A It was discussed, again, just in, what are we solving for? Like, how do we 16 think about accuracy? What does even accuracy mean? Again, is accuracy the number 17 of historians who are alive today versus the most famous historians today? So we even 18 had to discuss what is the definition of accuracy. And, again, we went back to listen to 19 our users of what they intended they wanted to see, and try to -- again, that moved into a 20 dedicated user research team to ask more questions of, what do you want when you look
21 up "historian"? Do you want to see, like, who's most quoted or do you want to see
22 historians from your country? So it's a lot of just user research then, and that was too
23 big a project for my team.
24 Q When it comes to incorporating user feedback, is it the end-all be-all? I 25 mean, if one principle is scientific accuracy and if users would like to see results that are

1 not, let's say, scientifically accurate for whatever reason, how would your team, you
2 know, assess a situation like that?
3 A There were no set rules. We would have discussions with the product
4 team. Again, how do we reach the goal of satisfying as many users as possible?
5 Maybe users are expecting more accuracy in this product. In this other product, they're 6 expecting more entertainment. They are different, and I know from user feedback that
7 they want different things from different products. So there was not a -- certainly not a 8 set outcome decisions formula that we used. It was discussion-based.
9 Q In these discussions, was there someone who was typically taking notes, to 10 your knowledge?
11 A No, not to my knowledge and not generally.
12 Q At a high level, are you familiar with the company's most recent rollout of 13 Gemini and the news coverage that followed?
14 A Aware of the news coverage, yes.
15 Q To your understanding, did the rollout of Gemini have -- play any role in the 16 decision to restructure your team in December 2023?
17 A I wasn't told that it did.
18 Q And you were still at the company when the initial news coverage of Gemini, 19 this most recent --
20 A I was still employed, yes.
21 Mr. Bopp. Make sure he finishes the question.
22 [redacted]. Okay.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Did you have any discussions with people at the company about the rollout
25 of Gemini?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And who did you have discussions with?

3 A A VP of Trust and Safety asked what my process was to responding to news

4 coverage, and if I had a process to share with her.

5 Q And who was that VP?

6 A [redacted], VP of Trust and Safety.

7 Q And what was your response?

8 A My response is we didn't have a documented process for responding to

9 external news stories, but I would treat it as a user research project, which is we're

10 getting a lot of feedback, analyze the feedback, share it with the product team. And I

11 walked her through our user research protocol. So acknowledging we didn't have a set

12 protocol, but we had a user research one.

13 Q Did you have any other discussions with folks at the company?

14 A No, not that I recall.

15 Mr. Bopp. About Gemini.

16 [redacted] About Gemini. Yes.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q To your understanding, just based off your experience at the company,

19 understanding you didn't work on the Gemini model based on your earlier testimony,

20 where do you think the, you know, things went awry? Why did the rollout not go the 21 way it seemed the company was intending it to?

22 A I don't know. I don't have enough information on the model or product.

23 Q Okay. Did you have any point of contact, like a -- or a -- let me restrike

24 that.

25 Before December 15, 2023, did you have a primary point of contact with anyone

1 at DeepMind?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And who is that?

4 A [redacted], who was the lead of their ethics team, which became their

5 Responsible AI team.

6 Q And had you worked with [redacted] previously elsewhere in the company, or

7 what was her background?

8 A Not elsewhere in the company. I just worked with [redacted] for a while.

9 Q In what context?

10 A Given she is the lead of Responsible AI in DeepMind, and sometimes we

11 would meet to share process, updates. As mentioned, my process went through a

12 number of iterations. The more we experienced and learned, then I would share them

13 with her.

14 Q Do you know when [redacted] started this role?

15 A I don't.

16 Q Do you recall when your conversations with her about ethics more generally

17 first started?

18 A Probably I'd estimate around 2021.

19 Q Do you have a sense of how big her team was?

20 A It was around 10 people.

21 Q Do you recall if there were any general issues as it related to ethics that

22 apply to a present for her context and her work that didn't apply to your work or vice

23 versa?

24 A Sorry. Could you rephrase?

25 Mr. Bopp. Yeah.

1 [redacted] Sure.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So as it relates to her position and how she's looking at ethics -- let me just

4 take one step back.

5 How much overlap was there between the type of issues she was looking at and

6 the type of issues you were responsible for?

7 A My understanding was they aligned -- DeepMind as a company aligned

8 closely with Google's AI principles. So we were working on similar issues.

9 Q Yeah. To your understanding, was there any differences that stood out to 10 you between the DeepMind principles and the Google AI Principles?

11 A I remember that one of the differences in principles was they had an

12 operations-based principle, which we didn't have. Like, our principles were almost

13 content and product-based, and they added an extra one about kind of how to 14 operationalize. So that kind of stood out to me. It was different.

15 Q And to your understanding, what was that principle?

16 A Just like our version of being scientifically excellent, I believe theirs was

17 something like be operationally excellent. Do the things -- don't just do the right things,

18 but do them in the right way. It was something like that.

19 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

20 [Recess.]

1 [1:37 p.m.]

2 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q I want to start of by talking about some of the examples of work that your

5 team did that we talked about in the last hour. But more broadly, your team didn't have

6 a job approving products for launch. Is that right?

7 A No. We identified issues against AI principles.

8 Q And if you identified issues and those issues weren't resolved in a specific

9 way, did your team have the ability to stop those products from becoming public?

10 A No. Not by themselves, no.

11 Q Did your team figure out how to fix those problems, or did you just identify 12 the issues?

13 A We identified issues. Product team fixed the issues.

14 Q Did you make suggestions on specific ways that those issues should be 15 resolved?

16 A Not generally. Because we worked with so many product teams, we

17 learned what other product teams. So we would direct one product team to someone

18 else who had hit similar issues. So we were a connection point, but we were not fixers.

19 Q You said, in some instances, you might check back in with the product team

20 or you might have iterations where the product team comes back with the product again.

21 Was it necessary for you to say, great, there's no issues now, before a product went

22 public?

23 A No.

24 Q Talking specifically about the Google Search example, you said the issue was 25 first identified in news media and then the product team came to you. Is that right?

1 A That was how I experienced it, yes.

2 Q Did your team tell the product team what they should do to fix the issue?

3 A Are we talking about that search --

4 Q That Google search image example.

5 A To fix it, no. As I said, it was a pretty complex case of even identifying the 6 issue and how users felt about it.

7 Q And one of the examples you gave was that when someone searched the

8 term "CEO," all of the CEOs were male except Barbie was the only example of a female

9 CEO. Is that right?

10 A Correct.

11 Q Why was that an issue that your team identified?

12 A Our global user base are made up of many different people, and we know

13 for a fact there are many different types of CEOs in the world. And so it was not an 14 accurate -- it was quite an exclusionary representation of the world.

15 Q And like you said, it's not an accurate representation that there are only 16 male CEOs. Is that right?

17 A It's not accurate.

18 Q And you found that users, that might not be what they're looking for, they

19 might not be finding what they're looking for if that's the only thing that's coming up. Is 20 that right?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Ultimately, your team finds these issues, and then it's the product team's job

23 if they want to or if they can come up with any solutions to those issues. Is that right?

24 A Correct.

25 Mr. Bopp. Just to make sure, to say if they want to or if they -- do you know -- do

1 you have insight into under what circumstances the product team decides to fix a
2 problem?
3 [redacted]. Each product team's leadership has different criteria on what's even 4 defined as a problem. But, again, each product is trying to optimize the greatest
5 number of people having access to a positive experience. So that would look different
6 on different products.
7 [redacted] So just because your team pointed something out doesn't 8 mean the product team will take a specific action in response to whatever your team has 9 identified?
10 [redacted]. No.
11 [redacted] So what she said was correct?
12 [redacted]. So it does depend on product. And, no, our team isn't the be-all
13 end-all. We are one of many inputs a product team needs to take into account in order 14 to launch the most successful product they can.
15 [redacted] Thank you.
16 [redacted] Going back to the Google search term example. You were 17 asked about how long it might take to resolve individual search terms like "historian" or 18 "CEO." I know that you weren't working on the exact product or the model, but in your 19 understanding, is that even how it works, or is each search term issue addressed, or do
20 you know?
21 [redacted] I'm not an expert. I doubt every search term -- my experience
22 would be, models and products are what product teams improve, not individual 23 instances.
24 [redacted] So, for example, in your experience, would a potential
25 solution be somebody's going to go in and code that this is what should show up when

1 somebody searches for "historian"? Or is it a bigger picture model-based approach?

2 [redacted]. My understanding was it's a model-based approach, not instances.

3 [redacted] So if I can just clarify, Google Search is a product, correct?

4 [redacted]. Yeah. Google Search is a product. So we were identifying

5 instances of something going wrong, but to fix them, they would have to assess whether

6 the model could be improved. That's my understanding.

7 [redacted] Thank you.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q And you said something in the earlier hour about how you would approach

10 the news coverage about a product as a user research project. Is that right?

11 A Correct.

12 Q Could you explain, and you've talked about this a bit already, but how 13 Google might approach a user research project and why that's important?

14 A Well, Google has many user research teams. I'm -- just from my team how

15 we approached it was essentially keyword matching any news story that had identified it,

16 commented on the product name or otherwise. We would aggregate all of that

17 information and then categorize it by type of issue raised, try and understand what had

18 been spoken about, and then sometimes, again, depending if it was new information,

19 share it with the product team. Otherwise, it was for our own information to just feed

20 into our processes at least. There were other things that we should look out for next

21 time.

22 Q And why was it important for you to find that feedback?

23 A For us, it is user feedback. The external world is our potential or existing

24 Google users, and we want as many of those users to be happy or not. So listening,

25 whether it's media or survey responses, they're still people who we want to trust and use

1 our products.

2 Q Does Google use that user feedback in its own analysis or does it exactly

3 follow what one user might say? How does that work in the process?

4 A Again, each product team has their own user research team. And so each

5 response plan may be different and, again, dependent on the level of maybe user control.

6 So then it allows the users to say whether they want to use it or not. And if it's lower on

7 the end of user control, then that feedback might play a bigger role. It's really

8 product-dependent.

9 Q Does Google make any decisions that are not -- in your experience, did

10 Google make any decisions for products that were not based on its own company

11 decisionmaking processes?

12 A Sorry. What do you mean by that?

13 Q Were any of the decisions that you saw being made at Google made solely

14 because some external party, whether a user or somebody else, told them to make that

15 decision?

16 A Not in my experience, no.

17 Q I want to talk a little bit more about your engagements with the executive

18 branch that we talked about. You mentioned that you reviewed a draft of AI principles

19 from the Department of Defense. Is that right?

20 A Correct.

21 Q And that was in 2019?

22 A My recollection serves, yes, it was around end of 2019, yeah.

23 Q Do you know if those principles ever became public?

24 A Yes. I remember there was a blog post announcing them that early 2020.

25 Again, don't have an exact date. It's around early 2020.

1 Q And in that blog post, the Department of Defense mentions that they
2 consulted with experts to come up with those principles. Are you one of the experts
3 that was consulted on those principles?
4 A I probably wouldn't frame it that way. I wouldn't say I was one of the 5 experts that came up with the principles. Once they had their principles, I believe I was 6 one of the experts who looked at them and provided feedback. So I may just change the 7 framing.
8 Q When you looked at the draft of those principles, did the Department of 9 Defense tell you to do anything or were they just asking for your feedback?
10 A Just asking for feedback. I remember it being very informal. We come up 11 with this, kind of, are they okay.
12 Q Moving on to your engagements with NIST. You had -- before the NIST AI
13 framework was drafted, you had discussions in the pre-drafting stage. Is that right?
14 A Correct.
15 Q And then you had discussions at these workshop panels in the post-drafting 16 stage?
17 A Yes. That finalized draft, yeah.
18 Q In your discussions before the draft, was NIST -- or in your experience, was 19 NIST telling you to do anything or were they just asking for your feedback?
20 A In my experience, they were asking for my feedback.
21 Q And afterwards during the workshop time, was NIST telling you to do
22 anything or just asking for your feedback?
23 A Asked me to participate in the panel and share my expertise. So, yeah, still 24 feedback and sharing of expertise.
25 Q Did they tell Google to make any decisions about its own AI principles? Did

1 NIST?

2 A Sorry?

3 Mr. Bopp. Can you rephrase that?

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Did NIST tell Google to make any decisions about its own responsible AI

6 efforts?

7 A Not that I'm aware of. I'm one of the central POCs for the AI principles,

8 certainly wasn't communicated to me, no.

9 Q And you said that NIST wasn't a big participant in the workshops, it was 10 mostly the industry people talking and NIST was sort of moderating. Is that right?

11 A It's my recollection industry folks just sharing how we developed AI

12 governance so far.

13 Q Was that also your experience during the pre-draft stages? Was NIST very 14 involved in the conversations?

15 A No. My memory is they facilitated, again, a discussion of some of us

16 sharing what we'd already done.

17 Q You mentioned during that pre-draft -- during those pre-draft discussions,

18 you talked about should a company have a standalone governance team or should those

19 principles be incorporated into a different team. Did NIST give you input on how to 20 structure a company?

21 A No. Again, it was just us industry players sharing what we'd already done.

22 Q We also talked a bit about the voluntary commitments that Google made

23 with the White House. Do you remember those questions?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And you said you reviewed a draft of those commitments?

1 A Correct.
2 Q Do you remember around when?
3 A I believe it was in the second half of 2022.
4 Q Yeah. Makes sense. And you said your general response to that draft was 5 that nearly everything was things that you were already doing. Is that fair?
6 A Yes, I believed that I saw our work that we were already doing kind of 7 reflected -- the wording may be different but, yes, categorywise I felt we were doing it
8 already, most of it.
9 Q I think you said other than external testing, you felt like you were covered
10 for everything else. Is that right?
11 A Yes. That's what I felt.
12 Q And on the external testing issue, you said that you thought that was a good
13 idea. Is that right?
14 A I did.
15 Q Did you want external testing to be happening for your AI products?
16 A Did I want it --
17 Q Did you support the idea of external testing for Google's AI products?
18 A I supported it as part of my own process. Like, even when I was building it,
19 I was thinking, could or should I have external testing as part of it to make sure me and 20 my team didn't fall into any -- like just getting kind of stuck in our ways. I wanted to 21 make sure that we had other feedback. My team felt comfortable because we had so 22 many user feedback channels already. It was not necessary. So I obviously am open to 23 feedback from my own team. So I felt it was -- it could be a useful idea, but just -- yup,
24 just didn't pursue it for a number of different reasons.
25 Q Did you have involvement in the voluntary commitment that Google made with the White House other than reviewing the draft document?

A Before? After? Sorry.

Q Throughout the process of those commitments, making the commitment, and after the commitment was entered?

A Once the commitment was entered, yes, as the operations lead, I then formalized that mapping of we're already doing these things, go talk to that team -- sorry. Public Policy, go talk to this team because they're the teams who already doing the work. So, yes, I was involved afterwards.

Q To the best of your knowledge, do you know why Google decided to make these voluntary commitments with the White House?

A I couldn't answer for Google, no.

Q Okay. To the best of your knowledge, were there any consequences if Google didn't follow through on the voluntary commitments?

A Not that I'm aware of.

Q To the best of your knowledge, did Google voluntarily enter this agreement and make these commitments to the White House?

A That's my understanding.

Q I want to look at the actual steps that Google took related to the commitments. And so I'll introduce as exhibit 2 a 2023 document entitled, "Fulfilling the Voluntary Industry Commitments on AI."

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 2.

was marked for identification.]

[redacted] Do you recognize this document?

Mr. Bopp. Could we just wait one second, please?

[redacted] Yes.

1 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

2 [redacted]. Yup. I'm familiar with the document, yes.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Did you have any role in preparing it?

5 A I was asked to review the draft and to assign someone on my team at the 6 start to contribute to it, yes. Sorry. Before and as a reviewer.

7 Q This document doesn't have a date on it. Do you happen to remember

8 around when it was published or drafted?

9 A I believe it was around August.

10 Q Of 2023?

11 A Of 2023, yes.

12 Q Thanks.

13 So this document talks through the commitments that Google made to the White

14 House and some of the ways that Google's work is fulfilling those commitments. There's 15 three major categories of commitments, right: safety, security, and trust?

16 A Correct.

17 Q And looking at the first page of the document, in the middle -- or the cover

18 page, yeah. In the middle of that first paragraph, it says, "Building on the work that we

19 started back in 2014, we committed to specific practices for the safe, secure, and 20 trustworthy development and use of AI."

21 Did I read that right?

22 A Yup.

23 Q Do you agree that the voluntary industry commitments that Google made to 24 the White House built on the existing work of the company going back to 2014?

25 A I may not know the exact date but, yes, years of work on trustworthy AI, yes.

1 Q So did the voluntary commitments align with the work that you had been
2 doing in this area for the past decade?
3 A To a very large degree they aligned with what we were already doing.
4 Q Looking at the first category, could you explain just in your understanding
5 what the commitments to safety meant?
6 A My understanding was to test to prevent overall risks of harm to safety of 7 users, and then the individual commitments have more detail on that. But, overall,
8 keeping users safe and preventing risks.
9 Q Did you feel like these commitments aligned with Google's existing AI
10 principles?
11 A Yes. We have our safety principle. We have a prevention of overall harm
12 principle. So not exact wording, but very strong alignment, yes.
13 Q Looking at the next area, the security area. Could you explain just broadly
14 what the commitments in this area meant?
15 A My understanding was this was more on the technical side of things, that's 16 the security of infrastructure, security of technology, may be less direct to user safety was 17 more systemic and security protocols.
18 Q And was Google already in your -- to the best of your knowledge, taking 19 steps towards promoting security in its AI products?
20 A Yes. Our existing privacy and security organization had been working on 21 that for years, yeah.
22 Q Looking at the last area of commitment, trust. Do you have an 23 understanding broadly of what those commitments in the trust category meant?
24 A Yeah. The overall approach was building trustworthy technologies, but the 25 commitments went into detail of how to earn that trust, essentially assuming users would

1 trust that technology. So the detail was on how to earn trust through explanations,
2 transparency, things like that.
3 Q And did these commitments, in your experience, align with Google's existing
4 AI principles?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Is it fair to say that much of the work that Google was doing that aligned
7 with the voluntary commitments was work that Google had started prior to entering 8 those commitments?
9 A Yes. I'd argue years before, yes.
10 Q And do you think, in your experience, would Google have continued to do
11 that work whether or not it entered these voluntary commitments?
12 A I won't speak for Google, but if it's my understanding, yes.

1 [1:55 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q In your experience, did the White House ever instruct, coerce, or pressure

4 you or your team to make certain decisions or take specific actions related to Google's AI

5 products?

6 A No, not in my experience.

7 Q We've talked about how Google is a global company, correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q Did you ever have engagement from the Government Affairs and Public

10 Policy team about getting information from -- about providing feedback to entities other

11 than the U.S. Government?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And could you talk about some of those other entities that reached out?

14 A Any timeframe? Or just --

15 Q During your work as the director of the Responsible Innovation team.

16 A Yes. So the Public Policy team had requested me to share my expertise

17 with some of the folks working on the EU AI Act, and so that was a series of engagements

18 over a number of years. Given the makeup of the EU, I believe, governance -- they

19 change President every 6 months -- and so Public Policy would ask me to educate

20 different groups on our existing expertise.

21 I remember meeting with representatives from UNESCO, the Irish Government,

22 U.K. Parliament to answer questions on, again, what we're going for AI risk and 23 governance.

24 So, yes, it's not a comprehensive list, but our Public Policy -- I remember actually

25 Sweden, Chilean, Mexico Governments, a Uruguayan person, Germany, France. Yeah,

1 so Public Policy had asked me to engage and educate folks from a variety of those
2 different governments and bodies.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q Just one quick followup question. You had discussed your consultation
5 with the Department of Defense, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And your recollection is that that was in late 2019.
8 A That's my recollection.
9 Q And, to be clear, that was during the Trump administration, correct?
10 A That's my understanding, yes.
11 Q And then those policies were implemented or put into place by DOD in early 12 2020?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Still during the Trump administration.
15 A I don't know the exact day. I know --
16 Q Fair enough.
17 A I know it changed.
18 Q So you remember it was early 2020. It wasn't --
19 A I believe it was early 2020.
20 Q -- in December. Okay.
21 A That's what I recall.
22 Q Thank you.
23 A Yep.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q Your name's been in the public eye because of your work as the Director

1 of Responsible Innovation at Google. Is that right?

2 A Yes.

1 BY [redacted]

[redacted]

20 [redacted] Okay. We can go off the record.

21 [Recess.]

22 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q So I wanted to go back to the "Fulfilling the Voluntary Industry Commitments

25 on AI" document.

On the second page, where it says "Safety," in the second paragraph, it mentions "participating in the White House-sponsored red teaming event."

Did you participate in that event?

A No.

Q Okay. To your knowledge, did the White House sponsor any other events related to testing or red teaming?

A Not to my knowledge, no.

BY [redacted]

Q Do you know who from the company, if anyone, attended?

A I do know Google folks attended the red team event. I wouldn't have all their names. I do know [redacted] from my team was our team's representative.

Q And did he report back to you about his experience participating?

A He did not.

Q Why was [redacted] the one who attended from your team?

A He is one of our testing experts, and red teaming is very similar to the testing that we've already been doing for years, and so [redacted] felt he could bring some expertise and share his knowledge at that event.

Q How many members of your team focus on testing?

A Currently? At that time?

Q We'll say at that time, yeah.

A I believe there was six people on my team working on testing.

Q And, of those six, were there any that were focused on testing for issues related to fairness or bias?

A Our testing team were all trained to conduct fairness testing. Again, it would depend on the test and the need of the product team, which of the 11 principles was more or less likely to maybe introduce risk, and therefore that was the area that was tested. But all were trained on fairness testing.

Q And all could test on other principles, too, if needed?

A For some of them, again, the ones that were in our scope. We didn't test for security; that wasn't our area. We did not test for privacy; not our area.

Q Is an example of testing for implicit bias the Google Image Search example we were discussing in the --

A That's an example.

Q -- previous hour?

To your knowledge, did the red team at the White House touch upon, or have issues, whether it was the red teaming or testing, related to implicit bias?

Mr. Bopp. Are you asking whether the testing found issues of implicit bias?

[redacted] So the red teaming that took place with the White House, was there any part of it that directly or indirectly related to implicit bias or assessing for fairness?

[redacted]. I don't know.

[redacted] Can I ask you to speak up? I'm sorry. I'm just having a little trouble.

[redacted] Yeah, of course.

BY [redacted]

Q At the end of our last hour, we were talking about your conversation with one of the Trust and Safety VPs in the fallout of Gemini and the news reporting over the past couple of months.

How did your conversation take place with -- and can you remind me of what her name was again?

A [redacted].

1 Q [redacted]

2 A I met with her over videoconference.

3 Q And was there anyone else who participated in this discussion, this meeting?

4 A No.

5 Q And do you recall when approximately it occurred?

6 A No, but about maybe 2 days after the public reaction to Gemini.

7 Q When discussing with her your experience, including with engaging with the

8 user research, did you discuss the Image Search example we were talking about earlier,

9 where your team was working with the Search team as it related to, kind of, some of the 10 job titles -- scientist, teacher, historian?

11 A No.

12 Q Do you recall of any examples you or her brought up as kind of an 13 illustration?

14 A No.

15 Mr. Bopp. Make sure you wait until he finishes the question.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Turning back to that Image Search example we were discussing, you

18 mentioned that there might be, like, a war room or sprints set up to assess for the 19 problems, especially if a response was needed relatively quickly.

20 In this particular case, do you recall what, if anything, was set up, if there was a

21 war room or something to that effect?

22 A Sorry, what particular case?

23 Q The Image Search where there were concerns about particular professions

24 or job titles and the results that were produced.

25 A So the Image Search testing 5 years ago was similar (ph). Our general

1 process at that time was war-room-based.

2 Q And in the war room, you mentioned that, you know, it was your team,

3 members of the Search team. Do you recall if there were members of other teams that

4 attended or participated?

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q We've talked a little bit about the one principle about scientific excellence or

7 accuracy. How -- or if, I should start with -- does that principle interact with the 8 company's efforts to combat misinformation?

9 A I'm not sure exactly. The Trust and Safety team is responsible for 10 misinformation. So they were already doing that work before the AI principles. And,

11 as mentioned, my team was focused on the gaps. So it was handled by other teams.

12 We didn't, honestly, discuss it. So I'm not sure how it was framed.

13 Q Uh-huh. And before you got into the full AI positions, you had a Trust and

14 Safety position earlier. Did you have any interactions with the Trust and Safety folks

15 that were responsible for addressing misinformation?

16 A I don't recall having any engagements with them. It was a very different

17 area.

18 Q At a high level, are you familiar with the community guidelines policies, or

19 standards, adopted by YouTube to address misinformation?

20 A I don't believe I'm familiar with them, no.

21 Q Whether YouTube or any Google product, do you recall any Trust and Safety

22 individual who worked on policies addressing misinformation meeting with you or

23 members of your team to understand how the principles your team is responsible for 24 would intersect with what they do?

25 A No, I don't recall conversations of that nature with me or my team.

1 Q When meeting with external folks, do you recall ever meeting with
2 fact-checkers?
3 A No, I don't remember meeting with fact-checkers.
4 Q Was Gmail one of the products that fell within your team's purview?
5 A Yes, it was in scope.
6 Q And, just at a high level, what was the type of issue that might arise from the 7 Gmail team that would be elevated to your team?
8 Mr. Bopp. Are you asking for actual issues that [redacted] team looked at, or 9 are you asking sort of hypothetically?
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q We'll start with, are there any examples you can recall of when an issue from 12 the Gmail team was escalated to your team?
13 A I recall a Gmail feature called Smart Reply that was going to use AI to suggest 14 responses to an email, and the Gmail team asked for testing to make sure that it was 15 working as intended.
16 Q Do you recall any issues related to spam in Gmail that were elevated to your
17 team?
18 A No.
19 Q When using Google Search, when you start to type a question, a lot of times
20 it will offer suggestions of how to finish. Is there a term for that part of Google Search 21 that the company uses?
22 A I believe it's "auto-complete."
23 Q For auto-complete, do you recall any issues that the Google Search team
24 elevated to your team related to auto-complete?
25 A I do think there was an escalation related to public news stories about

1 auto-complete, and they asked us to participate in some of their war rooms, again, those
2 combined meetings, uh-huh.
3 Q Do you recall some examples of which public news stories?
4 A By that time I had my team, and so, no, it would've gone directly to someone
5 on my team. I just recall that we were asked to participate. So I would eventually just 6 have to allocate resources from my team, but I didn't receive the content.
7 Q Do you recall if any of these public news stories related to elections?
8 A No, I don't recall.
9 Q In 2020, did you have a team member that would've been most likely to 10 have been assigned for issues related to auto-complete?
11 A Not a more likely member. It may have been based on who was available
12 from my testing group.
13 Q And we've covered this before with some previous examples, but just to kind
14 of walk through again: Independent of any specific example, the protocol when the 15 teams get together, it sounds like a lot of it's discussion-based. You mentioned during,
16 like, the war rooms, your recollection is there wasn't any formality, taking particular notes
17 from this. Is that right?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Was there any sort of set of procedures as far as at the end of completing a 20 task or resolving something, something that could be referenced to look back on later if a 21 similar issue were to arise again?
22 A Generally, not from my team. Only if there was a new, like, category of 23 issue raised. But most of our testing was just following a process of testing that was 24 informed by a product team. So, that being informed by a product team, it wasn't
25 always applicable to the next product team. So we wouldn't take that back with us. It

1 was only if our categories essentially changed. So there wasn't actually that much of 2 what we would call a feedback loop between our tests, no.
3 Q To your understanding, would -- let's say the Search team, they come up to 4 you, and you guys test, assess what you need to, get back. Do you know if they would 5 produce any internal work product to document what your team had found?
6 A The product team?
7 Q Yeah.
8 A I wouldn't know.
9 Q Do you recall any examples where the Search team elevated an issue to your 10 team regarding how -- like, the 10 blue links and the order in which they would appear
11 when the search was run?
12 A No. That wouldn't come to my team.
13 Q And how come?
14 A How come?
15 Q Yeah.
16 A There was a search quality engineering team that was dedicated to search
17 quality. So that type of work would go to the engineering team.
18 Q And, to your understanding, is there any sort of AI and machine learning that 19 goes into what leads the search results to appear in a particular order?
20 A I'm afraid I don't know.
21 Q Did you have a point of contact with the search quality engineering team?
22 A I did not.
23 Q With your engagement with any potential Google product, did you ever have 24 any cases that involved assessing whether a particular source was trustworthy?
25 A No, I don't believe -- I don't believe so. That would fall under Trust and 1 Safety.

2 Q Now, we've talked in I think multiple of the hours about how you have the

3 database, that can inform the model, and then the model you use can be placed in the 4 product, and then, on a separate line to that, if there are biases or other problems in the 5 data set, that that can be reflected later on.

6 To your understanding, who in the company would be the team responsible for

7 assessing the data set and whether there was problems with the data set related to bias

8 for -- we'll start with one of them -- the data set used to inform the Gemini product?

9 A In general, either the team sourcing the data or the team using the data

10 would be responsible for testing it.

11 Q And do you recall any examples where the team sourcing the data or using 12 the data raised an issue related to bias or fairness to your team?

13 A Not that I recall, from the data level. No, it was public information. Some

14 of our own researchers published on, in general, how data sets produced bias, but it

15 wouldn't come to my team directly, no.

16 Q For the researchers who did publish this information, just based off the 17 company's protocols, where should an issue like that be escalated to, or who would be

18 best suited to address --

19 Mr. Bopp. Are you asking, to the extent [redacted] knows, where would an 20 issue like that be handled within Google?

21 [redacted] That's right.

22 [redacted]. My understanding, as I said, the people creating the data set, then

23 the people using it -- it would be up to them to decide who is the right leadership team or 24 group to escalate to, if needed.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q And your recollection is that there weren't any instances where it was 2 ultimately sent to your team?
3 A I don't remember data sets going to my team, no.
4 Q Are you familiar with Jigsaw?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And, just at a very high level, what is Jigsaw?
7 A My understanding is Jigsaw helps keep people safe online in dangerous
8 situations. My understanding is they work a lot with journalists in certain countries and 9 refugees in certain countries. That's my understanding.
10 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have any interactions with 11 Jigsaw?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And, at a high level, what was the nature of those interactions?
14 A They built a tool called Perspective AI. It may be a different name now.
15 Perspective AI was to help -- I don't know if they're called newspapers now but, like, news 16 media online, to manage their comments and to avoid offensive comments, maybe to 17 improve quality in comments.
18 So their tool, Perspective AI, they had a meeting with me to share the design, the 19 thought behind it, and asked if anyone on my team could help them.
20 Q And what was your response?
21 A It was, unfortunately, no, we couldn't help them at that time.
22 Q And why was that?
23 A We were a very small team, and they were highly technical, and I didn't think 24 my team's skill set would match the technical competence that would be required to help
25 them.

1 Q Did they ever come back to your team later on and ask for your team's
2 review of any part of the product?
3 A Not review. I think part of Jigsaw was also a research arm, and so they 4 solicited ideas from my team of what they should do research on. So we had a very 5 open conversation on that.
6 Q Do you recall any of the research topics that your team offered to Jigsaw?
7 A I don't recall.
8 Q Did you have a main point of contact at Jigsaw?
9 A The director of engineering, [redacted].
10 Q Do you recall any instances where Jigsaw conducted research on behalf of 11 you or someone from your team and reported back with their findings?
12 A Actually, I do remember Jigsaw worked on a campaign called the "debunking 13 campaign," which was to help users make more educated guesses for themselves of 14 whether something could be misinformation or disinformation. So Jigsaw had this 15 campaign called the "debunking campaign," and one of my team members offered to do
16 an AI principles review once they flagged it to us.
17 Q And do you recall what the team member found in their review?
18 A I don't recall specifically, so, no, I couldn't speculate. I don't recall what he 19 came up with.
20 Q Do you recall when this campaign took place?
21 A I don't recall exactly. Maybe 2022.
22 Q Do you recall which team member did the AI principles review?
23 A Yes. [redacted].
24 Q Are there any other examples that come to mind where Jigsaw came to your 25 team and presented research that your team had asked for?

1 A No others come to mind.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Could I ask a little bit more about Perspective -- API? Is that correct?

4 A API or AI. Yes, I may have gotten the name wrong. Yep.

5 Q Are you familiar with how it works, generally?

6 A No. As I said, it was very technical, outside of the competence of me and 7 my team.

8 Q Are you familiar with "real toxicity prompts"?

9 A I'm not.

10 Q Okay.

11 A I may have heard of it. No, I -- no, I don't know it.

12 Q And so, to your understanding, does Google use -- how does Google use

13 Perspective API?

14 A I don't know if Google used it more broadly. Again, my only understanding

15 from the conversation with Jigsaw was newspaper, news media, would use it for 16 comments. I don't know if it was used more broadly than that.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q Do you recall who at Jigsaw you spoke to about Perspective AI or API?

19 A I believe it was [redacted].

20 Q All right.

21 Are you familiar with Mandiant?

22 A Excuse me?

23 Q Are you familiar with Mandiant? M-a-n-d-i-a-n-t.

24 A I believe I've heard that name before. I'm not familiar.

25 Q Okay.

1 Are you familiar with the Frontier Model Forum?

2 A I've heard of it, yeah. I'm not particularly familiar.

3 Q Okay. To your recollection, did you have any interactions with the forum as 4 part of your role at the company?

5 A No, I don't believe I had, to my recollection.

6 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have any interactions with the

7 World Economic Forum?

8 A Yes, I did.

9 Q And what was the nature of those interactions?

10 A I spoke at Davos, which World Economic Forum hosted; I believe that was

11 January of 2019. And I spoke on the AI principles just broadly to the audience: We've 12 launched these AI principles last year, and here's how we're putting them into practice.

13 I also participated in another panel, World Economic Forum. I believe they called

14 it the Fourth Industrial Revolution, which essentially was AI for them. They held a

15 couple of panels in San Francisco where they asked me again to just share what they'd

16 heard me say at Davos to a broader audience.

17 They are the ones that come to mind.

18 Q Are you familiar with MLCommons, Machine Learning Commons?

19 A I've heard of it. I'm not familiar.

20 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have any interactions with the 21 Atlantic Council?

22 A I believe I also was asked to be on a panel for a discussion with them, again,

23 sharing AI principles and what we've done to put them into practice.

24 Q Are you familiar with TrustLab?

25 A Are they connected to any company or university? "Trust" is just a very

1 generic name, and some companies have their own embedded trust lab. So if there's a
2 bit more detail on that one?
3 [redacted] They're not connected, to my knowledge, with any specific company
4 or university. I know they've been involved with some reporting with regards to the 5 "Code of Practice on Disinformation." I'm not sure if you're familiar with that.
6 [redacted]. Then, no, I don't think I'm familiar. No.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q A few years back, there was a video that Project Veritas had released
9 that -- they put it into clips -- where you were recorded making a few comments.
10 At a high level, are you familiar with that video?
11 A I am.
12 Q There were comments you were recorded as saying regarding about how the 13 company defines "credible" news sources. To your understanding, what part of the 14 company would handle assessing the credibility of news sources?
15 A To my understanding, the Trust and Safety organization. But it was never 16 my area of expertise.
17 Q At a high level, how did you gain familiarity with how the company would 18 assess the credibility of news sources?
19 A I don't remember. It could be external blog posts. Given I didn't work on 20 it in the company, it wouldn't have been direct knowledge.
21 Q Did you have a point of contact with someone at Trust and Safety who you
22 could go to if there were questions that came up regarding the credibility of news
23 sources?
24 A No.
25 Q There are comments where you're recorded saying that -- that in 2016 we all

1 got screwed over, people got screwed over, news media got screwed over.

2 Do you recall those comments being included in the video?

3 Mr. Bopp. Could we just back up for a minute? Just so we understand, do you

4 have a transcript of that video?

5 [redacted] We can introduce that transcript.

6 Mr. Bopp. Sure. That'd be helpful.

7 And then maybe we can give [redacted] just a moment to talk about her

8 perspective on the Project Veritas covert operation and what they ended up releasing

9 versus what actually happened. Could we start there?

10 [redacted] Sure. Would you like us to --

11 Mr. Bopp. Yeah.

12 [redacted] -- introduce the exhibit first?

13 Mr. Bopp. While we pass those out.

14 Mr. Hanse. Is this the full -- the whole transcript of the entire video?

15 [redacted]. The 2 hours?

16 [redacted] Oh, no. No, no.

17 Mr. Bopp. Oh, this is just the --

18 [redacted] The version produced by Project Veritas.

19 [redacted]. Okay.

20 Mr. Hanse. All right.

21 Mr. Bopp. Can [redacted] go ahead and say a few words?

22 [redacted] Yes, please.

23 Mr. Bopp. All right. Thanks.

24 [redacted] And this will be --

25 [redacted] Three.

1 Mr. Zaro. This will be exhibit 3?

2 [redacted] Three, yes.

3 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3.

4 was marked for identification.]

5 [redacted]. Actually, I'm on the page here with -- I don't know who Zach

6 Vorhies is, and I've never spoken to James O'Keefe; I've never spoken to Gaurav Gite; I've

7 never spoken to this guy Zach. So I have not seen this before.

8 [redacted] Yeah, this is a video that Project Veritas published with excerpts from

9 the recordings they took of this, I guess --

10 [redacted]. Oh, so they added commentary --

11 [redacted] Uh-huh.

12 [redacted]. -- on top of an edited video? Okay.

13 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

14 [redacted]. Okay. I'll get started with my context, then, which --

15 [redacted] Yeah.

16 [redacted]. -- this -- to be clear to the other people, this was not an interview I

17 did.

18 So, in 2019, I believe, I thought I was applying to a mentorship program to support

19 children from disadvantaged backgrounds, and I had a series of conversations with people

20 who apparently had made up names, made up a full company, and deceptively

21 interviewed me for a mentorship job that never existed.

22 And so I think by the fourth interview, it became a informal dinner, where they

23 would buy me drinks, where two people spoke at me over the course of about 2-and-a-bit

24 hours presenting leading statements, leading questions, asking me about things that had

25 nothing to do with my day job.

1 And, subsequently, about 15 minutes of that over-2-hour conversation was
2 released just focusing on what I said, not all the leading questions, not all the statements
3 by the people I was with, not stating all the lies that had been told to me.
4 So that's the context of the video. Asked me a whole bunch of things that had 5 nothing to do with my job.
6 And I don't know this. So this is not -- this is not my experience. It looks like
7 they put my statements in what looks to be, then, a second interview that I had nothing
8 to do with. So I'm just trying to get the lay of the land here.
9 I don't know who Eric Cochran is either.
10 So that's what the context is.
11 [redacted] Thank you.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q In the video, you're recorded as saying that, we're also training on 14 algorithms, if 2016 happened again, that the outcome would be different.
15 Just at a high level, what does it mean to train the company's algorithms?
16 A I don't know. I'm not an engineer.
17 Q So you're not familiar with what you meant by that phrase?
18 A Yeah. I am not an engineer. I wouldn't know how to train an algorithm.
19 Q Okay.
20 Taking just one step back, is it your understanding that -- in an earlier response, 21 we were talking about how the data sets ultimately inform the -- whether it's the 22 machine learning, as far as language models, whatever it might be.
23 Is that an example of how the type of training could take place?
24 A No, that doesn't describe how training takes place. It just describes the 25 lifecycle of how a product is developed. But it doesn't take into account the technical

1 details of how to train a model.

2 Q Which teams at the company are responsible for training the algorithms?

3 A Every product has their own product development team.

4 Q So there'd be one for YouTube, one for Search, to your understanding?

5 A That's my understanding.

6 Q For any of the teams responsible for training the algorithms, do you recall

7 any instances where an issue or concern related to training the algorithm was escalated

8 to your team?

9 A Not that I'm aware of.

10 Q Are you familiar with the changes that the Trust and Safety team

11 implemented in the lead-up to the 2020 election?

12 A I don't have familiarity with the detail, no.

13 Q What about just at a general level?

14 A Trust and safety had posted a blog post, I believe, speaking about the 15 importance of preventing misinformation and disinformation.

16 Q Are you familiar with the Viacon analysis?

17 A Viacon?

18 Q Yeah, V as in "Victor," i-a-c-o-n.

19 A I don't think I'm familiar.

20 [redacted]. Are you referring to the document?

21 [redacted] No.

22 [redacted]. Okay.

23 [redacted]. Okay.

24 [redacted] It is referenced in the transcript, but it's not something that you -- you

25 spoke directly.

1 [redacted]. Okay. So, yeah, I don't know about it.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q At a high level, are you familiar with whether Alphabet has a DEI office or

4 team?

5 A I believe we do, yes.

6 Q And during your time at the company, has that office or team or division

7 played any role, either in training or other interactions, with your team with respect to 8 that second principle regarding unfair bias?

9 A No.

10 Q We talked earlier about deepfakes. Another concern that people have

11 raised, especially more recently, is the concern of AI to be used to be able to spread

12 misinformation at scale.

13 Is that an issue that would've fallen within your team's purview?

14 A It could have. It is a potential harm. But a case of it did not come to my

15 team.

16 Q Do you recall ever sitting on any panels or discussions about how companies,

17 or just entities more broadly, should think about trying to address and combat the risk of 18 misinformation being spread at scale?

19 A No. Given misinformation was not part of my mandate, the panels I was on 20 wouldn't generally discuss it. It could've been mentioned; I don't remember, just 21 because it wasn't my area of expertise.

22 Q Did you have any team members that were focused on issues that would

23 touch upon or were related to misinformation?

24 A No.

25 Q If there were issues, whether it was Search or if it was another Google

1 product, where, you know, it's using machine learning and AI and it was, for whatever
2 reason, you know, kind of producing the wrong answer, it was undermining the principle
3 related to scientific excellence and accuracy, is that the type of issue that would be 4 escalated to your team?
5 A In general, every product at Google is made to be helpful, informative, and 6 generally accurate. So, generally, the product teams own that first principle, to 7 get -- like, to get it off the ground, that would be the basic principle. So it was not
8 generally something that would come to my team, no.
9 Q Do you recall any examples where it did?
10 A The Image Search one I shared earlier, that accuracy can also -- because 11 we're not accurately reflecting the world.
12 Yes. For the Pixel phone, I mentioned earlier my team helped the Camera team
13 test, that we had accuracy issues of identifying essentially -- it sounds simplistic,
14 but -- people and plants. The algorithms just find it hard sometimes to distinguish
15 certain clothing, hair, from plants. A very basic issue, but hadn't occurred in the product 16 team's original testing.
17 So, when we were testing for some of our work, that came up as a potential issue.
18 So we sent it back to the product team to say, these seem like basic issues; fix them
19 before coming back to my team.
20 Q In an earlier set of questions, we talked about whether any concerns with 21 potential bias in the data set, whether those were ever directly elevated to your team.
22 It sounded like that wasn't the case.
23 Do you recall any instances where models were escalated to your team because of 24 concerns about implicit bias in a model?
25 A No. Most teams knew that we were focused on products, so data and

1 models didn't usually get to our team.

2 But -- and I don't know if it was flagged to us or we conducted the review -- I

3 remember my team did review the LaMDA model. Again, I don't know if it was because

4 someone flagged it to us or we were just helping to consult on a model when usually that

5 wouldn't fall into our mandate. That's the only one that comes to mind.

6 Q Was there another team that it was within their purview to assess models

7 for potential implicit bias?

8 A If it was a DeepMind model, that had the Responsible AI team within 9 DeepMind focused on models. So it would be in their agreement, yeah.

10 Q Do you remember your team's reaction to the LaMDA model, what you were 11 asked to assess?

12 A Across the 11 principles, I wouldn't remember the whole assessment. I

13 remember the anthropomorphization question getting attention in my team's reviews,

14 which subsequently got more attention because of public attention. But that was one

15 identified by my team and shared back with the product team.

16 Q Do you recall any other issues that arose?

17 A With LaMDA, I remember the "accountable to people" principle around

18 explaining to people that, if LaMDA was going to be embedded in a product, people

19 should be told this is AI. Because at that stage it was getting quite smart at responding

20 to questions; we wanted to make sure they knew they were interacting with an AI, not a

21 human. So I remember the "accountable to people" had a couple of issues raised.

22 Q As part of your role at the company -- first, let me take a step back. Are 23 you familiar with Mitre, M-i-t-r-e?

24 A I don't think I am. Mitre? Is it an organization? A model? Like,

25 product? A --

Q Organization with --

[redacted] Do you have the full acronym, if that's what it is?

[redacted] I'm not sure if it's an acronym or not.

[redacted]. Just, it doesn't sound familiar to me.

BY [redacted]

Q As part of your role at the company, have you worked with NewsGuard?

A No.

Q As part of your role at the company, have you worked with the Global Disinformation Index?

A No, I don't believe so.

Q Are you familiar with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?

A Not familiar with it. Aware of it as an organization.

Q And as part of your role in the company, did you have any interactions with it?

A No.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[Recess.]

[redacted] We can go back on the record.

BY [redacted]

Q I just had a quick followup about Jigsaw. Do you remember the questions in the earlier hour about Jigsaw?

A I think so.

Q Jigsaw is a unit within Google, right?

A Correct.

Q Okay.

BY [redacted]

Q And it's not a unit that you worked with?

A That I worked?

Q With.

A With? No, not frequently. No.

Q Okay.

I want to ask a couple of questions just to follow up to make sure I'm clear on the extent of your [inaudible] you had with Project Veritas that are in this transcript.

A Uh-huh.

Q So what you described to us was, you had a series of interviews for what you thought was a mentorship program, correct?

A Correct.

Q And the folks who were interviewing you did not identify themselves as being related with Project Veritas.

A No.

Q And then, subsequently, a video of one of those meetings was published online. Is that correct?

A No. An edited, spliced --

Q Edited --

A -- version of a 2-hour conversation was released, yeah.

[redacted]

Q Okay.

1 Now, you were shown a transcript of -- that was exhibit 3, I believe.
2 You've never met anyone named Zach Vorhies, correct?
3 A I don't believe so, no.
4 Q And, during your meetings, these statements that are attributed to these 5 other individuals in the transcript, nobody ever said anything to you -- said those words to 6 you during the meetings, correct?
7 A Yeah, no. No. I didn't have this conversation.
8 Q Right. So this is -- this is fake. This is a completely --
9 A This seems to be a second edited version.
10 So I was aware of the video that was, kind of, simply me. After 2 hours, they 11 edited out, apparently, the other two people; it was just me. So that was what I was 12 aware of.
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A This then seems to that that video and put it in between other people's 15 conversation.
16 Q It's in other people's either questions or commentary, correct, from what it 17 looks like?
18 A No.
19 Q So let me direct you to just the very first sentence, with Jack Vorhies saying,
20 "The reason I decided to come to Project Veritas was because people need to know
21 what's actually going on with Google."
22 Nobody ever said that to you during your meetings for this purported 23 mentorship --
24 A No.
25 Q -- correct? So this entire transcript is a fabrication of a conversation that never actually happened.

A This is not a conversation I had, no.

Q Thank you.

Mr. Bopp. Just to be clear, this appears to be a transcript of some sort of social media show, or something like that, in which this purports -- what purports to be quotes from [redacted] are sort of interspersed with commentary.

And, frankly, this is the first time I'm seeing this.

Is this the first time you're seeing it, [redacted]?

[redacted]. Yes. I have not.

Mr. Bopp. All right.

BY [redacted]

Q And so, to be clear, you don't know -- you have no idea on what media this appeared, if it's video, if it's audio, what platform, anything like that.

A No. Like, I did not participate in whatever this is.

Q Thank you.

[redacted], was your work as the director of the Responsible Innovation team ever influenced by politics?

A No.

Q And, to the best of your knowledge, was the work of your team at RESIN ever influenced by politics or guided by politics?

A No.

Q Was any of your work with Google ever influenced by politics?

A No.

Q You were asked a series of questions today about different products or different subject matters that appear to not be within the scope of your employment at

Google -- for example, Gemini, misinformation. A good chunk of the last hour, you were asked questions about organizations that deal with misinformation or disinformation policies.

Do you know if your attorneys made the majority staff aware of the scope of your responsibilities and what was not covered?

And if you don't know, then I'd ask counsel on the record.

Mr. Bopp. I don't believe you know, correct?

[redacted]. I don't think I know.

Mr. Bopp. I would rather not comment on the record about any conversations that I had with either -- with any staff or committee.

[redacted] Fair enough.

BY [redacted]

Q But I would like to make clear, the vast majority of what you've been asked about today are about things that were outside the scope of your responsibility. Is that fair to say?

A I honestly wasn't watching the time, but the last hour was mostly on misinformation. That was not in my scope.

Q All right. Thank you very much.

[redacted] We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

1 [3:04 p.m.]

2 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please.

3 One point of clarification. Just the exhibit that was introduced in the transcript,

4 that was not a -- the transcript itself is not one interview, it's the video that was posted,

5 and so just so that we could all reference the text, so it was being quoted. This is the

6 reproduced transcript of the video that Project Veritas had posted. It sounds like there

7 were different interviews interspersed as part of that video. So just for the record's

8 sake.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q I did want to go back to earlier we talked about fairness testing, and you

11 mentioned how that could -- that was looking to see what kind of harms might be 12 produced. Is that correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q What kind of harms might be produced, or what were you referring to 15 specifically?

16 A The types of harms are things like exclusion and, essentially, if we exclude

17 any type of people from our products, it's both bad for our products. And, obviously, we

18 would think that it's bad for our users. We want our users to have access to our

19 products and our best technologies. And so it would be harmful for them not to have 20 access to our products.

21 And another definition of "harm" would be, essentially, prevention of any maybe

22 economic harm due to fairness issues. An example of that, again, related to the image

23 search. One was related to jobs and job advertisement, as an example, that we would 24 not want to prevent certain types of people from seeing job ads because of who they are.

25 And so it could be harmful if ads are only shown to certain qualified people and not all

1 qualified people. We also want the best people for the jobs. But if some people don't 2 see it, maybe the best people won't be threatening us with economic harm to someone
3 who's excluded.
4 Q Are you familiar with the term "representational harms"?
5 A Yes.
6 Q What would be some examples of that, those types of harms?
7 A So representational harm is basically summarized as a lack of representation
8 within a product that causes harm. And so what that would mean, example, I'll use the 9 case of the job ad. We want any qualified candidate to see the jobs. But sometimes if 10 jobs are only shown to men, not women, there would be a lack of representation. So 11 due to that representational harm, women don't have access, qualified women don't 12 have access to those jobs. And so that's kind of representational harm is we're not 13 representing all potential, in this case, qualified candidates in general. We're not 14 representing all potential users.
15 Q Are you familiar with the term "erasing social groups"?
16 A I think I've heard that.
17 Q What does that mean in the context of the work that you do at Google?
18 A I don't think we've used it in our work at Google. My understanding is it 19 would be similar to representational harm where certain groups are era- -- again, we 20 don't use that language, but are not visible in the data or have access to a product.
21 Q Is it a representational harm if there is unequal visibility between different
22 groups or self-identifying groups?
23 A Differences invisible to you're okay. As an example, again, we're a global 24 user base, and we might expect that representational will be around 50/50 of the gender
25 and makeup. But representational then below that, we -- like, I don't -- Irish people

1 should not be represented to the same degree as American people. We don't have the 2 same population. So that would be, no, it doesn't have to be the same. It's like it
3 would be representational of our population to the size of the data set.
4 Q Are you familiar with what -- "information harms," that terminology?
5 A I'm not familiar. I have heard of it also. I'm not familiar.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q That wasn't a phrase your team would use as part of your work?
8 A My team might use it. I have experts in, again, philosophy and ethics who 9 might be more familiar with these terms of the industry than I would be as a people
10 manager.
11 Q Would your team -- going back to like the Google image search example.
12 Were there concerns about representational harms in that context?
13 A Representational harms would align with what I was saying about historians
14 all being from 19th century. That's not representational of 20th or 20th century
15 historians. I don't remember using that language, but it is an example of a 16 representational one.
17 Q Was there ever any discussion about concerns related to representational 18 harms and how that intersected with the principle related to scientific excellency or 19 accuracy?
20 A I don't remember it being brought up in that context, no.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q Do you recall posting on LinkedIn a posted reference, a study that your team
23 had recently done that won some award relatively recently?
24 A I remember, yeah, referencing my team in some of my LinkedIn posts, yeah.
25 Q Did you read that study that they did?

1 A I feel bad as a manager. And, no, I couldn't read all the work my team
2 produced.
3 Q Okay.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q Okay. In the Google search example you mentioned that you had taken in 6 user feedback. You know, especially with a company as global-based, even if it's within 7 the U.S., there was strongly differing views on a number of issues that people are using,
8 like, Search and other products for. How does your team assess when the feedback
9 coming in is not unanimous, that there's quite divergent views of what different users
10 would like from a product?
11 A What do we do with that or how do we --
12 Q Yeah. How does the team assess, you know, and decide how to handle
13 that?
14 A Well, generally, if there was such diverging views, we would just, again,
15 share that information with the product team. And, again, as one of their many inputs, 16 our team is one of the teams that consults with fraud team, it's up to them as to how to 17 understand how to make their product work for those users.
18 Q And so that would -- I mean, is it broken down by percentage, like two-thirds 19 of people express this point of view, and one-third, or is it -- how does your team
20 communicate to the product teams?
21 Mr. Bopp. Just, I want to make sure we're not veering into the hypothetical.
22 If you have experience with this, by all means, please go ahead and answer.
23 [redacted]. I have experience, but it is not consistent. I shared a couple of 24 examples that if there were news stories raised in a product, it was not quantified. It
25 was, this was already happening, kind of the world is telling us. That was shared with

1 the product team. And sometimes if survey results came in, again, managed by the user
2 research team, sometimes they would have a quantified like, yes, X percent have
3 expressed displeasure with this product feature. Usually, product teams wouldn't go
4 more into detail.
5 As I responded in a previous question, things generally have to be worked out on 6 the model level. So issues raised were symptoms of a model. So they didn't work on 7 individual. So even knowing the percentage by user research team was probably not
8 useful to the product team because they would have to look at another model. So
9 that's my understanding.
10 But mostly my team, as I said, we saw news stories. It was more, this is 11 happening, here is -- again, indicates symptoms of an issue, work on your model.
12 [redacted] Do you see your position at Google or any other positions that you've 13 held as a way of promoting diversity, equity, or inclusion?
14 [redacted]. My work role, no.
15 [redacted] No?
16 Can we go off the record, please?
17 [Whereupon, at 3:13 p.m., the interview was adjourned.]

1 [redacted] Can we go on the record, please.

2 This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has

3 requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent

4 to which the executive branch has coerced or colluded with companies and other

5 intermediaries to censored speech. Would the witness please state your name for the 6 record.

7 [redacted]. Hi, I'm [redacted].

8 [redacted] Thank you. On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for 9 appearing here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your

10 willingness to appear voluntarily. My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's

11 staff. I'll now have everyone else from the committee who's here in the room to 12 introduce themselves as well.

13 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

14 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

16 [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

17 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

18 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

19 [redacted] I'd like to now go over our ground rules and guidelines that we will

20 follow during today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority

21 will ask questions first for one hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask

22 questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth

23 until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

24 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to

25 take a break apart from that, please just let us know. As you can see, there's an official

1 court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that
2 you given verbal responses to all questions. Do you understand.
3 [redacted]. Yes.
4 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best
5 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
6 those people on the staff whose turn it is.
7 Please try and speak clearly so that the court reporter can understand and so the 8 folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we do not talk over 9 one another or interrupt each other, if we can help it, and that goes for everybody
10 present at today's interview.
11 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 12 counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding that you are appearing today with 13 counsel. Is that correct.
14 [redacted]. Yes.
15 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record.
16 Mr. Kelner. Robert Kelner with Covington and Burling for Amazon.
17 Ms. Dunn. Karen Dunn from Paul Weiss for Amazon.
18 [redacted] Thank you. We warrant you to answer our questions in the most 19 complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any 20 questions or you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know.
21 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics. So if you need clarification at
22 any point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not
23 remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it's okay to 24 tell us that you learned the information from someone else.
25 Just indicate how you came to know the information. If there are things you

1 don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us who, to the best of your
2 knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question.
3 You should also understand that although interview is not under oath, that by law
4 you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand
5 that?
6 [redacted]. Yes.
7 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
8 interview. Do you understand this?
9 [redacted]. Yes.
10 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to 11 criminal prosecution for perjury or for makes false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section
12 1001. Do you understand this?
13 [redacted]. Yes.
14 [redacted] Is there any reason you are enable to provide truthful answers to 15 today's questions?
16 [redacted]. No.
17 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss
18 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discussed in this
19 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.
20 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with 21 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript. Any copies of those 22 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up. That is the end of my preamble.
23 Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?
24 [redacted] We would just like to thank the witness for appearing here today,
25 and we would also like to note for the record, we've done well over a hundred of these

1 transcribed interviews right now and only a fraction of the transcripts have been publicly
2 released.
3 So we would urge the majority to release all of them to the public. We 4 understand that the counsel have access to them, but publicly we do not.
5 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:11. We will start the first hour of questions.
6 EXAMINATION
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q Could I have you state your name again, please.
9 A Yes, it's [redacted].
10 Q And what is your current place of employment?
11 A At Amazon.
12 Q And what is your current title?
13 A Vice president of public policy and community engagement.
14 Q And how long have you worked in that role for?
15 A I have been at Amazon almost 12 years.
16 Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?
17 A I graduated from Oklahoma State University, and I then went to law school
18 and graduated from Oklahoma State University School of Law.
19 Q Starting with the first job after law school what is your professional
20 background?
21 A The first job after law school was a clerk for the U.S. District Court for the 22 Northern District of Oklahoma, then I was a clerk for the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of 23 Appeals, then I worked for the U.S. Department of Justice, then for the U.S. Federal Trade
24 Commission, then for Intel Corporation, and then for Amazon.
25 Q When did you join Amazon?

1 A In May of 2012.
2 Q And what was your first position when you joined the company?
3 A Director of public policy.
4 Q And how long were you in that role for?
5 A I believe I was in that role for 4 years.
6 Q What was your next position?
7 A My current role as vice president of public policy.
8 Q As vice president of public policy, what are your responsibilities?
9 A So I have several areas that I am responsible for. One is the public policy,
10 the government relations team. I have responsibility for federal, state, and local 11 throughout the Americas. I also have responsibility for the worldwide economic 12 development team, and additionally a responsibility for our community engagement
13 program.
14 Q At at a high level, what are your responsibilities as they related to the 15 worldwide economic development team?
16 A Yeah. So that team is responsible for facilitating our operations and our 17 facilities around the world, like our fulfillment centers, giving permits for our operations, 18 and things like that.
19 Q And for the community engagement team, what are your responsibilities as 20 it relates to overseeing or interacting with that team?
21 A Yeah, the community engagement team works with nonprofits and 22 community groups in places where we have a large employee presence.
23 Q Since 2016, who has been your direct supervisor or who do you report to?
24 A It's changed. So in 2016?
25 Q Yeah, please.

1 A Yeah, in 2016, it was [redacted] at the time.

2 Q And for how long did you report to him?

3 A Until August of 2022.

4 Q And then after August of 2022, who did you report to?

5 A [redacted].

6 Q Is that who you report to today?

7 A Yes.

8 Q We'll start first in 2016 when you became vice president of public policy.

9 How big was the team that you managed?

10 A I don't recall the exact size, but it was probably a couple of dozen people at 11 the time.

12 Q And has the team changed in size since 2016?

13 A Yes.

14 Q How so?

15 A So as far as the number of people?

16 Q Yes.

17 A Probably have around 235 people on my team currently.

18 Q So it's grown sizable since 2016?

19 A Yes.

20 Q In your current role, do you have a primary deputy or someone who reports

21 to you?

22 A I don't have a primary deputy. I have a number of direct reports.

23 Q How many direct reports do you have?

24 A Eleven.

25 Q And how are their, at a high level, how are their responsibilities divided up?

1 A It's divided in a mix of geography and subject matter at a high level.

2 Q Of the 11, how many are responsible for interactions with the Federal

3 Government?

4 A A number are kind of based upon their subject matter and hip experience.

5 Q Which subject matters based on interactions with the Federal Government?

6 A So I have a team that deals primarily with congressional relations. I have a,

7 you know, other teams that we deal with agencies such as the financial agencies and so

8 forth. So --

9 Q Are there other executive branch agencies outside of the financial area that 10 your team interacts with?

11 A A number of -- Amazon does have a breadth of businesses. We disclose,

12 you know, in our lobbying report the exact number of agencies. But, for instance, like 13 responsiveness, it would be one.

14 Q For interactions with the White House, is there a team with primary

15 responsibility for that set of interactions?

16 A That depends. I have one person who sometimes will deal with the White

17 House engagement. I also deal with the White House of whatever administration from 18 time to time as well.

19 Q Who is that one person?

20 A So currently her name is [redacted]?

21 Q How long has [redacted] been with your team?

22 A I recall she joined in 2020 at some point.

23 Q And within the public policy team, which team is she a part of?

24 A She is a part of our political affairs team.

25 Q Who's the head of that team?

1 A [redacted].

2 Q As VP of public policy, which teams at Amazon do you interact with most

3 frequently?

4 A I deal with a lot of business teams. Basically, I just say kind of most teams

5 kind of, you know, in the company, you know, I deal with, you know, from time to time.

6 Q And on a high level, what is the nature of your interactions? Why do you

7 have to interact with business teams?

8 [redacted] I'm sorry. I didn't hear the last.

9 [redacted] The business teams.

10 [redacted] Oh, thank you.

11 [redacted]. In my role as head of public policy, we will advise business teams

12 of pending legislation or regulation. We will advise business teams of pending

13 legislation or regulation if, for instance, kind of those two examples.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q Are you familiar with the A9 team at Amazon?

16 A I have heard of that team, but I'm not familiar with them.

17 Q When you reported to [redacted], what was his title at the company?

18 A His title was senior vice president for global corporate affairs.

19 Q And then forgive me, if you can remind me of his last name. [redacted]

20 A [redacted].

21 Q [redacted] And what is [redacted] current title?

22 A Senior vice president of global public policy and general counsel.

23 Q Do you have regular interactions with other senior leadership at the

24 company?

25 A I do.

1 Q Who else do you also interact with?

2 A I interact with many leaders depending, you know, on the issue. You know,

3 if it's a retail issue, with the retail leaders, if it's involves the legal department, you know,

4 is with various leaders in the legal world, really I interact with kind of a broad range of 5 leaders depending on the issue.

6 Q Have you had interactions with the CEO?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Kind of the high level of what's the nature of those interactions?

9 A I will be in meetings where a particular policy issue, you know, might come

10 up, and he might be, you know, in attendance there, for instance.

11 Q Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation, disinformation, and

12 malinformation"?

13 A I've heard of those terms, but I don't know, specifically, what they might

14 mean.

15 Q So to your understanding, what is the difference between misinformation

16 and disinformation?

17 A I don't know.

18 Q Is that a -- sticking with just misinformation, is that a term that comes up

19 from time to time with issues that you or your team handles?

20 A I've heard that term arise, but I'm not sure exactly, you know, what it might

21 mean.

22 Q Which teams help oversee Amazon's online bookstore?

23 A Yeah, there is a book's team that is responsible for that.

24 Q And who currently leads that team?

25 A It is [redacted] who is the head of the book's business.

1 Q Are there separate teams that handle Amazon's online marketplace more
2 broadly as opposed to folks in particular?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And just at a very high level, can you describe the leadership's -- structure,
5 the organizational structure of these books within Amazon marketplace, or do you kind of 6 silo it out?
7 A My understanding is that they are separate business divisions both within 8 the retail part of the company.
9 Q Who is head of marketplace right now?
10 A I believe it is [redacted]?
11 Q If there are issues or concerns related to essentially misinformation, do you 12 understand -- is there a team at Amazon that has primary responsibility for handling the 13 issues related to that?
14 A My understanding is that there is not one specific team that does that.
15 Q To your understanding, what teams might have responsibility with that type 16 of response to address the issues related to misinformation?
17 A Well, I believe it would be the business or product that is involved.
18 Q Which team or teams have primary responsibility for overseeing Twitch?
19 A Twitch has its own team.
20 Q Who's the head of that team?
21 A I do not know.
22 Q During the COVID pandemic, to your understanding, did Amazon have a task
23 force or team responsible for issues related to health misinformation?
24 A Can you clarify the question again?
25 Q Sure. During the COVID pandemic -- just at any point since we'll say

1 starting in 2020, to your understanding, did the company have a task force, a team, some
2 sort of division, that primary responsibility for issues related to health misinformation?
3 A Well, my understanding is that it was the team -- there were existing teams
4 that worked on the issues that related to information we provide our customers. And it
5 was those teams that would be dealing with those issues, you know.
6 Q And would those teams be the product teams or?
7 A Yeah, there is -- for example, like the in-books team, you know, for instance,
8 there is a team that deals with content issues in that business.
9 Q Do you know who leads the team within the books team that handles
10 content issues?
11 A I do not.
12 Q What about with Twitch, do you know if think have a team that handles
13 misinformation, other content-related issues?
14 A It's my understanding that Twitch does have a content team as well.
15 Q Do you know who leads that team?
16 A I do not.
17 Q Are you familiar with the team within the company called the SWAT team,
18 S-W-A-T?
19 A So my recollection is that that's not a particular team, but a term that may 20 be used from time to time to get attention to a matter. Tiger team would be another 21 kind of term like that.
22 Q Do you know who Andy Slavitt is?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And then does the high level -- what's your understanding of what his role is 25 as it relates to your role in the company are?

1 A Well, my understanding of his role was that he was leading some of the 2 White House COVID response.
3 Q Do you recall when you were first connected with Mr. Slavitt?
4 A I don't recall the first connection time, no.
5 Q Did you know Mr. Slavitt before the start of the Biden administration?
6 A No, I don't believe I did.
7 Q Do you know who Rob Flaherty is?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Do you recall when you first connected with Mr. Flaherty?
10 A No, I don't recall the first connection.
11 Q Do you know who Clarke Humphrey is?
12 A Clarke who?
13 Q Humphrey?
14 A No, I don't believe I do.
15 Q Are you familiar with the White House's Coronavirus Task Force?
16 A Generally yes, I am.
17 Q Do you recall when you first had contact with them?
18 A If I recall, I believe we had discussions with them -- well, we've had 19 discussions in both the Trump administration as well as the Biden administration.
20 Which one?
21 Q Well, they're both --
22 A Yeah.
23 Q First years?
24 A Yeah, so I recall it was early COVID. It was mid March of 2020, the -- and I
25 don't know what their name was at the time, but the folks on the Trump administration

1 working on COVID issues, I reached out to us in a number of technology companies. I
2 remember we had kind of a call early then to discuss COVID issues.
3 Q And do you remember what COVID-related issues were brought up as it
4 related, specifically, to Amazon?
5 A Yes. So there was a number of technology companies on the call. There 6 was discussions about whether there were technological tools the companies had that 7 could help provide information to consumers about COVID since that was company
8 information is what was, you know, kind of needed at the time. I recall one topic raised 9 in that call was whether -- what technology companies could do to prevent 10 misinformation about COVID as well.
11 Q Do you recall which offices or which agencies were on the call?
12 A I recall that the -- that particular call was led by the chief technology officer.
13 I don't recall if the CTO and the deputy CTO were leading that. I don't recall what other 14 agencies were on that particular call.
15 Q And then with the Biden White House, do you recall -- well, first, do you
16 recall when your interactions with the Biden White House first started?
17 A Yeah, it was -- if I recall, it was probably late January, early February talking 18 about vaccine distribution issues.
19 Q Did you have any meetings or conversations with the Biden White House
20 regarding issues related to content moderation or misinformation?
21 A The first time that we had a conversation about that was after the 22 March 2nd email that I received from Mr. Slavitt followed up by a March 9th call with the 23 White House official.
24 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1
25 was marked for identification.]

1 [redacted] All right. This will be exhibit 1. This is an email chain that starts in 2 February, but continues into early March, personal email from Amazon. Are you ready.
3 Mr. Kelner. Yes.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q Do you recall this email chain?
6 A I do.
7 Q So if you were to start at the very back, it looks like Bates numbers on here,
8 but the first email on the very back page starts on February 19th, 2021. There's a little
9 bit of a back and forth. But on the second to the last page, there's an email from Mr.
10 Slavitt dated March 2nd, 7:33 a.m. Do you see that?
11 A Yes.
12 Q To your recollection, is this the first time that someone from the White
13 House had raised issues or concerns about misinformation as it related to Amazon
14 products?
15 A It's my recollection, yes.
16 Q Did you know prior to receiving this email that Mr. Slavitt was concerned
17 about alleged misinformation on Amazon?
18 A I did not. I was surprised by receiving this email. The previous discussions
19 we had had with the White House was, you know, about whether there were technology 20 tools that Amazon had that could be of assistance to the government's effort issues that 21 were around the vaccination of our employees. So I was surprised to receive this.
22 Q Prior to receiving this email, were you aware of whether Mr. Slavitt was 23 concerned about alleged misinformation on social media platforms?
24 A I don't recall being aware of that, no.
25 Q There's a response by you by later that morning. It Bates stamped at 8:36

1 on this email chain. You stated that "We've taken a number of actions to now show
2 misleading content on vaccinations." Did you have enough familiarity with the issue to 3 apply to this email on your own, or did you have to quickly get briefed by someone else
4 within the company?
5 A Yeah, I mean, I recall, you know, being surprised by this email, by the tone of 6 the email and, you know, you know, the direct language. I recall wanting to just 7 respond to kind of quickly, just to basically suggest a follow-up briefing. I don't recall
8 being kind of briefed, you know, in depth for kind of sending this email. But I do recall,
9 you know, asking questions the morning I received this.
10 Q How would you describe the tone of Mr. Slavitt's first email there?
11 A It was surprising because our belief E previous interactions had been not 12 about this issue but about technology tools and you know vaccinations. So I was 13 surprised both to receive it as well as by the tone of it.
14 Q And the understanding you were surprised to receive it. How did you 15 interpret the tone of this 7:33 email?
16 A Well, it was very direct. We had not had discussions previously on this 17 issue. So I was surprised by it and suggested a call to try to, you know, learn more about 18 what their questions were.
19 Q At the time you received the email, did you know what type of content Mr.
20 Slavitt had in his mind when he was asking about misinformation?
21 A I do not.
22 Q There's another email from Mr. Slavitt at 8:48. He writes, "if you search for 23 'vaccines' under books, I see what comes up." Were you surprised that the -- once he 24 sort of raised it, he has misinformation prior to the topic, he was concerned about was 25 vaccine misinformation?

1 A Yeah, I recall not knowing what he was, you know, talking about, you know,
2 specifically. So I recall wanting to learn more, you know, about what their concerns
3 were. So I get to understand what they were interested in.
4 Q Prior to receiving this March 2nd email for the other issues you mentioned,
5 how different technological tools can be used with the vaccine rollout or whatever else it
6 might be, how frequently were you interacting with the White House around this time?
7 A I don't recall like the exact numbers, but it was from time to time because 8 the vaccine, you know, rollout was, of course, a major issue for the government, you
9 know, and for us. And so if there were, for instance, things we were doing, you know,
10 with the States or around our employees, you would bring in vaccines or recall having 11 conversations about those. I can't remember the exact frequency.
12 Q Was Mr. Slavitt participating in most of those conversations before this 13 March 2nd email?
14 A I don't recall exactly which ones he was in versus, you know, people in his 15 office or in other parts of the office. I recall was in some, but I don't recall how many 16 specifically.
17 Q At 2:44, it's supposed to be back at the first page, there's a more substantive 18 response from you. And Mr. Slavitt had added in follow-up clarity based off his previous 19 email. Did you know who Mr. Flaherty was prior to this March 2nd email?
20 A I don't recall if I knew prior to this email who he was or not. I don't recall
21 that.
22 Q The last sentence of the first paragraph you say, "Specifically, we not allow 23 content meant to mislead customers under or that doesn't accurately represent content
24 of the book."
25 Just to clarify, are you as described in Amazon's policy at the time, as you

1 understand them, was that -- did Amazon's policies address misinformation of the book
2 or only how -- only what -- how the book was presented to customers whether that was
3 accurate?
4 A Yeah, I'm not on the team that can make those decisions, so I'm not familiar
5 with all of the specifics. It is my understanding that, you know, for instance, if a book,
6 you know, description says one thing, then what's in the book, then that generally it
7 would violate Amazon policies.
8 Q And what about if the book, as the policy stood at the time on March 2nd, if 9 the book accurately portrayed what the contents of the book, but the claims being made 10 within the book, some may allege, contain misinformation, is that a type of issue that 11 would have been addressed by Amazon's policies at the time on March 2nd?
12 A I'm not on that team, and so I don't -- I'm not familiar with all the specifics of 13 those policies.
14 Q Okay. What about at a high level?
15 A I'm not really familiar with the specifics or at a high level.
16 Q Who did you talk to on the books team to get an assessment of what 17 Amazon's policies were specifically to books?
18 A If I recall, I talked with a couple of members of my public policy team to get 19 this information.
20 Q Who did you talk to on your team?
21 A I recall talking to [redacted] and [redacted].
22 Q What is [redacted]' title?
23 A At the time she was director of public policy.
24 Q What about [redacted] role?
25 A I believe he was senior manager of public policy.

1 Q To your understanding, were they familiar with Amazon's policies related to
2 books, or did they need a briefing from someone on the books team?
3 A I don't recall what conversations they had that morning to get the 4 information or if they knew it. I don't recall.
5 Q The next email on this chain is a 2:53 by Zach Butterworth. Did you have 6 any interaction with Mr. Butterworth prior to the March 2nd email chain?
7 A Yes, I believe we had.
8 Q You said a high level, what was that the nature based on those interactions?
9 A It's my understanding, Mr. Butterworth was in the Office of Public
10 Engagement, but also helping with the COVID Task Force. And so some of the issues like 11 around the technological tools or what we're doing around vaccinations, I recall having 12 conversations with him about those issues.
13 Q There's also a [redacted] on this email chain. Had you had 14 interactions with him prior to this email chain?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And at a high level, what was the nature of your interactions with him?
17 A It was similar interactions. I believe he was on the COVID kind of task
18 force. So some of those similar issues around the vaccination and technology.
19 Q Mr. Butterworth's email at 2:53 starting at the bottom of the first page and 20 then continuing to the top of the second page. It says, "Just 5 minutes ago I searched 21 'vaccine' on Amazon, and the attached book was one of the first in the stack." There's 22 an image there, but the missed version of the email chain. Do you recall being surprised
23 that the White House was doing searches on Amazon to see what sort of results or labels
24 we're hearing?
25 A I was surprised by that.

1 Q And why were you surprised?
2 A Our previous interactions within -- had not been around this issue. They
3 had been around vaccinations, you know, and technology. And so I was again surprised
4 by receiving, you know, this email and the tone of it.
5 Q And how would you describe the tone of it?
6 A I think it's direct.
7 Q There's another email. This is now on the first page. Mr. Slavitt
8 responded to the chain at 3:14. Again, discussing the search results and what's 9 appearing on Amazon's results page. What did you make of Mr. Slavitt and Mr.
10 Butterworth running searches and describing their concerns with what was appearing on 11 Amazon's response page?
12 A I recall -- and I want to understand more about what questions they had.
13 So I recall thinking that just kind of a call with them and to have a briefing would probably 14 be kind of the best next path, you know, forward rather than just continued email
15 conversations.
16 Q Prior to this email chain, had there been any other instances where some 17 from the executive branch had taken screenshots or found results and kind of flagged a 18 specific level of their concerns with how things were appearing?
19 A On this issue or --
20 Q Yes.
21 A Not that I recall.
22 Q What about your -- you mentioned talking to a couple of members on your 23 public policy team. Was this a -- via a bit unusual to have kind of specific examples 24 flagged or screenshots, or was this something that the public policy team had come 25 across before?

1 A Well, given, you know, Amazon has so many products and services, we do
2 receive inquiries and from policymakers from time to time, including about new products
3 that we sell and things like that. So we have received inquiries, you know, like this from 4 time to time previously.
5 Q What about inquiries regarding how books appear after a search is run?
6 A I recall -- from time to time, we've had received inquiries, you know, kind of 7 in general, you know, about, you know, about books from policymakers.
8 Q What are some of those inquiries?
9 A I don't recall, specifically those. I just recall generally that we get questions 10 from time to time about books that we may sell that some might find objectionable, for 11 instance.
12 Q Do you recall any examples of books that were flagged to you or your team
13 as potentially objectionable?
14 A I'm not recalling any specifics right now.
15 Q When you do hear from policymakers about books that they may consider 16 objectionable, do you recall any of those policymakers sending a screenshot of the results
17 page or flagging concerns about how results appeared?
18 A I'm not recalling that.
19 Q Mr. Slavitt's 3:14 email -- this is on the first page of the exhibit. The end of 20 second paragraph he says, "And in my opinion, even a CDC warning wouldn't be a great 21 solution." What did you take that sentence to mean?
22 A If I understand correctly what he is referring to, I believe it's that if certain
23 searches were done, there would be a link to a CDC page that had some more 24 information about vaccines. So that was my understanding of what he was referring to.
25 Q With your understanding that he's referring to that policy or protocol that

1 Amazon had in place, what did you understand his statement that a CDC warning
2 wouldn't be a great solution?
3 A Well, I wasn't sure, you know, exactly, you know, what he intended. There
4 were several issues that were presented in the email chain or that morning. So I did
5 want to kind of talk with them and understand more what their exact questions, you
6 know, what their concerns were.
7 Q Did you understand his email, his 3:14 mail, to suggest that Amazon should
8 consider policies or enforcement mechanisms that are stronger than any CDC warning?
9 A I recall understanding if they had questions, if they had concerns about this
10 content. But I remember [redacted] I wasn't sure exactly, you know, what they wanted, 11 which is why I asked for a briefing, asked for like a follow-up call, where I thought he 12 could, you know, understand those questions better.
13 Q Again, with the understanding that the specifics aren't laid out, you're asking 14 for a follow-up conversation, you didn't interpret this email, the 3:14 email as suggesting 15 the CDC label was too much. Is that right?
16 A I recall understanding that they had questions, you know, about that, about 17 how it might work, how it might appear. So I would definitely want to understand, you 18 know, more about what their questions and, you know, about what their concerns were.
19 It wasn't entirely clear to me from this email.
20 Q I understand -- again, certainly the desire to get specifics again on additional 21 information. Either you or for members of your public policy team that you're talking 22 with on March 2nd, it would be very responsive to the White House. It's very short 23 timeframes between the responses. What was the takeaway either from, either you or 24 your team as far as what the White House's concerns were as it related to Amazon's
25 current policies on books that touched upon vaccines?

A I wanted to understand more because I was surprised to receive this. That the email was the first time we heard questions or concerns on this issue. So I wanted to learn more. I did ask for, you know, a follow-up call. And I was looking forward to finding out more about, you know, what they were interested in learning more about in that call.

Q So the timeframe we looked at in this email chain, you respond again at 3:21 asking for the opportunity to set up a call. Walk me through based off your recollection. The first email sent earlier that morning on this exhibit at 7:33 with Mr. Slavitt. What was your first reaction as far as what you should do next, which team you should contact or who you should reach out to?

A If I recall correctly, I first talked with members of my team to make them aware of this and to see what information they had. And then I want to -- and then my primary kind of focus that day was to try to get a call, you know, with the White House so we could kind of even if they do a briefing. So that's my understanding of what kind of I was focused on.

Q And who on your team did you speak to?

A I recall speaking with definitely [redacted] for sure. I recall -- I think she was probably, if I recall, my initial outreach.

Q So this is March of 2021. Do you recall during this time, were you in the office, this is taking place or your email from?

A If I recall, I think we were working from home kind of at this time. So.

Q Do you recall how you contacted -- I am sorry, is it [redacted] or [redacted]

A [redacted]

Q [redacted].

A If I recall, I sent her an email, I think.

1 Q And do you recall others on your team being looped into the discussion?
2 A If I recall, at some point [redacted] who worked for [redacted] at the time
3 was. I don't recall, I don't recall others.
4 Q Do you recall their initial reaction?
5 A I don't recall their reaction, no.
6 Q Which other teams, if any, did you -- do you recall reaching out to on
7 March 2nd?
8 A If I recall, I reached out to my policy team, and that's the one that I had the 9 primary communications with.
10 Q Is it your understanding -- let me rephrase that. To your understanding, did 11 members of your team reach out to the content moderation, whatever the correct time is 12 for the books team?
13 A Yes, that's my understanding.
14 Q Are you familiar with the term "do not promote" as it relates to the company
15 books?
16 A Yes.
17 Q What's your understanding of what is do not promote?
18 A It's my understanding that if an item is placed on the -- in the do not 19 promote category, then it's not eligible for search at these optional merchandizing and 20 promotion activities. So, for instance, Amazon has something called Amazon's Choice, 21 which will feature a product. We have a merchandising program that's called Great on 22 Kindle. And do not promote are not eligible for those. I can analogize it. You know, 23 if you were in a physical kind of retailer, and you're deciding what items to place on the 24 table up front or to put in the window, but products that are in the do not promote 25 category are still eligible for search results. They're still available and in our store,

1 available for purchase is my understanding.

2 Q When books are have the do not promote label -- is that the right way of 3 phrasing it?

4 A Yeah, and like do not promote category, maybe, yes.

5 Q For books that are the do not promote the category, and so they're no

6 longer eligible for things such as Amazon's Choice, does that affect how those books

7 appear in searches?

8 A I'm not on the search team, so I don't know the specifics of how that would 9 be affected.

10 Q Okay. Taking a step back from do not promote, does -- when a book

11 gets -- receives a label on Amazon's Choice, does that impact where a book appears on a 12 search -- the results on the -- after a search is run?

13 A I'm not sure about the specifics of that.

14 Q Is the team that runs, handles issues related to the search or books, is that 15 within the books team or is that a separate team?

16 A On specifically how books kind of are handled, whether there's not. I know

17 there is a separate search team. I'm not sure for books whether it's in the books team

18 or on the search team. I just don't know.

19 Q Do you know who leads the search team?

20 A I do not.

21 Q Do you recall what types of categories are applied? What type of subjects

22 receive the do not promote category?

23 A No, I'm not familiar with those specifics.

24 Q Prior to this March 2nd time area, were you familiar with the do not

25 promote category as it relates to books?

1 A Prior to -- excuse me, I'm sorry, I didn't understand the question.
2 Q Sure. Just prior to March of 2021, were you familiar that Amazon books
3 had the do not promote category?
4 A Yes, I recall being aware of that, generally.
5 Q And do you recall any issues coming up as it related to whether certain 6 subjects were or were not included in the do not promote category?
7 A Well, it's my understanding that the books team had been working on how
8 to treat kind of anti-vaccine content for some time for at least a month before this March 9 the 2nd outreach and had been making -- they made recommendations around the do
10 not promote category. And it's my understanding that there was meetings scheduled 11 for March the 19th with the senior leadership team to finalize those recommendations.
12 Q How did you learn this information that a month earlier there were internal 13 discussions about how to handle books related to vaccines?
14 A I recall learning that from my public policy team.
15 Q Who in your public policy team briefed you on this?
16 A I recall that it was [redacted].
17 Q To your recollection, when did she first brief you on it?
18 A I don't recall the specific date. I mean, I recall that we had conversations
19 on the day on March 2nd on the day that we received this email. I don't recall 20 specifically when we discussed that issue.
21 Q Do you recall being aware of it before March 2nd?
22 A No, I don't, I don't recall being aware of it before then, no.
23 Q To your recollection, what did she tell you exactly as far as what was being 24 considered and where things stood the first time you were briefed?
25 A If I recall -- well, yeah, I don't know whether it was the first time we were

1 briefed. But I do recall when we had conversations, she was telling me that the team
2 had been, had been working, you know, for well over a month on recommendations for 3 anti-vaccine content. And I do recall she said that there was that meeting scheduled on 4 March the 19th to finalize those recommendations.
5 Q Do you know who she was working with?
6 A I don't know, specifically, who.
7 Q What about generally, do you know which other teams she was working 8 with?
9 A I recall it was with members of the books team, and I believe the legal team
10 is one.
11 Q Once you were made aware of this, is it something you made [redacted]
12 aware of?
13 Mr. Kelner. I'm going to object to questions related to conversations with the 14 general counsel as for now.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q Without getting into privilege discussions, is this the type of issue that you
17 would elevate to folks above you in the company?
18 A I recall briefing my boss at the time that at some point that this outreach
19 occurred. I don't recall specifically when I did that.
20 Q For that initial briefing for your boss, did you -- did that briefing take place
21 before or after the March 2nd reachout from the White House?
22 A I'm sorry just to clarify, I was answering the question about would I brief my 23 boss on the March 2nd outreach. I'm sorry. So that's what I was just to kind of clarify.
24 I recall briefing my boss that I received the outreach on March the 2nd. I'm sorry.
25 Q Yeah, that's fine. We'll ask a couple of follow-up clarifying questions.

1 First with that briefing as it relates to the White House's outreach on March 2nd, how
2 quickly did you brief your boss after the White House?
3 A I don't recall, specifically, when I told my boss.
4 Q Do you recall if it was the same day?
5 A I don't recall, but I don't believe it was.
6 Q To your recollection, was it within a week?
7 A I don't recall, specifically, but that's likely the general timeframe.

1 [11:07 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Earlier in the hour you mentioned that there was a call or a meeting that

4 took place on the 9th.

5 Do you recall if you had briefed your boss prior to that meeting with the White

6 House?

7 A I don't recall specifically when, but it's most likely that I did before that call

8 ended up occurring.

9 Q And then to clarify a previous answer, when briefing your boss, does that

10 include the outreach from the White House, as well as the briefing that Sarah provided to

11 you about the internal work for the company, her team and the company had been doing,

12 or were those two separate briefings?

13 A I don't recall briefing my boss about the policies -- the policy work from 14 the -- from the book team. I don't recall briefing about that.

15 Q For the scheduled meeting with the company leadership on March 19th,

16 first, do you understand that -- did that meeting take place as scheduled, is your

17 understanding?

18 A I believe there was a meeting on March the 19th that took place. It's my 19 understanding that there were also decisions made about do not promote in advance of 20 March 19th as well.

21 Q The March 19th meeting, was this meeting on the calendar specifically for

22 the internal work Amazon was doing as related to books that touch upon vaccines, or

23 were there a number of issues to be addressed in the March 19th meeting and this was 24 just one of them?

25 A I don't know the full agenda for the meeting. It is my understanding the

1 vaccine content was on, but I don't know if there may have been other topics or not.

2 Q Independent of this March 19th meeting, are there standing meetings where

3 public policy is briefing senior leadership, or are they scheduled on more of an ad hoc

4 basis when issues come up?

5 A Just to clarify, the March 19th meeting was with the books team, briefing the 6 books leadership.

7 As to your question, we have both standing meetings with public policy, as well as

8 meetings that are scheduled as needed on specific issues.

9 Q For the March 19th meeting, did you attend?

10 A No.

11 Q Did anyone from your team attend?

12 A I do not know.

13 Q Do you recall receiving a readout from anybody after the March 19th

14 meeting?

15 A I don't recall if I did or not.

16 Mr. Kelner. [redacted] I think we're coming up on one hour. Do you want to take a 17 break soon?

18 [redacted] Yeah. We just have, like, one more minute.

19 Mr. Kelner. Okay.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q To your understanding, when you say the books team was meeting with,

22 like, the books leadership -- I don't want to improperly put words in your mouth -- who 23 are you referring to when you're talking of the March 19th meeting specifically?

24 A It's my understanding that in that meeting on March 19th, at least the head

25 of the books business, David Naggar, and one of the senior vice presidents over retail,

1 [redacted], was also going to be there.

2 Q I'm sorry. Who was that?

3 A [redacted].

4 Q Anyone else, to your recollection?

5 A I don't know.

6 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

7 [Recess.]

8 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

9 EXAMINATION

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q So, [redacted], you worked at Amazon for about 12 years, correct?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And before that, you had a fairly long career in public service, correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q You stated that you worked for the Department of Justice?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And you were a trial attorney there, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And you spent how many years at the Federal Trade Commission?

20 A I was there almost eight years.

21 Q And at some point during those eight years, you were the chief of staff to 22 the chair of the FTC, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And that was Deborah Platt Majoras. Am I pronouncing that correctly?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. And she was appointed by President George W. Bush?
2 A Yes.
3 Q So she was a political appointee, correct?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And you were her chief of staff?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Now, have you worked on the Hill at any point?
8 A No.
9 Q No? Now, you stated that you've been the vice president of public policy at 10 Amazon since 2016, correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And so you've held that position now through three different presidential 13 administrations, or at least part of three presidential administrations, correct?
14 A Yes.
15 Q And it's part of your job, your role as the vice president of public policy to 16 interface with government officials at every level in the U.S., correct?
17 A Yes.
18 Q So that includes federal, state, local?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And you said that you have approximately 235 employees on your team?
21 A Yes.
22 Q So it's, essentially, a government affairs government -- like, a government
23 affairs shop, government affairs operation that you run. Is that a fair characterization?
24 A That is one of our functions, yes. We have other functions as well.
25 Q And you discussed some of them, like community relations, for example?

1 A Yes.

2 Q One of your responsibilities is to be responsive to inquiries from public

3 officials, including the White House, correct?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And I imagine when you receive those inquiries, you do your best to be 6 responsive?

7 A Yes. I would want to be responsive.

8 Q And you aim to be responsive to the White House regardless of who the 9 President is, correct?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Your work is not political, even though you deal with political figures. Is 12 that a fair statement?

13 A What do you mean by, like, nonpolitical?

14 Q Meaning, you deal with public officials regardless of what party they're from,

15 regardless of what their stance is? You interact with them all the same way, right?

16 Correct?

17 A Yes. We'll interact with officials on a bipartisan basis, yes.

18 Q Are you familiar with the term "content moderation"?

19 A I have heard that term, yes.

20 Q And what do you understand it to mean?

21 A I think it has many different meanings.

22 Q Well, let me ask you this. Is any part of your job to engage in content

23 moderation?

24 A There is a team -- there are teams that deal with content moderation. I'm 25 not on those teams.

1 Q Okay. So it is not your role personally to engage in content moderation or 2 to supervise the work of those who do?
3 A That's correct.
4 Q Okay. And do you have any role in creating or shaping Amazon's content
5 moderation policies?
6 A There's a team that makes those decisions and it makes those policies. I'm 7 not on that team.
8 Q Okay. So no role in shaping those policies either?
9 A No. I mean, I'm not on the team that makes those decisions.
10 Q Okay. And is it fair to say that's why you're not as familiar with terms like 11 misinformation or disinformation or what the difference is between the two, because 12 that's just not in your lane?
13 A Yeah. I'm not on those teams that make those decisions.
14 Q So I want to talk about some of the work you've done on -- as vice president
15 of public policy with -- before COVID. I want to just get a sense of, outside of the 16 context of the pandemic, the types of work that your team does.
17 And does your team work on any projects or initiatives with the White House
18 specifically before the pandemic?
19 A With -- prior to President Biden or -- 20 Q Prior to -- yeah prior to the President --
21 A President Trump?
22 Q Entirely.
23 A Yes.
24 Q Can you describe some of those, please?
25 A Yeah. We've worked on a number of issues. For instance, I recall we

1 worked with the Trump administration on issues like computer science education, on 2 opioid abuse issues. I recall working with the -- with First Lady Trump on her initiative
3 around children as well.
4 Q And when you say you worked with them, can you describe a little bit what 5 you mean by that?
6 A So, for instance, those initiatives I recall involved public/private partnerships
7 on those issues. So I recall, for instance, on computer science education that Amazon
8 provided some -- some funding to an organization that was also, I believe, receiving 9 federal funding, you know, to promote computer science.
10 Q Can you talk a little bit more about First Lady Trump's initiative and what her 11 work was and how Amazon supported that?
12 A Yes. First Lady Trump had her -- I think it was called Be Best initiative, and 13 she had a roundtable with technology representatives to discuss issues around children
14 and technology. And I participated in that, and I believe we did some -- some 15 educational initiatives around -- around the program with Amazon.
16 Q So fair to say that Amazon helped further the initiative or attempted to help
17 or use its platform to help further the goals of the First Lady's initiative?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Now, turning specifically to COVID, you're aware that the White House
20 declared COVID-19 to be a national public health emergency in early 2020, correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And you mentioned in the previous hour that there was a meeting that the 23 White House convened in mid-March 2020. Do you remember that?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And it was a -- it was called a roundtable with tech company executives. Is

1 that correct?

2 A I don't recall what it was specifically named, but there were a number of 3 technology companies there, yes.

4 Q And was it your understanding that the White House was looking to 5 technology companies to partner with federal agencies to help prevent the spread of

6 COVID-19?

7 A It was early -- kind of early days of COVID, and I recall there being -- yeah, a

8 number of issues that were around education, kind of, of COVID and -- and how

9 technology companies could assist, for instance.

10 Q And you participated in that meeting, correct?

11 A I did, yes.

12 Q And Amazon could have chosen not to attend that meeting, correct?

13 A We could have, yes.

14 Q But you decided that you wanted to participate?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And why is that?

17 A There was a number of other technology companies participating, and we

18 wanted to be part of the dialogue that the government was having at this national 19 emergency.

20 Q Did you also want to further the goal of helping to mitigate the spread of 21 COVID and help educate the American public about the -- the growing pandemic?

22 A I recall that we wanted to -- to assist the government's efforts as we could,

23 yes.

24 Q So if I could have exhibit --

25 [redacted] Exhibit No. 2

1 was marked for identification.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Okay. So Exhibit 2 is a readout that was published by the White House on

4 March 11, 2020, and it's titled, "Readout: White House Convenes Meeting of Tech

5 Industry on COVID-19 Response."

6 Did I read that correctly?

7 A Yes.

8 Q So I'm going to ask you a few questions about this readout.

9 First, the -- the readout lists the companies that participated in the 10 teleconference, correct?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And there are -- there are about 12 companies there?

13 A Companies and associations, yes.

14 Q And associations, yes. Thank you for that clarification.

15 And, obviously, Amazon is one of those companies?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And the meeting was -- oh, I'm sorry. If you turn to the second page, it also 18 lists the federal agencies that participated in the meeting, correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And there are eight federal agencies that were there, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And that includes Health and Human Services, Medicare and Medicaid

23 Services, the Office of the Surgeon General, National Institutes for Health, for example,

24 correct?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And the meeting was run by the chief technology officer, I believe,
2 that -- you mentioned that earlier?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And the -- according to this readout from the White House, in the second
5 paragraph, it says the White House, quote, "challenged the tech community to leverage
6 technology tools, such as artificial intelligence, to help medical researchers glean scientific 7 insights from this collection of articles."
8 And they're referring earlier to a collection of articles that the chief technology
9 officer's office had collected in a database about COVID-19. Is that correct?
10 A Yes, that's my understanding.
11 Q And the White House also stated in the readout -- and this is in the third 12 paragraph -- that "The White House's top priority is ensuring the safety and health of the 13 American people amid the COVID-19 outbreak. Cutting-edge technology companies and 14 major online platforms will play a critical role in this all-hands-on-deck effort."
15 Did I read that correctly?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And is that consistent with your recollection of the message the White
18 House conveyed in the roundtable?
19 A Yes. That was my recollection of this meeting.
20 Q And was there anything unusual about this request to partner on this sort of 21 an issue?
22 A I mean, I recall -- I mean, the whole situation was unusual.
23 Q Separate and apart from the once-in-a-lifetime --
24 A Yeah.
25 Q -- global pandemic.

1 A That -- that was definitely, you know, unusual. But the request itself to
2 partner, no.
3 Q And as you stated a few moments ago, you had previously done that before
4 on several initiatives?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And the White House also stated in that third paragraph, "Today's meeting
7 outlined an initial path forward, and we intend to continue this important conversation."
8 Did I read that correctly?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And that's consistent with your recollection of the White House's intent and 11 also what transpired afterwards. Is that fair to say?
12 A I recall that that -- what was said. I don't recall what specific follow-ups to 13 this, you know, meeting.
14 Q In this -- in that administration?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Now, on the second page of the readout, the White House listed the topics
17 that were discussed at the meeting.
18 And the first topic is increased coordination between federal agencies and 19 technology companies to improve official information sharing. Is that correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And is that consistent with your recollection of the meeting, that that was 22 one of the topics discussed?
23 A I recall at a high level that that was discussed, yes.
24 Q And the second bullet point -- I believe this is what you testified to 25 earlier -- the second topic included increased coordination among online platforms to

1 identify best practices to root out COVID-19 misinformation. Is that correct?

2 A Yes.

3 Q So, just to be clear, it was during the Trump White House that Amazon and

4 other tech companies were first asked to work on the issue of rooting out COVID

5 misinformation?

6 A That's my recollection, yes.

7 Q Thank you. Now, I want to raise another request that the White House

8 made to Amazon during the Trump administration. This is a long email chain. I'm just 9 going to ask some very general questions about it.

10 A Uh-huh.

11 Q Well, actually, I might get a little specific. But just take a moment to review

12 it.

13 So in March of 2020, the White House submitted an app, coronavirus.gov, the Fire

14 TV app, for approval to Amazon. Is that correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And the White House asked you to expedite approval for that app so that it

17 could appear on people's Fire TV platforms?

18 A Yes. I recall that they were looking for that app to appear quickly, yes.

19 Q And on this email chain, if you look at page 3 -- and the Bates stamp is

20 4603 -- at the bottom of the page, you sent an email to several individuals at Amazon in 21 which you said, "This is a direct request from the White House for app approval.

22 Appreciate your help in getting expedited right away. When we approve, please let me

23 know so I can circle back with them."

24 Did I read that correctly?

25 A Yes, that's correct.

1 Q Is it fair to say you treated this matter with some level of urgency? You
2 wanted it to be expedited?
3 A Yeah. It's my recollection that I did -- yes.
4 Q And did you do that because it's part of your job to be responsive to issues
5 that the White House raises with you?
6 A Yes. They were -- the White House was interested in getting these apps up
7 on all the app stores, and I wanted to assist in making sure that it got expeditiously
8 approved in the Amazon Appstore.
9 Q And as the email chain reflects, the app initially, in fact, was rejected
10 for -- for what appears to be a technical reason. Is that fair to say?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Okay. And you stated in the email that you were upset that it was rejected,
13 and that you wanted somebody on the phone to explain why to the White House right
14 away. Is that correct?
15 A Yes. It's my recollection that they -- the White House just received this 16 automated email about the rejection, and I thought that we should provide them an 17 explanation and not just an automated email, but actually, I think, here's what you need 18 to do to fix it and, you know, to get it approved.
19 And so I was upset that they received that automated email, like, without further 20 explanation.
21 Q And is it fair to say that part of the reason for you being upset is because it
22 was your job to have open communication with the White House and to do what you can 23 to -- to respond to their requests?
24 A Yes. I wanted to -- to help get it kind of approved quickly, and I thought 25 just an automated email without any explanation was -- was not the proper way to do

1 that.

2 Q Now, you mentioned a few moments ago that you're not on the content

3 moderation team. It's not part of the work that you do.

4 At a high level, are you aware that Amazon had -- has content guidelines for the 5 books that it sells?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And are you aware that Amazon has had content guidelines since well before

8 the pandemic?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And, generally speaking, what is your understanding -- is there a certain type

11 of material that you know would fall within Amazon's content guidelines that would be 12 prohibited?

13 A I'm really not familiar with the specifics of the policies and what would be 14 prohibited or not.

15 Q Are you aware if a book that encouraged some sort of self-harm, like, for

16 example, drinking bleach to cure a disease, is that the type of thing that would be

17 prohibited? Is that your understanding?

18 A It was my understanding that books that did advocate harm to the 19 customers, like drinking bleach, that books like that had been removed from the store is 20 my understanding.

21 Q And is it your understanding that that had happened even -- even before the 22 pandemic?

23 A That books had been removed?

24 Q Yes. And if you don't know, that's fine.

25 A I don't know. Yeah, I don't know.

1 Q So far outside of what you do?
2 A I don't know.
3 Q Okay. And I appreciate that. Thank you.
4 We have conducted many interviews of executives and other employees from 5 social media companies, but Amazon is very different from a social media company,
6 correct?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And one of the reasons for that is that Amazon is not primarily a platform for 9 user-generated content. Is that fair to say?
10 A Amazon is a retailer primarily.
11 Q And it is -- well, it began as a bookstore, correct?
12 A That's right.
13 Q And is it fair to say -- I don't actually know the answer to this question, but it
14 has to be that Amazon is the biggest bookseller in the world?
15 A Well, there are many, many booksellers. I know Amazon has -- has millions
16 of books, you know, for sale to our customers.
17 Q And books are a form of speech, correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And Amazon strives, as a retailer, to offer the widest possible selection of 20 speech to its customers, correct?
21 A That is Amazon's philosophy, to be able to -- to offer as many books and 22 content as we can to our customers on a wide variety of subjects.
23 Q And that includes books that some or maybe even most people might find 24 offensive?
25 A Yes. It's our philosophy to -- to offer content even if some might find it

1 objectionable.

2 Q And I'm not sure if you'll be able to answer this question, but if you can,

3 when Amazon makes a decision to remove a book from its platform, is that something

4 that Amazon's teams do on their own, make their own independent judgment, or do they

5 respond -- do they remove things because a third party asks them to?

6 A It's my understanding that they -- they make decisions based upon the 7 Amazon policies.

8 Q Now, I want to turn back to exhibit 1 and your emails with Mr. Slavitt,

9 Mr. Flaherty, and Mr. Butterworth on March 2nd. And I'm going to introduce,

10 essentially, the exact --

11 Mr. Kelner. Can you give us a second to -- 12 [redacted] Oh, sure.

13 Mr. Kelner. -- locate exhibit 1 in our pile. Okay.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q So I'm sorry to add to the paper. But I'm going to introduce what is,

16 essentially, the same thread, but it includes the screenshot that Mr. Butterworth sent 17 you, which I think is important to be in the record.

18 And I think it does not actually include that very top message, which is 19 Mr. Flaherty responding to you. No, that's not the right one. Sorry. Wrong one.

20 [redacted] We can go off the record.

21 [Discussion off the record.]

22 [redacted] We'll go back on the record.

23 [redacted] We'll come back to that.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q What I want to do is take you through -- we can go through exhibit 1. I just

1 want to take you through -- some of this we covered in the earlier hour, but I want to just 2 add some context to it.
3 So my counterpart for the majority pointed out that if you look at the back page,
4 these initial emails were from February 19th, 2021, and they were on a different topic,
5 correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And I believe you described them as a back-and-forth. But did you actually
8 look at these -- this was a conversation between you and Mr. Butterworth discussing 9 ways in which Amazon could work with state governments to help distribute the COVID
10 vaccine.
11 Is that a fair characterization?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And Mr. Slavitt was cc'd on those emails, correct?
14 A Yes.
15 Q And so when he reached out to you on the morning of March 2nd -- turning 16 to the third page of that exhibit -- he was just replying to a thread that already existed
17 even though it was on a different topic. Is that fair to say?
18 A I'm -- I'm not certain what was -- he was replying to or not.
19 Q Well, if you look at -- and I'm not trying to get at his intent. I just want to 20 look at what -- what the document reflects. His email at March 2nd, 7:33 a.m., the 21 email immediately before that is an email from you to Zach Butterworth and several 22 others cc'd, including Mr. Slavitt, dated February 25th, 2021. Is that correct?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And Mr. Slavitt's 7:30 a.m., March 2nd email is not responsive in terms of 25 topic to that email that you sent about an internal messaging campaign and Amazon

1 Pharmacy, correct?

2 A Yes. It was on a different topic, yes.

3 Q And the email -- so his initial email is where he made the comment, "Who

4 can we talk to about the high levels of propaganda and misinformation and

5 disinformation at Amazon," correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And that is what you refer to as being a surprising and direct -- correct?

8 A Yes, it was surprising.

9 Q And then you sent the response at 8:36 where you said that you were happy

10 to talk and learn more and that you had taken a number of actions not to show

11 misleading content on vaccinations, correct?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And if you -- you offered to do a more fulsome briefing with content teams if 14 that's helpful, correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And then Mr. Slavitt responded to you and said, "If you search for vaccines

17 under books, I see what comes up. I haven't looked beyond that, but if that's what's on 18 the surface, it's concerning," correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And then he said, "Happy to get briefed, but I want to understand the data

21 when we do."

22 Did I read that correctly?

23 A Yes.

24 Q He did not ask you to remove any books or content from Amazon's

25 bookstore, correct?

1 A That's correct.
2 Q And he did not ask you to remove the book or any content from Amazon's
3 search algorithm, correct?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And he didn't actually ask you to take any action at all, correct, other than 6 wanting to identify who he could talk to?
7 A Yes. That's correct. He did not -- he did not make the ask in this thread,
8 yes.
9 Q So he did not pressure you to do anything?
10 A Well, we weren't sure exactly what he wanted to talk about or what 11 questions he had, which is why we thought that a briefing to understand more would be 12 useful.
13 Q But, again, there was no direct ask or no direct pressure in that email,
14 correct? I mean, it was critical, but other than that?
15 A There was no direct ask in that email.
16 Q And he told you that he was bringing Rob Flaherty into the conversation,
17 correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And then you provided that more fulsome response that majority counsel
20 went over during the previous hour about Amazon's content guidelines, correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And you actually provided a link to those guidelines?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And you pointed out that when a customer searches for books related to 25 vaccines or COVID in general, the search results page links to the CDC page on vaccine

1 information, correct?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And that was something that Amazon was doing to try to ensure that its

4 customers had ready access to authoritative health information about COVID and about

5 the vaccines?

6 A Yes. So when -- yes. When there were certain search terms done, that

7 link would appear at the top of the search results page, yes.

8 Q Now, when Mr. Butterworth responded and sent you the screenshot that we

9 discussed earlier that I'll show you later when I can, he -- he said, "Brian, thanks for your

10 response. Five minutes ago I searched vaccine on Amazon, and the attached book was 11 one of the first in the stack. When I click on the product page, I don't see any CDC

12 warning." Is that correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q He did not ask you to remove the book with the attached from Amazon's

15 platform?

16 A No.

17 Q And he specifically pointed out that when he clicked on the product page, he

18 didn't see the CDC warning?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Now, you were asked about Mr. Slavitt's email, his follow-up email, where

21 he mentioned that -- well, you were asked about portions of that email. And referring

22 to the email that's on the bottom of page 1 at 3:14 p.m. And he states, "In fact, right

23 above it" -- and we'll see when we have the exhibit, he's referring to the screenshot that

24 Mr. Butterworth sent -- is the line, quote, "Vaccines are dangerous and don't work,"

25 unquote. "Promoting even another book. This site caters to people who are anti-vax."

1 Did I read that correctly?
2 A That's what that says, yes.
3 Q And then he went on to say, "We would welcome spending time on this with 4 you, not just about policies, but examples like this that are of concern," correct?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And then he said, "In my opinion, even a CDC warning wouldn't be a great
7 solution."
8 And that was what you were asked about earlier, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And you did not know what he meant by that?
11 A I don't know what he meant by that. I assume he wanted to have a -- a 12 follow-up call to learn more.
13 Q And he didn't say in the emails what would be a good solution, correct?
14 A Yes. I was not clear about -- about what he wanted in this email.
15 Q And he did not ask you to remove the book that Mr. Butterworth had sent 16 the screenshot of, correct?
17 A No. Not in this email thread, no.
18 Q And he did not ask you to remove the book -- the other book title that he 19 mentioned?
20 A No.
21 Q And you, again, offered to set up a time to discuss the concerns that he 22 raised?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And Mr. Flaherty responded by saying, "Thanks. Let's talk about what your 25 policies are. Want to understand what the lines are here." Is that correct?

1 A Yes.
2 Q Mr. Flaherty did not ask you to remove any content, correct?
3 A No.
4 Q He did not ask you to change Amazon's policies, correct?
5 A No. We -- no. We weren't sure what they wanted, but no.
6 Q And what he expressed in this email was a desire to understand what
7 Amazon's policies were, correct?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And he connected you with a colleague to help schedule a meeting, correct?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And I believe you mentioned during the previous hour that that meeting was 12 set for March 9th of 2021, correct?
13 A Yes. That's when that occurred, yes.
14 Q Now, other than emails to schedule that meeting about people's availability,
15 did you have any other communication with Mr. Slavitt or Mr. Flaherty before March 9th?
16 A I do not recall any other communication with them.
17 Q Now, in this email exchange that you had on March 2nd that culminated
18 with Mr. Flaherty suggesting that you set a time to meet, there was nothing in that email
19 thread that you interpreted to be an attempt at coercion, correct?
20 A We weren't sure what they wanted, what questions they were going to 21 have, which is why we thought it best to try to schedule a call to learn more.
22 Q Did you interpret it as any kind of threat that there would be retribution
23 against Amazon if you didn't address these concerns that you didn't know what they 24 were?
25 A Well, I was surprised by the tone of the email. It was direct language and

1 didn't really understand what -- all the questions they had or what they were interested
2 in, which is why we thought a follow-up call would be best.
3 Q And, ultimately, you had that follow-up call?
4 A We did.
5 Q And who participated on that call?
6 A Yes. From the White House, it was only Rob Flaherty who participated.
7 He was the only one, to my -- to my knowledge. And then I had a couple of my Amazon
8 colleagues as well.
9 Q And so, again, your recollection is that Mr. Flaherty was the only White
10 House representative on that call?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And how long did that call last, do you recall?
13 A I recall that it was -- it was scheduled for 30 minutes, and I recall it not 14 lasting that long. I think in -- you know, like, shorter than 30 minutes.
15 Q And how would you describe the tone of that call?
16 A We weren't sure what to expect, you know, on the call. We prepared a lot 17 for it. The conversation itself was -- was also surprising. It was high-level.
18 Q What do you -- what do you mean by that?
19 A It was -- it was general questions and not detailed kind of or specific 20 questions for us, and so that was -- that was how I would describe that call.
21 Q And was it -- you said it was surprising. In what way?
22 A I was surprised that Mr. Slavitt did not attend, that Rob Flaherty was the only 23 one who attended. And we had prepared lots of, you know, information because we 24 weren't sure what they were going to discuss on the call. But the call ended up being 25 fairly high level in general.

1 Q Did it have the same tone as the emails that were sent on March 2nd?

2 A I would say the tone was different. I found that the March 2nd, kind of,

3 tone to be very direct and that this call was fairly high level and general and not a lot of 4 specifics to my recollection.

5 Q Now, you stated that you had prepared a lot of materials in anticipation of

6 that call. Is that, in part, because you didn't know exactly what they were going to say

7 or what they were going to ask, and you wanted to be prepared for a variety of different

8 scenarios?

9 A Yeah. We did not know what they were all interested in or what questions

10 they were going to ask, and so I did want to be prepared.

11 Q And did you anticipate that one of the things that you might be asked is for 12 Amazon to remove certain pieces of content from its bookstore?

13 A Yeah. I wasn't sure what they were going to ask, but that was one question

14 that we thought they might ask.

15 Q And how did you anticipate you would respond if they did?

16 A It is Amazon's philosophy to -- to sell books and content to all of our

17 customers as much as we can, even if some customers find that objectionable. And it

18 was not our intent, to my recollection, to -- to remove content.

19 Q And so you intended, even if you were asked, to deny that request?

20 A That is my recollection of how we would have approached that.

21 Q And Amazon prepared a pre-brief for this call. Is that correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And I believe we're on exhibit 4.

24 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 4

25 was marked for identification.]

1 Mr. Kelner. We're going to take a moment to read this.

2 [redacted] Oh, of course.

3 Ms. Dunn. Do you know when we started?

4 [redacted] We are at 23 minutes. Do you need to take a break now?

5 Mr. Kelner. Why don't we take a short break.

6 [redacted] Sure. We can go off the record.

7 [Recess.]

8 [redacted] Thank you. We can go back on the record, and I appreciate your 9 patience.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q So this email is dated March 9th, 2021, at 10:05 a.m., correct?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And the subject line is "Re: Pre-brief for meeting with the White House,"

14 correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And it has a prepared script and then some talking points, correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Now, I want to turn your attention to page 2 of this document; the Bates

19 number is 6185. And one of the talking points is -- let me find this on the document. If

20 you look at the -- there's a bullet point in the middle of the page right above where it says

21 content guidelines. And it says, "Books are unique and an important part of Amazon's

22 DNA. We are going to sell controversial books, as all libraries and other bookstores do.

23 We have a high bar for removing book selection at Amazon, and we do not take these 24 decisions lightly."

25 Did I read that correctly?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And so that was an example of the language that you intended to use if

3 asked to remove books from Amazon?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And in addition to pushing back the request to remove books, you also

6 intended to push back, if there was a request, to remove certain types of content or

7 certain types of books from search results. Is that correct?

8 A Excuse me. Let me read this.

9 Q Well, let me direct your attention to the next page, which is Bates number

10 6186 -- wait, no. Sorry. It's the last page, page 5, 6188.

11 There's a bullet point under it's the one, two, three -- the third bullet point under 12 Roman numeral 4, "Bottom Line." It says, "To remove certain books from our discovery

13 tools is equivalent to removing them from our store. We do not take these decisions

14 lightly, and we err on the side of our customers."

15 Did I read that correctly?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And is discovery tools a reference to search functions? That's how I

18 interpreted it, but perhaps I was mistaken.

19 A That would be my understanding of this, yes.

20 Q And going back to page 6186, another one of the talking points that was

21 prepared for you was -- and I'm looking under Roman numeral 1 and that first talking

22 point, to be made affirmatively, and there's -- in the brackets it says, "Is the admin asking

23 us to remove books, or are they more concerned about search results/order or both?"

24 Did I read that correctly?

25 A That is what that says, yes.

1 Q And then it says, "Again, books are unique and an important part of 2 Amazon's DNA." Then hyphen TBC, hyphen "Books are not UGC/social media."
3 And UGC stands for user-generated content, correct?
4 A That's my understanding, yes.
5 Q And then it says, "We have a high bar for removing book selection at 6 Amazon, and we do not take these decisions lightly." And then there's a quote, "Books
7 cannot be compared to social media and communications content. We are mindful of a
8 global history rife with book censorship, and we do not take this lightly," end quote.
9 Does that accurately reflect Amazon's position with regard to removing books
10 from its content -- I mean, from its platform?
11 A Yes. That is the position Amazon takes on books, yes.
12 Q Now, going back to the meeting itself, all of this preparation, a five-page 13 single-spaced document contemplating the many issues that you anticipated might be 14 raised.
15 Did you need to use any of these talking points during this meeting? What do
16 you recall?
17 A I recall the conversation being high-level, kind of, you know, being general.
18 I recall us talking about some of our overall efforts on vaccines that we had been doing
19 for our employees. I recall us talking about the CDC link that would appear on certain 20 search results page.
21 And I recall Mr. Flaherty asking a question about whether we had seen an increase
22 in the sale of vaccine-related books or not. And that's the -- that's my general
23 recollection of the -- of the issues that we discussed.
24 Q Did Mr. Flaherty during that meeting attempt to coerce you into removing 25 content from Amazon?

1 A The -- my recollection is that the conversation was high-level, that there
2 were no specific ask made, and there was no request for follow up after the call.
3 Q Okay. So no specific ask means -- that includes no asks to remove content,
4 correct?
5 A It's my recollection is there -- there was not ask to -- to remove content or 6 other ask.
7 Q And there was -- and no other ask to change policies or anything like that?
8 A That's my recollection.
9 Q That's your recollection, okay. Thank you very much.
10 And no talks of any follow-up, I believe you said?
11 A That's correct. My recollection is there was no ask for a follow-up, and I
12 don't recall further follow-up.
13 Q Okay. So no further follow-up from the White House on this issue?
14 A That's my recollection.
15 Q Do you recall if you had further contact with Mr. Slavitt at all -- oh, before 16 you go there, my colleague has a question.
17 [redacted] No ask means there was also no threat of retribution if Amazon did
18 not take a particular action, correct?
19 [redacted]. My recollection is the conversation was -- was high-level, in 20 general, and no specific asks were made?
21 [redacted] And there was no -- no message from the White House was delivered
22 that if Amazon does not take this action, we will take X, Y, and Z actions against Amazon,
23 correct? That didn't happen?
24 [redacted]. I recall that it was a high-level and general conversation.
25 [redacted] So that did not happen?

1 [redacted]. I don't recall any specific ask being made?

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Do you recall having any further contact with Andy Slavitt after the March

4 2nd emails?

5 A I do. I believe -- I believe we did on a number of other COVID issues.

6 Q Different issues?

7 A Yes. I recall that we had conversations with Mr. Slavitt and his office about

8 testing, about testing capacity in the summer as the Omicron was happening, for

9 instance.

10 Q And no further conversations about misinformation?

11 A I don't recall further follow-up conversations on that.

12 Q So after that March 19th very high-level -- March 9th, excuse me, very

13 high-level meeting, that was it with respect to your conversations with the White House

14 about COVID?

15 A That's my recollection, yes.

16 Q Okay. It turns out we did have that exhibit I was looking for.

17 A Okay.

18 Q So I'm going to go ahead and introduce it. And just to remind you, this is

19 the thread that we talked about earlier and only it actually has the -- the screenshot from 20 Mr. Butterworth. So if we could introduce that as Exhibit 5, that would be great.

21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 5

22 was marked for identification.]

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q So if you look at the second page of that exhibit, it's Bates number 2783, you

25 see the screenshot of the book that Mr. Butterworth pointed out to you, correct?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And it's a book that's entitled "Anyone Who Tells You Vaccines Are Safe and

3 Effective Is Lying." Is that correct?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And the -- the statement at the top, the link that Mr. Slavitt pointed out was

6 "Vaccines are dangerous and don't work." That's followed by "And millions of other

7 books are available for Amazon and Kindle. Learn more."

8 Did I read that correctly?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Now, again, Mr. Butterworth did not ask you to remove this book from 11 Amazon's platform, correct?

12 A No.

13 Q And if I could have the Amazon book results, please.

14 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 6

15 was marked for identification.]

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q So, [redacted], this is -- you can see from the top of that corner, this was

18 a search that was run on 4/15/24 for a book with the title "Anyone Who Tells You

19 Vaccines Are Safe Is Lying."

20 And the first result is that same book that Mr. Butterworth pointed out to you

21 back in 2021, correct?

22 A It appears to be, yes.

23 Q It appears to be, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q It has the same title and the same author, Mr. Coleman, Vernon Coleman,

1 correct?

2 A Yes.

3 Q So it appears I can still purchase that book for the price of $5.14 on Amazon

4 today, correct?

5 A Yes, it looks like it, yes.

6 Q And the second result is a book by that same author, Vernon Coleman, or 7 that's what it appears to be, correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And it's a book entitled, "Dementia Myth: Most Patients With Dementia

10 Are Curable."

11 Did I read that correctly?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And that's a book that we could all purchase on Amazon if we wanted to 14 today?

15 A It appears so, yes.

16 Q Now, I want to just follow up briefly. You were asked in a previous hour

17 about -- about a do-not-promote policy.

18 And you talked about some of the tools that Amazon uses, such as the Amazon

19 Choice program and -- what was the other one? It was Great for Kindle, I believe?

20 A Great on Kindle.

21 Q Great on Kindle. Thank you. Those are tools that Amazon uses to 22 highlight certain books to its customers, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And is -- so from my own experience, I can tell you I receive regular emails

25 from Amazon suggesting, here's a book you might like, here's a title you might like.

1 Is that part of the -- the programs that Amazon uses to highlight books?

2 A Yes. Amazon has a number of programs to do marketing of books and

3 products. Yeah.

4 Q And you likened these -- these tools as equivalent to, like, the table you

5 would see at a bookstore where it has the manager's recommendations or, you know, the 6 bookstore's own suggestions for books you might like, correct?

7 A Yeah. Sometimes I think it's helpful to have analogies to physical retail, and

8 I do think some of our optional merchandising promotions are like that, like a book -- or a

9 table, you know, at the front or something that a retailer might place, like, in a window,

10 you know, for instance.

11 Q And it's -- in the context of Amazon when -- it's almost -- well, would you

12 consider these programs to be almost, like, free advertising for those books? They're 13 being promoted by Amazon without the booksellers having to pay extra to do that?

14 A I'm not sure, like, for all of our optional merchandising programs what the 15 financial, you know, arrangement is.

1

2 [12:22 P.M.]

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Fair enough.

5 But you did say earlier that when a book is placed on Amazon's do-not-promote

6 list, it is not removed from the book store, correct?

7 A That's correct. So items that are in the do-not-promote category are still

8 available in the store and are still available or is still found through search.

9 Q And -- exactly. So if you search for vaccine effectiveness, you might still

10 find Mr. Coleman's book or similar books?

11 A My understanding is, yeah, these books in the do-not-promote category are 12 still available in the search results.

13 Q I'd like to introduce the search results from yesterday, another one.

14 [redacted] Can we go off the record real fast.

15 [Discussion off the record.]

16 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

17 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 7

18 was marked for identification.]

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q If you look at the top of the page, again, the top left, it says that this is a 21 document from yesterday, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And it shows search results for the term "vaccine effectiveness," correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And there's a variety of different books here, correct?

1 A Yes, it appears so.

2 Q So if you turn to the second page, for example, there's a book called

3 "Vaccines, the Biggest Medical Fraud In History," correct?

4 A Yes, it appears so.

5 Q And there's a few books on that same page. The hidden vaccines -- "The

6 Hidden Dangers of Vaccines During Pregnancy: What Your OB/GYN Isn't Telling You

7 About Flu /Tdap/RSV," for example, correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q So if a person today searches for vaccine effectiveness, they're going to 10 receive a variety of books pro vaccine and anti-vaccine for a variety of suggestions?

11 A Yes, this appears so.

12 Q And it's possible that some of these books may be on Amazon's

13 do-not-promote list, correct?

14 A I don't know.

15 Q But if a book is on do-not-promote, it will still show up in search results?

16 A Correct. I understand the do-not-promote categories still appear in search

17 categories.

18 Q And so there's no way of knowing, just from looking at a search, whether an 19 item is on the do-not-promote list?

20 A That's my understanding, but I'm not completely familiar with the specifics.

21 Q Fair enough.

22 [redacted] And with that, I think we will go off the record and for real this

23 time.

24 [Recess.]

1 [1:17 p.m.]

2 [redacted] We'll go back on the record, please.

3 In our first hour, we were talking about the email from Mr. Slavitt on March 2nd,

4 talking about some of the conversations and events in advance of the March 9th call.

5 I want to ask you about some documents from March 2nd and the days following.

6 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 8

7 was marked for identification.]

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q This is exhibit 8, an internal email chain dated March 2nd, 2021. Do you

10 recognize this email?

11 A I do.

12 Q Do you recall who sent it?

13 A I believe it was [redacted] on my policy team.

14 Q In the paragraph starting with 1, she says, "We will not be doing a manual 15 intervention today."

16 What did she -- what manual intervention was she referring to?

17 A I don't recall what she meant by that phrase.

18 Q Independent of this email, in the context of Amazon's books policy, what 19 would the phrase manual intervention mean?

20 A I don't know specifically what it meant. It could mean manually making a 21 decision, but I'm just not familiar with that term as she is relating.

22 Q Okay.

23 Do you think you were familiar with the term on March 2nd, 2021?

24 A I don't recall.

25 Q The next sentence says, "The team/PR feels very strongly that it is too

1 visible," apparently referring to the manual intervention.

2 Do you recall having any discussion with Sarah about whether a manual

3 intervention would be too visible?

4 A I don't recall having a discussion with her about that, no.

5 Q The sentence continues: "And will further compound the Harry/Sally

6 narrative." Do you know what she's referring to by the Harry/Sally narrative?

7 A I believe she's referring to the book "When Harry Became Sally," which 8 Amazon had previously removed from its store. That would be my understanding.

9 Q Were you involved in the decision-making of whether to remove "When 10 Harry Became Sally"?

11 A No. I'm not on that team and was not involved.

12 Q To your understanding, which team was involved?

13 A To my understanding, it was the books content team.

14 Q To your understanding, why was the book removed?

15 A I wasn't involved in the specifics of the decision-making, but it's my

16 understanding that the team stated that the book classified being transgender as a

17 mental illness, and they believed that that violated Amazon's policies.

18 Q As part of your role at the company, did you receive any questions from 19 anyone from the executive branch about the "When Harry Became Sally" book?

20 A I don't recall receiving executive branch questions, no.

21 Q Did the books content team ever provide you a briefing about the decision

22 to remove "When Harry Became Sally"?

23 A We received an inquiry from policymakers about that, and I received some 24 information from them, yes, that we used to help draft that response.

25 Q Which policymakers?

1 A It was several senators. I recall Senator Lee, but there were others, I
2 believe, as well.
3 Q Prior to receiving the correspondence from policymakers, had you received
4 any briefing from any teams in the company about the decision to remove "When Harry 5 Became Sally"?
6 A I don't recall. I don't recall that, no.
7 Q Was there anyone on your team that had the lead for interfacing with the 8 books team about decisions like removing "When Harry Became Sally"?
9 A Sarah Hudgins on my team was the person who dealt with the books content
10 team. She is also not on the team itself that makes decisions, but she interacted with 11 them, yes.
12 Q Do you remember who you spoke with on the books content team?
13 A I do not, no.
14 Q Did you have a primary point of contact on the books content team?
15 A My primary point of contact was [redacted] on my policy team. I'm not 16 aware of who her primary point of contact was, though.
17 Q The email for exhibit 5833 continues that the manual intervention being 18 considered won't fix the problem long-term because of customer behavior associations.
19 Do you know what she meant by customer behavior associations?
20 A I do not know.
21 Q Her email continues that if the company completely removes customer
22 behavior associations, it will break the search. Do you know why removing customer
23 behavior associations would break the search?
24 A I don't know what she meant by that, no.
25 Q When you received this email, did you know what these terms meant?

1 A I don't recall knowing those at the time, no.

2 Q How helpful was this email then to you?

3 [redacted] I'm sorry. I didn't hear that. What was the question? How --

4 [redacted] Helpful was this email to you.

5 [redacted] Oh, thank you.

6 [redacted]. It's hard to remember at the time the exact helpfulness of the 7 email, as it occurred right after the March 2nd call. So I don't recall the exact

8 helpfulness for sure.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q I'm just trying to get a sense of -- well, whoever drafted the email, I believe it

11 was Sarah, has produced to the committee the only one that this email is sent to is you.

12 There doesn't appear to be an explanation provided. So I'm just trying to get a sense of 13 your understanding on March 2, 2021, of what the options are available to the company.

14 And your recollection is you didn't have an understanding when you received this 15 email what was being discussed with several of the terms in the first paragraph?

16 A Yeah, I don't recall the meaning of some of those specific terms in that first

17 paragraph. That's correct.

18 Q The second paragraph continues: "I've asked the team to widen the search

19 light flag for COVID-19 CDC website redirect."

20 Sarah wrote this email, but what did she mean by widen the search light flag?

21 A Yeah, it's my understanding that when certain search terms were used

22 around vaccines, that then on the search results page, at the top of the page there would

23 be a link to a CDC site that had some information from the government about vaccines.

24 And I believe she was referring to expanding which terms would then trigger that 25 link appearing at the top of that search page.

1 Q Do you know which terms were under consideration?
2 A I don't know the specifics, but I understand that they were expanding -- that 3 they were fairly narrow at the beginning and that they were expanding the use of their 4 terms, but I don't know like exactly which terms they expanded them to.
5 Q Did you ever receive a memo or a briefing about which terms were being 6 considered?
7 A No, I don't recall that.
8 Q She says, "I've asked the team to widen the search light flag." Which team 9 is she referring to?
10 A It's either the books team or the search team. I'm not sure who had the 11 responsibility for determining those terms, but I believe it would be one of those two 12 teams, but I'm not sure which.
13 Q The second sentence in the paragraph starting with 2 says that "They can 14 hopefully implement that today, and you should be able to share a screenshot." Is that 15 in reference to sharing a screenshot with the White House?
16 A Yes, I believe that's what she was referring to. That would be in our 17 follow-up conversation with them. We weren't certain, you know, when that would 18 take place, but I believe that's what she's referencing, when we had the follow-up call
19 with the White House.
20 Q Did you ever email or show the White House either, a screenshot or a 21 display, what the results looked like after widening the number of search terms, search
22 keys?
23 A No, I don't recall us doing that. It's my recollection that after that
24 March 2nd exchange, that our next conversation with them was on March the 9th, and I
25 don't recall in that sharing screenshots or, you know, like that.

1 Q It says here, "I've asked the team to widen the search light flag." That's the 2 start of paragraph two. Was it your understanding that she had asked the team that
3 morning, March 2nd?
4 A That's my understanding, yes.
5 Q To your understanding, was it under consideration before the morning of
6 March 2nd?
7 A It's my understanding that that is one of the options that the team had been
8 looking at, in addition to do-not-promote for that month before that initial White House
9 outreach. That's my understanding.
10 Q And how did you gain that understanding?
11 A I recall it was from discussions with [redacted]
12 Q The start of the second sentence of the paragraph starting with 2 says, "They 13 scan hopefully implement that today." Was it your understanding that that change was 14 implemented on March 2nd?
15 A I'm not certain of when the search was implemented exactly. I don't know
16 if it was on March 2nd or at a later date. I'm not sure.
17 Q To your knowledge, was it implemented by March 9th, the day Amazon met
18 with the White House?
19 A I believe it was. That's my understanding.
20 Q Do you know how many terms were added to widen the search light flag?
21 A I do not.
22 Q Do you know approximately?
23 A I do not.
24 Q Do you know how many search terms initially were counted as search keys
25 before March 2nd?

1 A I do not.

2 Q For a decision like this, whether to widen the number of search keys, what is

3 the company's protocol as far as who needs to approve a decision like that?

4 A It's my understanding that the team responsible for that -- and in this case,

5 I'm not sure whether it was the books or the search team or a combination of both, but

6 that they would, for something like that, they would be able to implement that.

7 Q So whoever -- to your understanding, the leaders of either the books team

8 or the search team would be the individuals who ultimately approve?

9 A For this, I'm not aware of what their approval process was for this kind of 10 like search term and who exactly approved it on those teams. I'm not aware.

11 Q Paragraph three starts with a redaction referring to someone else, but they

12 are saying, "Are tag teaming some reactive messaging for your" -- for you "regarding

13 policy, response, et cetera. It won't be satisfactory."

14 First, did you interpret this to mean that she anticipated that whatever response is 15 being provided would initially not be satisfactory to the White House?"

16 A We weren't sure, first of all, when the follow-up call was going to occur, and

17 so we were preparing quickly because it could -- you know, it could have occurred maybe

18 that same day. But also, we weren't sure exactly what were they asking, what did they 19 want, what kind of questions they were going to ask.

20 And I understand this to read that if they were to ask about tagging content, then

21 that response would likely not be satisfactory.

22 Q Did you agree with her assessment as she's describing the situation as she

23 understood it at 9:42 on March 2nd?

24 A So we weren't sure what they were asking about. I recall that it was

25 Sarah's initial reaction that tagging might be something that the White House was

1 interested in, and I believe that's why she referenced that specifically.

2 But I do recall that we prepared a lot kind of on many different issues because we

3 weren't sure what they were wanting or asking about.

4 Q Do you recall having discussions with [redacted] about how Facebook and Twitter

5 and other companies handle content?

6 A I recall having some high-level discussions, and I recall her saying that those

7 companies tagged, I believe, specific kind of content. That's what I recall.

8 Q Did you know in March of 2021 whether Facebook, Twitter, other companies

9 were having conversations with the White House about vaccine misinformation?

10 A No, I did not know.

11 Q Do you recall anyone else on your team that expressed a sentiment that the 12 initial response being prepared was unlikely to be satisfactory in the view of the White

13 House?

14 A No. I recall it was I think mainly [redacted] and I that were having kind of 15 conversations at this time.

16 Q Had Sarah had conversations with the White House to your knowledge

17 before March 2nd?

18 A I don't recall that she did. My recollection is that on COVID issues, I was 19 the one that mainly had those conversations. I don't recall her being involved.

20 Q To your understanding -- for paragraph three here, she's preparing this

21 description of the situation. To your understanding, was she was basing that only off of 22 the March 2nd email chain from Mr. Slavitt?

23 A Yes, that's my understanding.

24 Q There's a reference to [redacted] in the final paragraph. Do you know who she's 25 referring to?

A Yes.

Q Who is that?

A That is [redacted], and he was the senior vice president who oversaw the books team but as well as some other divisions in retail.

Q The final sentence of the email says, "[redacted] gave very direct guidance to the teams to be boring and not do anything that is visible and will draw more attention."

First, do you know which teams she's referring to?

A My understanding is that it was the books team or teams that were -- had been working for the past month before this on the recommendations about what to do with vaccine content.

Q Do you know when [redacted] gave the guidance that she's referring to?

A I do not know exactly when he gave that guidance. I know the teams had been working for a month, but I don't know when that guidance was given.

Q Do you know how quickly on March 2nd, if at all on March 2nd, [redacted] was looped into any conversations about the outreach of the White House?

A I don't know. I recall that we made senior leadership aware like in the days that followed, but I don't know if there was any, you know, outreach on March 2nd or if that occurred like in the next couple days. I'm not sure.

Q Is [redacted] like adjacent in the hierarchy to [redacted]? So you report up to [redacted]?

A I do now, yes.

Q Okay. At this time, was it [redacted]?

A Yes.

Q So you report up to [redacted] who was also senior vice president?

A Yes.

1 Q And Russ' team is on the side of that in the hierarchy? [redacted] is not in your
2 reporting hierarchy?
3 A No. [redacted] at the time of this was in retail, and I believe he reported to the 4 CEO of the retail division, I believe.
5 Q Do you know who the CEO of the retail division was at the time?
6 A At the time, I believe it was [redacted].
7 Q Do you remember the first time you briefed [redacted] about reach out
8 from the White House?
9 A I don't know the first time. I believe it was before the White House call 10 occurred on March the 9th, but I'm not sure exactly when I did that.
11 Q Do you recall what his reaction was?
12 A I don't.
13 Q Do you recall how long the conversation or the meeting took place?
14 A I recall that it was in a regular meeting, like a regular one-on-one that I had 15 with him, and if I remember correctly, you know, it was one of several items that I 16 discussed, so --
17 Q In advance of a meeting like that, do you send an agenda or notes, anything 18 in advance of the meeting?
19 A No, I don't recall doing so.
20 Q For any meetings, generally, with your one-on-ones with [redacted]?
21 A That's correct.
22 Q What about after the meeting? Did you send a readout to anybody on your 23 team or to anybody else in the company?
24 A No, that's not my practice or recollection.
25 Q Independent of whatever [redacted] reaction was after the first time you

1 made him aware of the White House's reach out, do you recall Mr. Carney's reaction to 2 any subsequent briefings or meetings as it related to reach out from the White House?
3 Mr. Kelner. I'm sorry. Can you say that again? Did you say -- can you repeat
4 the question? I'm not sure I heard it.
5 [redacted] Sure.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q So, again, correct me if I'm wrong, but you don't recall what, if any, reaction
8 [redacted] had the first time --
9 A Correct.
10 Q -- you brought up the reach out from the White House?
11 A Correct.
12 Q Do you recall in any other meetings or briefings re-raising the issue with
13 [redacted]?
14 A I don't recall. I don't recall.
15 Q Do you recall ever receiving any instructions or guidance from [redacted]
16 about how to handle reach out from the White House in the spring of 2021?
17 A No, I don't recall receiving any guidance like that.
18 Q During this we'll say first half of 2021, independent of this email exchange or 19 reach out from the White House, just generally, how frequently did you interact with
20 [redacted]?
21 A I spoke with him regularly or emails, you know, with him kind of regularly
22 since he was my boss at the time.
23 Q Daily or weekly?
24 A Weekly for sure.
25 Q The final sentence in the 5833 exhibit talks about the guidance from [redacted]

1 and to be boring and not do anything that is visible and will draw more attention. What
2 did you interpret the guidance/instruction to be boring to mean?
3 A I don't understand what was meant, you know, by that in particular. I don't
4 know.
5 Q To your understanding, of the options available to the company being
6 considered on March 2nd, which were more visible and which were less visible?
7 A Well, I know that various options when it kind of comes to content policy
8 would be placing items in the do-not-promote category or removing items from the store,
9 which is not something that Amazon's particular philosophy of choice. But those are the 10 options that I'm aware of that the team could consider.
11 Q Of those two options, which is more visible?
12 A I don't know. I don't know. I don't know that answer, what would be 13 meant by that.
14 Q Of those two options, which would potentially draw more attention?
15 A I don't know.
16 Q If a book is removed from the platform, would the author or others become 17 aware if they try to search for the book and are unable to find it?
18 A I believe authors would be made aware if their item isn't for sale in the 19 store.
20 Q Are they notified in advance of the decision?
21 A I don't know how that works.
22 Q Is it your understanding they are notified at some point?
23 A I don't know. I don't know how that works exactly.
24 Q Who would know?
25 A The books team would know that.

1 Q When a new category is added for do-not-promote, is there any sort of
2 notification process or announcement that is made?
3 A No. My understanding is there's not.
4 Q So if an author had a book that was previously not in the category of 5 do-not-promote and then a change is made to add a category to do-not-promote, the 6 book now falls into a new category, to your understanding, would the author be aware of
7 that?
8 A Yeah, I don't know that.
9 Also, just to kind of clarify, I mean, it's my understanding that it's a specific title
10 that would be in do-not-promote. Not a category but title. But I'm not aware of 11 actually how that process works.
12 Q One other question on this exhibit. The final sentence of paragraph 3 or 13 the paragraph starting with 3, Sarah writes, "That is an option being explored that we 14 don't want to disclose to avoid boxing in."
15 What did you understand by her saying to avoid boxing in?
16 A Well, it's my understanding that she was referring to our conversation, you
17 know, with the White House and also what the team was recommending and considering 18 to senior leadership during the March 19th meeting. So that's how I took that kind of 19 message.
20 Q To your understanding, March 2nd, the option she's talking about had not 21 been finalized or approved? It was still under consideration. Is that your
22 understanding?
23 A So it's my understanding that the team had recommended certain actions
24 that would then be finalized in that March 19th meeting with the senior leadership.
25 Q Taking that response together with her email, was it your understanding

1 what she was trying to communicate to you that because the option had not been
2 finalized yet, it was best not to raise it with the White House because it was not
3 confirmed yet whether the company would make that decision?
4 A So it's my understanding that it was the team's recommendation to place
5 certain vaccine category books in the do-not-promote category.
6 But on this morning of March the 2nd, it is my recollection we were still gathering
7 information and facts in preparation for when that White House call may be scheduled,
8 which we didn't know when it would yet.
9 Q So the White House follow-up had not been scheduled yet, and leadership
10 had not finalized the decision yet. Is that accurate?
11 A Yes. The team had recommended actions, and it's my understanding that it
12 would be finalized on March the 19th.
13 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 9
14 was marked for identification.]
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q I'm going to introduce exhibit 9. This is another internal Amazon email
17 chain dated March 2nd.
18 So most of this email chain is an email chain with the White House that we've 19 been looking at for most of the interview. The top email, you forward the email to 20 people at Amazon. Do you recall who you sent this message to?
21 A If I recall, I believe it was [redacted] and [redacted] who is on my 22 public policy team as well.
23 Q When you say, "I think we should send an email recapping again to the 24 business team," which team are you referring to?
25 A I believe I was referring to the books team.

1 Q You then say, "I want it to be an email that I can forward to" and you list
2 several names. Can you walk us through who you're referring to?
3 A Yes. So Dave would be Dave Clark, the CEO of retail at the time. [redacted]
4 would be [redacted] who was the senior vice president of retail. [redacted] is [redacted],
5 who is my boss and the head of global corporate affairs. [redacted] is [redacted], who 6 was the vice president of public relations. [redacted] I believe is [redacted]. And 7 [redacted] is [redacted] who was head of the books team.
8 Q The first sentence in the second paragraph you say, "We should alert the 9 business that we have WH attention on this issue." That's in reference to the White 10 House attention.
11 A Yes.
12 Q Why was it significant to alert businesses that you have to the White House
13 attention on this issue?
14 A Well, we received an inquiry from the White House, and I wanted to make 15 sure that the business leaders were aware that we had received that inquiry.
16 Q Why would they be interested in knowing that the White House was paying 17 attention to this issue?
18 A Well, the White House is an important policymaker of the institution, and so
19 I didn't want them, you know, to be surprised and wanted them to have that information.
20 Q Was the business in contact with the White House regarding other policy
21 issues?
22 A The books business?
23 Q Yes.
24 A No, not to my knowledge.
25 Q Do you know if you ultimately did send an email to [redacted] [redacted] [redacted] and,

1 roughly, this initial group?

2 A You know, I don't recall if I did or not.

3 Q Do you recall sending an email to anyone in leadership that's not listed here?

4 A No, I don't recall that.

5 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 10

6 was marked for identification.]

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q This will be exhibit 10, which is an internal email chain, Amazon email chain

9 from March 2nd.

10 You're included earlier in the email chain. There are redactions. It does not

11 appear you're on the emails included on the first page on Bates number 6226. Is that 12 consistent with your recollection?

13 A It is.

14 Q Do you know who was on this email chain?

15 A I don't recall specifically. It may have been someone from public relations,

16 but I don't recall specifically.

17 Q Just at a high level, what is the difference in the scope of responsibilities

18 between public relations and the public policy teams?

19 A Generally, public relations deals with the media, and public policy would 20 deal with government.

21 Q Do you recall having conversation with anyone from public relations on or 22 around March 2nd?

23 A I don't recall that.

24 Q Did you have a primary point of contact on public relations?

25 A I dealt with a number of -- just in general, I dealt with a number of people in

1 public relations. [redacted] would deal with public relations probably on this issue.
2 Q There's an email on the first page with the timestamp of 10:20, and the 3 question is about spreading misleading information about vaccination. There is then a
4 response. Again, the names are redacted with a timestamp of 1:54 right above that on 5 the page.
6 The first bullet point says, "No, the line you're referring to is addressing publishing
7 errors like typos, formatting issues, image quality, et cetera." Is that consistent with 8 your understanding of what the books policies stood at the time of March 2nd?
9 A I'm not aware of the specifics of the policies kind of on March 2nd.
10 Q To your understanding, is there anything about that answer that's 11 inconsistent with your understanding?
12 A I'm not familiar. It feels like there's other content that this is referring to.
13 So I'm not exactly sure what -- you know, what this means specifically, so -- 14 Q The timestamp at 10:20 says, "Could we work up reactive frequently asked 15 questions to these questions for Brian's call?" It's, again, dated March 2nd, and you're 16 included in an earlier version of this email.
17 To your understanding, is this discussion taking place in the context of the White
18 House's reach out the morning of March 2nd?
19 A Yes, that's my understanding. We were -- we didn't know when the call
20 would be scheduled exactly, the follow-up call, and so the team, my team, my policy team 21 had started trying to prep because we weren't sure, you know, what questions they were 22 going to ask. And so we prepared for lots of, you know, different scenarios. So I think 23 it's in reference to that.
24 Q For question two, the question at the 10:20 timestamp email and then the 25 response at the 1:54 P.M., in the 1:54 P.M. email, there is -- in the first bullet point, it

1 starts under Q2: "We believe that retailers are different than social media
2 communities." Do you recall receiving talking points to that end?
3 A I believe there was something similar to that in the ultimate kind of talking
4 points. That is something that comes up from time to time, that retailers are just, you
5 know, much different than social media companies.
6 Q To your understanding, how so?
7 A We sell products is the main difference.
8 Q The sentence continues: "Which means we review the content we make 9 available, where we make it available in our store, and how we address content that 10 customers find disappointing."
11 When it comes to reviewing content, how is it different when a retailer reviews
12 content as opposed to a social media company?
13 A Well, like at Amazon, it is our goal to make as much products and content 14 available to our customers as we can because -- on a wide variety of viewpoints even if 15 some customers might find that content objectionable. That's our philosophy.
16 Q As the books policy, does Amazon fact check books that are made available
17 to the site?
18 A I don't know the answer to that, but I don't believe we do.
19 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 11
20 was marked for identification.]
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q This will be exhibit 11. It's an internal Amazon email chain dated 23 March 3rd. Do you recall receiving this update?
24 A I do.
25 Q Do you recall who sent it?

1 A I believe it was [redacted] on my policy team.

2 Q If you could again, there's about four names in the email. If you can go

3 through and tell us, to your understanding, who those names are referring to?

4 A So [redacted] is [redacted], who is head of the books business. Russ I

5 believe is Russ Grandinetti, who is the senior vice president in retail. And then the next

6 two names -- so I believe [redacted] is referring to [redacted], and [redacted] is referring -- I believe

7 his name is [redacted], if I have that correct. And they, at the time, I believe were in 8 the advertising team.

9 Q Do you know if Russ was ultimately supportive of the decision to action

10 do-not-promote?

11 A My understanding is he was.

12 Q How did you gain that understanding?

13 A I believe it was from conversations with [redacted]

14 Q To your understanding, did [redacted] communicate to [redacted] and then at some 15 point -- let me rephrase that question.

16 To your understanding, did [redacted] support the policy before the March 9th meeting

17 with the White House?

18 A Yes.

19 Q So this update is dated March 3rd. At this point in time, were you

20 supportive of actioning do-not-promote?

21 A So I'm not on the team that makes those decisions. That would be the 22 books team that makes those.

23 Q Were you asked to weigh in?

24 A I don't recall being asked to weigh in.

25 Q If you had been asked to weigh in, would you have been supportive of the 1 action of do-not-promote?

2 A What I recall is that, you know, the team had been working on this and had

3 recommended actions for more than a month before this. And I recall us asking the

4 team that if they were going to make a decision and take an action, if they could take it by

5 the time of the White House call, which ended up being on March the 9th.

6 Q And why did you ask that?

7 A The business was going -- the business had a meeting scheduled on March

8 the 19th to finalize their recommended actions, and if they were going to take those

9 decisions, I thought -- and we asked if the team could accelerate those decisions so, if

10 needed, it could be talked about on the White House call on March the 9th.

11 Q Why would it be beneficial to accelerate those decisions and be able to talk

12 about it on the White House call if needed?

13 A Well, if the team was already going to take these actions, which it was

14 recommended that they would, I thought it would be best to have complete information

15 and complete answers if that topic came up with the White House, because we weren't

16 sure what they were going to ask, what questions they were going to ask. So we wanted

17 to just kind of be prepared and have that complete information about any business

18 actions that were going to be taken.

19 Q Who was this request communicated to, to potentially accelerate the 20 March 19th meeting to March 9th or some date later?

21 A I believe it was made to the books team.

22 Q And who made it? You did?

23 A No. I don't recall that. I believe it was [redacted] who likely made that 24 request.

25 Q Was it your under -- in the lead up to the March 9th meeting, was it your

1 understanding that the White House would view it favorably if some of these changes
2 were enacted?
3 A I didn't know exactly what they were asking about. You know, what they 4 were interested in, that wasn't clear. Amazon makes its own content decisions. The 5 government doesn't. But I did want to provide complete information about what we 6 were going to do when we had that follow-up call.
7 Q Well, you certainly had some idea because -- so this email is dated
8 March 3rd. On March 2nd, there were a number of emails from the White House.
9 They sent you a screenshot of the results. They talked about the CDC warning. In a 10 previous exhibit, there's an email from [redacted] about whether a response would be 11 satisfactory.
12 Would providing a more complete answer -- did you expect providing a more
13 complete answer to the White House would lead to a more favorable response during the 14 upcoming meeting call with the White House?
15 A I recall that I was interested in, you know, answering their questions about 16 what we were doing with regards to this vaccine content, and providing those full 17 answers is what I wanted to accomplish.
18 Q What was the response when [redacted] or somebody communicated the 19 request to accelerate that decision?
20 A My understanding is that because the teams had been working on this for 21 quite a while, for like a month before that White House outreach, and they were 22 recommending that they take the action of placing more books in the do-not-promote 23 category, that -- and the meeting was already scheduled for March 19th, that they were 24 capable of and willing to move the decision up before the March 9th call.
25 Q Do you know -- you said it had been about a month, to your understanding,

1 that the team had been looking at this issue. Do you know what spurred that initial
2 start of the search for this potential change?
3 A It's my understanding that as the vaccines were starting to be rolled out in 4 December and January, December of 2020, January of 2021, that the team started
5 discussing what we should do about vaccine content. And it's my understanding that 6 just the rollout of the vaccines is what caused this discussion to take place.
7 Q How did you gain this understanding?
8 A From -- I recall from [redacted] in her discussions.
9 Q There are, obviously, a number of issues that are hotly debated. Do you
10 recall other situations where Amazon internally was considering having a do-not-promote 11 category, including titles for a do-not-promote category because of concerns about 12 misinformation on a specific topic?
13 A No, I don't recall that.
14 Q When a decision was made, and it sounds like it was made before the 15 March 9th call --
16 A That's my understanding, yes.
17 Q -- how was that communicated to you?
18 A To me, it was communicated via [redacted]
19 Q Was there a memo or any sort of written work product that accompanied 20 the decision, to your knowledge?
21 A Not to my knowledge.
22 Q Four lines, the third paragraph of the misinformation update March 3rd, it
23 says, "Team is expanding search light keywords." To clarify, is it your understanding that 24 would be the books team or the search team?
25 A Yes. Yeah, one of those is my understanding.

1 Q "However, they are not sure if they can get the content itself adjusted but
2 are looking into it."
3 What does it mean to get the content itself adjusted?
4 A I'm not sure what she meant by that. I think she may have been referring 5 to the CDC link and language around that, but I'm not exactly certain.
6 Q Then there is the reference to [redacted] and [redacted] that they signed off on the 7 gateway. Do you know what the gateway means in this context?
8 A Yeah, the gateway we reference as the -- this is the home page of 9 Amazon.com. We call -- I recall that's the gateway.
10 Q There is a reference to a display ad frame on the gateway. What is a 11 display ad frame, do you know, in this context?
12 A So when you go to the Amazon.com page, the gateway, there's a couple of 13 spots on that page. There is the space at the top that everyone sees, and then there are 14 ads on the side of the home page, and I believe that's what that display ad frame is 15 referencing.
16 Q Do you know what is being discussed in this email about what would be 17 displayed?
18 A It's my understanding that [redacted] had been working with the ad council,
19 which is, I believe, some sort of nonprofit or it's a collection of advertisers that displays
20 public service announcements. And if I recall correctly, there was discussions about 21 various companies working with the ad council to place content or, you know, public
22 service information about COVID on their sites.
23 Q There is reference to meeting with them at the end of the update. Is that
24 in reference to meeting with [redacted] and [redacted]
25 A My understanding is that that's meeting with the White House.

1 Q Do you know who was being considered to join the meeting with the White
2 House?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Who was that?
5 A So in addition to [redacted] and myself in that meeting, there was [redacted], who 6 was with the books legal team, and I believe that's what the reference is to.
7 Q Why did the company consider having [redacted] join the White House
8 meeting?
9 A So we weren't sure what questions they were going to ask, and if there
10 would be specific questions, I considered John as the subject matter expert of some of 11 these policies, and so I thought it would be helpful to have him join that meeting.

[2:12 p.m.]

BY [redacted]

Q Did you have any conversations with [redacted] in advance of the March 9th meeting?

A I believe [redacted] was part of the team that prepared that material. I don't recall having a specific conversation with him, BUT I know there was discussions about the, you know, prep material.

Q To your understanding, did he prepare material about how to respond if the White House were to ask the company to consider removing books?

A Yes, I believe that was part of the prep material. I'm not sure exactly who should be used to that, but I believe that was part of the prep.

Q To your understanding, who else contributed to the prep?

A I believe [redacted] did. And I also believe likely [redacted] who was also on my team.

Q I see [redacted] [redacted] [redacted] Are there others that you recall contributing to the prep?

A I'm not sure. I don't recall.

Q Was there ever a pre-meeting to discuss a poporu, how to handle the call at the White House?

A I don't recall a pre-meeting. I recall [redacted] and I may -- you may have talked about it, but I don't recall there's a formal prep meeting for this.

Q Once do not promote's action, is it your understanding that there are a series of book titles that are added and that is the -- just operationally how it works?

A Yeah, I don't know the, you know, how the operations exactly, but it is my understanding that it's on a title-by-title basis. How that works and I am not sure.

1 Q To your understanding, who at the company determines which titles are
2 added?
3 A I believe that is the books team.
4 Q As it relates to Do Not Promote books, that question, vaccines, do you know
5 who on the books team was responsible for selecting which titles?
6 A I do not.
7 Q Do you know when the process for selecting titles, was that done
8 preemptively as it was being considered, or does that process start only once the decision
9 has been made to have a Do Not Promote category added.
10 Ms. Dunn. I am sorry, counsel, can you just clarify the question?
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Sure. So the lease is March 2nd. There had not been a decision made yet
13 regarding Do Not Promote. Before actually collecting the titles themselves, does there
14 have to be a decision made to action the Do Not Promote, like have companies sign off or 15 at least sign off? Or is the title prepared in advance and included as part of like the 16 recommendation these titles would be included?
17 A I don't know.
18 Q Independent -- this isn't the specific to the Do Not Promote as it relates to 19 books related to vaccines, but just generally speaking, do you know were books and titles 20 that are added to Do Not Promote, how frequently are titles added or removed from the 21 list?
22 A I don't.
23 Q To your understanding, is there a team that reviews -- in fact, let me
24 rephrase my question. To your understanding, are there instances where a title's been 25 added to Do Not Promote and at a later time is removed?

1 A I believe that has happened.
2 Q For instances, when it does happen, to your understanding, how does that
3 process work?
4 A I don't know.
5 Q Who would best know that information?
6 A Someone on the books team.
7 Q Do you recall seeing any example titles from someone from the company of 8 shall we knew of the type of book that would be included for the Do Not Promote as it
9 relates to vaccine, anti-vaccine related books?
10 A I don't recall that.
11 Q If you wanted to know which titles were included in a Do Not Promote 12 category, who would you contact at the company?
13 A I first would probably ask someone on my team to look into it and have them
14 contact someone on the books team.
15 Q To your knowledge, did anyone on your team -- let me rephrase that. To 16 your knowledge, was anyone on your team looped in to the process of selecting which 17 books would be included in the Do Not Promote category for anti-vaccine-related works?
18 A I don't recall that because the -- it is my understanding, you know, the books
19 team who makes those decisions, you know, not the public policy team.
20 Q To your knowledge, did anyone on the books team receive the email from 21 the White House when they took a screenshot of the example book from March 2nd?
22 A I don't know. I don't know. I know that we conveyed some, you know,
23 some of the information from the White House. I don't recall if there was that 24 screenshot or not sent.
25 Q Was the books team made aware that the White House was running

1 searches?

2 A I believe [redacted] made the books team aware of the nature of the inquiry from

3 the White House, yes.

4 Q Prior to the Do Not Promote category of any action as it relates to books that

5 question vaccines, to your understanding, were there any titles that were on a different

6 Do Not Promote list?

7 A Can you clarify that?

8 Q Yeah. So what is the Do Not Promote list action around March 9th. At 9 some point, it's unclear if the titles were prepped in advance or not or later on. But

10 regardless, is it your understanding were any of their titles on a different Do Not Promote

11 list?

12 A I don't know.

13 Q Are you familiar with the acronym NSSE in this context?

14 A No, I don't recall that.

15 Q Do you know what a quip file is; q-u-i-p?

16 A Yes.

17 Q What is that?

18 A It is, I guess, I would call it like kind of a document collaboration tool where 19 you can upload, you know, docs, and multiple individuals can make that as or share them.

20 Can we go off the record, please?

21 [Discussion off the record.]

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q All right. We are back on the record. And I want to follow up on some of 24 the exhibits that were just introduced in the previous hour. If you could turn to exhibit

25 9.

1 A Which one is that?

2 Q That is Document 4598. It's the March 2nd, 2021, email that talks about

3 alerting the business that we have White House attention on this issue.

4 Now, actually before I get into the text of this email, I just wanted to set the stage

5 here. On March 2nd, 2021, the pandemic happened, in effect, for over a year, correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And people around the world had been confined to their homes for over a

8 year?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And at that point hundreds of thousands of Americans had already died?

11 A It is my understanding, yes.

12 Q And is it your understanding or your recollection that in early March, the 13 vaccine was not yet widely available to the American public; it was only available to 14 people who et certain categories of need. Is that your recollection?

15 A Yes, that's my recollection is that it was starting to roll out at that time, yes.

16 Q And that it was soon to be available to anybody who wanted to take it, but

17 we weren't quite there yet?

18 A Yes, I don't recall the specifics of that, but it's my general understanding, yes.

19 Q Fair enough. And would you agree that it was Amazon's goal as well as the 20 White House's to promote the idea of vaccination in the hopes of stopping the deaths and

21 stemming the tide that as many Americans who were eligible for the vaccine would

22 actually take the vaccine?

23 A Amazon, we definitely focused on our employees in getting our employees

24 vaccinated as quickly as possible, yes.

25 Q And was it your understanding that the White House obviously cared about

1 Amazon's employees, but also had a larger responsibility for the country at large?
2 A That's my understanding.
3 Q And so turning your exhibit to -- your attention to exhibit 9, when you said
4 that we should alert the business that we have White House attention on this issue, and 5 then you said later in the email that you should use in your message to the business team
6 some of Andy's language below, you're talking about the language that he used that 7 surprised you, correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And the language that you considered to be more direct than what you were 10 expecting?
11 A Yes.
12 Q But you didn't have any concerns about sharing that language with your 13 management?
14 A No, I wanted to make sure that they had a full understanding of the 15 communications from the White House, yes.
16 Q And as we discussed earlier, your response to both Mr. Slavitt and Mr.
17 Flaherty was to explain Amazon's content policies, correct, and not at the high level?
18 A Yes, at a high level.
19 Q It was not to suggest changing those policies?
20 A That's correct.
21 Q Now, I would like to turn your attention to exhibit 8, which is the email from 22 [redacted]. And I'm sorry, just to be clear, after you sent the response, the policy
23 response on exhibit 9 -- and it might be easier for to you refer back to exhibit 1, the full 24 chain for this -- you did not have any substantive response to that email, correct?
25 A I'm sorry, I just got confused about the email.

1 Ms. Dunn. Let's make sure we're on the same page.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So the email that we sent for exhibit 9, your explanation at 2:44 p.m., the

4 email to Mr. Flaherty and Mr. Slavitt --

5 Mr. Kelner. What's the Bates number on that, counsel?

6 [redacted] I'm looking at 4598, the first page of exhibit.

7 Ms. Dunn. Okay.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q This is the email where you went into the most detail in that exchange about 10 Amazon's policies, correct?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And the only response that you received to that was Mr. Flaherty saying that 13 he just wanted to understand where the lines or and let's set up a further phone call,

14 correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And again there was no further communication until the March 9th email?

17 A That's my recollection, yes.

18 Q Thank you. Okay. Now, turning to exhibit 8. I just wanted to clarify a 19 few things about this exhibit.

20 Mr. Kelner. Counsel, is that Bates 5833?

21 [redacted] It is. Thank you. And I will try to be better.

22 Mr. Kelner. They're NOT mark as clearly as -- I'm sorry.

23 [redacted] Fair enough. I appreciate that.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q So we are on the Bates 5833, and this is the email that is the subject line,

1 "Books Vaccine Misinformation policy underscore 020821." Now, you've said multiple
2 times now that it is your understanding that the books team had made recommendations 3 about including making certain changes, for example, including anti-vacs books and the 4 Do Not Promote policy, correct?
5 A Correct.
6 Q And that those recommendations had been made in early February, correct?
7 A They had started that in early February. Yes, they had been working on it
8 for at least a month.
9 Q And is it your understanding that 020821 refers to a date on which the 10 document was either created or circulated?
11 A That would be my understanding, yes.
12 Q Now, in the document itself -- I'm sorry, this email itself, refers specifically to 13 the March 9th -- let me start again.
14 The email itself refers specifically to the March 19th meeting that you had 15 mentioned had already been planned prior to receiving any communications from Mr.
16 Slavitt or Mr. Flaherty about misinformation?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Thank you. And if we look at No. 3 on this email, [redacted] said, "It 19 won't be satisfactory. Or the reactive messaging for your policy response. "It won't be 20 satisfactory." Now, I understand that you don't know -- you don't know what the White
21 House was going to find satisfactory, correct?
22 A Correct.
23 Q [redacted] expressed a belief that the response that you were preparing to 24 give would not be satisfactory, correct?
25 A Yes, that's my understanding.

1 Q But that didn't change what response you gave, did it?
2 A No.
3 Q You gave the response, even though someone at some at Amazon were 4 concerned, but believed it was not satisfactory to the government?
5 A We didn't know what they were going to ask. But, you know, when it
6 comes to Amazon's policies, it's our strong belief that we should offer as much content,
7 you know, as we can to our customers.
8 Q Right. And you also said that Amazon makes its contents decisions, not the 9 government, correct?
10 A That's correct.
11 Q Now, generally speaking, on March 2nd and in preparation for the March 9th
12 meeting, there was some speculation about what the White House might ask, correct?
13 A Correct.
14 Q And in this particular email, in point No. 3, [redacted] said, "The White
15 House would probably ask why we don't have the content like Facebook slash Twitter do 16 if we aren't taking it down." Correct?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Did Mr. Flaherty ask that in the March 9th meeting that you had with him?
19 A No, that's not my recollection.
20 Q Okay. On that same note, if you can turn to Bates 6226 that was marked as 21 exhibit 10, and it's the subject line "Vaccine misinformation in bookstore"?
22 A Okay.
23 Q So turning your attention to the email on the bottom where both the "from"
24 and the "to" are redacted, and it says, "Could we work up reactive FAQs to these 25 questions for [redacted] call?" Correct?

1 A Yes.
2 Q And then there were two questions that were written out there. Those 3 were hypothetical questions that again you were trying to prepare in case they were 4 asked, correct?
5 A That's right. We did not know exactly what they might ask, so we wanted
6 prepare for a wide variety of topics and questions that could come up.
7 Q And did Mr. Flaherty ask either of the two questions that were proposed 8 here or speculated about in this email?
9 A To my recollection, no.
10 Q Thank you.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q On that same email, looking at the proposed response, which is 13 time-stamped 1:54 p.m. Again, we don't -- the names are redacted here. I don't 14 believe you are on this email. But the proposed response is for question one, this is not 15 something you've had come up in the past, and it's taken the guidelines out of context.
16 The line stated it is referring to misleading metadata typos, image quality issues, et 17 cetera, no the actual truthfulness of the theory described within the text of a book. Do 18 you see where it says that?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And then it has two possible -- in bullet points two possible responses,
21 correct?
22 A Yes.
23 Q So in that instance, both of those responses were proposing to tell -- if the 24 question had been asked, the proposed response again would be to explain Amazon's
25 policies, correct?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Okay. Thanks.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q So you were asked a series of questions in the previous hour about the

5 timing of Amazon's adoption of finalization of the Do Not Promote policy that was initially

6 considered in early February of 2020. Do you recall that?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And I believe you stated that you asked the books team or it was your idea

9 to ask the books team if they planned to finalize that on March 19th. Why don't we just

10 accelerate that and move it up so that it can only be in place on the time of the March 9th

11 phone call. Is that your understanding?

12 A Yes.

13 Q I am sorry. That was a correct statement of your testimony?

14 A It is, yeah, that's what we thought.

15 Q Okay. And so that was an action that you took after the 16 communications -- the email communications that we saw with the White House on 17 March 2nd, correct?

18 A Yes, it's my recollection that occurred after March 2nd.

19 Q And as far as any policy decisions that Amazon made, was the decision to

20 accelerate the implementation of that policy, which as you stated was already planned to

21 be finalized on March 19th, was that the only action that Amazon took in response to the 22 emails from Mr. Slavitt and Mr. Flaherty?

23 A My recollection is that there was the Do Not Promote policy that there was 24 also an expansion of the search terms that would trigger the link to the CDC information.

25 That's my understanding.

1 Q And I believe you stated earlier that that expansion of the search terms that
2 would trigger the link to the CDC was also contemplated prior to the reachout from the 3 White House on the March 2nd?
4 A I believe it was. That's my understanding of it.
5 Q Thank you. And those, so essentially, implementing a policy, accelerating 6 the implementation of a policy that you understood was going to be adopted on 7 March 19th, that acceleration was the only action that Amazon took in response to those 8 communications?
9 A That is what I asked the book teams to do which is to accelerate any 10 decisions that they had recommended and were going to implement.
11 Q And did the book teams make any other decisions to take any our actions
12 that you're aware of -- let me ask more directly, did Amazon remove any content in 13 response to those communications from the White House?
14 A Amazon did remove certain vaccine books that advocated harm to 15 customers, like leach. I'm not certain when those book removals took place. I don't 16 know the timing of that.
17 Q So it's entirely possible that those books were removed before March 2nd?
18 A I don't know.
19 Q And it's also fair to say that if they happened after any books were removed 20 after March 2nd, that's being handled by a completely different team, correct?
21 A That was --
22 Q Your team?
23 A It would be the books team.
24 Q The books team. And would it be possible for you to draw a line of 25 causation from this conversation with the White House to the removal of those books?

1 A I don't know.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q In the first hour of our questioning, you talked through, at a high level, the 4 reasons that Amazon might generally move contents or remove books from its platform.

5 Amazon's policies expressly state that material advocating for self-harm will be removed,

6 correct?

7 A That's my understanding, yes.

8 Q And those policies were in place prior to March 2nd, 2021, correct?

9 A That's my understanding, yes.

10 Q Okay. Thank you.

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Okay. So going back to the actual March 9th meeting, did you discuss with 13 Mr. Flaherty the acceleration of the implementation of those policies?

14 A I don't recall that being part of the discussion. The conversation was 15 high-level in general, and I don't recall that being raised.

16 Q So you did not -- you have no recollection of how he might have responded if 17 you had told him or anything to that effect?

18 A I don't recall that.

19 Q Okay. You recall the conversation being more high level than those types

20 of policies?

21 A That's my recollection, yes.

22 Q Okay. And during that conversation, did you not hear Mr. Flaherty make

23 any kind of threat to Amazon about adverse consequences if it did not take any particular

24 actions, correct?

25 A No, that was -- I did not hear that. That was not my recollection.

1 Q Thank you. Now I want to talk about your relationship with the White
2 House in the months that followed the March 2021st exchange. You testified earlier, I
3 think it was a few rounds ago, that you had some communications with Mr. Slavitt
4 regarding vaccine logistics, I believe. Is that correct?
5 A Around, I believe, it was vaccine logistics as well as testing capacity, yeah.
6 Q Thank you. Okay. But not your recollection?
7 A No, that's not my recollection.
8 Q And the exchange that you had on March 2nd, and then the brief phone call
9 with Mr. Flaherty on March 9th, that did not prevent Amazon and the White House from 10 continuing to work together on joint efforts to combat the spread of COVID-19, correct?
11 A Correct.
12 Q So, for example, in May, 2021, you and Benjamin Wakana, who was the 13 deputy director for strategic communication and engagement with the White House
14 COVID response team coordinated to produce an event on Twitch to promote 15 vaccinations. Correct? Do you recall that?
16 A Yes, I believe -- I may -- [redacted] reached out, and I made the 17 introduction to Twitch, yes.
18 Q And so [redacted] reached out to ask if you would be willing to let Twitch
19 host an event relating to vaccinations, correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Okay. If I could have that have exhibit.
22 We are at 12, correct?
23 The Reporter. Yes.
24 [redacted]. Thank you.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q So [redacted] reached out and asked if you would be willing to use Twitch
2 to drive vaccinations, correct? And that was on May 24th, 2021. And I'm looking at 3 the last page Bates 2809.
4 A Yes.
5 Q And you responded that you were talking with Twitch at the highest levels
6 and trying to figure out what would work best for them, correct?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And then on June 2nd, you responded again, and you said, "Ben -- some 9 good news!" And then you talked about how Twitch would donate a significant piece of 10 video advertising inventory to help promote vaccinations, correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And then you provided some more details about what that would mean?
13 A Yes.
14 Q You were advertising and how it works on Twitch's space?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And then [redacted] responded the next day and said, "That's great.
17 Anything you could announce together around skins, exclusive broadcasts, or influencers?
18 Could -- first of all, what is a skin? Do you know?
19 A I don't know.
20 Q Okay. "Could we steal" -- and then he said, "Could steal the first 21 10 minutes of a big broadcast and put [redacted] you on to talk about vaccines? I
22 don't think we can announce ad space donated to the Ad Council." Did I read that 23 correctly?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And then you responded on June 9th. And I'm now on the first page of this

1 exhibit. And you said, "Hi, [redacted] And you thanked him for his feedback and his patience,
2 correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And you attached "a brief draft proposal that is built around creating a
5 stream with White House officials that discusses the importance of vaccines and common
6 questions, conducted in popular talk-show formatting, and related plans for influencer
7 promotion that Twitch would help obtain." Did I read that correctly?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Okay. And you said, "We are prepared to complete this content and 10 promotion ahead of the July 4th target date and welcome your thoughts on this 11 proposal." Correct?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And then you said you offered to connect him with the right people if that 14 was agreeable to him, correct?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And then you said, "We're excited by this and are ready to move forward 17 quickly if you are interested," correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And you thanked him, and he responded, "[redacted] this is terrific. Let's make 20 it happen. Ideally, I think we'd have a doctor do it." Is that correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And then he said that he thought that he could convince Dr. Fauci to do it
23 but wanted to gauge you on the questions, correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And did this event actually occur?

1 A I believe it did, yes.

2 Q And do you recall who from the White House participated?

3 A I believe it was Dr. Fauci. I'm not sure who else.

4 Q And is the tone of this email exchange that we just went through more

5 typical of tone of your communications with the White House around COVID-19?

6 A Yes.

7 Q Was the March 2nd email for Mr. Slavitt the tone he used in his emails, was 8 that an anomaly?

9 A It was definitely surprising. His tone was surprising. The fact that we

10 received it was surprising, given that our previous discussions had been around issues like

11 vaccines and technology.

12 Q And to be clear, those emails in the March 9th phone call were the only 13 discussions you had with the White House about vaccine misinformation, correct?

14 A With the Biden White House, yes, correct.

15 Q The other conversations were with the Trump White House, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q And thank you for that clarification. I appreciate that.

18 If we can have just a moment. And we can go off the record.

19 [Discussion off the record.]

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Can we go back on the record, please. Which exhibit are we up to now?

22 The Reporter. Thirteen.

23 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 13

24 was marked for identification.]

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q This will be exhibit 13. It is an internal Amazon email chain that starts on 2 the March 4th, 2021, and continues until March 9th. You ready?
3 A Yes.
4 Q If you flip to the very back page, it's Bates No. 73, 74, there are redactions
5 made in the signature, then there's a books logo at the bottom. Does that suggest to 6 you the emails from someone on the books team?
7 A That's what it would suggest, yes.
8 Q Emails dated March 4th, the opening line says, "I'm hoping you can help me
9 set up a new DNP class and CPP." In this context DNP presumably means Do Not 10 Promote. Is that right?
11 A That would be my understanding, yes.
12 Q In this context, do you know what CPP would be referring to?
13 A I don't.
14 Q Right above it there's an email Bates stamped 2:18. It says plus, it looks
15 like a name, which is redacted. And then "automations." And automations do you 16 know what that's in reference to?
17 A Just to go back to -- contents. It may be content protection policy is what 18 CPP might be. I am sorry, what was your -- I just wanted to clarify that as a -- yeah.
19 Q Thank you. To your understanding, what is the content redaction policy?
20 A I don't know what that means, but it would be my understanding that's 21 probably what at that acronym like referred to.
22 Q Thank you. The next email going up to Bates stamped 2:18. It starts on 23 Bates No. 7373, and it continues on to 7374. It says, plus there's a redaction, and it says
24 and automations. To your understanding in this context, what is automations referring 25 to?

1 A I'm not sure. It sounds like the name of a team, but I'm not certain.
2 Q The email continues, I submitted SIM in this context. What do you
3 understand that to mean?
4 A My understanding is that SIM -- I'm not sure what it stands for -- but it's a
5 ticketing system. So when something needs to happen, SIM ticket is submitted and 6 enacted on.
7 Q Have you been included -- outside of this context, just in general, as part of 8 your job -- are you included on SIM tickets, if that's the proper way of asking the 9 question?
10 A So SIM tickets are used for a wide variety of actions, including for HR
11 personnel actions. And so I have been included on some SIM tickets at Amazon, yes.
12 Q And just walk me through -- you don't have to go into details or an example,
13 if you are added or included to a SIM ticket, do you see email notification, or is there a 14 separate system?
15 A I don't know the specifics of how it works. Generally, yeah, I just don't 16 know how that works.
17 Q Once you're in -- or once you're seeing that ticket, is this something that you
18 can comment on, or is it just something that you review?
19 A I don't know. I don't know how that works. I don't know the specifics of 20 that ticketing system.
21 Q Well, for the instances where you have had experience, how did it work in 22 those experiences?
23 A For mine, I just had to click approve and that was my extent of the 24 interaction with them.
25 Q Turning back to the email that's time stamped at 11:48, Bates No. 73 and 74,

1 there's an email there -- excuse me, there's the last sentence in the email. It says, "This
2 is a high priority intended to address negative feedback we're getting from the White
3 House's Coronavirus Task force." To your understanding, is this person from the books
4 team understanding derived from Mr. Slavitt's March 2nd email?
5 A I wasn't on this email, I believe, and I'm not sure who sent this, the email,
6 and what they were referring to.
7 Q So without the names unredacted, it would be difficult to assess that?
8 A Yeah, I don't -- I don't know who sent this email exactly.
9 Q To your understanding, depending on this email, in the earlier hour you
10 testified it's your understanding that [redacted] on your team was the one that communicated
11 to the books team providing information of the fact that the White House had reached
12 out to you?
13 A Yes, I believe that's what happened, yes.
14 Q And to your understanding, had she reached out before March 4th?
15 A Sorry, can you clarify that?
16 Q Yeah, sure. It's your understanding that [redacted] was the communicated to 17 the books team?
18 A Yes.
19 Q The emails from Mr. Slavitt started the morning of March 2nd. Do you
20 know how quickly she reached out to the books team?
21 A I don't know exactly. I believe she reached out on March 2nd at some 22 point.
23 Q Okay. Do you agree that the communications from Mr. Slavitt constituted
24 negative feedback?
25 A My interpretation was that the tone, it was direct, you know, in those mails.

1 It was also surprising given our previous interaction. That's how I would characterize it.
2 Q Would you characterize it as a positive email?
3 A No.
4 Q On the third page, Bates No. Number 7373, there's an email time stamped
5 3:32. There's reference to, "We already have a CPP class to handle ad-hoc requests to 6 block promotion." First, do you know what this email is referring to about the -- about 7 having a shell category?
8 A I don't know.
9 Q This is exhibit 13. This is a level of detail you were not looped in on as part 10 of a briefing?
11 A Correct. As far as my recollection is.
12 Q In this context, do you know what the acronym NSOC refers to?
13 A I don't.
14 Q What about the acronym ASIN?
15 A Yes, that is ASIN, and I don't know what it stands for exactly, but it's like 16 maybe Amazon's number or Amazon's unique code for each product that Amazon sells.
17 Q So to your understanding, this number would be able to identify titles, if 18 needed?
19 A Yes, each item that is sold on Amazon has its own ASIN.
20 Q Do you have a sense of which, what is included in the 43 ASINs referred to in 21 this email?
22 A I don't.
23 Q If you flip to the second page, Bates No. 7372, there's an email time stamped
24 1:59. The third paragraph says, "Currently, all of our DNP classes (Extremist, Racially
25 Sensitive, and Transgender Youth) are ad hoc and ASIN-based. First of all, you familiar

1 with those other DNP classes that are listed?

2 A I'm not.

3 Q Have you ever handled a request related to those DNP classes?

4 A Can you clarify what you mean by request?

5 Q Or have you ever had discussions with [redacted] or anyone on your team about

6 those other DNP classes?

7 A No, I haven't. Not to my recollection.

8 Q To your understanding, for the book, "When Harry Became Sally," was that

9 book title included in a DNP class prior to being removed?

10 A I don't know.

11 Q Who would best know that information?

12 A Probably the books team. I think it was introduced previous.

13 Q I think it was introduced as a previous exhibit. Do you have exhibit 4.

14 [redacted] What was it?

15 [redacted] The talking points.

16 [redacted] That was exhibit 2 or 3.

17 [redacted] No, it's four, the descriptive email.

18 [redacted] Yeah, that is exhibit 4.

19 [redacted] That was on my list.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Well, for the sake of clarity, for the record, referring to the March 9th email

22 chain and internal Amazon email subject line "Pre-brief meeting with the White House."

23 That was previously introduced. If I could have you flip to the to, from starts on page

24 6185 and then continues on to 6186. To your understanding, who drafted these initial 25 notes?

1 A Well, I did not know exactly who sent this email, but I would call that Sarah
2 Hudgins and Simon Morrison on my team were part of the drafting process for those 3 talking points.
4 Q And at a high level, what were their instructions or reporters when it came
5 to prep materials in advance of this meeting with the White House?
6 A Because we weren't sure exactly what the White House was going to ask, we 7 wanted to prep for a wide variety of materials. So we would have a script and then 8 potential questions that might come up.
9 Q And at a very, very high level, is this consistent with the type of prep work
10 your team may do in advance of other calls?
11 A It is.
12 Q If I could call your attention to -- let's start with Roman Numeral I, "Books
13 Curation and Guidelines 101." And then the first talking point. This references talking 14 points, and there's some brackets. "Is the Admin asking us to remove books, or are they 15 more concerned about search results/order or (both)? To your team's understanding, at 16 the time -- this email is dated the morning of March 9th -- was it unclear whether it was 17 possible the Biden administration may have asked the company to consider removing 18 books?
19 A We weren't sure what they were going to ask, and so we prepared questions
20 and responses to a wide variety of topics, yes.
21 Q So your team wasn't able to eliminate that possibility in advance of the 22 meeting?
23 A We did not have, to my recollection, conversations between the March 2nd
24 email exchange and this March 9th exchange other than a scheduling the meeting. So 25 that was the March 2nd was the communications we had.

1 Q Before the March 9th meeting starts with the White House, based off your 2 understanding with the administration, did you think it was possible that there may be
3 discussion about potentially removing books?
4 A We weren't sure what they were going to ask, and so we wanted to be 5 prepared to give a response on a wide variety of topics.
6 Q Based off your interactions with the White House up to this point, what was 7 it about the interactions that led your team to at least believe it was necessary to prepare 8 for potential topic of discussing whether to remove books?
9 A Well, I think it was the tone of the email. I think the direct language was 10 surprising that we received. And so because we weren't sure what they were going to 11 talk about. We didn't want to be prepared to just address the wide variety of topics.
12 Q To your understanding, had you received talking points and prep materials 13 about the removal of books previously in a different meeting?
14 A I don't recall that.
15 Q You've referred a few times now to the tone of Mr. Slavitt's emails. Other 16 than the fact that they are direct, what else about the tone of the emails struck you?
17 A Well, it was definitely surprising from the previous interactions that we had 18 had which were, you know, about topics like vaccinations and technology, and the fact
19 that it was a very, you know, direct email. To me, that's why the tone was surprising.
20 Q What was the tone of your communications with Mr. Slavitt prior to 21 March 2nd?
22 A We were discussing collaboratively whether there were technology tools,
23 you know, that Amazon might have that might exist in government, you know,
24 vaccination efforts or tracking or distribution. So it was a tone of this kind of asking
25 questions, and it was seeing if there could be assistance that was going to be provided.

1 Q Would you describe the communication on March 2nd as collaborative?
2 A No.
3 Q Why not?
4 A They did not appear collaborative. The tone appeared direct to me.
5 Q The previous exhibit you're looking at, March 4th there's the email. It's 6 redacted, but appears to be someone from the Books team.
7 Ms. Dunn. Counsel, can you just tell us what exhibit you're talking about?
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q This would have been exhibit 13, Bates No. 7374. The email refers to 10 negative feedback. If on March 4th someone from the Books team had described the 11 email chain for Mr. Slavitt, Mr. Slavitt's email on March 2nd, as providing negative 12 feedback, would you have disagreed with that assessment?
13 A Well, I wasn't, you know, on this particular email. I don't know how they 14 received the information for this characterization. I would describe myself the tone as 15 very indirect from him.
16 Q I understand you're not on this email, but based off your interpretation of 17 the email chain, would you have agreed with the assessment that it was providing 18 negative feedback?
19 A The email, I think, was asking critical questions of Amazon's policies, yes.
20 Q Critical in the sense of important or critical in the sense of negative?
21 A I think he was asking not critical in the sense of important kind of questions.
22 Q It is critical in the sense of negative?
23 A He was asking very pointed and very direct questions about Amazon's 24 polices.
25 Q Did you get from the sense of the questions on March 2nd from Mr. Slavitt

1 that he or others in the White House and Amazon's policies are falling short of where 2 they needed to be?
3 A Well, we weren't sure what they were interested in, what they thought,
4 where they wanted to follow up in depth. To me that was not clear from that exchange.
5 And I definitely want to ask those questions and have a more in-depth discussion when 6 we met.
7 Q Do you recall any discussion in the prep meeting or in the terms you
8 received about whether conversations with the White House regarding potential removal
9 of books would implicate First Amendment concerns?
10 A I am sorry, can you just clarify that question again?
11 Q Yeah, in any conversations or prep work before the March 9th White House
12 meeting, do you recall any conversations about whether conversations at the White
13 House regarding the potential removal of books would implicate First Amendment
14 concerns?
15 A I don't know if I recall that issue being discussed directly. I definitely
16 remember us discussing Amazon's philosophy or belief that we should offer as much 17 content as possible. I certainly remember that meeting was an important part of our 18 discussion.
19 Q Was there a concern that sharing that principal with the White House would 20 prompt a negative response?
21 A Well, what I recall is that if the topic came up and if we were asked, we were 22 going to be clear about what our thought -- philosophy and what our policies are on 23 offering books of content. Even that's something they find objectionable. I recall that.
24 Q And your team couldn't remove the possibility that the White House may 25 disagree with that principal on an upcoming call. Is that right?

1 A Yeah, we weren't sure what their viewpoints were, what they were going to
2 ask. And so we definitely wanted to be prepared, you know, for any questions that
3 might come up.
4 Q On Bates No. 6187, it is Roman Numeral II.
5 A Sorry.
6 Q Sorry, turn back to exhibit 4.
7 [redacted] Is that exhibit 4?
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Bates No. 6187, Roman Numeral II, all of them belong to a set of talking
10 points. And it says, "Specific Books Steps Taken." There's then a description of some 11 of the steps that the company is taking. As part of preparing these set of materials, the 12 responses you had earlier about requesting the acceleration of the decisions from 13 March 19th until before the March 9th meeting, accelerating that decision, did that allow 14 you or your team to prepare these types of talking points?
15 A I am sorry, can you say that again?
16 Q Sure. Referencing back to the request to accelerate the decision from 17 March 19th to before the March 9th meeting --
18 A Yes.
19 Q -- and the benefit of doing so to provide a more complete answer --
20 A Yeah.
21 Q -- does that benefit have the ability reflected in these talking points being 22 able to point more specifically to steps taken by the company?
23 A Yes, it's my recollection that we wanted to be able to talk about that, about 24 the Do Not Promote actions, if needed. But it's also my recollection that didn't come up 25 in this conversation.

1 Q The team that prepares your script, starting on page 6184, is that different
2 than the team that prepares the talking points or to your understanding the same
3 people?
4 A Yeah, my recollection it was the same people.
5 Q Do you recall whether anyone had looked in advance of the March 9th 6 meeting to see the status of the book that was flagged on that screenshot from
7 March 2nd?
8 A I don't recall if we did.
9 Q On the March 2nd emails, two individuals from the White House run
10 searches, one sends a screen shot. Do you recall in advance of the March 9th meeting,
11 anyone running searches in advance of that meeting on your team?
12 A I don't recall if we did that or not.

1 [3:20 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Do you recall having available any example titles of the type of books that

4 Amazon would be categorizing in this do not promote if the topic didn't come up?

5 A I don't recall us having that.

6 Q In the leadup to the March 9th meeting, was there consideration of having

7 anyone besides you, [redacted] or John to attend on behalf of the company?

8 A It's my recollection I wanted to keep the group as small as possible. I

9 wasn't sure who was going to attend from their side either, so I thought just the three of 10 us would be best is my recollection.

11 Q And I think you answered this earlier, but was a -- was it a phone or was it a 12 video conference when the meeting did take place?

13 A It was on video. I don't remember which platform, but it was video.

14 Q Do you recall if anyone took notes from the company during the meeting?

15 A I don't recall.

16 Q Would it be general practice to take notes for a meeting like that?

17 A I think that varies meeting by meeting.

18 Q Did anyone provide a readout on the conclusion of the meeting?

19 A I remember discussing it definitely with [redacted] and [redacted] kind of, afterwards.

20 I can't recall what other readout, you know, we provided.

21 Q Were you, [redacted] and [redacted] in separate locations, or did you take the video

22 call together?

23 A No. We were in separate locations.

24 Q When you discussed with [redacted] and [redacted] afterwards, was that on the call or 25 via email? How did that take place?

1 A If I recall correctly, we just hopped on the phone quickly after the White
2 House was done was my recollection.
3 Q And what was the response from [redacted] at the conclusion of the meeting?
4 A Well, I think we were surprised by it, that -- that it was fairly short, that
5 Flaherty -- Mr. Flaherty was the only one, you know, who attended, and that it remained
6 kind of pretty high level in general. That was -- that was actually surprising, and I recall 7 us discussing that.
8 Q Why was that surprising?
9 A Well, we -- we thought that others, including Mr. Slavitt, might attend the 10 meeting based upon the email exchange, which several people were on. So we were 11 surprised that it was only Mr. Flaherty.
12 We were surprised that they didn't ask us a lot of specific questions even though 13 we had prepared, you know, for a number of questions.
14 Q Why were you surprised they didn't ask specific questions?
15 A Based upon the email exchange, and we weren't sure what they were going 16 to ask. We want to be prepared for -- for a wide variety of questions, and the 17 conversation remained fairly high level.
18 Q What about the email exchange made you surprised that they didn't ask
19 more specific questions at the March 9th meeting?
20 A I think the tone was -- you know, was very direct, you know, that kind of 21 exchange. And they were asking specific questions, you know, about books and, you 22 know, I think they said they wanted to explore where the lines were. And, to my 23 recollection, you know, those topics didn't come up.
24 Q Do you remember what [redacted] reaction was in any post-meeting
25 conversation or debrief?

1 A I mean, I don't recall his individual reaction. I just kind of recall our -- you
2 know, our general conversation.
3 Q Did you brief [redacted] about this meeting?
4 A I don't recall specifically if I did. It's likely I would have, but I don't recall.
5 Q How would you describe the tone of the March 9th meeting?
6 A It -- I recall it being -- it was a short -- shorter meeting. It was, you know,
7 general. There was, I think, just a couple of questions, you know, asked, and just very 8 high level. I think how I've described the tone as that.
9 Q Was the tone of the meeting negative in any way?
10 A No. I don't recall it being negative.
11 Q Are you familiar with the content risk moderation team?
12 A No. I don't know what that refers to.
13 Q Whether it was the books teams or elsewhere, it was under the trust and 14 safety team, to your knowledge?
15 A To my knowledge, the -- the content teams are in the individual businesses.
16 Q Are they all trust and safety, or do they have different names, to your 17 knowledge?
18 A I don't know what their names are.
19 Q Do you recall the surgeon general sending a request for information to 20 Amazon in 2022?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And at a high level, what were your responsibilities for that response?
23 A I recall receiving the request -- or it being brought to our attention. I recall
24 reviewing, you know, drafts that the team prepared, and I signed the letter back to HHS.
25 I recall that.

1 Q From March 9th, 2021, until 2022, do you recall any outreach from the Whit
2 House or others in the executive branch regarding concerns relating to misinformation?
3 A On misinformation, no, I don't recall any outreach.
4 Q In preparing the draft for the surgeon general, do you recall whether there
5 was a discussion to talk about the steps that Amazon had made in March of 2021
6 regarding books that expressed skepticism of vaccines?
7 A I recall that we discussed about books that we may have removed that, you
8 know, violated our policies. I recall that.
9 Q And what was being discussed? What were the options available?
10 A Well, I recall that this -- this HHS request, it was, you know, very broad. It
11 was, you know, wide-ranging. It asked, you know, lots of questions. And so we were 12 discussing what topics would be appropriate, you know, for us to raise.
13 It was on -- we had our own COVID-19 test that we kind of created, and we had 14 done efforts on -- with vaccinations for our employees. So I recall us having discussions
15 about what to say about, you know, those efforts, for instance.
16 Q This will be exhibit 14. It's an internal Amazon email chain, April -- from 17 March to May of 2022.
18 A Thanks.
19 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 14
20 was marked for identification.]
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q Are you ready?
23 A Yes.
24 Q If you flip to the back page, based on how it was produced to us. It's the 25 first email in this chain. Bates number 4377. There's an email addressed to you.

First, do you recognize this email chain in this initial email?

A Yes.

Q Do you recall who emailed you?

A If I recall correctly, I think it may have been [redacted] on my policy team.

Q Four paragraphs down in that email, time stamped 4:44 after the colon, if it's [redacted] he's writing, "I can inform the relevant S-team members."

What's the S-team in this context?

A S-team is the senior team, I think, is what it stands for. So it's the group of senior leaders, senior executives at Amazon.

Q And in March 2022, who would that include?

A I don't know specifically. The -- the S-team has varied. For instance, I believe now there's over 20, you know, S-team members. I don't know, like, who at that time, you know, would have been -- would have been on -- who would have been the relevant S-team members.

Q Who is the most senior member of the S-team?

A Well, the CEO. Andy Jassy is the CEO.

Q And to your understanding, who would be, like, the most junior member of the S-team?

A Well, I think that depends -- that would depend, you know, on, you know, the business, for instance, be it operations or studios or, you know, kind of, music or something. So I'm not sure.

Q For the folks that you -- well, let me -- strike that.

Are you a member of the S-team?

A No.

1 Q Was [redacted]?
2 A Yes.
3 Q And [redacted]?
4 A Yes.
5 Q There's a reference to Steve in that same paragraph, for [redacted] guidance.
6 Do you know who that's in reference to?
7 A Let me just where -- I'm sorry -- okay. There. I think it's referring to 8 Steven Hartell, who is a vice president of policy on my team, I believe.
9 Q The next email is Bates number 4376. The time stamp is 4:32?
10 A Yes.
11 Q There's a reference in the first paragraph to sending a final version to [redacted]
12 [redacted] [redacted] [redacted] and [redacted] We've gone over names in previous emails.
13 Is it the same set of first names as before?
14 A I believe the -- the new addition to this that we didn't discuss is Doug, who 15 refers to Doug Herrington, and he's CEO of retail now. I think at the time he was a 16 senior vice president in retail.
17 Q And remind me, who is [redacted] in this context?
18 A [redacted] is [redacted]. He is a head of our communications public
19 relations team.
20 Q The next email is from you dated April 20th. The time stamp is 8:29 a.m.
21 And you write about concerns about if it's necessary to provide a particular piece of new 22 information referencing the email below.
23 What were your concerns?
24 A So the team was discussing whether to -- or debating whether to discuss the 25 number of COVID books that had been removed from our store, and I was trying to

1 consider whether we should include that or not. I recall thinking that disclosing that, a
2 number, would require a lot of context and, you know, a lot of explanation.
3 And that given the broad nature of this HHS request for information and the many 4 topics it was discussing, I was wondering whether it was necessary or appropriate to 5 include that information in this response.
6 Q Did you believe that the company would receive criticism if it were to share
7 that the company had removed a certain number of books?
8 A As head of policy, it's part of my job to make sure that we're communicating 9 clearly and providing the right context when we discuss information in public. And I was 10 concerned that in order to mention that number, we'd have to provide a lot of -- a lot of 11 detail, a lot of, kind of, context around it.
12 And I recall thinking that this probably wasn't the place that -- to have that 13 discussion given how broad that inquiry was.
14 Q Why would providing this particular piece of information require providing 15 so much additional context?
16 A I recall thinking that just discussing the number, kind of, in isolation without 17 discussing what the guidelines are and, you know -- for example, as we've discussed, it 18 was my understanding that some of the books were removed because they advocated 19 harm, like, drinking bleach and kind of so forth.
20 And that in order to provide that information, I felt it would be necessary to -- we 21 would have to provide, you know, lots of detail. And I just -- I recall thinking that it was 22 a broad inquiry that talked about many different topics, just wasn't the appropriate place
23 to have that discussion.
24 Q Did you have any conversations with the public relations team following the 25 company's decision to remove "When Harry Became Sally"?

1 Mr. Kelner. I'm sorry. With which team?

2 [redacted] Public relations.

3 [redacted]. So I recall that when we received our congressional, kind of,

4 inquiries on that that public relations was part of the team that drafted that

5 response -- part of the larger team that drafted it.

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q And the decision to remove that book predates the discussion that's taking

8 place in April of 2022?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Was there concern that sharing the fact that the company had removed

11 certain books may prompt a similar level of concern or criticism or inquiries that were 12 prompted by the company's removal of "When Harry Became Sally"?

13 A Well, I recall thinking that we need to be kind of clear in our communication,

14 that we need to provide the right context and -- and level of detail when we talk about

15 our decisions. And so that was something I wanted to make sure that, if we were going

16 to do that, it was going to be the appropriate place and -- for such a discussion.

17 Q Who else at the company shared your concerns?

18 A I don't recall. You know, I was the person who was going to sign the letter

19 and was the ultimate decision-maker on what to include in that response. So I don't -- I

20 don't recall.

21 Q Do you recall anyone disagreeing with your concerns?

22 A I recall that we had a debate, like, amongst the team, you know, including 23 my team, about whether we should, kind of, include that or not.

24 Q Who participated in this debate?

25 A I recall [redacted] was part of it on my team. I recall [redacted], who is

1 also a director, on my team being part of that discussion.

2 Q Anybody else?

3 A That's who I had the discussion with. I think -- I think there may have been

4 other people, like, maybe [redacted] and [redacted] I kind of talked to, you know, on the books

5 team. But that's who I recall I had the discussion with.

6 Q Did [redacted] and [redacted] report back on what the books team thought?

7 A I recall that they did, yes.

8 Q What did they say?

9 A I recall that the question posed was, should we include, you know, the 10 specific figure, which was new information. And I recall that the books team was okay

11 with including that, but -- that was my recollection.

12 Q Did the books team provide any reasons about why they were okay including 13 that information?

14 A I don't recall if they did or not.

15 Q When this message was -- from [redacted] and [redacted] sent back to you based off

16 their discussions with the books team, do you recall agreeing with the -- or disagreeing

17 with the perspective of the books team?

18 A I recall I disagreed with -- with the books team's, you know, stating that we

19 could kind of include this.

20 Q And why did you disagree?

21 A I just thought that, given the broad nature of this kind of HHS inquiry and the

22 many questions they were asking, I just felt we would have to have, you know, a lot of

23 context and a lot of explanation around it, and I just didn't think that this was the place

24 and was either appropriate or necessary in this particular response.

25 Q The email responding to yours starts on page number 4375, the to and the 1 from.

2 A Yeah.

3 Q The time stamp is 10:24, and the message itself is on the next page, 4376.

4 There's reference at the very top of the page to transgender or other content moderation

5 issues.

6 What do you understand that to be in reference to?

7 A I recall that around this time there were debates about transgender books

8 and, you know, keeping them in the just store -- our decisions to keep them in the store,

9 and I recall that was part of the -- of the context that was happening at this time.

10 Q What were the debates about transgender-related books around the time of 11 April of 2022?

12 A Yeah. I recall that there -- there was another book that Amazon decided to 13 keep in its store and not remove and that there was debate, discussion happening around 14 that decision.

15 Q And which book was that?

16 A I believe that was "Irreversible Damage," which -- it was kept in the store.

17 Q Who participated in this debate?

18 A Well, I recall that it was the books team that made that, you know, decision

19 whether to keep it in the store.

20 Q And what was the books team's recommendation on how to handle that 21 book?

22 A They made the decision to keep it in the store.

23 Q Who at the company disagreed with that decision?

24 A Well, I recall -- I wasn't part, kind of, of those, you know, discussions. I do

25 recall that there were employees that disagreed with that decision.

1 Q To your understanding, was there anyone in the senior leadership of the 2 company that disagreed with that decision?
3 A I wasn't part of those discussions about that book staying on, so I don't
4 know.
5 Q How did you become aware of this debate and, ultimately, the decision --
6 How did you become aware of the company debate around how to handle the 7 book "Irreversible Damage"?
8 A I recall that there were various employee affinity groups that wanted the 9 book removed. I also recall that we received a request from various advocacy groups
10 asking us to remove the book from our store.
11 Q Do you recall which advocacy groups?
12 A I recall -- I don't recall specifically, but I recall that there were various LGBT 13 advocacy groups that were asking for that removal.
14 Q When it comes with interfacing with advocacy groups, is that a responsibility
15 that falls within the scope of your team?
16 A Usually it falls to the -- it depends, but many times it falls to the human 17 resources team, even on my team.
18 Q In this case, did you or anyone from your team interface with some of the 19 advocacy groups concerned with this "Irreversible Damage" book?
20 A I don't recall if we did or not.
21 Q Do you recall receiving any briefings about what the advocacy groups were 22 telling the company?
23 A I do recall seeing and being made aware of -- I know for sure the employee
24 complaints, I recall seeing those. I don't recall seeing briefings on the advocacy groups, 25 criticisms or not. I don't -- I don't recall that.

1 Q Who made you aware of the employee complaints?
2 A I don't recall. It probably was a member of my team.
3 Q During this time of April 2022, did you have someone on your team primarily 4 responsible for handling issues related to books that touch upon transgender-related
5 issues?
6 A So I have members of my team that interface with the -- with the books
7 business. So that would include all issues surrounding books.
8 Q And who on your team -- could it be anybody on your team, or is there a 9 primary set of folks who interface with the books team?
10 A I believe at this point [redacted] on my team was one of the primary liaisons
11 with the books business.
12 Q To your understanding, did anyone from the executive branch contact
13 anyone in the company about the "Irreversible Damage" book?
14 A Not to my knowledge.
15 Q The last paragraph, the same email we were most recently looking at, at the 16 top of page 4376, there's a sentence saying, "Even if he remains comfortable, we could 17 include this as a hotly debated subject for the S-team review."
18 Is hotly debated subject a term of art within the company?
19 A It is. So -- it is, yeah.
20 Q The next email, Bates 4375, you say, "We should tag this as an HDT." What 21 is HDT in this context?
22 A Hotly debated topic. As opposed to subject, topic.
23 Q And within the company and internal communications like this, as like a term
24 of art, when something is labeled HDT, or hotly debated subject, what does that spur?
25 What does that mean in the company discussions?

1 A So when executives are reviewing, like, a draft, that means that we've 2 flagged for them anything -- you know, there's new information or that the teams have 3 debated amongst themselves to make it easier for their review as they -- as they review
4 and make decisions.
5 Q The email above yours, there's a time stamp 10:31. The second
6 paragraph -- this is on Bates number 4375.
7 A Yes.
8 Q -- it talks about medical misinformation when it comes to COVID, but not 9 regarding transgender youth.
10 Other than COVID and transgender youth, do you remember any debated topics
11 within the company about books on other misinformation-related issues?
12 A No, I don't recall that.
13 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with the FBI?
14 A No, I haven't.
15 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the 16 Department of Homeland Security?
17 A Members of my team have on, I think, various trade-related and 18 customs-related issues.
19 Q Are you familiar with the Cybersecurity Infrastructure Security Agency, CISA,
20 within DHS?
21 A I am aware of that agency, generally.
22 Q To your understanding, have you or members of your team had interactions
23 with CISA?
24 A Not that I recall.
25 Q How many members of your team today interact with the executive branch?

1 A I don't have an exact number. If you're talking about the executive branch
2 as a whole with the agencies, I believe Amazon has -- I think we have 28 federally
3 registered lobbyists. And so some subset, you know, of that number could include, you
4 know, executive branch outreach.
5 Q Turning back to spring of 2021, it looks like you're the primary point of 6 contact for the company with the White House on that set of issues.
7 Was that just part of your portfolio handling communications with the White
8 House as part of your role, or how is it decided what is elevated to you, what 9 communications you personally --
10 A Yes. So -- so dealing, you know, with White House, that's part of my 11 primary role. I did that principally in the Trump administration, as well as the Biden 12 administration on this issue.
13 Q There's a reference on the top of Bates number 4375, the email -- person
14 who sent the email's name is redacted. Time stamp is 10:41. The last sentence there's 15 an example provided about a book that is still being sold, at least at this time, that may 16 contain COVID misinformation.
17 Do you recall any discussions about this author and whether his books should not 18 be included in the bookstore?
19 A No, I don't recall that.
20 Q Do you recognize the name?
21 A No, I don't.
22 Ms. Dunn. I have it we're at an hour. I don't know what you have.
23 [redacted] I have just one more minute. We went off the record.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q There's a reference to the same author on Bates number 4374, part of a

1 longer email. The time stamp is 3:08. Starting on Bates number 4373, carrying over on
2 to the next page. That example brought up again, same author, with a title, "Truth
3 About COVID-19".
4 Do you recall, seeing the title now, any discussions about that book in particular?
5 A No, I don't have any recollection about that. I see that here, but I don't 6 have a recollection.
7 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.
8 [Recess.]
9 [redacted] Back on the record.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q [redacted], I want to return just briefly to the request for information
12 from the surgeon general's office.
13 That request from March of 2022 was a raw request for input from interested
14 parties on the impact and prevalence of health misinformation in the digital environment
15 during the COVID-19 pandemic, correct?
16 A That's my understanding, yes.
17 Q So it was a very high level -- to use your term, a high-level request, and that 18 was published in the Federal Register, correct?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And there's no requirement that any particular corporation or individual
21 submit a response, correct?
22 A No.
23 Q And so Amazon chose to submit a response?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And as we discussed in the previous hour -- and that was the royal we, as me

1 and my counterparts discussed in the previous hour -- there were discussions among you
2 and your colleagues about what information to include, correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And nothing in the request specifically asked for data regarding the number
5 of pieces of content that any particular company had removed, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And when you submitted the request -- I'm sorry, the response -- Amazon's
8 response to the request for information that you signed and it did not include that figure, 9 you did not receive any follow up asking you for that information, did you?
10 A Correct.
11 Q And the -- again, the request was just that, it was titled a request for 12 information, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q It was not coercive?
15 A No.
16 Q It was not threatening?
17 A No.
18 Q Now, the number of -- that was discussed in exhibit 14, the number of books
19 that were removed, the 1500, that was the number of books that Amazon had removed 20 for misleading COVID-19 information or violative, I should say, COVID-19 information
21 since the start of the pandemic, correct?
22 A That's my understanding, ever since the start of the pandemic, yes.
23 Q And that email was sent in mid-April of 2022.
24 So that was over the course of two years, 1500 books, correct?
25 A That's my understanding, yes.

1 Q And Amazon sells millions of different titles on any given day, correct?
2 A We have millions of books for sale, yes.
3 Q That 1500 is a small fraction of the total number of books that Amazon has 4 for sale at any one time?
5 A You consider 1500 a small number, yes.
6 Q And, again, spread over the course of more than two years?
7 A That's my understanding, yes.
8 Q And when I said violative, what I meant was books are not removed unless 9 someone on the books content team makes a determination that those books are found
10 to violate one or more of Amazon's content policies, correct?
11 A Yes. That's my understanding is that the books team would remove those 12 titles from our store.
13 Q And because you don't know what those titles were and you're not on that 14 team, you don't know which specific policy those -- any one of those books was found to 15 have violated, correct?
16 A No. It's my understanding that some of the examples, for instance, were 17 books that advocated for actions that would cause harm to our customers. But I'm not 18 aware of the specifics of all of those titles.
19 Q And, again, Amazon makes decisions about what content stays or is excluded
20 from Amazon's platforms, not the government, correct?
21 A That is correct.
22 Q Now, I would like to turn your attention to exhibit 13. That's Bates 7371.
23 Now, that is the --
24 Mr. Kelner. Hold on a second.
25 [redacted] Oh.

1 Mr. Kelner. Thank you.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And so this is the series of emails that you were not a party to amongst

4 people, presumably on the books team, discussing the -- limitation of the do-not-promote

5 category for anti-vaccine content. Is that a fair characterization?

6 A That's what this appears to be, yes.

7 Q And you were asked about some of the language used by the authors of this

8 email whose names are redacted about whether -- about this being intended to address

9 negative feedback from the White House's coronavirus task force.

10 Do you remember those questions?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Now, again, you were not copied on these emails, correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q And you were not the person who had conversations with the individuals on 15 the book team who were responsible for implementing that policy, correct?

16 A That's right.

17 Q And so you don't know what they were told about adding anti-vaccine

18 content to the do-not-promote policy, correct?

19 A Correct.

20 Q And you don't know if these individuals were aware, for example, that the 21 implementation of that policy or the application of that policy to anti-vaccine content was

22 in the works since early February, correct?

23 A I'm sorry. Can you just repeat that again?

24 Q So the individuals who sent these emails, you don't know if they were aware

25 that that change had been in the works since early February?

1 A I'm not aware of the knowledge or information that they had on that issue.
2 Q But you know what knowledge or information you had, correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And the information that you had was that the books team had made a 5 recommendation to include the anti-vaccine material in the do-not-promote policy prior
6 to March 2nd, correct?
7 A Yes. That's my understanding.
8 Q And that that recommendation was set to be finalized on March 19th,
9 correct?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And that the only thing that happened after the conversations or the email
12 exchanges with the White House on March 2nd was the acceleration of that date?
13 A Yes. I asked the White House to -- excuse me. I asked the team to 14 accelerate any decisions that they would be taking -- actions they would be taking in 15 advance of the White House call.
16 Q And the individuals who you asked are not, to your understanding, the same 17 individuals who were actually implementing the policy and sending these emails that we 18 see here on exhibit 13?
19 A I had the discussion -- I recall having the discussions with members of my 20 policy team, and then I talked with the books business.
21 Q It's a bit of a game of telephone, correct?
22 A I did not have these direct conversations with the books team.
23 Q Fair enough. And to be clear, I don't mean in any way to be critical. Just 24 to make clear, you don't know exactly what was conveyed or how it was conveyed?
25 A That's my recollection, yes.

1 Q Now, you were asked earlier today about some questions about the White
2 House doing searches for certain terms on Amazon, whether you were aware of those
3 searches or whether you made your supervisors or leadership aware that the White
4 House was doing those searches. And I just wanted to ask a couple of follow-up 5 questions about that.
6 Mr. Slavitt mentioned to you in one of his emails that he had done a search for 7 vaccines, correct?
8 A Yes, I believe so.
9 Q But you don't know what prompted that search, correct?
10 A No, I'm not aware of the -- of what caused him to do that, no.
11 Q So you don't know, for example, if he was looking for a particular book title,
12 saw a book that concerned him, and then decided to do a broader search?
13 A I don't know.
14 Q And it's not unusual for people to search for titles on Amazon or subjects,
15 correct?
16 A People do search for products on Amazon.
17 Q I mean, probably something that happens millions of times a day?
18 A It happens frequently, yes.
19 Q And, again, you have no context for the searches that Mr. Slavitt had done or 20 the one search that we know he did?
21 A I don't know what -- what prompted that initial email.
22 Q Now, we spent a lot of time today discussing the communications you had 23 with the White House on March 2nd and your understanding of those communications.
24 And as you've said many times -- many times today, you did not know what, if 25 anything, the White House wanted from Amazon at that point, correct?

1 A Correct.

2 Q You were not sure what their specific concerns were, correct?

3 A Yes.

4 Q And you were not sure what questions they might have for you?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And, therefore, you spent time preparing for any possible questions that you

7 believed you might be asked?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Because you weren't -- no specific asks were made of you in those emails,

10 correct?

11 A There were questions in the March 2nd emails asking to discuss the issue

12 further and to see where the lines were. So those were the questions that were asked.

13 Q And the question to see where the lines were, that was clear that that was

14 to be discussed at a later date, not we want you to respond to this email where the lines

15 are?

16 A Yes, that was to be discussed at the follow-up call.

17 Q And in the follow-up call, that was not something that the White House

18 raised? And by the White House, I mean Mr. Flaherty.

19 A That's my recollection, yes.

20 Q Okay. And as you stated earlier, in that follow-up call, Mr. Flaherty didn't 21 ask any questions particular -- or specific to the issue of misinformation, correct?

22 A That's my recollection. My recollection is that he asked about whether we 23 had seen an increase in the sale of vaccine-related books.

24 Q And he asked about some questions related to vaccine testing, correct?

25 A We had a discussion about our vaccination efforts.

1 Q And you did not leave that meeting with any outstanding requests from the 2 White House, correct?
3 A Yes. It's my recollection that there was no follow-up requests that were 4 made. It's also my recollection that we did not have follow-up on that topic after the 5 March 9th meeting.
6 Q No follow-up with the White House on the issue of misinformation?
7 A That's my recollection, yes.
8 Q And even though you anticipated that you might be asked to remove 9 content when you had that live conversation with Mr. Flaherty, you, in fact, were not 10 asked to remove any content?
11 A That's my recollection, yes.
12 Q Okay. So I just want to make this absolutely clear.
13 To your knowledge, did anyone from the U.S. Government, including Mr. Flaherty
14 or Mr. Slavitt, ever coerce Amazon into removing content from its platforms?
15 A No.
16 Q And did anyone from the U.S. Government ever coerce Amazon into 17 changing its content policies?
18 A No.
19 Q Did anyone from the U.S. Government ever threaten Amazon with adverse 20 consequences if it did not remove content from its platform?
21 A No.
22 Q And did anyone from the U.S. Government ever threaten Amazon with 23 adverse consequences if it failed to change its content policies?
24 A No.
25 Q Okay. Now, you heard at the very start of this interview that the goal of

1 this investigation is to determine whether and to what extent the U.S. Government
2 coerced and/or colluded with tech companies such as Amazon and other private 3 companies to censor conservative viewpoints.
4 Based on your experience at Amazon during both the Trump White House and the 5 Biden White House -- I'm sorry -- during the administrations, what is your response to 6 that allegation?
7 A Amazon makes its own content decisions based upon our policies, and it's 8 our belief that we should have a wide variety of content available for our customers on a 9 number of viewpoints.
10 Q And do you believe that any of the type of coercion or collusion that was 11 mentioned at the start of this interview occurred?
12 A It's my understanding that Amazon made our own decisions on content
13 policy based upon our policies and our belief that we should be offering as many products
14 as possible to our customers.
15 Q So to quote you again, Amazon's content decisions are Amazon's decisions,
16 not the government's, correct?
17 A That is correct.
18 Q Thank you very much.
19 [redacted] And we can go off the record.
20 Mr. Kelner. Thank you. We're ready to keep going.
21 [Discussion off the record.]
22 [redacted] We can go back on the record, please.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Turning back to your meeting with Mr. Flaherty on March 9th, when he 25 asked about the increase in sale of books expressing skepticism of vaccines -- or how did

1 he frame it exactly, do you recall?

2 A If I recall, it was just a general factual question. That was my recollection of 3 how it was asked.

4 Q Do you remember how he described the category of books that he was

5 asking about?

6 A If I recall, it was -- the question was about vaccine-related books. That was

7 my recollection.

8 Q And who responded to that question?

9 A If I recall correctly, it was [redacted] from the books legal team who 10 answered that.

11 Q And what did he say?

12 A I don't recall his specific answer on that. I don't recall specifically what he 13 said in response to that.

14 Q Do you recall if he provided an actual number or a more general --

15 A My -- my recollection is that he didn't provide an actual number. He -- I

16 don't think he provided an actual number. I don't recall his, like, specific answer to that.

17 Q Did you know the answer to the question at the time?

18 A No.

19 Q Do you recall if John knew the answer and provided a response, or was it

20 more of a response and we'll have to take that back?

21 A I don't recall specifically. If I recall, I don't think there was a specific answer

22 given. I think it was more just, you know, a general response. It's not my recollection

23 that -- that we had that data available or had looked into that information before the

24 meeting.

25 Q Do you recall what other specific questions Mr. Flaherty asked during the

1 meeting?

2 A I recall him asking about that issue. I also recall that he asked about some

3 of our vaccine efforts with our employees. I recall having that discussion.

4 Q Setting aside the discussion about the company's employees becoming

5 vaccinated, receiving vaccinations, do you recall any specific questions about sale of 6 books, the content of books on the company's store?

7 A I don't recall questions about that, no.

8 Q In exhibit -- I think you said it was 4, this is the talking points that were

9 prepared on March 9th. If you were to flip to Bates number 6187, they're Roman

10 numerals 2 and 3. Give you a moment. It's going to be just a short question.

11 A Yes.

12 Q But your name is in parentheses after Roman numeral 3. Do you know

13 whose name is redacted for Roman numeral 2? This is 6187.

14 A Yeah. It was either -- yeah. It was either -- it was either [redacted] or [redacted]

15 [redacted] I believe it was most likely [redacted] -- would have been assigned that section.

16 Q The -- flip one more page to 6186. Or other way.

17 A Sorry.

18 Q Turning back to the top of the email that starts on 6186 there. It's Roman

19 numeral 1. There's the bolded point. Looking at the first bullet point that's not

20 bolded, where it says "Books are unique," the last sentence of that first paragraph says,

21 "We are mindful in global history, rife with book censorship."

22 Do you recall any discussions internally at the company about concerns that

23 potential actions by the company would constitute censorship of books about vaccines?

24 A So it's my understanding that this is referring back to -- to some of the basis

25 for Amazon's belief and our philosophy towards books in general, which is that we should

1 offer, you know, as much content as possible, you know, to our customers given the
2 nature of books. And, as this mentions, given kind of global, you know, issues
3 surrounding books. And that we take decisions to remove content very seriously.
4 That's my, kind of, understanding of -- of what that's referring to as a concept.
5 Q And your team was preparing for potential discussion on the removal of
6 content?
7 A Yes. We weren't sure what questions, you know, the White House was 8 going to ask, and so the -- we prepared talking points and answers on a wide variety of 9 issues.
10 Q Based off your understanding of the word censorship, would that include 11 both the removal of books and downranking or demoting a book's appearance in search
12 results?
13 A Well, my understanding is that we take seriously, you know, any decisions 14 regarding books, but especially the removals of books from our store, and it's my 15 understanding that the -- the team considers those issues differently than inclusion in 16 optional promotion categories.
17 Q Are you familiar with the Global Engagement Center?
18 A I don't believe I'm familiar with that.
19 Q Other than the Office of the Surgeon General, the 2022 RFI request, did you
20 have any other interactions with HHS as part of your role at the company?
21 A Yes.
22 Q What was the nature of those interactions?
23 A To my recollection, there were several interactions. One was around 24 telehealth, and Amazon had telehealth services. And we were discussing the 25 government's allowance of telehealth for, I think, Medicare, you know, Medicaid, you

1 know, kind of being purposes, which was a part of the -- some of the COVID new rules
2 that were put in place.
3 And then I also recall, I believe, FDA -- if that's part of HHS, if I kind of recall
4 correctly -- we had extensive discussions with FDA around the COVID-19 tests that 5 Amazon developed, and we got an Emergency Use Authorization for.
6 Q As part of your role at the company, did you have any interactions
7 with -- actually, let me -- let me rephrase that.
8 In the spring of 2021, did you or anyone on your team contact anyone at another
9 social media or technology company about how they were handling potential health
10 misinformation?
11 A I don't know. I don't recall that I did so. I don't know if any member of 12 my team did.
13 Q To your knowledge, did any other social media or technology company reach 14 out to your team regarding how to handle health misinformation?
15 A Not to my knowledge.

1 [4:27 P.M.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Are you familiar with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?

4 A No, I'm not familiar with it.

5 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interaction with News

6 Guard?

7 A News Guard?

8 Q Yes.

9 A I'm not familiar with that.

10 Q As part of your role with the company, have you had any interactions withe

11 the global disinformation index?

12 A No, not that I'm aware of.

13 Q As a part of your role with the company, have you had any interactions with 14 the World Federation of Advertisers?

15 A I have not. I don't know if the advertising business is part of that, but I

16 have not to my knowledge.

17 Q As part of your role with the company, have you had any interactions with 18 the Global Alliance for Responsible Media, also referred to as GARM?

19 A No, not to my knowledge.

20 Q When did you first become aware that there was -- that the company was 21 considering removing the book "When Harry Became Sally"?

22 A I don't recall the time frame of that. I recall the congressional inquiries that 23 we received. I can't place the exact time when we received those, however.

24 Q Were you aware of the company's decision prior to receiving those 25 inquiries?

1 A I don't recall being made aware of it until then.

2 Q Did you have to receive a briefing on what happened?

3 A Yes. After we received the inquiries, I remember that we had discussions

4 about, you know, what happened. We drafted and we sent a response back to the

5 members, and I recall that there were discussions to try to find out, you know, what

6 happened, as we were deciding what our response would be, yes.

7 Q Who participated in those discussions?

8 A If I recall, it was members of my team. I recall [redacted] and [redacted]

9 [redacted] and I had discussions. I recall that.

10 Q And which teams did your team have discussions with?

11 A So I recall that I had discussions with [redacted] and [redacted] and myself. I believe

12 they had discussions with the books team, the legal team, and probably the public

13 relations team as well.

14 Q And based off of what [redacted] and [redacted] told you, what is your understanding

15 of what happened?

16 A It's my understanding and what we stated in our response was that the 17 books team felt that that book violated our policies because it treated being transgender

18 as a mental illness.

19 Q And to your understanding, how long had the book been for sale on the 20 company's book store before its removal?

21 A I don't know.

22 Q To your understanding, was there a change in policy that preceded the 23 decision to lead to its removal?

24 A I don't know if there was a change in policy. It's my understanding that

25 that was the reason that the books team removed it as violating policies. I'm not aware

1 if there was a change or not.

2 Q Which teams were involved in the decision-making to remove the book?

3 A It's my understanding that it was the books team that was involved.

4 Q To your understanding, did they consult with other teams within the

5 company?

6 A I don't know.

7 Q To your understanding, did they consult with company leadership?

8 A It's my understanding that, generally, when they make a decision about 9 whether to remove a book or not, that they would consult with their leadership.

10 Q When you're receiving information from Simon and Sarah, did you also

11 receive information on the company's protocols about if or how an author is notified if 12 their title is to be removed?

13 A I don't recall receiving information about that.

14 Q To your understanding, when a book is being considered for removal, what is 15 the protocol, to your understanding?

16 A I'm not aware of the -- I'm not aware of the specifics of that or what the 17 protocol is.

18 Q To your understanding, when a book is removed, you mentioned leadership

19 for the books team. To your understanding, is that decision ever elevated beyond that 20 in the company leadership?

21 A I don't know. I know that the individuals mentioned here, [redacted]

22 and [redacted], would likely be involved. I'm not aware beyond that who might

23 be.

24 Q In addition to the White House, are there other offices in the United States

25 or elsewhere that you have primary responsibility for interfacing with?

1 A Yes. I oversee -- for government officials, I oversee the Americas, so the 2 U.S., North and South America, at the Federal, State, and local level.
3 Q With the understanding that sort of a broad portfolio that you're responsible
4 for overseeing, are there other offices that fall within your responsibility as far as you
5 individually serving as the company's representative for that office?
6 A Usually those interactions are handled by other members of my team.
7 Q I'll try asking the question differently.
8 You are the primary or were the primary representative for White House
9 interactions. I don't know if that's still the case, but you mentioned both in the Trump
10 years and initially on for the Biden White House. Are there other offices besides the 11 White House where you were the representative, not someone from your team, but you 12 personally are the representative interfacing with that office?
13 A Not that I recall.
14 Q And given your role in the team and the leadership role that you serve, why 15 do interactions with the White House fall within your portfolio?
16 A Well, the White House is an important policy institution to the country and 17 to Amazon, and so given its importance, that was a relationship that I was directly 18 involved in.
19 Q Why is the White House important to Amazon?
20 A Given the leadership role in the United States.
21 Q As the head of the executive branch, what sorts of adverse steps could the 22 White House potentially take against the company?
23 A I don't know how to answer that question. Do you have specifics or -- I'm 24 not sure how to answer it. If you could clarify, please.
25 Q Sure. I'll take a step back.

1 To your understanding, are there potential adverse steps the White House can
2 take against the company?
3 A Thank you.
4 Well, the White House can issue executive orders on a number of topics, for
5 instance.
6 Q Could those executive orders negatively impact the company?
7 A There is the potential to, yes.
8 Q Are there other adverse steps the White House could potentially take
9 against the company?
10 Mr. Kelner. Counsel, are you just speaking completely in the abstract, or do you
11 have something particular that you're asking about?
12 [redacted] I think the question is concrete in the sense that I was trying to be a bit
13 more specific and was asked to take a step back. I'm happy to get into specifics.
14 Mr. Kelner. It's highly abstract but you can answer.
15 [redacted]. So it's my understanding that the White House could issue
16 executive orders, direct agencies, propose regulations. I'm sorry, I'm just speaking just 17 kind of generally. Those are some things that kind of come to mind to my knowledge.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q To your understanding, when it comes to the inclusion of books on a 20 do-not-promote list, is that always done manually, or is there some sort of automatic
21 process? How does Amazon, given the whole universe of books, how does Amazon find 22 what should or should not be included on a do-not-promote list?
23 A It's my understanding that it's done on a book-by-book basis, as opposed to 24 a category. How that is done and identified, I'm not aware of those specifics.
25 Q Do you have a sense of how big the team within the books team is that

1 handles content moderation or related issues?

2 A I don't.

3 Q If a book has been removed, is there a procedure within the company in 4 place to elevate for consideration the reinstatement of the book?

5 A I don't know the answer to that or what process. I mean, I know the team

6 takes the content decisions very seriously and examines those on a case-by-case basis.

7 I'm not aware of whether they revisit those or whether a process is in place.

8 Q Before a book is removed, does the author get a chance to -- I guess this is 9 kind of colloquially -- make their case to the company or a chance to appeal?

10 A I don't know.

11 Q Whether related to vaccines or otherwise, when it comes to drafting of the 12 policies themselves for the books content policies, were you or anyone from your team

13 ever asked to weigh in?

14 A I don't recall being asked to weigh in. I'm not aware of members of my 15 team that were.

16 Q To your understanding, within the books team, the team that develops or

17 potentially revises policies, is that different than the team that applies those policies and 18 enforces those policies?

19 A I don't know.

20 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

1 [redacted] This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has
2 requested this interview as part of the Committee's investigation of how and the extent
3 to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other
4 intermediaries to sensor speech.
5 Would the witness please state your name for the record?
6 [redacted] [redacted]
7 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here
8 today to answer our questions. Chairman also appreciates your willingness to appear
9 voluntarily. My name is [redacted]. I am with Chairman Jordan's staff. I will have 10 everyone else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves as well.
11 [redacted] [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.
12 [redacted] [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
13 [redacted] [redacted], Ranking Nadler's staff.
14 [redacted] I would like to go now over our ground rules and guidelines that we 15 will follow during today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The 16 majority will ask questions first for one hour, and then the minority will have an 17 opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will 18 alternate back and forth until there are no questions and the interview is over.
19 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to 20 take a break apart from that, please just let us know.
21 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to
22 make a written record. So we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do
23 you understand?
24 [redacted] I do.
25 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best

1 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
2 those people on the staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak clearly so the court
3 reporter can understand, and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you.
4 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we
5 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.
6 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 7 counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding that you are appearing with counsel
8 today.
9 Is that correct?
10 [redacted] I am.
11 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?
12 [redacted] [redacted], FBI Office of the General Counsel.
13 [redacted] [redacted], from the Department of Justice.
14 [redacted] Thank you.
15 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
16 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not
17 understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide
18 range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point, just say so.
19 If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best
20 not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us you learned
21 information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.
22 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us
23 who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to 24 the question.
25 You should also understand that, although this interview is not under oath, that by law, you are required to answer questions for Congress truthfully. Do you understand that?

[redacted] I do.

[redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in the interview. Do you understand this?

[redacted] I do.

[redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C., section 1001. Do you understand this?

[redacted] I am familiar.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

[redacted] There isn't.

[redacted] Finally, I would like to make a note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation. For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript. And any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up. That is the end of my preamble.

Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

[redacted] Yeah. We thank the witness for joining us today. I also just wanted to note on the record that we have requested access to the videos, not just to be able to view them in the Republican offices but to actually have copies of the videos, interviews that have been done to date.

So far, the majority staff has not been willing to agree to that. We also want to

1 note for the record that we have done almost 120 transcribed interviews and depositions
2 so far this year. And, of that, only a small fraction have been released to the public.
3 We understand that we do, as the minority, receive copies, but that is different than the 4 general public being able to see what has been happening in these.
5 So, with that, we turn it back to you. Thank you.
6 [redacted] I will note for the record this interview is not being videotaped, and 7 there have been discussions between senior staff, between the minority and the majority,
8 on the points my colleague raises.
9 [redacted] Can I just add for the record, we would respectfully dispute the 10 characterization you made at the top of the scope of this interview to reflect efforts by 11 the FBI or Department of Justice to coerce social media platforms. Our understanding
12 of the scope of today's interview is that it relates to the nature and extent of the FBI's 13 interactions with certain external partners, including social media platforms as well as 14 [redacted]'s time on the FITF.
15 [redacted] The time is 10:04. We will start the first hour of questioning.
16 EXAMINATION
17 BY [redacted]:
18 Q Can I have you state your full name for the record, please?
19 A Yes. My name is [redacted].
20 Q What is your current place of employment?
21 A I am employed by the FBI.
22 Q What is your current title?
23 A Chief of staff to the Deputy Director of the FBI.
24 Q And how long have you worked in that role?
25 A I've been in this role since June of '23.

1 Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?

2 A So I graduated from Calvin College, now Calvin University, in 1997 with a

3 double major in American history and literature.

4 Q And, after college, what is your professional background?

5 A So, after I graduated from college, I went back to my old high school and

6 taught history and government for about a year and then started law school at the

7 University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; graduated from there in 2001. Upon graduation, I

8 went to a moderate-size law firm in west Michigan, my home town of Grand Rapids,

9 working commercial litigation for about 4 and a half years.

10 Following that, I came here to D.C., actually, conducted a couple interviews and

11 ended up working for Senator Susan Collins when she chaired the Homeland Security

12 Government Affairs Committee. That was the summer of 2005. So I started with 13 HSGAC as investigative counsel just a few weeks before Hurricane Katrina made landfall.

14 So that changed all of our responsibilities. So I was essentially an investigator for my 15 almost year and a half with the committee. Started then with the FBI at the academy in

16 October of 2006.

17 Q And, once you joined the FBI, which positions have you held?

18 A So, as noted, my career with the FBI started October 2006. In sometime in

19 February that following year, I reported to my first field office, which is Pittsburgh. I was

20 there for just under 3 and a half years, I believe, as a new agent. I was assigned to the

21 Joint Terrorism Task Force, the JTTF, worked national security matters, international

22 terrorism, domestic terrorism, had a series of FISA cases that I was the case agent on.

23 Given my legal background, the office assigned me to different stints as an ADC,

24 an associate division counsel, but only a few months at a time. I was on the SWAT team

25 there for about 2 years, joined the FBI SWAT program back out of Pittsburgh. I then

1 transferred to the Detroit office in the summer of 2010.

2 Detroit is where I spent the bulk of my -- where I have spent the bulk of my career
3 with the FBI. Started with JTTF in Detroit as well. I did that for about 3 years from 4 about the summer of 2010 through 2013. That's when I was formally promoted for the 5 first time to an ADC, so an associate division counsel role, in the summer of 2013. I did
6 that for a few years in that capacity. At a large field office like Detroit, you provide 7 policy guidance, investigative guidance on any issues that might come up in a field office.
8 So I touched a number of different types of cases, not as the investigator or the case
9 agent, but as an advisor, as counsel to the office.

10 I was also allowed to continue to be involved in the FBI SWAT program. So I was 11 a SWAT operator there in Detroit for about 5 years. Very busy, high tempo. We were 12 out all the time. In 2015, the summer of 2015 I believe is when I moved over to my first
13 SSA, supervisory special agent, position with the FBI. As an ADC, I didn't supervise
14 people. But when I became a desk supervisor in Detroit, I had that position for about 4
15 and a half years, about 2015 through November 2019.

16 I supervised the public corruption squad in Detroit. So I managed all Federal,
17 public corruption, and civil rights investigations for Wayne County, which primarily 18 includes Detroit and suburban Detroit. We were very busy. Title IIIs often undercover 19 operations. The scope of the work there was fairly broad and involved. It was a great 20 time. I miss it actually.

21 And then -- bear with me here a second -- then I started my first Headquarters
22 stint. That was my 18-month TDY with FITF, which ran -- FITF is the Foreign Influence
23 Task Force -- which ran from November of 2019 through May of 2021. In that role, I was 24 the ASC, or the assistant section chief, so just beneath the section chief, but the unit
25 chiefs reported to me. I imagine we'll get into that a little bit later.

1 Worked, obviously, through the election timeframe and some of the challenges
2 that we faced then. When I left FITF in May of '21, I went back to the Detroit field office,
3 spent just maybe 5 or 6 weeks actually in Detroit running a squad there, crisis
4 management. So all the tools, the fun tools, that the FBI has; SWAT team, evidence
5 response team, WMD, all of that reported up through me.
6 But then I got promoted to my most recent position, which is an assistant special
7 agent in charge, so an ASAC role. The Detroit Division is a larger office, so it has five 8 ASACs that all fall under the SAC, the special agent in charge. Four of those ASACs sit in 9 what we call the Headquarter city, so at the main office in Detroit.
10 One sat in Grand Rapids. That was my role. So I went back to my 11 hometown -- promoted and got back to my hometown -- as an ASAC there. My 12 responsibilities there were fairly broad. I maintained all of the relationships at the 13 executive management level that the FBI had with U.S. Attorney's Office. We were in a 14 different Federal district out that way, which was seated in Grand Rapids with the other 15 Federal heads, all the sheriffs, all the chiefs.
16 I ran all FBI operations, so I didn't have a particular program that I was responsible
17 for. I was responsible for all FBI operations out of those six RAs, which was about 49
18 counties in the Western District of Michigan. I did that for just under 2 years -- miss that 19 role as well -- and then started in my current role with Deputy Director Abbate in June,
20 mid-June of last year.
21 Q And did you transfer to Headquarters here in D.C.?
22 A I did. So that 18-month TDY was a temporary duty assignment with the 23 FITF. Went back to the field, which is where I have spent the bulk of my career, but this 24 role, yes, it was a permanent transfer back to DC.
25 Q Okay. I'd like to for the most part focus question questioning during your

1 time with the FITF. During your time with the FITF, what were your responsibilities as 2 the assistant section chief?
3 A So, like I said before, the assistant section chief reports to the section chief,
4 and the unit chiefs report to the ASC and the section chief, technically to the ASC. So
5 that's where I sat. I, as you may recall when I went through my background, I don't have 6 any specific cyber or counterintelligence experience. But I've touched a lot of different
7 things in our organization. I have a feel for a lot of different things through some of the 8 legal work and counsel that I did with both those field offices, and I spent 4 and a half
9 years at a desk in Detroit as a public corruption supervisor. So very accustomed to and 10 comfortable working in sensitive operations, those sorts of things.
11 I had obviously time on the Hill. So, when I was brought onto FITF, they knew 12 that they were not hiring a subject-matter expert with respect to cyber or 13 counterintelligence matters. They were getting someone who was familiar FBI
14 operations sort of across the board, public corruption matters, sensitivities, how to work
15 and manage sensitive operations, and some level of familiarity with the Hill.
16 So I was not looked at to be someone who was poring through intelligence or 17 specifically given guidance to counterintelligence investigations or where there was 18 crossover with cyber, things like that. I was brought into that role for my operational 19 experience and some of the other things in my background.
20 Q During your tenure with the FITF, who was the section chief?
21 A Brad Benavides was my section chief when I was at FITF.
22 Q And who were the unit chiefs?
23 A So Laura Dehmlow was my FITF China unit chief. [redacted] was the FITF
24 Russia unit chief, and the third unit, FITF global, was run by a non-SES employee.
25 Q Besides those three-unit chiefs, was there anyone else in the FITF that was

1 reported to you at the time?

2 A So not formally, but I think I can get the gist of the question by further

3 describing the makeup of FITF, right, so you have -- it's a section within the 4 Counterintelligence Division. The FBI divides things up that way, sections within the 5 divisions, operational or otherwise.

6 FITF was unique in many ways and still is because it is made up of bits and parts of 7 several different divisions, operational divisions in the organization. That was

8 intentional back in 2017 when Director Wray opened FITF's door, so to speak. So,

9 obviously, the personnel from the Counterintelligence Division, from the Cyber Division,

10 from the Counterterrorism Division, from the Criminal Investigative Division. So those 11 four operational divisions, each one of those division were represented by agent and 12 intelligence personnel.

13 So the agents there would be SSA's program managers. And the intelligence

14 personnel that were there would be intelligence analysts on one of those units, but each

15 unit also had a supervisory intelligence analyst, so SIA, right? So the unit chief, he or she

16 ran the units. Directly underneath the unit chief was an SIA who technically supervised

17 the intelligence personnel. There were also the agent personnel, though, in that unit

18 and the unit chief is responsible for all of that beneath, if that makes sense?

19 Q Taking a step back, so you joined the FITF in November 2019. You said it

20 was created in 2017.

21 Were you familiar -- or when did you first become familiar with the FITF?

22 A So I recall back when I was the public corruption supervisor in Detroit, FITF,

23 when it was stood up, had gone out to the field, certain field offices and provided

24 essentially introductory briefs about FITF, what it was and what it did, right? I recall

25 seeing one of those presentations, I believe, in Detroit, and it made sense for FITF to meet

1 with, you know, personnel in field offices that actually conduct investigations, right, in
2 those four different areas that I talked about: criminal investigations, that was what I
3 had, public corruption; but also cyber; counterintelligence; less counterterrorism at the 4 time, but primarily those three.
5 So, in these informative briefings that I remember receiving one, that's the first 6 time I had heard about FITF. I don't know exactly when that was, but then, of course,
7 when it came time for me to do my 18-month TDY, I was trying to figure out where I was 8 going to apply at Headquarters, I, you know, started to learn more about the section.
9 Q So how did you -- were you assigned to the FITF? Did you apply? How did 10 you first become aware of the opportunity?
11 A All HSI TDYs, so temporary duty assignments -- and the vast majority of them
12 are 18 months for the FBI -- they're all competitive. So, you know, those positions like 13 all supervisory positions are posted on a system in the FBI, and there's also word of 14 mouth. You know, I had been in the public corruption community for a while. I had 15 worked national security investigations. So I knew folks on both side of the aisle so to 16 speak.
17 So I was encouraged to look into what was going to be that FITF posting. As I
18 understand it, that ASC position, so that assistant section chief position, with the FITF was 19 a cyber body billet we call it in FSL. So the Cyber Division owned that body but fully 20 detailed it to the Counterintelligence Division to serve as the ASC for the FITF. That 21 interested me because you're going to have natural collaboration there. And, with my 22 background in public corruption and my somewhat familiarity with some of the work on 23 the Hill, it seemed like a good place to grow and stretch professionally, right, recognizing 24 that I had certain gaps with respect to cyber and counterintelligence, but you learn 25 quickly.

1 Q Who encouraged you to consider the position?

2 A You know, I don't recall everyone. You know, I had a few mentors at the

3 time that encouraged me, now retired folks, I should think about something like that

4 because it crossed over with some of my experiences that I noted before. I was also

5 encouraged to look into other positions as well.

6 Q To your understanding, who is responsible for hiring the position of assistant

7 section chief?

8 A So I understood it to be something that was done collaboratively between 9 Cyber Division and the Counterintelligence Division.

10 Q Did you know the personnel who would be involved in the hiring?

11 A In the hiring position?

12 Q Yeah.

13 A Only by name and title. And I actually don't know who made the final call.

14 I know I did my interview for the position with Brad Benavides.

15 Q Had you met Mr. Benavides before that?

16 A I'm told that we met years prior at an inspection, field office inspection. It's

17 something that all agents that are going to promote have to go through. We have our

18 own Inspection Division at Headquarters. It's like a compliance and audit mechanism

19 within our agency, and they bring in supervisors from across the country. I think I met

20 Brad at one of those years and years ago, but it did not register with me until several 21 months after we started working together.

22 Q To your understanding at the time, were you filling in a position that was 23 recently vacated, or was this a newly created position?

24 A So, to the best of my recollection, I believe it was a new position.

25 Q Once you joined the FITF in late fall, 2019 how big was the FITF at the time?

1 A So the three units, right? I can't remember specific numbers, but you
2 know, I don't like to approximate here in an interview like this, but I would say around
3 50ish, maybe a little bit more. I can't remember exact numbers.
4 Q What about at the end of your tenure at FITF?
5 A It would have been about the same.
6 Q When you joined the FITF, were the unit teams more or less already built
7 out? Were those teams already, you know, hired? Were there already people that 8 had been working on the FITF?
9 A Yes. Yes. So the FITF initially started -- of course, I wasn't there -- but it's 10 my understanding that it started not necessarily with a single focus, but certainly a 11 primary focus in efforts by the Russian Government, right? Over time, that changed and 12 the section matured as any section does in an organization like the FBI, and formally 13 established units, like I said, Russia, China, global. Global encompassed everything else.
14 And those units were up and running and were staffed, like everyone, were never staffed
15 at a hundred percent, but they were up and running, staffed when I arrived.
16 Q During your tenure at the FITF, who was responsible for the hiring of any 17 additional personnel for the units?
18 A It depends on what positions you're talking about. Specific to the units?
19 Q Yes.
20 A So the way it would work is there would be interviews, review of application
21 materials, a career board type process, and a lot of deference is given to the man or 22 woman that runs a unit to pick personnel for their units. But there's always going to be,
23 you know, some level of familiarity from like a section chief role and an ASC role in terms
24 of hiring within a unit.
25 When you're talking hiring an ASC, the role that I had, of course, it bumps up to

1 the section chief being given deference. But above a section chief is going to be a
2 deputy assistant director, the DAD, who was Nikki Floris, at that time, would have
3 visibility and familiarity with who is being hired into an ASC role.
4 Q During your time at the FITF, how frequently would you interview with Mr.
5 Benavides?
6 A Every day.
7 Q During your time at FITF, how frequently would you interact with the unit
8 chiefs?
9 A Every day. Practically every day.
10 Q During your time at the FITF, how frequently did you interact with 11 Ms. Floris?
12 A Often. Not every day, but I'd interact with her often.
13 Q At a high level, what was the nature of those interactions?
14 A What do you mean by, what was the nature of the interactions?
15 Q You know, what sort of things, would occasion, you know, have a meeting 16 with her, talk with her, what sorts of -- 17 A Sure. So there would be formal meetings that were scheduled on the 18 books. There would be, you know, drop by, "hello boss, how are you doing." In terms
19 of -- I can't -- I mean, it was 4 years ago, so I don't recall a lot of specifics. But, generally
20 speaking, you know, FITF was in receipt of and analyzed a considerable amount of 21 intelligence, but also unique to the FITF section in addition to that, FITF had its own
22 investigative operations. So its own cases that the section program managed, so these 23 are cases that are run and conducted in the field in one of our 56 field offices, but the 24 program management responsibility for those foreign influence cases would come up
25 through FITF.

1 So, to get back to your question, what would I talk to DAD Floris about? Well,
2 oftentimes intelligence, investigative operations. And, as we got closer to -- and I mean,
3 months prior to -- several months -- 6 months actually so -- to the election, one of my 4 primary responsibilities as the ASC of FITF was to -- I was given responsibility for the 5 National Election Command Post, or the NECP Headquarters.
6 [redacted] I couldn't hear you.
7 [redacted] The National Election Command Post, the NECP. I'll probably refer
8 to it as the Headquarters CP for the election. I was working on that and preparing for 9 that for months prior to the election, which took me out of the role of, you know,
10 reviewing understanding, getting briefed on a lot of the intelligence that was coming up 11 around that time in the specifics or even generalities, right, of our investigative
12 operations.
13 I was running around the building coordinating with all the different pieces and 14 parts of the enterprise that -- and there are multiple, right -- that take part in a command
15 post put together to secure a Presidential election, and you know, elections being held in 16 every State, right? It's a big deal.
17 Q Can you say more about the command post for the elections? Who, from 18 the FBI, was involved with that in the lead up to the 2020 election?
19 A So I need you to clarify in terms of what do you mean by "involved"?
20 Q Who are the primary people in the FBI in charge of handling it?
21 A Okay. So I'll try to clarify here a little bit. There are those that know 22 about it, right, and are ultimately making decisions about how long it will stand up, who 23 should be represented, what other agencies should be there, what space we'll sit in,
24 right? Those are executive management calls, but they are not working on a day-to-day
25 basis on the command post when it's up and running, right? So a significant amount of 1 executive management would be put into that category.

2 In terms of who is working at the command post, both before it's stood up and

3 while it was stood up -- and I think we were stood up for about 10 days or so. I can't

4 remember exactly. So several days before with the intention of staying open for

5 business with a somewhat reduced footprint a few days afterwards, depending on how

6 things were going if there was a need.

7 But there would be representation from FITF, right, which in and of itself meant

8 that you had Counterintelligence, Cyber, Criminal Investigative Division, Counterterrorism

9 Division personnel there, but we also had representation from the Directorate of

10 Intelligence, the DI within the FBI, what we would call the crisis, or CIRG, Critical Incident

11 Response Group, right, which is the headquartered division that has program

12 responsibility and manages all of the FBIs nationally. They're special teams like SWAT

13 teams and WMD teams and things like that because we prepare for something going

14 wrong. So they were there in coordination.

15 The General Counsel's Office has representation. OPA has representation.

16 Public affairs. You're just preparing for any eventuality, right? And, while I'm not

17 going to remember -- can't remember -- the non-FBI personnel and groups or

18 departments that were there off the top of my head, I know that we had -- there were

19 certain elements of DOJ that were present. Most of the Headquarter command posts,

20 we were a 24/7 operation. Nothing against attorneys; I'm a recovering attorney myself.

21 But I don't think they staffed the third shift, which is understandable. So, from DOJ,

22 we -- PIN was represented, and NSD was represented.

23 We would have our counterparts, I believe, with some various DHS components,

24 CISA may have had representation there. If they weren't there, we had connectivity

25 with them. Same with INA. We may have had -- I believe we did have some level of 1 DOD representation.

2 Let me step back a second and say what was unique about -- if you think about
3 time and place, right, about the 2020 election, if you were around and you remember -- I
4 do -- you know we had barbed wire and humvees and tanks -- not tanks -- but humvees
5 on the streets. We were dealing with a certain level of civil unrest, right, in D.C. and 6 around the country.

7 So, in addition to preparing for fair and effective, problem-free elections, we had
8 the additional responsibility of, you know, preventing Americans from being hurt, right?
9 And there were -- I wasn't involved in these efforts, but there were other command posts
10 set up, the FBI and other elements of the Federal Government to, you know, protect 11 people and property just with respect to the violence that was going around at times
12 around the country, right, separate from anything we were doing in FITF.

13 So, when you combined that with an election, those two things start to merge,
14 which made it even more complex and more difficult for me in my job, right, in trying to 15 coordinate all across the bits and pieces of a 38,000 person organization. So some of 16 the personnel that were there had little or nothing to do, right, with the election per se.
17 They -- it just happened to be a timing issue.

18 There was civil unrest, and there were issues associated with that that overlapped
19 in time and space with the election itself. So, you know, various different persons from 20 our Violent Crimes Section within Counterintelligence -- Criminal Investigation Division
21 within CID were there because they would have responsibility, right, for some of the 22 violent crime activity taking place but, otherwise, wouldn't necessarily be present for 23 Headquarter command post with respect to the election if you understand what I mean.
24 And other Federal agencies as well -- I can't recall exactly who -- but there were a
25 number. It was an alphabet soup, some with responsibility and equities in the election

1 and some with just maintaining safety.

2 Q Who asked you to take on this role related to the command post in the lead

3 up to election?

4 A I believe it was any Nikki Floris asked me to do that. Again, it made sense

5 given my previous experience with other operational divisions and SWAT and CIRG. I

6 just was probably more familiar with the pieces and parts of our organization than 7 anybody else in FITF at the time.

8 Q You say your recollection this became part of your portfolio about 6 months

9 before the election?

10 A Give or take. I don't necessarily -- I know -- I think I know what you mean

11 by portfolio. I mean, it was never something that was written into the job description,

12 but you know, we make our bones and prove our skill sets as we go along. And

13 management knew that the command post was going to be a large endeavor, and they

14 asked me to do it, right? So I think it was about 6 months, could have been five, could

15 have been a little bit more. I don't know. I can tell you that it didn't consume me

16 every single day initially, but as you get closer to the day, it's a full-time job. It became a

17 full-time job.

18 Q Do you recall how soon to the election it became essentially a full-time job

19 for you?

20 A I don't. I just know that, for a while before, maybe a couple months before,

21 that was -- it seemed like that's all I was doing. There was a lot of work to be done

22 there.

23 Q Once it becomes --

24 A You also -- I'm sorry -- you also had the COVID issue, which added another

25 level of personnel and space and how to bring people in and out. It was challenging.

1 Q Once your responsibilities related to command post started to take up all of 2 your time, who is managing the unit chiefs on a day-to-day or near day-to-day level?
3 A So, as I recall, we didn't have a formal changing of the guard, so to speak.
4 But I certainly relied on Laura Dehmlow to do a lot of the things that I would have
5 otherwise been doing during that timeframe. Laura also helped me with -- significantly
6 with the command post. Some of those do-outs and responsibilities, but I relied on 7 Laura primarily to, you know, wear multiple hats during that timeframe.
8 Q What sort of responsibilities did Ms. Dehmlow take on during this time?
9 A Additional responsibilities?
10 Q Yes, as you were taking on your responsibilities from the command post.
11 A Right. So, you know, you have the ASC role. Normally, you're the 12 connectivity between, you know, the section chief, sometimes the DAD and the 13 management of investigative operations being conducted in the units, right? Again, 14 those units are not conducting investigations. They're program managing them. And 15 that intel cycle, the intel that is coming up and the coordination with the USIC, which, you
16 know, normal coordination, but certainly as you get closer to the election, there are, you
17 know, felt like there were constant weekly, maybe biweekly meetings with other 18 members of the intelligence community, various different issues. I would often sit in on 19 those, but as we got closer to the election, Laura picked up some of that work, right? So 20 she's doing her unit chief job in addition to being some of that connective tissue between 21 the units and executive management for the section.
22 Q Both before and then after you start to take on responsibilities related to the 23 command post, how frequently in your tenure at FITF would you interact with Director
24 Wray?
25 A So the FITF would provide -- would get on a schedule of providing briefings

1 to the Director, Deputy Director, the number three, the ADD, Executive Assistant
2 Directors, essentially the 7th floor management chain.
3 If I remember correctly, those were done on a fairly regular basis, scheduled out
4 maybe monthly. Not right when I got there, but there came a time where they became 5 monthly briefings, and then the closer you get, biweekly briefings, and you may have
6 weekly briefings. In my role, I was not responsible for any of those. I would be a plus
7 one, right? Brad or Nikki would be the executive representing FITF in those sorts of 8 meetings.
9 So, in trying to answer your question, I'd be present, and FITF would be briefing
10 the Director and executive management team on, you know, matters of the day, but I
11 don't know that the Director would call that a meeting with [redacted]. You
12 understand what I'm saying?
13 Q I do. Other than these standing meetings that you would attend
14 sometimes, did you have other interactions with senior leadership at the FBI?
15 A What do you mean by "senior leadership"?
16 Q We'll say the EAD or above?
17 A You're familiar with that chain, the Executive Assistant Director, the ADD,
18 the DD, the Director? So I would have occasional interaction with the National Security
19 Branch EAD at the time. There was no normal cadence other than the FITF briefings, 20 right, in terms of meetings with others in that, you know, that 7th floor structure, so to 21 speak, until the NECP stood up, right?
22 When we stood up, prior to the election, we were visited -- and it's not 23 uncommon, right, in a major event, and we have a Headquarter command post, which 24 has a ton of personnel from across the enterprise, right, working on something important,
25 it is not uncommon for the Director at the time, for the Deputy Director at the time to

1 come down, provide a quick summary what you got going on, what are these people are 2 doing, this room over here, the connective tissue, that sort of thing, and they're there to 3 say thank you for your efforts. That happened one time where it was planned, where 4 the Director and Deputy Director -- the Deputy Director at the time was David
5 Bowdich -- came down planned -- by planned, I mean, we knew about it in advance.
6 Another time they intentionally did it when we didn't know about it.
7 Q Who was the Executive Assistant Director for National Security in 2020?
8 A I believe that would have been John Brown was the EAD for NSB.
9 Q Had you worked with Mr. Brown prior to taking on your role at the FITF?
10 A No.
11 Q Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation," "disinformation," and
12 "malinformation"?
13 A I've heard those terms before. I also know that people define them
14 differently, but I am somewhat familiar with them, yes.
15 Q To your understanding, what are the differences among those terms?
16 A So I don't necessarily -- I can often think the same thing when I hear those.
17 I just know that there are persons within the community that work this stuff full-time that 18 assign specific definitions to those words.
19 Q And which task forces or which divisions work on issues related to 20 misinformation and disinformation to your understanding?
21 A Well -- are you talking about FBI equities?
22 Q Yes.
23 A So the FITF runs across that sort of stuff, I'll say, in its efforts to combat
24 foreign malign efforts, right? FMI. MFI. The FITF's primary objective was, and I
25 believe still is, is to combat those foreign malign influence efforts, and you know, protect

1 Democratic institutions, American institutions, from those efforts. These efforts are not
2 new, right? Our adversaries have been doing this for quite some time, but as we stated
3 earlier with the creation of FITF in 2017, the FBI brought various different parts of the 4 organization together to mitigate that threat.
5 [redacted] Can I confer with the witness?
6 [redacted] Yeah.
7 [Discussion off the record.]
8 BY [redacted]:
9 Q Do you know who Elvis Chan is?
10 A So, I do. But let me take a moment to provide a little context for our 11 previous exchange. So you mentioned the -- and asked about the definitions for "mis,"
12 "dis," and "malinformation." So the FITF's work in the FMI or MFI space, right, is not a
13 focus on the information itself. It's not a focus on speech. It's not a focus on a 14 viewpoint. It's a focus on a noncontent specific focus on a foreign adversary in the 15 simplest of terms, oftentimes pretending to be something that or someone that it is not 16 to negatively impact our institutions. So, you know, discord, inflame societal issues,
17 right? We do not -- I certainly did not work during my 18 months at the FITF -- we didn't 18 operationalize with the focus on mis, dis, or malinformation. I want to make that clear.
19 It's a content-neutral problem set, focused on an adversary.
20 Q Do you know who Elvis Chan is?
21 A I do.
22 Q And who is Elvis Chan as it relates to the FBI?
23 A Now or back then?
24 Q Back then we'll start with.
25 A So I don't believe I've ever met Elvis in person, but I was, you know, on

1 phone calls and video with him in the past. Back then, if I recall, Elvis was the 2 supervisor -- one of the cyber supervisors for the San Francisco field office. And, given
3 the equities and the personnel that comprised FITF and some of the work that we do,
4 there were already connections, right, between FITF and Elvis when I started. So I
5 would have, you know, initially had maybe a phone call or a video telephone conference
6 with Elvis in my time at the FITF. I don't believe we met prior to.
7 Q Once you joined the FITF, how frequently would you interact with Mr. Chan?
8 A So I don't know how often we would. Certainly not as much as I would my 9 unit chiefs, my section chief, or my DAD. We would interact, but I don't know that there 10 was any regular cadence to it necessarily until we got into the command post timeframe.
11 Q And then, once you're in the command post timeframe, how frequently 12 would you interact?
13 A I can't give you, you know -- it's not like I would talk to him three times a day
14 or every third day. I just know that it would be more often because of the way that we 15 set up the process flow, information flow during that timeframe, right? The field offices
16 communicating back to Headquarters, Headquarters doing its churn and coordination
17 with the USIC on matters and for certain types of things, we would communicate with San 18 Francisco Field Office to engage in one of our efforts there, and Elvis was a part of that.
19 Q To your understanding, what's Mr. Chan's role now at the Bureau?
20 A Last I knew or heard, he was an ASAC in San Francisco, but I could be off on 21 that now.
22 Q Have you had any interactions with Mr. Chan since you left the FITF?
23 A Not related to anything involving the FITF. I can tell you that I -- I can't 24 remember exactly when it was -- but in my role as an ASAC -- this is when 25 I knew that Elvis was an ASAC in San Francisco -- my role as an ASAC in west Michigan we

1 would routinely have -- and this gets at the substance -- I want to be clear about the
2 substance of my subsequent communication with Elvis, we routinely have cases -- crimes
3 against children cases, CSAM type cases, if you know what I mean, children victims of 4 sex-based crimes.
5 And a lot of that is based and run and profited off of online. So I can't remember
6 the specific nature of the case that we had in west Michigan at the time, but I was trying 7 to get some advice or see what would make sense in terms of trying to have some level of 8 engagement with a social media provider, a tech company provider, right, a platform
9 where some of this activity was hosted. And Elvis felt like the natural -- I knew he 10 had -- he knew people with those companies, and could direct me to a certain way. It's 11 just another example of the FBI's interaction with this particular industry. It's not all in 12 the election space and foreign malign influence. In fact, a lot of it, more of it is in the 13 criminal space, and in the criminal space it's unfortunately crimes against children.
14 Q When you joined the FITF in November 2019, did you have a sense of how 15 long the unit chiefs had been in their positions for?
16 A No. I know it was -- I mean, they weren't brandnew, but I don't know.
17 Q Okay. During your 18 months at the FITF, was there any turnover among 18 who the unit chiefs were?
19 A So I'm almost certain -- I am certain that when I started, Laura and [redacted]
20 were in their respective roles. When I finished, they were still there, but when I left,
21 Laura Dehmlow had then been promoted to section chief of FITF. When I started, she 22 was the unit chief reporting to me. When I left, I was actually reporting to her for a few 23 weeks. And the third unit chief may have -- I think they did leave right towards the end,
24 but I can't recall. There may have been another person that came in and filled that unit
25 chief role for FITF global. I can't exactly remember though.

1 Q Do you know who at the FBI was responsible for deciding who would be the
2 new section chief at the time Ms. Dehmlow was promoted?
3 A Well, so, a section chief reports to a DAD, which reports to an AD. So the 4 way that it normally works -- of course, I didn't take part in any interviews; I didn't submit 5 an application -- is that that DAD role would be a part of the interview process, part of 6 review of applications, and would be shown a certain level of deference with respect to 7 selecting the person that would report to the DAD. In this instance, Nikki Floris was still 8 the DAD. So her opinion, her selection carried some weight. But you also have an 9 Assistant Director that is, like I said earlier, familiar with the applicants, their 10 backgrounds, that sort of thing. So, between the DAD, and the AD, who makes the call,
11 who made the call? I don't know. But that's the way that process works.
12 Q Do you know who else was under consideration besides Mr. Dehmlow?
13 A I don't. I recall there being a few other applicants, but I don't remember 14 their names or where they came from.
15 Q Were you aware that Mr. Benavides would be leaving his position?
16 A Was I aware that -- 17 Q Let me rephrase that. When did you become aware Mr. Benavides would 18 be leaving his role as section chief?
19 A When he told me I would be acting section chief along with Nikki. It was 20 after the election. I don't remember exactly when, but I sat in that role as acting section
21 chief for a couple months I think. And, during that time, they were identifying, you
22 know, who would be interviewing applicants for the section chief role. So, if I
23 remember correctly, Brad, sometime after the election, I don't remember when it was,
24 could have been in the new year as well, was promoted to a DAD whole within -- so a
25 Deputy Assistant Director role within the Counterintelligence Division. So he was still

1 around, but he was not in the section chief role.

2 Q Did you have any interest in the section chief role?

3 A I did not. I wouldn't have been qualified for it anyway because, as an

4 agent, in order to be a section chief, you have to serve as an ASAC in the field, and I

5 hadn't yet served as an ASAC in the field. So I would have been precluded from applying

6 even if I wanted to.

7 Q You had mentioned the -- there was like an introductory briefing at some

8 point when you were still in Detroit prior to joining the FITF. Do you recall any other

9 interactions with the FITF prior to joining the FITF in November 2019?

10 A Did I -- are you asking if I had any other interactions with the FITF?

11 Q Yes.

12 A I don't recall any. No, other than the interactions I had seeking to be the 13 ASC. Yes, I would have had interactions with FITF when I was applying, right?

14 Q Yes. During your tenure with the FITF, how frequently would someone

15 from FITF interact with social media companies related to elections or foreign malign

16 influence campaigns?

17 A So you're gonna have to be more specific about what you mean by 18 "someone." I can tell you -- I can speak for myself.

19 Q Yeah.

20 A As the ASC with responsibilities that I had and the background that I had in

21 leading up to the election and all the work I had with the NECP, I know that I had some

22 interaction. By that, I mean, I recall attending -- no in-person I don't think. They would 23 have been all video calls, a handful of calls with [redacted], Laura, possibly Brad on occasion.

24 But it was not a regular part of what I was doing.

25 Now, I can't tell you how many meetings or calls I participated in. I don't think it

1 was a lot. I knew that it was among the responsibilities of a couple of my unit chiefs to
2 do that. I knew that they were having those meetings, and I'm going to speak a little bit
3 about to why we have those meetings because I want to be clear about that. But I knew
4 those meetings were taking place when I started, right, and I believe Laura, as the unit
5 chief for China, and [redacted], as unit chief -- I'm sorry [redacted], as unit chief for Russia, were 6 engaged in those meetings.
7 Now, there would be bilateral -- I knew that there were bilateral meetings. For 8 instance, FITF and one other entity, but there would also be meetings where, you know,
9 DOJ might be present as well and multiple companies. It wasn't necessarily just social
10 media, but tech companies that you might think of. Couple that come to mind because I
11 have a feeling you're going to ask, right, are Google, Microsoft, that sort of thing.
12 But, oftentimes, what would happen in that space is the FBI is sharing information,
13 right? And what I remember and the way I would describe that is the FBI would receive 14 information, OGA information, intelligence, investigative information, right, that 15 would -- and, from that information, you'd be able to hone in, identify -- OGA could 16 identify, you know, specific selectors or indicators that OGA had attributed to a foreign 17 entity. But that foreign entity was acting to be something that it was not, right, 18 concealing its identity.
19 And, by "selectors" and "indicators" I mean, I am not a tech or cyber guy, right?
20 But we're talking email addresses, URLSs, social media accounts, telephone numbers, 21 hash tag values, that sort of thing.

1 [11:02 a.m.]

2 [redacted] And as I did and stated earlier -- right? -- that -- that communication,
3 what we are sharing with the companies in that context, it's an actor focus as opposed to
4 activity, right? These -- certain foreign actors that are using these accounts, other zeros
5 and ones, X's and O's online, right in a manner not attributed to them, and we would 6 share those indicators and selectors with social media companies and also let them
7 know -- right? -- that these actors, these accounts may be operating in violation of your 8 terms and services.

9 Now, I'll expound a little bit on that. There's no direction provided with that 10 sharing of that information. There's no expectation in sharing of that information. By 11 that I mean it was our practice to provide that information and say to the 12 company -- companies, take action as you see fit. There was no expectation that we 13 would get some sort of update on what action they may or may not have taken.

14 Down the road sometimes -- I believe sometimes we did and sometimes we did 15 not. We found out with, essentially, the rest of the world when they would maybe put 16 out a public statement, right?

17 We did not coerce the companies to do anything with that information. The way
18 that I think about this and describe this is similar to the way that the FBI operates in -- in 19 other mission sets, right? We certainly do this in the counterterrorism space, we do this 20 in the standard criminal space. You have an adversary, you have a threat. And there is 21 a way to confront, mitigate, stop that threat head-on, right? And that is what many 22 people might think about, you know.

23 Think about this in the -- in the violent crime context. Perhaps the RICO statute,
24 right? You come head-on to a violent crime actor in a RICO statute or Hobbs Act
25 context, right? Counterterrorism, you may think material support, right? That is one

1 way to do it.

2 But that is one of the tools in the toolkit or the toolbox in which to mitigate a

3 threat and stop a bad actor, right? And the space that we are talking about here, you

4 have some direct tools, right? You have FARA, you have some other things that you

5 could do. Outside of the social media context, there are other tools that appear to be

6 more head-on, right?

7 But with the broad space that the FBI operates in and our responsibilities, it would

8 be irresponsible if we didn't think about using other toolsets, right? Legal, appropriate

9 means of combatting, thwarting a threat. Again, go back to the violent crime context.

10 What you started seeing a lot was, essentially, financial fraud being conducted by 11 these violent crime actors. Tax evasion. There have been more than one 12 gangster -- right? -- in the world that has been stopped for not paying taxes.

13 In a counterterrorism context, an alternate means, a nondirect means of stopping

14 the threat, you know, money laundering, also not paying taxes. There are certain 15 state-based charges or work that you can do there, right?

16 So this type of engagement with the social media companies was an additional

17 tool in the FBI's toolbox to mitigate a threat posed by a foreign malign actor, right?

18 There were other ways that we were doing that, but this was one of them.

19 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

20 [Recess.]

21 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please.

22 At the end of that last hour, we were starting to touch upon information-sharing,

23 including information being shared related to foreign actors and folks online,

24 representing themselves as something other than who they actually are.

25 You had mentioned that there were times where the FBI was passing along

1 information provided by another government agency. During these meetings, was there
2 also information that was being shared where the FBI was the agency that assessed
3 whether it was a domestic or foreign actor?
4 [redacted] To the degree we might be hamstrung from answering in an unclass
5 open space, I would just note that for the record.
6 [redacted] So I am not. I wanted to -- part of your question there noted, you
7 know -- said something to the effect of foreign actors and others online -- foreign actors
8 online. I'm not going to say and others. That's not part of what we're doing.
9 The OGA information that would come in, in this context, what I'm talking about 10 here, would specifically identify selectors associated with malign foreign actors. And the 11 assessment, as I understand the process, had already been made, right?
12 And as oftentimes in this context, the FBI becomes the mouthpiece of that to the 13 third party in this context, a social media company or tech company, right? So the 14 assessment as to foreignness, malign foreign actor, was made already, my understanding, 15 by OGA, with respect to this list of 5 or list of 500, and we would pass that on.
16 BY [redacted]:
17 Q So to your understanding, did the FBI ever play a dual role where it was both 18 the mouthpiece and it was the agency helping to conduct that assessment?
19 A That's not my understanding.
20 Q At any of the meetings that you attended with the social media technology 21 companies, did you ever hear any feedback provided from the companies that when they 22 reviewed the information that was being provided to them from the government, that 23 the selectors or other information they found to be attributed to a domestic account?
24 A I did not.
25 Q Was that ever communicated to you from someone on the FITF while you

1 were at the FITF?

2 A No, not that I recall. I don't remember any discussions like that.

3 Q You recall handling -- excuse me. You recall attending a handful of 4 meetings between the FITF and social media companies.

5 Do you recall attending at least one of both the bilateral meetings, as you describe

6 them, FITF and one third party, as well as the meetings that had more than one agency

7 and more than one company?

8 A So, again, I'll state that I -- I don't remember exactly how many of these I

9 attended. I knew that they were taking place. And as best as I can remember, I don't

10 believe I was a part of any of the bilateral, i.e., FBI and one other third party, is best as I

11 can remember.

12 The few that I participated in or that I was -- that I attended, I feel like there were 13 more parties involved.

14 Q Did you attend these meetings both before and after you had taken all the 15 responsibilities related to the command post?

16 A It's possible that I was brought in to -- to a few meetings after I took on, you

17 know, the NECP responsibilities. But I will tell you, as I noted earlier -- right? -- the 18 closer you get -- we got to election day, the more that work consumed me, where it

19 eventually became 100 percent of my work.

20 Q To your understanding, how frequently were members of the FITF, the unit

21 chiefs, whoever was taking the lead, how frequently were they having bilateral meetings

22 with social media companies in 2020?

23 A So I don't know exactly. I don't know how frequently that was taking place.

24 Q Did you have a ballpark sense at the time of how often it was occurring?

25 A I'd have to speculate. If I gave you a number, I'd be speculating, right? So

1 I don't know for certain. It's not happening every week, but it's not happening, you
2 know, once every six months either. But it would be speculation beyond that.
3 Q Would you be provided readouts from these bilateral meetings?
4 A Not necessarily. And I don't remember getting many of those, particularly
5 the closer we got to the election, as noted earlier. And by that I mean, just months out
6 from when I was consumed with the NECP.
7 I may have received a few of those, but that wasn't a regular part of what I
8 was -- what I was doing or what I was getting from the unit chiefs.
9 Q If a unit chief were to provide a summary of a meeting with a third party,
10 was it typically, like, a verbal briefing, would it be a memo prepared? What -- what 11 would that look like.
12 A Well, it's my understanding that those meetings were documented in some 13 way. I don't know that I ever documented one of those meetings, but it's my 14 understanding that they were documented.
15 But if there was something that was relevant that I needed to know, I mean, I 16 checked in with my unit chiefs every day all the time -- right? -- particularly in my earlier
17 days with the FITF.
18 So we would normally have conversations, right? So if they needed to make me 19 aware of something, we'd meet through a conversation.
20 Q Are you familiar with SENTINEL?
21 A I am.
22 Q Just at a very high level, what -- what is that?
23 A It's a recordkeeping system for the FBI. It's where we document a number 24 of different things, but primarily our investigative operations.
25 Q To your understanding, would any notes taken during these bilateral

1 meetings be saved on that system?

2 A They could be.

3 Q And once a summary is saved in the system, to your understanding, is it

4 accessible, you know, a couple years later, few years later?

5 A You're asking does -- is document retention worked into SENTINEL?

6 Q Yes.

7 A Yes.

8 Q To your understanding, was the potential of a hack-and-leak or

9 hack-and-dump operation discussed during the bilateral FITF meetings in a leadup to the

10 2020 election?

11 A So I don't recall exactly what would have been discussed. You said

12 bilateral, right --

13 Q Yes.

14 A -- the one-on-ones?

15 I don't remember. What I can say -- and, again, as noted by counsel earlier,

16 there are limitations with respect to what can be discussed here -- right? -- because of the 17 setting that we're in.

18 But what I can say is, during that time frame, similar to what was

19 observed -- right? -- in the 2016 election -- and the best place for this might actually be

20 the ICAs from 2020 and 2016 or the GRU indictment where all of that is unclassified,

21 right? And those documents go to great lengths to describe the sort of conduct and 22 activity being conducted by multiple U.S. adversaries in this context, right?

23 So -- and some of that activity is cyber-espionage or hack-and-leak operations

24 where you have a foreign entity that gains access to a private network or system, exfills

25 that information and then weaponizes that information in one way or another, right?

1 So you're asking about, is -- am I aware of any instances where hack-and-leak was
2 discussed in these meetings. I'm not. What I can tell you is, as noted in the 2020 and 3 2016 ICA, those issues were going on. That was happening.
4 Q Did the U.S. agency industry meetings, the other standing meetings you
5 mentioned that are --
6 A The larger ones, sure.
7 Q -- do you recall in any meetings that you attended discussions regarding the 8 risk of a potential hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump operation?
9 A I don't.
10 Q During 2020 in your conversations with the unit chiefs, did you have any 11 conversations with any of the unit chiefs regarding their conversations with the social 12 media companies and whether either side was sharing information related to the 13 potential of a hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump operation?
14 A I don't specifically remember a conversation like that. Would I talk with my 15 unit chiefs about, you know, some of the work that they're doing and the engagements
16 that they have, sure. But I don't remember anything specific about conversations that 17 they may or may not have had with entities about a hack-and-leak or dump operation, 18 no.
19 Q To your understanding, you don't recall any specific conversations.
20 Generally, do you recall if that was an issue that came up in your conversations
21 with the unit chiefs?
22 A In my conversations with the unit chiefs, I don't recall, no. No.
23 Q What about in your conversations with Mr. Benavides?
24 A No. Not specifically.
25 Q You mentioned the ICAs, including some going back to 2016.

1 Prior to joining the FITF, were you broadly aware of the risks posed by potential
2 foreign interference?
3 A Prior to joining the FITF?
4 Q Yes.
5 A I may have been as aware as, you know, the normal person -- well, I would
6 say the normal FBI employee, right? But some of the work I was doing at the time
7 during the 2016 election -- you know, I was a public corruption supervisor, right? So
8 there was some overlap in some of that activity, right?
9 And I remember -- I can't say when, but I remember reading the GRU indictment
10 on my own back when I was in Detroit because I was interested in that sort of thing. But 11 I certainly was not reading the intelligence community assessment of the 2016 election
12 on my own back before I was -- you know, before my FITF days. I would have done that 13 in the context of my work at FITF.
14 Q We've talked a little bit about the information sharing that would occur, the 15 bilateral meetings. To your understanding, what were some of the differences between 16 what information could be shared in a bilateral FITF meeting as opposed to the broader 17 multi-agency, multi-company meetings?
18 [redacted] I think you might have mischaracterized the witness -- his previous 19 testimony regarding the information-sharing to the extent he was describing the passage 20 of tear lines versus what might have been said in these in-person meetings, which he 21 indicated he was not an active participant in, if you want to reframe your question.
22 [redacted] Sure.
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q To your understanding -- well, let me take one step back then.
25 During the bilateral meetings, during the meetings themselves, was there

1 information shared from the governments to the companies about selectors, about things
2 that other agencies conducted assessments and the FBI was the mouthpiece, was that
3 communicated via -- during the meetings or was that in other meetings?
4 A So if you're going to provide a list of selectors, or 5 indicators -- right? -- particularly if you're talking about dozens here -- you're going to 6 provide that in some sort of documented fashion -- but I don't remember specifically how
7 that is being talked about in those meetings, right? But that is -- that's my recollection
8 of what we are doing in that space -- a lot of what we're doing in that space.
9 But I didn't participate in those meetings. That's not what I was -- it certainly 10 wasn't a major part of why I was there.
11 Q To your understanding, was there a difference between what could be 12 shared in a bilateral FITF meeting as opposed what could be shared in a broader -- the 13 industry U.S. government meetings?
14 A So the only thing I remember as we sit here today is -- and it would make 15 sense, right? -- there may be sometimes that you want to have a discussion one-on-one 16 with an entity as opposed to, you know, some of the other players in that industry being 17 present, which are competitors, right?
18 So there were times, I recall, when we would be asked, hey, company X would like
19 to -- you know, doesn't necessarily want to be sitting down with companies Y and Z in a 20 certain context, right? I can't remember what companies they were, but I do remember 21 that happening.
22 But your question, did you say something about limitations in the information that 23 we would provide?
24 Q Not necessarily limitations. But if there was differences in what could or 25 could not be --

1 A Well, you always have the context of, is this an unclassified or a classified
2 setting. So I'll put that out there.
3 Q To your understanding, were both the FITF -- bilateral FITF meetings and the 4 U.S. government industry meetings unclassified meetings, unclassified settings?
5 A Unclassified settings?
6 Q Yes.
7 A I believe so. I think -- I mean, there were persons with -- and I don't know
8 who they are. I just know that there are individuals in companies like these that hold
9 clearances and they hold clearances for a reason, right? But these particular meetings,
10 to my understanding, that most of them were in the unclassified context, but there could 11 have been some that were in a classified context. I'm just not sure.
12 Q Regardless of how the information was communicated, if it's documented, if 13 there's -- if it takes place in a bilateral meeting or if it's discussed in a bilateral meetings,
14 who at the FBI decides what assessments to share from other government agencies?
15 A I'm going to need you to ask that question again.
16 Q Sure. If you just walk me through the process of -- to your understanding,
17 it's not the FBI that is conducting the assessments related to foreign actors who are 18 misrepresenting who they are and what they're doing online, right?
19 There's, at a high level, the process of assessments made by other government
20 agencies, referred to the FBI as the mouthpiece being communicated to social media
21 companies.
22 Does the FBI play any role in determining which assessments are communicated 23 to the social media companies?
24 A So as you noted in part earlier -- right? -- the FITF were in receipt of OGA 25 reporting, intelligence, investigative reporting with a certain degree -- a high degree of 1 confidence in the attribution -- right? -- to a foreign actor.

2 In instances like this where we are a mouthpiece, where we are conveying

3 selectors, indicators -- right? -- there is going to be an understanding between OGA and

4 the FBI in terms of what can be shared and what cannot be shared, right? There are,

5 obviously, more conversations, meetings, briefs, discussions within the interagency than 6 what gets spat out to a third party, right?

7 So at FITF we are not in the business of taking information from our partners, our

8 USIC partners, and passing that on to anyone else, for that matter, without coordination

9 with those partners. I'm trying to answer your question.

10 Q Would the -- anyone from the FITF conduct their own assessment of the 11 information that was being shared, or is the FBI's role to receive it, and there's 12 conversations about what can be shared?

13 A So in that context, I don't -- I don't exactly know. I'm not sure.

14 Q When going through the interagency process of what potentially could be

15 shared with folks outside the IC, did you, in your role at the FITF, participate in those 16 discussions, or is that something at a different level?

17 A You're talking -- you're still talking about the context of meetings with social

18 media and tech companies?

19 Q That's right. But the internal government deliberations before --

20 A I don't think I would have -- I don't think I was involved in that sort of thing.

21 That may have been a little bit more in the weeds.

22 Q Are you familiar with the October 14, 2020, New York Post story regarding 23 Hunter Biden's laptop?

24 A I'm familiar with the story.

25 Q When did you first become aware of the New York Post story?

1 A So I don't know exactly when. And to be -- you know, I don't know if I
2 would have become aware of that initially by discussions -- I mean, it's four years ago, for 3 one, right? There would have been discussions at work or me reading the article myself.
4 You know, in preparation for this interview, I've read the article, right?
5 But I don't know exactly when I would have been aware of it or how, right?
6 Q Were you aware prior to the story's publication whether the FBI was in
7 possession of a laptop or a hard drive attributed to Hunter Biden?
8 A I don't know when I became privy to that information, right? I can't recall
9 as I sit here today if it was prior to, afterwards, but -- I don't know.
10 And I want to be clear here in terms of -- because words matter, right? There is 11 a difference -- and I'm always going to try to clarify. There's a difference between 12 verification of providing authentication for or knowing about the existence of a thing.
13 That thing, you know, takes up space, has mass and density and it takes up space. I'm 14 aware of a thing, vice the contents of that thing, right?
15 In this -- in this context, the thing is a laptop, the contents would be what's on the 16 laptop, right? There's a distinction there. And I'm talking about -- and I'll continue to 17 clarify -- the existence of the physical thing.
18 Q So to clarify then, the answer for that, you don't recall when you first 19 became aware of the existence of the laptop?
20 A I don't.
21 Q Do you recall how you first became aware of the existence of the laptop?
22 A I don't recall how either. I think I said that earlier.
23 Q To your understanding, did others at the FITF know of the existence of the 24 laptop?
25 A Yes. I understood that there were folks that were aware of that. Yes.

1 Q To your understanding, who at the FITF was aware of the existence of the
2 laptop?
3 A I don't know when I would have, you know, known this. Again, it's -- if I
4 can't attach a time necessarily to when I became aware of it, then it would be difficult for 5 me to attach a time to when I knew somebody was aware of something that I wasn't 6 aware of, right?
7 So -- but it's my understanding that Laura Dehmlow was aware of that, [redacted]
8 [redacted]. Beyond that, I think I'd be speculating.
9 Q Do you know if Mr. Benavides was aware?
10 A So I'm not entirely sure. I'd be speculating.
11 Q How did you become aware that Ms. Dehmlow and [redacted] were aware of 12 the laptop's existence?
13 A So I don't know when, right? But -- it would have been conversations at 14 work, but I don't -- I don't know how. I mean, I'm not reading a document that either
15 one of them are, you know, drafting or something along those lines. That's not the way
16 it would work.
17 When I became aware of that, it would have been through conversations.
18 Q To your recollection, when you say conversations at work, this would have 19 been during your -- sometime during your tenure while you were at FITF?
20 A And with those individuals. Yes, during my time at FITF.
21 Q Do you recall whether there were separate conversations, one with Ms.
22 Dehmlow, one with [redacted], or was it at least the three of you?
23 A So I don't know what it was as I sit here today. I don't. I don't remember.
24 Q Do you recall what information they were able to share at the time?
25 A I don't. At some time I became aware of the existence of the laptop, right?

1 And it's my recollection that those two individuals knew about it and that I likely spoke
2 with them at some point about that. But I don't -- as I sit here today, I don't remember
3 specifics.
4 Q Did they share with you how they became aware of the laptop's existence?
5 A I don't know. I don't know -- or I don't remember, rather.
6 Q Do you recall how this conversation took place, if it was in person or in 7 writing or over the phone?
8 A To the best of my knowledge, I didn't engage in any sort of writing, emails,
9 IMs, or anything like that about anything along these lines. That's not my practice.
10 Was it a phone conversation? Was it in person? You know, I don't specifically
11 remember. I'm more inclined to have conversations like this with someone face to face.
12 Q In October of 2020, independent of this conversation or when it occurred
13 exactly, but in October of 2020, how often were you meeting in person with either
14 Ms. Dehmlow or [redacted]?
15 A So in October of 2020, we are, you know, on the doorstep of the election as 16 far as our, sort of, work was concerned. So I was consumed in that space at that time.
17 So my interaction with -- I know I was meeting with Laura a fair amount because 18 she was wearing multiple hats. And a lot of the logistics in terms of how we're going to 19 organize and carry out the -- the mission of the NECP, right? So I remember having 20 several discussions with Laura about that.
21 I would have likely had, you know, meetings with [redacted] about that as well because 22 it's -- FITF was responsible for the NECP. So I need personnel commitments, I need
23 rotations, I need -- we need to figure out our COVID protocols.
24 Again, my -- in October, my work is almost exclusive to the NECP, and I would 25 have been meeting with those guys about those things at a decent clip.

1 Q You mentioned the COVID protocols. During this time, are you going into 2 the office each day, most days of the week, or others in the FITF?
3 A I never stopped going into the office.
4 Q What about Ms. Dehmlow, [redacted]?
5 A I'm not exactly sure how often they were going in, nor am I sure how often
6 personnel in those units were going in. As you recall, it was a challenging time. I know
7 I was -- I could maybe count on one hand how many times I did not go to the office over
8 this 18 months.
9 Q Do you know if Mr. Chan knew about the existence of the laptop?
10 A I don't.
11 Q Do you know when you became first aware of a criminal investigation
12 related to Hunter Biden?
13 A Did you ask, do I know when I became or when he became aware?
14 Q When you first became aware.
15 A So a criminal investigation related to that particular -- so that would not be 16 something that FITF would be program managing, right? That would fall within the 17 investigative portfolio of another division, right?
18 But to answer your question, I don't recall exactly when that would have 19 happened. I had general awareness, but I don't know when that would have been.
20 Q Do you know if it would have been prior to mid-October of 2020?
21 A It may have been. But I can't -- but I don't -- but I don't remember
22 specific -- again, specifically when I, you know, had that understanding.
23 Q With the understanding you don't remember specifically on the when, do
24 you recall how you first became aware?
25 A I don't. Not as we sit here today.

1 Q Are you aware that Ms. Dehmlow testified before this committee?
2 A I am aware that Laura Dehmlow testified before the committee, yes.
3 Q She testified about meetings that occurred either on or shortly after the New
4 York Post story came out on October 14th of 2020.
5 At the time in mid-October 2020, were you aware that the FITF was having 6 meetings with social media companies and that questions regarding the laptop came up
7 during those meetings?
8 A I'm going to need you to ask that question again. I feel like you started
9 asking one question and shifted gears halfway through. Can you repeat the question?
10 Q Sure. I'll just take one step back.
11 To your understanding, in any of the FITF meetings after the New York Post story 12 comes out, did any social media companies ask questions about the laptop to members of 13 the FITF?
14 A It's my understanding that that happened. I wasn't -- to the best of my 15 knowledge, I wasn't in any of those meetings. Again, I was consumed with other things, 16 but I don't remember being in a meeting like that.
17 Q Do you recall being told about what was being discussed during those
18 meetings?
19 A So I recall being told that there were questions about the laptop, right? I
20 don't recall exactly when I was told that or by whom, but I knew that post -- the article, 21 that the questions had come up about that.
22 Q With the understanding you don't have a specific recollection of when, was 23 it around the date that the article came out? Was it weeks later? How -- when did you 24 first become aware?
25 A I can't tell you because I don't exactly know, right? It would be a relevant

1 conversation to have had closer in time to, you know, when it took place. But I don't
2 know if it was a day after, two days after, two weeks after. I can't tell you.
3 Q What was the purpose of the conversation? Was it to share information or 4 was there a question of what the FITF should do or how to handle` these questions?
5 A So I don't exactly know what you're asking, right? Are you asking me, was I
6 part of conversations to try to figure out what should -- what the FITF should say in 7 response to questions like that?
8 Q That wasn't quite the question. I'll ask that one as well.
9 But just why was the fact that this question had come up in the FITF meetings,
10 why was that being brought to your attention?
11 A Well, I'm the assistant section chief, and if a unit chief or unit chiefs are 12 engaged in a meeting and they think something is relevant, they're going to bring it up to 13 me. That's how that would work.
14 Q Were you involved in any discussions about how the FITF should respond to 15 questions from social media companies about the laptop?
16 A I may have been, but I can't remember specifics. I can't remember, but I
17 may have been involved in some of those discussions.
18 Q Okay. To your understanding, did the FITF reach a determination on how 19 those types of questions about the laptop should be answered?
20 A So -- yes. And my understanding is that the conclusion that was reached
21 is -- is one that's consistent with DOJ policy, FBI policy, and that we're not going to 22 discuss -- confirm or deny or discuss specifics related to an investigation.
23 Q And do you know who made that decision?
24 A I don't. I know I didn't make that decision, but I don't.
25 Q Do you know if it was made by someone above you, or was it made by

1 someone else in the FITF?

2 A I don't know that it was -- exactly who made that determination. My

3 experience in the FBI tells me that that decision would not have been made by someone

4 beneath me.

5 Q To your understanding, would Mr. Benavides have made that

6 determination?

7 A He may have, but I don't -- but I don't know. I don't know who made that

8 decision.

9 Q Do you know if Mr. Benavides participated in any discussions about how to 10 respond to questions from social media companies about the laptop?

11 A Again, he may have. But, you know, I'm going to defer to Brad on that.

12 Q Do you know if Ms. Floris participated in any discussions about how the FBI

13 should respond to questions about the laptop?

14 A I would answer that in the same way that I did with Mr. Benavides. She 15 may have, but I would defer to what Nikki Floris says in response to that question.

16 Q Do you have any memory of either Mr. Benavides or Ms. Floris participating

17 in any conversations about how the FBI should respond to questions about the laptop?

18 A Not specifically, no.

19 Q To your understanding, how long was the gap between when the first 20 question was raised about the laptop from the social media company to when the 21 determination was made to how the FBI should respond to questions like that?

22 A I don't know.

23 Q To your understanding, were there discussions the same day that questions

24 first began arising from the social media companies?

25 A Like I said, I don't remember when I became aware of the questions. I

1 don't remember if it was that day, thereafter or how long. I don't know. So I'd answer
2 the question the same way. I just don't recall.
3 Q By the time you were made aware of the questions social media companies
4 were asking the FITF, had that determination on how to respond, had that determination
5 been made already?
6 A I'm going to have to answer it the same way. I don't -- I don't remember.
7 I don't remember. I likely would have been aware of the questions before the decision
8 with respect to how to answer the question down the road. But as we sit here today, I
9 don't remember sequencing like that, specifically anyway.
10 Q Do you recall whether the conversation or however you were first made 11 aware that social media companies were asking about the laptop, was that also the first 12 time that you were made aware of the existence of the laptop?
13 A I don't.
14 Q Did you have any conversations with Mr. Brown regarding the existence of 15 the laptop?
16 A No. I can say that because my -- I had very limited number of 17 conversations with EAD Brown. They would stick out in my mind.
18 Q To your understanding, did Mr. Benavides or Ms. Floris have any 19 conversations with Mr. Brown about the existence of the laptop?
20 A I don't know. And I would defer to both of them on -- on that question.
21 But I have no knowledge of that.
22 Q After you were first made aware of questions from social media companies
23 about the laptop, do you recall anyone else that you had conversations with at the FBI
24 about the -- either questions from the social media companies or how the FBI should 25 respond to those questions?

1 A I feel like I've answered that question in a bunch of different ways already.
2 But, no, I don't remember specific conversations or, you know, who those conversations
3 were necessarily with other than likely a conversation with [redacted] and/or Laura. But I -- I
4 can't answer that question any -- any differently.
5 Q Just for clarity on the record, of that -- when you first become aware -- with 6 the understanding you don't have specifics of when or exactly how.
7 A First become aware of what?
8 Q That the social media companies are asking questions about the laptop.
9 It was somebody from the FITF who was bringing it to your attention. And so the 10 previous question was getting at, once you become aware, do you recall doing this or 11 considering taking that information and then sharing it with someone else in the FBI?
12 A No.
13 Q Do you recall whether there was any disagreement within the FBI about the 14 best way to respond to questions from social media companies about the laptop?
15 A I don't.
16 Q Once the FBI has made the determination that, you know, responses to 17 questions from the social media companies should be consistent with DOJ protocol
18 regarding investigations, are you aware of anyone in the FBI who did not follow that 19 determination?
20 A I'm sorry. Could you just ask that again?
21 Q Sure. Let me just for the -- clarity on the record.
22 Can you state again what the determination was from the FBI about how to 23 respond to future questions from social media companies about the laptop?
24 A So it's my understanding that where the FITF landed on that issue is one
25 that's consistent with DOJ and FBI policy, neither confirming, nor denying the existence of

1 an investigation, certainly not speaking to any specifics with respect to an investigation,
2 should there be one.
3 Q Once the FITF has made this determination, are you aware of whether 4 anyone in the FBI did confirm or deny or share any specifics regarding the laptop or any 5 associated investigations?
6 [redacted] For the record, I don't think the witness testified that the FITF
7 specifically made the determination. He did not recall who specifically made that 8 decision consistent with FBI and DOJ policy.
9 [redacted] I'll rephrase the question.
10 BY [redacted]:
11 Q Once the determination is made to not share specific information, confirm 12 or deny any associated investigations, to your understanding, did anyone from the FBI
13 share information related to the laptop or the ongoing investigation?
14 A No. That's not my understanding.
15 Q What about prior to that determination being made, to your understanding,
16 had anyone from the FBI shared with the social media companies either confirming or 17 denying the existence of an investigation or the laptop?
18 A Prior to a determination as to what would be said in response to a question
19 like that?
20 Q Yes.
21 A So I recall that the situation involved someone speaking to the issue
22 marginally and then the FBI maintaining or, essentially, stating no comment after that. I 23 think that was part of what had, you know, come to me at some point about the 24 situation -- right? -- the meeting. Because, again, I don't think I was there. I wasn't 25 there.

1 Q For the first part of your last response about someone who -- from the FBI
2 was speaking to the issue marginally, to your understanding, what was said?
3 A I wasn't there. But it's my understanding -- and, again, I clarified earlier, I
4 think it's important to note, right, the difference between answering a question or 5 confirming one's understanding or knowledge of the existence of a thing compared to, in 6 this contents -- in this context, rather, the contents of that thing or the laptop.
7 And it's my understanding that someone spoke to the former -- right? -- the -- the 8 existence of the thing and not the latter.
9 Q When you were first made aware that social media companies were asking 10 about the laptop, was this also the same conversation where you were made aware that 11 someone had spoken regarding the existence of the laptop?
12 A It may have been, but I don't -- I don't know for sure.
13 Q Do you know who had made some sort of statement regarding the existence
14 of the laptop?
15 A A non-SES employee. That's the only way I'm going to answer the
16 question.
17 Q Sitting here today, do you recall who specifically?
18 A I recall the non-SES employee as it was described to me.
19 Q Do you recall that person's name?
20 A I recall who that non-SES employee is when it was brought to me, yes.
21 Q Do you recall that person's title?
22 A I do.
23 Q What was their title?
24 A So would have been within the -- the analytic cadre of the FBI's job roles or 25 responsibilities.

1 Q Do you recall with any more specificity what their title was?

2 A I mean, we're talking about an analyst, non-agent. That's what I recall.

3 Q Was this someone who was a part of the FITF at the time?

4 A Yes. I mean, these were FITF meetings.

5 Q Were there ever FITF meetings where non-FITF personnel would attend?

6 A There were meetings where there were other members of the -- other

7 federal agencies were represented, right? But I think for the most part, the FBI

8 personnel that would have been in attendance would have -- would be associated with 9 the FITF. But there may be instances where they weren't.

10 Q Going back a few answers now, you recall that someone spoke to the issue,

11 marginally an analyst, regarding the existence of the laptop, and then you mentioned the 12 FBI maintaining no comment.

13 To your understanding, were both those comments made in the same meeting?

14 A That's my understanding, yes.

15 Q Do you recall who from the FBI -- or let me take one step back.

16 Do you recall who made the comment regarding maintaining no comment?

17 A A second non-SES employee.

18 Q Without revealing their name, do you know who the non-SES employee is?

19 A I do recall who that particular non-SES employee is, yes.

20 Q Do you recall their title?

21 A Can we confer?

22 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

23 [Discussion off the record.]

24 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please.

25 [redacted] Can you just ask that last question one more time?

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q We were talking about a non-SES employee commented about maintaining

3 no comment, and you recall who the individual is.

4 What was the title of that non-SES individual?

5 A That non-SES employee was a lawyer, an FBI lawyer.

6 Q Do you recall his or her title with any more specificity?

7 A No, actually. No.

8 Q Did you have conversations with either of the non-SES employees who spoke

9 during that meeting? Did you have conversations with either of those non-SES

10 employees either on or soon after the date of the meeting that took place?

11 [redacted] Can I confer with him for a second?

12 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

13 [Discussion off the record.]

14 [redacted] We can go back on.

15 I would just flag that [redacted]'s conversations with FBI attorneys implicate

16 several legal privileges and other sensitivities. So if you can ask your question again

17 cognizant of that boundary.

18 BY [redacted]:

19 Q Do you recall having any conversations with either of the two non-SES

20 employees?

21 A So I don't recall ever having a conversation with the analyst. Without, you

22 know, conveying the specificity of the conversations or when they took place, but I do

23 recall having or being a part of a conversation with a lawyer.

24 Q And were your conversations with the lawyer following the meeting where 25 the remarks were made by the two non-SES employees?

1 A I'm sorry?

2 Q Regarding the conversation you recall with the FBI lawyer, the second

3 non-SES employee, was that after this meeting between the FITF and the social media

4 company had taken place?

5 A So this is a -- an FBI lawyer, an employee that I would have had other

6 completely non-related conversations with.

7 Q Did you have conversations related to the meeting between the FITF and the 8 social media company where the question was raised about the laptop?

9 A I think I said I did have -- I recall a subsequent conversation with the FBI

10 attorney about that meeting and that question, right?

11 I'm just saying, you know -- I believe you asked, did I have meetings -- did I have

12 conversations with that lawyer before the October 14th meeting with the social media

13 company, and I'm saying, yes, because I would have had meetings about a number of 14 different things, the work that we were engaged in, with that particular employee.

15 Q For the conversation with the lawyer after the meeting with the social media

16 company has taken place, who else was -- who else participated in that conversation?

17 A I'd answer that in the same way that I answered previous questions about

18 that -- I don't recall, you know, exactly who would have been there, when they took

19 place, so I don't recall.

1 [12:11 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q Do you recall which social media company was the one that asked the

4 question about the laptop that prompted the responses from the two non-SES

5 employees?

6 A So, as I sit here today, I know because I prepared for the interview, right?

7 At the time, did I know? I don't know if I did.

8 Q And, sitting here today, what is your understanding?

9 A As we sit here today, I understand that that was a Twitter meeting with the 10 FITF personnel. I don't know if I knew that at the time, though.

11 Q Okay. To your understanding at the time, did other social media

12 companies besides Twitter -- let me rephrase that.

13 To your understanding at the time, in October of 2020, were you aware of any 14 other social media companies that asked questions to the FITF about the laptop?

15 A What I recall is that there was an initial meeting with a company, right?

16 The question came up. There were conversations about how to answer that question

17 down the line. A decision was made, and then that response was provided to questions

18 that subsequently came up from other companies or otherwise to that particular

19 question.

20 So I know that no comment was provided in response to questions, but specific 21 companies or when or what meetings, I don't know that.

22 Q And were you aware of this at the time?

23 To maybe rephrase that a little bit different, there's the meeting that you now

24 understand to be Twitter. Maybe you didn't have that understanding at the time.

25 There were discussions, and there was a determination made in subsequent meetings.

1 When the question is raised again, the comment given is "no comment."

2 When did you become aware if there were any subsequent meetings after the

3 determination had been made?

4 A I don't know exactly when I would have been aware of any subsequent

5 meetings.

6 Q Was it around the time of fall 2020, or was it only later when, like, preparing

7 for this interview?

8 A That I became aware that additional questions were asked by more

9 companies on that?

10 Q Yes.

11 A I mean, that's something I would have been aware of at the time. I don't

12 know exactly when.

13 Q Did anyone in the FBI communicate to you whether they thought it was 14 appropriate -- the response -- the first non-SES employee gave in the meeting with 15 Twitter?

16 A Could you ask that question again?

17 Q Sure. Has anyone from the FBI indicated to you whether they thought the 18 response given by the first non-SES employee in the Twitter-FITF meeting was 19 appropriate?

20 A I don't remember a conversation like that.

21 Q Based on your understanding at the time, was that response from the first

22 non-SES employee in the Twitter-FITF meeting appropriate?

23 A A response of "no comment" is consistent with DOJ and FBI policy in that

24 context.

25 Q To your understanding, whether at the time or since becoming aware in

1 preparing for the interview, which other social media companies asked the FITF about the
2 laptop?
3 A So I don't know. I know that the question came up again. I don't know
4 which other companies did.
5 Q To your understanding, the -- well, first, just to clarify on the record, the 6 meeting with Twitter was a bilateral FITF meeting, not one of the broader meetings we 7 discussed earlier in the interview?
8 A My understanding is that was a one-on-one FITF-Twitter meeting, is my
9 understanding.
10 Q To your understanding, did any questions about the laptop come up in any 11 of the broader meetings that had multiple companies present?
12 A I don't remember anything like that. No, it's not my understanding.
13 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?
14 [Recess.]
15 [redacted] Back on the record. It is 12:28 in the afternoon.
16 BY [redacted]:
17 Q I want to return to a conversation in the very first hour about the National 18 Election Command Post, and I know you talked a fair amount about how it operated, but I
19 don't think we ever actually got an answer to the question of why it was actually stood up 20 in the first place. Can you talk about that?
21 A Well, multiple administrations -- right -- both administrations during --
22 Q And I'm sorry. When you say "both administrations," which ones?
23 A So, both the Trump administration and the Biden
24 administration -- right -- recognized that our adversaries were operating in this space,
25 right? And the malign foreign influence activities were deemed a national security risk

1 to our elections, democratic institutions, the public's confidence in both of those.
2 So that is -- national security is, obviously, within the wheelhouse of the FBI,
3 so -- and we have a primary responsibility for that and for any violations here
4 domestically.
5 So there is an expectation within the agency that -- and outside, for that 6 matter -- that we are going to prepare and stand up a national component, which is the 7 NECP, but we also had individual command posts set up in all 56 field offices.
8 So, just in the Washington, D.C., area alone, you have the NECP -- the Washington
9 Field Office has its own command post as well along with the other 55 field
10 offices -- right -- to deal with these issues as they come up, as you approach the election,
11 and the election itself.
12 Now, I will say, on election day, the vast majority of the issues that come up that 13 the FBI deals with fall into the criminal lane, right? And I mentioned earlier that PIN had 14 representation.
15 Q And PIN being?
16 A Public Integrity Section -- right -- out of Main Justice had representation
17 there, and that is because, in this space, when you are dealing with Federal elections, if 18 the FBI is going to take any sort of investigative step or a certain posture, both 19 geographically and in this area, you must have PIN consults, right?
20 So, as information would come in -- and it could be anything -- and these are 21 hypotheticals -- from, you know, a mailbox that someone thought had ballots in it caught
22 on fire in Des Moines, or we saw somebody running off with a bunch of ballots in 23 Vegas -- and I'm just sort of making this up -- or, you know, people in Minneapolis are 24 being precluded from voting.
25 Stuff like that comes in -- right -- from the public, from local and State partners,

1 and it all gets funneled at one point or another to the NECP, and we have processes set
2 up to appropriately deal with that sort of information on election day.
3 Q And I want to go through a couple of the points that you just made in a little
4 more detail, but before I get there, do you know who actually made the final decision that
5 the NECP should be stood up?
6 Let me ask it this way: Would it have been at the director level?
7 A So I know -- I recall being in a meeting at one point when the Deputy 8 Director decided that it would be FITF that would run the NECP, and then I recall being 9 told not too long after that meeting that, [redacted], you were going to be in charge of doing
10 it.
11 Q So the Deputy Director conveyed that FITF would be running the NECP --
12 A I know that that's a different question than what you asked.
13 Q Right. Right.
14 A I don't know who made the decision.
15 Q Okay.
16 A I just knew there was always going to be one.
17 Q Okay. But it was a concern of the Trump administration -- election
18 interference was a concern of the Trump administration. Is that fair to say?
19 A I think that's outlined clearly in -- I forget the number -- but in an 20 EO -- right -- that identifies and reaffirms on an annual basis that we have a national 21 security issue or threat in this space.
22 Q Yeah. We're going to introduce that EO just to make a complete record.
23 [redacted] This will be exhibit 1, I believe.
24 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1
25 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q And this is -- for the record, this is Executive Order 13848. It was signed by
3 President Donald J. Trump on September 12th, 2018.

4 Is this the executive order to which you were referring?

5 A I believe it is.

6 Q Okay. And so, when you're referring to the executive -- to this being a
7 priority of the Trump administration, your point was that this executive order makes it
8 clear that foreign election interference was something of concern dating as far back to 9 2018 and it, in fact, led to -- was one of the things that led to the NECP being stood up in
10 2020, correct?

11 A Yes. So this executive order and the reaffirming of the national security
12 concern subsequently by both the Trump administration and the Biden administration
13 that this was an issue, yes, certainly serves as the basis for all of our work with the NECP
14 and in all the field offices as well.

15 Q You've used the term a number of times today "malign foreign influence."
16 What does that term mean?

17 A So foreignness being the key, right? So a foreign adversary whose 18 activities -- and, oftentimes, we would think of it in terms of, you know, subversive,
19 undeclared, coercive, or criminal activities, right?

20 So it's a foreign adversary acting in a malign manner, undeclared, in an attempt 21 to -- it could be -- do a number of different things in this space, right? Influence an 22 election, interfere with an election, influence a candidate, interfere with a candidate's 23 candidacy. It could be to influence certain policy, legislation, but it's in all of those 24 contexts. It's not just limited to election day.

25 Q Are you familiar with the term "covert" versus "overt" action?

1 A Absolutely.

2 Q What is your understanding of what covert action is?

3 A So I think a good example of that is -- I believe it was Russia Today, right?
4 The media outlet formally connected to and engaged with the Russian Government,
5 right? It is one thing for an outlet like that or, frankly, the diplomatic mission to make 6 statements and push its position overtly, right? We know where it's coming from. It's 7 attributed.

8 It's a different thing entirely to pretend to be something other than that or 9 someone other than that with the intention of stoking societal tensions, creating -- you 10 know, wanting folks to have no confidence in our institutions and in our elections, those 11 sorts of things. That's what we were seeing. That's a covert conduct.

12 Q And, when we're talking about FITF and the NECP in particular, were they 13 concerned or are they concerned, I guess, today with covert action, covert malign foreign 14 influence, or overt foreign action?

15 A So I would -- I think I know what you mean, but I would divide sort of, like,
16 the NECP vice FITF.

17 Q Understood.

18 A FITF -- the NECP is a thing that, you know, exists at a certain time and place
19 for a certain event, right? FITF is certainly involved in that time or space for that event, 20 but it's working the other 364 days of the year as well.

21 And it is a covert, noncontent-based exercise, right? We are not interested
22 in -- we were not interested in and we would not be engaging in any investigative activity
23 related to a foreign entity's overt statements about anything relevant to this space. It's 24 that covert conduct: coercive, criminal, undeclared.

25 Q Okay. And, just returning briefly to the work of the NECP, earlier this hour,

1 you mentioned that the day of the election, it's primarily the Criminal Division that would
2 be -- I don't want to say involved, but issues that would arise would primarily be under
3 the jurisdiction of the Criminal Division. Can you explain a little bit what you mean?
4 A Sure. So FITF, per Deputy Director Bowdich at the time when I was 5 there -- right -- was put in charge of managing and running the NECP. It makes sense on 6 a certain level because the FITF is comprised of these other entities or divisions within the 7 FBI as well, and we've been working with one another and coordinating with one another
8 prior to the election.
9 The FITF's space here -- from an intelligence and investigative operational one -- is,
10 you know, malign foreign influence operations. And we see that sort of thing happening
11 all year round, right? Certainly leading up to a Federal election, but on election day,
12 when you are talking the sheer numbers and the information that's coming in from our 56
13 field offices, the work sort of flip-flops in terms of that is -- that's the Super Bowl day for 14 folks within the Criminal Investigative Division that are responsible for civil rights
15 violations pertaining to, you know, folks exercising their constitutional right to cast a 16 ballot -- right -- which is what a lot of this is wrapped around.
17 Additionally, the Cyber Division has equities because there are reports of a
18 possible intrusion here or there and that sort of thing, right? It --
19 Q Sorry. And when you say "intrusion," that means a hack of a voting system
20 or something?
21 A Well -- but I want to be careful there because, as was noted in the 2020 ICA,
22 I'm not talking about, you know, reports about changing votes and that sort of thing.
23 Not that -- right -- but the possibility that, you know, a database that contained the 24 names of polling workers. Indications of compromise, is what the cyber folks might say.
25 Information like that, you know, coming in.

1 Q Okay. Understood.

2 In February 2020, you participated in an election security conference on Capitol

3 Hill. Do you recall that?

4 A I do.

5 Q Do you recall how you came to participate in that conference?

6 A You mean how I was selected to do it?

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A I don't know that everyone jumped to the front of the line to necessarily

9 provide that particular presentation. There was a request made that came to the FITF

10 by the organization. I can't remember the organization.

11 Everyone is very busy. I don't have a problem with public speaking. I said, you

12 know, "Sure, I'll do it." I sort of took -- I took that one for the team.

13 Q Do you recall who else participated as a speaker at that conference?

14 A Who else was there?

15 Q Yeah. Who -- you know, were you the only speaker? Were there other 16 speakers?

17 A No, I was not the only speaker. In fact, I believe the keynote was -- and I'm 18 forgetting his name again -- the first DHS Secretary and former Governor, Tom Ridge.

19 [redacted] I want to introduce as exhibit 2, an AP News article, dated February

20 24th, 2020, and this has -- it recounts the conference and has some quotes from you that

21 I want to talk through.

22 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2

23 was marked for identification.]

24 BY [redacted]:

25 Q While you're reading, the title of the article, for the record, is "FBI official:

1 Russia wants to see U.S. 'tear ourselves apart.'" It's by Eric Tucker. The date is
2 February 24th, 2020.
3 A Uh-huh.
4 Q And let me know when you have had a chance to review.
5 Are you ready to move on?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Okay. So, according to this article, during that conference, you made the 8 statement that Russia wants to watch Americans, quote, "tear ourselves apart." Do you 9 see where it says that?
10 A I do.
11 Q Do you recall saying that during the conference?
12 A I do.
13 Q And do you recall what you meant when you said that?
14 A I do. So there's obviously a lot of information that I would have been 15 exposed to at this time and place that, you know, we can't talk about in a setting like this.
16 Q Meaning in an unclassified setting?
17 A That's correct. But I will say that the best place -- and I mentioned this 18 earlier in the interview. The best place to go for the basis for statements like 19 these -- and these are my characterizations, right? I put it into my own words.
20 You know, you got the ICA of 2020 and 2016, the GRU indictment, and particularly 21 those ICAs talk very clearly about certain foreign actors in this space engaging in a
22 widespread, multifaceted campaign -- right -- to -- and Russia being one of those 23 countries -- to pit us against one another, to degrade our confidence in U.S. elections and 24 democratic processes and institutions.
25 It is very clear from the judgments made in those ICAs that that is what was

1 happening at the time. And this is me, in my own way, sort of using -- in my own words
2 restating that, which, you know, other public officials were saying at the time and
3 certainly later.
4 Q Okay. About halfway down the page, the fourth paragraph down, it says,
5 "[redacted] did not address the briefing or whether Russia had a preference for particular
6 candidates. But he said Russia was generally engaged in, quote, 'information
7 confrontation,' end quote, aimed at blurring fact from fiction, eroding American 8 confidence in democratic institutions and driving wedges into society's fracture lines."
9 Do you see where it says that?
10 A I do.
11 Q Do you recall what you meant by, quote, "information confrontation"?
12 A So what I recall is that it's connected to the second clause, you know, what 13 follows: "Aimed at blurring fact from fiction, eroding American confidence," right?
14 My recollection of what we were seeing at the time is that Russia -- and it wasn't 15 just Russia in this space, right? Iran had a fairly sophisticated effort to do this as well.
16 Not necessarily as concerned with getting Americans to believe one thing or the other as 17 opposed to getting Americans to have little or no faith in all of it.
18 Q And then the following sentence -- and this is a quote from you
19 again -- quote, "The primary objective is not to create a particular version of the truth but 20 rather to cloud the truth and erode our ability to find it, creating a sentiment that no 21 narrative or news source can be trusted at all," end quote.
22 A I see that.
23 Q Do you see where it says that?
24 A Yes.
25 Q Can you explain what you meant by that sentence?

1 A I would answer it, you know, in the same way. The Russian Government
2 and other governments that acted in this space -- they are, you know, equally thrilled
3 with Americans having no trust in the election, no trust in political leaders, the 4 democratic system itself.
5 You know, for some countries that seek to replace us on the world stage -- and 6 China was engaged in this sort of activity as well to a lesser degree -- you know, they're
7 seeking to become the world power. So, to the extent that they can push or propagate
8 a narrative that, in simple terms, makes us look bad and turn on one another, they're 9 happy with that sort of thing.
10 Q So, when we're talking about the work of the FITF, is it fair to say that the 11 FITF's mission, in effect, was to counteract these efforts by Russia and by others to make 12 Americans turn on each other, to make Americans -- to undermine Americans' trust in the 13 democratic processes?
14 A Yes, in a way, right? So, again, it is a foreign-based endeavor, malign
15 foreign activity.
16 When we are leading up to an election, all the focus is on an election, but this sort
17 of thing happens and was happening all the time -- right -- policy, legislation -- and not 18 just at the Federal level. I mean, these sophisticated nation-states like this engage in 19 this activity at the local and State level as well.
20 Q Can you explain what you mean by that?
21 A So can we -- I need a second.
22 [redacted] Yeah, of course.
23 We can go off the record.
24 [Discussion off the record.]
25 [redacted] Back on the record, please.

1 [redacted] So I just want to be careful in terms of what I may be able to speak
2 to in an unclassified setting and what I can't. You know, at times, there can be a lot
3 bouncing around in my head, right?
4 So it is not a secret that particularly a country like China is engaged in a
5 decades-long practice of attempting to influence this country and its leaders at the local,
6 State, and Federal level in an effort to overtake the United States on the world stage.
7 That's my way of saying they play this -- they play chess when a lot of other
8 countries are playing checkers in this sort of space.
9 Q Thank you.
10 In the -- I think it was the first hour today, you were describing the work of the 11 FITF and different tools that FITF could use, and you mentioned -- and I think this is 12 actually applicable to the FBI writ large, right -- that there's different methods FBI might 13 use to combat threats such as that posed by China, right? Do you recall that 14 conversation?
15 A I do.
16 Q Okay. And you referred to communications or conversations with social 17 media companies as a nondirect way of addressing threats. Do you recall saying that?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Okay. Can you explain what you meant by that being a nondirect way of 20 addressing threats?
21 A Sure. So, outside of this context -- right -- we -- the FBI, FBI agents -- we 22 often talk about, you know, tools in the toolkit to do a certain thing, whatever that thing
23 may be. You know, the FBI has got responsibility for practically the entire Federal Code.
24 So, across all violations, right, we have various different tools to mitigate the threat.
25 Sometimes a tool can be to -- you can take someone offline by building a case,

1 arresting them, and, you know, testifying at trial, and they get locked up, and they go to
2 jail, you know. But, other times, that may not be available to you, so you use legal and 3 appropriate means to mitigate that threat, get that threat -- well, mitigate the threat, but 4 it doesn't result in anyone going to jail, right?
5 So, when I think about the FBI and FITF's engagement with social media and tech
6 companies in the space of malign foreign influence, you know, no one is going to jail. So
7 it's a bit of an atypical approach to the way that the FBI might deal with a particular 8 threat.
9 But, if we can rid ourselves of malign foreign actors in a certain space through a
10 process like this, then we're going to avail ourselves of that, right? It is not -- we are not 11 making the decisions about that sort of thing. You know, we go to great lengths not to 12 pressure, coerce, ask for investigative updates, and things like that from companies when 13 we have these sorts of conversations with them -- very directed conversations -- but it is a 14 means through which we do our job.
15 Now, I will tell you that, you know, in thinking about this, the FBI's engagement 16 with social media or the private sector more generally in this space is -- one, it's not new 17 in this space, but it is not dissimilar to what the FBI does in a host of other 18 places -- right -- across -- you know, I spent a good deal of time in the Detroit Division.
19 You know, the Big Three, they are targets of all sorts of activities.
20 Q The Big Three being the automakers?
21 A The Big Three being automakers based in their Headquarters there in 22 southeast Michigan. They are targets of criminal organizations, transnational criminal
23 organizations, nation-states, and the Detroit Division probably has more engagement
24 with the automotive industry than any other field office in the United States, a lot of that 25 due to geography, right?

1 We engage in this space in the financial sector. Another --

2 Q Sorry to jump in.

3 A Sure.

4 Q When you say "we engage," just to play this out --

5 A Engagement -- working professional relationships with the private sector.

6 Sometimes that's sharing of information.

7 A good example of that could be -- I was just going to say where you see this a lot

8 in the private sector is critical infrastructure. I believe the Director said fairly

9 recently -- it may have been on one of his national interviews -- that something north of 10 75 percent of the Nation's critical infrastructure rests in the hands of the private sector.

11 We're talking about electricity, gas, water, right?

12 We're responsible for protecting those systems, right? And, if more than 75

13 percent of them are being run and administered by the private sector, then you better

14 believe we're going to be engaging with the private sector in this space, right?

15 You know, oftentimes, what you will see is the FBI may, through intelligence or

16 investigation or another member of the USIC may determine that a particular critical

17 infrastructure company organization is being targeted online -- right -- by a criminal

18 enterprise, foreign actor, what have you -- and in that space -- again, I'm not a cyber

19 agent -- but we coordinate with that industry or that business to make them aware if they

20 are not already and engage with other members of the U.S. Government to mitigate that

21 threat so you don't lose power on the Eastern Seaboard, right?

22 Q And I just want to play out how that might work in practice.

23 So, if, for example, the FBI becomes aware that there is a threat of a hack affecting

24 a power company, the FBI would then make the power company aware of that threat so

25 that that company could take steps to protect itself. Is that fair?

1 A That's fair. I'm not a cyber agent. I'm not engaged in those sorts of 2 conversations, but they -- unfortunately, we do -- we have these sorts of conversations
3 and meetings with companies across all industry routinely, and it's the field that's 4 engaging those conversations.
5 Q So it happens all the time across all different sectors. It's nothing specific 6 to social media companies?
7 A Not only does it happen, but it's the responsible thing to do, and I think the 8 American people would expect for us to be engaging in the space like that.
9 Q Now, turning to the social media companies specifically -- and you've said
10 this a number of times, but I just want to drill down a little bit more -- you share the 11 information with social media companies, but once the information is shared, it's out of 12 your hands? And by "you," I mean the FBI, not you personally. It's out of your hands
13 once the FBI shares the information?
14 A That's correct. I can't remember specifics, but I recall there was an 15 instance where I spoke of selectors and indicators before, right? And, oftentimes, 16 they're provided it, you know, maybe in a tear line, and there could be five, 50, 500, what 17 have you.
18 I remember there was an instance where -- and I don't remember the company.
19 I don't remember who had the meeting. I know I didn't have it. But it was described
20 to me that a host of indicators were provided. And time went on. We worked on a 21 number of different things that we were working on. And then we find out along with,
22 you know, the rest of the world in a post by the provider that they've taken down X
23 number of accounts associated with this particular, you know, foreign actor in, you know,
24 an unattributed space.
25 So we find out with everyone else, right? We are not asking for updates. We

1 are not asking for them to do anything beyond consider this information and see if it
2 potentially is in violation of your terms of service.
3 Q So, ultimately, it's up to the social media companies to assess whatever
4 information is provided and determine whether the account -- whatever the identified
5 information is -- violates their policies, correct?
6 A Absolutely. They know their platforms better than anyone else.
7 Q Okay. You said in the earlier hour that you're familiar with Special Agent
8 Elvis Chan, correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q And I guess he's not a special agent anymore. He's now --
11 A He's now an ASAC, but regardless -- if you're an agent and you're in 12 management, you always want to be referred to as a special agent.
13 Q Noted. Are you aware that Agent Chan was deposed in the Missouri v.
14 Biden lawsuit?
15 A I'm generally aware of that, yes.
16 Q Okay. I'm going to read a couple statements that he made and ask if you
17 agree with them based on your experience.
18 In his deposition, Agent Chan was asked if the FBI shared specific tactical-level
19 information with social media companies, and he responded that, quote, "The FBI shares 20 information with the social media companies, no strings attached, so that the social 21 media companies can protect their platforms as they deem appropriate."
22 Do you agree with Agent Chan's statement that the tactical information sharing
23 that the FBI does with social media companies is done with no strings attached?
24 A That's my understanding of how that works, yes.
25 Q Okay. And what is your understanding of what "no strings attached"

1 means?

2 A No demands. No pressure. We're not coercing them. That -- with the 3 full recognition that this is your company. This is your platform. You're going to do

4 what you're going to do.

5 Q Okay. And do you agree with Agent Chan's statement that that

6 information is shared for the purposes of allowing the social media companies to, quote,

7 "protect their platforms as they deem appropriate"?

8 A Consistent with their terms of service, yes.

9 Q Okay. Agent Chan further explained in his testimony that, when the FBI

10 provides this tactical information to social media companies, the companies then take the 11 information and, quote, "validate it through their own means, and then, if they determine

12 that these accounts are being operated by Russian state-sponsored actors -- then they 13 have them taken down," end quote.

14 Do you agree with Agent Chan's statement about social media companies

15 validating the tactical information provided by the FBI through their own means?

16 A So I do not have the level of expertise in this space -- you know, in the cyber

17 world, online activity -- as Elvis Chan does. But, yes, that is my understanding.

18 And it's not just Russia, right?

19 Q Understood.

20 A If I remember correctly, there was a considerable amount of -- considerable

21 number of Iranian accounts that were taken down around that time as well based on that

22 same process.

23 But, yes, it is -- we are providing selectors and indicators. The companies take

24 that information. They do what they do because they know their platforms and make a 25 determination themselves as to what they want to do.

1 Q Okay. And I think, in the earlier hour, you were asked does the -- when the
2 FBI receives information from government partners stating that certain threat indicators
3 are, in fact, tied to foreign actors, does the FBI do any assessment?
4 My point is that, in fact, it's up to the social media companies ultimately to make
5 that assessment, correct?
6 A The assessment in terms of whether something is going to come down --
7 Q Right.
8 A -- or if they're going to do something about it?
9 Q Right.
10 A Absolutely. We wouldn't be making an assessment like that in any context.
11 But my understanding of the process is that, when we receive that OGA
12 information, it is with a high-confidence level from OGA that these selectors and 13 associate selectors are connected with a foreign -- malign foreign actor.
14 Q What does "high-confidence level" mean?
15 A High confidence. I'm not an analyst. I don't -- I can't attach a particular 16 percentage to it. I just know that means something within the intelligence community.
17 Q And you're aware that there's medium confidence, low confidence, and high 18 confidence, correct?
19 A Absolutely.
20 Q And high confidence is the highest level of confidence, by its name?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Okay. I want to turn to another subject.
23 You were asked a number of questions in the prior hour about a statement the FBI
24 made about the Hunter Biden laptop being real or the statement -- and then the FBI
25 ultimately determining that it would provide no comment. Do you remember that

1 conversation in the earlier hour?

2 A The questions pertaining to one non-SES employee saying something to that

3 effect and then another? Yes, I remember that.

4 [redacted] I want to introduce as exhibit 3 a FOX News article dated October

5 14th, 2020.

6 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3

7 was marked for identification.]

8 BY [redacted]:

9 Q And, while you're reviewing, I'll state for the record the title of the article is,

10 quote, "Giuliani's lawyer says he has hard drive with Hunter Biden texts, emails, videos of 11 'compromising positions.'" It's by Hollie McKay and Mike Emanuel, published October

12 14th, 2020, on FOX News.

13 A Okay.

14 Q Okay. And, actually, before I get into this, you made some pains in the 15 prior hour to distinguish between real, as in a thing exists, and, you know, any type of 16 validation about the contents of what might be on that thing. Do you recall that 17 distinction?

18 A I do.

19 Q Okay. And I just want to be abundantly clear for the record.

20 I think what you were trying to say -- and tell me if I'm wrong -- is that it's possible

21 for the FBI to have possession of something -- in this case, a laptop -- but not to 22 necessarily have analyzed or assessed or validated what's inside that laptop?

23 A Yes, but I want to caveat that by saying the FBI -- and it's particularly in a 24 context like this -- is not one monolithic block and one mind, right?

25 Q Okay.

1 A Investigations are conducted in the field for a reason, right? And, in this 2 particular instance, if you have an investigation that is being conducted out of the 3 Baltimore Field Office's AOR -- area of responsibility, right -- there may very well 4 be -- there are going to be -- and appropriately so -- people working that investigation and 5 case agents and analysts that are actually engaged in the day-to-day investigative 6 operations of a case that are going to know more about their case than someone sitting
7 at Headquarters not even program-managing their case, right?
8 So I draw the distinction between this because someone at Headquarters being 9 asked a question, you know, about something like this -- and there is absolutely a
10 difference between saying "I am aware that the physical thing exists" in the sense of it
11 being a laptop vis-à-vis what the contents of that laptop say, suggest, or could be 12 evidence of, right? Big distinction.
13 Q Okay. So, turning to the article that we just introduced, the second 14 paragraph down, I'm just going to read it into the record.
15 It says, "Attorney Robert Costello confirmed the explosive revelations first 16 reported in The New York Post that an Apple MacBook Pro alleged to have belonged to 17 the younger Biden was disassembled, and an external hard drive was turned over to the 18 FBI in December." Do you see where it says that?
19 A I do.
20 Q Okay. So, again, the date of this article is October 14th, 2020, correct?
21 A It is.
22 Q So, as of October 14th, 2020, in fact, Robert Costello, who was the attorney
23 for Rudy Giuliani, had said publicly that the laptop had been given to the FBI, correct?
24 A It looks that way.
25 Q In other words, he confirmed that the thing -- that there is a laptop that

1 existed that had been handed over to the FBI?

2 A That's the way this reads to me, yes.

3 Q Okay. So, in effect, whatever the non-SES-level employee conveyed on a 4 phone call, that was already in the public record, correct?

5 A Which does not change our responsibilities in terms of how we respond to

6 questions about current investigative operations. I've been in that situation before

7 myself.

8 Q You made the point in the earlier hour that the response of "no comment"

9 was consistent with FBI policy and DOJ policy. Do you remember saying that?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Can you explain what policy you were referring to?

12 A Not specificity with respect to the DOJ policy, but I know that it is -- the DOJ

13 policy is what stands as the root or the basis for the FBI having -- or perhaps this is the 14 Justice Manual.

15 But the FBI has its own policies -- right -- specific to engaging with the media and

16 speaking about investigative equities. And, you know, there had been times when

17 certain persons within the Bureau had been on the wrong side of that, and the Bureau

18 has been admonished of that, right? And it is important that we stick to that policy and 19 we remain consistent with it, right? That we don't speak to investigative operations.

20 I've been in that situation -- like I said, I've been in that situation before with the 21 work that I did in the Detroit division.

22 Q Are you familiar with the reasons that FBI -- why FBI does not talk about 23 ongoing matters or ongoing operations?

24 A Yes. So that's not how we engage in business. Secondly, you're in an

25 investigative phase at that point, and you don't know how something is going to turn out.

1 You know, investigations can go left; they can go right, up and down, right?

2 And I know, having experience in the public corruption space, that it can be very

3 damaging if the FBI were to talk about some of its investigative activity outside of an

4 indictment, you know, or testifying at trial -- right -- because, you know, it can be

5 damaging to a campaign or a person, professionally and otherwise, and you are simply

6 not at the right stage to be speaking about investigation while you are carrying it out.

7 Q Is it also the case that speaking about an investigation while it's underway

8 could compromise that investigation? In other words, it could prevent the FBI from 9 obtaining additional evidence, or it could ultimately prevent the DOJ from obtaining an

10 indictment?

11 A Of course. And that's kind of what I'm thinking when I say that's not the 12 way that we conduct business. It runs contrary to us to continue to conduct an

13 investigation.

14 Q Okay. As of October 2020, was the FITF aware of any information with 15 respect to the authentication of the so-called Hunter Biden laptop?

16 A So there are a lot of people in the FITF -- right -- at that time, and I certainly 17 wasn't talking with all of them about that.

18 But I cannot remember -- I'll speak for myself, right? I cannot remember when I

19 became aware of, you know, the authenticity or the fact that the laptop -- right -- existed.

20 Q Sorry. And I want to differentiate.

21 A Yeah.

22 Q When I say "authenticity," I don't mean that the laptop existed. I mean

23 that the contents of the laptop had been verified or assessed in any way.

24 A When did we become --

25 Q So let me put it this way.

1 In October 2020, FITF -- there was generally some awareness that the laptop or 2 hard drive had been handed over to the FBI, correct? But, at that point, the FBI had
3 not -- did not have any information or had not fully assessed the providence of the laptop,
4 whether the emails had been altered in some way --
5 [redacted] Can I confer --
6 [redacted] Sure.
7 [redacted] -- for a second?
8 [Discussion off the record.]
9 [redacted] Ready?
10 [redacted] Back on the record.
11 [redacted] So I can only speak to what I knew or what I remember at the time.
12 There are various different investigative equities across the FBI and the field offices,
13 right? And I can tell you that I was unaware of the contents or what they may or may 14 not have indications of at that time. That's something I wouldn't have been aware of.
15 BY [redacted]:
16 Q So is it fair to say that, as of October 2020, you were not aware of whether 17 the laptop was some kind of a Russian operation or not?
18 A I had no way myself of confirming the authenticity of the contents of the 19 laptop. Moreover, that matter was outside of my purview.
20 Q Are you aware of the pending Superior Court case Murthy v. Missouri? It
21 was Missouri v. Biden. Now, it's Murthy v. Missouri.
22 A Okay. You threw me there. Yes, I am aware of that. Yeah.
23 Q Okay. Are you aware that Mr. Jordan filed an amicus brief in that lawsuit 24 or in that --
25 A Generally, I am aware, yes.

1 Q Okay. I'm going to read you a sentence from that, and I want to get your
2 reaction to it. Actually, I'm going to read a paragraph. It cites the interview of Ms.
3 Democrat low.
4 It says, "According to Dehmlow, on the day the article was published" -- meaning
5 the New York Post article -- "FBI met with Twitter, and a company representative asked if
6 the laptop was real. Dehmlow testified that, in response, quote, 'One of the FBI folks
7 was on the call,' end quote, confirmed that the laptop was real, before, quote, 'another
8 participant jumped in and said no further comment,' end quote."
9 Are you aware of that statement from Ms. Dehmlow when she testified before the 10 committee that the laptop was real?
11 A I'm aware of that statement, yes.
12 Q And are you aware that she later said, when she said the laptop is real, she 13 just meant that the laptop existed and that she wasn't commenting on the contents
14 whatsoever?
15 A That's my understanding, yes.
16 Q Okay. And is it your understanding that the-laptop-was-real comment, 17 when it was made in the conversation with the social media companies, meant just that?
18 That the laptop existed, but it wasn't meant to be a comment on the contents of the 19 laptop whatsoever?
20 A That's my understanding and consistent with -- yes, that's my understanding.
21 Q Okay. So the paragraph from Mr. Jordan's amicus brief continues, "After 22 the meeting, FBI personnel, quote, 'deliberated internally,' end quote, and determined
23 that, even though they knew the laptop was not Russian disinformation, in all further 24 communications with social media companies, the FBI would reply with 'no comment.'"
25 As of October 2020, did the FITF know that the laptop was not Russian

1 disinformation?

2 A So could you read that again?

3 Q Yep. Yep. And I can actually show it to you, if that would be easier.

4 A Sure.

5 Q We're not going to admit it to the record because I only have one copy,

6 but -- just the highlighted paragraph.

7 A Okay.

8 Q Okay. In October 2020, did the FITF know that the laptop -- whether the 9 laptop was Russian disinformation or not?

10 A So I would ask you to clarify your question, that the existence of the laptop

11 in and of itself was or --

12 Q The contents of the laptop.

13 A So that's not my recollection of the situation at the time. I don't remember

14 that.

15 Q Okay. So the FBI, in effect -- maybe there was still an ongoing

16 investigation, but whether the contents of the laptop were authentic, whether they had

17 been manipulated, there had been no determination at that point?

18 A So me, in my position at that time -- I would not have a need to know that

19 information.

20 Q Okay. Would others in the FITF have had a need to know?

21 A That was not an investigation that was managed by -- program-managed by

22 FITF.

23 Q Okay. So, when -- so the implication of this paragraph is that the FBI, in 24 effect, knew that the contents of the laptop were not Russian disinformation and

25 declined to tell social media companies that. That's not an accurate statement, right?

1 A So it's one of the reasons why I upfront wanted to clarify -- right -- talking
2 about the existence of a thing as opposed to the contents of a particular type of thing -- in 3 this instance, the laptop.
4 In some public discourse following all of this, that line has been blurred, in my 5 opinion, and certainly with respect to my understanding of the situation.

1 [1:20 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q On page 22 of the amicus brief, the chairman writes, "The story," meaning

4 the New York Post story, "was not Russian disinformation, an FBI personnel meeting

5 with -- an FBI personnel meeting with Twitter and Facebook knew at the time that it was

6 not Russian disinformation."

7 That's not a true statement, right? The FBI didn't know either way?

8 A Again, you're talking about contents?

9 Q Uh-huh.

10 A So --

11 Q If FITF did not know, the people who were meeting with the social media

12 companies would not have known either way, correct?

13 A Speaking to my own, what I recollect in my role, it's not something that I

14 knew.

15 Q Okay. And you said others working on the FITF would not have had reason

16 to know either because it was not their investigation?

17 A That investigation was not program managed, if I remember correctly, by the 18 FITF.

19 Q Okay. Just a couple of wrap-up questions. The FITF was established by 20 FBI Director Christopher Wray in 2017, correct?

21 A That's correct.

22 Q Do you know who appointed Mr. Wray FBI Director?

23 A It's my understanding Director Wray was appointed by President Trump.

24 Q In your experience, has the FITF operated in the same manner under both

25 the Trump and Biden administrations?

1 A So, I didn't leave the FITF, right, until May of '21 so I crossed both. I can
2 certainly say that in my time there, we didn't change our practices, our SOPs and that sort
3 of thing. No, the FITF has not clanged the way that it conducts business.
4 Q Had you in your role ever seen or -- sorry. Let me rephrase that.
5 Did you in your role ever see or hear of anyone from the White House in either
6 administration attempting to exert political pressure to influence the work of the FITF?
7 A Can you ask that again?
8 Q Yeah. In your role as assistant -- or assistant section chief --
9 A Yup.
10 Q Sorry. Did you ever see or hear anyone from the White House attempt to 11 pressure the FITF to take any action?
12 A No. That's something that's -- that's not something that I recall, but that's 13 different than perhaps expressing displeasure in some work that the FITF may be engaged 14 in. But that is no pressure to change or take action in a certain way that came down the 15 FITF that I remember.
16 Q Have the decisions that you made as an FBI employee ever been influenced 17 at any time by partisanship, ideology, or political considerations?
18 A No.
19 Q Have you witnessed other FBI employees, particularly during your time FITF 20 appear to make work decisions in a manner motivated by partisanship, ideology, or 21 political considerations?
22 A No.
23 Q What would you have done in your role as assistant section chief of the FITF
24 if you had witnessed such improper conduct by one of the FITF employees?
25 A Address it right away. Root it out. Speak with management. It's not

1 something that can be tolerated in any of the work that the FBI does, to include the work

2 of the FITF.

3 Q Thank you.

4 [redacted] We can go off the record.

5 [Recess.]

1 [1:31 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q [redacted], to your understanding, when the FBI obtained the laptop

4 attributed to Hunter Biden, were there any efforts made to authenticate it?

5 A I'm sorry.

6 [Discussion off the record.]

7 [redacted] Back on the record.

8 [redacted] We would like to acknowledge that your question is outside of the 9 scope of our understanding of today's interview, which relates to [redacted]'s

10 engagements with social media companies and his time as the assistant section chief of

11 the FITF.

12 This also implicates several ongoing investigations, which have been publicly

13 reported, like the special counsel inquiry, so.

14 [redacted] Why was this objection not raised during minority rounds of

15 questions?

16 [redacted] They did not speak to whether or not the FBI at large had worked to 17 authenticate it. You were expecting Mr. [redacted] to speak to specific knowledge he would

18 have had in terms of when the FBI as an organization potentially authenticated the

19 laptop.

20 If you were to frame your questions in a similar matter to what the minority had

21 done, he would be able to speak to them. I think it was the way in which you phrased it

22 which raised privilege concerns as well as concerns for protecting the integrity of several 23 ongoing matters.

24 [redacted] I'm not sure I understand the distinction between the minority's line of 25 questioning and the question just posed to the witness. We asked questions about

1 [redacted]'s knowledge and the minority asked questions about others within the FBI and 2 the knowledge they had.
3 [redacted] I don't want to relitigate the minority's questions. I would flag for 4 the record that [redacted]s impression of their questions was specific to the FITF and the 5 context of the potential Russian disinformation and what FITF's analytical determination 6 would have been, which is more within the scope of today's interview rather than 7 implicating several public ongoing investigations and knowledge potentially of other FBI
8 operational divisions and other employees beyond the scope of what we're authorize 9 today speak to today.
10 BY [redacted]:
11 Q [redacted], when did you become aware of whether the FBI had 12 authenticated the laptop?
13 A So my understanding is that I'm here to talk about my work with the FITF
14 from November of 2019 to May of 2021. I had no knowledge.
15 Q Okay. In the previous round for the majority, we went over the extent of 16 your knowledge regarding the existence of the laptop and when you became aware that 17 others in the FITF knew about the existence of the laptop.
18 During those conversations with members of the FITF about the existence of the 19 laptop, did you have any discussions regarding whether the laptop had been 20 authenticated?
21 A The contents of the laptop?
22 Q Yes.
23 A I don't know conversations like that, and it also wouldn't have been 24 something that I, in my role, had a need to know at that time.
25 Q So are you able to testify one way or another whether members of the FITF

1 at large had knowledge that the laptop had or had not been authenticated?

2 A So I can say in my time at the FITF I had no knowledge about the authenticity

3 or lack thereof of the contents of the laptop. And I don't recall having conversations

4 with FITF personnel at that time about their understanding of the contents of the laptop.

5 Q Okay. The minority asked you questions about the accuracy of statements

6 made in an amicus brief filed.

7 Based off of your knowledge of what FITF members knew and did not know in the

8 fall of 2020, are you able to assess whether those statements in the amicus brief are

9 accurate or not?

10 A So I'm going to answer the question in the same way. I didn't have a need

11 to know at that time about the contents, authenticity or lack thereof, the contents of the 12 laptop. I didn't know. I'll let other persons associated with the FITF during that

13 timeframe speak for themselves, but it's -- I did not have conversations with folks with 14 the FITF or otherwise for that matter at that time about the contents of the laptop.

15 Q To your understanding, there was a question raised in the Twitter/FITF

16 meeting by someone from Twitter that was answered first by a non-SES analyst and then

17 a non-SES lawyer.

18 From anyone on the call, was there any effort made by the FBI to distinguish

19 between whether the FBI was aware of the existence of the laptop, as to whether the 20 laptop had been authenticated?

21 A I wasn't on the call to the best of my knowledge and I don't know. I don't

22 know.

23 Q To your understanding, was there extended back and forth or was there -- -

24 A Was there what?

25 Q An extended back and forth between Twitter --

1 A I don't know. I don't know that.

2 Q Do you know who Gary Shapley is?

3 A I feel like I've heard the name before perhaps.

4 Q You testified earlier about the two non-SES individuals who spoke during the

5 Twitter/FITF meeting. The committee's asked for names before just so we get

6 everything on the record, going to ask, again we've sent a letter to the FBI to this end.

7 You testified earlier you do recall the identity of the first non-SES employee, the 8 analyst. What is that analyst's name?

9 A I'm not going to --

10 [redacted] The FBI is in receipt of your letter, and after having several

11 prioritization conversations with you, which we appreciated the opportunity to better

12 understand the committee's interest in this matter, we are continuing to work those 13 requests through the accommodations process and seek the appropriate clearances.

14 And we hope to provide you with some of that information in the near term.

15 [redacted] I would -- just so we're on the record, you know, reiterate the request

16 the committee communicated to the FBI most recently in the March 11th letter and other

17 communications we've had.

18 [redacted], you testified you know the identity of the non-SES lawyer who spoke

19 during the Twitter/FITF call. What is that lawyer's name?

20 [redacted] I'm not going to identify that. It's my understanding I can't identify 21 that lawyer.

22 [redacted] Counsel, is it the same objection?

23 [redacted] It's not an objection in as much as we are continuing to seek

24 authorization from the appropriate stakeholders, and we are optimistic that we can

25 address some of your remaining concerns that ar memorialized in your March 11 letter in

1 the near term.

2 [redacted] Thank you.

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q [redacted], after leaving the FITF, have you had interactions with the FITF as

5 part of any of your subsequent roles with the FBI?

6 A So I guess I need you to clarify that, right? And I would ask for you to

7 clarify it in this way; are you asking me if when I left the FITF and became an ASAC back in

8 Michigan, did I have any work related interactions with personnel from the FITF and who

9 might those people be, vice, have I had coffee with someone, have I bumped into

10 someone, that sort of thing? I need you to be specific.

11 Q The former. As part of your role at the FBI, have you had any work related 12 interactions with members of the FITF since leaving the FITF?

13 A Yes.

14 Q What are those interactions?

15 A I can't speak about the specifics of the investigations, but pertains to nothing

16 that we've talked about here today.

17 Q Have you attended any -- since leaving the FITF, have you attended any the 18 bilateral FITF meetings with social media companies?

19 A No.

20 Q Have you received any briefings from the FITF regarding their

21 communications with social media companies related to foreign interference or 22 elections?

23 A No.

24 Q Turning back to your time during the FITF, did you have interactions with 25 CISA other than the U.S. government industry broader call as we were discussing earlier?

1 A So I can't speak about, you know, the contents or the subject matter, but
2 outside of the context of engagement with social media that we've had questions about,
3 right, the interagency had regular meetings to discuss other matters coming up in the 4 election security or foreign malign influence space, and CISA would have been a regular 5 participant in those meetings.
6 I don't know if you've heard the term IPCs since some of your -- I actually don't 7 know what it stands for, but it's meetings, interagency meetings, on various different
8 topics, and CISA, because of their responsibilities in terms of securing infrastructure,
9 right, election infrastructure specifically, would have been engaged in those meetings.
10 And yeah, I would have been part of the compliment of persons from the FITF that would 11 be involved in these routine interagency meetings. Again, I want to be clear, outside of 12 what we've talked about here today with social media engagement and all of that.
13 Q Outside of the working group meetings and outside of the U.S. government 14 industry meetings with some of the social media companies, do you recall any 15 interactions with CISA during your tenure at the FITF?
16 A I don't.
17 Q Are you familiar with the Global Engagement Center?
18 A I've heard of the Global Engagement Center. I did not have much, if any,
19 engagement with it.
20 Q Okay. Is that true during your tenure at FITF, or just more broadly?
21 A I'm only speaking to my tenure at FITF.
22 Q Since leaving the FITF, have you had interactions with the Global 23 Engagement Center?
24 A No.
25 Q During your tenure at the FITF, did you have interactions with ODNI?

1 A ODNI would be represented in those interagency, those regularly occurring
2 interagency IPC related calls and videoconferences.
3 Q Other than those meetings, did you have interactions with ODNI during your 4 time at the FITF?
5 A Give me a second here.
6 [redacted] Go off the record, please.
7 [Discussion off the record.]
8 [redacted] Back on the record.
9 [redacted] Could you ask that question one more time just so I'm sure?
10 [redacted] Sure.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q You mentioned that ODNI would have representatives on meetings with the 13 social media companies. Other than that set of series of meetings, did you have any 14 interactions with ODNI as part of your role at FITF?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And what were some of those interactions?
17 A So the FBI was involved -- not me specifically. I actually never provided a 18 defensive briefing -- but the engagement that we would have with the interagency in 19 terms of should there be a defensive briefing, the authenticity of the intelligence with 20 respect to the briefing, what should be provided, that notification framework process,
21 ODNI is intimately involved in that process. Yes.
22 Q Are you familiar with the defensive briefing that was provided to Senators
23 Grassley and Johnson around August 2020?
24 A I'm familiar in terms of I know what happened. I wasn't there. I didn't do
25 them.

1 Q Were you familiar with it at the time?

2 A Would I have known that it was being done when it was done?

3 Q Yes.

4 A Yes.

5 Q To your understanding, which agency provided the assessment that was

6 given in that defensive briefing?

7 [redacted] Go off the record, please.

8 [Discussion off the record.]

9 [redacted] Back on the record.

10 [redacted] Can you ask the question one more time for me please?

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q Do you know which agency provided the assessment that led to the 13 defensive briefing to the Senators?

14 A So I don't recall which agency provided that particular information nor do I

15 recall the substance of that particular information either.

16 Q Are you familiar with ODNI's Foreign Malign Influence Center?

17 A I think it was something that was being suggested and/or worked on as

18 I -- like right around the time I was leaving. And I've had no interaction with or occasion

19 to think about it since.

20 Q Did you have any -- did you participate in any discussions about its creation,

21 or were you involved in the process?

22 A No. No.

23 Q In your interactions with CISA in 2020 as it relates to securing elections and

24 concerns about foreign interference, were the representatives of CISA to your

25 understanding from the countering influence task force?

1 A I don't know. And I want to be clear, the Cyber Division, our Cyber Division
2 personnel like I stated earlier, I was a cyber billet assigned full-time to CD, but I don't have 3 a cyber background. The persons that would be engaged with CISA talking Xs and Os in 4 this space are going to be cyber experts.
5 Q Was there a top person in the FITF responsible for cyber related issues, or is 6 it only underneath the unit chiefs as you were describing earlier?
7 A I wouldn't describe it as there being a top cyber person within FITF. We 8 certainly had persons with cyber skill sets there. But our Cyber Division, right, the 9 operational division would have had mostly engagement with CISA at that level on 10 technical cyber matters. I presume what you're getting at is protecting infrastructure
11 and things of that nature. Yes. That's --
12 Q With respect to the defensive briefing from Senators Johnson and Grassley,
13 did you have any conversations with Mr. Benavides about that defensive briefing?
14 A I don't recall anything like that.
15 Q Did you have any conversations with Ms. Floris about the defensive briefing?
16 A No, other than it, you know, was going to take place. I don't remember any 17 specific conversations about it from a substantive standpoint.
18 Q What about after the briefing took place, did you hear how the briefing 19 went?
20 A So I think it was publicly reported, right, that there was displeasure from the 21 members, right? So sit here now and try to figure out where that information got into 22 my head is difficult to do, but I know it was publicly reported around the same time that 23 there was displeasure from the members with respect to that briefing in connection to 24 other things.
25 Q Independent of -- not necessarily independent, but regardless whether you first became aware from public reporting or otherwise, do you recall conversations with Mr. Benavides or Ms. Floris about the defensive briefing?

A Not specifically, no.

Q Do you know -- you said you don't know who the -- which agency served to nominate the intelligence that led to the defensive briefing?

A I don't recall, no.

Q To your understanding, was it the FBI?

A I don't recall, but -- no, I don't recall.

Q If it was the FBI, would you have known?

A I would think so.

Q During your tenure at the FBI, did you have any role, that is the investigation to the DNC hack in the summer of 2016?

A Did I have any role with respect to that investigation?

Q Yes.

A From an operation or managerial standpoint, no.

Q What about with respect to the Crossfire Hurricane investigation?

A No.

Q Have you ever worked on any investigation involving Hunter Biden.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] Back on the record.

[redacted] Appreciate your patience. Could you ask that question again?

[redacted] Yeah.

BY [redacted]:

Q Have you ever worked on any investigation involving Hunter Biden?

1 A I have not been engaged in person in any investigative operations pertaining
2 to Hunter Biden.
3 Q Do you know who [redacted] is in respect to the FBI? Last name is
4 [redacted].
5 A I know [redacted]. I may have met him years ago, quite some time ago
6 as a SWAT supervisor, public corruption supervisor, but no level of regular or even casual
7 interaction with him. But I know who he is.
8 Q During your tenure at the FITF, do you recall any work related interactions
9 with him?
10 A I don't, no.
11 Q During your tenure at the FITF, did you have any interactions with Stanford
12 University?
13 A I don't recall if I was engaged in any, myself. But I did know at the time
14 that part of the work that FITF was engaged in was with, you know, academia at some 15 level. I don't recall having meetings with that particular university myself. But I knew 16 that that was going on.
17 Q Do you know who from the FITF was having interactions with academia?
18 A No, not specifically.
19 Q Are you familiar with the Election Integrity Partnership?
20 A I don't know that I am.
21 Q During your tenure at the FITF, did you have any interactions with News
22 Guard?
23 A I don't recall anything like that, no.
24 Q During your tenure at the FITF, did you have any interactions with the Aspen
25 Institute?

1 A I don't know. I don't know. Direct engagement, like personal
2 engagement, I don't think so. I guess I would leave it at that.
3 Q At other roles that you've had in the FBI, have you had interactions with the
4 Aspen Institute?
5 A You know I'm going to speak to the -- my time with the FITF.
6 Q During your time at the FITF, did anyone else at the FITF have interactions
7 with the Aspen Institute to your knowledge?
8 A It's possible, but I don't know.
9 Q During your time at the FITF, did you participate in any hack and leak or hack
10 and dump tabletop exercises?
11 A Did I participate in what?
12 Q Any tabletop exercises related to potential hack and leak, hack and dump
13 operation?
14 A No, not that I remember, no. I was aware of tabletop exercises that were 15 taking place in conjunction with our criminal investigative division. But those sorts of 16 tabletop exercises pertained much more to the type of activity that we see on election
17 day itself, right, that I described earlier, which is very much more in the criminal lane.
18 So I knew that we were working along with the criminal investigative division on 19 tabletop exercises with the field because they're going to be the ones seeing this sort of 20 thing, but again, pertaining to that type of criminal activity associated with elections that 21 you see on election day in the field.
22 [redacted] To clarify are you referring to the Aspen Institute digital working 23 group hack and dump exercise?
24 Because tabletop exercise is term of art for something like the command posting
25 completely separate from a group like the Aspen group holding an exercise like that.

1 [redacted] Yeah. The Aspen Institute, and there's been public reporting as it
2 relates to the exercise the Aspen Institute hosted. But we have received testimony from 3 other witnesses about sometimes it's just internal government, sometimes with external
4 partners conducting tabletop exercises.
5 So just asking at broad level. Doesn't have to be the Aspen one.
6 [redacted] I am not familiar to Aspen being involved but I have been -- I mean,
7 in the FITF I knew of those exercises going on.
8 Any FBI agent over the course of their career is going to be involved in multiple 9 tabletop exercises over various different areas.
10 BY [redacted]:
11 Q Are you familiar with any tabletop exercises in 2020 that members from the 12 FITF participated in that had to do with how to respond to a foreign hack and leak or hack
13 and dump operation?
14 A I don't remember personal involvement in an exercise like that. Is it
15 possible that there could have been participation, sure, but I don't remember any 16 personal involvement in it.
17 Q And you don't recall being aware of whether anyone else from the FITF had 18 participated?
19 A That's 4 years ago, I don't.
20 [redacted] Go off the record, please.
21 [Whereupon, at 2:04 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

[redacted] This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other intermediaries to censor speech.

Would the witness please state your name for the record?

[redacted]. [redacted].

[redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to appear voluntarily.

My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff.

I will now have everyone else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves as well.

[redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] Thank you.

I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will follow during today's interview.

Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for one hour and then the minority will have the opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

1 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to
2 take a break apart from that, please just let us know.
3 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to
4 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.
5 Do you understand?
6 [redacted]. Yes.
7 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best
8 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
9 those people on the staff whose turn it is.
10 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks
11 down at the end of the table can hear you.
12 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we
13 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.
14 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 15 counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding that you are appearing today with 16 counsel. Is that correct?
17 [redacted]. That is correct.
18 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?
19 Mr. Bopp. Yes. Michael Bopp.
20 Mr. Donovan. Dan Donovan, King & Spaulding, on behalf of Google -- Alphabet.
21 [redacted] Thank you.
22 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
23 as possible, so we will take our time.
24 If you have any questions, or if you do not understand one of our questions,
25 please let us know.

1 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
2 point, just say so.
3 If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best
4 not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it's okay to tell us if you learned
5 information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.
6 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please
7 inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete
8 answer to the question.
9 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by 10 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.
11 Do you understand that?
12 [redacted]. Yes, I do.
13 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
14 interview.
15 Do you understand this?
16 [redacted]. Yes, I do.
17 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to 18 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section 19 1001.
20 Do you understand this?
21 [redacted]. Yes, I do.
22 [redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to
23 today's questions?
24 [redacted]. No.
25 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss

here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

That is the end of my preamble.

Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

[redacted] We would like to thank you for your time and appearing today.

[redacted] The clock now reads 10:06. We will start the first hour of questioning.

EXAMINATION

BY [redacted]

Q Could I have you state your full name again for the record, please?

A [redacted].

Q And what is your current place of employment?

A Flock Safety.

Q And what is your current title?

A Director of government relations.

Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?

A I attended The Citadel and received a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Q Starting with your first job after college, what is your professional background?

A I'd like to note that before I graduated, I served in the United States Army from 2000 and 2003. Prior to graduating from college, I also served as an unpaid intern

1 in Senator DeMint's office.

2 Once I graduated, I moved to the D.C. area to work for IBM. I worked for IBM for

3 a little less than a year before I started my career in the United States Senate as a military

4 legislative correspondent for Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison.

5 I was in Senator -- on Senator Hutchison's staff for I think just under 2 years, and

6 then I went to Senator Richard Burr's office to serve as military legislative assistant.

7 After, again, roughly 2 years, I returned to Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison's office to 8 be military legislative assistant.

9 And then I went to Senator Richard Shelby's office to be military legislative

10 assistant and then legislative director.

11 My time on the Hill was approximately May of 2007 until, I believe, early 12 January 2014.

13 After I left the Senate, I worked for a company called ATK, which then became

14 Orbital ATK. I was there for approximately 4 years, from I guess it was January to 15 roughly -- January 2014 to roughly February 2018.

16 After that, I went to Twitter to be a public policy manager and was at Twitter for 17 just over 2 years.

18 And then I went to YouTube beginning in late March, early April of 2020 and was 19 at YouTube for just over 3 years.

20 And then I joined my current employer end of April, early May of last year.

21 Q Thank you for your service.

22 You said that you joined Twitter in early 2018. Is that right?

23 A I believe it was around February 2018.

24 Q And how many different positions? You started as the public policy

25 manager. Was that the only title you held while you were at Twitter?

1 A That is correct.

2 Q At a very high level, what were your responsibilities as public policy manager

3 at Twitter?

4 A As public policy manager, it was my responsibility to answer questions from 5 the -- primarily the legislative branch was usually my day-to-day responsibilities.

6 Q During that role did you -- during your time in that role did you play any role

7 in the development or enforcement of Twitter's content moderation policies?

8 A No. To the best of my recollection, the development of those policies were

9 handled by the Trust and Safety team.

10 Q During your time in that role, did you have any interactions with the Trust

11 and Safety team at Twitter?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And at a high level, what were some of those interactions?

14 A It's been some time. But at a high level, if there was questions around

15 policy or content, that would typically be the thing that I would discuss with the Trust and

16 Safety team.

17 Q Did you ever interact with Yoel Roth?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And, again at a high level, what were some of the interactions you had with 20 Mr. Roth as it related to your work?

21 A As I've described, generally, if there is a question about a policy or a specific

22 piece of content, that would usually be what those conversations were around.

23 Q During your time at Twitter, you mentioned primarily the legislative branch.

24 Did you have any interactions with the executive branch during your time at Twitter?

25 A Some, yes.

1 Q Which parts of the executive branch?

2 A It's been some time. To the best of my recollection, I had conversations

3 with CISA, the Cybersecurity and Information (sic) Security Agency, I believe is the

4 acronym. That was the primary agency. It's been some time. But that was the main

5 one, I think.

6 Q And then in the first part of 2020, you moved to YouTube?

7 A In approximately I believe it was late March. Either late March or just very

8 early in April was when I moved to YouTube.

9 Q And which positions did you hold while you were at YouTube?

10 A The only position I held at YouTube was public policy manager.

11 Q And what were your responsibilities in that role?

12 A Similar to Twitter. I would answer questions on policy or content from 13 members of the legislative branch, but also the executive branch and, to a lesser extent,

14 to State governments if there were questions around policies or content.

15 Q What was the name of the team that you were part of at YouTube? Was it

16 the Public Policy team?

17 A It was the Government Affairs and Public Policy team for YouTube.

18 Q And who was the head of the team during your time at the company?

19 A The vice president of the team?

20 Q Yeah. Whoever was in charge for leading the Government Affairs and

21 Public Policy team.

22 A The vice president for the organization was [redacted].

23 Q Who did you report to during your time in that role?

24 A My manager that I reported to was [redacted].

25 Q What was [redacted] title?

1 A I believe her title was director of public policy for the Americas, I believe was
2 her title, but she was a director.
3 Q During your time in this role, how many people directly reported to you?
4 A Zero.
5 Q How big was the Government Affairs and Public Policy team at YouTube
6 during your time there?
7 A It had changed from the time I started until when I left. I can't -- it was a
8 small team. I can't recall a specific number.
9 Q By small team, do you mean fewer than 50?
10 A That's roughly about accurate, yes.
11 Q Which of the teams within YouTube did you interact with most frequently as 12 part of your job?
13 A It's difficult to say whether I worked with one team more than the other. I 14 tried to work across the company if there were any issues with multiple stakeholders, if 15 needed.
16 It's -- probably the best answer would be Trust and Safety, is probably fair to say.
17 Q And what were, and to your understanding, what are the responsibilities of 18 YouTube's Trust and Safety team?
19 A At a high level, enforcing YouTube's community guidelines.
20 Q Did you have a primary point of contact on YouTube's Trust and Safety
21 team?
22 A I can't say that I had a primary point of contact. Again, it was -- the Trust
23 and Safety team was -- I don't know exactly how many people were on the team. But it
24 was diverse and, candidly, it can vary. It varied. I really can't say that I had a single 25 point of contact that I would work with more than others.

1 Q Do you know who led YouTube's Trust and Safety team during the time you
2 were at the company?
3 A During my time at YouTube, the vice president in charge of Trust and Safety
4 was [redacted].
5 Q Not necessarily related to Trust and Safety but just broadly, during your time
6 at YouTube, did you, on a regular basis, interact with other products or other entities
7 within Alphabet or was YouTube kind of self-contained?
8 A YouTube was really my primary focus. And I really, in terms of working to 9 support other Alphabet products, I can't say that that really happened. Again, my 10 primary focus was YouTube.
11 Q To your understanding, are there Trust and Safety teams for other products
12 within Alphabet?
13 A I really can't speak to specifically other Trust and Safety teams at Alphabet.
14 Again, my focus was YouTube, and so I worked with the Trust and Safety team. I would 15 defer to Alphabet for more details on how they handled trust and safety for other
16 products.
17 Q The Government Affairs and Public Policy team that you were a part of, was 18 that just for YouTube, or was that for Google or Alphabet writ large?
19 A Just for YouTube.
20 Mr. Bopp. Make sure you let [redacted] finish his question before you answer.
21 [redacted]. I'm sorry.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q To your understanding, was there a similar Government Affairs and Public
24 Policy team for other Google products or other parts of Alphabet?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And for any of those teams, did you have any regular interactions during
2 your time with the company?
3 A I don't know that I'd categorize it as regular. I worked with them on, I
4 guess, an as-needed basis might be the best way to describe it. But, again, my primary
5 focus was YouTube and not other Alphabet products or services.
6 Q Are you familiar with Google's Jigsaw?
7 A I'm familiar with the term Jigsaw, but I, candidly, don't know much more
8 about it.
9 Q On occasions where you did interact with one of the other Government
10 Affairs and Public Policy teams, which -- depending on how many other teams there
11 are -- which one did you interact with most frequently?
12 A I would say most frequently was probably the Google Government Affairs
13 and Public Policy team.
14 Q And did you have a primary point of contact with the Google Government
15 Affairs and Public Policy team?
16 A I wouldn't say I had a primary point of contact. Again, I sort of worked as 17 needed with other folks on that team.
18 Q Are you familiar with the terms misinformation, disinformation, and 19 malinformation?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And to your understanding, what are the differences among those three
22 terms?
23 A I think, at a high level, misinformation would be something that would 24 be -- could be viewed as not factually correct.
25 Disinformation, I think, is something generally referred to as content that may not

1 be factually correct, or it could be, but is typically involved in some type of coordinated
2 activity.
3 Malinformation is, frankly, a term I didn't use. I'm familiar with the term, but
4 that's not really a term that I can recall using during my time at YouTube.
5 Q Do you recall anyone from the Federal Government using the term
6 malinformation?
7 A I can't recall. I just can't -- yeah, I can't recall.
8 Q With the understanding that malinformation isn't a term that you used, to 9 your understanding, when others have used it, what is your understanding of what 10 malinformation meant?
11 A To the best of my recollection, I don't even recall really being familiar with 12 that term until shortly before I left the company. So I just -- I can't provide a good
13 definition, again, because that's not something that I used.
14 Q Was there, shortly before you left the company, was there a meeting or 15 something that -- where the term was used that you're recalling?
16 A None that I can recall.
17 Q During your time at YouTube, which parts of the executive branch did you 18 have interactions with?
19 A For the executive branch, the White House, the GEC, the Census Bureau, the 20 CDC. To a lesser extent CISA. Maybe a few others. But those are really the primary 21 ones that I can recall.
22 Q Within YouTube's Public Policy team, were there multiple folks who as part 23 of their portfolio would have interactions with these entities within the executive branch,
24 or were you the primary lead?
25 A I can't speak to if other folks had meetings. I can't really speak to that, if

1 they did have other meetings or discussions.

2 But typically, if there was a question about YouTube from the executive branch,

3 then I usually handled that. But I just -- I can't speak specifically if other folks had

4 conversations.

5 Q When meeting with members of the executive branch, was there anyone on 6 your team that frequently joined you for these meetings?

7 A To the best of my recollection, it varied. I can't say that there was one

8 person more than others. Again, to the best of my recollection, it sort of varied.

9 Q What is your familiarity with YouTube's community guidelines, at least as 10 they stood during your time with the company?

11 A Sure. YouTube's community guidelines were, at a high level, essentially the 12 rules of the road for YouTube. And if content violated those policies, that's something

13 that could result in an enforcement action to include a piece of content being removed.

14 But at a high level, it's the rules of the road for YouTube is generally how I think

15 about it.

16 Q And to your understanding, during your time with the company, did

17 YouTube's community guidelines address content that contained misinformation?

18 A As I recall, there were misinformation policies during my time at YouTube.

19 Q Do you recall if there were changes to the misinformation policies during 20 your time at YouTube?

21 A I believe there were.

22 Q And to the best of your recollection, what were some of the subjects or 23 areas of the misinformation policies that were changed?

24 A To the best of my recollection, there were policies around COVID-19 and 25 policies related to election content.

1 Q And at a high level, what is your understanding of what changes were made
2 with respect to the community guidelines as it related to content regarding COVID-19?
3 A Sure. To the best of my recollection, it was generally if there was content 4 that contradicted guidance from health authorities, that was typically something that 5 would be violative under that policy.
6 Q To your understanding, who at the company was responsible for drafting the 7 community guidelines related to COVID-19?
8 A I can't speak specifically to who actually authored it. Again, it's my 9 understanding that certainly the Trust and Safety team would have been very much
10 involved in the formulation of that policy.
11 Q To your understanding, during your time at the company what changes were 12 made to the community guidelines regarding content regarding elections?
13 A Yes. There was an update to the policies around claims, false claims, once
14 the election was certified that contradicted those results. And that policy, as well as all 15 of YouTube's community guidelines, were something that was publicly available on their 16 community guidelines website.
17 Q Turning back to the COVID-19 policies, certainly during the time you were at 18 the company there were changes to the information available and what health
19 authorities were saying.
20 To your understanding, how frequently would the company revisit the community
21 guidelines as they related to COVID-19?
22 A It's difficult to recall specifically how many times. Again, it's certainly fair to 23 say that there were updates during the course of my tenure at YouTube. I can't recall
24 exactly how many updates there were, but I do recall that there were updates to that 25 policy.

1 Q Any time there was an update to the policy, were you ever made aware of
2 the company's considerations to updating the policy?
3 A I can't speak to being aware of all the considerations that were made.
4 Again, I was certainly aware once the policy was publicly available and on the website. I
5 just can't speak to specifically the factors that went into those specific updates.
6 But it's my understanding that YouTube worked with health authorities around
7 the globe, but I can't speak to specifically the detailed process of how that was crafted.
8 Q What about before the policy is announced? There has to be a drafting 9 phase, some sort of internal deliberations.
10 Was your feedback ever solicited during any of the times they were considering 11 changing any of the community guidelines?
12 A I can't recall instances of my feedback being specifically solicited or 13 requested by the team. I just can't recall that happening.
14 Q To your understanding, was feedback ever solicited from the Public Policy
15 team just writ large?
16 A I can't speak for the broader Public Policy team. It's been some time. I
17 just can't -- I can't recall specific instances.
18 Q Just in a general sense, were you ever made aware before the policy was 19 announced, or is it your recollection that you were finding out basically when the public
20 was finding out?
21 A To the best of my recollection, it may have been shortly before, but by then,
22 it was a final product, essentially, is what I recall.
23 Q To your understanding, who is the final decision-maker who approves any 24 changes to the community guidelines?
25 A I can't speak to their specific approval process. Certainly, the CEO is overall

1 responsible for YouTube.

2 Q To your understanding, would these types of decisions be escalated to the

3 CEO?

4 Mr. Bopp. I'm sorry. When you say these types of decisions, what do you

5 mean?

6 [redacted] Decisions to change YouTube's community guidelines.

7 Mr. Bopp. And you're asking if they would typically be escalated to the CEO?

8 [redacted] Yeah, to his understanding.

9 [redacted]. I can't speak to the specific approval process.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q What about with the changes to the community guidelines as it relates to 12 elections? Was the Public Policy team looped into those discussions?

13 A I can't recall specific discussions that I may have had before that policy was 14 publicly available. I just can't recall.

15 Q What about generally?

16 A To the best of my recollection, shortly before the policy would be made

17 public, then I would be aware of this is -- this change is going to happen and it's going to 18 be publicly announced, is generally what I recall how that process went.

19 Q Are you familiar with the mechanics of how YouTube actually enforces the 20 community guidelines?

21 A At a high level, it was a combination of machine learning systems, as well as 22 people enforcing YouTube's policies. And by people, the Trust and Safety team would 23 be the primary folks who did that.

24 Q Given the huge volume of videos available on YouTube, did you have a sense

25 during your time with the company of what fraction, what percent of the enforcement

1 actions were handled by machine learning, as opposed to an individual on the Trust and
2 Safety team?
3 A To the best that I can recall -- and I think this is something that was on -- is 4 on YouTube's transparency reports -- to the best of my recollection, they provide some 5 metrics.
6 It's been a while, frankly, since I've looked at that. I can't respond to specifics.
7 But, broadly, it was my understanding it was overwhelming enforcement using machine
8 learning systems.
9 Q To your understanding, when a video, an account is subject to enforcement
10 under one of the community guidelines, are there opportunities for the individual 11 associated with the account to appeal or otherwise challenge the decision?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And at a high level, what's your understanding of what that process looks 14 like?
15 A At a high level, if content was removed, then that channel owner would be 16 notified via an email. And I can't recall the specific language, but it was something to 17 the effect of, "If you believe there has been a mistake, please click here, and you can 18 appeal the process."
19 And from what I can recall about YouTube's transparency reports, those specific 20 metrics of how often an appeal is received, as well as if a decision is overturned, that 21 information is on -- was on the YouTube transparency reports during my time at the
22 company.
23 Q To your understanding, was it the Trust and Safety team that would handle
24 appeals, or is it a separate team within YouTube?
25 A It's my understanding it was the Trust and Safety team.

1 Q Are you familiar with the term borderline content?
2 A Yes.
3 Q And as it relates to your work at YouTube, what does that term mean?
4 A At a high level, YouTube described borderline content as content that comes
5 close to but doesn't cross the line of violating YouTube's community guidelines.
6 Q Was this a term of art, or was there some sort of formal tag or something
7 within the company of what constituted borderline content?
8 A From what I can recall of my time at YouTube, it was a term used to describe
9 content, again, that came close to but doesn't cross the line of violating policies.
10 And from what I can recall during my time at YouTube, in terms of, I guess, how 11 that would be identified, YouTube had, at least during my time there, a forum where they 12 would seek basically external feedback in terms of helping identify content that could be 13 considered borderline content.
14 And it's my understanding that that was sort of an ongoing process.
15 Q Can you say a bit more about kind of each step of that process to your
16 understanding?
17 First, how is YouTube made aware of what content might fall into or might be
18 considered borderline content?
19 A From what I can recall during my time at YouTube, it was a lot of -- it was 20 feedback really that was a primary source of information in terms of helping YouTube
21 identify borderline content. That's really what I can recall.
22 I think YouTube had also published a few blog posts on the issue of borderline
23 content as well. It's been some time since I've specifically reviewed those, but those 24 blog posts have more information in terms of how YouTube considered borderline
25 content.

1 Q Feedback from whom?

2 A I can't speak to specific individuals because I was not part of that process.

3 But, again, at a high level, it was seeking external feedback.

4 I can't speak to specific individuals who would have participated in that process.

5 As a member of the Government Affairs and Public Policy team, I wasn't involved in the 6 details of that.

7 Q To your understanding, was there ever feedback provided by members of 8 the executive branch?

9 A As part of identifying borderline content?

10 Q Yes.

11 A Not that I'm aware of.

12 Q To your understanding, what types of groups or individuals would be

13 providing -- when you say there was feedback sought from external, from outside the 14 company, to your understanding, who was that, at a high level?

15 A As I mentioned, I wasn't part of that specific process, and so it's -- I'm just 16 not in a position to point to specific individuals or organizations. I would defer to 17 YouTube on that matter.

18 Q Once borderline content has been identified, walk me through your

19 understanding of the next step. There were discussions within the company that takes 20 place as to assess specific videos or to revisit the guidelines? What is being assessed?

21 A Again, in terms of the real details of how that worked, my primary

22 responsibilities were to engage with external stakeholders, and I just wasn't a part of that

23 detailed process. I would defer to YouTube Trust and Safety for more information on

24 that.

25 Q Did you ever get any questions from external stakeholders about this

1 process?

2 A Yes, I can -- yes. There were questions about how YouTube handles

3 borderline content.

4 Q Did you ever receive a briefing from the YouTube Trust and Safety team to 5 better understand of how this process worked?

6 A It's been some time. I mean, I had conversations related to the blog posts

7 and sort of at a high level of, again, what borderline content was.

8 In terms of the specifics, it's just been some time. I can't recall beyond, again,

9 sort of the high-level using external feedback from the forum that I mentioned.

10 Q To your understanding, does YouTube take any enforcement actions against

11 borderline content?

12 A I'm not sure what you mean by enforcement actions.

13 Q So if content violates community guidelines there are enforcement

14 measures that are available to YouTube that YouTube has an interest in carrying out? Is 15 that right?

16 A If content violates YouTube community guidelines, then, again, it could be 17 subject to removal.

18 Q For borderline content, are there any enforcement measures that borderline

19 content could be subject to?

20 A If content didn't violate YouTube's community guidelines, then it wasn't 21 removed.

22 Q Was it ever demoted?

23 A At a high level, YouTube -- this is something that YouTube described a lot

24 during my time in terms of -- they referred to it as the four R's of responsibility.

25 To the best of my recollection, it was remove content that violates YouTube

1 community guidelines; raise authoritative sources of authoritative information; reduce
2 visibility on borderline content; and then, finally, reward trusted creators. And that's 3 something that YouTube during my time spoke fairly extensively about publicly.
4 Q What does it mean to reduce visibility?
5 A I can't recall specifically in terms of specific definitions that were utilized.
6 To the best of my recollection, it was -- again, please forgive me. It's been some time.
7 But regarding recommendations, for example, of content, I think would generally fall in 8 that category.
9 Q And by recommendations, what does that mean in the context of YouTube?
10 A What are recommendations on YouTube? Is that your question?
11 Q Yes.
12 A Well, from what I recall, if you've seen a video on YouTube, there can be an 13 option to have content that can be recommended. And that's generally -- it was 14 generally content that would be related to a video that you had just viewed. At a high 15 level is how that worked.
16 Q What about search results the first time that you're searching YouTube, type
17 in, looking for a video? Would reduced visibility affect how search results appeared?
18 A It's my understanding that it may.
19 Q To your understanding, by what degree was visibility reduced for borderline
20 content?
21 A I'm sorry. Can you ask your question again, please?
22 Q Sure. Was there a metric or measurement? How did YouTube measure
23 by what degree visibility was reduced?
24 A To the best of my recollection, it was around recommendation of content.
25 I think it was -- again, it's been some time.

1 To the best of my recollection, it was seeking to reduce recommendations and
2 have recommendations below, I think, if I recall correctly, it was 0.5 percent of 3 nonsubscribed content, I believe was the term that was utilized in terms of 4 recommendations related to borderline content.
5 Q And what is, in this context -- first off, what does nonsubscribed content
6 mean?
7 A To the best of my recollection, it's what it says. It's if you're not subscribed
8 to a channel is typically how that would work.
9 Q And then the metric of 0.5 percent of nonsubscribed content, what does 10 that mean in this content of reducing visibility?
11 A Again, to the best of my recollection, it was, again, about seeking to not 12 recommend a content, seeking to use that 0.5 percent metric that I had previously
13 mentioned. I believe that's the correct metric that was utilized.
14 YouTube has published blog posts about that that have more information -- again,
15 it's been some time -- and I think they speak to that. I don't want to speculate further.
16 Again, it's been some time. So I would defer to YouTube's blog posts on that.
17 Q If it's limited to the 0.5, for the other 99.5 percent of the content that's being 18 recommended, if that's an accurate way of framing the question, is that only for 19 subscribed content, or is that both subscribed content and content that does not fall in 20 this borderline content category?
21 A To the best of my recollection, I think the 0.5 was really a goal. And to the 22 best of my recollection, it was on nonsubscribed channels. I can't recall other specific 23 metrics.
24 Q Okay. And just for -- 0.5 percent was nonsubscribed channels regarding 25 videos of the borderline content topic. Is that fair?

1 A To the best of my recollection, that's correct.
2 Q To your understanding, which subject areas or which topics were discussed
3 during your time with the company of potential categories of borderline content?
4 A I can't recall specific categories. To the best of my recollection, it was more
5 high level. If there's something specific that you might be referring to that could help
6 refresh my memory, I'm happy to try and answer.
7 Q Sure. So YouTube's community guidelines touch upon a huge number of 8 areas. We've talked about elections and COVID-19, but it's much broader than that. Is 9 that fair? Is that your understanding?
10 A That's fair.
11 Q Is borderline content, is that a term that relates to every potential section of 12 the community guidelines, or, to your understanding, did it apply to more just certain 13 categories within the YouTube community guidelines?
14 A It's my understanding it applied to everything.
15 Q Do you recall any discussions of what constitutes borderline content with 16 respect to the community guidelines regarding elections?
17 A In terms of specific examples? It's been some time. I can't recall.
18 Q Not necessarily specific examples, but just an issue that falls within the 19 election community guidelines section that was the type of issue where there were 20 discussions of whether it constituted borderline content.
21 A It's been some time. I can't recall.
22 Q Who at the company would be best able to answer that question?
23 A I haven't been at YouTube for more than a year. I know there's been some 24 turnover. I would defer to YouTube in terms of who would be the best person to 25 answer that question.

1 Q During your time at the company, if an external stakeholder came to you
2 with that question, who would you reach out to for better information?
3 A At the time I was at YouTube, I believe that individual was [redacted], I
4 believe is how you pronounce his last name.
5 Q What was [redacted] role?
6 A I can't recall his specific title, but, generally, he was someone that was very
7 familiar with that process during my time at YouTube.
8 Q Was he with the Trust and Safety team?
9 A I can't recall what specific team he was with. I would defer to YouTube for 10 his title and organization.
11 Q How frequently did you interact with [redacted] during your time at the
12 company?
13 A I would say not frequently. It's difficult to quantify, but I would say not
14 frequently.
15 Q In the context of COVID-19, do you remember what, at a high level, sorts of 16 issues fell within the scope of borderline content?
17 A Again, at a high level, borderline content is, again, something that would 18 come close to but doesn't quite cross the lines of violating policies. I can't think of 19 specific examples off the top of my head in terms of what would fall into that related to 20 COVID.
21 Q Do you know who [redacted] is? If I'm saying the last name correctly.
22 A Yes.
23 Q What was [redacted] role at the company?
24 A I can't recall her specific title, but she was on the Google Government Affairs
25 and Public Policy team.

1 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And what was his role at the company, to your understanding?

4 A To the best of my recollection, I can't recall his specific title, but it was my

5 understanding he was also on the Government Affairs and Public Policy team. But I

6 can't recall his specific portfolio or title.

7 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And what was his role at the company?

10 A I can't recall his specific title or his responsibilities, but I believe he was also 11 on the Public Policy team, but I can't recall what his specific title was.

12 Q The YouTube one or one of the other ones?

13 A I believe he was on the YouTube team.

14 Q How frequently did you interact with [redacted] during your time at the company?

15 A It's difficult to specifically quantify how often. Again, I'd say sort of on an 16 as-needed basis.

17 Q Of the different executive branch entities you interacted with, you

18 mentioned CISA and said it was a little bit less frequently than some of the other

19 executive branch agencies. Is that right?

20 A That's correct.

21 Q When you did interact with CISA as part of your role at YouTube, at a high

22 level, what was the purpose of those interactions?

23 A At a high level, I spoke with them on a handful of occasions related to an

24 information panel around the 2020 election. I can't recall the specific language in the 25 information panel, but it was something that was applied to all election-related content,

1 or certainly a wide variety, not just specific pieces of content.

2 And it provided a link. The information panel provided a link to CISA's website.

3 I can't recall the specifics. It was something along the lines of a rumor control website

4 to answer questions or provide information around the election process was generally my

5 recollection of that.

6 Q During your time at the company, did you participate in any standing

7 meetings with CISA?

8 A I can't recall having standing or regular meetings with CISA.

9 Q During your time with the company, did you have any interactions with the 10 FBI?

11 A I can't recall speaking with the FBI during my time at YouTube.

12 Q You mentioned the Global Engagement Center. During your time at the 13 company, what was the nature of your interactions with the GEC?

14 A Yes, it was -- we would speak, and their team would provide information on 15 and their thoughts on global disinformation, was generally the nature of the discussions.

16 Q Who from the GEC participated in these meetings?

17 A I can't recall specifically who from the GEC, but to the best of my

18 recollection, the primary point of contact was -- I believe his name was [redacted].

19 But I can't recall the other names of folks at the GEC.

20 Q During these interactions with the GEC, were you joined by anyone from the

21 company?

22 A Typically, yes, to the best of my recollection.

23 Q Who else would join from the company?

24 A I can recall [redacted] also joining and -- he's the main person I

25 remember. I can't recall other YouTube staff. I can't recall their names.

1 Q In your interactions with the White House as part of your role at the 2 company, who else in the company would most frequently join you for those
3 interactions?
4 A To the best of my recollection, [redacted]. I can't think of others
5 who -- typically [redacted]
6 Q And who was your primary point of contact in the White House?
7 A I don't know that I'd say a primary point of contact, but the, I guess, primary
8 individual, to the best of my recollection, was Rob Flaherty.
9 Q To your understanding, what was Mr. Flaherty's role within the White
10 House?
11 A To the best of my recollection, he was the digital director. I can't speak to 12 all of his roles and responsibility, but that was my understanding of his title.
13 Q Do you know who Andy Slavitt is?
14 A Yes.
15 Q To your understanding -- actually, let me take one step back.
16 Did you ever interact with Mr. Slavitt as part of your role at YouTube?
17 A I can recall Mr. Slavitt being on emails. I can't recall ever receiving an email
18 or speaking directly with Mr. Slavitt.
19 Q To your understanding, what was Mr. Slavitt's role within the White House?
20 A I can't recall his specific title, but it was something along the lines of COVID 21 coordinator, COVID task force coordinator, or something along those lines.
22 Q Besides Mr. Flaherty, do you recall who else you spoke to in the White
23 House as part of your role at YouTube?
24 A Aside from Mr. Flaherty, I can't recall speaking with other folks. I do recall
25 he would -- if an email was sent, other folks would be cc'd. But I can't recall having

1 other direct conversations with other folks. He's the main person that I can recall.
2 Q And when you were communicating with Mr. Flaherty, was it only over
3 email, or were there meetings or phone calls as well?
4 A I can't recall specific -- I can't recall phone calls, but Zoom meetings and 5 emails.
6 Q Do you recall if Mr. Flaherty was joined by any other White House staff
7 during the Zoom meetings?
8 A I can't recall specific -- other specific staff attending. They may have. I
9 recall speaking with Mr. Flaherty, and if other folks were present, I can't recall them
10 speaking during our discussions.
11 Q Do you recall when you first had interactions with Mr. Flaherty?
12 A To the best of my recollection, it was approximately 3 years ago, in the 13 April 2021 timeframe.
14 Q To your understanding, what occasion, what spurred the initial -- how did
15 you and Mr. Flaherty first get connected?
16 A I can't recall how specifically we got connected, but I do recall receiving an 17 email from him. I can't recall how specifically we got linked up. But I recall receiving 18 emails from him, again, in the April 2021 timeframe.
19 Q To your understanding, had Mr. Flaherty been having conversations with 20 others within the company prior to you and him being introduced the first time around in 21 April of 2021?
22 A To be clear, by the company, do you mean YouTube?
23 Q Alphabet, Google writ large.
24 A I can't speak to other conversations that folks may have had. I can just 25 speak to my conversations. And, again, to the best of my recollection, those began in

1 April of 2021.

2 Q To your understanding, was [redacted] having any meetings with

3 Mr. Flaherty prior to April 2021?

4 A I can't speak to her schedule or previous conversations that she may have

5 had that I wasn't a part of. Again, to the best of my recollection, my conversations

6 began with Mr. Flaherty approximately April of 2021.

7 Q I'm just trying to get a sense of -- so in April of 2021, you're connected with

8 Mr. Flaherty. Is there anyone within YouTube or within Google more broadly that has

9 had interactions with Mr. Flaherty that can give you some context, or is this an

10 out-of-the-blue sort of connection that was made?

11 A This was approximately 3 years ago. I just can't recall how I was introduced 12 to him.

13 Q What topics -- or why was Mr. Flaherty -- let me take one step back.

14 To your recollection, did he reach out to you, or did you try to get in contact with

15 Mr. Flaherty?

16 A To the best of my recollection, he reached out to me.

1 [1:03 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And to your recollection, what was the purpose of his outreach?

4 A From what I can recall, during his initial outreach it was conversations

5 related to COVID-19.

6 Q What about COVID-19?

7 A From what I can recall, Mr. Flaherty was interested in YouTube's community

8 guidelines related to COVID-19 and how those could be enforced. Again, it was broadly

9 COVID-19.

10 Q When was your last interaction with Mr. Flaherty during your time with the

11 company?

12 A I can't recall a specific date of when the last interaction was.

13 Q Do you recall any interactions during 2023 before you left?

14 A I can't recall any interactions during 2023 before I left.

15 Q How frequently did you interact with Mr. Flaherty following when you first 16 connected around April 2021?

17 A It's difficult to provide a specific number. I don't want to speculate. I

18 just -- I can't recall specifically how many times. It's been a little while.

19 Q Did you have interactions with Mr. Flaherty on, like, a regular cadence? Or 20 would it just come and go, depending on issues as they arose?

21 A I'd say it was difficult to say. I wouldn't describe it as a regular cadence. I

22 think just sort of occasionally. It's difficult for me, again, to specifically quantify how 23 many emails or conversations. It's been some time.

24 Q Would [redacted] join you for most communications with Mr. Flaherty?

25 A By communication, do you mean emails?

1 Q Emails, meetings, any sort of -- I can rephrase it.

2 A Yeah.

3 Q For the Zoom meetings you mentioned, would [redacted] join most of

4 those meetings?

5 A I can't recall if she was specifically present. To the best of my recollection, I

6 would make her aware. But I can't recall if she specifically attended.

7 Q Do you recall anyone else from the Google Government Affairs and Public

8 Policy team that attended meetings with the White House?

9 A From the Government Affairs and Public Policy team? It's been some time.

10 I can't recall specifically who else may have attended from that team.

11 Q What about from YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team, was 12 there anyone else from your team that joined in any meetings with the White House?

13 A Again, I didn't manage the team, so I didn't have a specific team that I

14 oversaw. I believe one other -- [redacted], I believe, may have attended. I can't 15 recall other specific names from the Public Policy team.

16 Q And what is [redacted] title -- or what was [redacted] title during

17 your time with the company?

18 A I can't recall her specific title.

19 Q Was she above you in the team? Was she also a manager?

20 A I can't recall her specific title. We were peers. But I can't recall her 21 specific title.

22 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

23 [Recess.]

24 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

25 EXAMINATION

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Good morning, [redacted].

3 I just have a couple of questions for you. I want to ask you a couple of follow-up

4 questions about your biographical background.

5 You mentioned that you worked for a number of Senators while you were here on 6 the Hill.

7 I just want to make a note for the record that all of the United States Senators you

8 mentioned were members of the Republican Party, correct?

9 A That is correct.

10 Q Okay. And I also want to thank you for your service in the United States

11 military.

12 So about your role as a public policy manager when you were in YouTube, you

13 never had a role in making content moderation policy. Is that correct?

14 A That's correct. Those decisions were made by the Trust and Safety team.

15 Q Okay. And you were asked a number of questions earlier in the first hour

16 kind of about specifics on how the guidelines were changed. That would be also a

17 matter for the Public Safety team, right?

18 A It's my understanding the Trust and Safety team --

19 Q Trust and Safety team.

20 A -- generally did those, yes.

21 Q So then it wouldn't be your role to make any kind of changes to the 22 guidelines. Is that correct?

23 A That's correct.

24 Q Okay. And you were also asked a number of questions about what it

25 means to be borderline content and how those decisions were made on what's borderline

1 and what isn't.

2 That wouldn't be your role. Is that correct?

3 A That's correct.

4 Q And it also wouldn't be your role to decide how YouTube actually took an

5 action against a piece of content, whether it's for removal, for enforcement of the 6 guidelines, or whether it's to take some other action because it's borderline content,

7 correct?

8 A That's correct. Again, the Trust and Safety team was responsible for 9 YouTube's community guideline enforcement.

10 Q Thank you. I just wanted to make sure that was clear for the record.

11 And also we just talked about how you're not a member of the Trust and Safety

12 team, or you were not when you were at YouTube, but you don't have any kind of 13 technical background that would give you an understanding of how the algorithms

14 actually work. Is that correct?

15 A I did not have any training in machine learning or anything like that.

16 Q And it wasn't your role at YouTube to actually understand how those 17 technical processes worked or to explain how those technical processes worked, correct?

18 A I'm sorry. Can you ask your question again, please?

19 Q It wasn't part of your role to really understand how any of the technical

20 processes worked in terms of the algorithms or the machine learning, so to speak,

21 correct?

22 A In terms of the specifics of that, that was outside of my field of expertise.

23 [redacted] So, for example, when you were asked about how enforcement or

24 how identification of violative content occurs, and I believe you answered that your

25 understanding at a high level was it's a combination of machine learning and human

1 action, you don't have an understanding of specifically how that machine learning works
2 to identify content.
3 [redacted]. Broadly speaking, I was not familiar with the real technical aspects of 4 it, but a high level generally familiar, again, that YouTube utilized both machine learning
5 and people to enforce their policies.
6 [redacted] Thank you.
7 [redacted] Thank you.
8 And on a broad level, was it your job to make sure there's effective
9 communication between YouTube and leaders in the government and other external
10 stakeholders?
11 [redacted]. At a high level, that's accurate.
12 [redacted] Thank you.
13 [redacted] How would you describe your responsibilities as a manager, your 14 former responsibilities as a public policy manager at YouTube?
15 [redacted]. Typically my responsibilities were to answer questions about 16 YouTube's policies and community guidelines to folks in the executive branch, the 17 legislative branch, and, as I stated, to sort of a lesser extent at State government levels if 18 there were questions around YouTube policies.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q And if there was a specific question that dealt with something in the realm of 21 Trust and Safety, you would be the person to kind of liaise between those departments
22 and the Federal official who had a question, for example. Is that fair?
23 A I'm not sure specifically what you mean by that. At a, again, at a broad 24 level, if there were questions, it was my responsibility to try to get answers to those 25 questions as quickly as possible.

1 Q That's fair. Thank you.

2 I'd like to -- you've testified before Congress before, correct?

3 A That is correct.

4 Q On what occasion did you testify?

5 A I testified when I was at YouTube to -- I can't recall the specific name of the 6 hearing, but it was an inter-parliamentary panel discussing anti-Semitism.

7 Q Okay.

8 A And then I had testified previously when I was at Twitter, as well.

9 [redacted] Okay. Thank you.

10 I'd like to introduce one exhibit from -- it's your written statement from the 11 Inter-Parliamentary Task Force. This will be exhibit 1.

12 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1

13 was marked for identification.]

14 [redacted] Are you familiar with this document?

15 [redacted]. Yes.

16 [redacted] Is this -- sorry. I'll give you a minute to familiarize yourself.

17 [redacted]. Oh, yes.

18 Mr. Bopp. And you can let us know if there's something in particular you want 19 us to focus on or we can do the whole thing.

20 [redacted] Yes, there is.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q So I would like to -- and just for foundation, did you write this?

23 I'm sorry. Let me rephrase.

24 If you flip to the last page, is that your signature under "[redacted]"?

25 A Yes, that is my signature.

1 Q And this is your testimony, for the record, before the task force, correct?

2 A That is correct.

3 Q Okay. I'd like to direct your attention to the second paragraph of the first

4 page where it's -- and it's the third line down, where it starts with "Failure to 5 consistently." And I'm just going to read it for the record.

6 "Failure to consistently take sufficient action to address harmful content not only

7 threatens the safety of our users and creators, it also threatens the safety of our

8 advertising partners' brands.

9 "We invest in the people and systems necessary to keep our community safe and

10 allow creativity to thrive by removing content that violates our policies or local laws

11 where we operate; connecting people to authoritative voices when they look for news

12 and information; and rewarding trusted, eligible creators and artists."

13 Did I read that correctly?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Thank you.

16 So it would be fair to summarize your testimony as follows: Harmful content on 17 the platform is bad for business. Correct?

18 Mr. Bopp. Do you want --

19 [redacted]. That's --

20 Mr. Bopp. Before we -- do you want to read more of this or are you familiar with 21 it enough to answer questions?

22 [redacted]. I'm familiar enough to answer the question.

23 I'm sorry. Can you rephrase your question --

24 [redacted] Sure.

25 [redacted]. -- or restate your question, please?

1 [redacted] Sure. I'm just asking, based on reading that specific passage, it'd
2 be fair to summarize that passage as: Harmful content on the platform is bad for 3 business. Is that fair to say?
4 [redacted]. Generally, that's fair.
5 [redacted] Okay. And I know the letter and purpose of this testimony was 6 directed to hate speech. But would you agree with me that misinformation can also be 7 a form of harmful content? For example, videos that promote untruths about the 8 effectiveness or safety of vaccines, that would harm the public, for example, right?
9 [redacted]. To the best of my recollection, again, YouTube had a number of 10 policies related to COVID that it sought to enforce impartially and consistently, regardless
11 of the speaker. And that's something in my time at YouTube that YouTube was fairly 12 effective at.
13 [redacted] Okay. I think we'll go off the record. I think that's all we have 14 for now.
15 [Discussion off the record.]
16 [redacted] We can go back on the record, please.
17 At the end of our first hour, we were starting to talk about your interactions with 18 the White House starting in --
19 Mr. Bopp. [redacted] I'm sorry. Just I meant, at the end of your last round, I meant 20 to say one thing. Could I please just quickly get it?
21 [redacted] Yeah, please.
22 Mr. Bopp. I just want to make clear, I believe you asked a question in the last 23 round to the effect whether [redacted] was aware of any requests from the executive 24 branch to YouTube to moderate content, something along those lines. I don't think we 25 need to go back to the beginning of the transcript.

1 I just want to make clear with [redacted] or actually ask him a clarifying question,
2 and that would be, in preparing for this interview, did you become aware of emails that
3 might be viewed as the executive branch reaching out to YouTube regarding particular
4 content?
5 [redacted]. Yes, I believe there may have been specific content in emails.
6 Mr. Bopp. Okay. So you, through preparing for this interview, you became 7 aware of certain emails where the executive branch may have been reaching out to you
8 and others at YouTube inquiring about specific content, correct?
9 [redacted]. That's fair.
10 Mr. Bopp. Okay. Okay.
11 [redacted] Thank you.
12 I'd like to start with this hour introducing exhibit No. 2.
13 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2
14 was marked for identification.]
15 [redacted] This will be an email from April 2021 from Mr. Flaherty to individuals
16 at the company. This will be exhibit 2.
17 Mr. Bopp. Are you ready?
18 [redacted]. Yes.
19 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
20 [redacted] If I could call your attention on the back page, which is Bates number 21 64122, there's an email from Mr. Flaherty with the time stamp of 3:01. He starts off as 22 saying he met with folks from Google about misinformation and COVID-19.
23 To your recollection, do you know who from Google he had -- he or others from 24 the White House had met with regarding misinformation and COVID-19?
25 [redacted] [redacted]. I'm not sure.

1 [redacted] The paragraph continues, and at the end he talks about -- asks about
2 the work that the company's doing to crack down on vaccine misinformation.
3 To your understanding, what did he mean by crack down on vaccine
4 misinformation?
5 [redacted]. Something --
6 Mr. Bopp. Just to be clear, are you asking for [redacted] understanding of what 7 Mr. Flaherty meant by cracking down on vaccine misinformation?
8 [redacted] That's right.
9 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
10 [redacted]. I can't recall any specific thoughts I had on the term crack down on 11 vaccine misinformation. I think my attention would have generally gone to what 12 Mr. Flaherty was primarily interested in. I can't recall any thoughts on what he 13 specifically meant on crack down on vaccine misinformation.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q If I could call your attention to the third bullet point, he talks about what 16 interventions you might currently be trying.
17 What did you understand Mr. Flaherty to mean by that?
18 A I can't recall specifically what I may have thought on that term. I think,
19 broadly speaking, if I had received a request I wasn't sure of I would just try to get a broad 20 variety of information related to the topic.
21 Q If you flip the page over, there are some folks with Google email addresses.
22 First, who is [redacted]?
23 A I do know [redacted]. I can't recall his specific title.
24 Q Do you understand which team was he with?
25 A I can't recall what specific team he was with.

1 Q Was he with the YouTube Public Policy team?

2 A Again, I can't recall specifically what team he was with, but I do recall he was

3 a colleague at broader Alphabet. But I just -- I can't recall specifically what team he was 4 on.

5 Q At the top of the email chain, there's an email from [redacted] date

6 stamped at 1:08 p.m. She mentions she's referring to earlier communications with 7 Mr. Flaherty and that Mr. Flaherty's questions were very YT, or YouTube, focused.

8 Do you recall receiving any readouts, communications, briefings from

9 [redacted] or anyone from the Google Government Affairs and Public Policy team

10 regarding Mr. Flaherty's questions about YouTube?

11 A I don't recall that specific conversation taking place.

12 Q What about generally?

13 A I -- again, this is from 2021 -- I just can't recall having a conversation. It

14 very well may have occurred. I just -- I simply can't recall what was discussed.

15 Q Okay. Do you recall, before meeting with the member of the White House

16 and being connected on this email chain, whether you were aware that the White House

17 was asking questions about YouTube? Or is this the first time you were hearing about

18 it?

19 Mr. Bopp. I want to make sure I understand your question. You're saying, in

20 April of 2021 was this the first time [redacted] was hearing about the content of this email or 21 was he already aware of White House concerns? Is that right?

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q Yeah, prior to April 12th, 2021, were you aware that the White House was

24 asking questions about YouTube?

25 A I can't recall the specific timeframe. But certainly April 2021, that

1 timeframe stands out as receiving questions from the White House on YouTube's
2 COVID-19 practices. I can't recall conversations prior to that timeframe.
3 Q Do you recall being surprised that the White House had questions about
4 YouTube's policies?
5 A I can't recall feeling one way or the other on the White House's interest.
6 Q Independent of this, what is the company's protocol when the Google
7 Government Affairs and Public Policy team is getting questions about YouTube?
8 A I can't say that there's a specific protocol. But, generally, a colleague would 9 reach out and inform me that there were questions from any stakeholder that they may 10 be meeting with regarding YouTube.
11 Q Okay. And do you recall anything like that occurring before April 12th of 12 2021?
13 A I just can't recall prior to the April timeframe.
14 Q After receiving this email, to your understanding, did a meeting take place
15 shortly thereafter with the White House?
16 A To the best of my recollection, I believe a meeting did occur shortly
17 thereafter. I can't recall the specific timeframe of how long after this timeframe, but I
18 do recall speaking with the White House in that timeframe.
19 Q Okay. And who attended that meeting from YouTube?
20 A Other than myself, I can't recall who else would have joined me. This was 21 over a Zoom call. So I just can't recall other colleagues being in those initial 22 conversations. It's been 3 years. I can't remember who else was there for the initial 23 conversations with the White House.
24 Q Who else from Google attended?
25 A I can't recall specifically who else, but it would have been likely that [redacted]

1 would have attended or she would have been aware that the meeting was taking place.
2 But I can't recall if she specifically attended or not.
3 Q Who attended from the White House?
4 A Aside from Mr. Flaherty, I can't recall anyone else speaking. There may 5 have been other folks on the call. Again, this was a Zoom call.
6 I recall Mr. Flaherty doing all of the speaking. I'm not sure if anyone else was 7 there and just didn't talk. But I do recall Mr. Flaherty doing all the speaking. I can't 8 remember if anyone else attended or asked questions or spoke during the meeting.
9 Q What did Mr. Flaherty say during the meeting?
10 A Broadly, it was around COVID-19 and YouTube's community guidelines. I 11 can't remember specifically what was discussed, but it was broadly around that topic.
12 Q How long did the meeting last for?
13 A I can't recall specific duration, but it's fair to say typically around 30 minutes.
14 It could have gone longer, but I'd say just a typical meeting done in 30-minute blocks to 15 the best of my recollection is what would have happened. Again, it could have been 16 longer. I can't recall a timeframe. But it would have been around that.
17 Q What was the tone of the meeting?
18 A I can't recall the tone as unique based off of conversations that I had had in 19 my roles and responsibilities. He asked a number of questions, but there was nothing 20 really about the tone that sticks out to me.
21 Q What questions did he ask?
22 A Again, I can't recall specific questions, but it was around COVID-19 and
23 YouTube's community guidelines.
24 Q Did he ask about the scope of YouTube's community guidelines?
25 A Again, I can't recall specifics, but it would have -- it was around COVID-19

1 and YouTube's policies, was the general topic of the conversation, as has been indicated
2 in this email. But I just -- I can't recall specifically what he asked during that call.
3 Q Did he indicate whether he thought the scope of YouTube's community
4 guidelines were sufficient to address content regarding COVID-19?
5 A I'm sorry. Can you restate that question, please?
6 Q Sure. So he's asking questions about your recollection, broadly, about 7 YouTube's community guidelines related to COVID-19. Was he trying to understand the 8 boundaries of the community guidelines, what fell in, what fell out?
9 Mr. Bopp. Again, you're asking Mr. Kane what his understanding was of what 10 Mr. Flaherty was trying to understand, right?
11 [redacted] That's right.
12 [redacted]. Again, it was broadly around COVID. I can't remember specific 13 topics, but I do recall he asked a lot of questions. I can't remember specifically what 14 those questions were 3 years after the fact, but it was, frankly, fairly typical in my roles
15 and responsibilities of engaging external stakeholders who had questions around
16 YouTube's policies.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Did you take notes during this meeting?
19 A I can't recall taking specific notes during the meeting.
20 Q Do you generally take notes -- or did you generally take notes during your 21 time at the company with meetings with the White House?
22 A I don't know that I took notes. I can't recall specific notes that were used.
23 But to the best of my recollection, I would have shared broadly what was discussed.
24 But I don't recall taking specific notes. I would just listen and sort of share what 25 was discussed broadly internally, but I didn't have specific notes.

1 Q Who internally would you share a readout or what was discussed in a
2 meeting like this one?
3 A Again, this has been over 3 years ago. But, generally speaking, I would 4 have made my manager aware of the conversation. I can't speak to others. But 5 typically I would have looped my manager in just to make sure she was aware.
6 Q What about anyone from the Google Government Affairs and Public Policy
7 office?
8 A It's possible. I can't recall specifically. It's possible. It's been some time.
9 I can't recall who I had sent emails to.
10 Q And independent of this meeting, just generally, if you have a meeting with 11 the White House, who needs to be informed within the company?
12 A I mean, I would, again, certainly make my manager aware. There wasn't 13 specific rules determining who had to be notified, to the best of my knowledge. So it 14 was sort of up to my judgment in terms of how that conversation was shared.
15 Q And in your judgment, who would be the appropriate individuals to share 16 that information with?
17 Mr. Bopp. Are you talking about specifically this meeting --
18 [redacted] Just generally --
19 Mr. Bopp. -- or generally?
20 [redacted] -- meetings with the White House.
21 [redacted]. Again, as I mentioned, typically I would have informed my manager.
22 I could have also informed [redacted] But I -- it's been some time. I can't specifically recall 23 who I had sent those emails to.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q During the initial call with Mr. Flaherty, did he bring up interventions that

1 YouTube might be trying?

2 A As is indicated in this email, that was a topic of interest. It's very likely he

3 did, but I can't recall specifically what he would have asked.

4 Q Do you recall any points during the meeting where he indicated that he

5 thought YouTube's policies or the enforcement of those policies was unsatisfactory?

6 A I recall Mr. Flaherty having a number of questions. I can't recall specifically

7 how he would have felt, but I do recall that there was interest and he asked a number of

8 questions.

9 Q Okay. Well, if there's a discussion about -- if he has an interest and there's

10 a discussion here about the policies, was he generally indicating that he thought YouTube

11 was taking down too much content, was not taking down enough content?

12 Mr. Bopp. You're talking about the meeting, this specific meeting?

13 [redacted] Yes.

14 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

15 [redacted]. There was nothing that really stands out to me from this meeting.

16 Again, he asked a lot of questions. I can't recall remembering specifically how he felt. I

17 do recall there was a high degree of interest, but I can't recall or categorize specifically

18 how he felt. It's just been some time.

19 [redacted] What led you to understand that there was a high degree of interest?

20 [redacted]. Well, that he had asked a number of -- he wanted to discuss a number

21 of topics and meet soon. So that just sort of indicated to me that there was interest.

22 Mr. Bopp. You're referring to the email.

23 [redacted]. I'm referring to this specific email.

24 Mr. Bopp. So exhibit 2.

25 [redacted] Correct.

1 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Was there anything during the meeting that suggested a high degree of

4 interest?

5 A As I mentioned, I mean, he asked a lot of questions. And typically that

6 would indicate that someone has a high degree of interest.

7 Q At any point during the meeting did he bring up concerns related to vaccine

8 hesitancy?

9 A I can't -- it's possible. I can't recall specifically, again, the topics of this

10 meeting from April 12th, 20 -- or -- excuse me -- when this meeting was scheduled. I

11 just -- I can't recall.

12 Q We can take these back.

13 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3

14 was marked for identification.]

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q This will be exhibit 3. It's an email from Mr. Flaherty to several individuals

17 at the company, dated April 22nd, 2021.

18 A Okay.

19 Q Do you recall receiving this email?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And, generally, does this describe broadly what you recall talking to 22 Mr. Flaherty about in that initial call?

23 A Broadly, that's probably accurate.

24 Q I'd like to call your attention to the paragraph where he says, "To recap."

25 A I'm sorry. Oh, yeah, okay, I see it.

1 Q Near the top there.

2 A Yes.

3 Q A little bit in, he says, "We remain concerned that YouTube is 'funneling'

4 people into hesitance and intensifying people's hesitancy."

5 To your understanding, what did Mr. Flaherty mean by funneling in this context?

6 A I can't recall, receiving this email, specifically what I thought. I think my

7 attention went to the things that -- a couple other things that he wanted to discuss, as

8 indicated in the bullets. I can't recall specifically reading that statement or what my

9 reaction was.

10 Q Okay. Sitting here today, what does the term funneling mean in this

11 context?

12 Mr. Bopp. So, again, just to be clear on the record, you're asking [redacted] what 13 he believed was meant by funneling which was written by somebody else.

14 [redacted] Yes.

15 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

16 [redacted]. It's difficult for me to provide a good definition of what he was

17 referring to.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Independent of your meeting with Mr. Flaherty, have you had any

20 conversations -- or did you have any conversations during your time at the company

21 about how YouTube may funnel people and what that would mean in this context?

22 A I can't recall using the term funneling. Again, I'm not sure what he

23 specifically was referring to. You know, as I previously mentioned, YouTube utilized

24 its -- the four pillars of responsibility, the four R's, in terms of addressing content. I

25 just -- I can't recall using that term.

1 Q Okay. So you're serving as YouTube's primary representative to interface
2 with the White House. You received an email from the White House using this term and
3 you don't know what Mr. Flaherty means by it?
4 A Again, to the best of my recollection from April 22nd, 2021, my attention
5 was on the follow-up items I've discussed. I can't recall having feelings about that term.
6 Q I'm not asking about feelings. I'm just asking your understanding of what 7 the term means in this context.
8 A Funneling was just not a term that I used. I would defer to Mr. Flaherty for 9 what he meant. I don't want to speculate on his words in this email.
10 As was mentioned, it was my responsibility during the time at YouTube to provide 11 information and transparency on YouTube's work related to content moderation. And 12 so I wanted to make sure that I was going to work to answer those questions to the best
13 of my ability.
14 Q So, in addition, as part of your responsibilities at the company, sharing
15 information about YouTube to the White House, was it also within the scope of your 16 responsibilities to share what the White House was telling YouTube?
17 A As was indicated, a number of my colleagues were on this email as well, to 18 include my manager. So folks were certainly aware of this email at the company.
19 Q Did anyone else seem to know what the term funneling meant?
20 A I can't recall any specific conversations about that specific term from April 21 22nd, 2021.
22 Q Okay. Generally?
23 Mr. Bopp. Are you asking him what funneling means generally? I mean, he 24 doesn't know what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling here. I think we've established
25 that.

1 If you want to talk about more generally what the -- what he understood this
2 email to mean or the significance of the email, I'm sure [redacted] can answer your
3 questions. But he doesn't know what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling.
4 [redacted] Okay. Well, we've asked who else attended the meeting. There
5 was an email shortly after the meeting where discussions took place and the White House
6 is communicating their understandings.
7 In the second line of the email, the White House chooses to call attention to this
8 issue of funneling people into hesitance.
9 And so the committee's asking the recipient of the email and who was on the 10 call --
11 Mr. Bopp. Uh-huh.
12 [redacted] -- what the White House meant?
13 Mr. Bopp. Uh-huh.
14 [redacted]. Again, this is from 3 years ago. I just -- I can't recall.
15 Mr. Bopp. And, look, if we talk maybe a little more generally about did you take 16 this -- so looking at the first paragraph, or the paragraph that starts, "To recap," did you
17 take this to be a reflection of Mr. Flaherty being concerned about that YouTube might not 18 be doing enough to prevent information that creates vaccine hesitancy, something along
19 those lines?
20 Is that a fair question?
21 [redacted]. That's probably fair. But, again, I can't recall any conversations
22 regarding Mr. Flaherty's specific use of this term. I just can't recall.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Independent of this first meeting, do you recall any interactions with 25 Mr. Flaherty where he seemed to believe that how YouTube's recommendations worked

1 would lead people to view more content that expressed vaccine hesitancy?

2 A I'm sorry. Can you restate your question, please?

3 Q Sure. In any interaction that you've had with Mr. Flaherty, did he ever

4 express concerns that how YouTube's recommendations worked would lead individuals to 5 view more content that expressed hesitancy or skepticism of vaccines?

6 A It's possible. I just -- I can't specifically recall that.

7 Again, Mr. Flaherty had indicated -- he asked a lot of questions on YouTube's work

8 and policies, and I wanted to make sure that those questions were properly responded

9 to.

10 Q I'm trying to act in good faith here. If the company wants to respond in 11 good faith --

12 A Yeah.

13 Q -- and address the White House's concerns, isn't a part of that understanding

14 what the White House is trying to tell you?

15 A Well, again, to the best of my recollection, I think my attention went more

16 towards the bullet point questions. And that's, again, what I recall working to get 17 follow-up answers on.

18 Mr. Bopp. Can we take one minute?

19 [redacted] Yeah. Can we go off the record, please?

20 [Discussion off the record.]

21 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

22 Mr. Bopp. Why don't I -- can I ask a question?

23 [redacted] Yes.

24 Mr. Bopp. Okay. [redacted], in your interactions with Mr. Flaherty around this 25 time, was it your understanding that Mr. Flaherty appeared to be expressing some

1 concern about YouTube perhaps, in his view, not doing enough to combat content that
2 promoted vaccine hesitancy?
3 [redacted]. Yes. I mean, he indicates in this email he expressed concern.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q Yeah. We all have the email.
6 A Yeah.
7 Q Do you recall that being raised in your meetings with Mr. Flaherty?
8 A It's very likely it was.
9 Q At the bottom of the first paragraph, so the "To recap," the one that starts
10 with "To recap," at the last sentence, he says, "This is a concern that is shared at the 11 highest (and I mean highest) levels of the White House," W.H. in the email.
12 What did you understand him to mean by this?
13 A It's likely he was referring to senior folks at the White House. He doesn't 14 say specifically who. So I can't say specifically who he's referring to. But I would defer
15 to Mr. Flaherty for who he was specifically referring to there.
16 Q Is it not in YouTube's interest to try to assess what levels of the White House
17 are interested in this issue?
18 A It was in my interest, as is all my interactions with anyone in government,
19 regardless of the office or title, I wanted to be diligent and responsible and accurate with 20 the information that I provided in response to their questions.
21 Q Did this language call attention -- excuse me -- did this language catch the 22 attention of anyone else from the company included on this email?
23 A I can't speak to if it caught other YouTube employees' attention. I could 24 speak for myself.
25 And, again, because YouTube community guidelines are impartial, regardless of

1 the speaker or, again, regardless of whomever may be asking questions, we wanted to
2 make sure -- it was my job to make sure that those questions were responded to in a very
3 timely manner with accurate information in response to questions.
4 Q Why do you think Mr. Flaherty included that language in this email?
5 A I can't speculate on his intent as to why he specifically included that
6 language. Again, I viewed it as my responsibility, regardless of title or office, that I
7 wanted to work to make sure that questions were responded to as quickly as possible
8 with accurate and as thoroughly as possible to get them what they needed.
9 Q You've worked inside and outside of government. What is the significance
10 when more senior figures are interested in an issue?
11 A I'm not sure what you mean.
12 Q Mr. Flaherty is including language that this is shared, that the concern is 13 shared at the highest levels of the White House.
14 Independent of this email, just generally, what is the significance when a concern
15 is shared by the highest levels of an organization?
16 A I can't speak for others at YouTube, but I can speak for myself in that I took 17 all requests seriously, regardless of office, position, or title. I tried to work to make sure,
18 again, that I was responsive and I was thorough and I provided as much information as I 19 possibly could.
20 So in speaking for myself, again, I can't -- the title of an individual or who they 21 might be is not something that I factored in because YouTube's community guidelines are 22 impartial.
23 So, again, as a public policy professional, I wanted to respond and answer
24 questions as quickly as I possibly could and turn information around as fast as possible.
25 Q So it's your testimony that you would respond to questions with the same degree of urgency whether the request was coming from the President or an intern.

A Again, it was my practice that, regardless of whomever someone might be or what their title was, because YouTube's community guidelines are impartial, I tried to work to bring that same degree of impartiality in response to questions.

Mr. Bopp. Can I ask a quick question?

[redacted] Yes.

Mr. Bopp. Was it of any significance to you that Mr. Flaherty was invoking the highest levels of the White House?

[redacted]. It's not something that really stood out to me. Again, regardless of the speaker, I wanted to make sure that I did whatever I could to be as timely in my responses, whether that was a meeting request or if someone sent an email. I tried to work to respond and put that same sense of urgency and that same degree of seriousness in my responses.

1

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q In your experience at YouTube, were concerns expressed by more senior

4 members of the government handled with a greater degree of urgency than requests

5 from lower members?

6 A Again, I tried to put that same sense of urgency --

7 Q I'm not asking about you. The question was your experience in the 8 company, how the company responded.

9 A It was my experience that my colleagues also tried to be as diligent and 10 timely as they could in their responses, as well.

11 I can't speak for specifically how they handled every issue, but I wanted to make

12 sure that I was being diligent in my responsibilities in answering questions and providing 13 information, regardless of whomever they might be.

14 Q At any point during your meetings with Mr. Flaherty was there a point where

15 you or someone from the company felt it necessary for someone from the Trust and 16 Safety team to brief the White House directly?

17 A I do recall, I believe it may have been in response to this email, asking

18 [redacted], who was YouTube's -- I can't recall what his specific title was, but

19 generally it was head of Global Health -- and [redacted], because Mr. Flaherty had 20 asked questions on this.

21 So I do recall reaching out to those colleagues to answer questions broadly. I

22 didn't view it as that unusual. If I wasn't the subject matter expert, again, in wanting to

23 be thorough, I don't think it would have been uncommon to either ask questions of my

24 colleagues or if I need to bring in someone else to ask to help answer questions.

25 Q At any point did you or anyone from the company ask Mr. Flaherty what he meant by the highest levels of the White House?

A I can't recall specifically asking that question.

Q Do you recall any internal discussions with the company regarding, whether from this email or otherwise expressed to the company, that this was a concern shared by the highest levels of the White House?

A I can't recall that happening.

Mr. Bopp. But in preparing for this interview, do you recall seeing emails reflecting internal communications about this email we're looking at in exhibit 3?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] Okay. We'll get to those.

[redacted]. Sure.

[redacted] Turning to the bullet points. The second bullet point talks about a request from Mr. Flaherty about "a deeper dive on reduction and its effectiveness." He mentions someone on your team that said that YouTube had reduced watch time by 70 percent on "borderline" content.

Do you recall discussions during the initial meeting with Mr. Flaherty about borderline content?

1 [12:20 p.m.]

2 [redacted]. If it's indicated in this email, then I have no reason to doubt that

3 that -- that topic didn't come up.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q He asked a question, "How does that track with vaccine-related content

6 specifically?" And then in parentheses, "(removing the UFO stuff)."

7 What is Mr. Flaherty referring to by "removing the UFO stuff"?

8 Mr. Bopp. Again, to your understanding.

9 [redacted]. To the best of my understanding, I think, you know, broadly in 10 discussing borderline content, conspiracy theories, something like that may have come

11 up. So that's -- that might be what he's referring to. I -- I can't recall. But I think

12 generally sort of speaking about conspiracy theories, things like that may be what he'd be

13 referring to.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q The next bullet point says, "I appreciated your unequivocal response that 16 you are not recommending anti-vaccine content."

17 Do you remember you or anyone else on the call making that, sort of, unequivocal

18 statement?

19 A As a matter of practice, I generally refrain from making unequivocal

20 statements. So that's something I -- again, as a matter of practice, that's something I

21 would generally stay away from, making unequivocal statements, you know, across

22 YouTube.

23 I think I would -- I was, again, just sort of, as a matter of practice, speaking more

24 broadly in terms of the four R's, the four pillars of responsibility. So I can't say that I

25 specifically made that statement because that's something that I -- just as a matter of

1 practice, I didn't typically do.

2 Q Do you remember reading this email and being concerned that the White

3 House appears to have understood that YouTube provided the unequivocal response that

4 the company is not recommending anti-vaccine content?

5 A I'm sorry. Can you ask that again, please?

6 Q Sure. Do you recall being concerned that the White House appeared to

7 indicate that the White House understood YouTube had provided an unequivocal

8 response that the company was not recommending anti-vaccine content?

9 A I can't remember feeling specifically concerned. I think -- I think

10 broadly -- what I can recall from this exchange is wanting to follow up with a sense of

11 urgency as I've described that I tried to provide anyone who asked has questions and

12 follow up with information. I can't recall specifically feeling one way or the other about 13 that sentence.

14 Q The next bullet point says, "I feel like I'm not coming away with a very clear 15 picture of how you're measuring the effectiveness of uplifting authoritative information."

16 Do you recall Mr. Flaherty expressing a similar sentiment during the meeting with 17 you?

18 A I think broadly he expressed -- he expressed concern, and that probably

19 applied to -- to this as well. I mean, I can't speak specifically to his intent. As is 20 indicated, there was interest, and he had expressed concern.

21 Q The bottom of the email, there's -- it says, "We are excited to continue to

22 partner with you on this work as we have via [redacted] and [redacted]

23 Who is he referring to by [redacted] and [redacted]

24 A That would have been [redacted], who is also on this email, as well as 25 [redacted], who I can see is also on this email.

1 Q On the back of the page, the end of the email, he said, I'm -- he writes, "I'm
2 feeling a bit like I don't have a full sense of the picture here."
3 Did he articulate a similar concern during your first meeting?
4 A Again, he expressed concern and was very interested in -- you know, wanted
5 to ask additional questions to get more information. So I think that that probably 6 provided the sense that he didn't have a full picture, and I wanted to work to answer
7 those questions.
8 Q He also writes, "We speak with other platforms on a semi-regular basis."
9 To your understanding at the time, which other platforms was the White House 10 talking to?
11 A I can't speak to specific platforms, but I mean, I'm going -- if he's -- if he's 12 referring to speaking to other platforms, it was likely the major platforms. I can't speak
13 to specifically which ones he's referring to, but very likely, the other big social media
14 platforms.
15 Q Do you recall him ever mentioning whether the White House was talking to 16 Facebook or Twitter?
17 A He may have. I can't -- he may have.
18 Q To your understanding -- so there's -- Mr. Flaherty references discussing
19 borderline content.
20 To your understanding, what was the White House's concerns as it related to
21 borderline content?
22 A Well, I think, as Mr. Flaherty indicated, he just seemed to have a lot of 23 questions in terms of really understanding what that term meant and just -- again, I think,
24 as expressed, he had concern, probably, with content. And so I think he just wanted
25 to -- again, to really understand more and ask questions of what that meant.

1 Mr. Bopp. Are you going to refer to this again?

2 [redacted] It's possible. You can hand it back.

3 Mr. Bopp. We'll hold on to it.

4 [redacted] This will be exhibit 4.

5 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 4

6 was marked for identification.]

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q It's an email chain from April 23rd, 2021, between the White House and

9 [redacted].

10 A Okay.

11 Q Do you recall sending this response to Mr. Flaherty?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Do you recall -- I'm going to take one step back.

14 For an email like this, would you typically work with others in the company

15 preparing a draft of this response email?

16 A To the best of my recollection, I -- to the best of my recollection, I was

17 responsible for an overwhelming majority of this content. I think with regards to the 18 Google Trends tool, candidly, that's not something I was really that familiar with at the

19 time, so I think I may have asked a colleague, you know, What would be a good way to 20 respond to this?

21 But to the best of my recollection, I provided information that was publicly

22 available, as is indicated for phrases and words that are underlined. That provided a link

23 to a publicly available website. So there was a lot of publicly available information

24 already.

25 And so, I think that's why, again, I would -- I have drafted, again, to the best of my

1 recollection, overwhelming majority of this email without any other input from other
2 colleagues at the company.
3 Q Which colleague would you have reached out to to get more information
4 about Google Trends?
5 A I can't recall specifically who. But typically, if I had questions like that, I
6 would have gone to [redacted]. She had been at the company longer than me and 7 was someone who I would have asked questions.
8 I can't say I did it in this specific case, but it would have been likely that I did.
9 Q Did YouTube share any nonpublic information with the White House?
10 A In this email, is that what you're referring to?
11 Q Yes.
12 A If I can go point by point, if that's okay.
13 Q Sure.
14 A So with regard to first bullet point, again, that links out to a website that 15 would have been something that was publicly available. I can't recall specifically if the 16 89 percent was on that or not. I believe it was. But again, for -- that fact sheet was 17 something that was publicly available. That's why I was linking it out.
18 On the second bullet point, that over here, again, would have linked out to 19 something that's publicly available, as well as the COVID medical misinformation policy.
20 That was publicly available. With regard to enforcements and penalties, that was 21 publicly available.
22 On the third bullet point, the Google Trends tool, again, that's something I wasn't 23 that familiar with. But that is something that's publicly available, and I -- the last 24 sentence of the third bullet for COVID-19, again, that would have linked out directly to 25 that Google Trends tool that's publicly available.

With regard to the fourth bullet, that information was publicly available. And, again, I indicated I was going to follow up with the team to discuss further. Oh, if I can go back to the fourth bullet, the PDF that explains the signals that we take into consideration when recommending content, to the best of my recollection, that was also publicly available.

I'm not sure if that was on a website. But to the best of my recollection, that information was publicly available. And again, YouTube had also published blogs regarding recommendations and signals, and I think there's a few of those available as well.

The blog post on the next page, YouTube blogs were public from [redacted] and I think I summarized what was contained in that blog post, and linking out to a website that would have been publicly available for "Here is a comprehensive list of some of our current test features and experiments." And I reference something that was specifically referred to in that link.

"How YouTube works" is also publicly available. And then finally, linking out to the transparency report and the Violative View Rate, at the time, that was something that was recently made publicly available. I can't recall exactly when that happened, but at the time of this email, that would have been publicly available.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

1 [1:21 p.m.]

2 [redacted] We'll go on the record.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q [redacted], in the previous hour you were shown a couple of emails and asked

5 specific questions about the -- I just want to ask a couple of follow-up questions. If I

6 could direct your attention to what was marked as exhibit 2.

7 [redacted] Did you take all the exhibits back?

8 Mr. Bopp. I got it.

9 [redacted] For the record, this was the -- I'm going to identify it for the record

10 by HJC-GOOG-00064121 through 61- -- 64122.

11 [redacted]. This one?

12 Mr. Bopp. Yes.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q [redacted], I'd like to direct your attention to the second page of this where 15 Mr. Flaherty sends the email on April 12, 2021, at 3:01 p.m.

16 A Yes.

17 Q I just want to clarify for the record that Mr. Flaherty was not, in any way, 18 pointing out a specific content that he wanted you to take action on. Is that correct?

19 A As indicated in this email, he did not reference any specific piece of content.

20 So there's nothing specifically mentioned or referenced in this email.

21 Q Thanks. And he wasn't asking you to take any particular action generally.

22 Is that correct?

23 A Again, I can't recall the specific discussion. Again, broadly, it was around

24 COVID.

25 Q Sure.

1 A I can't recall specific actions, again. I wanted to work to try to answer
2 these questions, or whatever he might have.
3 Q Okay. And what I'm trying to get at, [redacted], is this email -- it's fair to 4 characterize this email as requests for information generally. Is that fair?
5 A That's fair.
6 Q I'd like to draw your attention to what was marked for the record as exhibit
7 3. For the record, that is the email from Rob Flaherty dated April 22nd, 2021. The 8 Bates is HJC-GOOG-00013549 through 13550.
9 Do you recall being asked about this email in the last hour, [redacted]?
10 A Yes.
11 Q Okay. I want to ask a couple of follow-up questions about this. You were 12 asked extensively about the sentence in the first -- the first full paragraph that says, "This 13 is a concern that is shared at the highest (and I mean highest) levels of the White House."
14 I want to ask you, did you understand this phrase, "Highest (and I mean highest),"
15 to be any kind of threat that adverse actions would be taken against you or the company
16 if you didn't take a particular action?
17 A I can't recall taking this sentence as a threat.
18 Q Thank you. And did you understand this phrase to be coercive in any way
19 to you or to the company?
20 A Again, as I mentioned, I was more focused on some of the questions that 21 were outlined in the bullets below, and I wanted to make sure I was working diligently to 22 respond to these questions.
23 Q Okay. But you don't have any recollection of taking this as a -- as coercion
24 from the White House that your company take a specific action?
25 A I have no recollection of taking this sentence that way.

1 Q Okay. Thank you. And I know that you spent an extensive amount of 2 time in the last hour going through every specific -- well, most of this email, if you want to 3 take a couple minutes to refresh yourself.
4 But the question that I have is, generally, Rob Flaherty, in this email, is not
5 asking -- is not pointing to any type of specific content that he would like the -- YouTube
6 to take action on. Is that fair?
7 A He does mention a BuzzFeed article.
8 Q Okay.
9 A That, as is indicated, brings up questions. But again, in terms of specific 10 content, what I can recall and, again, in reviewing this email, is he asked a lot of 11 questions.
12 Q Okay. Did he ask you to take any specific action to remove any content in 13 this email?
14 A Let me review each bullet line by line again.
15 Q Okay.
16 Mr. Bopp. I'm sorry. Was the question whether it was [redacted]
17 understanding that Mr. Flaherty was asking for specific content to be moderated, or was 18 it broader than that?
19 [redacted] I think that's fair.
20 [redacted]. In this email, he did not ask for specific pieces of content to be 21 moderated on YouTube.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Okay.
24 A He was asking questions about broader policies, trends, things like that.
25 Q That's fair. Thank you.

1 And it's fair to characterize this email as more of a request for information about
2 YouTube's policies. Is that a fair characterization?
3 A I wouldn't dispute that.
4 Q Okay. And if you flip to the second page, you were asked is, you
5 know -- this language, "I'm feeling a bit like I don't have a full sense of the picture here.
6 We speak with other platforms on a semi-regular basis."
7 Do you recall being asked about those sentences?
8 A Yes. I can see that request in this email.
9 Q Okay. I guess my question is, do you -- did you characterize that specific 10 language as being a threat in any way that Mr. Flaherty or the White House would take 11 action against you or YouTube if he didn't take a specific course of action?
12 Mr. Bopp. Just to clarify, you're asking whether [redacted] took these two 13 sentences you just referenced as a threat?
14 [redacted] That's correct.
15 [redacted]. And just to be clear, the sentence, "I am feeling a bit like I don't have 16 a full sense of the picture here. We speak with other platforms on a semi-regular basis.
17 We'd love to get in this habit with you. Perhaps biweekly?"
18 To the best of my recollection, I did not take that as a threat.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q Did you take that as coercion in any way by the White House?
21 A To the best of my recollection, I did not take that as coercion. It would 22 appear that he was asking for information and to have regular discussions.
23 Q Thank you. And now just more broadly as to exhibit 3 as a whole, is there 24 anything in exhibit 3 that you could point to that you would have taken as a threat or 25 coercion by the White House?

A I can't recall, upon receiving this email, that I took any contents as a threat. Again, this -- from what I can recall from receiving this email, there are a number of questions around broad policies. And as I've stated previously, I wanted to work to make sure that questions were answered in a complete way as quickly as possible.

Q Thank you, [redacted]. Just for the -- a point. You mentioned that you didn't perceive it -- or you didn't recall it being a threat to you, but do you -- is there anything in exhibit 3 in the email that you would constitute to be coercion by the White House that YouTube should take a particular course of action?

A I didn't view it that way. I viewed this -- again, in looking at the bullet points and the broad questions that were asked in these bullet points, I wanted to, basically, get to the point in responding to these questions with thorough and complete answers to the best of my ability.

Q So the answer is no, correct?

A Correct.

Q Thank you.

[redacted] Do you have anything?

[redacted] No.

[redacted] Okay. We'll go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] Can we go back on the record, please.

BY [redacted]

Q [redacted], I want to pick back up from some of the questions from the previous round. You were asked a few different ways about whether you interpreted certain parts of an email from Mr. Flaherty as threats or as coercive. I wanted to try to clarify your answer a little bit.

1 In your testimony, are you saying that it is your recollection at the time that you
2 did not understand parts of that email to be coercive or to constitute a threat, or are you
3 saying you don't have a memory today, either way, whether you understood any parts of 4 that email to be coercive or part of a threat?
5 A To the best of my recollection at that time, I did not take the contents of that
6 email at that time as coercive or a threat, and I feel the same today.
7 Q Okay. We spent quite a bit of time going through that email. And it's 8 your testimony that you were unable to recall a number of factors of how you felt,
9 responded to various parts of the email, but you do feel you're in a position to address
10 whether you understood parts of that email to be coercive. Is that correct?
11 A Again, I didn't feel at the time -- there was nothing in that email that stood
12 out for me then, and in reviewing it now, I didn't feel that that was a threat to me.
13 Q Well, not to you personally, but to the company?
14 A I didn't take it that way.
15 Q Can we have exhibit 64.
16 Mr. Bopp. Can I ask just a quick clarifying question. Just to be clear, you don't 17 know what Mr. Flaherty meant by the language he used in that email, correct?
18 [redacted]. That's correct. I think Mr. Flaherty would be better suited to answer
19 that question.
20 [redacted] This will be exhibit 5.
21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 5
22 was marked for identification.]
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q This is an internal Google YouTube email from April 22nd, 2021.
25 A Okay.

1 Q Do you recall sending this email?

2 A Probably in reviewing it again, I can recall typing this email.

3 Q In the first sentence, you say, "There's a very high degree of interest coming

4 from the White House."

5 What was the basis of your conclusion that there was a high degree of interest

6 coming from the White House?

7 A I just think the number of questions indicated a high degree of interest.

8 Q You say in the next sentence, "Unfortunately, the role of tech in addressing 9 vaccine hesitancy is about to come under a massive spotlight."

10 What led you to believe that the role of tech in addressing vaccine hesitancy was 11 about to come under a massive spotlight?

12 A I can't recall what specifically led me to that conclusion in typing this email.

13 I think just generally, you know, broad awareness and questions and concern probably

14 informed what I was thinking at the time.

15 Q Broad awareness and concerns from whom?

16 A Well, certainly there were questions coming from the White House. I think

17 there was questions on discussions in the press. Just again, broader questions around

18 the role of tech and COVID-19, to the best of my recollection, were discussed at the time.

19 Q What's the significance of there being concerns from the White House and 20 the press?

21 A I'm not sure what you mean by the significance of the concerns.

22 Q So in your language, you refer to the role of tech about to come under a

23 massive spotlight, and then you cited the White House and the press as two people that

24 some of the concerns were coming from.

25 Why are concerns from the White House and the press significant when it comes

1 to whether the role of tech will be under a massive spotlight or not?

2 A To the best of my recollection, you know, with regard to this -- I mean, I

3 wanted to ensure that the work that YouTube was doing, that we work to provide more

4 transparency around what YouTube was doing when I was at the company to enforce its

5 policies consistently and impartially.

6 So I wanted to -- in response to any questions or interest, I wanted to make sure

7 that there was as much information as possible around YouTube's work so that it wasn't

8 just a vacuum of questions that went unanswered.

9 Q That's not what I was asking. Your email is talking about the -- why the role

10 of tech is about to come under a massive spotlight, and then you cited concerns from the 11 White House and the press.

12 What is it about the White House and the press that would lead you to the 13 conclusion that the role of tech is about to come under a massive spotlight?

14 A I think, as I mentioned, I mean, just questions, broader discussions. I can't

15 pinpoint a single issue or a single thing. Again, just broader awareness of conversations

16 at the time, I think, is -- would likely be what I was thinking when I sent this email.

17 Q You start off the sentence saying "unfortunately."

18 Why is it unfortunate that the role of tech is about to come under a massive 19 spotlight in April of 2021?

20 A I'm not sure why I specifically used "unfortunately." I think more broadly, I

21 was proud of the work that YouTube was doing. I mean, I can't speak to specifically why

22 I said unfortunately. I thought YouTube's work was, again, doing the best that could be

23 done given -- given the times. And that generally would be likely what I was thinking at 24 the time when I wrote this email.

25 Q Does YouTube -- and Alphabet more broadly -- want to come under a

1 massive spotlight?

2 A I'm not sure what you mean.

3 Q According to your own words. Based off what you meant in this email,

4 referring to coming under a massive spotlight, is that a development that would be

5 welcomed by YouTube?

6 A Is coming under a massive spotlight something that would be welcomed?

7 Candidly, it's -- it's my experience that I think it was just going to create a lot of work in

8 ensuring that we respond to a lot of questions. You know, it hasn't been my experience

9 that YouTube acted in a way to hide what they were doing.

10 It was my experience at YouTube that the company took a few steps to improve

11 transparency around content moderation practices. A specific example of that would be

12 the release of the Violative View Rate. I think that's an example. I think YouTube,

13 frankly, hadn't shied around, you know, addressing hard questions. It's a lot of work,

14 but it's not something that, you know, I would say that -- that YouTube was shying away

15 from.

16 Q Okay. Then why did you write that "unfortunately" to start the sentence?

17 A Again, I can't speak -- I think it's just going to -- probably just make a lot of 18 work in terms of responding to questions, you know. The team works pretty hard. It's 19 not something that we shied away from.

20 It was my experience at YouTube that the folks there work extremely hard

21 already, and no one shied away from a challenge.

22 Q From -- with respect to the company's interest, other than an increased

23 workload for its employees, are there any other downsides to the company coming under

24 a massive spotlight?

25 A I can't think of any.

1 Q It's your testimony before the committee you cannot think of any downsides
2 of YouTube coming under a massive spotlight other than an increased workload for its
3 employees?
4 A I think it's important that folks in the executive branch, the legislative
5 branch, the public in general, ask very hard questions about YouTube.
6 And for YouTube's mission, when I was there, was to give everyone a voice and 7 show them the world. And it is my experience at YouTube that folks there worked very
8 hard to accomplish that mission, didn't shy away from the challenge. And candidly, I
9 think hard questions and scrutiny to big tech platforms like YouTube, I think that's a good
10 thing.
11 Mr. Bopp. Can I ask a quick question? When you wrote to your colleagues and 12 said that -- that the company was about to come under a massive spotlight, did you view 13 that as a positive thing?
14 [redacted]. I don't know that I was thinking it would be a positive or a negative 15 thing. I was just, sort of, stating my view that this was something that was just going to 16 happen.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Well, you didn't just state your view. You start the sentence with 19 "unfortunately." Is that right?
20 A That is correct. I do start that sentence with "unfortunately."
21 Q But you don't have any recollection of why?
22 A I can't speak to specifically why. As I've mentioned, you know, I think I was 23 speaking just in terms of workload increases.
24 As I'm sitting here today, I can't think of any other negative consequences that 25 would come from additional questions, scrutiny, or requests for transparency.

1 Mr. Bopp. Can we take just a quick minute?

2 [redacted] Sure. Let's go off the record, please.

3 [Discussion off the record.]

4 [redacted] We'll go back on the record, please.

5 Mr. Bopp. Do you want to make a statement?

6 [redacted]. Yes, if I can please clarify. I don't think I was as clear as I wanted to 7 be.

8 Coming under a massive spotlight is never a great thing, and it comes along with

9 challenges. I think what I was trying to say -- and I perhaps did so inartfully -- was

10 questions, you know, broadly and improving transparency is a good thing. But again, I

11 think, in terms of stating that coming under a massive spotlight, it comes along with 12 challenges, to include a lot of hard work that seeks to address those challenges.

13 I apologize for not being as clear as I meant to be.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q Besides the additional hard work that comes with coming under a massive 16 spotlight, what other challenges are posed?

17 A With regard to coming under a massive spotlight? I think it's generally fair

18 to say there would be a lot of criticism. Some fair, some not. And in seeking to 19 address those -- those challenges, it can be quite difficult. So I think that that would be 20 another, you know, example.

21 Q Does the company weigh criticism from the White House differently than 22 criticism from other external stakeholders?

23 Mr. Bopp. To the extent you can speak for the company.

24 [redacted]. It was my experience -- I can't say that criticism from the White House

25 was weighed or viewed differently.

1 Speaking for myself, I viewed questions and criticism, again, because YouTube
2 enforces its policies impartially, I can't say that I had, you know, internally weighing one
3 more than the other. I took all concerns and questions seriously and wanted to work to 4 address those.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q In 2021, you were working for YouTube on behalf of the company.
7 From the company's perspective, are criticisms from the White House given more
8 weight than the criticisms from other external entities?
9 A I can't speak or have any recollection of other YouTube employees weighing 10 criticism from the White House as more. Of course, it's, you know -- any criticism, 11 regardless of the entity, is something, you know -- it's not ignored, certainly. And it's the 12 kind of thing that the company wanted to work to make sure what the questions were, 13 what could be done to ensure that accurate information was provided in response to 14 those questions.
15 Q If an entity has the capability of taking adverse action against the company,
16 is it more likely to consider criticism from that entity?
17 Mr. Bopp. I'm not comfortable with [redacted] answering hypothetical questions.
18 [redacted] Well, I wouldn't frame it as hypothetical. There's very concrete
19 examples of criticism coming from the White House, but we'll reframe the question.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q To your understanding, is the White House capable of taking adverse action
22 against the company?
23 [redacted] I'm sorry. I didn't hear that. Could you repeat that.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q To your understanding, is the White House capable of taking adverse action

1 against the company?

2 A Yes.

3 Q What types of adverse action?

4 A I can't speak to the specific types of action, but I note that the legislative

5 branch can certainly take adverse action as well, as well as State governments. And

6 again, that's why I tried to work to adopt the approach of I want to ensure if there is a

7 concern or a question from, you know, a government office, an office holder, a member

8 of staff, whomever it might be, that I work to provide information in response to those

9 concerns.

10 Q Specific to the White House, what adverse actions is the White House

11 capable of taking that are adverse to YouTube?

12 A I'm not -- I'm not sure specifically the steps at their disposal that they could.

13 But certainly, I'm not disputing that adverse action could be taken. I don't have any 14 specific examples in mind.

15 Q How long did you spend working on Capitol Hill?

16 A Approximately 7 years, handling defense issues.

17 Q And you're unaware of any specific types of steps that the White House

18 would be able to take against a company like YouTube?

19 Mr. Bopp. He's already answered the question. Look, you know, this isn't like a

20 civics test. I mean, he already admitted that -- or said that the White House might take 21 adverse action.

22 [redacted] Well, he's unable to provide any examples --

23 Mr. Bopp. Well, that's correct.

24 [redacted] -- or testify with any specificity.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Is the fact that the White House is capable of taking adverse action against
2 the company one of the downsides of a company coming under a massive spotlight?
3 A I'm sorry. What was the question again?
4 Q Sure. Earlier we were talking about the challenges that come with coming
5 under a massive spotlight.
6 A Sure.
7 Q Is there any -- are one of the challenges -- strike that. Let me phrase that
8 again.
9 Is one of the concerns from the company's perspective about coming under a 10 massive spotlight that there's an increased risk of facing adverse action from the White
11 House?
12 A I can't recall a single conversation I had with anyone about specific examples
13 of concern of adverse action. Again, certainly broadly the executive branch has broad 14 authority. I'm not disputing that at all.
15 But I can't think of specific examples -- I just -- I can't recall any specific discussions
16 related into what potential adverse action could look like.
17 Q The second paragraph of the exhibit, second line down, you talk about 18 providing or asking if another member would be willing to provide an overview briefing to 19 the lead White House digital staffer.
20 Is that in reference to Mr. Flaherty?
21 A Yes.
22 Q The next sentence says, "As far as timing goes, we were hoping to get 23 something on the books in the next 2 weeks or so to prevent anything from potentially 24 spiraling out of control."
25 Who is the "we" you're referring to there?

1 A I think I was just using the broader we. I guess I should have used -- I was
2 hoping to get something on the books in the next few weeks.
3 Q What did you mean by "prevent anything from potentially spiraling out of 4 control"?
5 A So this email was to -- was to [redacted]. To the best of my 6 recollection, he didn't have a lot of meetings with government folks. He had a very busy
7 schedule.
8 I think I was just trying to convey a sense of urgency. As I previously mentioned,
9 I worked to adopt a sense of urgency in responding to requests to the best of my ability.
10 I think I just wanted to convey a sense of urgency that if he could set aside other matters
11 on his schedule so that we can quickly respond.
12 Q What other government entities that you had exchanges with during your 13 time at the company would similarly lead to a concern that things could potentially spiral
14 out of control?
15 A I don't know that I ever used the term, "spiral out of control" with other 16 folks in asking for their time for a meeting.
17 Q Is there anything unique about the White House that would lead the 18 situation to potentially spiral out of control?
19 A Again, as I mentioned, I really just was, to the best of my recollection, more
20 focused on working with [redacted] to try to clear his schedule. He had a pretty busy
21 schedule.
22 To the best of my recollection, I just wanted to convey a sense of urgency that I
23 didn't want to let this linger. I wanted to hurry up and try to get something scheduled 24 soon to respond to questions.
25 Q What would spiraling out of control look like?

1 A I don't know that I had a specific thought of spiraling out of control. But 2 broadly, to me, that would look like, you know, folks who don't get questions answered in
3 a timely manner and perhaps assume the worst. And so, I wanted to address concerns
4 quickly so that bad assumptions or bad information wasn't used to make any decisions
5 regarding YouTube.
6 I wanted YouTube to be able to respond, to provide accurate information on 7 YouTube's policies and enforcement. And in this case with [redacted], answer specific 8 questions on borderline content.
9 Q If the White House was under wrong assumptions or was receiving bad
10 information, what type of decisions with respect to YouTube would the company be 11 concerned about?
12 A I can't make assumptions of what the White House might do if they had bad
13 information.
14 Q Your previous answer said that, in response to what spiraling out of control
15 looks like, was that if there's bad assumptions, bad information, there might be decisions
16 about YouTube. I'm just trying to get a sense of what you meant by that. What 17 decisions?
18 A I don't know that I had a specific decision in mind or was concerned about a 19 specific decision. My focus, again, was conveying, I wanted a sense of urgency to be 20 able to respond with accurate information.
21 Again, it's been my experience in Washington, D.C., in the absence of accurate
22 information, bad assumptions could be made. I didn't -- to the best of my recollection, I
23 didn't have any specific thought of what those consequences would look like.
24 So again, I just wanted to be able to convey a sense of urgency, and respond with 25 as much information as I could.

1 Q You have a number of different external entities that you're interfacing with
2 during your time at the company.
3 Are the consequences for failing to timely engage with the White House more
4 severe than the consequences of failing to timely engage with other entities?
5 Mr. Bopp. Again, we want to be cooperative. You're venturing into that
6 hypothetical.
7 I'm not sure if you're talking about -- you're talking about the White House here,
8 but you're talking about the possibility of something else, which it seems to me to be
9 hypothetical.
10 [redacted] The witness is happy to talk about treating certain requests equally.
11 [redacted]. That's correct.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q Trying to get a sense of -- and you have identified that there was -- you had a 14 concern of making sure the response was addressed quickly to avoid certain 15 consequences.
16 I'm trying to understand the nature of whether you understood the severity of 17 consequences to be different, depending on who is making the initial request.
18 A It's my experience, based off of interactions with the legislative branch that 19 there was, you know, oftentimes timelines and deadlines, and, you know, urgent
20 responses are needed for the legislative branch as well. I don't know that I said
21 consequences in this email.
22 Q I was citing your previous answer here, your testimony.
23 A I'm sorry. Can you ask the question again, please?
24 Q Yes. Your previous response, a couple responses ago, you testified about if 25 the goal to provide a timely quick response to the White House was to -- based off your

1 experience in Washington is that there are consequences if folks don't respond, you
2 know, to people's concerns.
3 I'm just trying to get a sense of what sorts of consequences as -- with respect to 4 the White House, when there's a request from the White House and responding to the 5 White House in a timely fashion.
6 A I think I mentioned, again, assumptions that YouTube was doing nothing or 7 if, you know, bad information was provided, I was seeking to avoid that, again, in terms of 8 being timely and responsive.
9 If there were questions about YouTube, it was my view that YouTube was best
10 positioned to answer those questions directly. Again, aside from -- you know, I just 11 didn't want to create a vacuum of information and have requests go unanswered for long
12 periods of time. Ultimately, that was my goal.
13 Q And if the White House's request went unanswered, what was the fear of 14 what would happen?
15 Mr. Bopp. I think we talked about he doesn't have specific consequences from 16 the White House in mind. If you now can think of any, you can answer the question.
17 [redacted]. I didn't have any specific consequences in mind. Again, I viewed my 18 engagement with Members of Congress and the executive branch; I have great respect
19 for both branches of government. I certainly am cognizant of the broad authorities of 20 the -- that the Constitution provides to both the executive branch and the legislative 21 branch. And, again, I have great respect for it.
22 And I just wanted to make sure, again, I didn't create a vacuum and just not let 23 anything go unanswered.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q In your experience at the company, was there ever a situation where

1 interactions with the White House did spiral out of control?

2 A None that stand out to me. I can't recall. Certainly, a lot of questions. I

3 don't know that I'd categorize it as spiraling out of control. But certainly, a lot of 4 questions and follow-on questions.

5 Q Did you have conversations with [redacted] during this time, April 2021,

6 right after the first meeting with the White House?

7 A I cc'd her on emails. Again, it was generally my practice. I wanted to 8 make sure my manager was aware of the work I was doing.

9 Q How often were you talking to [redacted] during this time, let's say, spring of 10 2021?

11 A It was common throughout my entire time at YouTube. I usually spoke 12 with her every day.

13 Q Do you recall any conversations with her about the urgency or the need to 14 respond to the White House's concerns in April of 2021?

15 A Again, I wanted to make sure that -- I don't know that there was anything

16 unique. Again, it was my practice, if there was a question, I would generally keep my

17 manager informed, and work to address it as quickly as possible. That's how I tried to 18 operate, again, out of respect for the executive branch and the legislative branch.

2 [2:13 p.m.]

3 [Exhibit No. 6

4 was marked for identification.]

5 BY

6 Q This will be exhibit 6. This is an internal email chain, company email chain

7 dated April 29, 2021.

8 A Okay.

9 Q Do you recall sending this email?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Can you remind me who is?

12 A , he is a board-certified cardiologist, and I can't recall his specific

13 title, but it was something to the effect of global health lead at YouTube.

14 Q The first sentence starts: "Over the last several weeks, Google and 15 YouTube" -- is that Government Affairs and Public Policy Team, GAPP?

16 A Correct.

17 Q -- "team have had conversations with the White House staff on YouTube's

18 policies and all the great work that is being done to raise authoritative information and

19 fight harmful misinformation related to COVID-19 misinformation."

20 Do you recall after that first meeting with Mr. Flaherty how soon you had had 21 another conversation with Mr. Flaherty?

22 A It was shortly thereafter. I can't recall the specific dates, but it was shortly

23 thereafter. Again, I try not to let requests linger too long. I can't recall a specific date, 24 though.

25 Q And in those future meetings, or the subsequent meetings, I should say, did

1 those also take place over Zoom videoconference?

2 A To the best of my recollection, Zoom was used.

3 Q We spent some time discussing the first meeting. In subsequent meetings,

4 did the tone of the meetings change?

5 A As I've indicated in this email, and this is helpful to review, again, because it's

6 been almost 3 years, "The discussions have been good, and the information has been well

7 received, but staff continue to have questions on the raise/reduce efforts."

8 I can't recall a change in tone or tenor for the discussions. There is nothing that 9 really stands out to me 3 years after the fact.

10 Q Do you recall any meetings with Mr. Flaherty where he expressed frustration

11 based off the status of the discussions?

12 Mr. Bopp. You're talking about meetings and not emails, right?

13 [redacted] Yes, just meetings.

14 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

15 [redacted]. He expressed concern. Mr. Flaherty would probably be able to

16 better answer in terms of frustration or not, but I would agree with the term concern for 17 sure, because he -- and, again, he expressed that in email.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Do you recall any meetings where he expressed criticism of how YouTube

20 was handling COVID-19-related misinformation?

21 A I can't recall specific examples of criticism, but it's certainly fair to say that he

22 likely did have criticism. I'm not disputing that there would be criticism or something

23 like that. I'm not disputing that.

24 Q Turning back to the first sentence of the second paragraph, questions from 25 staff on the raise/reduce efforts. What did you mean by raise/reduce efforts?

1 A As I previously described, that's part of YouTube's -- at the time, we used the 2 four R's of responsibility, and that's what I was describing with regard to raising
3 authoritative information, reducing visibility on borderline content.
4 Q The last sentence finishes the very last line. It talks about how it would be 5 beneficial to have [redacted] and [redacted] speak, as we seek to work closely with this 6 administration on multiple policy fronts.
7 Which policy fronts? Well first, let me take one step back. What do you mean
8 by "we" in that sentence? Who are you referring to?
9 A I was referring to broader YouTube government affairs and public policy. I
10 didn't refer to myself. More broadly, the company.
11 Q What other policy fronts was the company working closely with the current 12 administration?
13 A I don't know that I had a specific policy front in mind. Certainly, during my 14 time at YouTube, there, you know, were questions from multiple stakeholders on matters
15 related to child safety, as well as, you know, other issues I'm struggling to think of, but 16 multiple areas.
17 I didn't want to, you know, convey a sense that this was likely the only time. But 18 more broadly, it was my experience that YouTube sought to be responsive and answer
19 questions to the best of the ability on any number of issues that may come up.
20 Q What other examples in 2021 of other policy fronts that the company was 21 working with this administration on?
22 A I mean, I don't know that I had specific issues in mind. I think, again, more
23 broadly, given the interest in platforms like YouTube, I think it's certainly fair to say that
24 there was going to be other, you know, conversations on other matters. And again, I
25 wanted to convey, you know, we wanted to answer questions and work closely. It was

1 my job.

2 I worked closely with, as I've stated, the legislative branch and the executive

3 branch, and I guess I wanted to work closely with everyone, to be honest.

4 Q During this time, was the company engaged in any discussions with the 5 administration about dataflows between the U.S. and the European Union?

6 A If the company was, I can't recall being a part of those conversations.

7 Q Do you recall having any conversations either with the executive branch

8 directly or internally at the company regarding Section 230 reform?

9 A With the White House? Is that what you're asking specifically?

10 Q The executive branch broadly.

11 A Broadly, it's certainly fair to say that -- I can't recall a specific example of 12 when I had that conversation, but it's certainly fair to say that, you know, answering

13 questions around 230, as well as, you know, other issues was -- I'm not disputing that

14 didn't happen. It's certainly fair to say it did.

15 Q What about concerns related to antitrust enforcement?

16 A I can't recall conversations that I was a part of with regard to antitrust. I'm

17 not disputing that the company -- I think Alphabet might be in a better position to provide

18 answers on those questions. I can't recall any instances of discussing antitrust.

19 My roles and responsibilities were around YouTube's policies and community

20 guidelines. I'm not a lawyer. I am not an expert in any way on antitrust. So, frankly, I

21 wouldn't be in a good position to have those discussions.

22 Q Part of your position is to meet with members of the executive branch and

23 share their concerns. Do you recall having any conversations with the executive branch

24 related either to reform of Section 230 or other antitrust concerns?

25 A Again, I can't recall a single conversation that I was a part of related to

1 antitrust. With regards to specifics on 230, I'm really struggling to recall specific
2 instances of that happening that I was aware of, and certainly, broadly, you know, around
3 content moderation, which, of course, would fall under Section 230, I'm not disputing
4 that at all.
5 But with regard to those broader discussions, I can't recall examples. My roles
6 and responsibilities were around YouTube's policies and our content moderation practice
7 is what I really focused on.
8 Q Before sending an email like this, would you send a draft to [redacted]
9 or [redacted]?
10 A It was my general practice that I didn't. I have no reason to doubt that I 11 deviated from that practice in this case.
12 Q Did you have any conversations with [redacted] or -- am I saying the last 13 name, [redacted], correctly?
14 A [redacted] correct.
15 Q -- with either [redacted] or [redacted] regarding what other policy fronts
16 were top of mind for the company during this time?
17 A Again, I can't recall, and it would have been unlikely that I would share this 18 email in advance. I can't recall that taking place. I generally tried to be efficient in 19 sending things out. I can't recall sharing -- again, this was an internal email to two 20 employees at YouTube. So I just -- I can't recall.
21 Q Independent of this email, drafting of this email, what you may or may not 22 have meant specifically in this email, just spring of 2021, do you recall have conversations
23 with [redacted] or [redacted] about which policy fronts the company was working 24 closely with the administration on?
25 A I'm sorry. Is the question how many times did I speak with [redacted]

1 or [redacted] about what specific areas YouTube wanted to work with the White House?
2 Q No, not how many times.
3 A I just want to make sure I'm clear. I apologize.
4 Q Do you recall any conversations with [redacted] or [redacted] around
5 this time regarding the policy fronts that the company was working to -- looking to work
6 closely with the administration on?
7 A I can't recall specific examples, but certainly YouTube wanted to, you know,
8 work with the administration, as well as the legislative branch, and answer questions to 9 the best of our ability. I have no reason to dispute that, you know, we certainly -- we 10 would have conversations around being responsive. I'm struggling to recall specific 11 examples 3 years after the fact.
12 Q The next sentence of the next paragraph mentions that Mr. Flaherty has 13 been leading a lot of the White House work with social media companies. To your 14 understanding at the time, do you know which other companies Mr. Flaherty was 15 speaking with?
16 A To the best of my recollection, I didn't have a list. It was my thought that it
17 was likely the big social media companies, but I don't recall ever having a specific list of 18 other companies he was talking to.
19 Q The next sentence says that "if [redacted] and [redacted] are available, we 20 would like to request a meeting for next week given the significant attention coming from 21 the staff on this issue."
22 Is that in reference to the White House staff?
23 A Yes.
24 Q What led you to the conclusion at this point, in April 2021, that there was 25 significant attention coming from the White House staff?

1 A I think, you know, the questions that were being asked, there were multiple
2 questions. So that led me to the conclusion that there, again, was significant interest
3 and attention.
4 Q Were you receiving any other outreach from the White House during this
5 time?
6 A Other outreach from other White House staff?
7 Q Yes.
8 A Mr. Flaherty was the primary person. He often cc'd other folks. To the 9 best of my recollection, I can't remember speaking with any other staff at the White
10 House other than Mr. Flaherty. He was the primary person.
11 Q Just taking one step back, spring of 2021, roughly, there's a number of 12 emails and meetings from the White House about concerns related to COVID-19
13 misinformation. Do you recall any other, whether with Mr. Flaherty or otherwise, any 14 sort of outreach from the White House on other issues during this time?
15 A Other outreach from myself on this?
16 Q No, outreach from the White House to you on other issues.
17 A During this time, I can't recall other issues other than COVID-19. To the 18 best of my recollection, again, COVID-19 was the topic of conversation.
19 Q Turning back to the part of the paragraph, the second paragraph where you
20 mention having [redacted] and [redacted] share more background would be hugely
21 beneficial. What about their participation in a potential future meeting would be 22 beneficial?
23 A They were subject matter experts. While I, you know, had broad 24 awareness of policies, they were the experts, and so, I would view it as beneficial to have,
25 if there is a question that I can't answer, to have an expert, you know, from YouTube be

1 able to answer those questions.

2 Q Did Mr. Flaherty request that a subject matter expert be included on a future

3 call?

4 A I can't remember if he specifically requested it. Again, as mentioned in a

5 previous email that he discussed, he had additional questions around the raise/reduce

6 effort. So to the best of my recollection, I wanted to make sure that the subject matter

7 experts would be able to provide as thorough answers as possible.

8 So to really get to the point of your question, I don't believe that he asked to meet

9 with subject matter experts. To the best of my recollection, I wanted to make sure,

10 again, that I brought folks that he would be able to answer any additional detailed

11 questions that he may have.

12 Q To your recollection, did a meeting with [redacted] and/or [redacted] with 13 the White House ultimately take place?

14 A I believe so, yes.

15 Q Do you recall who else attended that meeting from YouTube?

16 A It's been some time. I would have certainly made others aware, but I can't 17 recall, other than [redacted] and [redacted], who else might have been on the call as

18 well.

19 Q Do you recall how that call went, what was said?

20 A I don't remember specifically what was said. I do recall [redacted]

21 speaking a lot of the time and answering questions about borderline content and things

22 like that. Again, he was the subject matter expert. I recall him speaking more than

23 [redacted].

24 For specifics, I don't -- again, it was largely around borderline content. And to

25 the best of my recollection, [redacted] [redacted], did most of the speaking during that

1 meeting.

2 Q Who was asking most of the questions?

3 A To the best that I recall, Mr. Flaherty was. I don't remember, or nothing

4 stands out to me after the fact of -- I don't recall other people speaking. If they did, it

5 was on a very limited basis, I believe. It's certainly fair to say Mr. Flaherty did a majority

6 of the speaking.

7 Q Based on how the meeting progressed, was Mr. Flaherty satisfied with the 8 answers that he was being provided?

9 A I don't recall him not being satisfied with the answers that were provided.

10 There was nothing that stands out of it being a negative discussion.

11 Q Prior to the meeting with [redacted] and [redacted] with the White House,

12 did you brief, or have some sort of pre-meeting with [redacted] or [redacted] in 13 advance?

14 A It would have been likely that I did.

15 Q Who else would have attended that pre-meeting?

16 A I can't say for certain. Again, it would have been a practice to speak with

17 [redacted] and [redacted] just to make sure that they were prepared to answer

18 questions and kind of how the discussions -- I don't remember. This was -- you know, it

19 would have been an internal meeting some time ago. Certainly, [redacted] and

20 [redacted] would have been there, but I can't remember who else from the YouTube

21 GAPP team was.

22 Q Do you recall what you told them in advance of the meeting with the White

23 House, "them" being [redacted] and [redacted]?

24 A I don't recall specifically what I said, but I would have certainly, you know,

25 mentioned what conversations have been had to that date, what information has been

1 provided, and what could be done to ensure that, you know, questions are answered
2 truthfully and completely.
3 Q After April of 2021, or maybe this carries over into May, did meetings with 4 the White House and [redacted] continue at a similar cadence? Was there ever a 5 pause?
6 A I do remember April 2021, I guess, for lack of a better term, being the time
7 of the most communication, around that timeframe. I can't remember if there was a
8 pause. I'm certainly not insinuating that I ceased communication, but from what I can 9 recall during that time, April, that was probably the most conversations that took place.
10 Q In April of 2021, obviously, you had conversations with [redacted]. Do you
11 recall any conversations with anyone senior to her in the company about ongoing
12 meetings with the White House?
13 A I can't recall conversations more senior -- with more senior staff than I
14 had -- than [redacted]. Again, I wanted to make sure my manager was certainly aware.
15 I can't speak to other conversations that she may have had. I just don't recall who else I 16 may have spoken with, but certainly [redacted] would have been one.
17 Q Did she ever tell you or indicate to you that she was speaking to more senior 18 staff within the company about ongoing meetings with the White House?
19 A Not that I can recall. It's been some time. I just -- I can't say who else she 20 may have spoken with, and I really don't recall if she said she did or not.
21 Again, I wanted to make sure, certainly, my manager was informed. I can't speak 22 to whom else she may have spoken with.
23 Q [redacted], is he with the -- to your recollection, is he with the Trust and 24 Safety team, or what were his responsibilities?
25 A I can't recall his specific work. Again, he was someone who, you know,

1 could speak in detail to how YouTube addresses borderline content, but I can't recall
2 where he fit in the org chart.
3 Q In advance of this meeting, had you shared with [redacted] that -- let me
4 take one step back.
5 What did you share with [redacted] in advance of his meeting with the White
6 House of what the White House's concerns or comments were regarding how YouTube
7 handles borderline content?
8 A To the best of my recollection, I just wanted to make sure that, you know, he
9 was prepared to go deep, and I said don't -- you know, to the best of my recollection, you
10 know, if you need to go technical, go technical, but provide as much information as you
11 can around YouTube, would have really been how I would have characterized that 12 discussion.
13 I can't remember exactly what I said, but I very likely would have said something
14 along those lines of be transparent, provide as much information as possible, and, you 15 know, if you need to go technical, you know, provide answers to questions to the best of 16 your ability.
17 Q And obviously, we've looked at a number of email chains from Mr. Flaherty,
18 emails about your communications with Mr. Flaherty about reducing borderline content.
19 Do you recall whether you shared that fact with [redacted] in advance of the meeting
20 with the White House?
21 A I'm sorry. Is your question, did I share the specific email?
22 Q Not the email but just that there had been conversations about reducing
23 borderline content.
24 A Yes, and I think I indicated that in this email, that over the last several weeks,
25 the Google and YouTube GAPP team have had conversations with the White House staff

1 on YouTube's policies and all the great work that is being done to raise authoritative
2 information and fight harmful misinformation related to COVID-19 misinformation.
3 So again, he was certainly aware, and I made that clear here that we're having
4 conversations with the White House staff.
5 Q Well, at least based on how YouTube was categorizing types of content,
6 there is misinformation that violates the community guidelines that's subject to 7 enforcement potentially, and then there's borderline content. And your recollection,
8 and based off the email chains, there were conversations with the White House about 9 reducing borderline content.
10 This email, the line you quoted, is not quite as specific as that. I'm just asking in 11 advance of the White House meeting, you know, did you or someone from one of the 12 public policy teams share with them that there were questions from the White House
13 about specifically reducing borderline content?
14 A Again, I had conversations about borderline content. I can't recall
15 specifically, but it would have been my practice to share as much information as I could 16 with the team regarding specific questions that we had received from the White House.
17 Q Do you recall if there were any questions from the White House you didn't 18 think should be shared with [redacted]?
19 A It was generally a practice of mine, I wanted to be as transparent with my 20 colleagues as I possibly could, so that they could be prepared to answer questions.
21 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
22 A Yes, I recall that name.
23 Q What was her role at the company?
24 A I believe she was on the communications team.
25 Q Do you recall any interactions with the communications team during this time?

A I can't recall specific examples, but it was not uncommon for me to have conversations with the communications team.

Q You don't recall any interactions with the communications team as related to ongoing meetings with the White House in 2021?

A I can't recall examples of meetings or discussions. I really don't recall that. I can't speak to if they were aware or not, but to the best of my recollection, I can't recall specific conversations with the communications team on this.

[redacted] Can we go off the record please.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] Okay, we can go back on the record.

BY [redacted]

Q [redacted], I just want to follow up briefly on some things that we raised in the previous hour.

You were asked about whether you've had conversations with any government officials, White House officials in particular, about Section 230 reform. Do you recall those questions?

A Yes.

Q And were any of the conversations that you had about Section 230 in your role at YouTube, were those conversations -- was Section 230 ever raised in conjunction with YouTube's removal of borderline content?

A Not that I can recall.

Q And you were also asked a series of questions about whether the White House was capable of taking adverse actions against YouTube. Were you concerned that the White House was going to take adverse action, whatever that action might be,

1 against YouTube if YouTube did not provide satisfactory answers to Mr. Flaherty's
2 questions?
3 A I don't recall any specific feelings of concern.
4 Q And you talked about how your priority -- and please, correct me if I'm 5 misstating your testimony, because I think it's important for us not to put words in your 6 mouth.
7 But I believe you said that your priority with respect to the questions that 8 Mr. Flaherty raised by email was that you wanted to respond quickly to -- because, in 9 your experience, if too much time goes by without an answer, then incorrect and 10 negative assumptions might be made.
11 Is that a fair characterization of what you testified about?
12 A It's my experience that generally, it's not good if you let questions go
13 unanswered for long periods of time.
14 Q And it's your job as a public policy manager at Google to represent the 15 company in its best light, correct?
16 A It was my job to answer questions, and if there was any issue that came up
17 that wanted to be discussed around YouTube, that I responded to those questions.
18 Q And there was a series of questions in the earlier hour using the phrase, 19 "consequences," that you stated that you were concerned that there would be 20 consequences if YouTube did not respond quickly, but I'm not sure that was your 21 testimony.
22 Do you recall thinking that there would be consequences to YouTube other than 23 bad assumptions being made if you did not respond to Mr. Flaherty's questions quickly?
24 A I don't recall any specific feelings of concern around a specific adverse action
25 that would be taken by the White House. Again more broadly, it's been my experience

1 that, you know, having a vacuum of information where there is just questions and there's 2 no answers, that that's generally not a good thing.
3 Q And that is part of your job, to avoid that sort of vacuum, correct? That's,
4 in fact, the essence of your job?
5 A I would say that it's part of my job to respond quickly. I don't know that I
6 was -- you know, that I viewed it as sort of a primary goal to, you know, avoid a gap. I
7 just wanted to make sure -- I have great respect for the executive and the legislative
8 branch. If there's a question, if there's information that's requested about YouTube's
9 policies, that I respond as quickly as I possibly can.
10 That's really what I wanted to make sure I was doing, being a responsive public 11 policy professional.
12 Q Thank you.
13 [redacted] May we have just a moment?
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q I just want to go back to -- you mentioned that most of your interactions
16 with the White House about this topic, about COVID-19 misinformation, borderline
17 content, that sort of thing, happened in April of 2021, correct?
18 A It's fair to say --
19 Q Around.
20 A -- a lot of those conversations took place in the April 2021 timeframe.
21 Q And just to take a step back and orient ourselves, April 2021, the pandemic
22 had been going on for just over a year at that point, correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q And most Americans, most people in the world had been confined to their 25 homes for a year, correct?

1 A I can't speak for most. For myself, I was working at home.
2 Q And it was important to YouTube to do whatever it could and to use its 3 platforms, however it could, to help bring the pandemic to an end as quickly as possible.
4 Would you agree with that?
5 A I don't know that I would say that. I think it was more YouTube's view,
6 based off of my experience, to operate within sort of the four-R construct of removing 7 violative content, raising authoritative voices of information, reducing visibility on 8 borderline content, and using that framework with the overall objective of achieving its 9 mission of giving everyone a voice and showing in the world.
10 That's really how I viewed that.
11 Q And you understand that during that period of time, the White House had a
12 different goal in that the White House's primary -- well, an objective of the White House
13 at that time was to help save lives and stop the pandemic?
14 A I've never worked at the White House. I can't speak to their specific goals,
15 but, you know, broadly, certainly I was aware that the White House wanted to work to 16 address the ongoing pandemic.
17 Q Now, you were asked a little while ago about whether you viewed or 18 interpreted certain emails that you received as threats or coercion. Did any of the -- in 19 the meetings that you had with White House officials, did you interpret any of the 20 statements made during those meetings as threats of adverse consequences to Google or 21 attempts to coerce Google? YouTube, I'm sorry.
22 A Not that I can recall. Again, I can recall a lot of questions around policies,
23 around how YouTube was defining things like borderline content, things like that. I just 24 can't recall that feeling or the notion of threats on how YouTube enforces its community
25 guidelines.

1 And if I can take a bit of a step back to provide more context in terms of why I
2 thought that way, YouTube, as I've stated and as has been indicated in my response to 3 Mr. Flaherty, YouTube seeks to apply its policies impartially and didn't take specific 4 speaker-based, you know, views of, well, if it's a certain speaker, then community
5 guidelines wouldn't apply. That wasn't my experience.
6 And as such, I viewed conversations, if there was concern, or if there is praise or 7 whatever the case may be, through that impartial lens. That's how I viewed things at 8 YouTube, that we wanted to be responsive, but do so in a way that is consistent with 9 YouTube's mission, consistent with the community guidelines, and is done so impartially.
10 Q And was it your experience at Google -- I'm sorry. YouTube. I keep doing
11 that. I apologize.
12 Was it your experience at YouTube that others in the company had the same
13 impartial approach?
14 A That was my experience, that the employees or folks that I worked
15 with -- I'm not disputing that they certainly would have had their own personal views, 16 but, you know, it was the underlying mission, and that was something that was from the 17 top-down, that YouTube is there to give everyone a voice, and show them the world, and 18 that YouTube's community guidelines would be applied impartially. That was my 19 experience.
20 Q Thank you.
21 [redacted] We can go off the record.
22 [Discussion off the record.]
23 [redacted] We can go back on the record, please.
24 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 7
25 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q I'm going to introduce what will be exhibit 7. This is an email chain

3 between [redacted], Mr. Flaherty, and a few others from July 2021. There is reference to 4 a tweet during this email exchange.

5 Mr. Bopp. Are you done? Hold on.

6 [redacted]. If I can just have one more minute, please.

7 [redacted] Yeah, we're not -- I'm just going to introduce it simultaneously. So

8 exhibit 8 will be a tweet that is hyper linked in the email exchange.

9 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 8

10 was marked for identification.]

11 [redacted]. Okay.

12 [redacted] Counsel, are you ready?

13 Mr. Bopp. Yeah, it's all right.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q If I can have you flip to the back of what's exhibit 7, the email chain, there's

16 an email from you July 19, 2021, with a Bates stamp of 1:27 regarding an announcement

17 from YouTube.

18 Do you recall sending this email?

19 A Yes. Seeing it in front of me helps refresh my recollection, yes.

20 Q And the -- what announcement is being made? What are you sharing with 21 the White House in this email?

22 A So as stated, "We wanted to share an announcement that we recently made

23 regarding a few new ways in which we are making it easier for people to find

24 authoritative information on health topics on YouTube.

25 "Starting this week, you'll see two new features next to some health-related

1 searches and videos. These include a new health source information panel that will
2 surface on videos to provide context about authoritative, sources and a new health
3 content shelf that may more effectively highlight videos from these sources when you
4 search for health-specific topics."
5 And, again, that was an announcement, and I passed that along.
6 Q So this announcement is about elevating authoritative information? Is that 7 an accurate summary?
8 A That's fair.
9 Q As part of this announcement, were there any changes made with respect to 10 how YouTube would reduce borderline content?
11 A Not that I can recall. And seeing this email, information panels, just to 12 provide additional context on those, they weren't making determinations on individual
13 content. Rather, if, say, in this example, if there was a video about COVID-19, it didn't 14 really matter what was being discussed, but, you know, there would be an information
15 panel essentially saying something along the lines of for more information, you know,
16 please click here, kind of thing.
17 And then with regard to the health content shelf, to the best of my recollection,
18 how that worked is so if you're searching for COVID-19 videos on YouTube, before you get 19 to like the actual videos underneath the search bar, sort of at the top right there, I believe 20 it was blue or some sort of distinguishing color, and if I can recall correctly, there would 21 be several videos, sort of featured in that content was how I roughly remembered how 22 that worked.
23 But I don't recall specific changes on borderline content. Again, it really was 24 about raising authoritative information.
25 Q So Mr. Flaherty responds the next day and asks if you saw a tweet. I'm

1 happy to represent that exhibit 8 is what pulls up when we put in that hyperlink.
2 He then says, "I think we had a pretty extensive back and forth about the degree
3 to which you all are recommending anti-vaccination content. You were pretty emphatic
4 that you are not. This seems that to indicate that you are. What is going on here?"
5 First, to your recollection, obviously, there was at least more than one meeting
6 and several email communications going back to April 2021. From late spring to 7 throughout the summer, do you recall other interactions, either with Mr. Flaherty or with 8 other White House staff?
9 A I have no reason to doubt that other emails were sent from Mr. Flaherty.
10 From what I can recall, Mr. Flaherty was the primary person that would send emails about 11 content moderation practices. I just cannot recall other emails that were sent from 12 other White House staff other than Mr. Flaherty. But I have no reason to doubt that 13 there were, you know, emails between April and July of 2021. But April was I guess the 14 main time when those emails were sent.
15 Q To the best of your recollection, was there anything that spurred your initial 16 email related to communications with the White House, or was it YouTube was ready to 17 make this announcement, and you wanted to share it with the White House to keep them
18 informed?
19 A I viewed it as the announcement -- I said I wanted to share an 20 announcement that we recently made. So the announcement was public.
21 And as a general matter of practice, if I had conversations with a particular office
22 or an individual, and if they expressed concern on an issue and if there was something, a
23 new announcement that would be related to that, I just wanted to make sure they were 24 aware.
25 Q So Mr. Flaherty shifts the focus of the conversation to what steps the

1 company is taking as it relates to recommendations around anti-vaccination content.
2 Taking one step back, just your recollection, based on your meetings with 3 Mr. Flaherty, you've outlined the different steps that the company was taking, clearly 4 elevating authoritative information, reducing borderline content, what steps was 5 Mr. Flaherty most interested in asking questions about?
6 A It's probably fair to say borderline content, but, to the best of my 7 recollection, it was -- as it has been indicated in these emails, he had a lot of questions
8 around borderline content.
9 Q And specifically, efforts to reduce borderline content?
10 A Yes, that's fair to say.
11 Q So you were able to, based off of the time stamps as produced to us, provide 12 a response the same day. You were able to provide a few figures, some of which we've 13 seen before, and some that we've discussed before. Do you recall, in preparing a
14 response to Mr. Flaherty, if this is information that you were already familiar with, or did 15 you have someone else at the company provide this information to you?
16 A From what I can recall, I was familiar with this data. I can't recall -- again,
17 this was a fairly quick response, approximately an hour. So I can't recall contacting 18 anyone about how to respond or requesting assistance in any way. And, again, I tried to 19 respond quickly to provide information.
20 Q When it comes to -- if you wanted to get updated numbers, so to speak,
21 from the company in the summer of 2021 about -- we'll start with the first figure --
22 A Sure.
23 Q -- about what percent of borderline accounts account for what percent of 24 watch content of YouTube in the United States, which team within the company would 25 have that information?

1 A It's difficult for me to say which specific team would have had that
2 information. From what I can recall, and in reading the second sentence with regard to
3 your question, it's important to keep in mind that borderline content accounts for a 4 fraction of 1 percent of what is watched on YouTube in the United States.
5 From what I can recall, that figure has been used in blog posts or press releases or 6 other types of public statements, and I was aware of that figure at the time, and just 7 wanted to, I guess, put it in context in terms of YouTube's work around borderline
8 content.
9 Q In the summer of 2021, regardless of who it was, but if someone, one of the 10 government stakeholders that you were meeting with, wanted a bit more information
11 about how YouTube determined that number, what team would you reach out to within 12 the company to try to better understand that assessment?
13 A I can't recall those types of questions, but I would have probably gone to 14 [redacted]. Again, he was someone who was very familiar and someone who I would 15 have viewed as a subject matter expert. I would have gone to him, or if there was other
16 public statements that were available, then I would have asked someone in the comms 17 team if there is anything else, if there is any new available figures or facts for 18 something -- like just for overall data points. I don't think I would have gone to [redacted] or 19 someone.
20 So it's probably fair to say those two is how I would have handled something like
21 that.
22 Q So you've provided similar figures before to the White House because we've 23 looked at other -- and you mentioned public materials as well.
24 Given that the issues at least were occurring from April 2021 to July 2021, do you
25 recall, when presenting this information -- actually, just from this email chain but in other

1 instances to Mr. Flaherty -- whether the concern was that he thought the figures didn't
2 accurately reflect how much anti-vaccine content was being viewed in the U.S. or that he
3 took those numbers at face value but thought those numbers were too high?
4 A I don't know if -- I can't recall in terms of how he specifically viewed those
5 numbers, but from what I can recall, again, borderline content can be a bit of a complex
6 issue. Try to understand, again, I'm even struggling to this date to really kind of provide 7 more details.
8 And so, he just had a lot of questions, so it's difficult for me to characterize -- and,
9 again, he had expressed concern. That's very, very clear, and was clearly stated from 10 him in the emails.
11 But it's difficult. In that timeframe, I can't recall if that was too bad or good
12 enough or whatever. It's difficult for me to characterize. But, again, he did express 13 concern in April of 2021 about that.
14 Q I guess I'm just trying to get more of a sense of the figures that you're 15 providing to the White House or suggesting that the company is not at zero, but it's -- the 16 numbers are quite small, at least as a percentage of reducing the amount that people are 17 viewing borderline content, but yet, there seems to still be many questions from the 18 White House.
19 I'm just trying to get a better sense of at least what your understanding or what 20 the company's understanding was about why the answers you're providing weren't 21 enough to stop questions from the White House.
22 A I don't know that I was ever in a position to stop questions. Again, this is 23 fairly complex, and, you know, it's -- I didn't view it as particularly out of the ordinary. If 24 someone didn't understand it after one meeting or two meetings, content moderation is 25 very, you know, it's very challenging work, and different platforms have different policies

1 and handle things in different ways.

2 And so, I guess I didn't view it as out of the ordinary if it took several discussions

3 to continue to answer questions around YouTube's policies.

4 Q I guess maybe a different way to answer a previous question: Was it your

5 sense in conversations with Mr. Flaherty that he was misunderstanding the information

6 that was being presented to him, or that he accurately understood the information, but

7 felt that the steps being taken were not enough to reduce borderline content?

8 A I don't know that I viewed it that way. Again, this can be fairly complicated,

9 and so, if there was additional questions of, you know, remind me, how does this work?

10 Or what are the policies? I guess I didn't view that as out of the ordinary.

11 I would have, you know, several conversations on the same topic or various

12 aspects of policies with different offices who were trying to understand. Help me,

13 remind me again how this works. So I guess I just didn't view it as out of the ordinary.

14 Q Turn now to the front page. First, do you recall, did you go and pull up the 15 tweet that Mr. Flaherty had sent to you in the previous email?

16 A I would have at the time.

17 Q There's a response of Mr. Flaherty with the time stamp of 3:58, and then

18 there's a response from you. The time stamp is 8:27 p.m. In the third sentence, you

19 say, "To date, approximately 89 percent of the videos removed for violations of this policy

20 were removed with 100 views or less."

21 To your understanding, based on how YouTube's -- how YouTube enforced its

22 policies, are these videos -- do they have such few views because they were being

23 removed quickly following the time that they're posted, or is it just very comprehensive

24 and it's able to find even videos with small number of views?

25 A For something like that, I would reference the violative view rate, and that's

1 exactly why that metric was provided to be publicly available was to answer that question
2 of how effective is YouTube at enforcing its own policies. And it was something that was
3 tracked in views. I can't recall the specific number. It was -- I think I mentioned
4 something along the lines of .16. It was like 16. Here it is, 16 of 18 views come from 5 violative content.
6 And I think that speaks to the speed and efficacy in which YouTube enforced its 7 own policies.
8 And I'd also like to --
9 Mr. Bopp. I think you misstated that 16 to 18.
10 [redacted]. Oh, excuse me. Apologies. Please let me clarify. 16 to 18 views
11 out of 10,000 views. Apologies. I meant to say that as well.
12 And I'd also like to note that I stated: "Mr. Flaherty, with regard to the specific 13 videos you reference, the content was not in violation of our community guidelines."

1 [3:22 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So turning back to the hundred views or less, I understand the one metric is 4 measuring views.

5 During your time at the company, do you recall if there was any metric regarding

6 how long a video was up for before enforcement took place?

7 A I can't recall a specific metric. Again, that was, you know, the Violative

8 View Rate, that metric was provided public to really get to the heart of that question of,

9 again, how quickly is content being removed and how basically how good is YouTube at 10 enforcing its own policies.

11 Q Just based off, you know, my own personal experience with YouTube or how

12 I would imagine, some videos reach over a hundred views quite quickly and there are 13 probably some that languish without many views for quite sometime.

14 Was there any sort of assessment internally, whether publicly released or not

15 within the company, to measure how quickly the company was able to identify content

16 that was violating the company's policies?

17 A None that I can recall.

18 Q You called attention to your response. It's a 1:03 a.m. date stamp or

19 timestamp. Excuse me. And what was represented in this email, just to make sure this

20 is consistent with your understanding, that content that violated the policies could be

21 subject to removal but that borderline content could be reduced but was not subject to

22 removal.

23 Is that a fair summary?

24 A That's a fair summary, again, because borderline content didn't cross the line

25 of violating policies.

1 Q Did Mr. Flaherty ever ask why the company didn't remove borderline
2 content?
3 A I can't recall if he asked that question because, again, I tried to be very clear
4 that that content didn't violate policies. I can't recall if he specifically asked that, but I
5 tried to make that very clear, again, in describing the four R responsibility framework.
6 Q Certainly there has to be some line drawn here of what violates versus 7 what's close to violating. Did Mr. Flaherty ever ask YouTube to consider changing what 8 was considered borderline into violative content?
9 A I can't recall Mr. Flaherty making that request.
10 Q If YouTube had changed its content moderation policies so that content that 11 was previously borderline content would under the new policy be considered violative
12 content, do you think that's a change that would have been welcomed by the White
13 House in 2021?
14 A I can't speak how they would have welcomed policies or had further 15 questions. I just I don't want to speculate in terms of how any changes would be 16 received.
17 Again, if there were changes and updates, as is indicated here, I would generally,
18 you know, make sure that that information was shared.
19 Q Are you aware of any internal company discussions in 2021 about revising
20 the community guidelines so that content that was previously considered borderline 21 content would be considered violative content?
22 A I can't recall being a part of those decisions. Again, the Trust and Safety
23 team, they're the ones that made, you know, a lot of decisions around, you know,
24 updating YouTube's community guidelines. I was on the Public Policy team. I think
25 that would probably be a better question for Trust and Safety but, to be direct, I just I

1 can't recall that.

2 Q In your response at 1:03 a.m. at the top of the -- what's exhibit 7, you

3 mentioned that the content is not in violation of the policies.

4 Exhibit 8 is the screenshot of the tweet.

5 Do you recall whether you -- in July of 2021, would you have been in a position to

6 assess whether these videos were violative content or not or did you have to reach out to 7 somebody within the company to provide that answer for you?

8 A I was not in a position to make that assessment. That would have been

9 made by the Trust and Safety team. And so it was very likely that I would have shared

10 this with the Trust and Safety team to get their views and determinations on that.

11 Q When sharing this with the Trust and Safety team, would you have said this

12 question comes from the White House?

13 A I can't recall if I specifically said. I have no reason to doubt that I didn't 14 include that, but I can't recall what my specific email was to the Trust and Safety team.

15 Q Either on this day or -- I guess the email chain's over a couple of days.

16 Around this time, do you recall having any phone calls or Zoom meetings with

17 Mr. Flaherty to discuss steps the company was taking with respect to COVID-related

18 content?

19 A I don't recall additional specific meetings. You know, from a broader

20 context, I was working from home. And to be honest, a lot of the Zoom meetings kind

21 of ran together. I can't recall if I -- if I did or if I didn't.

22 Q Do you recall any examples before this where Mr. Flaherty or someone from

23 the White House flagged, like, a video -- or in this case it's a screenshot of videos -- and 24 asked just as an example whether this would be borderline content or violative content?

25 A That may have happened. This example is the one that I recall the most.

1 And the reason why I recall it is he sent a tweet and not a specific -- I just thought that
2 was a little bit unusual. So that's why I recall.
3 I can't recall other specific examples. But when I responded, I had no concern
4 about telling him exactly what the determination was.
5 Q Do you recall any Zoom meetings where someone from the White House
6 did, like, a screen share and pulled up a video and asked, you know, can you walk us
7 through if this is borderline or violative?
8 A I can't remember if that happened. But if it did, I would have said that that 9 is not a determination or a decision that I make.
10 What I would have done in that scenario is, again, refer to YouTube's community 11 guidelines, walk through specifically what the policies were, ensure that, you know, it was 12 clear that anyone can report content on YouTube, anyone who logs in can report anything
13 on YouTube, and the same policies apply. Regardless of whomever might be reporting
14 content.
15 But, again, to be clear, I can't recall if they specifically showed a -- if the White
16 House specifically showed a screenshot and said, you know, what about this.
17 Q Do you recall any meetings with the White House where you or someone 18 from the company came prepared with an example to illustrate how the policies would 19 apply?
20 A I don't believe we would have provided a specific video. I think what was 21 common -- and this is something that's available on YouTube's Community Guidelines
22 website -- is there are specific examples, not videos but, like, the types of content.
23 One that stands out to me is so an example of something that would be violative
24 of, you know, 5G towers cause COVID. And I believe that was an example that was 25 provided.

1 So it wouldn't have [been here is a specific. It's, you know, broadly this is the 2 type of content that would be in violation of the policies.
3 [redacted] This will be exhibit 9.
4 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 9
5 was marked for identification.]
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q This is the same email chain as exhibits 7 and it shows the -- shows [redacted]
8 forwarding the email to [redacted].
9 A Yes.
10 Q So we had talked briefly just at a high level about [redacted] role in the 11 company. It's your recollection that she was with the company's Communications
12 team?
13 A Correct.
14 Q Do you recall why you forwarded this email chain to [redacted]?
15 A To the best of my recollection, I show that I shared the announcement and 16 just wanted to share the response.
17 Q Prior to this email chain, had you -- was it your practice or your team's 18 practice to forward other communications with the White House to the Communications
19 team?
20 A I can't think of other examples. Generally, what I did during my work, if 21 there was an announcement, I would share. You know, I shared this with several 22 offices, you know, most often on the Hill, and this is typically the response that was 23 received.
24 But this -- I can't recall other examples outside of this where I did that with -- from 25 White House emails.

1 Q Did you have any conversations that you can recall with [redacted]
2 regarding meetings or discussions with the White House?
3 A I -- none stand out to me. I mean, I have no reason to doubt that I didn't.
4 There's just nothing really that stands out in terms of my conversations with
5 [redacted].
6 Q Did you have a primary point of contact with the Communications team
7 during your time at the company?
8 A I don't know that I would describe it as a primary point of contact.
9 I -- [redacted] to the best of my recollection addressed COVID-19-related press
10 releases and blog posts and things like that. But there was other communications of 11 folks that it wasn't uncommon for me to have conversations with them as well.
12 Q Do you recall any conversations with other communication folks about 13 meetings or emails or discussions with the White House?
14 A It's certainly possible I may have mentioned it. But as it relates to COVID,
15 again, I do recall [redacted], like, that was -- if there was a question on COVID press
16 releases, statements, blog posts, things like that, she was the person. So for COVID, I 17 would have gone [redacted].
18 [redacted] Do you recall any -- actually, strike that. We'll just go to the next
19 exhibit.
20 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 10
21 was marked for identification.]
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q This is a September 2021 email exchange between [redacted] and others at 24 the company and Mr. Flaherty and others at the White House.
25 This will be exhibit 10.

1 A Okay.

2 Q Do you recall sending the email on September 21st, 2021, notifying

3 Mr. Flaherty about the company's finalization of the new policy?

4 A With this in front of me, it certainly helps me recall.

5 Q We'll start with the first sentence of your email to Mr. Flaherty with the 1:52

6 timestamp. Said, "Our YouTube Trust and Safety team is working to finalize a new policy

7 to remove content that could mislead people on the safety and efficacy of vaccines."

8 To your recollection, what was -- what was the change of policy during this time?

9 A Again, outside, as I've stated, the safety and efficacy of vaccines, I can't recall

10 the details but it certainly was vaccine-related.

11 Q To your recollection, prior to this policy change or -- let me rephrase that.

12 To your recollection, because of this policy change, was there any type of content

13 that was previously considered borderline content that was newly considered violative

14 content under the new standard?

15 A It's difficult for me to say in all examples of YouTube how much was

16 specifically borderline that would have been impacted or not. I have no reason to doubt

17 that there would be some that could be impacted. I mean, there's a lot of content on

18 YouTube. I have no reason to doubt that some that would have been impacted by this

19 policy could have been considered as borderline content.

20 Q To your understanding, under the new policy, was there more content than 21 now could be considered violative than under the previous policy?

22 A It's difficult for me to say more versus less. With 500 hours uploaded every

23 single minute, there's a lot of new content that comes on YouTube every single day. So I

24 don't know that I can really categorize it as this led to a significant drop in content with so

25 much new content being put on the platform.

1 Q Yeah, let me rephrase the question.
2 When a new policy is instituted, there can be subject areas being added or taken
3 away from the community guidelines of what is violative content.
4 Before this new policy was put in place in around September of 2021, to your 5 understanding, how was content that questioned the efficacy of vaccines treated?
6 A I think that's a better question for the Trust and Safety team in terms of how 7 it would have been treated in all categories.
8 Broadly speaking, it's my understanding that it wouldn't have been in violation of 9 the policies. It's been kind of at least some time since I've reviewed the specific details
10 of the policy since I left the company more than a year ago or roughly a year ago.
11 I think that's probably a better question for the Trust and Safety team.
12 Q How did you become aware that the Trust and Safety team was working to 13 finalize a new policy to remove content that could mislead people on the safety and 14 efficacy of vaccines?
15 A Aside from I would have been notified by a colleague at YouTube, I don't 16 remember who exactly did. But it certainly would have been another colleague at the 17 company that would have notified me.
18 Q Do you recall the gap in time from when you were first notified to when you
19 notified Mr. Flaherty?
20 A I really don't remember. Again, I can't recall who notified me. So it's 21 difficult for me to provide an accurate assessment of what that time looked like from the 22 time I first knew until I sent this email on September 21st of 2021.
23 Q You asked if Mr. Flaherty's available to meet -- the email's Tuesday,
24 September 2021 --
25 A Okay.

1 Q -- whether to meet this Friday, September 24th or Monday, September 27th.
2 To your understanding, were either of those dates before the policy was to be
3 announced?
4 A I don't dispute that -- well, let me rephrase.
5 I -- it's difficult for me to really remember what the specific timeline was. If I was 6 discussing a preview, then it's probably fair to say that that would have been before it
7 became public. But I -- I can't recall the specific timelines.
8 Q Who at the company made the decision to notify Mr. Flaherty about the new 9 policy that was being finalized?
10 A I honestly don't remember. This was some time ago.
11 Q Do you remember if it was you?
12 A I -- I generally -- I cannot recall.
13 Q On the decision whether to notify the White House of a policy that's being 14 finalized, is that the type of decision that you typically have the authority to make, or is 15 that a decision that would typically be made by someone above you?
16 A I generally can't recall. I would have made the team aware. I would have 17 made my manager aware, but I can't recall the sequence of events of if someone asked 18 me to or if I took that initiative. I just I don't recall the sequence of events from 19 September 21st, 2021.
20 Q Independent of this specific sequence, just generally, in 2021, is this the type
21 of decision that would have been within the scope of your authority? Or is this a 22 decision that would have more likely come from someone above you?
23 A Generally speaking, I -- it's really -- it's really difficult for me to remember. I
24 was certainly given, you know, broad leeway to have conversations with external
25 stakeholders. I just I really don't remember.

1 Q The -- do you know why the Trust and Safety team created this new policy to 2 remove content that could mislead people on the safety and efficacy of the vaccines?
3 A I think motivations for Trust and Safety team are better answered by the 4 Trust and Safety team.
5 Q Were you aware that they were working on this new policy?
6 A I can't recall specifically what I was aware of at the time. Again, based off
7 this email, I was certainly aware of it before it became public, but I can't recall when I first 8 became aware of it.
9 Q In your discussions with the White House, at any point during 2021 -- let me 10 rephrase that.
11 In your discussions with the White House before September 2021, were there any 12 discussions related to content on the safety of vaccines?
13 A Content on the safety of vaccine -- are you referring to specific videos or 14 content or --
15 Q No, questions about how the company handled content related to the safety
16 of vaccines under its community guidelines at the time.
17 A It's certainly possible that that came up, but nothing really stands out, you
18 know, a few years after the fact here. It's certainly -- it's certainly possible.
19 Q You do recall that there were -- I don't want to put words in your mouth --
20 A Yeah.
21 Q -- discussions with the White House about COVID-19 vaccines. Is that a fair
22 assessment of your recollection?
23 A That's a fair assessment.
24 Q Okay. When there were discussions about the COVID-19 vaccines, what 25 about the vaccines was Mr. Flaherty bringing up or asking about?

1 A I can't recall specifically what he was referring to. I think certainly broadly
2 issues around vaccine hesitancy, as we've previously discussed and has been indicated in 3 those emails. Outside of hesitancy, I can't recall specific areas, you know, outside the 4 broader umbrella of vaccine hesitancy.
5 Q Based on your understanding of the discussions at the time, would concerns
6 related to the safety or efficacy of vaccines fall underneath the umbrella of concerns
7 about vaccine hesitancy?
8 A That's fair. I would note that, you know, this is why, you know, YouTube
9 has a health team, as well, to work with external stakeholders and, more specifically, with 10 health authorities globally to include the CDC, the WHO.
11 It was my understanding during my time at the company that decisions made 12 around health policies were done in coordination with those agencies based off of their 13 feedback rather than political offices. That's my general understanding and recollection 14 of, you know, the health team and their work and responsibilities.
15 Q The new policies that's described in your email here addresses content that 16 could mislead people on the safety and efficacy of vaccines.
17 Did that new policy encompass true information about the safety and efficacy of 18 vaccines that lacked adequate context?
19 A It's been 3 years since I've reviewed. I would really need that policy in front
20 of me to accurately answer your question.
21 Again, as I've indicated, broadly, it was around safety and efficacy of vaccines.
22 Specifically what that policy was, again, I'm certainly aware it was made public. But I
23 can't recall the details of that policy.
24 Q So some of the others misinformation policies we've discussed at a high
25 level, but there are assessments on the accuracy of information.

1 To your understanding, is this new policy, was there an element that was looking
2 at the intent of people that were posting content?
3 A I would really need that policy in front of me to help refresh my memory.
4 Q Do you receive like a briefing from the Trust and Safety team, or how would 5 you have been made aware of what this new policy entailed?
6 A It's possible there was an internal discussion. It's -- I really -- I'm struggling
7 to recall exactly how that information was shared with the Public Policy team.
8 Q The previous exhibits, there was the email chain from July 2021 where 9 Mr. Flaherty flags a tweet and there's some examples of YouTube videos and you respond
10 pretty definitively that those videos did not violate the community guidelines at the time.
11 To your understanding, would those videos have violated the new policy
12 guidelines being issued around September 2021?
13 A I didn't make those calls. That was the Trust and Safety team, and I
14 deferred any decisions on enforcement. That was their responsibility. That was not 15 my role at the company.
16 Q Understanding it's not your role --
17 A Yeah.
18 Q -- just to your understanding, based off an assessment, an enforcement
19 action being taken by the Trust and Safety team, for the videos that were flagged in the 20 July 2021 email exchange, would those have been considered by the Trust and Safety
21 team to be violative content under the new policy enacted around September of 2021?
22 Mr. Bopp. I think he's already said several times that he's not part of the Trust
23 and Safety team. You're asking him repeatedly what the Trust and Safety team, how it 24 would have applied these new standards which he's already said he needs to have in 25 front of him. He doesn't recall what they are. He can't answer that question.

1 [redacted] He's able to get an answer to the question in response to the email
2 chain in July of 2021. I'm just asking to his understanding, were those -- I'm asking
3 sitting here today --
4 [redacted]. Sure.
5 [redacted] -- not to make a judgment call.
6 But those -- the tweet with the screen shotted examples of the YouTube videos
7 was something that was significant enough that was brought to someone else in the
8 company.
9 And [redacted] was able to provide a substantive, definitive response. Those 10 were not in violation of the community guidelines at the time he sent the email.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q In September of 2021, to your understanding, based off communications
13 with the Trust and Safety team, understanding they wouldn't have been your decision
14 based off your role at the company, would those videos have violated the community
15 guidelines standards after the new policy was enacted in September of 2021?
16 A I want to clarify with regard to sending that email to the Trust and Safety
17 team, to ask for them to review this content, again, that's something I took their 18 feedback. I did not make that determination. They were the ones that said this 19 doesn't violate our policies. If that happened, that was, you know, pretty direct. This 20 content does not violate our policies.
21 In terms of making specific determinations about those, I can't do it because that 22 was not my role. It's been some time since I've reviewed, you know, the policy that took 23 place. So I cannot -- I'm not in a position to make a determination as to whether every 24 single video or even a subset of the videos that were identified in the tweet were 25 violative of those policies because that was not my role and responsibility. That was

1 something that the Trust and Safety did.

2 Q I think the record's clear on which teams are responsible or which team is

3 responsible for making that determination.

4 But you work in the same company, and there are times like the July 2020 email

5 where you're able to receive information from the Trust and Safety team and

6 communicate that to someone else.

7 So I'm just trying to get: Based off that previous exchange, that there was an

8 example that was flagged, an assessment was conducted, again, not by you, by the Trust

9 and Safety team, you were provided a response, again, not that you made this

10 assessment, and communicated in an email chain to the White House.

11 Did have you any conversations of -- with the YouTube Trust and Safety team

12 about whether those examples flagged in exhibit 8 but the YouTube videos in the 13 screenshot of the tweet would be considered violative under the policy as enacted

14 around September 2021?

15 A Again, to be clear, in terms of receiving information from the Trust and

16 Safety team, they were responding to my inquiry of, you know, please review, consistent

17 with our community guidelines, receiving the response. This doesn't.

18 I don't even know that I ever viewed the videos because it wasn't my role. So I

19 can't make a determination, again, based off a policy whether or not that content would

20 have been violative or not.

21 Mr. Bopp. He's just asking whether the Trust and Safety -- whether you had any

22 conversations with the Trust and Safety team about the revised policy --

23 [redacted]. Okay.

24 Mr. Bopp. -- and whether it applied to exhibit 8 videos --

25 [redacted]. Apologies.

1 Mr. Bopp. -- right --

2 [redacted]. Apologies for that.

3 Mr. Bopp. -- being violative. Whether you had any conversations was his

4 question.

5 [redacted]. Apologies for -- I can't recall specific conversations around that.

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q So in July of 2021, the White House flags an example for you. You take it

8 back to the Trust and Safety team. They come back with a clear answer. You provide

9 the clear answer back to the White House.

10 Then 2 months later, a new policy's enacted. Was there any discussion either

11 among your team or with the Trust and Safety team to try to get an assessment, if the

12 White House comes back to us with the same example, what's our answer on whether it's 13 violative under the new policy?

14 A Generally, it was a practice of mine that I wanted -- if there was specific

15 examples, you know, of specific pieces of content, I didn't really have those at my 16 disposal.

17 But I want to be clear. If there were broader themes, as I mentioned, you know,

18 5G towers causing COVID, that would be a broad example. But for these specific videos,

19 as outlined in the tweet, I just I cannot recall conversations related to those or how that 20 would be impacted a few months after the fact.

21 Q Did you anticipate being asked by the White House whether examples would 22 or would not fall under the new policy guidelines?

23 A This was a few months after the fact. I can't -- I can't say that that specific

24 tweet was top of mind. My email box was pretty active. There's a lot of questions that

25 I was working on. So I can't specifically say that that example was top of mind to me at

1 the time. I just have no recollection of that.

2 Q Okay. What about content that's like what was in that example?

3 A Again, I don't know that I ever viewed the content to ask for a determination

4 on those specific, you know, broader themes even of what would be in those videos.

5 Q Well, there's the -- you can tell by the thumbnail what's going on and by

6 Mr. Flaherty's context.

7 A Can I see thumbnail again, please?

8 Mr. Bopp. We got it.

9 But your question is whether he had any communications about videos like this,

10 and I think he's already said he doesn't recall any communications.

11 [redacted]. If I can read, one is, "Top Heisenberg Moments, Breaking Bad." I

12 don't know that I would have watched that for COVID.

13 Another one is "Breaking Bad - Shooting Tuco" something, "Rotten Tomatoes TV."

14 I don't know that I would have viewed that.

15 I mean, again, another one is, "Heated Vaccine Debate - Kennedy versus 16 Dershowitz." Another is, "Break Bad, season 3, episode 6."

17 Mr. Bopp. Why don't we -- let's wait for him to answer the question.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q When he sends the screenshot of the tweet, Mr. Flaherty makes clear of 20 which videos, right?

21 He says, "I think we had a extensive back and forth about the degree to which you

22 all are recommending anti-vaccination content. You are pretty emphatic you are not.

23 This seems to indicate that you are."

24 Is it unclear to you which of the thumbnails address anti-vaccination content?

25 A I mean, it's certainly fair to say that, you know, "Heated Vaccine Debate," I

1 can't recall ever even watching that video. So it's just really difficult for me.

2 But to really get to the heart of your question, I just don't recall subsequent

3 conversations internally a few months after this tweet was identified.

4 Broadly speaking, again, the Health team led by [redacted] had

5 conversations with health authorities around the globe. You know, it's been my

6 experience that those health authorities were, you know, part of the decisionmaking

7 process and their feedback was taken as part of the decisionmaking process. I just --

8 Q That's -- so there's been -- you provided testimony about your desire to be

9 responsive to the White House.

10 A Yes.

11 Q That's why you want to respond quickly.

12 A Yes.

13 Q We walked through what happened in April 2021. We walked through 14 other email chains.

15 Based off your recollection, this is one of the rare occurrences where in some

16 form or fashion the White House is making specific YouTube videos available as examples

17 to send to you with a question.

18 You enact a new policy 2 months later. In an effort to be responsive to the

19 White House, was there any effort within the company to assess whether these types of 20 videos would be considered violative under the new content policy?

21 A I just I can't recall being a part of any of those conversations.

22 [redacted] I just want to clarify.

23 When you say you can't recall being part of those conversations, do you know if 24 those conversations occurred?

25 [redacted]. I have no knowledge sitting here today. I just -- I just simply can't

1 recall that specific example from September 2021.

2 [redacted] As part of your effort to be responsive to the White House, would that

3 have been something that would have been a reasonable effort to do in advance of an

4 upcoming meeting with the White House?

5 Mr. Bopp. All right. We're really going down a rabbit hole here into now

6 hypothetical. I think he's answered the question. There were -- he does not recall any

7 conversations with anyone at the White House about whether these videos in exhibit 8

8 would have violated the new policy. All right. I think that's very clear on the record.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q Following your email exchange in July of 2021, do you recall any

11 conversations where the example from the White House was brought up again?

12 A If the example from the White House was brought up again?

13 Q In any -- in any internal meetings, emails, conversations.

14 A I just don't recall. I don't recall.

15 Q What did you do to prep for an upcoming meeting with the White House in

16 September of 2021?

17 A In September of 2021, I would have very likely wanted to ensure I

18 understand, you know, what the announcement was. In terms of how it would apply to 19 specific pieces of content, again, that's something that wasn't my responsibility.

20 I wanted to be aware of, again, broader themes. But in terms of taking account

21 in reviewing specific pieces of content, that was generally a practice I can't say that I did.

22 Q Again, I think the record's clear on what your responsibilities are. Office of 23 the Trust and Safety team, that's their job to enforce and, again, specific examples. You

24 have a recent communication from the White House about specific examples.

25 Was there any effort made in the prep work to provide examples of what would

1 fall as violative content under the new policy?

2 A I just I don't recall.

3 Q The second sentence of your email with a timestamp of 1:52, you say, "We

4 would like to preview our policy proposal for you and get any feedback you may have."

5 To your understanding, was a final determination made about this new policy at 6 the time you sent this email on September 21st?

7 A To the best of my recollection, it was -- it was pretty -- a done deal. I can't

8 recall any tweaks. From when I first became aware of it to the time it was made public, I

9 can't recall any changes that were made.

10 Q With the understanding that it's your recollection there weren't any changes

11 made from when you became aware to when it was made public -- let me take one step

12 back from that.

13 First, when you were made aware, and even just going off the language here

14 where you say working to finalize a new policy, was there the option to revise the policy

15 still?

16 A I think that's a better question for the Trust and Safety team. It was

17 generally my understanding that it was pretty much a done deal, but I would really defer

18 to the Trust and Safety team in terms of how it could have been tweaked.

19 Q To your understanding, what aspects of the status of the situation on

20 September 21st, 2021, led you to write that it was a proposal and that the team was 21 working to finalize the new policy?

22 A I really don't recall. I mean, this was -- this was almost 3 years ago. I just 23 can't recall.

24 [redacted] All right. We'll go off the record, please.

25 [Discussion off the record.]

1 [redacted] Go back on the record.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q [redacted], I have just a really brief follow-up question. It should be very 4 short.

5 You were asked in the previous hour about -- and I'm referring to exhibit 10 which

6 is the email that talks about how the YouTube Trust and Safety team was working to 7 finalize the new policy.

8 Do you remember being asked about that?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Okay. I just want to clarify. To the best of your knowledge, was this

11 policy change made so that YouTube could be responsive to anything Mr. Flaherty had 12 asked?

13 A To the best of my knowledge, no.

14 [redacted] That's it. We can go off the record.

15 [Discussion off the record.]

16 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q I would like to turn back to exhibit 10 that we were still looking at, at the end

19 of our prior hour.

20 In the email you sent September 21st, 2021, with the 1:52 Bates

21 stamp -- timestamp -- excuse me -- the second sentence, you said, "We would like to 22 preview our policy proposal for you and get any feedback you may have."

23 Why was YouTube interested in getting feedback from the White House?

24 A I can't speak to specific motivations in terms of feedback, but it's been some 25 time. I just I don't recall.

1 Q Okay. Well, you're one who drafted the email. Why send this email to
2 Mr. Flaherty?
3 A I can't -- I truly I cannot recall the sequence of events, again, that led to me
4 sending this email to Mr. Flaherty on September 21st, 2021.
5 Q Was there an expectation within the company for you to share any feedback
6 provided by Mr. Flaherty about the new content moderation policy?
7 A Broadly, if, you know -- I'm sorry. Can you say it one more time, please?
8 Q Sure. Was there any expectation within the company that you would share
9 internally any feedback received from Mr. Flaherty?
10 A I don't -- I don't know that I categorize it as an expectation. But, again, I 11 tried to keep folks aware of what was happening. Again, as I've indicated, I kept my 12 manager in the loop of conversations that I was having.
13 Q And by this point in 2021, members of the Trust and Safety team were aware 14 of that there were ongoing conversations with the White House? Is that right?
15 A I mean, I can't say specifically what folks were aware. As we've indicated
16 and discussed, you know, if I flagged something, that would have been reviewed by the 17 team. But I can't say for certain whether the folks that were working on this, you know, 18 what knowledge they had of those discussions.
19 Q To your understanding, there's only one YouTube Trust and Safety team. Is 20 that right?
21 A No, it's not one person. It's a very large team.
22 Q Had you sought the feedback from Mr. Flaherty on any other content
23 moderation policies prior to this one?
24 A None that I can recall.
25 Q Who else did you reach out to prior to the public announcement of this new

1 policy to solicit feedback from?

2 A I don't recall whom else I reached out to on that at that time.

3 Q Do you recall reaching out to multiple entities or people?

4 A Again, I don't recall whom else I reached out to.

5 Q With an understanding you don't have a specific recollection of who else it

6 was, just broadly, do you recall if it was multiple folks? Just one?

7 A I don't recall. And I, you know, want to be as forthcoming as I can. I just

8 can't provide a -- an estimate. I just don't remember.

9 Q So Mr. Flaherty doesn't respond until September 29th which is after the 10 dates you had proposed in your email.

11 He writes at the very end of his email, "At first blush, seems like a great step."

12 Is that consistent with the -- well, actually, let me take one step back.

13 When you sent the email on September 21st, 2021, what did you expect

14 Mr. Flaherty's reaction to be?

15 A I don't know that I walked in with any expectations. I just wanted to 16 make -- you know, again, as I've indicated in this email, you know, preview the policy

17 proposal.

18 Q And get any feedback he may have.

19 A Yes, yes.

20 Q Okay. Well, you didn't have any sense of what the feedback might be?

21 A I -- I don't recall what sense of feedback that I had. And, candidly, if I didn't

22 have this in front of me, I don't know that I would have remembered even sending this

23 email. And I just -- I don't recall what expectations I would have had.

24 Q You've got a response on September 29th. Mr. Flaherty writes, "At first 25 blush, this seems like a great step. "

1 Did you share that reaction, that feedback from the White House to others within
2 the company?
3 A I don't recall whom I would have shared that response with. It's indicated
4 we welcome -- I saw the news. We'd love to talk -- I can't recall whom else I would have 5 shared that with. I can see that [redacted] was copied on the email.
6 Q Were you surprised that Mr. Flaherty thought it was a great step?
7 A Again, I can't recall my reaction at the time.
8 Q We talked extensively about wanting to be responsive to the White House --
9 A Yeah.
10 Q -- maintaining good relationships.
11 And, I mean, was this ultimately what you were -- you and your team were hoping 12 to receive, a favorable response?
13 A I mean, generally, it's my job to make sure that, you know, folks were aware
14 or, you know, I just can't say I had any preconceived notions of a -- you know, I think 15 common sense would say, you know, if the company's going to do something, you know,
16 hopefully, you know, it'd be a good thing. But just I can't recall feeling that that would 17 be my expectation of the meeting or the request that I sent.
18 Q But by this point you've had a number of conversations and meetings with 19 Mr. Flaherty where he's identifying places of concern that the White House has. Was it 20 your understanding that this new policy may address some of those concerns?
21 A I don't know that I had the notion that it was going to address specific 22 concerns because, again, the decisions around the policy, you know, that was something
23 that was done, you know, through our team working with the WHO and CDC and groups
24 like that.
25 Again, I just want to make sure. He obviously initially stated he had a concern in

1 2024. He had a lot of questions. And so, again, I just, you know, wanted to share that
2 information, have a discussion.
3 Q In prep for this meeting that you're inviting Mr. Flaherty to have, you know,
4 some future exchange, did you or anyone on the YouTube Policy team prepare internal 5 talking points or a memo or anything to that end?
6 A I just I don't remember. Again, you know, we certainly would have wanted
7 to make sure we were aware and able to answer questions. But in terms of specific 8 talking points, I just I can't remember having those or crafting those.
9 Q Not specific to this invite to have a meeting in September of 2021, do you
10 recall any other meetings with the White House where you had talking points or some 11 sort of work product prepared in advance that you could reference, if needed?
12 A Going back to April?
13 Q Yes.
14 A I -- I can't recall, you know, having a specific thing. Again, I want to make 15 sure I was aware and able to answer questions.
16 And typically what I would do during discussions is I'd have open the YouTube's 17 Community Guidelines to reference. And, you know, as part of my work, I just would 18 refer to those. I viewed YouTube's Community Guidelines during my time at the 19 company as pretty thorough in providing examples that, you know, if someone asked
20 about broad themes, you know, the information was right there. And I generally found 21 that helpful. That was a typical practice of mine.
22 Q As part of your typical practice, would you have any other work product
23 besides community guidelines themselves?
24 A I can't recall other work products. The community guidelines, that was,
25 you know, again, that was my primary notes, I guess.

Q Do you recall any conversations with [redacted] about the new policy that was being finalized in September of 2021?

A I -- I don't recall specific conversations with [redacted] about that.

Q There's a -- the rest of the email's chain about trying to set up a meeting. To your recollection, did a meeting ultimately take place with Mr. Flaherty or with the White House to discuss the new policy that had been enacted?

A Based off of this email which, again, is very helpful, Mr. Flaherty stated we welcome the meeting. I saw the news.

And so that would indicate to me that an announcement had already occurred and the policy was public at that point in time.

Q I think that's a fair description of the email.

To your recollection, did a meeting take place to discuss the policy that had been enacted by that point, enacted and announced?

A Let's hold 2:00 p.m. on 10-1. So that -- if that was a time we were holding, then I would have had a meeting at 2:00 p.m. on 10-1, unless there was a change. But I think it's fair to say that I would have had that follow-up meeting around that timeframe, yeah.

Q Just asking if you remember anything, if the meeting took place, if you remember what was discussed during that meeting.

A I don't recall what was specifically discussed during any follow-up conversations related to the specific policy.

Q Did you ever have any in-person meetings with the White House staff during your time at the company?

A No, I can't recall of any instances of going to the White House during my time at YouTube.

1 Q So we've talked a little bit about the community guidelines related to
2 elections. And then as it relates to the communications with the White House,
3 community guidelines with respect to COVID-19 and vaccines.
4 Do you remember any discussions with members of the executive branch about 5 other topics or subject areas of misinformation other than election misinformation or 6 COVID-19 vaccine misinformation?
7 A Outside of those two, there's none that stand out to me.
8 Q To your understanding, does YouTube have community guidelines around
9 climate misinformation?
10 A I do recall a policy around climate change misinformation. I can't recall the 11 specific wording, but I'm aware of a policy along those lines that dealt with climate
12 change.
13 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 11
14 was marked for identification.]
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q This will be exhibit 11. It's a June 2022 email between Google and the 17 White House.
18 A Okay.
19 Q First, do you recall this email exchange? You're copied but -- 20 A I see that I'm copied, but I don't recall receiving this.
21 Q Okay. I just want to walk through some of the folks. WHO are the -- on 22 this email chain, as well.
23 Do you know who [redacted] is?
24 A Yes, he works on the Google GAPP team during my time there. I'm not sure
25 if his specific portfolio but, yes, he worked at the Google -- Government Affairs and Public

1 Policy team.

2 Q Did you ever work with [redacted] in 2021 regarding conversations with the 3 White House about COVID or vaccine-related misinformation?

4 A I can't recall conversations with [redacted]. To the best of my recollection,

5 those conversations were typically with [redacted].

6 Q Independent of this email chain, just for the interactions you had with

7 [redacted] as part of your work at the company, do you recall what sorts of issues would

8 lead to conversations with [redacted]?

9 A I don't recall what specific issues with [redacted], but I do recall it was not 10 frequent.

1 [4:28 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q In the to line, there's a couple individuals from White House staff. Do you

4 know who [redacted] is?

5 A I'm not sure who [redacted] is.

6 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

7 A I'm not sure who [redacted] is.

8 Q In the cc line, you're copied as well?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

11 A I'm not sure who that person is. I see that she's a -- has a Google address, 12 but I can't recall who she is or what team she was on.

13 Q What about [redacted]?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And who is [redacted]?

16 A [redacted], to the best of my recollection at YouTube, he had two positions

17 at Google, one being he worked on the team to respond to Capitol Hill requests. And

18 then I can't recall his specific new title, but it was something along the lines of 19 environmental policy, something like that. That it was outside the role of directly

20 engaging with the Hill on a regular basis.

21 Q Based off -- you've had a chance to review the email.

22 Based off the context as part of the email or to your own recollection, why were

23 you included on this exchange?

24 Mr. Bopp. To your knowledge.

25 [redacted]. To my knowledge, as someone on the YouTube public policy team. I

1 can't say it was uncommon to be cc'd on emails pertaining to YouTube that other folks
2 might be having. If it raised YouTube issues, then I was generally cc'd.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q The email provides a short brief and some bullet points and at the end
5 provides the offer to pull folks together so we can dive a bit deeper on this.
6 To your understanding, did a meeting take place with the White House staff after 7 this email was sent?
8 A I can't recall a follow-up meeting. I'm not sure if it was scheduled or if it
9 took place. I'm just not sure.
10 Q Independent of whether it was connected to this email exchange, do you
11 recall any meetings with the White House staff about climate misinformation?
12 A I can't recall attending any emails with White House -- excuse me -- any 13 meetings with White House staff on climate information. I can't speak to the broader 14 Google team.
15 But from my experience, I just -- I don't have any recollection of attending similar 16 meetings or conversations.
17 Q Do you know who [redacted] is, if I'm pronouncing that correctly? It's not 18 on this document. We can take these back. Anyone at the company?
19 A I -- I'm not sure. I can't remember who she is.
20 Q Did you ever have any meetings with the -- with White House staff regarding 21 election misinformation during the time at the company?
22 A I can't recall meetings with White House staff on election misinformation.
23 The best of my recollection, the conversations, the meetings that I had with the White
24 House staff were centered around COVID. I just -- I can't recall other topics of 25 conversation outside of COVID with the White House staff.

1 Q Do you have any familiarity with the company's work around reproductive
2 health misinformation?
3 A I'm broadly aware of it. I can't speak to specific details of it, but generally,
4 yes, I'm aware that there are policies related to that.
5 Q During your time at the company, do you recall any questions or meetings
6 with members of the executive branch about reproductive health misinformation?
7 A I don't recall any meetings with White House staff on reproductive 8 health-related policies.
9 Q What about the executive branch more broadly?
10 A More broadly, the same answer. I just can't recall conversations related to 11 that specific issue.
12 Q During your time at the company, did you have any interactions with ODNI?
13 A I can't recall interactions with ODNI.
14 Q Are you familiar with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?
15 A Broadly. I'm aware of the center.
16 Q Are you aware -- are you aware of the disinformation dozen report that the 17 center put out regarding folks on social media platforms spreading misinformation
18 regarding COVID-19 and vaccines?
19 A Yes, I do recall the term "disinformation dozen." That was a fairly 20 memorable phrase.
21 Q Do you recall whether the report or the phrase "disinformation dozen" was 22 discussed at all in your meetings with the White House in 2021?
23 A It may have. It doesn't -- it doesn't stand out as a topic of discussion. It's 24 possible.
25 But I can't remember a specific question related to the so-called disinformation

1 dozen during my conversations with Mr. Flaherty. It may have happened, but I just -- I
2 can't remember. I'm broadly aware of the "disinformation dozen" term.
3 Q Separate from whether the term disinformation dozen was used, do you
4 recall any discussions with Mr. Flaherty in 2021 about whether certain individuals, certain 5 channels spread misinformation to a greater degree than others?
6 A Is there a specific time frame?
7 Q In 2021.
8 A In 2021? I -- I do not recall.
9 Q Have you -- during your time at the company, did you have any direct 10 interactions with anyone from the Center for Countering Digital Hate?
11 A I can't recall any meetings or discussions with myself and that organization.
12 Q During your time at the company, did you have any interactions with the 13 Atlantic Council?
14 A I don't remember attending any meetings with the Atlantic Council directly,
15 to the best of my ability. I mean, they may have been present in other discussions or 16 things, but I can't recall any specific Atlantic Council staff, and I certainly never went to 17 their building.
18 Q Are you familiar with the Election Integrity Partnership?
19 A I'm broadly familiar, yes, with the Election Integrity Partnership.
20 Q Did you have any -- during your time with the company, did you have any 21 interactions with the Election Integrity Partnership?
22 A I can't recall any interactions or any individuals that were at the EIP. I just 23 don't remember speaking with them.
24 Q In 2020 were you aware whether members of Alphabet more broadly,
25 anybody from the company was communicating with or interacting with the EIP?

1 A I'm not aware broadly. It's possible. But I'm just not aware of who that 2 would have been or what that time frame was.
3 Q Are you familiar with The Virality Project?
4 A I'm sorry, The --
5 Q Virality Project.
6 A That doesn't ring a bell.
7 Q Separate from -- well, not necessarily separate. But not limited to the EIP,
8 The Virality Project or -- well, those two -- do you recall any interactions with Stanford
9 University as part of your role at the company?
10 A I don't recall any conversations with anyone at Stanford.
11 Q During your time at the company, did you have any interactions with 12 NewsGuard?
13 A That name doesn't sound familiar to me.
14 Q During your time with the company, did you have any interactions with the 15 Global Alliance for Responsible Media, also referred to as GARM by the acronym?
16 A I'm aware of GARM, but I don't recall any meetings or discussions with 17 anyone at GARM.
18 Q Do you know if anyone in the company had interactions with GARM?
19 A I -- I would defer to others in terms of if they did. I have no reason to 20 doubt that they met with GARM. That very well may have happened. But I can't recall 21 any instances where I had a discussion with anyone at GARM.
22 Q With the understanding you don't recall any instances where you had 23 interactions with GARM, do you recall which teams within the company had interactions
24 with GARM?
25 A I don't want to speculate in terms of who. I wasn't there. I just -- I'm not

1 sure.

2 Q Are you familiar with the World Federation of Advertisers?

3 A The World Federation of Advertisers?

4 Q Yes.

5 A That doesn't sound familiar.

6 Q During your time at the company, did you have any interactions with the

7 Aspen Institute?

8 A None that I can recall.

9 Q In your interactions with the executive branch, do you recall any interactions

10 that were attended by other social media companies in addition to YouTube and Google?

11 A Yes, I can recall one instance, I believe. I can't remember exactly what the 12 topic was. I think it was -- it was -- I think it was the shooting -- the terrorist attack in

13 Buffalo, New York, the grocery store attack. I think there was a discussion with other -- I

14 believe Facebook was present. I'm not sure who else. That's the only one that stands

15 out to me, I think.

16 Q I've seen some email chains, references from Mr. Flaherty that the White

17 House was communicating with other social media platforms about concerns related to 18 COVID-19 misinformation.

19 In 2021, did anyone from the YouTube or Google public policy teams reach out to 20 members of one of the other large social media companies just to touch base regarding 21 outreach from the White House?

22 A I can't speak for others or what I'm aware of. I previously worked at

23 Twitter, as I stated in my employment history. I can't recall any conversations with 24 anyone specifically about these White House meetings.

25 But I mean, certainly, I know peers at other companies, but I just -- I can't

1 remember any conversations that we had on this specifically.

2 Q Did anyone in the White House reach out to you prior to this interview?

3 A No.

4 Q Did anyone from the Biden campaign reach out to you prior to this

5 interview?

6 A No.

7 Q Do you recall whether any White House staff ever used profanity in their

8 meetings with the company?

9 A I -- there was no profane terms that stand out to me in those discussions. I

10 generally try to avoid using profanity in professional conversations. I -- nothing stands

11 out to me.

12 Q Did anyone at the company ever share with you whether members of the 13 White House staff used profanity in their conversations?

14 A None that I'm -- I can't recall any conversations with any -- with anyone at 15 YouTube regarding profanity from the White House.

16 Q When approximately in 2023 did you leave the company again?

17 A I left almost exactly a year ago -- roughly a year ago today.

18 Q During your time at the company, do you recall any conversations, internal

19 conversations, with members of either the YouTube public policy team or the Google

20 public policy team about certain pressure points that the company faced from potential

21 adverse action from the executive branch?

22 A I'm not sure what you mean by pressure points.

23 Q Sure. Potential risk of adverse action from the executive branch.

24 A I can't recall any conversations like that.

25 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

2 [redacted]. This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has
3 requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent
4 to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other
5 intermediaries to sensor speech.
6 Would the witness please state your name for the record?
7 [redacted]
8 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here
9 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to 10 appear voluntarily.
11 My name is [redacted]. I am with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 12 everyone else from the committee who is here at the table now introduce themselves as 13 well.
14 [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.
15 [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.
16 [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
17 [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
18 [redacted] will be joining us as well.
19 [redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will
20 follow during today's interview. The questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority
21 will ask questions first for one hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask
22 questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth
23 until there are no more questions, and the interview is over.
24 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour. If you would like to take 25 a break apart from that, please just let us know. As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you understand?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best to limit the number of people directing questions to you during any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand, and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding that you are appearing today with counsel. Is that correct?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?

[redacted] [redacted], FBI Office of the General Counsel.

[redacted] [redacted], DOJ Office of Legislative Affairs.

[redacted] Thank you. We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide range of topics. So, if you need clarification at any point, just say so.

If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us you learned information from someone else; just indicate how you came to know information.

If there's things you don't know or can't remember, just say so. Please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question. You should also understand that, although this interview is not under oath, that, by law, you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand that?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview. Do you understand this?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C., section 1001. Do you understand this?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

[redacted] No.

[redacted] Finally, I would like to make note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

That is end of my preamble. Is there anything my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

1 [redacted] We thank the witness for joining us this morning and taking time out
2 of your busy calendar. We also we want to renew a request that we have made several 3 times now that all of the transcripts and other evidence gathered in this investigation be 4 made public so that there can be a true and accurate representation of what evidence
5 has been gathered through this investigation. Thank you.
6 [redacted] I note that this transcript is not taking place on video, that the 7 committee has been operating in good faith to release some of the transcripts, and that it
8 is consistent with previous Congresses to maintain confidentiality to not provide a 9 roadmap for future witnesses who are coming in.
10 [redacted] Just two things we would like to put on the record before you get 11 started, [redacted]. The first is that we would dispute the characterization that the scoping of 12 today's interview relates to the FBI's coercion of social media partners. Our 13 understanding of the scope is that today's interview relates to [redacted]'s time as the 14 unit chief of the Foreign Influence Task Force's Russia Unit, as well as his engagement
15 with certain external partners to include social media companies.
16 We also would like to note on the record that, at the time [redacted] was working
17 as the unit chief of FITF Russia, he was a non-SES employee, and he currently is not an SES
18 employee. We have made an accommodation here specific to the facts and 19 circumstances and understanding the committee's priorities for their social media
20 investigation. We are acting in good faith to address their informational needs here.
21 [redacted] The time is 10:06. We will start the first round of questioning.
22 EXAMINATION
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q What is your full name?
25 A [redacted].

1 Q What is your current place of employment?
2 A The Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation.
3 Q And what is your current title?
4 A Supervisory special agent.
5 Q How long have you worked in that role?
6 A My current role, almost 3 years.
7 Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?
8 A I attended the University of Northern Colorado, had got my bachelors in 9 speech communications with a minor in economics. After that, I attended Red Rocks
10 Community College for my post certification to become a police officer in Colorado State.
11 Starting in 2014, I believe, I began work on my master's under the GI bill, 12 completing my masters in diplomacy from the University of Norwich in Vermont. That's 13 most of my formal education.
14 Q When did you receive your masters degree?
15 A In 2016.
16 Q What is your professional background, starting after college?
17 A As I sort of eluded to, I became a police officer after college in Greeley,
18 Colorado. Did that for a couple years, and this was sort of about the time that the Iraq
19 War started. I felt strongly about serving, and walked into an Army recruiting station
20 and enlisted in the Army trying to get in the fight. And enlisted under an 18X contract,
21 which entailed going to infantry and airborne training and then having sort of a
22 guaranteed slot in selection for special forces.
23 I was selected and went through about 2 years of training, including Russian
24 language training, and eventually landing with the 10th Special Forces Group at Fort
25 Carson, Colorado, and subsequently served two tours in Iraq with the 10th Special Forces

1 Group.

2 Always wanted to kind of go back to law enforcement and started looking at

3 Federal law enforcement while I was in the military, not really wanting to make a career

4 out of it, having enlisted. The FBI was really the only organization hiring at the time,

5 started applying while I was in Iraq, and went through that process as I was getting out of 6 the Army and kind of went straight into Quantico from the time I got out of the Army.

7 Do you want me to jump into the FBI, or hold on that?

8 Q Yes. Thank you for your service, and yes, if you could start then walking us

9 through your positions at the FBI?

10 A Okay. I started with the FBI in March of 2010, and upon completion of the 11 Academy at Quantico, I was assigned to a Russian counterintelligence squad in the 12 Houston Field Office, mostly due to my Russian language background.

13 Worked in the Houston office for about 6 years, predominantly working Russian

14 matters but also worked counterproliferation kind of with all-threat countries, working

15 investigations, trying to stop technology flows illegally overseas.

16 In 2016, I moved to the Washington, D.C., area, started a temporary position in

17 the Criminal Investigative Division with the FBI in the Transnational Organized Crime

18 Eastern Hemisphere Section, working in the Balkan/Eurasian Operations Unit as a

19 program manager. As part of that assignment, I was assigned to temporarily sit on the

20 Foreign Influence Task Force when it was stood up as CID's transnational organized crime

21 representative to the Foreign Influence Task Force.

22 Wanting to stay in D.C. a little longer, I took a permanent position as well with the

23 Foreign Influence Task Force as a supervisory special agent, continuing to work Russian

24 matters, transnational organized crime, counterintelligence, kind of the whole portfolio

25 under the Foreign Influence Task Force. And, in mid-2019, I was assigned to be acting

1 unit chief of the Russian Unit when the Foreign Influence Task Force expanded from a
2 Russian-focused unit to a whole section with components comprising different threat
3 countries, three units.
4 And, shortly after, I went through a hiring process to be promoted as the unit chief
5 of the Russian Unit of the Foreign Influence Task Force. In June of 2021, I was then -- I
6 got a job in Atlanta, Georgia. I currently am the supervisory special agent in Atlanta over 7 the Domestic Terrorism Squad. That's my present role.
8 Q So you were at the FITF from the time it was stood up in 2017 until June
9 of 2021?
10 A Nearly the beginning. I don't -- I wasn't the first person there, but probably 11 around the time it was stood up. I started attending meetings and that sort of thing as a 12 part time representative from Criminal Investigative Division.
13 Q And then, when you left the FITF in June of 2021, was your title still unit
14 chief of the Russia Unit?
15 A When I left in 2021, I was the unit chief, yes, and then was supervisory
16 special agent in the field in Atlanta.
17 Q And, when you became the acting unit chief in approximately mid-2019, was 18 there a prior unit chief, or did this correspond with restructuring and you were the first?
19 A There was a prior unit chief when there was only kind of one unit. And 20 then, when it expanded to a section, the unit chief became the acting section chief, and I
21 just sort of took his position as acting unit chief. He then left. There was a permanent 22 executive assigned as section chief. I was hired as the unit chief of the Russian Unit, and 23 then they hired two other unit chiefs for the other units as well at the same time.
24 Q Who was the, at the time this restructuring is taking place, the person who 25 was the unit chief that became the acting section chief?

1 A It was a supervisory special agent that was assigned to the FITF at the time.
2 If it's not SES, just the role. Yeah.
3 Q Okay. Is that individual in an SES role now?
4 A He is not.
5 Q Okay. When this restructuring occurring in the middle of 2019, two other
6 unit chiefs are brought on. Who are those unit chiefs?
7 A So the global unit chief, same concerns.
8 [redacted] The China Unit chief, can I address that?
9 [redacted] Yeah.
10 [redacted] It's Laura Dehmlow was the China Unit chief at the time.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q Prior to Ms. Dehmlow becoming the unit chief, was she with the FITF before
13 that?
14 A She was not. I believe she was coming from a joint duty assignment at the 15 time.
16 Q Had you worked with Ms. Dehmlow before?
17 A Briefly. I recall working with her on some Chinese counter-proliferation 18 matters years in the past.
19 Q Who was responsible for first -- in the early days when the FITF was being 20 stood up, who is responsible for assigning you to the Task Force?
21 A I recall being given the assignment from my unit chief at the time in Criminal 22 Investigative Division, but the Foreign Influence Task Force at that time was run by sort of 23 dual section chiefs from the Russian Counterintelligence Division and the Cyber Russia
24 Operations Section.
25 Q And then, in mid-2019, who decided that you would become the acting unit

1 chief?

2 A The unit chief who became the acting section chief was generally responsible

3 for that decision, as I understand it. There was some executives above him. I'm not

4 sure if he, you know, discussed it with them. But I believe it was his decision.

5 Q And then the decision to promote you from acting unit chief to unit chief,

6 who was that?

7 A That was the first permanent section chief, Bradley Benavides.

8 Q Had you worked with Mr. Benavides before?

9 A I had not.

10 Q At a high level, starting once you became acting unit chief and then once you

11 were formally the unit chief, what were your responsibilities as unit chief of the Russia

12 Unit?

13 A Pretty various. It's hard to kind of pin it down to a specific job description.

14 But, generally, a lot of meetings at headquarters. At that time, we were still kind of 15 trying to wrap our arms around the threat, understand the threat. We had a lot of 16 engagement. Everything from internal U.S. Government agencies, foreign governments,

17 academia, think-tanks, sort of looking at any sources we could to try to understand the 18 problem and formulate our strategy to mitigate the problem.

19 Obviously, at that point, we were also expanding pretty rapidly going from a unit

20 to a section. A good portion of my time was sort of strategic direction for the unit and

21 hiring approximately 20 people in sort of a truncated timeline in the lead-up to the

22 election and trying to get 20 people on board across multiple job series; intelligence

23 analysts, contractors, forensic accountants, intelligence analysts, all these type of things

24 that we kind of fill the roles and build-out the unit.

25 Q Approximately, what was the timeline of hiring those 20 people? When did

1 the unit start, and then -- at this point it's a section -- when did the section finish?

2 A The unit was probably officially -- when we had on paper positions and that

3 sort of thing -- was probably somewhere in the timeframe of September, October, 2019,

4 kind of while I was acting prior to becoming full-time, continuing through once I became

5 full-time. And, obviously, we were trying to staff it up as quickly as possible. But the

6 timeline was sort of we were hoping to be fully staffed around March, April of 2020 so

7 that we could support the up tempo in 2020 in the lead-up to the election.

8 Q To your recollection, by we'll say roughly April 2020, what is the -- let me

9 take one step back.

10 By April 2020, how big was the FITF?

11 A The FITF in total, I would approximate, was 80 people. My unit had billets

12 for approximately 30 people. In April, we probably weren't entirely full. Somewhere

13 between 25 and 30, I would say, for the Russia Unit specifically at that time.

14 Q When you say there was a goal of hiring an additional 20 people, was that 15 just for the Russia Unit or was that for the whole FITF?

16 A That was just for the Russia Unit. The FITF entirely -- I mean, we stood up

17 the China Unit and the Global Unit with almost no one, kind of hired unit chiefs and had

18 to fill all those spots as well. The Russia Unit, at least I had a core group that had

19 already been doing it. So I had to add -- the Russia Unit was also the largest, the plan

20 build-out was largest of the three units as well. The other units had a little more work

21 to do than I did, but still had to hire quite a few people in a short amount of time.

22 Q So, from we'll say early fall 2019 to late spring 2020, your unit has at least,

23 what, tripled in size?

24 A Approximately, I'd say that's accurate.

25 Q And the other units are starting from scratch and trying to hire out?

1 A Yes.

2 Q For both the other units and your unit, the folks you're bringing in, are they

3 from other places within the FBI, or are you hiring outside as well?

4 A It was a mix. Probably the hardest position we had to fill were agents.

5 Agents are a little more difficult to move around. And a lot of what we received, we

6 received from other operational divisions, and they gave us vacancies usually rather than

7 actual bodies to move over. So the agents were kind of the focus in hiring. It's a little

8 easier to hire intelligence analysts and tactical analysts, and that sort of thing. A lot of 9 them are already at headquarters, and it was easy to move people over as opposed to 10 agents that some of them would come from the field.

11 I would say the majority of agents coming to headquarters come from the field,

12 but some also came from other divisions. Additionally, when we sort of struggled to

13 find enough agents to fill out, we were then given kind of temporary agents from other

14 operational divisions, from what I understand mostly volunteered to come over.

15 Q And, during this time period, we'll say fall of 2019 to spring 2020, are the 16 unit chiefs the ones primarily responsible for building out their units?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Who are you reporting to during this time?

19 A I was first reporting to the acting section chief, and then, after that, the 20 permanent section chief who I believe got there in approximately August or September of 21 2019 if I remember correctly.

22 Q That was Mr. Benavides?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Was there anyone between Mr. Benavides and you in that kind of 25 organizational hierarchy?

1 A Not at that time. Sometime shortly after he got there and probably pretty
2 similar to the time I was hired as the permanent chief, there was an assistant section
3 chief hired, [redacted]. So that was sort of -- assistant section chief fills a bit of a
4 different role. I believe in this case, [redacted] was my direct supervisor with 5 Mr. Benavides sort of being my next level supervisor.
6 Q You mention that you were -- the FITF were at headquarters. How often
7 did you interact with the Director?
8 A Personally, I can only think of one or two maybe kind of ad hoc times that 9 I've interacted with the Director. I was not responsible for directly briefing the Director,
10 but occasionally I can think of at least one time in sort of command post situation where
11 he came in, asked questions about the program and those sort of things and I briefed him
12 on some things. But nothing planned and nothing sort of ongoing.
13 Q Was that close to the 2020 election?
14 A Yeah. I believe it was in the election command post the only time I can 15 think of that I directly briefed him anything about the program.
16 Q What about the Deputy Director?
17 A I can remember a couple times I briefed the Deputy Director on the 18 program. One time that comes to mind specifically was to basically detail my plan for 19 building out the unit to the Deputy Director, asking for buy-in from the other operational
20 divisions. To move those kind of resources over to my unit is kind of a big ask. And so 21 that was directly to the Deputy Director, "This is what I need to build-out this unit to what 22 I think would fit my strategy."
23 Q Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation," "disinformation," and
24 "malinformation"?
25 A Yeah. So I was a student of all things foreign influence, malign foreign

1 influence. Like I said, we engaged with lots of think tanks, academia, that sort of thing.
2 Pretty early on, we learned to ignore terms like that. I don't know if that's the best
3 characterization, but generally we took an approach of content-neutral mitigation. And 4 I'm aware of lots of arguments about what some of those terms mean, and I have 5 definitions that I think were sort of arbitrated among the intelligence community.
6 But pretty typically we didn't get involved in that sort of discussion. We felt like 7 the safest way for us to conduct our job was to start with foreign threat actors and their 8 activities and sort of take a content-neutral approach regardless of what they're doing.
9 We need to mitigate that sort of influence or interference in the U.S. electoral process.
10 Q With the understanding that was the approach of your task force when 11 interacting with other government agencies or academics, what were the terms 12 "misinformation," "disinformation," "malinformation" generally trying refer to?
13 A Yeah. I think "malinformation" kind of came after my time because there
14 was a lot of discussion about "disinformation" and "misinformation" at the time. I'm not 15 really familiar with the term "malinformation." Generally, I think I know what it means.
16 But "disinformation" and "misinformation" from definitions that I think I understand, are 17 typically "disinformation" is an outright lie where "misinformation" might be something
18 that's maybe truth, maybe partial lie, but used in a way that's deceiving. So we tended 19 to not like that there was no bright lines in those definitions. It's sort of semantic, and 20 we felt strongly the best way to go about it is looking at foreign actors and mitigating the 21 threat from that side.
22 Q Do you know who Elvis Chan is?
23 A I do.
24 Q Who is Mr. Chan?
25 A I worked with Elvis Chan for years, as he was sort of the primary liaison to

1 most of the technology companies we would meet with and some of the think tanks and
2 others that were usually based in California. Much like in the Atlanta Division, the 3 Seattle Division wouldn't go to Coke or Home Depot or Delta and engage with them
4 without sort of coming to the office that, quote/unquote, owns those companies. It's in 5 their area of operation.
6 So Elvis operated as sort of the liaison and the owner of the relationships with 7 those companies and typically would set up meetings for us. He usually, especially early
8 on, or people that hadn't been to some of these companies, kind of chaperone to show
9 like, "Okay, we're going to this building; okay, this is where we're going."
10 He also had worked with many of these technology companies through cyber 11 threats for years and kind of maintained those relationships. So, whenever I would go 12 to California and meet with companies, he would serve as sort of the logistic manager of 13 those meetings.
14 Q Do you know who Nikki Floris is?
15 A I do.
16 Q What is her role as it relates to the FBI?
17 A So, at one point -- when I started on the FITF, the FITF was under the Russian 18 Counterintelligence Section, the Russian Operations Section. When we changed to a 19 section due to all sorts of mostly organizational concerns, the Foreign Influence Task
20 Force was moved under the Intelligence Branch of the Counterintelligence Division, and 21 about at that same time, Nikki Floris moved to be the Deputy Assistant Director of the 22 Intelligence Branch of the Counterintelligence Division. So there was times where she 23 was either my boss' boss or my boss' boss' boss.
24 Q How frequently did you interact with Ms. Floris during your time as unit
25 chief?

1 A Pretty frequently. Ms. Floris asked me to apply for the job, asked me to 2 stay through the 2020 election. Post-2018 election, they were hoping to have some 3 institutional knowledge kind of carry over to the 2020 election, and she personally asked
4 me to apply for the job and compete for the job, to stick around. Throughout my time
5 there, I spoke with her frequently when issues sort of raised to that level that she needed
6 to be aware or whenever she needed to -- you know, I helped prepare or edit documents
7 that she would need or briefings that she would conduct. I often was involved in 8 editing, reviewing that sort of thing.
9 Q Do you know who the Executive Assistant Director for National Security was 10 in 2020?
11 A I don't know if it was the same person the entire in 2020. I recall John 12 Brown for at least a part of 2020. I believe Jay Tabb was before him, and I can't 13 remember when Mr. Brown changed from Assistant Director to Executive Assistant 14 Director. But I believe it was Mr. Brown for most of 2020.
15 Q How frequently did you interact with Mr. Brown while you were the unit
16 chief?
17 A I would characterize it as less often than Nikki. I can think of two or three 18 occasions that there were issues that rose to the level of me needing to brief him directly,
19 and my supervisors having me brief him directly or at least attend the briefings as sort of 20 the Russia subject-matter expert.
21 Q We've received testimony from other witnesses that I think you're probably 22 aware, there were standing meetings between the FITF and social media companies
23 during 2020. Is that consistent with your recollection?
24 A Yeah. There was a lot of different meetings, and it's -- yeah, the only thing I
25 kind of give pause is a lot of the meetings were ad hoc. There were some meetings that

1 I would characterize as kind of standing meetings, but generally we kind of met with 2 companies as necessary, usually when we had some sort of operational thing to share or 3 some sort of threat stream that we thought certain companies should know.
4 Q When meeting with the companies in that context where there's more
5 specific information to be shared, were there multiple companies and multiple agencies
6 on the call, or was it typically just the FBI and one company?
7 A It sort of depends on the timeframe.
8 Q We'll say 2020.
9 A Well, even 2020 there was pre-COVID post-COVID kind of concerns.
10 Pre-COVID, I would regularly travel out there, meet with -- usually it was a whole week of 11 meeting with all sorts of companies over and over, sharing usually the same kind of 12 information or identical information, but also a whole host of companies we would meet
13 with besides social media companies, all sorts of kind of emerging technology companies
14 that we thought had the potential to be targeted by foreign adversaries, and we wanted
15 to protect them and pass information as necessary.
16 Many of those companies we would meet with once or twice and determine that 17 either our concerns of them being threatened, I guess, or some of their proprietary 18 technology or something like that we determined, okay, the way their platform works or 19 the way their technology works, we don't have the concerns we had. Might give them a 20 general counterintelligence briefing and probably never meet with them again.
21 And then there's sort of the other category of companies that we felt there was 22 ongoing concerns and that we needed to maintain that relationship so that, as things
23 arose, we would give them specific information about how to protect their platforms.
24 Q So, post-COVID 2020 meetings with the social media companies, when that 25 type of information is being shared, who from the government attended those meetings?

1 A Yeah. So, post-COVID, the meetings got a little bigger just because most
2 meetings then shifted to communications platforms, for lack of better term. Kind of all
3 the companies wanted to use their own thing. We pretty typically use Microsoft Teams,
4 but you know Google would not be happy using Microsoft Teams. So we would have to 5 use their preferred technology. But we would have conference calls on whatever
6 preferred technology, Cisco, Webex, all the different type of things.
7 It would typically be on one of those platforms, and it would be somewhat open
8 invitation to people on the FITF if you want to attend the meeting. There were a lot of 9 people that attended just to kind of get the feel for it. When we were traveling out
10 there, there were pretty minimal, mostly due to the cost of traveling out there. And we 11 typically brought a small crew, the minimum that we would need to communicate the 12 information that we needed to.
13 Then, on the phone, they got a lot bigger, but I can't think of a time other than 14 occasionally we would bring in maybe some cyber agents that work a specific threat
15 stream or a specific advanced persistent threat. We would bring them in to -- if we 16 thought a particular threat was pertinent to a particular company or the companies in 17 general. But, other than that, it was usually only members of the Foreign Influence Task
18 Force and usually bilaterally with one company. Although, we did have other meetings
19 where it was a little broader, there was other government agencies; DHS, ODNI.
20 Normally, those were a little more election-focused. Rather than the Foreign 21 Influence Task Force, we were very -- we normally tried to get across that for us it's not 22 about elections. Elections are obviously an important thing in sort of -- an event sort of 23 in the time space of foreign influence operations and foreign influence campaigns. But,
24 for us, it was an everyday thing. There's constantly sort of campaigns going on all the 25 time of foreign malign influence that we were watching actors prep and plan that we

1 needed to mitigate and continue to sort of always cut that grass. It wasn't always one of 2 those things that we can, just around election time, we'll look at foreign malign influence
3 and the rest of the time we'll kind of let it grow and metastasize.
4 Chairman Jordan. How many agents -- pre-COVID, how many agents would 5 travel out to the tech companies to meet with them?
6 [redacted] It varied, but from the Foreign Influence Task Force, I would say
7 when we were just a Russia Unit, it was usually smaller. I would say two to three 8 people. When it became a section, it probably got closer to five or six occasionally.
9 Chairman Jordan. Okay. And how often would you go?
10 [redacted] It's hard for me to say. I don't feel like there was a particular
11 cadence. There was probably a time period in 2019 when I was in California maybe 12 monthly. But that was typically because of different meetings with different companies.
13 I would say we met with individual companies a couple times a year to maybe quarterly,
14 not necessarily on schedule, but I would say on average around that.
15 Chairman Jordan. That was just the FITF the two to three -- the two to six people
16 who would travel out was FITF. You said there were others. Who were the others?
17 [redacted] Occasionally, we would see maybe like a cyber threat or something
18 to that effect where we would bring experts from the field. We would bring a cyber 19 agent from Philadelphia or Phoenix and that sort of thing, and fly them out as well to kind 20 of -- we thought that was a pertinent threat, and we're not the experts in it.
21 Chairman Jordan. Post-COVID, how many of the virtual meetings, how often did 22 you have those?
23 [redacted] I would say the cadence probably also increased as 2020 went on.
24 Probably near the election at least monthly, maybe weekly.
25 Chairman Jordan. Okay. And how many people would be involved in those?

1 [redacted] It's hard -- I don't know that I monitored how many people were on
2 the call. Some of them were 800-number kind of call in. I would say roughly 20 to 30
3 FITF representatives on a conference call.
4 Chairman Jordan. Thank you.
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q In the post-COVID 2020 bilateral FITF calls, how often would you attend
7 those?
8 A I don't want to say always. There's probably some I missed, but there are 9 probably not many meetings I missed from 2018 to early 2021. I sort of, from the FITF
10 side, kind of owned those engagements with social media just because I'd be there 11 almost from the beginning, and a lot of the other units having just stood up didn't have 12 those same relationships. I also think that particular threat stream that affected social 13 media platforms and some other technology companies was predominantly Russia-based 14 at the time. So we typically had more pertinent information as well in terms of sort of 15 tactics and how they operate. I think that sort of was the balance at that point.
16 Q In 2020, as part of these discussions, were there discussions regarding the 17 risk of a potential hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump operation from Russia?
18 A I'm certain there was. We often talked about tactics that had happened in 19 the past, especially with some of the larger cyber actors, Russian cyber actors, the 20 advanced persistent threats that had hacked information in the past and had shown a 21 propensity or had leaked as well. So that's certainly one of the tactics we discussed.
22 Q In the context of discussing those tactics, was there any discussion of 23 whether either of the Presidential candidates in 2020 would be targeted?
24 A Yes. I mean, a lot of the discussion in the lead up to the 2020 election was 25 pertinent to the election candidates. Even a little bit further back, even during the

1 primaries, there was discussion of a broader set of candidates. It was certainly
2 addressed, you know, if there's a hack and leak, it's going to affect one of these two 3 people. So there certainly was discussions of how that would fit in with what would 4 work.
5 Q Were there discussions about how a potential hack and leak or hack and 6 dump could affect then candidate Biden?
7 A So what I'm -- I'm certain there was, as I said. Like we definitely discussed
8 both candidates. That was sort of the point of mitigating foreign malign influence, was 9 to protect both candidates. I don't recall specifics of like at what time we talked about 10 who, but there are a couple things I would draw your attention to.
11 Probably the best examples are the 2016 and 2020 ICAs. The unclassified 12 intelligence that kind of fed into those, showing what we saw in realtime and what was 13 actually happening from Russian cyber actors and those sort of things. So I think those 14 are probably the best examples of things that we saw happen and what I can share.
15 Q You mentioned that information would be shared regarding potential risk of 16 hack and leak or hack and dump targeting either candidate. In the context of risks
17 relevant to then candidate Biden, was there any discussion during these meetings about 18 Hunter Biden or Burisma?
19 A I don't recall specifically discussions about Hunter Biden until after the New 20 York Post story. There was definitely discussions of Burisma since that was kind of 21 already in the discussion and in the media. Typically, social media companies would 22 have questions. If something was public, they would bring it up. We tended to focus
23 more on tactics than actors. But we would get questions like that, yes.
24 Q Just to clarify your previous response, pre-2020 election, there were, as part
25 of these discussions, questions about Burisma during these bilateral FITF meetings?

1 A I don't recall specifically like in terms of times and that sort of thing. Some 2 of it kind of runs together, especially with how many companies we'd meet with and that
3 sort of thing. It's hard for me to point to like a specific -- I don't remember an agenda
4 item or anything like that, but we talked pretty frequently about things we thought were 5 pertinent.
6 Q In, let's say, spring 2020 until election day, how often would discussions
7 regarding a potential hack and leak or hack and dump from Russian actors come up?
8 A It's hard for me to say that. It wasn't something that would come up
9 frequently. It's one of those things like I can they will you what a hack-and-leak
10 operation looks like. I can tell you about the actors, that there's specific units that their 11 entire job is to conduct hack-and-leak style operations. But, in my mind, there's no
12 point to keep harping on tactics that we have already shared. We pretty typically tried 13 to keep meetings fresh and valuable, in terms of bringing pertinent and valuable topics 14 that were useful to these companies so that they would protect their platforms and 15 mitigate threats.
16 So I can't tell you specifically like how many times we talked about certain tactics, 17 but that was one of many we talked about frequently, but more in the specifics of who 18 does it, how they're doing it currently so that they can mitigate them through what we're 19 sharing rather than, you know, just hoping that, once it happens, they can somehow 20 mitigate it.
21 Q These discussions about a potential -- the risk of a hack and leak or hack and 22 dump in the lead up to the 2020 election, were those types of discussions occurring in the 23 other government agency, kind of, ongoing meetings you had mentioned?
24 A Yeah. Again, it's hard for me to pin down like certain topics. Some of this 25 was 5 years ago and hundreds of meetings, but I'm certain those -- usually in the

1 meetings, with more government that wasn't just bilateral FITF meetings, it tended to
2 skew a little more strategic, kind of more overarching. Some of the other government
3 agencies that were there are sort of not operational like FBI is. They're a little more
4 intelligence collecting and interpreting type agencies.
5 Where the FBI has operational information, that's why we kind of bifurcated the 6 meetings and had this bilateral set with the companies that we were able to share
7 operational information that we wouldn't even share with other agencies because they 8 don't have purview or an action arm type thing.
9 Q With the understanding that the kind of the other government agency
10 standing meetings tended to be more strategic, in the lead up to the 2020 election, do
11 you recall any meetings where there were questions or discussions about the risk of a
12 hack-and-leak operation targeting the Biden campaign or then candidate Biden?
13 A I don't recall specifically. We -- well, I -- I didn't tend to pay as close 14 attention in the larger government meetings. I didn't run them. The way they would 15 normally be set up is they would give FBI maybe 5 minutes to give some sort of strategic 16 update, and then the rest is other agencies with other things, such as CISA would talk
17 about very specific election infrastructure concerns and things like that. So there were a 18 lot of topics that weren't necessarily in my purview that I didn't pay as close attention to 19 during those larger meetings. I had more of a speaking role, and that was the end of it.
20 They were little less conversational, the larger meetings. It was more of government
21 pushing information across the government. So a lot of it was -- I didn't have the head
22 space to get really deep in the weeds on election infrastructure, which is a whole other
23 problem set that CISA does very well at that I kind of left to them.
24 Q For the bilateral FITF meetings, who in the FITF would decide what would be 25 shared at a meeting?

1 A I don't know that there was sort of a very clear process or who was in charge
2 of kind of deciding the agenda. A lot of decisions like that were made sort of almost in a
3 brainstorming fashion, usually among the leadership of the FITF. And by that I mean,
4 pretty typically the unit chiefs. The unit chiefs kind of had purview to do what they saw
5 fit within their unit. We certainly did not really consult with management deciding 6 agendas and that sort of thing. It was usually what's the freshest thing in the Russia
7 threat that we can share today and who's my expert in that that can share that 8 information. That was more what dictated it rather than some sort of decision of what 9 was on the agenda.
10 Q If there -- what is your understanding of -- recall specifically a meeting on 11 this date there was a discussion of hack and leak -- risk of a hack and leak or hack and 12 dump, for that topic, who on the FITF would be best positioned to provide information or 13 update about that risk?
14 A I would say normally, we would bring in an outside expert for that. There
15 were agents in the field that had specifically worked lots of hack and dumps. The actors
16 that typically do hack and dumps are very specific, and we have squads in several field
17 offices that that's their entire job to work against those actors.
18 So I can recall specific times we brought in -- I can tell you the agents and the field
19 offices -- I can't tell you because they're field agents. But I can tell you we brought in 20 very specific people to talk about hack and leaks, just things like that that were very 21 specific, and you know, required that kind of knowledge. It normally wasn't me, but I
22 may say for one meeting, "I would like to talk more indepth about how hack and leaks
23 happen, and hey, can we get those agents to come with us and to, you know, attend via 24 conference line so that they can give an update of what they're up to." Luckily they 25 have had several sort of indictments and things like that that there's unclassified

1 information that they're able to share pretty freely.

2 Q And, in these instances where someone from outside the FITF is brought in

3 to help brief about a risk of a hack and leak or a hack and dump, would -- once the

4 meeting starts and the tech company is on the other line, would they be introduced as

5 the expert with particular knowledge on hack and leak?

6 A Yes. And a lot of times the companies have preexisting relationships with

7 those agents as well because those agents have sent them, you know, hundreds of

8 subpoenas and search warrants and those sort of things. So, pretty typically, when we

9 brought agents like that, the companies already knew those agents and had worked with

10 them on previous sort of hacking events and that sort of thing. It's also kind of a small

11 community, and they all attend conferences and all these things where there is threat

12 intelligence shared on advanced persistent threats as the private sector calls it. And 13 then we have corresponding kind of units and agents in the field that work that sort of 14 thing.

15 Q For the folks who are on the other end of -- for the social media companies,

16 for the tech companies, were there any former FBI personnel who were then working at 17 the tech and social media companies?

18 A Yes. Quite a few. There's quite a few former government, not primarily 19 FBI, but lots of agencies that work at most of the companies we met with.

20 Q We were starting to touch upon this earlier, but you are familiar with the 21 October 14, 2020, New York Post story regarding Hunter Biden's laptop?

22 A Yes.

23 Q When did you first become aware of the story, the news article?

24 A I became aware the day it came out. I believe it was October 14 that I

25 became aware of the story.

1 Q And, prior to the story's publication, were you aware that the FBI was in
2 possession of a laptop or a hard drive attributed to Hunter Biden?
3 A I don't recall the exact timeframe, but I'm fairly certain I knew that we were
4 in possession of a laptop associated with Hunter Biden prior to that story coming out, yes.
5 Q How did you come to learn this information?
6 A I also don't recall, but part of my job and part of why the Director stood up
7 the Foreign Influence Task Force was to somewhat remove the silos among the 8 operational divisions and how Russia's worked among the different divisions. Part of my 9 job is to stand across all four, have representatives from all four operational divisions, and 10 if there was something that involved Russia and later Ukraine included, I was at least 11 briefed into broad strokes on the investigation. So there wasn't a lot of kind of in the 12 2019, 2020 timeframe going on in FBI in the Russia or Ukraine space that I wasn't at least 13 aware of.
14 Q Do you recall whether, as it relates specifically to the laptop that the FBI had 15 in possession, if you received some sort of formal briefing.
16 [redacted] Just as we head into this topic flagging for the record that the FBI
17 follows longstanding policy from the Department of Justice related to ongoing 18 investigations, including certain investigative steps which may or may not have been 19 taken. And, obviously, as we discussed in previous TIs with witnesses here to speak
20 about this topic, we will be forward leaning in trying to address your questions. We're 21 here voluntarily, but there might be some limitations to what the witness is able to 22 discuss here today.
23 Chairman Jordan. When did you learn, and how did you learn?
24 [redacted] I don't recall the specific time or place, that sort of thing. But I do
25 recall getting at least some briefings from the investigative team in the field about

1 investigations surrounding that. I'm not sure about individual details about the case,
2 such as that. Like I do recall getting a briefing that we did have a laptop in our
3 possession. I don't recall in which briefing or who briefed me, but it was likely the case
4 team in that field office?
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q And do you recall if other briefings took place besides that briefing?
7 A Yes. I can recall several briefings with the case team. Yes.
8 Q How many of those briefings occurred before the New York Post story came 9 out?
10 A That's really hard for me to answer. I don't know that I could put a number
11 on how many briefings I received on the case. Ballpark, I probably received three to five 12 briefings on that case during my time from the actual case team.
13 Q From the three to five, approximately, briefings you received from the case
14 team, do you think it was more than half, less than half occurred before the October 14,
15 2020, New York Post story?
16 A I would say -- hard to say. I would, you know, instinctually say probably 17 more than half were before that, but hard for me to speculate on that.
18 Q Do you remember when the first briefing occurred?
19 A I do not. So I remember, generally, when I was told Ukraine was under my 20 purview, which I think sort of triggered that. I don't remember the exact date. I'm not 21 sure I could even give you a month that it happened, but there was sort of a time where 22 Ukraine was sort of put under Russia instead of Global just because of the kind of -- how 23 it's intertwined. And I remember that happening, but I couldn't give you a date.
24 Q When you're receiving these briefings, would it just be you, or would other
25 unit chiefs or other members of the FITF receive them at the same time?

1 A I remember other representatives of the FITF being there. I don't recall
2 who. But, generally, the unit chiefs to some extent were cross-briefed in other
3 countries somewhat, not entirely. The other unit chiefs did not know about everything I
4 knew about, and I didn't know everything they knew about. But there was some
5 crossover as we kind of filled in for each other and those sort of things. So hard to say
6 who else was in case briefings. I do know that at least one other unit chief had equities 7 that they would have been briefed, some things as well possibly.
8 Q Which unit chief would that have been?
9 A Actually, they probably, depending on the timeframe, they probably both did
10 because at some point global was sort of implicated, at another time China was probably 11 part of some of the briefings. So it's hard to say exactly, but yeah, it's hard for me to 12 speculate like who knew or who was aware other than myself.
13 Q That would be Ms. Dehmlow and the non-SES unit chief at the time?
14 A Yes. Yeah.
15 Q Do you recall if the first briefing related to this issue occurred before COVID?
16 A I would say almost certainly.
17 Q In addition to -- at one of these briefings -- learning about the possession of 18 a laptop, what other details or information could be shared in these briefings with you?
19 [redacted] So I'm going to flag. I would say this pertains to certain ongoing 20 investigations, and also just flagging for the record the witness may be hamstrung in this
21 unclass open setting with what he can provide related to certain potentially classified
22 information.
23 [redacted] I can speak in broad terms about what's normally in a case brief?
24 [redacted] To the extent it doesn't invoke the specifics of this matter, sure.
25 [redacted] Sources or methods kind of thing.

1 [redacted] Sure.

2 [redacted] Generally, when the field would brief me something, there's typically

3 some sort of roadblock or something that they need help with. So they'll brief, you

4 know, "we're trying to get this investigative step done; here's what we need from

5 headquarters to make that happen." You know, pretty typically, they get into maybe

6 what investigative steps they've taken broadly, and where their sort of general strategic

7 direction is going just so that we're kind of aware and can update executive management

8 as necessary. But it's really dependent on the case and the specifics of that case that I

9 can't really get into.

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q Are you able to share any of the roadblocks as they relate to this specific

12 case and why you were briefed?

13 A I think that's probably too specific in investigative methods.

14 Q So the team has a laptop. To your understanding, were there efforts to 15 authenticate to see if it was compromised in any way.

16 [redacted] I would just flag for the record the witness might be limited in

17 discussing certain law enforcement sensitive investigative techniques in this context as it

18 relates to authentication of a particular piece of evidence he may or not have been 19 tracking.

20 Chairman Jordan. We're just asking if you authenticated it. We're not asking

21 how you did it. Just want to know if you did.

22 [redacted] Can I talk about the challenges of authenticating something broadly?

23 [redacted] Did you have involvement in the authentication process?

24 [redacted] I had no involvement in the authentication process. That's not 25 something headquarters would normally be involved in.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q But the guys who were briefing you, is that something they would be

3 involved in?

4 A Absolutely.

5 Q To you understanding, did they authenticate the laptop?

6 [redacted] Can I confer with the witness?

7 [redacted] Go off the record, please.

8 [Discussion off the record.]

1

2 [11:01 a.m.]

3 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

4 [redacted] Yes.

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q So before we broke, there was a question more generally about the case

7 team would be the ones, if there was an effort to authenticate, they'd be the ones doing

8 it, not you and not members of the FITF.

9 Next question was: To your understanding, were there efforts to authenticate

10 the laptop?

11 A I'm not sure that I can say anything else more about the authentication of 12 the laptop.

13 Q With the understanding that you were not part of the investigative team,

14 just independently, once the FBI has a laptop of significance, wouldn't the logical next

15 step be to try to authenticate it?

16 A I'm not sure that I can say anything about the authentication process of the 17 laptop.

18 Q Okay. If -- outside of this --

19 Chairman Jordan. Why wouldn't they authenticate it?

20 [redacted] I'm not sure I can -- can I speak broadly about authentication?

21 [redacted] No.

22 [redacted] I think there's too many sources and sensitive methods involved in 23 that that I can't speak to that.

24 [redacted] Is it accurate to say that given the number of briefings you've received

25 and given that, you know, at least a portion, maybe half, maybe more were before the

1 New York Post story came out, that you were aware of information, in addition to the fact
2 that the FBI had a laptop?
3 [redacted] I'm sorry. What was the question?
4 [redacted] I think we want to clarify what those two to five briefings were 5 about. Because I think that the witness testified earlier that he wasn't sure when he
6 was actually briefed on the laptop. He was speaking more to the two to five briefings
7 generally on Hunter Biden issues.
8 [redacted] Is that what you understand?
9 BY [redacted]:
10 Q Yeah.
11 A Okay. I wasn't sure if that got mixed up.
12 I'm not sure when I got briefed on the laptop specifically. The three to five 13 briefings or two to five, whatever I said, was about broader issues pertaining to Hunter
14 Biden.
15 Q Which other issues were included in the briefings?
16 A I can't speak to that due to the sensitivities in the ongoing investigation.
17 Q Were they all related to the one investigation or were there multiple 18 investigations?
19 [redacted] Same answer.
20 [redacted] Same answer.
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q Were there any briefings of the three to five that you received that 23 Ms. Dehmlow, the other unit chief, were not a part of?
24 A Were not a part of?
25 Q Yeah.

A I don't understand the question.

Q You said in -- to your recollection, when it came to these briefings, the other unit chiefs likely had some equities. Were there any where -- specific where it was just necessary for you as the Russian Unit chief to be there?

A Yeah, I don't know that I can address that. But I don't think it was a case where we were all always in all the case briefings, if that makes sense, depending on the time. And I don't know that I could even produce that kind of detail of like at what time who attended which meeting.

Q All right. So you've received some set of briefings. You have some awareness of what's going on behind the scenes. The story breaks on the 14th. What was your initial reaction?

A It's hard for me to recall my reaction at this time. It was -- yeah, I don't recall my initial reaction to it. It's --

Chairman Jordan. Were you surprised?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] Why?

[redacted] I think I can address part of that. I had no idea that it was coming, the story. I had no idea. Yeah, I mean, it was -- it was all news to me would probably be the best way to describe my surprise.

[redacted] Once the story breaks, did you reach out to the case team?

[redacted] I believe I was directed to, to get some updates.

[redacted] I would just flag that the witness can acknowledge the existence of speaking with the case team but cannot speak to the specifics of any following discussion.

[redacted] Who directed you?

[redacted] Can I speak to that?

1 [redacted] I would say you can acknowledge who you spoke with generally but
2 not the substance of those conversations.
3 [redacted] Okay. As in all things in the FBI comes down the chain, I received
4 questions from my section chief, Brad Benavides, of, you know, same thing. Most 5 people were surprised by it, wanted to know sort of status kind of questions.
6 [redacted] Did Mr. Benavides direct you to reach out to the case team?
7 [redacted] I don't recall specifically, but that's general course of business.
8 Chairman Jordan. Same day?
9 [redacted] I -- hard to --
10 Chairman Jordan. Close to October 14th?
11 [redacted] Likely.
12 BY [redacted]:
13 Q Was this -- to your understanding, had Mr. Benavides received an instruction 14 from above him?
15 A I can't speculate. Yeah, I have no idea.
16 Q Did he tell you if he'd had any discussions with Ms. Flores about the laptop?
17 A I don't recall. Yeah, I don't want to speculate. I don't recall anything 18 about who discussed what when.
19 Q Did he tell you if he had any discussions about the laptop or the New York
20 Post story with Mr. Brown -- excuse me -- Mr. Brown?
21 A If he did, I don't recall.
22 Q Once you reach out to the case team, what did they tell you?
23 [redacted] I would just flag he can't speak to the specifics of conversations that 24 he had with the case team while there is an ongoing investigation into some of these 25 matters.

1 Chairman Jordan. How about in general then, did they say, this story's crazy, this
2 story doesn't make sense?
3 [redacted] In general, I don't think he can speak to the content of those
4 conversations. It's still subject to the ongoing investigations.
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q Did you have conversations with any of the other unit chiefs about the New 7 York Post story?
8 Yeah, we'll stop there.
9 A I don't recall any specific discussions at that time, but likely.
10 Q When you reached out to the case team, were those conversations just 11 between you and the case team or were there other members of the FITF involved?
12 A I have almost no recollection of which meeting happened when, and it's hard
13 for me to speculate who was in meetings and what was said. I kind of -- yeah, it -- there
14 was a lot of different meetings at different times, and it's hard for me to pin down, you 15 know, details about certain meetings.
16 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?
17 [Recess.]
18 [redacted] We'll go back on the record, please.
19 EXAMINATION
20 BY [redacted]:
21 Q [redacted], thank you for coming here again. I just want to ask you a couple
22 of follow-up questions on your background. I know that you went into it at quite some 23 length in the earlier hour. But could you talk a little bit more about, you know, why
24 specifically you decided to join the FBI?
25 A Yeah. I think I'm a bit of a conundrum at the FBI. Everyone always says it

1 was my life's dream to be an FBI agent. I mean, to a tee, every single person always says
2 that and, to me, it's not. I never considered the FBI.
3 Having sort of the law enforcement background and then building kind of my
4 tactical background in the Army, I was looking at different Federal tactical teams. And I
5 had sort of liked the model of what the ATF does, and I was looking at the ATF mostly,
6 and just wanted to kind of move and build on my law enforcement and tactical 7 background and kind of put them together and, you know, was looking to go sort of the 8 ATF route.
9 But as I was applying in 2009, almost everyone was on a hiring freeze. And I
10 think I recall a discussion with my father at one point in Iraq. I'm like trying to figure out 11 what to do next. And he was like, Well, what about other agencies? Have you looked 12 at the FBI?
13 And I literally went to like the FBI.gov website to just like -- I don't know. I don't 14 know anything about the FBI. And so, I mean, within a year of joining the FBI, I barely 15 knew what the FBI even was.
16 So I kind of looked at the mission and saw that there was a lot of opportunity kind
17 of -- we deal in so many different threats and so many different things, that I'm 18 self-aware that I get kind of bored with certain things. And I saw that that was probably 19 a good fit to me to sort of be able to move around and do lots of different things within 20 one organization.
21 So, to me, it kind of all spurred out of that. I was just trying to find somewhere
22 that I could kind of apply all of the things that I had done and put it to use.
23 Q Sure. Thank you.
24 And you've had a pretty long career at the FBI. Have you received any awards?
25 A I have. I received a Director's Award as a case agent. I've received

1 another Director's Award as a program manager at headquarters. I received a couple of 2 intelligence community type awards, a couple of unit citations from the Office of the 3 Director of National Intelligence. But I think that for the most part is it.
4 [redacted] What is the Director's Award?
5 [redacted] They're given out yearly typically to sort of a standout
6 investigation. And there's a couple of categories of types of investigations or programs
7 that we have, not necessarily investigative, and sort of awarded once a year to an 8 exemplary case that kind of fits that mold.
9 [redacted]. And you've been an FBI agent and served across multiple 10 administrations. Is that correct?
11 [redacted] Correct.
12 [redacted] Can we go off the record real fast?
13 [Recess.]
14 [redacted] Okay. We can go back on the record. Thank you.
15 BY [redacted]:
16 Q [redacted], I want to go back a little bit more in-depth about the FITF. And 17 the FITF is led by the Counterintelligence Division of the FBI, correct?
18 A Currently, yes. It's kind of moved around a bit through my time there.
19 But, yes, currently it's under the Counterintelligence Division.
20 Q Okay. In very broad terms, what's the mission of the Counterintelligence
21 Division?
22 A Counterintelligence Division is basically our efforts to mitigate foreign 23 intelligence services activity and defend the United States from foreign intelligence 24 services.
25 Q Sure. And under the Counterintelligence Division, what would you -- in

1 broad strokes, what would you describe as the mission of FITF?

2 A Yeah, I mean, it's similar to what I said. It goes a little further than just

3 pure foreign intelligence service activity. There's some protecting information and

4 technology from going overseas. There's, you know, a couple other things.

5 It's -- it's -- it also has a fairly sizeable sort of intelligence component. As I said,

6 the FITF was under the intelligence branch of interacting with the rest of the intelligence

7 community and sort of being a partner in collaborating with other agencies but usually in

8 furtherance of sort of protecting the United States and United States companies from 9 foreign intelligence services.

10 Q Okay. And the FITF was established by the director of the FBI in 2017 to 11 counteract foreign malign influence operations. Is that fair?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay. And who held the position of that FBI director?

14 A Christopher Wray.

15 Q And who appointed Mr. Wray to the position?

16 A President Donald Trump.

17 Q And you talked to in the previous hour about foreign malign influence.

18 Could you just tell me briefly what that -- what you mean by that?

19 A Yeah. Specifically foreign malign influence is typically either directed or 20 executed by foreign intelligence services in order to -- through subversive, undeclared

21 covert or criminal activities to sort of invade and interfere with United States electoral

22 processes, social discourse. There's a number of other activities that it sort of covers,

23 but generally that's sort of a broad idea of sort of foreign malign influence.

24 Q Okay. And you mentioned a couple of goals, like, to interfere with

25 elections, for example. Why is it important, in your understanding, why FITF and FBI

1 disrupt these types of foreign malign influence operations?

2 A I mean, probably the best way to articulate that is there's, you know, global

3 efforts to try to have free and fair elections and have sort of -- protecting the integrity of

4 the electoral process domestically is, I mean, paramount to our democracy. So it's one

5 of those things that it's one of the FBI's kind of no-fail missions of protecting the integrity

6 of not only elections but sort of the integrity of social discourse in the election process as

7 well.

8 Q Absolutely.

9 [redacted]. I would like to introduce for the record former President Trump's

10 Executive Order 13848, Imposing Certain Sanctions in the Event of Foreign Interference of 11 a United States Election, which was signed by him on September 12th, 2018, as exhibit 1.

12 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1

13 was marked for identification.]

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q I would like to direct your attention to the second paragraph that starts with

16 "I, Donald J. Trump."

17 And a few lines in, it -- he finds that, "the ability of persons located, in whole or in

18 substantial part, outside the United States to interfere in or undermine public confidence

19 in United States elections, including through the unauthorized accessing of election and

20 campaign infrastructure, the covert distribution of propaganda and disinformation,

21 constitutes an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy

22 of the United States."

23 Did I read that correctly?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And how does the FITF seek to disrupt the threat identified by former

1 President Trump's executive order?

2 A I would say we sort of brought together the strategy of several operational

3 divisions and how they normally work and kind of bring that together as a whole of FBI

4 and then, additionally, as a whole-of-government approach to identifying the threat and

5 then using our usual authorities to then mitigate that threat and stop threat actors from 6 carrying out the activities that they'd like to.

7 Q And you would agree that this is important for the national security of the 8 United States, right?

9 A Yeah, absolutely.

10 Q Why -- just generally, why is that important for the national security?

11 A I think it kind of goes back to my comment previously of the importance of 12 the integrity of the electoral process in the United States.

13 Q And are you familiar that FITF takes a three-pronged approach to combating 14 foreign malign influence operations?

15 A I am.

16 [redacted] And I would like to just introduce for the record a printout of the 17 FBI's web page on combating foreign influence. I'll mark this as exhibit 2 for the record.

18 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2

19 was marked for identification.]

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Are you familiar with this web page?

22 A Generally. I'm not sure -- I think it postdates my time at the FITF. But,

23 yes, generally I'm familiar with the website.

24 Q I would like to direct your attention to the second page. There are three 25 prongs.

1 The first prong reads, "Investigations and operations: The FITF works with FBI
2 field offices across the country to consider the extensive influence operations of our 3 foreign adversaries."
4 "To counter" -- I'm sorry -- "the extensive influence operations of our foreign 5 adversaries."
6 Do you see that?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Briefly, what's your understanding of what that means?
9 A So FBI headquarters is sort of the investigative arm of the FBI.
10 Investigations broadly take place in our field offices, line-level agents conducting 11 investigations that are properly predicated through Attorney General guidelines and 12 pursuing these threat actors and trying to protect victims in general.
13 Q Okay. Thank you.
14 In the second prong, "Information and information [sic] sharing: The FBI works
15 closely with other intelligence community agencies, as well as the State and local" -- "as 16 well as with State and local law enforcement partners and election officials, to ensure a 17 common understanding of the threat in a unified strategy" -- "and a unified strategy to 18 address it."
19 Could you talk just generally about that?
20 A Yes. Probably the best way to describe this is sort of encapsulated in the 21 larger government meetings that we would have with companies. I know that sort of 22 also touches into the third prong, but we work closely with many other government 23 agencies that have very specific authorities and missions that may overlap with the 24 Foreign Influence Task Force but sort of fall in different lanes and that sort of thing, that 25 we try to share as much as we could of what we know about the threat with other

1 agencies so that they're able to prepare and apply that to their mission sort of in a
2 whole-of-government approach to looking at and mitigating the threat.
3 Q And the third, which I know that you just touched on, is "Private sector
4 partnerships: The FBI considers strategic engagement with the U.S. technology
5 companies, including threat indicator sharing, to be important in combating foreign 6 influence actors."
7 The FBI also partners with election stakeholders to defend against foreign malign
8 influence on U.S. elections.
9 Do you have anything to add about that third prong?
10 A Yeah. I spoke about this briefly before in that we met with all sorts of 11 private sector entities, both to try to learn from them and also to share information with 12 them, where appropriate and within policy, so that they're able to protect themselves
13 better. Sometimes there's things that they can do to assist us in our mission of 14 protecting them, and we took a broad approach to both learn from and share information
15 so that they can also join that whole-of-society fight against foreign malign influence.
16 Q Sure. And in the previous hour, you talked a little bit about -- 17 [redacted] Hold on one second. Do you mind if I jump in?
18 [redacted] Sure.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q When we're talking about private sector partnerships, is it important for the 21 FITF to engage strategically with U.S. technology companies by sharing threat indicators?
22 A Yes, extremely important, especially in the early days of the Foreign 23 Influence Task Force where there wasn't a lot of that happening specifically on foreign 24 malign influence and sort of standing up that effort to mirror some of the efforts we 25 already had ongoing with all sorts of different private sector entities.

Q So -- and I should have asked this at the beginning of that question. What are threat indicators?

A I would define that as sort of a number of different usually technical type data, whether that's cell phone numbers, IP addresses, maybe VPN nodes, you know, technical data typically that allows them to identify activity on their platforms or networks.

Q And the goal in sharing these is so that the private sector partners can do their own investigation based on IP addresses, whatever it may need to be provided, and take action as they deem appropriate.

A Yes.

Q Fair to say?

A Yes, correct.

[redacted] Okay.

[redacted] In the previous hour, we talked about how FITF takes a content-neutral approach rather than trying to decide what is misinformation or disinformation, for example. Why is that important as an approach of FITF?

[redacted] And -- sorry.

BY [redacted]:

Q Actually, can you define content-neutral approach for us?

A Yeah. So, I mean, in simple terms, content neutral, the way I would describe it to a lot of people is we're not policing the internet and looking for certain types of speech and saying, Oh, this looks Russian. Let's see if it is, and kind of digging in and looking at it. We found that that is very fraught. Some of our engagement with private sector entities and academia and that sort of thing, we would find people doing that, that that's, you know, as a private sector entity or as a university and that sort of 1 thing, that's within, you know, things that they can do.

2 That's not something the FBI should or would do. We often said we are not the

3 internet police. What we do is investigate foreign threat actors and try to mitigate their

4 activities and how it then crosses into the U.S. space, in this case sort of social media or

5 online discourse and those type of things.

6 Q So you just used the term it was very fraught to look for whether something

7 was Russian, for example, in its origin. What did you mean by fraught?

8 A For us -- I mean, the FBI, our sort of core mission statement is to protect the 9 American people and defend the Constitution or uphold the Constitution.

10 And in this case, there was constant discussions among the FITF about the First

11 Amendment and how we not only have a duty not to violate it but to protect it and

12 uphold it. There was constant discussion of how not to chill First Amendment

13 protections, and it shaped a lot of our core strategy and core ways we thought we would

14 mitigate the threat. And the clearest way to do that is to not engage with the content of 15 propaganda and those sort of things. We were not the propaganda police.

16 We're looking for known, defined foreign actors that are maybe engaging in that

17 type of activity. But we didn't think there was a way for the FBI to take that approach or 18 even engage in that approach.

19 Q So when you say that you're looking for foreign actors and you're taking a 20 content-neutral approach, what is FITF looking for?

21 A So through broad intelligence gathering, often through investigative

22 operations, we would find threat actors and identify -- you know, usually it's not a single

23 person on their own. Normally it's a larger group kind of thing. So if we find one, that

24 helps us get into larger networks.

25 And I could go in a lot about how the FBI operates in general, but identifying those

1 threat actors. And often it's difficult to mitigate through some of our traditional criminal
2 methods in that they're overseas and we may not be able to arrest them for their activity.
3 In this case, just have to continue, watch how they evolve, and try to mitigate
4 their actions as they sort of -- their actions are typically entering the United States
5 virtually rather than physically.
6 Q So when you say you're identifying threat actors, threat actors are people.
7 Is that fair to say?
8 A Or agencies.
9 Q Or agencies.
10 A Or entities.
11 Q Or entities. People or entities.
12 A Yes.
13 Q That's what you're looking for. So you're looking for is this the GRU, the -- I 14 don't remember what that stands for -- the Russian intelligence headquarters, the 15 Russian equivalent of CIA.
16 A The GRU is more the equivalent of military intelligence. They don't really 17 have a -- an analogue in the U.S. Government, but I would say it is closer to like DIA, but 18 yes.
19 Q But my point, I mean, what you're looking for: Is this the GRU acting?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Is this a foreign intelligence entity that's doing these things?
22 A Not always foreign intelligence.
23 Q Uh-huh.
24 A The way that at least the Russia target operates is there's all sorts of entities
25 that are government sanctioned or government sponsored but not necessarily wholly

1 government employee type activity. There's all sorts of activities there that aren't --
2 Q Okay.
3 A -- you know, explicitly Russian intelligence services. But, yes, that is 4 absolutely a very clear and easy way to describe it, is that's a major actor that we
5 continue to engage and try to mitigate their activities.
6 Q And the actors that the FITF is focused on are all foreign actors, correct?
7 A Yes. In this context -- there are things that the FITF engage with that are in 8 the criminal space --
9 Q Uh-huh.
10 A -- or the cyberspace where it's illegal for domestic actors as well.
11 Q Uh-huh.
12 A So there are absolutely things that the FITF did that crossed over into the 13 domestic space under our criminal authorities.
14 Q Okay. But we're talking counterintelligence.
15 A So it's hard for me to say --
16 Q The counterintelligence focuses on foreign actors, correct?
17 A Correct. In that scenario, counterintelligence is foreign actors.
18 Q Okay. There's been a lot of conversations over the course of this 19 investigation about the FITF monitoring social media for misinformation or 20 disinformation. What's your response to that claim or those allegations?
21 A I reject the characterization that we ever monitored the internet for 22 propaganda or those sort of things. I am aware that there were lots of efforts among 23 think tanks, academia, private sector that did have efforts like this. But we, as the FBI, 24 did not engage in this activity.
25 [redacted] Thank you.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q So during these government industry meetings, is it fair to say that FITF

3 shared both tactical and strategic information with social media companies?

4 A Yeah, that's a fair characterization.

5 Q And tactical would mean that information about specific accounts suspected

6 of being covertly controlled by foreign malign actors. And strategic would mean more

7 that the tools, tactics, and processes used by foreign malign actors. Is that fair?

8 A Yeah, I think that's fair.

9 Q And can you briefly describe the difference between these types of 10 information that were shared?

11 A Yeah. So on a tactical level, we would share sort of -- we were talking

12 about like technical indicators or sometimes called indicators of compromise in that it

13 was IP addresses, email addresses, cell phone numbers, cell phone providers, VPN

14 providers, things like that that give some sort of technical signal that then companies can

15 go do their own research on their own platform and determine if that particular actor had 16 a presence on their -- in their space.

17 And then you wanted me to do strategic as well, right?

18 Q Sure.

19 A That was just tactical.

20 But on a strategic level, things that we would share would be something to the

21 effect of as we saw in the 2016 election, Russia was -- and, again, I refer to kind of the

22 2016 ICA and the 2020 ICA as kind of the broad trends of how the Russian threat actors

23 operated in those times.

24 But in 2016, and I think largely in part due to the work of the FITF to engage with

25 the private sector, the social media space became fairly hostile to foreign actors setting

1 up inauthentic accounts at scale, not that it was impossible but much more hostile to a 2 threat actor to set things up at scale due to the ways that they adjusted their platforms to 3 the threat intelligence that was shared with them.
4 So we would share sort of a strategic of what's next. How are they going to shift
5 their tactics now that they can't create broad troll farm type operations? How are they 6 going to continue to try to execute their mission?
7 Q And with respect to United States social media platforms, if the FBI or its 8 partners in the intelligence community determines through investigations or intelligence
9 gathering that an account purportedly to be controlled by a U.S. person is actually 10 controlled by a covert foreign malign actor, the FITF would share or may share with the 11 relevant social media company the indicators or selectors regarding a spoof account. Is 12 that fair?
13 A Can you read that again? Sorry. I missed a couple --
14 Q Sure.
15 A -- of words there.
16 Q If the FBI or its -- its partners --
17 BY [redacted]:
18 Q So when the FBI or the intelligence community writ large determines that a 19 account that's purported to be run by an American is actually run by a foreign entity for 20 malign purposes, the FITF might share the information about that account with social 21 media companies. So it might share, you know, the threat indicators.
22 A I'm not entirely in agreement with that characterization --
23 Q Okay.
24 A -- because I think we -- there were times that we shared accounts with them.
25 Q Uh-huh.

1 A You know, we would say, Twitter, here's ten, a hundred accounts. We may 2 do that. I feel like some of that activity was early on --
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A -- in some of our private sector engagement with the companies, but that is
5 not sort of typical of what we would share.
6 Q Okay.
7 A It would be sort of a step back from that of --
8 Q Okay.
9 A We found it not as efficient to share one account when we know people are 10 running hundreds of accounts. We found it more efficient --
11 Q And by people, you mean foreign entities.
12 A Foreign entities, foreign intelligence services or other entities, as we 13 discussed, perpetrating this sort of activity.
14 We found that it was much more efficient to try to get the companies onto 15 higher-level infrastructure so things like maybe they have a WiFi router that the entire 16 floor is using --
17 Q Uh-huh.
18 A -- rather than this one account and letting them investigate that internally.
19 And that would be much more valuable to them. In -- as you saw in probably 2016,
20 2017, social media's -- social media companies, in general, made massive sort of removals
21 from some of their systems. I recall one -- at one point I think Twitter announced that 22 they removed 25 percent of their accounts or something absurd like that due to 23 inauthentic activity.
24 And that's due to us focusing on sort of the higher level infrastructure and 25 allowing them to -- they have internal investigative teams that, you know, sweep the

1 entire platform of actors, rather than us, you know, giving them an account and just kind
2 of playing whack-a-mole with every account that we discover that a foreign actor has
3 used.
4 We just found that to be more valuable, and that was normally the way we
5 operated.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q So when you -- when FITF would share information, whether it's specific or 8 general, about foreign malign influence actors, that would be for the company's own 9 investigation to see whether there's a potential violation of their own terms of service,
10 correct?
11 A As I understood it, yes. We provided them information and always made it
12 explicitly clear that it was no strings attached. We are giving this to you for your own 13 investigation. Don't take our word for it. And, you know, we know you do internal 14 investigations. We think this information might be helpful to your teams that handle 15 those types of investigations.
16 Q And when you say you would make it explicitly clear, how would you make it
17 explicitly clear?
18 A I mean, for one, there's attorneys on both sides attending every meeting.
19 And through that, there was always, you know, sort of that engagement of we would 20 almost always caveat everything, usually oral and written, in that, you know, we are 21 giving you these things no strings attached. This is not, you know, a subpoena or a
22 search warrant or anything like that. We don't expect anything in return, and these are 23 for you to conduct your own investigation to try to improve the integrity of your platform.
24 Q And on that, for the record, the FBI would never have directed or coerce 25 social media companies to take any specific action with respect to information it shared,

1 correct?

2 A I don't think so. I'm aware of how the FBI appears. If we cold go knock on

3 a door and tell someone the FBI is there, I understand that carries an intimidating

4 connotation. But in this situation, most of these actions were interactions with

5 attorneys present and people that I had met with over a 3-year period and had worked

6 with them and passed things multiple times to the point where we knew each other and

7 understood.

8 BY [redacted]:

9 Q And you would agree that there's a difference between the FBI going to

10 knock on a door of an individual in suburban D.C., for example, and the FBI meeting with 11 a sophisticated company that has, you know, probably an extensive legal team?

12 A Yes, the FBI -- this is a major pillar of all of our activities. And we have, you

13 know, multiple sections at headquarters that deal in how we engage with the private

14 sector across, you know, all sectors of the private sector. And those interactions are 15 usually longstanding across all sorts of programs, and this was just kind of the build-out of 16 one of those programs.

17 Q And so to be clear, to the best of your knowledge, the FBI never directed or

18 coerced any social media companies into taking any particular action with respect to any 19 information that you shared with those companies?

20 A To my knowledge, I -- yeah, I do not agree with the characterization that we 21 coerced any companies to take any action.

22 Q Okay. So the FBI, to the best of your knowledge, did not coerce or direct

23 any social media companies to take any particular action with respect to the information

24 provided to them?

25 A I definitely never did and nor did it happen in my presence that I'm aware of.

1 [redacted]. Thank you.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q And when the FBI decides to share information with the U.S. social media

4 company about a foreign malign actor's social media activity, is that decision ever based

5 on the content or viewpoint expressed in a posting?

6 A This kind of goes back to the other question. Again, I -- we didn't really

7 engage with the social media activity of the actors, typically. We wouldn't find an

8 account that is being used by an actor and then go on Twitter and see what they were up

9 to. That just wasn't valuable use of our time across thousands and thousands of 10 accounts.

11 Just typically we didn't engage with sort of the social media side of things. It

12 was -- other than meeting with the companies, obviously, but we would look at the threat

13 actors and sort of engage with what cyber infrastructure they were using, and that's sort

14 of what we would see.

15 I don't recall then going on social media and seeing, like, oh, what are they up to 16 kind of thing.

17 Q Okay. Do you -- you know Special Agent Elvis Chan, correct?

18 A I do.

19 Q And how do you know him?

20 A I met him through the Foreign Influence Task Force. I had not worked with 21 him previously. But I believe the first time I met him was the first time I went to 22 California to meet with some of the companies, and he was sort of our chaperone.

23 Q Okay. Are you aware that Special Agent Chan was deposed in a civil

24 lawsuit, Missouri v. Biden, on November 29, 2022, and gave testimony under oath about 25 certain matters relating to the operation of the FITF?

1 A Generally, yes, I'm aware of it.

2 Q In his deposition, Agent Chan was asked if the FBI shared specific 3 tactical-level information with social media companies. And he responded that, "The 4 FBI shares information with the social media companies, no strings attached, so that the 5 social media companies can protect their platforms as they deem appropriate."

6 Do you agree with Agent Chan's statement that the tactical information sharing
7 with the FBI -- that the FBI does with social media companies is done with no strings
8 attached?

9 A Yes. And it might be helpful just to note that internally with social media
10 companies, we were engaging with teams that did not usually have the purview of when 11 we issued them subpoenas and search warrants. It's not the same team, and most of 12 these companies have walls in between their teams that we issue them subpoenas and 13 warrants and the teams that we pass threat intelligence. And they don't even share it
14 internally over the wall of when we're compelling them to give us something, subpoenas
15 and search warrants, and when we're passing them information for their threat 16 intelligence teams to engage with.

17 Q Agent Chan further explained in his testimony that when the FBI provides 18 this tactical information to social media companies, the companies then take the 19 information and validate it through their own means. And then, if they determine that 20 these -- that these are accounts being operated by Russian state-sponsored actors, then 21 they have taken them down.

22 Do you agree with Agent Chan's statement about social media companies
23 validating the tactical information provided by the FBI through their own means and 24 determining for themselves whether the identified accounts are, in fact,
25 foreign-controlled accounts?

1 A I absolutely agree with that portion of the statement. I -- in my experience,
2 social media companies did not take things down because they were foreign.
3 We engage in people that are foreign, but social media companies purely take
4 things down if it was a violation of their terms of service. And there may be something
5 about the foreign -- like, I'm not steeped in their policies, but there -- there may be 6 something about -- you know, it's typically inauthentic behavior, regardless of foreign or 7 domestic, for them.
8 BY [redacted]:
9 Q Thank you for that clarification. I think the point of the --
10 A I don't think he meant --
11 Q Yeah. I think what he meant is that when the FBI provides information to 12 social media companies, the social media companies run their own internal 13 investigations --
14 A Yes.
15 Q -- before taking action, correct?
16 A That's absolutely correct.
17 Q Okay. And you would agree with that characterization?
18 A Yes, I do.
19 Q Okay. I have a couple of wrap -- another couple of wrap-up questions on 20 this section before we move on.
21 In the prior hour, you were asked about -- pretty extensively about 22 hack-and-dump operations. Do you recall that line of questions?
23 A Yes.
24 Q You said that the actors who do hack-and-dump operations are pretty 25 specific. What did you mean by that?

1 A I think I can get into some of that without getting into classified, mostly
2 because of the 2016 ICA, in that there are specific numbered units in specific Russian
3 intelligence services that their entire purview, they have specific units that do different
4 parts of hack-and-leak type operations.
5 They have an element that does the hacking. They have elements that sort of -- I
6 forget what it's called -- astroturfing or something like that, where they're basically 7 setting up accounts that will be used in the future to then sort of conduct the 8 dump-or-leak portion of the operation.
9 But there's entire units and companies, frankly, that just kind of do this sort of 10 activity. And they're very well known, very well defined.
11 Q And they're foreign entities, correct?
12 A Yes, correct.
13 Q Okay. And so the FBI is familiar with them because the FBI has monitored
14 these foreign entities for some period of time.
15 A Yes. Obviously, we learn about some of them that we're not -- you know,
16 we haven't been monitoring for long periods, but they kind of come and go, change
17 shape, that sort of thing. But, yes, broadly that's true.
18 BY [redacted]:
19 Q And in the previous hour there was a discussion about hack-and-leak
20 concerns, about possible -- about -- for both candidates of a Presidential campaign. Do 21 you recall that discussion?
22 A Yes.
23 Q And so that would mean both candidate Joe Biden and candidate Donald 24 Trump, correct?
25 A Yes. And as I said earlier, I would even go further in that I believe we

1 engaged with or at least offered to engage with up to something in the realm of 800
2 possible candidates for President in sort of the lead-up to the 2020 election. Anyone
3 that sort of had a formal campaign, we conducted reach -- reach-out to them and offered,
4 you know, defensive briefings on how to keep themselves safe from this type of activity.
5 So, to me, it's a little broader than the final two candidates in sort of the general
6 election, but yes.
7 Q It's fair to say that the FITF's goal was to protect the integrity of the elections
8 from foreign interference, regardless of who the potential target may be. Is that
9 correct?
10 A Yes. The only thing I would change in that is it wasn't entirely elections.
11 There's lots of activity that aren't pertinent to specifically the elections that we're still 12 trying to defend against. There's lots of sitting elected officials, that aren't campaigning, 13 that are subject to this sort of activity or some companies and influential people that 14 could possibly be subject to this type of activity that aren't, per se, election related. So 15 that's the only thing I would change.
16 BY [redacted]:
17 Q Understood. In the prior hour, there was some discussion about 18 conversations with industry partners at various meetings, you know, did hack-and-dump,
19 hack-and-leak operations come up. And I think the question was how often did
20 discussions arise about hack-and-leak pertaining to President Biden or I guess then-Vice 21 President Biden.
22 But, in fact, when these conversations were happening, they were talking 23 about -- you were having conversations about hack-and-dump operations writ large,
24 right?
25 A Yes, but probably also on a tactical level --

Q Okay.

A -- because we engage with specific units that execute these type of operations.

Q And when you're talking about tactical level, you're looking at potential operations targeting both President Biden -- then-Vice President Biden, then-President Trump, as well as you said maybe 800 other candidates, correct?

A Yes, and including not just the general election for President.

Q Uh-huh.

A Obviously, the general election has all sorts of congressional members that are up for reelection, governors, State elections. All of these were sort of under our purview, and we had to kind of engage across that whole thing.

And so for us it's not just a focus on the final election for President. There's lots of other elections that we have to keep tabs on.

[redacted] Okay. We can go off the record. Thank you.

[Recess.]

[redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

[redacted], in the first hour we were talking about some of the briefings the case team had provided to you and possibly others on the FITF. Was there anyone senior to you on the FITF who was included in those briefings?

[redacted] [redacted] Again, I don't recall anyone senior to me being in the case briefings, but it's possible. I don't recall.

[redacted] Okay. Do you recall -- you know, you said there were roughly three to five -- which of those in kind of order of the three to five the laptop was first raised?

[redacted] [redacted] No idea. That's one small investigative detail in sort of a sea of briefings. I -- there's no way for me to even speculate. I don't remember the 1 timeframe.

2 [redacted] I would just flag, we can speak to the existence of meetings and

3 potential attendance and timeframes, but we should avoid getting into potential --

4 [redacted] Okay.

5 [redacted] -- specific conversations that happened.

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q And at those meetings, which divisions or field offices were represented?

8 A I'm not sure I can speak to that entirely. Yeah, I don't recall specifically

9 who was at which meeting.

10 Q In general, did you ever have any interactions regarding these meetings with 11 the Pittsburgh Field Office?

12 A No, I don't recall.

13 Do you mean like if Pittsburgh was in one of the meetings, like someone from 14 Pittsburgh?

15 Q I'm just asking, in general, if anyone from the Pittsburgh Field Office ever

16 attended any of the three to five meetings.

17 A Oh, no, I don't think -- no.

18 Q Did anyone from the Baltimore Field Office or the Delaware resident agency,

19 did they ever attend any of those meetings?

20 [redacted] [redacted] I'm fine with answering that, correct, like, who attended meetings,

21 or is that --

22 [redacted] I think if it goes to the ongoing investigations, then no.

23 [redacted] Okay. Then I can't answer that.

24 BY [redacted]:

25 Q Did you have any interactions with Supervisory Special Agent [redacted]?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Did you have any interactions with Special Agent [redacted]?

3 A I don't know. I don't recall. Yeah, I don't recall that name.

4 Q And how many times would you say you interacted with SSA [redacted]?

5 A Probably in that three to five range, same thing. I don't recall really dealing

6 with him outside of getting case briefings from him.

7 Q And did you have any interactions with anyone from the Delaware U.S.

8 Attorney's Office?

9 A I can't speak to specifics about dealings with U.S. attorney's offices.

10 Q Did you have any interactions with at the time U.S. Attorney David Weiss?

11 A I'm --

12 [redacted] Same answer.

13 [redacted] Same answer. I can't speak to specifics of U.S. attorneys or U.S.

14 attorney's offices.

15 [redacted] So he can speak to interactions with SSA [redacted] but he can't speak

16 to interactions with U.S. Attorney Weiss? What's the reasoning for that?

17 [redacted] The reasoning goes to the ongoing investigations.

18 [redacted] So he can talk about SSA [redacted] but not Weiss? I'm just not 19 understanding why some individuals he can talk about and others he can't.

20 [redacted] Because some pertain more to the relevant ongoing investigation,

21 like Special Counsel Weiss.

22 [redacted] Okay.

23 BY [redacted]:

24 Q Have you ever interacted with Assistant U.S. Attorney [redacted]?

25 A I can't speak to anything dealing with U.S. attorney's offices or U.S.

1 attorney -- or AUSAs.

2 Q Speaking more broadly, in those three to five meetings that you had

3 regarding the case, did anyone from any U.S. attorney's office ever attend?

4 [redacted] That would go to an ongoing investigation.

5 [redacted] That's pretty broad.

6 [redacted] For any U.S. attorney?

7 [redacted] Any U.S. attorney's office. Did anyone from any U.S. attorney's 8 office ever attend any of the three to five meetings that [redacted] attended?

9 [redacted] And if he says yes to that, then he's going to be indicating 10 whether or not that pertains to an ongoing investigation.

11 [redacted] But just -- that's extremely broad to say that that would just go to 12 the ongoing investigation.

13 [redacted] Right. That takes --

14 Chairman Jordan. Off the record for a second.

15 [Discussion off the record.]

16 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

17 Did you ever get any briefings from the U.S. attorney's office in Delaware?

18 [redacted] That would go to an ongoing investigation.

19 [redacted] Are you instructing the witness not to answer?

20 [redacted] We are saying that that information goes to an ongoing

21 investigation. We also don't think it's within the scope of why you called this witness

22 here to speak today.

23 [redacted] So you're instructing the witness not to answer?

24 [redacted] I'm saying that it goes to an ongoing investigation, so it doesn't

25 pertain to this TI today.

1 [redacted] Okay. When did you personally become aware of the Hunter
2 Biden laptop?
3 [redacted] I don't recall specifically. It's hard for me to even break it down to 4 which year that I became aware.
5 [redacted] And so the FBI investigation was opened in February of 2019 into 6 Hunter Biden. When did you become aware of the investigation?
7 [redacted] I would just note for the record that the FBI has not represented to 8 the committee that that's when the investigation began in this context, but you're free to 9 ask the question.
10 [redacted] I don't recall.
11 [redacted] You don't recall?
12 Chairman Jordan. In the first hour we asked you how often you had briefed; you
13 said somewhere between three and five. We asked you when the briefing happened;
14 you said at least one of them took place prior to COVID. And then you told us that 15 you -- we asked who briefed you, and you said it was case agents.
16 And now we're simply asking, what -- were they -- were those case agents or 17 people who did the briefing, were they from the Delaware's U.S. attorney's office?
18 Were they from the New York attorney's office? Were they from -- who was the U.S.
19 attorney's office who briefed you?
20 [redacted] We're going to reiterate that we believe that any indication of 21 which U.S. attorney's office he was speaking to during those three to five briefings would 22 go to an ongoing investigation.
23 Chairman Jordan. But there were case agents -- case agents working on some 24 case with some U.S. attorney's office.
25 [redacted] And U.S. attorney's office would indicate ongoing investigations,

1 which we're not going to get into.

2 Chairman Jordan. Okay.

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q Did you ever have any interactions with Assistant Special Agent in Charge

5 [redacted]?

6 A Yes.

7 Q Did you have any interactions with him in regard to your role with the FITF?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And what can you tell us about those interactions?

10 A Specifically about the FITF, I don't believe I can address any discussions I had

11 with him.

12 [redacted] Can you be more specific with your question? Do you have any 13 meetings in mind?

14 BY [redacted]:

15 Q So when -- we did a transcribed interview with the former ASAC [redacted],

16 and he spoke about a meeting with the FITF that occurred on October 21st, 2020. And

17 this was a meeting that was prompted by a call he received from SSA [redacted], and it was

18 regarding a confidential human source that had represented information in a 1023. And 19 so he said that they called a meeting with the FITF.

20 So do you remember any sort of meeting occurring in October 21st, 2020,

21 timeframe? I know that's several years ago.

22 A I can say I was at the meeting?

23 Okay. I was at the meeting.

24 Q And do you remember who else attended that meeting?

25 A I can speak to titles. The unit chief of the Public Corruption Unit --

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A -- a supervisory intelligence analyst assigned to the FITF, an intelligence

3 analyst assigned to the FITF, I believe an intelligence analyst assigned to Criminal

4 Investigative Division, ASAC [redacted], and a supervisory special agent assigned to the 5 Washington Field Office.

1

2 [12:24 p.m.]

3 [redacted] Did you have any role in that meeting, or were you just in a

4 listening/learning capacity?

5 [redacted] I think I can -- it's not to the content of the meeting. I can speak to

6 it?

7 [redacted] [Nonverbal response.]

8 [redacted] I had a role in the -- a speaking role in the meeting.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q Was [redacted] in there in just a listening capacity, or did he also have a 11 role in the meeting?

12 A I think his role would be characterized as a listening mode.

13 Q And I can't remember if you said SSA [redacted], whether he was an attendee

14 or not. Was he at that meeting?

15 A He was not. I'm not sure how he pertains to that meeting specifically.

16 Q So no one from the Baltimore Field Office attended, to your recollection?

17 A No.

18 BY [redacted]:

19 Q I'd like to turn us back to October 14th, 2020. New York Post story comes

20 out that morning. Based off documents produced to the committee and other

21 testimony, there were prescheduled bilateral FITF meetings for that day.

22 Walk me through the day. Do you recall the first meeting that the FITF had with 23 a social media company after the New York Post story had broke?

24 A A little bit. I'm pretty sure the first meeting after the story broke was 25 Twitter -- at the time, the company known as Twitter.

1 Q And who from Twitter was at that meeting?

2 A I don't know that I could recall those specifics.

3 Q Who from the FITF attended?

4 A That's even more difficult because it was on a conference call at this time,

5 post-COVID. I don't recall specifically who was in the meeting.

6 Q Were you on the call?

7 A I've reviewed contemporaneous things that suggest that, yes, I was, but I

8 don't remember the meeting very vividly. It was a long time ago.

9 Q Was Elvis Chan on the call?

10 A I don't recall. Like me, Elvis was in most meetings, but there were certainly 11 meetings he was not able to attend. So it's hard for me to say if he was there or not.

12 Q Was Ms. Dehmlow on the call?

13 A I think similar to me, things that I've reviewed, I can with some confidence

14 say she was on the call, but I don't recall her being on. I didn't keep track or take note, 15 take attendance of who was on the call. But, yeah, I think she was.

16 Q During the FITF-Twitter call on the 14th, was there any discussion about the 17 New York Post story or Hunter Biden's laptop?

18 A I'm sorry. Say again? Before the meeting?

19 Q No. Sorry. During the meeting, was there any discussion?

20 A Oh. I do recall that it came up. Obviously, it was in the news, and I think 21 Twitter asked about it.

22 Q And what response did the FITF provide?

23 A Do you want me to just go into details of -- some of this I don't recall from

24 memory. Documents I've since reviewed, I do recall generally what happened, if that's 25 what you want me to go into. Is that fine?

1 Q Yes, please.

2 A I recall that when the question came up, an intelligence analyst assigned to

3 the Criminal Investigative Division said something to the effect of, "Yes, the laptop is

4 real." And then I believe it was an OGC attorney assigned to the FITF stepped in and

5 said, "We will not comment further on this topic."

6 Chairman Jordan. What was the question from Twitter specifically, if you can

7 recall?

8 [redacted] I can't recall at all. Yeah, it's hard to recall that detail.

9 Chairman Jordan. Well, if the answer was, "The laptop is real," the question was

10 probably, "Is the laptop real?"

11 [redacted] Yeah. I mean, something to that effect, yes.

12 Chairman Jordan. Okay.

13 [redacted] I think that's fair.

14 [redacted] Was there any other discussion during the Twitter-FITF call, other than 15 the initial question from Twitter and the first response from the intelligence analyst and 16 then the second response from the OGC assignee?

17 [redacted] It's hard to recall specific, like, lines of questioning, but I would guess

18 there was probably further questions to which we continued answering "no comment"

19 and eventually we moved on to whatever the topic of the day was.

20 Chairman Jordan. And what was the reason for "no comment"? The same

21 reason you're giving us today?

22 [redacted] Similar in that it's an ongoing investigation, a longstanding FBI policy.

23 Chairman Jordan. Was that related to the folks at Twitter?

24 [redacted] Maybe not immediately, but definitely throughout our interactions

25 with them there was lots of times that they would ask questions that we would have --

1 Chairman Jordan. We're talking about that day, that meeting.

2 [redacted] I don't recall specifically if we said we can't --

3 Chairman Jordan. So someone told them it's real, and then the next comment

4 was, "But we can't talk about it anymore"?

5 [redacted] Yeah, it's hard to address that because if we --

6 Chairman Jordan. No one gave a reason why you couldn't talk about it anymore?

7 [redacted] We typically didn't tell them, "We can't talk about that because it's 8 an ongoing investigation," because then that would indicate it's an ongoing investigation.

9 So all we can say within policy is something to the effect of "no comment."

10 Chairman Jordan. And were there further questions from Twitter?

11 [redacted] I don't recall, but likely.

12 BY [redacted]:

13 Q Was there any discussion before the FITF meeting -- before the Twitter-FITF

14 meeting -- among members of FITF about if a question about the story of the laptop

15 might come up?

16 A I don't want to speculate. I don't recall.

17 A lot of times on days that we had these meetings post-COVID, because

18 everything was done by conference line, a lot of people were working from home. So

19 it's less likely than if we were all in the office. But I don't recall specifically what was 20 discussed that day.

21 Q Do you know the identity of the intelligence analyst who first responded that 22 the laptop was real?

23 A I do.

24 Q And who was that?

25 [redacted] He's not going to be providing non-SES names in this format.

1 [redacted] Is the Department of Justice or FBI going to give us the names?

2 [redacted] I would indicate, in the in-camera documents we brought over

3 yesterday, we have accommodated the request for one of the names. We'll continue to 4 work with you to provide what additional information we can as we can --

5 [redacted] So can we use that individual's name here in this setting?

6 [redacted] We're not authorized to speak to that individual's name in this

7 setting, but we were acting in good faith to address your repeated requests for his name,

8 so we provided it in the in-camera setting where we could.

9 [redacted] It was in a classified setting. Are you saying his name is 10 unclassified?

11 [redacted] I'm absolutely not saying that an individual's name is classified.

12 That's not a convention we use at the FBI.

13 I'm saying, in terms of our accommodation of releasing certain non-SES names, it

14 is a case-by-case basis. And following your prioritization and [redacted]'s flagging of certain

15 topics like this in these interviews, we went back, were able to accommodate it in that

16 setting. But for purposes of this interview, we're going to hold the line with not

17 revealing certain non-SESers.

18 [redacted] So if we would use the individual's name in this TI setting, you guys

19 aren't going to say that that's classified?

20 [redacted] A person's name is not classified in this context.

21 [redacted] Okay. So if we represent to you that the individual's name is [redacted]

22 [redacted], do you agree with that?

23 [redacted] I'm not able to comment on non-SES employees.

24 [redacted] And what was [redacted]'s role?

25 [redacted] I'm not able to comment on non-SES employees.

1 [redacted] You could comment on his role.

2 [redacted] Okay. [redacted] was an intelligence analyst assigned to the 3 FITF from the Criminal Investigative Division.

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q Had you had any interactions with [redacted] prior to the October 14th

6 phone call?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And what were those interactions? Did you supervise him? Where did he

9 fall in the FITF?

10 A I was not his direct supervisor, being that he was under the Criminal

11 Investigative Division and his supervisor is also under the Criminal Investigative Division.

12 But he was assigned full time to work on FITF matters.

13 So not direct control of him, I guess, or authority, like I was not his direct

14 supervisor, but day-to-day operations, yes, he was under my purview, my unit.

15 The problem is, they also kind of crossed units. So even his day-to-day activities

16 was kind of spread across all the units. But, yeah, I mean, generally that's true.

17 Q And to your understanding, how did [redacted] come to the realization

18 that the Hunter Biden laptop was, quote, "real"?

19 A I'm not sure if I can answer that.

20 I don't know how [redacted] knew certain things, like I am not aware of how

21 he came to -- I was not the one that provided that information to him. That's probably 22 the best way I can address that.

23 Q Do you know if he had access to the FBI CART team that was reviewing and 24 doing an analysis of the laptop?

25 A I have no idea what [redacted] knew or what he had access to.

1 [redacted] And, again, I'm just going to say for the record that the witness is
2 not going to be able to get into any authentication efforts of the laptop, just the existence
3 of the laptop.
4 BY [redacted]:
5 Q For the three to five meetings, briefings that you received on Hunter Biden,
6 did [redacted] attend any of those?
7 A I don't recall. Yeah, I don't recall. Yeah.
8 Q How many members of the FITF were on the Twitter-FITF call?
9 A I can sort of ballpark it. But, yeah, it's hard for me to -- yeah, I don't have a
10 list of people that attended. But that was October 2020. They were all by conference
11 call. It was probably somewhere in the range of 20-ish.
12 Q Of the three units of FITF -- you mentioned that some of his work was 13 cross-sectional -- which unit did he work primarily with?
14 A I don't know that he had sort of a primary assignment due to the fact that 15 we didn't have three people assigned to each unit from certain other outside entities.
16 So there was lots of people that were assigned to work the FITF but weren't sort of 17 directly in Russia-China global. They just kind of handled their matters across the 18 section.
19 Q Okay. Was there anyone on the FITF who was in a better position to speak
20 to the question of whether the laptop was real?
21 A I'm not sure of the characterization of the "real." If we're talking real, that 22 a laptop associated with Hunter Biden existed and was in our possession, that would be 23 the case team. But I'm not sure that anyone at the FITF, being that we weren't involved
24 in the investigative details, is more aware than I was.
25 Q After the call concludes, were there discussions immediately following the

1 call about what was discussed during the FITF-Twitter call?

2 A Yes. I don't remember, like, specifics, but I'm certain it was addressed.

3 Q Who participated in those post-meeting discussions?

4 A I don't recall. Yeah, I don't recall specifics of, like, who attended which

5 meetings and that sort of thing.

6 Q Did you participate in any of the post-meeting discussions?

7 A I don't recall specifics of attending meetings afterwards. And a lot of times,

8 I think "meeting" is a little too formal of, like, there wasn't someone called a meeting, put

9 it on calendars, and everyone attended.

10 I think it was more ad hoc, a couple of people probably discussed it. But it's hard

11 for me to pull out details about who was there and what we talked about.

12 Q So I certainly understand there wasn't a formal meeting set.

13 During the Twitter-FITF meeting, intelligence analyst responds, "The laptop is 14 real." Was there any internal FBI discussions immediately following about that response

15 that was given?

16 A I'm certain there was. I just don't recall, like, the contents and between 17 who.

18 Q Do you recall the most senior member to participate in those internal

19 discussions?

20 A I don't. I mean, I could generalize just kind of how the chain of authority

21 works. But, like, I don't think -- I don't remember, like, who was in which meetings.

22 It's just hard, kind of. So many meetings, so long ago.

23 Q With the understanding you don't recall specifically, what would be the 24 appropriate chain of command? Who would be involved in a discussion like that?

25 A Certainly I would have informed my supervisor and allowed him to be aware

1 of the situation. Beyond that, it's hard for me to say. Like, I feel pretty confident that I
2 likely told my supervisor. But beyond that, I'm not -- I don't recall.
3 Q And are you referring to [redacted] or Mr. Benavides?
4 A Typically in this scenario, I would be referring to Mr. Benavides. While 5 [redacted] technically was my supervisor in terms of my performance reviews and things
6 like that, ultimately the sort of authority of the FITF rests with our executive, Brad
7 Benavides.
8 Q Did you have any discussions with Ms. Flores after the Twitter-FITF meeting?
9 A Hard for me to speculate. Frequently had conversations with Ms. Flores,
10 but I don't recall specifically about this, post that Twitter call, if I spoke with her.
11 Q Did you have any direct conversations with the intelligence analyst following
12 the Twitter-FITF meeting about his response?
13 A I don't recall specifically. I'm certain it arose as -- I'm not his direct 14 supervisor, but I would likely address that, that that was sort of outside of policy to have 15 said that.
16 Q You said that someone from OGC -- is it "assigned" to the FITF at the time?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Is that properly putting it?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Do you recall the identity of that individual?
21 A I do.
22 Q And who was it?
23 A I'm not allowed to speak to non-SES employees, their actual name.
24 Chairman Jordan. Can I jump in for a second?
25 Tell me about the meeting. So you have this meeting on the 14th, the same day

1 the story comes out. How long was the meeting?

2 [redacted] Depending on the contents of the meeting, they went anywhere

3 from 30 minutes to 2 hours.

4 Chairman Jordan. I'm asking about this one.

5 [redacted] It's hard for me to speculate about specifics about that meeting.

6 Chairman Jordan. Do you remember what you talked about?

7 [redacted] Other than the obvious context here of the Hunter Biden laptop, I do

8 not.

9 Chairman Jordan. Yeah. So that was the issue that day?

10 [redacted] It was not the issue on the agenda --

11 Chairman Jordan. No, I understand that.

12 [redacted] -- but it sort of turned into the issue.

13 Chairman Jordan. Okay. So that's mainly what you talked about on that 14 meeting? That was what dominated the conversation?

15 [redacted] I don't think that's true in that it was kind of just one sentence and

16 then "no comment," and we went about with the regular agenda of the meeting. So it

17 probably wasn't the main content of the meeting.

18 Chairman Jordan. Okay. Was the story brought up? Was it just that one

19 question about the laptop or was it -- was the whole story brought up, the story in the 20 Post?

21 [redacted] I don't recall specifics, but anything that was discussed about the

22 story we probably would have immediately went "no comment" across the board, except

23 for that analyst made that comment, and then it was "no comment."

24 So I assume that was kind of in the early, if not the first question they asked about

25 the laptop. It was a short exchange, and then it was kind of "no comment" from that

1 point forward.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q So your recollection, was it the first question that Twitter raised?

4 A You mean, like, once we started the meeting?

5 Q Yes.

6 A Probably not. We probably went through agenda items first, things that we

7 wanted to brief them or pass them, and then typically we would open up for kind of

8 questions and that sort of thing, and anything they wanted to share, or maybe they were

9 on the agenda as, "What do you have to share?" sort of thing. So it probably wasn't like 10 the first part of the meeting.

11 Q Once you get to the part of the meeting where Twitter can raise something,

12 was it the first thing they brought up?

13 A Hard for me to speculate. I mean, hundreds of these meetings over 3

14 years, and it's just, like, hard for me to -- I'm not trying to be combative -- just it's hard for 15 me to recall what happened in which meeting.

16 And this one, other than that one incident, doesn't really stand out in my memory,

17 so I don't have, like, a vivid recollection of who was there and what we talked about.

18 Q The New York Post article provided a screenshot of an FBI subpoena. Was 19 there any discussion about that?

20 A With Twitter?

21 Q Yes.

22 A No, absolutely not.

23 Q In talking about the risk of a hack-and-dump or a hack-and-leak campaign,

24 was there any discussion about if the information was shared through a news

25 organization like the New York Post?

1 A I'm not sure what you mean by that. Like, did we --
2 Q I'll take one step back.
3 A Okay.
4 Q In 2016, how was the DNC hack, how was that information disseminated?
5 A I think mainly through WikiLeaks.
6 Q When discussing, like, the risk of a hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump, was the 7 way the information could be disseminated discussed in meetings?
8 A Sometimes. We certainly -- I can recall discussions of which platforms it
9 may appear on first, how it may move through different types of things. I remember 10 some discussions like that, and usually kind of anchored to things that we had seen in the 11 past, that we had in an unclassified forum that we could share, such as the ICA.
12 So, yeah, I think it's safe to say that we may have shared details of things that 13 looked like the ICA and sort of leave the speculating of other ways it could happen to the 14 companies. Rather than kind of, like, tell them how we think it'll go, we say, this is 15 what's happened in the past.
16 Q As it relates to the New York Post story, was the fact that this information
17 was being disseminated through the New York Post as opposed to ways that had occurred
18 in the past, did that come up during the Twitter-FITF call?
19 A Not that I recall.
20 Q In any of the meetings before the New York Post story where there's 21 discussion of the risk of a hack-and-leak or a hack-and-dump and how that information
22 might be disseminated, was there any discussion of First Amendment implications if the 23 information were to be disseminated by a publisher?
24 A Can you read that one more time -- or say it, sorry, if you don't have it
25 written down?

1 Q Yeah. In any of the meetings predating the October 14th story, where 2 there's a discussion in these bilateral FITF meetings about how information could be
3 disseminated in a hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump, was there any discussion about,
4 depending on who is disseminating the information, whether the First Amendment is 5 implicated?
6 A Yes, likely. I mean, we constantly had discussions about the First
7 Amendment and not even chilling or being perceived to chill the First Amendment. So
8 I'd say that was probably likely discussed.
9 Q Discussions with who?
10 A Internally in the FITF.
11 Q With members outside of the FITF within the FBI?
12 A Probably just to kind of articulate how we operate and that sort of thing, if 13 someone would ask questions. If -- yeah, it's hard to get into specifics on that, but I'm 14 sure we articulated lots of conversations about the First Amendment with companies we 15 met with.
16 Q Why was it necessary to have those conversations?
17 A We view it as an important part of the mission, as I said earlier, in that we're 18 here to protect the American people and uphold the Constitution, and I firmly believe you 19 can't do one without the other.
20 And in my mind, it's part of the FITF's mission, is to sort of articulate that, that we 21 are here to mitigate foreign malign influence, and it's important to us that we do it the 22 right way.
23 Q Was there concern that the FBI, as a Federal law enforcement agency, could 24 be perceived as having a force effect when having -- when discussing issues that touch
25 upon the First Amendment?

1 A Yeah, I think I addressed this a little bit earlier, in the last section, of I'm -- I
2 and we were fully aware that the FBI carries with it somewhat of an intimidating context
3 in certain scenarios, certain situations.
4 And being cognizant of that, that's why we took steps like having an embedded 5 attorney, reiterating over and over that what we provide you is no strings attached, for 6 you to verify, for you to conduct your own internal investigations, and built that sort
7 of -- built that up to the point where we would show up to some of these meetings 3
8 years later, and they would either read our caveat back to us or sort of say, "Yes, we 9 know, we get it at this point, you can stop saying that it's no strings attached, you cannot 10 be an agent of the Federal Government, the reason we are not Russia is you cannot be 11 our agent," and those sort of things.
12 Those sort of discussions were absolutely constant throughout all my discussions
13 with social media companies and broader technology companies.
14 Q The internal discussions postdating the -- immediately following the 15 Twitter-FITF meeting on the 14th, how long did those discussions last for?
16 A Which discussions are we talking about? After the Twitter meeting
17 internally?
18 Q They were the internal FBI discussions.
19 A Again, it wasn't like a formal let's meet for a half hour in this conference
20 room and here's the ten people that attended. It was probably much more ad hoc. I
21 really can't speculate to how long they were, what we discussed, who was present.
22 It's probably not one meeting. It was probably multiple meetings for several 23 days. And it's hard for me to speculate beyond that.
24 Q Was there a decision made during these internal deliberations about how 25 the FBI would respond going forward to future questions?

1 A The characterization that is -- it's true, we absolutely talked about it, but
2 more to firm up with everyone that it's a longstanding policy. It wasn't like this is 3 something that wasn't known, that we don't talk about ongoing investigations.
4 So there was sort of that reiteration of, okay, if they ask about ongoing
5 investigations, we don't talk about ongoing investigations.
6 So from that point forward, again, we reiterated that it will be "no comment"
7 when something like that comes up. So as you can imagine, that kind of continued that 8 way.
9 Q Do you recall a meeting -- any other FITF meetings with social media
10 companies that day, after the Twitter one?
11 A I don't. We typically did these meetings in about a week period. We'd 12 meet with 5 to 15 companies and normally all in the same week. So it's likely we 13 probably met with multiple companies in sort of that Monday-through-Friday period.
14 And I don't even recall which day of the week Twitter occurred on, whether it was 15 a Tuesday or a Friday or whatever. But we likely spoke with other social media
16 companies either that day or very quickly thereafter.
17 Q Do you recall which other social media companies asked about the laptop?
18 A I don't.
19 Q Ms. Dehmlow testified before the committee, Mr. Chan testified in the 20 ongoing litigation about a FITF meeting with Facebook, where Facebook asked about the 21 laptop, and Ms. Dehmlow testified or responded to that "no comment."
22 Do you recall attending any meeting that fits that description?
23 A Yeah, I recall at least one other time that Laura was kind of the designated
24 "no comment" person for the meetings going forward as -- and I do recall a meeting -- I
25 don't -- if you say -- or if she recalls that it was Facebook, I would say that I agree with

1 that. But I don't recall, like, which companies it came up when Laura stated that, but 2 that's likely.
3 Q Who designated Ms. Dehmlow as the person to respond "no comment"?
4 A I'd be speculating. I don't know. It was probably sort of a collaborative
5 discussion among the management of the FITF, of, like, "Okay, let's have one person kind
6 of designated as that," and that would be my guess. But I, yeah, I'm not sure.
7 Q What was the reason that Ms. Dehmlow was the one designated?
8 A Yeah, I have no recollection of, like, why someone was chosen or how it was 9 chosen. But I do recall that she was sort of the "I'll take this on" kind of thing.
10 And it may have been something as simple as her docket was kind of light that 11 week, not a lot of threats for hers, and she didn't have much of a speaking role, so her job
12 was to kind of fill that role.
13 Q In the internal discussions after the Twitter-FITF meeting, did Elvis Chan
14 participate in any of these discussions?
15 A Sorry. Which discussions again? Post like any other social media
16 companies?
17 Q After the -- based off what you've been able to review and your recollection,
18 the first one is Twitter-FITF. Someone asks, "Is the laptop real?"
19 A Yeah.
20 Q In the internal discussions afterwards, where people are at the FBI internally
21 discussing the response that was given and what the policy -- or what the policy is about 22 responding to these types of questions, did Elvis Chan participate in any of those internal 23 discussions?
24 A Not that I recall, but that would be abnormal for him to be involved in 25 internal FITF discussions. So I don't think so.

1 Q Did you have any conversations with Elvis Chan about the laptop?

2 A I don't recall specifically. I don't know.

3 Q The issue comes up, at least in a couple of these FITF meetings, based off

4 testimony from you and others. Some people have some awareness of what's going on.

5 Were there any conversations from other members within the -- from the FBI,

6 with Elvis Chan, about the ongoing investigation about the laptop?

7 A I'd be speculating. I don't recall having any direct discussions with him

8 about the laptop, but I don't know if other people did.

9 Q So you mentioned that -- you don't recall specifics but that this time in

10 COVID, especially as it was getting close to the election, there's maybe upwards of 20 or

11 more members of the FBI on these FITF calls. You have someone from the FITF who

12 responds, "The laptop is real."

13 Was there any discussion afterwards of folks who were taken by surprise on the 14 FITF, who were unaware?

15 A I've reviewed documents that, to my recollection, there was -- yes, there was 16 surprise among the FITF that it occurred.

17 Q Who in the FITF was surprised?

18 A I don't recall specifically, but I recall reviewing documents that seemed to 19 indicate some level of surprise.

20 Q Was there a sense from the documents reviewed about if it was most of the 21 FITF, one or two people who were unaware?

22 A I don't know how much I can speak to the documents other than generally.

23 [redacted] Just go off the record for one moment.

24 [Discussion off the record.]

25 [redacted] Can we go back on the record?

1 [redacted] So we just want to flag for the record that the witness did review the
2 link production for his awareness in case you all were to ask about it, so he was familiar.
3 He can't speak to the specifics given the classification concern. But feel free to 4 ask your question again.
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q Did you have a sense, based off the documents you reviewed or off your 7 recollection, of how many people from the FITF were surprised?
8 A It's hard. I didn't poll everyone on the FITF. It's hard to say. I
9 would -- yeah, I don't know exactly, like, how many people were surprised.
10 Q Of the folks who were surprised, were any unit chiefs or more senior?
11 A I mean, not from my recollection. Yeah, it's hard for me to speak to that.
12 It's challenging to try to identify, like, who said what, when, besides generally.
13 Q And as just for a point of clarity, for those who were expressing surprise,
14 were they surprised about the story or that the laptop was real? What exactly was -- 15 A I would say the surprise was -- it could have been derived from any of those 16 in that lots of people in the FITF were not aware that we were in possession of a laptop to 17 the story.
18 So it could be a whole spectrum, but I don't want to speculate on who was 19 surprised about what.
20 Q But your recollection is that you were aware, with the understanding you 21 don't remember specifically when, but you were aware before the story took place and 22 the Twitter-FITF meeting took place that the FBI was in possession of a laptop?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And is your understanding Ms. Dehmlow was as well?
25 A I can't speak to her recollection, like, when she knew what. I'm not sure.

1 Q After these FITF meetings take place, do you recall any follow-up outreach to
2 you or other members of the FITF with the social media companies asking for more
3 information?
4 A Yes. Specifically, I felt that there was some confusion after this meeting or 5 around that time because of that sort of comment that was made outside of policy, and 6 then sort of having to cut it off.
7 Again, like, when we normally answer "no comment," we can't say, "because we 8 have an open investigation," because that, in and of itself, is revealing that we have an 9 investigation.
10 So in this case, there was some confusion and I felt necessary to reach out to 11 some of the more major companies and have a follow-up discussion with them.
12 Q Which companies did you reach out to?
13 A I don't remember all of them. I'm pretty sure there was -- I usually -- I
14 remember that it was, like, one person from each company, and I'm pretty sure
15 Facebook, Google, and Twitter were represented.
16 Q Did you do --
17 A There may have been one or two other companies, but I don't remember.
18 Maybe Microsoft. But I don't want to speculate, like, exactly which companies were 19 sort of deemed pertinent or that we should give them somewhat of an update.
20 Chairman Jordan. Who from each of those companies?
21 [redacted] The only one I can -- and I can say names if they've been interviewed 22 or if they're --
23 [Witness confers.]
24 [redacted] Okay, okay.
25 I remember [redacted] for sure. I'm pretty sure [redacted] was on as

1 well. I can sort of -- I can say I had usual POCs that I spoke with. At Twitter it was likely
2 Yoel Roth. I think all three of those were present on the call with me.
3 Chairman Jordan. What did you tell them?
4 [redacted] So I told them -- I cleared a phrase, trying to skirt multiple policies
5 and be within bounds legally and within policy, of what I could communicate to them, and 6 came up with a phrase that I could share.
7 And the phrase, I don't have it verbatim, but it was something to the effect of:
8 The FBI has nothing in its possession to suggest that the laptop is a hack or a leak.
9 And what I intended to communicate with that was that we did not know that the 10 laptop was hacked. And I was very deliberate with my words because there's all sorts of 11 things I could add that would either indicate that it's an ongoing investigation or 12 somehow communicate to them that I know more than I did.
13 So at that time what I knew was the laptop was not hacked, because we had it in 14 our possession. So I was very deliberate in that statement.
15 Obviously there was follow-on questions. We expected there would be 16 follow-on questions. So also came up with sort of a follow-on statement. And, again, I
17 don't know this verbatim, but something to the effect of: I've told you everything I can 18 tell you on this matter. Sort of beyond "no comment" but basically no comment
19 otherwise.
20 So obviously that phrase of we have nothing in FBI holdings to suggest that the 21 laptop is hack-and-leak generally communicates that, as much as I can tell them, to try to 22 clear up at least that element of the situation.
23 Chairman Jordan. Did you only tell them that because of the mistake the 24 individual made when he said the laptop was real?
25 [redacted] Hard for me to speculate had it not happened if I would have the

1 same concerns. My concerns were generally that we communicate as much as we could
2 within legal bounds and policy to the companies and not, for a better characterization,
3 not to kind of leave them hanging with just a "no comment."
4 We wanted them to have as much information that we could possibly provide 5 them so that they could make the proper decision.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q At the time this follow-up statement is being made, the FBI was in 8 possession of more information than just the fact that the FBI did not have information
9 that was related to a hack.
10 A Hard to answer that. But we were probably -- we had more information.
11 I don't believe we had any more information that we could share within legal or policy
12 guidelines.
13 Q Because it was an ongoing investigation?
14 A Among other things, sensitive sources and methods, and other traditional 15 things that we have to stay right by policy and law.
16 Q If this was an actual foreign disinformation operation, the FITF would be able 17 to share more information with the companies?
18 A Possibly. Maybe not. If it was something that we are actively 19 investigating, we come across some of the same restrictions.
20 But generally I would say, to us, an investigation is an investigation. We treat it
21 the same way whether it's foreign malign influence or some other kind of investigation.
22 [redacted]. Can I confer with the client for a minute?
23 [redacted]. We'll go off the record, please.
24 [Discussion off the record.]
25 [redacted]. Can we go back on the record, please?

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q Also just one point clarifying for the record.

3 When sharing this update with the companies, was it one call with the major

4 companies, or did you individually reach out to each company?

5 A I've tried to recall this specifically. I think it was one call with all of these

6 people on it, but I'm not positive about that. I may not have been able to get them all

7 on the same call. So maybe I had one with two or three and one with another.

8 I really don't recall those types of details, but it was -- I was trying to get it to them

9 quickly, obviously. And I just don't recall the details of, like, how many calls it was. But

10 there was definitely some that there was multiple people on the call.

11 Q Who from the FBI was on the call?

12 A Only me.

13 Q Who authorized you to share this information?

14 A I don't feel like I need authorization to do this. This was something that's

15 completely within my purview. What I did feel necessary was to clear it with our OGC

16 attorney that was embedded with us. I definitely wanted to make sure that I was within

17 legal and policy to try to communicate as much more than I could beyond "no comment."

18 Q Did the OGC attorney identify any concerns with the statement that you

19 gave?

20 [redacted]. I think your question implicates attorney-client privilege.

21 BY [redacted]:

22 Q Is it a fair characterization to say that the OGC attorney approved of the 23 statement that you gave?

24 A I think the way I can address it is, I feel confident that I was within policy,

25 legal, and my authority to give the statement -- statement, statements -- that I

1 gave -- statement and response to questions, kind of that dual.

2 Q As part of your statement, you were talking about that the FBI doesn't have

3 any information, or something to that effect, that the laptop is the product of a Russian

4 hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump.

5 On the Twitter-FITF call, there was a discussion about, "Is the laptop real?" You

6 don't recall any other FITF meetings, which ones, if that question came up or how it came 7 up.

8 As part of your statement, was there any formal acknowledgement that the laptop

9 is real?

10 A I mean, this could delve into the discussion of what you define as "real."

11 There was a laptop, or as you put, a hard drive in our possession.

12 If we're speaking about the existence of it meaning real, then, yes. If we're 13 talking about if we go further than that, that would be hard for me to speak to.

14 Q Once the New York Post story comes out, is there any discussion internally at 15 the FBI about whether to reveal to any of the companies that the FBI had authenticated

16 the laptop?

17 A I don't think I'm authorized to speak to anything surrounding the 18 authentication of the laptop.

19 Can I --

20 [redacted] I would also just say, the way your question is framed, you're 21 implicating the FBI writ large, and if you could be more specific within the bounds of the 22 privilege and other issues we discussed, he could maybe answer.

23 [redacted] Well, based off whistleblower testimony, we've tried to get to the 24 question a couple times and been told you can't provide the answer.

25 The companies have the story that comes out that seems to match up with

1 warnings that the FBI and others have given. They're trying to assess is this part of a 2 potential hack-and-leak from a foreign adversary.
3 It's one thing to say, "We don't have information this is the product of a
4 hack-and-leak." It's something else to say, "We are in possession of a laptop or a hard
5 drive that has been authenticated."
6 Was there any discussion that you participated in with anyone within the FBI
7 about that second half, whether the FBI had authenticated a laptop or a hard drive?
8 [Discussion off the record.]
9 [redacted] Can we go back on?
10 [redacted] I think the challenge here is, I would not provide the companies
11 information that I'm not able to provide to you. So the same objections I get of 12 providing information to you, I wouldn't have given information like that to the company,
13 if that addresses the question.
14 [redacted] Can you, just at a high level, appreciate that there would have been 15 value to the companies in assessing whether their hack-and-leak policies are implicated
16 by knowing whether the FBI had authenticated the laptop or hard drive in its possession?
17 [redacted] I'd rather not speculate in the value of something that may have 18 happened at the time. Yeah, it's hard for me to answer that appropriately.
19 [redacted] So were you unable to tell the companies that the laptop had been 20 authenticated because of the ongoing investigation or because you didn't know the 21 answer to that question?
22 [redacted] Can we go off the record?
23 [redacted] We can go off the record.
24 [Discussion off the record.]
25 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

1 [redacted] Addressing the previous question, I did not know at that time -- or I
2 was not aware of the laptop being authenticated at that time. If I did, I wouldn't have
3 been able to tell them anyway. But at that time, I did not know whether the hard drive
4 or the laptop, however you want to characterize it, was authenticated, if that addresses
5 it.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q Did others within the FITF know whether the laptop or hard drive had been
8 authenticated?
9 A I don't want to speak to what others knew. I don't know.
10 Q Are you familiar with the statement that 51 former intel officials put out on 11 October 19th, 2020?
12 A I am.
13 Q Prior to that statement's release, did any of the 51 reach out to you?
14 A No.
15 Q Do you understand did any of the former 51 intel officials reach out to 16 anyone on the FITF?
17 A I don't know that I know all 51, like, I don't know all the names on there.
18 Just to clarify, there's probably some on there that I've interacted with previously,
19 and it's hard for me to say, like, if I've even interacted with them in my capacity in the 20 FITF.
21 But I'm hesitant to answer that when I don't even know all 51, like, I don't have 22 the list in front of me, I'm basically saying. So I'm hesitant to answer that. But I'm not 23 aware of the FITF engaging any of those officials, pertaining to this certainly.
24 Q As far as you don't recall FITF engaging, to your understanding, did any of 25 the 51 try to solicit information from the FITF?

1 A Certainly not from me. I can't speak, like, monolithically for the FITF. But
2 none of them solicited any information from me.
3 Q So of the 51 former intel officials, for the ones that you're aware of who
4 signed the letter, were any of those officials aware of the FITF's existence?
5 A Certainly a couple of them. I think a couple of them were pretty recently
6 previously employed by the Federal Government, and the FITF at that point had been in 7 existence for almost 3 years and was pretty well known.
8 Q If someone were trying to find the best task force or division to assess if the 9 laptop was a foreign disinformation operation, which task forces or divisions would it
10 have been better to contact other than the FITF?
11 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?
12 [Discussion off the record.]
13 [redacted] We can go back on.
14 [redacted] Can you say the question again?
15 [redacted] Sure.
16 [redacted] I have something, but can you read that particular question first?
17 BY [redacted]:
18 Q We can turn back to the question.
19 A Okay. Just to clarify, you said, like, I can say I'm still not aware that it's 20 been authenticated. I'm not aware that the contents of the laptop have been 21 authenticated today, let alone back then.
22 To address the part of who would be better than the FITF to address, to me, it
23 would be the field offices working that, but I don't know that people outside the Federal 24 Government were aware of that when most of the people in the FITF weren't aware of 25 that.

1 Q Once the statement comes out, the 51 former intel officials, was there any
2 discussion within the FITF about the statement?
3 A I don't recall a discussion about it at all. I do remember it occurring, but I
4 don't know that there was much discussion about it.
5 Q And a few responses earlier, you mentioned wanting to share with the 6 companies the best you could about what information the FITF had, and so paraphrasing,
7 whatever the exact phrase was something that the FITF at least didn't have information
8 that the laptop referenced in the New York Post story was from a Russian influence
9 operation?
10 Is that a fair characterization or --
11 A Sorry. Say it once more.
12 Q Sure.
13 A I apologize.
14 Q So you had mentioned there was a desire to be able to share information,
15 whatever information you could, with the companies.
16 A Yeah.
17 Q And that the statement you were able to share was something to the effect
18 of that the FITF didn't have information that the laptop and the story were part of a 19 Russian disinformation influence operation.
20 Is that --
21 A So one of those things, I specifically said the FBI has nothing in its holdings, 22 very deliberately to go sort of beyond the FITF. But I also didn't address sort of the 23 disinformation campaign side of that question because that's not normally something we 24 would engage in.
25 We would typically say, like I did, "We're not aware of a foreign actor sort of

1 perpetrating that." And by communicating that it wasn't hacked, that typically is sort of 2 intelligence service-level activity. So I think inherently in my deliberate language, it sort
3 of addressed that, as best I could.
4 But I also, at the time, was not aware that it was a Russian disinformation
5 campaign, yes or no, at that time.
6 Q Okay. Was there any discussion within the FBI of trying to respond in a 7 similar sense to the 51 former intel statement?
8 A I don't recall any discussions about that statement at all, at least not that I
9 was a party to.
10 Q In the discussions with the companies where you provided the statement,
11 whether it was together or one-on-one, what follow-up questions did the companies 12 have?
13 A I don't recall not needing to be in sort of receive mode because I know I can't 14 answer any questions. I didn't sort of, I wonder what kind of questions they had and 15 write them down or anything like that. It was just I know, no matter what they ask,
16 everything I told them is within the walls of this sentence basically.
17 Q To your understanding, did anyone from the FITF or the FBI share
18 information outside of that approved statement with Facebook, Google, or Twitter?
19 A I didn't, and I'm not aware of anyone else doing it, sharing anything further 20 past that.
21 Q Did you or anyone else from the FITF have conversations with Elvis Chan 22 about the statement that was going to be shared?
23 A I don't recall. The only thing I can think of is, I may have used -- like, Elvis
24 had a standing conference call line, like a 1-800 number. I may have asked him to use
25 that number, but I wouldn't have conferred with him about the contents of the

1 statement.

2 And that's sort of the reason he wasn't on the phone call either, when he normally

3 attended meetings. I felt that this was best handled in the very deliberate manner that I

4 handled it.

5 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

6 [Recess.]

1

2 [1:57 p.m.]

3 [redacted] Okay. Back on the record.

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q [redacted], way back in the first hour of questioning, if you remember that

6 far back, you said that you were read into the laptop matter because it involved Russia

7 and Ukraine. Do you recall saying that?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Okay. And your job with the FITF, just to reduce it probably way more than 10 you would in normal life, your job was to monitor and mitigate potential malign foreign

11 influence efforts, in particular from Russia and Ukraine, because that was your unit,

12 correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q Okay. There was a lot of discussion at the end of the last year -- at the end

15 of the last hour, excuse me -- about what was said in the October 14th meeting with

16 Twitter and what was said in the meeting that followed that with more technology

17 companies.

18 And you said that -- you made a couple of distinctions I just want to highlight for

19 the record. You differentiated between "real" and "authentic."

20 What's your understanding of what we mean when we say "authentic"?

21 A It's kind of nuanced, but generally the distinction I make is "real" is

22 something tangible that you're aware of. And "authentic," in contexts like this,

23 authenticating something like a laptop as opposed to a single piece of evidence, maybe a 24 single email or a single phone call, are very different.

25 Something like a laptop, I mean, you can imagine the different types of, like, file

1 categories and things like that, that are on there.

2 And then there's also complications with authenticity from, like, not just the

3 providence of something but also whether it's been altered or doctored. And I can't

4 really go into a lot of the specifics about that process.

5 Generally, something real is easy to tell the difference, but something

6 authenticated is a complex process and entails a lot more work, and sometimes it's not

7 even possible.

8 Q Okay. And I just want to clarify again for the record, in October 2020 and

9 sitting here today, you don't know -- you didn't know then and you don't know now if the 10 laptop was ever authenticated?

11 A Correct, I do not know now and I didn't know then if the entire laptop was

12 authenticated.

13 Q Okay. So there was a discussion about the laptop being real. "Real" just 14 means that the laptop was a tangible thing?

15 A I mean, as I define it. I don't know how the person that said that, that

16 we're referring to, defined "real" at that time. But I would think he meant "real" as in 17 tangible. But I don't want to speculate what he thought "real" meant.

18 Q Okay. There was some discussion about what you were able to say in the 19 follow-up conversation. And I don't want to paraphrase it incorrectly, so can you restate

20 to the best of your recollection?

21 A Yeah.

22 Q I understand that it's 3 and a half years ago at this time.

23 A Yeah.

24 Q But what was that?

25 A From what I remember, and there was probably some minor changes to this,

1 but it was there's nothing in the FBI holdings that suggests that the laptop is hacked and
2 leaked -- or hacked or leaked, or something to that effect.
3 But what I intended to communicate with that was, we were not aware at the 4 time that that was a product of a hack, that that laptop was derived or that what 5 appeared was derived from a hack, if it was even what appeared in the news story was 6 the same as what we had in our possession. I wasn't even aware of that.
7 Q Okay. When you say a "hack," is "hack" a term of art in your world?
8 A Yeah. I apologize. Speaking of hacks in general, we're talking about 9 computer intrusions, someone obtaining credentials so that they can enter your 10 computer remotely and either obtain, download, duplicate contents of that device
11 illegally. It's illegal to hack or intrude in someone's computer.
12 Q So "hack" is accessing a computer through the internet, effectively, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q It's different than, for example, temporarily physically possessing a computer
15 and putting something onto it, for example?
16 A It might not be.
17 Q Okay.
18 A If you temporarily possess a laptop and then using credentials that you are 19 not authorized to use, or using some sort of tool to access that laptop, even physical, that 20 could also fall under the --
21 Q It could be, but it also could fall under a different --
22 A Yes.
23 Q -- it could fall under a different category as well?
24 A Yes. If there's situations where I would authorize you to, I would give you
25 my password or give you my laptop and you go look at my laptop, that's not a hack or a

1 computer intrusion.

2 Q Or maybe the password -- maybe the object was not password-protected?

3 A That's also -- but even that, had I not given you authorization, that could --

4 Q Okay.

5 A I mean, I'm not a cyber expert, so I don't want to get too deep into that,

6 but --

7 Q Just trying to get the sense of what --

8 A Yeah. Generally, yeah.

9 Q When you said that there was no information in the FBI's holdings, that

10 didn't mean that the information didn't exist. It just meant the FBI didn't have anything

11 at that time, correct?

12 A Yes. And the reason I remember the statement kind of vividly is because 13 there's certain components of that statement that were very deliberate.

14 Q Okay.

15 A And one of those is, like I said, FBI holdings, not even just FITF. I was pretty

16 confident once I made that statement, that we had nothing in our holdings that

17 suggested it was a hack, doesn't mean it wasn't a hack, we just didn't have that

18 knowledge at that time.

19 Q So in other words, absence of evidence is not necessarily evidence of 20 absence. So you just didn't have information at that time?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Okay. Couple quick comments about the -- questions about the "no

23 comment" reference.

24 The October 14th meeting, FBI said -- the response to the questions after "the 25 laptop is real" comment was "no comment," correct?

1 A Correct.

2 Q Do you agree that "no comment" is a fairly typical response for FBI to give in

3 response to questions about ongoing matters?

4 A Very.

5 Q Okay. In fact, the FBI virtually never comments on potential or ongoing

6 investigations, correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q And that's FBI policy, right?

9 A I believe, and not derived from a DOJ -- I'm not sure, like, where FBI and DOJ.

10 But, yes, under DOJ somewhere, there's a policy that --

11 Q Do you have an understanding of the reasons for the policy?

12 A I could probably speak generally to it. I don't know that I could quote

13 policy language or anything.

14 Q No. And we're wondering why doesn't the FBI comment on ongoing

15 investigations, is what I'm getting at.

16 A I mean, generally to protect the integrity of the investigation when

17 appropriate. There's certain investigations that were overt nearly from the start of the 18 investigation. But sort of transmitting our intentions or that we have an investigation at 19 times could jeopardize the integrity of the investigation.

20 Q Okay. When you say "jeopardize the integrity," what does that mean?

21 A You know, it would allow potential subjects or potential people that may

22 have violated Federal law to either change their tactics, delete evidence, those sort of

23 things that would cause us to not be able to collect that as evidence of a Federal crime

24 being committed.

25 Q So is it fair to say that if the FBI were to comment on ongoing investigations,

1 it could potentially prevent the FBI from continuing that investigation?

2 A Yes. Potentially.

3 Q It could potentially prevent FBI and DOJ from bringing charges in an

4 investigation?

5 A Potentially.

6 Q Okay. And so it ultimately could compromise the investigation?

7 A It could.

8 Q Okay. There was a comment made in the prior hour about whether the 9 laptop was -- had a connection to Russian intelligence or foreign intelligence.

10 Do you remember that discussion broadly?

11 A I think so.

12 Q Okay. In October 2020, did FBI know whether the laptop had a connection

13 to foreign intelligence?

14 A Not that I recall.

15 Q You didn't know either way?

16 A Correct.

17 Q Okay. So it may have, but you didn't know?

18 A Correct.

19 Q Okay. Are you familiar with patterns of practice in which Russian

20 intelligence engages?

21 A Yes. I'm not sure of the characterization of that. I would say, through my

22 experience investigating Russian intelligence services and foreign malign influence actors,

23 I've sort of collected certain types of tactics and things that they use that I'm aware of.

24 Q Okay. Are you familiar with the reasons that the FITF was created in 2017?

25 A Generally, yes.

1 Q What's your understanding?

2 A The Director wanted to have sort of a one-stop shop that all of the

3 investigative entities and all the investigative authorities are kind of under one place that

4 he had -- that he could go to and understand and sort of direct the FBI to sort of look at

5 this as a whole-of-FBI thing and have sort of less siloed activity as it occurs sort of across

6 the Russian threat, and everything from transnational organized crime, to cyber, to

7 counterintelligence, to sometimes even counterterrorism, and have that in one place and

8 have sort of a unified strategy across the FBI to deal with those type of threat actors.

9 Q And the FITF was established in 2017, correct?

10 A That's correct.

11 Q And that was in the wake of the 2016 election, correct?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Are you familiar with the events surrounding the 2016 election?

14 A Somewhat. I was not working those type of matters during the 2016

15 election. I worked for the Criminal Investigative Division. But generally I've obviously

16 consumed lots of intelligence, and in line with kind of the 2016 ICA and those sort of 17 things of what occurred, and I generally know some of the different streams.

18 Q Do you agree that Russia interfered in the 2016 election?

19 A By the definition of "interfered" versus "influence," yes.

20 Q Okay. And is it fair to say that the FITF was created, in part, in response to 21 the 2016 interference?

22 A I think, yes, that's fair, in part.

23 Q Okay. What's your understanding of how Russia interfered in 2016?

24 A I think specifically the thing that crosses the line, according to a number of 25 documents and that sort of thing that were created in the wake of that, were the hack of

1 certain emails and then the following -- the timing and the usage of that material to try to
2 affect the electoral process.
3 Q And after Russia interfered in that way in 2016, is it fair to say that there was
4 widespread concern by national security experts, law enforcement experts, that Russia
5 and other foreign entities might try to interfere in the 2020 election?
6 A Absolutely.

2 [2:10 p.m.]

3 [redacted] I want to introduce as exhibit 3 a statement from William Evanina, Bill

4 Evanina, who was at that time the National Counterintelligence and Security Center

5 director, dated August 7, 2020, and it's titled "Election threat update for the American

6 public."

7 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3

8 was marked for identification.]

9 BY [redacted]:

10 Q Have you seen this before?

11 A I believe so.

12 Q Do you want to take a minute to review it?

13 A Sure. I think he had a couple. I'm not sure which one this is. Yes. I

14 remember this one specifically.

15 Q Okay. We've highlighted a section on the second page that begins "Russia."

16 It reads, "We assess that Russia is using a range of measures to primarily denigrate former

17 Vice President Biden in what it sees as an anti-Russia establishment. This is consistent

18 with Moscow's public criticism of him when he was Vice President for his role in the

19 Obama administration's policies on Ukraine and its support for the anti-Putin opposition

20 inside Russia. For example, pro-Russia Ukrainian Parliamentarian Andrii Derkach is 21 spreading claims about corruption, including through publicizing leaked phone calls, to

22 undermine former Vice President Biden's candidacy and the Democratic Party. Some

23 Kremlin-linked actors are also speaking to boost President Trump's candidacy on social

24 media and Russian television." Did I read that correctly?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. So is it fair to say that this is evidence that -- actually sorry.
2 Withdraw that.
3 Are you familiar with the NCSC?
4 A I am.
5 Q What is the NCSC?
6 A It's generally -- I believe it's a political appointee to sort of sit across all
7 agencies that have any purview over counterintelligence activities across the IC.
8 Q Okay. And you said it's politically appointed. Do you know who 9 appointed Bill Evanina as Director of the NCSC?
10 A I don't recall when he left FBI and went there.
11 Q If I told you President Trump appointed him, would you have reason to 12 dispute that?
13 A No.
14 Q Would you agree that the paragraph that I read to you a minute or two ago
15 is evidence that Bill Evanina, who was President Trump's appointee to be Director of 16 NCSC, endorsed the statement that Russia was seeking to interfere in the 2020 election?
17 A I don't love the term "evidence," again, in this context.
18 Q Okay. How would you put it?
19 A However, yes, I believe it was an indication that there was broad agreement
20 among at least the counterintelligence entities under the NCSC that this statement is true
21 at that time.
22 Q You've mentioned the intelligence community assessment. You've referred 23 to the ICA a number of times. That refers to the Intelligence Community Assessment,
24 correct?
25 A Correct.

1 Q Are you familiar with the 2021 intelligence community assessment?

2 A I believe when I refer to the 2020, that's what I'm really talking about. It's

3 published in 2021, but it's really kind of a lookback about the election, and I believe it's in

4 the Executive Order 13A4A, we're commanded to do that basically through that executive

5 order that we will produce a document running down everything that happened in the

6 election.

7 [redacted] Okay. I want to introduce that as exhibit 4.

8 [redacted] Exhibit No. 4

9 was marked for identification.]

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q And it's long. I can point you to where -- you're welcome to read the whole

12 thing. I can also point you to what we're going to look at.

13 A I've read it extensively. It's been a while.

14 Q Even better.

15 A But you can point me to what specifically you want to talk about.

16 Q For the record, we're introducing the declassified version, which was

17 declassified the 15th of March 2021. I believe the classified version was released in 18 January. But we're using the declassified version. You've said you've read this 19 extensively?

20 A Yes. People under my purview had a pretty extensive hand on this

21 document, and so anything that went through my unit sort of in a draft form, I had to

22 review multiple times. And this, obviously, goes not just within the FBI, but all through 23 the intelligence community for everybody to kind of chime in and edit.

24 Q Can you turn to the cover page?

25 A Sure.

1 Q You see the italicized language? I know it's small font down at the bottom.
2 I'm going to read it out loud. It reads, "This intelligence community assessment was 3 prepared by the National Intelligence Council under the auspices of the National 4 Intelligence Officer, NIO, for cyber. It was drafted by the National Intelligence Council
5 and CIA." That's a reference to the Central Intelligence Agency, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q DHS, which is the Department of Homeland Security, correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q FBI, which is the Federal Bureau of Investigation, correct?
10 A Correct.
11 Q INR, which is the State Department Bureau of Intelligence and Research,
12 correct?
13 A Correct.
14 Q And NSA, which is the National Security Agency, correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q And the italicized language continues, "and coordinated with CIA, DHS, FBI, 17 INR, Treasury," that's the Department of Treasury, correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q "And NSA." Did I read that correctly?
20 A Correct.
21 Q This document is prepared by all -- one, two, three, four, five, six different
22 agencies had a role in preparing this. Is that right?
23 A Drafted was five, six. Coordinated kind of means they read it, reviewed it,
24 and agreed with what was there. So yes.
25 Q Okay. Can you turn to the fourth page, which is -- the fourth page is

1 printed. It's Roman numeral I.

2 A Actually, to just correct the record because it is kind of nuanced.

3 Q Yup.

4 A Coordinated doesn't even necessarily mean that they agreed with what was

5 published, just to get in the terms of art in the intelligence community.

6 Q Okay.

7 A Coordinated basically means that they've reviewed it.

8 Q Can you turn to page -- but certainly, everybody who had a hand in drafting

9 would have agreed with it, correct, unless there's a dissenting view noted?

10 A Correct. Occasionally, there's dissenting views noted. That are also

11 occasionally dissenting views that are not noted depending on if they rise to the level of 12 substantive and things like that.

13 Q Okay.

14 A But there's often lots of dissent in drafting these. Everyone kind of has a 15 different picture. These are a lot of people that are involved in drafting this.

16 Q If you can turn to Roman numeral I. I want to look at key judgment two.

17 Sorry. It's Roman numeral I, it's the fourth page as printed.

18 A Okay.

19 Q Key judgment two reads, "We assess that Russian President Putin

20 authorized, and a range Russian Government organizations conducted, influence

21 operations aimed at denigrating President Biden's candidacy and the Democratic Party,

22 supporting former President Trump, undermining public confidence in the electoral

23 process and exacerbating sociopolitical divisions in the U.S. Unlike 2016, we did not see

24 persistent Russian cyber efforts to gain access to election infrastructure. We have high

25 confidence in our assessment; Russian state and proxy actors who all served the Kremlin's

1 interests worked to affect U.S. public perceptions in a consistent manner. A key
2 element of Moscow's strategy this election cycle," and this was referring to the 2020
3 election cycle, "was its use of proxies linked to Russian intelligence to push influence
4 narratives, including misleading or unsubstantiated allegations against President Biden to 5 U.S. media organizations, U.S. officials, and prominent U.S. individuals, including some 6 close to former President Trump and his administration."
7 Did I read that correctly?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Part way through this paragraph -- so most of the paragraph is boldfaced.
10 But part way through, there's a nonboldfaced section. And that reads, "We have high 11 confidence in our assessment." You see where it says that?
12 A Yes.
13 Q Are you familiar with the term "high confidence?"
14 A Generally. I don't typically draft things like this. There's a lot of very 15 nuanced language surrounding things like this. But, generally, I know what "high 16 confidence" means.
17 Q What's your understanding of what "high confidence" means?
18 A That there's multiple sort of validated and corroborated sources of 19 information that sort of lead into that judgment.
20 Q So is it fair to say that "high confidence" is the highest level of confidence
21 that the intelligence community would give to an assessment?
22 A I believe that's correct. Yes.
23 Q Because there's also moderate confidence and low confidence, right?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And "high confidence" is the highest?

1 A Yes.

2 Q I want to break down the language in key judgment two into its components.

3 The first sentence provides that, "The Russian Government organizations acting at the

4 direction of President Putin conducted influence operations aimed at denigrating

5 President Biden, supporting former President Trump, and undermining confidence in the 6 electoral process," correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q What's your understanding of what an influence operation is as used in this

9 paragraph?

10 A It's hard for me to comment further on some of these key judgments

11 because of the underlying intelligence and the specific nature of what's declassified to 12 produce these.

13 Q Can you -- taking it away from the judgment, FITF deals with potential

14 influence operations all the time, right?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Sorry.

17 [Discussion off the record.]

18 [redacted] Okay. So one of the -- again, there's a lot of very deliberate

19 language in this statement, and it builds it out a little bit more, but talking about influence

20 operations versus interference. And it makes it pretty clear that we did not see

21 interference in the 2020 election. But that we had -- it kind of details the type of 22 influence operations we saw. And that was, in this case, it's -- it outlines a sort of

23 narrative laundering of pushing things that may or may not be based in true events, true

24 things, and trying to get it into sort of mainstream discourse and follows kind of a path of 25 laundering that information. That's sort of what it tries to outline here of what was seen occurring.

BY [redacted]:

Q Are you familiar with an individual named Andrii Derkach?

A Yes.

Q Who is Mr. Derkach?

A Mr. Derkach was a former Ukrainian Parliamentarian who the FBI investigated and eventually indicted and sanctioned for his activities surrounding some of -- the details here are noted in our indictment of him. I believe it was out of the New York Field Office. And so, through that investigation -- and that was under my purview and a squad in New York, an investigative squad working that, that I was aware of that investigation and some of the broad details of it.

Q Broadly speaking, what was Mr. Derkach charged with?

A I believe he was charged with 18 U.S.C. 951. I don't recall the exact charges. I mean, there's -- oh, I was going to say, there's probably an indictment floating around somewhere.

[redacted] We'll go ahead and introduce the indictment for the record. It will be exhibit 5.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 5 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q Having reviewed the indictment, do you recall what Mr. Derkach was charged with?

A Yes. The sort of main underlying criminal activities outlined in count one, as conspiracy to violate IEEPA. IEEPA is the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, and specifically, there's a number of activities that can fall under that, that -- I said I

1 think 951, but some of this is 981. And then, additionally, in count two and count three,
2 there's a bank fraud conspiracy and money laundering conspiracy, and then, in counts
3 four through 7, there's some of the actual, I guess, per se violations of the count three, of 4 the money laundering conspiracy.
5 Q And are you aware that Mr. Derkach was also sanctioned by the United 6 States?
7 A I am.
8 Q Okay.
9 [redacted] I want to introduce as exhibit 6 the Treasury Department's press
10 release announcing sanctions on Mr. Derkach. This is dated September 10, 2020.
11 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 6
12 was marked for identification.]
13 BY [redacted]:
14 Q Have you seen this before?
15 A I'm not sure this press release specifically. I probably have seen this.
16 Q Okay. And you're broadly familiar with the reasons Mr. Derkach was 17 sanctioned?
18 A Yes.
19 Q This, for the record, the press release is dated September 10, 2020. Steve 20 Mnuchin was Secretary of the Treasury in September 2020, correct?
21 A I believe that's correct. I don't remember when certain people held certain 22 offices, but he's quoted here so I assume yes.
23 Q Okay. And Secretary Mnuchin was appointed by former President Trump,
24 correct?
25 A Yes. Correct.

1 Q I want to look at the beginning of paragraph two on the first page. It reads,
2 quote, "Treasury designated Andrii Derkach pursuant to executive order (E.O.) 13848 for 3 his efforts to influence the 2020 Presidential election. Derkach, a member of the 4 Ukrainian Parliament, has been an active Russian agent for over a decade, maintaining 5 close connections with the Russian intelligence services."
6 Did I read that correctly?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Do you have an understanding of what the phrase "active Russian agent"
9 means?
10 A Yes.
11 Q What's your understanding?
12 A "Agent" is a pretty specific term in sort of the parlance of 13 counterintelligence, meaning that he is working on behalf of Russia, the government of 14 Russia broadly, but typically one of the intelligence services.
15 Q The sanctions notice continues, "From at least late 2019 through mid-2020, 16 Derkach waged a covert influence campaign centered on cultivating false and 17 unsubstantiated narratives concerning U.S. officials in the upcoming 2020 Presidential 18 election, spurring corruption investigations in both Ukraine and the United States
19 designed to culminate prior to election day."
20 Do you see where it says that?
21 A Yup.
22 Q What's your understanding of what "a covert influence campaign" is?
23 A So this goes back to some of the comments I made earlier about the specific 24 nature of activities that are subversive, undeclared, covert, or criminal. In this case, it
25 meets, I think, all four of those in that it was subversive to the U.S. election process. It

1 was undeclared. He did not declare himself to the Attorney General of the United
2 States as working on behalf of Russia. He had criminal activities, as we later saw by 3 follow on indictment by the Eastern District of New York. And it was covert in that he
4 was acting as a Ukrainian Parliamentarian. And I believe he also owned some media
5 outlets in Ukraine, and through that, he was taking direction from the Russian 6 government and carrying out their wishes.
7 Q So, based on the sanctions notice, it's fair to say that Andrii Derkach was a
8 proxy for Russia, right, or a Russian agent?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Linked to Russian intelligence pushing influence narratives?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Okay.
13 [redacted] I want to introduce as exhibit 7 a Washington Post article, dated 14 December 5, 2019, titled "Ukraine lawmaker seeking Biden probe meets with Giuliani in 15 Kyiv."
16 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 7
17 was marked for identification.]

1

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q While you're reviewing, I'll note for the record, this is a Washington Post

4 article dated December 5, 2019. It's, again, the title is "Ukraine lawmaker seeking Biden

5 probe meets with Giuliani in Kyiv," by David L. Stern and Robyn Dixon.

6 Are you ready to continue?

7 A Yeah. I don't know that I'm aware of everything in this article. I don't

8 know if you want me to read all of it.

9 Q I'm only going to ask you about the first page, just going to ask about the 10 first page.

11 A Okay.

12 Q Are you familiar with who Rudy Giuliani is?

13 A Yes, I am.

14 Q He was President Trump's personal attorney, correct?

15 A I think so at some point.

16 Q And there's a photo at the beginning of this article, correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And the caption reads, "Ukrainian lawmaker under Derkach and President

19 Trump's personal lawyer, Rudolph W. Giuliani, show a document during a meeting in Kyiv

20 and an image posted by Derkach on December 5, 2019." Do you see that caption?

21 A Yes.

22 Q To the best of your knowledge, is that a picture of Mr. Derkach and 23 Mr. Giuliani?

24 A From what I know of them, yes. I believe that's accurate.

25 Q The first sentence of this article reads, "President Trump's personal lawyer,

1 Rudolph W. Giuliani met Thursday in Ukraine with one of the key figures working to build
2 a corruption case against Hunter Biden." Correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q In the sanctions notice we just talked through, Derkach was sanctioned for 5 pushing covert influence narratives with a goal of spurring corruption investigations,
6 correct?
7 A Correct.
8 Q And it's true, according to this article, that Rudy Giuliani met with Mr.
9 Derkach to discuss corruption investigations in 2019, correct?
10 A Probably. I mean, I was not witness to the meeting, but it appears that's all 11 true.
12 [redacted] I want to introduce as Exhibit 8, a Daily Beast article, published on 13 October 17, 2020, tiled "Rudy only 50/50 chance I worked with a Russian spy to die to dirt
14 on Bidens in Ukraine."

1

2 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 8

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q I know this is a long article. I can tell you we are going to look mostly at the 6 last page of it, but take as long as you need.

7 A You said the last page?

8 Q The last page. Yup.

9 [redacted] Don't feel rushed, though.

10 [redacted] Yeah. Take as long as you need.

11 [redacted] I don't know that I have ever seen this article.

12 BY [redacted]:

13 Q You can read it cover to cover.

14 A Okay. I think I am aware of this article generally.

15 Q This article reports on an hour-long interview with Mr. Giuliani. That's at 16 the bottom of page 2. And then, on page 5 -- again, this is page 5 as printed. This is an

17 internet article, so we've -- there's no pagination in the article online.

18 But, on page 5, as printed -- actually, taking a step back, are you aware that the 19 New York Post story says that Mr. Giuliani provided the laptop to them?

20 A I don't know that I was aware that's in the article.

21 Q Okay.

22 A I don't know that I have ever read that entire article.

23 Q Okay. Do you have any reason to dispute that Mr. Giuliani claimed that he 24 provided the laptop to the New York Post?

25 A I don't think so. Nothing that I can recall.

1 Q Okay. So, turning back to this article, at the top of page 5, it says, "Giuliani
2 said he viewed his latest leak to the New York Post as an extension of his years-long
3 efforts to work with Ukrainians to dig up dirt on the Bidens." You see where it says
4 that?
5 A Yeah.
6 Q So, in this article, Mr. Giuliani actually says that his production of the laptop
7 to the New York Post was part of his work with the Ukrainians, right? That's what he's 8 saying in this article on the face of it.
9 [redacted] It's the first like three lines at the top of page 5, and she's just 10 asking to confirm that that's what it states in the article.
11 [redacted] Yes. That's what it states in the article.
12 BY [redacted]:
13 Q Okay. You said earlier Andrii Derkach was a Ukrainian, correct?
14 A I think so. I'm not sure ethnically if he was, but yeah. He was a former 15 Ukrainian Parliamentarian.
16 Q And, again, he was sanctioned for trying to push covert influence narratives,
17 correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Okay.
20 [redacted] I want to introduce -- I'm sorry; I know I'm giving you a lot of 21 paper -- I want to introduce as exhibit 9 a Daily Beast article, published October 18, 2020, 22 updated October 21, 2020, titled "Rudy's Russian agent pal teases second laptop with 23 Hunter Biden Kompromat."
24 BY [redacted]:
25 Q Have you seen this before?

1 A I think I'm aware of this article. I'm generally aware of this article. Okay.
2 I'm not sure -- I'm not sure if I've ever read the whole thing, but I'm generally aware of it.
3 Q The bottom of the second paragraph of this article it says, "Derkach,
4 meaning Andrii Derkach claimed on Facebook that there is a, quote/unquote, second
5 laptop with evidence of corruption involving the Biden family."
6 You see where it says that?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Are you generally familiar with Andrii Derkach's claim that there was a
9 second laptop?
10 A Yes. I'm generally aware, yes, that Derkach was teasing all sorts of 11 kompromat as he says here.
12 Q And when you say he was teasing all sorts of kompromat, what do you mean 13 by that?
14 A I think he held multiple press conferences and other things in the wake of 15 the sort of public -- the first New York Post article that -- with the laptop. He started to 16 then hold regular press conferences, maybe daily, and in all of them kind of teased, "Oh,
17 there's more, it's coming, I'll show you all the evidence that I've pulled up."
18 Q So Derkach was effectively claiming credit for the laptop. Is that fair to 19 say?
20 A I don't think he claimed the first laptop. I think that's why he's saying, "Oh, 21 I have a second laptop." I don't believe he claimed, you know, "I'm responsible for the 22 first laptop."
23 Q Okay. But he was saying that he could -- had information to support the 24 laptop, the first laptop?
25 A Maybe. I'm not aware of that.

Q Okay. [redacted], you speak some Russian, right?

A A little bit.

Q Okay.

[redacted] I'm going to introduce an article from a Ukrainian news source. The article itself is in Russian. We've done a Google translate. We are going to introduce the article I guess in Russian as exhibit 10 and in English as exhibit 11.

[[redacted] Exhibit Nos. 10 and 11 were marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q We don't have a verified translator. We're in the minority and can't afford that.

But, given that you speak some Russian, I'm hoping that you know, you can confirm that there's nothing -- I want to introduce both to make the Record clear. If there's anything you see that raises concerns about the translation, let us know.

A I am absolutely not at a level that I can confirm much about this.

Q That's fine. We'll look at the English version. I want to have the record complete. I don't want to introduce just a translated version.

A I am not, and have never been certified as a translator.

Q Understood. The article I just introduced is from O-b-o-z-r-e-v-a-t-e-l is the name of the news source. The title is "Testimony of witnesses and information from Burisma's laptop will complement the scandalous investigation of the New York Post - Derkach." It's by an individual named Gleb Ivanov, and it's dated October 16, 2020.

A Correct.

Q I'm guessing you have not seen this before?

1 A I do not recall --

2 Q Okay.

3 A -- if I have or haven't. Yeah. No, I can't recall.

4 Q The third paragraph on the first page says that, "according to the politician,"

5 which refers to Andrii Derkach, "the New York Post investigation reports information on

6 the laptop of the son of the former Vice President of the United States, while more

7 interesting information is on the second laptop, which appears in the Burisma case."

8 You see where it says that?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And then the article continues with a quote from Mr. Derkach. It says,

11 "Journalists are paying attention to the cheerful but not very legal life of Biden, Jr."

12 Goes on, and it says, "The facts confirming the international corruption are stored on the 13 second laptop, which, according to investigative journalists, was used by two

14 representatives of Zlochevsky's interests, Derkach reports." You see where it says that?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And then, on the next page, in paragraph in the middle, it says,

17 "Derkach" -- it's another quote from Derkach. It says, "The testimony of witnesses and

18 the wiring on the Burisma laptop will complement the data found on the American

19 computer, but the main thing is," exclamation point, "these are not the last witnesses and

20 not the last laptop, and Ukrainian law enforcement officers will have to investigate the 21 facts of international corruption. We will help them." See where it says that?

22 A Yes.

23 Q This article is dated October 16, 2020. The New York Post article was dated

24 October 14, 2020. So it's fair to say that, within 2 days of the New York Post article,

25 Andrii Derkach was telling the Ukrainian press that he had access to even more laptops.

1 Is that fair so say?

2 A According to this article. I don't have any --

3 [redacted] Right. She's just asking according to this article.

4 [redacted] Okay. Yeah. I don't have anything to suggest the voracity of the 5 article, but, yes, according to the article.

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q Right. And earlier, a couple minutes ago, you said that Derkach was touting

8 all kinds of kompromat. What is kompromat?

9 A It's a Russian intelligence term of art that, you know, pretty generally

10 translates to compromising material in terms of being able to operationalize that.

11 Q And why do the Russians use kompromat?

12 A It's one of many ways that you can compromise an individual that then you

13 have some sort of hold over them to have them do things on your behalf. You know,

14 you can use a whole spectrum of being nice or being mean to try to get someone to work

15 for you. And this is sort of one of those dirty tricks of getting someone to work for you.

16 Q So, according to Derkach, he knew what was on the first laptop, and he had

17 more laptops to support the information on the first laptop. And this is the same

18 Derkach that was sanctioned for working as an agent of Russian intelligence because he

19 was engaging in covert influence operations to influence -- targeting the 2020 election,

20 correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q I want to return to the 2021 ICA assessment? And can you turn to page 2?

23 And this is page 6 of the printout. But it's actually page 2, not Roman numeral II.

24 See where it says, "Kremlin direction of influence activity"?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. It says, "We assess that President Putin and other senior Russian
2 officials were aware of and probably directed Russia's influence operations against the 3 2020 U.S. Presidential election. For example, we assess that Putin had purview over the 4 activities of Andrii Derkach, a Ukrainian legislator who played a prominent role in Russia's 5 election influence activities. Derkach has ties to Russian officials as well as Russia's 6 intelligence services." You see where it says that?
7 A Yes.
8 Q So the intelligence community assessment concludes that Derkach was 9 acting at the direction of Vladimir Putin, correct?
10 A Lower, it clarifies that the intelligence community will assess that he would 11 not act without receiving at least tacit approval.
12 Q Okay. And is this consistent with your understanding of how Derkach
13 operated?
14 A Within sort of the confines of this document, yes.
15 Q What do you mean within the confines of this document?
16 A An intelligence assessment is a snapshot or a window into all activity. I just 17 want to make clear I'm not speaking to any other things that I knew at the time or that 18 went into this assessment or anything like that. I agree with the language of the 19 document. I had to review it and approve it, basically. But I just don't want to speak
20 to other things.
21 Q Was the FITF concerned by Andrii Derkach's efforts to influence the 2020
22 election? Was it something that rose to the attention of the FITF?
23 A Yes. Absolutely.
24 Q And why was that?
25 A I don't know that I can --

1 [redacted] Certain elements of the topic that you just raised relate to classified
2 information the witness cannot speak to in this context beyond really the way it's 3 characterized in this ICA document.
4 [redacted] I mean, I can point to the indictment or the sanctions, and say like 5 we -- we were aware of those activities, and they constitute enough for us to open an
6 investigation into that activity. Obviously, with the end state of having an indictment,
7 we had an open investigation on that because of that underlying activity and others.
8 BY [redacted]:
9 Q Okay. So there was an open investigation into this issue writ large?
10 A Yes.
11 Q Turning back to the section -- I'm sorry; the key judgment two, to the very 12 last line of key judgment two, reads, "A key element of Moscow's strategy this election
13 cycle was its use of proxies linked to Russian intelligence to push influence narratives,
14 including misleading or unsubstantiated allegations against President Biden, to U.S. media
15 organizations, U.S. officials, and prominent U.S. individuals, including some close to 16 former President Trump and his administration."
17 What's your understanding of what the term "proxies" means here?
18 A In this case, it sort of speaks to the covert side of influence operations in that 19 you use an individual, witting or unwitting, to do your actions by proxy.
20 Q Okay. Would Andrii Derkach qualify as a proxy?
21 A I'm not trying to be difficult, but I'm -- if he's characterized that way in the 22 ICA or the indictment, then I agree be that. I just don't want to speak to things outside
23 of those two sort of documents -- well, I suppose the sanctions, the indictment, and the 24 ICA, information outside it -- if he's characterized as a proxy in those, I agree. I just don't 25 want to use terms of art that may or may not be true.

1 Q But it's true that Andrii Derkach was pushing influence narratives, correct?
2 A Correct.
3 Q Okay. And this sentence says that, "proxies linked to Russian intelligence,"
4 Mr. Derkach was linked to Russian intelligence, correct?
5 A Correct.
6 Q It says, "to push influence narratives." You talked through that.
7 "To U.S. media organizations, U.S. officials, and prominent U.S. individuals,
8 including some close to former President Trump and his administration?"
9 To your knowledge, was Rudy Giuliani an individual close to former President
10 Trump and his administration?
11 A It kind of speaks to, again, of what's in the documents I can speak to. And 12 the fact that he's not mentioned in any of these that I recall. A reasonable person would 13 say that he was close to President Trump being, you know, his personal attorney at some 14 period of time. But I'm not sure that he's mentioned by name, so I can't really connect 15 the two.
16 Q Okay. Understood. All right. I'm going to move on from those 17 questions. And I actually want to return to the no comment discussion that we had 18 earlier because I had a couple questions that I didn't ask you in that go around.
19 There's been an allegation made that, when the FBI said "no comment," that the 20 social media companies began to do precisely what the FBI intended, was to suppress 21 truthful First Amendment protected speech less than 3 weeks before the Presidential
22 election.
23 When the FBI said "no comment" in response to questions, was the goal of saying
24 that to suppress truthful First Amendment protected speech?
25 [redacted] Can I characterize discussions about this?

1 [redacted] Yeah.

2 [redacted] That sort of activity would be our nightmare of having some sort of

3 chilling effect on First Amendment activity, which is why I felt so driven to provide more

4 information so that that would hopefully not happen, that we were not somehow at fault

5 for some activity like that?

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q Okay. The allegation has been made that the New York Post story was not

8 Russian disinformation and FBI personnel at a meeting with Twitter and Facebook knew

9 at the time that it was not Russian disinformation. That's an inaccurate statement,

10 correct? You didn't know one way or another if it was disinformation?

11 A That is accurate. We did not know if there were elements of Russian 12 disinformation involved in that story, correct.

13 Q You want to do these questions? Yeah. Go for it.

14 Do you have anything to add?

15 A I don't think so no.

16 Q I will it turn over to [redacted] for some wrap-up questions.

17 BY [redacted]:

18 Q I just have a couple broad questions. In your experience, has FITF operated

19 in the same manner in both the Trump and Biden administrations?

20 A I can't speak broadly under the Biden administration. I left pretty quickly.

21 I definitely had some engagement with the Biden administration. I certainly -- I suppose

22 I can say that there wasn't sort of a wholesale change in direction, strategy, anything like

23 that. The FITF operates the same way regardless of who's administration or who's in the 24 NSC and those sort of things.

25 Q Have you ever seen or heard anyone from the White House in either

1 administration, in any administration attempt to exert political pressure that would
2 influence the work done by FITF?
3 A Not particularly to sort of the day-to-day operations of the FITF. I would
4 say, yeah, pretty typically anyone who I interacted with from either administration didn't 5 sort of try to coerce the FITF to change their behavior or anything like that. There was 6 absolutely sort of policy discussions and things like that with both administrations and 7 disagreements at times and things like that, much like with the ICA. So it's hard to say
8 there wasn't any sort of exert influence. That doesn't necessarily in my mind come to a 9 negative connotation. There was absolutely discussions about policy and strategy all the 10 time in both administrations.
11 Q I think my question was more towards political pressure. Like was there a 12 certain political ideology that was used to coerce FITF into doing something?
13 A No.
14 Q Have the decisions that you've made as an FBI employee ever been 15 influenced at any time by partisanship, ideology, or political considerations?
16 A Like me personally?
17 Q Yes.
18 A No, not at all.
19 Q Have you ever witnessed other FBI employees appearing to make 20 work-related decisions in a manner that is motivated by partisanship, ideology, or 21 political considerations?
22 A I don't like the term "political considerations." In a partisan manner? No.
23 But I think political in my mind could mean some different things, and it's kind of 24 nebulous term to me. But, generally, no, the FBI -- our authorities are applied 25 objectively at least in my experience.

1 Q As a result of this investigation, has your name and information become
2 public as a participant in the FITF for participating in these meetings?
3 A Yes, I believe so. I can think of one instance, maybe two.
4 Q As a result of that, have you or our family ever received threats?
5 A Not that I'm aware of, but I may not be aware. I'm not on social media and 6 those sort of things broadly that I may not be aware. But, yeah.
7 BY [redacted]:
8 Q Your name's been made public through these investigations. Has that had 9 any impact on you?
10 A Hard to say. It's certainly a little unsettling. I may take it a little 11 differently than some people in that I find it sort of inherent with the role. There's all 12 sorts of times where my name becomes public associated with investigations and things
13 that I've done and associates me with the FBI, that I think, whenever I'm associated with 14 the FBI, there's an inherent possibly of threat of people that wish to do law enforcement
15 harm. So it's hard for me to sort of separate the two. But, yes, it's unsettling to have 16 your name, you know, kind of publicly associated with your investigations in a negative 17 light.
18 Q Are you familiar with what doxing is?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Have you faced doxing?
21 A Somewhat. My home address and my wife's name were added sort of 22 publicly, associated with this.
23 Q Where were they added?
24 A I'm sorry. What did you say?
25 Q Where were they publicized?

1 A I think on X. I believe it was an X posting with my wife's name and address.

2 I don't think my full home address. I think it was more city, State, kind of thing.

3 [redacted] Thank you. We can go off the record.

4 [Recess.]

[3:01 p.m.]

[redacted] Back on the record, please.

BY [redacted]:

Q [redacted], we've talked a little bit about the intelligence analysts who responded the laptop was real and the first FITF meeting with Twitter?

A Yes.

Q Did anyone after the meeting tell [redacted] that he shouldn't have said that?

A I don't recall specific discussions. I think likely I probably did. Our OGC attorney probably did, but I don't recall any discussions of that nature.

Q To your knowledge, did he receive any sort of formal reprimand or anything?

A Not to my knowledge, but I might not know about that.

Q I wanted to turn back to a little bit about the three to five briefings you had mentioned that touch upon Hunter Biden and potential ongoing investigations. Your earlier testimony, this was back in like the first hour, that you couldn't recall specifically, but the first meeting -- I think your words were it almost certainly or very likely occurred before COVID had started.

Of the three to five, do you remember when the last one occurred?

A I don't remember a reason I would have stopped receiving briefings up to the time I left the FITF. So it's hard for me to say that there's not like some sort of event that would have happened that I stopped getting briefings other than when I left to go to Atlanta. It's hard to guess when that would have been.

Q The briefing that touched upon the existence of a laptop, there was some back and forth. I can't remember if it was the previous hour or earlier about that it's

1 easier to verify a single piece of information than going through the whole process of 2 verifying or authenticating a laptop.
3 To your understanding, had members of the case team verified pieces of 4 information on the laptop?
5 [redacted] I need to confer with the client for a minute.
6 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?
7 [Discussion off the record.]
8 [redacted] Back on.
9 [redacted] I think there may have been something in the question that causes
10 me some pause about briefings about the laptop. I don't recall any briefings about the 11 laptop. I got broad briefings about the case, and I'm pretty certain there was briefings
12 about the laptop in one or maybe several of those briefings. But I don't know that I ever
13 got a briefing on the laptop specifically. I mean, I don't recall that I did. Yeah. Just 14 wanted to clarify that there wasn't like one briefing that was all about the laptop.
15 BY [redacted]:
16 Q Thank you for clarifying that. In the one or more briefings where THE 17 existence of a laptop was mentioned as part of the briefing -- is that fair to say?
18 A Yes. I think that -- yes. I don't remember which one the laptop was 19 mentioned or sort of details about it. Go ahead. Sorry.
20 Q In the one or more meetings where a laptop is mentioned, whether in that 21 meeting or in subsequent meetings, was any information shared with you regarding 22 whether pieces of information on that laptop were --
23 [redacted] He wouldn't be able to get into the pieces of the laptop. He's 24 only authorized to talk about the existence of the laptop, not the authentication process.
25 [redacted] Well, he provided an answer earlier about what he knew or didn't

1 know about the laptop's authentication, but he can't answer questions about the pieces
2 of information on the laptop?
3 [redacted] He can't answer questions about information that was provided
4 to him that is part of an ongoing investigation.
5 [redacted] So he can only answer if he wasn't provided the information?
6 [redacted] His answer was cabin to whether or not he had direct knowledge of 7 the status of the authentication, which was built into some of the mischaracterizations in 8 your earlier questions. That's different than him speaking to certain specific 9 investigative steps they might have been taking at this time and whether or not those 10 were acknowledged in the briefing, which, as [redacted] indicated, we scoped as off the top.
11 We're not authorized to speak to the specific comments that may have been made in 12 these meetings.
13 [redacted] Okay.
14 BY [redacted]:
15 Q When the tech companies are asking "is the laptop real" on October 14,
16 right, the question here is the New York Post lays out allegations about the Biden family,
17 influence pedaling specifically, Hunter Biden, and claims that there are emails in support,
18 that these emails are evidence of potential corrupt acts.
19 To your understanding, when the tech companies are reaching out asking if the 20 laptop is real, were they trying to get at whether the FBI had any evidence about whether 21 the pieces of information in the article were manipulated in any way or whether those 22 were authentic?
23 A I can't speculate on what the social media companies were trying to 24 determine, and I don't know that I recall them asking if the laptop was real. I sort of, to 25 Chairman Jordan's phrasing of that's probably what they asked if the answer was it's real,

1 but I don't remember like what they asked to bring that question on specifically. So it's 2 hard for me to speculate about that.
3 Q How many internal FBI threads were you able to review from the 14 as part
4 of your preparation for this interview?
5 [redacted] I'm able to address that I reviewed all of it, right, as long as I don't go
6 into the contents of them?
7 [redacted] If you're referring to the in camera link production we provided you
8 yesterday, he did review those.
9 [redacted] Did [redacted] review other materials from the 14 that were not in that 10 production?
11 [redacted] I don't feel comfortable speaking to the specifics of what the client
12 reviewed to prepare for this interview, but if you have specific questions about 13 documents that have been produced to the committee, we would be happy to address
14 those.
15 [redacted] We've had other discussions, and we can talk after the interview, but 16 internal communications from that day, however many there are, are a top priority in 17 order to be able to supplement what witnesses we brought in, their testimony, and 18 inability to recall certain specific pieces of information.
19 BY [redacted]:
20 Q Once you reached out to -- or you said it was very likely you reached out to 21 the case team after the New York Post story broke, were you able to get in touch with the 22 case team that same day?
23 A The timeline of it is hard for me to recall like when I spoke with them.
24 Yeah. I'd be speculating if I told you like when it was.
25 Q With the understanding -- you don't have a specific recollection it occurred

1 at this day -- do you remember the order of events? Would you have heard back from 2 the case team prior to your followup communication that we talked about in the second
3 hour that the FBI was not in possession of evidence?
4 A I don't know that I could speak to the timeline of events at that time. But I
5 likely would not have passed information responsive to investigative steps to companies
6 much. Like I can't speak about it in general.
7 Q If the case team that had the laptop was in possession of the laptop, may or 8 may not have been taking steps to authenticate pieces of information on it, and may or 9 may not have been taking steps to authenticate the laptop, if they had identified any 10 pieces of information that appear to have been manipulated by a Russian actor, would 11 you have been able to still have given the followup statement you did to the social media
12 companies on the 14?
13 [redacted] I think just built into your question is the notion of his statement,
14 which he has repeatedly testified to today, was specific to hack-and-leak concerns. And 15 I think the way your question is framed is coming from a Russian-influence, 16 disinformation angle so just noting that for the witness.
17 [redacted] You've already testified that you didn't know one way or the 18 other on the disinformation; that wasn't the point of the statement, right?
19 [redacted] Yes, that is true. I was not aware one way or the other if there
20 were elements of any of this that were part of a Russian disinformation campaign. I
21 wouldn't have needed to speak to the case team to tell them that the -- it likely wasn't 22 hacked since I knew we were in possession of a hard drive or a laptop that was 23 associated. So the information I provided was sort of not contingent on investigative 24 activity at that time. So what I communicated to them, whether or not I did it after I
25 talked to the case team, I think isn't pertinent in this case.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q If you could just take one step further. So, when you say, because there
3 was possession of a laptop, you felt comfortable saying it wasn't hacked; why were you
4 comfortable being able to make that connection?

5 A Sometime prior to my followup conversation with those social media
6 companies, I was aware that it was in our possession. Therefore, I knew we didn't come 7 through it from some sort of hack operation that we obtained it as evidence of that 8 operation. We obtained it as now known how we obtained it and had a physical copy of 9 that. So that's really all I knew at that time that I was comfortable sharing that didn't 10 involve getting information from the case team that I felt communicated what we knew,
11 not what we were speculating on or what we thought might be. We knew it was not 12 hacked material, and I wanted to communicate that to the social media companies.

13 [redacted] How did you become aware that it was in the FBI's possession?

14 [redacted] As I spoke to earlier one of the sort of three to five briefings
15 that I -- somewhere in that realm -- received from the case team, I'm sure that was 16 brought up as sort of an investigative update at some point, and that's how I became 17 aware.

18 BY [redacted]:

19 Q If there were evidence of Russian disinformation on the laptop in the FBI's 20 possession, is that something you would have likely been briefed on?

21 A Yeah. I think I'd be speculating there. I don't want to speculate on what I
22 would have done had something happened. I mean, generally, headquarters doesn't 23 know everything going on investigatively in the field, especially on details like that. It's 24 possible. It's also possible that they don't tell me. It's really up to that case team.

25 Q So, after the 14th, then you make the followup statement. After that

1 followup statement, do you recall whether social media companies continued to follow
2 up with you or other members of the FITF?
3 A Yes. I do know that there was at least one occasion where one of the 4 articles -- I don't remember which exhibit it was entered -- but that article was forwarded
5 to me from one of the social media companies asking if I was aware and if that somehow
6 changes our posture.
7 Q Did you respond?
8 A I believe I did. I don't recall the contents of it, but it probably would have 9 been my standard response that we came up with of "I've told you everything I can tell
10 you on this matter," because that was, from the time I told them that we don't have 11 anything to suggest it was hacked, that was my answer to everything else from then on.
12 And then, broadly, with tech companies and social media companies, it was "no
13 comment" other than that select group that I'd spoken with previously.
14 Q Do you remember which company was the one that had reached out with 15 one of the articles that was a previous exhibit?
16 A It was Facebook.
17 Q Did your statement, as you had prepared it, touch upon at all whether an 18 ongoing criminal investigation -- let me rephrase it.
19 Did your statement, the followup statement, did it touch upon at all whether 20 there was an ongoing criminal investigation related to the laptop?
21 A No. That would have been another policy violation had I told them, "yes, 22 we have an ongoing criminal investigation."
23 Q To your understanding, did anyone else besides [redacted] reveal either
24 the existence of the laptop or the existence of an ongoing criminal investigation?
25 A Not me and not in my presence.

1 Q Understanding it wasn't you or in your presence, did you ever hear of 2 another instance where someone shared something with the social media companies?
3 A No. I hadn't heard of anyone doing it either.
4 Q How many OGC attorneys were assigned to the FITF in 2020?
5 A That was somewhat of a dynamic number. There were -- there was a time
6 there was one, and I believe we eventually try -- we had slots for three. But I don't
7 know that we ever had more than two, and that's multiple people filled those roles. So,
8 in total, there was probably three or four attorneys that at some point were assigned to 9 some element of the FITF.

1

2 [3:16 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q How many of those attorneys would attend the bilateral FITF meetings?

5 A Again, it's hard for me to talk about who was in what meetings, but I'm

6 nearly certain any OGC attorney that was assigned to the FITF attended at least a meeting

7 with social media companies. That was one of their kind of primary roles. So I feel

8 comfortable saying they probably all attended at least a meeting, if not lots of meetings.

9 Q Was [redacted] one of the attorneys in fall of 2020?

10 [redacted] We're not going to comment on non-SES names, as we've indicated

11 repeatedly throughout this interview.

12 [redacted]. Did [redacted] say no comment on the same call that [redacted]r

13 [redacted] said the laptop was real?

14 [redacted] I can't comment on non-SES employees.

15 [redacted] When we're outside of this transcribed interview, [redacted], will you talk

16 offline with us about this?

17 [redacted] I'm happy to speak with you about the accommodations process

18 whenever you'd like, so sure.

19 [redacted] What exhibit number are we on? Twelve?

20 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 12

21 was marked for identification.]

22 [redacted] Exhibit 12 is an internal Facebook communication. It was produced

23 to the committee.

24 [redacted] [redacted] Looks like it was produced from the FBI.

25 [redacted] If you turn to Bates No. 55260, there's a post, a written statement

1 from [redacted]

2 [redacted] Can I just ask you a question? The redactions released in the 3 original, do you know if they are redactions you guys did?

4 [redacted] I'm fairly confident that these redactions were made by Meta. If it's

5 not, we'll clarify on the record later.

6 [redacted] It just would be unusual if the watermark were redacted, like on

7 page 552.

8 [redacted] We'll get back to you.

9 BY [redacted]:

10 Q The second to last sentence by [redacted] says that, "Chang advised that

11 he was up to speed on the current state of the matter within the FBI and there was no

12 current evidence to suggest any foreign connection or direction of the leak."

13 First, that last half of the sentence, "there was no current evidence to suggest any 14 foreign connection or direction of the leak," is that consistent with what your follow-up

15 message was, to your recollection?

16 A It's similar in nature. I feel fairly confident that there was an element of 17 hack in the statement that I delivered. But, I mean, maybe playing a game of telephone,

18 he didn't, you know, transcribe verbatim what I said, just like I can't remember verbatim

19 what I said, but certainly similar.

20 Q Do you know how -- let me take one step back.

21 Do you recall ever briefing Elvis Chan after you had made the follow-up statement

22 about what information you were sharing with the social media companies?

23 A I don't recall looping him in on that.

24 Q To your knowledge, was anyone from the FITF looping in Mr. Chan?

25 A I wasn't. I was not aware of anyone else doing it and hadn't heard even today that anyone else had looped him in.

[redacted] Okay. And we can take those back.

Also, just confirming that exhibit 12 was redacted as -- the redactions were made by the company and that's how it was produced to us.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 13 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q Exhibit 13 is a October 15th, 2020, email chain between the FBI and Facebook.

A Okay.

Q First, do you recall this follow-up outreach from Facebook?

A I do not.

Q Whether specific to the instance that Elvis Chan's referring to in the email chain about closing the loop or just more generally, do you recall any instances after the New York Post story came out where Mr. Chan asked you for an update or briefing so that he could provide one to the social media companies?

A That typically wasn't the order of how we would do business, but I don't recall specifically. Normally -- I don't recall a time where I briefed Elvis for him to then brief the social media companies. I would possibly ask him to set up a meeting and then I would brief them, but I don't recall a time that I would do that.

Q So just at least based off the email chain, it appears that Elvis Chan had a call with [redacted]. And we don't -- you don't appear to respond on this email chain, but you're copied throughout.

Would Elvis Chan have had the authority to provide that sort of update and that sort of call without checking with you or someone else from the FITF?

1 A Sometimes in the -- he ran a Russian cyber squad at the time, and
2 concurrently with kind of all this activity, there was lots of cyber type activity. So it was
3 not unheard of that Facebook would reach out to sort of both Elvis and the FITF, making 4 sure we're all kind of looped in.
5 So I -- it's hard to say what this specifically was about. But if Elvis handled it,
6 normally that would mean it was a cyber -- cyber thing, that he has more expertise than I
7 do. I'm not really the cyber guy.
8 Q Okay. Did you work with [redacted] when he was at the FBI?
9 A I did.
10 Q In what context?
11 A Early on in my career, a Russian speaker sort of community in the FBI's fairly 12 small. Worked together a lot. I used him on a couple of my investigations when it's 13 helpful to have a Russian-speaking agent. He's a fluent Russian speaker and used him.
14 And then eventually he also helped during a trial, testifying as a witness to some of those 15 interviews, since he was conducting it mostly in sort of native Russian.
16 And then he also was one of the people who sort of pulled me onto the FITF,
17 asked me to come join the FITF. There was a time where he was acting unit chief of the 18 FITF when it was first stood up.
19 Q Had he left the FITF by the time you became acting unit chief?
20 A Yes. I don't know if it -- for the timeline, there was at least one acting after 21 him prior to a permanent one and then me. So there was a couple between us.
22 Q Who was the acting one between him and you?
23 A There was three, I think, to my best knowledge, of -- like more than a day or 24 two, but like long-term of -- or two between him and the permanent one prior to me.
25 And I'm pretty sure none of them are SES employees or previously SES employees, but I

1 can refer to their titles.

2 Q Was [redacted] on most of the FITF calls as a representative from 3 Facebook?

4 A Depending on the threat. He worked on the Russian threat intelligence

5 team. So if we had -- and he was even sort of specialized to Russian cyber type things

6 but, being that there's that relationship, that he would often be kind of the POC for

7 Facebook to find the relevant POC if he was not it just due to the fact that we were 8 familiar.

9 Q On the 14th and the days immediately following, did he share with you or 10 others in the FITF what steps Facebook was taking in the interim about the story?

11 A I don't recall anything. Typically, when we kind of say no comment,

12 there -- it would be awkward for them to then share a bunch of details about what

13 they're doing. It kind of tended to shut off that line of discussion and move on to the 14 other business. But I don't recall specifically them sharing what they were doing.

15 Q Uh-huh. To your understanding at the time, did Facebook have a 16 hack-and-leak or related policy?

17 A Yes, I was aware of some of their policies that could sort of result in them

18 taking action against certain accounts.

19 Q Do you recall if there were any discussions about that policy at any point in 20 the bilateral Facebook-FITF meetings?

21 A Like ever?

22 Q Yeah.

23 A Specifically hack-and-leak or policies in general? Probably both. That 24 makes it easier.

25 Q If you could say a bit more. We'll start first with the policies related to

1 hacked materials. What were those discussions?

2 A They were somewhat reticent to discuss their policies with us. But, I mean,

3 their policies are published for public consumption, So we were generally aware of them.

4 But occasionally it would be more of a we would pass them indicators. I can

5 think of specific times we'd pass them indicators, and they did not take action. And

6 sometimes they would tell us, We don't have a policy reason to, you know, remove or 7 take action against any of these accounts.

8 So there was some general discussion of policy all the time but not really a lot of 9 back-and-forth about the policies.

10 Q At any point during the Facebook-FITF meetings, did Facebook ever provide 11 like a briefing or a description of what their policies were?

12 A Occasionally, if they had a new policy and they published it or something like

13 that, they may discuss it briefly, say, hey, we started this new policy.

14 I'm trying to think of one specifically that they may have published, but nothing

15 comes to mind specifically. But certainly they would discuss it occasionally.

16 Q Did they ever discuss the hacked materials policy in the sense of what would 17 or would not be covered by the policy?

18 A Probably in broad strokes. I don't recall the specifics of, you know, how

19 in-depth. But they probably didn't read their policy to us, but I probably read their

20 policy. So it's hard for me to know, like, what do I know about their policies from them

21 and what do I know from what I've read online.

22 But I can recall times there was general discussions about broad categories of 23 policies that they had, that they could take action through.

24 Q Were there ever broad discuss -- when identifying different potential risks of 25 foreign threats or whatever it might be, was there any broad discussion about how social

1 media companies would react or respond to those risks under their policies at the time?
2 A I don't recall at least in-depth discussions about that. Yeah, it's hard to 3 remember a time that there was like detailed discussions about how they would react.
4 Certainly some discussion of it. I just don't recall some of the specifics.
5 Q Based off your recollection, at some point there were discussions about the 6 risk of a hack-and-dump or different terms for it and then also recollection that there
7 was, again, at least some high-level discussion of their hacked materials policy.
8 Was there any discussion of where, if those two were discussed in the -- at the 9 same time, if there was this risk, how would that apply to your hacked materials policy?
10 A I don't want to speculate. I don't recall specific discussions like that of like,
11 if this happens, then we'll do this. I don't recall much of that.
12 If there was discussion of that, it probably wasn't really intended for us either.
13 Most of our meetings tended to focus and be kind of tight. We usually had a tight 14 window and moving to other companies, and we kind of kept to what we had planned to 15 deliver.
16 And how they reacted to information we delivered to them, they would often kind 17 of caveat us the same way we'd caveat them, that they're not comfortable sharing how 18 they reacted to information we give them and that they sort of have a proprietary
19 process of how they conduct threat intelligence. And they protected that quite a bit,
20 especially when -- if it was a meeting kind of with other companies and that sort of thing.
21 Q Do you remember, for the -- for the meetings with other companies and 22 other agencies, whether any other government agency asked how a company's hacked
23 materials policy would apply if a hack-and-leak operation were to occur?
24 A I don't recall specifically, but I think it would be even less likely in that setting
25 due to the problems I addressed in that they really didn't like talking about anything

1 proprietary when other companies were in the room. So it'd probably be less likely in 2 that sort of setting.
3 But I can see how, you know, someone would ask that sort of question of them.
4 I just would not see them answering that with competitors in the room.
5 Q In the bilateral FITF meetings, do you recall any instances specifically of 6 where indicators or something that's provided to them and they said their policies -- they
7 didn't have a policy interest or their policies didn't address it, if they ever later developed
8 policies to cover those sorts of examples?
9 A Nothing that I can think of. We -- we certainly steered away from any sort
10 of collaboration on policies, both -- from both sides. So that sort of discussion seems 11 unlikely just due to the fact of both of us being reticent to, you know, collaborate in any 12 way on policies.
13 I remember them -- and I don't remember them ever developing a brand new 14 policy, more of like tweaking old policies to address how threats change. But we rarely
15 even met with their policy teams. I remember a couple of times meeting with policy 16 teams or that policy teams were present for some meetings, but typically we met with 17 the Threat Intelligence teams which are investigators on their platforms and used their 18 tools to investigate things on their platforms.
19 And so it wouldn't -- it -- it really wouldn't be that likely that the FITF would 20 engage on sort of a policy level. That was usually the higher-level meetings with other 21 government agencies in which they would not discuss their policies due to proprietary 22 reasons.
23 Q Do you recall which companies had meetings with the FITF where at some 24 point they brought on their Content Moderation Policy team members?
25 A Yeah, I think I had the same question of like, how do you characterize

1 content moderation? I don't know that there's a technology company that doesn't have
2 some form of content moder- -- I just don't know how to, like --
3 Q I'm just trying to make the --
4 A -- scope that question.
5 Q -- the distinction you made between kind of the investigators --
6 A Yeah.
7 Q -- who are investigating threat actors. And you said you recall a few 8 examples where -- I think you referred to them as policy folks.
9 A Yeah.
10 Q So let me take one step back. When you're referring to that other category
11 of tech employees, what was your understanding of what their role was in the company?
12 A The policy people or the --
13 Q The policy people.
14 A My understanding of policy people in the company's role, just kind of by 15 following their policies and reading their policies that they publish online, is they sort of 16 take the tactical information from the investigators in their -- in their company and use
17 that to scope their own -- scope and edit their own policies so that they have the tools
18 they need to apply to maintain the integrity of their platforms.
19 Q And so that'd be policies related to, like, inauthentic behavior?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Do you remember any of the specific individuals who worked on companies'
22 policies who attended a FITF meeting?
23 A Yes. I don't know. Like --
24 [redacted] I think you're fine --
25 [redacted] Can I --

1 [redacted] -- to say the --

2 [redacted] -- name names?

3 [redacted] -- names of the employees.

4 [redacted] Okay. One in particular I'm thinking is [redacted] at

5 Facebook. I think he had policy in his title. So I can say confidently that he had

6 something to do with Facebook policy.

7 Some people we dealt with, it was almost like elevated to that role, because a lot

8 of times Policy would kind of sit above Threat Intelligence. So sometimes as they 9 promoted, they'd start to get into more of a policy role.

10 But other than [redacted], I'm not -- and I don't remember his title exactly

11 but it was something like, you know, executive for Policy or something like that, and 12 that's why that one stands out.

13 But there's a couple of -- and all of the companies are different, which makes it

14 challenging to sort of identify who was where, and they all kind of have nebulous titles.

15 BY [redacted]:

16 Q That's fair. We've talked a few times in a few rounds about the hack that 17 occurred in 2016, like the DNC.

18 During your time in the FITF, do you recall any sense of when the companies or if 19 the companies began to develop policies specific to handling hacked materials?

20 A From my best recollection, they had hacked policies before I started

21 engaging with them and probably before the 2016 DNC hack. I think to them that was 22 one of their probably more developed policies.

23 Q Do you recall any examples in the lead-up to the 2020 election where there

24 was discussion of how their policies would apply if there was a similar type of hack?

25 A Not -- not specifically. Again, we didn't really engage much on policy.

1 There was definitely some discussions of it, but it wasn't something that we wanted to
2 draw out of them, and they didn't want to tell us. So it wasn't something that naturally
3 would come up frequently.
4 Q We had talked in the first round, I think it was, about -- when describing 5 previous examples of hack-and-leak, of how that information was disseminated and 6 whether it was WikiLeaks or other means. When sharing that information, was there
7 ever any discussion about how that information could circulate on social media?
8 A You mean like when things get leaked or dumped --
9 Q Yeah.
10 A -- discussion of how that would move through social media, like, across 11 platform, or what are we --
12 Q Just any reference to it.
13 A Certainly some, but always rooted in tactical things that we had witnessed 14 and had some way to share that.
15 Specifically, I'm thinking of the indictment about the 2016 hack. That was 16 always -- whenever there was something indicted, that makes it easier for us to share
17 that information of like how that occurred, because it's then either unclassified or it's no
18 longer an ongoing investigation.
19 So I'm certain that we had some discussion of sort of how the 2016 hack went,
20 how other possible hacks went, and how that. -- as I said, there was -- there's units that 21 their whole job, they had different parts of that. And we tried to share the tactical 22 information about how that second half of the unit kind of proliferated that information
23 through here's their static IP address, here's their VPN provider, those sort of things.
24 And we considered that as sort of an indicator of compromise that was valuable to 25 companies so that we don't know how it flows, necessarily, from which -- where it starts

1 on the internet and how it goes through different social media companies. But
2 providing that allows them sort of a -- I don't know what else to call it, but sort of like a
3 first warning of like, hey, if we see this on our platform, we know that's this unit or this
4 entity that FBI told us, you know, shared information and we know to be on the lookout
5 for that and continue to monitor our platform.
6 So kind of a long-winded answer of -- kind of.
7 Q Was there anyone on the FITF that had -- let me rephrase that.
8 Who on the FITF had the best expertise when it came to understanding the 9 hack-and-dump operations?
10 A The FITF had a number of people, both special agents and intelligence
11 analysts, that were assigned to the Cyber Division and, you know, placed on the FITF or 12 under the FITF's purview but still assigned to the Cyber Division. So we leaned on them
13 broadly, but we often also engaged with Cyber Division so that field agents that worked it 14 were -- they would help us when we need it, bail us out.
15 Q Was there -- when talking about the risk of hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump, 16 was there a discussion of timing of, like, when it was likely if such an operation would 17 occur?
18 A I don't call -- recall specifically. But sort of to what I mentioned earlier, we 19 often rooted things in things that happened in the past or things that we've spoken
20 through our judicial process and having indictments. So I can think of times where it's 21 happened in the past that we would probably refer to that timing as being, you know,
22 they use this timing before. That's likely when we kind of feel that they've done it in the 23 past. That's our best example of when we think they'll do it in the future, unless we had 24 direct intelligence otherwise.
25 Q And can you provide an example of what sorts of timing had been seen in

1 the past?

2 A Not off the top of my head. A lot of the cyber stuff, the hack-and-leaks is

3 just not kind of in my expertise. And just off the top of my head, I can't really speak to

4 that.

5 Q Do you recall any instances where there's discussion of the risk of an

6 October surprise or a hack-and-leak, hack-and-dump occurring shortly before the

7 election?

8 [redacted] Let me consult with the witness for a minute.

9 [Discussion off the record.]

10 [redacted] Can you restate the question? Sorry.

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q Sure. Were there bilateral FITF meetings in 2020 that talked about the risk

13 of an October surprise or the timing of a hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump operation

14 shortly before an election?

15 A I think generally this topic or this type of topic speaks a little bit to what I've

16 referred to previously as we had some discussions like this, but typically FITF would not

17 sort of start or engage in discussions like that because we were always kind of rooting it

18 to the actors rather than -- you know, there was often questions like this. But we

19 typically tried to keep it to technical information about the actor when we would share

20 information with them rather than kind of like that type of detail.

21 I also mentioned earlier but worth re-noting in this context of we were not

22 hyper-election focused, except for around the elections, obviously. There was all sorts

23 of operations that we were constantly trying to mitigate that weren't so focused on the 24 election. I mean, the election was clearly a big event for us and an important thing for

25 us to keep an eye on, but we quickly found that foreign malign influence is not solely about elections. It's every day, all the time.

Q So with the understanding that there are operations ongoing to all the time and the FITF is there whether it's an election cycle or not, do you recall any discussions in 2020 about the timing or the risk of hack-and-leak or hack-and-dump operations shortly before the election?

A I don't recall, like, an incident specifically. But I wouldn't doubt that a topic like that was discussed at some point.

It's just we really tried not to get into that type of thing because we felt like that could be -- that could limit someone's capability to fully appreciate the threat if you tell them like, look for October, it's going to happen in October, because it happened in the past, when we felt strongly that things happen all the time. Here's who the actors are and the infrastructure they're using. Go after that.

And sort of to the same point earlier of being more efficient to go after the entire network, rather than a single node or a single element of something, just try to mitigate the actor from the front side and it's much more efficient.

[redacted] This is going to be -- this will be exhibit 14.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 14

was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q This is an excerpt of an internal communication from Meta that was produced to the committee. I'm only going to ask about one passage, but we'll give you time to review.

A Okay.

Q First, of the names that are making the post on this, do you recognize any of those names?

1 A I recognize Nick Clegg. I'm not sure that I ever met him. And I don't
2 recognize any other names and have not met anyone else on here, that I'm aware of. I
3 may have met someone and just I didn't know their name. I've probably met 50 people
4 at Facebook, ballpark.
5 Q Okay.
6 A So -- but none of these people were people that I normally communicated
7 with.
8 Q With the understanding you don't recall regularly communicating with them,
9 had you ever met [redacted] or does that name stand out to you?
10 A Not at all.
11 Q If I could call your attention to his post, it's about halfway down the page.
12 Date stamp is 10/14/2020. Timestamp's 12:45:15 PDT.
13 He shares a message, and there's two paragraphs. The start of the first -- or 14 about midway through the first paragraph, he says, "additional context from [redacted] from 15 the FBI meeting."
16 Were there any individuals from Facebook that would attend the FITF meetings
17 that you can recall that had the name [redacted]?
18 A Not off the top of my head, I don't recall a [redacted].
19 Q The second paragraph starts, "Officially, FBI said," quote, 'The FBI has no
20 information indicating foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination of the Hunter 21 laptop issue.'"
22 To your recollection, is that statement the statement that you had provided or 23 close to the statement you had provided in the follow-up meetings with the tech
24 companies?
25 A It doesn't appear to be the same. I think there's a couple of things that are

1 what I would characterize as big differences, but I'm not sure if -- you know, I don't know
2 any of these people. So there may have been the same kind of game of telephone, and 3 it changes a little time each person tells it to the next person. But I have no way of 4 knowing if this was from me or from someone else. I'm not sure.
5 Q To your recollection, what are some of the material differences between 6 what's in this statement and what you recall telling the tech companies?
7 A I don't recall talking about foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination.
8 That seems fairly specific in that it's not just kind of a change of a word or something like 9 that that doesn't wholly change the meaning.
10 I may be sensitive due to how deliberately I feel like I chose the language, but this
11 seems different than what I said in that, at least that portion of it.
12 Q Did your statement reference the laptop?
13 A I'm pretty sure, yes, it did.
14 Q Did your statement reference Hunter, Hunter Biden, or the owner of the 15 laptop?
16 A Likely or at least it was implied. Like, they knew the laptop I was speaking
17 of, but yes.
18 Q Again, with the recognition you're going off your memory here, based off of 19 what you recall your statement saying, are there commitments made in this statement
20 that you don't think you would have been able to make on October 14th?
21 [redacted] Can you rephrase that?
22 [redacted] Sure. So the statement here -- I'll just rephrase it overall.
23 Based on your understanding at the time, would the FBI have been able to make 24 this statement as it's written in this message?
25 [redacted] Can we confer for a second?

1 [redacted] Off the record.

2 [redacted] Can we go off the record?

3 [Discussion off the record.]

4 [redacted] Can we go back on the record?

5 [redacted] Yes.

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q The statement as it's presented here in this message, based off your

8 knowledge at the time on October 14, 2020, could the FBI have made that sort of 9 commitment to a social media company accurately?

10 A I think the best way to address this is I did not say that. I don't know who

11 any of these peoples -- people are. I did not know at the time this information. I didn't 12 know one way or another if it was foreign misinformation related in any way.

13 At that point -- I don't remember what the date of this -- oh, it's concurrent pretty

14 much. I was not -- I didn't say that and I was not aware of that.

15 Q Who would have -- at the FBI had known this? Or let me rephrase it.

16 Who at the FBI on October 14, 2020, would have been able to make this sort of

17 statement?

18 A I did not say that, and I'm not aware of anyone saying -- I'm not aware of any

19 other conversations, outside of what we already discussed, about which social media

20 companies, other than the statement I made. So it's hard for me to speculate, like, who

21 could have said this or who would have said this. I only know about what I said.

22 Q Which task force or division within the FBI would have been capable of 23 assessing whether the information indicated foreign sponsorship, direction, or 24 coordination?

25 A I mean, to redirect that a little bit, the FITF would have been capable of sort

1 of assessing something like this. But at that time, I'm not aware of us assessing this.
2 Q Other than the FITF, who else in the FBI?
3 A It's hard for me to say. Yeah, I don't know who else would have or would 4 have felt that they could have. Not sure.
5 Q Would the case agents on the criminal investigation been able to comment
6 on that part of it?
7 A Do you mean --
8 Q Sorry.
9 A -- by policy or, like, capable?
10 Q Would -- just capable. Would the case agents on the ongoing investigation
11 have been able to assess by October 14th, 2020, whether the information indicated
12 foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination?
13 A I don't know. And to even go into that, I think it would address sort of 14 ongoing investigation matters.
15 Q Would [redacted] have been able to assess by October 14, 2020,
16 whether the information indicated foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination?
17 A I can't speak on his behalf. I don't know all the things he knew at that time.
18 Q If you were asked by someone within the FBI in fall of 2020 to assess 19 whether information indicated foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination, who on 20 the FITF would you have been able to task?
21 A It's kind of speculative. I think I could have tasked anyone to attempt to 22 assess, and they probably would have pulled in a much broader team to assist with that.
23 I don't know that any one person would have been involved in something like that, if that 24 addresses that.
25 Q What sorts of skill sets would have been needed to make that type of assessment?

[redacted] I think we're getting into the law enforcement sources, methods, techniques, privilege issues we flagged earlier.

[redacted] Can you comment at a high enough level whether you would have needed cyber or intelligence analysts or --

[redacted] I --

[redacted] I think we need to confer.

[redacted] Off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] All right. Can we go back on the record, please?

BY [redacted]:

Q I'm happy to ask the question again.

A Yes, please.

Q Okay. There's a statement here about whether the FBI's known for making -- the FBI has no information indicating foreign sponsorship, direction, coordination.

What sorts of skill sets or personnel from the FITF would you need in order to be able to assess whether information indicated foreign sponsorship, direction, or coordination?

A I think it's very hard to get into specifics with sort of a broad statement like that. Almost everyone on the FITF had some sort of skill sets that could potentially do this. But without more details, it's hard to speculate on that specifically.

And what I would -- sort of what I would need to decide this, it's -- I mean, the answer's the FITF and all the things we do. But it's hard to speculate further than that.

Q Do you recall on the 14th, whether it was the Twitter-FITF meeting or

1 Facebook-FITF meeting or one of the others, if there were any non-FITF personnel that
2 were on those calls, non-FITF FBI personnel?
3 A I don't -- we frequently had non-FITF FBI personnel. It's reasonable to 4 believe at a minimum Elvis Chan, maybe some people from his squad, depending on if we
5 were talking about Russian cyber threat actors. And then additionally, there's -- there's 6 a whole host of other people in the field that we may have brought in. And I don't 7 remember that one specifically, like, what was on the agenda and who attended. But 8 there may have been non-FITF FBI personnel on the call.
9 Q The end of the post we've been looking at says -- there's three dots and it
10 says, "on the side in the same call, however, they did confirm that the FBI has the laptop 11 and it's being reviewed," quote, 'as part of a criminal matter,' close quote, but didn't give 12 us details."
13 Do you know who from the FBI may have shared with Facebook that the laptop
14 was part of a criminal matter?
15 A No, this is the first time I'm hearing this.
16 Q How many people within the FBI knew that the laptop was part of a criminal
17 matter on October 14th, 2020?
18 A I don't know that I could even ballpark that, like, how many and who.
19 Q Okay. How many people on FITF knew that the laptop was part of a 20 criminal matter?
21 A Also difficult to guess. I don't know specifically who knew what. Some of 22 the information inherently being sort of prohibited and restricted, I don't know who knew
23 which parts of what. So it's hard to speculate like how many and who specifically knew.
24 Q For someone like [redacted] who was able to sum up the laptop was 25 real, to your understanding, would he know that was part of a criminal matter?

1 A I'm not sure what he knew, but [redacted] was an intelligence analyst
2 assigned to the Criminal Investigative Division.
3 Can I address that?
4 Q In any of the follow-up conversations you had with the social media
5 companies, did they ever indicate to you that they, the companies, understood that the 6 laptop was connected to a criminal matter?
7 A Not that I recall. I don't -- there wasn't a whole lot of engagement. Once
8 we start saying no comment, they usually kind of drift off, then move back into other 9 items.
10 Q There's reference to a conversation on the side during the same call. This 11 is on the 14th.
12 To your understanding, were there ever instances outside of this example of 13 where there's kind of the main FITF call that's ongoing and that members of the FBI are 14 having a different set of side communications between the FBI and the company?
15 A Like during the call or a post-call, before --
16 Q We'll start with just during the call, if you're aware of instances where 17 someone from the FBI is communicating to someone on -- from the companies during the 18 same call but on the side.
19 A I'm not aware of in that situation, no.
20 Q As it relates specifically to the 14th, whether it's the Twitter-FITF call, the 21 Facebook-FITF call, any other FITF calls after the New York Post story comes out that day 22 or around that day, were you aware of any side conversations between members of the 23 FBI and members of the social media companies?
24 A That's kind of broad. I don't know that I'm aware of, like, specific 25 conversations. But in the normal course of business, that was very normal for other

1 people to contact social media companies and follow up on certain things, especially 2 when we would bring a case team in and sort of make the introductions and then they 3 continue to have discussions following up on whatever threat stream they were working 4 on.
5 Q At what point in the hierarchy would someone have the authority to disclose
6 that the laptop was part of a criminal matter?
7 A I don't know that anyone in the FBI hierarchy would be able to disclose that.
8 Q The statement here, the first part where it says, "confirm that the FBI has 9 the laptop," to your understanding, was there anyone else besides [redacted] who 10 had shared directly, confirming that the FBI had a laptop or hard drive attributed to 11 Hunter Biden?
12 A No.
13 BY [redacted]:
14 Q Post-2020, have you had any briefings with the Hunter Biden case team?
15 A We sort of addressed what I know on this previously in that I don't recall,
16 like, when it stopped. But I left the FITF in June of '21.
17 Q Uh-huh.
18 A And that seems like it definitely stopped after I left. I'm not sure prior to 19 that if there was any reason it would have stopped.
20 Q Okay.
21 A Yeah, it's hard to know other than that. Definitely stopped in June '21.
22 [redacted] Okay.
23 [redacted] We're just going to ask one more, and then we'll break.
24 In the fallout right after the New York Post story comes out and there's some 25 statements made from [redacted] and others, do you recall any follow-up conversations internally in the FBI where folks on the FITF were discussing how they were kept in the dark about the laptop or the ongoing criminal investigation?

[redacted] Not with me. Normal course of FBI business, everyone knows. Like, compartmentalization's important, and I don't think anyone has issues with that typically. Everyone understands that as part of the job.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[redacted] Sorry. I just have one thing for the record.

Because there were several non-SES names invoked in this round, the FBI would appreciate the opportunity to scrub the transcript for potentially suggesting redactions of non-SES names prior to the committee's potential public dissemination of any transcripts.

[redacted] We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

[redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

BY [redacted]:

Q Are you familiar with the defensive briefing that Senators Grassley and Johnson received in August of 2020?

A I am.

Q Were you familiar at the time about the defensive briefing?

A I was.

Q Did you have any conversations with Ms. Flores about the briefing?

A Yes.

Q When did you first become aware about the briefing?

A I mean, are you looking for, like, a date or -- it'd be hard for me to pin down. This was --

Q I'll rephrase it.

1 A Okay.

2 Q Were you aware before the briefing was delivered that a briefing was being

3 prepared --

4 A Yes.

5 Q -- to be given?

6 Who in the FBI did you have conversations with about the briefing?

7 A So we have an internal process. I believe you're aware of the IC's broader

8 notification framework. The FBI has an internal process that we sort of built up in

9 response to this, as well as having protocols and procedures surrounding this type of 10 activity, specifically about defensive briefings and using them as sort of a mitigative step

11 against foreign adversaries.

12 So it was created as sort of a board of both people who had direct knowledge of 13 specific intelligence, much like the notification framework, and people that had no

14 specific knowledge of the intelligence to then review the intelligence and use that as -- I

15 guess a discussion is probably the best way or a board to decide if there are mitigative

16 measures that we can take, one of which would be a defensive briefing, as a potential

17 way to mitigate something that we were aware of.

18 And I believe the first time I was aware that a briefing was on the table was sort of

19 that process internally that we were considering possible mitigative measures

20 surrounding a threat intelligence stream.

21 Q When you say "we," is that at the level of it's still an internal FBI discussion

22 or is that part of the broader?

23 A I apologize. Yeah, when I say "we" in that context, I'm talking about the 24 FITF. This process was an internal FITF process stopping at the unit chief level.

25 Typically, all unit chiefs were involved when it rose to this level. And then, like I said, subject matter experts and nonsubject matter experts among the units would kind of fill out the rest of the board. But it was at a unit chief level to provide recommendations to management.

Some of those recommendations could be that this needs to be entered into the notification framework, that then it would go sort of broader IC. Or if it was something that was derived from FBI information and we felt comfortable using our own internal procedures and policies, didn't implicate sort of intelligence from another agency or something like that, that we could act on that individually as the FBI.

Q So I want to make sure I understand your testimony correctly. As it relates to members of the FITF in this internal FBI process, would this process be triggered, used, for lack of a better word, only when the FBI is the nominating agency or is it after?

Why don't you confer?

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] Okay. Yeah. I think it might be helpful to delineate the notification framework from the FBI's internal process or the FITF's internal process.

BY [redacted]:

Q Uh-huh.

A The FITF's internal process was not election focused. It was intelligence focused. So there were times that it wouldn't implicate the notification framework, which was very election focused. And our internal process was very much geared towards all elected officials and candidates across all sorts of elections, not just Presidential, governors, State representatives. I believe the -- there's language surrounding it, but I think it was federally elected officials or candidates for federally elected positions and then, additionally, people that may have, you know, sort of -- that would effect those type of elected officials or candidates for a federally elected position.

1 So a lot of that was really not in the realm of the intelligence community. So
2 there was several ways that we would use that internally because it wasn't pertinent to 3 the intelligence community broader. So it was sort of -- and we started this prior to the 4 notification framework in order to have a protocol and procedure to objectively consider
5 intelligence and decide on the mitigative measures.
6 Q Okay. In this con- -- as it relates specifically to the August 2020 defensive
7 briefing, what is your understanding of what the process was? Had it originated with 8 the internal FBI protocol or was this from the notification framework?
9 A I think -- I think it's fine to say that the internal FBI process occurred, I'm 10 pretty sure, prior to -- yeah, I'm pretty confident it -- the internal FBI or FITF process
11 happened before the notification framework. There may have been some overlap is 12 why I hesitate. They weren't sort of snapshots in time. Some of them were 13 deliberative processes that take days, sometimes weeks and months.
14 So I just don't want to say that it definitely all happened all before the notification
15 framework, but I'm pretty sure our process began before the notification framework
16 process began.
17 Q To your recollection, when did the FBI process begin?
18 A I -- I don't recall, but also, I don't know that I could speak to those details on 19 the intelligence basis, like when the intelligence was collected, I guess, would be the best 20 way to --
21 Q Had the intelligence been collected by the FBI?
22 A I don't know that I can speak to that.
23 Okay. Okay. I believe that intelligence was OGA derived, not FBI derived.
24 Sorry. Other governmental agency which sort of is someone other than us.
25 Q So the FBI internal process could be used for intelligence gathered by the FBI

1 or agencies other than the FBI.

2 A Correct, because we had sort of a broader purview sort of in the Venn

3 diagram of when they would trigger. Sometimes there's overlap. Sometimes there's

4 not. But we felt strongly that we need to have our own internal process because there's

5 lots of times that ours would trigger that it wouldn't trigger the broader one.

6 Q When the FBI internal process starts with this piece of intelligence, do you

7 recall at the time whether it was expected that it would trigger the notification

8 framework, be entered into the notification framework?

9 A I mean, looking at it now, not remembering exactly how I, you know, was

10 thinking at the time, I think it was likely to presume that it was the type of information

11 that would trigger the notification framework.

12 Q What was the conclusion or recommendation at the end of the FBI process

13 as it related to this intelligence?

14 A I like the second characterization, if I haven't addressed. Our process was 15 recommendations. We, you know -- the board sort of presented recommendations to 16 executive management of sort of a menu of options that we thought were within the 17 scope of what we would normally do.

18 What was the second half of that question? I'm sorry.

1

2 [4:25 p.m.]

3 [redacted] Just what was the recommendation in this case?

4 [redacted] Oh, I believe in this case our internal recommendation was that

5 defensive briefings would be possibly helpful. I think we recommended that defensive

6 briefings were potentially a good way to help mitigate the threat.

7 [redacted] Were there any other steps or solutions or options presented as part

8 of the recommendation?

9 [redacted] Your question implicates certain law enforcement sensitivities and 10 deliberative process concerns.

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q Okay. Who was on the -- when you say it's presented to the executive 13 management, who was on that, at the time?

14 A At the time, I'm pretty sure the language is specifically the section chief of 15 the FITF is sort of the arbiter of our recommendations.

16 I'm not sure who he consulted with or if there was further discussions beyond

17 that. But I'm pretty sure specifically he was named as sort of the approving official of 18 our recommendations, which at the time was Brad Benavides.

19 Q Just so I understand your testimony correctly, Mr. Benavides approves the 20 recommendation to be made to the executive management or as he is the one receiving

21 the recommendation?

22 A He's the one receiving the recommendation and ultimately would sort of be

23 the approver of whether our course of action was approved or not, whether he 24 thought -- he concurred with the recommendations of the board.

25 Q Okay. Who was on the board?

A Are we talking that one specifically --

Q Yes.

A -- or by role generally?

Q That one specifically.

[redacted] Is that getting into deliberative --

[redacted] Can I confer with him for a second?

[redacted] Sure. Can we go off the record?

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] Back on the record, please.

[redacted] What was your question, so I can be sure to address it properly?

BY [redacted]:

Q Yeah. And I might just be misunderstanding what you're trying to describe.

A It's complicated.

Q When you're referring to the board, when we're talking about the FBI internal process, who were you referring to? Does it change?

A It does, but I sort of address -- there's a couple of core -- I think, by role, we tried to have all three unit chiefs and then usually all three supervisory intelligence analysts, and then the other ones usually rotated, mostly dependent on availability.

Q And do you recall who was on it as it relates to the intelligence that ultimately led to the defensive briefing to the Senators?

A I do not, and I would probably have to say by role anyway. I don't recall anyone being on it that is currently or was then an SES employee.

Q To the extent you recall roles, as it relates specifically to the defensive briefing for the Senators, which roles were involved -- in addition to yourself, right?

A Yeah. That sort of specific core, if those people were available, they were

1 likely on it. I don't recall the actual board, yeah, beyond what I think is typical. I don't
2 know that I can say exactly who was available that day or who was present.
3 Q Does the board have to be unanimous?
4 A I don't recall details about that. I believe we -- the way I recall, and I may 5 be not correct on this, but I remember voting, and I believe the vote was part of the 6 recommendations. So it didn't -- as none of it was sort of binding, it was all sort of 7 recommendations.
8 I believe we voted and the section chief was aware of who voted how. I don't 9 remember thinking, like, oh, it needs to be unanimous or majority or anything like that.
10 I believe it was just part of the recommendations that were presented to executive
11 management.
12 Q Do you recall, as it relates to this specific recommendation, how many votes
13 there were? Is it voted on the whole final recommendation, or if there's -- you 14 mentioned sometimes there can be a suite of options. Would you vote on each option?
15 [redacted] I don't know that we discussed how I would answer this, but I feel
16 like it's kind of deliberative process, like how we determine how we do what. I think 17 it's -- could be classified and could be deliberative.
18 [redacted] Yeah, we don't want to risk the classified piece. If you have more
19 questions.
20 [redacted] Sure.
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q The vote, as it relates specifically to whether a defensive briefing could be 23 helpful, was that vote unanimous?
24 A I don't recall.
25 Q Do you recall which way you voted?

1 A I don't recall how I voted. I have no reason to believe that I wouldn't have
2 voted that a defensive briefing was appropriate in this situation, but I don't recall if that's 3 how I voted.
4 Q As relates to this example, how long does this process take from the time
5 that the board is convened, for lack of a better word, to when you're able to make a 6 vote?
7 A You're talking about, like, people sitting in chairs and discussing and voting
8 until we have the recommendations?
9 Q Yeah, just if -- yeah.
10 A Depending on how long it takes to sort of document it and send that up, the 11 entire process is -- I mean, I can think of some that were a bit longer, but I would say a 12 single decision was 20 to 30 minutes on average. I'm kind of ballparking there.
13 We would often do several decisions in one board so that we didn't have to 14 convene each time there was something. So some of the meetings were hours long,
15 deciding several different types of decisions.
16 Q Do you recall how long this decision was, related to the defensive briefing?
17 A I do not.
18 Q So the recommendation goes to Mr. Benavides. What are the steps from 19 there once he's in receipt of the recommendation?
20 A A lot of that is dependent on the recommendations, what he accepts, what 21 he sort of decides ultimately. But to my recollection, this particular instance resulted in 22 sending it to the Notification Framework and to the broader IC.
23 I don't remember specifically, like, what were the decision points for that, but 24 that's sort of what I recall was the next step.
25 Q To your understanding, how long was the gap between when Mr. Benavides

1 received the recommendation to when it was entered into the Notification Framework?

2 A I don't recall specifically, but I believe the Notification Framework had time

3 deadlines at certain stages, and that may have been one of them, of, like, as an agency, if

4 you identify something, you need to sort of trigger the Notification Framework in a

5 certain amount of time.

6 I may not be right on that. That particular phase is timed. But I don't recall

7 specifically in this instance how quickly he then triggered the Notification Framework.

8 Q Was the FBI the nominating agency then for the Notification Framework?

9 A We actually may not have been in this one. I don't recall. Once it goes

10 into the Notification Framework, I had less involvement. So that's harder for me to give 11 good details. I don't remember.

12 Q To your understanding, once, like in this particular case, once Mr. Benavides

13 enters this information into the Notification Framework, what are the next options or 14 steps available?

15 [redacted] Sorry. Could you ask that again?

16 [redacted] Sure.

17 So once this information -- it goes up, the recommendation, to Mr. Benavides. If

18 he accepts the recommendation, he can then trigger, for lack of a better word, the 19 process for other members of the IC to consider the recommendation.

20 I don't want to put words in your mouth. To your understanding, what does the 21 next process look like? And then what steps are available in the interagency process?

22 [redacted] It's kind of deliberative, but I think I can address some --

23 [redacted] I would also just flag, in the interest of time, I think this is outside

24 the scope of our understanding of today's interview. So we appreciate your interest,

25 and we can maybe follow up with you, but I think we're veering outside the scope.

1 [redacted] We've had conversations about the defensive briefing investigation,
2 and if there's information the witness has available, I think he probably has a preference
3 of just -- and I think we're getting close to his -- the end of his role in it -- to provide what 4 information he has and not potentially require having to ask more questions later.
5 [redacted] Sorry. Go ahead.
6 [redacted] I would just note on the record we've authorized Ms. Flores and 7 Mr. Benavides to speak to this process specifically.
8 Our understanding of the scope of today's interview, related to [redacted]'s role as 9 the unit chief of FITF Russia, specifically his engagements with certain external partners,
10 like social media companies.
11 So this is attenuated. And just in the interest of time, I wanted to flag that on 12 the record.
13 [redacted] To your understanding, what are the next steps that you're able to 14 speak to?
15 [Witness confers.]
16 [redacted] Sort of the first step is, it goes to, I think they call it the Credibility
17 Assessment Group, which is sort of the most relevant analysts from certain agencies, to 18 engage with the intelligence and, as the name is called Credibility Assessment Group, 19 assess how credible it is in their sort of realm of all the things they have access to.
20 And I'm pretty sure this is when things start getting timed pretty tightly.
21 Agencies have a certain amount of time to produce certain things.
22 But generally the outcome is the Credibility Assessment Group assesses the 23 credibility and makes a recommendation to the Experts Group, which I kind of fell in 24 between the two. I wasn't in the Credibility Assessment Group, and I wasn't in the 25 Experts Group.

1 So I had people underneath me that were in the Credibility Assessment Group and 2 people above me in the Experts Group. So it's hard for me to know what happened in 3 those groups, but I kind of know how it flows through those groups.
4 BY [redacted]:
5 Q Who below you was in the CAG?
6 A At least in sort of the Russia side of it, it was a supervisory intelligence
7 analyst assigned to the FITF.
8 Q And who was above you in the Experts Group?
9 A I believe that's, by role, Brad Benavides, but I'm not sure if it was him or 10 Nikki. We don't have exact equivalents with some of the other agencies, so sometimes 11 it's unclear at which sort of rank that was. I'm not sure if they were interchangeable or 12 if it was Nikki and sometimes Brad filled in. But I think one of those two.
13 Q Did you have awareness of what the CAG was discussing or what the Experts
14 Group was discussing as it related to the Senators' defensive briefing?
15 A Sometimes both. In this case, I was aware of the CAG and what they were 16 doing. I recall being involved with the Experts Group at least once I can think of. It 17 wasn't sort of a confined, single -- yeah, it wasn't confined to, like, one meeting and it was 18 done. It was a long process of trying to determine across agencies.
19 And I recall being involved in at least some stages of that, but not in sort of a 20 speaking role, more of just observing.
21 Q You said earlier you didn't think the FBI was the nominating agency. To 22 your understanding, who was the nominating agency?
23 A I don't recall. I wouldn't have been involved in the discussion of who.
24 There may have been multiple, and I don't know who was first and that sort of thing.
25 Q If there were multiple, are there any you are aware of that were in this case?

A Probably whoever owned the intelligence, and I don't recall which agency owned the intelligence or who collected the intelligence. And I know we tried, but outside of that, I don't know.

Q For the board, going back to the internal FBI process, you mentioned having -- there would be sometimes multiple decisions to be made over an hour or series of hours.

Who tees up those things for the board in the first place?

A It was a similar process of the unit that was responsible for sort of that threat stream would put it on the calendar of we have some intelligence with some potential to do this and sort of trigger it internally. Depending on who saw it, it would trigger kind of the broader group to meet.

Q So in this case, was it the Russia Unit?

A Yeah, I think there's a lot of classified and deliberative issues here to get too deep into who triggered it or how. It likely was the Russia team. I don't know how to speculate to that.

Q Do you recall at any -- actually, let me take one step back.

After the defensive briefing was given to the Senators, do you recall hearing what the Senators' reaction was to receiving the briefing?

A I do recall an interaction.

I don't know if this is deliberative.

[Witness confers.]

[redacted] I remember specifically interacting with Section Chief Benavides after the briefing. Is there something in particular --

BY [redacted]:

Q Yeah. What did he say?

1 A He was fairly shocked. He said he got yelled at, kind of generally, and I
2 believe he was pretty upset about it.
3 Q Were you surprised that the Senator -- at least one of the Senators reacted
4 that way?
5 A Yes. And I think he was too, which was resultant in his being pretty upset
6 about it.
7 Q To the extent you have familiarity with discussions that predated the 8 delivering of the defensive briefing, was there any discussion or concern about if giving 9 the defensive briefing could be used by either political party for political ends?
10 [redacted] That is inherently deliberative.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q Did you have any conversations with anyone other than Mr. Benavides after 13 the defensive briefing about the reaction from the Senators?
14 A I don't recall specifically, but I probably discussed it with Nikki Flores at some 15 point, or it came up. She may have been -- no, I don't believe she was present when I
16 spoke with Mr. Benavides.
17 So I don't recall specifically any discussions with her. I do recall the discussion
18 with Mr. Benavides.
19 Q Is there anyone else besides you and Mr. Benavides who was in this
20 discussion?
21 A I don't recall. I recall that it was sort of a spontaneous, he walked into my 22 office and expressed what I kind of already characterized. So it may have just been he 23 and I.
24 Q One last question, then we'll move on to another one.
25 The recommendation, when it goes up to Mr. Benavides, is that delivered in, like,

1 a verbal briefing, or is it, like, a written work product?

2 A Our recommendations to him?

3 Q Yes.

4 A I'm nearly certain it's a written work product. Probably both. I don't

5 know if Mr. Benavides read the written. Sometimes the oral is enough to -- in this

6 situation where it just triggers the Notification Framework, it may have been a written

7 that he didn't review or something like that. But pretty typically it's --

8 Q Do you have interactions with the FITF now in your current role?

9 A A little bit. Occasionally. Not lately.

10 Q At a high level, what interactions have you had since leaving the role?

11 A I think I can speak about at least one instance that's public.

12 I had an investigation in Atlanta that had FITF equities, and I was aware of it when 13 I was at FITF, and then went to Atlanta and finished that investigation while I was there.

14 So that was probably the last interaction I had with people at the FITF, was that

15 investigation.

16 Q During your time at the FITF, did you work at all with ODNI's Foreign Malign

17 Influence Center?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Can you describe your interactions with it?

20 A Pretty regularly I would interact with Shelby Pierson in various contexts.

21 She would attend some meetings with social media companies or tech companies.

22 Occasionally there would be other sort of interagency meetings and those sort of things

23 that I would attend that her and some of her subordinates were present for.

24 And then, like I said, there was times where I engaged as sort of an observer in the 25 Experts Group, which members of ODNI were involved in.

1 I think that's sort of the broad strokes.

2 Q Are you familiar with a briefing Ms. Pierson gave to congressional

3 committees in February 2020?

4 A I'm not sure if I am specifically about that one.

5 Q Briefings whether Russia was trying to interfere in the 2020 election?

6 A I don't recall that.

7 Q Other than being at the same meeting or you're observing on the Experts

8 Group, do you recall any other interactions with ODNI as part of your role at the FITF?

9 A That's kind of broad, so it's hard to answer. But it wasn't uncommon to 10 encounter them at other sort of events and things like that, whether it's at another

11 agency or a think tank event, a hearing, things like that, that I would normally attend.

12 It's normal to see other members of sort of that same community.

13 Q During your time at the FITF, did you have any interactions with the Center

14 for Internet Security?

15 A I'm not sure. I don't recall. Yeah. I think names would probably be 16 easier, of people, than individual entities. I don't recall if I've ever dealt with them.

17 Q Are you familiar with the Election Integrity Partnership?

18 A I don't know that I am.

19 Q You mentioned the Election Command Post in 2020. What was your role as 20 it related to --

21 [Witness confers.]

22 [redacted] I was the on-scene commander from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. for the

23 National Election Command Post, jointly with Criminal Investigative Division and the FITF,

24 kind of probably a week or two in the lead-up to the election, several days after the

25 election.

1 [redacted] Which other members of the FITF could observe the Experts Group?

2 [redacted] I don't think there was any sort of prohibition on people observing.

3 I don't think it was normal course of business for just anyone to sit in on the meetings.

4 But I think in scenarios like that, Brad or Nikki would request someone as a representative

5 of one of the units.

6 So I don't think it's out of the course of business for a unit chief to attend one of 7 those as sort of an observer-adviser if necessary.

8 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

9 [Whereupon, at 4:50 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] This is a transcribed interview of [redacted] Chairman Jordan has
2 requested this interview as part of the committee's oversight of the Department of 3 Treasury's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network.
4 Would the witness please state your name for the record?
5 [redacted] [redacted]
6 [redacted] Could agency counsel please state your name for the record?
7 [redacted] [redacted]
8 [redacted] [redacted]
9 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here
10 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to 11 appear voluntarily.
12 My name is [redacted] I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have everyone
13 else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves as well.
14 [redacted] [redacted] with Chairman Jordan.
15 [redacted] [redacted] with Chairman Jordan.
16 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan.
17 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
18 [redacted] I would like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that will 19 be followed during today's interview.
20 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1
21 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period
22 of time if the choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more
23 questions and the interview is over. Typically, we take a short break at the end of each
24 hour, but if you'd like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.
25 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

1 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you
2 understand?
3 [redacted] Yes.
4 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best
5 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
6 those people on the staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak clearly so the court
7 reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you.
8 It's important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we 9 can help it, and that goes to everybody present at today's interview.
10 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
11 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not
12 understand one of our questions, please let us know.
13 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
14 point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not 15 remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it's okay to 16 tell us if you learned information from someone else, just indicate how you came to know
17 the information. If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and 18 please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more
19 complete answer to the question.
20 You should understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by law
21 you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand
22 that?
23 [redacted] Yes.
24 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
25 interview. Do you understand this?

1 [redacted] Yes.

2 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to

3 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section

4 1001. Do you understand this?

5 [redacted] Yes.

6 [redacted] Is there any reason that you are unable to provide truthful answers to

7 today's questions?

8 [redacted] No.

9 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss

10 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this

11 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

12 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with

13 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript. Any copies of those

14 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

15 That is the end of my reamble. Is there anything that my colleagues from the 16 minority would like to add?

17 [redacted] No, we'd just like to thank you for being here today.

18 [redacted] Counsel?

19 [redacted] Yes. Before we get started, I just wanted to put on the record

20 that some of the topics here today that I understand the committee is investigating touch

21 on the Bank Secrecy Act and potentially suspicious activity reports filed under the Bank

22 Secrecy Act.

23 The Bank Secrecy Act, which is 31 U.S.C. 5318(g), in particular, provides that

24 suspicious activity reports or anything that reveals the existence of a suspicious activity

25 report is confidential. Unauthorized disclosure of this material to the public is subject to

1 civil and criminal penalties. Unauthorized disclosure of this type of information is
2 also -- potentially can compromise the national security of the United States or active and 3 ongoing law enforcement investigations.
4 The Department of Treasury would respectfully ask that the committee, in 5 handling of the transcript of any matters discussed here today, to the extent they pertain
6 to specific SAR filings or anything that would disclose the existence of a particular SAR,
7 that that be redacted and not put in the public record.
8 We would also like to respectfully request -- as you all know, [redacted] is a 9 former Treasury employee. He's here voluntarily. We would really request that the 10 committee use all of its discretion in not releasing information about [redacted] not 11 releasing his name further into the public. He's no longer a government employee. He 12 was never an SES-level employee. So we would just like to respectfully make that 13 request on the record and again reiterate that he is here voluntarily to speak about 14 matters that are in the scope of his employment while at the Department of Treasury.
15 [redacted] Thank you.
16 [redacted] Thank you.
17 The clock now reads 9:58. We will start the first hour of questioning.
18 EXAMINATION
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q [redacted] what do you currently do for work?
21 A I'm an anti-money laundering compliance professional.
22 Q And how long have you been in that position?
23 A My current role or in that industry?
24 Q In your current role.
25 A About 6 months.

1 Q And with what company is that?
2 A Plaid.
3 Q And when did you join -- first join the Financial Crimes Enforcement
4 Network?
5 A I believe it was around November 2018.
6 Q And why did you join FinCEN?
7 A Oh, gosh. I had been in the private sector and worked with a lot of former 8 government and law enforcement officials and always found myself very motivated by 9 their service. So it was always something that I was interested in, you know, serving the 10 country in some way. And also, it was a great career opportunity, you know, getting 11 that government service in my industry.
12 Q And prior to joining FinCEN, what other positions did you hold?
13 A Sure. I was an AML compliance professional at a financial institution. And 14 then prior to that, I was an attorney in private practice.
15 Q And which financial institution was that?
16 A Standard Chartered Bank.
17 Q And what was your position in January of 2021?
18 A In January of 2021 -- let me think. November 18th through the beginning
19 of 2020. So in January 2021, I was the director of the Office of Stakeholder Integration
20 and Engagement for FinCEN.
21 Q And how long were you in that role?
22 A I was in that role about 2 years. Well, technically three. The third of 23 those 3 years I was acting deputy -- what do they call them -- deputy associate director of 24 the Strategic Operations Division. So, formally, same role but acting in a different 25 capacity.

1 Q And in those roles, can you describe what your responsibilities were in those
2 positions?
3 A Sure. I had two sections in that office. One was the data access and 4 management section, which oversees law enforcement and other, you know, intelligence,
5 other agencies that have access to the BSA data that FinCEN holds. So that section 6 oversaw the memoranda of understanding that we have in place with those 7 agencies -- we, being FinCEN, had in place with those agencies -- periodic audits of the 8 usage, et cetera, things of that nature.
9 And then my other section was called the domestic engagement section. That 10 section was responsible for liaising with external stakeholders of FinCEN, so law
11 enforcement, private sector, other regulators, things of that nature.
12 Q And can you describe -- to the extent that you already touched on that, can 13 you describe the organizational structure of those divisions within FinCEN?
14 A All or the strategic operations?
15 [redacted] It may help if he gives you his -- if he could just chronologically
16 give you his roles at FinCEN because he had a couple of different ones. So that may --
17 [redacted] Sure.
18 [redacted] -- answer your question a little more clearly.
19 [redacted] Yeah, I'll do that and sort of give you -- so FinCEN has seven -- well, 20 when I was there, FinCEN had seven divisions, plus counsel. One of the -- my first role at 21 FinCEN was with the Policy Division as the director of regulatory policy, and I did that for 22 about a year.
23 FinCEN has the front office, director, deputy director, et cetera. There is the 24 divisions. Each division has one or more offices, and then most or all -- most offices 25 have one or more sections, and then there is staff underneath all of those various

1 leadership and hierarchical roles.

2 So I started off as an office director in the Policy Division. Did that for a little over

3 a year, moved over to the role that I just mentioned, as the director of the Office of 4 Stakeholder Integration and Engagement. Did that for about 2 years.

5 My last year at FinCEN remained technically in that role but served as acting

6 deputy head of the Strategic Operations Division, which was the same division in which

7 my office was. And -- yeah, so --

8 [redacted] It may be helpful to just explain like what the Strategic

9 Operations Division did so you can explain your responsibilities in that office.

10 [redacted] Sure. The Strategic Operation Division did a lot of things. One of 11 its offices was in charge, for example, of foreign engagement. So our work with other 12 countries' financial intelligence units, some of our work at the FATF.

13 [redacted] Sorry. The what?

14 [redacted] Sorry, the Financial Action Task Force.

15 [redacted] Thank you.

16 [redacted] Yep.

17 [redacted] Don't quote me on that but close enough.

18 And so that was sort of the foreign engagement office.

19 I'm sure I'm going to miss things here, but -- and then other components -- a lot of 20 it really has to do with overall liaising with our external stakeholders. So you had the

21 office that handled the foreign, and then you had the office that handled, I guess, for lack

22 of a better way of saying it, customer support. So we have a phone -- FinCEN had a

23 phone help line and some filing, technical issues, things of that nature. So that was one

24 office.

25 And then there was the office that I oversaw, which had those two sections that I

1 described earlier.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So you mentioned the foreign division and you mentioned the customer

4 support division. Was there also a domestic division?

5 A Yeah. So those were offices within the Strategic Operations Division.

6 There were three offices, the office that oversaw the foreign engagement, the office that

7 oversaw the customer support, and then the office that I oversaw, which was called

8 Stakeholder Integration and Engagement. And then each of those offices had sections

9 underneath them. My office had the two sections I described earlier.

10 Q And so in the Office of Stakeholder Integration and Engagement, who was 11 your supervisor?

12 A I reported up to the head and deputy head of the Strategic Operations

13 Division. I believe they are called associate and deputy associate directors of FinCEN.

14 Q And who was that?

15 A At what point in time?

16 Q At all points in time while you were there.

17 A When I started in that office, which was I believe at the beginning of 2020,

18 the associate director that oversaw that division is AnnaLou Tirol. The deputy associate

19 director was Patrick O'Brien. I believe I formally reported to the deputy, who was 20 Patrick. So those were my -- that was my chain of command.

21 Q And so in your role as the director, how many people did you, roughly,

22 oversee?

23 A Gosh. Domestic engagement had, I don't know, five to seven. I'm 24 ballparking, but five, six, or seven. And data access had six to eight-ish.

25 Q Okay. And what was the mission of the Office of Stakeholder Integration

1 and Engagement?

2 A There is a formal mission. Can I defer to FinCEN on that? I mean, I sort of

3 described the offices and the roles as I know them, but I don't want to misstate. I think

4 FinCEN has an official mission for each division.

5 Q Sure. But in your words, how would you describe it?

6 A Best I can describe the division as a whole would be primarily the office that

7 oversaw external engagement generally, foreign, domestic, public, private, et cetera.

8 Q Did that mission change over time while you were there?

9 A Not terribly. That division did undergo some restructuring. I don't

10 remember when this change was made, but it was formerly called the liaison division. It

11 was the liaison division when I began at FinCEN at the end of 2018. At some point, it

12 was renamed Strategic Operations Division.

13 I don't recall the nature of the offices and sections changing significantly. I

14 believe the function and the mission, by and large, stayed the same, but there was some 15 restructuring.

16 Q And when did you leave FinCEN?

17 A I left FinCEN late summer of '22.

18 Q And why did you leave FinCEN?

19 A I would say a host of reasons. Primarily, though, I'm from Southern

20 California. I had been back East about 20 years and, you know, COVID changes people's

21 thinking and being shut inside, so I decided I wanted to move back home to L.A. and had

22 been looking for something.

23 Q And while you were at FinCEN, how often did you interact with FinCEN

24 leadership?

25 A What do you mean by FinCEN leadership?

1 Q The director of FinCEN.

2 A It depended a little bit on the director and what was going on. You know, a
3 month or two could go by without speaking to the director and then there could be a
4 6-week span where I spoke to the director every day. I certainly was at a level of 5 seniority where it would not be uncommon for me to be included in meetings or calls
6 with the director or speak with the director.

7 Q And so when you were speaking with the director, what was the nature of 8 those conversations? Were they generally on certain topics with your engagement in 9 the --

10 A It would -- well, I mean, listen, before COVID, you see somebody in the hall
11 and you're friendly. So certainly there was some informal, right. Generally, though, 12 given the pressing needs on the director's time, generally when you were speaking with 13 the director, it was on a specific topic or for a specific purpose.

14 Q And in general, what were those specific topics?

15 A I don't know that I can answer that question generally. It would have 16 depended on the topic. As an example, you know, one of the sections, as I mentioned,
17 oversaw, you know, FinCEN's access program to the BSA data. And there were multiple 18 times when various congressional hearings were going to cover that topic. So I would 19 sometimes be called upon to, you know, help inform the director or answer questions,
20 things of that nature.

21 That's an example. I mean, it could have been anything under my remit that 22 came up for whatever reason.

23 Q And did you interact with the Department of Justice while at FinCEN?

24 A Yes.

25 Q With whom at the Department of Justice?

1 A It would depend, and it would depend on the nature of the interaction. So,
2 certainly, DOJ components had access to the BSA data. So on my data access
3 management side, whether it was individual U.S. attorneys' offices or law enforcement
4 agencies like the FBI, you know, sometimes there would be issues on them accessing data
5 or they would need technical assistance or something of that nature.
6 And then on the domestic engagement side, one of the things that that section
7 oversaw was our public -- FinCEN's public-private partnership work. So, you know,
8 oftentimes we would provide assistance to law enforcement if they needed it on financial 9 access -- or access to financial data or some of the holdings that FinCEN had.
10 And so I would liaise, you know, either with Main Justice or U.S. attorneys or 11 assistant U.S. attorneys or, you know, law enforcement, FBI.
12 Q Were there certain persons within DOJ components that you liaised with the 13 most?
14 A Not that I recall. Certainly, I don't recall there being any particular person 15 that was so regular that the name sticks with me this many years later.
16 Q Okay.
17 [redacted] Any particular U.S. attorneys' offices that you interacted with more
18 frequently than others?
19 [redacted] Not that I recall.
20 [redacted] Did you ever interact with FBI field offices, or was it generally
21 out of DOJ, Main Justice?
22 [redacted] I'm not sure I ever knew at the time the distinction. I mean, I'm 23 not sure how they're structured. So FBI agent was FBI agent, and I'm not sure I
24 knew -- and, frankly, I struggled with that a little bit with DOJ as well. I never -- unless I
25 saw a title, I wouldn't necessarily know if they were out of a U.S. attorney's office or Main

1 or any of that. I'm not sure.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Shifting gears a little bit, what's your formal education?

4 A I have a bachelor's and a law degree, a JD.

5 Q Are you a licensed lawyer?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And when did you become licensed?

8 A I first took the New York bar and became licensed, it was either the very end

9 of '06 or the beginning of '07. And then I subsequently took the California bar and was 10 licensed at some point thereafter. I don't recall when.

11 Q And were you a lawyer, a licensed lawyer throughout your tenure at FinCEN?

12 A No. I actually never functioned as an attorney at FinCEN.

13 Q Were you a member of any bar while you were at FinCEN?

14 A I was an inactive member. So I am, to this day, a member of the New York

15 and California bars. I have been an inactive member of both, I believe, as best I can 16 recall, since I stopped formally practicing law in 2014.

17 Q And what's your formal training? I know you mentioned AML. Are there

18 any certifications or things along those lines?

19 A Sure. So I have a certification or at least I did at one point -- I'm not certain

20 I'm paying the dues anymore -- but of what's called ACAMS, which is the Association of 21 Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists. Also don't quote me on that one, but

22 which is sort of the industry credential for anti-money laundering financial crimes

23 professionals.

24 And then most of it, I would just say, on the job. You know, when I was in 25 private practice, I represented clients on compliance matters generally, including the BSA.

1 And then you, you know, you just learn on the job when I became an anti-money
2 laundering professional.
3 Q So moving back to your role when you were the director of the Office of 4 Stakeholder Integration and Engagement. So in that role, how did it relate to the 5 operations of FinCEN Exchange?
6 A So FinCEN Exchange was a public-private partnership program, and I would 7 say the logistics and the planning of those events were under the domestic engagement
8 section in my office. So my staff oversaw that event.
9 Q Can you describe the FinCEN Exchange briefly and then the events that you
10 mentioned?
11 A Sure. So, again, I'll do some of my own words, but FinCEN Exchange has an 12 official FinCEN description and whatnot, so I will defer to that. But, essentially, it was a 13 public-private partnership where it had a couple of components, and sometimes we 14 would focus on one, sometimes it would be everything. But it would, by and large, 15 either be where law enforcement was working on a case and needed access to financial 16 data, and so they would -- we would put together an event where law enforcement could 17 provide information to the private sector, banks usually, but didn't always have to be,
18 right -- there are numerous types of financial institutions under the BSA -- where they 19 would -- law enforcement could provide private sector members some information that 20 might help those institutions better identify suspicious activity, which is a requirement for 21 them to do under the BSA, so helping them sort of focus.
22 And then by the same token, there might be instances where financial institutions
23 are able to, within what authorities would allow, to share information with law
24 enforcement or each other, again, to better understand the nature of the conduct at issue
25 and, you know, try to catch bad guys.

1 Q And ordinarily, when Federal law enforcement is sharing information with
2 the private sector or vice versa, what mediums were used to facilitate that exchange?
3 A So particularly before COVID and then eventually, you know, there could be 4 in-person meetings, could be conference calls, could be email. So it would depend on,
5 you know, what type of communication and what the issue was.
6 Q You mentioned the different kinds of stakeholders and financial institutions.
7 Could you describe what kinds of financial institutions you were working with?
8 A Primarily banks. I believe in a few instances money services businesses,
9 MSBs.
10 Q For example?
11 A So I don't recall a specific MSB. Totally separate from your line of 12 questioning, an example of an MSB, for example, could be like Western Union as sort of 13 the classic example of a money transmitter. But I don't actually have a specific 14 recollection of a particular MSB participating in a FinCEN. I'm not saying they didn't; I 15 just don't recall.
16 Q And why was it important for FinCEN to reach out to the private sector?
17 A Not to be glib, when you say "important," like from whose -- I guess I'm not 18 really sure what you mean.
19 Q Well, I'll back up.
20 Why did you reach out to the private sector?
21 A So we would reach out to the private sector --
22 [redacted] You know, I guess -- I think he's testified about his job being to 23 reach out to the private sector on a variety of different topics, like everything from sort of 24 filing. Is your question now specific to FinCEN Exchange or like -- can you be more 25 specific about like -- what are you asking about specifically?

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q When you were liaising with the private sector, what sorts of information

3 were you looking for that the private sector had?

4 A Outside of FinCEN Exchange or specifically with -- just as a general matter?

5 Q As a general matter.

6 A Well, it could have been in the context of a FinCEN Exchange, which I just

7 described, or some of the other public-private partnership initiatives that FinCEN had. It

8 could be, you know, sometimes there's a miscommunication. Like, we'll have a law

9 enforcement agent reach out and say, hey, I'm trying to get X, Y, Z that I'm entitled to get

10 from such and such bank or such and such credit union, but they are not giving me what I

11 need. Can you -- you know, sometimes we'd literally just be a liaison.

12 I'm trying to think of other types of informal. You know, that's -- it could be any 13 number of reasons really.

14 Q Could you give an example of one of the public-private partnerships?

15 A So FinCEN Exchange is a big one. The other I would say major one is called

16 BSAAG, which is the BSA, the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group. Both are provided

17 foreign statute.

18 And the BSAAG was a bit more policy oriented, and it would also include, as an 19 example, other regulators, in addition to law enforcement and private sector members.

20 And it was a forum to discuss, like I said, a bit more on the policy realm. You know,

21 what's working, what's not, for FinCEN to receive feedback on its regulations, clarity or 22 lack thereof, things of that nature.

23 So certainly BSAAG and FinCEN Exchange were the two primary ones.

24 Q When you mention policy, was it discussing priorities for certain filings under

25 the Bank Secrecy Act or emerging suspicious activity, trends that you're seeing, things of 1 that nature?

2 A As best as I recall -- you're talking about BSAAG?

3 Q You're liaising with --

4 A So it would depend on the context, right. So BSAAG, which was a little

5 more policy oriented, dipped its toe into those areas but, by and large, was less tactical.

6 It was more, you know, hey, this regulation is not clear to us, so we're going in five

7 different directions. Or, you know, here's an example of guidance that the private

8 sector could use, you know. So FinCEN would take that feedback or, you know, FinCEN

9 would maybe pose questions to the private sector. Again, a little more on the policy

10 angle.

11 But what you just described would have taken place in the context of FinCEN

12 Exchange.

13 Q And before you were reaching out to the private sector, did you have to 14 receive approval before doing that?

15 A It would depend entirely on the reason I needed to reach out. For 16 example, the example I gave earlier, which definitely happened while I was there, where,

17 you know, a law enforcement agent was trying to get something from a financial

18 institution, that it was under statute and regulation. Law enforcement was entitled but

19 maybe the institution was just confused about what it was and was not allowed to share.

20 That would be something that, in the normal course of my duties at my level of seniority, I

21 would just go ahead and engage the institution.

22 But really, anything of greater import and certainly anything related to BSAAG or 23 FinCEN Exchange would generally require approval.

24 Q And who would that approval come from?

25 A I mean, I can only say that I would work with my chain of command. I

1 can't -- I couldn't speak to the extent to which they were informed by their leadership.
2 But I would go to my associate director and deputy associate director for those kinds of 3 approvals.
4 Q Which was Anna --
5 A AnnaLou and Patrick, at least at the beginning of '21.
6 [redacted] How long were they in those roles for?
7 [redacted] I don't recall.
8 [redacted] For each of them, who took on the next position when they left their
9 role?
10 [redacted] So at the beginning -- when I first started that office director job at 11 the beginning of 2020, it was AnnaLou Tirol was the associate director and Patrick O'Brien
12 was the deputy associate. At some point, I don't recall exactly when, AnnaLou -- our 13 director, the director of FinCEN left. I believe his deputy became acting director, and 14 AnnaLou became acting deputy director.
15 [redacted] Of FinCEN?
16 [redacted] Of FinCEN, yes.
17 I don't recall specifically what happened at the top of the division. I don't recall
18 whether Patrick was acting head at some point. And then there were various acting. It
19 was just a bit of a restructure while they figured out -- and I just don't recall people and 20 dates specifically.
21 [redacted] Is the restructuring complete by the time you had left?
22 [redacted] So I wouldn't call it a restructure as much as a sort of shuffling in 23 those roles. So I may have misspoke.
24 Well, so in mid to late '21, so at that time, the acting associate director was a guy
25 named Michael Dondarski, who was actually a member of our Enforcement Division but

1 he was acting as associate director, and his deputy was a guy named Andrew Winerman.
2 At some point, I don't recall when, Dondarski went back to enforcement.
3 Andrew became acting associate overseeing the Strategic Operations Division and asked
4 me to serve as the acting deputy associate. So at that point, and for my last nine or so
5 months at FinCEN, I was formally still the office director but I was serving as the acting
6 deputy of that division.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q When you were engaging with the private sector, were there any topics or 9 issues that created points of tension?
10 A I'm not sure what you mean by points of tension, but not really, that I recall.
11 Q Disagreements. You mentioned earlier the example where a bank felt that 12 they couldn't share information or refused to share information. Were those kinds of 13 disagreements common?
14 A So I would say no. And I would also recharacterize -- that would be an 15 example where maybe like a very small institution doesn't necessarily have a level of 16 sophistication to know what they can and can't share. They are worried about BSA 17 confidentiality.
18 So when FinCEN would reach out and say, you know, hey, this is okay; you're 19 supposed to do this; you're required to do this; that would be sufficient for them to feel 20 comfortable that they're not violating law or reg and they would do so.
21 But I wouldn't -- I would call that more of a misunderstanding rather than a 22 disagreement. Certainly, generally no tension. An agent might be frustrated that he 23 was doing a dance, but I wouldn't call that tension. And I don't recall, again, at least at 24 that level of generality, I don't recall any points of tension, per se.
25 Q Do you recall there being confusion or misunderstanding about scope of the 1 Bank Secrecy Act?

2 [redacted] By whom? Can you be more specific?

3 [redacted] Yes, that's a broad question.

4 [redacted] Well, his example was a small institution that didn't understand

5 some of the confidentiality under the Bank Secrecy Act.

6 So were those misunderstandings -- did you routinely deal with some of those

7 misunderstandings about the breadth of the Bank Secrecy Act, what's confidential, what

8 they can provide, what they should be providing?

9 [redacted] I wouldn't say routinely, and I wouldn't -- you know, FinCEN wasn't

10 there necessarily to serve the private sector. Usually something like that would be to

11 assist law enforcement or something of that nature, if they were having trouble accessing

12 BSA data, whether that was with our -- within FinCEN's database, at a financial institution, 13 whatever it was.

14 So it's very hard for me to answer that question at that level of -- it's just a little

15 too general. I don't have recollections of disagreements or confusion, you know, writ

16 large.

17 [redacted] So would you view your role at FinCEN more of a partner of law

18 enforcement versus a partner of the financial institutions?

19 [redacted] All of the above. I'm not sure I would characterize any of our 20 relationships as above or below the other.

21 [redacted] Okay. When you say FinCEN was not there to assist the private

22 sector.

23 [redacted] We were certainly there to assist. I said we're not there to serve.

24 In other words, what I meant by that was, you know, it's not as if a bank could call FinCEN

25 and say jump and we would jump. Whereas, if the FBI said, hey, we're desperate; you

1 know, something major is happening; you know, we need you to jump, we would jump.
2 So it would depend on the nature of the relationship, but by the same token, we
3 had relationships with the private sector that maybe we didn't have with law. So it was 4 very specific to the relationship and to the topic what that relationship would have been.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q Do you recall any examples -- we've talked a few times now about when
7 there was confusion or misunderstandings. When you're serving in a liaison position
8 between law enforcement and a private entity, do you recall any examples where there
9 wasn't confusion; there was a fundamental disagreement about how, you know, the Bank
10 Secrecy Act applied or a certain regulation?
11 A I don't specifically recall that, no.
12 Q Just to clarify the answer for the record. With the understanding you don't 13 have any specific recollections, generally, though, do you recall just that ever being an 14 issue or something that you or your office would be in a position to be aware of?
15 A Whether there was generally confusion or misunderstandings in the private 16 sector?
17 Q No, not regarding confusion or misunderstandings but where it's not an 18 issue of confusion, but there's a disagreement between how the Bank Secrecy Act applies 19 or what should be the --
20 A I see. Generally, that would not come to FinCEN. That's generally the 21 type of thing that would occur like with an examiner. So the functional regulators like
22 the Fed and the OCC, FDIC, et cetera. If there was like a dispute as to the BSA program
23 that an institution has in place, like that -- you know, FinCEN oversees the regulation, so
24 we would certainly be part of those conversations broadly.
25 And, again, you know, BSAAG, a lot of that conversation would come up about

1 policy, so not on a specific issue but, you know, broadly. But in terms of, like, specific
2 disagreements where FinCEN said X and some institution was saying Y, I don't recall that.
3 Q In the BSAAG group, do you recall any discussions about the scope of 4 disclosures or the scope of what should be kept confidential?
5 A I don't recall one way or the other.
6 [redacted] And just for the record, what was your involvement in BSAAG?
7 Because I just don't know how involved he actually was, so --
8 [redacted] Yeah, so BSAAG, like FinCEN Exchange, my staff would've sort of 9 coordinated the event. BSAAG has a mechanism for annual membership where we can 10 renew or replace members. So my staff would oversee the applications and all of that,
11 logistics, you know, getting a room or setting up conference calls, communications, things
12 of that nature. Not necessarily the substance of what's actually being discussed in any 13 of those forums.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q And for BSAAG, was it generally like standing meetings or could they be 16 called on an ad hoc basis if there was an issue that had arisen?
17 A So there was a BSAAG plenary, all members, that was, I wouldn't say
18 standing as much as it was twice a year, but to be scheduled, right. It's not like -- it's not 19 like they have a calendar years out, right, but it's twice a year.
20 And then BSAAG -- within and under BSAAG, there were committees where 21 BSAAG members -- again, private sector, law enforcement, regulators -- would form sort
22 of working groups at the topical level. And so my staff would usually join and facilitate 23 those communications as well, but those were usually driven by the BSAAG members 24 themselves.
25 Q Do you recall like a couple examples of some of the topical choices for the

1 working group?

2 A Well, this is -- I should, but I don't recall specifically, no.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Does FinCEN have oversight responsibilities over financial institutions?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Can you describe those responsibilities?

7 A I can do the best I can. I mean, certainly they are set out in statute and reg.

8 So FinCEN owns the BSA, Title 31. So from a regulatory perspective, the 9 regulations that regulated financial institutions have to follow are drafted, revised.

10 Guidance is provided for by FinCEN. It's very complex because there are corollaries with 11 the functional regulators, which is Title 12 or title whatever it happens to be. And so

12 this is getting out of my sort of technical remit, but -- so certainly FinCEN has an

13 ownership role in the regulatory framework. And then FinCEN also has specific

14 statutory authority, such as FinCEN Exchange and BSAAG, with which they can engage the 15 private sector.

16 Q Which office was responsible for those oversight responsibilities?

17 A I would say most FinCEN divisions touch it at some point. So, for example,

18 there was the Policy Division, which oversaw regulatory guidance and interpretation,

19 regulatory drafting, technical advisories and bulletins, things of that nature. You had the 20 Enforcement Division, which would actually go out and examine and, if enforcement

21 activity was necessary, would handle that.

22 You know, there were other divisions that would analyze BSA data. The liaison

23 division, later Strategic Operations Division, that would liaise. So it really depended on 24 the nature of the interaction, but many divisions had a role to play.

25 Q And how did FinCEN enforce that oversight?

1 A I'm not quite sure I understand the question.

2 Q If you found that someone was out of compliance, how would that be

3 handled at FinCEN? Which office would lead that?

4 A Yeah, I mean, I was not involved in that. At a high level, it would generally

5 be the Enforcement Division, along with front office components, counsel, whoever

6 needed to participate, right. I mean, theoretically, it could be the folks in another

7 division that were looking at the data that led to the conclusion that they were out of,

8 you know, compliance. Like, it could be anybody.

9 But primarily, I would say the Enforcement Division, plus front office and counsel.

10 And they would do so -- you know, to your other part of your question, best I can answer

11 is that they would do so under the authorities and statute and reg, but it wasn't my

12 wheelhouse, so --

13 Q Were those enforcement actions involving violations of the Bank Secrecy

14 Act?

15 A Yes -- well, and I should say that my knowledge of that is limited to what's in

16 the public domain. So there may have been some activity that I just wasn't aware of 17 because it wasn't part of my job. So the enforcement actions that are publicly available

18 that were taken by FinCEN would have been, at least partially, due to Bank Secrecy Act

19 violations.

20 Q Could the failure to file a suspicious activity report according to material

21 shared or published by FinCEN result in an enforcement action?

22 [redacted] I'm sorry?

23 [redacted] In other words, FinCEN provides guidance, advisories, bulletins,

24 all the things that you mentioned.

25 [redacted] So I'm going to answer it this way.

1 [redacted] Was that something that was in your responsibility at all?

2 [redacted] No. The BSA requires that financial institutions have a risk-based

3 program. So you're taking a big step back. Generally, the way these institutions are

4 examined and assessed is, do you have policies, procedures, controls? Are they

5 appropriate? Were they being executed correctly?

6 If something falls through the cracks but your examiners or enforcement

7 personnel generally think that you were operating in a sound manner, something like that

8 may or may not actually result in enforcement action. It may. It, I believe, would 9 constitute a technical violation.

10 But, again, like, it's possible that they didn't know. A bank maybe didn't know

11 that something should have been filed because it was following its policies and

12 procedures and didn't identify -- you know, so it really is very hard to say, you know,

13 would X result in Y.

14 [redacted] And in your time at FinCEN, did you ever like, you know, do

15 your work in the Enforcement Division, or are you familiar with the standards of 16 willfulness that, like, the Enforcement Division would apply to an enforcement act?

17 [redacted] Not at all, no.

18 [redacted] So but in your role, you're responsible for sharing materials and 19 liaisoning with the private sector?

20 [redacted] Yeah, at a high level. Sure, yes.

21 [redacted] And so when you're sharing those materials and a bank receives

22 it -- a financial institution receives it, could a bank then be penalized for failing to file a

23 SAR according to the materials or guidance that is being shared with them? Would that

24 make it more risky to not file a SAR given that we've established the BSA is a risk-based 25 framework?

1 [redacted] Can you tell him what materials you're describing? Just 2 saying, like, material generally, I think that doesn't give him any information about 3 whether that would feed into the risk profile.
4 [redacted] Well, certainly he knows the materials that he shared.
5 [redacted] Well, I think we should establish that for the record.
6 [redacted] Yeah, I'm not sure I can recall. It might depend on what was being
7 shared.
8 [redacted] Okay. So could you give an example of what might distinguish 9 one from the other?
10 [redacted] Well, an example of materials that would be shared, and this,
11 actually, wouldn't have been shared by me, but, you know, FinCEN publishes advisories 12 on specific topics that contain some red flags.
13 [redacted] Yeah.
14 [redacted] I'm not sure I can really answer the question of, you know, if a bank
15 failed to take those red flags and do something with it and file a SAR and didn't file a SAR,
16 what would be more -- like, I'm not sure I can really speak to that at that level of 17 generality. And, again, it wasn't really my role at FinCEN.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q Who would best be able to speak to that?
20 A Either people at FinCEN in enforcement, counsel, possibly front office. I 21 mean, I would defer to FinCEN as to, you know, who can best speak to that.
22 Q When the information is being shared -- previously there were questions
23 about, you know, specific information and maybe there is a failure to follow SAR. When 24 sharing information, was there an expectation that some of the information shared could 25 lead banks to or financial institutions to change what protocols they had in place?

1 A Whose expectation?

2 Q FinCEN's expectation.

3 A No. I don't believe that we had any expectation or criteria that that was

4 going to lead to. Really, it was -- FinCEN's purpose was to be helpful either to law

5 enforcement or to the private sector. If we had information that was available that we

6 felt we were legally allowed to share and it would be useful, we would do so, but it

7 didn't -- my recollection is it didn't come with any standards or expectations or 8 requirements.

9 Q Taking out expectations. This is a problem. Were there protocols put in 10 place based off the state of the world where protocols are implemented? FinCEN is 11 sharing new information that they think is helpful to the private sector partners. Were 12 there discussions about changing the protocols in light of what new information was 13 being shared?

14 A The banks' protocols?

15 Q Yes.

16 A I do not recall conversations like that, no.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q Does FinCEN direct financial institutions to certain kinds of potential

19 suspicious activity?

20 A What do you mean by "direct"? Like, we'll share indicators, for example,

21 like in an advisory and provide them information that they may or may not have been

22 aware of.

23 Q Yeah, bring to their attention.

24 A Yes.

25 Q Okay.

1 [redacted] What types of indicators?

2 [redacted] It could be something like -- you know, depending on the topic,

3 right, but it could be something like, you know, those engaged in a certain type of fraud

4 tend -- you know, we've seen evidence that they move money in this manner, right.

5 Here's like a red flag, a typology that we have observed. It could be things like that.

6 [redacted] And kind of to turn back to a previous question, going off of this

7 hypothetical example, right. If you're identifying something new, was there ever a

8 discussion about whether protocols in place were adequately, you know, detecting that

9 sort of potential misconduct?

10 [redacted] Can we just sort of clarify the use of the word "protocols"?

11 Because I want to make sure you guys are using that -- I think what you mean is like a 12 bank's existing AML framework, right. What they're required to have under the BSA.

13 So I think for the record, like, can we just use that?

14 [redacted] Okay. Sure.

15 [redacted] Yeah, I mean, certainly I don't recall any discussions that an

16 institution would be expected to -- or that we would hope an institution would change its

17 policies, procedures, its program in place. You know, the focus would have been on the 18 information being shared and disseminating it. It's part of FinCEN's mission to analyze 19 the data we have and disseminate information where we can.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Were there any instances that you can recall where a financial institution

22 failed to file an SAR and there was a discussion about why that happened or why it was 23 missed?

24 A Not that I recall. I wouldn't have been involved in those conversations.

25 Q And who at FinCEN would have been?

1 A Likely enforcement personnel or front office or counsel.

2 Q We touched upon this earlier. Can you walk us through, again just very

3 briefly, during your time at FinCEN who was head of enforcement?

4 A Oh, boy. When I started, it was a guy named -- oh, I'm going to kick myself.

5 He was a nice guy. He retired. There was a longtime head of that division who retired

6 while I was at FinCEN. His name escapes me. I hope he doesn't see the video. Sorry.

7 And then when he retired, I don't actually recall who became associate director.

8 The gentleman I mentioned earlier, Mike Dondarski, was the deputy associate, but

9 I can't actually recall. It wasn't my division, and I actually didn't work a ton with those

10 folks. I mean, I was friendly in the hall, coworkers, but I just don't recall.

11 [redacted] Do FinCEN employees review the SARs that are filed?

12 [redacted] Certain FinCEN employees do, yes.

13 [redacted] What office would that fall within?

14 [redacted] It could be any. Certainly, our -- certainly, FinCEN's Intelligence

15 Division would review SARs. I know that there would be instances where enforcement

16 personnel would need to review SARs. There would be potential technical or filing

17 reasons for someone in strategic operations to review SARs, like customer support. You

18 know, oh, we double filed. What do we do? You know, that kind of stuff.

19 I mean, yes, the answer is -- I mean, I'm not really sure who else, but --

20 [redacted] Can I just make sure, because I think you asked did FinCEN

21 employees review SARs. To your knowledge, did FinCEN employees review all SARs that 22 are filed?

23 [redacted] To my knowledge, no, not one for one.

24 [redacted] That was going to be my next question.

25 [redacted] Sorry. I just wanted to make sure that was clear, because I

1 think that was a little messy.

2 [redacted] So, no, to the best of my knowledge, there isn't actually someone

3 putting eyeballs on every SAR. A lot of it would be based on, you know, keyword

4 queries and things of that nature.

5 [redacted] So how do you determine which SARs to review?

6 [redacted] It wasn't my job at FinCEN. I'm not sure I can answer that

7 question.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Whose job was it?

10 A For what purpose? To review SARs for what purpose?

11 Q Who at FinCEN would be in a position to decide which SARs are reviewed?

12 A It would depend on the purpose for which they're reviewing SARs.

13 Q What are some of the purposes of SARs review?

14 A I mean, I hate to speculate because it, by and large, was not my job. It

15 wasn't reviewing many SARs at all. You know, as an example, just to be helpful, like, if

16 Enforcement Division was looking at financial institution X, they would probably search

17 for a subset of that financial institution's SARs for whatever purpose.

18 If Intelligence Division was looking for, you know, healthcare fraud, they would 19 presumably search healthcare fraud.

20 I mean, but those are somewhat speculation just because it really was not part of 21 my job, by and large, to query the database and view SARs.

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q But you did manage the access to those databases?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And so then you would be maybe in a position to know what SARs are being

1 reviewed and for what purpose?

2 A My duties did not require or warrant a need to search the database, and I

3 generally did not. I don't actually recall ever. It may have happened once or twice, but

4 I'm not even sure I had a login. I don't recall searching SARs as part of my job.

5 Q Do you know if SARs were ever reviewed by using artificial intelligence or 6 machine learning?

7 A I do not know.

8 Q Do you know who would know?

9 A Current FinCEN personnel. I certainly know, while I was there, that there

10 were conversations both internal to FinCEN as well as feedback that we would get from

11 law enforcement or whomever about various ways that the ability to query the data

12 could be enhanced. But I don't recall where it stood at the time or where it's gone

13 since.

14 Q Enhanced using like machine learning or artificial intelligence?

15 A I don't recall. Improved, if you will, but not -- I don't have any specific 16 recollection of whether those mechanisms were being used or are currently being used.

17 Q Did you ever discuss with the private sector the use of artificial intelligence

18 or machine learning to identify suspicious activity?

19 A I don't have a specific recollection of that kind of conversation. Certainly,

20 regulated financial institutions use a variety of vendors and other technological

21 capabilities for their own purposes to execute their own program. You know, might that

22 have come up in some of the conversations I had in the course of my liaising, perhaps, but

23 I don't specifically recall.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q What about internal discussions you mentioned when it comes to improving

1 the query? Who would those internal discussions have been with?

2 A Who would those discussions have been with if they had happened? I

3 mean, I don't recall the discussions is the issue, so I'm not really sure how to answer.

4 Q Sure. In a previous response, if I understood your testimony correctly, you

5 said that there were, you know, internal and external discussions about improving the

6 query, right, when searching --

7 A Yep.

8 Q -- keywords or whatever it might be. Maybe it's AI. Maybe it's not.

9 For the internal discussions, who would those have been with?

10 A So I recall -- and I apologize if I misspoke. I recall generally there being 11 conversations with some of the government-side agencies who have access to the 12 database about how to query, whether enhancements or improvements were in 13 discussions. I do not specifically recall whether those discussions covered AI or ML or 14 any of that.

15 I don't know internally -- I mean, those kinds of conversations internally would

16 have been with other Strategic Operations Division personnel, perhaps my leadership,

17 front office personnel, and the director's office. But that's also a bit of speculation, I

18 would say, because I'm not sure I really recall.

1 [10:52 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And when we're accessing the BSA materials, how is that material accessed?

4 A Are you asking if you -- how does law enforcement access the database for

5 FinCEN or --

6 Q All of the above.

7 A So when I was there -- I can't speak for what it was now, but while I was at 8 FinCEN, there was a -- a portal. I don't recall whether it was hosted or cloud or a web or

9 how, but agencies with proper access would be able to access the data from their own

10 workstation. You know, they didn't have to come onsite or anything like that. So

11 there would be some logon and then they would have access to the portal where they

12 could query and access the data.

13 Q Was there a name of the portal?

14 A I don't recall. Yes, there was a name. I don't recall what it was.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q And was the portal the same for all of those entities accessing it? So was 17 FinCEN hosting this portal?

18 A I'm not sure I recall that level of technical -- I definitely can't answer the did

19 FinCEN host. I don't really know where the data physically -- that's like our -- that's our 20 computer folks.

21 Yeah, sorry. Go ahead. I'm not sure I can --

22 Q I think -- this was a BSA database of SAR filings, what have you.

23 A Uh-huh.

24 Q When everyone was accessing, were they accessing the same database?

25 A I believe the answer is yes. I can't speak to whether there were other

1 sources that they may have had access to. I don't recall. But there certainly was sort
2 of one primary database.
3 I'm trying to remember -- I don't recall whether there were any restrictions for a
4 particular agency on data. I don't recall whether that existed or -- or was applied.
5 Certainly, that was a component of what my team would look for when they audited
6 access. You know, they would look, for example, for things like, you know, are they 7 pulling queries that are really broad, you know, maybe overbroad.
8 So there would be a component of assessing how an agency used data, but 9 whether there was like a block in place up front or whether this agency had access to A,
10 B, and C, and this agency only had access to A and B, I don't recall.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Who had access to the portal?
13 A FinCEN personnel. And then, best of my recollection, either statute and/or 14 reg provides for which agencies can have access. So I would kind of defer to that. But 15 it included law enforcement, Federal, State, local, whomever, intelligence community,
16 other regulators. Those were the primary stakeholders.
17 Q Do you know, roughly, how many individuals that is?
18 A No idea.
19 Q You also mentioned audit a moment ago. And can you describe what an 20 audit of those with access to the portal, what that looked like?
21 A Not in great detail. But as a general matter, FinCEN has a program whereby 22 there's a team that periodically will assess an agency's use of the data to make sure it's 23 appropriate, to make sure the proper security measures are in place, to make sure that 24 they're educated on how best to query. And that's a periodic process that FinCEN has to 25 ensure the integrity of the data and its use.

1 Q Did you ever find an example where an agency was not using it
2 appropriately?
3 A I don't recall. And I certainly don't recall inappropriate use. We 4 frequently saw examples where an agency could use better education on how to more
5 intelligently query the database just to yield better results. So, you know, a lot of what
6 this team did would be sort of, you know, provide, you know, assistance or -- or learning
7 to, you know, agency personnel on how best to query the data. But I don't have a
8 specific recollection of anybody, you know, uncovering inappropriate use.
9 Q When an audit was completed, how often were those audits performed, and 10 what happened with the results of those audits?
11 A The audits were periodic. I don't recall the frequency.
12 Q Once a year, twice a year?
13 A I -- fairly confident it was not twice a year. I don't recall if it was one once a 14 year or once every other year. It was that cadence, generally. Every year, two, or 15 something like that.
16 The FinCEN employee would engage with their counterparts at that agency, you
17 know, go through the steps of the audit, ask the questions, whatever they did, prepare a 18 report internally that would go up to the section chief for review and approval.
19 If there were -- I don't specifically recall this happening, but if there were issues or 20 something like that required escalation, it would come to me. The section chief 21 reported to me. That was the data access and management side of my office.
22 And then like any issue anywhere, depending on the nature of the issue, it could 23 go up, if needed. But I don't have a recollection of that happening.
24 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?
25 [Recess.]

1 [redacted] Okay. We can go back on the record.

2 EXAMINATION

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Thank you, [redacted]

5 You mentioned -- earlier, I believe you were asked what the mission of your unit at 6 FinCEN was, and you said you would defer to FinCEN. And I would just like to start by

7 saying that FinCEN's website describes the agency as a whole, FinCEN's mission as, "to

8 safeguard the financial system from illicit use, and combat money laundering and its

9 related crimes, including terrorism, and promote national security through the strategic

10 use of financial authorities and the collection, analysis, and dissemination of financial

11 intelligence."

12 Does that sound right to you?

13 A Yes.

14 Q And that's your understanding of the mission that you as a FinCEN

15 employee, the overall mission that you were working towards?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Thank you.

18 And so that's a very long way of saying FinCEN works to combat the use of 19 financial systems to finance terrorism and to launder money?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And FinCEN's work to combat the financing of terrorism includes the 22 financing of domestic terrorism, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And just to back up, the -- the combating the financing of terrorism is 25 commonly referred to as CFT?

1 A Yes.
2 Q That's the acronym that is often -- often used?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And anti-money laundering is AML?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Okay. And you've had experience in those fields, the AML and CFT fields, in 7 both the private sector at a financial institution --
8 A Yes.
9 Q -- correct? And at FinCEN?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And so you've -- you've kind of got those two windows into that particular
12 activity?
13 A Yes. And on the legal side as well, representing clients who are compliant
14 with those laws and regs.
15 Q And was that before you went to work for the bank?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And FinCEN itself is not a law enforcement agency in the sense that it
18 doesn't go out and arrest people?
19 A Correct, in that sense. I'm not sure if there's a technical definition of law
20 enforcement of what FinCEN does and does not qualify for. But it certainly did not have 21 guns and badges and arrest power and things of that nature.
22 Q And when you used the term earlier of "law enforcement," and as I imagine 23 we'll all be using it today, you're referring more to agencies that do have those 24 authorities, like the FBI, DEA, local police agencies, that sort of thing?
25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. Thank you.

2 Now, FinCEN is not a new agency, correct?

3 A Define "new". I mean, it's been around --

4 Q It was established in 1990.

5 A -- many, many years.

6 Q Does that sound right?

7 A '90? You know what, I'm not certain.

8 Q It wasn't something that just popped up in 2021?

9 A No.

10 Q And one of the -- one of the components of FinCEN's mission, as we just

11 discussed, was using financial authorities, financial statutes, but also the collection,

12 analysis, and dissemination of financial intelligence, correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q What does the phrase "financial intelligence" mean to you, as best as you

15 can explain it?

16 A I mean, it can mean a lot of things. I think when I think of how FinCEN -- at

17 least my role at FinCEN went about doing that, it would be the BSA data that is filed with

18 FinCEN, analyzing that data, and deriving from it information about how nefarious actors

19 are -- are operating. We would call them red flags, typologies, indicators, things of that 20 nature.

21 Q And your work wasn't to actually do that analysis, correct?

22 A Correct.

23 Q That was a separate division of FinCEN?

24 A Correct.

25 Q Okay. Your work was more that of a liaison between the different

1 stakeholders who had access to BSA information?

2 A Correct.

3 Q And so it was part of your job to help communicate some of those typologies

4 and indicators that law enforcement had developed to the financial institutions, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q And financial institutions are not required to work with FinCEN in that

7 regard, correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q It's their choice whether or not to participate in Exchange events, for 10 example?

11 A Correct.

12 Q And it's their choice whether or not to receive typologies from -- from you or 13 from law enforcement?

14 A Well, mostly correct. I mean, some of the -- we do issue typologies in the 15 public domain through, like, an advisory. So that's -- that's out there, right.

16 Nobody -- nobody can escape it. But in terms of, like, participation in engaging with

17 FinCEN on a particular item, certainly in the context of FinCEN Exchange, BSAAG, the 18 items -- or the initiatives I discussed earlier, that was totally voluntary.

19 Q Okay. Thank you.

20 Now, you mentioned several times that FinCEN's authority and some of its duties

21 and responsibilities are actually codified in statutes and regulations.

22 A Correct.

23 Q Now, I'm going to go through some of those a little bit and introduce some

24 of them into the record just so that we have a clear understanding. So I'll refer to this as 25 the potentially boring section of -- of this interview.

1 And I'm going to start -- and this will be exhibit 1. This is 31 U.S.C. Section 310.
2 Sorry. I hope I made enough copies. I did not expect quite as many people here today.
3 [Exhibit No. 1.
4 was marked for identification.]
5 BY
6 Q Okay. You can take a moment to look through it. I'm not going to ask you
7 anything from memory. I will point to you exactly what I would like to reference. So 8 you just let me know when you're ready.
9 A Yeah, go for it.
10 Q Okay. So first I want to start by noting that in this printout of the statute, it
11 says that the effective date is December 27, 2021. And I will just note for the record 12 that the only portion of the statute that went into effect on that date was the addition of 13 the phrase "other relevant private sector entities" on page 4 in subsection d(2). So 14 other than that, this was all in effect during your time at FinCEN.
15 So I want to turn your attention to page 1. And first of all, the title of this 16 subsection of the United States Code is called Financial Crimes Enforcement Network, 17 correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Okay. Now -- and subsection (a) states that the Financial Crimes
20 Enforcement Network -- I'm sorry.
21 "The Financial Crimes Enforcement Network established by order of the Secretary
22 of the Treasury on April 25th, 1990, shall be a bureau in the Department of the Treasury,"
23 correct?
24 A Yep.
25 Q Okay.

1 A Yes.

2 Q Now, if we look at subsection (b)(2), it refers to the duties and the powers of

3 the director of FinCEN. And, again, this is part of the record and this is publicly available,

4 so I'm not going to read the entire statute. But I think most relevant to -- to the issues

5 that we're going to be discussing here today, if you look at subsection (2)(B), the director

6 is required to "maintain a governmentwide data access service, with access, in

7 accordance with applicable legal requirements, to the following:"

8 And then it states, "Information collected by the Department of the Treasury,

9 including report information filed under subchapter II of chapter 53 of this title, such as

10 reports on cash transactions, foreign financial agency transactions and relationships,

11 foreign currency transactions, exporting and importing monetary instruments, and 12 suspicious activities."

13 Did I read that correctly?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Okay. And so the suspicious activities, that's a reference to the -- the SARs

16 that we were talking about earlier, correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And, again, so this is Congress telling the director of FinCEN that they're 19 required to maintain a governmentwide data access service with information including 20 SARs?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Now, if you turn the page to paragraph 2, subsection (C) requires the 23 director to "Analyze and disseminate the available data in accordance with applicable

24 legal requirements and policies and guidelines established by the Secretary of Treasury

25 and the Under Secretary of the Treasury for enforcement to -- identify possible criminal

1 activity to appropriate Federal, State, local, Tribal, and foreign law enforcement agencies;
2 and also to support ongoing criminal financial investigations and prosecutions and related
3 proceedings, including civil and criminal tax proceedings."
4 Did I read that correctly?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Okay. And that is consistent with the work that you were trying to carry
7 out at FinCEN?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And some of the other goals of the dissemination of that data include -- if 10 you look at subsection (v) -- "determining emerging trends and methods in money 11 laundering and other financial crimes," correct?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And the next subsection, subsection (vi), supporting -- and these are Roman 14 numerals -- "supporting the conduct of intelligence and counterintelligence activities,
15 including analysis, to protect against terrorism; and to support government initiatives 16 against money laundering," correct?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Okay. And FinCEN is also required, in subsection (D), to "Establish and 19 maintain a financial crimes communications center to furnish law enforcement
20 authorities with intelligence information relating to emerging or ongoing investigations 21 and undercover operations," correct?
22 A Yes.
23 Q And subsection (E) has a much longer description about how FinCEN is 24 required to furnish research, analytical and informational services to financial institutions,
25 and then it goes on a little longer.

1 But, essentially, this is all work that FinCEN is doing, at the end of that subsection,
2 "in the interest of the detection, prevention, and prosecution of terrorism, organized
3 crime, money laundering, and other financial crimes."
4 Did I read that correctly?
5 A I lost you on that last part.
6 Q I'm sorry. I'm -- I'm at subsection (E) on page 2.
7 A Oh, the bottom of that paragraph, yes. Interest -- yes.
8 Q And when you look at that subsection, that is essentially what you were 9 doing when you were passing along typologies and indicators to financial institutions,
10 correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And if you turn to page 3, subsection (K), FinCEN is required to 13 "Communicate regularly with financial institutions and Federal function regulators that 14 examine financial institutions for compliance with subsection II of chapter 53 and" -- I will 15 represent that that is the Bank Secrecy Act -- "promulgated under that subchapter and 16 law enforcement authorities to explain the United States Government's anti-money
17 laundering and countering the financing of terrorism priorities."
18 Did I read that correctly?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And, again, that was part of the mission that you were working towards,
21 correct?
22 A Yes.
23 Q And subsection (L) requires FinCEN to "Give and receive feedback to and 24 from financial institutions, State bank supervisors, State credit union supervisors, as those 25 terms are defined in section 6003 of the anti-money Laundering Act of 2020, regarding

1 the matters addressed in subchapter II of chapter 53 and regulations promulgated under 2 that subchapter," correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And, again, that's a reference to the Bank Secrecy Act, correct? It's okay
5 if --
6 A Yeah, you represent it as such. I don't remember, but yeah.
7 Q Okay. So stepping back, it's clear from this statute and from your 8 testimony that FinCEN's engagement with financial institutions, other members of the 9 private sector and their -- the work that you did liaising between those institutions and 10 law enforcement is something that is required by Congress, it is required by statutes that 11 Congress passed?
12 A Yes.
13 Q Okay. Thank you.
14 Now, I want to talk a little bit about the Bank Secrecy Act, because we -- it's come 15 up a lot already, but I don't think that we've -- we've talked about it at great detail.
16 So at a high level, is it fair to say that the Bank Secrecy Act provides for financial 17 institutions to report information for use in criminal and tax investigations, including 18 reports on suspicious transactions, relevant to a possible violation of law or regulation?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Does that sound right? Okay.
21 Now, I'm going to introduce as an exhibit a letter that was written to the chairman
22 of the Judiciary Committee by the acting assistant secretary of the Office of Legislative 23 Affairs at FinCEN, Mr. Corey Tellez -- or, I'm sorry, the Department of the Treasury. And 24 this will be exhibit 2.
25 [Exhibit No. 2.

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted] And I'm not sure if you've seen this, but whether you have or you

3 haven't, please feel free to take as much time as you need to review it.

4 Did I make enough?

5 [redacted] Great.

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q Okay. So I'm going to turn your attention on page 1 to the last paragraph,

8 and the second sentence says, "First, pursuant to the Bank Secrecy Act, FinCEN is

9 authorized to collect, analyze, and disseminate financial intelligence to law enforcement,

10 national security, and regulatory agencies for use in connections with criminal 11 investigations and related matters."

12 Did I read that correctly?

13 A Yes.

14 Q And, again, that's consistent with your understanding of FinCEN's authority?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And if you look at the footnote, that cites the statute that we just -- we just

17 reviewed --

18 A Yes.

19 Q -- 31 U.S.C. 310, correct?

20 Okay. Now, turning to page -- sorry, excuse me -- 2, in the section called BSA

21 Reporting, Assistant Secretary Tellez says that, "One of the key sources of information

22 that FinCEN uses to carry out its mission are suspicious activity reports, which are filed by

23 banks and other financial institutions that possess customer transactions."

24 Is that your understanding of suspicious activity reports?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And the -- then the letter then says, "The BSA requires that a bank or other
2 financial institution file a SAR whenever it identifies, quote, "a suspicious transaction
3 relevant to a possible violation of law or regulation,'" end quote.
4 Did I read that correctly?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And is that consistent with your understanding of the Bank Secrecy Act?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And, again, the footnote for that is for a different statute, a section of the 9 Bank Secrecy Act, 31 United States Code, section 5318, subsection (g)(1).
10 Did I read that correctly?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Okay. And the assistant secretary goes on to say that, "SARs constitute 13 critical tip-and-lead information that helps law enforcement identify, stop, and 14 apprehend criminal actors."
15 Did I read that correctly?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And is that your understanding of what SARs do?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Okay. Now, going back to banks' obligations under the BSA to file SARs,
20 banks -- the Bank Secrecy Act requires SARs to file -- I'm sorry -- requires banks to file
21 SARs for any transaction that might be relevant to a possible violation of criminal laws.
22 Is that your understanding?
23 A Is that a quote of particular language? Yeah, I think -- I think what's 24 tripping me up is the word "any," because it's not -- I don't want to imply that there's an 25 expectation that every single suspicious transaction get filed. It's -- it's only those that

1 the bank becomes aware of through the implementation of its AML program.

2 Q Okay. And I appreciate that clarification.

3 A Yeah.

4 Q Thank you.

5 And that -- well, we're going to talk about the AML programs in a minute. But,

6 essentially, banks are required to have programs to help them identify transactions that

7 must be reported under the Bank Secrecy Act?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Okay. Thank you.

10 And SARs are used across all -- different types of criminal investigations, correct?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Drug trafficking, for example?

13 A So I don't necessarily have firsthand knowledge because, you know, it wasn't

14 my job at FinCEN to really review or analyze SARs. But as a general matter, my 15 awareness in the industry, yes, for a wide variety of -- of potentially criminal conduct, 16 including drug trafficking.

17 Q And the primary mission of FinCEN, though, is to focus on money laundering

18 and financing of terrorism?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And when a financial institution files a SAR, they file it with FinCEN, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And then it goes into FinCEN's database?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And then FinCEN makes SARs available to law enforcement agencies that 25 have access to those databases?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Okay. And SARs are subject to strict confidentiality provisions under the 3 law, correct?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And, in fact, as your counsel mentioned at the beginning, your -- FinCEN is

6 very sensitive about those provisions and about maintaining those confidentiality

7 provisions?

8 A Absolutely, yes.

9 Q And that was something that, I imagine, you received extensive training on 10 while you were at FinCEN.

11 A Yes.

12 Q And financial institutions file millions of SARs every year. Is that your

13 understanding?

14 A I believe so, yes.

15 Q And as you stated earlier, it is not your understanding that every single one

16 of those millions of SARs is actually viewed --

17 A Correct.

18 Q -- by a law enforcement agent or somebody working at FinCEN?

19 A Correct.

20 Q I imagine there are many that are filed and are never looked at.

21 A I believe so.

22 Q Now, based on your experience in the -- working at a financial institution and

23 working at FinCEN, you're aware that banks do not need a warrant or a subpoena in order

24 to file a SAR, correct?

25 A Correct.

1 Q And FinCEN does not need a warrant or a subpoena in order to receive a SAR
2 from a bank?
3 A Correct.
4 Q And that's because the legal process that authorizes the filing of a SAR is the 5 Bank Secrecy Act itself, correct?
6 A Correct.
7 Q And the Bank Secrecy Act does not require probable cause that a crime has 8 been committed. It's not the same standard as if you were applying for a warrant.
9 A Correct.
10 Q Now, I want to get back to what you mentioned earlier, which is the -- the 11 banks or the financial institutions' anti-money laundering program. So now I'm going to 12 be using the phrase -- or the word "bank" as a shorthand for financial institutions
13 generally just because it's a mouthful otherwise.
14 So it's the bank's responsibility to determine, consistent with the Bank Secrecy Act
15 and its implementing regulations, when it must file a SAR, correct?
16 A Correct.
17 Q And FinCEN can provide guidance or indicators but, ultimately, the 18 responsibility lies with the bank to determine whether or not a SAR is appropriate?
19 A Yes, correct. I mean, I would note that, to my knowledge, FinCEN wouldn't 20 or hasn't provided specific guidance at the SAR level. It would be at the sort of typology 21 red flag level.
22 Q Okay. Can you explain what you mean by that, what that -- what the 23 difference would be?
24 A Like, for example, FinCEN would never or, to my knowledge, has never told a
25 bank, if you see X, it's suspicious, or, you know, this person is a criminal, you must file a

1 SARs on them.

2 FinCEN wouldn't operate at that level of specificity. They would offer high-level

3 typology. You know, here's a description of how a drug trafficker might move money,

4 here's a description of how a fraudster places the money into the system, things -- things

5 that, you know, at that sort of typology level.

6 Q And it's the bank's responsibility to take that information or not and use it

7 to, again, make their own ultimate judgment about whether any particular transaction at 8 their institution merits the filing of a SAR?

9 A Correct. And just to link it back up to what we mentioned earlier, the 10 dissemination of that information, which, as you noted, is required by law for FinCEN to

11 do, does not come with any requirement or expectation as to how it is used or whether it

12 is used.

13 Q Okay. So when FinCEN sends along a typology, a bank can say, you know, 14 not helpful, sorry; we have our own program, and we're not going to use that?

15 A Correct.

16 Q I mean, they wouldn't necessarily say that to your face, but that's what they

17 could -- that's what they could say, you know?

18 A Yes.

19 Q That's how they could approach you?

20 A Sure.

21 Q Or they could say, this is helpful; we might use this?

22 A Correct.

23 Q But, ultimately, FinCEN has no authority over whether or not a bank files a 24 particular SAR?

25 A Correct.

1 Q And banks are actually required to maintain their own AML/CFT programs,
2 correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q Okay. And those programs are designed, among other things, to ensure 5 their compliance with the BSA and that they are detecting and reporting suspicious
6 activity?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Okay. Now, I'm going to introduce another statute that might take me a 9 minute to find.
10 A While you're doing that, this is overly technical, but this is something I did at 11 FinCEN. I believe -- so the AML program is a specific reg. The requirement to file
12 suspicious activity is a separate reg. So I -- it might be technically incorrect to say an 13 AML program requires a filing of a SAR only because that's the way the -- the laws and the 14 statutes are written. The AML program must contain controls in place to identify and 15 detect, and it's all kind of cobbled together.
16 Q And I appreciate -- no, I appreciate that.
17 A Technical correction, but --
18 Q Thank you. And -- and it's a valuable one, because I think I did, in fact,
19 conflate two different statutes and regulations in that question.
20 So I'm going to go ahead and introduce, as exhibit 3, 31 U.S. Code Section 5318,
21 which is another long one. Again, I'm not going to take you through all of it.
22 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3.
23 was marked for identification.]
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q I'm going to turn your attention to page 10 of this printout. It's a really long

1 statute, subsection (h). And subsection (h)(1) provides that, "In order to guard against
2 money laundering and the financing of terrorism through financial institutions, each 3 financial institution shall establish anti-money laundering and countering the financing of 4 terrorism programs."
5 Did I read that correctly?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And then it goes on to -- to list four different aspects that those programs
8 must have, correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q Okay. So, again, this isn't just something that banks do because they want
11 to; it's something that they are required to do by law?
12 A Required. In fact, those four are referred to as pillars.
13 Q Okay. So --
14 A And they're required elements of the AML program.
15 Q Since they're pillars, we might as well read them into the record. They are 16 the development of internal policies, procedures, and controls; the designation of a 17 compliance officer; an ongoing employee training program; and an independent audit
18 function to test programs.
19 Did I read that correctly?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And those are the pillars you were referring to?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Thank you.
24 So financial institutions are required to have -- well, most of them have entire 25 units of employees where that's -- that's just their job, correct, is to work --

1 A It would depend on the size. I mean, there are some baby community
2 banks out there that have like one person sometimes wearing multiple hats, but then
3 there's a Wells Fargo, B of A of the world that will have many, many, many people doing
4 this work.
5 Q And that's the type of work that you did at I believe it was 6 Standard Chartered Bank?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Okay. Thank you.
9 And there are investigators in, particularly the banks that are large enough to have 10 multiple employees and entire compliance units, whose job it is to search and monitor
11 their customers' financial records for suspicious activity that must be reported?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And based on your experience both at a financial institution and at FinCEN,
14 that type of monitoring by a bank, by a financial institution of its own customers' data,
15 that's entirely legal, correct?
16 A Legal and required.
17 Q Legal and required?
18 A Yeah.
19 Q No subpoenas required, no -- no warrant is required?
20 A Correct.
21 Q And stepping back a bit, in addition to the statutes that we've just discussed,
22 part of the reason why banks are able to do that sort of monitoring, whatever monitoring
23 they determine necessary, of their own customers' transaction is because, many years
24 ago, the Supreme Court held that bank records -- customer bank records are the property
25 of the bank, not the individual customer and, therefore, the Fourth Amendment does not

1 apply to bank records.

2 Is that your understanding?

3 A I do not have an understanding one way or the other of that case.

4 Q Okay. But you are more familiar, as I think you just made clear, with all of 5 the statutes and the regulations --

6 A Correct.

7 Q -- that govern the banks and --

8 A And how they are generally understood, whether -- if that came from case

9 law, you know, I can't say one way or the other, but yes.

10 Q Now, in addition to being legally required to be in compliance with the Bank

11 Secrecy Act, banks also have a business interest in ensuring that their customers are not

12 using their products to finance terrorism or other illegal activities, correct?

13 A I mean, colloquially, I suppose I would agree with that. I don't really have 14 an opinion one way or the other on the commercials of it. That makes sense to me.

15 Q I mean, it would make sense to think that if word came out that a particular

16 institution was being used to finance a terrorist attack, that that could cause that

17 institution's stock to plummet --

18 A Absolutely.

19 Q -- or people to --

20 A Headline risk was a major -- yes. And, in fact, when I was in the private

21 sector before FinCEN and now, headline risk is something that compliance personnel

22 discuss.

23 Q And headline risk refers to?

24 A The risk that the company would be in headlines with -- that something

25 negative would be public, such as customers using the institution to facilitate money

1 laundering, terrorism, et cetera.

2 Q Okay. Thank you.

3 And banks can also be penalized for not having effective compliance programs or 4 having compliance programs that don't meet what's required by statute?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And they can incur civil penalties?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Give me just one moment.

9 Okay. We talked a little bit during the previous hour about FinCEN Exchanges,

10 and I want to talk about them a little bit more. And, again, we're just talking generally.

11 We're not going to talk about the particular Exchange right now.

12 So, again, I believe that we've established that while it's the bank's responsibility

13 to identify and report suspicious activity at their institutions, banks regularly engage with

14 both FinCEN and law enforcement agencies in order to understand how criminal actors

15 are operating.

16 Is that a fair statement?

17 A I -- what do you mean by engage? Like, actually communicate with them?

18 Q Communicate.

19 A I would say that the overwhelming majority of regulated financial 20 institutions do not regularly communicate with FinCEN. They, of course, file the 21 required reports with FinCEN. But in terms of actual communication or things of that

22 nature, I would say most do not. And I -- even the ones that do, there's -- there's only a

23 very small handful that I would say do it regularly.

24 Q So when you have a FinCEN Exchange event, is that typically with, like,

25 repeat players, the same --

1 A So, generally, what would happen, if -- if it was a FinCEN Exchange that was 2 tactical on a particular topic, is some combination of law enforcement and the 3 appropriate FinCEN personnel would try to identify, based on the SARs and the other BSA
4 data, which institutions would be most useful to participate and would extend an 5 invitation -- if there was no objection to a particular institution, would extend an 6 invitation to those institutions.
7 Because of the nature of specific banks and just the market share that they have,
8 there were definitely some repeat players just because so many of the financial 9 transactions in our ecosystem go through the same small handful. So those were the 10 ones that would definitely have communicated with FinCEN regularly.
11 Q Okay. And you mentioned invitations. So FinCEN would send out
12 invitations to the financial institutions that it wanted to participate in Exchange events?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And those institutions were free to decline that invitation if they chose?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And the purpose of those Exchanges, again, was for law enforcement to 17 share information, typologies, that sort of information that would help banks -- that 18 FinCEN thought would help banks better identify suspicious transactions on their --
19 A Law enforcement and FinCEN, yes.
20 Q Okay. And -- well, let me back up.
21 Law enforcement is providing, through FinCEN, through the Exchanges, guidance
22 to the banks in these Exchanges about particular terms or particular trends that they're 23 seeing or that they think they might be seeing for banks to keep an eye out for.
24 A Yes.
25 Q Is that a fair statement?

1 A Yes.
2 Q And, again, banks are free to do what they want with that information?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And FinCEN Exchanges were actually developed as a means to facilitate this
5 sort of information sharing between banks and law enforcement, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And is it a two-way street? Do banks share information as well?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Okay. And so banks will sometimes alert other banks or law enforcement
10 to, these are some of the trends that we're seeing, or these are the search terms that we 11 use to help identify suspicious activities?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And as we just established, banks are -- this is something that banks are 14 doing on their own regularly because they're required by statute to identify suspicious
15 activity?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And also because they just don't want their institutions to be used to finance
18 terrorism or to be engaged in money laundering?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And while you were still at FinCEN, Congress actually codified the FinCEN
21 Exchange as part of the anti-money Laundering Act of 2020. Is that your understanding?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Okay. And so what that means is that, through legislation, Congress 24 actually formalized this mechanism for law enforcement to share information with 25 financial -- financial institutions?

1 A Correct.

2 Q For national security and to combat the financing of terrorism?

3 A I don't recall the specific language of the statute and what the purposes

4 were that were enumerated, but that's generally my understanding.

5 Q And I believe in the earlier hour you were asked about, again, the mission

6 statement of FinCEN Exchanges, and you said that you would defer to FinCEN on that

7 since you're no longer there.

8 And I just want to introduce into the record a FinCEN fact sheet -- FinCEN

9 Exchange fact sheet that FinCEN put out.

10 Are we on exhibit 4 now?

11 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 4.

12 was marked for identification.]

13 [redacted] Okay.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q Okay. So if we look at just the very beginning of this fact sheet, it says that

16 on January 1st, 2021, Congress enacted the anti-money Laundering Act of 2020, and that

17 section 6103 of that Act establishes the FinCEN Exchange to facilitate a voluntary

18 public-private information-sharing partnership between law enforcement agencies,

19 national security agencies, financial institutions, and FinCEN to effectively combat money

20 laundering, terrorism financing, organized crime and other financial crimes; protect the 21 financial system from illicit use; and promote national security.

22 Did I read that correctly.

23 A Yes.

24 Q And is that your understanding with FinCEN's mission?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. And, "The objective of FinCEN Exchange is to develop, deliver, and 2 sustain innovative public-private information sharing in order to enable the private sector
3 to better identify risks and provide FinCEN and law enforcement with critical information
4 to disrupt money laundering, terrorism financing, and other financial crimes."
5 Did I read that correctly?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And, again, is that consistent with your understanding of the FinCEN
8 Exchange?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And is that consistent with the work that you were doing in setting up
11 FinCEN Exchanges?
12 A Yes.
13 Q Now, I believe you said earlier, far more articulately than I ever could, that 14 FinCEN would never direct a bank, you must file a SAR if you see X, correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q And so when FinCEN provides banks with typologies, it's not FinCEN's intent
17 to say that, if you see any one of the phrases in these typologies, file a SAR?
18 A Correct.
19 Q It's something that is just used as guidance for banks to consider in terms of 20 all of the other factors they consider when they're determining whether or not to file a
21 SAR?
22 A That's correct. I would add, a lot of times, it's to help them narrow the 23 scope of what they're looking at, right. So -- especially if you talk about the really large 24 institutions that have millions of customers, millions -- millions and millions of 25 transactions. They're running -- their program will run -- it's called the detection

1 scenario -- but run a pretty high-level algorithm to capture generic red flags. That's
2 what an investigator is looking at to try to figure out if they should file a SAR.
3 If FinCEN or law enforcement is able to provide a financial institution with higher
4 quality red flags, it helps narrow the focus of what they have to look for and makes it
5 more likely that they might be able to identify suspicious activity, but it in no way implies
6 that that makes something suspicious in and of itself. It's -- it's a -- it's an attempt to 7 improve their ability to search for suspicious activity.
8 Q Okay. And banks can take that information and then integrate it into the 9 other types of red flags or the other types of investigative techniques that they might 10 use?
11 A Correct.
12 Q So, for example, if FinCEN submits some typologies and a bank identifies a 13 customer whose transactions fit some of those typologies, bank investigators might then 14 choose to investigate that customer a little more closely, for example, by looking at their 15 social media, correct? Is that something that banks do?
16 A Yes, that is something that could be done, that sometimes a bank would do,
17 sure.
18 Q So banks are, in your experience on both sides of -- of this relationship, doing
19 more holistic investigations of their customers than just using FinCEN typologies?
20 A Correct.
21 Q But the typologies are there because, as you said, some of these banks have 22 millions and millions of customers, and you want to make sure that their searches are as 23 efficient and as effective as possible?
24 A Correct.
25 Q And you're doing that to, ultimately, protect the safety of Americans and of 1 our financial institutions, correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q And, again, when FinCEN sends out this guidance and sends out these red

4 flags, it is ultimately the bank's responsibility to determine whether or not to use them

5 and whether or not to file any SARs if they do use them?

6 A Correct.

7 Q FinCEN does not ask banks to file SARs?

8 A Correct.

9 Q FinCEN does not instruct banks to file SARs?

10 A Not at any specific level of granularity. I mean, they're required to have a 11 program generally to file SARs.

12 Q Correct.

13 A But, no, not --

14 Q But not a particular SAR?

15 A Correct. Not at a topical or a specific level, correct.

16 Q You're simply there to help provide guidance to help the banks comply with 17 their responsibilities and help keep us all safe?

18 A Correct. And to do what we're required to do, right. One of the statutes

19 you submitted earlier requires us to analyze the data that's given to us and disseminate

20 those typologies. That's -- that's -- FinCEN views that as a requirement of the statute.

21 Q Thank you very much.

22 [redacted] And we can go off the record.

23 [Recess.]

24 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q I just want to run through a few questions, and then we can -- can move to
2 another topic.
3 Earlier you mentioned an example where a financial inst- -- the FBI was seeking 4 data from a financial institution, and the financial institution misunderstood the things
5 that it could share.
6 Do you recall that.
7 A Yes.
8 Q Was there ever an example where the FBI was seeking data from a financial 9 institution that it wasn't entitled to receive?
10 A So, yeah, let me -- let me clarify what the example was. The answer to 11 your question is no, not that I recall.
12 The SARs statute provides that law enforcement is able to obtain, under the BSA,
13 without additional process, supporting documentation that underlies the filing of a SAR.
14 So what happens, in practice, is a law enforcement agent will be querying the database,
15 they'll see a particular SAR. It might be relevant to their investigation, so they will reach 16 out to the filing institution and ask for that supporting documentation. Could be a file of 17 transactions, a screenshot of something that was, you know, a Google result -- I mean,
18 who knows? But that's what that mechanism is, and that's just provided for in the BSA.
19 And financial institutions are allowed and required to turn that over to law enforcement.
20 A less sophisticated institution sometimes might not fully appreciate that they're 21 allowed to do that without process, et cetera. So there's that -- a point of confusion
22 that sometimes would come to FinCEN that we would be able to clarify and help.
23 I'm not aware of an example of what I had described outside of what I just 24 described. Any other kind of data or that law enforcement was seeking outside of what 25 I just described, I'm not familiar with.

1 Q Moving back to the audits. Did you audit every agency that had access to
2 the BSA data?
3 A I'm going to answer that this way: Every agency that had access to data
4 was in scope of the audit program. I don't have, of course, any specific recollection
5 about which specific agencies were and were not audited while I was at FinCEN.
6 Q So some agencies may have not been audited?
7 A Correct. I just don't recall.
8 [redacted] Just during your time at FinCEN, but presumably at some point,
9 they are subject to audits if they have access to the data?
10 [redacted] Yes. I mean, they're always subject to the audit and, presumably, 11 at some point, unless their access is quite new, an audit would have been performed at 12 some point of a particular agency.
13 [redacted] What was the name of those results, those audit results? Like,
14 was it a kind of report, was it a memorandum?
15 [redacted] Yeah. It was a report -- not sure I recall if it was in the form of a 16 memo or whatnot, but some written documentation of the conclusions of the staffer that 17 performed the audit.

1 [12:11 p.m.]

2 [redacted] Into the agency being audited?

3 [redacted] Oh, no. That would be internal documentation. I don't recall

4 there being any actual -- unless something needed to be addressed, I don't recall that

5 there was any like results or report delivered to the agency being audited.

6 [redacted] Yeah. Okay. So internally what were those audit results

7 titled? How was that --

8 [redacted] Oh, I don't recall. It would have just been a written report. I use

9 "report" very generally to mean something written that documented to an extent the 10 conclusions of the auditor and the steps performed internal to FinCEN.

11 [redacted] I just want to make sure we're using "audit" like in the same

12 context, because this is not -- I think what you're talking about is not an audit by like the

13 Treasury OIG or the Treasury auditors. This is like an audit inspection by FinCEN

14 employees.

15 So I just want to make sure we're using the term "audit" in the same way. Is that

16 accurate?

17 [redacted] Yeah. No, no. Thank you.

18 Not at all OIG, GAO related. No private sector involvement. This is purely the

19 agencies that have access to the FinCEN database, FinCEN personnel examining that 20 access called an audit, and then documenting those conclusions internally.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q Are you familiar with Agency Integrated Access?

23 A Agency Integrated Access?

24 I recall the term, so I might be able to -- I don't recall anything specific, but if there

25 is something that can jog my memory, I'm happy to take a look at it. But I recall the 1 term.

2 Q It may relate to the memorandums of understanding that certain agencies

3 have with FinCEN and accessing BSA data? And maybe we can just talk about those 4 memorandums of understanding.

5 A Sure, sure, sure. Yes.

6 Q Can you talk about in general what the function of the memorandums of 7 understanding served?

8 A Sure, to an extent. They were sort of jointly owned by my division and 9 counsel. They're, I guess, contracts, if you will.

10 But it basically provided for the legal authorities under which the access was being

11 provided. It would contain the manner of expected usage, limitations on usage, if any.

12 Just by way of example, the MOU for a traditional law enforcement agency might

13 look different than an -- will look different than an MOU for a regulator, which would look

14 different than an MOU for a member of the intelligence community, different authorities,

15 different functions.

16 And the MOU would provide for the parameters under which a particular agency

17 would be able to access and use the data.

18 Q How could a memorandum change -- a memorandum of understanding

19 change the parameters by which a law enforcement agency, for example, could access 20 that data?

21 A Well, it would set out the permissible parameters. And, generally, it would 22 be aligned with the mission of the law enforcement agency.

23 So, as you know, law enforcement agencies, members of the intelligence

24 community, regulators, they all operate under specific authorities that allow them to do

25 things and not do things.

1 So the MOU, by and large, would document that the user would only be able to
2 use the data in a manner consistent with their authorities and their mission.
3 Q And so --
4 A And FinCEN's mission and authorities as well.
5 Q And so they could take the data in the FinCEN database and then use it to 6 run their own analytics according to the terms of the memorandums of understanding?
7 A And I think you just reminded me on what Integrated Access meant.
8 So the overwhelming majority of agencies that accessed FinCEN data did so
9 through FinCEN Portal. There were a small -- there was a small handful of agencies that 10 had the ability to ingest the data into its own systems.
11 If I'm not mistaken, I believe that the term Integrated Access is a reference to that.
12 Q From our understanding that's also correct.
13 A Yeah. Okay. I think, just getting your question.
14 So I think that was the term that was created to reference those agencies that had 15 FinCEN data ingested into their own systems.
16 I don't have any specific recollection on how they queried their systems and what 17 capabilities those systems had. I don't recall.
18 Q Do you recall which agencies used Agency Integrated Access?
19 A I don't specifically, no.
20 Q Are there any restrictions on how individuals can access or use the FinCEN
21 Portal?
22 [redacted] Well, I think you just described the MOUs that set out those 23 restrictions.
24 But are you asking --
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Well, the FinCEN Portal is different than AIA, right?
2 A Well, all of it would have an MOU, though.
3 Q Okay.
4 A Every agency that had access of any manner had an MOU in place. The 5 MOU would provide for the type of access. So if an agency had that form of access, it
6 would have been addressed in the MOU.
7 Q Okay.
8 A And so, yeah. So to your question, like, primarily, I would defer to the 9 MOU in terms of the restrictions.
10 Of course, we're talking about sensitive agencies. We're talking about law
11 enforcement agencies, regulators. So they had controls on their side in terms of who 12 has access to their systems or who was granted access to FinCEN's system.
13 The janitor and the tech guy probably didn't have the login credentials to do it.
14 But that sort of -- I'm not sure if that answers your question.
15 Q I'll switch gears.
16 How does FinCEN use advisories and typologies, other key terms, as part of the 17 Bank Secrecy Act regime? You touched on this a little bit earlier. I just want to put a 18 finer point on it.
19 A Well, a lot of ways.
20 So FinCEN's analysis of the data can help us derive those typologies to begin with.
21 FinCEN itself and our law enforcement partners would use those typologies to inform 22 their own analysis to either find suspicious activity or derive new typologies or more 23 refined typologies.
24 You mentioned advisories. You know, we -- FinCEN would disseminate those 25 typologies. We had multiple mechanisms to do so, but certainly an advisory was a

1 major one where FinCEN would publicly publish something, usually topical, and would go
2 through those typologies and red flags on that topic.
3 Q Which office at FinCEN is responsible for analyzing the BSA data?
4 A Depends on the purpose for which it's being analyzed. If you're talking
5 about from a typology perspective, I would say primarily it would be the Intelligence
6 Division, which is not a member of the IC. It's not to be confused with the intelligence
7 community.
8 Q Are SARs ever deleted from the FinCEN Portal?
9 A For the most part, I would say I'm not the right person to ask.
10 The only thing I can recall, there was -- so sometimes you have like duplicate
11 filings or other technical errors that we would sort of de-dupe. I'm not sure if things
12 were deleted. The word I recall is "suppression."
13 So there may be -- there was a mechanism, I think, to ensure that those things
14 weren't popping up on the searches in a redundant manner.
15 I don't have any recollection one way or the other of whether there were any 16 substantive deletions or suppressions or anything of that nature.
17 [redacted] Is FinCEN notified when a SAR is reviewed, when one of these 18 divisions runs a query?
19 [redacted] FinCEN has access to that information. I don't recall
20 the mechanism. When you say notified, I don't know if there's a ping or something like
21 that.
22 But, yes, FinCEN personnel have the ability to see who is searching and what 23 they're searching.
24 [redacted] So each query that is run there is a record of that somewhere?
25 [redacted] To the best of my recollection, I believe that's correct.

1 [redacted] And I want to make sure we're distinguishing between a
2 record.
3 Are you aware of anyone at FinCEN affirmatively getting notice any time someone
4 conducts a review in the BSA database?
5 [redacted] I don't believe --
6 [redacted] Anyone in your division.
7 [redacted] I don't recall. I don't recall that one way or the other.
8 [redacted] We talked about earlier, in the earlier hour, the private sector
9 sharing materials with your office.
10 Verbal response, please.
11 [redacted] Oh, sorry.
12 [redacted] Was that a question?
13 [redacted] Yes, we talked about that earlier?
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Yes.
16 A Oh, okay.
17 Q And what kinds of materials do the private sector often share? Or did it 18 depend?
19 A Yeah, I mean, it would depend. So they would, of course, file all the 20 required reports, SARs, CTRs, whatever was required, and that would go in the database.
21 I don't know if that's what you meant by sharing, but that would be a form of it.
22 You know, there are of course limitations to what they can share. They can't 23 share PII or anything of that nature outside of what allows them to do so, such as a SAR or 24 if it's a subpoena for law enforcement or something like that.
25 If you're talking about like the red flag typology level, it would depend on the

1 context. It could be a FinCEN Exchange where we're talking about a particular topic and 2 a financial institution in attendance might offer some high level, "Here's the trend that
3 we're seeing," or, "Here's a search that we found helpful to find X," things of that nature.
4 Q So when you received those materials, what did you do next with them?
5 [redacted] So I guess can we first establish like would you personally have 6 received those materials?
7 [redacted] Well, so it's -- not to go all Bill Clinton. It depends on what you
8 mean by "receive."
9 So a lot of this might be like a verbal conversation where -- I'm not sure there was 10 an official receipt. I mean, there may have been someone taking notes. Really it was a 11 collaborative discussion. So there may not have been anything physically received.
12 To the extent that that constitutes receipt, I would have been in the room. So I
13 would have been someone who heard the info, but it certainly wasn't my role to do
14 anything with the substance.
15 I and my staff, we didn't analyze SARs. We didn't engage in typologies and red
16 flags. You know, when it came to those kinds of collaborative efforts, we were more
17 logistics and planning the event and other components. Law enforcement attendees 18 would be sort of engaged in the substance.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q Did the private sector ever flag or make you aware of particular SARs that 21 had been filed with FinCEN?
22 A So I can confidently say never in the context of a FinCEN Exchange because it
23 would have been a violation of confidentiality for them to discuss specific SARs in the 24 presence of other members of the private sector.
25 I don't have specific -- I do have a general recollection that there were times a

1 financial institution flagged for FinCEN a particular filing, like, "You should take a look at 2 this."
3 In fact, FinCEN also maintains a hotline for like emergency -- if somebody sees
4 something, was like, "Oh, crap, I need to pick up the phone and call somebody," FinCEN
5 actually has a hotline for that.
6 So I do have a general recollection that that occurred.
7 Q Did other liaison offices share information with the private sector, or would
8 that have always went through the Office of Stakeholder Engagement and Integration?
9 A No. I mean, it's such a broad question. There were certainly reasons why
10 multiple of FinCEN's components would have reason to exchange information with 11 stakeholders.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q Just a clarifying question. The hotline two responses ago you mentioned, 14 that's separate from the customer support?
15 A I'm not even sure if it's -- I think it's a different phone number.
16 Q Okay.
17 A I'm not sure if that's your question. But it's a separate mechanism, yes.
18 It's a different team.
19 Q And who is on the receiving -- yeah, which team is on the receiving end of
20 that?
21 A Oh, gosh. I don't know what division they're in. That's a good question.
22 I don't know.
23 Q It's not your division?
24 A I don't -- it wasn't my office.
25 Q Okay.

1 A I don't believe -- I was deputy at a division for a minute. So I'm trying to
2 remember.
3 I don't recall who sits on the other side of that, of the substantive hotline. The 4 customer support was a different office within SOD.
5 Q Do you remember the internal name of what the substantive hotline was 6 called, like if we needed to reference it?
7 A I think it's literally called FinCEN Hotline. It's on the website somewhere.
8 Actually, I think it might even be in the regulation. I don't -- I want to say I believe it was 9 FinCEN Hotline, but I don't specifically recall.
10 Q And understanding you're going off a general recollection, you don't have a 11 specific recollection of an example, do you have a sense of how many times this hotline
12 would be used?
13 A No. No idea. And I don't even have a ballpark. I wasn't engaged in that, 14 not at all.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q When you would share materials in a FinCEN Exchange event or typologies, 17 what sort of approval process did you go through, if any, before sending those materials
18 out?
19 A Yeah. So let me take a bit of a step back.
20 "You," meaning [redacted] or FinCEN, right?
21 So I would not have been involved in the creation or analysis of any of that 22 information. So I can't speak to the extent to which -- I can't speak to what the approval
23 process was for that information to be finalized within FinCEN.
24 If at some point it came to me or my staff for dissemination, that -- I mean, at a 25 minimum, I would make sure that my direct leadership was -- approved of that.

1 At times -- again, from a dissemination perspective, which is all I can speak to -- at 2 times that may also include consulting FinCEN counsel and consulting FinCEN front office.
3 But, again, I can only speak to the dissemination. The actual content of what I
4 was disseminating, I can't speak to at all.
5 Q So when you received those -- the content that you were disseminating, who 6 did that ordinarily come from?
7 A Usually it would come from the Intelligence Division. It could come from 8 the front office if there was like a member of the director's staff that was working with 9 other FinCEN components or harmonizing. But to the best of my recollection, it
10 probably usually would have been the Intelligence Division.
11 Q And what are the ways you could share that information or disseminate it?
12 A I mean, assuming I got approval to disseminate it, it could be email. I'm 13 trying to remember if there was any kind of like secure portal, whatever. You know,
14 obviously, the private sector doesn't have access to the FinCEN database.
15 So my recollection is it was primarily email or presentation at an event. So there
16 were some times where something was spoken about verbally in an exchange or BSAAG
17 or something that wasn't physically disseminated.
18 Q Did your office coordinate with other Federal agencies, like the IRS?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Can you describe the -- that nature of that coordination?
21 A Yeah. Our relationship with the IRS would primarily have been one of two 22 components, either IRS CI in its capacity as a Federal law enforcement agency, or IRS
23 SBSE, which I think stands for Small Business and Self-Employed, which IRS is a functional 24 regulator as well.
25 So I was -- we're not usually talking with the tax folks as we think of IRS normally.

1 So it was the IRS as a law enforcement agency or the IRS as a regulator.

2 Q And did you disseminate the kinds of materials that were also disseminated

3 to the private sector to the IRS?

4 A Well, the IRS would have had access to the FinCEN database.

5 To the extent that the IRS had a reason to be on the dissemination, if you will, so

6 like, for example, if IRS CI was the law enforcement stakeholder for FinCEN Exchange,

7 then presumably they would have been in the room when these things were discussed.

8 I don't have a specific recollection, but I may have disseminated something to them in 9 that context.

10 Q What about the Department of Homeland Security? Did you work with 11 them?

12 A Yes. I would say, again, in their capacity as a law enforcement agency.

13 Q Did you work with any intelligence agencies?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Which ones?

16 A Well, most, if not all, would have access to the database. So I would work

17 with them in that context from a data access perspective, MOU perspective.

18 There were one or two projects at the Top Secret level that I can't speak about

19 that I had some touch points to with the IC. But, again, as someone who was not 20 engaged in substantive analysis, I had very little engagement with IC.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q For the IRS, for the law enforcement wing, would you have similar

23 interactions to what you had with Federal law enforcement where --

24 A Yeah, I mean, they're one of the big five. So IRS CI would have been like

25 DEA, FBI to me. It was just a big Federal law enforcement agency.

1 Q You had mentioned when disseminating information there might be
2 occasions where it called on elevating up to the front office. What types of information
3 would you feel would be appropriate to elevate to the front office's attention?
4 A So I'm not sure it's a matter of elevating. If I was being asked to 5 disseminate something, then I would need approval to feel comfortable disseminating it.
6 It's possible that the person who gave it to me was of sufficient. It could have been the 7 senior adviser for the director or the head of ID, Intelligence. I mean, it could have been 8 somebody where I didn't feel the need to get somebody else's approval. It could have 9 been somebody where I would go to my leadership.
10 It sounds like you're more asking about like what kind of issue might I have seen
11 that would cause me to escalate something. Like, I guess I'm not really clear on what 12 you mean.
13 Q In an earlier response, you gave a pretty clear bottom line in your head as far
14 as creation and assessment versus dissemination. And then so just focus on that latter 15 category.
16 A Uh-huh.
17 Q Either specific recollections or a hypothetical based off your experience and 18 your job, what types of information where you had received an instruction that this can 19 be disseminated would you look at and say, "This is something I should at least flag," or -- 20 A Oh, I see what you mean.
21 I'm not sure that it was a specific type of information that would cause me to feel 22 compelled to get approval one way or the other. As a general matter, I would get 23 approval.
24 I mean, we weren't regularly in the business of just sending stuff to financial 25 institutions. It would have been in context, an advisory that is published, a FinCEN

1 Exchange that we are hosting, a BSAAG working group that we are facilitating.
2 It is not the case that somebody would come to me and say, "Hey, here's a
3 PowerPoint. Can you send this to X, Y, Z bank?" That's really not something that
4 happened.
5 So that's why I'm sort of struggling to answer the question, because the 6 information I was being asked to disseminate would have been in the context of a
7 particular reason to disseminate.
8 And so I would either have prior knowledge that I was able to disseminate, and I
9 was expecting to receive something, and once I did and the appropriate people made me
10 feel comfortable that it was what I could disseminate, I would do it, or I would ask my 11 boss.
12 But it wasn't like I read something and said, "Ooh, this is about X. I'd better ask 13 somebody first." It wasn't really a substantive assessment, if that makes sense.
14 Q Was there any part in the process that you played where you were 15 conducting any sort of substantive assessment?
16 A Not that I can recall. I've been telling you guys on the phone for 6 months
17 you've got the wrong guy. But I don't recall. I don't think I ever did that at FinCEN.
18 Q For the Intelligence Division, who was the head of that when you were at 19 FinCEN?
20 A For most of the time I was there, it was a guy named Jimmy Kirby.
21 Q Kirby?
22 A Yeah, K-i-r-b-y. I believe he's still at FinCEN, or at least he was as of a 23 couple months ago.
24 [redacted] He is.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Who is the right guy?

2 A The right guy of?

3 Q Well, you said we don't have the right guy.

4 A Oh, it depends what your question is.

5 I mean, if you want to talk about the substance of what we were exchanging at 6 FinCEN Exchange, it would be law enforcement or maybe Jimmy.

7 Q Did you coordinate with any offices from the FBI?

8 A For what?

9 Q Did you coordinate with any offices from the FBI?

10 A Coordinate what?

11 Q Did you communicate with offices from the FBI?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Do you remember which offices?

14 [redacted] I think he's already testified about this. Like, I mean, he

15 testified about this at the very beginning of your questioning. So is there a specific topic

16 you want to ask him about?

17 [redacted] Did you work with the Strategic Partner Engagement Section?

18 [redacted] Not that I -- yeah, I mean, I would reiterate what I said earlier, which

19 is I'm not sure I ever knew or identified or distinguished where they came from. So I

20 couldn't really tell you one way or the other what office they were from.

21 [redacted] Did you interact with Peter Sullivan?

22 [redacted] I recall the name. I don't have any specific recollection of any

23 particular engagement with him.

24 [redacted] With the understanding you don't have any specific recollection, at a

25 general level, do you recall what types of issues or what might occasion interacting with

1 Mr. Sullivan?

2 [redacted] No. Like zero. I just vaguely recall the name.

3 [redacted] As part of your vague recollection, do you recall ever meeting him in

4 person or at those meetings? Any additional context?

5 [redacted] No.

6 [redacted] Are you aware of FinCEN sending SARs directly to the FBI or any

7 other law enforcement agency?

8 [redacted] I would ask there what you mean by "sending," just because

9 FinCEN makes them available pretty much immediately to all law enforcement agents

10 that have an MOU. So what do you mean by "send"?

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Aside from access via the Portal, was a SAR ever directed to the FBI?

13 A I generally recall there were times where we would flag specific filing ID

14 numbers to them with which they could use to query the database and get the 15 information through the standard mechanism. And that was actually a control that

16 FinCEN had in place.

17 We tried to minimize as much as possible access to BSA data outside of the 18 normal channels because, just from a governance and tracking perspective, we wanted it

19 to be through the normal channels.

20 So I don't recall physically sending SARs or that happening one way or the other.

21 I don't recall.

22 I do, again, generally recall that there were times when we would say here's a list

23 of five ID numbers to look up.

24 Q Have you ever heard of executives at financial institutions sending SARs via a

25 secure email portal directly to the FBI once the SAR is published on the FinCEN Portal?

1 A So that would be something -- I don't have any specific recollection, but that
2 would be something that would be fairly common as part of that SARs supporting
3 documentation mechanism I mentioned earlier.
4 A lot of times a draft copy of the bank's version of the SAR before it actually gets 5 filed with FinCEN will be in the folder of documents that the bank would turn over when 6 requested.
7 Q And you mentioned a moment ago FinCEN using references when filing SARs
8 related to certain topics.
9 A I'm not sure what you mean by references to topics.
10 Q We'll just introduce an email from [redacted] dated January 15th,
11 2021, with the subject line "Capitol Riots" into the record as exhibit 1.
12 [redacted] 5.
13 [redacted] Oops, 5.
14 [redacted] I randomly have a sticker with exhibit 5 on it if you want it.
15 You've got it?
16 [redacted] Thanks.
17 [redacted] Got it.
18 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 5.
19 was marked for identification.]
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Do you remember this email?
22 A Not specifically, no.
23 Q Can you describe the purpose of the reference that you outlined in this
24 email?
25 A What reference are you -- oh, the second to the last bullet?

1 Q Yes.

2 A Right.

3 So as part of our advisory program -- so when FinCEN would publish an advisory,

4 they would usually include a specific term.

5 I mean, it would be -- it wouldn't have any meaning necessarily. It would just be

6 a term with a request that institutions filing SARs related to this topic include that term

7 for ease of searchability for law enforcement and FinCEN -- tracking, metrics, what's the 8 value of our advisory, et cetera, et cetera.

9 So I believe that -- my recollection is there was an effort to do that here so when

10 SARs were filed related to this topic we would be able to retrieve them quickly and easily.

11 Q That topic being the Capitol riots?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And are you aware whether this reference was also shared with other

14 Federal agencies? Would they be aware of it?

15 A I don't recall. I would not have been the one to have those conversations

16 with Federal agencies, so I don't know.

17 Q Who would have had those conversations?

18 A Intelligence Division possibly, front office personnel possibly, my chain of 19 command, AnnaLou, possibly.

20 [redacted] And just so it's clear for the record, if somebody from, say, the 21 FBI was looking at a filing that had this in the BSA portal, would they be able to see it?

22 Would they be able to see that filing code if a SAR had used that filing code?

23 [redacted] Yeah, it's usually thrown into what they call the narrative. The SAR

24 form has mostly fixed fields and then there's like a narrative field where you actually

25 describe the conduct. So generally it was just a reference that was thrown into the

1 narrative in the free form field.

2 But if a law enforcement or anybody with access to the data -- database -- knew to

3 search for the code, they could retrieve the SARs that had that code.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q The email also thanks the invitees for their time earlier today. Was there a

6 call or Zoom before this email was sent, to your recollection?

7 A I don't specifically recall. That's certainly what it sounds like.

8 Q Do you know if there were any other Federal agencies besides FinCEN on the 9 call?

10 A I do have a general recollection that some of the calls that we had with this

11 group around this time also included law enforcement. I don't know what specific 12 conversation this is referring to and who was on it.

13 Q Do you know what law enforcement would have been on related calls?

14 A I actually don't have a specific recollection. I know we're talking about the 15 FBI. I don't have a specific recollection other than I know it was some DOJ components.

16 I do recall some AUSAs -- or I don't remember if it was Main Justice or AUSAs -- but I do

17 recall some of the lawyers.

18 And I have since gathered, just based on the reports you all have filed and 19 whatnot, it was the FBI, but I don't actually specifically recall.

20 Q The email also notes there will be daily Zoom invites. What purpose did

21 those further conversations have? And that's in the last bullet.

22 A So my recollection in the aftermath of January 6th is that there were ongoing

23 concerns not just about those who had participated in those events but ongoing concerns

24 about the possibility of future events.

25 I don't remember the date of the inauguration, but, obviously, the inauguration

1 was very shortly after the 6th, and there were concerns about that.

2 So I do know that when we stood up this group at some point we went to a

3 cadence where we spoke daily, more than once a week, I don't remember the specific

4 cadence -- obviously, at some point daily was contemplated -- to touch base on this topic.

5 Q The email also notes the "standard e-file process." Could you describe

6 that?

7 A That would have just been a reference to how the financial institutions filed

8 SARs in the normal course of business. And just to get ahead of you, and I know you

9 actually -- this jogs my memory of a question you asked a few minutes ago.

10 So FinCEN maintained this system called SISS, Secure Information Sharing System,

11 which the system serves multiple purposes, but it has the ability for financial institutions

12 with access to the system to submit files to FinCEN.

13 So not to get too technical, and I'm not the right person anyway, when a financial

14 institution files a form with FinCEN, whether it's a SAR or some other form, there is like a

15 day or two of a lag in it process -- like, it's got to process and do computer stuff that I

16 can't tell you about.

17 And so there was a conversation in this context about asking the group to upload

18 their SARs into SISS so we had access to them immediately rather than waiting until 19 they've completed the sort of technological process.

20 So we were asking them to file as you normally would, but please also put this

21 code in and please also upload it to SISS.

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q Had you ever made that request before?

24 A I don't recall.

25 Q Had there been other occasions during your time at FinCEN that warranted

1 either having or considering daily Zooms or daily meetings?

2 A I don't recall.

3 Q Your answer about your general recollection about calls around this time

4 and not the one referenced in this email, about members from DOJ writ large, do you

5 recall any titles or names of DOJ personnel that you recognized on the calls?

6 A I do believe there was at least one AUSA.

7 Q Do you recall from which office or his or her name?

8 A No, I'm afraid not. I don't. I'm sorry.

9 Q Was it an AUSA that you had worked with previously?

10 A I don't recall.

11 Do you mind if I ask -- and, obviously, you're not going to tell me what's

12 redacted -- but is this law enforcement contact info that's redacted? Because it looks

13 like a handful of -- or are these just the name of people at these institutions that are

14 redacted?

15 [redacted] Yes.

16 [redacted] Okay.

17 [redacted] And it's my understanding that these are the institutions that you

18 sent the invite to.

19 [redacted] Got it. Okay. Understood. Thanks.

20 [redacted] Were there -- sorry. One more.

21 There is reference to daily Zooms. During this time, obviously, January 2021, the 22 pandemic is still going on, were there any in-person meetings that occurred?

23 [redacted] Not that I recall.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q And why did you ask, "For all SARs filed related to this topic, please alert us

1 of the filing"? Was it normal for FinCEN employees to be alerted?

2 A Which bullet is that?

3 Q It's the fifth bullet.

4 A "For all SARs filed related to this topic, please alert us."

5 So what was your question?

6 Q Why did you ask to be alerted to all SARs filed related to this topic?

7 A I believe just because we wanted to know -- we wanted the knowledge as

8 soon as it was sent to us. You know, we didn't want to have to -- we didn't want there

9 to be a lag between when the information was submitted and when we queried it or 10 whatnot. We just asked for a heads-up that it was there.

11 Q And so once you were alerted to a SAR, what happened next?

12 A I don't recall, and I wouldn't have been involved.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q Who would have been involved?

15 A If somebody was looking at the SAR or reading the SAR. I don't recall ever

16 even reviewing any of the SARs we received because that would have been substantive 17 analysis that was outside of my remit.

18 Q As it related to the events on January 6th and the days and weeks following,

19 which teams within FinCEN were taking the lead on that?

20 A To the best of my recollection, it would have been the Intelligence Division.

21 Q Do you have any sense of which offices within the division?

22 A No.

23 Q In advance of like the daily Zoom calls or calls during this period, would there

24 typically be internal FinCEN-only pre-meetings?

25 A I can safely say that that happened. We certainly had pre-meets, and we

1 absolutely would not have gone into this cold at the outset. I can't say whether there
2 was a pre-meet, for example, before each call or each further discussion. I would
3 suspect not. But I don't recall.
4 Q Which personnel from FinCEN would most commonly attend any
5 pre-meetings during this time period?
6 A Listen, ultimately my answer is I don't recall. A little bit of it would depend
7 on the nature of the pre-meet.
8 If it was a bit of a logistical pre-meet, like who's going to say what, when, and how 9 are we going to administer the discussion, that might just be, for example, my staff and I
10 and my leadership.
11 Maybe counsel would have joined, maybe front office would have joined, maybe 12 Intelligence Division would have joined, but if that was just logistics, maybe not.
13 If it was actually a discussion of substance, it would have included Intelligence
14 Division. And I can say that confidently because that's what would have happened.
15 But I don't actually have a specific recollection of any of the particular meetings.
16 Q Which personnel from the Intelligence Division would have likely 17 participated in any substantive pre-meetings?
18 A I don't specifically recall which members of that division were involved in any 19 particular topic. I would refer you -- the head of the division was Jimmy. The deputy 20 head, who is listed on here, was Kim Donovan. Those are the two.
21 That's not to say that they would have been on the calls at their level. I don't 22 recall one way or the other. But those are the only two names I recall from the 23 Intelligence Division definitely being involved generally.
24 Q For these types of calls around this timeframe -- daily Zooms, but not quite 25 daily -- what was FinCEN's protocol for taking any notes, recording minutes?

1 A I don't recall.

2 Q Outside of this context, just generally, was there a practice or a protocol as

3 far as how notes or if notes should be taken?

4 A As a general matter for the FinCEN Exchange program, I do recall there

5 would be someone at FinCEN to take notes. I don't recall whether that included -- I

6 don't recall whether those notes would have covered the whole discussion.

7 In other words, when -- if it was in the context -- like, if there were actual tactical

8 discussions of typologies, things like that, I don't recall whether or not there were notes

9 maintained on that. I just don't recall.

10 [redacted] Do you recall whether 2 weeks after the AML Act codifying

11 FinCEN Exchange became effective that policy of taking notes at FinCEN exchanges would 12 have been in effect?

13 [redacted] I don't recall.

14 [redacted] Not policy, whether that would have been your practice.

15 [redacted] Yeah, I don't -- I just don't recall.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Whenever the practice began and for whatever parts of the meeting notes

18 are being taken for, what did the final work product or final iteration look like? Was it

19 email, I'm assuming?

20 A Yeah, I don't recall. I really don't. I don't recall that FinCEN would ever

21 publish a summary -- well, actually, I take it back.

22 They would often -- FinCEN would publish a summary of an event, but I'm not sure

23 how much detail it would include in terms of the actual discussion, whether that would

24 be derived from notes that were taken or not. I just don't recall.

25 Q Again, just general recollection, not necessarily specific to this time period,

1 who would most likely within FinCEN have the responsibility for taking notes?

2 A So because I don't recall whether there was like a formal note-taking policy

3 or whether that was done, it's hard for me to answer that question.

4 If there were substantive conversations that took place and FinCEN wanted to

5 take the information back for our own purposes, that would likely have been Intelligence

6 Division, because they were one of the primary components of FinCEN that analyzed SARs

7 for that purpose.

8 But outside of that, like if there was some formal note-taking, which I don't recall

9 one way or the other, I, therefore, also don't recall who would have been responsible for 10 that. It's possible it was my own staff from a logistics standpoint. I just don't recall.

11 Q To your recollection, it wasn't you?

12 A To the best of my recollection, it definitely was not me. I really hate taking 13 notes, and I'm pretty sure I feel like I'd remember if I had to do it for these long events.

14 But I just don't recall.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q How long did these events normally last?

3 A Oh, gosh. It would depend on the event. So I'm talking about FinCEN

4 Exchange generally, not any particular topic.

5 You know, pre-COVID, sometimes institutions would actually put people on a

6 plane to meet in person. So we tried to make it like a full-day event, sometimes 2 days,

7 maybe even incorporating educational elements, and we really tried to make it a

8 substantive program.

9 Certainly, after COVID -- bearing in mind, I was only at FinCEN for about a year and

10 change before COVID hit, most of which was policy. So for the majority -- maybe not at 11 the very beginning of me taking over this office, but the majority of time that I was in this

12 seat, I was in my apartment on a screen.

13 The events naturally got shorter. I think -- I recall early, middle pandemic we

14 tried like a full day or like a 2-day either of BSAAG or FinCEN Exchange and it was just a

15 disaster. I mean, people were dropping off. You just can't hold people's attention on a 16 computer for that long.

17 So I do recall we made them shorter and to the point just when they were remote.

18 Q Were there other instances or investigations that you recall personally

19 asking to be alerted to SARs filed on the topic?

20 A I mean, I don't specifically recall. Most of those events and advisories

21 contain one of those reference codes. I guess that's not necessarily affirmative. But 22 outside of that, I don't recall.

23 Q The email also asks that the financial institutions send you, quote, "the FBI's 24 points of contact you are working with in relation to this subject matter."

25 Do you recall any of those FBI points of contact?

1 A No.

2 Q Why were financial institutions directly working with the FBI?

3 A Well, as a general matter, the FBI had access to SARs, and they had the

4 authority to reach out to the filing institution to get supporting documentation and to

5 discuss that particular SAR. So that happened frequently throughout the whole

6 ecosystem.

7 There are also certain institutions that if they see conduct that's of particular

8 concern, if it's, God forbid, something that's imminent or something like that, a lot of

9 times they would file a SAR and then pick up the phone and call various law enforcement

10 contacts.

11 So those are general manners in which that kind of communication could have 12 taken place.

13 FinCEN frequently saw multiple different players, sometimes multiple agencies

14 looking at the same conduct, and we would try to deconflict and make things a little more

15 efficient. So I think that's what we were trying to do here.

16 Q We have already covered this, I believe, but who is AnnaLou Tirol?

17 A So she -- I don't remember the specific dates -- around this time was the 18 associate director in charge -- oh, yeah, she was the ADA of my division.

19 Q Did you report to her?

20 A Dotted line. I think I technically reported to her deputy.

21 Q And what was your professional relationship to Kim Donovan?

22 A Just a colleague. She was a FinCEN employee in a different division.

23 Q And with Tony Harris?

24 A Tony was my employee. He was the section chief of one of my two

25 sections. So that section, the Domestic Engagement Section, that was one of two

1 sections in my office. Tony was the chief of that section. And that's the section that
2 oversaw FinCEN Exchange.
3 [redacted] Besides Kim Donovan, do you recall others from the Intelligence
4 Division that were participating in calls around this time?
5 [redacted] Jimmy and Kim are the only ones I can recall specifically being 6 involved in this.
7 [redacted] And Jimmy was the director of the Intelligence Division at that
8 time?
9 [redacted] Yeah. They called him associate director of FinCEN. But the ADs
10 were the heads of divisions. So Jimmy was the head of ID. Kim was his deputy.
11 [redacted] During the protests and riots in the summer of 2020,
12 beforehand, was there anything similar to this that took place with FinCEN and these 13 exchanges?
14 [redacted] I don't recall.
15 [redacted] Turning back to January 2021, for the calls when the FBI or members
16 of DOJ were on it, do you recall just broadly how many personnel from DOJ and FBI would 17 be on?
18 [redacted] I don't. More than one. But I don't -- more than one, less than 19 10. It could have been way less than 10. I don't specifically recall.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Who made the determination of which banks to include, which financial 22 institutions?
23 A I don't know.
24 Q Were there others included that are not listed here, or was it limited to 25 these?

A So I can say that everyone who was, quote, "included" on this date is on here.

I have a general recollection that one or a few institutions might have been added along the way as our analysis progressed or there was a reason for that, and I don't recall whether that had already taken place or whether that was after this particular email.

Q Do you know how it was determined what banks to include?

A I don't.

[redacted] Was this part of a FinCEN Exchange event?

[redacted] So my recollection is that these discussions were stood up under a handful of authorities. I don't recall -- I'm not sure I'm the right person to speak to what specifically that was, but I have a specific recollection of FinCEN making sure that conversations were taking place properly, under specific authorities that authorized these kinds of discussions, but I don't specifically remember what that entailed.

[redacted] Who decides whether to create a reference number like the one here?

[redacted] Who decides? That's a good question.

I don't know. I don't know. I mean, I don't think it's the type of thing where it's like a decision panel, should we or shouldn't we? I think if there is a component of FinCEN that feels the need to, they would raise that.

So I know generally the Intelligence Division or Policy Division, which is where the advisories are released out of. So, again, these would commonly be found in an advisory.

But that was more FinCEN practice. So maybe it was just Policy Division just doing what the agency said. But I don't actually have a specific recollection.

[redacted] We can go off the record.

1 [Recess.]

1 [1:44 p.m.]

2 [redacted] We are back on the record.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q So, [redacted] I want to ask you a little bit about January 6th.

5 I believe you said in the earlier hour that in the aftermath of January 6th there

6 were ongoing concerns not just about those who participated in the riots at the Capitol,

7 but also about violence at future events, particularly the upcoming inauguration, correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And so FinCEN was working with law enforcement and the banks to help

10 identify first who was involved in the January 6th attacks on the Capitol, correct?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And also to identify folks who might be at risk of committing future acts of 13 violence, particularly at the Presidential inauguration?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And you were asked a series of questions about whether the frequency of 16 the Zoom calls that were set up or the requests to be notified if a SAR was filed, if that 17 was something that had ever been done before.

18 Were the actions that you took, for example, in having daily phone calls, was that

19 in relation to the urgency of FinCEN's efforts to try to help all the relevant parties prevent 20 violence at the inauguration and other events?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And was that also the same with request -- with respect to your request to

23 have -- to be notified of any SARs that were filed in relation to January 6th?

24 A I don't recall.

25 Q Now, you were also asked if this was something that you had seen before at

1 your time at FinCEN.

2 While you were at FinCEN, was there any other violent attempt to interfere with

3 the peaceful transfer of power in this country?

4 A Not that I'm aware of, no.

5 Q Okay. And there wasn't an event of mass domestic violence and extremism

6 that we saw on January 6th while you were at FinCEN?

7 A I mean, I don't know I'm in a position to compare events. It certainly was

8 a -- yeah. I mean, versus, like, the marathon bombing or any other -- I'm not really in a

9 position to compare events.

10 Q Were you at FinCEN during the -- for the marathon bombing?

11 A I don't think so. When was the marathon bombing?

12 [redacted] I could not tell you, but --

13 [redacted] I don't recall.

14 [redacted] I believe it was well before you.

15 [redacted] I believe so. I don't recall. Yeah.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q And, I mean, if you had worked on it specifically, you certainly don't 18 remember that?

19 A Correct.

20 Q Okay. So it's fair to say, based on your testimony, that FinCEN's work,

21 along with law enforcement and the banks, in the aftermath of January 6th was both

22 reactive, in terms of trying to figure out who was involved in January 6th, and proactive,

23 in terms of preventing future events, correct?

24 A Yes, absolutely.

25 Q And that's typical for FinCEN. FinCEN engages in both reactive and

1 proactive investigations. I don't mean about necessarily a specific event, but that --
2 A Yeah.
3 Q -- both fall within FinCEN's authority.
4 A Certainly, yes.
5 Q And like any other FinCEN Exchange or any other communication event, the 6 banks who participated in these exchanges after January 6th, their participation was 7 voluntary, correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q They could have chosen not to communicate with FinCEN at all?
10 A Correct.
11 Q Other than filing SARs that they were required to under the law?
12 A Correct.
13 Q And the banks that did or financial institutions that did choose to participate,
14 any information that was shared with them, they were free to disregard if they so chose?
15 A I would certainly say that there was no specific requirement as to what they 16 were supposed to do with the information.
17 The extent to which they should have taken the information into account would 18 really have depended on the institution itself and their own assessment of their risk and 19 the relevancy of the information, et cetera, certainly not anything directed by FinCEN.
20 Q So it was up to the institution to determine to what extent --
21 A Entirely.
22 Q -- the information would be valuable?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And that's based on their own knowledge of their own customer base and 25 the scope of their presence nationwide, that sort of thing.

1 A Yes.
2 Q Okay.
3 A Among other things, yeah.
4 Q And you were asked some questions about the codes that were used. It's 5 fair to say -- and I believe this is how you explained it -- that the code is simply a shortcut
6 to help identify relevant SARs so that, rather than just going through the millions
7 individually, if law enforcement wants to identify SARs related to a specific event, perhaps 8 a specific type of crime, they can just type in the code, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Okay. And you talked about the FinCEN Portal that had been set up and 11 the SISS system. Are those two different things?
12 A Yes, they are different things.
13 Q Okay. Can you explain the difference to me?
14 A So not in a very technical level, but the --
15 Q Fair enough. And that wasn't my question. Just more generally.
16 A Yeah. The FinCEN Portal is what I'm saying is a reference to -- when we say
17 the database of the BSA information that is filed with FinCEN, it's in the portal. I mean,
18 I'm sure there might be multiple systems at a technical level of how we ingest and get the 19 data into the portal and searchable. I don't really know any of the guts of the system.
20 But when I say FinCEN Portal, we're talking about the traditional database of BSA
21 data that's filed with FinCEN and then made accessible to those agencies that are entitled 22 to have it.
23 SISS is a secure information-sharing system separate from the portal, and it's a
24 mechanism -- so FinCEN uses it -- I don't want to take us on a tangent, but there are some 25 information-sharing mechanisms provided for in the USA PATRIOT Act, section 314(a) in

1 particular. SISS is -- and section 314(b). SISS facilitates those mechanisms.

2 FinCEN also has other information-collection authorities that they will sometimes

3 use SISS to collect the information. So it's more of an ad hoc manner of information

4 collection than the formal e-filing and portal process.

5 Q But it's an information-sharing system that is set up pursuant to the

6 authorities that permit FinCEN --

7 A Absolutely.

8 Q -- to share information.

9 A Correct.

10 Q Now, you mentioned section 314 of the PATRIOT Act, so I just want to 11 discuss that very briefly. And I'm actually going to introduce it. I will not be 12 introducing the entire PATRIOT Act, thankfully, just section 314.

13 So this will be exhibit 6.

14 [Exhibit No. 6.

15 was marked for identification.]

16 BY

17 Q So if you look on the second page, section 314(a) -- well, section 314 itself is 18 entitled "Cooperative Efforts to Deter Money Laundering," correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And section 314(a) is entitled "Cooperation Among Financial Institutions, 21 Regulatory Authorities, and Law Enforcement Authorities," correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And it states as follows: "The Secretary shall, within 120 days after the

24 date of enactment of this Act, adopt regulations to encourage further cooperation among

25 financial institutions, their regulatory authorities, and law enforcement authorities with a

1 specific purpose of encouraging regulatory authorities and law enforcement authorities
2 to share with financial institutions information regarding individuals, entities, and 3 organizations engaged in or reasonably suspected, based on credible evidence, of 4 engaging in terrorist acts or money laundering activities."
5 Did I read that correctly?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Okay. And then section 2 talks about the cooperation and 8 information-sharing procedures, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Okay. Now, this type of information sharing that's described in section
11 314(a), that's part of what FinCEN was doing in the weeks after January 6th, correct?
12 A It was one of the several authorities that were being leveraged during that 13 period of time for the information sharing. In particular, it was the authority we would 14 use.
15 If we needed -- if FinCEN needed to disseminate specific indicators, for example,
16 like at the PII level, we would often use 314(a) as the mechanism to disseminate it.
17 That's not something we would just get on a Zoom and start talking about [redacted]
18 But we might do that via 314(a).
19 Q And so when you say specific information at the PII level, does that mean
20 that it's come to FinCEN's attention or a law enforcement agency's attention, they have a 21 particular individual in mind that's a suspect, and they want to ask financial institutions to 22 look for transactions that that person engaged in, they would use section 314(a)?
23 A Correct.
24 Q Okay. And can you explain a little bit more about how that process works?
25 A So there's a standard distribution -- I believe it's every two weeks -- where

1 FinCEN -- so FinCEN has a process to receive requests from law enforcement for the use
2 of this mechanism, and then every two weeks FinCEN will cobble together those multiple
3 requests into one distribution, and it goes out.
4 The standard distribution goes out to regulated financial institutions, mostly 5 banks. FinCEN has the authority to roll it out to other types of financial institutions, but 6 at least as of when I was there, it was primarily banks and a couple of MSBs, I think.
7 And the 314(a) request, exactly as you said, would ask those institutions to 8 respond, not with the underlying information, because 314(a) doesn't actually authorize 9 that, but to respond as to whether or not their institution has information related to 10 those individuals and entities. And, if so, it's a way for law enforcement to know the 11 location of the financial data.
12 Q And then law enforcement then determines whether or not to serve a 13 subpoena or whatever --
14 A Exactly.
15 Q -- it deems necessary --
16 A Correct.
17 Q -- with respect to that particular suspect.
18 A And they would need to use appropriate legal process to do so, correct.
19 Q Now, going back to the -- to SISS and the -- well, to make sure I understand
20 the difference, the portal is just access to the BSA data. So it's kind of like Westlaw for 21 looking at case law, correct?
22 A Yes, sure.
23 Q That's my only frame of reference.
24 And then SISS is more of a messaging platform to be able to share -- I mean, it's 25 not like a --

1 A Yeah, I wouldn't --

2 Q It's not Slack, but it's --

3 A I wouldn't say that, because it's also -- FinCEN would post documents that

4 those with access to SISS could download, the 314(a) distributions, for example.

5 There would be, like, drop-downs where they could input their responses for each

6 query -- yes, no.

7 It also maintains a repository of other documents, like the 314(b), which we'll get

8 to in a minute, participant list.

9 It's also a portal where, on an ad hoc basis, institutions can upload files in a secure

10 manner.

11 So it has a host of utilities, but it is not -- it does not possess BSA filings. Nobody

12 can go into SISS and search it or access any kind of SARs or CTRs or any of that; totally 13 different, separate mechanism and separate data holdings.

14 Q So it's information sharing that is separate from the actual SARs itself --

15 A Yes.

16 Q -- and separate from the BSA data itself.

17 A Correct.

18 Q Okay. And it is set up pursuant to statutory and regulatory authority.

19 A The information that is shared to and from are being shared pursuant to 20 those authorities. But physically setting up the system, I don't know one way or the 21 other. But yeah, it's --

22 Q Fair enough.

23 A Yes, to facilitate information sharing provided for by statute.

24 Q Okay. So the majority has stated in a report that it's published about what

25 it entitled "Financial Surveillance in America" that FinCEN and law enforcement would

1 communicate with the banks through secret back channel methods.

2 What is your response to that?

3 A Well, it certainly has a negative connotation. There's confidential -- there's

4 confidentiality that attaches to the sharing of protected information.

5 So there is information sharing that is occurring that is not known to those who

6 are not entitled to know about it.

7 Is it -- it would be inaccurate to say that that's being done in any manner that's not

8 otherwise clearly provided for by law. So that's what the implication sounds like, and I

9 would not agree with that characterization.

10 Q And the laws that provide for this type of information sharing, those are

11 publicly available. It's certainly a matter of public record that FinCEN is not only

12 authorized but required to set up information-sharing protocols and methodologies

13 between financial institutions, law enforcement, and FinCEN.

14 A Correct.

15 Q Okay. And since you touched on it, let's just briefly look at section 314(b),

16 which I believe is on the third page -- or not. No, it's on the --

18 Q Yeah, yeah.

19 A -- first page, second page.

20 Q Thank you.

21 And section 314(b) permits financial institutions to share information with one

22 another --

23 A Correct.

24 Q -- regarding individuals, entities, organizations, and countries suspected of 25 possible terrorist or money-laundering activities.

1 A Correct.

2 Q So there is some 314(b) information sharing that FinCEN is not a party to.

3 A Correct. Yeah. And just for clarification, the way that works, so it's

4 sharing between institutions, FinCEN doesn't need to be involved at all. But in order to 5 share information under 314(b), you have to have registered with FinCEN to do so.

6 So FinCEN maintains a participant list that's available on SISS. 314(b) participants

7 have access to SISS. So they know what institutions with which they can share.

8 Q So if I'm registered with FinCEN under a 314(b) and I want to know who else

9 the information I'm sharing goes to, that's available to me on SISS.

10 A So it's not -- so it's not as if -- no. Maybe I misunderstood. It's not as if 11 the information is, like, broadly shared and you look at the list to see who it goes to.

12 You're ABC Bank, you want to ask a question of XYZ Bank, or you want to send

13 something to XYZ Bank because you think they need to know about it. You would go to 14 the list to see if XYZ Bank is also a participant. And if they are, then you may validly,

15 under these parameters, share that information with XYZ Bank.

16 Q Okay. Thank you. That's very helpful.

17 [redacted] And with that, we can go off the record for now.

18 [Discussion off the record.]

19 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q So I'd just like to clarify something that was just discussed, and correct me if

3 I'm wrong, but you mentioned that the SISS does not include BSA filings, and it's separate

4 from the SAR process.

5 A Correct.

6 Q If we could look back at exhibit -- I believe it was exhibit 5, the email that you

7 had sent to financial institutions.

8 The third bullet from the top asks, "In addition to your standard e-file process,

9 please also upload the SAR to the SISS."

10 A Uh-huh.

11 Q So in this case, SARs were filed directly to the SISS and would be on.

12 A So, I guess, it comes down to what "would be on" means. It's a secure

13 information-sharing system. It's not accessible to anybody but FinCEN. So it's not 14 searchable even to us.

15 It would literally be us going into the system and downloading a file that was

16 uploaded, and that's that. And we still required, in this instance, the institutions to 17 follow the standard e-filing process, which would go into the portal, the database.

18 Q Is this the only situation that SARs were uploaded directly to the SISS?

19 A My general recollection is no, that I do recall there being other instances, but 20 I don't recall the circumstances.

21 Q And the participants who were part of the participant list who have access to 22 the information here, would they also be able to download the SARs from the SISS?

23 A No.

24 [redacted] Just to clarify, how are typologies that FinCEN creates used?

25 [redacted] By whom?

1 [redacted] The financial institutions who receive them.

2 [redacted] I think you just said that FinCEN creates.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Doesn't FinCEN create the typologies?

5 A Well, law enforcement -- well, the bad guys create the typologies, to be 6 technical.

7 Anyone analyzing BSA data could derive that by observing the conduct of those

8 actors. So it could be law enforcement, it could be FinCEN, it could be IC, could be

9 regulators, whomever is analyzing BSA data.

10 Q Can the typologies that FinCEN shares with financial institutions be used as 11 the basis for filing SARs?

12 A That's a -- I'm trying to answer that honestly.

13 The typologies can be used by financial institutions to inform their assessment of 14 whether specific conduct is or is not suspicious. If they determine something is 15 suspicious, they'll file a SAR. If they determine something is not suspicious, they won't.

16 Those red flags and typologies can be used to inform that assessment.

17 Q Have you ever seen SARs filed along the lines of typologies that FinCEN

18 shares?

19 A You know, I didn't really read or analyze many SARs in my time at FinCEN.

20 It wasn't really part of my job. So that's not really a question I can answer.

21 Q Would that have been the Intelligence Division?

22 A Primarily, from a substantive assessment. Again, different divisions might

23 have had different needs to look at SARs. But, yes.

24 Q And you may have already touched on this as well, but the Intelligence

25 Division is the one who creates SARs within FinCEN -- or creates typologies within FinCEN?

1 A I think it would be fair to say that the Intelligence Division is the primary
2 component of FinCEN that would analyze BSA data and derive typologies.
3 Q Okay.
4 [redacted] I want to enter an email from Anthony Harris dated January 15th,
5 2021, and the attachments -- "Jan 15 2021 compiled typologies" and "KeyBank Query
6 Logic for Active Shooters" -- with the subject line "Compiled typologies in advance of 4:30
7 call" into the record as exhibit --

12 [redacted] I'm just flagging -- I don't care at all -- but there's a redaction here.
13 If you want to add that to the official exhibit, Mark's name.
14 Okay.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q Do you remember this email?
17 A Vaguely. Somewhat, yes.
18 Q And what do you remember about it?
19 A Not to be obnoxious, but that I sent it -- or that Tony sent it. That it was 20 sent.
21 Q Okay.
22 A I mean, I just recall seeing it and, you know.
23 Q And Anthony, I think you stated earlier, was the section chief within your 24 division. Is that right?
25 A Yeah. So my -- division office section. So Tony reported directly to me.

He was the chief in charge of one of my two sections in my office.

Q And it looks like there are 11 different financial institutions on this email.

A Okay.

Q Do you know how it was decided that these materials went to these financial institutions and not others?

A I do not.

Q Do you know who would?

A I do not.

Q Do you remember if you had to get approval before sharing these materials or if Anthony had to seek approval from you first?

A Yes. And to be clear, I don't specifically -- I said this earlier -- I don't specifically recall whether approval was sought for this specific or if there was an understanding that this was coming and that we were authorized and approved to send it.

But, yes, this is not something that Tony or I sent on our own.

[redacted] If it was the latter where there was, like, an understanding that you might be receiving this material and it could be sent, how would you have gained that understanding?

[redacted] Well, it would have -- so my recollection is that there were times when, for example, if one of the conversations, if one of the banks said, "Oh, we can share X, we'll send it to you," someone on the -- an example of this, for example, if someone on the call with authority to authorize me to send it said, "Great, we'll send it out when we receive it," I may have interpreted that to mean I was approved. Or I may have gone to that person to confirm, "Hey, I'm going to send this out. Are we good?" Something like that I recall happening during that period of time.

1 And then others would have been more specific, like, "Hey, I got this. Are we
2 okay sending it out?"
3 [redacted] During that period of time, is your memory specific enough to refer to 4 January 2021, that some of the materials sent then came from --
5 [redacted] I was probably speaking about January to February, January to 6 March generally, my recollection. I'm not sure about this specific week, if you will.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q The subject line -- or, excuse me -- the body of the email also states, "in 9 advance of the 4:30 call."
10 Do you remember that call?
11 A No.
12 Q Do you remember if there were any pre-meetings within FinCEN to talk
13 about what would be discussed on that call?
14 A No.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q Do you remember any pre-meetings generally around this time, whether it 17 was discussion of typologies, key words, things like that?
18 A I think I answered that earlier. I have a general recollection that there were 19 some pre-meets and that there were not pre-meets before every conversation, but I'm 20 not sure I remember any details beyond that.
21 Q Any pre-meets -- again, with the understanding of not having a specific 22 recollection at this pre-meet this was discussed -- do you recall generally any of the 23 pre-meets where there was discussion of some of the terms on page Bates number 6 24 here?
25 A No. Although I will note on its face that this came from one of the financial

1 institutions, not FinCEN. So you're talking about an internal FinCEN pre-meet?

2 Q Yes.

3 A Got it. I don't recall.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Do you remember what the purpose of this call was?

6 A No.

7 Q Do you remember if there were any other Federal representatives other

8 than FinCEN on the call?

9 A No.

10 [redacted] Was this part of the, as we discussed earlier, kind of the daily

11 Zoom calls that you were having with financial institutions?

12 [redacted] I don't recall. I mean, I'm noting that I have two emails in front of 13 me that appear to refer to separate calls on the same day. So I have no idea of whether 14 they were part of a particular cadence or not. I don't recall.

15 [redacted] As part of those daily Zoom calls, were representatives from the 16 FBI and DOJ on those calls?

17 [redacted] I recall -- the answer is yes to some. I don't recall whether they

18 were on all.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q Are you aware of how soon following January 6th FinCEN began coordinating

21 with the FBI?

22 A No.

23 Q How about with financial institutions?

24 A I don't recall. All I can say was I don't remember the date of the 25 inauguration, but I do know it was at some point before that.

1 Q Can you describe how FinCEN viewed its role in the investigation into
2 January 6th?
3 A Probably only with reference to the mission statements. I mean, I think we
4 were using FinCEN Exchange in a manner consistent with how we always used FinCEN
5 Exchange. That's how we viewed it.
6 Q And so would you view FinCEN as the lead or FBI as the lead?
7 A I'm not sure I would make that distinction.
8 Q Okay. Do you recall if certain thresholds or fact-based patterns for 9 reviewing data was discussed on the call or any of these calls?
10 A Repeat that for me. Sorry.
11 Q Sure. Were certain thresholds or fact-based patterns discussed on the calls 12 that you had with financial institutions?
13 A I'm not sure what you mean by thresholds. Like, financial thresholds or 14 thresholds to file a SAR or -- I'm not sure what you mean by threshold.
15 Q Were either of those discussed?
16 A Not to my recollection. I don't recall.
17 Q Did fact-based -- were fact-based patterns surrounding the events of January 18 6th discussed, to your recollection?
19 A And, again, not knowing what is meant specifically by fact-based patterns,
20 we had a -- I do recall at a general level discussions on red flags, typologies, indicators.
21 Q During a transcribed interview with the committee, Mr. Peter Sullivan with 22 the FBI stated that certain fact-based patterns were discussed with FinCEN and financial 23 institutions on at least one of these calls. Does that --
24 A Did he define fact-based pattern in that conversation?
25 Q In terms of certain transactions that were made related to travel, weapons-related transactions.

[redacted] Do you guys have the transcript or some context you can give him for that?

[redacted] I'm just -- not at the moment, no.

[redacted] Yeah. I don't recall any of that.

BY [redacted]

Q Okay. Have you heard of FinCEN creating fact-based patterns before or --

A I'm still not really --

Q -- you're not sure?

A I'm still not sure what you mean by fact-based patterns.

Q The answer may be no. I'm just --

A No. Yeah, I mean, I'm sure the answer is going to be I don't recall, because I don't really remember this level of specificity. But, like, I don't -- I'm struggling with what that means, if it's different than, for example, what I'm referring to as a red flag or a typology.

Q Are you aware of the Bank of America SAR that has been the subject of -- part of -- one of the subjects of the committee's investigation that was filed following January 6th?

A I don't have a specific recollection of it.

Q Have you seen these typologies before?

A Which ones are we talking about?

Q Any of them.

[redacted] Any of what?

[redacted] Bates stamp 6, Bates stamp 7.

BY [redacted]

1 Q Does this look familiar?

2 A So on Bates stamp 6, what's characterized as number 1, my recollection is

3 that came from one of the bank participants. So this is the first time -- when I

4 received -- or whomever at FinCEN received this would have been the first time I saw it.

5 Number 2, I believe, is a reference to a previously published FinCEN advisory. I

6 might be wrong about that. I feel like we may have published one subsequent to this,

7 too. I don't recall. But I was generally aware of this type of analysis that's reflected in 8 number 2 that's attributed to FinCEN.

9 And then same thing on the whole KeyBank deck would have all been new to me

10 upon receiving it from KeyBank.

11 Q And did you receive the bank submission?

12 A I don't recall if I was the specific person or not. I mean, I may have been on 13 the email or I may have been the recipient directly. I don't recall.

14 Q And do you remember which bank submitted this?

15 A The deck?

16 Q The first number says, "1) Bank submission."

17 A Oh, I do not remember -- I do not recall which bank that is.

18 Q With respect to the lone actor, homegrown violent extremism indicators

19 developed from a prior FinCEN analysis, would that have been the Intelligence Division

20 that produced these?

21 A I would say primarily. They worked closely with an office in our Policy

22 Division, which at least when I was at FinCEN was technically the office that was 23 responsible for our advisories.

24 So I imagine most of the analysis was Intelligence Division, potentially in 25 conjunction with some of the folks in the Strategic Policy Office.

1 Q Do you recall whether these materials were shared with any other Federal 2 agencies?
3 A I don't recall.
4 Q What's the purpose of sharing these kinds of materials with financial
5 institutions?
6 A I don't want to mischaracterize it. I mean, I view the purpose of that as 7 that consistent with FinCEN's mission and the statutory authorities that we were using, all 8 of which have, like, mission and purpose statements.
9 Q Was there an expectation with how banks might use this information?
10 A Not to my recollection, no.
11 Q Are you aware of other typologies concerning domestic activity that were 12 shared with financial institutions following January 6th?
13 A I mean, I am generally aware that this was not the only communication that 14 was sent or received in relation to this period of time. Any level of specificity beyond
15 that, I don't recall.
16 Q Moving to that first number, the bank submission, it states, "Terms used for 17 searching Zelle payment messages for indicators of involvement in the riots or potential
18 violence." It then included search terms like MAGA and Trump and America First.
19 Have you seen search terms like this before?
20 A No. And I wouldn't have been the one analyzing that data anyway.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q Who would have been analyzing that data?
23 A Some combination of law enforcement, FinCEN Intelligence Division, the 24 folks whose job it was to do that, I guess.
25 Q To your understanding, were there any internal discussions at FinCEN about

1 whether sharing these typologies implicated any First Amendment concerns?

2 A I don't recall.

3 Q Independent of this specific exhibit and independent of January 2021, at a

4 high level during your time at FinCEN were you ever aware of any conversations regarding

5 whether certain typologies would potentially implicate the First Amendment?

6 A Not that I recall.

7 Q During any of your time at FinCEN, were there ever instances where certain

8 terms, typologies would refer specifically to political leaders?

9 A I'm sorry. Can you restate the question?

10 Q Sure. So just in the list, there's Trump, Kamala, Biden. Are there other

11 instances during your time at FinCEN where some of the terms would be referring to 12 American political leaders?

13 A Oh. Not that I recall. I don't recall.

14 Q Do you recall one way or the other whether it stood out? Was there

15 anything unique about the typologies that you received from the banks during this time

16 period?

17 A Well, they felt unique to the topic as distinct from human trafficking or drugs

18 or something like that. So, I mean, unique from that perspective.

19 But in terms of the general category of indicators and red flags that might be used,

20 no, I don't recall thinking that anything was unique.

21 Q In an earlier answer you referenced, when asked why you send this

22 information to the other banks, you invoked the mission statement and the purpose of 23 the agency.

24 But just at a more -- again, just based on your understanding, not quoting the

25 mission statement or whatever it might be -- what's the benefit of sending these terms to

1 the banks?

2 A So take a big step back. I mean, if you talk -- especially some of the 3 institutions that were receiving this, B of A and Citi, millions and millions of customers,

4 billions of transactions -- their transaction monitoring program that they analyze to

5 determine whether SARs are filed probably has pretty generic typologies. So they're

6 looking for a needle in a whole big pile of haystacks.

7 So one of the purposes of disseminating typologies is to narrow the scope of a

8 search. So, for example, if you're looking for somebody located in California, it doesn't

9 make sense to look for people in New Mexico. You know you're looking for a 10 Californian.

11 So if you have that info and you can restrict your search and eliminate the other

12 49 and every other country, you have now greatly increased the chances that you're

13 going to find something relevant.

14 I say that at a high level because it's possible that a Zelle message that

15 says -- that's sent in March for NCAA tournament dues is not where you're looking -- I

16 mean, could be a clever way to cover something up.

17 I'm not suggesting you don't want to look at it, but that's less likely to be relevant

18 to the conduct you're looking for than perhaps terms that you might otherwise expect to 19 be more relevant to certain types of communications you're looking.

20 So a lot of it was to help them -- to provide them with more information that

21 might be helpful for them to generate higher quality results for analysis, I suppose.

22 Q Was there any internal discussion about whether the typologies included in

23 this list, yes, might narrow the scope, but also might disproportionately target

24 transactions that are completely fine and aren't the concern?

25 A I don't recall one way or the other specific discussions about that.

1 Q If there were to be discussions about that within FinCEN, whose team would
2 take the lead on assessing those types of concerns?
3 A I'm not sure I can answer that question. I mean, I don't know if it -- if it
4 involved legal issues maybe -- I'm not sure I can offer much there.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q How would a financial institution search Zelle payment messages?
7 A I don't know. I suppose it would depend on their internal system. I mean,
8 the financial institution would have a record of the transactions that moved through its 9 institution and would have some sort of system that it could use to query that info, I
10 suppose.
11 Q And query that info using some of the terms here as we've discussed to 12 narrow the universe of potentially suspicious activity?
13 A I mean, I don't have firsthand knowledge. I can't even sit here and 14 guarantee you that every institution has that technological capability. I don't know.
15 Q Do you know if anyone communicated with Zelle that you would be 16 searching their payment messages?
17 A I don't know. Is Zelle even a company, or is it just a service that the 18 banks -- I don't know. Not to my knowledge.
19 Q Are you aware of whether FinCEN is searching Zelle payment messages?
20 A So FinCEN doesn't have access to transactional data unless it is filed as part 21 of a valid report, CTR or SAR or whatever. If it is in the BSA data in a manner that is 22 queryable, then the answer would be yes.
23 Did that answer the question?
24 Q So within that system, are you aware of searches for Zelle payment
25 messages?

1 A I'm not aware one way or the other of what people at FinCEN were doing to
2 analyze the BSA data. That's not what I did at FinCEN.
3 [redacted] And just to clarify, are you clear one way or another about 4 whether Zelle payment messages would have been reported as part of BSA filings?
5 [redacted] It is quite possible. Any type of financial transaction that goes
6 through a regulated institution is expected to be monitored for purposes of suspicious
7 activity reporting. So that would include Zelle, wires, whatever.
8 [redacted] At this time, did any of the financial institutions have questions
9 on what was expected of them when this was sent?
10 So did the financial institutions think that they needed to run a search using all of 11 these terms, and any time one of those search terms yielded a hit, they would have to file
12 something with FinCEN?
13 [redacted] I'm very confident that, especially this group, which is a pretty 14 sophisticated group of large institutions that had engaged with FinCEN with some 15 regularity, I'm confident that none of them believed that there was an expectation that 16 the mere existence of these terms made something suspicious.
17 [redacted] Did anyone ask questions about it?
18 [redacted] Not that I recall.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q Just as a general practice, not specific to this email, if FinCEN is on the 21 receiving end of the listed typologies and then is considering sharing that with a broader 22 group of banks, is that -- does that process ever loop in legal counsel?
23 A I generally would not have been involved in that process, so I'm not sure.
24 Q Who generally is involved in that process?
25 A I'm not certain. I don't know.

1 Again, I know that Intelligence Division would do some of the actual analysis.
2 But in terms of how it goes from that early stage to here's something we're ready to
3 publish, I wasn't really involved. I'm not sure.
4 Q To your understanding, was this list modified in any way based on filings
5 received by FinCEN?
6 A I don't recall.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q And so it was your office that ultimately made the decision to share these 9 typologies.
10 A No. It would not have been my office's decision. My office would have 11 been the one that physically shared it. But I likely and my staff wouldn't have had the 12 direct -- I shouldn't say authority. There's no specific thing written down that says who 13 can do what necessarily.
14 But, no, neither me nor my staff would have made an independent decision on 15 whether or not to share this.
16 Q So who would make that decision?
17 A I don't know.
18 Q You don't know who made that decision in this instance?
19 A Correct, I don't. I don't recall.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q On these daily Zoom calls, whether they occurred daily or near daily around
22 this time, who is the most senior person at FinCEN to attend those meetings?
23 A I know for a fact that AnnaLou was on most of them. She was one of seven 24 division heads, plus chief counsel, eight, that reported up to the director and deputy 25 director.

I do have a recollection that the director popped in at least once or twice, sort of with a preamble or whatnot, but I don't recall him being a regular participant.

AnnaLou and one or two other associate director or deputy associate director level personnel, such as Jimmy and Kim, would have been involved.

And those are -- the ADs were SES's. FinCEN only had about 10, 11, 12 SES's. Most of them were division heads, chief counsel, director, deputy director, Ken, if he's still there, CTO.

Sorry. I started whispering on you guys. Sorry.

Q How frequently would the director attend calls with representatives from the banks, on calls like [inaudible] from January 2021?

A Sorry. You're asking in connection with this --

Q No. Independent of this. Just to get a sense of --

A Just as a general matter? I mean, gosh, it --

[redacted] To the extent you know what Director Blanco would have been involved in.

[redacted] Yeah. I wouldn't even know -- I would only know a fraction of what he did. You know, he would usually be at BSAAG twice a year, not the working groups. But I really couldn't speak much to that.

BY [redacted]

Q Have you seen indicators like the ones listed here before?

A I'm not sure what you mean by "like the ones." I mean, these specific indicators do appear relatively specific to this topic.

Q And what office at FinCEN has the responsibility for creating extremism indicators?

A So those could come from anywhere, again. I mean, a lot of times they

1 came from law enforcement, financial institutions sharing things. From an analysis of 2 BSA data at FinCEN, it would, to my knowledge, primarily be the Intelligence Division.
3 Q And are you aware of whether they created these indicators?
4 A In number 1?
5 Q Number 2.
6 A Oh, number 2. I don't have any specific knowledge of where these came
7 from. But as a general matter, based on my knowledge of FinCEN, most of this analysis
8 would likely have come out of the Intelligence Division.
9 Q When a financial institution receives indicators like this, how can they use
10 them in their system? In other words, how do you translate these indicators into 11 queryable, actionable items?
12 A I'm not sure I can really speak to what individual banks would be able to do,
13 to the extent they did anything at all. I really don't know.
14 Q Are you able to speak in general how they might?
15 A As a general matter, I suppose they could do manual searches. They could 16 develop an algorithm that includes some of this info. I mean, there's any number of 17 things. It depends on what their program looks like, what their tech stack looks like.
18 Q You mentioned earlier that this was a sophisticated group of banks. So do 19 you have any idea how their systems might be able to use this?
20 A I don't. And, anecdotally, even though they were sophisticated banks, I
21 wouldn't assume that their tech followed suit.
22 A lot of -- having been inside a big bank, a lot of times these banks get big by 23 acquiring other companies. And so you end up with about 20 systems with duct tape
24 and trying to -- it can be pretty messy.
25 So I couldn't tell you one way or the other.

1 Q One of the extremism indicators includes, "Transportation charges, such as 2 bus tickets, rental cars, or plane tickets, for travel to areas with no apparent purpose or 3 not commensurate with the previous travel history of the customer, for example, travel
4 to high-risk areas or indirect flightpaths for no apparent legitimate reason."
5 A Uh-huh.
6 Q Do financial institutions monitor and report these transactions?
7 A I don't know one way or the other.
8 Q Does FinCEN monitor Americans' transportation-related transactions?
9 A I don't know one way or the other.
10 Q Would they not have to in order to produce an analysis concluding this as an 11 indicator?
12 A I just wasn't involved in that work. Couldn't tell you.
13 Q How would FinCEN or a financial institution be able to determine whether 14 travel was for a legitimate reason or had no apparent purpose?
15 A I don't know.
16 [redacted] What type -- which personnel within FinCEN would be better able to 17 speak to conducting that type of assessment?
18 [redacted] I mean, I would defer to FinCEN. But my best guess would be 19 Intelligence Division personnel.
20 [redacted] Did you have a primary point of contact with the Intelligence Division?
21 Who did you --
22 [redacted] I'm not sure I would say I had a primary -- they're colleagues. It
23 depends on the -- you know, I would -- at my level, it most frequently would have been 24 Jimmy or Kim or their office directors. But I don't have any specific recollection beyond
25 Jimmy or Kim.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Another one of the extremist indicators includes, "The purchase of books

3 (including religious texts) and subscriptions to other media containing extremist views."

4 A Uh-huh.

5 Q Do you know how FinCEN may have concluded this as an indicator?

6 A I do not.

7 Q Did you review these indicators before they were sent out?

8 A I'm sure I read them. I didn't review them for any purpose. My job was 9 to send them. So I didn't review, evaluate, modify, revise any of that.

10 Q Do you know who sent these indicators to you?

11 A I don't recall. Again, likely would have been someone in ID.

12 Q Are there certain religious texts that FinCEN considers an indicator of 13 extremism?

14 A Not to my knowledge.

15 Q Are you aware of whether FinCEN monitors Americans' media subscriptions?

16 A Not to my knowledge.

17 Q Do you know whether FinCEN has a list of books or media that it believes

18 contains extremist views?

19 A Not to my knowledge.

20 Q To your knowledge, are financial institutions monitoring Americans'

21 purchases of books or media subscriptions?

22 A I don't have knowledge.

23 What I would say is that financial institutions may have monitoring programs in 24 place that would include in its scope all customer transactions, for example, which,

25 presumably, may include credit card purchases wherever or things of that nature.

1 [2:43 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q How would a financial institution be able to tell what kind of media or book

4 is being purchased, according to these indicators?

5 A I don't know.

6 Q Does it concern you that FinCEN is listing the purchases of religious texts as 7 potential indicators of extremism?

8 A I'm not sure I'm really credible to speak on that, my personal views.

9 Q I'd be interested in that.

10 A I'm going to decline to answer that.

11 [redacted] In the calls that were happening in January 2021, do you recall any of 12 the parties, whether it's FinCEN, the FBI, other government agencies, any of the private

13 sector representatives, raising concerns of whether some of the assessments being

14 conducted, the typologies, implicated First Amendment concerns?

15 [redacted] I don't recall.

16 [redacted] Were these discussions fulsome conversations or was it more

17 thanks for the information; we'll talk to you tomorrow?

18 [redacted] More the former, more fulsome than thanks for sending, see ya.

19 [redacted] And on none of those calls, to your recollection, were people

20 saying this might be going a step too far?

21 [redacted] I don't recall that. I mean, it's three and a half years ago, and I'm 22 an old man. I don't remember what I had for breakfast yesterday, so --

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q Do you recall, during any of the calls, whether there was points of tension,

25 differing views, things that needed to be sorted out?

1 A I don't recall. The best of my recollection is that it was collaborative. You
2 know, whether institutions chose to do something or not, I couldn't tell you, but I don't
3 recall there being any tension or points of issue in the discussions.
4 Q For category two here where there's talk about violent extremism indicators,
5 and it looks like it's coming from previous work product, let's say it is from the 6 Intelligence Division, if there are issues that start to touch upon First Amendment
7 concerns, is your office looped into that process at all?
8 A We likely would not be, no.
9 Q Which -- besides counsel office itself, which offices or divisions would have 10 been involved in the preparation of that type of work product?
11 A Counsel would be the only logical assessment, in my view, but I don't really 12 know one way or the other.
13 Q At a very high level, not to implicate, what types of issues from your office
14 would require the counsel's office to make assessments?
15 A We're not a big office. That's a very broad question. I'm not really sure 16 how to answer that, right. I'm -- I mean, if my team was in a BSAAG conversation and 17 heard something that we thought was useful to someone else at FinCEN, or that we 18 thought someone at FinCEN should consider, or that -- you know, it's very subjective.
19 That's a very hard question to answer. I'm sorry.
20 It's no different than what I experience in any other job, right. I mean, when do
21 you tell your -- when do you raise something for your boss or handle it yourself? Or 22 when do you -- right? I'm not sure I can give at that high level a better answer than that.
23 Q Obviously, we're trying to work with you.
24 A Yeah, I know. Fair.
25 Q On a granular level, you know, sometimes, right, you're not able to recall

1 what discussions did or did not take place, so just trying to get a sense at a higher level.
2 A Fair. Yeah, I mean -- as an example, I mean, it's not as relevant to this, but
3 on the data access side, if my team was conducting a review of the FBI's usage of BSA
4 data or LAPD and saw something of note, that maybe Officer Jenkins was doing
5 something, that might be something that would hit my desk, and I may tell leadership, 6 you know, that sounds like something that somebody should know about, right, just as an
7 example, right.
8 But, again, it falls subjectivity and judgment as to whether something needs to be 9 escalated or not to a higher level or the, you know, counsel needs to be consulted.
10 Q Generally, if an issue that was within your purview and you felt may warrant 11 being considered by counsel, is that a decision you can make or would you tell one of the 12 folks above you and ultimately they would make a decision whether to loop it to counsel?
13 A It's hard to answer that hypothetically. I mean, if I saw something in the 14 normal course that I think I needed a lawyer's input on, I would likely just go to counsel.
15 If I thought it was something that needed to be escalated, whether it had legal questions
16 or not, I would probably go to my leadership, as a general matter.
17 [redacted] As part of the approval process when you were sending out this 18 information, do you know if the counsel's office was looped in as well?
19 [redacted] I think we're coming pretty close on the privilege line there.
20 [redacted] I don't know if you want to try to rephrase it. I think at a high level,
21 we can -- without implicating the privilege.
22 [redacted] I think if you guys want to ask about discussions that FinCEN
23 counsel had with others at FinCEN, you can direct those to us and not to him in an 24 interview. Like, those are pretty squarely within the privilege.
25 [redacted] Okay. We can talk more, obviously, off the record, but I think there will be interest from the committee to have an understanding of what guardrails were put in place and what those look like. And the witness is representing he was not privy to those, so, you know, we'll take that in good faith. But that is information that the committee will be interested in.

[redacted] I'm happy to follow up with you guys.

BY [redacted]

Q Does FinCEN rely on MCC codes in its investigations?

A What's MCC?

Q Merchant category codes.

A Not to my recollection.

Q Do you know whether your office or other offices ever provided financial institutions with how to use merchant category codes?

A No, I don't know. I would actually go so far as to say I have an affirmative recollection that I'm not aware of that happening. I don't remember hearing MCC at all when I was at FinCEN.

Q I'll just move to the KeyBank slideshow. Do you recall receiving this email from -- this in an email from KeyBank?

A Not specifically.

Q Okay. I'll introduce -- I'd like to now introduce an email from KeyBank to [redacted] dated January 15, 2021, with the subject line "Inauguration Task Force" into the record as exhibit 8.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 8.
was marked for identification.]

[redacted] You guys went inkjet on this one, huh.

Okay.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Had you received slideshows like this before or after from financial

3 institutions?

4 A I'm sorry, before or after this particular email, you mean?

5 Q Yeah. Did you receive slideshows like this from financial institutions?

6 A I don't recall.

7 Q Do you recall receiving this email?

8 A I mean, I do now. I don't have a specific recollection beyond what's on the 9 page.

10 Q Do you recall, once you received this from KeyBank, what you did with it?

11 A No.

12 Q Did you review the material?

13 A Same answer as before, I'm sure I read it, but it wasn't my job to evaluate or 14 do anything with it, other than, if necessary, disseminate it.

15 Q And so looking at the --

16 [redacted] Do you guys have the attachment to this email?

17 [redacted] Yeah, it's the KeyBank slideshow that's --

18 [redacted] Okay. Do you have it attached to this email so he knows that 19 it's the same document, for purposes of the record?

20 [redacted] Not right now.

21 I'll represent for the record that the attachment states, "KeyBank Query Logic for 22 Active Shooters 01-15-2021," and that the slideshow entered as exhibit 7 is KeyBank

23 Query Logic for Active Shooters and is named as the same attachment in Bates stamp 5

24 that's named in Bates stamp 235.

25 [redacted] Thanks.

1 [redacted] Can I just point out, for what it's worth, though, that I don't know if
2 there is a time change that's causing this to be screwed up here, but --
3 [redacted] There is. They're not converted. That's minus five and this 4 is just regular.
5 [redacted] Oh, so this happened before this?
6 [redacted] Yep.
7 [redacted] Got it. Okay.
8 [redacted] So could you just briefly explain what the slideshow is?
9 [redacted] Not beyond what's on the page itself. I didn't create it. I didn't 10 do anything with it, other than be copied on an email in which it was disseminated.
11 [redacted] But you received it as well?
12 [redacted] Based on this email, that's what it appears. I don't specifically 13 recall beyond what's on the email.
14 [redacted] I will also note that Anthony Harris received this one.
15 [redacted] Right.
16 I mean, I'm not trying to be cagey. My staff and I were the ones that were 17 organizing these events. So not all the time but much, maybe most, I couldn't really 18 necessarily say, but certainly much of the information that was being sent and received 19 was coming through us. That was what our responsibility was, but that was really the 20 limit of what my staff and I were doing.
21 In terms of, like, oh, now we have this information, let's do something with it, I
22 was neither involved in that, nor am I necessarily aware of what was being done
23 internally.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q Which team or division would your team share this slide deck with?

1 A So there was a -- I don't remember specifically who, but there was certainly a
2 group of people at FinCEN involved in these conversations broadly that would have -- we 3 would have disseminated that internally to that group; you know, the most relevant of 4 which, to the best of my recollection again, would be Jimmy and Kim and their staff in ID.
5 Q Besides Jimmy and Kim, any other offices that --
6 A I don't specifically remember which of their staff members was involved in 7 this topic.
8 Q Both the offices themselves and individuals or --
9 A Correct. I'm not even sure I can name the offices of ID. I don't think I
10 could even when I was at FinCEN, but, no, because Jimmy and Kim ran the division, and 11 they definitely did have offices and sections. But I don't recall which personnel or which 12 offices or sections were involved in this.
13 Q Do you recall, outside of the Intelligence Division, which other divisions 14 would have had a practice during this time period you likely would've looped in?
15 A Yeah, so certainly Strategic Operations, which -- right. I have a vague
16 recollection that there would've been one or two people from our Policy Division because 17 that's the division that does oversee our advisory program. But beyond that, I don't 18 recall.
19 Q What about the Enforcement Division?
20 A I don't recall whether they were included or not.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q So once you receive something like this, do you -- I know you stated that you
23 kind of just distribute it. Did you feel any responsibility to evaluate the material? Was 24 that a part of your --
25 A It would not have been a part of what I was asked to do at FinCEN, and I

1 don't believe I would have.

2 Q Was there any material that you received from outside entities that you

3 didn't distribute?

4 A My answer is going to be I don't recall either way. I'm not sure if you mean

5 on this particular topic or ever at FinCEN, but I don't recall either way.

6 Q I mean, while in your role as the director of the stakeholder engagement

7 division.

8 A I mean, the question is generally whether I ever received things that I didn't

9 disseminate?

10 Q Well, I'm trying to understand, if there are things that you didn't

11 disseminate, that suggests you may have evaluated it and thought it's not worth

12 disseminating.

13 A It may be possible that at some point I was sent something or not that I may 14 or may not have disseminated. It was never a result of my evaluation or my staff's

15 evaluation of the content. We didn't do that.

16 Q Did anyone at FinCEN evaluate this content?

17 A I can confidently say that we would have. I don't know who, and I wasn't 18 involved in the evaluation of it.

19 Q Were you at all concerned about sharing information without evaluating it?

20 A I did not have a concern because I was under the impression that those 21 charged with evaluating the information were doing so.

22 Q Which would have been whom?

23 A It depends on the information, but, you know, substantively, most likely the 24 Intelligence Division.

25 Q Okay. So it could have been that you received this email with the KeyBank

1 slideshow, and you shared that with the Intelligence Division, and they say -- they sign off
2 on whether or not they think it's good to distribute?
3 A I don't recall specifically whether that's what happened.
4 Q Is that something that could have happened or has happened while you
5 were at FinCEN?
6 A I'm trying to remember whether I ever accepted what ID said or whether I
7 went to my own leadership for confirmation that they were comfortable with sending it
8 out.
9 [redacted] Is your leadership on this email incoming from KeyBank?
10 [redacted] Yeah. So at this point in time, AnnaLou was my division head, and 11 she was on this comm. I don't specifically recall from whom I obtained approval to 12 disseminate this.
13 [redacted] Would it have been typical for you to just chat with AnnaLou and 14 say, do you think this is good to go?
15 [redacted] I mean, I spoke to my boss pretty frequently, so that was typical.
16 And this is something I expect I would have sought approval on. That's a half answer.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Why?
19 A Why?
20 Q Yeah, just what about this one?
21 A Just as a general matter, you know, in the context of disseminating
22 information to the private sector, I would've -- especially, you know, in connection to a 23 topical event, I would have sought confirmation from my superiors that that 24 dissemination was appropriate.
25 Q For any topical event, not necessarily January 6th, do you recall any

1 instances where one of your superiors told you that information would not be
2 appropriate for dissemination to private sector partners?
3 A I don't recall one way or the other.
4 Q Were you ever asked to weigh in on whether dissemination would be
5 appropriate, or was it more you're just receiving instruction or approval?
6 A I don't have any specific recollection. I do have a general recollection that
7 that kind of conversation may have taken place with me on the phone. Like, I have a
8 general recollection that I was on a call or in a discussion where that topic was being 9 discussed, but it wouldn't have been my place to weigh in one way or the other. It's just 10 not what I did there.
11 [redacted] I think we can go off the record.
12 [Recess.]
13 [redacted] We are back on.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Okay. So I would like to start and just take a step back. You said
16 something and I believe counsel said something during the previous hour. Counsel said
17 something about, you know, were you concerned about the banks might flag transactions
18 that, you know, look like they're perfectly legal. And you had given an example of, you
19 know, somebody writes, this is for an FCAA tournament in March. And then you 20 qualified that by saying, well, that actually could still be a code for something.
21 The vast majority of financial transactions on their face look legal, correct?
22 A Correct.
23 Q I mean, it would be very unusual to see a Zelle message that says this is for 24 fentanyl?
25 A Here's the problem and why it's very, very complex but it kind of reinforces

1 the point. It depends on the context, right, and your bank knows a lot of info about you.
2 So if your bank -- if you make 40 grand a year, your bank knows that. If you've got a
3 balance of about a thousand dollars for the last 3 years, your bank knows that.
4 If you send a Zelle -- if you receive a Zelle for 15 grand, that's going to stick out for 5 that person, regardless of what it says; whereas, the guy who's making six figures, who's 6 maintaining a $20,000 balance in his savings account, that's not going to flag anything.
7 So it's totally contextual, which is generally why no one red flag would ever be 8 something that people would say, oh, that's definitely suspicious. It really is contextual,
9 and it depends on the compilation of factors.
10 Q And depending on the scenario, whatever type of suspicious activity you're 11 looking for, and then depending on the type of customer, that compilation of factors is 12 going to be different, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Okay. And banks have to look at a variety of factors and, really, the totality
15 of all of the circumstances in order to determine if a transaction is suspicious?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And they make those determinations often with the benefit and insight of 18 information that FinCEN has shared, either that FinCEN has developed or that law
19 enforcement has developed, with information about current trends in money laundering,
20 terrorism, financing, and the other crimes that FinCEN focuses on, correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And, you know, just as another example of a type of reporting, I
23 mean -- well, let me step back.
24 The Bank Secrecy Act requires the reporting of any transaction and cash
25 transaction of $10,000 or more, correct?

1 A Yes.
2 Q Even if there's nothing else?
3 A Correct.
4 Q It could be completely out -- you know, completely consistent, the person
5 could do it every day, but --
6 A Absolutely. That's just a rules-based if it's 10k of cash, it's a report, full 7 stop.
8 Q But outside of that kind of line drawing, there's so many different factors
9 that are involved?
10 A Yeah. I mean, so there's -- there are many reports required by the BSA.
11 Most of them are just, like, if you have a foreign financial account, you have to file it.
12 There's no subjectivity there. Ten thousand in cash, you have to file it.
13 SARs are much more subjective.
14 Q Right. And because of the subjectivity, FinCEN is trying to provide 15 information to help banks be effective in identifying those transactions that, standing
16 alone on their face might look perfectly innocent but, in combination with other factors,
17 might be indicative of criminal activity?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Now, I want to turn to the exhibit 7, which was the email from Anthony
20 Harris, with the list of indicators. So I'm looking at -- it's HJC118 Bates stamp 6.
21 So -- now, you said this repeatedly, but just to be clear. It was not FinCEN's
22 intent, and your belief is that it was not the banks' intent, for any one of the terms listed
23 here with percentage marks on either side to trigger a SAR, correct?
24 A Correct.
25 Q There would have to be many other factors before a SAR?

1 A I wouldn't necessarily say many, you know, but it would -- the existence of 2 this -- of one of these terms would not generally by itself make something suspicious.
3 Q So if somebody sent a Zelle payment message, and in the message it said
4 "Trump," even after January 6th, that would not by itself -- it was not FinCEN's intent by 5 forwarding this to say, file a SAR for every message that has Trump in it?
6 A It was absolutely not FinCEN's intent to say that, correct.
7 Q And if somebody were to say otherwise, if somebody were to say, FinCEN
8 was flagging Zelle messages that used the words "Trump" or "MAGA," that would be 9 incorrect? Well, would that be correct? I don't want to do --
10 A Yeah. Can you restate that? I'm sorry.
11 Q If somebody were to look at this email and say, FinCEN was flagging Zelle
12 messages that used the word "Trump" as suspicious transactions, that would be an 13 incorrect statement, correct?
14 A Correct.
15 Q Okay. And the same for any of these terms on this list?
16 A Correct.
17 Q Okay. In and of themselves?
18 A Correct.
19 Q And --
20 A It's very hard for me to say that because of the subjectivity, right. I mean, it
21 is possible that, you know, a third-year analyst at J.P.Morgan sees a Zelle that says
22 "murder" and may choose to file a SAR because it says murder. I mean, I can't say not,
23 you know.
24 Q And that's fair. And that raises a good point, which is that some of these --
25 A I wouldn't call --

1 Q -- some of these terms --

2 A -- all these terms like -- exactly.

3 Q They are not alike, correct?

4 A They're not necessarily alike with each other, correct.

5 Q Some are names, like Trump, correct, and some are things like murder,

6 death?

7 A And that's -- I mean, again, I can't speak for anybody, but at a just -- as a

8 hypothetical, it might be reasonable for somebody to see a payment that says "murder"

9 and consider that suspicious. I would say it would be unreasonable for somebody to see

10 a payment that says "Capitol" or "patriot" and think that that's alone suspicious, right. I

11 mean, so they're definitely not the same.

12 Q And it was not your intent to have any one of these by themselves trigger a

13 SAR?

14 A Correct.

15 Q Okay. And this email in particular has been cited by the majority as

16 evidence of FinCEN targeting bank customers with conservative viewpoints, and the focus

17 was on words like "Trump" and "MAGA" and "America first." But as counsel pointed 18 out, there's other terms on this list, such as "Kamala," correct?

19 A Correct, that is on the list.

20 Q Biden is on the list?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Antifa is on the list, I believe?

23 A Correct -- yes.

24 Q Pelosi, correct? It's the third one down.

25 A Yep.

1 Q And the last one is Schumer.
2 A Yep.
3 Q And there were others, like "storm the" is a term --
4 A Right. And also, back up to -- I believe your original question said that this
5 is being used as evidence that FinCEN -- these terms did not come from FinCEN. FinCEN
6 disseminated them, but these terms were provided to FinCEN by a financial institution.
7 Q Now, I want to look at the list right below that, the Lone Actor/Homegrown
8 Violent Extremism Indicators. Again, just as with the list above, none of these 9 indicators, to your understanding, was intended to be taken by itself as a sufficient basis
10 for a SAR?
11 A That is correct. I don't recall FinCEN ever disseminating anything, to my 12 recollection, where we ever said or expected somebody to determine that something was 13 suspicious on the basis of a specific indicator.
14 Q So -- and, again, just to be clear, if someone were to say that by 15 disseminating this FinCEN was asking banks to flag any transportation charge as 16 suspicious, that would be incorrect?
17 A To my knowledge, that is not what we intended. That would be incorrect.
18 Q And when you look at this list of indicators here, is there anything on this list
19 that targets conservative viewpoints?
20 A I don't think I'm in a position to opine on that.
21 Q Fair enough.
22 You were asked in the previous hour if FinCEN monitored American's 23 transportation. Does FinCEN have the ability, re access to the data, to be able to 24 monitor that?
25 A I mean, generally, no. If there were transportation-related transactions

1 that were filed in a SAR or something else, then theoretically that would be available to
2 FinCEN.
3 Q And it would be available because somebody in a bank's AML/CFT
4 department determined, through its consideration of a variety of factors, that that 5 transaction was suspicious?
6 A Correct.
7 Q And --
8 A If it was a SAR.
9 Q If it was a SAR.
10 A Right.
11 Q Okay. Now, I want to look at just some of these indicators. If you look at 12 just the first two: The long periods of account inactivity, or normal usage, but in the 13 months or years preceding an attack, a sudden surge of activity -- a change in activity
14 type. And then if you look at the second one: Sudden purchase of firearms, firearm 15 parts and accessories, ammunition, tactical gear at outdoor supply stores, purchases at 16 shooting ranges not commensurate with previously known customer behavior. And 17 then you look at some of the others, like the next several ones on -- the next several 18 indicators on the next page.
19 If you saw all of those indicators for a particular customer, that might be the kind
20 of customer for which a SAR should be triggered, correct?
21 A I mean, it would be subjective, right. Certainly an investigator might come 22 to that conclusion.
23 Q Right. And sometimes different investigators are going to reach different
24 conclusions?
25 A Correct.

1 Q Because it is so subjective?

2 A Correct.

3 Q And, again, as you said, banks had information about their customers that

4 FinCEN, that law enforcement simply don't have?

5 A Correct.

6 Q Banks know their account history, their account usage, their income or their

7 relative income, how much money is coming into the bank, that sort of thing?

8 A Correct.

9 Q Okay. Now, when FinCEN received these from -- this list of indicators from 10 a bank and then forwarded them to other institutions, was FinCEN endorsing the use of 11 these indicators?

12 A So I don't have firsthand knowledge, but on the face of this, this second

13 batch of indicators appears to be FinCEN-developed, but I don't -- I would -- wasn't 14 involved with and don't have any knowledge with how they were developed.

15 Q Fair enough.

16 What about the first one that says "bank submission" that your understanding is 17 that the bank developed?

18 A That was a bank that sent us those indicators.

19 Q And in forwarding these indicators, whether they were developed by FinCEN

20 or developed by the bank, was FinCEN asking the banks to file SARs?

21 A No.

22 Q Was FinCEN encouraging the banks to file SARs?

23 A No.

24 Q Now, in the majority's March 2024 report, it states that this list

25 demonstrates that the Federal Government broadly enlisted financial institutions to flag

1 certain kinds of purchases that the government deemed to be unnecessary.
2 Is that an accurate statement?
3 A No.
4 Q Now, I want to take a look at the PowerPoint that was also attached to this
5 email. Again, as with the previous attachment, the previous typologies, this was not a
6 request by FinCEN to file SARs that matched any of the indicators in this PowerPoint?
7 A Correct.
8 Q And this was not a request by FinCEN to flag any particular transactions or 9 anything like that?
10 A What do you mean by flag?
11 Q Well, I guess the only -- is there a way to flag a transaction other than by 12 filing a SAR?
13 A Not --
14 Q A suspicious --
15 A There's no way to flag transactions for FinCEN and law enforcement's
16 visibility without filing a BSA report.
17 Q Now -- give me 1 minute.
18 If you take a look at exhibit 8, which is the email to you and your colleague from a 19 redacted employee at KeyBank, the employee describes the PowerPoint as, "a typology to 20 detect potential active shooters that we are using right now to see if we have parties of 21 concern."
22 Law enforcement actually wants to prevent active shooters from committing acts
23 of --
24 A I would certainly hope so.
25 Q -- mass shooting, correct?

1 And your understanding is that part of FinCEN's mission is to help identify those 2 folks and prevent those crimes from happening?
3 A Absolutely.
4 And can I just point out, I mean, I think there's a lot of talk about what FinCEN
5 expected or didn't expect. I mean, I think it's instructive to see the words on the page 6 from one of the bank participants where they're characterizing this whole thing as,
7 typologies to detect potential shooters that we are using right now to see if we have 8 parties of concern.
9 So, again, it's instead of looking for that needle in a haystack in millions of 10 transactions, it's let's take a narrow subset that fits certain characteristics and look at 11 those to evaluate whether they are suspicious.
12 Are we going to miss some that aren't in that batch? Probably. Are we going 13 to be overly inclusive in looking at things that we decide are not suspicious? Absolutely.
14 But it makes it manageable. It makes it much more efficient and effective to generate 15 high-quality reviews. That was the purpose and, I think at least in this instance, that was 16 what was understood by the participants.
17 Q Thank you. That's very helpful.
18 And I want to take your advice and focus on the language of the PowerPoint itself
19 that KeyBank sent to you. So I'm looking at the page that starts -- that says, "Active
20 Shooter Detection - Methodology 1." And this is where you have, under Transaction 21 Population, it says, "Query for credit/debit card purchases involving any of the following 22 MCC codes."
23 Do you see that?
24 A Yeah. Do you mind if I -- when I first got this, I didn't really look at the deck
25 at all just because I didn't think -- give me a minute or two to --

1 Q Absolutely. Take all the time you need.
2 A -- just acclimate myself with the deck, please, yeah.
3 Q And please don't feel rushed.
4 A All right. Thank you.
5 Okay. Great. Thank you.
6 Q Thank you. I appreciate that.
7 Okay. So the very first section under the title has a list of MCC codes.
8 A Uh-huh.
9 Q And it says: "Query for credit/debit card purchases involving any of the 10 following MCC codes," correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Okay. And then there is a very long list of keyword exclusions, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Okay. Now, the slide itself, if you continue to look at it, makes clear that 15 not every transaction involving the listed MCC codes is going to be reported, correct? If 16 you look at the third bullet point about the 60-day rollback period.
17 A Correct.
18 Q Okay. There's several parameters from just the bank's own methodology
19 that must be met. So number one is there have to be five or more distinct and different 20 merchants/vendors of the above population set by the customer, correct?
21 A Uh-huh.
22 Q And there has to be an aggregate purchase transaction totaling $2,500 or 23 more from the above MCC codes by the customer, correct?
24 A Uh-huh, yes.
25 Q And the number of transactions at the above MCC codes have to be greater

1 than 50 percent of the total number of transactions by the customer, and the aggregate
2 purchase amount at the above MCC codes has to be 50 percent of total purchases by the 3 customer, correct?
4 A Yes.
5 Q So if somebody were to characterize this slide as KeyBank saying they're 6 going to file a SAR for any purchase from an MCC code related to pawnshops or arms
7 stores or sporting goods stores, that would be incorrect, wouldn't it?
8 A It most certainly does not clearly indicate that this will lead to the filing of a
9 SAR. I'm not sure that it excludes the possibility that somebody could interpret that to 10 be the outcome here, right. I mean, if they -- in other words, if there were transactions
11 that fit all of these parameters, maybe they would file a SAR. I don't know that I can tell
12 from the face of the slide, but it certainly doesn't indicate that a SAR would or must be 13 filed.
14 Q And to that point, it would have to be not just that a purchase involved one
15 of the following MCC codes, but also meet those four parameters that I just read, correct?
16 A Correct, and exclude all of these others.
17 Q And exclude all of the others.
18 A Right.
19 Q So for someone to say that -- if someone were to say that FinCEN was 20 distributing a slide deck asking banks to flag purchases from MCC codes relating to 21 firearms, any purchase relating to firearms, that would be incorrect?
22 A That would be incorrect.
23 Q Okay. And the same goes for methodology number 2, correct?
24 A Correct.
25 Q Okay. And, again, when FinCEN forwards this type of information from one

1 bank to other banks, it is not asking or encouraging them to file SARs based on the 2 methodologies or typologies contained in these types of documents?
3 A Correct.
4 Q The banks are expected to use their own judgment and their own analysis,
5 based on their knowledge of their customers' database, on how best, if at all, to 6 incorporate the information in these slide decks?
7 A Correct.
8 Q Okay.
9 [redacted] Okay. We can go off the record.
10 [Discussion off the record.]
11 [redacted] We can go back on.
12 So I'd like to start by entering into the record an email from [redacted] dated 13 January 16th, 2021, with the subject line "Capitol Riots" into the record as exhibit 9.
14 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 9.
15 was marked for identification.]
16 [redacted] Okay.
17 [redacted] I'm also going to enter an excerpt from the Institute for Strategic 18 Dialogue's report titled, "Bankrolling Bigotry: An Overview of the Online Funding of 19 American Hate Groups" into the record as exhibit 10. This is attached to the email that 20 we just introduced -- or is linked to the email that we just introduced.
21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 10.
22 was marked for identification.]
23 [redacted] Okay.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q Okay. Do you remember sending this email?

1 A No.

2 Q Do you recall if you reviewed the information in the links that were included

3 in the email before you shared it with these financial institutions?

4 A I can confidently say I did not review for the purpose of evaluating or making

5 any determination. I don't recall whether I looked at it or reviewed it.

6 Q Do you know if these materials were shared with any other Federal agency?

7 A I don't know.

8 Q So among other links in this email, it includes links of the Anti-Defamation

9 League's hate symbol database, and to a report that we introduced, authored by the 10 Institute for Strategic Dialogue, titled, "Bankrolling Bigotry."

11 Does FinCEN maintain a list of American hate groups or hate symbols?

12 A Not to my knowledge. I do recall in the general context of this topic that

13 there was a list that someone at FinCEN had, but I don't know what that was derived

14 from. It may have come from these same sources or something else. I don't know.

15 Q Does FinCEN often rely on groups like these in making those determinations

16 as to what is a hate symbol?

17 A I couldn't tell you. I don't know.

18 Q Did you ever speak with the Anti-Defamation League regarding the links

19 shared?

20 A I did not.

21 Q What about with the Institute for Strategic Dialogue?

22 A I did not.

23 Q Do you know if FinCEN, anyone else at FinCEN works with groups like ADL

24 and ISD --

25 A I do not.

1 Q -- to understand their methodology?

2 A I don't know.

3 Q When you sent this email -- when did you become aware of this hate symbol

4 database, if you recall?

5 A What do you mean by hate symbol database?

6 Q It's the --

7 A Are you referring to the ADL website?

8 Q The ADL website.

9 A Oh, I don't recall.

10 Q Do you recall anyone at FinCEN having concerns about sending this report to 11 financial institutions?

12 A Not that I recall.

13 Q Did any financial institutions express any concerns when they received it?

14 A Not that I recall.

15 Q Did FinCEN intend that banks would investigate these groups that were 16 included in these lists when sending this information?

17 A I would not say that we intended any specific action. We viewed this as 18 providing information that would be helpful to them during whatever analyses they were 19 conducting.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Who at FinCEN conducts the assessment to determine what's valuable or 22 potentially valuable to private sector partners?

23 A That's a great question. Probably a lot of different divisions. I mean,

24 certainly my own division, the Strategic Operations Division, you know, that's a

25 conversation that came up a lot in the BSAAG context, you know, financial institutions

1 asking for more information to help inform their efforts instead of kind of operating blind.
2 So from a policy perspective, SOD or Policy Division might have gotten that
3 feedback or have an input on that. You know, enforcement, intelligence from a
4 substantive perspective. Front office, Main Treasury, politic -- I have no idea. I mean,
5 it could be any number of inputs.
6 Q For the inputs in this email, for example, the link from ADL, is that something
7 you would have found on your own? Is that information that's being transmitted to you
8 in preparation for drafting this email?
9 A So I have zero recollection of where any of these came from, other than to 10 tell you that it wasn't my job to generate any of this. So it didn't come from my staff or 11 me. But I don't remember who at FinCEN or other stakeholders provided these.
12 Q With the understanding you don't have a specific recollection for this email
13 and how it was prepared, for content like what's in the first paragraph, the link to the ADL
14 website, which division or, more specific, office within FinCEN would it have fallen within 15 their purview to find this kind of information and also have it transmitted to you and your
16 team?
17 A As a general matter, that kind of substantive analysis would generally be the 18 Intelligence Division.
19 Q And independent of this email, just so the record is clear, understanding you
20 didn't have any interactions with ADL about this link, just generally as part of your role at 21 FinCEN in any context, did you have any interactions with ADL?
22 A Not to my recollection.
23 Q Same with ISD?
24 A Correct. Not to my recollection.
25 Q And what about the Global Disinformation Index?

1 A Not to my recollection.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q You also stated these might be of value to the financial institutions. How 4 can a financial institution use these?

5 A Is that what's in the email when I said -- saying it had value?

6 Q In response to an earlier question.

7 A Oh, is that what I said? You know, it's data points, right. When an

8 investigator or a bank is looking at a set of transactions or a customer and evaluating

9 whether the transactions or the conduct of the customer is something that warrants a

10 SAR or not, data points are helpful. So I think it's just additional data for them to have 11 access to.

12 Q So a bank might be able to take that list of groups and see, do I have any

13 customers that are these groups, and review some of their transactions to see if there's

14 suspicious activity?

15 A That might be something a bank chooses to do or not based on the receipt

16 of this. That is certainly something they could do.

17 [redacted] Your office specifically is not assessing the value of links and 18 documents like this, though, is that it?

19 [redacted] Correct. Correct.

20 [redacted] That would be the Intelligence Division, most likely?

21 [redacted] Yeah. I mean, I say as a general matter just because, right,

22 everybody brings in their own experience, right. Did we have senior advisors that 23 worked with the director that were former prosecutors that had info?

24 I mean, info could theoretically have come from any FinCEN -- you know, from a

25 personal matter. But in terms of the structure of FinCEN, that kind of substantive

1 analysis was generally the Intelligence Division.

2 I should also say that FinCEN has a division that was newly stood up while I was

3 there. I believe it's called Global Investigations. I don't recall it being a division at this

4 time. I don't remember one way or the other, and I don't recall, given the domestic

5 nature, that it was involved at all. But I wanted to raise that because most of my

6 answers when I say things like the substantive analysis would generally be ID, I would add

7 that, if appropriate, it would also be the Global Investigations Division.

8 I've short of forgotten them. Don't tell Matt, if it's still Matt.

9 So that would be the second sort of primary division that substantively crunches

10 BSA data for that purpose.

11 [redacted] Who's the head of that division?

12 [redacted] When I was there, it was a guy named -- was it Matt Stiglitz?

13 [redacted] Uh-huh. Still is.

14 [redacted] Still is. So he's the head of that division.

15 But, again, I'm not even sure if it was a division at this time, nor, given the global

16 nature of it, do I think it was involved. I just -- you've asked a lot of general questions of

17 who would it be, who would it be, and I keep saying ID, ID. And just occurred to me it's 18 probably also GID in many cases.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q In early 2021, do you have a sense of how big the Intelligence Division is?

21 A I have a general sense. It was one of FinCEN's larger divisions. Certainly

22 less than a hundred. I'm pretty sure more than 30 or 40. I'm not sure I can get much

23 more specific, but it was one of the larger divisions.

24 Q Understanding you didn't have any interactions as part of your role, to your

25 understanding, did others at FinCEN have any relationships or just even points of contact

1 with ADL?

2 A Not that I'm aware of.

3 Q This is intended just as a general question, if you have any awareness. In

4 response to an earlier question, you mentioned that providing data points -- that data

5 points could be helpful. In any context, are you aware of any assessment being

6 conducted about whether certain data points came from political sources or sources with

7 certain political objectives that might change how the dataset was compiled or would

8 raise any concerns about the impartiality of it?

9 A I don't recall those conversations one way or the other.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q The email also states that MUFG kindly circulated the ISD report. Did you

12 ever speak with MUFG about their report?

13 A I don't have a specific recollection. I mean, I can confidently say I would

14 not have had a substantive conversation with them. Was I the person who received it or 15 not? I may have been. I don't recall.

16 Q Do you recall if they indicated how it was using their report when they sent it

17 to you?

18 A No.

19 Q Do you know if they had had any conversations with ADL or ISD?

20 A I do not.

21 [redacted] Who was your primary point of contact at MUFG?

22 [redacted] I don't recall having a specific primary point of contact. Generally,

23 whoever it was in the context of this activity would probably be the folks on this email.

24 Give me a second and let me see if I can refresh my recollection.

25 I believe of these folks that are listed on the email, it was M. Roth is my recollection of being the primary.

[redacted] Do you recall for this individual what their first name was?

[redacted] I don't. I feel like I want to say Monique, but I don't know for certain.

[redacted] I'd now like to enter an email from [redacted] dated January 18, 2021, with the subject line "Capitol Riots" into the record as exhibit 11.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 11.

was marked for identification.]

[redacted] This is January 18th, right?

[redacted] Yes.

1 [3:58 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Do you remember sending this email?

4 A Not specifically, no.

5 Q Can you explain what the purpose of the email is?

6 A Not beyond the words on the page. It appears it was more information

7 that could potentially be used to narrow the scope of activity that they were looking at.

8 Q Narrow the scope of activity to what? What do these identify?

9 A So I have a general recollection that some of the funding, we were aware -- I

10 don't recall how, whether from law enforcement or whomever -- that some of the 11 funding mechanisms that supported the events of January 6th were through 12 crowdfunding websites.

13 So the thinking was, by identifying possibilities of what those funding mechanisms

14 were, it could be, again, another data point that could be used to try to understand a 15 particular customer's activity or, broadly, customers' activity.

16 Q So the email also states that FinCEN has observed people using the site to

17 post an event and sell tickets, including bus tickets, to the demonstrations, and then

18 identifies a transaction reference.

19 Is selling tickets to events or demonstrations evidence of potentially suspicious

20 activity?

21 A So, first, I would note there's no indication that FinCEN said this. I don't

22 recall what the source of this info was. The info says, "People have been observed using

23 this site." I don't -- that could have come from law enforcement, it could have come

24 from a bank that shared it. I don't recall where it came from. So I don't know for a fact

25 that this was FinCEN saying.

1 But, no, like everything else, no specific data point was intended to convey a
2 determination of suspicion. It was just a data point, a factor.
3 Q And what is a transaction reference?
4 A To the best of my knowledge, like if you were to go and log into your bank
5 app right now and look at your own card purchases, like if you're not filling anything out
6 when you use your card, whether it's the merchant or whomever, I'm not certain, like 7 there's some reference that's attached to those card purchases.
8 So I believe that's what this is a reference to.
9 Q And so in this instance, what are those transaction references identifying?
10 A It appears the use of Eventbrite. It also specifies a particular phone
11 number. I don't know what that phone number is. I'm not really sure that I can 12 answer that, actually.
13 Q One of the things the email mentions is, for example, "EB March for TR."
14 Are you aware of what that was short for?
15 A No.
16 Q Could it have been Eventbrite, March for Trump?
17 A I don't know.
18 Q And you're not aware of how you became aware of this transaction
19 reference?
20 A Correct. I have no recollection of what the source of this info was.
21 Q And so if a financial institution --
22 [redacted] Is this -- do you have -- it looks like a whole email chain. I'm not 23 sure if there's more info --
24 [redacted] There is.
25 [redacted] -- in other parts of this chain. But --

1 [redacted] Not relevant to this topic.

2 [redacted] No? Okay. I mean, I --

3 [redacted] Well, I think that's for him to decide.

4 [redacted] Yeah, I don't know one way. Certainly, I have no recollection, nor

5 on the face of this does it give me any information to answer that question.

6 [redacted] So if a financial institution that's on this email inserted the 7 transaction reference that you identified, what would that return?

8 [redacted] I'm not sure I understand. Insert -- inserted that where?

9 [redacted] Well, that's my question. I'm trying to understand how this 10 transaction reference is used.

11 [redacted] If you know.

12 If that would be a question for him or the financial institutions as to how they're 13 going to use it.

14 [redacted] Yeah. I mean, again, I think I kind of addressed this earlier. Like,

15 it would depend, I suppose, on what systems they have in place to query their own data.

16 I can't even represent that all of these institutions have the ability to query in that 17 manner. I don't know.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q For an email like this one, obviously there's a list of names, and based off

20 your recollection very likely received that from someone else within FinCEN.

21 So the text of Eventbrite, for example, are you on the receiving end of that text,

22 you're just copying and pasting it into the email, or are you playing some role in the 23 editing process summarizing what you received?

24 A I did not make any substantive edits to the information that I received from a

25 substantive perspective. I also wouldn't assume this came from FinCEN. I don't know

1 what the source of this info was.

2 Again, I was disseminating it. It may have come from another financial

3 institution, it may have come from law enforcement, it may have come from FinCEN. I

4 don't recall. And my staff and I would not have played any role in changing any of that

5 content.

6 Q Even down to the -- for example, for an email like this, typically, that would

7 be --

8 A None of this --

9 Q That was already -- whoever it was, whether it was --

10 A None of this is my work product or my staff's.

11 [redacted] And just so we're clear for housekeeping, the email you guys

12 are asking about is an internal email that was just among the banks, if you look at the top.

13 You've just been asking him questions about the email that he sent below.

14 But just so the record is clear, that top part should probably be redacted.

15 [redacted] And for what it's worth, when you forward something along, you

16 can edit it. So I'm -- I can't even represent that this is an accurate depiction of what I

17 sent. I don't think it matters one way or the other because I don't recall. But, I mean, 18 technically. But yeah, I mean, sort of the messenger here.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q I'll represent that we received this exact email from several different

21 financial institutions.

22 Had you used transaction references before?

23 A Meaning like has FinCEN ever disseminated information about transaction

24 references?

25 Q Sure. Have you disseminated information about transaction references

1 before or after this one?

2 A I have a general recollection that some advisory or advisories along the way

3 would have referenced maybe, for example, like wire details or some sort of reference

4 number information. It's not an uncommon factor.

5 Q When the email says observing people, do you know what that means,

6 "People have been observed"?

7 A I do not.

8 Q And you're unaware of how those people may have been observed?

9 A Correct.

10 Q Does FinCEN monitor crowdfunding sites?

11 A I have no knowledge one way or the other.

12 Q And did you ever communicate with Eventbrite?

13 A No.

14 Q GoFundMe?

15 A None of these names I have ever communicated with.

16 Q Are you aware of anybody else at FinCEN who may have communicated with 17 these crowdfunding sites?

18 A Not that I'm aware of.

19 Q And I assume you didn't inform these crowdfunding sites that these 20 transaction references may be being monitored?

21 A I personally did not. I don't have any knowledge of whether that had

22 happened.

23 Q The second line of the email states "Anedot.com,"

24 and follows with, "You may see a Card Purchase with the transaction reference in the

25 following format: 'A [a message or like a cause or candidate] with the phone number in

1 the following format,'" and then has the phone number.

2 What is Anedot.com?

3 A I have no idea.

4 Q Do you have any idea why Anedot was targeted?

5 A I'm not sure I would agree with the premise of that question, but I don't

6 have any knowledge either way.

7 Q Do you have any idea what transactions this transaction reference might

8 identify?

9 A No.

10 [redacted] Do you know if this refers to political contributions?

11 [redacted] I do not know one way or the other.

12 [redacted] Did you have to seek any approval or discuss with anyone any of 13 the transaction references in this email before sending it?

14 [redacted] I don't recall.

15 [redacted] During this time period, are you aware of any contents, whether it be

16 tied to this email chain, of where political donations were a typology or something that 17 contributed to?

18 [redacted] I'm not aware of that, no.

19 [redacted] Can we just go off the record?

20 [Discussion off the record.]

21 [redacted] We can go back on.

22 Okay. I'd now like to enter an email from [redacted] dated January 16th,

23 2021, and one of the attachments, "MUFG Typology slide," with the subject line "Capitol

24 Riots," into the record as exhibit 12.

25 [redacted] Exhibit No. 12.

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted] Okay.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Do you remember sending this email?

5 A No.

6 Q Do you recall if there were any discussions at FinCEN before sending this

7 email?

8 A No. I don't recall.

9 Q The email states that the attachments are from MUFG.

10 Do you have any idea why MUFG sent these attachments or shared these 11 attachments?

12 [redacted] Just for the record, I think he only has one of the two 13 attachments on this actual exhibit, right?

14 [redacted] Yeah. I only entered one of the attachments into the record.

15 [redacted] Okay. Yeah. I mean, well, as a general matter, that's what these

16 discussions were, a forum for the sharing of information if anyone was so inclined. So

17 you can infer that MUFG felt inclined to share this.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q And do you remember discussing these materials with MUFG?

20 A No.

21 Q Do you remember in those discussions just trying to elicit some of this

22 information sharing?

23 A I don't remember any such discussions one way or the other.

24 Q Do you recall, once you received these materials from MUFG, what you did

25 with them?

1 A I do not specifically recall. I can confidently say that I would have
2 disseminated them internally to the appropriate group, and then, again, either sought
3 approval to disseminate or at the time felt that it was something that I had approval to 4 disseminate.
5 Q And who would be the appropriate groups to disseminate something like 6 this to internally?
7 A I think I addressed this earlier. I don't specifically recall. I mean, there
8 was definitely an internal group of FinCEN folks that were generally working on this topic
9 and involved, ID folks being the most prominent to my recollection. But I don't really 10 recall beyond that.
11 Q Turning to the slide itself.
12 Do you recall whether you reviewed this slide?
13 A I don't recall one way or the other. Again, I would note that I would not 14 have reviewed it -- I wouldn't have done anything but read it. I wasn't evaluating or 15 reviewing it for substance.
16 Q How would a bank use the typology and the MCC Codes it lists to review
17 certain transactions?
18 A Well, to the extent that they're able to search those types of information in 19 their systems, they would, I guess, search for that code and isolate for review those 20 transactions, I guess, or would be one factor that they would use to apply in a search.
21 Q And this slide lists transfers to GiveSendGo or other crowdfunding sites.
22 Are you aware of whether FinCEN or MUFG was scrutinizing these kinds of 23 transactions?
24 A I'm not aware.
25 Q The note at the bottom also mentions DIA.

1 Do you know what DIA is?

2 A My assumption, based on nothing but the page, is that it's the Data Insights

3 and Analytics team at MUFG, which is in the title of the slide.

4 Q And it also mentions may warrant escalation.

5 A I think what it actually says is that there's no single hit may warrant

6 escalation, but more than one could.

7 So it reinforces the notion that these banks understood that they weren't being

8 told that any one of these factors was requiring or expecting or should lead to a SAR.

9 It was a data point that they could use if they wanted to for evaluation. I think

10 that's, essentially, what MUFG is saying there.

11 Q And so the question I was going to ask is, when it says warrant escalation,

12 what does that mean to you?

13 A Warrant escalation -- well, it depends on the parlance of the individual bank.

14 I read this, I think they mean file a SAR. It could just be a reference to some step prior to 15 that internally.

16 I mean, they may have a -- some banks have, like, a level one, and if they see

17 something that's a maybe, it goes to the level two that are a little more experienced to 18 make those determinations.

19 So I don't know what they mean here, but one of those.

20 Q It also mentions that DIA will, quote, "look to sort for these typologies via 21 in-person versus online purchases."

22 Do you have any idea what that means?

23 A I do not.

24 [redacted] So you've mentioned the Intelligence Division and the Global 25 Investigations Division.

1 Are there any other divisions that review and analyze and evaluate BSA data?
2 [redacted] So I definitely answered this earlier. I mean, several divisions do
3 for different reasons. I mean, Policy for policy reasons and advisory reasons,
4 Enforcement for enforcement activity. Some folks in SOD for -- we have the global FIU
5 component.
6 So many, if not most, divisions of FinCEN may have some reason to review BSA
7 data. And, of course, best ask FinCEN that question. I don't know.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Turning back to the previous exhibit, the typologies via in-person versus 10 online, independent of this email, just at a high level, are you aware of any sort of 11 discussion as to what that might mean, how typologies might apply for in-person
12 transactions but be different if the transaction is made online?
13 A I'm sorry. Will you restate that question for me?
14 Q Sure. Independent of this email, during your time at FinCEN, do you recall 15 any sort of discussions about typologies applying for in-person purchases as opposed to 16 online purchases, whether they be different lists or prioritizing different typologies.
17 A Yeah. I mean, I definitely do not recall some, like, standalone factor turning 18 on whether it was in-person or online. Like that doesn't really make sense to me.
19 Totally separate from anything we've been discussing, there are certain red flags
20 that may only be present in person.
21 So, for example, bank tellers are generally trained to spot people that are antsy
22 and uncomfortable. Or you'll commonly see a SAR where somebody tries to withdraw
23 10,000 bucks, they get asked to fill out a form, and they say, "Oh, just kidding, I only need 24 9,000." They're supposed to file a SAR because that's somebody avoiding.
25 That would only generally be in person. Cash, of course, would only be in

1 person.

2 Online you get a whole different -- you talked about identity fraud and login

3 credentials.

4 So there are certainly significant differences there. But in terms of, like, here's a

5 type of conduct and it only is meaningful in one, that, I don't -- that's not familiar to me.

6 [redacted] We can go off the record.

7 [Discussion off the record.]

8 [redacted] Back on the record.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q I want to start with exhibit 12, the slide from MUFG, the "GFCD Intelligence

11 & Analytics, Data Insights and Analytics."

12 A That's the most recent? Okay. Yep. Got it.

13 Q Okay. So you pointed out the note on the bottom of the slide, which says,

14 "DIA plans on looking at these typologies holistically, that is no single hit may warrant

15 escalation but more than one could."

16 A Uh-huh.

17 Q And that is consistent with all of your testimony about how these typologies

18 are intended to be used and, in your experience, how they are used by banks, correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Okay. Now, in the majority's March 2024 report, it states that, according to 21 this particular slide, quote, "Account information and transactions meeting any of the 11

22 typology criteria may have been flagged and shared with Federal law enforcement as 23 being suspicious," end quote. And that's on page 29 of the report.

24 Is that an accurate statement based on your understanding of this --

25 A No. It's contradicted on its face by the incident.

1 Q Okay. Now, going back to the exhibit number, which I can't
2 remember -- exhibit 10 -- or I guess it was 9 and 10, the email that had several different
3 links attached, including -- and then exhibit 10 is the excerpt from the ISD report.
4 Let's start with exhibit 10. And this should be clear from all of your testimony so
5 far, but just for the record, in circulating this you did not intend to suggest that 6 membership in any one of the organizations here was sufficient to trigger a suspicious
7 activity report, correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q Okay. Now, the majority's report claims that FinCEN's distribution of this 10 ISDN report and the ADL link amounts to an approval of its contents, methods, and 11 conclusions.
12 Do you agree with that statement?
13 A No. And I'm not sure I'm the right person to ask that question, but I don't 14 personally agree with that, no.
15 Q Fair enough. Okay.
16 Now let's take a look at exhibit 11, which is the exhibit with a list of crowdfunding
17 sites.
18 Now, you noted that at the bottom of this exhibit it is clear that this is part of an 19 email thread, and the bottom of this exhibit shows the "from" and "to" line of an email
20 you sent on Sunday, January 17th, 2021, at 4:06 p.m.
21 And I am just going to represent for the record that that email was an email from 22 you to these recipients with a link to a list from the Department of Justice of individuals
23 who had been charged with offenses related to their roles in January 6th.
24 A Okay.
25 Q Does that sound familiar, like something you might have sent?

1 A I mean, I don't have any recollection. It sounds on brand of what we were
2 doing, but --
3 Q Fair enough.
4 Okay. Now, by sending this list of crowdfunding sites, were you asking financial 5 institutions to file SARs for any transactions with crowdfunding sites?
6 A No.
7 Q And did you -- were you trying to hint to them or encourage to them that 8 any crowdfunding site transaction should be flagged?
9 A No.
10 Q Now, in the majority's report they stated that, according to this email, simply 11 purchasing a ticket to an event was enough for FinCEN to consider this activity as 12 suspicious.
13 Is that accurate?
14 A No.
15 Q And they also say that FinCEN was soliciting and encouraging financial 16 institutions to report on the accounts of any persons involved in crowdfunding events or 17 demonstrations in support of President Trump.
18 Is that accurate?
19 A No.
20 Q The majority has alleged that FinCEN has engaged in a pattern of financial 21 surveillance aimed at millions of Americans who hold conservative viewpoints or who 22 simply exercise their Second Amendment rights.
23 What's your response to that allegation?
24 A I never encountered any information or discussion that made me think that 25 while I was at FinCEN.

1 Q And the majority claims that FinCEN and law enforcement commandeered
2 financial institutions to spy on Americans.
3 What's your response to that allegation?
4 A Did not happen.
5 Q All of FinCEN's communications with financial institutions were pursuant to 6 Federal statutes, correct?
7 A To the best of my knowledge.
8 Q Thank you very much.
9 A And I wasn't the person in charge of evaluating that.
10 Q Fair enough.
11 [redacted] And with that, we can go off the record.
12 [Whereupon, at 4:27 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] Can we go on the record, please.

2 This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has requested

3 this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent to which the

4 executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and its intermediaries to

5 censor speech.

6 Would the witness please state your name for the record.

7 [redacted]. [redacted].

8 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here

9 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to

10 appear voluntarily.

11 My name is [redacted] I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 12 everyone else from the committee who's here in room introduce themselves as well.

13 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

14 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

16 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

17 [redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

18 [redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

19 [redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

20 [redacted] I would like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we

21 will follow during today's interview.

22 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1

23 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period

24 of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more

25 questions and the interview is over. Typically we take a short break at the end of each

1 hour, but if you would like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

2 As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

3 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

4 Do you understand?

5 [redacted]. Yes.

6 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best

7 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just

8 those people on the staff whose turn it is.

9 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks

10 down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we don't talk over one

11 another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at 12 today's interview.

13 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with

14 counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding that you are appearing today with 15 counsel.

16 Is that correct?

17 [redacted]. Yes.

18 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record.

19 Mr. Bopp. Yes. Michael Bopp representing [redacted].

20 Mr. Donovan. Daniel Donovan, King & Spalding representing [redacted].

21 [redacted] Thank you.

22 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner

23 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions, or if you don't

24 understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide

25 range of topics, so if you need a clarification at any point, just say so. If you honestly

1 don't know the answer to a question or do not remember --

2 [redacted] Go off the record.

3 [Discussion off the record.]

4 [redacted] We can go back on.

5 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any

6 point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not

7 remember, it's best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it's okay to

8 tell us you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to

9 know the information. If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so

10 and please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a

11 more complete answer to the questions.

12 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath that by

13 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.

14 Do you understand that?

15 [redacted]. Yes.

16 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an

17 interview.

18 Do you understand this?

19 [redacted]. Yes.

20 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to

21 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18, U.S.C. Section

22 1001.

23 Do you understand this?

24 [redacted]. Yes.

25 [redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to

today's questions?

[redacted]. No.

[redacted] Finally, I would like to make a note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation. For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

That is the end of my preamble.

Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

[redacted] No. Thank the witness for being here today. Appreciate your time.

[redacted] The clock now reads 10:18. We will start the first hour of questioning.

EXAMINATION

BY [redacted]

Q Can I have you state your full name again?

A [redacted].

Q And where are you currently for work?

A Alphabet Google.

Q And how long have you worked at Google for?

A I've worked there over two periods of time. The most recent period has been approximately 4 years.

Q At a high level what is your educational background?

A I have a bachelor's of science from Carnegie Mellon University.

1 Q Any other degrees?

2 A No.

3 Q After college, can you walk us through your professional history?

4 A I became an analyst at Bank of America in 2006.

5 In 2007, I joined Google for the first time as a product marketing manager. I left

6 in 2011 to work at a startup named StumbleUpon.

7 In 2013, I joined Pandora Internet Radio to work in a product management

8 capacity, focused on advertising. I left there in 2016.

9 And in 2017, I helped launch a company named UnitedMasters. In -- I can't recall

10 if it was exactly the end of 2017 or beginning of 2018, I left UnitedMasters and joined the 11 company WeWork.

12 And in February of 2020, I rejoined Google.

13 Q And when you joined Google the second time, February of 2020, which 14 position was that for?

15 A Director of product management.

16 Q And how long were you in that role for?

17 A I remained in the role -- my title has since been changed to senior director of 18 product management.

19 Q And when was that?

20 A I believe it was in the fall of 2022.

21 Q What are the main differences in the scope of your responsibilities from 22 director to senior director?

23 A When I joined Google in February of 2020, I was focused on the Google

24 Assistant for smart homes. Over the span of those 2 years, my scope increased for

25 working on Google Assistant on smart homes to Google Assistant in the automobile, on

1 wearables such as watches, and eventually mobile phones.

2 And then post my promotion to senior director, shortly thereafter I began to work

3 on the project known as Bard.

4 Q Had you worked on Bard at all prior to your promotion?

5 A I don't believe so.

6 Q When you were still director, who did you report to at that time?

7 A I have had three managers over the course of my current stint at Google.

8 Q Can you tell us who those three are?

9 A My first was [redacted], VP of product management. Upon his

10 departure from Google, my manager was [redacted] for a very short period of time.

11 And then I believe it was in the spring of 2021, my manager became, my current manager,

12 [redacted].

13 Q Once you become senior director, what were your responsibilities?

14 A Overseeing the -- at the time of the promotion, it was overseeing the full

15 portfolio of Google Assistant's device distribution across mobile phones, automobiles,

16 wearables, and smart homes. Shortly after the promotion, the work on the Bard project

17 began, and in December of 2022, my sole responsibility was Bard.

18 Q Who made the decision to have your portfolio become exclusively Bard?

19 A My manager offered me the role, and I accepted.

20 Q Prior to December of 2022, how many individuals were you overseeing in 21 the company?

22 A I don't recall the exact number.

23 Q Just a ballpark estimate?

24 A Around 40 to 50 perhaps.

25 Q And that 40 to 50, was it divided up based off different products, whether it

1 was car or watch or whatever it might be?

2 A At the time, yes, the team was structured by mobile phones, smart home,

3 car, wearables.

4 Q And then come December of 2022, how many other people were assigned

5 full-time to Bard of the folks that you were supervising?

6 A In terms of my direct supervision at the beginning of Bard in 2022?

7 Q Yes.

8 A It was either two or three individuals.

9 Q And were those two or three individuals working for you previously?

10 A Of the two that I recall, one had and one had not.

11 Q And what were their roles?

12 A They were helping drive the initial definition of Bard.

13 Q And what do you mean by that, "drive the initial definition"?

14 A In December of 2022, we wrote the initial requirements and proposal for the 15 experiment that we called Bard. And so prior to that time, the concept of the product

16 experiment had not existed.

17 Q So in December 2022, it's just the small team working on that?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q What were the next steps in the process after that proposal has been 20 drafted?

21 A To build a functional prototype of the first version of Bard to be tested

22 among our team.

23 Q And post December -- or after December of 2022, how did your 24 responsibilities change as a senior director?

25 A My initial responsibility within the development of Bard was to launch the

1 product publicly first, which we did in March of 2023.

2 Q And how big is your team by March of 2023?

3 A At that point, I don't recall. The team has grown over the past 18 months.

4 Q What's the size of the team today?

5 A My team is approximately 40 product managers.

6 Q So it was the product launch in March of 2023. Can you continue to walk

7 us through the timeline and responsibilities as it relates to the project?

8 A My responsibilities have remained consistent, to drive the prioritization -- or

9 oversee the team that drives the prioritization of the future development and making

10 decisions for the scope of what launches and doesn't launch, and that has remained 11 consistent.

12 Q During your time as senior director, which other teams within the company

13 do you most frequently interact with?

14 A I would say the teams within Bard that I work most closely with are the 15 engineering team, the product marketing team, communications, Trust and Safety, as 16 well as Google DeepMind.

17 Q What is Google DeepMind?

18 A Google DeepMind is the research division of Alphabet.

19 Q Have you ever worked for DeepMind?

20 A I've never reported in to DeepMind.

21 Q When you say, "Trust and Safety," for the Trust and Safety team that you

22 interact with, what products do they oversee, that team?

23 A In my interactions with them, they help define the policies for the Bard

24 product.

25 Q Do they work on anything else besides Bard?

1 A At the company?

2 Q Yes.

3 A Are you asking about the individuals with whom I work or the overall --

4 Q Sorry. Staying with the -- maybe to clarify a little bit more. We've

5 received previous testimony, for example, that YouTube has its own Trust and Safety

6 team, so there are multiple Trust and Safety teams within Alphabet.

7 So when you referred to Trust and Safety, just trying to get a sense of which team

8 you're referring to, and the scope of that Trust and Safety team's purview, to your

9 understanding.

10 A To my understanding, the Trust and Safety team oversees many products at 11 Google. I don't know the full extent to which they cover.

12 Q Yeah. Just as an example, are there other products that you're aware of 13 that they work on?

14 A I would be guessing.

15 Q Okay. Who's the head of the Trust and Safety team?

16 A As it relates to the work that I do on Bard or overall?

17 Q Well, I'll ask it both ways, but trying to understand your understanding of 18 that team's leadership.

19 A There's a VP of -- I believe the term is Trust and Safety.

20 Q Do you know who the VP at Trust and Safety is?

21 A [redacted].

22 Q And who on the Trust and Safety team do you interact with most frequently?

23 A Me personally, or my team?

24 Q We'll start with you personally.

25 A My most frequent interactions are with [redacted] as well as our dedicated Trust

1 and Safety leader.

2 Q And who's the dedicated Trust and Safety leader?

3 A [redacted]

4 Q Do you know who [redacted] is, or is that --

5 A I don't know her title.

6 Q And for your team more generally, who are the most frequent points of 7 contact of the Trust and Safety team?

8 A I believe it's [redacted]

9 Q How long has [redacted] been the individual dedicated to the Bard project?

10 A I believe since the beginning, from a Trust and Safety perspective.

11 Q Yeah. So dating back to -- 12 A December of 2022.

13 Q -- 2022?

14 Had you worked with her previously?

15 A Yes.

16 Q In what context?

17 A She worked in a similar capacity on Google Assistant.

18 Q When you were working on Google Assistant, did you also interact with the 19 Trust and Safety team more generally since [redacted]?

20 A Not frequently.

21 Q When you did have interactions with the Trust and Safety team during your 22 time working on Google Assistant, what was the nature of those interactions?

23 A They were extremely limited, so I don't have a strong recollection of them.

24 Q Can you recall any examples or what sorts of issues or reasons might spur

25 Google Assistant to have some sort of meeting or communication with Trust and Safety?

1 A If it were to provide an inappropriate response to a user's request.
2 Q Are there internal Trust and Safety-related policies that were developed for
3 Google Assistant?
4 A I didn't work on them personally.
5 Q Yeah. But just to your understanding and awareness, were there?
6 A To my understanding, there are policies, but it's been a few years since I've 7 worked with them.
8 Q And would those policies have been developed by the Trust and Safety team,
9 to your understanding?
10 A To the best of my knowledge, yes.
11 Q So sticking with the Google Assistant example, again, just to your 12 understanding, can you walk us through how, you know, someone would become aware 13 if an answer was inappropriate? Is that -- does your team -- or does the -- let me stop it
14 there.
15 You mentioned if there was a response that was given that was inappropriate,
16 walk us through the process. How is that identified, and then what happens next?
17 A Users are able to -- users of Google Assistant are able to provide feedback
18 when they are unsatisfied with an answer or an action that was taken by the Google
19 Assistant.
20 Q And when a user provides feedback, to which team within the company does 21 that feedback go to?
22 A I don't know the exact process of who receives it first.
23 Q Okay. Was it your team?
24 A No.
25 Q Would Trust and Safety receive it before your team, to your understanding?

1 A I'm not sure if it would be Trust and Safety or another team.
2 Q Since your team isn't the first team that receives the user feedback, who
3 typically from the company would notify your team about the user feedback?
4 A As it relates to Google Assistant?
5 Q Yes.
6 A I'm not certain of the exact team. There would be feedback reports that 7 would be shared. I don't know who generates them.
8 Q And when the feedback is provided, is there -- when it's being provided 9 to -- ultimately one way or another to your team, is there additional assessment of how 10 the company's Trust and Safety policies are implicated?
11 A Are you asking relative to Google Assistant?
12 Q Yes, still relevant to Google Assistant.
13 A That wasn't within the scope of my role. The scope of my role on Google
14 Assistant was primarily about the device distribution. So my focus was not on the 15 individual responses so much as the quality of the product on a mobile phone, on a 16 watch.
17 Q Okay. Who within your team had that responsibility?
18 A They did not report to me. There would have been a separate team. And 19 at this point, I don't remember who would have been leading that function.
20 Q Okay. Was there a name for that division within your team, or was it a 21 completely separate team?
22 A On Google Assistant?
23 Q Yes.
24 A I don't recall what the name of the team was.
25 Q Let's shift to senior director, starting to work on Bard, what is the nature of 1 your team's interactions as it relates to Bard with the Trust and Safety team?

2 A At which stage?

3 Q Well, we'll start at the beginning. Did the nature of the interactions change

4 from December of 2022 to the present?

5 A In the definition phases of the project, the Trust and Safety team served as

6 an input to help inform the product policies.

7 Q So this is December of 2022?

8 A December or January, leading to the launch.

9 Q Of the two to three individuals you mentioned, who worked on the 10 definitions initially? Were any of them from the Trust and Safety team?

11 A [redacted] has been our primary point of contact.

12 Q Was [redacted] one of those two to three people that you were referring to?

13 A That helped us define the initial policies?

14 Q Yes.

15 A I believe so, yes.

16 Q Who is responsible for deciding who the two to three people were going to 17 be?

18 A I don't know.

19 Q You said in your case, it was your manager that offered you that opportunity

20 to work on Bard?

21 A Within my scope of product management, yes.

22 Q Besides [redacted], were there others from Trust and Safety who worked on the 23 definitions around December 2022, January 2023?

24 A My team may have worked with them, but I don't personally recall others.

25 Q Once the draft is prepared, who ultimately reviews and approves the

1 definitions?

2 Mr. Bopp. You mean a draft of the definitions?

3 [redacted] Yes.

4 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

5 [redacted]. My recollection of this exact phase of development is not

6 extremely strong. A common practice for setting product policies and the 7 implementation of them would be similar to how we are operating where, in my capacity

8 as the lead product manager, I would see the recommendation, make a call, whether I

9 believe it's correct or not, and then ultimately, my manager would be the one to sign off.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q So we started to walk through the different phases of development. So

12 post, say, early 2023, once the definitions have been prepared, and, at some point,

13 approved, how did the nature of your team's interactions with the Trust and Safety team

14 change at the next phase of development?

15 A Well, as policies get approved, you have to find ways to implement them,

16 and so we conducted -- or constructed tests to measure whether the product was

17 operating in adherence to these policies, and from there that was what helped us inform

18 our initial launch.

19 After launch you start to receive feedback from users and you need to continue to 20 adjust how you test for policy adherence.

21 Q Is Trust and Safety weighing in on how to construct the tests, or do they 22 have a more limited role once the definitions have been finalized?

23 A They have the ability to provide input and feedback.

24 Q Do you remember how many members of the Trust and Safety team were 25 working on providing feedback to the tasks that were being constructed before the 1 launch?

2 A I don't know.

3 Q Besides [redacted] who did you most frequently interact with on the Trust and

4 Safety team in early 2023?

5 A It was primarily [redacted]

6 Q So [redacted] was the VP of Trust and Safety?

7 A That's correct.

8 Q Was that the case for -- from December 2022 until the present, to your

9 understanding?

10 A I think so, yes.

11 Q How frequently did you interact with her, I'll say, from December 2022 until 12 the product launch?

13 A Not very frequently.

14 Q Do you know if she had the opportunity to -- let me rephrase that.

15 Was her approval necessary for finalizing the initial definitions for Bard?

16 A I'm not sure.

17 Q So then, there's the launch of the product itself. You begin receiving user

18 feedback. Can you walk us through the process of how that user feedback gets to your

19 team?

20 A Yes. So in March of 2023, we launched Bard as a web-only experiment in

21 two countries, the U.S. and U.K., in the form of a wait list. So it wasn't at that moment

22 in time that anyone could sign up for the experience. And what we were seeking to do

23 is understand how people would use it, and they were able to and continue to be able to

24 provide us feedback to responses in the user interface through the ability to give a thumb

25 up when something works well and a thumb down when they are not satisfied with the

1 response.

2 Q And that feedback, is it being provided directly to your team, or is there any

3 intermediary within the company that's filtering which feedback your team is seeing, or

4 was it all of it?

5 A My team directly doesn't review those, to my knowledge. There are

6 engineering teams that have access to that. I'm not entirely sure which team

7 reviews -- which exact team reviews the thumbs up and thumbs down.

8 There's also feedback that we receive from social media and press as well, which

9 those, I believe, are monitored first, at least from a social media perspective, by the Trust

10 and Safety team.

11 Q Do you know who from Trust and Safety is in charge of -- or was in charge of 12 monitoring social media as related to the initial product launch?

13 A I don't know.

14 Q To your knowledge, was [redacted] involved in that process, or what were the 15 scope of [redacted]'s responsibilities during this time, I guess, is a better way of asking?

16 A I don't know the full extent of her scope. My interaction with her is she's 17 seen as the policy lead with whom my team interfaces.

18 Q How long did this phase -- so there's the product launch, there's the wait list, 19 thumbs up thumbs down coming in. How long did that phase last for?

20 A The wait-list phase?

21 Q Yes.

22 A I believe we removed the wait list in May of 2023, along with the expansion

23 to more countries and territories around the world.

24 Q And was the option for feedback still the same as far as thumbs up or 25 thumbs down being provided?

1 A It remains there through today.

2 Q Okay. How frequently -- so there's an initial set of definitions prepared in

3 December 2022. Have those been revised or revisited since then?

4 A The specific policies themselves?

5 Q Yes.

6 A They're frequently reviewed to ensure that the policies are correct.

7 Q And who is responsible for reviewing those policies?

8 A I believe it's the Trust and Safety team helps do the analysis, and our team

9 follows the process, as I mentioned earlier.

10 Q When a policy is being revisited, what role does your team play in providing 11 any feedback or assessment?

12 A I don't recall a specific policy changing over the course of our work. It's

13 more around how well are we performing against that policy. So, for example, we don't

14 want to have the product respond with anything that would promote self-harm, and so,

15 we want to ensure that we continue to adhere to that.

16 Q So let's stick with that example for a moment. Again, based off your

17 understanding, where are the changes then being made? So if the definition from the 18 outset is saying, You don't want the product to promote self-harm and it's being -- the

19 product is then being tested to see if it's meeting that principle, what role does the Trust

20 and Safety team play in helping to improve the product?

21 A Well, I believe it's their work to be someone sharing feedback that I got it to

22 produce this response that promotes self-harm, they would take action to immediately

23 take that specific prompt that was input, and have the model -- or have the product

24 respond with a language model still learning how to help with that. And from there, we

25 try to understand why the product performed that way and how we can improve it.

1 Q So if I'm understanding your testimony correctly, there's a prompt that
2 produces an answer that violates the self-harm principle, Trust and Safety is the team
3 that makes the decision to replace the answer for the model going forward, and then
4 presumably, there's an engineering team or someone to actually implement that change.
5 Is that correct?
6 A I believe that team has the capacity to directly prevent the model -- prevent 7 the product from responding to that specific prompt.
8 Q The Trust and Safety team?
9 A Yes.
10 Q When a change like that is being made, when a decision is being made to 11 that end, is your team consulted at all?
12 A In a case of a clear-policy violation, I don't believe they are.
13 Q What about in instances where it's less clear?
14 A We're constantly trying to improve our product experience; and so, this is 15 one of the factors that -- that's one of the inputs that we have to improve our overall 16 product experience.
17 Q Can you provide an example of where -- of a less-clear example where it was 18 necessary for you or someone from your team to provide feedback to the Trust and 19 Safety team?
20 Mr. Bopp. I want to make sure I understand. You said a "less-clear example"?
21 [redacted] Sorry. Based off his earlier response that when it's a clear-cut
22 example, Trust and Safety can just make a decision on its own, but when there are closer
23 cases or cases where it's less clear, so just meant less clear in that sense.
24 A Ultimately, I believe they have the discretion of whether it is policy violating 25 or not. There are cases where the product behaves in an unintended way where our

1 users aren't having their expectations met, and in some cases, they're able to provide
2 that. So this would be an example of something that's not policy violating, but 3 potentially is frustrating for users.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q And can you provide an example of that?
6 A An early example that we saw when we launched in March of 2023 was 7 people were using the product for math. So people were putting in one plus one, and 8 the product in Bard was responding with the answer is three because they're language
9 models, not math models.
10 And so that's not a policy violation, but clearly not in line with the user's
11 expectation, so that helped form an input that we subsequently were able to understand 12 as a mechanism of user feedback, and we developed the ability for the model to more
13 appropriately answer math questions.
14 Q So one example we walked through is if there was an instance where a 15 prompt is clearly violating the self-harm principle -- I appreciate the difference of the 16 math example of one plus one just factually is a wrong answer that's being provided.
17 Have there been instances where it is less clear of whether the -- one of the original
18 definitions, one of the initial principles is being violated. So I'd like to turn back to the 19 self-harm example where it's, for lack of a better way to put it, a close call of whether the 20 prompt is actually producing an answer that promotes self-harm. For instances like 21 that, can you walk us through -- what is the process? Is that still a Trust and Safety team
22 decision ultimately, or is your team consulted?
23 A I'm not personally involved in the exact process, so I'm not sure of the 24 specific process in this case.
25 Q Okay. Again, with the understanding you're not involved in the specific

1 process, just even at a high level, what's your understanding of the process?
2 A Our Trust and Safety team are the ones that help determine whether 3 something is policy violating or not.
4 Q Have there been -- you provided the math example as one where your team
5 could consult. Are there other types of examples that you can recall where it was 6 necessary for your team to be consulted?
7 A In terms of something where we were not meeting -- where the product was 8 not working as intended?
9 Q Yes.
10 A The creation of historical images was an example here.
11 Q Before we start digging into that a little bit more, can you walk us through 12 from May 2023 until Gemini's launch of what other phases and development there were 13 in the meantime?
14 A We continued to expand globally throughout 2023. I believe it was July 15 when we expanded to the majority of the world, to over 200 countries and territories.
16 And we continued to provide capabilities for the, as it was then known, Bard experiment.
17 Q When did Bard become Gemini, if that's a proper way of asking the
18 question?
19 A The name changed from Bard to the Gemini app in, I think, it was 20 February 8th of this year.
21 Q And within the company, besides the name change and the financial phases
22 of development, was there any difference in the people who were working on Bard as 23 opposed to Gemini, or was it all the same teams, and it was just a name change?
24 A The change of the name did not change who was working on the product.
25 Q Are there -- to your understanding, was there a responsible innovation team

1 or a team that's generally responsible for ethics, whether it's AI or LLMs?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And what's the name of that team within the company?

4 A It has changed a few times. In my mind, it's known as Responsible AI.

5 Q And to your understanding, what's the relationship between Responsible AI

6 and Trust and Safety?

7 A I believe they work closely together, but I don't know the exact delineation

8 between their responsibilities.

9 Q Based off your understanding, what are the responsibilities of the 10 Responsible AI team?

11 A In my experience, that team has helped provide input into the design of our

12 product.

13 Q And who leads that team?

14 A That team has been restructured, and so, I'm not entirely certain who leads 15 it today.

16 Q Who headed it before it was reinstructed?

17 A I'm not certain who was the ultimate VP lead.

18 Q Who was your point of contact on that team?

19 A There was a director of product management with whom I worked closely.

20 Q And who was that?

21 A [redacted].

22 Q And did [redacted] work with your team on every phase of development for 23 Bard and Gemini?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Was she one of the two to three individuals you were referring to in

1 December of 2022 who was playing a role in preparing the initial definitions?

2 A Earlier I was referring to members of the Trust and Safety team. I would

3 consider [redacted] a part of the separate team.

4 Q Okay. But she did play -- sorry. Just to rephrase the question and clarify

5 my own understanding.

6 You said there were two to three primary individuals working on the definitions in 7 December of 2022. Is that right?

8 A I'm sorry. I want to make sure I understand which two to three individuals.

9 Are you referring to my direct reports?

10 Q Yes.

11 A Oh, I see. Sorry.

12 Could you repeat the question?

13 Q Sure. Maybe it's just easier we get the names.

14 Who were the direct reports to you in December of 2022?

15 A I recall [redacted] and [redacted].

16 Q So then, in addition to your direct reports, your folks from Trust and Safety,

17 and -- was [redacted] with Trust and Safety, or do you recall members from Trust and 18 Safety in addition to [redacted]?

19 A I think [redacted] was part of the Responsible AI team and whatever name it 20 held.

21 Q At that time?

22 A Yeah.

23 Q After the definitions have been prepared, what role did [redacted] and her

24 team play in providing either input or assessment as it related to Bard or Gemini?

25 A I recall her team had expertise with specifically how to create the testing

1 examples for adherence to policies.

2 Q And so, had they worked on other products previously, or what experience

3 or expertise were they bringing?

4 A I'm not certain exactly which other products they worked on.

5 Q Had you worked with them while you were a director and working with

6 Google Assistant?

7 A No.

8 Q As part of your role in the company, you interacted with Google's

9 Government Affairs and Public Policy team?

10 A Yes.

11 Q And what's been the context of those interactions?

12 A I've helped some of the outreach and education that team has done

13 predominantly in the EU.

14 Q What about as it relates to the U.S. Government?

15 A The only interaction I recall is with the U.S. Ambassador to Poland.

16 Q To your understanding, has anyone on your team interacted with Google's

17 Government Affairs and Public Policy team as it relates to the Government Affairs and 18 Public Policy team's interactions with U.S. policymakers?

19 Mr. Bopp. Are you saying did he interact with the policy -- did the Goggle policy

20 team in terms of interactions with U.S. policymakers?

21 [redacted] Yes. I don't want to put words in his mouth, but -- so let rephrase.

22 Let me take one step back.

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q Have you interacted with any members of the U.S. Government directly as 25 part of your role with the company, other than the U.S. Ambassador?

1 A Not to my knowledge, no.

2 Q To your understanding, has Google's Government Affairs and Public Policy

3 team come either to you or someone on your team about questions or concerns from

4 U.S. policymakers?

5 A In -- sorry. In what capacity?

6 Q As senior director.

7 A Sorry. I want to -- I don't completely understand the question.

8 Q So let's take one step back from there.

9 What interactions have you had with Google's Government Affairs and Public

10 Policy team?

11 A They provide -- they're another mechanism of providing feedback that we

12 hear as we develop the product.

13 Q And you mentioned the EU is one example, the EU is one example. What 14 feedback was being provided? What was of the context of that?

15 A The nature of my interactions there were, I was requested to meet with 16 various people across the EU to effectively explain how generative AI works, so it was 17 intended to be an educational engagement.

18 Q Okay. And have you had interactions with Google's Government Affairs

19 and Public Policy team as it relates to anything similar but in the U.S.?

20 A I've not engaged in any education programs with U.S. Government officials

21 beyond the Ambassador that I referenced.

22 Q What about other members of your team, to your understanding?

23 A I'm not certain.

24 Q Who's been your main point of contact at Google's Government Affairs and

25 Public Policy team?

1 A [redacted].

2 Q Have you had any interactions with [redacted]?

3 A That name is not familiar.

4 Q Did Google have any additional testers for Bard or Gemini?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And can you name some examples of who that was?

7 A We have a trusted tester program with whom we have a vendor that helps

8 us recruit testers for the product.

9 Q Who's the vendor?

10 A I don't know the specific vendor for this program.

11 Q To your understanding of your team directly or through the vendor, who are 12 some of the trusted testers?

13 Mr. Bopp. Trusted what?

14 [redacted] Testers.

15 Mr. Bopp. Testers. All right.

16 [redacted]. My understanding is they're intended to reflect a broad array of 17 the population in the country in which we're testing?

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Have you had any direct interactions with any of the trusted testers?

20 A Not the trusted tester program, no.

21 Q Besides the trusted tester program, does Google have other external beta

22 testers for Bard or Gemini?

23 A For our paid version of the product known as Gemini Advanced, in December

24 of 2023, we began a pilot program called the Priority User Program.

25 Q And what is that program?

1 A As we were preparing to launch a paid version of our product, we
2 acknowledged that -- or we understood that individuals who are willing to pay for a
3 product such as this tend to be very technical and creative in nature. And so, we sought
4 people who met those criteria to get access to an early version of the paid product to 5 provide us with feedback prior to its launch of how it was able to meet their needs.
6 Q When you say "we," who was deciding who to reach out to?
7 A We have a team that manages that program, and so I don't know the full 8 extent of the criteria that they used to determine who is and who is not part of the 9 program.
10 Q What's the name of that team?
11 A I don't know the name of the team. I refer to them as the Priority User
12 Program team.
13 Q Fair enough.
14 Do you know who leads that team?
15 A The -- I don't know who the lead of the team is, but there's an individual that 16 manages it.
17 Q Got it.
18 Do you have a primary point of contact on that team?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Who's that?
21 A Her name is [redacted] I believe, [redacted] (ph). I don't know the exact spelling
22 of her surname.
23 Q And is this team within the product team more generally or Trust and Safety,
24 or where does that team fit within the company?
25 A This specific program, which is targeted specifically for our paid version of

1 the product --

2 Q Yes.

3 A -- I believe is managed within the overall Bard organization. It does not

4 report to me directly.

5 Q Who is head over all of the Bard organization?

6 A My manager.

7 Q Okay. And I know you said it earlier. Can you provide me your manager's 8 name again?

9 A [redacted]

10 Q [redacted] How many -- what's the structure of the teams underneath your

11 manager?

12 A [redacted] is the VP and GM of both the Gemini app as well as Google Assistant.

13 I don't know her full org chart, but my peers are the vice president of engineering for 14 Bard, the vice president for Google Assistant, as well as the chief of staff to the VP/GM.

15 Q And you said you have about 40 product managers today?

16 A That's correct.

17 Q How are those 40 organized?

18 A Into three separate or distinct groups. One is around the development of 19 the applications themselves, so people that manage the user interfaces. There's a team

20 that focuses on the overall user satisfaction with the responses they receive, and there's a 21 team that's dedicated to what we call agentic capabilities.

22 Q And what is that?

23 A It's an emerging field within the AI space for AI to be able to not only provide 24 text responses, but take action.

25 Q Can you provide me an example?

1 A We launched a feature called Extensions within Bard of the Gemini app

2 where a user can opt in and have Gemini, after the opt-in, summarize emails for the user.

1 [11:13 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q At any stage of the testing, whether it was through the prioritized user

4 program or otherwise, to your understanding, had there been any partnerships with

5 universities to conduct some of the testing?

6 A I'm aware of one university or two university professors, but I don't believe

7 there is a broader university partnership.

8 Q Who are the two university professors?

9 A They are at the University of Pennsylvania, [redacted] and [redacted].

10 Q And how did that partnership first start?

11 A [redacted] has been very active about providing feedback for Bard, and so, I

12 began to interact with him prior to this program to understand what he saw was working 13 well and not working well, and that has continued.

14 Q To your understanding, have any of the external partners, anyone, whether

15 it's through the priority users' program or otherwise, any external partners been 16 government entities or individuals employed by the U.S. or State Government?

17 A Not to my knowledge, no.

18 For the priority user program specifically you're asking?

19 Q Well, that program or just more generally as it relates to Bard or Gemini.

20 A Sorry. I just want to make sure I'm answering the question.

21 Q Sure.

22 A Could you repeat?

23 Q Yeah.

24 For both the priority users' program, and then any other instance where Bard or

25 Gemini were relying on external beta testers, have any of the external beta testers been

1 government actors to your understanding?

2 A I recall one example of a red-teaming exercise. I believe it was sponsored

3 by the government, but I'm not entirely certain whether -- who was actually conducting

4 the testing.

5 Q And when did that occur, to your recollection?

6 A I don't recall the exact -- it was last year. I don't recall the exact timing.

7 Q To your understanding, who participated?

8 A My understanding, it was an industry-wide event where many companies,

9 open AI, Microsoft, et cetera, participated in this program.

10 Q And what was the purpose of the red-teaming exercise?

11 A To the best I can remember, it was a conference that was focused on AI

12 security called -- I think it was called DEF CON, but I was not very actively involved in that.

13 Q In the conference or in the exercise?

14 A Both.

15 Q Did others from your team attend the conference or participate in the 16 exercise?

17 A I don't believe any of my direct reports did.

18 Q What about just more generally within Bard or Gemini? Did others attend

19 the conference or just beta testing?

20 A I don't believe so.

21 Q I'm sorry. To clarify the last question, attend the conference or participate

22 in the red-teaming exercise?

23 A The extent to which I'm familiar is we provided access to our product, but I

24 don't recall anyone within the Bard organization specifically attending, but I'm not fully

25 sure.

1 Q To your understanding, what was the purpose of providing access to the
2 product?
3 A To be able to participate in this public conference along with other
4 competitors, such as open AI and Microsoft.
5 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.
6 [Discussion off the record.]
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q Good morning, [redacted] My name is [redacted] I'm with the minority under 9 Ranking Member Mr. Nadler. Thank you again for coming today. We really appreciate 10 your time traveling all this way.
11 Before we go any further, I just want to back up a couple steps and ask you a 12 couple general questions just to make sure the record is clear what we're talking about, 13 for somebody that might not be deeply entrenched in the tech.
14 When we're referring to artificial intelligence, or AI, what are we generally 15 referring to when we're talking about that?
16 A There are many forms of artificial intelligence. The specific area in which I
17 focus on the Gemini app is generative artificial intelligence, and generative artificial 18 intelligence is the use of computing to create or produce information for human-like 19 prompts.
20 Q Human-like prompts.
21 And it draws from a variety of data, is that correct, in informing what its response
22 is?
23 A That's correct.
24 Q And when we're talking about AI in models and products, I just want to get a 25 better understanding. What is an AI model, as opposed to an AI product?

1 A The closest analogy I can think of is an engine versus a car. An AI model is 2 like an engine. It powers the vehicle. And the car itself is what you build around the 3 engine to make it move forward. So product is like the car, and the model is like the 4 engine.
5 Q So the car kind of gives access to the model?
6 A That's correct.
7 Q Is that right?
8 So when we're talking about Gemini or Bard here, are we generally referring to a
9 specific product that uses an AI model, or are we talking about the model itself?
10 A We're referring to a product that uses the model.
11 Q And what is the model, so to speak, of Gemini as it sits today?
12 A Over the course of formerly Bard, now the Gemini app, there have been 13 several models. When we launched in March of 2023, the model was called LaMDA. I
14 believe in May of 2023, we changed the model to PaLM 2. And then in December
15 through the end of January, Bard began to use the Gemini Pro model for its free product.
16 On February 8th, we introduced a paid subscription product called Gemini
17 Advanced, and that was initially running on Gemini 1.0 Ultra model. And today, Gemini
18 Advanced runs on Gemini 1.5 Pro.
19 Q So when we're talking about Gemini, we could be talking about the model
20 and the product at the same time in terms of the name Gemini?
21 A The name Gemini can refer to those. The scope of my role is specifically
22 the Gemini app.
23 Q Okay.
24 And just for somebody that doesn't have a background in AI, how does -- can you
25 kind of generally give me 1,000 feet out on kind of how the model actually evolves over

1 time? Is one iteration kind of built off of the last one, or are you swapping in and out
2 engines, so to speak, in the vehicle of the product?
3 A Are you asking about how the model evolves or how the product evolves
4 with the model?
5 Q I don't know. How the product evolves with the model.
6 A So just to take where we are today, for example, on the unpaid version of 7 the Gemini app, it uses currently Gemini 1.0 Pro and that is a model that is produced by 8 Google DeepMind, and has an application team.
9 We take that model and develop the product around giving it direction on how to 10 respond relative to what users expect the app to do.
11 Q So when you say you give it direction, you're giving the direction to the 12 product. Are you also influencing the model that's driving the product?
13 A The best way to describe it is, it's a -- you provide examples of hypothetical
14 conversations to the model or to -- as you're developing the product, you give examples
15 through computer code to the model to say this is an example of what a good 16 conversation looks like.
17 Q Okay.
18 And what is a large language model, and how does it fit into the difference
19 between a product and a model?
20 A A large language model is a type of AI model.
21 Q Okay. And all of the models that are in Gemini or Bard are large language
22 models. Is that correct?
23 A That's correct -- sorry. The primary model is a language model. The 24 language model is able to interact with other models, such as a text-to-image model.
25 Q And so, part of product development for you in your role with Gemini has

1 been -- includes both internal and external testing, correct?

2 A My team conducts that.

3 Q And could you broadly just describe what the purpose of testing is and how

4 it's important for product development?

5 A It's a common practice in software development that as you release

6 software, you go through quality assurance to ensure that it meets its intended behavior

7 as it's set up.

8 And so, we go through testing to ensure that the product is working as intended in

9 the ways that we understand people to use it.

10 And then additionally, it's a common practice in the industry to go through what is

11 known as red-teaming exercises, where individuals, in an open-ended fashion, try to 12 produce unintended behaviors that allow us to, again, provide examples for how the 13 product should respond. And this is a common practice for generative AI, not specific to 14 just my team.

15 Q And so, red-teaming is common practice for all AI, like, regardless of what 16 company is developing it?

17 A That's correct.

18 Q So when we're talking about-red teaming, is that kind of interchangeable

19 with external testing, or are they two different -- is red-teaming a type of external

20 testing?

21 A It's a type of external testing.

22 Q Okay.

23 And when you talked about, you know, about trying to -- you know, red-teaming

24 and internal testing trying to find ways that the model or the product is not working the

25 way it should, so to speak, is the team looking for ways to kind of reduce potential harm

1 that it could cause to the end user?

2 A Our goal overall is to serve the user as much as possible and maximize

3 helpfulness. And, yes, we would like to minimize harm.

4 Q And what type of potential issues are testers looking at for an AI product?

5 A It's open-ended, so they can try to produce unintended behaviors.

6 Q And so, if they find that there is an unintended behavior that results from 7 the product, what type of actions might be taken because of that testing?

8 A It's not specific to that testing. But, in general, when, as a product

9 developer, we learn that the product is not behaving as intended. The way we improve

10 the product is to go through a process to effectively create examples for how a model

11 should operate, or how the product should operate, I should say.

12 Q And what do you do with those examples?

13 A They are part of the product development process known as tuning.

14 Q Tuning.

15 And just, you know, a very broad description, what do you mean by "tuning"?

16 A Tuning is the process of how you develop your product experience, and you

17 take example prompts and see what potential responses could be and then those 18 potential responses are rated by external vendors for what is a better response.

19 Q Okay.

20 So I just want to back up for a second. When we talked about we have internal 21 testing and external testing, could you kind of tell me what internal testing looks like?

22 A Internal testing comes in forms such as simple quality assurance. So

23 engineering teams, when they are working on a product as it's designed, will run tests to 24 see, for this example, is it behaving the way that it should.

25 Another example is a software process that we usually called dog-fooding, where

1 individuals inside the company are able to use a product before it's released publicly.
2 Those are two of the primary forms of internal testing.
3 Q Would it be open to company-wide, or is it -- are there specific dog-fooding
4 teams that are assigned, or how does that process work?
5 A It varies, based on the sensitivity of the product, but it's a voluntary program
6 for employees, again, not unique to Google but common practice in software.
7 Q Would internal testing come before external testing typically in a product
8 development?
9 A It depends which internal testing you're referring to.
10 Q So you could have it out to external testing and also be dog-fooding it at the 11 same time?
12 A That's correct.
13 Q And now, for external testing, can you just give me an overview of how the 14 external testing process works?
15 A So when we are nearing what we expect to be a feature or product
16 experience, that we believe is ready for use, we will go through red teaming exercises and 17 use vendors to do evaluations. They are provided with examples, a prompt, and two 18 different responses. One of those responses is the old version of the product, one is the 19 new, and the external tester will say which is better.
20 That's a way that we can measure whether the product is improving or regressing.
21 Q Okay.
22 And I know you talked about this in the last hour, but how are external testers
23 chosen?
24 A So again, it depends on the type. For these evaluations, they are selected
25 by vendors. The other program I referenced, the priority user program, is a pilot

1 program where we seek individuals in the target customer cohort to provide feedback.
2 Q So it sounds like it's Google who chooses all of these external testers. Is
3 that correct?
4 A In the priority user program, yes. In the -- which is not -- I would not call
5 that a predominant signal. For the evaluation testing that I referred to earlier, the 6 testers, the individuals themselves are hired by the vendors.
7 Q Got it.
8 So but it's Google who chooses the vendor to farm out the external testing to. Is
9 that correct?
10 A That's correct.
11 Q Okay.
12 And to the best of your knowledge, the U.S. Government doesn't have any role in 13 selecting who the vendors are, or who the external testers are. Is that fair?
14 A To the best of my knowledge, that's correct.
15 Q Are you familiar with the external evaluations that were done on Gemini
16 Ultra?
17 A On the model itself, I was not involved.
18 Q Okay.
19 And just to -- I know we touched on this a little bit, but is it fair to say that the 20 reason why testing both internal and external is important is because Google's overall
21 interest is, as a business, and they want to make products that are useful and don't harm
22 their consumers on the end-user stage, right?
23 A Ultimately, our business incentive is to serve our users, which, for the 24 Gemini app, span across 200 countries and territories around the world. And it is in our 25 business interest to serve them to the fullest capacity possible while minimizing harm, of 1 course.

2 Q Right.

3 In the last hour, we talked a little bit about the DEF CON event, and this was in the 4 summer, or early fall of 2023. Does that sound right to you?

5 A That timing sounds approximately correct.

6 Q And so, Google participated in this DEF CON event amongst a variety of 7 other tech companies. Is that correct?

8 A That's my understanding.

9 Q Okay. And this was a version of Bard that was approved to be tested, or 10 red-teamed, so to speak, at the DEF CON event?

11 A I believe so, yes.

12 Q And we talked about this earlier, but red-teaming is essentially people that

13 are brought in to try to get the product to do something that is an unintended

14 consequence. Is that a fair way to describe it?

15 A It's been a common practice in software development for many years for 16 individuals to try to find vulnerabilities within software, and red-teaming is a continuation

17 of that where the intention is to find unintended behaviors.

18 Q And I know you didn't have a lot of involvement in this. You testified

19 earlier that you didn't have a lot of involvement in this DEF CON event specifically, but to

20 your general understanding, who are the people that are actually doing the red-teaming 21 at something like this, like an event like this?

22 A I'm not sure.

23 Q And, I mean, you mentioned earlier that you were generally aware that it

24 was sponsored by the White House, but you don't have any knowledge about the White

25 House's involvement, other than the fact that they were a named sponsor. Is that fair to 1 say?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Okay.

4 And did you -- do you remember being presented with any feedback that you

5 would have taken action on as a result of this DEF CON event?

6 A I don't have a specific recollection of feedback. Red-teaming exercises are

7 relatively common, and in the scope of my role, I typically do not review red-teaming

8 directly myself.

9 Q Sure.

10 You don't have any memory of taking any kind of specific actions because of this

11 DEF CON event, though, right?

12 A I do not.

13 Q Okay.

14 And, again, the purpose of this DEF CON, of this type of red-teaming exercise is to 15 improve the product, and that's the reason why Google would participate in something

16 like that overall, right?

17 A To take a step back, generative AI is merely, barely 2 years old. I don't even

18 think it's 2 years old in terms of having access to the average person. And so as an

19 industry, we continue to try to learn ways in which these products behave in unintended

20 ways so that we can allow them to be more helpful for people as well as understand what

21 are the potential ways that they may be behaving in ways that produce harm.

22 Q Okay.

23 And just generally, overall, I know -- granted your participation was very limited in

24 this, but you mentioned that the White House was a potential -- was a sponsor of the 25 event, to the best of your knowledge. Did the White House's involvement in this DEF

1 CON in any way in your mind present undue influence or have a coercive effect on your
2 work at Gemini?
3 A Sorry. Could you clarify the question?
4 Q Yeah, sure.
5 Did the White House's involvement in DEF CON as a named sponsor, did that have 6 any kind of influence or coercive effect on any actions that you took at Gemini?
7 A No.
8 Q And I want to ask you a couple of just general questions.
9 In the last hour, we were talking about your interactions with Trust and Safety and 10 Responsible AI. When you mentioned that -- you know, we were talking about 11 definitions that had been written by Trust and Safety. Are we talking about the AI
12 principles that Google came out? Is that interchangeable?
13 A No.
14 Q What's the difference between the definitions -- or what are the definitions
15 more broadly that we were talking about in the last hour?
16 A The policies relate to helping us understand vectors in which the model may 17 produce harmful results that we want to prevent. Such as, we have a policy that we will 18 not produce content that promotes self-harm.
19 Q And so the definitions are -- I'm sorry. Let me recap.
20 They are vectors?
21 A The policies are intended to be stated positions that we would not like the 22 model to respond.
23 Q And these are put specific to Bard and Gemini?
24 A Correct.
25 Q Okay. And you weren't responsible as a senior director for product development to write any of these types of guidelines or definitions; is that correct?

A I was not involved in writing them.

Q And you were never a member of Google's Trust and Safety department or Responsible AI. Is that correct?

A That's correct.

Q And is it fair to say that any definitions or principles that came out either from Responsible AI or Trust and Safety were relevant to your work, but they were one of many factors that you would use in the product's development?

A Yes, those teams help provide inputs into our product development.

Q But a good focus of your work is on user feedback and about how to make the model or the product more beneficial to your -- Google's customers. Is that fair?

A The primary focus of my work is, how do we take this nascent technology and translate it into something that can be helpful for billions of people around the world, and that is my primary focus.

Q Right.

And so like, for example, the do-no-harm, you know, the self-harm definition, there would be overlap between your goal, which is your overarching goal, which is to make this a good product for millions of people and the principle of don't promote self-harm. Those two are congruent with each other. Is that correct?

A That's correct.

[redacted] I think that's all I have for this hour. Can we go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] We can go back on the record, please.

BY [redacted]

Q Are you familiar with the White House's October 2022 blueprint for an AI Bill

1 of Rights?

2 A Generally speaking, yes.

3 Q And to your understanding, what is that?

4 A My understanding is it's a direction toward providing transparency toward

5 how AI products are built and ensuring a commitment to making them safe.

6 Q To your understanding, does the blueprint affect Google's AI products?

7 A I don't understand the full depth of them in the scope of my role, but as it

8 relates to providing transparency to how our products are built and providing a safe

9 product, those are steps that we have already been doing. And that's practically the 10 extent of my knowledge of this.

11 Q Have you had any discussions within the company about the blueprint?

12 A I'm not familiar with the exact terminology, the blueprint.

13 Q Okay.

14 Just generally, not necessarily whether you can cite it, you know, verbatim, but

15 the blueprint comes out, the White House announces it. Do you recall discussions

16 within the company about it?

17 A My recollection is around what we refer to as White House commitments.

18 I don't know if that's the same thing as the blueprint.

19 Q Okay.

20 As it relates to the White House commitments, what discussions internally do you

21 recall about the White House commitments?

22 A My specific involvement in them is very limited, and so, in how I understand

23 it, it's a commitment we've made to providing transparency into how our products are 24 built and ensuring that they are safe.

25 Q Since you've had a limited role, what is your role?

1 A Ensuring that our products are safe is certainly part of my role and has been
2 from the beginning of Bard, and providing transparency has been a common practice for 3 many years in the development of AI.
4 Q Safe by whose definition?
5 A So, as it relates to safety, the policies that I mentioned earlier, such as 6 self-harm. Those policies are the ones that we measure safety against.
7 Q The company's policies as it relates to safety and transparency and these 8 other principles, how are they different from what the White House put out?
9 A I don't have enough familiarity with what the White House has put out to 10 know the difference.
11 Q Okay. Who at the company would best know the answer to that question?
12 A I believe our president of global affairs has been the primary lead for the 13 discussions.
14 Q Who within the company participate in discussions around the White House
15 commitments?
16 Mr. Bopp. Around the White House.
17 [redacted] Commitments.
18 [redacted]. I wasn't involved in those discussions, so I don't know.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q Well, you had some familiarity with the White House commitments. How 21 did you become aware?
22 A I became -- I recall the company posting a blog post around them, and the 23 way it impacted or the way that it was presented to me was as we were producing a 24 technical report for the Gemini models, that technical report included a component about 25 how Bard is built.

1 And my understanding was that technical report is part of -- or we would be doing
2 the technical report regardless, but that technical report is also reflecting the 3 transparency notion of the White House commitments.
4 Q When you say it was presented to you, who was presenting this
5 understanding to you?
6 A When I reviewed a draft of the technical report, I recall a section in there
7 mentioning that there was something related to White House commitments. It was not
8 part of the draft that I was responsible for reviewing, however.
9 Q To your understanding, who drafted that part referring to the White House
10 commitments?
11 A I believe it was the Google DeepMind team.
12 Q Do you know who on the Google DeepMind team?
13 A I do not.
14 Q And who is your primary point of contact with the Google DeepMind team?
15 A Their vice president of product management.
16 Q And who is that again?
17 A [redacted].
18 Q Did you ever have any discussions with [redacted] about the White House
19 commitments?
20 A Only to the extent of the production of that technical report, to the best of 21 my recollection.
22 Q To your understanding, were there any discussions around the company's 23 policies, either shortly before or after the White House commitments?
24 A I'm sorry. Could you repeat the question?
25 Q Sure.

1 To your understanding, even if you weren't directly participating, but if you have
2 knowledge of or awareness of, were there any discussions within the company about the 3 company's policies before or after the White House commitments?
4 Mr. Bopp. You mean proximate in time.
5 [redacted] Proximate in time.
6 [redacted]. My colleagues in legal and public policy are the ones that typically 7 manage that, so I don't -- I would not be involved, and I don't have a memory of it.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Who is your primary point of contact from the Public Policy team?
10 A [redacted].
11 Q Do you have interactions with anyone else on the team?
12 A Yes.
13 Q Who else?
14 A The vice president of global affairs.
15 Q And who is that?
16 A [redacted].
17 Q Anyone besides [redacted] and [redacted] that you work with on
18 the Public Policy team?
19 A There is a senior manager as well.
20 Q And who is that?
21 A [redacted] (ph).
22 Q In what context have you worked with [redacted]?
23 A He and his team provide insights of what's happening globally in terms of 24 things to be aware of.
25 Q Anything specific to the U.S.?

1 A Not that I intimately recall.

2 Q What about [redacted]? What's been the nature of your interactions with 3 him?

4 A It's been mainly understanding global policy. So the majority of our usage

5 is outside of the United States, so he helps provide insight into the global footprint.

6 Q For insight to what's happening within the United States, who on the Public

7 Policy team would provide that information?

8 A I don't have many inputs of it, but typically, I rely on [redacted] and [redacted] for 9 overall insights.

10 Q So regardless of where the insights are coming from, it would be from 11 [redacted] or [redacted]? There's not somebody who is assigned, do you know, specifically?

12 A Not to my knowledge.

13 Q Are you familiar with President Biden's February 2023 executive order on 14 further advancing racial equity?

15 A I am not.

16 Q Are you familiar with President Biden's October 2023 executive order on 17 safe, secure, and trustworthy development and use of AI?

18 A I'm generally familiar with it, yes.

19 Q How has that executive order affected anything that your team works on?

20 A To my knowledge, to be candid, I don't know the difference between that

21 executive order and the White House commitments. As it relates to the White House

22 commitments, those are aligned with work that we were already doing around providing 23 transparency and ensuring the safety of our product.

24 Q Are you familiar with the AI risk management framework that the NIST put

25 out in January of 2023?

1 A I'm not familiar with that specific framework.
2 Q Have you ever worked with YouTube's Trust and Safety team at any point in
3 your time with the company?
4 A Not directly, no.
5 Q What about indirectly?
6 A Over the past 3 months, our team has sought guidance on how to, or best
7 practices for rebuilding trust with users.
8 Q And who from the YouTube Trust and Safety team has your team worked 9 with?
10 A I'm not certain.
11 Q Who on your team is responsible for interfacing with the YouTube Trust and 12 Safety team on this issue?
13 A I believe my manager has been the primary person.
14 Q And to your recollection, you haven't had any direct interactions with the 15 YouTube team?
16 A Not that I recall.
17 Q Have you had any interactions with the Google Search team at any time
18 during your time with the company?
19 A Yes.
20 Q What's been the nature or context of those interactions?
21 A It's been fairly extensive in so much as Google Assistant and Bard report to 22 the same senior vice president as Search. So there are many, many scenarios in which I
23 would have been exposed to Google Search.
24 Q So excluding instances where you both report up to the same person and 25 maybe you're in the same meeting, are there any instances where you're working directly with the Google Search team as it relates to something your team is working on?

A Yes.

Q Can you provide some examples?

A The responses that Bard, or formerly Bard, now the Gemini app, produces are grounded on search results. Meaning the response requests information from Google Search to produce a more accurate overall response.

Q Who is your primary point of contact on the Search team?

A It has varied over time.

Q Since December of 2022, who has been your primary point of contact on the Search team?

A For myself personally, I'm not involved in the day-to-day work insomuch as I am interacting with that team. It's typically the vice president of NGN of Google Search.

Q Who is that?

A [redacted].

Q So with the understanding that you're not having extensive day-to-day interactions, the members of your team are having extensive interactions with the Search team. Is that right?

A I don't know how frequently they interact.

Q More frequently is your understanding, though?

Mr. Bopp. More frequently than [redacted] does.

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted]. I don't know for sure.

BY [redacted]

Q Just trying to kind of spell it out a little bit more.

A Sure.

1 Q You mentioned that, at least at a high level, there is kind of extensive
2 interactions between Search team and Bard, Gemini, given that search is 3 grounded -- grounds with the later product. Can you say a little bit more about if you're 4 not having that frequent interactions, what's the nature and the context of the 5 interaction between these two teams?
6 A The reason I'm not certain how frequent the interaction is, is because we've 7 had this ability to have search results inform the response that gets produced by Bard
8 since it launched, and so, I'm not certain how much maintenance is required for that 9 implementation.
10 Q What about early on, before the launch of the product? Was there more 11 extensive interactions at that point?
12 A Most likely, but that was a very busy time, and I don't remember it vividly.
13 Q Who from the Bard team would have been taking the lead as far as 14 interfacing with the Search team?
15 A My direct product manager, my direct report product manager, [redacted]
16 Q And during this time, before the launch, who is the primary point of contact 17 on the Search team that either [redacted] or you are relying on?
18 A I'm trying to remember back to that time. I'm not certain.
19 Q Have you ever been involved in meetings or discussions about how the order
20 in which search results appear?
21 A Meaning explaining how it works or informing how it works?
22 Q Internal discussions about, you know, how a search is designed or being 23 modified in order to affect how results appear?
24 A I may have attended a training, but I don't have a specific recollection.
25 Q To your understanding, is there any -- certainly, there are different products trying to achieve different things, but when someone runs a search, results come up based off how the product is designed for those results to appear.

Do changes in that design affect Bard or Gemini? So like in time period A, if results come up in a particular order, and then some change is made by the company so that different things are being prioritized and appearing higher up in the search results, is that the type of change that would affect in any way what Bard and Gemini are producing?

Mr. Bopp. I'm not sure I understand the question. When you say, Does it affect what Bard or Gemini are producing, you mean do the search results, does the order of the search result impact the results that Bard or Gemini would produce given a particular user prompt? I'm not --

[redacted] Yeah, that's a fine way of rephrasing it.

The earlier testimony was that Bard -- what was grounding it was the search product. So just trying to get a sense of what changes the search product affect the changes to Gemini and Bard.

Mr. Bopp. Okay.

Do you understand the question?

[redacted]. Sorry. We went back and forth. Could you just please repeat the question? I want to be sure.

BY [redacted]

Q Sure.

Let's take one step back from that, and then we'll get back to the specific question.

To your understanding, do changes to the search product affect Bard and Gemini?

A Bard responses are grounded on search, so if the underlying information

1 were to change, then it would likely -- it's similar to re-wording a question. If you ask a
2 question one way, you may get one response. If you ask a question another way of an
3 AI product, you may get something different.
4 So when wording changes in the underlying context, then an answer would 5 presumably be different.
6 Q And just to drill down a little bit more specifically then. So there is a
7 difference of you run a search on Monday, and certain results come up. You search the 8 same thing on Friday, and an article that was published Wednesday now can come up
9 that didn't exist Monday. So the results are different in that context.
10 I'm not asking about that. The exact same search, some change on the product
11 end is leading to the results that appear in a different order.
12 Or actually let me just take one step back and ask it a different way.
13 To your understanding, the order in which results appear on a search, does that 14 affect what Bard and Gemini rely on?
15 A So just to make sure I understand this example, let's say the thing that was in 16 the first position is now in the second position, and the thing that was in the second 17 position is now in the first position. Does that change?
18 Q Yes.
19 A I don't know for certain whether in that scenario it would.
20 Q Okay. Who would know?
21 A That would be a research question for someone that focuses on the research
22 of grounding.
23 Q Okay. If you had to take a question like that back to the company, who 24 would you reach out to, to try to get help or more information?
25 A I would reach out to my contact, my primary contact in Google DeepMind.

1 Q Was that [redacted] you said?

2 A That's correct.

3 Q I guess just help me walk through a little bit more the understanding here.

4 So, if there is potential for what Search is doing, changes that the Search team may be

5 making and having an impact on Gemini, I guess why aren't there more frequent

6 interactions? It seems like there is the potential, at least, for changes that one product

7 team is making to affect what your team is responsible for. Is that correct?

8 A Just to take a step back, the primary way that people are using the Gemini

9 app are not for these search-like behaviors. They tend to be mostly for creative

10 endeavors, things like help me write a text to my friends why I don't want to attend this

11 dinner party. Help me make this letter sound more professional. Help me brainstorm

12 through this idea. Help me organize my thoughts.

13 And so, you know, we're focused on how do we maximize the helpfulness.

14 As it relates to search specifically, I would presume results are constantly variable,

15 and it would be a common practice that you expect that inputs from not just search, but

16 many of the extensions that we have, gmail, hotel, maps, et cetera, would also be

17 changing.

18 Q Who is responsible within the company to update your team whenever

19 there are changes to search that could affect Gemini?

20 A I'm not sure who the individual is.

21 Q To your understanding, is there a team within Search that's responsible for 22 assessing potentially modifying how results appear?

23 A I don't know fully how the Search team is structured. That's not within the 24 scope of my role.

25 Q I think we touched upon this a little bit in the last hour at a high level, but

1 separate from the initial, like, definitions for Bard and now Gemini, are you familiar with
2 Google's AI principles first announced back in 2018?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And how do those principles affect your team's work on Bard and Gemini?
5 A Those principles, like other principles that we have at the company, provide
6 a guideline for our operating culture. Other examples of principles include things like 7 focus on the user and all else will follow. So they are a helpful guide to inform how we 8 operate.
9 Q And if you or your team needed help with understanding the principles or 10 how they might apply to an issue, which individual, or which team would you reach out to 11 for assistance on that?
12 A In that -- I can't think of a scenario where I would be asking, Does this or 13 does this not apply to our AI principles.
14 Q Who is responsible then to determine whether Gemini is aligned with AI
15 principles?
16 A Given that these are guidelines, each of us as employees are responsible for 17 ensuring that we adhere to these guidelines.
18 Q So the second AI principle is to avoid creating, or reinforcing unfair bias.
19 You know, you take any two people, they will probably have different interpretations of 20 that principle. So how does that, as a practical matter, how does that apply to your 21 team and to Gemini if you've got these guidelines but you've got different folks who are 22 going to interpret it in different ways?
23 A So there are teams that help provide inputs relative to those guidelines.
24 Q Which team provides inputs related to the guideline about the avoidance of 25 creating or reinforcing unfair bias?

1 A The Responsible AI team.

2 Q And who from the Responsible AI team has spoken to your team on this

3 guideline?

4 A It would be [redacted].

1 [12:32 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And can you provide some examples of how the Responsible AI team has

4 addressed or consulted on how this principle of avoiding, creating, or reinforcing unfair

5 bias applies -- you know, how to follow that guideline as it applies to Gemini?

6 A An example would be they would help us structure examples to test in a

7 pre-release version to see what testers' feedback would look like.

8 Q What type of examples when you structure examples?

9 A So as it relates to image generation, for example, they would help us create

10 examples or scenarios that would test against areas that may have a response that 11 potentially users would negatively respond to.

12 [redacted] So red teaming, for lack of a better term?

13 [redacted]. Red teaming is unstructured, so no. This is more of a structured 14 evaluation.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q When structuring against areas where users may have a negative experience

17 or respond negatively, what were some examples that were provided for your team?

18 A These would be examples with potential implicit negative stereotypes. So,

19 say, for example, you know, a certain profession.

20 Q Can you provide some examples of what was provided to your team?

21 A I don't recall them all. An example would be, say, a profession, such as a 22 nurse.

23 Q So we'll start with the nurse example. Walk me through what's being 24 provided to your team and what the ultimate goal is.

25 A As it relates to image generation, the feedback that we heard in the creation of the product is, because it's primarily a creative tool, people want to see themselves in the images that are produced. And for an example such as this, it may be such a scenario that it only produces results of a single gender, which from -- so that's something that we would test against.

Q When you say feedback from users, are one of the sources of feedback any members of the government?

A Not to my knowledge.

Q Did, to your understanding, the White House commitments touch upon issues related to the avoidance of creating or reinforcing unfair bias?

A Not to my knowledge, no.

Q Besides a nurse, what other examples were provided to your team from the Responsible AI team?

Mr. Bopp. So let's just make sure that you're answering the question right. He's asking for examples that the Responsible AI team provided to your team, so not hypotheticals, just examples that you recall that Responsible AI provided.

[redacted]. Yeah, I don't recall specific examples.

BY [redacted]

Q Do you recall like a ballpark sense? Is it, you know, hundreds of examples and professions and things they the provided to the team or is it like just a couple to test?

A My team was involved in those specifically, not me directly, so I don't know the exact number.

Q Okay. Do you have an approximation?

A I would be speculating.

Q Who on your team was responsible for interacting with the Responsible AI team when it came to them providing examples to your team?

1 A There was a product manager on my team.

2 Q And who is that?

3 A [redacted].

4 Q When the Responsible AI team -- we'll stay with the nurse

5 example -- provides that example to your team, does your team have any, for lack of a

6 better word, like, editorial discretion as far as whether to accept that example, to work

7 off of it, or are you just on the receiving end of what the Responsible AI team

8 determined?

9 A Ultimately, our Bard team is responsible for making the decision what we

10 believe is the most helpful for our users, so --

11 Q And who on the Bard team?

12 A The product manager I referenced earlier was the one that was driving this 13 specific feature.

14 Q Okay. So your understanding is if -- actually, let me take one step back.

15 You're receiving user feedback in this context of concerns about unfair bias, you

16 know, there's another principle, the AI principles about upholding high standards of 17 scientific excellence. For situations where users may have an incorrect understanding of 18 either what the truth is about something or the facts behind something and there's some

19 sort of tension between those two principles, how does the company handle a situation

20 like that?

21 A Are you asking me in a hypothetical sense?

22 Q Yeah. If there's a situation like that, who is ultimately making the decision

23 of -- if two principles are in tension with each other, who's making the decision about 24 how they should apply?

25 Mr. Bopp. Let's stick to your experience. If you have experience with anything like that, feel free to, obviously, answer the question.

[redacted]. An example of this is the generation of historically inaccurate images which, prior to launch, had not arisen in our testing or user feedback. As that issue arose, it became very clear to us this is a problem that we need to better understand, and we made the difficult decision to take down the feature while we better understood the problem because, ultimately, in the seeking of maximizing helpfulness, meeting the user's expectation, maximizing objectivity is the key. And so that would be an example where we learned something, we needed to better understand it, and we made a difficult business decision.

BY [redacted]

Q We'll stick with historical images for right now. First, who made the decision to pull down that feature product until there could be a better assessment?

A Ultimately, it was a recommendation provided by me and my engineering partner to our manager, who approved it.

Q Who is your engineering partner?

A [redacted].

Q And have your teams determined what the issue was or what the cause of the inaccurate historical images -- what was behind it?

A We continue to try to understand how to best resolve this ability, because to take a step back, the generation of images is ultimately a creative endeavor. You're asking to create something that doesn't exist. And we're really trying to understand, in scenarios like historical context where there are rules to apply, how do you best meet the users' needs. And so we continue to try to understand how to best serve users in that regard.

Q What sort of rules were leading to the inaccurate historical images?

1 A Feedback we received in the development of the product was people want
2 to see themselves in the images that are generated, whether they're building them for 3 marketing purposes or just simply creative endeavors. And so we aimed to provide that,
4 effectively, global footprint of our user base in the production of the generation of 5 images.
6 Q So you say when users want to see themselves. How does that -- how do
7 you implement that sort of feedback that you're receiving from users? Like, what rule is 8 added? What does that look like to the changes to the product?
9 A As it relates to the product, you provide instructions to effectively randomize
10 the sorts of people that are in images of things, like a person walking a dog or insert
11 profession.
12 Q And which team is responsible for determining what those instructions are?
13 A That would be our engineering team.
14 Q So walk me through again, I guess, the connection between the instructions
15 that have been added toward this one principle based off user feedback, how did that 16 lead to the inaccurate historical images?
17 A We hadn't seen feedback or testing prior to that for people wanting to 18 generate historical images, and so it was something we hadn't tested for or understood
19 how to not apply randomization.
20 Q When it comes -- so you've given the profession of a nurse as an example.
21 When it comes to how images are presented about a profession and the demographic 22 breakdown of that profession, is it -- user feedback, does that trump whatever the 23 underlying statistics are about that profession? What is the overarching principle in 24 deciding what to instruct?
25 A I think, ultimately, again, the generation of images is intended to be a

1 creative endeavor, not a fact-seeking endeavor from the feedback that we receive. And 2 so people certainly aim to apply creativity to the images that they generate.
3 The answer to your question is one where, ultimately, we're still understanding
4 this -- at the moment that this specific issue arose, the product was live for us for about 5 3 weeks. And so we're still learning what people's expectations are when they're 6 engaging in this creative endeavor. For fact-seeking images, there are products such as 7 image search that are more rooted in that.
8 Q Which team is responsible for image search?
9 A The search team.
10 Q And then within the search team, do you know who is in charge of image
11 search?
12 A I do not.
13 Q Did anyone from the search team brief or provide information to your team
14 about challenges and how to represent different professions, for example?
15 A I believe after these issues arose we wanted to understand had anyone else
16 in the company experienced similar things, but I don't have a detailed recollection of 17 what that briefing would have been.
18 Q To your understanding, some briefing did occur, though?
19 A I don't know if it was a briefing so much as a casual conversation with 20 someone that had worked on it in the past.
21 Q And who participated in that conversation?
22 A I had a conversation with an individual that had worked on it.
23 Q Who was that?
24 A [redacted].
25 Q And what does [redacted] do?

1 A She recently took on a new role that I'm not completely familiar with what
2 her focus is, but previously led image search.
3 Q And what did she tell you?
4 A To the best that I can recall, that this continues to be -- meeting users'
5 expectations as it relates to images is something that it is an ongoing research challenge
6 that we need to continue to better understand.
7 Q To your knowledge, for image search, is it the image search team that's 8 responsible ultimately for determining how professions should be represented in results?
9 A It's a completely different product. I'm not certain how they operate.
10 Q Are there other teams that the image search team consults with on this 11 issue?
12 A I don't work on that team. I don't know.
13 Q Have you had any conversations with anyone from the Trust and Safety team
14 about the accuracy of the historical images in Gemini?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And who from the Trust and Safety team have you talked to?
17 A The same individuals I mentioned previously.
18 Q And what did they say?
19 A They agreed with the assessment that, as we learned the behavior, it was 20 incorrect and we should work to address it.
21 Q Have you worked with -- let me take one step back.
22 Do you know who [redacted] is? I don't know if I pronounced that last 23 name correctly.
24 A I do not.
25 Q In the DEF CON red-teaming exercise, to your understanding, did that

1 exercise look at issues related to potential bias?

2 A I don't know.

3 Q Who from the company is typically responsible for assessing feedback after a

4 red team exercise?

5 A It depends on the specific feature or capability.

6 Q For issues related to -- or let me take one step back.

7 To your understanding, has anyone from your team participated in any red

8 teaming regarding trying to see if there are issues related to underlying bias?

9 A Just to take a step back, feedback that we hear from our users are they want

10 to see a variety in creativity in the outputs that they see. So insomuch as we receive

11 feedback that overly similar results are being presented, that has a negative business

12 implication for us because we have unsatisfied users of our technology. So that is 13 typically how I see these issues manifest or arise.

14 Q I guess taking one step back from there, you know, it's one thing if the

15 principle is ultimately what the users want, but there's the AI principle of trying to avoid

16 unfair bias. Who within your team is responsible for assessing red team events if it's 17 testing the unfair bias principle?

18 A I don't know that it's anyone in my team specifically that tests for that

19 specifically.

20 Q Typically when there's like a red-teaming exercise, what -- independent of 21 DEF CON, but just generally, is there -- how is the feedback provided after a red team

22 exercise to your team?

23 A So a red-teaming exercise is intentionally open-ended. So not just the one

24 DEF CON event but any red-teaming exercise, the people that are participating try to find

25 things that produce something that is inappropriate, or not the intended behavior is a

1 better way to characterize it. And as we get examples of things that are not intended
2 behavior, the team that's responsible for the overall quality of the responses uses that as 3 feedback to say, oh, here's an example of something that doesn't work well. Let's -- and 4 this doesn't happen on an individual basis, but you take the cohort -- or you take the 5 collection of things that don't work well and go through an iterative software
6 development process to improve on those vulnerabilities.
7 Q So when conducting an exercise like this, just in general, are you getting 8 feedback? I'm assuming you're getting opinions and cross-cutting directions. Who 9 ultimately is making the determination of what changes, if any, should be made?
10 A These changes are effectively built in in bulk, so to speak, to create a new 11 version of the app, and that version of the app covers many aspects. So it's very seldom 12 a single feature or a single category. And as we make those changes, we go through the 13 evaluation process that I mentioned earlier, new version of the app versus old version of 14 the app. External testers hired by vendors say what's the better response.
15 Q So let's stick with the profession example of a nurse. Is it still 16 ultimately -- whether it's you're using vendors to define what the test for certain might 17 be, but it's ultimately your team that makes the decision of what new changes, what new 18 instructions should be in the next version of the app. Is that right?
19 A As with the software development process, yes. And then we receive 20 feedback from these testers. Do you prefer version A or version B? And to them, they 21 don't know what's old versus new. And that helps us inform whether we're improving 22 the product or not.
23 Q Are you familiar with the term "refusals"?
24 A Yes.
25 Q What are refusals?

1 A In the context in which I'm familiar with that term is the user prompts the 2 model, and the model does not respond to the request of the user.
3 Q And as part of the red teaming, is that seeing what prompts a nonresponse
4 from the model?
5 A It may.
6 Q Can you provide some examples of refusals where the guardrails were set 7 incorrectly, where if the prompt was refusing to answer questions, that users would have 8 preferred it was able to answer?
9 A Yes. When that happens, it generally has a negative business impact and 10 our users are unhappy.
11 Q And when that occurs, again, what -- is it a similar process as any other 12 change to the model? As far as the assessment, it makes the final decision how to 13 implement it?
14 A So, in general, our goal is to serve the user to the fullest extent possible,
15 maximize helpfulness while minimizing harm. So there are moments where the refusal 16 is intentional. The user says, Give me a way to commit self-harm. A refusal is the 17 intended behavior there. I won't help you with that. I may provide you with resources 18 on what to do if you want to do self-harm.
19 So the goal is not to eliminate refusals altogether because in some cases they're 20 intended. There are cases where innocuous things have been refused that are certainly 21 not the intended behavior. For example, at one moment somebody asked for a recipe
22 of a dish that involved foie gras, and the model refused, saying that, you know, I won't 23 support dishes that relate to animal cruelty or that is not a consensus opinion. And we 24 received negative feedback for that and subsequently iterated on the product to improve
25 it.

1 Q So that hypothetical -- or not hypothetical -- that example, prior to receiving
2 the user feedback, where was that initial instruction coming from? I guess, how did that 3 refusal occur in the first place?
4 A I wouldn't characterize it as an instruction so much as every iteration or 5 version of the product that you see is building on feedback that was received on the prior
6 version. These are the sorts of things that got funneled down as an example of an input,
7 and then, okay, let's try a new model version. Does it give a better response; yes or no?
8 There's not any sort of one instruction. It's more based on the previous version's poor
9 responses. Does the new version create better responses?
10 Q How does -- when either going through a vendor or directly from the 11 company, how does your team ensure that there's a variety of viewpoints participating in 12 the testing process?
13 A Well, our vendors are the ones that hire people from across the country that 14 we're asking them to test within, and we rely on them to ensure they're providing a 15 representative sample of the population.
16 Q How do you know if the vendors are providing a representative sample?
17 A The representative sample would be reflective in the quality of the overall 18 product that we build.
19 Q Have there been any changes in vendors since your time working on Bard,
20 now Gemini?
21 A I believe we've evaluated several vendors, some of whom we no longer work 22 with and some of whom we continue to work with.
23 Q Are there vendors that you no longer work with because they failed to 24 provide a representative sample?
25 A The vendors that we no longer work with, to my understanding, are because

1 they did not provide us with high-quality feedback.

2 Q Who within the company decides which vendors to go with?

3 A Our engineering team that works on the conducting of the testing.

4 Q And do they provide like a written recommendation, or what's the process

5 for selecting a vendor and then assessing whether to keep a vendor?

6 A I don't know the exact process.

7 Q Okay. Well, just the parts of the process that you have knowledge of, how

8 does that process work?

9 A Overall we want to ensure that the feedback that we receive in prelaunch

10 testing is consistent with what happens after you launch, and you can see that based on

11 the feedback that you receive. So if an evaluation was telling you -- or a test was telling

12 you before you launched that it was going to improve the product and you launch it and it

13 doesn't improve the product, then you get insight into what needs to be fixed.

14 Q And the engineering team is next to yours in the hierarchy chart, right?

15 You don't --

16 A That's correct.

17 Q Do you know how high up a decision is made of which vendor to hire or to 18 stop using?

19 A I'm not certain.

20 Q To your understanding, have any of the vendors who were let go, were they

21 let go because there was an insufficient variety of political viewpoints in the 22 representative sample or what they claimed was a representative sample?

23 A Not to my knowledge.

24 Q Have you ever had any conversations with people on the engineering team

25 about the quality of the vendors being used?

A Yes.

Q And when you're having those conversations, who on the engineering team have you had those discussions with?

A My primary interactions are mostly with [redacted] And in this specific capacity, he has a direct report that I go to for topics like this.

Q Who's his direct report?

A [redacted].

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] We can go on the record.

BY [redacted]

Q All right. So I just want to follow up on a couple questions you were asked from the last hour, and hopefully this shouldn't take very long.

You were asked a number of questions about how the search side of Google could have some kind of, you know, potential impact on the outputs of Bard and Gemini.

Do you remember talking about that?

A Yes.

Q To the best of your knowledge, has there ever been any issues with Bard or Gemini that's arose from the ordering of search results?

A I'm not familiar with anything related to the ordering of search results, no.

Q And it's fair to say that, to the best of your knowledge, the search side of Google wouldn't have had anything to do with the images that drew scrutiny in February of 2024. Is that right?

A I don't believe so, no.

Q Okay. Now, I think -- I just wanted to ask you to follow up and have you

1 elaborate a little bit on one principle. I think you made an interesting point in the last
2 hour that Bard and Gemini as models -- as products are meant -- or designed to invite 3 creativity from the user, unlike the search engine which is more based on a user kind of 4 asking for factual information. Is that a fair characterization?
5 A The primary way people use Bard or the Gemini app is for tasks of creativity
6 and productivity. However, there are some users who do use it for factual purposes.
7 Q Sure. And it's fair to say that Bard and Gemini wasn't initially conceived to 8 be -- serve as like an encyclopedia, for example?
9 A I don't know how it would serve as an encyclopedia.
10 Q Well, it's not something that somebody would ask, you know, a specific 11 historical question to. I mean, that would be more of a Google search kind of prompt?
12 A While that's not the primary use case, people certainly will ask questions of,
13 you know, Help me understand this topic and do so in a conversational way. So I
14 wouldn't characterize it to say that it's not used that way. It's just not the primary 15 function for people.
16 Q Sure. You were asked in the last hour to talk about Google's AI principles.
17 I want to ask a couple of questions on that.
18 I think you said -- in your earlier hour, you testified you can't think of a time when 19 you would have had to see somebody at Google to ask them about how to apply the 20 principle in preventing unfair bias.
21 Do you remember that conversation?
22 A Yes.
23 Q So I think one topic I would like a little more elaboration on is Responsible AI
24 would give you prompts, you know, to go and test, but are these driven by -- more
25 predominantly by user feedback than responsible AI is given?

1 A I don't know how responsible AI generates those specific examples.
2 Q And so -- and just generally, when we talked about earlier the principles
3 were, obviously, developed by Google, and they're an important factor in your day-to-day
4 operations, but they're not driving your work the same way that end user feedback
5 would. Is that fair to say?
6 A Yeah. Principles -- as an employee of Google, the principles that we have,
7 again, are intended to provide a guide for how we operate, focus on the user and all else
8 will follow. Be accountable to people is one of our AI principles as well. These are all 9 things that inform the way that we operate, but there's not like a checklist of every single 10 thing.
11 Q Sure. So I guess what I'm trying to get at is, let's take unfair bias, for 12 example, which you talked about a lot in the last hour. And you said I don't know if 13 anybody tests for that principle specifically, like in a red-teaming scenario, for example.
14 What's really driving, you know, Google with respect to, you know, preventing 15 unfair bias, is it fair to say that that's the user feedback that you receive from a global 16 community of consumers?
17 A So I want to make sure I'm being precise.
18 Q Sure.
19 A We do have a test for fairness that the Responsible AI team helps produce,
20 and the way that it gets evaluated is how helpful are the responses. So to the premise 21 of your question is the primary objective how users respond -- or testers respond and 22 then subsequently users. Those are the ultimate guiding signals. We want to provide 23 maximum helpfulness for our users.
24 Q And preventing unfair bias is working towards that goal, correct? It's in 25 alignment with that goal?

1 A People generally do not respond positively to responses that they see as 2 being specifically cast as bias.
3 [redacted] Thanks.
4 Can we go off the record?
5 [Discussion off the record.]
6 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q As part of your roles within the company, have you ever worked with 9 Jigsaw?
10 A That sounds familiar, but I don't remember exactly what it is.
11 Q Okay. Have you ever worked with Mandiant?
12 A I don't believe so.
13 Q I want to turn back briefly to the White House commitments and the report
14 that was being put together.
15 You mentioned the one section that references the White House commitments.
16 There's the technical part of the report that you were working on. Who else within the 17 company, to your understanding, was working on the report?
18 A I believe there are over 100 authors listed on that specific paper.
19 Q And prior to that reference that you saw in the report of the White House
20 commitments, did you have any knowledge or awareness of the White House 21 commitments or what those were?
22 A I vaguely recall hearing them in conversations, but nothing extremely 23 specific.
24 Q I guess another way to ask, so like prior when seeing the term "White House 25 commitments report," did you have to go look it up or did you have at least some

1 baseline familiarity prior to reviewing that report?

2 A By virtue of working in the industry and staying in contact with news, I had

3 been familiar of their creation and roughly that they intended to represent more

4 transparency in the creation of AI products and ensuring that we create them safer.

5 Q And do you know who within the company interfaced with the White House

6 about the White House commitments?

7 A I believe it was our president of Global Affairs.

8 Q You said you recall at a high level some conversations where the White

9 House commitments may have been referenced. To your recollection, what was the 10 context or the nature of those conversations?

11 A As we were approaching moving Bard from the PaLM 2 model to the Gemini

12 model in December of 2023, I had heard reference to we need -- we're going to be

13 working on this technical report, and this technical report also is in accordance with the 14 White House commitments.

15 Q And had you heard that prior to seeing the White House commitments

16 reference in the draft?

17 A I don't recall specifically the sequence.

18 Q Of the conversations you're able to recall, who did you have conversations

19 with at the company about the White House commitments in any context?

20 A The production of the technical report as it was being intro -- I wasn't a

21 primary author, and I believe it was [redacted] who referenced that we were doing this

22 report and we were adding a Bard portion.

23 Q Outside the context or any reference to the report, the preparation of the 24 report, do you recall any conversations within the company about the White House

25 commitments?

1 A Not to my knowledge, no.

2 Q Turning back to, roughly, February 2024 when there's the issues with the

3 historical examples and users were reporting that certain prompts, especially when asking

4 for a White person to be represented, the refusals from the model, to your

5 understanding, what was the reason behind that? What led to that situation?

6 A The refusal or the --

7 Q The refusals in particular.

8 A For the specific refusals around majority groups such as White people?

9 Q Yes.

10 A It wasn't a common -- it wasn't a common way to use language, and so it was 11 something that we had not tested for.

12 Q Okay. So appreciate that, you know, once it's tested for, you know, you

13 can identify what the issue is and correct it. But taking one step back, hadn't been

14 tested for, weren't aware of the problem, but, you know, for lack of a better word, like,

15 what set of instructions -- what had led to that situation in the first place?

16 A So for a specific reason -- it's hard to isolate to any one specific example. In

17 general, the intention of, so to speak, teaching the model to provide a refusal against

18 harmful content, we try to provide it with examples. And in some of these examples,

19 my understanding is the model overfitted for innocuous things that it should not have 20 been refusing; the foie gras recipe as being another example.

21 Q Turning back to, like, the demographics, what sort of examples were being

22 fed to the model that led to it being overinclusive for refusals about certain racial groups?

23 A I don't know that there was anything specific to that, but I also don't review

24 the specific data that goes into each training version.

25 Q Is that information available if needed? Could you or someone from your

1 team go back and have the opportunity to review?

2 A I don't know where it would live in the code.

3 Q When it comes to providing examples, if I'm using your words correctly, to

4 teach the model when to refuse, as one example some of those examples could come

5 from the Responsible AI team that's provided to your team to then teach as the model or

6 I guess --

7 A I'm not sure if they contribute or not.

8 Q Okay. Let me rephrase the question in a different way.

9 In an earlier hour when we were talking about the nurse as a profession that's

10 maybe overrepresented by one gender, when you're talking about providing examples to 11 teach the model when to refuse, is that more or less the same process of the nurse

12 hypothetical?

13 A Yeah. In many cases, when the product produces an unintended behavior,

14 it's not necessarily that it was trained to do that so much as there wasn't data to inform

15 how it should respond. And with the lack of data, it responds in a way that's 16 unintended.

17 Q Now, can you say a little bit more -- so I certainly can appreciate if there's a

18 lack of data maybe the answer is not accurate. Is that true too for refusals in particular 19 or is that a different type of problem?

20 A I wouldn't be able to diagnose any one specific example. There are many

21 causes for refusals. One of them is we run a copyright check on every response to

22 ensure that the response does not contain copyrighted material, and if it does, it would

23 present a refusal instead of violating a copyright. And so there can be multiple reasons

24 for what may generate a refusal.

25 Q So I guess turning back to what, you know, obviously became very

1 high-profile examples, there's one instance of, like, the image created is not historically
2 accurate?
3 A That's correct.
4 Q The dataset is not quite right or the constructions aren't quite precise. But 5 the refusals that were appearing for some of the requests, again, if you could help us spell
6 that out a little bit more, what was, to your team's understanding, driving that?
7 A Let me just be clear, those refusals in many cases were not the intended
8 behavior, and they were wrong.
9 Q Yeah.
10 A I can recall an example that was shared with me where a user requested to 11 generate an image of five people on an oil rig managing a leak, and the model refused to 12 generate the image because it said it was an unsafe scenario. That's not the intended
13 behavior in that scenario. We certainly want to serve the user. And so as you get 14 feedback for things like that, then that helps provide data on how to better improve it.
15 Now, we took down the generation of images because of the other research 16 problem that we continue to try to understand is that tradeoff between creativity and 17 historical accuracy and user expectation.
18 Q Taking the oil rig as one example, so there was a principle of, you know, not 19 wanting to support or show, like, an unsafe environment. Following what happened in 20 February 2024, were there any fundamental changes to the principles either moving or 21 subsequently modifying a principle such as not wanting to show an unsafe environment?
22 Mr. Bopp. You mean the AI principles?
23 [redacted] I don't know if it's quite the AI principles, but whatever the rules are at 24 the outset.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q So there's a difference between -- sticking with the oil rig example -- of 2 concerns about an unsafe environment, not wanting to show that, and correcting what
3 should be captured by that, as opposed to changing the rule or the principle itself.
4 A Sorry. Just to be abundantly clear, the creation of that response didn't
5 violate any of our policies. It was an unintended refusal. We don't -- we certainly 6 don't want to create an image that presents a violent environment, and so we tried to 7 prevent an unexpected violent scenario. That's an example where the model, which at 8 that point -- or the product experience, which at that point was 3 weeks old, just hadn't 9 had enough usage to understand that that is innocuous and should not be refused.
10 Q So in most of the answers you've -- and examples you've been providing, it's 11 a matter of, you know, either providing better data or, you know, better -- having a 12 product apply to the principle. So in this case, the oil rig, while it was not violative, 13 should not have prompted a refusal.
14 Just, I guess, a more plain way of asking, since February 2024, have there been any 15 changes to the principles themselves?
16 A I don't believe so, but we've certainly been working around the clock to 17 ensure that we minimize unintended refusals.
18 Q We've touched upon a couple of examples, so the oil rig one, the foie gras
19 one, you've identified what the principle was. For some of the kind of high profile
20 examples as it related to race and not wanting to do certain prompts, do you recall 21 examples of which principles the model was trying to not violate?
22 A I don't know that I would characterize it as the model trying to not violate a
23 policy. Rather, I would probably define them more as a policy example being don't 24 create a very gory scene. And so it's not so much that it was violating or not violating.
25 It was just -- you know, in the examples that you're referencing, it was just flat out

1 incorrect, should not have behaved that way.

2 Q For the instances where there are refusals as it relates to, you know, certain

3 demographic groups, what were the principles that the model by offering the refusal was

4 trying to abide by, albeit unintendedly so?

5 A I wouldn't characterize the technology working in such a way that there's a

6 checklist of does this violate a principle; yes or no. There's a general probability in which

7 they work. Is this an acceptable response or not an acceptable response?

8 Q Okay. I guess if you could walk through maybe a few more examples. As 9 far as you mentioned the copyright as one example.

10 A Yeah.

11 Q Every, you know, image is checked. And if it's needed, there's a refusal.

12 Is the copyright example unique or is that true for all -- I guess, if you could walk through

13 with me a little bit more what you mean by sometimes it's a probability versus --

14 A Well, the model determining whether to answer or not --

15 Q Uh-huh.

16 A -- is -- there's a probability that it assigns should I answer or should I not 17 answer.

18 I'll give you another example. Prior to our launch, one of our competitors in the

19 image generation space produced a sexually explicit image of a well-known celebrity, and

20 it was a named celebrity. And we wanted to ensure that when it came to the 21 generation of people, we would refuse the generation of any named individual. So if

22 you asked for, fill in the blank -- create an image of fill-in-the-blank person, the intended

23 behavior was to not produce that image.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q When there were refusals in the prompt -- or excuse me. Let me rephrase

5 that.

6 When there were refusals when a user offered a prompt about White individuals,

7 whether it was an image or a text, what was the cause of that? What was the situation

8 why the model was providing a refusal in those instances?

9 Mr. Bopp. [redacted] you can answer his question.

10 I think you've asked that question in a number of different ways, and I think what

11 I'm gathering from [redacted] is that he doesn't have anything more specific to say about how

12 or why a particular example may have been refused.

13 But if there's more you can say about this, feel free to say it.

14 [redacted]. I'd say that's right.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q Following the February 2024, within the company, who was the most senior

17 person you had to brief based off the situation?

18 A On sort of the most intense time?

19 Q Yeah, just -- or as it relates to errors that were becoming very public.

20 Let me rephrase the question to make it clear.

21 As it comes to addressing inaccurate historical images and making corrections and

22 ultimately taking down that feature of the product, who is the most senior person that

23 you -- you mentioned that you sent the recommendation to your manager, but just more 24 generally, who's the most senior person within the company that you had to brief?

25 A Our CEO.

1 Q And when was that?

2 A I believe it was after I had posted a comment on Twitter saying these

3 historical images are inaccurate. We subsequently learned about the refusals that we

4 just discussed, which, to be very clear, were incorrect and not the intended behavior.

5 And as that happened, we moved toward a recommendation to pull the feature.

6 Q Who else participated in your briefing with the CEO?

7 A I believe it was myself and [redacted] my manager, and [redacted] I believe the CEO

8 of DeepMind may have been there as well.

9 Q Was it in person or was it a videoconference meeting?

10 A A videoconference.

11 Q Who else attended?

12 A I don't remember who else would have been there.

13 Q And what was discussed?

14 A As we were further understanding the issues, it became clear that we

15 needed to research this problem more, and as a result, we had decided to take down the 16 generation of images of people.

17 Q What did the CEO say?

18 A He agreed with our recommendation.

19 Q Did he say anything else?

20 A Make sure you understand this and do right by our users.

21 Q How long was the meeting?

22 A I don't recall.

23 Q Had you prepared any written work product in support of or in conjunction 24 with the meeting?

25 A Things were moving relatively quickly at that time. I don't believe we did.

1 Q Other than this briefing with the CEO, have you had any meetings with any
2 other of the company's executives since February 2024?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Who else?
5 A As it relates to this issue or in the normal course of my work?
6 Q As it relates to this issue.
7 A Our SVP of knowledge and information and our president of Global Affairs
8 and CEO of DeepMind.
9 Q And then just prior to February 2024, how frequently would you interact
10 with any of these executives?
11 A At least monthly.
12 Q And what was the nature of those interactions?
13 A The Gemini app is one of the very high priorities for the company, and so it
14 would be sharing progress updates as well as upcoming launches.
15 Q In the briefing with the CEO, was this -- actually, let me take one step back.
16 When you say the monthly updates, that includes some executives you
17 mentioned. Does that include the CEO?
18 A Yes. Sorry. Just to be clear, the cadence wasn't exactly monthly. That 19 was just kind of a rough order of how frequent.
20 Q Okay. So this I think probably answers the next question. But the 21 meeting with the CEO, was that ad hoc? It was not part of like a standing meeting?
22 A That's right. My manager typically drives the agenda for those.
23 Q Other than that first meeting with the CEO about taking down that feature
24 after the historically inaccurate images, have you had any other briefings or meetings
25 with the CEO about this issue in particular?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And how many others? How many other meetings or briefings?

3 A I'm not certain exactly how many.

4 Q Can you provide an approximation?

5 A Fewer than 10.

6 Q Okay. And what has been discussed as it relates to this issue in those 7 subsequent meetings?

8 A We certainly have a business desire to re-release this feature, and we will

9 only re-release it upon the time that we believe, A, we understand the problems, and, B,

10 we have an experience that is able to address them. And so there have been varying 11 states of understanding the problem and making progress.

12 Q Are you at a point where your team thinks you've understood the problem?

13 A We've not yet released it. We continue to work toward it.

14 Q Are you familiar with the Frontier Model Forum?

15 A I'm not.

16 Q To your knowledge, besides the engineering team, is there anyone else that 17 has an opportunity to weigh in on what vendors are used for the testers?

18 A I believe there's a team that manages the vendors.

19 Q Okay. Different from the engineering team itself?

20 A The actual relationship managers.

21 Q And who are the relationship managers?

22 A It's a team named gTech.

23 Q And do you know who leads that team?

24 A I do not.

25 Q Do you have a primary point of contact on that team?

A I personally do not interface with that team.

Q To your understanding, does that team play a substantive role in making recommendations about whether to keep a vendor or not?

A I'm not sure.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[Recess.]

[redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

BY [redacted]

Q [redacted], we've talked a little bit throughout the couple hours about the specific issues that actually led to the press reporting in around February of 2024 about the images generated by the chatbot. I just want to kind of take a step back here of the reason why we're here today, which is it's been inferred by the majority that these image generation issues that were the focus of this public scrutiny this past February were an example of, quote, how Alphabet intentionally biased its AI model.

Do you think that's accurate, based on your experience, that Google intentionally biased the Gemini chatbot to produce the images that were the subject of this scrutiny?

A The production of the inaccurate historical images and the refusal to generate the images before were not intended behavior, and they were a mistake.

Q So you would disagree with that assessment, that Alphabet intentionally biased its AI model in that respect, correct?

A Yes.

Q And you just mentioned that the issues with the image generation rollout were not intentional, correct?

A Correct.

Q And the model -- you would say it's also that the model was not working as it

1 was intended when it produced those images and refusals, correct?

2 A As it relates to historical inaccuracies and refusals, it was not working as

3 intended.

4 Q Thank you.

5 And were the issues with the Gemini chatbot as a result of -- the images that

6 we're talking about, which is the refusals and the historical inaccuracies -- were those a

7 result of external testers that were aligned with the White House commitments?

8 A I'm sorry. Could you repeat your question?

9 Q Were the issues that we're talking about a result of using external testers

10 that aligned with the White House commitments?

11 A I don't believe so, no.

12 Q Okay. Were the issues with the Gemini chatbot a result of using external

13 testers that were aligned with the AI executive order issued by the Biden administration?

14 A You're talking about the historical --

15 Q Yes.

16 A -- inaccuracies?

17 Q Yes.

18 A Sorry. Can you repeat the question?

19 Q Were the issues with the Gemini chatbot a result of using external testers

20 that aligned with the AI executive order published by the White House?

21 Mr. Bopp. Just to be clear, I'm not sure what you mean by testers being aligned

22 by the executive order.

23 [redacted] Sure. No, that's fine. That's fine. I'm happy to provide some 24 further clarification on that for the record.

25 So I guess we'll just introduce the letter that invited you to testify today and mark

1 it as exhibit 1.

2 [redacted] Also, I apologize that some of these staples are a little hazardous.

3 Not my best work.

4 [redacted] Make sure you mark one and give it to the court reporter.

5 [redacted] Exhibit No. 1

6 was marked for identification.]

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q And if it's helpful, I'm happy to direct your attention to the specific part of 9 this letter that I want to ask you a question about. Is that okay?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Okay. So if you flip to page 2, and it's the second full paragraph starting in

12 the middle of it right after where footnote 9 is noted. It starts with "A recent report."

13 Do you see where I'm reading from?

14 A No. Recent reporting?

15 Q "A recent report by the company's Gemini team."

16 A Oh, yes.

17 Q Okay. So I'll just read this into the record.

18 "A recent report by the company's Gemini team stated that its new AI tool was

19 evaluated by external groups, which were selected based on their alignment with the 20 Biden White House executive order and the White House commitments."

21 Did I read that correctly?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Okay. Now, if you flip to the next page, which is page 3, the first line of the 24 paragraph says, "Recent reporting has revealed the results of these so-called

25 improvements to the Gemini models, showcasing Gemini's clear bias."

1 And footnote 12 references several news articles that include, "Google's Chatbot
2 AI Images Put People of Color in Nazi-Era Uniforms," and from The New York Times,
3 February 22, 2024. Fox Business article, "Google to pause Gemini image generation
4 after AI refuses to show images of White people." And CNN's, "Google halts AI tool's
5 ability to produce images of people after backlash."
6 Do you see where I'm reading?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Okay. So I guess to go back to my question, with that context, were the 9 issues that are referenced in footnote 12 and reported on in February 2024, were they a
10 result of using external testers that aligned with the AI executive order or the White
11 House commitments, to the best of your knowledge?
12 A No.
13 Q Okay. Thank you.
14 To the best of your knowledge, were the issues with Gemini chatbot a result of 15 Google joining the voluntary White House commitments?
16 A No.
17 Q To the best of your understanding, were the issues with the Gemini chatbot
18 a result of any of Google's engagements with the Federal Government?
19 A No.
20 [redacted] I'd like to introduce as exhibit 2 a article from wired.com.
21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2
22 was marked for identification.]
23 [redacted] So again, with this one, [redacted], I'd like to just direct you to 24 where I want to ask a question about, if that's okay. You're happy to read the whole
25 article if you want.

1 Mr. Bopp. Why don't you direct us.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So on page 2, the first full paragraph where it starts with your last name or 4 your surname.

5 A Yes.

6 Q And part of the reason I can't give you the original post is because I actually

7 can't see the original post anymore on X. So I'm going to ask you about this. I'll read

8 this into the record.

9 "[redacted] explained the situation further in a post on X: We design our image

10 generation capabilities to reflect our global user base, and we take representation and

11 bias seriously. We will continue to do this for open-ended prompts. Images of a

12 person walking a dog are universal, exclamation point. Historical context have more

13 nuance to them, and we will further tune to accommodate that."

14 Did I read that correctly?

15 A Yes.

16 Q To the best of your knowledge, and I know that this is not the original

17 screenshot, but was this in line with what you remember putting out on X or Twitter?

18 A I don't believe it's the full post, but it seems like part of it, yes.

19 Q Is there any material part that's missing, that you remember?

20 A Acknowledging that there were inaccuracies with the generation of historical 21 images.

22 Q That's fair.

23 Just for background, what are open-ended prompts and how is that -- and what is 24 the challenge generally with an emerging AI model and historical context?

25 A Well, I define an open-ended prompt as something where a user hasn't

1 specified what they want to see. Example being person walking a dog.

2 As I mentioned earlier, the feedback we receive from our testers is users want to

3 see themselves in the images. So that is why we intended to reflect the global user

4 base.

5 Historical context, however, are not open-ended. Historical context has rules

6 around it. Show me a picture of a person from this era. There are rules -- effectively, I

7 would describe it as a common understanding of what a user's intent is.

8 And so this is acknowledging that for those historical context, we need to not

9 provide a randomization of people that respect the historical context.

10 Q Right. And I think the word you used was they have more nuance to them.

11 A That's the nuance I'm referring to.

12 Q Yes. Okay, good. Thank you.

13 [redacted] I'd like to introduce as exhibit 3 a blog produced by Google

14 entitled, "Gemini image generation got it wrong. We'll do better."

15 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3

16 was marked for identification.]

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q Do you recognize this document?

19 A I do.

20 Q I'd like to direct your attention to the bottom of the first page where it says,

21 "The Gemini conversational app is a specific product that is separate from Search, our

22 underlying AI models, and our other products. Its image generation feature was built on

23 top of an AI model called Imagen 2."

24 Did I read that correctly?

25 A That's correct.

1 Q And what is Imagen 2, just in broad strokes?

2 A It is a text-to-image generative AI model.

3 Q And so that's the model that was in the driver seat or the engine, so to 4 speak, for this product, this image generation product?

5 A That is the model that receives text and translates it into an image.

6 Q Thank you.

7 I want to direct your attention to the next page. And by the way, for the record,

8 this is a blog that was published on February 23, 2024, by Google.

9 On the next page, at the very top -- and I'm going to read where I want to ask you

10 a question from -- it's, "When we built this feature in Gemini, we tuned it to ensure it

11 doesn't fall into some of the traps we've seen in the past with image generation

12 technology -- such as creating violent or sexually explicit images, or depictions of real

13 people. And because our users come from all over the world, we want it to work well

14 for everyone."

15 Did I read that correctly?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Can you talk a little bit more about the potential harms that could come

18 from AI image generation technologies?

19 A I referenced earlier, prior to this launch, we had seen a competitor create 20 images of a sexually explicit photo of a known celebrity, which is certainly harmful.

21 Q Sure.

22 [redacted] And that known celebrity was Taylor Swift. Is that correct.

23 [redacted]. Yes.

24 [redacted] Is creating sexually explicit images like Taylor Swift, in addition to

25 just being wrong, that provokes a very passionate fan base, right, many of whom might use your products or potentially use your products?

[redacted]. Our intention is to not produce sexually explicit images.

[redacted] Yes. Okay.

BY [redacted]

Q Are you familiar with DALL-E 2?

A Yes.

Q And they're a competitor, correct?

A By OpenAI, yes.

Q Are you familiar with reports and early tests by red team members that DALL-E 2 leans towards generating images of White men by default, oversexualizes images of women, and reinforces racial stereotypes? Are you aware of that press reporting?

A I'm familiar with the general topics associated with it, yes.

Q So that would be another example of certain traps that Gemini was trying to avoid when it launched its product. Is that fair?

A Certainly, at the time that we launched, we wanted to learn from the lessons of products that had been released from our competitors.

Q And I want to ask you about the language in this Google blog, which says -- specifically, which we had just read from, which says, "we want it to work well for everyone."

I think that's a theme that we've talked about extensively throughout this interview. But I just want to say again for the record, from your perspective, a product is intended to be part of a business which wants it to be useful to its customer base, correct?

A Yes, and our customer base reflects people from over 200 countries and

1 territories around the world.

2 Q And images of violence or sexually explicit images or ones that cause harm

3 are not useful to customers, correct?

4 A We do not believe so, no.

5 Q And it would be against your business interest as a global company to have a

6 product that actually harmed or could potentially harm your customers. Is that fair?

7 A The trust of our users globally is ultimately one of the most important things

8 that is involved in building a product that aims to be as helpful as possible.

9 Q Thank you.

10 I want to skip down a couple paragraphs to the one that starts with, "So what 11 went wrong?" Do you see where I'm --

12 A Yes.

13 Q -- reading at?

14 So I'll just read. "In short, two things. First, our tuning to ensure that Gemini

15 showed a range of people failed to account for cases that should clearly not show a

16 range. And second, over time, the model became way more cautious than we intended

17 and refused to answer certain prompts entirely -- wrongly interpreting some very 18 anodyne prompts as sensitive."

19 Did I read that correctly?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And you would agree with that statement, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And that's in line with what you had talked about in the last hour, which was 24 the issue of historical context in image generation?

25 A Yes.

1 Q So I did want to ask you, though, when it says the model became way more
2 cautious, what does that mean?
3 A Referring back to the example we discussed earlier, create an image of 4 people on an oil rig containing a leak. The intended behavior should be that it shows
5 that image, and it did not.
6 Q Thank you.
7 I know that you already testified to this, but I want to ask again for the record.
8 These image generation examples that had extensive press coverage in February of 2024,
9 they were not the intended result of any, quote/unquote, tuning, correct?
10 A The mistakes with historical images and the refusals to produce images were 11 not the intended behavior.
12 Q And at the time, is it fair to say that you didn't have a lot of external
13 feedback yet to flag any potential image generation issues like this until you had end
14 users trying to prompt these types of situations?
15 A For these two scenarios, that's correct.
16 Q Is it fair to say you were not focused on this potential type of image
17 generation result because external testing hadn't flagged it as an issue yet?
18 A I would say that's an accurate characterization.
19 Q And at the time, users were interested in other things other than historical 20 images. Is that fair?
21 A Image generation in the broad scope of using the Gemini app is not a 22 primary use case. And so certainly across the full suite of ways that people use our 23 product, in the scope of my role, I need to ensure that it's maximizing helpfulness across 24 all uses.
25 Q Sure. Would you give me an example of what a primary use case would be

1 at this stage?

2 A Similar to one I mentioned earlier. Steps of creativity: Help me write a

3 letter to my friends why I don't want to attend a dinner party. Help me brainstorm an

4 idea.

5 Q Thank you.

6 Are you aware of anybody at Google intending to -- who intended to create an

7 anti-White bias in the product?

8 A No.

9 Q Are you aware of anyone at Google intending to imbed a particular political 10 agenda into the Gemini product?

11 A No.

12 Q And it's fair to say that you would call a -- have you heard of the term

13 "hallucinations"?

14 A Yes.

15 Q What generally is hallucinations in the AI context?

16 A There are many definitions that people use across the industry. The best

17 way to characterize it is when the AI product creates a response based off of things that it

18 had not seen in its training data.

19 Q Are you aware of recent press coverage in the last week or so about Google's

20 search function with the AI app Overview launch which was reported to have suggested

21 that or inferred that the United States has one Muslim President at this time, which was 22 Barack Hussein Obama? Are you aware of that recent coverage?

23 A That is not a product on which I work, but I am aware of this coverage.

24 Q So understanding that that's not Gemini and that's not a product that you

25 work on, you're generally aware that that was in the news?

A Yes.

Q Okay. I guess my question is, is it -- would you call that a hallucination?

A In the case that it presented something that was factually inaccurate, yes.

Q So I guess my broader question is, with response to AI development in general, is it fair to say that in that case, generative AI inaccuracies or errors or these hallucinations can happen regardless of where a person or topic falls on the political spectrum?

A As an industry, we're working through how to solve hallucinations, which include what you mentioned.

[redacted] I want to go back to what you just said about, as an industry, you're working to solve these problems. Is it fair to say that, you know, a lot of the problems that we discussed today are directly related to the novelty of AI.

[redacted] I would say generative AI is still a nascent technology that many people are still trying for the first time. As people use it, they showcase new ways that, as product developers, we haven't seen people use the technology. And our goal as we learn new ways that people use the technology is to continue to iterate and make it more helpful.

[redacted] That answers my question.

BY [redacted]

Q Just a couple last questions, and I think we'll wrap it up.

Are you generally familiar with Google's mission to organize the world's information and make it universally accessible and useful?

A Yes.

Q In your experience, did Google's mission apply to its AI products?

A Our mission applies to all our products on which I work.

1 Q So --

2 A I have worked.

3 Q I'm sorry?

4 A Sorry. That I have worked on.

5 Q So does Google have an interest in making AI products that are useful and 6 trustworthy for users around the world?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And can you explain why?

9 Mr. Bopp. Why that is Google's mission.

10 [redacted] Why Google has an interest in making AI products that are useful

11 and trustworthy for users around the world.

12 [redacted]. As a business, we certainly want to create technology in a manner

13 that helps us fulfill our mission, and AI is one of the more nascent technologies that are 14 creating new capabilities for people, and it is a pioneering time in this technology.

15 [redacted] In several of the previous hours, you have talked a lot about how

16 transparency is very important to your work with generative AI at Google. Can you

17 provide -- and I think the press release that [redacted] introduced earlier is one example of this,

18 but are there any other examples that you would like to share with us of ways that you've

19 worked to promote transparency and how, or anything you would like to say on the 20 relationship between transparency and creating trustworthy products.

21 [redacted]. From the beginning of the creation of Bard, we had what were

22 then called experiment updates. Now, since we've renamed the Gemini app, we have

23 release updates. When new capabilities are introduced to the product, we explain to 24 users in that thread not just what feature launched but why to give people an

25 understanding of how they might want to test the product.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Your name has been in the public eye because of your work on Gemini. Is

3 that fair to say?

4 A I have been one of the public spokespeople for Gemini, yes.

5 [redacted]

19 [redacted] More generally.

20 [redacted]. First, I just want to be very clear. My personal beliefs do not

21 influence my professional work. [redacted]

1 Mr. Bopp. Why don't we step out for a second.

2 [redacted] Can we go off the record.

3 [Recess.]

4 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q I want to turn back to exhibit 3, which is the -- I think it was exhibit 3, the 21 February 23, 2024, blog post. And there's some language on the second page that you

22 had gone over in the previous hour about the refusal to answer certain prompts,

23 interpreting some as sensitive.

24 In the context of February 2024 and what was being highlighted, what were the 25 sensitivities that the company was trying to avoid as related to the refusal prompts?

A Again, the general policies are things like don't create violent images, sexually explicit images, or images of named people, et cetera.

Q When in the examples that are being highlighted on Twitter were going viral, there were prompts where, again, based off of a particular demographic, racial demographic, the model would refuse to answer. In those contexts, what is, based off your team's assessment of the problem now, what principles, what rules, what sensitivities, what was in most cases leading to that refusal?

A Again, in the nature of the technology, the responses generate a probability, and the probability is, is this sensitive or not. And so for any one individual case, it's not possible to say why something is determined as sensitive or not, to the best of my understanding.

Q So for like the oil rig example, is your team, when you say it was trying to not show an unsafe environment, that was not the exact quote, but, right, that was the principle, is that based off your team's just, I guess, like circumstantial evidence of what's going on, or is there -- how do you make that assessment as, like, using that hypothetical?

Mr. Bopp. When you say "how do you make that assessment," what -- it sounds like -- I'm a little confused here. It sounds like you're asking [redacted] how someone at Google makes an assessment of whether or not to answer a prompt.

[redacted] Yes.

Mr. Bopp. I'm not sure that's a question that we can answer. But, I mean, maybe you can step back and provide a little context.

[redacted]. Yeah. Again, to take a step back, the way that we iterate on these models is, as they produce responses, you see old version, new version. And our external testers will say which is better. Again, they don't know what's the old version, what's the new version. They just say what's better. And as we see that sort of

1 feedback comes out, not only one specific example but an aggregate, that's what creates
2 the model.
3 So it's not one specific example you decide is this sensitive or not sensitive. It's 4 the generalization of the model. So for any one specific example, I don't know that it's 5 technically possible to say why it classified as sensitive or not.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q Is unfair bias one of the sensitivities that was trying to be considered that led 8 to some of the refusal prompts?
9 A In this scenario, it's something that we had not tested. So, again, the 10 model produces a score if something is sensitive or not sensitive.
11 Q So back in the copyright example, and just based off, you know, looking at 12 examples I've read online, is it always the case that when there's a refusal and there's a 13 reason provided, is that accurate as far as why the model is producing the refusal that it's 14 producing?
15 A The model is producing a creative result when it produces what it does. I 16 would characterize refusals in two ways: Intentional refusals, the ones where 17 somebody's asking how do I inflict self harm and the model refuses. And then there are 18 unintended ones that you can try to find as many as you can prior to launching, but there
19 will be novel ways that people use the technology.
20 As you find those unintended refusals, it's part of the iteration process in software
21 development to minimize that because, to take a step back, if you're not -- if we don't do 22 a successful job in providing a response to a user that they expect should respond, they 23 will stop using our service. And so we have a business incentive to maximize the 24 helpfulness as much as possible.
25 Q In the previous round, you were asked some questions about claims made in

1 the committee's letter -- or statements, I should say, made in the committee's letter
2 about recent reporting, including regarding on page 2 about whether the tool, AI tool is 3 evaluated by external groups which were selected based on an alignment with the Biden
4 White House executive order and White House commitments. Your responses to those 5 questions were saying something to the effect of like, you know, you didn't know.
6 Do you have knowledge one way or the other about whether testers were 7 selected based on their alignment to the White House commitments?
8 A I can't definitively say yes or no.
9 Q And which teams within the company would have knowledge of that?
10 A Our Global Affairs and Public Policy are typically the ones that interface with 11 governments, and so that would be where I would expect interaction.
12 Q And the engineering team is the one that selects which vendors to use --
13 A That's correct.
14 Q -- the testers?
15 So to be clear, it's not your testimony to contradict what's in the letter. It's that 16 you don't have knowledge either way?
17 Mr. Bopp. Let's be more specific. There are a lot of things that [redacted] was asked 18 about the letter. So if there's a specific line that you want him to comment on.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q As it relates to the line of whether the AI tool is evaluated by external groups
21 which were selected based on their alignment with the Biden White House executive 22 order and White House commitments.
23 A If I understand this citation correctly, this is referencing testing that was 24 done on the Gemini model, not the Gemini app, as referenced in the Gemini, a family of 25 highly capable multimodal models, paper.

1 Q Okay. So as it relates to the model?
2 A I'm not involved in the foundational model development.
3 Q And which teams are involved in the foundational model development?
4 A Google DeepMind.
5 Q Again, who's your primary point of contact with Google DeepMind?
6 A The vice president of product management, [redacted].
7 Q To your understanding, for testers for the model, is it a similar process when 8 finding testers for the app, or is that two different processes?
9 A I'm not familiar with the extent of their process on the foundational model.
10 Q Do you know if they use vendors?
11 A I believe so, but I'm not certain.
12 Q Is there a separate engineering team that would work with the testers for 13 the model as opposed to the app?
14 A Yes.
15 Q And what's the name of that engineering team?
16 A It's within Google DeepMind that works on the foundational model.
17 Q Do you have a point of contact of that engineering team in Google
18 DeepMind?
19 A There's a vice president of engineering for Google DeepMind.
20 Q Who's that?
21 A His first name is [redacted] (ph), and you'll have to forgive me, I don't actually 22 know how to pronounce his last name.
23 Q That's fine.
24 Have you had any conversations with members of DeepMind about 25 representational harms or societal risks?

1 A In the context of image generation or broadly?
2 Q Just broadly.
3 A Yes.
4 Q And what's been the context of those conversations?
5 A The nature of how we build toward maximizing helpfulness and minimizing
6 harm.
7 Q And who have you had conversations with at Google DeepMind?
8 A I'd say this notion of maximizing helpfulness and minimizing harm is a 9 common way to push the product development. So in that capacity, most of my 10 interactions on product development push toward ensuring we're maximizing the 11 helpfulness of our users.
12 Q In any internal conversations during your time with the company, have there 13 been ever any debates or disagreements about what constitutes a representational
14 harm?
15 A In my personal experience, most of my interactions as it relates to this 16 concept are how do we provide the most helpful answer possible for our users, and using 17 our users as the gauge -- or our testers and our users as a gauge for the feedback of 18 achieving that.
19 Q Okay. Well, I guess taking kind of a step from that, have there been any 20 debates or disagreements about how testers interpret or understand representational 21 harms?
22 A I don't know that I would characterize it as we discuss them as 23 representational harms so much as testers will certainly individually disagree on what's a 24 helpful answer versus not.
25 Q And have there been any internal discussions since you've been a part of the

1 company about whether testers tend to skew one way when identifying whether some 2 things are a representational harm or not?
3 A No.
4 Q During your meeting with the company executives, was there any discussion
5 about missed biases or political leanings about the testers?
6 A Which meeting?

1 [2:51 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Any of the meetings you've had since February 2024 with executives of the

4 company.

5 A Our stated intention is to produce a neutral point of view on topics. And so

6 in that regard, that was one of the early determinations we intended to create in the

7 product.

8 Q But there are a number of different ways to fail to meet the neutral, you

9 know, ideal. Had there been any discussions with executives of the company about 10 whether the testers had particular political means?

11 A Not in my experience or to my knowledge.

12 Q When working with a vendor, whether for the app, for the model, does the 13 company have the ability to see who the actual testers are?

14 A I can only speak for my experience, and I worked on the app, the Gemini app

15 specifically. I don't directly interface with the vendors and the testers, so I don't know if 16 that's been requested or not.

17 Q Based off, you know, the historically inaccurate images, the coverage in

18 February 2024 about that, what changes did that lead the DeepMind team to make as it

19 relates to the model?

20 A I can't speak for all the work that DeepMind does, but as we tried to 21 understand this problem from a research perspective, my team is certainly collaborating

22 with DeepMind to produce a better product experience.

23 Q When your team is collaborating with DeepMind since February 2024, have 24 there been discussions about representational harms?

25 A I don't know that there -- in my personal experience, that specific term has

1 been used in the discussions. Our goal is to re-release the experience in as high of a 2 quality manner as we believe our users hold it to, and representational harms are 3 generally considered negatively by our users.
4 Q With the understanding that representational harms are viewed negatively,
5 in terms of how that actually is applied by the model when users are using it and 6 capturing things that are not representational harms, have there been discussions -- not
7 necessarily the specific term "representational harms," but related bias issues, have there
8 been discussions around that since February 2024 between your team and the DeepMind
9 team?
10 A In my experience, this is one of many features and product experiences in 11 which I'm involved. I don't personally recall a specific conversation about this beyond 12 how do we maximize the quality of the product experience that our users expect.
13 Q Have you had any conversations with the DeepMind team about whether 14 their testers were aligned with the White House commitments?
15 A I don't believe so, no.
16 Q Has anyone within the company ever shared frustration with you about the 17 quality of the testers selected either for the app or the model?
18 A In the sense that we have had vendors provide us with testing that did not
19 map to real world experiences, yes, and so we have removed vendors along our process
20 that were not providing helpful inputs.
21 Q Are there any vendor names that come to mind that were removed that 22 you're aware of?
23 A I don't recall the ones that were removed.
24 Q Do you know how many vendors are used for, we'll say, testing for the app?
25 A There are two predominant ones, and I'm not familiar with more beyond

1 those. There may be more.

2 Q Who are the two predominant ones?

3 A Scale AI and Surge AI.

4 Q Were either of them removed?

5 A I believe we've had a continuous working relationship with them throughout

6 the course of working on Bard.

7 Q Do you know if they provide testers for the model as well?

8 A I don't work on the models, so I'm not certain.

9 Q With the understanding you don't work on it, do you have any 10 understanding or knowledge of whether they do or not?

11 A I would be speculating.

12 Q As it relates to the app, just walk me through the process at a high level.

13 Does the company, Alphabet, they go to the vendor and they ask for, you know, we want

14 testers that meet X, Y, and Z, or how -- what does the request look like when the 15 company's trying to find testers?

16 A I can't speak for how the entire company uses various vendors. And also,

17 within the scope of the Gemini app, formerly Bard, I have interacted with some of these

18 vendors, but I don't know the exact process of what's requested. These vendors do

19 produce a product that is used throughout the industry. We're not their sole customers,

20 to my understanding.

21 So my understanding is they have a business incentive to provide as broad an

22 array of a population within a given country as possible.

23 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

24 [Whereupon, at 3:02 p.m., the interview was adjourned.]

[redacted] This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other intermediaries to censor speech.

Would the witness please state your name for the record?

[redacted]. [redacted], and I go by [redacted]

[redacted] Thank you.

On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to appear voluntarily.

My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff.

I'll now have everyone else from the committee who's here in the room introduce themselves as well.

[redacted] [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will follow during today's interview.

Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you'd like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you understand?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with counsel if they so choose.

It is my understanding that you are appearing today with counsel. Is that correct?

[redacted]. That is correct.

[redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?

Mr. Bopp. Yes. Michael Bopp, Gibson Dunn, representing [redacted]

Mr. Halse. Ehren Halse, King and Spalding, representing Alphabet.

[redacted] Thank you.

1 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
2 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not
3 understand one of our questions, please let us know.
4 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
5 point, just say so.
6 If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best
7 not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us if you learned
8 information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.
9 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please
10 inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete
11 answer to the question.
12 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by 13 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand
14 that?
15 [redacted]. Yes.
16 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
17 interview. Do you understand this?
18 [redacted]. Yes.
19 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to 20 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section
21 1001. Do you understand this?
22 [redacted]. Yes.
23 [redacted] Is there any reason that you are unable to provide truthful answers to
24 today's questions?
25 [redacted]. No.

1 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss
2 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this
3 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.
4 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with
5 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those
6 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.
7 That is the end of my preamble. Is there anything that my colleagues from the
8 minority would like to add?
9 [redacted] We would just like to thank you for appearing today, and make 10 our standard now request for the majority to release all the transcripts of the transcribed
11 interviews that we've done. I believe we've done well over a hundred.
12 [redacted] The clock reads 10:10. We will start the first hour of questioning.
13 EXAMINATION
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Could I have you state your full name again for the record.
16 A Yes. It's [redacted].
17 Q And what is your current place of employment?
18 A I work for YouTube, which is a -- the parent company is Google.
19 Q And what is your role at YouTube?
20 A I am a senior manager on the Government Affairs and Public Policy team.
21 Q Okay. And which office are you based out of?
22 A I'm based out of San Francisco.
23 Q I'll begin with college. What is your educational background?
24 A I have a bachelor's from NYU. Do you need years?
25 Q That's okay. Just degrees.

1 A Okay. And then a master's in information management and systems from 2 UC Berkeley's School of Information.
3 Q What is your professional background?
4 A Immediately following college, I worked in the publishing side of National 5 Journal in Congress Daily/A.M., working for Atlantic Media. Following that, I worked as 6 an advertising coordinator for Barron's parent company Dow Jones. Following that, I
7 worked for Mac World Magazine. Following that, I moved over to a think tank called 8 Institute for the Future, where I worked as a research manager.
9 Then I went back to school, got my master's. And then I have been employed by 10 Google since 2011, I believe.
11 Q Okay. So we'll start with once you started at Google. What was your first 12 position with the company?
13 A I was a -- I believe my title was analyst, Public Policy.
14 Q And how long were you in that position for?
15 A I don't remember the total number of years. At some point I was 16 promoted to a different title. I've been promoted several times over the last 13 years.
17 So all of it kind of in the same vein within Google, just different titles.
18 Q What are some of the promotions that you recall, even if the timing's not 19 exactly precise?
20 A From analyst to senior analyst -- or, sorry, from senior analyst to manager,
21 and then from manager to manager II, which isn't stated externally. And then from 22 manager II to senior manager.
23 Q Okay. Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation," "disinformation,"
24 and "malinformation"?
25 A I am familiar with the terms "misinformation" and "disinformation."

1 Q And do you understand what's the difference between those terms?
2 A I understand that those terms are often used interchangeably and
3 sometimes used in different ways, depending on the context.
4 Q How long have you been in your current position for?
5 A So I have been in my current position at YouTube now since, I believe,
6 October of 2019.
7 Q And were you involved or at YouTube your entire time at the company or is 8 that only for a portion of your tenure?
9 A Sorry, do you mean in that last -- in that 5-year period?
10 Q No, just since 2011.
11 A No. I've only been at YouTube since 2019.
12 Q And the Public Policy team at Google that you were part of prior to that, is 13 that a -- how does that team -- what is that team's relationship to the YouTube team that 14 you're now a part of?
15 A So the broader Public Policy team has undergone a significant amount of 16 restructuring over the course of that last 13 years. And so when I initially started, there
17 wasn't a YouTube public policy team.
18 The current iteration of the YouTube Public Policy team really came to be around
19 the time that I moved over. So I would say like mid-2019, shortly after another 20 organizational restructuring.
21 Q Before the restructuring, what was your position at the company?
22 A I was on the Central Public Policy team for Google. I've always had 23 internal-facing roles at the company. And in that role, I had a number of different 24 responsibilities but they were all sort of global in nature.
25 Q What is the central -- you said it's the central team, the Public Policy team?

1 A That's what it was called at the time.

2 Q Yeah. And what was that team's responsibility?

3 A That team's responsibility was to be across a range of product areas and a

4 range of public policy issues at a global level.

5 Q And when you say there's multiple products, would that include both Google

6 Search and YouTube?

7 A That would include all products under the Google parent umbrella.

8 Q And just for clarity on the record, including YouTube?

9 A I wasn't responsible for YouTube at the time, but there was -- that was one

10 of the products that was covered generally by folks on the team.

11 Q Who did you report to before the restructuring?

12 A I reported to [redacted].

13 Q In your position immediately prior to the restructuring, did you have

14 interactions with Google's Trust and Safety team?

15 A If I did -- I don't recall specifically, but if I did it was on a very limited basis at

16 the time.

17 Q In your role immediately prior to the restructuring in 2019, did you have 18 interactions with the executive branch?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Which parts of the executive branch?

21 A Early in -- I don't remember what year. Sometime in the mid-teens, I was

22 doing some work around what we call data-driven innovation, where there -- we were

23 working with the Census Bureau and other data owners within the government in relation

24 to just sort of best practices for data, to make data publicly available.

25 Q Besides the set of interactions with the Census Bureau, did you have other

1 interactions with the executive branch during your time with Google pre-restructuring?
2 A Not that I can recall. It was quite a long time ago.
3 Q During your time prior to the restructuring, did you receive any briefings or 4 have the opportunity to have meetings with or any involvement with YouTube's
5 community guidelines or content moderation policies?
6 A Because we had team members who were responsible for covering YouTube,
7 I generally did not have any direct interaction with the Trust and Safety teams.
8 Q So at some point in 2019, there's a restructuring and you joined YouTube's, it
9 sounds like, newly created Public Policy team. Is that correct?
10 A That's correct. I would characterize it as there were people who covered 11 YouTube from a public policy perspective prior to the restructuring, and 2019 was the 12 formation of the sort of more formal team that we have today.
13 Q Once the team is restructured, what is the structure of the team? Is there
14 a VP in charge? How is that team set up?
15 A Yes. There's a VP in charge.
16 Q Who was the individual in charge of the YouTube Public Policy team
17 immediately following the restructuring?
18 A [redacted].
19 Q And how did you end up with the YouTube Public Policy team?
20 A Do you mean what was the process through which I moved into that role?
21 Q Sure. We'll start there and then --
22 A Sure. We at Google have -- one of the things that's important is internal 23 mobility. And so there was an open role available, and I applied for the open role and I
24 moved into the open role.
25 Q By the end of 2019 or thereabouts, how big was YouTube's Public Policy

1 team?

2 A I don't recall. It was certainly smaller than 10 people, but I don't recall

3 exact numbers.

4 Q And how big is it today?

5 A I also don't know what the total number is. We now have a team that has

6 people who are responsible for local government engagement and relationship

7 management in all of the major regions, as well as a sort of centralized team. I don't

8 want to give you an inaccurate number, but I believe it's more than 20 at this point.

9 Q So following the restructuring, what was your first position with YouTube?

10 A I was a manager of Public Policy.

11 Q And how many people reported to you in that role?

12 A I don't think anybody.

13 Q What were your responsibilities in that first role with YouTube?

14 A So I -- very similar to my previous position at Google, my role is global in 15 nature. And so I -- you know, we were building up a team at the time, so I covered

16 anything that really needed to be covered from a sort of central and internal-facing

17 perspective.

18 Q Did you have any interactions with the executive branch?

19 A What time period?

20 Q In your first role with YouTube.

21 A So my role hasn't really changed. It's effectively the same, just with kind of 22 different titles. So are you asking the question generally in my role at YouTube, given

23 that?

24 Q Sure. Happy to rephrase it.

25 During your time at YouTube, have you had interactions with the executive

1 branch?

2 A Yes, I have.

3 Q Which parts of the executive branch?

4 A I meet with a range of stakeholders from governments around the world,

5 and so I can't recall really more than a handful of examples.

6 Q Which examples can you recall?

7 A So in the early 2021 time period, I remember and based on review of

8 information for this interview, a couple of meetings, one that I remember clearly, one

9 that on the record happened that I don't remember, with a group of representatives from 10 the White House Digital Strategy Office.

11 Q Which meeting do you remember clearly?

12 A I don't remember which one. The record shows that there were two, and I

13 don't know which was which.

14 Q Okay. With the understanding you don't know which is which based off the 15 documents, for the meeting that you remember, what do you remember about it?

16 A I remember that we were giving a briefing, which was very similar to

17 briefings that we gave any stakeholder from governments anywhere, about YouTube's

18 four Rs in relation to COVID.

19 Q What were the four Rs?

20 A So the four Rs is the responsibility framework that YouTube uses.

21 Q To your recollection, who from the company attended that meeting?

22 A The individuals I remember from the company being there for sure were 23 [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted].

24 Q And who from the government attended?

25 A I only remember Rob Flaherty attending. I don't remember any other

1 representatives.

2 Q Was this an in-person meeting or did it occur over videoconference?

3 A It was 2021, so everything we were doing at the time was over

4 videoconference.

5 Q Do you recall how long the meeting lasted?

6 A No.

7 Q Who from the company participated in actually giving the briefing?

8 A As I said, I don't remember who was in the meeting. What I can tell you is

9 from reviewing the presentations that we gave, [redacted] myself, and at least one other

10 individual were the actual speakers in the meeting on behalf of the product areas.

11 Q Either based off your review in preparation for this interview or based off

12 your memory, do you know which portions of the briefing you would have been

13 responsible for?

14 A I would've been responsible for the ones that are -- some of the ones that 15 are specific to YouTube.

16 Q Do you recall which ones?

17 A I recall a few slides that my name is in the speaker notes on, so I was 18 responsible for those.

19 Q Do you have any memory other than having reviewed the speaker notes?

20 A I don't. Again, this was pretty much a standard briefing that we were giving 21 in various forms for various government stakeholders around the world.

22 Q Who requested -- who from the company requested that you attend this

23 briefing?

24 A My colleague [redacted]

25 Q And to your recollection, what was the context of why there was going to be

1 a briefing?

2 A Again, it wasn't unusual for there to be a request for a briefing on the 3 responsibility work, the four Rs framework, in relation to COVID at the time.

4 Q Were you aware of any individuals from the company having interactions

5 with the White House prior to [redacted] requesting that you attend a briefing?

6 A In my experience with the Public Policy team over the course of 12 years, it

7 is not unusual for our team in D.C. to have communication with external government

8 stakeholders, including the White House.

9 Q So understanding the kind of broader context of the normal course of 10 events, do you have any recollection specifically here in advance of the White House

11 meeting of 2021 whether you were aware going into that about the nature of 12 communications between the folks in D.C. from the company and the White House?

13 A I was aware, once I was asked to join this meeting, that this was the topic of 14 the briefing. I wasn't privy to other -- or I at least don't recall any other communication

15 between the White House and our teams that I was directly involved in in any way.

16 Q To your understanding, who from the company was primarily interfacing

17 with the White House during this time?

18 A So that would be our administration team in the Google Public Policy team's 19 administration team based here in Washington, D.C.

20 Q And at this -- you know, during 2021, to your understanding, who -- which 21 individuals would that have been?

22 A For Google, it would have been [redacted], who was the -- oversaw

23 that team; and then [redacted] who was part of her team. Beyond that, I can't recall who else

24 was part of [redacted] team.

25 Q Independent of this White House meeting, how frequently were you

1 interacting with [redacted] in 2021, let's say?

2 A I'm not really sure. I interacted more frequently with [redacted] on my team

3 and, you know, occasionally had emails from [redacted] but I -- or [redacted] but I couldn't with any

4 certainty even give you a ballpark of how often I interacted with her.

5 Again, we were all sort of living our lives digitally, and everything is a little bit of an

6 information blur.

7 Q To the best of your recollection, how frequently were you interacting with 8 [redacted] in 2021?

9 A Frequently.

10 Q Would that mean daily or weekly?

11 A At least weekly.

12 Q Within the YouTube Public Policy team, where did your roles fit in relation to 13 one another?

14 A Would it help if I just kind of lay out the overview of the team structure for 15 you?

16 Q That would be very helpful.

17 A Okay. So the way that our team is structured is that we have two 18 internal-focused teams, and then we have three main regional teams whose primary

19 responsibility is to be external-facing. And then we also have a third team that partners

20 with our marketing teams.

21 So the two internal-facing teams, my team is the product policy team, and then

22 we also have a business policy team.

23 The external-facing teams are the Americas team, which includes, at the time,

24 [redacted] and the others in D.C., as well as Brazil, Canada. We also have a European team,

25 people in London, people in Brussels, people in France, Germany. And they cover the 1 breadth of Europe and as well as northern Africa and the Middle East.

2 And then we have an APAC team, and they cover the Asia Pacific region. So

3 they're responsible -- we have some folks in certain countries. We have others based in 4 Singapore.

5 So they're responsible for the direct engagement and relationship management

6 with stakeholders in their countries in their regions.

7 The internal-facing teams then, we are -- I've often described my role as being an

8 interpreter. So my job is to kind of explain in layman's terms how things work and how

9 sort of, you know, products work, for my colleagues to engage with stakeholders

10 externally. Occasionally, I'm asked to join briefings because I can just give a bit of a

11 deeper dive. In addition, I do an extraordinary amount of legislative analysis and work

12 with our legal teams to identify red lines and amendment language.

13 And then the final piece of it is kind of interpreting the public policy landscape

14 back for our product folks. So, for example, compiling a sort of assessment of trends

15 globally related to a specific public policy issue area where there is movement in the 16 legislative landscape.

17 Q Within the internal team that you were part of and still are part of, the 18 product policy team, who is the head of that team?

19 A It's currently -- our director is [redacted].

20 Q And how long has [redacted] been in that role for?

21 A [redacted] joined -- what year is this? 2024. [redacted] joined in January of 2023, I

22 believe.

23 Q And who had that role prior to her joining?

24 A Prior to her joining, I was sort of the interim team lead. And that was from,

25 I want to say, 20 -- at some point in 2020, I took over that interim role, and I think it was

1 probably around March or May. But I honestly don't remember the dates. It was a lot
2 longer than it was meant to be.
3 Q And when you were in that interim role, who did you report to?
4 A I reported to [redacted].
5 Q And is that who [redacted] now reports to?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And so you mentioned one of your responsibilities is serving as an 8 interpreter. Just to clarify my understanding of what you're saying, so sometimes you'd 9 be briefing, say, [redacted] or someone else from the D.C. office, and other times you
10 might be briefing a representative from the government, whoever it was that was in need
11 of a briefing. Is that right?
12 A That's right.
13 Q Which team within YouTube is responsible for developing YouTube's
14 community guidelines?
15 A That would be our Trust and Safety team.
16 Q And how frequently do you interact with the Trust and Safety team as part 17 of your role at YouTube?
18 A Because my role is an internal-facing one, it's not unusual for me to interact
19 with members of the Trust and Safety team generally on at least a weekly basis.
20 Q Who is the head of YouTube's Trust and Safety team?
21 A The Trust and Safety team broadly has two VPs.
22 Q Who are the two VPs?
23 A So [redacted] is the VP who's responsible for policies and enforcement.
24 And then [redacted], her team handles more of the technical and 25 product-related aspects, such as user flagging flows.

1 Q Has the frequency with which you interact with YouTube's Trust and Safety
2 team changed from your current role as opposed to when you were the interim head of
3 the Public Policy team?
4 A No. And just to clarify, it was interim head of the product policy team, not
5 the general public policy team.
6 Q I'm sorry.
7 So from time to time, YouTube's community guidelines are updated in advance of 8 a change to YouTube's community guidelines.
9 Let me take one step back. What is your understanding of the company's 10 internal process? What initiates the consideration of changing the company's content
11 moderation policies?
12 A YouTube's teams are always evaluating the policy lines to see if there is 13 any -- you know, if there are any gaps, for example, between harmful content emerging
14 on the platform and where those policy lines are. And so it's not a sort of -- it's not a 15 kind of stop and start thing. It's always -- there's always kind of work underway to make 16 sure the lines are in the right place.
17 Q Once there's a situation where a gap is identified, to your understanding,
18 what's the next step in the process?
19 A My understanding, and this is in large part based on a -- the way that we 20 have -- the information that we've made publicly available about this process, is that the 21 teams will compile examples of content on the platform, because, again, we're making
22 policies for content on YouTube, and so basing those on content on YouTube is a critical 23 piece of the assessment process.
24 Q And when you say teams, which teams are you referring to?
25 A You mean the teams that compile the examples?

1 Q Yes.
2 A That would be within our Trust and Safety team.
3 Q Do you know which teams within the Trust and Safety team are responsible
4 for compiling the examples?
5 A I think -- I don't want to speak without certainty, so I believe it's a
6 collaborative effort across different parts of Trust and Safety, but I'm not 100 percent
7 certain. I think it might depend on the circumstances of the policy.
8 Q At this point in the process of collecting examples, are you involved at all?
9 A Do I help collect examples?
10 Q Yes.
11 A No.
12 Q At what point are you made aware of -- let's take one step back to the 13 previous step. If a gap is identified and the team is starting to collect examples, are you 14 made aware of that?
15 A Occasionally, I may be.
16 Q Are there any policy changes you can recall where you were made aware of 17 when a gap was first identified?
18 A I don't recall. I think there's a -- sort of a difference between when the gap 19 was first identified and kind of during the process where they've started to look at the 20 examples and think through where the gap is and how to address it.
21 Q Once the YouTube Trust and Safety team starts to collect examples, what is 22 the next step in the process, to your understanding?
23 A So my understanding is that they kind of look at the existing community
24 guidelines, and then they begin to iterate on ways to reconstruct them and how that 25 would impact different types of content related to the community guidelines.

1 Q Do you know which teams within YouTube Trust and Safety have 2 responsibility for taking the first attempt at reassessing or redrafting some of the 3 guidelines?
4 A Yes.
5 Q Which team?
6 A That would be our policy development team within Trust and Safety.
7 Q And who leads that team?
8 A That team's director is [redacted].
9 Q As [redacted] team is working on this, are you participating in this 10 reassessment or revision of the guidelines?
11 A It depends. Occasionally -- I don't -- my team is not responsible for the 12 redrafting, but we may be consulted in a way of sort of, you know, where we are asked to 13 ask questions, or basically, you know, make sure that -- I mean, honestly, some of it is just 14 to make sure it makes sense and get a sense from different parties, not just GAPP -- which 15 is the acronym used for the Public Policy team, sorry -- kind of the, you know, how will 16 creators interpret and be able to understand this.
17 You know, the -- my understanding is that the trust and safety process is quite 18 rigorous in making sure that they are really doing due diligence across a number of 19 different entities.
20 Q Is there an assessment of whether certain policy changes will harm how 21 certain creators make money off the platform?
22 Mr. Bopp. You mean generally --
23 [redacted] Just generally.
24 Mr. Bopp. -- do they do assessments?
25 [redacted] Yeah.

1 [redacted]. One important distinction to make is that the community
2 guidelines are not monetization policies. So they have nothing to do with how creators
3 would make money on the platform.
4 [redacted] Can you say a bit more about the difference between the 5 monetization policies and the community guidelines policies?
6 [redacted]. Sure. So the community guidelines that YouTube publishes are 7 the policies that govern whether content would be removed or remain on the platform or 8 in other cases potentially be age-gated or put behind some kind of a warning interstitial.
9 For example, graphic violence content from a war zone is something that might be 10 put behind a warning interstitial, but because of the kind of documentary and historical 11 value, it would -- it might be allowed to remain on the platform.
12 The policies that govern monetization are called the advertiser-friendly guidelines.
13 And those are -- if something violates the community guidelines, it's removed. If 14 something -- or age-gated, as it were. The monetization policies are a completely 15 different set of policies.
16 [redacted] And who's responsible for developing those policies?
17 [redacted]. There is -- I'm not sure who is actually the lead for that team.
18 They are -- there's overlap, I believe or understand, overlap between the ads policies for 19 Google broadly and then the advertiser-friendly guidelines for YouTube.
20 [redacted] I'm sorry. You're saying advertiser-friendly guidelines, is that the 21 word?
22 [redacted]. Advertiser-friendly guidelines, yes. And you can find them in the 23 Help Center. They're publicly available.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q So is there a -- actually, let me take one step back.

1 Take GAPP, for instance. Is there -- is the YouTube GAPP team within the
2 broader Google GAPP team or are these two separate teams with two separate reporting
3 structures within Alphabet?
4 A We are part of the broader Google GAPP team.
5 Q And then in the trust and safety context, is there a separate YouTube trust
6 and safety from the rest of Google's Trust and Safety teams or is YouTube subsumed
7 within Google's Trust and Safety team?
8 A I believe that YouTube is separate, but I'm not certain what the relationship
9 might be with the leadership on the Google T&S side.
10 Q And then for the advertiser-friendly guidelines, whichever team is in charge
11 of that, to your understanding, is the structure that it's within the broader Google ads
12 team or is it akin to YouTube's Trust and Safety, where it's in its own separate silo, to your
13 understanding?
14 A So my understanding is that it's more of they sit within the Google ads
15 structure, but I'm also not 100 percent certain how that's all organized. So I don't want
16 to -- I can't say with certainty.
17 Q Do you have familiarity with how revisions are made or changes are made to 18 the advertiser-friendly guidelines?
19 A They have a very similar process, but I haven't -- I'm not as familiar with their 20 process.
21 Q Who within the YouTube Public Policy team would have the most familiarity
22 with that process?
23 A Oh, I don't know.
24 Q Do you have a point of contact with the advertiser from that team?
25 A Yes. There's a -- there's a -- somebody who -- I don't know if he's the lead,

1 but yes.

2 Q What's his name?

3 A [redacted].

4 Q Has there been a situation where there's a change being considered for the

5 community guidelines that will lead to an increase in removals such that there could be a

6 material impact on how certain creators make money off the platform?

7 Another way of asking that is, absent any change to the advertiser-friendly

8 guidelines, a change just in the community guidelines, are you aware of any situations

9 where that type of change leads to the ability of certain accounts to make money off the 10 platform?

11 Mr. Bopp. Just so I understand, you're saying -- you're asking whether a change

12 to the community guidelines could lead to an advertiser making more money on the 13 platform?

14 [redacted] Asking more from the creator's perspective. So I certainly can

15 appreciate that if there's a change to the advertiser-friendly guidelines, that could affect

16 monetization. But if there's a change to the community guidelines and a YouTube video

17 is being removed -- and this is just maybe my own ignorance on it -- but doesn't that

18 almost preempt, for lack of a better word, any opportunity to monetize the video if it's 19 been removed?

20 [redacted]. If a video is removed, it can't be monetized.

21 [redacted] So turning back to where we were a few minutes earlier about a

22 number of teams, GAPP, others are being, you know, brought in to consult on changes to

23 the community guidelines, are there any teams, is there any discussion about the impact

24 to creators who use the platform to make money?

25 Mr. Bopp. I'm sorry. I'm not -- just the impact of what on creators?

1 [redacted] The impact of changes to the community guidelines affecting their
2 ability to make money off the platform.
3 Mr. Bopp. Okay. Do you understand the question?
4 [redacted]. I think I understand the question.
5 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
6 [redacted]. What I can tell you is that the evaluation of -- the team's work in 7 evaluating content when community guidelines are changed is really about the impact on
8 content.
9 The monetization considerations are not kind of -- that is -- again, it's really -- the 10 focus on changing the policies and tweaking the policies when they do it is about 11 removing content from the platform and safety and responsibility.
12 So I'm not aware of analysis of how CGs impact monetization, because, again, the 13 community guidelines are about safety and responsibility when it comes to 14 people's -- users finding or being exposed to certain types of content, versus the 15 monetization policies are their own thing.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Do you recall examples of changes to the community guidelines? Were you
18 individually or one of the GAPP members to consult on the change?
19 A I don't. What I often do is get briefed or a heads-up early on in the process
20 so that I can begin to prepare our materials for the Public Policy team to be able to 21 understand and explain any substantial changes or updates.
22 Q How long is the typical timeline from when you first get that notification of 23 some sort to when the policy takes effect?
24 A As I've sort of explained, the process through which our Trust and Safety 25 teams undertakes these reviews and updates is quite rigorous and robust, and so there's

1 no set timeline from start to finish.

2 Q For examples you do recall, do you have a sense? Are we talking months?

3 Are we talking a couple weeks?

4 A I don't recall a specific example.

5 Q There's this evaluation phase where members of the GAPP have the

6 opportunity to or may be asked to consult and provide feedback or ask questions. What

7 is the next step in the process, based off your understanding?

8 A So one thing I want to also clarify is that, again, GAPP is not the only group

9 that might be consulted or read in or have the policies explained. So I just want to make

10 sure that that's clear.

11 In terms of next steps after that, as I've said, it's a pretty robust process. I

12 believe I mentioned that they, you know, are looking at the language. And then from

13 there, I -- it's a matter of kind of testing them, understanding how well they can be

14 understood, interpreted, enforced. And then they go through kind of a process of 15 approvals before the Trust and Safety team prepares for the stages of launch.

16 Q Besides the GAPP team, which other teams may be asked to ask questions or 17 consult?

18 A Our PR and comms teams. Our creator teams. I mean, pretty much every

19 cross-functional stakeholder, and legal is also involved. I'm sorry that I can't give you

20 kind of a full list of all of the different cross-functional stakeholders. I don't know all the 21 departments and orgs.

22 Q As different teams are consulting and providing their thoughts, then one of 23 the next steps, to your understanding, is the proposal is tested. To your understanding,

24 how does that testing take place?

25 A I don't recall the specifics. What I would say is that anything that I could

1 explain is outlined in a blog post that the teams -- that YouTube published like a year and 2 a half ago that outlines the process.
3 Q Since you've joined YouTube, to your understanding, has this process
4 changed?
5 A Not to my knowledge and not in my experience.
6 Q To your understanding, the team responsible for testing the proposed 7 change, is that the same team that was conducting the evaluation or is that handed off to 8 different teams as it goes through the process?
9 A Again, I'm not sure sort of the different -- the nuances of who does what in 10 which part of Trust and Safety at that point.
11 Q Okay. To your understanding, it's all within the Trust and Safety umbrella?
12 A Yes.
13 Q To your understanding, what is the approvals process?
14 A There are a number of executives and other stakeholders who review, ask
15 questions, and then ultimately sign off and approve.
16 Q Which executives?
17 A The VPs of Trust and Safety who I mentioned previously, and then also our
18 CEO.
19 Q The CEO of YouTube or CEO of Alphabet?
20 A YouTube.
21 Q To your understanding, is this true no matter how major or minor the 22 change is to the community guidelines?
23 A That's my understanding, yes.
24 Q Do you know how the proposal is delivered to the executives, whether it's a 25 briefing or a written work product?

1 A They do briefings.

2 Q To your understanding, who attends those briefings?

3 A A number of the cross-functional stakeholders that I've referenced, as well

4 as the VPs.

5 Q Who from the Public Policy team, if anyone, attends?

6 A It depends on who's available, so generally it would be Lisa or Leslie.

7 Q Have you ever attended one of these briefings?

8 A Yes.

9 Q How many times?

10 A Oh, I don't know.

11 Q Fewer than five?

12 A More than five.

13 Q Do you recall any examples of which parts of the guidelines were being 14 changed for the briefings you attended?

15 A I can remember one clear example.

16 Q Which example is that?

17 A The policy change was related to minors in sort of risky situations. So, for 18 example, videos of -- I don't remember the full details, but, you know, videos of girls

19 doing gymnastics.

20 Q To your recollection, what was the change that was made?

21 A I don't remember.

22 Q In the briefings you have attended, generally, what's the process? How do

23 those meetings play out?

24 A It's effectively what I outlined for you already.

25 Q There's a briefing on the change, the CEO has the opportunity to ask

1 questions?

2 A It's a briefing on the change, and everybody attending has the opportunity to

3 ask questions.

4 Q At the end of the meeting, is there a decision made about whether to 5 approve the change?

6 A Sometimes. Sometimes there's a decision made to do more work.

7 Q Is it one briefing with the executives and the CEO, or is there a briefing first

8 to some of the executives before it's elevated to the CEO?

9 A It's not -- I wouldn't say it's a particularly linear process. So things might go

10 through rounds of review at all different levels before it ultimately goes into final

11 approval.

12 Q Do you recall any community guideline changes that were under 13 consideration where the CEO asked for more work to be done?

14 Mr. Halse. [redacted] I think we're getting close to some privileged communications.

15 I think the process questions have been fine, but the more specific you get the closer we 16 get. And there are lawyers in all these meetings.

17 So just if -- [redacted], if you can just think of that and try to apply that filter,

18 that would be really helpful.

19 [redacted] Are you aware of instances where the CEO asked for more work to be 20 done before approving a policy change?

21 Mr. Halse. I think that if [redacted] recalls specifics, [redacted] I think that would be 22 covered by the privilege.

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q Without getting into specifics, are you aware of instances, just broadly?

25 A Not that I can recall specifically.

1 Q How long do these briefings typically last?
2 A Again, it depends. Anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour.
3 Q Have you ever presented in one of these briefings?
4 A I can't recall a specific time where I presented.
5 Q In the briefings that you've attended, based off your recollection, how many 6 folks from Trust and Safety would attend?
7 A I don't know.
8 Q Is it just the two VPs or do they bring in more folks?
9 A Because this is a Trust and Safety-led briefing, they often have any number
10 of attendees from the Trust and Safety organization present.
11 Q In one of these briefings where there's a consideration of a change to the 12 community guidelines that the CEO and other executives are attending, are there 13 multiple items on the agenda or is the meeting being called specifically to consider and 14 have the chance to evaluate a change to the community guidelines?
15 A Again, it depends.
16 Q Are you aware of instances of both, where sometimes it was just the change 17 to the community guidelines being considered and times where it was just one item of 18 them -- several on the agenda?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Do these briefings tend to occur in person, over some type of 21 videoconference?
22 A Because we have a hybrid work model and people are distributed in 23 different locations, including in different buildings in the same city, it's -- there's 24 all -- some people are in person, some people are on video.
25 Q To your understanding, is there someone taking notes during these

1 meetings?

2 A I don't know.

3 Q Have you ever seen or been provided a readout from one of these briefings?

4 A There is usually a privileged summary of decisions that might've been made.

5 Q Once the CEO and the executives -- actually, let me take one step back.

6 To your understanding, what is necessary for the approval to take place? Does

7 there have to be -- does there have to be a unanimous decision among the executives?

8 A I am not -- I'm not really sure. It's not -- in my experience, it hasn't been a

9 sort of like unanimous consensus. I think there are often -- you know, again, because

10 there are different cross-functional stakeholders involved, you know, different folks might

11 have objections to certain elements or pieces or -- so I can't really -- that's a question I

12 can't really answer.

13 Q Who is the ultimate decision-maker then about whether a change to the 14 community guidelines is approved and will be carried out?

15 A Ultimately, Neal Mohan, the CEO.

16 Q You had mentioned too that there's the opportunity for executives and also

17 stakeholders to be part of the approvals process. Who did you mean by stakeholders?

18 A As I referenced earlier, you know, working members of the creator teams of 19 our, you know, civic engagement teams, of partnerships teams, of -- I mean, you name it,

20 there's -- it is PR, comms, just to give you some examples. I don't have a full list for you.

1 [11:06 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And I understand it's not an exhausted list. When you're referring to these

4 briefings, they have both the stakeholder and the executives in the same briefing. Is

5 that right?

6 A In my experience, yes.

7 Q Once the decision' been made to approve a change to the community

8 guidelines, how long is the gap from that decision until the policy change is publicly

9 announced?

10 A Again, there's no set timeline.

11 Q In your experience, approximately how long has it been?

12 A It really -- it ranges. It depends.

13 Q Okay. What's the fastest you've seen?

14 A Several weeks, I think. But, again, that's what I can sort of recall from 15 recent updates. But it could also take as long as several months, which I have also seen

16 from recent updates.

17 Q To your understanding, what is happening in that interim period from when 18 a policy's been approved until it's publicly announced?

19 A This is, again, where the -- I think the way that this was described in the blog

20 post would be a helpful reference. There is work to be done.

21 Again, these policies are global. And I think that's a really important thing to 22 emphasize here, especially as we get into this area of the development process.

23 And so the enforcement teams need to ensure that the policies can be

24 consistently applied; that the guidelines can be interpreted by content moderators

25 around the world in all languages in which YouTube operates, so that there is a level of 1 consistency in the way that the policy is applied to all contents on the platform.

2 Q How is this step different than the testing step prior to the potential policy

3 change being elevated to the executives?

4 A This is a matter of understanding scaled enforcement. Again, YouTube

5 needs to ensure that those policies can be consistently applied globally. And so they

6 need to do testing with the content moderation workforce to make sure that these

7 policies can indeed be applied consistently.

8 Q Are you aware of instances where the CEO approved a change to the 9 community guidelines, but then, in an effort to see whether it could be -- you could have

10 scaled enforcement of that policy change, it was determined that it's not possible, or that

11 certain changes had to be made?

12 A I have not experienced any of -- I have not been involved or experienced

13 that.

14 Q How long is the gap typically from when a policy has been publicly

15 announced, and then the date that actually takes effect?

16 A Again, that -- it's not a fixed -- it's not a fixed time period. What I can tell

17 you is that there are times when the public announcement will be made. The teams at

18 YouTube will begin enforcing, and they will announce along with that that there is a 19 30-day grace period for during which content will be removed.

20 But because it's a new policy and the teams want to give creators time to get used

21 to those new policies, they will not issue penalties for those removals.

22 But that's just one example to give you a sense of how the timeline might vary.

23 Q Can we go off the record, please?

24 [Discussion off the record.]

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q We are back on the record. Thank you, [redacted]. You have worked at 2 Google since 2011, I believe, you said?
3 A Yes, I believe that's right.
4 Q And in your entire time at the company, have you always been on a public
5 policy team?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And in your current role as a senior manager on YouTube's Government
8 Affairs and Public Policy Team, are you personally involved in making content moderation
9 decisions?
10 A I am not.
11 Q And do you engage in fact-checking?
12 A I do not.
13 Q And I understand from your previous testimony that you are sometimes
14 consulted about policy changes. But are you responsible for drafting content
15 moderation policies at Google or YouTube?
16 A No.
17 Q Okay. And none of the content -- or none of the community guidelines, for 18 example, you are not involved in drafting the community guidelines?
19 A I am not. No, I am not.
20 Q And in your prior roles at Google, did you conduct any content moderation?
21 A No, content moderation has not been part of any of my roles at the
22 company.
23 Q Thank you. And has drafting community guidelines been part of your role
24 at the company?
25 A No, as I explained to your colleague, the drafting of community guidelines is

1 the responsibility of the trust and safety teams.

2 Q And because you have not been on the trust and safety teams, you have

3 never played a role in deciding what content or whether a particular content is removed

4 from the platform or not?

5 A Correct.

6 Q Okay. Thank you. Now, you talked about the way the YouTube public

7 policy team is structured. And I believe you said that there are two internal facing

8 teams and three external facing teams, correct?

9 A That's correct.

10 Q And the external facing teams, it's a core part of their function to interface

11 with government in the regions of the world that the team is responsible for, correct?

12 A Correct.

13 Q And so, for the America's team, it's a primary function of the members of 14 this team to interface with various individuals and agencies in the U.S. Government?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Now, you've worked at Google during three Presidential administrations,

17 correct? It took me a minute to get there, too. So take your time.

18 Mr. Bopp. I think so.

19 [redacted]. I think that's right.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q We will all have to double-check for a sec, but I think that's correct. It's the

22 Obama administration when you started --

23 A Correct.

24 Q -- the Trump administration, and now the Biden administration?

25 A I think that's right.

1 Q And Google has had public policy teams or sub teams within its public policy
2 team whose function it was to interact with U.S. Government officials during all three of 3 those Presidential administrations, correct?
4 A That's correct, yes.
5 Q And the members of those teams do their job, engage in those interactions
6 without respect to the political affiliation of the administration that's empowering at any 7 one time. Is that fair to say?
8 A I believe that's fair to say.
9 Q And would you say that their work is nonpartisan?
10 A Their work is not partisan. The team that's responsible for interfacing and 11 interacting with the administration, interfaces and interacts with the administration
12 regardless of the political alignment of whoever's in the administration.
13 Q And you mentioned several times that your work at Google, and now at 14 YouTube, is global, correct?
15 A That is correct.
16 Q And you mentioned of the three teams, two of those teams are interfacing
17 with governments throughout the world and not the U.S. Government, correct?
18 A That's correct. And on the YouTube team, I'd also add that the team that 19 interfaces with the U.S. Government also interface with non-U.S. Governments as well as 20 because broadly the Americas team.
21 Q So of the YouTube, all the different members of the YouTube Government
22 Affairs and Public Policy Team, how much -- and I don't expect you to put a number on 23 it -- but if you could just describe what portion of the work is devoted interfacing with the 24 U.S. Government versus other governments and other issues that you deal with?
25 A I can't -- I can't really speak for other colleagues, and even give a ballpark.

1 What I can tell you is in my experience, when I am receiving incoming from global
2 colleagues, when I'm, you know, asked to occasionally join a meeting, it's really all over
3 the board. And so, I see -- you know, my experience has been that, you know,
4 U.S.-based engagements are as, if not less frequent than some of the international 5 engagements writ large.
6 Q You know, even though you are not responsible for drafting YouTube's
7 community guidelines, I imagine you have just a basic level of understanding of those 8 guidelines, correct?
9 A Yes, I do my best. That's the piece of my role.
10 Q And those guidelines are published and publicly available for users to see?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And YouTube has -- at least as long as you've been at Google -- there have 13 always been community guidelines that outline what type of content is prohibited on 14 Google's platform, and not YouTube in particular?
15 A As long as I've been at Google, yes, I believe that YouTube has always had 16 community guidelines. But also let me rephrase that a little bit.
17 Q Sure.
18 A As long as YouTube has been around, YouTube has always had some type of 19 policies related to content.
20 Q Thank you. I was about to ask whether that was something that you had 21 knowledge of. And those policies prevent harmful content on the platform, such as hate
22 speech, nudity, child sexual abuse material, that type of content, correct?
23 A Correct, as they are today.
24 Q And YouTube also has policies against misinformation, correct?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And YouTube's community guidelines prohibit misleading or deceptive
2 content that poses a serious risk of egregious harm. Is that correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And --
5 A Sorry, if I could be -- if I can provide a little bit more specific -- that line you
6 just read, it's kind of the broad explanation of what types of content the misinformation
7 policies generally seek to address. The specifics then are laid out in the individual
8 policies that are listed below on that page.
9 Q And what are some of those individual policies?
10 A We have a policy that prohibits voter suppression, for example. So content
11 that might interfere with people's ability to go out -- for example, telling people that, you
12 know, their polling day is Wednesday when it's actually a Tuesday.
13 We also have a policy around manipulated media where if content -- I'm actually 14 not going to try to say the policy -- but there is effectively a deepfake policy in that list of 15 misinformation policies as well. So just to give you a couple of examples.
16 Q That list of misinformation policy falls under this largest, this larger umbrella,
17 I believe, that's way you explained it. My term -- but my interpretation of what you said
18 of the misleading or deceptive content that poses a serious risk of egregious harm. Is 19 that fair to say that those are all sub policies under that umbrella?
20 A I would say that an umbrella is more of a description of the general type of 21 content, and the individual policies are what actually determine and explain what specific 22 content that broader thing is talking about.
23 Q Thank you that was much more articulate. Why, to the extent that you
24 have an understanding, does YouTube prohibit that type of content that creates a serious
25 risk of egregious harm?

1 A My understanding is that the company is -- again, this is consistent with the 2 work that the company more broadly does to try to limit the user's exposure to and the 3 availability of harmful content on the platform.
4 Q And does YouTube do this solely to protect its users, or is there also a
5 business interest in prohibiting that type of content on the platform?
6 A In general, YouTube really is focused on safety and responsibility. That 7 said, it is a platform where, you know, creators make money based on advertisers and 8 advertisements.
9 And so, some of the policies -- you know, advertisers, in general, also don't want
10 their content running next to, for example, egregious hate speech.
11 But the primary role of these policies is, as I said, was to make our platform, make 12 YouTube as a platform a place where people aren't exposed to harmful content as much
13 as possible.
14 Q Now going back to YouTube's misinformation policy, YouTube has prohibited
15 medical misinformation on its platform since well before the Biden administration. Is 16 that correct?
17 A Certain types, yes.
18 Q Okay. And when the COVID-19 pandemic arose, did YouTube implement
19 specific policies prohibiting COVID-19 misinformation?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And do you recall when that happened?
22 A I believe the first COVID misinfo policies were published as early as 23 mid-2020, but I'm not certain. I had a small child at home while I was working, so that 24 whole period of time is not clear.
25 Q Fair enough. I think many of us share that.

1 A But certainly in 2020.

2 Q And again, to the extent that you can say why did YouTube decide to

3 implement a COVID misinformation policy?

4 A So YouTube, I believe talked bit about this publicly as well. This was a

5 global pandemic. There were claims surfacing in content on YouTube that the policy

6 development teams had in consultation with, you know, medical experts, felt it was

7 appropriate to put policies in place to not have that content on the platform.

8 Q And so, those policies were developed with the input of medical experts at 9 Google?

10 A My understanding is that they were developed with medical experts both

11 within and outside of Google.

12 Q Thank you for that clarification. And in October 2020, YouTube updated its 13 COVID-19 misinformation policy to include the prohibition on content making certain

14 claims related to the COVID vaccine. Is that correct?

15 A I believe that is correct. I would have to confirm the timing, but I do

16 believe that we added some vaccine-related -- that YouTube added some vaccine-related

17 claims to the prior misinfo policy.

18 Q Would it refresh your memory to look at some notes on a slide deck that 19 YouTube prepared where you described that timeline?

20 A Yes. I will.

21 Q If I could have the complete slide deck.

22 A Thank you.

23 Q It might take me a minute to find where this is.

24 Mr. Bopp. Can we get copies, please?

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q If you look at -- I will direct your attention, specifically, to Bates No. 70642.
2 Okay.
3 Now, first of all, this slide deck, if you look at the front pages from February 25th,
4 2021. Is that correct?
5 A Yes, that's correct.
6 Q And does this slide refresh your memory about when YouTube updated its 7 COVID-19 misinformation policy to include certain content-related containing claims
8 related to a COVID-19 vaccine?
9 A Yes, that would have been October of 2020 then.
10 Q Okay. And that was when Donald Trump was President of the United 11 States, correct?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And if you look at the next page, which are notes on that slide, it states that,
14 "Our teams have removed 800,000" -- and then there's -- in parentheses "(for closed door 15 meetings only) videos related to dangerous or misleading COVID-19 medical 16 information." Did I read that correctly?
17 A Yes.
18 Q And to the best of your recollection, is that an accurate figure?
19 A I didn't -- I wasn't responsible for the figures. What I can say is that this 20 figure was validated by teams and provided to me for use in global closed-door meetings.
21 Q And given that this slide deck was prepared in February of 2021, and 22 President Biden had only been in office for about a month at that point, is it fair to 23 assume that many of those 800,000 videos were removed during the Trump
24 administration?
25 A If this stack was in this deck in February of 2021, then that is probably

1 accurate, but I can't say with certainty.

2 Q Can I have just a minute?

3 A Sorry, if I can also add one note?

4 Q Please do.

5 A Again, this is a global statistic. So this wasn't just U.S.-based removals.

6 This was removals around the world in any country where YouTube operates.

7 Q Thank you. And this slide deck is one -- I believe you just said that you

8 would use in any global closed-door meetings, correct?

9 A The information is, yes.

10 Q The information, okay. And is this typical of the type of briefing that 11 YouTube would give to external stakeholders, including government officials?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And that would be government officials around the world, not just 14 government officials in the U.S.?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And with that we'll go off the record.

17 [Discussion off the record.]

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q We can go back on the record, please. In the first hour, we talked about

20 how sometimes you would brief, maybe [redacted] other members of GAPP, or other

21 representatives might brief the representatives from the Federal Government. We

22 talked a little bit about one of the White House meetings.

23 During your time at YouTube, so since restructuring, do you recall other instances

24 where you briefed directly Members of the executive branch?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And what are some of the examples that you can recall?
2 A I recall two other briefings. There may have been more, but these are the 3 ones that I can remember. Again, I don't just meet with the U.S. Government officials.
4 So I remember a briefing with -- and I apologize that I don't know where they sit in 5 the broader organization. I briefed members of the White House on an update to 6 reproductive health policy. And I don't recall exactly when that was.
7 And also, because I'm based in the Bay Area, a lot of times government officials
8 will come from around the world to visit and do like a little tour of companies. And so
9 I'm often asked to join those meetings when they come to town.
10 And so -- especially I can think of two specific instances in those circumstances.
11 One of them was with a meeting in Mountain View hosting the NSA, members from the 12 NSA. And the other was in San Francisco where Josh Geltzer from the National Security
13 Council joined Matt Collins from the U.K. Government.
14 Q Starting with the first example you gave, actually I guess first at the outset
15 when you say the discussion was around reproductive health, in what context is it related 16 to what YouTube is handling?
17 A So that was very similar to sort of one of the policy update briefings that I
18 had described earlier where YouTube implemented policy change. And our standard
19 practice when YouTube does that, we often will brief a handful of -- or my -- well, my 20 colleagues will want to brief a handful of government stakeholders. And in some cases,
21 they bring me in talk about it. So that was the nature of that briefing.
22 Q Okay. And at a high level, what were the policy changes that had 23 occurred?
24 A I don't remember the details of the policy change. What I can recall is that 25 it was related to harmful misinformation, or what was deemed to be medically harmful

1 misinformation about ways to -- unauthorized means to get -- to perform an abortion.

2 Q Who from the company attended the meeting?

3 A Myself and one of my colleagues on the YouTube GAPP team based in D.C.

4 Q Do you recall who?

5 A [redacted]

6 Q What's [redacted] last name?

7 A [redacted]

8 Q Was this an in-person meeting?

9 A No, it was over video.

10 Q Anyone besides you and [redacted] in the company?

11 A I don't recall. I don't think so.

12 Q Who from the government attended?

13 A As I said, I don't remember. Like I don't know where people sit, and I don't

14 remember specific names.again, this is a case where my colleagues will set up the

15 briefings, they'll ask me to join and explain something, and then I join and say, "Hello,"

16 and then do the briefing, and that's generally the end of my engagement.

17 Q Do you recall if it was the Trump White House or the Biden White House?

18 A I believe it was the Biden White House.

19 Q Was it soon in time after the meeting you had with Rob Flaherty at the 20 vaccine misinformation, or was this much later?

21 A It was, I believe, at least a year later.

22 Q Who from the company had asked you to attend this meeting?

23 A [redacted]

24 Q And what -- did [redacted] -- brought any additional details or context about the 25 purpose, or what questions may be raised during the meeting?

1 A What I can recall is that related to that policy change, colleagues pull
2 together a list of folks for outreach, and this was one of those meetings. So it was just a
3 standard, get the briefing.
4 Q How long did the meeting last for?
5 A I don't remember.
6 Q Do you recall any questions from the White House staff?
7 A I don't recall.
8 Q Were there other representatives from the U.S. Government where you
9 provided briefing about the changes of the guidelines prior to reproductive health?
10 A Not that I can recall, but it's possible.
11 Q Just taking one step back. At least, based off the examples you have been 12 able to recall since you joined YouTube, it sounds like there haven't been too many 13 instances where you directly are briefing representatives from the U.S. Government.
14 If you had to take a guess as far as the percentage, the fraction, how does that 15 compare to how many times you're briefing say [redacted] or [redacted] or someone else in advance
16 of their meeting with a U.S. Government representative?
17 A I don't want to give an inaccurate estimate. But in the time that I spend 18 briefing and prepping my internal colleagues, not just in the U.S., but again, the global 19 colleague for this sort of thing, significantly outweighs the amount of time that I
20 participated in external briefings both with U.S. officials and global ones.
21 Again, that's because I am generally internal facing. And so I do my best to 22 empower them to be able to share the information that's relevant.
23 Q Do you recall any instances where you were briefing other members within 24 YouTube about the reproductive health changes within the guidelines?
25 A I vaguely recall walking through in a team meeting, but I don't -- and that

1 would have just been the YouTube public policy team.

2 Q Do you recall any discussions with YouTube public policy team about

3 whether HHS or other agencies had questions about the reproductive health policy

4 change to the community guidelines?

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q How about just generally? Do you recall any instances where people from

7 the public policy team came back to you or someone from your team with questions from

8 HHS?

9 A I'm sorry, I don't recall.

10 Q What about CDC?

11 A Not that I can recall.

12 Q Turning to the example you gave about when NSA visited in person, what

13 was your role? What was the extent of your interaction when representatives from NSA

14 were visiting?

15 A I joined in order to facilitate a brief. And by "brief," it was less than has 16 been hour, if I can recall, session, specifically, on YouTube.

17 Q And do you recall the topic about YouTube in particular?

18 A Yeah, generally, I -- it was one of the engineers who had worked on some of 19 the more advanced innovative video compression technology. So, again, YouTube is a

20 platform with 500 hours of video every minute. And in order to store that amount of

21 data and serve it to users as a video-sharing platform, they have really had to figure out

22 some stuff on the technical side to be able to compress those files down, store them, and

23 then serve them up to users in a way that reduces the amount of storage is requires.

24 Q Was there any discussion about YouTube's community guidelines?

25 A I don't recall. Not that I recall.

1 Q Is there a team within the company that addresses issues related to
2 inauthentic accounts or behavior?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Which team is that?
5 A On the YouTube side?
6 Q On the YouTube side.
7 A It's a member of the trust and safety team. Members of the trust and
8 safety team.
9 Q Do you know of the two VPs which, under which leadership that team fails 10 under?
11 A I believe it's under [redacted]
12 Q Have you ever been asked to give a briefing to someone from the U.S.
13 Government about how the platform handles inauthentic behaviors for actors?
14 A Are you talking about -- can you clarify what you mean by inauthentic?
15 Q Sure. Much about what we discussed today so far as to content, maybe 16 the content's misleading or it's false, and there's all sorts of categories that may apply.
17 Concerns about either individuals misrepresenting who they are in the account or 18 misusing the account. Sometimes tied to one influence campaign?
19 A Got it. Thank you.
20 So to be clear, there are -- and to clarify my answer to your previous 21 question -- the things like impersonation, that is -- and then some of the deceptive
22 practices policies that are outlined in the community guidelines that may have overlap
23 here, that is done as part of the community guidelines enforcement under [redacted]
24 team.
25 When you talk about sort of the foreign pieces, the influence, that is also a team

1 under [redacted] team. But that team works in close coordination with a Google
2 team.
3 So I just want to be clear that these are keenly different things.
4 Q That's helpful. For that latter team, do you know who is the head of that
5 team?
6 A So the Google team is the threat analysis group.
7 Q And have you had interactions with that group during your time at YouTube?
8 A I have and in my time at Google.
9 Q And what's been the nature of your interactions of that team?
10 A I helped to -- I was part of the team that helped to launch what's called the 11 TAG bulletin, which is a quarterly transparency report effectively that provides 12 information about actions that Google took across products against identified 13 coordinated influence operations.
14 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Did you have interactions with him while you were at the company?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Other than the preparation and launching of the TAG bulletin, do you have 19 other interactions with them as part of your role at the company?
20 A I -- in my role more generally when I was at Google, I worked on the broad 21 Google transparency report. And so, I worked closely with [redacted] on, like, legal 22 requests for user data, as well as the kind of anything that fell into this space from a 23 global perspective around governments and their legislative efforts related to legal 24 process to request user data.
25 Q Were you ever made aware of any requests made by the U.S. Government

1 to someone at Google for where the U.S. Government was asking for more user data, but 2 without having to go through legal process?
3 A In my experience, I have not encountered that example.
4 Q Are you familiar at all with the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force?
5 A I've heard of it, but I'm not intimately familiar with how it's constructed or 6 what its responsibilities are.
7 Q Do you have any familiarity with personnel from Google's interactions with 8 the Foreign Influence Task Force?
9 A Not in my experience, no, and not that I can recall, anyway.
10 Q When it comes to -- let me take one step back. To your understanding,
11 does YouTube have community guidelines that address concerns related to hack
12 materials?
13 A I believe at some point we did have a policy, but I don't know what the 14 status of that policy is today.
15 Q Were you involved in any of the discussions about changes to or the 16 involvement of that policy?
17 A I was not.
18 Q Were you ever made aware of any steps YouTube was taking regarding how 19 to handle potentially hack materials in advance of an election?
20 A Not that I recall specifically.
21 Q For concerns about hack materials inappropriately being distributed on 22 YouTube's platform, to your understanding, which team would have primary 23 responsibility for that issue?
24 A If, as it was described as a community guideline, then that would be my 25 understanding, and there may be some nuance that I'm not aware of, but that would

1 generally be the trust and safety team. Because that would be a community guidelines
2 enforcement, again, as I understand it.
3 Q Are you familiar with the October 2020 New York Post story on Hunter
4 Biden's laptop?
5 A I vaguely recall, yes.
6 Q To your understanding, did either YouTube trust and safety team, or the TAG
7 team conduct any sort of assessment about that article, about the hack materials
8 described in -- potentially hack materials described in that article?
9 A I don't. I don't recall anything that I saw.
10 Q Do you have knowledge or any awareness of whether any such assessment
11 took place?
12 A Not that I'm -- not that I recall.
13 Q The example you gave of the National Security Council representative who 14 visited the San Francisco office, what was the context of that visit?
15 A He was there with Matt Collins from the U.K. Government. And we 16 provided a briefing, and I joined on behalf of YouTube. And we had a representative 17 from the Threat Analysis Group in the room to talk about that team's work. My role was 18 to talk about how YouTube interacted with TAG. And that meeting was actually not 19 organized by the U.S. team, it was organized by our U.K. public policy team.
20 Q When did that meeting occur?
21 A In the last year, potentially.
22 Q Who from YouTube attended?
23 A I believe that I was the sole representative from YouTube, but it's possible
24 that a legal colleague joined as well. I don't remember.
25 Q Is Mr. Geltzler, you said, from the National Security Council?

1 A Geltzler.
2 Q Geltzler.
3 A Geltzler.
4 Q Did he have any questions?
5 A I don't recall any questions. What I remember from that meeting is largely 6 Matt Collins and his presentation in advocacy.
7 Q And what was he advocating for?
8 A Are you familiar with GIFCT?
9 Q At a very high level?
10 A So at a very high level, Matt was interested in trying to come up with some 11 kind of a GIFCT for foreign influence.
12 Q And is that a -- did you pass along what Mr. Collins had to say to other 13 members within the company?
14 A The meeting consisted of members from -- other members from the 15 company, including a representative from the Google legal team. And so, I don't 16 remember what the readout we provided afterward. It's standard practice when there's 17 a visit to headquarters or to the Bay Area, whether there is the kind of write-up and 18 summary of what that meeting consisted of.
19 What I can tell you is that the general kind of consensus was that, you know, we 20 wanted to talk to them about, talk to Matt, in particular, about the proposal and why we 21 didn't feel that that was a necessary or appropriate thing to move forward with.
22 Q And why did the company not feel it was necessary or appropriate for them
23 to move forward with?
24 A A lot of had to do with the nuances of the U.K. issues, and what Matt was 25 looked to solve for with this, which wasn't going to actually solve what he was trying to

1 solve for.

2 Q Okay. To your understanding, what was he trying to solve for?

3 A He was looking to more quickly -- again, I think, find a way to more quickly

4 share threat information from the U.K. Government across -- with companies and 5 have -- serve an information exchange platform among those companies.

6 Q And who from the companies making the assessment of whether this is an

7 appropriate or practical response?

8 A It was a general, just kind a general consensus and discussion.

9 Q Were the representatives from the TAG team there?

10 A The representatives from the TAG team were there, but I think it was 11 largely -- again, I don't remember the specifics of how we came to the consensus. But

12 there was also input from global public policy because this would have been a global

13 organization. There was general broad consensus that I think -- again, it wasn't going to 14 solve for what Mr. Collins was looking for it to solve. And it wasn't necessary.

15 Q To your understanding, had there been additional communications between 16 YouTube and representatives from the U.K. Government about this issue?

17 A Not that I am aware of.

18 Q In the first hour, you broke down the regional leads within your team. And

19 within the Americas, it's U.S. and U.K. -- or excuse me, U.S., Canada, and Brazil. Is that 20 right?

21 A That's correct.

22 Q Is there further division within that team? One is head of the U.S., one is 23 ahead of Canada, one is head of Brazil?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Who's the head of the U.S. team?

A [redacted].

Q Who's the head of the Canada team?

A She is now new, and when we say "team," we're talking about one person.

Q Okay.

A So her name that [redacted]. But she just took that position like 2 weeks ago, maybe.

Q Who had the position previously?

A [redacted].

Q And for Brazil?

A [redacted]. And again, this is only the YouTube team, okay.

Q And within for these YouTube teams, is it Brazil, Canada, and U.S. -- is each team just the one person?

A [redacted] oversees the whole Americas team. There is a second person in Brazil.

Q Who's the second person?

A [redacted].

Q I apologize for the misunderstanding. [redacted] oversees both the America's writ large, and then also the U.S. team within that team?

A Correct. Yes.

Q And how many people work for just the U.S. team within the America's team?

A There's been a lot of quite a bit of change in the last 2 weeks. So right now it's just [redacted]

Q Okay. Let's say like a month ago when things were --

A There were two people. [redacted].

1 Q Have you been asked to provide any briefings regarding court orders
2 received by YouTube from the Brazilian Government?
3 A I have not interacted directly with the Brazilian Government, no.
4 Q Have you briefed any either public policy team or YouTube or Google about 5 questions about court orders from the Brazilian Government?
6 A Are you -- is there a specific type of court order you have in mind?
7 Q Court orders regarding the removal of YouTube accounts.
8 A Again, I am aware in my role kind of generally about -- and again because of 9 my experience having worked on a lot of Google transparency report, about the legal 10 process for government requests for removal under local laws.
11 And so, in that regard, I have at times, but I can't recall a specific instance 12 explained to my colleagues how the government, you know -- that we do take in 13 government requests and how we kind of bandage and handle them.
14 But I don't -- I can't recall a specific instance around a court order in Brazil or court
15 orders separately to Brazil related to removal of legal content.
16 Q Do you recall through one of your colleagues on the public policy team, were 17 there any question from a representative from the U.S. Government about court orders
18 from Brazil to YouTube?
19 A Not that I recall.
20 Q The NSA visit that you mentioned to the Mountain View, when did that
21 occur?
22 A I don't recall specific dates. It was after -- I believe it was once we had 23 started returning to the office, so probably after 2022, or 2022 later, but I don't
24 remember.
25 Q And you recall that being no more than an hour discussion?

1 A The YouTube component of it because it was -- again because I remember
2 the subject matter. It was very -- it was less, it was definitely less than an hour.
3 Q And who from YouTube is attending?
4 A It was myself and then an engineer.
5 Q And how many representatives from the NSA were there?
6 A There were other representatives from Google in the room as well. And 7 we didn't do intros. So I don't actually know who was from the NSA and who was from 8 Google to be able to give you an estimate. I think there were probably about 10 to 15
9 people in the room total. But that's just a ballpark.
10 Q Are there any questions or any discussion about content moderation policy?
11 A Not specifically that I can recall. But I vaguely remember doing just kind of 12 a framing at the beginning about the four Rs, which is, again, standard practice when I'm 13 participating in a meeting like this.
14 Q So we've talked about the White House meeting in 2021, about community
15 guidelines regarding vaccine content, the reproductive health, White House meeting at 16 some point later in the administration, the NSA meeting, the NSE and U.K. meeting. Are 17 there any other examples that you recall during your time at YouTube where you 18 interacted directly with members of the U.S. Federal Government as part of your role at 19 the company?
20 A Would you include Members of Congress there as well?
21 Q We'll focus on the executive branch. As far as that would have fallen under 22 the previous question.
23 A So those are the examples that I can recall specifically.
24 Q Do you know who Andy Slavitt is?
25 A In reviewing materials for preparation here, his name is on emails and

1 calendar invites. But I don't recall him -- meeting him personally, or what his role is, or 2 was.
3 Q Going into the meeting with the White House, what was your understanding
4 of what the White House was concerned about or requesting more information on?
5 A I was asked to provide a briefing about our responsibility work related to 6 COVID and misinformation, which was a pretty standard request at the time for either me
7 to join, or for me to prepare a deck and materials for all of my colleagues globally.
8 Q In the first hour, we talked through how changes to the community
9 guidelines occur, and, you know, at one point, GAPP consultant asked questions.
10 Do you recall the process that went through when it came to first developing and 11 then revising the community guidelines related to COVID-19 and vaccines?
12 A Is there a particular aspect of that?
13 Q Or just -- well, I am going to drill down on a bit more specifically which parts
14 you can recall. But just generally speaking, the development of those policies and 15 revisions of those policies as the pandemic continued, to your understanding, the 16 changes to those policies more or less follow the process that you outlined in the first 17 hour?
18 A Yes.
19 Q As it related to changes to the community guidelines regarding the COVID-19 20 vaccines, do you recall whether you, specifically, were consulted with or had the 21 opportunity to ask questions regarding any of the changes to those policies?
22 A Not that I recall, specifically. Not that I recall.
23 Q As part of your work, were you ever asked to provide a briefing either
24 directly or to -- brought to a member of the GAPP team that would be handling the 25 meeting with either the Presidential campaigns in the 2020 election?

A I don't recall participating in briefings with either of them.

Q For a meeting like the one with Mr. Flaherty in the White House, what typically is the threshold of where the company decides it would be helpful to have you attend the meeting?

Mr. Bopp. You're asking for her understanding or, you know, when the company or what factors the company takes into account in deciding whether she should go to a meeting?

[redacted] Yes.

Mr. Bopp. All right. So to the extent you know.

[redacted]. I wish I had a better understanding myself, to be honest. In this case, you know, [redacted] reached out and asked if I would be able to join and do a briefing.

BY [redacted]

Q Whether for this meeting or some of the other instances where you engaged directly with then Representatives from the U.S. Government, did you get the sense that there were meetings between the GAPP team and U.S. Representatives before, and discussions reached a point where the GAPP representatives on that call were not quite in the weeds enough to satisfactorily answer questions? What's typically the contents of when you're brought in?

A I don't want to speculate because I don't recall what or -- I'm not aware of whatever discussions might have been happening within the Beltway.

What I can tell you is that it really depends. Sometimes it's because I can just speak -- there may be a Q&A where I can just -- am just a little bit better prepared to answer questions because of the fact that I am -- I spend a lot more time reading and understanding our community guidelines.

And again, in that role as an interpreter, I'm often the one who provides the kind

1 of explanations to my colleagues who give the presentations and briefings on the ground.
2 So sometimes it's just a little bit easier and more fluid for me to join and talk. Other
3 times, I -- you know, colleagues have told me that there is sometimes just value in having 4 a person from headquarters. And so, that's kind of the time that I may be asked to join.
5 Q For the meeting with Mr. Flaherty, do you recall anything about the tone of 6 the meeting?
7 A No.
8 Q Do you recall any work product that you prepared, specifically, for the 9 meeting?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And what was that?
12 A I believe one example is the copy of the deck that your colleagues passed 13 out earlier.

1

2 [12:25 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q And do you recall who was involved in creating that?

5 A I recall that for this February deck, [redacted] myself, and a colleague who I

6 honestly don't remember but whose name is on slide notes named [redacted]

7 [redacted] Exhibit No. 2.

8 was marked for identification.]

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q This will be exhibit 2. This is an email chain from April 2021, from members

11 of the White House to members of Google and YouTube.

12 A Okay.

13 Q Do you recall this email from Mr. Flaherty?

14 A I don't recall receiving this email at the time, but I have reviewed this email

15 recently.

16 Q And who's [redacted]

17 A [redacted] is a member of the civics partnerships team.

18 Q And what team is that?

19 A That is a team that works with civic stakeholder channels, so the campaigns,

20 certain third-party groups, I believe certain government entities, but I'm not a hundred

21 percent sure what their full remit is, so I don't want to misspeak there. And they work

22 with these entities on relationship management for their YouTube channels.

23 Q The [redacted] email on the second line of the two lines, who's that in 24 reference to?

25 A That's [redacted]. He is [redacted] manager.

1 Q Copied are a couple of individuals. We talked about Mr. Slavitt. Do you
2 recognize Ms. Humphrey or Ms. Fitzpatrick's names?
3 A I recognize the names from reviewing documents.
4 Q Otherwise, not intimately?
5 A I'm sorry. No.
6 Q Jumping to the "To recap" paragraph a couple lines down, Mr. Flaherty
7 writes, "we remain concerned that YouTube is, quote, funneling, closed quote, people
8 into hesitance and intensifying people's hesitancy."
9 Do you know what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling people?
10 A I don't want to speculate about what Mr. Flaherty was getting at here.
11 Q Have you ever heard in other context concerns about how YouTube,
12 quote/unquote, funnels people?
13 A Not that I can recall specifically, but it is pretty much par for the course for 14 an online platform to be scrutinized for removal practices, content on the platform across 15 any number of issues everywhere in the world.
16 Q Do you recall questions from the White House about how videos were 17 recommended to users once they watched a certain video?
18 A I don't recall those questions specifically, if you mean from the meeting. I
19 don't --
20 Q Not necessarily from the meeting but just around this time period, either
21 directly to you or presented to you from [redacted] or others on the GAPP team?
22 A Anything that I would've been asked about is most likely captured in this
23 email. I don't recall anything else.
24 Q Do you recall Mr. Flaherty discussing funneling people?
25 A Only from re-reading this email.

1 Q Later in the paragraph, Mr. Flaherty writes -- this is the second line from the
2 bottom of that same paragraph -- "This is a concern that is shared at the highest (and I
3 mean highest) levels of the White House."
4 Do you recall Mr. Flaherty sharing anything to that effect during the meeting?
5 A I don't recall.
6 Q Do you recall any internal discussions at the company about what
7 Mr. Flaherty meant by this language?
8 A Not that I recall.
9 Q During this time, in April of 2021, what was your sense of how high up within 10 the White House there were concerns regarding misinformation on YouTube?
11 A Again, any understanding or information related to that would've been 12 basically what you're seeing here. So I don't have any additional -- I don't have any 13 additional perspective.
14 Q Who within YouTube is responsible for trying to understand what 15 Mr. Flaherty meant by the fact that this concern is shared at the highest levels of the 16 White House?
17 Mr. Bopp. You're asking if somebody at YouTube is responsible for what exactly?
18 [redacted] For understanding what Mr. Flaherty meant.
19 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
20 [redacted]. I don't know that -- I don't know that that was really a sort of 21 sentence that people really spent a lot of time trying to interpret. I certainly didn't.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q And why is that?
24 A Because we get a lot of requests for information from a lot of different 25 people who cite a lot of reasons for why they're asking for information.

1 Q Were there concerns -- let me rephrase that.

2 To your understanding, what are some of the other interactions that the GAPP

3 team has had with the White House?

4 A In this context or generally?

5 Q Just generally.

6 A Again, my understanding is that my colleagues who are responsible for 7 relationship management with the administration take meetings with the administration.

8 Q So this is a pretty lengthy email from a senior member from the White House

9 who, obviously, took the time to draft it. To your understanding, was there anyone

10 within the Public Policy team that took note of Mr. Flaherty's communication that the 11 highest levels of the White House were concerned?

12 A Again, not that I recall.

13 Q In a meeting following like the one with Mr. Flaherty, what's the typical 14 protocol? Is there a readout? Does someone take notes?

15 A Sometimes people take notes. Generally, there's a short or a brief readout.

16 Sometimes it's just a one-and-done briefing. It really, again, depends on the stakeholder

17 and the nature of the relationship or -- I mean, there's no -- again, there is -- my role is a

18 very qualitative one that doesn't have, you know, hard rules of the road for things like

19 that.

20 Q In this context, do you recall if anyone was taking notes?

21 A I don't recall, no.

22 Q Do you know if anyone prepared a readout?

23 A I don't recall.

24 Mr. Bopp. You're asking about the meeting that preceded this email? I'm 25 sorry.

1 [redacted] Yes.

2 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

3 [redacted]. Yeah. I don't recall, and I also, even from preparing for this, I

4 don't recall if there was or if there was not.

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q You've had a chance to review the email. When reviewing it, were there

7 any points that you recall Mr. Flaherty bringing up in the meeting that you were in a good

8 position to answer or address?

9 A I mean, I think what -- I don't remember the Q&A portion of the meeting, so

10 I don't remember what specific questions he might have asked that I would have 11 answered in the meeting.

12 What I can remember is, now, what I said based on the slides, which, is, again, a

13 rough kind of broad overview of our responsibility work and, again, consistent with what

14 we were sharing with others globally.

15 Q Were there questions about, to your recollection, about borderline content?

16 A I don't recall the specific discussion, but in the deck, there is a slide about

17 borderline content.

18 Q Do you know who within the company is responsible for handling how 19 search results appear within YouTube?

20 A That would be our Search and Discovery team.

21 Q And is that the same team responsible for handling what videos are 22 recommended once you finish watching a video?

23 A Search and Discovery encompasses recommendations and search.

24 Q And who's the head of that team?

25 A I am not sure who's the head of that team right now.

1 Q Do you know who it was in 2021?

2 A I don't recall. I know that -- yeah, I don't want to misspeak on the 3 individual.

4 Q Do you have a point of contact on that team?

5 A I do today, but that person wasn't on the team in 2021.

6 Q Who's the person today?

7 A The person today would be [redacted].

8 Q Is the Search and Discovery team within the Trust and Safety team or 9 somewhere else?

10 A It's not. It's separate.

11 Q Where do they fit in the hierarchy -- where does that team fit within the 12 hierarchy?

13 A They're part of the broader product organization, but, again, I'm not really 14 familiar with the structure of the product organization.

15 Q Had there ever been -- I'm going to take one step back.

16 What does that team use to guide how search results appear and how 17 recommendations are issued?

18 Mr. Bopp. Which team are you asking about now?

19 [redacted] The Search and Discovery team.

20 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

21 [redacted]. So the reason I'm hesitating is because this is not a

22 straightforward question to answer. I don't know. Again, this is well outside the 23 boundaries of my role in terms of speaking about, you know, the specifics of how these 24 two systems work.

25 What I can tell you is that recommendations use a number of different signals to

1 determine what is potentially recommended to users. And on the search side of things,
2 when I talked about the 4Rs, one of them is raising authoritative information, end search
3 results. And so that's kind of one example of how that interplays there.
4 But in terms of the broader systems, I can't speak to how they work in a
5 meaningful way.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q Do you know the process of how -- actually, let me take one step back.
8 Search and Discovery, are they in charge of both implementing as well as 9 developing changes to how search results appear and how recommendations are made?
10 A They oversee the entire kind of search and discovery system.
11 Q So sticking with the raising authoritative results example, who within the 12 company makes the decision that we as a company should raise authoritative results?
13 A I don't know when that decision was made, but that was a piece of the 4Rs,
14 which was in place when I joined at YouTube.
15 Q If there was going to be an effort -- so this is after you joined -- to raise 16 authoritative information in 2021 related to search results about vaccines, who within the 17 company is making an initial determination that this is a change that should be done?
18 A So let me zoom out a little bit, which is that, in general, the way these 19 systems are designed is such that they're raising authoritative information on kind of 20 news and information queries, among other things. So in my experience, it's not usually 21 a here is a topic, we need to make sure we're raising authoritative information.
22 The systems, in theory, they have tried to design them so that they actually would 23 do that because it would be kind of a relevant news and information-related topic. I
24 can't say for certain that that's how it went, but that is, in general, how these systems are 25 designed to work.

1 Q So taking one step back. Again, using vaccines or health-related issues.
2 There are a couple different ways the company could pick a guidepost. You could try to
3 elevate content that is likely to keep users on the platform. You could try to elevate
4 content that users find popular or enjoy watching. You can try to elevate content that's 5 authoritative.
6 There are different options, potentially, available to the company. I'm just trying 7 to get a sense of which team is making this assessment in any context, just for search and 8 discovery. Are these engineers or are these, like, policy people?
9 A I'm not sure I understand your question.
10 Mr. Bopp. Maybe you can rephrase it.
11 [redacted]. Yeah.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q Sure. So certainly there are technical folks who are going to help build, 14 modify, tweak, so that results are appearing in a way that the company wants them to 15 appear, right, but I'm trying to take just one step back. There's got to be some sort of 16 guidepost or goal or set of policies or something that is illuminating what the team should 17 be aiming for, and I'm trying to get a sense of which team is responsible for that.
18 A I see. Okay. So I think the way that I can try to help answer this is really 19 about the way that YouTube has talked about this externally, which is the way that they 20 rely on -- so first of all, it would be within the Search and Discovery team. They fully 21 manage this. This is separate from Trust and Safety. So this is not -- there is no kind of 22 content moderation involved in this aspect of YouTube's product.
23 There is, again, some publicly available information about, for example, the way 24 that external raters are used to identify to kind of rate content that might be 25 authoritative or that might be not authoritative. And by that I mean sort of coming back

1 to raise and reduce the 4Rs, the authoritative piece, and then the borderline content
2 piece would be under reduce.
3 Q To your knowledge and awareness, has there ever been instances where a
4 team outside the Search and Discovery team instructed the Search and Discovery team to 5 change how recommendations were appearing?
6 A Not that I'm aware of, no, and not in my experience. There are guardrails
7 in place, and I have never -- I have, in my experience, not seen that happen or been aware 8 of that.
9 Q To your knowledge or awareness, have there ever been any discussions with 10 the Search and Discovery team about whether content containing misinformation was 11 appearing either too high in search results or was being recommended at too highly of a 12 rate?
13 A My understanding is that that team's -- you know, as the team that sort of 14 oversees these efforts, they do some evaluation, but I don't know the nature of that.
15 What I can tell you is the stat that you saw in the deck about reducing watch time
16 of borderline content and misinformation, which was 70 percent in 2019 in the U.S., and 17 that stat is the same stat that we use today. So I'm not aware of any additional.
18 Q I guess if you could just walk me through it. I'm familiar with the figure, but 19 is there not some sort of connection then between Trust and Safety and Search and 20 Discovery? Like, how is the company able to make that reduction?
21 A As I said, we rely on a different system, an external rater related to the 22 reduce pillar versus remove, which is Trust and Safety and community guidelines and 23 content policy.
24 Q There's a reference in the exhibit 2 here to borderline content. Is that a 25 term that the company uses internally?

1 A Yes.
2 Q And just so we're both making sure we're talking about the same thing, what
3 does borderline content mean?
4 A So I was just talking about the reduce pillar, and so in that case, the way that
5 the company has explained borderline content for these purposes is generally content
6 that comes close to but doesn't quite cross the line of violating our community guidelines.
7 Q Are you aware of examples of where, in an earlier time period, a certain type
8 of content was borderline content and then following a change to the community
9 guidelines, it was violative content?
10 A I am not aware of a specific example, but it's certainly possible.
11 Q And so in situations like that, if -- or I'll ask a different variation of the 12 question.
13 A Well, actually, if I can add something really quickly also. It's important to 14 note that borderline content is not just misinformation. So that could include 15 hate-adjacent content or, you know, harmful and dangerous violence pranks, things like
16 that.
17 Q So if it's possible for something that was borderline content possibly is 18 violative content under change to the community guidelines, is it possible to have content 19 that was not considered borderline content become considered borderline content after 20 a change to the community guidelines?
21 A It's certainly possible, though, again, they're different systems. So the way
22 the raters rate is separated from the guidelines that govern our removal policies. So I
23 don't actually know. I don't really know the answer to that question.
24 Q So let me -- and maybe I'm just misunderstanding what the raters are rating 25 based off of.

1 A They are trained using publicly available rater guidelines.

2 Q Aren't those ultimately rooted in the community guidelines?

3 A They are not.

4 Q They're not?

5 A No.

6 Q When it comes to enforcement for removal purposes, is there a separate

7 team within Trust and Safety that handles that enforcement from the development of the 8 policy?

9 A Yes. So there's the -- there is an enforcement part of the organization, as I

10 understand it, and then there's the Policy Development team. I don't -- I believe at 11 times the policy experts on the development team may be involved in evaluating content

12 on the enforcement side, but I don't have a specific example of that.

13 Q Okay. And when you mentioned there's the testing period of -- well,

14 there's one before the approval process and one after. The folks who are developing

15 the policy have in mind of what is violative content, presumably, and we talked about like

16 the examples being highlighted and whatever else. What processes are there in place to 17 assess whether the enforcement folks are meeting what that intention is?

18 A I don't know what the -- like what their specific processes are beyond how

19 we've kind of described it publicly in the blog post, which I can't recite verbatim. But

20 generally, they're looking to measure how consistently those policies are being enforced

21 and with accuracy.

22 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

23 [Recess.]

1

2 [1:35 p.m.]

3 [redacted] Okay. We can go back on the record.

4 EXAMINATION

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q So, [redacted], I want to touch on some of the issues you were talking

7 about during the previous hour. You mentioned the 4Rs, and I want to focus for a

8 moment on reduce. Is that the second R?

9 A Technically, the third, but --

10 Q Okay. Fair enough.

11 What does it mean to reduce content on YouTube?

12 A So when we say reduce in the context of the 4Rs, what YouTube is talking

13 about is efforts to reduce recommendations of borderline or potentially harmful content.

14 Q Okay. And I believe you said this earlier, but just to be clear, borderline

15 content refers to content that doesn't actually violate your policies but could still,

16 nonetheless, be harmful. Is that a fair statement?

17 A That's a fair characterization of how YouTube describes it, yes.

18 Q And when you talk about recommendations, when a user logs on to 19 YouTube, their home page will show videos that have been suggested to them by the 20 algorithm, correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q And are those what you would consider recommendations?

23 A That's one of the spaces where we recommend content to users.

24 Q And what are the other spaces in which recommendations are made?

25 A YouTube calls another section Watch Next, and it's when you're reviewing a

1 video on YouTube and you see videos recommended. On a desktop, it's to the right.
2 Q And those recommendations, I assume, the algorithm generates based on 3 the content you've previously viewed?
4 A The system uses a number of signals to determine what to serve as 5 recommendations, and content that you've previously watched is one of the many 6 signals.
7 Q And when content is -- when borderline content is reduced -- and I'm sorry,
8 you might have just said this, but is it completely removed from recommendations or is it
9 just not recommended as frequently?
10 A It's limited in recommendations, and I think it's also --
11 Q If you could just wait a moment for that noise.
12 A Is it just a passing train?
13 Q A really long one.
14 Okay. Thank you very much. I appreciate it.
15 A It's just with regard to limiting in recommendations. It's still discoverable
16 on the platform. And, for example, if you subscribe to that channel, you'll still see that a 17 new video has been posted, and you'll still have it.
18 Q And I imagine you don't even have to subscribe. You could just visit the 19 channel. So if a friend tells me about a channel and I go to that channel, I will have 20 access to all the videos on that channel whether they have been reduced from 21 recommendations or not?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Okay. And is it fair to analogize this to when you walk into a physical book 24 store, you sometimes see at the front of the book store a table where there are staff
25 recommendations? A book might not be on that table, but it's still on the shelves in the 1 fiction section or the nonfiction section or wherever it belongs on those shelves.

2 Is it fair to say that reducing content means that it's not given that sort of 3 promotion, but it's still available to use?
4 A I think that's a fair analogy. I would also add that like a book store,
5 YouTube has limited surface space on the page when you're looking at it on a device to 6 actually show recommendations. And so, you know, not every video on YouTube is 7 recommended to every user because literally can't.
8 Q And no content creator has a right to have their video promoted or 9 highlighted or recommended by YouTube. Is that fair to say?
10 A I think that's a fair -- I think that's a fair way of explaining it.
11 Q And YouTube began reducing recommendations of borderline content in
12 2019, correct?
13 A That's correct.
14 Q And that was during the Trump Presidency, correct?
15 A Yes, that's correct.
16 Q Now, I'm going to switch gears for a moment and ask you just some zoom
17 out a little bit and get to the heart of what we're doing here today.
18 In your interactions with U.S. Government officials that you've been asked about 19 today, did any of these officials ever try to coerce you or, to your knowledge, anyone else
20 at YouTube into removing content?
21 A Not in my experience.
22 Q And did any U.S. Government officials try to coerce you to reduce content?
23 A Not in my experience.
24 Q Did any U.S. Government official ever threaten you or anyone else at 25 YouTube with adverse actions, such as reform of Section 230, or any other adverse action, any policy that might impact Google or YouTube, if YouTube refused to take any particular action that the government official desired?

A Not in my experience.

Q That includes folks working at the White House. No one at the White House ever attempted to coerce or threaten you with regards to content or anything else for that matter?

A No.

Q And that includes Mr. Flaherty?

A No, I didn't -- not in my -- not in any of these interactions did we feel --

Mr. Bopp. I'm sorry. Go ahead.

[redacted]. I was going to say did we feel pressure to act.

Mr. Bopp. Right. I was just making clear that what you're talking about is what you perceived in terms of whether or not you were coerced or whether or not -- and not the intention of whoever it was that may have been trying to coerce you, correct?

[redacted]. Correct. I didn't feel pressured by any of the communications coming from the White House.

BY [redacted]

Q And you did not perceive an intent to try to coerce you?

A I did not.

Q Okay. And you did not have conversations with your colleagues in which they expressed that they were trying to be coerced?

A We did not. And I think it's important to zoom out, which is that regardless of any statements made by external parties, all content is still reviewed through a robust enforcement process. All of these processes are in place to create guardrails, again, to enforce policies consistently, globally, without regard to kind of the, you know, political

1 viewpoint or any other factor beyond the actual content and whether or not it violates
2 the community guidelines.
3 Q And I appreciate you bringing that up because that gets to some other
4 questions that I want to ask.
5 YouTube does sometimes receive videos -- external stakeholders will sometimes
6 contact YouTube and flag videos that they believe might be violative of YouTube's
7 community guidelines, correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And when that happens -- well, why don't you tell me. I'm not going to put 10 words into your mouth.
11 If you receive that kind of request, what do you do with it?
12 A When I receive that sort of a request, I follow the internal process we have 13 to get it to the teams who review videos according to the community guidelines.
14 Q And those teams make their own independent determination of whether or 15 not that video violates the community guidelines, correct?
16 A That's correct.
17 Q And then their determination is communicated back to the external
18 stakeholder?
19 A Yes. Generally, the Trust and Safety team will revert back to me with -- or 20 whoever is, you know, the original -- the person who originally sends it in. Part of the 21 process is that they come back and let the sender know what the verdict was on the 22 video.
23 Q And in every case, it's someone at the Trust and Safety team, it's YouTube 24 that decides whether or not there is a violation of the community guidelines, not the 25 external stakeholder, correct?

1 A That is correct.

2 Q Okay. And that holds true regardless of whether the external stakeholder

3 is just an individual user like myself or a government official?

4 A That is correct. That holds true regardless of who the request originates

5 from.

6 Q Thank you.

7 Now, are you familiar with the claim made by the committee's majority that

8 members of the Federal Government have colluded with Google and YouTube and other

9 social media companies in order to censor certain types of conservative speech in 10 violation of the First Amendment?

11 A Yes, it was part of the introductory statement when I came here today.

12 Q Yes. And, in fact, your interview here today is part of the inquiry into 13 whether or not such collusion happened.

14 Based on your experience at YouTube during three different Presidential 15 administrations, do you believe that such collusion occurred?

16 A In my experience, I have seen no such example of collusion.

17 Q And in your experience, do you think that YouTube has attempted in a way

18 to operate in a manner that respects the First Amendment rights of its users while also 19 adhering to its responsibility to make the platform safe and responsible?

20 A I do. YouTube really seeks to strike a balance between safety and 21 responsibility. And, you know, freedom of information is core to our platform.

22 Q And it's core to your mission, correct?

23 A Uh-huh.

24 Q Now, I want to turn back to exhibit 2, which is the email from Mr. Flaherty,

25 and talk about your exchanges with Mr. Flaherty generally. I believe that majority

1 counsel referred to Mr. Flaherty as a senior member of the White House. Was it your
2 understanding that he was a senior member of the White House?
3 A No. I didn't have an understanding of where he was in the ranks.
4 Q And this email in exhibit 2 was sent after one of the meetings that you
5 attended where the subject of COVID and COVID misinformation was discussed, correct?
6 A Correct.
7 Q And that was -- you recall from your review of the records that there
8 were -- that you attended two meetings with Mr. Flaherty, correct?
9 A That is correct.
10 Q And one was in February 2021?
11 A According to the dates in the record, yes.
12 Q And according to the dates in the record, was one in April of 2021?
13 A Correct.
14 Q So both of those meetings occurred when the country was still in the depths
15 of the pandemic. Fair to say?
16 A Yes.
17 Q Okay. And thousands of Americans were dying every day. Do you recall
18 that?
19 A I recall that, again, it was a global pandemic, so --
20 Q Yeah. And I don't know what the number is worldwide, which is why I
21 focused on Americans.
22 A Yes.
23 Q And the vaccines had just started to become available right around that time
24 period to rank-and-file Americans. Is that what you recall?
25 A I don't recall timing at all when the vaccines became available.

1 Q Fair enough.

2 Now, the slide deck that you prepared for the meeting with Mr. Flaherty, your

3 recollection is that was a very typical slide deck that you used with many external

4 stakeholders, or the sort of slide deck that you would use with many external

5 stakeholders?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And then after the April meeting, Mr. Flaherty sent the email that is in 8 exhibit 2 summarizing his recollection of what was discussed, correct?

9 A That's correct.

10 Q Okay. And you were asked about the statement in the email that 11 Mr. Flaherty said that, "This is a concern that is shared with the highest (and I mean

12 highest) levels of the White House."

13 I want to just back up in that email. I believe you still have it in front of you.

14 A I do.

15 Q And the sentence before that says, "we want to make sure that you have a

16 handle on vaccine hesitancy generally and are working towards making the problem

17 better."

18 Did I read that correctly?

19 A That's what I see here, yes.

20 Q And does that appear to be the concern that he's referring to, or to the 21 extent that you can say, in the next sentence?

22 Mr. Bopp. Before you answer, I just want to make sure I understand the

23 question.

24 [redacted] You know what, I will withdraw the question. I'll withdraw it.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q When Mr. Flaherty said this concern is shared at the highest levels of the 2 White House, did you interpret that statement to be a threat?
3 A I did not, no.
4 Q Okay. Did you interpret it as an attempt to coerce you into taking any 5 particular action?
6 A Sorry. To be clear, I do not interpret this this way. Again, I don't recall
7 the email at the time, and in re-reading, I don't interpret it -- no.
8 Q And I believe you said in the previous hour you don't recall any discussions
9 internal within the company about what that sentence might have meant?
10 A That's right.
11 Q And if you or any of your colleagues at the company interpreted that as 12 some sort of threat or coercion, do you believe you would have discussed that?
13 A I would imagine we would have had a discussion at some point about that,
14 though, it wouldn't have made a difference in terms of content moderation, for example,
15 or any of the other issues that you've discussed.
16 Q Would it have made a difference to content policy?
17 A It would not. It would not. We have -- again, I explained the way our 18 policy process works, the policymaking process works, and YouTube adheres to that 19 process.
20 Q Now, in the email, Mr. Flaherty outlined a set of issues about which he 21 wanted more information. I believe it says, "A couple of other things that would be 22 good to have from you all." Is that correct?
23 A That's what I see here, yes.
24 Q Okay. And he was asking for information about trends that YouTube was 25 seeing with respect to vaccine information and the effectiveness of your reduction

1 efforts, as well as the effectiveness of your efforts to raise authoritative information. Is
2 that correct?
3 A That's correct.
4 Q This email is not focused on the removal of content from the platform, is it?
5 A Not that I see here.
6 Q Okay. In fact, if you look at the first full paragraph that begins "To recap," 7 the second sentence says, "We certainly recognize that removing content that is 8 unfavorable to the cause of increasing vaccine adoption is not a realistic or even good
9 solution."
10 Did I read that correctly?
11 A That's what I read here.
12 Q Okay. Now, at the end of the email, Mr. Flaherty -- and this is on the 13 second page -- mentioned that he speaks with other platforms on a semi-regular basis,
14 and suggested a biweekly meeting with YouTube. Did I read that correctly?
15 A Yes, that's what I see.
16 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3.
17 was marked for identification.]
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q Now, I want to introduce an email from April 21st that you sent to some of 20 your colleagues discussing this email from Mr. Flaherty. And this will be exhibit 3.
21 A Okay.
22 Q Thank you.
23 So after receiving this email from Mr. Flaherty where he asked for several 24 categories of information and suggested a biweekly meeting, you wrote to your 25 colleagues, [redacted] -- I'm not sure if I pronounced that correctly -- and [redacted],

1 and said, "I defer to you on how to manage, but we've already shared as much as we have
2 to share here."
3 Did I read that correctly?
4 A Yes.
5 Q You also said, "I don't see value in a biweekly meeting, and I don't think we 6 have much to share in terms of trends."
7 Did I read that correctly?
8 A "And I also don't think we have much to share in terms of trends."
9 Q Thank you. I skipped a word. I appreciate that. Thank you.
10 You felt comfortable in suggesting that YouTube decline Mr. Flaherty's request for 11 biweekly meetings?
12 A Yes.
13 Q You were not concerned that there would be any adverse consequences to 14 Google if you said thanks, but no thanks, we do not need to meet that often?
15 A I was not concerned about that.
16 Q And you were not concerned that there would be adverse consequences to 17 Google or YouTube if you did not provide information about the trends that he was 18 seeking?
19 A That wasn't a consideration.
20 Q Do you recall Mr. Flaherty ever asking YouTube to remove content?
21 A I don't recall seeing a specific escalation that came from Mr. Flaherty.
22 Q Thank you very much.
23 [redacted] And with that, we can go off the record.
24 [Recess.]

1 [2:03 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So, turning back to the last exhibit that was introduced, there are a couple

4 emails from you in reference to either the White House's potential interest, or already

5 active interest in working with Stanford.

6 Do you know what that's in reference to?

7 A Yes.

8 Q What is it in reference to?

9 A So our -- just to be clear, I -- are you talking about what he referenced or 10 what I referenced?

11 Q Well, both. When you say, "I do think the Stanford work can provide the 12 kind of insight" --

13 A Okay. So you're --

14 Q -- in your email, the first one.

15 A Got it. So what I'm talking about was some work Stanford had been doing

16 to track trends related to content across social media.

17 Q Do you know which department or who in Stanford? Sorry.

18 A That's okay. In reviewing materials for this meeting, it's -- my 19 understanding is that that was the Stanford Virality Project.

20 Q Who from YouTube was involved with interfacing with Stanford's Virality

21 Project?

22 A I don't recall there being a single point of contact from the YouTube side.

23 What I recall was that [redacted] was the point of contact for Google broadly.

24 Q Who else from YouTube or Google, more broadly, to your understanding,

25 had interactions with the Virality Project?

1 A The only one, again, kind of reviewing the materials that I -- that's clear to
2 me was [redacted]
3 Q How frequently -- or let me take one step back.
4 Did you have any direct interactions with Stanford's Virality Project?
5 A I can't remember having my own direct interactions with them. I also don't 6 remember the people that were involved, so I don't know if I did interact with them
7 directly or not.
8 Q As part of your role at YouTube, have you had any interactions with Alex
9 Stamos?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And what's been the context of those interactions?
12 A I recall a meeting with Alex Stamos and other researchers at Stanford who 13 were working on misinformation issues.
14 Q And when was that, approximately?
15 A I believe that that was in -- well, I actually don't remember when that 16 meeting was. I remember some of the interactions began in 2020.
17 Q And what types of misinformation?
18 A At the time, Stanford was doing a fair amount of work around
19 election-related misinformation.
20 Q Are you familiar with the Election Integrity Partnership?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Did you have interactions with the Election Integrity Partnership?
23 A I -- what I recall is that I would sometimes be copied on emails to our -- going
24 into our content review process that came from the Election Integrity Partnership.
25 Q Who else from Google or YouTube had -- would directly interact with the

1 Election Integrity Partnership?

2 A So for Google, it was also [redacted] [redacted]. And if I remember correctly,

3 there was another person from YouTube who was kind of directly engaging.

4 Q Do you remember who that was?

5 A Her name was [redacted]

6 Q Do you remember [redacted] last name?

7 A I don't.

8 Q Do you remember how this work or relationship first started between the 9 Election Integrity Partnership and Google?

10 A I don't remember the genesis of it. What I remember was that they

11 would -- they were kind of tracking, looking at social media platforms, keeping track of 12 things that they thought might be violative of platform policies. And then each platform

13 was individually responsible for putting it into its respective process for review.

14 Q Are you familiar with the Jira Ticketing System that the Election Integrity

15 Partnership used?

16 A So I don't -- I'm familiar with Jira as a platform. I don't remember

17 Jira -- Jira's instance for the EIP. What I remember was something that, like, could have

18 been, like, a WordPress-like platform. It was, you know -- so it was more like individual

19 posts that would occasionally come through to me. But I don't remember whether it

20 was Jira or not, specifically.

21 Q Regardless of the means or the form, could you tell who it was coming from?

22 A I don't -- what I recall is that there may have been a name. There may have

23 been a name of a Stanford -- you know, somebody at Stanford who was the one who 24 made the post or posted to share the content, but I don't -- I don't recall for sure.

25 There's nothing that sticks out to me as like, you know, a name I would remember.

1 Q But, again, through whichever means it ultimately was, if it was Jira or
2 something else, were there account names? Were there individual YouTube links?
3 What was actually in the material that was being transmitted?
4 A So like the substance of the thing that they were posting?
5 Q Yes.
6 A It depended. Sometimes it would be specific links to videos or channels, or 7 to Facebook posts or to Instagram posts, or like, whatever.
8 I also think that there were times, if I recall correctly, where they might have 9 included links to, you know, general -- other posts outside of social media that might have 10 been related to something.
11 But, you know, what I recall being kind of the part that was relevant to YouTube
12 was when they sent -- when things included video URLs or channel URLs.
13 Q Would there -- when you're on the receiving end, you mentioned sometimes 14 there might be Facebook links. Would it be a group of links, or there might be a set of 15 Facebook links and a set of YouTube links and you just would pull the information that 16 you needed? Is that more or less how it was coming in to you?
17 A That's how I remember it. But again, this was -- this was quite a long time
18 ago. So -- and this was just, you know, one -- one source where globally, we were 19 getting incoming about content.
20 Q Was there -- in addition to, you know, whatever the channel or the link 21 might be, was there, like, a message that was included about what was in the video, or 22 any additional context or details provided?
23 A I don't -- I think I remember sometimes them adding a little bit of color, but 24 again, it's also not uncommon when somebody identifies a video for YouTube that they 25 believe violates the policies to provide some sort of brief description about what policy

1 they think it might violate, why they might think it violates that policy or -- sorry, that
2 policy. Even sometimes I've seen people get as specific as providing a time-stamp.
3 Q Had you worked with Alex Stamos before the EIP?
4 A I don't -- so, again, I don't recall working directly with Alex through the EIP.
5 I -- I believe I crossed paths with him at some point in time, but I don't remember, you
6 know, specifically why. He's in the Bay Area. He's sort of in the internet space. So it
7 wouldn't be uncommon.
8 What I do remember was -- and again, this is like a really vague recollection, but I
9 believe that Stanford also put together a scorecard where they kind of rated different
10 platforms on policies, on other sorts of election integrity efforts they have in place, you
11 know, for example, connecting people with voting information.
12 And I vaguely recall reading and providing feedback on their scorecard evaluation.
13 I don't remember if I just did that internally for others to convey, or if at some point in 14 time I conveyed it directly to Alex or the team working with Alex, which was also, frankly,
15 more likely, because I think there were others who were sort of leading the actual work.
16 Q And was this in the context of the 2020 election?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Do you recall how YouTube scored, according to the scorecard you were 19 either reviewing or commenting on?
20 A I don't remember what the score was. What I remember -- and this is true 21 of any one of these types of scorecards that lots of people like to put together for 22 different circumstances and in different issue areas -- is that I evaluate it for inaccuracies
23 against its own rubric.
24 So, for example, if they are measuring YouTube against publicly available
25 information in relation to the criteria they've set out, if I see in my evaluation that they

1 have missed some publicly available information that is relevant, I will supply that 2 information and, you know, argue that we should receive credit for that.
3 Q Do you remember if in this case the Stanford scorecard had
4 misjudged/misevaluated its own rubric when judging YouTube?
5 A I think they had something that was not accurate, but I don't remember
6 what it was.
7 Q Were you able to see, or did you later find out about how YouTube scored 8 compared to other social media platforms?
9 A Certainly it was all made public later, but I don't remember in the evaluation
10 process if I was looking at them comparatively. I would have been -- I mean, regardless,
11 I would have been focused on correcting our record versus kind of necessarily how it
12 compared to others.
13 Q Do you recall how Stanford thought YouTube measured up compared to 14 other social media platforms in, you know, promoting and protecting election integrity?
15 A I don't recall. What I do recall is that they had critiques for every platform.
16 Q Did you have any conversations with individuals at the other platforms about 17 this scorecard from Stanford?
18 A I did not, no.
19 Q Do you know if other members from YouTube or Google did?
20 A I don't know.
21 Q Turning back to the Election Integrity Partnership, when you received some 22 sort of message, whether it was links or channels, whatever it might be, what was the 23 next step that you would take?
24 A So once we received the content, I sent it in to our internal review process.
25 Q And, with the understanding you don't remember the exact means with

1 which it was being sent, whether it was Jira or something else, do you remember at all
2 about -- I mean, would you have to copy and paste what was going on or what did
3 that -- like just function, what did that look like in terms of getting it to the next team?
4 A It was a copy and paste.
5 Q And which team was it going to?
6 A It was going to trust and safety for review under our community guidelines.
7 Q And whether in this particular case, or just generally when you received 8 some sort of tip, is it via email or how -- internally, how do you submit something for the 9 trust and safety team's review?
10 A It is via email.
11 Q When trust and safety is on the receiving end, are they just getting the link 12 or the channel, or do they get -- if there was a message accompanying the tip, whether 13 from EIP or elsewhere, do they get to see everything that was sent to you?
14 A If it is -- again, the stuff from EIP, if I recall, had to be copied and pasted.
15 And I don't remember -- generally, the way that I handle that sort of stuff is that I will just 16 copy and paste the video URLs and the channels, because that's the information that the 17 teams need to review the content. I don't recall if others who were also sending in the 18 stuff from EIP, if they were including the full message or not.
19 Q Whether the full message is included or not, would you include who the 20 submitter was?
21 A On occasion.
22 Q And is that helpful to the trust and safety team or what's -- what benefit 23 does that provide?
24 A Generally, if I am including it, the reason that I include it is to provide some 25 justification for why I am using -- why I am sending it through this process. It has no

1 bearing on the actual review of the content.

2 Q What do you mean by providing some justification?

3 A So, for example, when I am sending things through -- when we send things

4 through this process, it is prioritizing them for review ahead of maybe other things that,

5 you know, for example, might be in a -- in a flagging queue. And so being able to explain

6 why -- you know, why it warrants being sent through the prioritized process is important.

7 Q In the EIP context, what about that Partnership or what about Stanford

8 warranted that prioritization of the process?

9 A That was the way that the teams had -- and by "teams," I mean sort of, like,

10 trust and safety and Google generally, had agreed that we would use the existing process

11 of the queue to escalate the content for review.

12 Q Content from the EIP?

13 A That is correct. And again, it doesn't change the process of review.

14 Mr. Halse. Just so I understand your response, [redacted] are you saying that the EIP

15 content was prioritized or was not?

16 [redacted]. I'm saying that we sent it through the prioritization kind of 17 process. So -- sorry, this is a little bit -- it's a little tricky to explain, but when we are

18 sending things through the process, this process is just generally a prioritized review

19 queue.

20 And all that means is that it's kind of on a plate for people to get to ideally faster,

21 but sometimes it can still take, you know, a week for review.

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q Are there tips that you receive that you think do not warrant the 24 prioritization process and so you don't send it through that means?

25 A There are sort of different levels of prioritization. And so I will -- you know,

1 I -- there are -- there's an understanding of kind of a level of just respect of the content
2 moderation team's sort of time and sense of urgency when submitting things.
3 So again, for the EIP, there was an -- I understand, at least from [redacted] and [redacted]
4 at the time, that the sort of -- it was agreed that the -- those links could be sent through 5 the process.
6 Q Based off your understanding, who from the company made that
7 agreement?
8 A I -- I mean, I don't -- I don't know that it was like a -- anything particularly 9 formal beyond, "Hey, we might get some incoming posted by researchers at Stanford, you
10 know, we'll be -- we're going to use -- is it okay if we send it this way?" Yes.
11 Q So just to stop and make sure I understand what you're saying, [redacted] and 12 [redacted] would have some sort of conversation or communication with someone from the 13 trust and safety team. Is that -- who are the parties here?
14 A I -- again, I wasn't part of that discussion. I understand that they had some 15 agreement with trust and safety, but I don't know who, I don't know what that looked 16 like, and, you know, I don't know any details of that.
17 Q And a couple answers earlier, you mentioned that there are different 18 channels of prioritization that can be available. What are those?
19 A It's two different email aliases.
20 Q And what are those?
21 A One is the kind of general high-priority email alias and the other is the lower 22 priority email alias.
23 Q And for the high-priority email alias -- or let me take one step back. Which 24 one was used for the EIP request?
25 A I believe that it was the high-priority one.

1 Q And do you recall what that email address is?
2 A PERT.
3 Q And what's the low-priority one?
4 A PERT-lite.
5 Q Do you recall other examples of when it was appropriate to use the high
6 prioritization email address?
7 A Use the high-priority email address?
8 Q Yes.
9 A The comms team frequently uses the high-priority alias for press escalations.
10 Q Who's on the receiving end of these email aliases?
11 A The trust and safety team.
12 Q And, to your understanding, are there a lot of folks within trust and safety
13 that have access to the -- those two, I guess, inboxes on the other end?
14 A I don't know who has access to it. What I can tell you is that they have 15 a -- there is a process for who and how kind of handles each of those as they come in.
16 Q And do you have any familiarity with that?
17 A I can only tell you what I've seen on the receiving end, which is that if I send 18 something in to PERT, I generally get an email response saying, Thank you, noted, we will 19 review that. And then sometimes an individual team member who is assigned to review
20 the content will respond and say, we're reviewing this now.
21 And then eventually they will come back with -- and let us know if they removed 22 it, didn't remove it, age-gated it, put it behind an interstitial, et cetera.
23 Q For that last part, when they respond, do they provide any sort of 24 explanation of why that particular step was taken?
25 A They provide the information about the policy that the content or the

1 channel violated. So, for example, if it's -- if a video violated the hate speech policy,
2 they will say, we removed it for hate speech. If it's a channel termination, you know,
3 they will say that this channel has been, you know, terminated for impersonation.
4 Q Is there anything -- is there any additional detail or color or does it tend to 5 be like a -- it sounds you're describing something with a one-sentence summary.
6 A Pretty much. They often will also provide kind of like external friendly 7 language to just -- which basically doesn't add any more information than this has or has 8 not been removed.
9 Q Is there -- you mentioned you send it in. There's a confirmation that your 10 submission was received. You may receive notification about the person reviewing.
11 Do you always receive a response about what step was or was not taken?
12 A I do.
13 Q And is it the same process for low-priority requests?
14 A In terms of the communication back and forth?
15 Q I'm sorry. Yes.
16 A Yes.
17 Q How fast do you generally hear back on the high-priority requests?
18 A It ranges.
19 Q What's the range, in your experience?
20 A I have seen them review and provide a verdict within the same working day.
21 I've also seen it take several days to a week.
22 Q And what's the range for the low-priority?
23 A That one -- again, because it's sort of there's less of a sort of time-sensitive
24 thing in terms of understanding what the status is, you know, that one I -- I don't pay as 25 much attention to how long they turn it back, because the time sensitivity is generally less

1 important.

2 Q What's an example of a low-priority submission?

3 A I can't -- I can't think of the last thing or recent thing that I sent to the

4 low-priority one. To give you an example, in the past, I might find a blog post or

5 something that has, you know, some links where it's claiming that, you know, YouTube

6 has some violative content on it, but it, you know, was posted 3 years ago. And I'll just

7 copy and paste the links and send it and see what happens.

8 Q For the -- when you would receive a request from -- or information from EIP

9 and you would send that to the high-priority email, once you received a response on the 10 verdict, would you ever communicate that verdict to someone at EIP?

11 A If I recall correctly, when YouTube found that a video or a channel was

12 violative, somebody did go back to the EIP platform and just say -- you know, give the 13 video URL and say, this has been removed.

14 Q Was that ever you?

15 A I think I covered for [redacted] when he was out for a week and did it, but I don't 16 remember. You know, again, I don't remember.

17 Q So this was in the lead-up to the 2020 election. Did you have any 18 interaction with EIP around the 2022 midterm election?

19 A I don't remember. I don't recall the same -- I don't recall the same process

20 for 2022. Yeah. I don't remember.

21 Q Do you have any just general memory that there was some sort of, you

22 know, resuscitation of EIP?

23 A I don't recall.

24 Q We're not too far out from the 2024 election. To your knowledge, is

25 there -- does Stanford currently have the Election Integrity Partnership running for this

1 election cycle?

2 A I haven't heard anything about it.

3 Q Have you or anyone from your team been in contact with anyone from 4 Stanford?

5 Mr. Bopp. When, or what time period?

6 [redacted] Currently.

7 A Anyone from Stanford broadly, the university?

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Anyone from the Stanford Internet Observatory.

10 A I have not been in contact with anybody from the Stanford Internet

11 Observatory recently.

12 Q Do you know if anyone from your team has?

13 A I don't know.

14 Q Are you aware of any partnerships, or broader efforts that the company is 15 partaking in right now related to election integrity?

16 A I don't. You mean, in terms of content specifically?

17 Q Yes, or are you working with someone outside of the company regarding --

18 A Not that I'm aware of. Oh, there's one -- not in the U.S., actually, but there 19 is one -- one thing in Europe that I'm aware of.

20 Q And what is that?

21 A That is under the European Code of Practice on disinformation. It's a rapid

22 response process in relation to content ahead of the Parliament elections, which start

23 today. And it's a very similar process, where the teams will -- you know, things will

24 come in through the Commission's framework.

25 I don't actually know the specifics of it, or even if they have a platform for it.

1 And then, you know, our colleagues in Europe will send the information in, the same
2 process for review.
3 Q Who from the company is handling -- interfacing with the Commission
4 directly?
5 A I believe it's one of my colleagues on the product policy team who covers the 6 EU.
7 Q And who is that?
8 A [redacted]. She's based in London.
9 Q Once the EIP concludes and Stanford and their partners start working on the 10 Virality Project, what was your understanding of what the Virality Project was doing?
11 A I don't remember, but what I can tell you, based on kind of reviewing some 12 of the materials, is that it's -- the framework seemed to be quite similar to the EIP setup.
13 Q And what do you mean by the framework was similar?
14 A I mean that there -- Stanford would look for content on platforms. They 15 would share links to information. The material would be sent for review, and if it 16 violated policies, it was removed, and if it didn't, it wasn't.
17 Q Who from the company was responsible for receiving those communications
18 from Stanford?
19 A I believe [redacted] was involved in that, again, based on some email reviews, but 20 I don't remember if anybody else was working with them.
21 Q To your understanding, were -- what Stanford was submitting through the 22 Virality Project, did those also receive the high-priority email chain?
23 A I believe that it followed the same process as the EIP.
24 Q To your knowledge, was the White House -- sorry, turning back to the last 25 exhibit that had been introduced, when there's the brief discussion about the Stanford

1 work, to your knowledge, was the White House in touch with the Virality Project?

2 A I don't recall specifically. What I can tell you, based on this email, is that I

3 had suggested that maybe they could get trend information from Stanford, since that's

4 what Stanford was doing and looking at.

5 Oh, yeah. Here Stanford is mentioned. It's recently vaccine passports and J&J

6 stuff.

7 And so, according to the email, it sounds like there was some communication

8 between Stanford and [redacted] But my reason for mentioning Stanford was that I was

9 aware of their trend analysis and thought that would be a useful connection potentially 10 for the type of stuff he was looking for.

11 Q So was Stanford providing your team both broader trend analysis, but also,

12 Hey, these links are potentially violative?

13 A I don't remember. What I recall and what -- you know, the way that we 14 dealt with it and what we would have taken in was just the content for review.

15 Q Whether for the EIP or the Virality project, do you remember receiving a

16 communication from Stanford where you thought it was, for whatever reason, not

17 appropriate to send to the trust and safety team?

18 A I don't recall.

19 Q Do you recall receiving, more broadly, making any, for lack of a better word,

20 editorial decisions of -- or were you just facilitating? If something came in, you would 21 pass it to the trust and safety team.

22 A If they were providing a link to content on YouTube, then I was just 23 facilitating and I would have passed it along.

24 Q To your recollection, were you only filling in when [redacted] was not

25 available, or is this a situation where you both had access and if someone happened to

1 see it, they could take the lead in transferring it to the trust and safety team?

2 A I would expect that in order to fill in, I had access. But if I remember

3 correctly, [redacted] was the kind of primary responder. So if he was around, he was the one

4 dealing with it.

5 But, again, this is -- I know that this is, you know, an area of focus here, but this is

6 one very small corner of a broader universe of content removal requests that come to me

7 on a daily basis.

8 Q You mentioned that, to your recollection, that if a video was removed,

9 someone from YouTube would sometimes provide a short statement back to the folks at 10 EIP and say, Here's a link that was removed, or something to that effect.

11 Was there any sort of communication about instances where the verdict from the 12 trust and safety team was to not remove, whether that verdict was communicated to 13 anyone at EIP?

14 A I don't remember. What I remember is like -- is making sure that if it was 15 removed, we communicated that back. I don't remember if we bothered to respond if 16 we didn't remove it.

17 Q Just generally, although if you have a specific recollection to EIP or the 18 Virality Project it would be helpful to know too, but just generally, when there's a source

19 that is submitting links to go to the trust and safety team, does the company internally

20 track the results, so to speak, of how often those links are removed or not?

21 A Do you mean do we track, like, verdicts from individual stakeholders?

22 Q Yes.

23 A Not to my knowledge.

24 Q Is that something that the trust and safety team could know? Or I guess

25 another way of asking it, if someone from the company wanted to know what percent of

1 the links from Stanford had been ultimately removed, would there be a way to assess
2 that?
3 A I could imagine a way of doing it. It would depend on the -- you know, on 4 the -- I'd have to go back through a history of email, look at all the links that came in from 5 EIP, assuming that they were all attributed to EIP as the first source.
6 It's also important to know that some of these things, you know, sometimes a
7 video that is particularly -- viewed as particularly problematic by a number of different
8 stakeholders will be escalated, or come in through a number of different channels.
9 And so, there would be a margin of error around that for sure. But, in theory,
10 you could probably, you know, do a search and try to cobble together some stats, though
11 I don't think they would be particularly accurate.
12 Q If there's a video link that's coming in from multiple stakeholders, does trust
13 and safety have a mechanism of tracking how many people have flagged this particular 14 video?
15 A If it's going through that review process, sometimes they will -- I'll get a
16 response that says, This has already been sent in through another channel, you know,
17 we'll add you to that so you can see what happens there.
18 Q Has trust and safety ever given you a tour, a briefing? So understanding 19 this is obviously not your day-to-day, but just here's a look behind the curtain of what 20 happens once the request comes in?
21 A In terms of like sitting down and doing a -- like a shadow? No, I have never 22 done that.
23 Q To your understanding, does trust and safety have a hierarchy within the 24 team of whether close calls or higher profile videos or concerns are elevated to a
25 particular team within trust and safety as opposed to maybe, for lack of a better word,

1 run-of-the-mill requests?

2 A What I -- in my experience and what I understand is that there are times

3 when a particular video removal might not be as straightforward as others.

4 And that could have to do with, you know, for example, a video in Turkish and a

5 translation not being true -- the translation coming back with sort of one way of saying

6 something, whereas in Turkish, the -- a native Turkish speaker would translate it in a

7 different way. And one of those translations would violate policies, and one of those

8 translations wouldn't violate policies.

9 And so, there needs to be some more in-depth review and, kind of, analysis and

10 assessment to determine whether or not that -- you know, how to treat that video, in 11 terms of its violation.

12 Q To your understanding, in that hypothetical, what does that look like

13 internally within trust and safety?

14 A I -- you know, I don't know exactly who gets pulled in when and how, and so,

15 I can't -- I can't -- I want to be helpful, but I can't give you like a clear kind of path for that 16 sort of thing, because I don't know exactly how it works.

17 Q If you've sent in something that triggers this need for a secondary review or

18 more analysis, do you -- are you alerted about that? Do you receive any sort of update

19 that this is kind of a more difficult submission question?

20 A On occasion. But other times it just takes a long time. And so, you know,

21 at some points, have waited many, many hours and go back to the thread and say, like,

22 you know, Hey, what's up? And then they will say, We need some more time with this,

23 you know, it's under review. And they have a very -- a very rigorous kind of system of 24 communication.

25 Q When you say you go back to the thread, is that via email or is that via

1 something else?

2 A It's via email, an email. Sorry, an email thread.

3 Q Are you familiar with the buganizer tickets within the company?

4 A I am familiar with the system of buganizer.

5 Q Is that system used for content moderation requests?

6 A Not in the way that I submit content moderation requests. I don't know if

7 YouTube trust and safety uses buganizer for community guidelines reviews or not.

8 The way that I've interacted with buganizer is getting things like -- you know, like

9 the statistic you saw about removals, for example, the team that validates that data, they

10 use buganizer to have the teams pull the data, validate the data, et cetera.

11 I mean, buganizer is a very widely used system by product and engineering within

12 the company.

13 Q Turning back to the last exhibit that we looked at a couple times, your

14 second email at the very top of the page, you make a second point. You say, "I'm 15 concerned about this statement: I appreciated your unequivocal response that you are 16 not recommending anti-vaccine content." And then you said, "That's not what either of 17 us said," emailing [redacted] and [redacted]

18 Do you recall whether there were notes that you were able to consult, or if 19 anyone had a readout to compare to what Mr. Flaherty seems to allude to?

20 A I don't recall. What I can tell you is that that is just not a statement that I

21 would ever make on behalf of the company, because it's not a statement the company

22 would ever make.

23 Q And why is that?

24 A Because we couldn't make an unequivocal statement that we're not

25 recommending any particular type of content.

1 Q Do you remember any do-outs or what happened after the meeting with
2 Mr. Flaherty around this time?
3 A In reviewing the documents ahead of this, there -- what I saw and vaguely
4 recollect was [redacted] sent back an email in which we basically collected up relevant publicly
5 available information and sent it back.
6 Q And do you remember working with [redacted] on this email?
7 A I don't remember specifically working on it with him, but I know that I
8 contributed to it, based on reading it.
9 [redacted] This will be exhibit 4. It's an internal email communication dated 10 April 22nd, 2021.
11 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 4.
12 was marked for identification.]
13 [redacted]. Okay.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q In the "to" line, [redacted], do you know who that is?
16 A Yes.
17 Q Who is he?
18 A He is a product manager or director of product management.
19 Q Do you recall this email chain? You're copied on it with the senders.
20 A I didn't recall it until I saw it recently.
21 Q Starting with [redacted] first email, the 10:38 time-stamp, he says, "As you saw 22 the from the email thread from [redacted] yesterday, there is a very high degree of interest
23 coming from the White House."
24 Do you recall during this time period having an understanding that there was a
25 high degree of interest coming from the White House on this issue?

1 Mr. Bopp. What's your question?

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Do you recall -- independent of this email chain, do you recall there being, in

4 this time period, a high degree of interest coming from the White House on this issue?

5 A What I recall from this time period is that there was a high degree of interest

6 in what YouTube was doing and what all platforms were doing around COVID from every

7 government on the planet.

8 Q His next sentence says, "Unfortunately, the role of tech in addressing vaccine

9 hesitancy is about to come under a massive spotlight."

10 At this time, April 2021, did you agree with that assessment?

11 A I mean, again, similar to my last answer, social media platforms globally

12 were, you know -- were under scrutiny when it came to, you know, how we were dealing

13 with information related to the pandemic.

14 Q And based off this time period of April 2021, based off your understanding,

15 how did the White House view YouTube's efforts to address vaccine hesitancy?

16 Mr. Bopp. You say, based on this email chain or --

17 [redacted] No.

18 Mr. Bopp. Not having to do with this email chain. You're just asking for her

19 understanding.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q In April 2021, based on her understanding of what you understood the 22 White House's perspective to be on how YouTube was handling vaccine hesitancy.

23 A I don't really want to speculate. I don't want to speculate on what their 24 opinion was. I don't know.

25 Q Who from the company would know?

1 A If anybody has any more insight, it would probably have been the team that
2 worked directly with them. But again, I -- you know, this was a very global issue. And 3 so, there were just a lot of, kind of, questions, interest from all of my colleagues working 4 with external stakeholders in kind of, you know, what we were doing, how we were 5 doing.
6 Q So certainly can appreciate that. Other governments outside the U.S.
7 Government are going to be interested in this issue. I'm trying to get a sense of what
8 was your understanding of what the U.S. Government, particularly the White House,
9 thought of how YouTube was addressing this issue?
10 Mr. Bopp. I think she already answered that question. You can ask it again, but 11 I think she just said she doesn't know or she didn't -- she doesn't know what the White
12 House thought of how Google was moderating content or handling these issues.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q Which members of your team were most directly interacting with the White
15 House during this time?
16 A [redacted].
17 Q Anyone besides [redacted]?
18 A [redacted] may have had communication with the White House, but at the 19 time -- at the time they were the only two people on the YouTube public policy team
20 focused on D.C., at least that I can remember. I don't think there was a third person.
21 Q Did the company have an interest in understanding what the White House's
22 perspective was on whether YouTube was adequately addressing the issue and concerns
23 around vaccine hesitancy?
24 A What I would say is that, in general, part of our job as a public policy team is 25 to understand how external stakeholders kind of, you know, perceive or comment on,

1 especially in public, our efforts in relation to legislation or other sort of forms, for
2 example, of regulatory enforcement.
3 Q So that's what we're trying to get a sense of. As members of the public
4 policy team, if you could provide testimony about how the White House, at this time,
5 perceived YouTube's efforts to address vaccine hesitancy?
6 A I don't know.
7 Q Isn't that a concern that the public policy team doesn't know what the White
8 House's perception of this issue is?
9 A Again, I wasn't the one communicating with the White House. That was my 10 D.C. team. My role was to, sort of, show up, explain things, you know, have a general 11 understanding of, you know, what the global landscape looked like.
12 If there were particular concerns from the White House, those would have been 13 communicated to [redacted] and [redacted] What I know about the kind of engagement
14 with the White House and, you know, what their opinions might have been would be 15 reflected in the content that we've discussed here today.
16 Q If [redacted], in any context, were to come back to you and say he didn't know
17 what the White House's opinion or perception was on an issue, would that be concerning 18 to you?
19 Mr. Bopp. Didn't know or didn't recall? What are we talking about here?
20 [redacted] Well, both, but the question was if he didn't know.
21 Mr. Bopp. On some current issue, you're saying?
22 [redacted] Yes.
23 [redacted]. I would have some -- I would ask him to potentially find out.
24 And so, let me also just clarify then that when I say I don't know what the White
25 House's perspective was at this time, what I mean is, I don't recall what the White

House's perspective was at this time.

BY [redacted]

Q And why is it important to know what the White House's perspective was at this time?

Mr. Bopp. Wait. I mean, back in 2021, you're asking her why is it important to know what the White House's perspective was back in 2021?

[redacted] Or today, if it's a different reason.

[redacted]. So, as a public policy team, one of the things that we are asked to do is have a general sense of where different external stakeholders stand and perceive YouTube to be on different issues.

And so that, you know -- and the reason for that is generally because of potential impact as it relates to regulation or legislation, so we can kind of track and be aware of what might be coming down the pike.

BY [redacted]

Q If the White House thought that YouTube's approach to vaccine hesitancy was inadequate, what are some of the regulatory or legislation-related risks that the company might face?

A In this case, I don't know what levers they would have had to pull.

Q Who at the company would know that?

A That would have been our D.C. team. But at the time, you know, I don't recall being made aware of any specific regulatory or legislative threat related to any of these interactions.

Q Independent of awareness about a specific threat, who would have awareness regarding just the general capability of the White House to use certain regulatory levers if they wanted to?

1 A Well, that would be our legal team.

2 Q Do you recall any -- let me take one step back.

3 Have you been part of any discussions with the D.C. team about concerns related

4 to Section 230?

5 A I am aware of discussions related to 230, but I have not been actively

6 involved in any of that work.

7 Q And who within the company is actively involved in that work?

8 A There are a number of people across the government affairs and public

9 policy team as well as the legal teams who have been working on that.

10 Q Has [redacted] worked on it?

11 A I don't remember how much involvement [redacted] did or did not have in that.

12 Q What about [redacted], if I'm saying her last name correctly?

13 A I don't know. I don't think that -- yeah, I don't know if that was at all part 14 of [redacted] remit.

15 Q The last sentence in the second-to-last paragraph, [redacted] writes that, "As

16 far as timing goes, we were hoping to get something on the books in the next 2 weeks or

17 so to prevent anything from potentially spiraling out of control."

18 Did you agree in April 2021 that there was a risk of things potentially spiraling out

19 of control?

20 A I don't fully know what [redacted] meant by potentially spiraling out of control.

21 Q Regardless of what [redacted] meant, in April 2021, did you think there was a 22 risk that the situation could potentially spiral out of control?

23 A You mean the pandemic?

24 Q The company's relationship with the White House.

25 A I'm not -- I didn't manage the relationship so I would have had -- I have no

1 idea kind of what that looked like or what that interplay would have been like, and why
2 somebody would make an assessment like that.
3 Q Were you ever part of any conversations where someone was sharing
4 information about the status of the company's relationship with the White House?
5 A Not that I recall.
6 Q During this time, who was responsible for maintaining the company's
7 relationship with the White House?
8 A As I said earlier, when it came to Google, [redacted] led the 9 administration team.
10 Q Turning back to the second sentence of [redacted] first email, he says,
11 "Unfortunately, the role of tech addressing vaccine hesitancy is about to come under a
12 massive spotlight."
13 Why do you think he said that was an unfortunate development?
14 Mr. Bopp. You mean now, or are you asking her to go back to April of 2021
15 and --
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Yes, just based off your understanding of the situation at this time.
18 A So again, there was a general sense of scrutiny of information online coming
19 from governments everywhere, and especially as governments were investing in efforts
20 to get people vaccinated. It was -- it was something that governments were really 21 focused on.
22 Q And what is -- from the company's perspective, what is unfortunate when it's 23 scrutiny from a government?
24 A As a public policy team, that often means, frankly, quite a bit more work for 25 us, in terms of doing a better job of explaining our approach of our work, of, you know,

1 doing more outreach to try to really explain our positions.

2 Q Is there a risk of adverse regulatory action?

3 A In general, or in this instance?

4 Q When there's scrutiny from a government.

5 A In other countries, there has been potential for it to, you know, cede

6 regulation, but that's speaking much more broadly on things like VE, or content regulation

7 issues more generally.

8 Q Was there any concern that the White House would use adverse regulatory

9 action in response to a perception that YouTube was not adequately addressing vaccine

10 hesitancy?

11 A I don't -- I'm not aware of that being part of the analysis here.

1 [3:04 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q You're not aware or you don't recall?

4 A I'm not aware and I don't recall.

5 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

6 [Recess.]

7 [redacted] Okay. Are you ready to go back on the record?

8 [redacted]. Yes.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q Okay. So I want to start by going back to what you were asked about

11 during the previous hour regarding Stanford and the Internet Observatory and some of its 12 various projects. You were asked a series of questions about their scoring reports, and

13 you remembered that there was an instance in which you had to correct one of their

14 reports, but you didn't recall what it was. Did I get that right?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Okay. I'm going to introduce exhibit 5.

17 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 5.

18 was marked for identification.]

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q And this is an email exchange.

21 A Thank you.

22 Q Take as long as you need to review that.

23 A This is No. 5 now?

24 Q Yes, it is. This is No. 5. Thank you.

25 A Okay.

1 Q So in November 2020, [redacted] reached out to some folks at the Election
2 Integrity Project about a policy comparison table that they had published on their blog.
3 Is that correct?
4 A Yep.
5 Q And that's what this email reflects, correct?
6 A That's what I see here, correct.
7 Q And [redacted] was pointing out that the policy comparison table indicated
8 that YouTube did not have policies for certain categories of content, such as incitement of 9 violence or hate, disinformation, conspiracies, misinformation or misleading, correct?
10 A Correct.
11 Q And you wanted to clarify that, in fact, YouTube did have such policies. So
12 he was confused as to why it was listed as no on Stanford's table, correct?
13 A That's what I read here, yes.
14 Q And then you also responded and thanked them for correcting. Because 15 they made the corrections after [redacted] pointed them out, correct?
16 A That's what it looks like, yes.
17 Q That's what was indicated in the email. And you provided some more
18 detail about YouTube's policies, correct?
19 A Correct. And the links that I included here based on what I've written were 20 publicly available information.
21 Q And thank you for that clarification.
22 So is this what you were referring to earlier, to the best of your recollection, about 23 needing to correct something that the Election Integrity Project had published about 24 Stanford's -- I'm sorry, about YouTube's policies?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And so this is actually not about a score on how well you were doing or 2 about content moderation itself or particular instances of content moderation. It was 3 simply about what policies YouTube did or did not have?
4 A Yes, that's right. It was a comparison table with the different platforms
5 kind of policies.
6 Q Now, you were asked a series of questions about the process that you would
7 go through and others at YouTube when the Election Integrity Project or the Virality
8 Project or any one of Stanford's projects would flag videos for you. Do you recall those 9 questions?
10 A I do.
11 Q Okay. And in the hour before that, when I was asking questions, we talked 12 generally about how when an external stakeholder flags content or flags videos for 13 YouTube, what process YouTube goes through, correct?
14 A Correct.
15 Q And you had indicated that if you receive such a request, you forward it on 16 to the appropriate team that actually conducts the -- or actually enforces the policies and 17 conducts content moderation, and they make they're own independent decision
18 regardless of who the stakeholder is who requests the review, correct?
19 A That is correct.
20 Q So I want to show you an example from the Virality Project of this type of 21 request. And so this will be exhibit 6.
22 [Exhibit No. 6.
23 was marked for identification.]
24 . Okay.
25 BY

1 Q Okay. So this is an email chain dated May 12th of 2021, where your
2 colleague, [redacted], emailed the PERT alias that you mentioned earlier, and stated that 3 he received a heads-up about two YouTube URLs related to the magnet challenge. And 4 that's in -- magnet challenge is in quotation marks -- from the Stanford Virality Project.
5 Is that correct?
6 A Yes, that's what I see here.
7 Q Okay. And PERT -- I don't recall if we established this last time, but it refers
8 to -- it's an acronym for the Policy Emergency Response Team, correct?
9 A I have not -- oh, it's actually up here at the top. Policy Emergency Response
10 Team, yes.
11 Q Thank you.
12 And [redacted] email then has a quotation mark that says, "See the following
13 videos of the magnet challenge trend we have seen surface, where individuals place a 14 magnet on the arm where they received the COVID vaccine and appear to show the 15 magnet sticking. This has been used to further microchip and harmful metal conspiracy 16 theories," end quote.
17 Did I read that correctly?
18 A Yes, I believe so.
19 Q And is it your understanding from reading this email that the quotation
20 marks indicate that is the information that was passed on to [redacted] from the Virality
21 Project?
22 A In general, based on the way that I understand [redacted] to share information
23 internally, having worked with him for a pretty long time, that is the likely reason for the 24 quotation marks there.
25 Q Thank you.

1 And to be clear, you were cc'd on the response from the PERT team, correct?
2 A Correct, I was.
3 Q Okay. And after initially responding, "Thanks for escalating. We'll take a
4 look and get back to you," the PERT team responded and said that they struck one of the 5 videos "for violating our COVID misinformation policy," but that the other video "does not 6 violate our community guidelines and will stay approved." Is that correct?
7 A That's correct.
8 Q And so this is an example of the Trust and Safety team performing its own
9 independent evaluation of videos that the Virality Project thought violated YouTube's 10 policies?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Now, if you'll just give me a minute. You were asked a series of questions
13 about the email from [redacted] in which he discussed scrutiny of YouTube's policies.
14 And you mentioned that YouTube and other social media platforms during the pandemic
15 were receiving scrutiny from governments around the world, correct?
16 A Correct.
17 Q Did that scrutiny and the knowledge that YouTube was subject to that 18 scrutiny impact any of YouTube's decisions regarding its content policies or its individual 19 content moderation decisions?
20 A Not to my knowledge, no.
21 Q And you were asked if you were aware about discussions of issues like 22 reform of Section 230 in the company. And you stated that you were aware of those 23 discussions but that you personally were not part of them. Is that correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q Okay. Are you aware of whether those discussions -- or, to your

1 knowledge, were any of those discussions, or was there anyone in the company, link
2 reform of Section 230 to YouTube's COVID-19 misinformation policy?
3 A In discussions that I have heard about 230 or been aware of, that was a topic
4 that I can't recall ever coming out.
5 Q Okay. And when you say that was the topic, you mean the COVID
6 misinformation?
7 A I mean the COVID misinformation piece was not a topic that I can recall
8 being mentioned in any of those conversations.
9 Q Okay. So I want to move a little bit forward in 2021 and talk about a policy
10 change that YouTube implemented regarding vaccine misinformation in late September 11 of 2021. Do you know what I'm referring to?
12 A I vaguely remember. At this point, one of my reports had returned from 13 parental leave, and so she was the primary YouTube public policy person responsible for 14 explaining the update.
15 Q Okay. And was that person [redacted]?
16 A Yes. Now [redacted].
17 Q Okay. Thank you very much.
18 [redacted] And if I could have the next exhibit, please. I've already 19 forgotten. We're on --
20 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 7.
21 was marked for identification.]
22 [redacted]. Okay.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Thank you.
25 So this is a -- it's an email from August 17th, 2021, from [redacted] to a series of

1 Google employees, and you and some other folks are cc'd on it.

2 Do you recognize the names of the individuals in the "To" line?

3 A Yes, I do.

4 Q Okay. I'm not going to take you through all of them, but I am going to ask,

5 were these people, in August 2021, based in or responsible for Google's policies and

6 government affairs in the United States or was this more of a global group?

7 A This at the time was almost all, if not all, of the individuals who are

8 dedicated to different countries around the world.

9 Q Okay.

10 A So, for example, [redacted] is in Brazil. [redacted] is in the U.K. [redacted] is in 11 Germany. [redacted] was Japan. And [redacted] was Korea. [redacted] was Canada. And 12 [redacted] was Australia.

13 Q Thank you very much.

14 The subject of this email is "New Vaccine Misinformation Policy-Input Requested,"

15 and then in brackets "Timely."

16 Did I read that correctly?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And this is a reference to the vaccine misinformation policy that went into 19 effect ultimately in September 2021. Is that correct?

20 A That's correct. I'm not sure the exact date when this actually did go into 21 effect.

22 Q And this was, I take it, based on your earlier testimony and also from your 23 description of where these recipients were based, a global policy, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Okay. Now, the email says, "Hi All, this note is to, 1) share an update on a

1 new vaccine misinfo policy that will be rolling out in September, and, 2) get feedback
2 from regional/local leads about risks and opportunities to inform our GTM strategy."
3 Did I read that correctly?
4 A Yes.
5 Q Okay. And what does GTM stand for?
6 A Go to market.
7 Q Thank you.
8 It then says, "For background, today we do not have a general vaccine misinfo
9 policy. We do have a COVID-19 vaccine misinfo policy which allows us to remove a
10 limited list of verified false claims about COVID-19 vaccines."
11 Did I read that correctly?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And to your recollection, is that an accurate statement of Google's
14 policies -- or, I'm sorry, YouTube's policies in August of 2021?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Okay. And then she states that, "On September 1st (TBC) we will launch a 17 new policy that will prohibit false claims about the following."
18 And then she lists three categories: Vaccine safety, efficacy of vaccines, and 19 ingredients in vaccines, correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And then the new policy will also, "Terminate channels that demonstrate a 22 pattern of promoting vaccine hesitancy," and then goes on with some explanation of 23 what that means, correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And then if you look at the next page, [redacted] writes, "The list of vaccines

1 that will be in the scope of this new policy are below - this list is based on the vaccines of
2 the World Health Organization -- I'm sorry -- the vaccines the World Health Organization
3 recommends in routine immunization programs globally."
4 Did I read that correctly?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And then it lists -- one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight -- nine
7 different vaccines, correct?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And I'll just read them quickly. The Tuberculosis vaccine, hepatitis B, 10 POLIO, DPT, Hib, pneumococcal, ROTAVIRUS, MMR, and the HPV/Gardasil vaccine. Is 11 that correct?
12 A Yeah, DT.
13 Q Okay. Thank you. I'm not sure if I said that correctly.
14 And COVID-19 was not listed in this list, correct?
15 A No, it's not in this list.
16 Q And that's because, as [redacted] mentioned, YouTube had already instituted
17 a COVID-19 vaccine misinformation policy?
18 A That is correct. And that was included in the slide deck from earlier and 19 which indicated that it was launched in October of 2020.
20 Q And then at the -- closer to the bottom of that page, it says, "ASK: Please 21 confirm whether your local/regional assessment of this update is that, a) this policy is 22 risky from a local GAPP POV" -- and I assume that means Government Affairs and Public
23 Policy, correct?
24 A Correct.
25 Q -- "with details about what the risks are and why (so we can think through

1 mitigation strategies, et cetera) or, b) this is a positive development that you would want
2 to highlight with KOFs in your region."
3 Did I read that correctly?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And what does KOF stand for?
6 A Key opinion former.
7 Q Okay. Thank you.
8 And this, again, was sent in August of 2021, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And [redacted] was asking people on the GAPP team to -- for input about 11 whether they thought this was a wise idea and how this would be received by the 12 stakeholders that they deal with, correct?
13 A I would frame it as interested in understanding what the risks are and 14 how -- so that that could inform kind of to talk about it when they go to market effort.
15 And then whether this is something that would be viewed by certain folks as positive, in 16 which case, we can do -- we would consider potentially doing more kind of proactive 17 outreach to highlight it.
18 Q Okay. And sometimes that sort of proactive outreach happens before the 19 policy is actually implemented to give folks a heads-up that this is coming?
20 A On occasion, yes.
21 Q Okay. And given that this email was sent in August -- or mid-August 22 of 2021, is it safe to assume that the decision to allow this policy was made prior to that?
23 A I mean, based on the information in the way [redacted] laid it out here, the fact 24 that she's seeking and specifies informing the go-to-market strategy, my understanding in 25 terms of process -- and, again, I don't -- I don't recall the specifics of this time period -- but it does sound like this was a baked policy.

And so what she is seeking is an understanding of how -- how it will be received in order to inform how she and the -- our other colleagues need to prepare to kind of talk about that.

Q And what exactly do you mean by when you say it's a baked policy?

A Oh, sorry.

Q It's okay.

A It's set. The lines are not going to change based on any feedback that [redacted] is having.

Q Okay. Thank you.

[redacted] And if I could have the next exhibit, please. And this is exhibit 8.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 8.

was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]

Q And just for your reference, it's just a continuation of that email thread. So we only need --

A Oh, great.

Q -- portions that are on the first page.

A Okay.

Q Okay. So on August 18th, [redacted] responded that he was supportive of the policy change, "and generally speaking in the EU this is a positive development that we would want to highlight with KOFs in our region."

Did I read that correctly?

A Yes.

Q And then he pointed out that, "in presenting this development," as another

1 employee had pointed out earlier, "it could be tricky to explain why these misinfo areas
2 were allowed before. Do we have a good answer for this?"
3 Did I read that correctly?
4 A Yes.
5 Q Okay. And then [redacted] responded, again, to thank for the updates and 6 heads-up, and asked, "whether we still want to meet with local health authorities to 7 discuss the policy and get their buy-in prior to launching as suggested by [redacted]
8 Did that I read that correctly?
9 A Yes.
10 Q So it was not unusual for GAPP team members to meet with stakeholders to 11 get their buy-in on significant policy changes?
12 A Yes. And I want to clarify.
13 Q I'm sorry, yes -- I did not phrase that properly.
14 A Okay. Yeah, yeah, yeah.
15 Q Was it unusual?
16 A It was not unusual.
17 Q Thank you.
18 A What I would like to also clarify is, when [redacted] says buy-in here, and when 19 that term is used within the Public Policy team, that basically means see if they're 20 supportive and potentially having a positive voice in support once that policy is launched.
21 Q It does not mean approval or permission, correct?
22 A That is correct.
23 Q Okay. And why would YouTube want to get that type of buy-in from local 24 health authorities or any external stakeholders?
25 A We've discussed quite a bit the amount of scrutiny that social media

1 platforms face, including YouTube. And so having some positive voices out there and 2 acknowledging things in a positive way is kind of part of our job.
3 Q And because it's part of your job, that's why, in certain circumstances,
4 members of the GAPP team might reach out to government officials in advance of a
5 policy to inform them of it?
6 A That's correct.
7 Q To receive that positive feedback?
8 A That's correct. We may also reach out in advance if we know that it's not 9 going to be well received to inform them ahead of time.
10 Q And why might you do that?
11 A Part of it is to, you know, potentially mitigate any -- you know, mitigate by 12 explaining the rationale; any, you know, frankly, very public noise about something.
13 We, you know -- we want to make sure that we are explaining it and having it understood 14 versus another party explaining it in a way that doesn't actually capture the accuracy of 15 what's happening.
16 Q Now, are you aware from reviewing the documents in this case or from your 17 independent recollection, that before this policy went into effect, [redacted] emailed 18 Rob Flaherty at the White House to advise him of this policy and ask if he had any 19 feedback?
20 A I am not aware of any email exchange [redacted] had with Rob about this.
21 Q Okay. And I apologize, but I don't have that email handy. I was planning
22 on waiting for the majority to get there, but since it's late in the day, I wanted to just get 23 here first.
24 For those GAPP team members that did reach out to governments to advise them
25 of this, did they do so because they were seeking permission or approval from the

1 government?

2 A No.

3 Q Okay.

4 A I mean, not to my knowledge, but that's not our practice.

5 Q Now, the majority has claimed that this new vaccine misinformation was

6 adopted in response to pressure from the White House to pressure on Google and

7 YouTube to change its policies. Is that why YouTube adopted this new vaccine

8 misinformation policy?

9 A No.

10 Q Did the concerns that Mr. Flaherty expressed to YouTube about vaccine

11 hesitancy back in April 2021 or any time have any impact on YouTube's decision to 12 implement this new policy?

13 A Not that I'm aware of. This policy is -- it has nothing to do with COVID

14 misinformation.

15 Q And that was going to be my next point. This policy is about other

16 vaccines?

17 A Correct.

18 Q Okay. And so as far as you're aware, there's no connection between Mr.

19 Flaherty's discussions with YouTube about COVID misinformation and the adoption of this

20 policy?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Okay. And in all of the documents that you've reviewed in preparation for

23 today, has there been any reference or have you seen any reference to Mr. Flaherty or 24 the White House in relation to this policy change?

25 A I have not.

1 Q Okay. Now, in May of this year, just to get a little bit more specific about
2 why I'm asking you those questions -- actually, you know what, I'm going to save that for 3 the next hour. We can strike that, and we can go off the record.
4 [Recess.]
5 [redacted] We can go back on the record, please.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Who is he?
10 A I'm not sure what his title is, but he is -- I believe he leads our YouTube's
11 health partnerships team.
12 Q Have you interacted with him as part of your role at the company?
13 A Yes.
14 Q At a very high level, what's your understanding of what his responsibilities
15 are with the company?
16 A My understanding is that given his expertise as a medical professional, he 17 consults with Trust and Safety in relation to policies that touch medical information.
18 And I also believe that his team is in touch with different types of medical organizations
19 and professional bodies around the world, I believe.
20 Q To your understanding, has he had interactions with the CDC or other parts
21 of HHS?
22 A I would assume so, yes.
23 Q But you don't have direct knowledge?
24 A Not that I recall specifically.
25 Q I think we've gone over different variations of this. Do you recall any

1 meetings of, whether it was someone on the policy team or maybe someone from [redacted]
2 [redacted] team or -- where you were briefing someone who's then going to be talking to
3 HHS?
4 A I don't recall.
5 Q Do you recall any interactions with the White House after -- let me rephrase
6 that. There are subsequent ones you mentioned.
7 Do you recall any interactions with the White House in the summer or fall of 8 2021?
9 A With anybody from the White House or --
10 Q Yes.
11 A I don't recall any -- I don't recall anything, no. Not that I recall.
12 Q In the previous round, there was discussion about the content moderation,
13 the change of the community guidelines, about the safety and efficacy of vaccines
14 broadly, that ultimately took effect in the fall of 2021.
15 A Yes.
16 Q To your recollection, when did discussions around that change to the 17 community guidelines first begin?
18 A I don't recall. As I said earlier, my colleague -- or my report actually was the 19 one who handled that policy through the market, so I don't remember when it -- I don't 20 remember when it started.
21 Q And can you say your colleague's name again?
22 A [redacted]
23 Q What's [redacted] last name?
24 A Her email shows [redacted] but it's actually [redacted]
25 Q How many direct reports did you have in 2021?

1 A Let's see. I -- in which part of 2021?

2 Q How about how did it change throughout 2021?

3 A So I was still in the interim role. And the reason I ask is because I don't

4 remember when my APAC person came on board. So -- and then [redacted] was also out for

5 the beginning of 2021. So it was anywhere -- and I don't know if I had hired [redacted] yet.

6 So it would've been -- let's see. [redacted] -- somewhere between three and five over the 7 course of the year.

8 Q Okay. When did [redacted] come back in 2021?

9 A I think she came back in the -- sometime in the early spring of 2021.

10 Q Okay. Prior to her coming back, was there any discussion about 11 changing -- about making this change to the YouTube's community guidelines?

12 A I don't recall.

13 Q If there was discussion that would've looped in members of your team, prior 14 to [redacted] return, who else from the team might have been a part of those discussions?

15 A They probably would've looped me in.

16 Q Okay. Do you recall any conversations with [redacted] about the policy

17 change?

18 A I mean, we have regular one-on-ones. And so in the course of our regular

19 meetings, she would have given me updates on kind of where things were and what the 20 next steps were and asked me for guidance.

21 Q Do you recall any of those discussions or any of it?

22 A I don't.

23 Q Who from your team attended the briefing with the executives about this 24 policy change?

25 A You mean in terms of the policy approval?

1 Q Yes.

2 A I don't recall. These meetings happen with quite a bit of regularity. And
3 so the attendees change based on who's available and what the topic might be. And so I
4 just -- I honestly don't remember.

5 Q In the situation where [redacted] is taking the lead and she is consulting on 6 behalf of your team, asking questions, providing some sort of feedback, what sort
7 of -- typically speaking, what sort of work product -- does she providing you a readout?

8 A So one of the things that our team regularly prepares for something like this,
9 whether it's a policy update or expansion or a new product launch, is a -- just call it a
10 GAPP doc. And, basically, it includes a very brief summary of what's happening. It 11 includes, where relevant, information about the timeline.

12 So, for example, earlier today I talked about sometimes we might announce a 13 policy, start enforcing, but have a grace period when it comes to penalties. And so, you 14 know, that's an example of a YouTube timeline and launch timeline that somebody from 15 my team would include in a doc.

16 There also would generally be what's known as a buddy note, which is a very 17 standard email that our colleagues, again, noting that these would be used by our 18 colleagues around the world, can copy and paste into an email to give a heads-up to their 19 relevant stakeholders after launch. And then, you know, some talking points to 20 explain -- explain what the change is or what the update is or what the new feature is in 21 conversation.

22 Q Can you say a little bit more about the GAPP doc? Who is the audience for 23 that doc?

24 A The Public Policy team.

25 Q So someone on the Public Policy team creates it to be read by others on the team?

A That's right.

Q And at what stage in the process was that GAPP doc created?

A It depends on a number of things. Frankly, part of it is how much procrastination is done on the part of the person covering it. So sometimes they're created, you know, very early on and fleshed out over the course of time. Sometimes they're created, you know, a week before the actual launch happens if it's a small thing.

Q If it's one of those that's been created early in the process, so this is a document that can be revised oftentimes or updated?

A Yes. It's effectively part of the go-to-market materials for the Public Policy team.

Q And is the individual involved -- or the individual responsible for drafting the GAPP doc the same individual who takes the lead on the policy change for the GAPP team?

A As in sort of is meant to be the subject matter expert on the policy or product change versus writing the policy?

Q Yes.

A Yes, it is the subject matter expert on the Public Policy team responsible for explaining and covering that particular feature of the policy.

Q So if there were to be a GAPP doc, the way the sort of policy change you've been discussing from fall of 2021, it would be likely drafted by [redacted] at some point. Is that consistent with how protocol normally would be?

A That is consistent with how the protocol would normally be.

[redacted] I'm going to introduce two exhibits at once. The first exhibit, exhibit 9, is an email chain between the White House and members of Google and YouTube from

1 July of 2021. There is a link at the 10:57 timestamp from Mr. Flaherty on July 20th,
2 2021.
3 [Exhibit No. 9.
4 was marked for identification.]
5 Exhibit 10 will be the tweet that is linked in this email.
6 [Exhibit No. 10.
7 was marked for identification.]
8 To clarify on the record, is not on this email chain.
9 I'm sorry, I think I missed it. Which one's this?
10 The email is 9 and the tweet is 10.
11 . Okay.
12 BY
13 Q For the email chain, there's a back and forth between Mr. Flaherty and 14 Mr. Flaherty flags a tweet that has a screenshot of some YouTube thumbnails.
15 And Mr. Flaherty asks a question about how YouTube's policies apply. And, ultimately,
16 gets back to him with an answer. This is in July of 2021.
17 Do you have any recollection of being looped into any internal company
18 conversations regarding the question from the White House or the response that was 19 provided?
20 A I do not. But what I can say about response is that you will see that 21 the stack he provided is the same stack that was in the presentation we talked about 22 earlier from February of 2021. So response was the approved language that we 23 had been using throughout any of the conversations. And, yeah.
24 Q Later on in his -- the last email of this version of the chain, from 7/21 at 1:03
25 a.m., writes, "To clarify, the content was not in violation of the policies,

1 therefore not subject to removal."

2 In order to be able to make a statement like that, who from the company would

3 he need to consult with?

4 A So he would have needed to have the individual videos reviewed by the

5 Trust and Safety team.

6 Q If you were in his situation and you would have received this screenshot of

7 the thumbnails, and if you're able to identify the YouTube links, how would you have

8 flagged the YouTube links to the Trust and Safety team? What process would have been

9 used?

10 Mr. Bopp. Just -- let's just make it clear. I mean, you're asking a hypothetical.

11 You didn't actually do this. But having said that, if you can answer using what 12 you customarily would have done, something like that, then feel free to answer.

13 [redacted]. Okay.

14 Yeah, I mean, in a case where it's a screenshot like this, the first thing one would

15 have to do is search for those individual videos on YouTube, find the video URLs, put

16 them together in an email, send them to the Trust and Safety team for review, and then

17 evaluate the verdicts when they came back.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Would you have directed this to an individual at Trust and Safety? Would 20 you have used one of the prioritization emails available?

21 A I would've used the PERT alias that we discussed earlier.

22 Q Is that the high priority one?

23 A I don't know. I think for this one, given that the nature of the tweet wasn't

24 actually questioning the -- whether or not the content was violative, this would not have

25 struck me as particularly time sensitive, and I probably would have used PERT-lite.

1 Q There's the tweet and some of Mr. Flaherty's language that's not just about 2 why the videos weren't removed but about the algorithm and highlighting concern about 3 what is being recommended at the end of the video. For a situation like this where 4 there's been a concern about the recommendations that are being made, is there an
5 avenue by which you can contact the Search and Discovery team?
6 A There is a way for us to send videos to Search and Discovery to be evaluated.
7 Q And what does that customarily look like?
8 A That is generally somebody -- they have a much -- actually, there are two 9 ways. One is that it can go through PERT. And then somebody could ask, if the verdict
10 came back as nonviolative, to have it reviewed, you know, to see if it is something that 11 external readers have looked at and can look at. And then another way is sometimes 12 just sending it to somebody on the product team and they would route it.
13 Q For the first way mentioned, if it's been sent through PERT, someone from 14 Trust and Safety or someone from your team could flag it for the Search and Discovery
15 team?
16 A There are instances where I've asked just on -- in response to the alias if 17 somebody could look at it. And I don't remember if they -- I think they added somebody
18 else in, but I don't -- I don't remember who or how or exactly. But it is something that 19 I've asked on that particular chain.
20 Q Just to clarify, you're saying you've asked to the PERT email, and then 21 someone from, presumably, Trust and Safety added in someone from --
22 A Search and Discovery, that's correct, yeah.
23 Q Do you recall any specific examples of a time you did that?
24 A I don't. I don't recall a specific example, no.
25 Q If you -- for the second way you mentioned, reaching out directly to the

1 product team for a situation like this where there's a set of videos you're trying to add an
2 interest in understanding how or why the recommendations came out this way, who on 3 the product team would you reach out to?
4 A Since we're speaking theoretically, I likely, again, would've actually sent it to 5 Trust and Safety first. And then I -- looking at -- you know, for example, the Rand Paul
6 video is from the Hill. And that is an authoritative news source, according to some, you
7 know, people's understanding. And that's not something that I would ask anybody to 8 have a look at.
9 Q Independent of this example, just generally, if for whatever reason you
10 weren't having success going through the PERT program or wanted to have a second 11 means of reaching out, who on the product team would be appropriate to reach out if 12 you wanted to understand more about what recommendations were coming up based off
13 certain videos?
14 Mr. Bopp. And just to be clear on the record, are you asking her sort of generally 15 in her practice who she would have reached out to since otherwise we're talking about a
16 hypothetical?
17 [redacted] Yes, yeah.
18 Mr. Bopp. Okay.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q I mean, if it's changed over time, then we'd want to know that. But just 21 generally speaking, if you have a point of contact on the team or someone that you
22 understand could provide more information to you.
23 A If it's about recommendations generally, I -- I mean, this is -- it really -- it
24 really depends on the circumstance. A lot of people raise concerns about things they're 25 seeing in recommendations. And my general response is to explain that we use a

1 number of different factors to determine what shows up in recommendations versus
2 turning to an escalation path of any sort to have the recommendations evaluated.
3 Q Do you have a primary point of contact of somebody you generally interact
4 with on the Search and Discovery team?
5 A Again, it depends on the timeframe. If we're talking about now, I
6 would -- again, it depends on specifically what kind of an information I am seeking. So if 7 you have a more concrete example of, you know, what kind of information in a
8 hypothetical, I can provide you a more specific answer.
9 Q What if you wanted to understand why election videos were feeding or 10 recommending videos related to vaccines?
11 A I don't know that that's a question I would ask our teams to look into. I
12 think that that would be an instance where I would point to our blog that explains the 13 many different signals that come into play when it comes to recommendations and not 14 go any deeper into it.
15 Q If there was a concern about borderline content -- you're familiar with the 16 figure that's been cited. If you wanted to better understand if there was a concern that 17 accounts that weren't verified and were being recommended, who on the Search and 18 Discovery team could best speak to that?
19 A I'm sorry, what do you mean by accounts that weren't verified?
20 Q Or if it was -- or accounts that are not authoritative, if there's a concern 21 about whether borderline content from nonsubscribed accounts was being 22 recommended.
23 A That's where I would probably ask somebody directly in Search and 24 Discovery. I think I would start with [redacted]
25 Q And what's [redacted] last name?

A [redacted], [redacted].

Q And what's his role?

A He's a director of responsibility within Search and Discovery.

Q You mentioned another sort of document or work product that's often created with the changes of the community guidelines, the buddy notes.

A Uh-huh.

Q Just hypothetically, but if you remember what roughly does a buddy note say or include?

A It is generally a very basic email that says, you know, hi, I'm reaching out to let you know that as of, date, YouTube will be updating X policy to do Y thing. You can read more about it on our blog, if we have a blog post about it or if the company has made a blog post.

If there is an available Help Center article, we would include the Help Center article. And we also, when we write those things, usually include just a kind of boilerplate line of, you know, please don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions or if you'd like to have a -- if you'd like to discuss.

1 [4:19 P.M.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And do those go out before or after it's been publicly announced?

4 A Generally, the buddy notes are written to be sent after the sort of public

5 announcement or the public go live.

6 Q And is the same person who drafts the GAPP doc the same person that

7 drafts the buddy note?

8 A Generally, yes.

9 Q And for the talking points, are those drafted in coordination with the buddy

10 note? Or who is the intended audience for the talking points?

11 A The intended audience for the talking points would be our global GAPP

12 colleagues, and to use with key opinion formers.

13 Q Who would fall under key opinion former?

14 A A government official, a third-party organization, you know, a thought leader

15 working in this space, think tank, regulatory body.

16 Q And when talking points are prepared, or a buddy note, is it sent in the body

17 of an email? Is it an attachment, a Word doc to an email?

18 A Are the talking points sent?

19 Q Uh-huh.

20 A So the talking points don't get sent externally.

21 Q Sure. When they're sent internally to the GAPP team.

22 A It all lives in one Google doc.

23 Q The buddy note, the talking points, the GAPP doc generally?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And in three separate Google docs or one Google doc?

1 A In one Google doc with a table of contents and different sections.
2 Q We had a discussion earlier regarding borderline content. I wanted to
3 clarify a couple things, if you could. First off, who selects the testers for borderline
4 content?
5 A I am not that deep in the details of how the selection and sort of rater
6 process works. In my role, what I have been sort of trained to understand, the extent of 7 my knowledge is that we leverage external raters.
8 Q To your understanding, are those picked by the company in some form or 9 fashion?
10 A I don't know. I don't know who chooses them. I don't know how they're 11 selected.
12 Q Who at the company might know that information?
13 A [redacted] would know.
14 Q When it comes to just broadly managing the testers, is it part of the Search
15 and Discovery team's responsibility?
16 A You mean the evaluators?
17 Q Sure, the evaluators.
18 A Again, I don't know what the structure looks like there. I know that, you
19 know, because that whole world lives within Search and Discovery, they have some 20 responsibility for the structure, but I don't want to speak on the record about something I
21 don't really fully understand.
22 Q The guidelines that the evaluators are relying on, what are those called 23 internally within the company?
24 A I only know them as rater guidelines. I don't know if they have any more
25 formal name.

1 Q And is the Search and Discovery team responsible for drafting the rater
2 guidelines?
3 A Again, I don't know the details of how they have set up the structure or the 4 processes.
5 Q So within YouTube, there is a team, there is Trust and Safety that develops
6 the community guidelines and that handles content that's removed, content that is age
7 dated. And then in a different silo within the org chart, there is someone possibly 8 Search and Discovery, that drafts the rater guidelines. There are evaluators that are 9 using those to evaluate potentially borderline content.
10 Is that your understanding of how the company has this set up?
11 A Yes, that is my understanding.
12 Q Are there, to your knowledge, meetings or discussions between the Trust
13 and Safety team and the Search and Discovery team?
14 A They are often in the same meeting.
15 Q To your understanding, do changes to the rater guidelines go through a 16 similar process as changes to the community guidelines?
17 A I don't know.
18 Q To your understanding, does a change to one trigger a change in the other?
19 A I don't know. My understanding is that the Trust and Safety team has their 20 process for developing and expanding community guidelines, and Search and Discovery 21 has their process or has some process and structure with regard to the raters and the 22 rater guidelines.
23 Q So there is public facing documents that the company has put out that refers
24 to borderline as content that comes close to but doesn't violate our policies. When the 25 company is saying that, are they saying not violative of the community guidelines or the

1 rater guidelines?

2 A They are saying of the community guidelines because if it violates the

3 community guidelines, it would be removed, and therefore, not eligible to be

4 recommended at all.

5 I think, if I can just add something, I think, you know, in sort of an earlier exchange

6 that we looked at where we had talked about potentially -- or in other documents -- this

7 is one of the areas where, in conversations and in follow-up with the White House, with

8 Rob specifically, there was a lot of, kind of, misunderstanding of the nuance of this.

9 And so, this is where I think you will have seen that we thought it might be helpful

10 to have [redacted] who, at the time, we discussed -- you saw him on an email thread. He was

11 a PM who was responsible for -- at least I think partly responsible for some element of 12 the reduce pillar.

13 And so the rationale for having [redacted] participate in the meeting was to talk in a little

14 bit more detail just about how the reduce pillar itself works. I wasn't part of that

15 conversation, but what I can also tell you is that [redacted] would have explained a bit about the 16 way that there is sort of a separation of church and State, as I've explained here.

17 But at the time, [redacted] was a good person to kind of give a little bit more insight from 18 the product perspective on how that worked.

19 Q So I certainly appreciate that there's two teams and to a certain degree, then

20 there's separation of church and State. But if borderline content is being presented to 21 the public as content that is close to, but not violative of the community guidelines, it

22 sounds like there has to be some sort of relationship then between the two where if the 23 community guidelines shift for whatever reason, that necessarily will shift what's

24 considered borderline content.

25 Is that an inaccurate understanding of the relationship between the two?

1 A The way that YouTube talks about that is that they say that borderline
2 content comes close to, but doesn't violate policies.
3 In practice, I don't know what the relationship might be between changes to the 4 community guidelines and alterations of the rater guidelines. In my role, that's far
5 outside of the scope of things that I am privy to, or that I've been asked to or expected to 6 understand.
7 Q To your understanding, and with the understanding this is not your primary
8 responsibility to either team, does the Search and Discovery team have some sort of 9 mandate or guidepost to have their rater guidelines hue closely to the policy guidelines,
10 the community guidelines?
11 A I really want to be helpful, but I don't know.
12 Q Looking at two different parts of the org chart, when is the first point you get 13 someone who oversees both, at what level of seniority?
14 A That would probably be at the -- I don't know if it's at the CPO level or at the 15 CEO level.
16 Q Based off your understanding of the system the company has, is borderline
17 content potentially a misnomer?
18 A What do you mean by misnomer?
19 Q Well, if it truly is church and State, and you've got one team doing one thing
20 and another team doing another thing, and if there isn't a mandate to hue closely to the 21 community guidelines, is it misrepresentative to frame what the Trust and Safety team is 22 working on as borderline content?
23 A You mean the Search and Discovery team?
24 Q Sorry, yes.
25 A Again, I don't want to speculate on how they would develop the rater

1 guidelines. What I can tell you is that there was a whole tranche of content on
2 platforms generally that doesn't violate policies, but may be viewed as harmful, and I do
3 not believe that it's misleading to represent that as, quote, unquote, "borderline,"
4 because it doesn't violate policies, but it can also be viewed as harmful.
5 Q You would agree that the company has presented it, though, this kind of 6 what they're calling borderline content as content that comes close to violative content.
7 Is that fair?
8 A That is fair.
9 The company has also represented it as harmful content.
10 Q Are there like a whole other set of team of enforcers, then, for borderline
11 content?
12 A There are the external raters who review the content and that informs the 13 automated systems.
14 Q Other than the evaluators, is there anyone internal in the company who has 15 the opportunity to weigh in on enforcement as, yes, this is borderline content and should 16 be reduced, or no, this is not and should not be reduced?
17 A Not in my experience.
18 Again, the guardrails are developed such that the content is reviewed by external
19 raters, and I say multiple raters because it's not a single -- my understanding is it's not a 20 single rater. It's multiple raters who look at an individual piece of content, and they are 21 not internal employees, to my knowledge.
22 Q But you don't know who from the company picks who those people are?
23 A That's right.
24 Q Do you have interactions with the CEO other than the briefings we discussed
25 I think in the first hour?

1 A The first hour was a little while ago.
2 Q Sorry.
3 A Sorry.
4 Q Other than the briefings regarding changes to the community guidelines
5 policies.
6 A I do, yes.
7 Q And what's the nature of some of those interactions?
8 A It might be providing an update on regulatory developments. It might be 9 any meeting were somebody from the product team is presenting or explaining a new 10 feature that they wish to roll out.
11 Q Do you have any standing meetings that you attend that the CEO also 12 attends?
13 A We have a regular forum as the Public Policy team, combined with legal,
14 where we provide exactly the sort of first example that I gave you, updates on regulatory 15 developments and legislative landscape.
16 Q How often does that standing meeting meet?
17 A It's generally something that happens biweekly, but it gets moved around
18 quite a bit.
19 Q Do you recall any meetings where there's discussions about regulatory 20 developments, potential regulatory developments in the context of the need for or 21 consideration of changes to the community guidelines?
22 A That's not the nature of the briefings that we do as a government affairs
23 team.
24 Q What's the nature of the briefings you do?
25 A For example, if there is a new bill introduced in, you know, Germany, that is

1 novel and would potentially have significant impact on YouTube and YouTube's product,
2 features, or systems, that's something we would explain or provide a briefing on, along
3 with our sort of -- you know, we might include some redlines, how we seek to change, or 4 how the bill can be improved, as well as potential strategy and outreach.
5 Q Are you familiar with the new firearms policy that's about to take effect I
6 think June 18th?
7 A I am familiar, yes.
8 Q And to your understanding, what changes are being made?
9 A So somebody on my team covered this, and so I'm not -- I haven't been as 10 deep in the details of it. What I understand is that the major expansion and addition to 11 the firearms policy is that it is going to prohibit 3D printed gun content.
12 Q Who from your team is taking the lead on this?
13 A That was [redacted].
14 Q And what's her title?
15 A I believe analyst, senior analyst.
16 Q Do you know when discussions on this policy change first began?
17 A I don't know.
18 Q Were you privy to any of the conversations regarding it? Let me take one
19 step back.
20 Were you privy to your team's opportunity to consult with and ask questions to 21 the Trust and Safety team before it went up for approval?
22 A A bit, but I didn't participate in those meetings.
23 Q When you say a bit, what do you mean?
24 A I know that, you know, again, through the course of the standard process to 25 develop or amend an existing policy, members of the Public Policy team, along with other

1 cross-functional stakeholders, had the opportunity to participate in discussions and ask
2 questions.
3 Q Did [redacted] attend the meeting with the executives when this policy was up
4 for approval?
5 A I don't know. I believe I was out of the office when that happened.
6 Q Do you know approximately when that meeting occurred?
7 A It may have happened in April, but I think with this one, also, I don't recall
8 specifically, but it's also likely that [redacted] if she was there, she didn't have much of a 9 speaking role.
10 Q Do you know if there were disagreements about the scope of the policy
11 changes?
12 A Within these YouTube discussions?
13 Q Yes.
14 A I wasn't present, so I don't know.
15 Q Did [redacted] ever tell you about any?
16 A Not that I recall.
17 Q For the firearms policy and for other ones, there are policies specific to live
18 streams. How does YouTube enforce its policies against live streams?
19 A So one keynote is that all of the policies apply to live streams. Now, there 20 are a handful of -- it might only be one, frankly, specific to live streams. And 21 enforcement is done the same way for a live stream as it's done for any other piece of 22 content. It's reviewed. If it's a live stream in action, it's reviewed while it's in action.
23 If it's found to be violative, then it's terminated.
24 Q Is there a different reporting process or a way to expedite review of a live
25 stream as it's happening in real time?

1 A No.

2 Q When submitting something, is there --

3 A I should say not that I'm aware of, to be clear.

4 Q For Trust and Safety, is there one email address for live streams and one for

5 videos, or is it all the same? You would just put the hyperlink to the live stream the 6 same way you would for the YouTube video?

7 A I would use the process the exact same way as I would for any other -- I

8 would note that it's a live stream because that might call for immediate review because

9 it's in flight.

10 Q Does the company have, like, the algorithm or other automatic ways to see 11 whether live streams are violative or not?

12 A While they are live?

13 Q Yes.

14 A I don't actually know how the automated detection works for live streams.

15 What I can tell you is that often live streams, after they're done streaming, convert to sort

16 of standard YouTube videos, and those can often be sort of found through the course of 17 the systems that look to detect violative content.

18 Q There are, presumably, accounts creators who will be impacted by the new

19 policy affecting, you know, how to create new guns, or ghost guns, or whatever it might

20 be that falls within the scope. For a situation like that, does the company preemptively

21 reach out to those creators? How are those relationships managed, if at all?

22 A In certain cases, I do believe that the creator team does some outreach to 23 creators.

24 Q Are you familiar with other community guideline changes where that was 25 necessary?

1 A I can't think of another example specifically to give you, but I do recall it
2 being, you know, part of some of the go-to markets for certain policies. I'm sorry. I
3 can't recall a specific example.
4 Q As it relates to changes to the firearms policy, are you aware of whether 5 there has been any discussion within the company about how this new policy may affect 6 creators who monetize this type of content that's now going to be considered violative?
7 A Well, what I know is that if the content is removed, then it can't be 8 monetized. I don't know -- again, I'm not aware of specific conversations related to the 9 monetization piece of this.
10 Q Are you familiar with what types of advocacy that the company has received 11 about the need to change its community guidelines regarding firearms?
12 A I don't know about the specific advocacy, but I do understand that this was a
13 policy where, at least I'm pretty sure that the teams sought expert, kind of, perspectives
14 before they moved ahead drafting the policy.
15 Q Who would have been, who within the company would have been selecting 16 which experts to seek out?
17 A I think that for this one, I believe that they may have consulted public policy
18 stakeholders in the U.S. and possibly abroad because, again, this is a global policy. This 19 isn't just a U.S.-specific policy. But I don't know the specifics.
20 I believe that this policy was actually in the works for quite a long time, and I just 21 don't recall when, you know -- how they kind of went about things for this one.
22 Q Do you recall anyone within the company soliciting feedback from or 23 receiving other communications from New York officials about this policy change,
24 potential policy change?
25 A I don't recall anybody seeking feedback from New York officials specifically.

1 I do recall that YouTube received a letter from Bragg's office. That letter had no bearing
2 that I'm aware of on the policy.
3 Q Do you know if there was ever a meeting between someone from the district
4 attorney's office and YouTube?
5 A I don't. I'm not aware.
6 Q Who from the company would have the lead for handling the relationship
7 with the district attorney's office?
8 A I believe that would -- I believe that relationship would be owned by the 9 Google GAPP New York manager.
10 Q Who is that?
11 A Her name is [redacted] and I think her last name is [redacted]
12 Q Why would -- if you can just walk generally, not specific to this firearms
13 policy change -- would someone from the Google GAPP team handle issues, or 14 communications related to an outsider's concerns with the YouTube policy?
15 A Because where we don't have a YouTube-specific lead or point person, the 16 Google GAPP person is kind of the first point of contact.
17 So States, for example, we don't have a YouTube GAPP, you know, representative
18 for even regional States or regions of States. We have the Google teams who kind of 19 channel things to us and through us.
20 Q Who is the Google GAPP representative for California?
21 A That's a good question. I believe she just moved on recently, so I don't 22 know -- or has been out for a period of time, so I don't know what the status is.
23 Q Who is that individual?
24 A I can't remember her name, but she reports to [redacted].
25 Q And what's [redacted] title?

1 A I think she -- I don't know. West maybe.

2 Q To your knowledge, when YouTube was reaching out to experts or

3 stakeholders, did that include any government officials, U.S. Government officials?

4 A For this particular issue?

5 Q Yes.

6 A Not that I'm aware of. I'm not sure.

7 Q Any individuals from ATF?

8 A I don't know.

9 Q Is that something that [redacted] might know?

10 A It's something that [redacted] might know. It's also something that [redacted]

11 might know. Again, [redacted] role, and my team's role in this, is one of kind of 12 interpretation and explanation versus the folks who were external facing would be the 13 ones to be the points of contact.

14 Q And in this case, your expectation is it might be [redacted] from the Google

15 GAPP team?

16 A Again, it depends on the place, who owns the relationship, et cetera.

17 Q So for New York, it might be [redacted]

18 A For New York it might be [redacted]

19 Q If it were, hypothetically, the ATF, or some part of the executive branch, who 20 would that be?

21 A That would likely be, if it's a YouTube-specific issue, because that's the place

22 where we have YouTube people, it would be [redacted] or somebody on her team.

23 Q To your knowledge, if there has been any -- well, let me rephrase that.

24 To your knowledge, has there been any creators who have reached out to folks at 25 YouTube about disagreements or concerns about the effects of the new policy change?

1 A I don't know. Not to my knowledge. I have been basically preparing and
2 focused on this for the last 2 weeks, so I don't know what's happening in the rest of the 3 YouTube universe right now.
4 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.
5 [Discussion off the record.]
6 [redacted] Okay, we are back on the record. Thank you.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q I would like to turn back to exhibit 9, which is the email exchange between 9 Mr. Flaherty and [redacted] about that tweet, and I'm just going to ask you some 10 questions, because I want to be really clear about what Mr. Flaherty did and did not ask in 11 this email chain.
12 So if you look at the second page of the exhibit, when he first raises it, he says,
13 "I'm curious. I saw this tweet." And then there's the link to the tweet, correct?
14 A That's correct.
15 Q And then he says, "I think we had a pretty extensive back and forth about 16 the degree to which you all are recommending anti-vaccination content. You were 17 pretty emphatic that you are not. This seems to indicate that you are. What is going 18 on here? Thanks!"
19 Did I read that correctly?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And the only question here is: What is going on here, correct?
22 A That's the only question that I see.
23 Q He did not ask YouTube to remove the videos that were screenshot in the 24 tweet that was linked here?
25 A Correct.

1 Q And he did not ask YouTube why the videos were not removed?

2 A He did not.

3 Q And then [redacted] responded with the stats that you referred to earlier, and

4 an explanation of what percentage of content on YouTube's platform in the United States

5 is borderline, and just a general discussion of borderline content, correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And then Mr. Flaherty responds by asking what the actual number is right

8 now. And then he asks another question: "I guess: Does the content that the user

9 references in his tweet count as a violative content that has slipped through, or is it that

10 generally the stuff he's posting is inbounds?"

11 Did I read that correctly?

12 A Yes.

13 Q So he is asking which camp this falls into, correct, or which category of

14 content?

15 A That's how I read this.

16 Q And in [redacted] response, he, again, talks about --

17 A Sorry. Actually, let me clarify that.

18 Q Sure.

19 A What I read this as is him asking if it's content that is violative that our teams

20 haven't reviewed and enforced against, or if it's stuff that is not violative.

21 Q And he does not, in here, express an opinion as to which category he thinks

22 it should fall into?

23 A That's right.

24 Q And he doesn't make any request to remove the videos?

25 A I don't see a request to remove videos.

1 Q Or to reduce them?

2 A Correct.

3 Q Okay.

4 And then [redacted] responds again with more language about YouTube's policies,

5 and that's when he first says, "With regards to the specific videos you reference, the 6 content was not in violation of our community guidelines."

7 Did I read that correctly?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And then Mr. Flaherty responds with his final question in this email chain

10 where he says, "This actually gets at a good question. The content" -- and then he uses

11 the user's name -- "points out isn't defined as, quote, borderline and, therefore, isn't 12 subject to recommendation limitations."

13 And did I read that correctly?

14 A Yes.

15 Q So he's simply asking whether it is defined as borderline or not?

16 A That's what I see here, yes.

17 Q He does not ask for it to be defined as borderline?

18 A No.

19 Q And he does not ask for it to be removed?

20 A Correct.

21 Q Okay.

22 And then [redacted] responds again by saying that the content did not violate their

23 user's policy and was not subject to removal?

24 A Yes. I'm sorry.

25 Q Thank you.

1 So earlier this year, on May 1st, actually, just last month, the majority released a
2 report entitled "The Censorship Industrial Complex: How top Biden White House
3 officials coerced Big Tech to censor Americans' true information and critics of the Biden
4 administration."
5 And I'd like to introduce some excerpts from that report. And they are all quite 6 short, so hopefully, this won't take too long.
7 Mr. Bopp. Are you marking this?
8 [redacted] Yes.
9 So this will be exhibit 11, if I am keeping up correctly. And these excerpts all 10 have this front page of the report just to be clear where this is drawn from.
11 [redacted]. Okay.
12 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 11.
13 was marked for identification.]
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Okay. So if I could turn your attention to the blue chart on the second page 16 of this exhibit --
17 A Yes.
18 Q -- it appears to be a timeline or a flow chart. And I want to draw your 19 attention to the entry for July 20, 2021. That is the date of the email chain that we just 20 went through, correct?
21 A Yes, that's correct.
22 Q Okay.
23 And this report characterizes that exchange as "Flaherty asks YouTube why it's not 24 removing videos that don't violate its policies."
25 Did I read that correctly?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And is that an accurate description of Mr. Flaherty's email exchange with

3 [redacted] on July 20th?

4 Mr. Bopp. Well, wait a minute. Wait a minute. I mean, to the extent you're

5 representing that exhibit 9 is the email chain that's referred to here in this timeline, is

6 that what you're representing to us?

7 [redacted] That's what I'm representing.

8 Mr. Bopp. Okay.

9 [redacted] And it is -- there are later exhibits, by the way, that will show that.

10 [redacted]. To the extent that that is what you're representing, I don't see any 11 reference in this email thread to removing videos.

12 BY [redacted]

13 Q So let me ask it this way: If that is representing -- I'm sorry.

14 If that entry on the blue chart is referring to the email chain in exhibit 9, then it

15 does not accurately describe the email chain?

16 A Correct.

17 Q Thank you.

18 If I could have the next exhibit, please.

19 Or actually, before I get there, earlier, during the previous hour, we talked about 20 the September 2021 policy change, and I referenced an email from [redacted] to 21 Mr. Flaherty that I did not have at the moment. So I just wanted to correct that and 22 introduce that.

23 And this will be exhibit 12, and the relevant email is on the second page.

24 A Okay.

25 [redacted] Exhibit No. 12.

1 was marked for identification.]

2 Q Okay. So the email that I'm referring to on the second page is from

3 Tuesday, September 11th, 2021, from [redacted] to Rob Flaherty. You are not cc'd on 4 this email. Do you recall seeing this email?

5 A I do not.

6 Q But in the email, [redacted] says to Mr. Flaherty, "Our YouTube Trust and

7 Safety team is working to finalize a new policy to remove content that could mislead

8 people on the safety and efficacy of vaccines. We would like to preview our policy

9 proposal for you and get any feedback you may have." And then he asks for availability.

10 Did I read that correctly?

11 A Yes, that's what I see here.

12 Q Okay.

13 And as you discussed earlier, this is not an uncommon type of email that a GAPP

14 external facing team member would send out to a -- I forgot the acronym that YouTube

15 uses.

16 A KOF.

17 Q KOF, Key Opinion Former, or one of its external stakeholders, in advance of 18 the policy changes?

19 A That's right.

20 Q Now, now I will introduce the second excerpt from the majority's report.

21 And for what it's worth, I will, for this moment, just be asking you about that first section.

22 A Okay. Okay.

23 Q Okay. So this first section of the report has a heading called the YouTube

24 files, and then it begins right away by quoting the email that we just reviewed from 25 [redacted] to Mr. Flaherty. Is that correct?

1 A That's what I see, yes.

2 Q Okay.

3 And then in the next paragraph towards the middle of the paragraph, the majority

4 asserts: "Like Facebook, YouTube ultimately capitulated and changed its content

5 moderation policies after months of pressure from the White House. In

6 September 2021, after continued criticism for not censoring borderline or non-violative

7 content, YouTube shared a new policy proposal to censor more content criticizing the

8 safety and efficacy of vaccines with the White House and asked for any feedback they

9 could provide before the policy had been finalized."

10 Is that an accurate characterization of this communication and why this policy

11 change was adopted?

12 A In my experience, and to my knowledge, this is not an accurate

13 characterization.

14 Q Why not?

15 A YouTube doesn't, in my experience, YouTube doesn't change policies, and

16 certainly didn't develop the vaccine misinformation policy that this references as a result

17 of pressure from the White House.

18 Q And I believe that you testified earlier that you, in fact, did not experience

19 any pressure from the White House for YouTube to change its policies?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And I believe you also testified that by the time of [redacted] email in

22 August, specifically on August 17, 2021, the policy was already baked, meaning it was 23 already finalized?

24 A Yes, that was my understanding.

25 Q And so your understanding is that whatever feedback Mr. Flaherty may or

1 may not have given to [redacted] would not have impacted the contours of that policy?
2 A That is my understanding.
3 Q And are you aware of Mr. Flaherty actually providing any feedback to 4 [redacted] about the policy?
5 A I am not. And looking at the email thread, he actually didn't get back to 6 [redacted] until 8 days after [redacted] initially reached out, when the policy had been publicly 7 announced in that interim period.
8 Q And then we'll turn to the third excerpt, and this will be it.
9 Okay. So in this excerpt, there is the subheading that says, "September 2021:
10 YouTube changes its content moderation policies, seeking feedback from the Biden White
11 House on proposed changes."
12 Did I read that correctly?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And then the first sentence reads as follows: "Following months of 15 extensive pressure from the Biden White House, YouTube finally acquiesced in 16 September 2021, when the company instituted a new content moderation policy to 17 remove content that questioned the safety or efficacy of the COVID-19 vaccines."
18 Did I read that correctly?
19 A Yes, you did.
20 Q And then as evidence of that statement, again, there is actually a screenshot
21 of that same email exchange from September 21st and then, September 29th between 22 Mr. Flaherty and [redacted]. Is that correct?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Okay.
25 Now, that statement that I just read, that first sentence of that paragraph about following months of extensive pressure from the Biden White House, YouTube finally acquiesced, that sentence, is that an accurate characterization of what happened here?

A No.

Q Okay, and why not?

A Well, two reasons: First, YouTube didn't make this particular policy due to pressure from any external stakeholder, including the White House.

But second, this report is talking about -- has characterized that content moderation policy as a COVID-19 vaccine policy but it was not. The September 2021 policy was a general vaccine policy, and as we discussed earlier in [redacted] email, it lists out the various vaccines that are included in that, and COVID-19 is not one of them.

Q So, in fact, that policy was about nine vaccines that are not the COVID-19 vaccine?

A Yes.

Q Thank you very much.

[redacted] And with that, we can go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] We can go back on the record, please.

BY [redacted]

Q We're back on the record, and I just wanted to clarify a point that your attorney raised earlier.

Going back to exhibit No. 11, which is the blue chart excerpt from the report.

A Yep.

Q And we talked about the entry on that chart for July 20, 2021, correct?

A That's correct.

Q And if you look at the text that is next to the chart, it talks about White

1 House continuing to press YouTube about its policies and enforcement, sometimes asking
2 why particular videos were not removed or otherwise demoted. And there is footnote
3 29.
4 If you look at the bottom, footnote 29 references an email from Rob Flaherty to 5 YouTube and Google's personnel from July 20th, 2021, at 10:57 a.m. Is that correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And if you go back now and look at exhibit 9, the email from Mr. Flaherty to 8 [redacted] where he sends the tweet and then asks about the back and forth of [redacted]
9 recommending anti-vaccine content, what is going on here, thanks, that was sent July 20, 10 2021, at 10:57 a.m., correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q Okay.
13 And I will also just note for the record that the email -- although the names of -- I 14 believe [redacted] name is redacted, but this email is also attached as exhibit 112 to the 15 majority's report.
16 [redacted] And with that, the minority will go off the record, and we will 17 switch back to the majority.
18 [redacted] Still on the record. I think counsel had something he wanted to say.
19 Mr. Bopp. Thank you. Just a couple quick clarifying questions.
20 BY MR. BOPP:
21 Q In the last hour, the minority asked you some questions about a May 1,
22 2024, interim staff report by the staff of this committee. Do you recall those questions?
23 A I do recall those questions.
24 Q Okay. And those questions were, in part, based on exhibits 9 and 12, which 25 you've been asked about as well. Do you recall that, too?

1 A Yes.

2 Q So first of all, I want to ask you whether in answering questions about

3 exhibit 9 and 12, are you answering questions from your own personal knowledge and 4 not on behalf of the company?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Okay. And in addition --

7 Mr. Bopp. I think that covers it for now. Thank you. That's all.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Is it your testimony that the policy from September 20, 2021, did not impact

10 in any way how content regarding the COVID-19 vaccine was affected?

11 A Based on the information that we have here and that we've reviewed, and 12 what [redacted] laid out in her emails, that was my understanding.

13 Q And this email from [redacted] which one are you referring to?

14 A Oh, I'm sorry, exhibit No. 8.

15 Q And is that the August 18, 2021, email?

16 A Yes, that's the August 18th. Her original email is August 17th.

17 Q The email from [redacted] what's the timestamp of the --

18 [redacted] Can I have another copy of the exhibit that we just introduced?

19 Mr. Bopp. What are you looking for?

20 [redacted] Whichever version the minority introduced.

21 Mr. Bopp. Exhibit 8.

22 [redacted] Thank you.

23 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 15.

24 was marked for identification.]

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q All right. I'm going to introduce as exhibit 15 a different variation of that
2 chain.
3 A Okay.
4 Q If I could have you flip to Bates number 70738.
5 A Okay.
6 Q There is an email from [redacted] saying, "On September 1st, (TBC), we will 7 launch a new policy that will..." and then it lays out several prongs.
8 First, based off the emails that have been either reviewed or have been produced
9 in this interview, that policy did not launch on September 1st. Is that fair to say?
10 A Yes. And just for your kind of understanding, TBC means to be confirmed.
11 Q If I can have you flip to the next page, 70737.
12 A Okay.
13 Q There is an email Wednesday, August 18, 2021, at 7:31 a.m., from a Google
14 email address. Do you know who that is?
15 A Yes. That's [redacted].
16 Q And what's her role?
17 A She is the YouTube GAPP lead for Korea.
18 Q She writes: "We're glad to see this policy update for COVID-19 vaccine 19 misinfo."
20 Is she misunderstanding the scope of the policy change?
21 A So I don't recall specifically, but if you look at [redacted] email, [redacted] actually 22 claims in her email that this doesn't apply to COVID vaccine information. So from the 23 perspective of the individual who was managing the launch, it looks like she is responding 24 to [redacted] and correcting [redacted] understanding.
25 [redacted] I'm sorry. Just to be clear, you're referring to the language on

1 page 70736?

2 [redacted]. Yes, that's right, the third bullet.

3 What I can tell you is that the information that is sort of the other prong for

4 certain, the vaccine safety, the efficacy of vaccines, the ingredients in vaccines, those

5 three pieces of the policy that are listed on page 70738, those don't apply to COVID.

6 Those are the parts of the policy that apply to this list of nine vaccines here.

1 [5:32 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q The bullet point where [redacted] is responding, she's referring to the personal

4 testimony. Is that right?

5 A She's -- yes, she's respond -- she's referring to the pattern of vaccine

6 hesitancy promotion.

7 Q Which is separate from -- in the email on August 17, 2021, at 8 p.m., there

8 are different prongs. There are the prong referring to the pattern of promoting vaccine

9 hesitancy is number 2, and number 1 is regarding the prohibition of certain types of 10 claims.

11 Is that correct?

12 A That's what I see here. On the August 17th email, the number 1 has three

13 bullets that are related to claims specific to this other set of vaccines listed in her August 14 17th email; and then number 2 is in relation to this pattern element.

15 Q And piecing together [redacted] two emails, when she's saying the COVID-19

16 vaccine is not included, she's referring to the second prong. Is that right?

17 A She is referring to the second prong there and the -- in her original email on

18 the 17th, she also says, "For background, today we do not have a general vaccine misinfo

19 policy. We do have a COVID-19 vaccine misinfo policy which allows us to remove a

20 limited list of verified false claims about COVID-19 vaccines."

21 And then she goes on to say that this list of vaccines in scope of the new policy, in 22 relation to that new policy, are listed below.

23 Q That list is for prong 2. Is there any expansion --

24 A I'm sorry. Sorry, yeah.

25 Q Okay. Do you disagree?

1 A No. I want to hear the rest of your question. Sorry.

2 Q Okay. Well, first, is that list of vaccines for just prong 2 or is it for prongs 1

3 and 2?

4 A So my understanding and my experience with this one is that it is for both

5 prongs 1 and 2.

6 Q On the first page, there's pretty specific language, though, that when she

7 says, this will not include the COVID-19 vaccine, she's referring to the pattern of 8 promoting vaccine hesitancy. She's not referring to the whole policy. Is that right?

9 A She is referring to the pattern in that section. She has also stated that a

10 policy is already in place specific to COVID-19 vaccine misinformation.

11 Q Yes, but the policy in place is limited to a finite list of verified false claims.

12 Is it your testimony that this new policy about vaccine safety, the efficacy of 13 vaccines, and the ingredients of vaccines in no way would expand the type of claims

14 about the COVID-19 vaccine?

15 A I can't say for certain. What I understand was that the major aspect of this

16 policy, as outlined here, was to apply this policy to this list of vaccines.

17 Q But your testimony in the previous round was specific about whether the 18 report was accurate or not about -- regarding any changes to the company's COVID-19

19 vaccine policies.

20 A I understand. And I was -- again, we clarified that I was speaking in my 21 experience and my understanding and not on behalf of the company.

22 Mr. Bopp. Right. And let's just be clear on the record here. There's an

23 answer to your question, right? And [redacted] is not the expert on the full

24 application of this policy. We can find out whether this policy applies and get back to 25 you.

1 [redacted] There are a number of pending document requests from the
2 committee I think would help with this question. And I think there are documents that 3 we continue to want to go through right now to help clarify the record, given the 4 minority's very public and private push to release transcripts, even though the 5 investigation is ongoing and even though the release of transcripts would undermine the 6 integrity of the investigation.
7 Mr. Bopp. But let's just make it clear. The record should show that [redacted]
8 [redacted] just noted that she is not -- she cannot say for certain the exact scope of this 9 policy from September 2021. She is trying to interpret an email chain that she received,
10 she was copied on, you know, 3 and a half years ago. And she's doing the best -- or 3
11 years ago. She's doing the best she can. But we don't want -- we want to make it clear
12 what she is and is not saying. She's not the expert on this policy.
13 Would you agree with that?
14 [redacted]. I would agree with that.
15 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 16.
16 was marked for identification.]
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q I'm going to introduce as exhibit 16 an email from [redacted] copying [redacted] to 19 the GAPP team on September 21st, 2021.
20 A Okay.
21 Q The first sentence, it says that, "we will expand the parameters of our 22 COVID-19 vaccine misinformation policy." Then it says it will defer to vaccines that are 23 confirmed to be safe and effective by the World Health Organization.
24 To your understanding, at this time, was the COVID-19 vaccine one of the vaccines
25 confirmed to be safe and effective by the World Health Organization?

1 A Yes.

2 Q I don't recall the exhibit number, but I want us to turn to [redacted] email

3 to Rob Flaherty from September 21st, 2021, specifically Bates number 12376.

4 A Okay.

5 Q In earlier responses, you provided testimony about when decisions were

6 made within the company regarding the policy guidelines change being discussed here.

7 If it's the case that the policy guidelines were already determined by the company

8 prior to this email being sent, why did [redacted] refer to it as a proposal?

9 A I don't know.

10 Q Is there any benefit to the company presenting to a government official that 11 there's an opportunity potentially for the policy to be changed?

12 A Not in my experience.

13 Q Why not?

14 A The public pol- -- or, sorry, the policy development process, it is not one

15 where we would in a case like this or where the Public Policy team would be -- in my

16 experience, this wouldn't be something that we would be asked to do at a late stage like

17 this, because, again, I want to -- I want to go back to the timing where the policy was

18 announced publicly between the time that [redacted] reached out and the time that Rob

19 actually responded.

20 Q Yes. So before it's publicly announced, your understanding is [redacted]

21 reached out to the White House?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Okay. What I'm asking -- I understand what the emails say and what your 24 understanding is, based off of your experience. I'm asking, if there was not the

25 opportunity to revise the policy, what benefit is there for the company to tell the White House that it is only a proposal?

A I cannot speak to why [redacted] chose the words he chose for this email.

Q If Mr. Flaherty was on the receiving end of this email, received it, it looks like he didn't respond prior to the public announcement, but based off the text of the email, the impression would have been given that the policy had not been finalized. Is that correct?

A Again, I can't speculate as to how Rob would have interpreted this. It's possible that he could have interpreted it that way.

Mr. Bopp. I'm not sure you're -- why don't you restate the question.

[redacted] If it's possible he could have interpreted it that way, is there a benefit to the company if he interprets it that way?

[redacted]. No.

[redacted] Why not?

Mr. Bopp. We're getting very theoretical here, and I'm not very comfort -- I'm not really comfortable with [redacted] answering questions about whether there might be some benefit to the company hypothetically if [redacted] had said something in advance of the final -- I'm sorry, the final propo- -- or, rather, the proposal going final.

If -- I think we understand where you're going with the question, but it is highly theoretical, particularly since [redacted] wasn't even part of this email chain. So is it possible to rephrase your question so it's not hypothetical?

[redacted] I mean, she's providing definitive answers in the previous round. She's providing definitive answers to that last question. So --

Mr. Bopp. I think and we clarified right at the beginning of this round that her responses to questions about this document, exhibit 12, are not on behalf of the company. It's just from her personal experience. And also, she wasn't part -- she's not

1 even part of this email chain.

2 So I'm just uncomfortable with her being put in the position of, you know,

3 speaking for the company when we want to make it very clear that she's not.

4 [redacted] Again, speaking in your own capacity and not on behalf of the

5 company, it's your testimony that there's no benefit to the company for saying that a

6 policy is not yet finalized when previewing it for a government official?

7 [redacted]. In my experience, that hasn't been a practice that I've engaged in.

8 [redacted] I understand it may not be a practice that you have engaged in. I'm

9 asking based off your experience at the company, to your understanding, is there any

10 benefit to the company of indicating to a government official that the policy is not yet

11 finalized?

12 [redacted]. I have not, in my experience, had any evidence that there's a 13 benefit to that.

14 Mr. Bopp. Are you saying -- just, again, I want to make sure the record is very 15 clear here. I think you're saying -- you're asking whether, you know, a government

16 might be interested in commenting on a proposal before it goes final, and might that be a

17 benefit to a company in terms of the relationship with the government or something like

18 that.

19 If that's what you're saying, I think, theoretically, the answer has to be yes, but 20 you go ahead.

21 [redacted]. From the perspective of -- I mean, what I've explained before is

22 that the reason that our team reaches out to explain policies to stakeholders, including

23 government stakeholders, is to get a sense of how they might react to it once the policy is

24 announced.

25 And so if we are -- so the benefit, in theory, in my experience, of reaching out to a

1 stakeholder about a policy is to -- is to get a sense of how they'll react. And, in my
2 experience, that's what it's limited to. But also in my experience, I don't reach out to 3 stakeholders. I haven't been asked to reach out to stakeholders before a policy is 4 finalized. That's not the standard practice for our team.
5 [redacted] One last question, and we'll move on.
6 Is there any difference in an email that asks for feedback on a policy that has 7 already been finalized and has been announced as opposed to asking for feedback to a
8 proposal?
9 Mr. Bopp. I'm really not comfortable with her answering that question. Again,
10 it's highly theoretical, hypothetical. She's already said she -- [redacted] is not -- does 11 not have an externally facing job within the company. And so I don't think she's the 12 right person to answer that question, particularly if you're looking for, you know, some 13 answer that might have some relationship to what the company's position is, which we've 14 already made it very clear she's not speaking for the company.
15 [redacted] Unless you're instructing her not to answer the question --
16 Mr. Bopp. You're welcome to answer the question.
17 [redacted]. I don't have an answer for your question.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q In an earlier round, we walked through your recollections and also just what 20 would have customarily been likely to have happened based off your role in the internal 21 processes, the changed community guidelines for the fall of 2021 policy that we've been 22 talking about.
23 And based off the testimony you provided, it sounds like your role would have 24 been relatively limited. You mentioned there was an opportunity for, as one of several 25 teams, your team to provide feedback prior to the approvals process. Is that right?

1 A Yes.
2 Q And do you have any recollection of you or a member of your team play a
3 material role in the revision of this policy?
4 A I don't have any recollection, no.
5 Q And so when you provide answers saying in your personal experience based 6 off what you've been able to see, your experience as it relates to this policy change are 7 limited to just that. Is that right?
8 A They are based off of my experience.
9 Q Are you privy to other parts of the internal processes that go into the change
10 of this particular policy?
11 A Do you mean generally or specifically this policy?
12 Q Specific to this one.
13 A I don't recall.
14 Q Shifting gears a bit, have you had any interactions with the Center for 15 Countering Digital Hate?
16 A I don't recall ever engaging with them directly.
17 Q Okay. Have members of your team or have there been forms of indirect
18 engagement with them?
19 A What I am aware of has been in the form of reports that they publish and 20 generally evaluating content online.
21 Q And have any of the reports been regarding YouTube or how YouTube
22 handles certain types of content?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Are there any reports that you can think of or any examples that you're 25 aware of right now?

1 A I don't recall anything specific, no.
2 Q When there were reports, who at the company is responsible for assessing if
3 those reports have any merit to them?
4 A It's a mix.
5 Q Okay. Who are some of the people that might be responsible?
6 A We might have legal read it. Somebody from the Public Policy team might 7 read it. Some folks from Trust and Safety might review accuracy.
8 Q Do you remember any examples where you were one of the individuals that 9 was assessing one of CCDH's reports?
10 A I don't remember specific examples. One of the parts of my role, similar to 11 kind of reviewing scorecards and assessing accuracy, is to sometimes look at reports and 12 assess accuracy or find errors in the methodology.
13 Q For any of the CCDH reports regarding YouTube, do you recall if there were 14 errors in methodology?
15 A I can't recall.
16 Q Are you familiar with the Disinformation Dozen report that CCDH put out?
17 A I am familiar with the concept of the Disinformation Dozen, but I don't 18 remember specifically the CCDH report about it.
19 Q Did you review any of the public criticisms that Facebook had regarding the 20 methodology?
21 A I don't recall.
22 Q Do you recall any discussions with others within the company about 23 shortcomings in the CCDH's methodology or errors in the reports that reference or 24 involve YouTube?
25 A I don't -- I don't recall.

1 Q Other than the reports, has CCDH come up in any other context as part of 2 your work at the company?
3 A What I can recall is when people forward or share or mention CCDH reports.
4 Q Do you recall any external stakeholders forwarding the CCDH report?
5 A Not that I recall, but it's possible.
6 Q Have you had any interactions with NewsGuard as part of your role at the
7 company?
8 A Directly?
9 Q Yes.
10 A Not that I recall.
11 Q Do you know of anyone at YouTube that has?
12 A Not that I am specifically aware of.
13 Q Okay. Have you had any interactions with the Global Disinformation Index
14 as part of your role at the company?
15 A That name is also familiar, but I don't -- I don't recall any specific
16 engagement with them.
17 Q To your knowledge, have members of the company had interactions with the 18 Global Disinformation Index?
19 A I believe that members of the Google GAPP team have. I'm -- I don't recall 20 or I'm not aware of any YouTube engagement.
21 Q Who from the Google GAPP team?
22 A I believe [redacted] has met with them and talked to them.
23 Q Do you know anything about the context or the nature of the interactions
24 between the Google GAPP team and GDI?
25 A I don't recall. What I can say is that, you know, again, they are an

1 external -- an external entity, and it's possible that -- it's not unusual for folks across the 2 GAPP team to engage with external entities.
3 Q Other than the NSC example at the San Francisco visit, as part of your role at 4 the company, have you met directly with any U.K. officials?
5 A Yes.
6 Q On what occasions?
7 A I believe it was the Home Secretary, and I joined a meeting with him
8 in -- when he was visiting San Bruno.
9 Q Any others that come to mind?
10 A I believe I've met with others from the U.K. in the last 5 years, but those are 11 the -- the two that I've mentioned are the ones that are -- that I can actually recall.
12 Q Are you familiar with the World Federation of Advertisers?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Have you had any interactions with them as part of your time at YouTube?
15 A Yes.
16 Q What's been the nature of those interactions?
17 A So in the transparency-related part of my role, I have been asked to review
18 and contribute to and help to kind of shape the transparency reports that we 19 provide -- that YouTube provides under the framework that GARM, which is a 20 suborganization I think of WFA, established.
21 Q When did you first have interactions with GARM?
22 A I don't recall. Whenever they -- probably whenever they first started doing
23 their transparency reports.
24 Q Was this prior to you joining YouTube, when you still were with the Google
25 side of the company?

1 A I am pretty certain it was after I moved over to YouTube.
2 Q Outside the context of the transparency reports, have you had interactions
3 with GARM or with the World Federation of Advertisers?
4 A I can't recall. The bulk of the work was around that transparency stuff, so
5 that's the main thing that I remember and was focused on.
6 Q And what was the nature of your work as it related to that, the transparency
7 stuff?
8 A Some of it was trying to -- looking to shape and set expectations regarding 9 data that YouTube would be able to provide in accordance with data that YouTube has 10 already made publicly available. They had also written -- they write their own kind of 11 narrative text to accompany that data, and it has needed significant revision in the past.
12 And so I've edited that work with regard to their sections on YouTube.
13 Q Why did it need significant revision?
14 A Inaccuracies.
15 Q What were some of the inaccuracies?
16 A I don't remember the specific inaccuracies. I just remember that it needed
17 a fair amount of revision.
18 Q Do you remember just generally what the direction of the errors were, what 19 was the problem?
20 A I don't.
21 Q Were there others from YouTube that were working to address these 22 inaccuracies?
23 A The relationship was managed by a business partner, business team, and so
24 they were involved as well. And I don't know -- I don't know who else might 25 have -- might have been asked to review or been involved in reviewing.

1 Q What's the name of the business team?
2 A I don't know.
3 Q Who leads that team?
4 A I don't know their names. I don't remember their names.
5 Q The -- Google Ads and then the -- I forget the exact name but the advertising
6 team for YouTube within that, did anyone from those teams have any interactions with 7 GARM?
8 A I wouldn't know.
9 Q Who's your main point of contact at GARM?
10 A I don't -- I haven't, at least in the last round of reports, in the last couple of 11 rounds of reports, interacted directly with GARM. It goes through the team that 12 manages engagement with them.
13 Q And do you know who they engage with?
14 A I don't.
15 Q Did GARM ever ask YouTube for nonpublicly available data?
16 A I don't -- I don't recall. I believe when they were looking at their original 17 transparency kind of templates, it was -- they were sort of sketching out what they would 18 like from each individual company. And it was meant -- there was meant to be parity
19 across the company, so not asking for things from -- different things. And what I recall is 20 just making sure that those things lined up to the data that we would make publicly 21 available.
22 Q You said you remembered setting expectations. Was there any difference
23 between what GARM was asking for and what YouTube was able to provide?
24 A I don't -- I don't recall.
25 Q Who was that request directed to within the company?

1 A The request for data?
2 Q Yes.
3 A Do you mean from me or from GARM or --
4 Q From GARM. Who was it?
5 A It was all kind of sort of coming through the partnerships team.
6 Q And then who within the company makes the decision of what data to 7 share?
8 A As a general matter, the goal in this sort of a situation is to align that report
9 with what we've already made publicly available, so that there wasn't a decision about 10 additional data to share.
11 Q Do you know who Dr. Kate Starbird is?
12 A I know who Kate is, yes.
13 Q Have you worked with her as part of your role at YouTube?
14 A I have not worked with her. I believe that I had a question from her or 15 someone on her research team at some point in time about the YouTube researcher
16 program, but that was the -- that's what I can recall is the extent of my communication
17 and interaction with Kate.
18 Q Does YouTube have any partnerships with universities where they share
19 nonpublic data?
20 A Not that I'm aware of. And that's, again, outside the bounds of my role. I
21 don't --
22 Q Which team would be in charge of that?
23 A I don't even know. If there was any -- yeah, that would have to be 24 something specific to, you know, an individual research project, and I'm not aware of any 25 of those.

1 Q Have you worked with the Atlantic Council's Digital Forensics Lab -- Forensics
2 Research Lab?
3 A I am familiar with the organization, but I don't recall any specific interaction
4 that I've had with that organization.
5 One thing I will say about nonpublic data to universities is just that, under the 6 Digital Services Act, there is a provision through which academic -- academics and vetted
7 researchers are able to request different types of data from companies outside of what's 8 made publicly available under the public data provisions of that law.
9 And so I am not aware of us getting any of those requests and turning over data
10 yet, but that is one area where we would potentially be obliged to provide nonpublic 11 data.
12 Q Are you familiar with anyone at the company having worked with the DFR
13 Lab at the Atlantic Council?
14 A I believe that [redacted] has worked with them in the past.
15 Q Do you know on what?
16 A Again, when I say "worked with," exchanged emails, provided briefings,
17 talked to them to clarify policies and practices and products and things like that.
18 Q Do you know which policies or issues?
19 A I do not. Or not that I can recall, anyway.
20 Q When you are assessing the inaccuracies in the draft that GARM has in the 21 transparency report, is there like a Word doc or how are you communicating your edits or 22 concerns to the team that's ultimately interfacing with GARM?
23 A Like most of our kind of word processing these days, it's through Google
24 Docs.
25 Q Do you know how many of the reports you've worked on?

1 A GARM reports?

2 Q Yes.

3 A I don't. I believe I worked on the first one, and then have provided varying

4 amounts of feedback on each subsequent one since.

5 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

6 [Whereupon, at 6:04 p.m., the interview was adjourned.]

[redacted] Can we go on the record, please?

This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman Jordan has requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other intermediaries to censor speech.

Would the witness please state your name for the record?

[redacted]. [redacted].

[redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to appear voluntarily.

My name is [redacted] I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have everyone else from the committee who's here in the room introduce themselves as well.

[redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

[redacted] Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] Ranking Member Nadler.

[redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

[redacted] I'd now like to go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will follow during today's interview.

Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

Typically we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you'd like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

Do you understand?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clean record, we will do our best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you.

It's important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with counsel if they so choose, and it is my understanding that you are appearing today with counsel.

Is that correct?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?

Mr. Bopp. Michael Bopp, Gibson Dunn, representing [redacted].

Mr. Halse. Ehren Halse, King & Spalding, representing [redacted].

[redacted] Thank you.

We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide a range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point just say so.

If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.

If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question.

You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.

Do you understand that?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview.

Do you understand this?

[redacted] Yes.

[redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18, U.S.C., Section 1001.

Do you understand this?

[redacted]. Yes.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

[redacted]. No.

[redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this

1 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

2 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with

3 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those

4 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

5 That is the end of my preamble.

6 Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

7 [redacted] Just thank the witness for her time today.

8 [redacted]. I'm sorry. Could you repeat that?

9 [redacted] Thank you for your time today and for coming.

10 [redacted] The clock reads 10:04. We will start the first hour of questioning.

11 EXAMINATION

12 BY [redacted]

13 Q Can I have you state your full name again for the record, please?

14 A [redacted].

15 Q And what is your current place of employment?

16 A Google.

17 Q And what's your role there?

18 A I am on Google's Government Affairs and Public Policy team, on our Federal 19 Affairs team leading economic policy outreach.

20 Q And which office are you based out of?

21 A Washington, D.C.

22 Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?

23 A I attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

24 Q Starting with your first job after college, what is your professional

25 background?

1 A My first job out of college was at the United Way.

2 Q And if you could, just at a high level, walk us through until how you got to

3 your current position?

4 A Sure. I, after the United Way, worked for Congressman Jim McCrery from

5 the Fourth District of Louisiana. I worked as an intern, a staff assistant, a legislative

6 assistant handling economic policy at the time that he was the ranking member of Ways

7 and Means.

8 I then worked for Senator George Voinovich, an Ohio Republican Senator, and I

9 handled the economic policy portfolio during my time in the Senate.

10 I then worked at the Washington Tax and Public Policy Group as a consultant to 11 Fortune 100 companies primarily on tax and trade matters.

12 Then I joined Google in 2019.

13 Q And what was your first position when joining Google?

14 A Upon joining Google in 2019, I was hired to lead economic policy and health

15 policy outreach.

16 Q And has your title changed since that time?

17 A My original title when I joined the company in 2019 was policy advisor. My 18 title today is senior manager.

19 Q And how long did you have the title policy advisor for?

20 A To the best of my recollection, I was promoted in 2021.

21 Q And to senior manager, or was there a step in between?

22 A Correct, from policy advisor to senior manager.

23 Q Are you familiar with the terms misinformation, disinformation, and

24 malinformation?

25 A I have heard those terms.

1 Q To your understanding, what are the differences among them?
2 A I am not a content policy -- a content moderation policy expert, and I could
3 not describe the difference between those three terms.
4 Q What were your responsibilities as a policy advisor at Google?
5 A When I joined the company in 2019?
6 Q Yes.
7 A As policy advisor, when I joined the company in 2019, I came on to the 8 Government Affairs and Public Policy team to lead outreach to the Federal Government
9 on tax, trade, financial services, fintech, health, and workforce policies.
10 Q And in that role who did you report to?
11 A When I was hired in 2019, I reported to [redacted].
12 Q And how many people reported to you?
13 A None.
14 Q How big was your team when you joined in 2019?
15 A My immediate team in 2019, to the best of my recollection, was four people.
16 Q And when you were serving as policy advisor, which teams of the company
17 did you interact with most frequently?
18 A I most frequently interacted with our product areas that would be relating to 19 both financial services and health. I also interacted regularly with our tax department.
20 Q Did you have interactions with any of the company's Trust and Safety teams?
21 A My interactions with the Trust and Safety teams at the time I joined the 22 company in 2019 and throughout my tenure has been limited.
23 Q When there has been occasion, what has been the nature of your 24 interactions with those teams?
25 A There are moments, because the Trust and Safety team is a part of our

1 Global Affairs team, which is a part of our larger team, that our Trust and Safety
2 colleagues might present at a large team meeting.
3 Q Of the large team meetings, have you had interactions with the Trust and 4 Safety teams?
5 A To the best of my recollection, my engagement with our Trust and Safety
6 teams has been very limited.
7 Q Can you recall any other examples?
8 A During the pandemic, which started in 2020, I did have interactions 9 with -- when presentations would maybe happen to our larger team working on 10 COVID-19, on Trust and Safety issues.
11 Q So is there -- just so I understand your response correctly -- do you
12 understand, was there a team within Trust and Safety specifically devoted to working on 13 issues related to COVID-19 content?
14 A I did not have visibility into the makeup of the Trust and Safety organization
15 or if there were dedicated teams.
16 Q Did you report to [redacted] the entire time during your time with the 17 company, or has your direct report changed?
18 A My direct report changed at the beginning of 2024. [redacted] left
19 the company, and I have a new manager.
20 Q Who's that?
21 A [redacted].
22 Q How many people report to you directly now?
23 A I have no direct reports.
24 Q Are you familiar with the Search and Discovery teams for the company?
25 A I am not.

1 Q Have your responsibilities changed from serving as a policy advisor to now
2 serving as a senior manager?
3 A Yes. I handled health policy from 2019 until early 2020. I no longer cover
4 health policy for the company from 2022 until today. I recently picked up energy policy
5 at the beginning of 2024. My portfolio has shifted some.
6 Q Who took over the health policy portfolio?
7 A In 2022, Google hired a new health policy lead.
8 Q Who's that?
9 A [redacted].
10 Q Are you familiar with the term borderline content?
11 A Yes, I have heard this term.
12 Q To your understanding, what does the company mean when it refers to
13 borderline content?
14 A I am not a content policy expert and cannot define what that means.
15 Q Do you know [redacted]?
16 A Yes.
17 Q To your understanding, what's his role at the company?
18 A [redacted] at the time that he was at Google and YouTube served on 19 YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team.
20 Q How frequently did you interact with [redacted] while he was at the
21 company?
22 A During the time period in, I would say, 2020 and 2021 and a little bit of 2022,
23 we interacted on issues relating to YouTube and to government outreach that I might 24 have done.
25 Q During this time how frequent were your interactions?

1 A We didn't have a standing meeting between the two of us, but we would
2 interact on an as-needed basis.
3 Q Do you know [redacted]?
4 A Yes.
5 Q What's her role at the company, to your understanding?
6 A Her role at the company during the time when I worked with her in 2020,
7 2021, she served on YouTube's product Government Affairs and Public Policy team.
8 Q And how frequently did you interact with her?
9 A She, to the best of my recollection, was a member of our larger global 10 Government Affairs and Public Policy COVID-19 working group. And I interacted with 11 her -- she would present at times to large team meetings, and I would interact with her as 12 needed. I would say infrequently. And today I have very limited interaction with her.
13 Q Do you know [redacted]?
14 A Yes.
15 Q To your understanding, what's her role with the company?
16 A She is on YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team.
17 Q How frequently do you interact with her?
18 A We also don't have a standing meeting, but I interact with her on an 19 as-needed basis when it relates to U.S. Government outreach.
20 Q Do you know [redacted]?
21 A Yes.
22 Q What's his role with the company?
23 A His current role at the company is on our Trust and Safety team, and I have 24 almost no interaction with him.
25 During 2020 and 2021, he was on Google's Government Affairs and Public Policy

1 team, and I had interaction at that time with him on our larger global COVID-19 working
2 group.
3 Q During this time was there within the company official designations of who 4 was part of the COVID-19 working group?
5 A It was more of a working group that was global in nature with 6 representatives from regional teams based in countries where Google has an operation
7 and a large market. And then there were members of our Government Affairs and 8 Public Policy team who lead for specific product areas.
9 And then there are also experts that cover specific policy areas, and they're, while 10 maybe not official, our leadership would designate various people from each of our teams
11 to participate in that working group.
12 Q When you say "leadership," who do you mean?
13 A For myself that would have been my VP of Government Affairs and Public
14 Policy for the U.S., [redacted].
15 Q Who from the Government Affairs and Public Policy team was on the 16 COVID-19 working group?
17 A I do not recall every member of our -- the working group team. It was 18 representatives from -- I'm on the U.S. Government Affairs team. There were 19 representatives from other parts of other countries, other regions.
20 Q How many from the U.S.?
21 A To the best of my recollection, I was on the working group for the U.S. At 22 times I would be joined by others on my team.
23 Q Who from your team would join most frequently?
24 A [redacted].
25 Q Anyone else?

1 A To the best of my recollection, it was pretty rare, but maybe [redacted]
2 [redacted] would have joined at times.
3 Q And who's that?
4 A He's one of my colleagues on our U.S. Government Affairs and Public Policy
5 team.
6 Q Do you know what his title is?
7 A I am uncertain of what his title is today.
8 Q During the time it was the COVID-19 working group, do you know what his 9 portfolio was?
10 A His portfolio would have been telecom, tech policy, policies relating to 11 broader digital issues.
12 Q Do you know who from the YouTube product team was on the COVID-19
13 working group?
14 A I believe [redacted] was on the working group for YouTube. I cannot 15 recall other members of the YouTube team.
16 Q At a high level, are you familiar with YouTube's community guidelines?
17 A At a high level, yes.
18 Q And when changes are made to YouTube's community guidelines, are 19 you -- let me take one step back.
20 What role do you or your team play in that process?
21 A I have no role in YouTube's community guidelines process.
22 Q To your understanding, do other members of the GAPP team have a role in 23 the company's internal processes to change YouTube's community guidelines?
24 A I have no visibility into the process.
25 Q Now, once it's been decided that there will be a change to YouTube's

1 community guidelines, how are you first made aware of that?

2 A As a member of the U.S. Government Affairs and Public Policy team, I'm not

3 always made aware of policy changes that YouTube may be making. There are times

4 when the company releases a blog or an update that our YouTube Government Affairs

5 team does share with me. And my standard practice is, if the topic relating to the

6 change has come up in government outreach, I may be made aware of it once it's publicly

7 launched.

8 Q Do you recall any instances where you were made aware before it was 9 publicly announced?

10 A Made aware? Can you repeat the question, please?

11 Q Sure. Can you recall any examples where you were made aware of a

12 change to the community guidelines before the company publicly announced that

13 change?

14 A Yes.

15 Q What are some of the examples that you can recall?

16 A There are times when I'm provided that a change is forthcoming.

17 Q In examples like that, who notifies you?

18 A Usually it's a member of the YouTube Government Affairs and Public Policy

19 team.

20 Q Is there a point of contact from that team that most frequently serves as the 21 person to notify you?

22 A During what time period?

23 Q If it's changed, we would want to know as well.

24 A Okay. So from 2019 to, I would say, 2022, my primary contacts on

25 YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team would have been [redacted] and

1 [redacted]. I'm uncertain of the exact -- can't recall exactly when [redacted] left
2 YouTube. But at that time my new point of contact would have been [redacted] -- I can't recall
3 his last name.
4 Q Do you recall any particular topics or changes where either [redacted] or 5 [redacted] reached out to you before the company publicly announced the change to the 6 community guidelines?
7 A I can recall there being an awareness that some of our guidelines or policies
8 would be updated at the time when COVID-19 vaccines were approved by the FDA.
9 Q To your recollection, how did you gain this awareness?
10 A To the best of my recollection, probably by email.
11 Q Are you familiar with YouTube's new firearms policies that take effect on 12 June 18th?
13 A I read about it in the press.
14 Q So you were not notified prior to the company's public announcement?
15 A I was not.
16 Q Have you had any discussions internal to the company about that new policy
17 since you learned of it?
18 A I have not.
19 Q To your understanding, are there separate Trust and Safety teams for 20 YouTube as compared to the rest of the company?
21 A I have no visibility. I do not.
22 Q What is the structure of the Government Affairs and Public Policy teams?
23 Is there one for YouTube, one for the company writ large?
24 A I'm an employee of Google Client Services and represent Google, and there
25 is a separate Government Affairs and Public Policy team that represents YouTube.

1 Q Do you know who the head of YouTube's Government Affairs and Public
2 Policy team is?
3 A For the U.S., to the best of my knowledge, it's [redacted].
4 Q In addition to the first example you provided of having some awareness prior
5 to the public announcement about the community guidelines changing regarding vaccines
6 once approved by the FDA, are there other examples that you can recall of when you
7 were made aware, prior to a public announcement, that the company would be changing
8 YouTube's community guidelines?
9 A I cannot think of another example.
10 Q Since joining the company, how frequently do you interact with 11 representatives from the U.S. Government?
12 A Frequently.
13 Q Which agencies within the executive branch do you interact with most 14 frequently?
15 A In my role on Google's Government Affairs and Public Policy team leading 16 economic outreach, the Federal agencies I interact with the most frequency are Treasury,
17 the SBA, the Department of Labor, and more limited interaction with the financial service
18 regulators.
19 Q During your time at the company, have you had interactions with the FBI?
20 A To the best of my recollection, any interaction would have been extremely 21 limited.
22 Q Are there examples or instances you can recall?
23 A I cannot think of a specific call or meeting that I participated in with the FBI.
24 Q Are you familiar with the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force?
25 A I believe I've heard about it in maybe the press, but not really.

1 Q To your understanding, has anyone from your team had interactions with 2 the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force?
3 A I am not sure. I don't have visibility into that work, if there is any.
4 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with the
5 Department of Homeland Security?
6 A My interactions with the Department of Homeland Security would have 7 been very limited. I cannot think of a specific instance where I had engagement as it's 8 outside of my portfolio.
9 Q Have you had -- or do you have any familiarity with the Cybersecurity and 10 Infrastructure Security Agency?
11 A I'm aware of the agency.
12 Q Do you recall having any interactions with that agency as part of your role at 13 the company?
14 A My interactions would have been extremely limited. There are other 15 members of our team who work on cybersecurity.
16 I do recall one instance where -- I handle education, and there was an event
17 regarding cybersecurity and education.
18 Q Do you recall when that event was?
19 A I believe it was in the summer of 2023.
20 Q And who from the government attended that event?
21 A The event I'm referring to was attended by several government officials.
22 To the best of my recollection, I believe the Secretary of the Department of Education
23 spoke, the Director of CISA spoke, other senior officials spoke, but I can't remember the 24 full agenda.
25 Q Is there someone within your team that has responsibilities to handle issues

1 related to issues in the U.S. regarding election integrity?

2 A Not on my team. There are others at Google that have that responsibility.

3 Q Is it your understanding of which -- do you know which individuals or which 4 teams they're a part of?

5 A I do not. I don't recall on those issues.

6 Q Have you had any interactions with the Census Bureau as part of your role

7 with the company?

8 A To the best of my recollection, my interactions would have been very limited

9 and with other Federal agencies at larger meetings. I can't remember any specific

10 meetings or calls that I've had with the Census Bureau.

11 Q When you said there are other standing meetings, what meetings are you

12 referring to?

13 A I'm sorry. Can you repeat that question?

14 Q Sorry. In your response you mentioned outside of standing meetings, or 15 something to that effect, if I heard you correctly.

16 A Oh, no. I said with larger meetings with other agencies. There are no

17 standing meetings.

18 Q Thank you.

19 Have you had interactions with the White House as part of your role with the 20 company?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And what's been the nature of those interactions?

23 A When I joined the company in 2019, I can recall a few interactions with the 24 White House.

25 From fall of 2019 to the beginning of 2020, I can remember, I think, two events or

1 meetings that I attended in person at the White House, and one was on efforts that 2 Google was taking on education, our internet be safe campaign. I remember another
3 meeting that was regarding work Google was doing on opioids, an initiative called Take 4 Back Day.
5 And moving into 2020, at the beginning of the pandemic, I can't recall any specific 6 meetings that I did in person, but then most of my interactions would have shifted to 7 virtual. And the majority of my interactions from that time, really since the beginning
8 that I joined the company to today, have been primarily on tax, trade, economic policy.
9 Beginning in January of 2020, I did start to have interactions with the White
10 House, the Trump administration, on COVID-19 health policy, and that continued through 11 early 2022.
12 Q Do you recall when you first had interactions with the Biden White House?
13 A I don't recall specifically the, like, first meetings that I had with the Biden
14 White House, but I do remember at the start of 2021 having briefings on Google's work
15 with small businesses, on digital tools and economic recovery.
16 I remember having interaction on our COVID -- the company's COVID-19 efforts.
17 I remember having interaction on tax and trade issues.
18 Q Who from the White House did you interact with regarding COVID-19
19 efforts?
20 A To the best of my recollection, starting in 2019 -- or early 2020, that time
21 period?
22 Q Sure. We'll start with 2020 and work our way through.
23 A Okay. So this is 4 years ago. To the best of my recollection, during 2020 I
24 remember speaking with Paul Mango. He was an official working on Project Warp
25 Speed and COVID-19.

1 We spoke with members of Jared Kushner's team that was leading COVID-19
2 efforts as it relates to information regarding testing at the beginning of the pandemic.
3 Moving into the Biden White House, I can recall speaking with members of the 4 COVID-19 staff at that time. To the best of my recollection, that would have been Andy
5 Slavitt; Ben -- I don't remember his last name -- maybe Wakana, similar to that; members
6 of the digital team, Rob Flaherty, Clarke Humphrey.
7 Those are the primary staffers that I remember engaging with from memory.
8 Q And when you had interactions -- or let me take one step back.
9 What was the nature of your interactions with Mr. Slavitt?
10 A To the best of my recollection, when he was -- I believe that he was named
11 the COVID-19 coordinator or a part of the COVID-19 task force -- I can remember maybe 12 one or two calls where we presented Google's COVID-19 efforts to date, both in terms of 13 economic recovery, support for small businesses, as well as health policy-related 14 information, public health information.
15 Q As part of your role at the company, what was the nature of your 16 interactions with Mr. Flaherty?
17 A So to the best of my recollection, I can remember a few presentations, 18 maybe two, that we made of similar nature where we were presenting efforts the 19 company had taken on COVID-19.
20 Q And in those presentations who from the company attended those
21 meetings?
22 A So as much as I can recall, I can remember a presentation with [redacted]
23 [redacted], and he was from Google Search Partnerships; [redacted] from YouTube.
24 Those are the two colleagues I remember by memory.
25 Q And is it your memory one was with [redacted], one was with [redacted], or do you

1 recall a meeting where all three of you were?

2 A All three of us.

3 Q Do you recall who from the government was in that meeting?

4 A I do not recall with specificity. But to the best of my recollection, in the

5 meeting that I'm thinking of, Rob Flaherty and Clarke Humphrey. There may have been 6 others.

7 Q As part of your role at the company, what was the nature of your

8 interactions with Clarke Humphrey?

9 A So during 2021 and a little bit of 2022, I was helping the health policy,

10 including COVID-19, and I remember speaking with her as a part of interactions that I

11 referred to on public health information.

12 Q And as part of your role with the company, what was the nature of your

13 interactions with Ben Wakana?

14 A To the best of my recollection, he also was on the COVID-19 White House

15 Working Group Task Force, and the interactions with him would have been related to 16 efforts the company was taking on COVID-19.

17 Q In these interactions with the White House in the first half of 2021, do you

18 recall receiving questions from any White House officials regarding YouTube's community

19 guidelines?

20 A I don't remember any specific questions specifically on the community

21 guidelines.

22 Q What about more broadly? Do you recall any questions or discussions

23 around how YouTube was addressing content related to vaccines?

24 A Yes. I remember conversations on COVID-19 YouTube efforts.

25 Q And when you refer to the efforts, what does that include?

1 A So in 2021 is the time period you are thinking about?

2 Q Yes.

3 A During that time, in the presentation of Google's overall efforts, Google

4 Search, Google Maps, YouTube also was taking efforts to elevate authoritative

5 information on COVID-19.

6 Q In addition to elevating authoritative information, was YouTube taking steps

7 to reduce or remove content that was alleged misinformation?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Were there ever discussions with White House officials regarding what

10 approach YouTube was taking regarding vaccine hesitancy or misinformation about 11 vaccines?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Who from the White House do you recall having discussions with about that

14 topic?

15 A Rob Flaherty and Clarke Humphrey.

16 Q What was the nature of their concerns as you recall?

17 A As I recall, in 2021, both Google and YouTube were preparing for the 18 vaccination rollout that started in late December 2020 going into 2021.

19 And at that time part of my role as our Government Affairs and Public Policy lead

20 for health policy was to provide information on the FDA, CDC's timeline for approving

21 vaccines. And I remember having conversations at that 6 months of 2020 on the rollout

22 of vaccines in the U.S.

23 Q 6 months of 2021?

24 A Yes.

25 Q During the first, roughly, 6 months of 2021, do you recall how many times

1 you had interactions with Mr. Flaherty or Ms. Humphrey?

2 A To the best of my recollection, it was a handful of times. I do not

3 remember the specific number of calls or interactions.

4 Q Besides you, who else from the company was responsible for interfacing

5 with Mr. Flaherty and Ms. Humphrey about these concerns?

6 A I can only speak for myself, and my role was leading for Google on COVID-19

7 and health policy more broadly. I'm not sure who else from the company had

8 interactions with them.

9 Q For concerns specific to YouTube, to your recollection, was there a

10 representative from YouTube in particular to handle interactions with Mr. Flaherty and 11 Clarke Humphrey?

12 A I can remember, which I've already shared, a call that we jointly did with

13 [redacted].

14 Q Besides that call, do you recall email communications or other meetings

15 where you and [redacted] were interacting with Mr. Flaherty or Ms. Humphrey about 16 vaccine hesitancy or vaccine misinformation?

17 A Do I recall other emails or calls?

18 Q Well, just other than the one meeting you can recall, do you recall other

19 interactions?

20 A I think I can remember maybe one other. It would have been a virtual 21 meeting or call. And there were emails.

22 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with the 23 CDC?

24 A Yes.

25 Q What's been the nature of those interactions?

1 A When I joined the company in 2019, I handled health policy. I think my 2 interactions before the pandemic with the CDC were very limited, to the best of my 3 memory; but we did -- our Google Search Partnerships team at times would speak with 4 the CDC's digital team, and that point of contact was someone who I spoke with at the 5 beginning of the pandemic in -- I believe our first call was probably in January 2020. And 6 to the best of my memory, the frequency of those communications increased in March
7 of 2020.
8 Q Who's your point of contact at the CDC?
9 A Carol Crawford.
10 Q You mentioned the Google Search Partnership team. What is that team?
11 A Google Search Partnership, [redacted] at the time in 2020 was a
12 colleague who worked on Google Search Partnership who often helped the products 13 team with features and helping to find data sources or information from outside of 14 Google groups.
15 Q Do you recall any conversations with the CDC regarding vaccine hesitancy or 16 misinformation about vaccines?
17 A I do remember conversations with the CDC on vaccines during the time the 18 vaccine was being rolled out in the U.S. I remember talking to the CDC about the 19 information that they would be providing on vaccines on certain web pages on the CDC
20 website.
21 As a general matter, I don't remember specific conversations on COVID-19
22 misinformation.
23 Q As part of your role with the company, have you had interactions with the 24 FDA?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And what's been the nature of those interactions?

2 A My interactions with the FDA were primarily in 2021. They were primarily

3 relating to the information that would be provided publicly on the FDA's website at the 4 time that the FDA approved COVID-19 vaccines.

5 I may have had other interactions with the FDA on non-COVID-19 issues, but I

6 can't recall specific incidents, and they would have been very limited.

7 Q Do you recall any meetings with the FDA regarding vaccine hesitancy or

8 misinformation about vaccines?

9 A I don't recall any meetings. I do -- I can recall an email.

10 Q What's the email you can recall?

11 A I remember the FDA sharing one piece of content that they were concerned

12 that was misrepresenting the FDA on -- I believe it was on YouTube.

13 Q Okay. Do you recall when this email was?

14 A I do not.

15 Q Who from the company was contacted by the FDA? Was it just to you or 16 was it to others?

17 A I don't recall the specifics. I do remember -- the incident I'm thinking of I

18 remember it was someone from the digital office who had reached out to me. There

19 may have been other people from the company on the email as well.

20 Q Do you recall what the substance was of the post in question?

21 A So in terms of specifics, the best of my recollection is that it was a video

22 where the FDA was concerned that their -- that they were being misrepresented in this

23 video.

24 Q Do you recall what steps, if any, you took after receiving the video?

25 A I remember forwarding it to my colleagues at YouTube's Government Affairs

1 and Public Policy team.

2 Q And who would that have been?

3 A To the best of my recollection, it would have been [redacted].

4 Q Do you know how YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team

5 handled the email?

6 A I do not.

7 Q Did you ever see a word one way or another about any actions the company

8 took regarding the video?

9 A Yes. I remember that that my YouTube colleague provided information to

10 send back to the FDA -- and I can't remember if it was volitive or not -- of our community

11 guidelines. But I remember they provided an answer which I shared out externally to 12 the FDA, to the point of contact.

13 Q In this example or others that you can recall when you received a response

14 provided to you, do you make any changes to the message that you received before

15 sending it to the government official, or do you send the exact message that was sent to 16 you?

17 A In instances where I've received information from a YouTube colleague or

18 other --

19 Q Yeah, from a YouTube colleague.

20 A If it is regarding our YouTube community guidelines, I do not edit as a 21 standard practice, as my role is really relaying information from YouTube.

22 Q Do you recall any further discussion with the FDA regarding this particular

23 YouTube video?

24 A I do not.

25 Q Do you recall other instances of where you relayed information from a

1 colleague on the YouTube team to an executive branch official?

2 A There are times when YouTube shares out a policy, blog update, some news

3 from the company, and I have shared that with the U.S. Government officials.

4 Q What about other examples of where a particular video or account has

5 either been flagged or there have been questions raised by an executive branch official,

6 do you recall any other examples?

7 A I can only by memory think of one more example.

8 Q Okay. What's that other example?

9 A During the time period in spring of 2021 -- I don't remember the exact

10 specific date -- there was a -- I believe it was a tweet, but it could have been a video

11 shared by the White House digital office.

12 Q And to your recollection, what was in the tweet?

13 A I don't remember.

14 Q Do you recall who from the White House sent that message?

15 A Rob Flaherty.

16 Q And do you recall what the next steps, if any, the company took after 17 receiving that email?

18 A I believe my YouTube colleagues were already on the email, and so I

19 wouldn't have probably forwarded it.

20 And in terms of steps that the company took, I wouldn't have had any visibility

21 into what YouTube did after receiving that email.

22 I don't -- based on my memory, I don't remember a specific response back, but I

23 believe we may have had a briefing on our COVID-19 misinformation efforts more

24 broadly. It might have happened before or after this instance, the email that I'm

25 referring to.

1 Q To your recollection, did Mr. Flaherty email you directly or had someone
2 from the YouTube team or someone else flag for you that they received this message?
3 A I don't remember if I was on the original email or if it was forwarded to me.
4 Q Did the briefing on -- whether it was before or after -- do you recall who 5 from the company attended that briefing?
6 A To the best of my recollection, it would have been [redacted] from Google
7 Search Partnership and [redacted] from YouTube. I can't remember -- I don't believe 8 there were other members of our -- other colleagues at the meeting.
9 Q Did you or did anyone from the company take notes during that meeting?
10 A To the best of my recollection, we did not. I don't remember.
11 Q Is there a protocol? Or what customarily happens if there's a meeting from 12 you or members of your team with members of the White House or other representatives
13 from the executive branch?
14 Mr. Bopp. Protocol for what?
15 [redacted] In terms of taking notes or providing a readout after.
16 [redacted]. In my general practice on our Government Affairs and Public 17 Policy team, it really depends on the meeting. It also sometimes depends on how -- the 18 topic of the meeting, how busy I am in terms of my standard practice.
19 But there are times when I will take notes in a notebook. Sometimes I take notes
20 on a computer. And there are times when I provide readouts from Government Affairs
21 meetings with government officials to various stakeholders in the company. And then 22 there are sometimes that I do not.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Whether this briefing or other interactions with Mr. Flaherty, do you recall
25 any instances where you thought it was necessary to provide a readout to someone else

1 in the company about your meeting with Mr. Flaherty?

2 A To the best of my recollection, the interactions that I had with Rob Flaherty,

3 my YouTube colleagues would have been on the call or email. And so I would not have

4 provided more of a readout to their team because they would have been a part of the

5 meeting.

6 Q In the meetings you can recall with Mr. Flaherty, did you present at these

7 meetings?

8 A I can remember at least one, maybe two occasions where we presented the 9 efforts that the company had taken on COVID-19.

10 I think we did one presentation, to the best of my recollection or memory from 11 3 years ago, where we presented our overall efforts across both economic recovery and 12 health policy. And then there was a specific meeting on COVID-19 vaccine information.

13 Q The meeting on COVID-19 vaccine information, did you in particular play a 14 role in presenting at that meeting?

15 A My standard practice in those type of briefings as the government and public

16 policy lead is to open the meeting, to introduce myself and colleagues from Google,

17 YouTube, other parts of the company who may be at the meeting.

18 And to the best of my recollection, the call that I'm thinking of, I think I played that 19 role of opening the meeting, and then other members of our team presented.

20 Q Do you recall who from the company presented in that particular meeting?

21 A Yeah. This is the same meeting I'm referring to where [redacted] and [redacted]

22 came.

1 [10:59 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Do you recall the response from Mr. Flaherty or other representatives from 4 the White House during this meeting?

5 A I do not recall his response.

6 Q Do you recall if there were questions or if there was follow-up discussion

7 involving the initial presentation by the company?

8 A I remember that he was very interested in YouTube's policy surrounding 9 vaccine misinformation at the time. I don't remember any specific follow-ups from 10 memory.

11 Q Do you recall from that meeting or from other correspondence at the White

12 House, what the White House thought YouTube's approach to the vaccine misinformation

13 was adequate?

14 Mr. Bopp. Wait, you are asking from those meetings, did she form the 15 impression that the White House thought that YouTube's approach was adequate?

16 [redacted] Yes.

17 [redacted]. I cannot speculate on what the White House thought of our 18 presentation.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q Well, I mean, depending on, was there anything -- did they ever ask any

21 questions about whether YouTube was considering changing its community guidelines

22 around vaccines?

23 A I can't recall the specific questions that they asked.

24 Q As part of your role with the company, have you had interactions

25 with -- actually, let me take one step back. Are you familiar with Stanford's Election

1 Integrity Partnership?

2 A I am not.

3 Q What about Stanford's Vitality Project?

4 A I am not.

5 Q Do you recall meetings or interactions with the White House regarding

6 misinformation on YouTube or YouTube's community guidelines about topics other than

7 COVID-19 or vaccines?

8 A I do not recall any meetings on that topic.

9 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

10 [Discussion off the record.]

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q [redacted], again, thank you so much for coming and making the time

13 today to testify. I just have a couple of follow-up questions based on the questions that 14 you were asked in the previous hour.

15 You have been with Google since 2019, correct?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And you mentioned that you were on the Hill before you went into private

18 industry. You mentioned Senator Voinovich, and Jim McCrery. I just want to say for 19 the record those were all Members of the Republican Party. Is that correct?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And you worked at Google during the time you worked for two different

22 Presidential administrations. Is that correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And your work on behalf of an international corporation like Google, you

25 would agree that your work is not partisan in any way, right?

1 A In my role at Google in our Government Affairs and Public Policy team, I try
2 to approach my work in a nonpartisan manner.
3 Q Thank you. You testified that your work in government affairs and public
4 policy group, your interactions with the government span across a wide variety of topics.
5 I think in the last hour you mentioned you did work on a opioids, education, small 6 business, tax and trade, for example. Those are all issues that you worked on?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And so would you say it is fair to say -- is it fair to say that it is very common
9 for Google, for a large international corporation like Google, to work with the U.S.
10 Government on issues of public concern?
11 A My role on Google's Government Affairs and Public Policy team, I cover a 12 wide range of issues relating to economic policy, and often what is going on in the U.S.
13 economy, and more broadly, in the world is reflective of the work that Google prioritizes.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q You mentioned, during the previous hour, two in-person meetings at the 16 White House. I believe it was either 2019, or early 2020, and one was on opioids, and I
17 believe the other was on cyber education or am I misremembering that?
18 A I was, in reviewing outreach that I had done at the White House in meetings,
19 the two meetings I can recall by memory, one was on opioids and the other one was on a
20 program called Be Internet Safe, which is an internet safety program for children.
21 Q It and so it was part of your responsibility -- that was during the Trump
22 administration, correct?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And so those were joint efforts by Google and the White House to put out a 25 message, or to provide information to the public about those two subject areas for the

1 good of the American people?

2 A I remember the two meetings on those two topics. I don't remember

3 necessarily having information come from the White House on those two topics.

4 Q So your recollection is that you were providing information to the White

5 House?

6 A Correct.

7 [redacted] Thank you.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q In the earlier hour, you were asked about an example from you, we talked

10 about an example of when the FDA flagged a video for you in one particular instance.

11 Do you remember that conversation?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And you couldn't remember earlier kind of what the actual result was from 14 that FDA interaction?

15 A Yeah, by memory I can't -- I can't recall.

16 Q So I would like to go ahead and introduce that email as exhibit 1.

17 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1

18 was marked for identification.]

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q I will give you a moment to read it.

21 A I have read the email.

22 Q Great. I just have a couple of questions. So on April 30th, 2021, an

23 individual named Brad Kimberly at FDA emailed you saying, Good afternoon, I just wanted

24 to flag a video that we believe is misleading when it comes to COVID-19. Submitted a

25 report through YouTube proper, but I am flagging here for your attention as well. Did I

1 read that correctly?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And it provides a link. Do you see that?

4 A [Nonverbal response.]

5 Q And then it says, an explanation for why this individual believes that -- or

6 believed that the video was misleading. And there -- one of the reasons was that the

7 FDA had not approved this particular drug as safe and effective and there was some

8 intellectual property concerns with it. Is that a fair characterization?

9 A I am not an expert in this area, but my reading of the email is that the FDA

10 was sharing this video because of concern that it misrepresented FDA.

11 Q Okay, thank you.

12 And then on May 6th at the top, which was about a week later, you replied to this

13 individual at FDA and noted that our YouTube Trust and Safety Team reviewed the 14 content and found that it does not violate our community guidelines. Was that correct?

15 A Yes. That is the information I relayed in this email.

16 Q And just to summarize, this is an example of where, if a government official

17 had reached out and flagged a video for content, YouTube would make a decision, and

18 then communicate it back to the external stakeholder. Is that a fair characterization of 19 this?

20 A In my experience, and in this example, in this email, my practice would have

21 been to share this incoming email with our YouTube Government Affairs and Public Policy

22 team. At that time, then, it would have been [redacted]. [redacted] then would have

23 then provided me information to answer the question raised by the U.S. Government

24 official, which I responded with the email before me.

25 Q Now I just want to ask a couple of broad questions about your experience at

1 Google during your time since 2019. When we testified a little bit earlier -- or you
2 testified earlier about, you know, where there have been times when you interacted with 3 the White House and different U.S. Government stakeholders. During your time at 4 Google, has there ever been a time where any government official has ever tried to 5 coerce you or anybody else at Google to remove content?
6 A I can only speak for myself, and I have not felt coerced.
7 Q Thank you. Have you ever, in your personal capacity, so we will clarify -- in 8 your personal capacity, have you ever experienced any U.S. Government official
9 threatening you or anyone at Google with adverse actions if the company refused to take 10 any particular action that the government official desired?
11 A No.
12 Q Did you, in your personal capacity, ever experience any government official
13 to ask you or anybody at Google to promote or remove any content based on the political 14 or ideological viewpoint that it expressed?
15 A I cannot recall of an instance where a government official has asked us to 16 promote or remove content based on ideology.
17 Q And did you ever experience, in your personal capacity, anybody from the 18 White House or you or anybody at Google to remove a post or account or other content
19 on one of its platforms?
20 A To the best of my recollection, I remember the FDA flagging this video that is 21 reflected in this email today. I can remember one other piece of content that was 22 flagged to us by Rob Flaherty and the White House digital office.
23 Q Okay, but then -- that is fair. But just to make sure we are clear, my 24 question was, has anybody from the White House ever ordered you or anybody to 25 remove a post, an account or other content on its platform? I understand that you have had instances where things might have been flagged, but you have never been directed to or ordered by the White House. Is that fair?

A Correct.

Q Thank you. And that includes any orders or directions from Rob Flaherty or Andy Slavitt?

A That would be true, in my experience, since I have been at Google since 2019 in both the Trump and Biden administration.

[redacted] Thank you. We will go off the record. Thank you.

[Discussion off the record.]

BY [redacted]

Q Are you familiar with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?

A No.

Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with NewsGuard?

A No.

[redacted] I'm sorry, I didn't hear that. I heard up to the last word.

[redacted] Just asked as part of her role at the company if she had any interactions with NewsGuard.

[redacted] NewsGuard.

[redacted]. NewsGuard, okay.

BY [redacted]

Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with the Global Disinformation Index?

A No.

Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the

1 World Federation of Advertisers?

2 A Not to my recollection.

3 Q Have you familiar with the Global Alliance for Responsible Media, sometimes

4 referred to as GARM?

5 A No.

6 Q Are you familiar with the Biden White House's October 2022 blueprint for an

7 AI bill of rights?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And what is your understanding of what the blueprint is?

10 A I have a general awareness of the AI blueprint. As I understand it that was 11 primarily lead by OSTP.

12 Q To your understanding, does the blueprint effect any of Google's AI

13 products?

14 A While I am not an expert at the -- on the content of the blueprint, I am

15 aware that it talks about AI policies, some of which would have an impact on Google.

16 Q As part of your role in the company, have you had interactions with 17 members of the executive branch regarding Gemini regard?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Which parts of the executive branch?

20 A In my role on our government affairs and public policy team as the economic

21 policy lead, I have shared key updates regarding Google's AI products with executive

22 branch agencies such as Treasury, SBA, Department of Labor, Department of Education.

23 Q Have you had any interactions with the White House regarding any of the 24 companies' ad products?

25 A Yes.

1 Q What has been the nature of your interactions at the White House on that
2 topic?
3 A My role in the Government Affairs and Public Policy team as economic policy
4 outreach lead, I have interacted with NEC, with other White House staff on AI's economic
5 opportunity, future of work issues, AI skilling, and the promise of AI's economic potential
6 positive impact for the U.S. economy.
7 Q Did anyone from the company provide you with a briefing, or an 8 explanation, of why Gemini was producing historically inaccurate images in early 2024?
9 A I received a blog post that we publicly shared on Gemini, post the decision to 10 pause some of our image generation features on that product.
11 Q Besides the public blog post, did you receive any additional information
12 regarding gem any's production of historically inaccurate images?
13 A I do not have interactions with the product team, and the information that I
14 would have had on that topic would have been reflective of the public communications
15 on the blog post that I am thinking of.
16 Q When you say, "no interaction of the product team," do you mean around 17 historically inaccurate images or just interactions with that product team?
18 A I am referring to interactions with the Gemini products team.
19 Q Do you have any familiarity with what, if any, commitments the company
20 has made surrounding ethics of AI or following commitments provided by the White
21 House?
22 A I am generally aware that Google participated in a meeting where the White
23 House AI commitments were discussed, and Google, along with other leading AI
24 companies, agreed to a series of commitments on the safety and responsible 25 development of AI.

1 Q Were you part of these discussions?
2 A That particular meeting I am referring to or particular time period?
3 Q Just broadly, but yes, first start with the meeting.
4 A I did not participate in the meeting that I am referencing where our
5 executive participated in a meeting on the White House AI commitments. Broadly
6 speaking, Google has worked on AI policy for a number of years. And I would say in the 7 beginning of 2023, I participated in outreach, primarily to NEC regarding AI.
8 Q What was the purpose of this outreach?
9 A At the time, AI was a topic of both priority for the company, as well as a
10 policy priority that various parts of the White House were considering from a policy
11 perspective. And my purpose of my outreach was to explain Google's AI principles,
12 which we first adopted in 2017, as well as AI products as they were being launched
13 publicly. And my role was to highlight the economic benefits of AI in conversations with 14 both the administration and Congress.
15 Q In your interactions with the executive branch surrounding AI, have you
16 been part of any discussions regarding unfair bias?
17 A I have not been in any -- part of any specific conversations around that topic.
18 The White House AI commitment does have a line regarding bias. So generally speaking,
19 that topic is one of external public policy interests as it relates to AI.
20 Q Whether it was the specific topic going into a meeting or discussion, do you
21 recall any meetings or discussions with the executive branch where that issue arose?
22 A I do not that I participated in.
23 Q What about more broadly, are you aware of any meetings between 24 personnel from the company, and personnel of the executive branch where that issue
25 arose?

1 A I can only speak to myself in meetings that I would have participated in and
2 the visibility that I would have had for other members, so I can't say.
3 Q Do you recall any internal conversations where a member from the company
4 was informing you about their meeting with the executive branch and this issue where 5 unfair bias arose?
6 A I cannot think of a specific occasion or example.
7 Q In your interactions with the executive branch on issues related to AI, had 8 there been any occasions or meetings or discussions around misinformation and the risks
9 posed by any of the company's AI products?
10 A I can only speak for myself, and I cannot think of a meeting or a call where 11 that was discussed.
12 Q Who within your team has the primary responsibility for communicating
13 with the executive branch around questions around Gemini?
14 A On our Government Affairs and Public Policy team on our U.S. Federal affairs
15 team, there isn't one person that is in charge of AI policy. I would say every member of 16 our team has some AI policy in their portfolio.
17 Q How are the portfolios divided among the rest of the team?
18 A Our U.S. Government affairs --
19 Q Just for the U.S.
20 A Yes, okay. I can speak to my immediate team, and I am the economic 21 policy outreach lead, I have kind of covered my portfolio. I have a teammate whose 22 portfolio is primarily national security related outreach. I have a teammate who focuses 23 on health policy. I have a teammate that focuses on tech telecom export control issues.
24 I have another teammate who focuses on, primarily interactions with the FTC.
25 Q Do you have familiarity with the Global Engagement Center?

1 A I do not.

2 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with the

3 Office of the Surgeon General?

4 A Yes.

5 Q What has been the nature of those interactions?

6 A Both during the Trump and Biden administration, I have, in my role during

7 the time of my portfolio when I was covering health policy, interacted with members of

8 the Surgeon General's staff on the COVID-19 pandemic. There may have been other

9 topics, such as mental health in some of those interactions.

10 Q In your meeting with the Surgeon General's office, do you recall any

11 meetings or discussions where issues, whether the vaccine hesitancy or misinformation

12 around vaccines was raised?

13 A Yes.

14 Q What occasions can you recall?

15 A I recall that in, I believe some time in 2021, the Surgeon General put out a

16 report on COVID-19, or maybe more broadly, health misinformation and he interacted, I

17 believe in advance of that report coming out to provide information on Google's public

18 health efforts.

19 Q When you say "we," who do you mean by that?

20 A I do not recall specifics in terms of a meeting and who would have attended,

21 but I -- I likely would have been joined by members of both the Google Search and

22 YouTube team.

23 Q Who from the Google Search team likely would have attended?

24 A If they -- I don't remember by memory a specific meeting, but it would have 25 been [redacted].

1 Q Whether for Office of the Surgeon General, FDA, CDC, do you recall during 2 these meetings whether you had typically taken notes, provide others within the
3 company?
4 A It would really depend on the nature of the meeting. And if I would have
5 provided, taken notes sometimes in my general practice, I do. And if one of the key
6 roles in my job as Government Affairs and Public Policy is to provide information from 7 U.S. Government engagement outreach, the external environment into the company.
8 So it is really dependent upon the caller of the meeting.
9 Q Are you familiar with Google's Threat Analysis Group?
10 A Yes.
11 Q Do you have interactions with that group as part of your role in the 12 company?
13 A I do not.
14 Q Do you have familiarity with whether there are email addresses that people
15 within the company can send to the YouTube Trust and Safety team depending on 16 prioritization of whether a post or a video or something is being flagged?
17 A I have no visibility into that.
18 Q Do you have any familiarity if an email address sometimes produces a PERT,
19 P as in Paul, E-R-T email address?
20 A No.
21 Q In your meetings with Mr. Flaherty, do you recall there being representatives 22 from Google Search, from YouTube. Do you recall which other companies' products he 23 was most interested in?
24 A So from my memory in 2021, at the time in the COVID-19 pandemic, both 25 the availability of tests and vaccines was a topic that we would receive questions from

1 government officials on. And I -- the products reflecting those two information needs
2 primarily would be Google Search, Google Maps and YouTube.
3 Q Other than concerns around vaccine misinformation, what issues related to 4 YouTube was Mr. Flaherty and the White House staff asking about?
5 A To the best of my recollection, that is the only topic that I can remember him
6 raising information on.
7 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2
8 was marked for identification.]
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q This will be exhibit 2. This is an April 2021 email chain, part of which is with 11 the White House, part of which is internal.
12 If I could have you turn to Bates number 64176. First, there is an email from 13 [redacted], what is his role at the company?
14 A To the best of my recollection, he is on our YouTube civics outreach team.
15 Q How frequently do you interact with him as part of your role at the
16 company?
17 A Very limited interaction.
18 Q Your email starts on the previous page 64175 and then continues on to the 19 top of the next page.
20 A Uh-huh.
21 Q Wherein, you add [redacted] and [redacted] for awareness, and helped 22 prepare for another White House meeting on COVID vaccine misinformation. The email
23 is from April 13, 2021. Do you recall, or have a sense of how many meetings with the 24 White House on COVID vaccine misinformation had taken place prior to this new 25 outreach from Mr. Flaherty?

1 A So this was 3 years ago, and I don't remember the exact number of meetings
2 or calls that we had on this topic. To the best of my recollection, it was a handful, so
3 two or three.
4 Q And in those two or three, what do you recall the White House raising as or 5 asking about as it related to COVID vaccine misinformation?
6 A I don't remember specific questions that the White House raised in this
7 presentation. I do remember in this meeting, that we presented our overall company
8 effort on COVID-19 vaccine information, and it would have been across product areas
9 similar to our overall COVID-19 presentation work. And I don't really remember very 10 many specifics from the meeting.
11 Q The start of your message which is at the bottom of 64175, you write that 12 Rob's questions were varied YT, YouTube focused. In our last meeting Rob particularly 13 dug in on our decisionmaking for borderline content. Do you remember -- well, first,
14 one step back, do you remember what Rob's questions were more generally,
15 Mr. Flaherty's questions were?
16 A I do not remember his specific questions.
17 Q Do you recall generally if they were about vaccine misinformation?
18 A So my general recollection of this meeting was that we presented our 19 COVID-19 vaccine information effort across the company. And it is standard in these 20 type of conversations for there to be questions on YouTube's policies. That is what I
21 remember from this interaction.
22 Q For the questions about the company's decisionmaking for borderline 23 content, do you recall whether there was anyone on the call who was able to speak to 24 that?
25 A To the best of my recollection, who joined the call from YouTube was [redacted]

1 [redacted] and I believe [redacted]. And I would have not have answered questions
2 regarding YouTube on the call. I would have deferred to my YouTube colleagues.
3 Q Do you recall in these kind of two to three meetings, approximately before
4 this email chain, how much of the conversation was devoted to YouTube's policy as 5 opposed to the company's other products?
6 A I don't remember by memory. And reading this email, I state in the email
7 that the questions were very YouTube-focused.
8 Q This an April 22, 2021 email personnel at the company from Rob Flaherty.
9 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3
10 was marked for identification.]
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q First, do you recall receiving this email from Mr. Flaherty?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And do you recall the meeting preceding this email that he is referencing?
15 A I do not recall the specific dates, but in reviewing the last two emails, I
16 believe the meeting he is referring to is where the meeting or call that I recall where we 17 presented Google and YouTube's COVID-19 information effort.
18 Q The first sentence of the paragraph starting with to recap: Mr. Flaherty 19 writes, "We remain concerned that YouTube is 'funneling' people into hesitance and 20 intensifying people's hesitancy." Do you recall what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling
21 people?
22 A I can't speculate what he meant by that.
23 Q Was there any discussion regarding funneling people in any of your readings
24 with Mr. Flaherty?
25 A In my recollection of this meeting I don't remember specific questions, or

1 the terms that he used in the meeting.

2 Q Do you recall if there was a discussion regarding how YouTube made

3 recommendations once a user finished watching a video?

4 A I am sorry. Can you repeat that question?

5 Q Sure. In your conversations with Mr. Flaherty, do you recall any discussions

6 regarding how the company decides what videos to recommend to -- finish watching a

7 video?

8 A I really don't remember the specific topics that Rob Flaherty raised in this

9 call by memory.

10 Q So a member of the White House staff is emailing you and several others,

11 starting off the email, the White House's concerns around YouTube funneling people.

12 Who at the company is responsible for trying to assess what Mr. Flaherty means by 13 funneling people?

14 A I would say both our presentation on Google's COVID-19 efforts and any

15 subsequent communications regarding YouTube's practices our policies would have been 16 directed to YouTube's Government Affairs and Public Policy team.

17 Q Who specifically?

18 A At the time of this interaction?

19 Q Yes.

20 A I would say [redacted] and [redacted].

21 Q Do you recall any internal discussions at the company about trying to assess

22 what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling people?

23 A I don't recall any specific discussions on that term and that I participated in.

24 Q Near the bottom of this same paragraph, Mr. Flaherty says, "This is a

25 concern that is shared at the highest, and I mean, highest levels at the White House."

1 What did you understand Mr. Flaherty to mean by that?

2 A Taking a step back during this time, I would say in the 6 months so the

3 beginning of 2021, maybe even leading into the fall of 2021 there were a lot of U.S.

4 Government officials asking about COVID-19 information practices across Google Search

5 and YouTube. And I don't really remember the specific interaction. But in reading the

6 email here today, I take it as that there were members of the White House staff and 7 officials that were watching the company's actions closely.

8 Q Company's actions regarding combating vaccine hesitancy?

9 A Regarding COVID-19 information.

10 Q Did Mr. Flaherty indicate what conversations he was having with senior

11 members of the White House?

12 A To me? I don't remember a specific communication where he named who 13 the members of the White House were talking about in this topic.

14 Q Do you recall generally whether he conveyed that folks above him in the 15 White House had strong feelings about whether the company was adequately addressing 16 vaccine hesitancy?

17 A In reviewing this email, and what I remember at the time, is that there was a

18 perception that there were senior White House officials that were paying very close

19 attention to COVID-19 information, and what our company was doing around this topic.

20 Q Near the bottom, it looks like the final bullet point on the same page, Mr.

21 Flaherty asks about the general vectors by which people seek, quote, unquote,

22 "borderline content," or were they just vaccine-skeptical content is largely through

23 recommendations, search. Do you recall who on the company was responsible for 24 finding the answers to Mr. Flaherty's questions on these issues?

25 A I would say my YouTube Government Affairs and Public Policy colleagues.

1 Q To your understanding, are there separate teams that handle removal of 2 content versus the production of quote, unquote, borderline content?
3 A I have very limited visibility or understanding of the way YouTube's team is 4 organized.
5 Q Do you recall if Mr. Flaherty either in this meeting that he is referencing, or 6 just more generally, had questions about Google Search or about search results within
7 YouTube?
8 A I do not remember his specific questions in this meeting, or what products
9 he raised. And I don't remember if he -- in rereading this question today, I am not sure 10 what he meant.
11 Q Do you remember any internal meetings within the company following a 12 meeting with Mr. Flaherty to provide a readout to other folks?
13 A To the best of my recollection, our YouTube Government Affairs and Public
14 Policy team may have taken these additional questions forward in the company. I don't 15 remember myself being a part of any conversations on these questions, or how we 16 would, either I or others, would respond to them.
17 Q In advance of the meeting with Mr. Flaherty or other members of the White
18 House staff, would there generally be a premeeting of just company personnel to go over 19 what is going to be discussed?
20 A So, in my outreach on both economic and Health policy, my broader 21 portfolio, my standard practice is to prepare, especially if multiple colleagues are coming
22 to present in a White House meeting, sometimes that happens just via email, sometimes 23 that happens in an actual call or meeting beforehand.
24 Q Do you remember any calls with folks at the company in advance of the 25 meeting with Mr. Flaherty?

1 A I do not remember, it was 3 years ago. I don't remember doing a call in
2 advance of the meeting. I do remember that we presented a deck. I believe we
3 discussed the different product areas and who would speak to those in advance, but I
4 don't remember having any type of prep meeting.
5 Q I haven't had a chance to review some of the email correspondence with the 6 White House. Do you recall any meetings where Mr. Flaherty or others from the White
7 House staff represented concerns that too much vaccine hesitant content was remaining
8 on YouTube?
9 A I am sorry. Can you repeat your question? Is it that was there a meeting?
10 Q Just do you recall any interactions with Mr. Flaherty, whether there were 11 discussions of whether Mr. Flaherty or someone from the White House staff was 12 conveying to you, or someone from the company, that YouTube was permitting too much
13 vaccine hesitant content on the platform?
14 A From the best of my memory from 3 years ago, I remember doing two or 15 three meetings with him. I remember receiving emails regarding this topic. I don't 16 remember like after this April 2021 meeting specific instances, or examples.
17 Q Did you have a sense during this time of whether Mr. Flaherty, Mr. Slavitt, 18 and others, were talking to other social media platforms?
19 A I am not sure.
20 Q Do you recall any interactions with colleagues of Facebook or Twitter around 21 this time?
22 A Regarding this topic?
23 Q Regarding interactions with the White House.
24 A I do not.
25 [Exhibit No. 4

1 was marked for identification.]

1 [12:12 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q This is exhibit 4. This is an internal company email dated April 29th, 2021.

4 Do you remember receiving this email?

5 A By memory, I do not remember receiving this email.

6 Q For an email like this, would [redacted] run a draft by you first before reaching

7 out to in this case [redacted] or [redacted]?

8 A No.

9 Q At the bottom of the second paragraph [redacted] writes, "We believe having

10 an opportunity for you both to share more background would be hugely beneficial as we

11 seek to work closely with this administration on multiple policy fronts."

12 Do you know which policy fronts [redacted] is referring to?

13 A I do not.

14 Q Which other policy fronts was the company working with the administration

15 on in April 2021?

16 A I can speak for myself, and I in 2021 was leading both health and economic 17 policy outreach and other topics relating to tax, trade, education, beyond health policy.

18 Q What were some of the tax issues you were working with the administration

19 on in April 2021?

20 A Throughout my entire tenure at Google, since I joined the company in 2019,

21 one of the key tax policy topics that we've discussed through with both the Trump and

22 Biden administration have been digital service taxes and global tax policy and

23 international tax policy issues relating to technology and digital services.

24 Q Have you had any conversations with members of the executive branch

25 about Europe's approach to data privacy or -- well, start there. Data privacy?

1 A On data privacy specifically, I can't think of a meeting where that would have
2 been the sole topic. That might have come up as a part of a broader conversation on 3 European regulatory issues.
4 Q Are you aware of, do you recall any conversations between you or a member
5 of your team regarding issues related to data flows between Europe and the United 6 States?
7 A So I can only speak for the meetings that I've participated in, and I can't think 8 of a specific meeting that I participated in where that was the topic of the call or the 9 meeting.
10 One of my colleagues or teammates covers those issues in more detail. But I
11 would not have necessarily participated in those meetings and I can't think of an example.
12 Q Which colleague would have covered this issue?
13 A [redacted].
14 Q In April of 2021, do you recall working on any issues related to antitrust?
15 A In relation to the executive branch?
16 Q Yes.
17 A I can't think of any meetings or calls that I would have been on regarding 18 that topic. This is tangential, but I do lead small business issues. And so I certainly 19 would have talked about digital tools' helpfulness to small businesses.
20 Q Do you recall in, we'll just say, spring of 2021 or thereabouts any meetings or 21 discussions with members of the executive branch around reform of section 230?
22 A I cannot think of any call or a meeting that I was on specifically relating to 23 section 230. That law is important to Google and it may have come up in a meeting, but 24 I can't think of an example of a meeting where that was the sole topic that I participated 25 in.

1 Q Which member of your team has the lead for issues related to section 230?
2 A So I would describe section 230 similar to AI in the sense that there is not
3 one person on our team that is leading that topic.
4 Q Is it an issue that can fall within the purview of your portfolio?
5 A It could.
6 Q Did it in 2021?
7 A In 2021, the context that I would think of when talking about section 230
8 would be on if it did not exist or if it changed, the impact that that would potentially have 9 on small businesses.
10 Q Which other members of your team in 2021 had portfolios that might touch
11 upon issues related to section 230?
12 A I would say any of our Government Affairs and Public Policy team on our 13 Federal Affairs team that interact with government officials could potentially talk about 14 section 230.
15 Q Do you recall -- just to clarify an earlier answer, I understand you don't recall 16 maybe a specific meeting where section 230 was the sole topic with the meeting with an 17 executive branch official.
18 Do you recall more generally in spring and summer of 2021 meetings where that 19 issue arose with members of the executive branch?
20 A I can't think of an example.
21 Q You mentioned that reform of section 230 is an important issue to the 22 company. Just at a high level, why is that?
23 A Section 230 is an important element of allowing internet and technology and 24 tech companies to be able to provide content and information to our users.
25 Q Do you recall any discussions internal to the company or with external

1 stakeholders about whether the risk of section 230 being reformed in an unfavorable way
2 to the company was higher in 2021?
3 A I, by memory, cannot recall. It is an issue that is from my vantage point
4 continuously important to the company.
5 Q To your understanding, are there any individuals within the YouTube GAPP
6 team specifically that have the lead, so to speak, on issues related to section 230?
7 A I do not have an understanding of the YouTube Government Affairs and 8 Public Policy, their portfolios.
9 Q Turning back to [redacted] email where he mentions working closely with 10 the administration on multiple policy fronts, to your understanding, do you recall 11 whether [redacted] had any interactions with the executive branch around this time
12 regarding section 230?
13 A That would be a question for my YouTube colleagues. I don't know.
14 Q To your understanding, has the company developed any internal 15 memorandum assessments of what the impact would be if section 230 were changed,
16 what the impact would be to the company?
17 A I have not seen that analysis.
18 Q In spring and summer of 2021, to your understanding, did the company want
19 section 230 reformed or would they have preferred the status quo?
20 A As the economic policy outreach lead, my understanding of our advocacy in 21 this space is limited. In my awareness, section 230 is not something that at the time in 22 2021 that we were proactively -- or at least for myself, I was not proactively seeking 23 reforms to.
24 Q To clarify that, so in 2021, do you recall whether you or members of your 25 team had interactions with the executive branch, not only -- apologize in advance for using the double negative -- not only not advocating for a revision or reform to section 230, but any advocacy against proposed revisions to section 230?

Mr. Bopp. Can we unpack, because I'm not sure I understand that. I want to make sure she's answering the right question.

BY [redacted]

Q Sure. So in your previous answer, if I understood it correctly, at least speaking for yourself, you don't recall interactions where the company was taking a position section 230 should be changed in this way.

Is that a fair summary?

A I was not advocating for changes to section 230.

Q Okay. Maybe an easier way of asking this, do you recall advocating against certain changes to section 230?

A I don't remember advocating. I can't think of a single incident or example of a meeting where my advocacy either way on section 230 in detail with any meetings with the executive branch.

Q With the understanding you don't recall specific meetings or specific discussions, do you recall generally whether among public debate there were concerns about a push to revise section 230 around 2021?

A I remember that there was a case before the Supreme Court on section 230, and that would have been covered in the news. I would have been generally aware of that case. I honestly can't remember when that was, if it was in 2021 or not.

[redacted] I'm going to introduce two exhibits.

Exhibit 5 is going to be an email chain between members of the company and Mr. Flaherty in July of 2021.

[redacted] Exhibit No. 5

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted] There's a link to a tweet in the email chain, and exhibit 6 will be a

3 screenshot of that tweet.

4 [redacted] Exhibit No. 6

5 was marked for identification.]

6 [redacted] So the email is exhibit --

7 [redacted] 5.

8 [redacted] 5. And the tweet is 6?

9 [redacted] Yes.

10 [redacted] Thank you.

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Good?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Is this the -- first, let me take a step back.

15 Do you recall this email chain?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And is this the example that you had recalled in the first hour?

18 A Yes.

19 Q Do you recall any conversations with [redacted] about this message from 20 Mr. Flaherty about the tweet?

21 A I do not.

22 Q To your understanding, who did [redacted] interact with in order to be able to 23 provide a response to Mr. Flaherty?

24 A I would not have had visibility into that, who he spoke to.

25 Q To your recollection, was there any discussion with [redacted] even as simple as he was the one that would be handling any sort of response?

A I do not remember having that discussion.

Q Just generally, for an email like this, is it because it was -- how would -- if the email is to both of you, how would it be decided who would take the lead in trying to find the information necessary to give an answer to Mr. Flaherty?

A On this specific email back-and-forth, it began with outreach from [redacted] on YouTube-related topics.

And throughout the course of the exchange between [redacted] and the government official, I would not have -- it would have -- I would have read this and assumed that our YouTube Government Affairs team was taking the lead in response.

And I might not have had an internal email or conversation about that because it is YouTube related.

[redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

[Recess.]

1

2 [redacted] Go back on the record.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q At the end of the last hour we were, I believe, at exhibits 5 and 6. I'd like to 5 direct your attention back to those.

6 A Yes.

7 Q There's the tweet and then the 7 -- the email chain with [redacted] that

8 begins at 7/21.

9 A Uh-huh.

10 Q So I want to flip to the second page where Rob Flaherty writes to [redacted]

11 on July 20th at 10:57 a.m. It's about three quarters of the way down the page.

12 A Uh-huh.

13 Q Do you see where I'm at?

14 A Yes.

15 Q When he flags this tweet, is there anywhere here that you see to your 16 understanding that he asked for content to actually be removed?

17 Mr. Bopp. What are you referring to specifically?

18 [redacted] The email at 10:57 a.m. that Rob Flaherty wrote to [redacted].

19 [redacted]. In reading the email, I can't speculate what he meant by this,

20 other than the words on the page.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q Thank you.

23 So the answer is you don't see anywhere where he asked for content to be

24 removed. Is that correct?

25 A I think his exact question is, "What is going on here?"

1 Q And that's not a request to remove content, correct?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Thank you.

4 And if you flip to the first page of that email chain, where [redacted] responds

5 back to Rob Flaherty on 7/21/2021 at 1:03 a.m.

6 A Yes.

7 Q If you want to briefly refresh your recollection on that.

8 A Yes, I've read the email.

9 Q Okay. In this email, from where you're reading, where the text says [redacted]

10 [redacted] did not actually -- or [redacted] informed Rob Flaherty that the content that he had

11 flagged was not actually -- was not in violation of the policies and therefore not subject to 12 removal.

13 Is that correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Thank you.

16 Now I want to go back to the earlier hour. You were asked about exhibit 3.

17 And this was the email from Rob Flaherty where he said this concern "is shared at the 18 highest (and I mean highest) levels of the White House."

19 Do you remember being asked questions about that language?

20 A Yes.

21 Q Okay. And during the last hour you testified that there was a perception at

22 the time that senior White House officials were paying close attention to the company's 23 actions.

24 Is that a fair characterization of your testimony?

25 A Yes.

Q Okay. First of all, I just want to ask you a couple questions about -- follow-up questions about this language.

Did you interpret "the highest (and I mean highest) levels of the White House" to be a threat?

A No.

Q And just to take a step back, during this time it wasn't just the White House that was watching Google and vaccine misinformation. It was a lot of other external stakeholders. Is that fair to say?

A Yes. I previously mentioned the Surgeon General is one example of another government official who we spoke with on this topic. And there were other, both administration and congressional government officials, who were asking us about COVID-19 information.

Q So Members of Congress would be concerned around this time, this same time?

A I would have to reflect on my memory. But I do remember other members of our Government Affairs and Public Policy team asking for talking points or other information on this topic.

[redacted] Okay.

[redacted] And was that just with respect to government officials in the United States, or were government officials worldwide making inquiries about this topic, as well?

[redacted]. So most of my visibility would have been into government officials here in the U.S. But as a part of our larger Government Affairs and Public Policy team, this topic of COVID-19 information was a topic that other government officials in countries around the world were asking colleagues of mine.

1 [redacted] And to the best of your knowledge, did Google do anything
2 differently than it otherwise would have done as a result of this perception that it was
3 being watched closely by senior White House officials?
4 [redacted]. From my vantage point, Google is a company that throughout
5 administrations and whoever is in the White House is at times watching what the 6 company does on a variety of topics.
7 [redacted] Okay. But my question is, to the best of your knowledge, did
8 Google do anything differently than it otherwise would have because of this perception
9 that it was being watched?
10 [redacted]. From my vantage point, we did not do anything differently.
11 [redacted] No policy changes or difference in how you handled COVID
12 information as a result of this perception?
13 Mr. Bopp. In answering, be clear. Please be clear whether you're speaking for 14 yourself or for Google.
15 [redacted]. In speaking for myself, I did not do anything differently in my 16 role.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Did you witness anybody else at Google do anything differently because of 19 this perception that they were being watched by senior White House officials?
20 A Again, speaking for myself and in my role, I did not do anything differently
21 because of this outreach.
22 Q Okay. You were asked at the last hour about the exhibit 4, which was the 23 email where [redacted] had emailed [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] and [redacted], and 24 mentioned that they were working closely with this administration on multiple policy 25 fronts.

A I have the email in front of me.

Q Do you recall that discussion in the last hour?

A Yes.

Q Okay. I guess my question is, did you ever fear that not being responsive or helpful to the White House in one policy area would lead to the White House taking adverse actions against the company on another policy area?

And I'm asking to clarify to the best of your personal experience.

A In my role on our Government Affairs and Public Policy team, I did not perceive that from this email.

[redacted] You were asked several questions during the previous hour about section 230 and concerns about reform or potential reform of section 230.

Are you aware from your personal knowledge of you or any of your colleagues expressing a concern that the White House's interest in Google's actions on COVID information were somehow connected to potential reform of section 230? Were those topics ever connected?

[redacted]. In the calls, meetings, government outreach I participated in, those two topics were not discussed in the same call or meeting.

[redacted] And is that also the case with respect to internal conversations that you participated in or are aware of at Google?

[redacted]. I cannot recall of an internal meeting where the two topics were discussed.

[redacted] Okay. Thank you.

We can go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

[redacted] We can go back on the record, please.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the

3 Financial Crimes Enforcement Network, FinCEN?

4 A Yes.

5 Q What's been the nature of your interactions with FinCEN?

6 A In my portfolio as economic policy lead on our Government Affairs and

7 Public Policy team, I have had interactions with FinCEN staff on topics like digital identity.

8 I participated in broad industry stakeholder engagements with FinCEN on, say, technology

9 and financial service issues.

10 Q Which offices or divisions within FinCEN have you interacted with most

11 frequently?

12 A I am not sure the office of a particular point of contact that I'm thinking of is 13 in, but Kay Turner is someone who previously worked at Treasury, in digital identity.

14 And she now is a FinCEN staffer, and I'm not sure the office she's in.

15 Q Do you know who Noah Bishoff is?

16 A From my memory, I do not.

17 Q Did you have any interactions with personnel from FinCEN in January of 18 2021?

19 A From memory, I don't remember interaction. I'm happy to review an email

20 if you have more context.

21 Q Broadly, are you aware of whether personnel from the company were in

22 touch with FinCEN after January 6th, 2021?

23 A Not to my visibility or awareness.

24 Q To your knowledge, is there a team within the company responsible for 25 issues related to financial fraud, financial issues broadly?

1 A From my vantage point on our Government Affairs and Public Policy team,
2 for products like Google Pay, we have a payments compliance team who would be
3 responsible for that product area.
4 Q Do you know who the head of that team is?
5 A By memory, I do not.
6 Q Following January 6th, 2021, did you have any interactions with 7 representatives from the executive branch about investigations into any individuals that 8 were present in and around the Capitol that day?
9 A I did not.
10 [redacted] This will be exhibit 7.
11 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 7
12 was marked for identification.]
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q This is an email chain between the White House and members of Google in 15 September of 2021.
16 Ready?
17 A Yes.
18 Q On Bates number 12376, there's an email from [redacted], copying you and
19 Mr. Flaherty.
20 For an email like this, would [redacted] typically run it by you first before emailing
21 the White House?
22 A Not necessarily.
23 Q Okay. Do you recall if [redacted] previewed for you the message he was 24 going to send to Mr. Flaherty?
25 A From my memory, I don't remember if [redacted] previewed this outreach

1 to me.

2 Q Do you recall any internal discussions prior to this outreach about how to

3 preview or how to present the upcoming community guidelines change?

4 A I do not remember.

5 Q Do you recall the first time that you learned that the community guidelines

6 were going to be changed to be expanded to include other vaccines?

7 A I do remember during 2021, one of my key roles was to provide information

8 on when the FDA approved COVID-19 vaccine, because across product areas there would

9 be information that would need to be changed to reflect the FDA had approved COVID-19

10 vaccine.

11 Q Separate from that, do you recall any instances where someone from Trust

12 and Safety or maybe someone else from your team was notifying you in advance that a

13 particular change happening to the guidelines was going to be made?

14 A I do not recall anyone from Trust and Safety reaching out to me.

15 Q Do you recall any discussions with the White House in the immediate 16 aftermath, after this policy change in September 2021 took effect?

17 A I do remember providing updates to government officials, including the

18 White House, post-FDA approval of COVID-19 vaccines, that product changes were being

19 made. I remember the search feature at the time was updated, and I remember the 20 YouTube policy -- I think it's the medical policy -- was updated.

21 Q Do you recall any feedback or response that you received from Mr. Flaherty

22 about policy changes to the community guidelines?

23 A I do not.

24 Q Do you remember generally whether he had a favorable response,

25 unfavorable response?

1 A I don't remember his response or reaction.

2 Q What about members of the White House staff?

3 A I can't recall any other reaction or conversations.

4 Q Mr. Flaherty's email, Bates number 12376, he responds on September 29th,

5 "Would love to talk through it -- at first blush, seems like a great step."

6 Do you recall any meetings or discussions where Mr. Flaherty expressed a similar

7 sentiment?

8 A I don't remember his reaction to any updates that we provided at this time.

9 Q In advance of the Surgeon General's announcement in late summer of 2021,

10 thereabouts, what was the nature of your interactions with that office in the lead-up?

11 A I don't know the announcement you're referencing. But we at Google, as

12 the health policy lead, we did interact with the Surgeon General's staff prior to a report

13 being released from the Surgeon General on health information.

14 Q What role or what information was the company providing as it related to 15 that report?

16 A To the best of my recollection, we provided an overview of Google's and 17 YouTube's COVID-19 authoritative information efforts.

18 Q Did you provide information about YouTube's efforts to combat vaccine

19 hesitancy or misinformation around vaccines?

20 A We may have spoke about YouTube's efforts. I don't remember the 21 specific topics that we briefed the Surgeon General's staff on.

22 Q Who else attended this briefing from the company?

23 A I don't remember the specific meeting in detail. I do remember having a

24 meeting with Surgeon General's staff. And to the best of my recollection, it likely would

25 have been with [redacted] from YouTube and [redacted] from Google Search

1 Partnership.

2 Q As part of this briefing, did you or anyone else from the company have an

3 opportunity to view draft texts before the report was finalized?

4 A I remember the Surgeon General's staff, like, walking through some

5 high-level principles. That would be in the report. I don't remember ever seeing a

6 paper with a draft text or an email with specific words.

7 Q Do you recall if any of those principles addressed misinformation?

8 A To the best of my recollection, the report was on COVID-19 public health

9 information and misinformation, and the preview would have reflected that.

10 Q Do you recall whether the preview provided any commentary on the 11 adequacy of social media platforms' responses to COVID-19 information up to that point?

12 A I don't remember that detail from the conversation.

13 Q Do you remember there being a concern within the company whether the 14 Office of the Surgeon General was going to criticize social media companies' response to

15 COVID-19?

16 A Taking a step back, I remember at the time Google's efforts to raise public

17 health information at the time on COVID-19 as a priority for the company.

18 Q But more specifically, do you recall any internal discussions regarding

19 concerns whether the Office of the Surgeon General would criticize YouTube, other social

20 media platforms about their response to vaccine hesitancy or misinformation around

21 vaccines?

22 A I remember there being awareness that this report was going to be released

23 by the Surgeon General and there being an effort to proactively share Google and 24 YouTube's policies and practices on public health information.

25 Q Who within the company worked on preparing information to share with the

1 Surgeon General's office?

2 A I don't recall the exact presentation that we gave by memory. But my

3 standard practice during COVID-19 in 2020 and 2021, moving into 2022, would have been

4 to work with various members of our Government Affairs and Public Policy team who

5 represent different product areas to provide information for a presentation that would

6 provide information on the work the company was doing at the time.

7 Q Do you recall any discussions with YouTube's Trust and Safety team in the 8 lead-up to meeting with staff from the Office of the Surgeon General?

9 A I do not.

10 Q Are you familiar with President Biden's statement from July of 2021 that 11 Facebook was killing people?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Do you recall discussions within the company about those remarks from the 14 President?

15 A I remember at the time when the President made those remarks that there

16 was discussions about differentiating Google and proactively sharing with bipartisan

17 government officials the efforts that Google and YouTube were taking on COVID-19

18 information.

19 Q Who were these discussions with?

20 A I don't remember in detail specific conversations. But my general

21 recollection is that the conversations would have been with YouTube's Government

22 Affairs team, so likely [redacted] and maybe my manager.

23 Q Who was your manager at this time?

24 A [redacted].

25 Q Do you recall any discussions with anyone more senior within the company

1 around this time?

2 A I do not.

3 Q To your understanding, what were the differences between YouTube and 4 Google's approach to Facebook's approach in the summer of 2021?

5 Mr. Bopp. I'm sorry. Just you said the difference in YouTube's approach and 6 Facebook's approach and then Google's approach and Facebook's approach?

7 [redacted] Google and YouTube as opposed to Facebook.

8 Mr. Bopp. Google versus -- I'm sorry.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q Building upon the previous answer.

11 A I can speak to Google and YouTube's approach at the time. And when we

12 try to differentiate ourselves, it is focusing in our own efforts. I can't speak to another

13 company's approach at the time.

14 Q As part of the company's efforts to differentiate itself from the approach

15 Facebook was taking, do you know who within the company would have had the lead on 16 conducting that sort of assessment?

17 A When I made that reference, that it is common practice on our Government

18 Affairs and Public Policy team to explain to government officials Google's products,

19 services, policies to build trust with policymakers.

20 Q At any point in the spring or summer of 2021, do you recall any internal

21 discussions or reviewing any internal assessments about the differences between

22 Facebook's approach and YouTube and Google's approach?

23 A No.

24 Q To your awareness or knowledge, was any sort of assessment conducted

25 within the company about the differences between Facebook's approach to the content

1 moderation as opposed to Alphabet's?

2 A I can only speak to what I saw or meetings, et cetera, and I never saw

3 analysis like that.

4 Q What was the general reaction within the company that you're aware of 5 following the President's remarks about Facebook?

6 A Beyond what I just shared in terms of wanting to lift up Google and

7 YouTube's proactive efforts, I don't really remember more specific details on the reaction

8 at the time.

9 Q Do you recall was there a meeting that took place? Or how did these 10 discussions occur? By what means?

11 A I don't remember a specific meeting or a call.

12 Q Do you remember preparing or having prepared for you any talking points in 13 the days following the President's remarks about Facebook?

14 A As a general matter, at this time I would say for, again, like the first 6

15 months, maybe a little longer even of 2021, talking points regarding COVID-19 and

16 authoritative information would have been something our team would have had because

17 we were receiving and having conversations about this topic.

18 Q Do you remember being surprised that the President made those remarks

19 about Facebook?

20 A It was 3 years ago, and I don't really remember being surprised or my 21 thoughts about it at the time.

22 Q Do you recall anyone from within the company discussing the risk of 23 whether the President or others in the White House may make similar remarks about the

24 company?

25 A I don't remember any specific conversations.

1 You know, just pulling back, generally as a part of Google's Government Affairs
2 and Public Policy team, any time a President or Presidential candidate or Senator or a
3 Member of Congress mentions technology companies, technology platforms, it is 4 something that our Government Affairs team would notice.
5 Q With the understanding you don't have a specific recollection, for a situation
6 where it's coming from the President himself, is there -- customarily what would happen
7 in a situation like that? Would your team prepare a readout for folks, other work
8 product?
9 A I would not say that there's a standard protocol for when any government
10 official mentions a technology-related issue.
11 Q What about when the President does?
12 A I would say I can speak for myself. And if I saw a speech or a press release
13 from the President that I thought impacted technology companies, it might be something
14 that I would flag and share with my manager or my colleagues on our Government Affairs
15 and Public Policy team.
16 Q Besides your manager and besides [redacted], do you recall any discussions
17 with individuals within the company about President Biden's remarks about Facebook?
18 A Yeah. Just my recollection of what I did at the time.
19 Q Do you recall whether you or anyone that you talked to within the company
20 had thoughts on whether the President's remarks about Facebook were fair?
21 A I did not have any conversations with my colleagues on that.
22 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 8
23 was marked for identification.]
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q This is an email -- this is exhibit 8, which is an email from the CDC to Google

1 in March of 2021.

2 A I've read the email.

3 Q Do you recall this email?

4 A I don't recall this specific email, but there -- I have a general recollection of 5 the CDC raising this issue.

6 Q The subject line is "COVID Misinfo project."

7 Do you have a general recollection of what Ms. Crawford is referring to here?

8 A So from my memory from 3 years ago, this email was to preview a request

9 from the CDC for a call with industry relating to COVID-19 information. And to the best

10 of my recollection, there was one call on this topic.

11 Q And to your recollection, who attended that call?

12 A I don't remember specific attendees. I do remember it being widely 13 attended by tech industry companies.

14 Q Do you recall what next steps or do asks came at the end of that meeting?

15 A I do not.

16 Q There's reference in this email to Census meeting regularly with Google and 17 YouTube's Trust team, presumably Trust and Safety.

18 Do you have any familiarity with the company's interactions with Census in the 19 year before this?

20 A I am generally aware that there were Google employees who spoke to the 21 Census. I didn't have any more visibility into who or the frequency or what was 22 discussed.

23 Q In first sentence, Ms. Crawford says, "CDC is now working with Census to 24 leverage some of their infrastructure to help identify and address COVID vaccine

25 misinformation."

1 Do you know what infrastructure she's referring to?

2 A I do not.

3 Q If you had to ask someone within the company who might know about the

4 infrastructure being referenced here, who -- which team would be the best team to reach

5 out to?

6 A I would start with my colleague who is on our Government Affairs and Public

7 Policy team who leads outreach to the Census.

8 Q Who's that?

9 A [redacted].

10 Q Do you know of anybody, primary points of contact were within the 11 company -- let me strike that. Let me rephrase that.

12 With the understanding you had limited visibility of the interactions between the 13 YouTube teams and their interactions with the Census Bureau, do you know who on the 14 YouTube teams may have been interacting?

15 A I do not.

16 Q Do you have a point of contact on the Census, or are you aware of any of 17 who the point of contact would be?

18 A I do not.

19 Q Do you recall whether in March of 2021 you had familiarity -- actually, let me

20 strike that.

21 After receiving this email from Ms. Crawford, do you recall any internal meetings

22 or discussions with folks within the company to try to learn more about the infrastructure

23 or the work with Census being referenced?

24 A I do not.

1 [1:48 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q So this is an email to you and [redacted] Do you recall between the two of 4 you who had the lead on this issue?

5 A To the best of my recollection, of this outreach from the CDC, I would have

6 shared this, as well as the subsequent meeting requests with my colleagues on our

7 Government Affairs and Public Policy team who focused more on this topic, and with our

8 YouTube Government Affairs and Public Policy team. I would not have taken any other

9 action.

10 Q Separate from this email, do you recall just generally during your time with 11 the company any briefings about the company's interactions with the Census Bureau?

12 A No.

13 Q The meeting that you recall with multiple companies attending, do you recall

14 how many -- who from the government was attending, which agencies?

15 A I don't remember. I remember the CDC was on the call, and I don't

16 remember other Federal agencies.

17 Q During your time with the company, have you had interactions with the 18 Atlantic Council?

19 A Any interactions with the Atlantic Council would have been limited, and 20 would have been maybe at an event or -- I can't think of a specific instance.

21 Q Are you familiar with the Digital Forensic Research Lab within the Atlantic

22 Council?

23 A I'm not.

24 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the 25 Aspen Institute?

1 A Yes.

2 Q What's been the nature of your interaction?

3 A In 2024, I attended a round table at the Aspen Institute on digital ID. My

4 primary interactions with the Aspen Institute have been on economic policy, including

5 issues relating to fintech and digital ID.

6 Q Have you had any interactions with the Aspen Institute related to YouTube's

7 community guidelines?

8 A I have not.

9 Q In the previous round -- or our second round, we discussed about policy

10 issues that you and others on your team were working on. Do you recall whether there

11 were any internal assessments made about the degree of risk of adverse action that could

12 be taken by the executive branch on any one of these issues?

13 A Can you say the question again?

14 Q Do you recall reviewing or preparing any work product from 2021 assessing 15 the risks of potential adverse action from the executive branch?

16 A I can't recall anything of an analysis like that.

17 Q To your knowledge, is anyone at the company meeting with representatives

18 from the executive branch on issues related to election integrity?

19 A Not to my visibility.

20 Q Do you have any awareness? Or what do you mean by that?

21 A I don't know of anyone.

22 Q Following 2021, do you recall any interactions with White House staff where

23 there was reference to, or discussion about YouTube's community guidelines on any 24 subject?

25 A In 2021?

1 Q After 2021.
2 A After 2021, I do not.
3 Q Do you recall any discussions within the company about how the risk of 4 changes to section 230 changed with the incoming Biden administration?
5 A I remember general discussions on section 230 as a priority for the company.
6 I don't remember specific changes in terms of that topic from 2020 to 2021.
7 Q Is there an individual or a team that's responsible for assessing whether 8 there's an increased risk in change of administrations about particular policies such as 9 section 230?
10 A For a policy like section 230, there are many people at Google, both in our 11 legal and government affairs team, who work on that policy.
12 Q Do you recall anyone within the company sharing with you concerns that 13 there was an increased or heightened risk that section 230 could face changes because of 14 the new Biden administration?
15 A I can't think of a specific conversation or meeting. Section 230 is a priority 16 for the company, and we pay attention to that policy, both from our legal team and our 17 government affairs team.
18 Q With the understanding that you don't recall a specific conversation, to your 19 awareness, did individuals from the company view the Biden administration as more 20 open to revising or otherwise performing section 230 as the previous administration?
21 A I don't remember that analysis or conversation.
22 Q Do you recall any conversations in 2021 within the company regarding 23 antitrust enforcement?
24 A In 2021, antitrust is a topic that would have been discussed by our
25 Government Affairs and Public Policy team.

1 Q In 2021, was there a concern regarding the increase in antitrust
2 enforcement?
3 A I would say that like section 230, antitrust is a topic of priority for Google,
4 and has been from the time I joined the company in 2019 to today.
5 Q Do you recall any conversations within the company after Lina Khan was 6 confirmed as chair of the Federal Trade Commission?
7 A I remember when she was confirmed. I don't remember any specific
8 conversations.
9 [redacted] Could we go off the record, please?
10 [Discussion off the record.]
11 [redacted] Okay. We'll go back on the record.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q I have just a couple quick questions, and then hopefully we'll be able to wrap 14 this up quickly.
15 I would like to introduce exhibits 9 and 10 at the same time.
16 [[redacted] Exhibits Nos. 9 and 10
17 were marked for identification.]
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q For the record, and just for everybody's awareness, 9 is going to be the email
20 on 3/11/2020 at 8:55 p.m. And 10 is going to be the accompanying readout: White
21 House convenes meeting with tech industry on COVID-19 response.
22 And so, whenever you're ready.
23 A I've read the emails.
24 Q Okay. Great.
25 So I would like to direct your attention to what's been marked as exhibit 9, which

1 is the email from you to -- and I'm going to be horrible with names too -- [redacted] -- yeah.
2 You know where I'm at, right?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Okay. So you have forwarded a message that you have received from 5 Lynne Parker. Is that correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And do you recall who Lynne Parker was at the time?
8 A In March of 2020, Lynne Parker was a staffer at OSTP.
9 Q And in March of 2020, who was the President of the United States at the 10 time?
11 A President Trump.
12 Q And so, this would have been an official from the Trump administration that 13 had written this email that starts with, "Good afternoon. Thank you very much for being 14 a part of today's COVID-19 Tech Meeting with the White House?"
15 A Yes.
16 Q And the reason why Lynne Parker emailed was because they were reaching 17 out to entities who will be, quote, "leading some of the next steps based on today's 18 discussion."
19 Is that correct?
20 A She references this in the email presented here.
21 Q And she says, "Please see the attached White House press release
22 summarizing what was accomplished today and what is yet to come," correct?
23 A Yes, this is what the email says.
24 Q And I would like to direct your attention to exhibit 10, which is the attached
25 readout.

1 Oh, let me back up.

2 Were you a participant in the referenced COVID-19 tech meeting with the White

3 House?

4 A I have a general recollection of this call, and I did participate.

5 Q I'm sorry. You did?

6 A I did.

7 Q Okay. Thank you.

8 So directing your attention to exhibit 10, I'm going to start a couple of lines down.

9 It says, "During the meeting, U.S. Chief Technology Officer Michael Kratsios previewed a

10 new database of full-text Coronavirus-related scholarly literature to be released in the 11 coming days and challenged the tech community to leverage technology tools, such as

12 artificial intelligence, to help medical researchers glean scientific insights from this

13 collection of articles."

14 Did I read that correctly?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Going down a line, "The White House's top priority is ensuring the safety and

17 health of the American people amid the COVID-19 outbreak. Cutting edge technology

18 companies and major online platforms will play a critical role in this all-hands-on-deck

19 effort. Today's meeting outlined an initial path forward and we intend to continue this 20 important conversation."

21 Did I read that correctly?

22 A Yes.

23 Q So, to summarize, the White House was engaging with online companies

24 such as Google and in partnership in an effort to combat COVID-19 back in March of 25 2020. Is that a fair characterization?

1 A I remember in my first meeting, I believe, with the White House and the
2 Trump administration on COVID-19 was at the very beginning of 2020, and I recall
3 engagement throughout the spring of 2020 on COVID-19.
4 [redacted] I'm sorry. Just to clarify, so are you saying that you had engaged
5 with the White House prior to March of 2020 about COVID-19?
6 [redacted]. I can remember one call that was with government officials that
7 I believe was in January of 2020, and by memory, I don't remember if the White House
8 participated on that call. But there were government calls prior to March.
9 [redacted] Thank you for that clarification.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q And I'm going to direct your attention to the bottom of the email where it
12 starts under the heading, "Topics discussed at the meeting include."
13 A Yes.
14 Q Okay. The first is increased coordination between Federal agencies and 15 technology companies to improve official information sharing.
16 Did I read that correctly?
17 A Yes.
18 Q And the second is increased coordination among online platforms to identify 19 best practices to root out COVID-19 misinformation.
20 Did I read that correctly?
21 A Yes.
22 Q So it's fair to say that the Trump White House was also concerned about 23 COVID-19 misinformation, correct?
24 A Yes. Throughout 2020, 2021, and into 2022, when I was leading health
25 policy, from my recollection, both President Trump's White House and President Biden's

1 White House were focused on COVID-19 information.

2 [redacted] Thank you.

3 We'll go off the record.

4 Thank you.

5 [Discussion off the record.]

6 [Whereupon, at 2:14 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] Can we go on the record, please.

2 This is a transcribed interview of Imran Ahmed, Chairman Jordan has requested

3 this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and the extent to which the

4 executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and other intermediaries to

5 censor speech.

6 Would the witness please state your name for the record.

7 Mr. Ahmed. Imran Ahmed.

8 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here

9 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to

10 appear voluntarily.

11 My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 12 everybody else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves as

13 well.

14 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

16 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

17 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

18 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

19 [redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will

20 follow during today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in rounds.

21 The majority will ask questions first for 1 hour, and then the minority will have an

22 opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will

23 alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

24 Typically we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you'd like to take a

25 break apart from that, please just let us know.

1 As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything we say to
2 make a written record. So we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.
3 Do you understand?
4 Mr. Ahmed. Yes.
5 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best
6 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
7 those people on the staff whose turn it is.
8 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks
9 down at the end of the table can hear you.
10 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we 11 can help it, and that goes for everyone present at today's interview.
12 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 13 counsel if they so choose. It is my understanding today that you are appearing today
14 with counsel. Is that correct?
15 Mr. Ahmed. Yes.
16 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record.
17 Mr. Herman. Andrew D. Herman.
18 [redacted] Thank you.
19 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
20 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not
21 understand one of our questions, please let us know.
22 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
23 point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not 24 remember, it is best not to guess.
25 Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us if you learned

information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.

If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question.

You should also understand that, although this interview is not under oath, that by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand that?

Mr. Ahmed. Yes.

[redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview. Do you understand this?

Mr. Ahmed. Of course.

[redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C., section 1001.

Do you understand this?

Mr. Ahmed. Yes.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

Mr. Ahmed. No.

[redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

1 That is the end of my preamble. Is there anything that my colleagues from the
2 minority would like to add?
3 Ms. [redacted] No. We just appreciate you being here.
4 Mr. Ahmed. Thank you.
5 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:03. We will start the first hour of
6 questioning.
7 EXAMINATION
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Could I have you state your full name again, please.
10 A Imran Ahmed.
11 Q And what is your current place of employment?
12 A I'm chief executive officer of the Center for Countering Digital Hate.
13 Q And how long have you been the CEO for?
14 A Since its inception, so since September 2019.
15 Q And where are you based out of?
16 A As in the company or?
17 Q Location. Which office?
18 A I -- well, you know, I use both offices in both Washington, D.C., and London.
19 We've just opened one in Brussels as well. Are you asking where I personally live?
20 Q Not necessarily, just if there was an office you primarily worked out of.
21 A I spend a lot of time in all three of the offices.
22 Q Okay. Beginning with college or university, what is your educational
23 background?
24 A Cambridge University, social and political sciences, MA.
25 Q And, starting with your first job after university, what is your professional

1 background?

2 A Right. Gosh, HSBC executive training, Merrill Lynch. I worked in a

3 number of junior roles on a joint venture with HSBC called Merrill Lynch HSBC. Informa

4 Group, I was a management consultant for several years.

5 I then worked in the U.K. Parliament for the -- various different roles from 6 researcher through to special adviser to the shadow Foreign Secretary.

7 And then, after that, I spent some time conceptualizing working on anti-Semitism

8 as a private citizen -- against anti-Semitism as a private citizen -- and then set up CCDH.

9 Q And how long was the gap from when you stopped working for the U.K.

10 Parliament until you started CCDH?

11 A Three years. Although in that time, you know, I took small jobs here and 12 there. Do you want to know them as well?

13 Q Just at a high level, what was the nature.

14 A I worked on -- so I provided some communications advice to the 15 opposition -- to the person who was running against Jeremy Corbyn for leadership of the 16 Labour Party, so for Angela Eagle, and I -- yeah, that was it.

17 And then I was doing the background work that led to us understanding the 18 means of proliferation of anti-Semitism on social media.

19 Q And was this self-study, or were you affiliated with an organization?

20 A No, self- -- it was not affiliated. No one was --

21 Q And then, in 2019, you started CCDH?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Has it gone by any other names?

24 A No, not since its inception. It was launched as CCDH, Center for Countering

25 Digital Hate.

1 Are you asking about -- is there anything specific you're asking about there?

2 Q No.

3 A I mean, the company name changed, but that's only because I bought an

4 off-the- -- or I took an off-the-shelf company and renamed it the Center for Countering

5 Digital Hate.

6 Q Okay.

7 A Didn't have any money.

8 Q What was the company?

9 A Brookstone (ph) Endeavors, Limited.

10 Q And what did that company do?

11 A Nothing. It was a dormant company that was there to allow it to be 12 renamed and then used for something else.

13 Q When you started CCDH, who else were you working with? Was there

14 other individuals employed by or affiliated with CCDH?

15 A Yes. There was another member -- there was one other member of staff.

16 Q Who was that?

17 Mr. Ahmed. Do I have to give their name?

18 Mr. Herman. Do you want to talk about it?

19 Mr. Ahmed. Sure.

20 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please?

21 [Discussion off the record.]

22 [redacted] Can we go back on the record, please?

23 Mr. Ahmed. The individual I started CCDH with was my employee. He no

24 longer works for me, and therefore, I decline to identify him.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Had you worked with him previously?

2 A I knew him previously. We'd never -- he never reported to me or any other

3 formal relationship like that.

4 Q What was his role at CCDH?

5 A Helping me with trying to get CCDH, so our first report, trying to get it into

6 the press, you know, drafting, things like that.

7 Q What was your first report?

8 A The first report was called "Don't Feed the Trolls." So it was an analysis of 9 the way that engagement-based algorithms promoted, meant that trolling was an

10 effective tactic for helping hate actors, anti-Semites in particular, amplify the lies and

11 their hate by trolling people and getting them to engage with them and therefore

12 generating engagement, which leads to amplification on a social media platform, and 13 suggesting a mathematically superior way of engaging with hate, which is to ignore it.

14 Ms. [redacted] Can I just ask -- I'm sorry -- it was Don't Feed the Trolls?

15 Mr. Ahmed. Yes, ma'am.

16 Ms. [redacted] Okay.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q When did this report come out?

19 A September 2019, I think it was. I can't remember the exact date.

20 Q When in 2019 did CCDH formally start?

21 A So we formally came out as an organize -- you know, our first ever public

22 engagement, the launch of our website, launch of us, was on the day that we launched

23 the report, which was September 2019. Yeah.

24 Q So besides you and your first employee, who else worked on this report?

25 A Oh, a number of, you know, psychologists. It's all in the report. You

1 can -- you can have a look at the report, and it has a list of the people that worked on it.
2 Everything that we've ever published -- we've ever, you know, promoted is on the
3 website.
4 Q When did you first start working on that report?
5 A A few months earlier. I can't recall exactly.
6 Q And, at this time, was CCDH only based out of the United Kingdom?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Have you had any other roles besides CEO at CCDH?
9 A No.
10 Q Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation," "disinformation," and
11 "malinformation"?
12 A I have heard the latter term recently. I know the first two terms obviously.
13 Q All right. To your understanding, what is the difference among those three 14 terms?
15 A Misinformation is being wrong. Disinformation incorporates mens rea, so
16 it's lying, and malinformation is, I'm not quite sure.
17 Q Has CCDH, or in any of your boards, ever used malinformation?
18 A I don't believe we ever have. However, you know, you can -- again, all of 19 our reports are up on our website.
20 Q Where have you heard the term "malinformation" used?
21 A It was -- I can't recall -- recently. Someone mentioned it to me. I can't 22 recall who it was. I laughed at it.
23 Q Why was that?
24 A There's a proliferation of terms that could be explained much more simply 25 using plain English -- lying, being wrong.

1 Q As CEO, what are your responsibilities at CCDH?

2 A I am in -- I set direction, and I ensure that we have the resources, the 3 culture, and the internal capacity to deliver on our goals.

4 Q What are your goals?

5 A To create checks and balances on social media companies that are

6 commensurate with the checks and balances that we expect from powerful organizations

7 within a democracy.

8 Q What checks and balances should there be on social media companies?

9 A They should be subject to scrutiny, -- so transparency, scrutiny,

10 accountability, and where they are negligent or cause harm, and that can be shown to be

11 harmful --

12 Chairman Jordan. Congressman Jordan.

13 Mr. Herman. Good to meet you. Andrew.

14 Mr. Ahmed. -- subject to the law.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q To what extent do you interface with U.S. Government officials as part of 17 your role?

18 A Personally?

19 Q Yes.

20 A Little.

21 Q Do you have members of CCDH that have that primary responsibility?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Who are they?

24 A We have a U.S. policy team.

25 Q How big is that team?

1 A Currently two people.

2 Q Who are those two people?

3 A Susan Ragheb and Sarah Eagan.

4 Q To your understanding, which agencies within the U.S. executive branch

5 have they interacted with?

6 A I have -- they aren't discussions I've been personally involved in, so I don't

7 know.

8 Q Do they provide briefings to you?

9 A Do they provide briefings?

10 Q To you, about their interactions.

11 A Where they need my input, they provide briefings to me, and they can ask

12 me questions, but I tend to let my staff do what they need to do. I'm not a 13 micromanager.

14 Q When did Susan and Sarah first join CCDH?

15 A I can't recall precisely. Sarah's been with me for longer than -- Sarah's been 16 with me since almost the start of CCDH; Susan, for a few months, maybe a year. I can't 17 remember exactly.

18 Q When did CCDH first operate in the United States?

19 A I can't remember our incorporation date. It was 2020, end of 2020 that we 20 incorporated.

21 I mean, again, to my best recollection it was the end of 2020. I can't recall

22 exactly.

23 Q And why did you start operating in the United States?

24 A Our analysis was that, if you were going to truly provide checks and balances

25 on social media companies, you need to go to the jurisdiction that has most direct

1 influence on them, and that is the United States.

2 Q When you started operations in the United States, what did that look like?

3 Did you open an office here?

4 A We did. We opened a physical office. I mean, keep in mind, this is during

5 the pandemic, so we opened a physical office, we opened a company, and we brought on 6 lawyers, and we took our 501(c)(3) status.

7 Q Prior to that, had anyone from CCDH been interacting with members of the

8 U.S. Government?

9 A Yes. Yeah. We'd taken meetings with people in the U.S. Government

10 before that.

11 Q Do you know from where within the U.S. Government?

12 A In the Trump White House with the TUI coordinator, so the Terrorist Use of 13 the Internet Coordinator at the NSC; with the Secretary of State, Mr. Pompeo; with the 14 Special Envoy for Countering Anti-Semitism -- I can't recall the exact title, I know it's

15 long -- who, I think was Elan Carr at the time; and with other officials at the State, I

16 believe; possibly within the -- yeah, within State, for certain. There may be other

17 officials, but I can't recall precisely.

18 Q And who from CCDH was handling these interactions with the

19 U.S. Government?

20 A Those were mainly me, actually, back then. We were small.

21 Q Were you joined by anyone from CCDH?

22 A I can't recall. I really can't recall. These are -- this is 4 years ago.

23 Q Do these tend to be in-person meetings or --

24 A It was COVID, not -- so, no.

25 Q How did you first get connected to individuals within the State Department?

1 A I believe we wrote to them. Although I can't -- I mean, there -- yeah, but I
2 mean, there may have been referrals or they may have seen -- they may have reached
3 out to us. I think Mr. Carr reached out to us, for example. But there may have been 4 referrals between governments as well because the work we were doing on
5 anti-Semitism is a bipartisan concern in both the U.K. and U.S., for example, and a
6 significant concern of our foreign policy apparatus in both countries.
7 Q When CCDH first starts operations in the United States, how many 8 employees did you have working full time in the United States?
9 A Gosh, I think just me.
10 Q In the lead-up to the 2020 election, was anyone from CCDH in contact with 11 either of the two Presidential campaigns?
12 A The campaigns as opposed to the White House or --
13 Q Yes.
14 A I don't believe so, no.
15 Q Was CCDH in contact with the Biden-Harris transition team?
16 A I personally was not. I can't speak to board members in their private -- in 17 their private lives, and so I'm not sure as to whether or not any of them were, but I
18 certainly was not.
19 Q Who from CCDH took the primary lead in researching and drafting the 20 Disinformation Dozen report?
21 A Always the research -- so, once we had a research director, the research
22 director is responsible for all research reports.
23 Q Who was the research director at the time?
24 A Callum Hood. He still is.
25 Q When did the research first begin for the Disinformation Dozen report?

1 A I can't recall. And, to be specific, you could look at the -- the 2 methodology's clearly laid out in the report.
3 Q Yeah, but, prior to beginning the sample size and looking at the posts, how 4 far in advance had someone from CCDH decide that this was objective research that was 5 going to be undertaken?
6 A That's not the way that research is done at CCDH. So there's no decision
7 taken on a -- there's no decision taken, this is the next piece of research. We always 8 have dozens of potential things that we might research, that are being considered at any 9 one time, things that -- it's very hard to then sift through those and work out what makes
10 it.
11 I can't tell you right now if there's a formula for what makes it and what doesn't,
12 but keep in mind, we're an advocacy organization. We seek to change things. And so
13 we're not, you know, we're not researching for the sake of researching. There is a point
14 to the research as well.
15 Q And what role do you play in terms of deciding what research ultimately is 16 significant enough and in line with CCDH's views to begin drafting a report?
17 A I play a very significant role in that.
18 Q Are you the final decisionmaker?
19 A Of course. I'm the chief executive officer.
20 Q Do you recall at what point you decided to have CCDH begin drafting the 21 Disinformation Dozen report?
22 A When I saw the data.
23 Q Do you know who -- excuse me -- do you know who Andy Slavitt is?
24 A No.
25 Q Do you know --

1 A I mean, I haven't got a great memory for names, but it's not someone that's
2 top of my mind, no. He's not someone I can recall.
3 Q Did you have any interactions with the White House regarding the
4 Disinformation Dozen report?
5 A Did I personally?
6 Q Yes.
7 A No.
8 Q Did anyone from CCDH?
9 A Not to my knowledge. Beyond the correspondence that you'll have seen.
10 Q To your understanding, how did the White House become aware of the 11 Disinformation Dozen report?
12 A It remains, to this day, a mystery to me.
13 Q In the spring of 2021, who from CCDH had primary responsibility for 14 interacting with the U.S. Government?
15 A It would've been me, but in the spring of 2021, we were a very small
16 organization, far fewer than a dozen staff. I can't remember -- I can't recall precisely 17 how many. And so -- and we also knew that our primary means of communicating to 18 stakeholders was actually directly on social media and then through press coverage of our 19 work.
20 Q How many staff do you have today?
21 A Across all entities in CCDH?
22 Q Yes.
23 A About 30.
24 Q How many are based in the U.S.?
25 A I don't know the precise number, but it's fewer than 10 -- over 5, fewer than

1 10, but I can't recall the exact number.

2 Q At what point in 2021 did you become aware that staff within the

3 White House were familiar with the Disinformation Dozen report?

4 A When President Biden called Facebook killers and then there was a

5 subsequent clarification, I think, by the press secretary, the White House -- what do you

6 call the person who speaks for the President --

7 Q Yeah.

8 A -- the press secretary?

9 Q Jen Psaki?

10 A Yeah, and -- in fact, it may have been his comments. He said there's these 11 people, these 12 people who produce -- and we knew that was our report. Yeah.

12 Q So that was mid-July of 2021.

13 A Yeah.

14 Q The report had come out in March of 2021.

15 A Sure.

16 Q In that interim period, had anyone from the White House reached out to 17 CCDH for a briefing?

18 A I don't recall myself, but we have provided you with all of our emails. It

19 came as a -- it came as an absolute surprise to us. But there had been a renewed press

20 interest in the report in -- so, after it launched, there was a lull. It got a lot of coverage

21 when it launched. Then there was a lull. And then there was a sudden burst again.

22 But that's one of the, you know, one of the strong things about our reports is that

23 we create data points that can be used again and again and again, which is really -- which

24 is what makes them powerful because they, of course, provide the evidential base for

25 further action in the same way that, you know, other reports that we've done on, say,

1 kids' mental health have been evidential basis for -- which is still being used now 2 years
2 after the release.
3 Q All right. When it first was released and there's the initial outside
4 interest --
5 A Yeah.
6 Q -- who did you meet with at a high level, like, who was interested in the 7 report?
8 A No -- so, to my recollection, from the U.S. Government, no one. But then 9 you have all of our emails as well.
10 Q So, when you refer to initial interest, who are you referring to?
11 A The press, the public, the, you know, physicians.
12 Q Did you meet with any of the social media companies when it was first
13 released?
14 A I don't recall. But you, again, have all of our correspondence with social 15 media companies, right?
16 We don't have a formal or structured relationship with any social media company
17 at all.
18 Q When it came, after the initial launch, if there's interest in the press,
19 questions from the public about the report or its meaning, who from CCDH took the lead 20 in handling those?
21 A Whoever the head of press was at the time, and then usually I'd be put up to 22 speak if it was on the record.
23 Q Who was the head of the press at the time?
24 A I actually don't recall. There was some -- at the initial stage, there was a lot
25 of chopping and churning and stuff, so I honestly don't recall.

1 Q Are you familiar with The Virality Project through Stanford University?
2 A No.
3 Q So, once there's the comments in mid-July 2021 from the White House about 4 a dozen individuals --
5 A Yeah.
6 Q -- did you have any interactions with the White House following those public
7 statements?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And what were those interactions?
10 A I think there were some emails back and forth, but I don't recall precisely.
11 Q And were you taking the lead for CCDH for these communications?
12 A Yeah.
13 Q Was there a meeting or a briefing of some type?
14 A I don't recall. Not with -- not -- so not with anyone -- not with the 15 President or the Vice President or the President's communications people, not to my 16 recollection, no.
17 Q What about just staff within the White House?
18 A I don't -- I think you have a crisper, you know, distinction between who's in 19 the White House and who's not. I honestly don't recall anyone from the White House.
20 Q What about others within the executive branch?
21 A I know we had meetings with people in the executive branch subsequent to 22 that. I met the Surgeon General at some point -- or his staff if you know what I mean.
23 Q Besides the Office of the Surgeon General, do you recall which other 24 offices within --
25 A No.

1 Q -- the executive branch?

2 A No. No. And I mean, to be frank, we had very cursory discussions in

3 which we just explained our report. You know, we -- because of the First Amendment,

4 the U.S. Federal Government is not a tool for change.

5 So, if they want to know about something, they can, but they're not really a -- they

6 can't do anything about it.

7 Q Either shortly before or once the statements had been made public by the

8 White House in July of 2021 about the Disinformation Dozen --

9 A Yeah.

10 Q -- did you have any interactions with anyone from Facebook?

11 A I don't recall. They -- in fact, my recollection is that the comments they put

12 out after our report came out, were very hostile. And, given subsequent revelations by

13 Frances Haugen, for example, that they themselves knew that a small number of 14 individuals were responsible for the vast majority, or a significant portion, of the 15 disinformation relating to the COVID vaccine.

16 I think that they were trying very hard to kill the story, and I don't see why

17 they -- it would've been no interest at all for them to reach out to us because, by that

18 point, social media companies knew that we weren't going to -- we weren't going to 19 respond to false overtures of friendliness, gaslighting, or even them being nice to us. It

20 just wasn't going to work.

21 Q Had social media companies tried that previously with CCDH's earlier

22 reports?

23 A No. Before we -- so, before we'd started as an organization, between 2016

24 and 2019, at the time when I was acting as a private citizen, I spoke to people at social

25 media companies, showing them the ways in which anti-Semites were weaponizing

1 Facebook groups, weaponizing other spaces to spread the lies that underpin hate against
2 Jewish people, and specifically organizing, recruiting for, zealotizing anti-Semitism.
3 It took me some time to realize that their internal policymaking process is a way of 4 preventing people from having outside -- from the public from having scrutiny, and 5 lawmakers from having scrutiny, of the way that they suppress some content, amplify
6 some content, the way that they behave and enforce their rules. And I felt that that 7 discussion was better had in the public.
8 So we'd had those discussions, and we'd realized that there was no -- there was 9 no point in continuing with them. All they were doing was delaying the moment in 10 which true scrutiny could be placed upon their decisionmaking processes.
11 Q Who at Facebook were you interacting with at this time?
