12 A Executives in the U.K., in their policy team. I think I interacted with other
13 executives in the U.S. at their request, but I don't recall their names.
14 Q Do you recall their titles?
15 A Something government affairs-y, something, you know.
16 Q Which other social media companies were you interact- --
17 A Twitter --
18 Q -- who were you interacting with at this time?
19 A -- Google. I don't think TikTok existed at the time.
20 Q Are you familiar with the statement Facebook put out shortly after 21 President Biden's remarks disputing CCDH's methodology in the Disinformation Dozen
22 report?
23 A I'm aware they put out a statement that was hostile, yes.
24 Q They claimed that those dozen individuals were responsible for less than 1
25 percentage point of the content. To your understanding, it's certainly a significant gap

1 between CCDH's findings. To your understanding, what accounts for that discrepancy?
2 A I can't speculate as to their -- the reasoning behind their decision to put out
3 that statement.
4 Q As far as their criticism of the methodology used for the
5 Disinformation Dozen report, do you think there's any merit to the criticism?
6 A We've been public in our rebuttal to their statement. I believe it's been 7 covered in the -- I believe it was covered in the press at the time. And we've put all of 8 our research on our website. I can't recall if we did a blog in response to their 9 comments. We may have.
10 But, yeah, I mean, I'm aware that when you do a report that identifies
11 wrongdoing, sometimes wrongdoers will say, "It wasn't me, Gov."
12 Q With the understanding that CCDH -- to your understanding, CCDH put out 13 some of its rebuttal publicly. To your understanding, what accounts for the 14 discrepancy?
15 A I don't wish to speculate as to why they may have sought to rebut our report
16 and not -- and not accept its findings. It's -- I mean, you're asking me to comment on 17 someone else -- on another organization's internal decisionmaking processes and 18 calculus, and I'm afraid I can't do that.
19 Q But the question has to do with criticism of work product that CCDH has put 20 out. Have you been made aware of any criticism of the methodologies that you find has 21 some merit?
22 A No.
23 Q Do you know who Alex Stamos is?
24 A Vaguely.
25 Q Have you ever had any interactions with him?

1 A Never.

2 Q When you had a meeting with staff in the Office of the Surgeon General --

3 A Yeah.

4 Q -- how did that meeting take place? Was it in person?

5 A No. It was COVID.

6 Q Who from CCDH attended that meeting?

7 A Certainly me. I can't recall who else.

8 Q Are you typically joined by others?

9 A In these days, yeah, there's an entourage. Back then, I can't remember.

10 Q During that time, would you take notes? Would there be a readout

11 provided following a meeting like that?

12 A If there was, it's in the documents that we've provided to you. So,

13 personally, I don't -- you know, if I've got a note, I'll do it in an email to someone,

14 either -- you know, to whoever I think is relevant, if I have any observations on it. But I

15 certainly don't take a file note myself.

16 Q How many staff members from the government attended?

17 A I don't recall. Again, to repeat, it was an informational meeting in which

18 we just restated our findings. You know, to my mind, the government is not a -- the

19 government is limited, by the First Amendment, in placing pressure on social media

20 companies, whereas CCDH is not as a private organization.

21 And so we placed pressure on social media companies to be more transparent, to

22 be more accountable, to be more responsible. But I mean, the file on that would reflect

23 what we were doing, and what we were doing was merely going through our findings and 24 methodology.

25 Q To your understanding, why did the Office of the Surgeon General want the

1 meeting?

2 A No, I don't have any idea as to why they wanted the meeting.

3 Q How long did the meeting last for?

4 A I don't recall.

5 Q Were there questions from staff from the office?

6 A Yeah.

7 Q What were some of those questions?

8 A How did you do the research? What's your methodology? And what did

9 we find, and there may have been other questions too, but I don't recall them precisely.

10 Q Are you familiar with the Surgeon General's report put out in mid-July of 11 2021, about confronting health misinformation?

12 A I don't recall it. It's 3 years ago, so I don't recall it. Is there a specific 13 question you have there?

14 Q I was just ask- -- meaning took place before or after that.

15 A I don't recall. I mean, again, yeah, I'm not even --

16 Q Were there questions about how the government could -- what role the 17 government could have in interacting with social media companies?

18 A No. Not to my recollection.

19 Again, I mean, I've been profoundly aware since I first came to the 20 United States -- and, you know, having my dissertation at Cambridge was on American

21 politics -- the First Amendment is a limitation there.

22 So I know that the Federal Government can't talk to private organizations and 23 seek to, you know -- and kind of coerce them to suppress speech. So I've never seen the 24 purpose of asking the U.S. Federal Government to tell a social media company to be

25 better, whereas we can ask the legislature to pass laws on transparency, on meaningful

1 accountability.

2 And, if you look at our staff framework on our website, again, everything's on

3 there -- the staff framework encourages real transparency of their content enforcement

4 decisions, of their algorithms, and of the economics of their advertising.

5 Q Were you aware in 2021 whether the White House was in direct contact

6 with executives at social media companies about misinformation?

7 A I am neither party, and so I can't speak on behalf of them, but I didn't -- you

8 know, they don't -- I don't see any reason why a government official would tell me that

9 they're having meetings with social media companies.

10 Q When did you become aware that the White House was having interactions

11 with social media companies about misinformation?

12 A So relating to Disinformation Dozen?

13 Q Not just Disinformation Dozen, about vaccine misinformation.

14 A To my best recollection, Missouri v., the lawsuit.

15 Q Are you familiar with the allegations in that lawsuit?

16 A No, not really.

17 Q How did you first become aware when either the press secretary or the 18 President referred to a dozen people being responsible for a majority of the vaccine

19 misinformation online?

20 A I can't recall. I was on holiday. Maybe on the internet, on CNN,

21 something like that. Maybe someone told me. I just don't recall.

22 Q Does CCDH meet directly with members of the U.K. Government?

23 A So I want to be -- I'm going to specify a distinction here. In the U.K., the 24 government would relate to the ruling party, which is the Conservative Party, and

25 specifically the government would relate to those members of Parliament who have been

1 asked to serve in a Cabinet position or a ministerial position by the Prime Minister.

2 Yes, we meet with members of the government, and we meet with members of

3 the Conservative Party. In fact, a member of the Conservative Party is on the board of 4 CCDH, and I meet with people from the opposition parties as well.

5 Q After 2021, have you had any interactions with the White House?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And what are some of those interactions?

8 A They invite me to Eid, so I go to -- I like it. There's a marine band. It's 9 pretty cool.

10 Q Okay. Any other interactions?

11 A Not that I can recall, no.

12 That's not -- so, yes, let me -- let me correct that. We've met with -- I have

13 personally given readouts of our reports to people from the National

14 Security Council -- because that's the White House as well, right --

15 Q Yes.

16 A -- and the Gender Policy Council. The Gender Policy Council, is that a 17 thing? Yeah. There may be others. Again, they're all in the emails.

18 Q Okay. Do you recall which names?

19 A No. No, I don't.

20 Q In either situation with the National Security Council or with the Gender

21 Policy Council, who reached out to who first?

22 A I suspect at that point -- I think it may have been a bilateral flow. They may 23 have -- we may have sent a report to them and said, "This is launching today, as part of

24 our general outreach." And they may have come back to us and said, "Can we find out

25 more," or it may have been that they read about it in the press, and they came to us.

1 Yeah.

2 Chairman Jordan. When were these meetings?

3 Mr. Ahmed. I don't recall, Chairman, but they would've been in those emails.

4 Chairman Jordan. 2021? 2022? And do they continue today?

5 Mr. Ahmed. I haven't -- we're happy to continue to brief both sides of the House

6 and the White House as well, but we haven't had -- I can't recall any meetings in the last

7 few months. But, again, they'll be in the emails that you have there.

8 Chairman Jordan. How often would you meet?

9 Mr. Ahmed. Infrequently and ad hoc as required by the launch of a report or 10 something that piques their interest.

11 Chairman Jordan. So, in a year, how many times would you meet with the NSC --

12 Mr. Ahmed. I wouldn't speculate.

13 Chairman Jordan. -- or the Gender Policy --

14 Chairman Jordan. Twice?

15 Mr. Ahmed. I wouldn't speculate.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Which report or what issues spurred meeting with the Gender

18 Policy Council?

19 A I don't recall. Again, it would be in the emails.

20 Q In your meetings with the Gender Policy Council, who else from CCDH joined

21 you?

22 A I don't recall. Probably, you know, a member of the U.S. policy staff. But

23 there have been various people have worked in those roles, so I can't recall who 24 precisely.

25 Q You said Sarah had been there longer than Susan?

1 A Sarah's had different roles. She's currently responsible for U.S. policy and,
2 well, she's global head of policy and partnerships, but she's had different roles at CCDH.
3 Q Who else has been responsible for interacting with the U.S. Government?
4 A So the previous head of policy prior to Sarah Eagan was Eva
5 Hartshorn-Sanders, and prior to that, we didn't have one.
6 Q What is Eva's role now?
7 A She doesn't work for CCDH. She hasn't for quite some time.
8 Q What reports or what issues led CCDH to meet with the National
9 Security Council?
10 A I don't recall any of them specifically apart from the Incels report, which 11 got -- which had a significant impact in the policy space, in the national security policy
12 space in the U.S. and around the world. So I briefed that extensively around the world.
13 Q For the meeting with the National Security Council on that issue, how did 14 that meeting take place?
15 A I don't recall.
16 Q Was it in person?
17 A No. I've never met with them in person, I don't think.
18 Q Who from CCDH took that meeting?
19 A It would've been me and then someone else, but I'm not sure who.
20 Q How many staff members from the National Security Council?
21 A I don't remember.
22 Q What questions did staff from the National Security Council have?
23 A I don't recall. That report, the top line, was that we'd studied a year's 24 worth of posts made by members of the world's biggest Incels forum, and our language 25 analysis showed that, over the year that we'd studied their posts, that they had

1 transitioned -- forgive me for what I'm about to talk about -- that whereas in the past
2 they'd felt that rape was an acceptable way of ascending, so to stop being an Incel, which 3 is ascending; in that year, they decided that child rape was an acceptable means of 4 ascending from Incel.
5 So, as you can imagine, given that involved a group of thousands of young men
6 talking about how it was acceptable to rape children, but there was significant interest
7 from law enforcement and national security officials around the world.
8 Those people were not just based in the United States. They were based in 9 countries all around the world and in Europe as well. A minority of the members were 10 American, from my recollection. It was a serious report.
11 Q All right. In any of the reports after 2021, have you met directly with social 12 media companies following the issuance of the report?
13 A I mean, I've met -- yes, I have met with social media companies. Yeah.
14 Q Which ones?
15 A I suspect all of them at some point. I mean, I met all of them in one room
16 recently. I had a -- so, subsequent to your -- subsequent to your subpoena of our 17 documents, I've met with them again -- the social media companies.
18 Q What was the occasion?
19 A The U.S. Special Envoy for Anti-Semitism, who's Deborah Lipstadt now, had a 20 roundtable at State, and all the social media companies were invited.
21 Q Besides the roundtable, have you had any other interactions with social 22 media companies in the last 2 years?
23 A Two years? Oh, yeah, sure. Yeah.
24 Q Right now, who is your primary point of contact at Facebook or Meta?
25 A I don't really have a primary point of contact. I mean, we send it to -- we

1 send our reports to their press email, and we then send them to everyone else we can
2 think of there. I mean, we don't have an ongoing dialogue.
3 Q Have you had any meetings in the last 2 years between just staff from CCDH
4 and staff from Meta?
5 A I don't believe so, but there may have been -- I don't believe -- I don't believe
6 I have. Other staff might have. And, you know, by a formal meeting versus seeing 7 each other at an event where there's someone who says, "Oh, I'm from Meta," "I'm from 8 CCDH," but, again, all of our correspondence is with you.
9 Q Have you had any meetings where it's just staff from CCDH and staff from 10 Alphabet?
11 A From?
12 Q YouTube, Google.
13 A Google. So just a one-to-one meeting with them?
14 Q Yeah.
15 A Probably, yes. Yeah. In fact, we have, yeah. Yeah, I know we have.
16 Q And when was that?
17 A I don't recall precisely. Again, they're in our emails.
18 Q What was the purpose of those interactions?
19 A Google tend to ask for a meeting after you've done a report on them and ask
20 to have a discussion. That's one of their, you know -- Google tend to reach out.
21 Q And who from CCDH would provide briefings on its reports?
22 A Sometimes they'll be me. Sometimes it will be a junior member of staff.
23 Q How many times have you -- has it been you that has attended this meeting
24 or --
25 A I don't recall precisely. I've met with them. I mean, I know I have, but I

1 don't recall precisely how many meetings I've had.

2 Q Who is your primary point of contact at the company?

3 A There is someone that we send these reports to, and I can't remember who

4 it is. It's changed over time because we've gotten a person who has responsibility

5 specifically for YouTube in the U.S. They'll be in the emails.

6 Q You don't remember the name?

7 A My apologies, I don't.

8 Q Other than the meeting with the Office of the Surgeon General --

9 A Yes.

10 Q -- in late summer of 2021, have you had other interactions with that office?

11 A I think -- I'm sure we've met with them subsequently, but I can't recall

12 precisely. I might be misremembering, to be frank.

13 Q Yeah. Do you remember any meetings with them other than on issues

14 related to vaccine misinformation?

15 A I think we talked about mental health -- youth mental health, but I don't

16 recall if that was the OSG or if that was some other part of the U.S. public health

17 infrastructure. We do a lot of work on youth mental health.

18 Q Do you know who Kate Starbird is?

19 A Vaguely.

20 Q Have you ever met with her?

21 A No. It's a memorable name. I think she's in the news a lot talking about 22 our area of work.

23 Q To your understanding has anyone from CCDH contacted her, worked with 24 her?

25 A I don't think so.

1 Are you going to reveal to me who she is?

2 Q Kate Starbird?

3 A Yeah.

4 Q She's with the University of Washington.

5 Have you had any interactions with NewsGuard?

6 A Some years ago, yeah. I think I took a meeting with them some years ago.

7 Q Do you recall with who?

8 A No.

9 Q Who asked for the meeting?

10 A I don't know. I don't know. I suspect they reached out to us, but I can't

11 recall.

12 Q What was the purpose of the meeting?

13 A Introductions between two civil society organizations.

14 Q Who from CCDH attended the meeting?

15 A I attended, I think, but I don't recall who else. And it's some years ago.

16 And we have -- I don't believe we've had any formal interactions for some years.

17 Q Do you recall who from NewsGuard attended?

18 A No.

19 Q To your understanding, what does NewsGuard do?

20 A I don't really know what they do. They seem to do a similar job to GDI and

21 other organizations that write news sites. I think they've got a browser plug-in. It's a

22 very different organization, and it's in a different space to CCDH. We have nothing really

23 to do -- you know, our work doesn't overlap at all.

24 Q Have you met with GDI before?

25 A Yes.

1 Q How many times?

2 A I can't recall precisely.

3 Q When was the last time?

4 A I went for a walk with Clare Melford in Regent's Park in London.

5 Q When was that?

6 A I believe it was last year.

7 Q When did CCDH first interact with GDI?

8 A Some years ago, so 2, 3, years ago, but I can't recall precisely.

1 [10:59 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q What's been the purpose of those meetings?

4 A Just discussions between two organizations in civil society. We have no

5 formal relationship with them. Yeah.

6 Q Who else from CCDH has interacted with GDI?

7 A I don't know.

8 Q Is Clare your primary point of contact?

9 A Mine, yeah.

10 Q Has GDI and CCDH ever worked together on any reports or on any research?

11 A It's on our website, all of our research. I don't believe we have, no. I

12 mean, all of our research is on our website. So, no, I don't -- I don't think we have, no.

13 Q In any of your discussions with individuals from GDI, has there been 14 discussion about GDI's interactions with the U.S. Government?

15 A I don't recall.

16 Q To your knowledge, does GDI interact with the U.S. Government?

17 A I think I read a news report about it.

18 Q Other than the news report?

19 A No. I believe the news report said that they were receiving funding from 20 the USG. We do not. And it wouldn't have been something that we would have 21 discussed.

22 Civil society organizations tend not to discuss their funding with each other.

23 That's the honest truth.

24 Q Have you had any interactions with the Aspen Institute?

25 A I think I've taken a meeting with them once or twice. I can't recall precisely

1 how many times, but yeah. We have no formal relationship with them.

2 Q What was the purpose of the meeting?

3 A Introductions between two civil society organizations.

4 Q When, approximately, were these meetings?

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q Who from the Aspen Institute did you meet with?

7 A I don't recall.

8 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.

9 [Recess.]

10 Ms. [redacted] We are back on the record.

11 EXAMINATION

12 BY MS. [redacted]

13 Q Hi, Mr. Ahmed. CCDH is an independent nonprofit organization, correct?

14 A That's right.

15 Q And it's also a nongovernmental organization, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q And I believe you stated earlier that you do not receive funding from the U.S.

18 Government?

19 A That is correct.

20 Q Okay. So no grants, correct?

21 A Nothing.

22 Q No loans?

23 A No.

24 Q No government contracts?

25 A Zero.

1 Q And has CCDH ever received any government funding or had any
2 government contracts in the five years of its existence?
3 A From the U.S. Government?
4 Q From the U.S. Government.
5 A No.
6 Q And CCDH is registered in the United States as an Internal Revenue Code
7 501(c)(3) --
8 A That is correct.
9 Q -- charitable entity? Okay.
10 You view your work as nonpartisan?
11 A Correct.
12 Q Now, you mentioned in the previous hour some context you had with the 13 Trump administration while former President Trump was still in office. And I'd like to 14 just talk about those a little more.
15 A Sure.
16 Q You mentioned the TUI coordinator. Could you remind me what that 17 stands for, please?
18 A Terrorists' Use of the Internet.
19 Q Thank you. And you met with the Secretary of State as well?
20 A I was invited by the anti-Semitism -- the Special Envoy for Anti-Semitism to 21 take part in a conference that he was organizing on digital anti-Semitism, at which 22 Mr. Pompeo, Benjamin Netanyahu, and Michael Gove, who was the British minister 23 responsible, took part. And Mr. Pompeo subsequently wrote to me to thank me for our 24 work.
25 Q So you participated in that conference as well?

1 A I did, yes.
2 Q And do you recall when that was?
3 A No.
4 Q And was that the same event where you worked with the TUI coordinator, or 5 was that something else?
6 A That was separate. I spoke to the TUI coordinator separately.
7 Q And can you explain the context for that, as best as you can recall?
8 A I can't recall who asked me to -- for the meeting or how it was organized, but 9 we would have talked briefly and generally about CCDH's work and our interests at the 10 time. It was primarily -- almost certainly it would have been to do with anti-Semitic 11 hatred on social media platforms, other forms of hatred on social media platforms, and 12 what we were seeing, what trends we were seeing.
13 Q Okay. And so you had a meeting about those topics?
14 A Yeah.
15 Q What is CCDH's mission?
16 A To create checks and balances on social media companies so that they have 17 to -- so they observe and respect human rights and civil liberties in their -- in their 18 business.
19 Q And why did you start CCDH? What made you interested in -- in furthering
20 that mission?
21 A I mean, it was something I've talked about extensively publicly. I had three 22 experiences that really showed me that something quite fundamental was shifting in our 23 information ecosystem and having significant offline impacts.
24 One was the rise of virulent anti-Semitism on the political left in the UK under the 25 Labour Party when it was run by Jeremy Corbyn. I worked for the Labour Party at the

1 time. I was deeply distressed to see anti-Semitism as a significant feature of the rhetoric
2 of both political officials and supporters, and I knew that that was being organized online
3 at the time.
4 The specific incidents that, sort of, really, really tipped me off that something very 5 serious was happening was when the shadow foreign secretary, my boss, a man called
6 the right honorable, Hilary Benn, MP, gave a speech supporting the conservative
7 government in joining the United States in taking military action against the Islamic state
8 in Syria, against Daesh.
9 The following day and then for the following weeks and months, we received
10 thousands of offensive anti-Semitic emails and phone calls and messages of other types,
11 which seemed coordinated and seemed to blame the decision to take military action
12 against ISIS on Jews, which was bonkers to me given that ISIS, you know, had killed more
13 Muslims than any other military force in the world.
14 The second thing was the rise of anti-Semitic, anti-Black and anti-Muslim
15 conspiracy theories during the EU referendum, commonly known as the Brexit
16 referendum.
17 And, finally, it was the -- it was the murder of my colleague, Jo Cox, MP, who was a
18 41-year-old mother of two. She -- I had worked very closely with her on the decision to 19 take military action against ISIS. I worked very closely with her on the referendum.
20 And a man called Thomas Mair shot, stabbed, and beat her to death in her
21 constituency -- outside her constituency office while shouting slogans from the Internet, 22 and that made me feel despondent about the future of our democracy and our ability to
23 have a democracy if violence was going to play -- political violence was going to play a 24 significant part.
25 So I started to study the means by which hate actors were proselytizing and

1 creating harm in the real world.

2 Q Can you talk a little bit more about that incident? When you say that the

3 killer was shouting slogans from the Internet -- I mean, you don't have to say what the 4 particular slogans were, but can you explain what you mean by that?

5 A He shouted Britain First, death to traitors, as he was killing her. Britain First

6 was the name of the first political movement in the UK to achieve a million likes on

7 Facebook. They were a anti-Semitic, anti-everyone political -- just a group of people

8 who spread hate online, and they were the first political movement, so to speak, to 9 achieve a million likes on Facebook in the UK.

10 And at the time most conventional institutions thought that was meaningless

11 because it was a million clicks, whereas, in reality they were able to inspire an act of great

12 violence.

13 Death to traitors referred to a version of a conspiracy theory that was popular

14 online at the time, which was that the EU was seeking to import Muslims and Blacks to

15 rape young white women, to destroy the white race. And that was considered by 16 believers in the theory to be an act of treason against the United Kingdom.

17 Q So you saw firsthand how online hate can translate into or cause real-world

18 violence --

19 A Yes.

20 Q -- is that fair to say?

21 And in your work at CCDH, have you encountered other examples of that?

22 A Yes. Many, many, many times.

23 Q Can you think of some?

24 A I go back to the research that we did on Incels which showed that people

25 who believe in this particular -- so members of this movement that has a complex and

1 evolving ideology have murdered women, have committed acts of violence and sexual
2 violence against women, and in our research showed that they were encouraging each
3 other to commit acts of sexual violence against children.
4 Those would be the things that stick in my mind. But then there's also acts of 5 self-violence. And I think about the work that we do looking at self-harm and eating
6 disorder content on social media, showing how TikTok was amplifying self-harm content
7 into the timelines of young women, our research report that we did. That might be 8 self -- self-inflicted violence, but it's still making young women hate their bodies to such 9 an extent that they would hurt themselves.
10 And given the exogenous stimulus there, I would -- I would say that that is 11 imposed by one person on another. That is an act of violence. It may be an act of 12 corporate violence.
13 Q I'm going to ask you about some of the other research that CCDH has 14 conducted, and I appreciate you giving us those examples from -- about TikTok and about 15 the -- the Incel reports.
16 A Sure.
17 Q You published reports on social media companies' failure to remove hateful,
18 anti-LGBTQ+ content, correct?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Specifically, content that falsely claims that that community, people in the 21 LGBTQ+ community groom children?
22 A Yes.
23 Q You published a report showing that tech companies failed to remove 87.5
24 percent of COVID and vaccine misinformation on their platforms?
25 A Yes.

1 Q You published a report showing that tech companies failed to act on 84
2 percent of anti-Semitic content on their platforms?
3 A That number has -- I mean, I -- that is one of the -- that is a finding in one
4 report. A more recent report showed that post October 7th that X had failed to act on 5 99 percent of anti-Semitic hate on their platform produced by blue tick members.
6 Q And so that was -- that was research that CCDH conducted specifically
7 post -- looking at post October 7th?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Okay. And last month you published a report demonstrating that Meta
10 allowed unvetted anti-Semitic users to serve as admins in large pro-Palestine Facebook
11 groups giving them responsibility for content moderation in those groups, correct?
12 A Broadly speaking, that's accurate. They weren't all pro-Palestinian, but 13 they were all run by anti-Semites.
14 And what we showed is that those admins were banning users who complained
15 about anti-Semitism, while at the same time spreading anti-Semitic lies and hatred
16 themselves, yes.
17 Q And your research showed that the moderators in those groups ignored 76
18 percent of reports of anti-Semitic content. Does that sound familiar?
19 A They did, yes.
20 Q And the groups you studied had 300,000 members in those Facebook
21 groups?
22 A Correct.
23 Q And a few years earlier you published a report showing that tech companies
24 failed to act on 89 percent of content that demonstrated anti-Muslim hatred, correct?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And you mentioned the report about TikTok promoting self-harm via
2 pushing content to young girls and women.
3 You've also published a report demonstrating that TikTok promoted dangerous
4 and possibly illegal steroid-like drugs to teens, correct?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And you published a report showing that tech companies failed to act on 94
7 percent of users who sent racist reviews to athletes?
8 A Yes.
9 Q You've published several reports about what CCDH refers to as toxic Twitter.
10 So reports, for example, about how Twitter generates millions in ad revenue by bringing 11 back accounts that were banned prior to Elon Musk's takeover, correct?
12 A Yes, we have. And it's not just Twitter that we've -- we've identified as 13 monetizing and rewarding hate. We've done similar research with Google and with 14 Facebook as well -- with Meta, sorry.
15 Q Fair enough. I conflate the two often.
16 A Yes.
17 Q And as you stated several times during the previous hour, CCDH's reports are 18 all publicly available, correct?
19 A Yes.
20 Q You published them on your website?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And no special credentials are required to log on? You don't need an 23 account. I can just go and click?
24 A There's only one piece of content that's behind any kind of barrier, and that 25 is our parents' guide, for which you have to enter an email before we will allow you to

1 download it.

2 Q And is that because it's geared towards people who, presumably, are adults?

3 A It's, actually, so we can continue to communicate with them and send them

4 updated guidance as we come up with it. It's an emerging area of science, and we want

5 to make sure that our advice to parents is as up to date as it can be.

6 Q And so with the exception of that report for which you have to provide an

7 email address --

8 A Yes.

9 Q -- the rest of your reports are available to anybody who has Internet

10 access --

11 A Correct.

12 Q -- correct?

13 And that includes White House officials?

14 A Correct.

15 Q And as part of your efforts to effectuate change, you try to get the word out

16 about your research, correct?

17 A We spend a lot of time and effort thinking about how we can communicate

18 our research to as many people as possible. We use the press.

19 We have an exceptional digital team who search engine optimize all of our pages

20 and make sure that they come up high in Google searches. We -- we spend a lot of time

21 making sure that people see our research, yes.

22 Q And sometimes the people who see your research are government officials,

23 whether that's here or in other countries, correct?

24 A It's inevitable.

25 Q Now, although most of the big tech companies are based in the U.S., CCDH's

1 work is international, correct?

2 A I mean, our -- our headquarters are Washington, D.C. It's our primary area

3 of focus is on -- is on U.S.-based social media companies.

4 I mean, obviously, we do a lot of work on TikTok, which is, in a complex way,

5 affiliated with the Chinese Communist Party, but we are -- we are -- yeah.

6 Most of our work is -- our work is global, but our headquarters are the U.S., and

7 our primary focus is the U.S.

8 Q But you also do work to combat misinformation and hate and abuse in other

9 countries as well?

10 A We do.

11 Q Okay. You were asked during the previous hour about your 12 communications and CCDH's communications with government officials in the U.S.

13 A Yes.

14 Q And I want to just back up and state for the record, CCDH was given a 15 subpoena by the majority to produce certain communications, correct?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And you produced the communications that you had that are responsive to 18 that subpoena?

19 A Yes. CCDH has produced all documents in its possession responsive to the

20 Committee's document request that it has deemed pertinent to the subject under

21 inquiry.

22 Beyond that legal assessment, I have nothing to add regarding CCDH's document

23 production.

24 Q Now, sometimes -- and I believe this is something you described at -- in a

25 general way in the previous hour.

1 Sometimes CCDH, whether it's you or whether it's the employees you mentioned
2 earlier, reaches out to government officials to notify them about CCDH's reports, correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And sometimes it's the opposite, government officials hear about the work
5 or have other questions, and they might reach out to CCDH?
6 A That -- that's correct. And we did a detailed search on our servers for 7 emails. That included looking to see whether or not government officials had signed up
8 to, you know, CCDH's general emails. So, I mean, you can sign up to get updates from 9 CCDH, which then go out to any member of the public who signs up for them.
10 And there were some government officials on there and -- or people with relevant 11 email addresses, but we don't know who they are beyond that.
12 Q Okay. Fair enough.
13 I want to show you an example of CCDH sending one of its reports to a 14 government official.
15 A Sure.
16 Ms. [redacted] And we will mark this as Exhibit 1.
17 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 1
18 was marked for identification.]
19 Mr. Ahmed. Yeah.
20 BY MS. [redacted]
21 Q If so you can just take a minute to look at this.
22 A Yeah. I'm familiar with it.
23 Q I'll give the majority a minute to look as well. You guys let me know if you
24 need time.
25 A Yeah.

1 Q So this is an email chain from November 2022 between Eva -- how do you
2 pronounce the last name? -- Hartshorn?
3 A Hartshorn-Sanders.
4 Q Between Eva Hartshorn-Sanders and Cailin Crockett, who is the Director of 5 Military Personnel & Readiness at the National Security Council, and the senior advisor at 6 the Gender Policy Council. Is that correct? Or is that what's reflected in this email?
7 A Yeah. I'm not familiar with her title, but, yes, it's to Cailin Crockett. Yes.
8 Okay. Yeah. Yeah. I can see that.
9 Q And in this email, starting on the bottom of the second page, which is CCDH,
10 Inc. 30 --
11 A Yes.
12 Q -- Ms. Hartshorn-Sanders emailed several folks the -- with the email
13 who.eop.gov, including somebody who is listed as an intern.
14 A Uh-huh.
15 Q And cc'd you and Ms. Eagan?
16 A Sure.
17 Q And she was just passing on recent research showing a significant rise in 18 racist, anti-Semitic, and LGBTQ hate post-Musk takeover of Twitter?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And then this email also contained links to some articles about the research?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And the research, as Ms. Hartshorn-Sanders pointed out, there are one, two,
23 three, four, five, six particular slurs that -- of various types that --
24 A Yeah.
25 Q -- that CCDH identified?

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q So, for example, there were in the -- just the first week of the Musk

3 takeover, there were triple the average for the rest of 2022 tweets and retweets

4 mentioning the N-word, the slur?

5 A Yeah.

6 Q That begins with N and ends in R, correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And then you see dramatic increases ranging from 23 percent to 52 percent

9 of other -- I'm sorry -- 67 percent of other slurs as well?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Racial and ethnic slurs and anti-LGBTQ?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And then Ms. Crockett at the National Security Council, the Gender Policy

14 Council asked for some more information, correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And then on November 18th, Ms. Hartshorn-Sanders asked if the White

17 House team would be able to add a comment to it or comment if asked, correct?

18 A Yeah.

19 Q And the response from Ms. Crockett was, "Unfortunately, we don't have the 20 ability to do that"?

21 A Yeah.

22 Q But then she did indicate that she values this important work?

23 A Yes. I believe this is one of the emails that we submitted to --

24 Q It is, yes.

25 A Yeah. Okay. Right.

1 Q Anything that has CCDH, Inc., on the bottom with the --
2 A Okay.
3 Q -- with the page number comes --
4 A Yeah.
5 Q -- from CCDH itself.
6 A Yeah.
7 Q And, to your knowledge, other than asking for a public comment, as Ms.
8 Hartshorn-Sanders just did, are you aware of anyone from CCDH or did you personally ask
9 the White House to take particular actions with respect to CCDH's research?
10 A No.
11 Q Now, I want to turn back to the Disinformation Dozen report.
12 CCDH first published that report on March 21st, 2021, correct? Does that sound
13 right?
14 A Sounds right.
15 Q And that -- to your recollection, that was early in the rollout of the COVID 16 vaccines, correct?
17 A Very early.
18 Q And at that point the -- the U.S. had already lost hundreds of thousands of 19 people to the pandemic?
20 A Tragically, yes.
21 Q The number one person on CCDH's list of the Disinformation Dozen was 22 Joseph Mercola, correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q He had made false statements on social media about COVID, including falsely
25 claiming that hydrogen peroxide could successfully treat the virus?

1 A I believe he said that -- that inhaling nebulized hydrogen
2 peroxide -- hydrogen peroxide is a bleaching agent -- could solve COVID, yes.
3 Q Number two on the list of the Disinformation Dozen was RFK Jr., correct?
4 Robert F. Kennedy --
5 A I can't remember which number he was.
6 Q But he was on the list?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And in March of 2021, when the report was published, RFK Jr. was a
9 Democrat, correct?
10 A I think I am -- I'm unfamiliar with his political identification.
11 Q Do you know when it was that he first announced that he was considering 12 running for President of the United States?
13 A It's much more recently. At the time he was -- and he was specifically
14 targeting liberal -- you know, liberal members of the public. He was -- Robert F.
15 Kennedy, Jr., the last name alone shows which side -- you know, would indicate to most 16 people which side of the political aisle he comes from.
17 Q I want to talk about some of the things that -- that Mr. Kennedy has said
18 about COVID. He posted false information on Twitter that the -- well, actually, I don't 19 know what platform, but on social media that the vaccine was not safe for pregnant
20 women, correct?
21 A I believe that's one of his comments.
22 Q He posted a misleading, at best, claim that Hank Aaron's death was part of a
23 wave of suspicious deaths among the elderly following administration of the vaccine?
24 A I believe he did, yes.
25 Q And you're aware that the medical examiner concluded that Mr. Aaron's

1 death had nothing to do with the vaccine and that he died of natural causes at the age of 2 86?
3 A I'm aware of that, yes.
4 Q Mr. Kennedy falsely tweeted that flu vaccines are more deadly than 5 COVID-19?
6 A Sure.
7 Q He falsely stated that the COVID vaccine is the most deadly vaccine ever
8 made?
9 A Yes.
10 Q He has spread conspiracy theories that Bill Gates wants to microchip people?
11 A Yes.
12 Q He tweeted that Bill Gates wants to chip us and not only for vaccines?
13 A He said that.
14 Q He claims that vaccines affect people with African blood differently?
15 A That is true.
16 Q And have you seen the tape where he claimed that COVID was targeted to 17 attack Caucasians and Black people and that people who are most immune are Ashkenazi
18 Jews and Chinese?
19 A I've seen that video.
20 Q Mr. Kennedy has expressed a belief in the great reset conspiracy, correct?
21 A That's true.
22 Q Can you explain what that -- what that theory is?
23 A Like all conspiracy theories, it's -- it's extremely amorphous. But, in short,
24 it's a combination of mid-'90s New World Order conspiracy theories, the great 25 replacement theory, anti-vax disinformation and beliefs, coupled together into one really

1 quite confusing hole.

2 But, in short, it says that global institutions engineered COVID to take away -- to

3 make people do what they want them to do, to make them more malleable and more

4 prone to control by making them -- asking them to wear masks.

5 Q Mr. Kennedy's Instagram account was banned for COVID misinformation in 6 February of 2021. Is that correct?

7 A Sure.

8 Q And you're aware that it was reinstated after he announced his candidacy

9 for President?

10 A I believe that's true, yes.

11 Q Now, going back to the Disinformation Dozen report --

12 A Yes.

13 Q -- you testified earlier that to this day you don't know how it got on the 14 White House's radar, correct?

15 A Yeah.

16 Q But you have produced all of the emails that you have reflecting CCDH's

17 communications with the White House, correct?

18 A Yes. The problem is that you -- with the question of how they got in the 19 White House's radar, I can speculate, but that's not my job here.

20 Q And I don't want you to speculate.

21 A I don't want to speculate.

22 Q Thank you.

23 A But there was extensive media coverage of the Disinformation Dozen report.

24 There were documentaries produced about it. It was on television, it was on radio, it

25 was on the front pages of newspapers. It was an extremely well-observed piece of 1 research.

2 And it would have been near impossible for the White House -- for someone at 3 the White House not to have seen that piece of work.

4 Q Fair enough. Thank you.

5 And you have in your -- and if you can't answer this, that's fine.

6 But in your search of CCDH's emails, there are no emails from CCDH sending that

7 report to the White House. Is that true?

8 A We've produced all documents in our possession responsive to the 9 Committee's document request that it has deemed pertinent to the subject and the

10 inquiry.

11 I have nothing to add regarding CCDH's document production.

12 Q And you're not -- and I'm taking this based on your -- your testimony from

13 the previous hour, you were not party to any of the conversations that White House

14 officials had with Facebook or any other tech companies about the Disinformation Dozen

15 report?

16 A I have never been in a meeting where the Disinformation Dozen was being

17 discussed between government and social media companies.

18 Q Did you ask the White House to discuss the Disinformation Dozen report

19 with Facebook or other social media companies?

20 A I don't recall doing so.

21 Q And are you aware whether anybody else at CCDH did?

22 A I can't speak to any other member of staff. However, you have all of our

23 correspondence and communications with social media companies and with the 24 executive branch of the U.S. Government.

25 Q Okay. And other than by publishing reports on CCDH's website and your

1 briefing with the surgeon general, did CCDH advise the government about misinformation
2 on social media?
3 A We have briefed officials from -- we've briefed U.S. Government officials
4 under both the Trump presidency and the Biden presidency on a -- you know, all of our
5 reports are general theses about what's going -- about the way that social media
6 companies operate, the lack of transparency, and we've done that, you know, frequently,
7 on a -- on a regular basis. Again, it's captured within the emails that we've sent to you.
8 But, I mean, I can think of -- I can think of the instance of speaking to President
9 Trump's anti-Semitism czar, explaining to him the nature of how disinformation spreads
10 on social media and how lies and hate are inextricably interlinked. There's no clear
11 example than there is with anti-Semitism, whether it's the protocols or it's the Great 12 Replacement theory. Lies have always, you know, been the precursor to great violence
13 against Jewish people.
14 Or it was the work that we did looking at -- looking at, you know, the rise in hate
15 speech under X, so -- or briefing DHS, for example, on the spaces in which violence was 16 being planned around the events of January 6th.
17 Q The majority has alleged that CCDH was working with the White House to 18 censor speech.
19 What is your response to that allegation?
20 A I mean, clearly, I wish to avoid criticizing anyone who may not have full 21 information as to the conclusions they've drawn based on limited information.
22 However, that would not be -- there is no truth to those allegations.
23 Q Okay. And I appreciate that clarification. Thank you.
24 You -- you stated in the earlier hour that you don't recall your 25 communications -- some of your communications with the social media companies

1 directly, but that they would all be contained in the documents that you produced?

2 A Yes. And there would have been occasional meetings in person.

3 Q And you described some of the circumstances for those meetings?

4 A Yes.

5 Q When you did have communications with social media companies, you didn't

6 engage the White House in those communications, did you?

7 A No. It would be pointless.

8 Q And why is that?

9 A Because the White House is limited by the First Amendment.

10 Q And CCDH is not?

11 A And I am not. I can be clear and frank and honest with social media

12 companies, and I am. And the nature of our interactions are robust and, on their part,

13 anyway, tends to be quite hostile.

14 Q When you say on their part, what do you mean? On whose part?

15 A I think social media companies, like any organization, doesn't like being held

16 accountable. I don't think people like being held accountable or being forced to tell the 17 truth about what they're up to, especially if they feel ashamed of what they're up to.

18 And I think that what we have done is bring transparency to some of the shameful

19 decision-making by social media companies.

20 Q I want to introduce -- in the vein of being very frank and robust -- I believe 21 robust was your word -- I'd like to introduce an email you sent to Monika Bickert at Meta.

22 Does that name ring a bell?

23 A Yeah. She's a senior executive at Facebook.

24 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 2

25 was marked for identification.]

1 Mr. Ahmed. Okay.

2 BY MS. [redacted]

3 Q So on December 30th, 2021, you emailed Ms. Bickert, who was the VP of 4 content policy at Meta, correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And you wrote her to alert her to potential criminal activity on Meta's

7 platform?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Including crimes against children, correct?

10 A Uh-huh.

11 Q You stated that your research had previously reported -- your researchers

12 had previously reported 51 instances of harassing or abusive conduct, none of which 13 were acknowledged by Meta in any way, correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And you informed Ms. Bickert that CCDH researchers had been studying VR

16 chat and had found that users, including minors, were exposed to abusive behavior on 17 that platform every seven minutes, correct?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And that abusive behavior included minors being exposed to

20 sexual -- graphic sexual content, bullying, harassment, and abuse of other users, including

21 minors, minors being groomed to repeat racist slurs and extremist talking points and 22 threats of violence and content mocking the 9/11 terror attacks, correct?

23 A Yes.

24 Q You provided a database of your findings or a link to the database with your

25 findings?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And you asked for a response and an indication of Meta's intended course of 3 action in this instance?

4 A Yes.

5 Q You didn't -- the White House didn't ask you to send this email, did they?

6 A No.

7 Q And they were not copied on the email?

8 A No.

9 Q You've never discussed this email with the White House?

10 A I don't believe so.

11 Q Do you recall if you received a response from Ms. Bickert?

12 A We did not. I mean, I do recall on that one checking if they had -- speaking

13 to folks from NCMEC --

14 Q And by NCMEC, do you mean the National Center for Missing & Exploited

15 Children?

16 A Yes. There's an obligation for social media companies to report potential

17 CSE, child sexual exploitation, and abuse to NCMEC.

18 And I can't recall what their -- what the results of that were, but I know that our 19 feeling internally was that Meta had failed to comply with their obligations.

20 Q So X Corp. --

21 A Yes.

22 Q -- formerly known as Twitter --

23 A Yes.

24 Q -- filed a Federal lawsuit against CCDH on July 31st, 2023, correct?

25 A Uh-huh.

1 Q And I'm only going to -- I know that it's pending, so I'm only going to ask you
2 questions that are already in the public record, in the court docket on that case.
3 The complaint alleged several causes of action relating to an alleged breach of 4 contact, as well as an allegation of violation of the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act,
5 correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q The complaint did not include an allegation of defamation, did it?
8 A That is correct.
9 Q The lawsuit was filed for -- in the United States District Court for the 10 Northern District of California, correct?
11 A That's correct.
12 Q And is that the only lawsuit that a tech company has filed against CCDH?
13 A Yes.
14 Q So has CCDH ever been sued for defamation?
15 A No one has ever filed a lawsuit against us.
16 Q And you mentioned in the previous hour that you became aware of the 17 Missouri v. Biden litigation at some point after that was filed?
18 A At some point.
19 Q Okay. And that was -- until that lawsuit was filed, you did not know that 20 the White House was having its own communications with the social media companies,
21 correct?
22 A No.
23 Q And were you personally or CCDH named as a defendant in the Missouri v.
24 Biden litigation?
25 A No.

1 Q Okay. Now, just three days after X Corp. filed its lawsuit on August 3rd,
2 2023, Chairman Jordan showed you a letter asking for you to produce documents to this
3 Committee. Is that correct?
4 A He did.
5 Ms. [redacted] And I'd like to enter that into the record.
6 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 3
7 was marked for identification.]
8 Mr. Ahmed. Yeah.
9 BY MS. [redacted]
10 Q And in addition to sending you this letter -- I'm not going to ask you any 11 specific questions about it -- three days -- the same day, on August 3rd, three days after 12 Mr. Musk filed his lawsuit in San Francisco, the majority also issued a press release about 13 X Corp.'s lawsuit against you, correct? Do you recall that?
14 A I don't recall that press release. I'm sure they did.
15 Ms. [redacted] I'm going to introduce that.
16 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 4
17 was marked for identification.]
18 BY MS. [redacted]
19 Q Apologies for the small type. Wait. This is 4, correct?
20 A This is a press release. It's just an article from the Washington Examiner.
21 Q Yes. But if you look at the bottom, it was -- this is grabbed from the House
22 Judiciary website. So it was -- it was issued, sort of, as a release. It was reprinted.
23 A Okay.
24 Q If you'd just take a moment -- I'm not sure if you recall that article. If you
25 could just take a moment to read this.

1 A Yeah. Okay.

2 Q So this is the article in which a senior GOP congressional aide with

3 knowledge of the inquiry is quoted as saying, "We know from the Facebook files that the

4 Center for Countering Digital Hate was working with the White House to censor speech."

5 Is that accurate?

6 A That's what is written in this article, yes.

7 Q And I believe you stated earlier, although you don't want to be critical

8 because you don't know what information the person who that quote was attributed to

9 had, but it's not an accurate statement that CCDH was working with the White House to 10 censor content?

11 A It's clearly factually inaccurate.

12 Q Now, the article goes on to describe several email communications between

13 White House officials and Facebook employees, as well as internal communications

14 between Facebook employees. Is that correct?

15 A Yeah.

16 Q Had you seen any of those emails before they were made public by this

17 Committee, or have you to this day seen them?

18 A No. I have never seen these before.

19 Q Okay. Now, going back to X Corp.'s lawsuit, the Federal judge in that case

20 dismissed that suit in its entirety on March 25th of this year, correct?

21 A That's correct.

22 Q And I'm going to introduce into the record -- this is a long exhibit.

23 A I think specifically they -- they also granted our anti-SLAPP motion as well,

24 designating it as strategic litigation designed to stop our public participation. Yeah.

25 Q That's my understanding as well.

1 I'm going to introduce that order for dismissal. It's very long, but I'll direct your
2 attention -- I'm sorry. What number are we on? Thank you?
3 A Yeah.
4 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 5
5 was marked for identification.]
6 BY MS. [redacted]
7 Q So turning your attention to the first page --
8 A Yes.
9 Q -- at lines 17 to 18 -- the lines don't match up as well as one would like with 10 the line numbers -- but the judge wrote, "This case is about punishing the defendants for 11 their speech." Did I read that correctly?
12 A That is right.
13 Q Okay. And CCDH was one of the defendants in that case?
14 A We were.
15 Q Now, turning to page 12, looking at the bottom of the page, line 26, then
16 going on to the next page, the judge wrote that "CCDH's writing of reports and articles
17 about X Corp., writing the complaint references over and over" -- and then there were 18 some cites -- "unquestionably constitutes an act in furtherance of CCDH's free speech 19 rights."
20 Did I read that correctly?
21 A Yeah.
22 Q Now, turning to page 42, on line 13 -- and, again, we're in the court's order
23 granting CCDH's motion to dismiss.
24 A Yes.
25 Q The court stated, "The court notes, too, that X Corp.'s motivation in bringing

1 this case is evident."
2 A Yes.
3 Q "X Corp. has brought this case in order to punish CCDH for CCDH publications
4 that criticize X Corp., and perhaps in order to dissuade others who might wish to engage 5 in such criticism."
6 Did I read that correctly?
7 A Yes.
8 Q The court went on to say, "Although X Corp. accuses CCDH of trying to 9 censor viewpoints that CCDH disagrees with, it is X Corp. that demands at least tens of 10 millions of dollars in damages, presumably enough to torpedo the operations of a small 11 nonprofit because of the views expressed in the nonprofit's publications."
12 Did I read that correctly?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And then the court went on to say, "If CCDH's publications were defamatory, 15 that would be one thing, but X Corp. has carefully avoided saying that they are."
16 Did I read that correctly?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Mr. Ahmed, have you been the subject of threats or harassment related to 19 your work countering online hate and disinformation?
20 A I have, yeah.
21 Q Can you explain some of the threats or describe some of the threats that 22 you've received?
23 A Over the past four and a half years, we've received emails, messages, you
24 know, both using language and also threats, threats of violence against us.
25 Q In what context? Can you give a little more detail.

1 A I mean, we've had various threats over the years. I can't recall any of them
2 specifically.
3 Q Have you been subject to the same type of hate and abuse that you've 4 devoted the past five years to combatting, or some of the things?
5 A Yeah, to an extent. I think it would be -- I think, whereas, others have
6 received many threats and have been quite disconcerted by them, we have received
7 fewer, in part, because we don't react to them.
8 So if we receive a credible threat, we'll send it to the FBI. If we don't, we just 9 delete them.
10 Q And have you had to send threats to the FBI?
11 A We have had to send threats to the FBI in the past, yes.
12 Q So you have received credible threats -- what you believe to be credible
13 threats of violence? I'm not going to ask you to make a law enforcement determination.
14 A Yeah. And we've taken advice on what -- you know, I used to work in the 15 British Parliament. I'm aware of the number of threats that public officials receive, and 16 I'm sure that Chairman Jordan and I'm sure that the Democrats on the -- on this 17 Committee receive threats all the time. And, of course, you take them seriously, and we 18 deal with them professionally.
19 But -- and we've taken advice from those that advise Members of Parliament in 20 the UK on how they differentiate between serious threats -- threats that require
21 immediate escalation to law enforcement and don't. But we don't take them -- you
22 know, we don't allow it to affect our work.
23 Q That was going to be my next question.
24 A No. Doesn't affect us at all.
25 Q And I imagine you would say the same about things like litigation or

1 congressional investigations into your work?

2 A Doesn't affect us at all.

3 Ms. [redacted] And with that, we can go off the record. Thank you.

4 [Recess.]

5 [redacted] Back on the record, please.

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q You mentioned earlier that CCDH has a board?

8 A Yes. Well, there's two boards. One for CCDH, Incorporated; one for 9 CCDH, Limited.

10 Q And how are the boards selected for -- for each?

11 A They -- the chair of the board makes decisions as to what skills are required

12 on the board and recruits accordingly.

13 Q Who is the chair?

14 A Simon Clark.

15 Q Did you know Mr. Clark prior to creating CCDH?

16 A Yes.

17 Q How did you know him?

18 A I think -- I met him at an event in D.C. in 2019, maybe early 2020.

19 Q What does he do other than serve on the board?

20 A Currently, he works for some sort of advisory firm. He did work at Fidelity

21 for a long time. And when I met him, I think he was doing a fellowship at CAP.

22 Maybe -- yeah, CAP, the Center for American Progress.

23 Q To your knowledge, has Mr. Simon or others on the board had interactions

24 with the U.S. Federal Government?

25 A I have no idea.

1 Q Have you or other members of CCDH ever briefed members of the board
2 about CCDH's interactions with the executive branch?
3 A Yeah. I'm sure we have, just as, you know, day-to-day -- so in board
4 meetings, we'll talk about our progress on legislation. We may talk about our outreach.
5 It's not -- you know, the board does not tend to get itself involved in operational
6 decision-making. There's quite a sharp distinction. Their job is to provide financial and 7 governance oversight of the organization.
8 The reason Simon is chair of the board is because he is an -- is an accountant, and,
9 you know, provides that robust scrutiny of our finances and governance and procedures.
10 Q In the U.S., CCDH is a 501(c)(3). Is that correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q How is it registered in the UK?
13 A So in the UK, it's a company limited by guarantee, which is -- so there's 14 different ways of being a limited liability company in the UK. By guarantee is the less 15 frequent, but we're limited by guarantee, which means that we have to adhere to our 16 articles of association which specifically say that our work can only be done for purposes
17 that are charitable or for public advocacy. Yeah.
18 Q Has the UK entity had a different status since its inception?
19 A Yeah.
20 Q What was that?
21 A Oh, no, not since its --
22 Q Sorry. Let me ask the question again.
23 Mr. Herman. Let him reask the question.
24 Mr. Ahmed. Do you want to ask it again?
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Sure. Has -- the UK entity, has it maintained that same status since its 2 inception.
3 A So since it became the Center for Countering Digital Hate, it's always had 4 that status, yes.
5 I don't know what status the original -- the off-the-shelf company that I took had.
6 I don't remember at all.
7 Q Have the articles changed since -- since CCDH's inception?
8 A They have not changed since CCDH itself became the company and 9 launched. But before that, who knows?
10 Q Has CCDH received funding from the UK government?
11 A Absolutely not.
12 Q Has CCDH received funding from any U.S. contractors?
13 A You mean companies that work for the U.S. Government?
14 Q Yes.
15 A I have no idea, no idea at all. But -- so, presumably, lots of organizations
16 take money from the U.S. Government. I have no idea who takes money from the U.S.
17 Government.
18 However, we've never received funds given by the U.S. Government to another 19 organization that are hypothecated for the use of furthering the U.S. Government's work.
20 Is that -- is that clear?
21 Q A little bit. To your understanding, any entity that's received funding from 22 the U.S. Government, has that entity, in turn, provided funding to CCDH?
23 A Provided that funding to us, no.
24 Q Okay. What about just generally, are you aware of any entity that's 25 provided funding to CCDH that separately has received funding from the U.S.

1 Government?

2 A I can't -- I can't -- I can't tell you about whether or not any of our funders

3 have received any funding at any point from the U.S. Government. I have no idea.

4 Q Do you know who Rob Flaherty is?

5 A Vaguely. He works for the Biden administration.

6 Q Have you ever had any interactions with Mr. Flaherty?

7 A Never. He may have retweeted me on Twitter.

8 Q Do you know who Renee DiResta is?

9 A I do.

10 Q How do you know Ms. DiResta?

11 A I have met her on a few occasions. Yeah. That's it.

12 Q How did you first meet her?

13 A I don't recall.

14 Q What are some of the occasions that you recall interacting with her?

15 A They were private functions, drinks. I met her, talked to her, maybe talked 16 about kids.

1 [12:14 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Are you familiar with Stanford's Internet observatory?

4 A Have I?

5 Q Are you familiar with the Stanford Internet observatory?

6 A I'm familiar with it.

7 Q Has CCDH ever done any work with it?

8 A Nope.

9 Q Have you interacted with the Institute for Strategic Dialogue?

10 A Yes.

11 Q What's been the nature of your interactions?

12 A We have a longstanding association with the ISD and I'm friends with the 13 CEO.

14 Q What's the nature of the longstanding association?

15 A We are in joint coalitions together, and we have -- for example, climate

16 action against disinformation which we are publicly known as being a member of it. ISD

17 is a significant member of that as well. And we have had -- I think that's the only one.

18 There may be others as well. Brian and I speak to Sasha quite frequently.

19 Q Has ISD ever contributed to any of the research?

20 A No.

21 Q That's produced in CCDH's reports?

22 A No.

23 Q When CCDH is conducting research, we'll start with the Disinformation

24 Dozen report as an example, is all the research conducted internally, or does CCDH

25 receive support from anyone outside?

1 A We've received support from outside academics on some occasions, yeah.
2 Q Do you recall the Disinformation Dozen Report was one of those occasions?
3 A I don't think so.
4 Q Have you received support from any American Universities?
5 A Support in what respect?
6 Q Support for the research.
7 A Harvard, Stanford, Brown. No, not really. No, not to my recollection.
8 Q The ones you're listing off are the ones you're checking off that you have 9 not?
10 A Have not, yeah. I'm just thinking of who does this work. There's a few 11 universities that do it, but we've never worked with them.
12 Q Can you recall examples of --
13 A I've given -- for example, I gave a lecture to Brown University's Pandemic
14 Center a few months ago, maybe a few weeks ago on disinformation, but we haven't 15 done research together.
16 Q There's support for the research that CCDH is doing that's coming from 17 outside of CCDH. Are there any examples you can recall?
18 A Support as in?
19 Q Just at a high level. Who are we talking about?
20 A So, I mean, let's just break this down. Specific like, you know, financial 21 support, from a university, no. People who work for universities who may be -- who our 22 team may have talked to, I'm sure. I can't recall them myself, beyond very specifically I
23 am aware that we worked with some university researchers on -- and I don't know which 24 universities are affiliated with them, so I'm being a little bit more cautious in not saying
25 no without being certain, on the climate report that we did this year, the new climate

1 denial. Support in terms of people putting out press releases or saying this is a great
2 piece of research, sure, we, of course, seek that out.
3 Q For the climate report, do you recall which university?
4 A I don't, but the academics are listed on the report, and which institutions
5 that primarily and secondarily are affiliated with, no idea.
6 Q For the Disinformation Dozen Report, when it came to actually finding the 7 post, tracking the post during the sample set as described in the report, did anyone
8 outside of CCDH help conduct that?
9 A Methodologically, everything is in the research report itself and I have 10 nothing to add beyond that. I really don't recall that report at all. The truth is that the 11 success of that report, we were a year and a half old. It was a surprise to me.
12 Q Are you familiar with the White House's task force to address online 13 harassment and abuse?
14 A No, I'm not.
15 Q To your knowledge, did CCDH play any role in support of the task force?
16 A I don't actually recollect what that organization is. There's a lot of 17 organizations with many letters and words in their names coming from GARM, and, you
18 know, it may even have been that you will find a quote from me saying this is a fantastic
19 idea. Personally, I just don't recall that particular organization or working with it.
20 Q Do you recall who from CCDH worked with the White House?
21 A It would have been one of our U.S. policy staff, but I don't know because I
22 don't even know when that is from so I couldn't even speculate as to who it might be that 23 spoke to the White House about it.
24 Q The initial blueprint for the White House task force to address online
25 harassment and abuse was issued on March 3rd, 2023.

1 A Okay.

2 Q Do you recall what role CCDH played with respect to the development of 3 that initial blueprint?

4 A No. No, I don't. We've done reports on trolling and harassment. We've

5 done reports on hate. We are -- but I can't recall whether we just sent them research or

6 we had discussions at our roundtables or anything, but I don't recall them myself.

7 Q Do you recall any discussions with Ms. Hart Sanders about her interactions

8 with the White House or the White House task force to address online harassment

9 abuse?

10 A No.

11 Q You mentioned the state department a few times. Are you familiar with 12 the Global Engagement Center?

13 A Yeah.

14 Q Have you had interactions directly with the Global Engagement Center?

15 A I think I took one meeting with them under the Trump Administration. I

16 think an official from the GEC was present in a discussion I was having about 17 counterterrorism counterbalancing extremism professionals from the state department.

18 That's it. We don't have any other formal relationship or any formal relationship with 19 them really.

20 Q Do you understand that anyone else within CCDH met with the Global

21 Engagement Center?

22 A Don't know.

23 Q As part of your role at CCDH, have you interacted with the World's 24 Federation of Advertisers?

25 A Probably at some point. I can't recall.

1 Q Are you familiar with the Global Alliance for Responsible Media, GARM?
2 A Yes.
3 Q Have you Interacted with GARM?
4 A I have.
5 Q How many times?
6 A Several times I've met with I think it's the ED, Rob Rakowitz. I've met with 7 him and we have worked together on -- worked together on an initiative in Pittsburgh
8 called eradicate hate, which is a conference set up in the wake of the Tree of Life
9 synagogue massacre by the families of the victims and the survivors of that massacre. A
10 Pittsburgh-based law firm puts together a conference every year. It's bipartisan. It's 11 very well attended. Rob and I are working together on a working group to deal with 12 advertising and how advertisers can support the fight against extremist hate against Jews, 13 at least to others.
14 Q Other than that particular effort, have you had interactions as part of your 15 role at CCDH with individuals from GARM?
16 A We probably talked to each other at some point or shared emails, but I can't 17 recall anything specific.
18 Q Are you familiar with the memo prepared by CCDH called Disrupting Online
19 COVID Misinformation for His Majesty's government?
20 A I wrote it. Yes, I wrote it.
21 Q Who was the target audience for this memorandum?
22 A It was Her Magesty's government.
23 Q Did the U.K. government request or pay CCDH to create this memorandum?
24 A They did not pay for it. I can't recall the genesis of that document, but at 25 the time we were in discussions with the U.K. government on anti-vaccine disinformation.

1 I think it was early on in the pandemic. It was early on.

2 Q Have you or anyone from CCDH prepared a similar type of document for any

3 U.S. government?

4 A We sent that document to the Trump Administration at the time and officials

5 within the Trump Administration at the time when Operation Warp Speed was in effect.

6 So -- and subsequent reports as well, like, that was early on. It was a broad analysis, and

7 then we produced the anti-vax industry and the anti-vax playbook, both of which went to

8 both U.K. and the U.S. administrations.

9 I don't recall if we actually specifically briefed it to anyone in the U.S.

10 administration at the time, but I know we sent it to officials within the USG.

11 Q Other than the examples you've provided, has CCDH prepared other

12 memorandum for the U.S. government?

13 A It was exceptionally unusual, and so no, not to my recollection.

14 Q What about for other governments and then sending those reports at a later

15 time to the U.S. government?

16 A No, not to my recollection. That was an extraordinary memo that we felt

17 was necessary because we knew that both the U.K. and the U.S. governments at that

18 point would have been so overwhelmed by the direct needs of the -- the direct health

19 needs of the public. And by -- COVID was the most overwhelming time for government

20 officials. And we want to state clearly in a brief concise format why this information

21 should be considered as part of the overall response to the pandemic, that there was a

22 parallel pandemic of disinformation that may impact their ability to get what

23 happened -- what turned into the vaccine produced by Operation Warp Speed into -- you

24 know, and have it deployed successfully.

25 Q We've mentioned a few times CCDH's role of advocating for certain things in 1 legislation.

2 A Yes.

3 Q Has CCDH advocated for taking any position regarding changes to the First

4 Amendment in the United States?

5 A Absolutely not.

6 Q Why not?

7 A Our framework that we developed for how we think -- for the -- for the new

8 legislation that should be brought into place is designed to enhance speech rather than

9 to -- it wouldn't require us to change the First Amendment. It's all about having

10 transparency of the algorithms, transparency of the content enforcement decisions which

11 are currently opaque and may or may not favor one side or another, but we can never

12 know. Transparency of advertising and how that changes the way that they make

13 decisions about what content to amplify and what content not to amplify and what

14 content to remove and what content not to remove, so we want transparency to those

15 that allow for a meaningful accountability, which means more informed discourse. I

16 don't see how any of that would have touched the First Amendment whatsoever.

17 Q Has CCDH advocated for any legislative changes in the U.K. but declined to 18 advocate for similar changes in the U.S. because of the First Amendment?

19 A Any differences in U.S. and U.K., so the United Kingdom has the Online

20 Safety Act, which is promulgated by conservative government under Boris Johnson

21 initially and finally enacted under Rishi Sunak as prime minister. The European Union

22 has the Digital Services Act. America has not much right now. But United Kingdom

23 Online Safety Act, there's things that are in the mix. Any differences have been based

24 on a difference in the jurisprudence and the political traditions of those countries, not

25 about the -- you know, this is not about us trying to -- it's not about the First Amendment

1 per se.

2 For example, in the United Kingdom where they are -- where there is broad

3 acceptance and experience of regulatory bodies being -- that civil litigation is not very

4 common in the U.K. whereas it is in the U.S. So a system that allowed for negligence to

5 be shown through civil litigation would work really well in the United States whereas it

6 would not work in the U.K. In the U.K. and other jurisdictions, typically prosecuting

7 authorities have enormous amounts of discretion and can bring a broader range of cases,

8 and so as the variance in our recommendations is based on the jurisprudence and specific

9 intention circumstances the countries in which are doing that work. Nothing to the First

10 Amendment.

11 Q You said Brussels is your newest office?

12 A Yes.

13 Q When did it open?

14 A Couple of months ago.

15 Q How many people are based out of there?

16 A One right now.

17 Q Sir?

18 A One right now.

19 Q And you said fewer than a dozen here in the U.S.?

20 A Definitely fewer than a dozen.

21 Q And are the others based in the U.K.?

22 A Yeah. Yeah. Yeah. Yeah, I think everyone is based in the U.K.

23 Q When is the last time you had contact with the U.S. federal government?

24 A Deborah Lipstadt spoke at our conference last week.

25 Q What about before that?

1 A I don't recall. I just don't recall.

2 Q Is anyone from CCDH in touch with either of the presidential campaigns?

3 A No. I'm not. No one is as part of their work at CCDH. Who knows.

4 People have the right to political affiliations outside. I'm not a member of any political

5 party anywhere in the world. And certainly in the work that we do, everyone is

6 perfectly aware that we're a 501(C)(3).

7 Q Has CCDH done any work regarding misinformation regarding inflation?

8 A No.

9 Q When's the last time you had a meeting or other interaction with a member

10 of the White House?

11 A I don't know. I honestly don't recall. As I've said before, is Deborah a

12 member of the White House? Actually, I don't know who the person was, although it

13 would have been in the readout from the State Department, but the roundtable on

14 anti-semitism that Deborah Lipstadt had at the State Department a few weeks ago with 15 members of the social media companies and someone from the White House attended.

16 I think it was -- Neera Tanden. Is that --

17 Q I think that's right.

18 [Ahmed Exhibit No. 6

19 was marked for identification.]

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q This is Exhibit 6. It's an email from the White House to Facebook in April of 22 2021.

23 A Sure. Okay.

24 Q If I can call your attention to the first bullet point underneath the heading,

25 Facebook's policy and enforcement gaps enable misinformation's spread at the bottom

1 third of the page.

2 A Uh-huh.

3 Q It says, 12 accounts are responsible for 73 percent of vaccine misinformation

4 on Facebook. Is that consistent with the conclusion the Disinformation Dozen Report

5 reached?

6 A I can't remember, but I assume it's -- I know that Facebook was slightly

7 higher. The two-thirds number was an average of all platforms, yeah.

8 Q All right. The date of this email is April 23rd, 2021.

9 A Yeah.

10 Q From Rob Flaherty to Brian Rice, who is an individual at Facebook, now

11 Meta. Do you know Mr. Rice?

12 A I've never met either of these people.

13 Q Okay. This email is about a month after the Disinformation Dozen Report is 14 released. Do you know how the White House became available or became aware of the 15 findings in the Disinformation Dozen Report?

16 A No. This is the first time I've ever been aware that before President Biden

17 said what he said that anyone in the White House had been talking about our report.

18 Q To your knowledge, did anyone from White House staff reach out to CCDH to 19 try to obtain more information about the report?

20 A No. Not -- in fact, if someone from the White House reached out to us

21 about a report that early on in the organization, I would have known about it, so I don't

22 believe that to be -- I don't believe they did.

23 Q Did you have any interactions with staff in the press secretary's office, Jen

24 Psaki's office in the summer of 2021?

25 A I can't recall. You've got my notes.

1 Q Following the release of the Disinformation Dozen Report, in the month or
2 so that followed, do you recall any interactions either with the press, with outside
3 researchers, anyone who was indicating that they were communicating with the White
4 House?
5 A No, not to my recollection. I think it's worth reiterating again, this report
6 got enormous amounts of media coverage. I mean, enormous amounts of media
7 coverage. There have been -- you know, we've done, you know, CNN documentaries.
8 We'd had documentary film crews following us around. We'd had everyone -- it had 9 been covered all around the world. It had been on the front page of the New York
10 Times. It had been on the front page -- I'd given interviews to everyone from The New 11 York Times to Fox News to Newsmax to Japanese, you know, television. We were 12 primarily focused on getting the word out.
13 And when the Biden stuff happened, I'd grown a beard and I was in the middle of 14 Georgia in a rural town. We had absolutely no -- this was not a lever for CCDH's theory
15 of change is White House action. That's just not part of what we do as an organization.
16 We don't seek to get the White House to do stuff, because what can they do? So all of 17 this happening in the background is just kind of, you know, in one respect, sure, it
18 was -- it's nice to know that -- it's quite heartening to know that people read our reports,
19 but it's irrelevant to me. It's irrelevant to our work as to whether or not people in the 20 White House are discussing it.
21 Q So since 2022, based off the emails produced to the committee, there's now
22 at least some regular correspondence where if a report is issued, someone from CCDH
23 will interact with members of the White House staff.
24 A We will send our reports to a really wide array of stakeholders, so everyone
25 from government officials to press to -- and sometimes it's to generate buzz around a

1 report. But our aim is actually for transparency and accountability legislation in
2 Congress rather than in the executive branch of the government. The executive branch
3 isn't important to our theory of change. Whereas transparency legislation or county
4 legislation, so Senator Graham and Senator Warren's idea of an FCC for social media,
5 that's something that I'm interested in. I'm not so interested in -- I don't see what the 6 White House can do. It can't legislate. So it's not part of our theory of change at all.
7 Q So to your recollection, the nature of the communication CCDH has had in 8 2022, 2023, whether emails, discussions following an issuance of a report, that didn't 9 happen for the Disinformation Dozen, even though the White House was familiar with its 10 contents?
11 A No. Sorry, just repeat the question for me.
12 Q Sure. Again, based off the communications produced at the committee,
13 CCDH has interactions with the White House following the issuance of a report.
14 A Yes.
15 Q Based off other documents produced at the committee, the White House
16 was familiar with the Disinformation Dozen report early on, within a month of its 17 publication.
18 A Yeah.
19 Mr. Herman. Let him finish.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q To your understanding, no one from CCDH was having interactions with the 22 Biden White House in the spring of 2021.
23 A To my recollection, beyond the stuff that we've handed over to you, and I
24 don't know -- did we produce emails that had us sending that report to anyone in the 25 White House?

1 Q You have not.

2 A Well, then, you know, CCDH has produced all documents in its possession

3 responsive to the committee's document request that is pertinent to the subject and

4 inquiry. Beyond that legal assessment, I have nothing to add regarding CCDH's

5 document production. I don't recall any further discussions with anyone in the White

6 House.

7 Q How long has CCDH -- how long typically does CCDH retain its emails?

8 A We have no document destruction policy at CCDH, so all of them.

9 Q Okay. So emails from 2020, 2019, further back would be available?

10 A Yeah.

11 Q Have you or anyone from CCDH deleted any emails regarding CCDH's

12 interactions with the White House?

13 A CCDH has produced all documents in its possession responsive to the 14 committee's document request that is deemed pertinent to the subject and inquiry.

15 Beyond that legal assessment, I have nothing to add regarding CCDH's document

16 production.

17 Q The question wasn't about possessions. The question was about 18 destruction of emails.

19 A We did server level searches for all these emails that were requested.

20 There is no document destruction policy nor have I instructed anyone to destroy emails

21 nor have I personally deleted emails.

22 Q To your knowledge, has anyone at CCDH deleted any emails?

23 A To my knowledge, no. One thing worth mentioning is we recently

24 transitioned from G Suite to Microsoft Exchange. Not something I ever want to go

25 through again, but we have all our emails.

1 Q The first bullet point under the first bullet heading says, Supporting
2 documents from research compiled by Media Matters, GQR, Institute for Strategic 3 Dialogue and others overviews a range of mis- and disinformation narratives still 4 circulating on Facebook and Facebook-owned properties like Instagram. During your 5 time at CCDH, have you had any interactions with the Institute for Strategic Dialogue
6 regarding the Institute for Strategic Dialogue's interactions with the White House?
7 A No.
8 Q In spring of 2021, were you aware that research by the Institute for Strategic 9 Dialogue was being considered by the White House?
10 A Specifically, no. But the ISD is well known as being a -- sort of a
11 government contractor, so -- but we're not, and so we don't discuss U.S. government
12 relationships. Yeah, nothing to do with us.
13 Q Did the -- did ISD provide any support to CCDH as it was researching and 14 drafting the Disinformation Dozen Report?
15 A No.
16 Q Did you or anyone else from CCDH brief anyone from ISD about the 17 Disinformation Dozen Report?
18 A It would be very surprising to me if we had. We don't typically brief other 19 organizations on our research prior to it coming out. As a matter of course, where we 20 have a coalition, we will identify -- we will tell them in advance that we've got a research
21 report coming out. For example, on climate, we're in a climate coalition, climate
22 disinformation coalition with ISD, but on that occasion, I -- I would be extremely surprised
23 to know that we did. I don't recollect myself.
24 Q What about after the report's been issued?
25 A I think it's very unlikely and I don't recollect doing the same myself.

1 Q In April, 2021, were you aware of any communications between the Institute
2 for Strategic Dialogue and the White House regarding vaccine misinformation?
3 A No.
4 Q Other than your work, supporting parliament, have you worked for the U.K.
5 government?
6 A Sorry, my work supporting -- in working in parliament was not working for 7 the U.K. government. You're using those distinctions I used earlier on. I worked
8 for -- technically, I was employed by the Labour Party as a political advisor to Royal
9 Honorable Hilary Benn in both his roles as Shadow Secretary of State for Communities
10 and Local Government and Shadow Foreign Secretary.
11 And prior to that, I was employed as a researcher for the Shadow Justice Secretary
12 working on bills, and then I was employed by the Independent Parliamentary Authorities, 13 so that -- those are researchers that are given to MPs. I've never worked for 14 government in any other way. I did -- sorry. I've never been in paid employment for 15 the government in any other way.
16 I did sit on the Commission for Counter Extremism pilot task force steering
17 committee under Dame Sara Khan when she was appointed to that role by Prime Minister
18 Theresa May. It was a very small group of us who were advising the government on 19 extremism and I specifically was the expert on digital extremism. Another member of 20 the commission was, for example, the steering committee was the current Met Police
21 Commissioner, so --
22 Q Are you familiar with Stop Funding Fake News?
23 A I am. I set it up.
24 Q What is it?
25 A It was an Internet campaign to identify to appetizers when their adverts

1 were appearing on sites which would be divergent with their values.

2 Q When did you create it?

3 A I don't recall precisely. It was a precursor to CCDH and ran for some period

4 while CCDH was live. Because there were separate brands, we couldn't work out what

5 to do with it, and eventually it just tailed off and died.

6 Q Did you ever operate in the U.S.?

7 A No.

8 Q Do you recall approximately when it ceased operations?

9 A No.

10 Q How many people worked for it or were related with it?

11 A It was the same people that worked on CCDH, so it was just a brand of CCDH,

12 but it started before then, and then it was just too -- it was, you know, me on the

13 Internet. And then once CCDH existed, it became part of the CCDH campaigning

14 architecture.

15 Q Did Stop Funding Fake News receive any government funding?

16 A No.

17 Q In the U.K. or the U.S.?

18 A No one.

19 Q Are you familiar with Labour Together?

20 A I am.

21 Q What is it?

22 A It's a think tank external to the Labour Party set up by people who are 23 hostile to Jeremy Corbyn, the anti-Semite who took over the Labour Party.

24 Q Have you had affiliation with the Labour Together think tank?

25 A I talk to them -- at the moment, we are talking to them about Internet policy

1 in the U.K., because it's likely that the Labour Party will become the government of the 2 U.K. in a week.
3 Q Before these most recent discussions, have you had any affiliation with 4 Labour Together?
5 A The ED of Labour Together is a personal friend of mine.
6 Q Have you had -- previous to these discussions, have you had any professional
7 interactions with Labour Together?
8 A So we shared -- so we shared an office for a while. I paid my half of the 9 rent. He paid his half of the rent. They paid their half of the rent. But our work
10 doesn't really intersect. Labor Together's role is to remove anti-semitism from the 11 Labour Party and to renew its purpose for government, or whatever. To not be so -- be 12 more electable, and my job is to look at social media, which is nothing to do with each 13 other. But Morgan McSweeney, who runs Labour Together, is, as I say, a very, very 14 close friend.
15 Q Does Labour Together provide any funding to CCDH?
16 A It has never nor -- it's never provided a dime of funding to CCDH, either U.K.
17 or U.S.
18 Q Just to clarify an earlier answer when you said you shared an office, is that in 19 reference to CCDH's office, a personal office?
20 A I don't know when we stopped using the office. No, we did. It was until 21 COVID. Until March 2020 is when I shut the office down, March the 1st, 2020, is when I
22 shut the office down. Until March, 2020, we worked at the same office.
23 Q The current interactions at CCDH is having with Labour Together, is there
24 consulting contracts? Is it providing briefings?
25 A So it is us telling -- so there's no money. There's no contracts. The guy

1 who currently runs Labour Together, Joshua Simons, was the Jewish speech writer for
2 Jeremy Corbyn who realized that Jeremy Corbyn was an anti-Semite while he was in
3 position and then left and then went to run Labour Together, and I've known Josh for 4 many, many years because I -- we're old friends.
5 Q Has CCDH conducted any research regarding Russian disinformation
6 following Russia's invasion of Ukraine?
7 A Russian disinformation on Ukraine?
8 Q On the Ukraine -- on the conflict of Russia's invasion of Ukraine.
9 A I've got no doubt that we've come across that sort of content online. I
10 don't think we've written reports about it, but again, all of our reports are on our website.
11 Q To the extent you've become familiar through the federal litigation or other
12 news reporting, do you think it's appropriate to the extent to which the White House
13 reached out to social media companies regarding misinformation online?
14 A Look, I'm neither the federal government nor am I a social media company,
15 and I don't know the facts of that case at all. But I am a strong believer that 16 governments shouldn't tell us what to say or what to think with the threat of force.
17 Q Can offices like the White House contact social media companies or others
18 about what to say or what to think without the threat of force?
19 A I think you should consult a lawyer, because I can't answer that question
20 myself.
21 Q To your knowledge, has CCDH had any direct interactions with Robert F.
22 Kennedy, Jr.?
23 A I believe he wrote -- I believe his counsel once wrote to us.
24 Q Other than that?
25 A I don't believe so, not to my recollection.

1 Q As part of your role at CCDH, have you had any interactions --
2 A Let me expand on that. There was an exchange of letters between his 3 counsel and my counsel in which he was making various allegations and threats.
4 Nothing ever proceeded.
5 Q Any meetings or briefings where CCDH explained its methodology or why
6 Mr. Kennedy was included in the disinformation?
7 A To whom?
8 Q To Mr. Kennedy or one of his representatives?
9 A His counsel wrote to our counsel making allegations and threats of litigation.
10 Our counsel responded. They never followed through.
11 Q Other than that?
12 A No. My understanding is that his claim was that we breached the 13 European convention on human rights by asking -- by publicizing his Tweets and that his 14 Tweets were part of his right to a private life and that was somehow tortuous. And our 15 counsel did not agree. And they withdrew.
16 Q Are you familiar with the Cybersecurity Infrastructure Security Agency within 17 the U.S. Department of Homeland Security?
18 A Nope.
19 Q Do you know Nina Jankowicz?
20 A I do.
21 Q Have you interacted with her as part of your role at CCDH?
22 A I've had a couple of meetings with her since she left the White House -- since 23 she left DHS.
24 Q What was she affiliated with when you had those meetings?
25 A Some company in England. I've forgotten its name.

1 Q What was the purpose of the meetings?
2 A To appear about what she was up to, to talk about what we're up to, and get
3 advice on children.
4 Q As part of your role at CCDH, have you had any interactions with Nick Clyde?
5 A At CCDH, no.
6 Q Do you know who Eric Waldo is?
7 A No.
8 Q Is CCDH currently working with any entities within the U.S. regarding 9 election integrity or election misinformation that will lead up to the 2024 election?
10 A We produced a series of reports recently on AI related disinformation, so
11 whether or not AI platforms have put guardrails against disinformation, again, looking on 12 a bipartisan basis whether or not AI would generate images of President Trump or 13 President Biden, whether or not they produce convincing audio of President Trump and 14 President Biden. We found that those guardrails were not in place, and so it's 15 remarkably easy to get the leading AI -- generative AI audio and image-based platforms.
16 We're doing more work with them on video platforms. And we are currently conducting 17 a study on abuse of politicians on social media on a bipartisan basis looking at a -- yeah,
18 looking at abusive, both women -- female candidates and male candidates on both 19 Republican and Democrat side.
20 Q Did the AI report -- did any researchers outside of CCDH support that report?
21 A I don't believe so. Again, methodologically, it should be on the thing and 22 we would credit anyone externally and they would be pretty annoyed if we didn't, but 23 that's on the website.
24 Q Other than those two examples you provided, is CCDH working on any other 25 efforts related to election integrity or election misinformation?

1 A No. No.

2 Q Have you had any meetings with the executive branch related to CCDH's AI

3 report?

4 A I couldn't tell you off the top of my head. I'm sure they've received the 5 briefings.

6 Ms. [redacted] Probably the briefings --

7 Mr. Ahmed. I'm sure they've received the reports. I don't know if -- I haven't

8 personally briefed it to anyone. So yeah. I believe that when my staff -- so most

9 outreach now in the U.S. politically in the last six months isn't -- basically not involved me

10 at all. I believe my team have briefed on the Hill those reports, but I couldn't tell you

11 when and to whom, and it would have been on a bipartisan basis, and it would have been 12 Congress and the Senate rather than to the White House.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q Does CCDH do any work or does it ever brief online bookstores?

15 A Like Amazon?

16 Q Such as Amazon.

17 A I think we've done something vaguely on Amazon once before about how

18 they're selling Nazi memorabilia, but it's not a big part of -- it's not part of our work these 19 days.

20 Q Do you recall what the example was with Amazon?

21 A I think they were selling Nazi memorabilia. I don't recall fully.

22 Q Have you had interactions with the Atlantic Council as part of your time at 23 CCDH?

24 A I have met some of their staff from time to time. We've never done any 25 formal work with them.

1 Q Do you recall who?
2 A No.
3 Q Are you familiar with the Digital Forensic Research Lab within the Atlantic
4 Council?
5 A I've heard about it.
6 Q Do you recall any interactions with them?
7 A No.
8 Q Have you ever interacted with the daily wire?
9 A Is that -- that's the -- what's the guy's name?
10 Q Ben Shapiro?
11 A Ben Shapiro's thing. Yeah, we have. They've reached to some reports of 12 us.
13 Q Have you had any direct interactions with the Daily Wire itself?
14 A I don't think so, no, but I can't recollect.
15 Q Are you familiar with Graphika?
16 A Yes.
17 Q Have you ever interacted with them as part of your role at CCDH?
18 A I think they're part of coalitions alongside us, although my understanding is 19 that they've taken the position to no longer do public research, so I imagine I won't be 20 doing much work with them in the future.
21 Q Other than coalitions, do you recall interactions with them as part of your
22 role at CCDH?
23 A No.
24 Q Has CCDH conducted any research regarding the origin of the SARS-CoV-2 25 virus?

1 A No. We've pointedly taken no interest in that debate.

2 Q Why is that?

3 A Because we're not equipped to tell you where the COVID -- where COVID

4 was -- the etiology and origins of COVID.

5 Q Just as a -- I should not say research into the origin of the virus itself.

6 Content related to claims around the origin of the virus?

7 A I don't believe so, but all of our contents are on our website. I've always

8 had a very sharp distinction between stuff that might kill people, telling people not to

9 take the vaccine, whoever said that. And, you know, I remember when I first started

10 working on the vaccine's work, seeing the Trump Administration talking about why it was

11 important that people took the vaccine, in fact, my favorite press release I own is one

12 from the Trump Administration calling President -- now President Biden and Vice

13 President Kamala Harris anti-vaxxers for telling people they shouldn't trust a vaccine that 14 was produced by Donald Trump.

15 So, you know, things have evolved over time, but we've been focused on direct

16 stuff that can harm people, and a debate on whether it was the Chinese what done it or it

17 was evolution, that's neither here nor there for me. It doesn't affect human life. It

18 doesn't affect whether or not tens of thousands of fellow students are going to die in 19 ICUs, and it has great geopolitical importance but zero to CCDH.

20 Q To your recollection, CCDH has not done research?

21 A Again, everything is on the website, but I don't -- to my recollection, nothing.

22 Q Can we go off the record, please.

23 [Whereupon, at 1:08 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted]. This is a transcribed interview of [redacted]. Chairman
2 Jordan has requested this interview as a part of the committee's investigation of how and
3 the extent to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and
4 other intermediaries to censor speech.
5 Would the witness please state your name for the record.
6 [redacted]. [redacted].
7 [redacted]. On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing
8 here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to
9 appear voluntarily.
10 My name is [redacted], and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 11 everyone else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves as well.
12 [redacted]. [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.
13 [redacted]. [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.
14 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.
15 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.
16 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

18 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
19 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
20 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
21 [redacted]. I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we 22 will follow during today's interview.
23 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 24 one hour and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal
25 period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more

1 questions and the interview is over.

2 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to

3 take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

4 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

5 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

6 Do you understand?

7 [redacted]. I do. Thank you.

8 [redacted]. So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our

9 best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to 10 just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

11 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks

12 down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we do not talk over one

13 another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at

14 today's interview.

15 We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with 16 counsel if they so choose, and it is my understanding that you're appearing today with 17 counsel. Is that correct?

18 [redacted]. It is.

19 [redacted]. Could counsel please state your name for the record.

20 [redacted]. [redacted] with Gibson Dunn representing [redacted].

21 [redacted]. [redacted], King & Spalding, representing Alphabet.

22 [redacted]. Thank you.

23 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner

24 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not

25 understand one of our questions, please let us know.

1 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
2 point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not
3 remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to
4 tell us if you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to
5 know the information.
6 If there are any things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please
7 inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete
8 answer to the question.
9 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by 10 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.
11 Do you understand that?
12 [redacted]. I do.
13 [redacted]. This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
14 interview. Do you understand this?
15 [redacted]. I do.
16 [redacted]. Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be 17 subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C.
18 Section 1001.
19 Do you understand this?
20 [redacted]. I do.
21 [redacted]. Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to
22 today's questions?
23 [redacted]. There is not.
24 [redacted]. Finally, I'd like to make note that the content of what we discuss
25 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this

1 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

2 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with

3 the court reporter so that they can go in the final official transcript, and any copies of 4 those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

5 All right. That's the end of my preamble. Is there anything that my colleagues

6 from the minority would like to add?

7 [redacted]. We want to thank you for your time and for coming today.

8 [redacted]. Thank you.

9 [redacted]. The clock now reads 10:02. We will start the first hour of 10 questions.

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q Can I have you state your full name again, please?

13 A Sure. [redacted].

14 Q And where is your current place of employment?

15 A I'm employed by Google.

16 Q And what is your role there?

17 A I'm a director of public policy. I lead public policy for YouTube across the 18 Americas.

19 Q And which office are you based out of?

20 A The office at 25 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest.

21 Q Beginning with college, what is your educational background?

22 A I have a Bachelor of Arts from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and I have a

23 Master of Arts from the University of Sydney in Australia.

24 Q Starting with your first job after the masters, what is your professional

25 background?

1 A Sure. Do you want me to do years, or you just want me to tell you a job?
2 Q If you can recall.
3 A Sure.
4 In 2004, I began working in the United States Senate for Senator Barbara Mikulski
5 of Maryland, and I served as a press writer.
6 Q Great. And if you could just walk through --
7 A Just keep going? Sure, sure, sure.
8 In 2005, I began working for the then House minority leader as a speech writer
9 and advisor. I stayed in that office, which moved from minority to majority a couple
10 times, until 2012 when I went to the Department of Homeland Security. Initially, I was 11 chief of staff in the Office of Legislative Affairs. I then became Deputy Assistant 12 Secretary responsible for liaising with the House, the Deputy Assistant Secretary of 13 Legislative Affairs.
14 In 2015, I became -- I stayed there until 2015 when I went to the White House to 15 be a special assistant to the President. I stayed in that role until January of 2017, at 16 which point I went to industry. I became Vice President of government affairs for a
17 company called CSRA.
18 2017, 2018 -- 2018, I went to Tesla to lead public policy across U.S. and Canada.
19 And then I came to Google in the role that I currently have in March of 2020, so just a 20 little more than 4 years ago.
21 Q And you've had the same position since you joined the company?
22 A I have had the same position since I joined the company with one small
23 distinction. The region which I lead has evolved slightly over that period of time.
24 Q How did it evolve?
25 A So I was initially hired to lead the Americas. When I joined, I was also

1 asked to take responsibility for certain emerging markets outside of the Americas. And
2 in 2022 -- I have two regional counterparts. So if you imagine, the world is divided in 3 three. In 2022, we homogenized our region to match the way our business has its 4 regions. So I gave up emerging markets that are outside of the Americas. So I now just 5 have responsibility for U.S., Canada, and Latin America.
6 Q Are you familiar with the terms misinformation, disinformation, and
7 malinformation?
8 A I am familiar with the terms misinformation and disinformation. I'm not
9 sure I'm familiar with the term malinformation.
10 Q To your understanding, what is the difference between misinformation and
11 disinformation?
12 A I have my own understanding. I also observe that those are terms that 13 people use sometimes interchangeably and, perhaps, maybe have different definitions
14 from my own.
15 Q Okay. Just based off your understanding?
16 A My understanding is misinformation is information that is not true, that is 17 not accurate. Disinformation, from my perspective, adds intentionality, and I often use
18 it to talk about State-sponsored misinformation, but I think the intentionality is the sort of 19 key distinction from my perspective.
20 Q When you still had emerging markets within your portfolio, which markets or 21 countries did that include?
22 A Sure. So it did include Latin America and still does. In addition to those 23 markets, it included Eurasia, so west of sort of traditional -- or sorry, east of traditional 24 Europe all the way to the traditional bounds of Apex, so Russia, Ukraine, et cetera. It
25 included what we call MENA, Middle East and North Africa, and then Sub-Saharan Africa.

1 I would just note for the record here that I didn't do an enormous amount of work
2 in those markets given that many of them are quite small markets for us.
3 Q So what are your responsibilities in your role?
4 A My responsibilities are to lead a team of public policy professionals across
5 the Americas, to advocate for our platform, for YouTube, and to explain how our platform
6 works to policymakers in that region.
7 Q How many people report to you?
8 A So it has varied over time. It was a new team when I started, so I built the 9 team entirely. I've had some recent natural attrition. So I think currently I have -- let 10 me just add up in my head here. I think I currently have five direct reports.
11 Q And of those direct reports, are any of them primarily exclusively focused on 12 the United States?
13 A One is currently exclusively focused on the United States, and I'm hiring for 14 two roles.
15 Q And who is that one right now?
16 A His name is [redacted].
17 Q Was there anyone else recently who had, as part of their portfolio, just the 18 United States?
19 A I had a colleague who recently departed the company, yes, who was 20 focusing on the United States.
21 Q Who was that colleague?
22 A Her name is [redacted].
23 Q When you first joined the company, was it just you on the team then, when 24 you say you had to build it out?
25 A It was. Shortly after I joined the team, like within maybe 3 weeks,

1 somebody who I had hired before I officially joined, joined the team.

2 Q And who do you report to in your role?

3 A I report to the vice president of global public policy for YouTube.

4 Q And who is that?

5 A [redacted].

6 Q As part of your role at the company, is it only for YouTube, or does it include

7 other products within Alphabet?

8 A Only for YouTube.

9 Q Which other YouTube teams do you interact with most frequently?

10 A So probably most frequently I interact with my colleagues on the YouTube

11 Government Affairs and Public Policy teams. So there are both teams who are focused

12 on regional work and then teams who are focused on product work from a public policy

13 perspective. That's who I interact with most frequently.

14 Q And for matters involving the United States, who is your point of contact

15 with the GAPP team?

16 A Well, I'm the point of contact. I guess I don't understand your question.

17 Q I guess asking the question the other way around, who is your point of 18 contact on that team?

19 A On which team?

20 Q Which team -- let me take one step back.

21 Which team did you say you interact with the most frequently?

22 A So forgive me if I was confusing. I'm part of a broader YouTube

23 Government Affairs Public Policy team.

24 Q Is that separate from -- is there a GAPP for YouTube and a GAPP for Google

25 or is it one team?

1 A That's a really good question. There is a broad GAPP organization of which
2 I am part. I am part of the YouTube GAPP organization, and that means that my domain
3 expertise is YouTube.
4 There is also a portion of the Government Affairs and Public Policy team that is a
5 U.S. and Canada team exclusively, and those folks represent, arguably, all products, so
6 usually I'm the one who speaks about YouTube.
7 Q Gotcha.
8 So sorry if I misunderstood your previous answer.
9 So when you're saying the team you interact with the most frequently, you were 10 just saying among your own team, the YouTube GAPP team or --
11 A I was but I was meaning the broader -- you know, I represent the YouTube
12 GAPP Americas team. There are other teams like mine on the YouTube GAPP team, so
13 those are the people I interact with most frequently.
14 Q Okay.
15 Do you interact frequently with the broader Google GAPP team as well?
16 A I do.
17 Q And for matters involving the United States, who is your point of contact on 18 the broader Google GAPP team?
19 A I mean, it's a big team, and this org chart is complicated, as perhaps you've 20 observed, but my -- the person who is effectively my counterpart on the Google
21 Government Affairs team for U.S. and Canada is a person named [redacted].
22 Q Do you interact with Google's Jigsaw team?
23 A I have met a person on that team in passing but not with any regularity.
24 Q About how frequently do you interact with YouTube's Trust and Safety
25 team?

1 A How frequently? You know, some weeks it might be a couple times a week
2 and some weeks it might be none.
3 Q And when you do have interactions with the team, what's usually the reason
4 sparring that? Do you have a set of standing meetings? Does it tend to be on an ad
5 hoc basis?
6 A It's definitely on an ad hoc basis.
7 Q And what are some of the reasons it might call for either them to reach out
8 to you or you to reach out to them?
9 A Yeah, so if you think about my role with the company, which is to engage
10 primarily externally to understand things that happen on Capitol Hill or in the White
11 House, across the broad region, it would be to, you know, potentially share information
12 about what's happening in that external environment for which I'm responsible with 13 those internal facing colleagues.
14 Q To your understanding, are there other Trust and Safety teams within 15 Alphabet more broadly?
16 A There are, yes.
17 Q Do you interact with those other Trust and Safety teams?
18 A De minimis. I mean, just very occasionally but not with any regularity.
19 Q Can you think of any examples?
20 A An example of when I've interacted with the Google Trust and Safety team.
21 Let me just -- recently, that team was potentially preparing its leader to testify in the 22 Senate, and I had a brief interaction to explain things from a YouTube perspective that 23 could come up in that public testimony.
24 Q Are you familiar with the Search and Discovery team?
25 A At YouTube or at Google? Can I ask you to be more specific?

1 Q Sure. At YouTube. Maybe take it one step back. To your
2 understanding, is there a team responsible for handling borderline content?
3 A I want to be really precise in my words to you. My understanding is there
4 is a team of engineers who design products to both algorithmically raise or algorithmically
5 reduce content, which I think may be slightly distinct from how I understood you to 6 phrase the question.
7 Q Okay. What's the name of that team?
8 A I believe that is the Search and Discovery team, as you said.
9 Q How frequently do you interact with that team?
10 A Very, very rarely.
11 Q Can you think of any examples?
12 A I mean, the most recent example in my mind is in February of every year,
13 there's a gathering of YouTube execs in California, and I saw the leader of that team at 14 that gathering.
15 Q Who is the leader of the team?
16 A I think -- I'm recalling your colleague's guidance here not to guess, so I don't 17 want to guess, but I think the leader of that team is [redacted].
18 Q Who is your primary point of contact for YouTube's Trust and Safety team?
19 A So as I said before, it's a very ad hoc engagement, so I don't really -- I don't 20 see it as formalized in that way where I have a primary point of contact on the YouTube
21 Trust and Safety team.
22 Q If you have a need to engage with that team, who do you get in contact with,
23 or how do you get in contact with that team?
24 A It would depend on the particular nature of that need. So, you know, there
25 are people on that team who perform different functions. So it would depend on what I

1 was looking for.

2 Q If there are questions about YouTube's community guidelines, is there a

3 team member you would reach out to first?

4 A So if I was trying -- just so I understand your example here, if I was trying to

5 understand YouTube's community guideline so that I could explain them externally, for

6 example, I would not reach out to the Trust and Safety team in that context. I would

7 reach out to my colleagues on the YouTube GAPP team who are the subject matter

8 experts on our team on community guidelines.

9 Q And who are those on your team?

10 A So there is a leader on -- the way our team is divided is there is an internal

11 facing team called the Product Policy team on the YouTube GAPP team, and I would reach

12 out to the lead of that team.

13 Q Who is the lead of that team?

14 A A colleague named [redacted].

15 Q And are you the head of the external facing team then?

16 A I lead that --

17 Q Or you lead both?

18 A -- yes, across the Americas. No, just across -- yes, so that is a distinct team

19 of mine.

20 Q Gotcha.

21 Do you know who [redacted] is?

22 A I do.

23 Q How does she fit within the organization compared to you?

24 A So that team that I just referenced, the Product Policy team, she's on that

25 team.

1 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

2 A I do.

3 Q When he was with the company, how did he fit in compared to your role?

4 A He reported to me. He was that -- earlier I referenced that employee that

5 started shortly after I did. That was [redacted].

6 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

7 A I do.

8 Q Have you interacted with him as part of your role with the company?

9 A Yes, occasionally.

10 Q Can you provide an example?

11 A Well, I think the most recent time that I interacted with [redacted] was at that

12 same exec summit that I mentioned in California. We saw each other there, but 13 occasionally we've interacted over the years.

14 Q So if an external stakeholder has questions about the community guidelines,

15 you said you'd reach out to the internal team within the Public Policy team, the internal

16 facing team. On what occasions or what are some other instances where it was 17 necessary for you to reach out directly to that Trust and Safety team?

18 A So, I mean, there are occasions, perhaps, where I would need a more

19 nuanced level of understanding. There are occasions -- so that would be one example.

20 Q Can you recall any instances where you needed a more nuanced

21 understanding of a section of the community guidelines?

22 A Off the top of my head, let me think here. I'm just thinking of, you know,

23 recent examples here. So one of -- you know, the October 7th events in Israel have, you

24 know, created a lot of content on YouTube and has required a lot of actions by our teams,

25 and there has been a lot of interest from governments, including from Congress on both

1 sides of the aisle.

2 And some of the ways that we apply our policies in a situation like that are very

3 nuanced. There's a policy around what we call EDSA, educational, documentary,

4 scientific, and artistic content that allows for content that might not -- you know, might

5 be violent or gory but is also important from a documentary perspective.

6 This is something that I have gotten personally questions about from

7 policymakers, and that is something I've had conversations with my Trust and Safety

8 colleagues to sort of understand how we make those nuanced calls.

9 Q So just sticking with this example, are there individuals within the Trust and

10 Safety team who are like the experts for that part of the community guidelines, or can 11 you really consult with anybody? How do you know who to go to?

12 A Yeah, good question. I mean, Google is sort of -- the culture of the 13 company is you could reach out to anybody, but I typically in that situation would

14 probably reach out to my colleague who leads the Policy Development team for Trust and 15 Safety, YouTube's Trust and Safety.

16 Q And who is that individual?

17 A His name is [redacted].

18 Q Besides the questions following October 7th, are there other examples you

19 can recall where it was necessary for you to consult with the Trust and Safety team to get

20 a more nuanced understanding of a section of the community guidelines?

21 A Certainly. So something that happens in my role leading the team that

22 engages externally with policymakers is that sometimes policymakers will come to us with

23 concerns about particular pieces of content or the treatment of creators, and in those

24 situations, I don't review content. I don't make those decisions, but I escalate

25 those -- that content to my Trust and Safety colleagues for review at the request of

1 policymakers.

2 Q Can you provide an example?

3 A Sure. The most recent example that I recall is Majority Leader Scalise's

4 office reached out about a channel that had been terminated on YouTube for violating

5 our community guidelines in a repeated way to ask for our review and whether the 6 community guidelines had been accurately applied.

7 Q Do you recall what the company's response was?

8 A I recall what my response was, which was to escalate that content to my

9 colleagues for review, that channel. It wasn't an individual piece of content. And we

10 worked expeditiously to try and understand what had happened. We realized that we

11 had made an error, and we restored the channel of that creator.

12 Q Do you know what provision the creator had been wrongly considered

13 violative of after that?

14 A I don't recall the specific provision of the community guidelines.

15 Q Do you recall the subject matter?

16 A Yes. The subject matter was about authoritative -- well, it was about health

17 information related to abortion.

18 Q Do you recall which channel it was?

19 A I don't recall the specific channel.

20 Q Is there any other information with the channel you recall?

21 A I recall that it was a Louisiana right to life, generally, organization.

22 Q Do you have familiarity with the modifications that were made to the 23 firearms-related content policy change that took effect a week or two ago?

24 A I have a general understanding of those changes, yes.

25 Q Whether related to that example or just more generally, do you have

1 familiarity with the process the company uses when updating or making changes to
2 YouTube's community guidelines?
3 A I don't have familiarity with that process from an end-to-end perspective. I
4 have familiarity with some portions of that process.
5 Q Which portions do you have familiarity with?
6 A I have the most familiarity with the portions in which my team would -- you
7 know, which would be core to the role of my team, which is the roll out portion, you
8 know, taking those policies external.
9 Q So that's after a decision has been made to change the policy and it's a
10 matter of just when and how to roll it out?
11 A I mean, generally, I think that's a generally accurate description of how we 12 engage, though, you know, sometimes we would have to be sort of involved somewhat 13 upstream of them before everything was totally calcified in order to prepare for that 14 rollout portion.
15 Q Can you think of the examples where it was necessary for your team to be 16 involved somewhat upstream before things were finalized?
17 A Well, and just in hearing you play that back to me, I just want to be really 18 accurate with you. So involved, maybe that's the word I used, but it's a bit imprecise.
19 You know, sort of -- it's a bit like we're kind of witness to it. We are in the conversation, 20 but we are not part of the policy development process.
21 Does that make sense?
22 Q It does.
23 A Okay.
24 Q Is it accurate to say your team is consulted? I guess how passive or active
25 do you mean by witness?

1 A I mean, so consulted is -- it would be accurate to say that we are consulted
2 about how -- in order to understand how our portion of the external environment could 3 react. I do not believe we're consulted in order to shape the policy. That's just not 4 what we do for the company.
5 Q And to your understanding, which team takes the lead in considering and 6 developing changes to the community guidelines?
7 A The Trust and Safety team.
8 Q When there's efforts being made to modify the community guidelines, do
9 you know how high up within the company the final approval or decision-maker is about 10 whether to actually adopt that new change?
11 A I think that varies greatly by how big the policy change is. You know, my 12 understanding is that there are sometimes tweaks around the edges and then sometimes 13 there are bigger new policies or sunset of policies, and so I think it just really depends.
14 Q For the bigger changes, do you have a sense of which individuals within the 15 company are ultimately responsible for it?
16 A I think for a big change, the CEO of YouTube would ultimately be 17 responsible.
18 Q Have you ever attended meetings where either the CEO or other executives
19 are being briefed about potential changes?
20 A I believe I have, yes.
21 Q And what's the -- are there any examples you can recall?
22 A So the reason I just paused there on your question is because our current 23 CEO was previously our chief product officer who -- so I just want to -- it's sort of hard to 24 parse in my memory, you know, when those meetings were with him as CEO and when 25 they were with him as chief product officer.

1 So can I ask you to ask the question again so I can think really clearly about it?
2 Q Sure. We'll start first if you can remember examples of whether when he
3 was CEO if you recall meetings that you attended where there was a consideration of a
4 community guideline change, and then we can ask in his previous role too?
5 A And forgive me if I misspoke just a moment ago, but I don't believe I have 6 been in meetings, that I have been in meeting where the CEO was making the final
7 decision on policy changes.
8 Q To your understanding, have there been members of your team that have
9 been in meetings where a community guideline change is being presented to the CEO?
10 A Yes, I believe so.
11 Q And who from your team would likely be attending those meetings?
12 A So I can only recall one example of that, and that particular example would 13 have been my colleague, [redacted].
14 Q Do you recall which policy was being changed or considered being changed?
15 A The one that I'm recalling is the firearms policy that you referenced.
16 Q Do you recall or know when that meeting took place, approximately?
17 A Approximately, that meeting took place in late February or early March of 18 2024.
19 Q In the lead up to the meeting, did you have meetings with [redacted] or?
20 A I mean, I regularly have meetings with [redacted].
21 Q Do you recall any meetings specifically in advance of that meeting
22 about -- let me take one step back.
23 To your understanding, what was [redacted]'s role or purpose in attending that
24 meeting?
25 A [redacted]'s role in that meeting was -- that specific meeting is consistent with

1 what I generally described, which is that we were going -- that YouTube was going to
2 make a community guidelines change, and my team would be responsible for a portion of 3 the roll out to, you know, our universe -- our portion of the universe, which is 4 policymakers across the Americas.
5 Q Going into the meeting, did [redacted] have any talking points or material part that 6 he was expected to present on or share during that meeting?
7 A Not that I recall.
8 Q To your knowledge, did he receive any questions during the meeting about 9 how stakeholders would respond?
10 A I wasn't in the meeting, so that's a level of detail I just don't know.
11 Q Typically, for a meeting like this where a community guideline has been 12 changed and presented to the CEO, would [redacted] or others provide you with a readout
13 following the meeting?
14 A I mean, a readout suggests maybe a level of formality that's not my 15 experience, but, you know, it could have been addressed, for example, in like a weekly
16 one to one where we're going through like a big list of the topics of the week and that 17 could be one thing he could provide me with an update on.
18 Q Do you recall in this particular example whether you received any sort of 19 readout or just description of what happened?
20 A Well, I don't recall discussing sort of specifics of what happened in that 21 room. I recall -- so I don't recall specifics of what was discussed in the room.
22 Q Okay. What do you recall as far as what next steps, if any, kind of fell on 23 your team's plate following that meeting?
24 A Yeah, my team had a responsibility for engaging with a narrow set of 25 stakeholders in advance of the policy change and then preparing to field questions and

1 inquiries from the broad universe of stakeholders.

2 Q Who is the narrow set of stakeholders?

3 A What I recall is that my team, [redacted] in this case, as we've discussed, was going

4 to talk to some government stakeholders, a law enforcement organization, and then

5 potentially a civil society organization, but my memory is a bit vague there.

6 Q Do you recall which law enforcement organization?

7 A I believe it was the Major Cities Chiefs Association.

8 Q And do you recall the civil society organization?

9 A I don't because there was a discussion about a couple and which one to

10 engage specifically. So I actually don't know where that landed, who the final --

11 Q Do you recall which ones were under consideration?

12 A I know one of them was an organization called Everytown. Again, I don't

13 know -- like, I think there were a couple, and I don't know -- I don't recall where that 14 landed.

15 Q Do you recall which governments?

16 A I believe there was a request to talk to the executive branch, to the 17 Department of Justice.

18 Q Do you recall which division or office within DOJ?

19 A I think it was the Office of the Deputy Attorney General.

20 Q For either the law enforcement, the civil society organizations, or the 21 government stakeholders, did you personally attend any of those meetings?

22 A I did not.

23 Q To your understanding, besides [redacted], who else on your team would have 24 been involved in the actual meetings or de-briefings?

25 A On my team, there would not have been anybody else involved in those

1 meetings.

2 Q Do you know if [redacted] would have included anyone else from the company?

3 [redacted]. You're asking whether [redacted] did include anybody else from the

4 company?

5 [redacted]. Sure. I'll rephrase it that way.

6 [redacted]. I don't know.

7 BY [redacted]:

8 Q Typically, when providing, you know, an update or information to

9 stakeholders like that, is it typically something only your team would handle, or would

10 [redacted] or you or someone bring in other teams?

11 A Typically, we would just handle that and do those engagements ourselves to 12 minimize -- you know, to own our piece of the world and minimize work for other teams.

13 Q Besides DOJ, do you remember if any other government stakeholders were 14 included?

15 A Not that I recall.

16 Q Do you recall if there were any discussions with any government officials, 17 either from New York State or from New York City?

18 A I don't believe so but not that I recall.

19 Q For the law enforcement organization, the civil society organization, and the 20 government, for DOJ, for that kind of preannouncement meeting, do you know how far in 21 advance of the announcement those meetings typically take place?

22 A So your question sort of had the specific example of this and then you said

23 typically, so I just want to make sure.

24 Q I'll rephrase it. Let me ask it specifically first.

25 A Yes.

1 Q For these particular meetings, do you recall how far in advance prior to the 2 public announcement of this firearms policy change that those meetings took place?
3 A So as we discussed, I think those meetings happened shortly thereafter that
4 period of time that I already referenced, late February, early March. So the only reason
5 I remember with any specificity these dates, it's really hard to remember dates, I find, is 6 because they're associated with my kids' spring break and where I was on spring break,
7 just being candid with you all.
8 So I know all of those things happened prior to [redacted] on 9 [redacted]. So in that light, I think the meeting happened in late February, early 10 March. And then some of that external engagement happened in that interim between 11 late February, early March, [redacted], [redacted].
12 Q Thank you.
13 So you mentioned providing information to stakeholders in roughly the early first 14 half of March and then kind of more broadly efforts to prepare for engagement with 15 government stakeholders once it's publicly announced. For that kind of second set of 16 responsibilities, who on your team is responsible for handling that?
17 A Let me play back your question to make sure I understand. Who on my 18 team is responsible for preparing to engage with -- for engaging with stakeholders on 19 when policies are changed?
20 Q Yes.
21 A Okay. Every member of my team is responsible for that because every 22 member of my team, with the exception of my assistant, engages externally.
23 Q Gotcha.
24 We'll stick with the firearms policy as an example.
25 A Sure.

1 Q For any other stakeholders within the executive branch, who would have
2 primary responsibility for prepping to engage with those government officials post
3 announcement?
4 A On behalf of YouTube?
5 Q On behalf of YouTube.
6 A Nobody. I mean, I would I have a boss but, you know, so -- but my boss
7 would not have engaged on that. That's not what she does. So, you know, all of my
8 responsibilities fall under her, I guess, but that is what my team is responsible for. That 9 is what we do.
10 Q Gotcha.
11 Following the -- actually, let me take one step back.
12 I'll ask it first specifically and then more generally, but specifically for the firearms
13 policy change, what types of information was [redacted] sharing with the law enforcement
14 organizations, civil organization, and then DOJ?
15 A [redacted] was sharing a preview of the three I call them buckets of policy changes
16 that were going to happen as a result of this broader policy change. So generalities
17 about those three buckets.
18 Q Okay.
19 Was any other information shared at that time?
20 A No.
21 Q And then is that consistent with the typical practice of one providing an 22 update to certain stakeholders prior to a public announcement?
23 A Yes, that's consistent.
24 Q In this particular case with the firearms example, are you aware if there were 25 any changes, major or minor, to whatever was agreed to at late February, early March to

1 what ultimately became the policy in mid June?

2 A So I'm familiar with those three broad buckets, as I described them, and I do

3 not believe there were any changes in that period of time. Happy to glad, moving

4 commas, I don't know, but the three broad buckets, I do not believe there were changes.

5 Q When there is a decision that's worth escalating to the CEO for his

6 consideration, and once that decision has been made, is there some sort of formal

7 announcement? Does your team receive like a memo detailing the changes, or is it

8 whoever was in the meeting responsible for communicating back the change?

9 [redacted]. Are we still speaking specifically about the firearms policy?

10 [redacted]. We'll start -- I'll ask it first about the firearms policy and then just more

11 generally.

12 BY [redacted]:

13 Q With the firearms policy, was there any sort of written work product that 14 was circulated to your team about the policy change?

15 A I don't recall any specific work product.

16 Q What about more generally? Not necessary with the firearms but just 17 when there is a policy change, typically how is it communicated to your team?

18 A So when there is a policy change, the group most impacted by that policy

19 change is always our creators, right. And so usually there is public facing language about

20 that policy change to explain it to creators. So that would be the primary text I think my 21 team would use to understand those policy changes as well.

22 Q And when you're referencing that text to detail for creators what change is

23 being made, is that the public announcement, or is there something that's sent to 24 creators earlier than that?

25 A No, that's the public announcement.

1 Q So there are oftentimes where your team is just made aware when it's 2 publicly announced or --
3 A So as I mentioned, I think policy changes in ways large and small many times,
4 and so I think probably there are a lot of changes that do not even rise to the level -- I
5 don't mean to put us on another level, but it's just not going to get my team's attention.
6 But if there is a big policy change, there are almost always public facing comms,
7 statements, blog posts, and I think we would be usually be made aware of those in 8 advance and have a chance to review them and digest them so that I and my team can be 9 pre-positioned to respond.
10 Q For those bigger policy changes where your team is being helped, prepared,
11 and pre-positioned to respond, do you recall how your team is typically made aware in 12 those instances?
13 A Typically, my team is made aware by our colleagues on that product policy
14 vertical that's on the YouTube Government Affairs team. Our colleagues are letting us
15 know what they know from the product team.
16 Q And is that [redacted]'s team?
17 A That's [redacted]'s team, yes.
18 Q Who makes the decision about which stakeholders to engage with prior to a 19 public announcement?
20 A So it would be my team's job to create those lists and then those -- you 21 know, list makes it sound longer than it is, but some short, you know, group of 22 stakeholders, and then -- so we would make those lists.
23 Q Sticking with the firearm example, you mentioned that if there were one or 24 two civil society organizations that were under consideration, who makes the final call 25 about which ones, if any, to have to reach out to?

1 A I mean, so I see that as a public policy decision, right, who we are going to
2 engage in the public policy universe, and that decision-making authority ultimately rests
3 with my boss who leads the organization. I don't believe that she was involved in that 4 decision but it's ultimately hers to make.
5 I think usually I would make and then sort of, you know, with derivation of 6 authority here, I would make the decision or sometimes it would just be made at the 7 working level on my team.
8 Q With the firearm examples, do you recall for the kind of government, law
9 enforcement, and civil society, who actually made the final decision in this example?
10 Was it you, [redacted], or someone else?
11 A I'm only pausing because I don't recall it as sort of a decision the way you're 12 describing it but, rather, I was made aware that some conversations were going to 13 happen and those conversations then proceeded. So, I mean, I guess we could call it a 14 decision. It just didn't feel like a yes or no kind of moment.
15 Q And when you say you were made aware, made aware by [redacted]?
16 A By [redacted].
17 Q And was there anyone else that participated or witnessed that discussion as 18 part of any conversation?
19 A Was there anybody else that joined [redacted] in those conversations?
20 Q Yes, joined you and [redacted] as far as --
21 A Those conversations that we were describing as potentially decision-making,
22 those were just me and [redacted].
23 Q Okay.
24 A And then I didn't participate with [redacted] in those conversations. So I actually 25 don't know who joined him. It's very possible he did them alone.

1 Q Do you know why DOJ was included?

2 A DOJ was included because I think they have interest in the topic of -- you

3 know, as the law enforcement arm of the United States Government, I think they have

4 interest in the topic of firearms.

5 Q Do you know if there had been any engagements with DOJ regarding the 6 community guidelines section on firearms prior to this update information sharing?

7 A Not that I'm aware of.

8 Q Prior to -- let me rephrase that.

9 You weren't 100 percent sure if Everytown for gun safety was included or not

10 but --

11 A Again, I don't recall. I know they were considered at some point.

12 Q We'll just say prior to the beginning of March, do you know if [redacted] or other

13 members of your team had been engaging with that organization previously?

14 A So part of the reason I'm pausing on Everytown and that I can't remember is

15 because one of these civil society groups is suing YouTube, and so we have not been

16 engaging with them, as you would not in that situation. And so I'm just getting my -- I'm

17 just getting those groups a little bit confused, which is which. So I just don't know on 18 Everytown.

19 Q Just referring I guess to kind of one level above that then generality, for

20 these civil society groups that are related, to the issue that may have been under

21 consideration is one way of putting it, who within your team is responsible for interacting

22 with those types of civil society organizations?

23 [redacted]. You mean generally?

24 [redacted]. Just generally.

25 [redacted]. So generally, every member of my team is responsible for

1 interacting with civil society organizations that could inform the work of policymakers.
2 Civil society organization is a long list, small team, so we don't engage with every civil
3 society organization. But that engagement, to the extent that there is some, is owned 4 by my team.
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q Can you say a bit more about how your team is structured as far as -- so
7 there's certainly a long list of stakeholders within just the executive branch. I'm sure
8 civil society organizations. How is your team structured to divide those responsibilities?
9 A And we're just speaking of the U.S. here specifically?
10 Q Yes, sorry. Just to the United States.
11 A So currently I only have one report in the United States, so there is not much
12 structure there. I could speak from a historical perspective.
13 Q Yes, if you could, please.
14 A Sure. So historically, the way we have divided that universe has been -- I
15 had what evolved a bit over the years, but I've had people who handled individually the 16 House and Senate. I had a person who was responsible for the House and then State
17 level engagement, and then I had a person who was responsible for the Senate and 18 executive branch engagement, and then I had a person for a period of time who was just 19 responsible for third-party civil society engagement, and then, you know, as people have 20 moved and left, I've sort of reallocated those pieces.
21 Q For the individual who had the executive branch and the Senate, I think you 22 said, which individual is that?
23 A So that was [redacted] for a time, but then his counterpart on the 24 other side left, so, you know, the allocation changed.
25 Q Do you recall which years, approximately, [redacted] was in charge for the

1 executive branch?

2 A And I just want to be careful about words here, you know, given your advice.

3 In charge of I just don't like because, ultimately, I'm in charge.

4 Q Sure. Happy to rephrase. Primarily within his or her portfolio.

5 A Sure, perfect.

6 What years? Back to your question. Just having to think here. Late 2022 until 7 let's call that spring of this year.

8 Q And prior to late 2022, who on the team had within their portfolio the 9 executive branch?

10 A I mean, so that -- [redacted] was the second U.S. hire on my team. As we

11 previously discussed, [redacted] was the first U.S. on the team. So prior to [redacted]'s

12 arrival, [redacted] at the working level had responsibility.

13 Q Once the decision has been announced -- we'll stick with the firearms policy

14 as an example. In this particular case, are there executive branch stakeholders that your

15 team planned to engage with kind of preemptively, or were you waiting for stakeholders

16 to reach out to your team for questions?

17 [redacted]. Before you answer, because I'm not sure I understand the question.

18 You're saying did the witness' group plan to reach out to certain executive branch

19 stakeholders at what point in time?

20 [redacted]. In the preparation process, prior to the public announcement; for 21 engagement, after the announcement, if that makes sense.

22 [redacted]. It doesn't make sense.

23 BY [redacted]:

24 Q So there's a small bucket of stakeholders that you engage with 25 pre-announcement, and then you mentioned just kind of more broadly there's preparing

1 so you guys are pre-positioned. Is there a list -- I'll ask it more generally.
2 Is there a list of stakeholders that you plan on proactively reaching out to once it's
3 been publicly announced, or is your team just kind of prepping so that when stakeholders
4 reach out, you're just in a more, for lack of a better word, reactive position?
5 A Definitely the latter, the reactive position.
6 Q Following the public announcement of the firearm policy change, do you
7 recall which or if any other executive branch stakeholders reached out to your team or to 8 the company?
9 A I don't recall any outreach.
10 Q We had touched upon this a little bit earlier in the hour about the 11 engineering team responsible for I think your words were elevating and reducing 12 content?
13 A Raise and reduce were my words.
14 Q Raising and reducing?
15 A Yep.
16 Q Do you know by what set of standards they determine what to raise or 17 reduce?
18 A I do not know.
19 Q To your understanding, is it a different set of standards than the community
20 guidelines?
21 A Maybe if I could take a step back here to try and answer your question.
22 YouTube has a few tools that we use to manage our vast library of content. The 23 community guidelines are what we use to remove content. So content that's uploaded 24 that violates our community guidelines is removed from our platform.
25 Raise and reduce are different categories entirely and not attached to the

1 community guidelines. If content violates the community guidelines, it's removed.

2 Q Do you know what the name of the policy or whatever is being used, what

3 the name of that is for the raise and reduce?

4 A I have some general familiarity with what are called our search rater

5 guidelines. It's a publicly available set of guidelines that we use to train the systems.

6 I think, again, in that effort to take a step back, the important thing to think about

7 on the remove pillar, as we call it, is that's a very individual piece of content, right. It's

8 either that video violates or does not.

9 On the raise and reduce, it is -- that happens algorithmically. It doesn't happen

10 around an individual piece of content, and so I know that our search rater guidelines are

11 used to train those algorithms about how to elevate or reduce certain broad classes of 12 content.

2 [10:57 a.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q So if you have the engineers that are helping implement the search rater

5 guidelines, are they also the individuals -- I guess who drafts the search rater guidelines,

6 to your understanding?

7 A I don't know.

8 Q Do you know broadly which team is responsible?

9 A I do not know, no.

10 Q Do you have a sense of how often the search rater guidelines change or are 11 modified?

12 A I do not know.

13 Q Do you have any familiarity or any sense of if there's going to be a similar

14 major change to the search rater guidelines, does it follow a similar process to what

15 happens when there is a major change to the community guidelines?

16 A Not in my experience.

17 Q Just a very general -- based off your experience and interactions with the 18 executive branch, do you typically get questions more about the community guidelines or

19 more about the search rating guidelines?

20 A Very, very much the former. Questions about what content is removed or 21 not and the community guidelines associated with that.

22 Q Can you recall any examples where an executive branch stakeholder was 23 interested in the search rater guidelines or the raise reduce efforts?

24 A I mean, sure. Certainly in preparation for my appearance today, I've had

25 my memory refreshed around interest from the White House, and I think it was 2021 on

1 that topic.

2 Q Besides that example, can you think of any other examples?

3 A Sure. Yeah. In 2020, in advance of the 2020 presidential election, I recall

4 conversations with the Department of Homeland Security about our efforts to elevate

5 authoritative information around that election that was taking place that year.

6 Q Do you recall which entity within the Department of Homeland Security?

7 A Yes. I recall it being CISA, C-I-S-A.

8 Q Do you recall who from CISA you or your team was interacting with on this?

9 A So what I recall about that time, which was a long time ago, was a lot of

10 conversations with a lot of folks in Washington about authoritative

11 election -- authoritative information in the election. I recall specifically engaging with 12 Chris Krebs at a -- for a period of -- for an engagement, but I think there were more.

13 Q And what concerns or what questions did the government have for your

14 team?

15 A You know, it's hard -- I don't recall those specific questions. I think what I

16 recall generally around that time was questions about how YouTube was going to provide

17 our users with authoritative information about the election, so how to vote, where to

18 vote, what -- you know, even down to just really mundane stuff, like what day is Election

19 Day? How late are the polls open?

20 Q Was this just for YouTube, or were the conversations with, like, Google

21 search, for example?

22 A I'm sure there were conversations with Google search, but that's not what I

23 do, and so, I don't have any familiarity with those.

24 Q Do you have, or have you had during your time with the company any 25 interactions with the Google search team?

1 A When you say, "Google search team," I assume you mean a product team
2 and not my public policy peers.
3 Q That's right.
4 A Not that I recall.
5 Q With the meetings with Chris Krebs, was [redacted] or anyone from the 6 search and discovery team part of those conversations?
7 A Not that I recall.
8 Q If a stakeholder had a question about how results appear within YouTube,
9 when someone runs a search within YouTube, is that a trust and safety community
10 guidelines decision, or is that a raise reduce or kind of like a third bucket?
11 A I'm actually not positive.
12 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please.
13 [Discussion off the record.]
14 BY [redacted]:
15 Q Good morning, [redacted].
16 A Good morning.
17 Q I just have a couple questions, and I shouldn't take the whole hour or very 18 long at all.
19 A Okay.
20 Q But just a couple follow-up questions from the first hour. Earlier in the first 21 hour, you were describing your job generally. Is it fair to say that you lead a team that 22 advises the company on public policy issues around online user-generated content?
23 A Yes, that's fair.
24 Q And you've worked for two different presidential administrations during 25 your time at YouTube, correct?

1 A There have been two different presidents, yeah. I want to be precise there.
2 Yes, there have been two different presidents during my time at YouTube.
3 Q That's fair. That was President Trump's administration and President
4 Biden's administration, correct?
5 A That's correct.
6 Q One of the many responsibilities of your team, which you talked a lot about 7 in the first hour, was to be responsive to inquiries about issues raised by external
8 stakeholders, correct?
9 A External stakeholders in that public policy world, yes.
10 Q And to be clear, your team would be responsive to external members like
11 the White House, just like it would be external responsive to other external stakeholders,
12 like Members of Congress or agency officials. Is that correct?
13 A That is correct.
14 Q And you would work with members of Congress of both parties?
15 A Absolutely.
16 Q And different agencies across different administrations.
17 A Absolutely.
18 Q Representatives from other governments that were outside of the United
19 States.
20 A Correct.
21 Q And civil society organizations.
22 A Some, yes, correct.
23 Q Okay. And your work being on behalf of the international corporation, you 24 would say that your work is not partisan towards one political party over another,
25 correct?

1 A Correct. I would most certainly not say that.
2 Q And you testified earlier, but I just want to clarify again, your current role,
3 you don't have any role in actually making content moderation decisions at YouTube?
4 A That is not my job at YouTube.
5 Q And you don't deal with content moderation in any of Google's products
6 outside of YouTube, correct?
7 A Just to be precise here, I'm aware of content moderation decisions, because 8 again, from -- as I discussed previously, public policymaker interest, but it is not the job of 9 my team to make content moderation decisions.
10 Q And I just want to talk very -- take a broad -- we talked about some of the 11 four Rs in the first hour, but I just want to take a step back and talk about them more
12 broadly, two of them specifically. And just for the record, the four Rs, are remove 13 violative content, raise up authoritative voices, reduce the spread of borderline content,
14 and reward trusted creators. Is that correct?
15 A That is correct.
16 Q And you testified earlier that trust and safety is responsible for making the 17 decisions to remove content based on violations of community guidelines. Is that
18 correct?
19 A That's correct.
20 Q And those community guidelines are public and transparent for YouTube's
21 customers. Is that fair to say?
22 A That is correct.
23 Q They're available online if a customer so wanted to see what the guidelines
24 actually are?
25 A Yes.

1 Q And those guidelines just in a general sense, they are to really prevent
2 harmful content like hate speech, graphic violence, nudity, things that could actually
3 cause harm to the consumers. Is that a fair characterization?
4 A Preventing the causing of harm is absolutely one of the reasons we have
5 community guidelines.
6 Q And YouTube has a policy against medical misinformation. Is that correct?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And YouTube has a specific COVID-19 medical misinformation policy,
9 correct?
10 A We have had a COVID-19 medical misinformation policy, yes.
11 [redacted]. Do you know when that policy went into effect?
12 [redacted]. I believe it -- it certainly went into effect in 2020, and I believe it was 13 the fall of 2020.
14 [redacted]. Thank you.
15 BY [redacted]:
16 Q Broadly speaking, this policy prohibits verifiably false and harmful claims
17 regarding treatments, public health measures, and misinformation about vaccines. Is
18 that --
19 A That is consistent with my broad understanding of the policy.
20 Q So just using an example, if a YouTube video claimed that the COVID-19 21 vaccine, for example, would magnetize you, that would be violative of the guidelines and 22 subject to removal?
23 A I want to be careful here, because as we just talked about, I don't moderate
24 content for a living. It's a nuanced business. It requires expertise that I don't have.
25 But based on my general understanding, that seems accurate.

1 Q Okay. I guess I'm interested to know, generally speaking, YouTube as an
2 international corporation, it has a business interest in preventing harm from its users. Is
3 that fair to say?
4 A I think that's fair to say. I might say it in my own words just a little bit
5 differently, which is that we have a business interest, you know, to your point about 6 business interest, we have a business interest in being responsible. Our business is 7 largely funded by advertisers, and advertisers are generally risk averse and not interested
8 in advertising on content that would be harmful to users.
9 Q Thank you. And I know that you testified you do not make content
10 moderation decisions, but to the best of your understanding, does YouTube ever remove 11 content based solely on the political or ideological viewpoint of the speaker of the 12 content producer?
13 A Not in my experience.
14 Q I just want to talk a little bit specifically about the reducing borderline 15 content R. What does it mean in your words, and just in a very general basis, to reduce 16 content on YouTube?
17 A In general words, that means not recommend that content to our user, or 18 endeavor to not recommend that content to our users, but that content is still available
19 on YouTube. It's just not recommended to our users.
20 Q So that was my next question. If a video is reduced on YouTube, it's still 21 available to any YouTube user who actually wanted to specifically watch it, correct?
22 A Correct.
23 Q Would you characterize reducing a video under the four Rs as censorship?
24 A I would not characterize it that way, no.
25 Q Thanks.

1 [redacted]. Any questions, [redacted]?

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I just want to follow up on some of your -- the testimony from the previous

4 hour. You talked about some of the stakeholders that [redacted] met with as part

5 of the rollout of the firearms policy. And I believe you said there were government

6 stakeholders, correct?

7 A I did, yes.

8 Q And your understanding was it was from the deputy attorney general's

9 office?

10 A That is my recollection, yes.

11 Q And the Major City Chiefs Association is your recollection?

12 A That is my recollection.

13 Q They're not themselves a law enforcement agency, they're an advocacy

14 organization that represents a coalition of law enforcement agencies.

15 A Correct.

16 Q And I imagine that when you worked on the Hill -- well, I'll just ask you.

17 When you worked in Congress, for Members of Congress, either on the House side or the

18 Senate side, that was an organization that people on the Hill or that you in your

19 experience have worked with before.

20 A I actually -- I personally don't believe I've ever worked with the Major City

21 Chiefs. I'm certainly familiar with the Major City Chiefs from my 20 -- coming up on 22

22 years in Washington.

23 Q Did you work with organizations like them, organizations that represented

24 interests of particular types of sectors of law enforcement or just society in general?

25 A Yes, I did.

1 Q And the civil society orgs that you mentioned, I know you mentioned
2 Everytown. You weren't sure if that was the organization, but organizations like that
3 were also the types of organizations that you would engage in as a staffer for a Member
4 of Congress.
5 A I have engaged with many advocacy organizations over the years, including 6 during my public service.
7 Q And your team at YouTube works with all of those types of stakeholders,
8 whether it's government stakeholders, law enforcement stakeholders, civil society
9 stakeholders, regularly?
10 A That is correct.
11 Q That is, in fact, the essence of what your team does.
12 A That is correct.
13 Q And I believe you said that you had team members whose -- at one point
14 there was somebody whose responsibility was to engage with the House of 15 Representatives and somebody else was assigned to engage with the Senate.
16 A That's correct.
17 Q And members from both parties. You did not separate it out by party?
18 A We did not.
19 Q When [redacted] was having the meetings with the external
20 stakeholders, that was for the purpose of explaining the policy so that they could 21 understand the changes in the policy. Is that a fair characterization?
22 A Yes. He was -- he was explaining the changes of the policy. Yes, that's 23 accurate.
24 Q And the policy was already baked at that point. Is that a fair --
25 A That is my understanding that the policy was baked at that point, yes.

1 Q And by "baked," meaning it was already finalized and determined that it was
2 going to be implemented?
3 A Correct. I think as I testified earlier, I just mentioned, like, you know,
4 maybe minor tweaks around the edges, but yes, the three big buckets of policy changes,
5 as I understand them, were absolutely baked, and I have -- I do not believe they changed
6 from that period in late February until today.
7 [redacted]. Thank you very much.
8 [redacted]. We'll go off the record.
9 [Discussion off the record.]
10 BY [redacted]:
11 Q With respect to [redacted]'s meeting with DOJ, do you recall which personnel
12 specifically? You mentioned the office, but do you know?
13 A I do not know.
14 Q Did --
15 [redacted]. Make sure the question is over before you answer, so there's no 16 crosstalk.
17 [redacted]. Thank you.
18 BY [redacted]:
19 Q For that particular meeting, do you recall if [redacted] brought any sort of readout
20 about how it went, if there were any questions?
21 A Not that I recall.
22 Q What's the typical practice? Would he give you, like, a verbal briefing?
23 Would it be in an email? Any sort of a --
24 A I hesitate to say that there's even a typical practice, but probably most likely 25 would be in our weekly one-to-one. He would say, You know, here's a few people I met with this week, here's that how went.

Q Is your weekly one to one, is that in person?

A It really varies.

Q We just started to touch on this within the last hour, but the interactions with the White House in 2021. Do you recall when the first time you had interactions with the Biden White House regarding YouTube's community guidelines or just concerns more broadly about misinformation?

A Off the top of my head here, I don't recall the first time.

Q Do you recall how you were first roped in? Were you contacted directly by the White House, or was someone else from the company interfacing with the White House, and at some point you were brought in?

A I just don't recall specifically about those engagements.

Q During this time, would [redacted] have been the one primarily who would have been the team member with the executive branch within his portfolio?

[redacted] When you say this time --

[redacted]. Sorry. 2021.

[redacted]. 2021?

[redacted]. Yeah.

[redacted]. So in that period, as you and I discussed, [redacted] was the only person on my team in the United States, so yes, but also, I mean, me.

BY [redacted]:

Q Did you interact with Rob Flaherty?

A I believe I have -- I know I have interacted with Rob Flaherty I think once. So yes. Yes to your question, I have interacted with Rob Flaherty.

[redacted]. When you say you think once, you mean, live in a meeting or --

1 [redacted]. I believe I attended a virtual meeting that Rob Flaherty requested.
2 BY [redacted]:
3 Q Do you recall when that meeting was approximately?
4 A I believe it -- it's vague, but I believe that was in 2021 or perhaps early 2022.
5 Q Do you recall who from the company attended that meeting?
6 A Off the top of my head here, I do not.
7 Q Do you recall who else from the White House attended besides Mr. Flaherty?
8 A That just suggests -- apologies. I just don't have that specific of a
9 recollection of that meeting. I can sort of say to you I know that I have been in a
10 meeting with him, a virtual meeting, but I just don't have that level of specificity of 11 recollection.
12 Q Do you recall anything else about the meeting? Do you recall what the 13 purpose of the meeting was?
14 A So I don't recall that specific about that meeting. I sort of have a general 15 recollection of what our engagement -- the topics of -- the topic of our engagement with 16 Rob Flaherty, so I can make those conclusions from there, but I just don't recollect -- I can 17 sort of see -- I can see him in that meeting.
18 Q What's your recollection just as far as the general subject areas that your 19 team was engaging with Mr. Flaherty and his team on in 2021?
20 A Yes. The general topic was YouTube's approach to COVID and COVID
21 misinformation and how our platform was managing content around that topic.
22 Q And from your understanding, what were Mr. Flaherty's or the White
23 House's concerns? Why were they seeking to meet with your team?
24 A My recollection of that time was that the White House was concerned about 25 general COVID misinformation narrative trends, and they were meeting with a number of

1 platforms, including ours, to try and address that misinformation in such a way to, you
2 know, keep Americans safe in the moment of a global pandemic.
3 Q Did you have any -- do you recall having any contact with your colleagues at 4 other social media companies about their interactions with the White House?
5 A I do not recall having any contact like that.
6 Q Based off your interactions with the White House, did you get a sense that 7 the White House thought YouTube was adequately addressing misinformation on 8 vaccines in 2021?
9 [redacted] You're asking whether she believes that the White House thought
10 that YouTube was acting, you said adequately, I think.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q It was adequately addressing.
13 A My general recollection of the time was that -- was a sense of general
14 frustration by the White House with platforms, and then, you know, because I work for a 15 specific platform, like, specific questions about our platform.
16 Q Did you get a sense during any of your interactions whether the White
17 House had more or less frustration with YouTube compared to other platforms?
18 A I don't know that I got that sense particularly from my limited interactions
19 with the White House, but my recollection of that period is that the White House and 20 others in Washington thought that YouTube was more responsible than some other 21 platforms.
22 Q And what do you mean by more responsible?
23 A Well, I mean, that's how I thought they thought of it, but for those in 24 Washington at the time who cared for whom a policy priority was COVID misinformation,
25 I think they felt that YouTube as a result of some of the tools we've already discussed

1 today, remove, raise, reduce, was acting more responsibly around COVID misinformation.
2 Q During this time period did you get a sense, either from your interactions
3 with the White House or just your familiarity with Washington, D.C. of which platforms
4 the White House thought was acting less responsibly on this issue?
5 A My general recollection of the time is that those who had those concerns at 6 the time were more concerned about Facebook as a platform.
7 Q Do you recall during your interactions with the White House, or your team's
8 interactions a little bit more broadly in 2021 whether the White House had questions
9 about the removal of content and community guidelines, or the raise reduce efforts, or 10 both, during this time period?
11 A I just have had so many conversations on these topics over the last 4 years
12 with so many stakeholders. I want to be careful here not to guess per your advice, so I
13 just don't know.
14 Q Do you recall interactions with the Biden White House on -- in 2021 on issues
15 other than misinformation?
16 A By my team?
17 Q By you, yeah, or your team.
18 A By me or my team. I'm just clarifying here. Big company. Big -- lots of 19 policy priorities.
20 Q Sure.
21 A I don't recall anybody -- I don't recall me or anybody on my team having 22 conversations on other policy topics as I sit here right now. No, I do not.
23 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 1

2 Q This will be exhibit 1. It's an email from the White House to individuals at 3 Alphabet from April 22nd, 2021.

4 A Can I take a moment to read it?

5 Q Please.

6 A Okay. Thank you for that time.

7 Q Can you walk us through who the individuals are on the "to" line that we

8 haven't gone over yet?

9 A Sure. So let me take a step back to explain one team here we haven't

10 discussed, which is YouTube's civics team, and both [redacted] and [redacted]

11 are on that team. YouTube's civics team engages globally, and there is a U.S. specific

12 team, with policymakers on platform enablement, by which I mean the ways in which

13 policymakers use YouTube as a tool for communication.

14 So that includes the White House, but that also includes folks on the Hill, on both

15 sides of the Capitol, both sides of the aisle, folks around the world.

16 So at the time, I think, [redacted] led engagement on that team with

17 left-of-center policymakers in the United States, and then [redacted] as we've discussed,

18 and then [redacted] was [redacted]'s manager, the leader of that team. [redacted],

19 I think, we've discussed. [redacted] was, at the time, somebody who worked on, I

20 believe, Google government affairs and public policy with an issue area focus on

21 misinformation. And then [redacted] worked on the Google team responsible for

22 engaging with the executive branch, and I believe she, at the time, was focused on the

23 White House.

24 Q Thank you. After having a moment to review the email, do you recall either

25 this email or the meeting that Mr. Flaherty references?

1 A So I have seen this email prior to this moment in preparation for my
2 appearance today from my attorneys. I do not have an independent recollection of that
3 email aside from that preparation.
4 Q With the understanding you don't have an independent recollection of 5 receiving the email or the meeting, Mr. Flaherty at the paragraph that starts with, "to 6 recap," a little ways in he starts, "We remain concerned that YouTube is," he puts in 7 quotes, "funneling people into hesitance and intensifying people's hesitancy." Do you
8 know what Mr. Flaherty meant by funneling in this context?
9 A I don't know what's in Mr. Flaherty's head.
10 Q Just more broadly, do you recall Mr. Flaherty or others in the White House
11 asking about whether YouTube was, quote, "funneling" people?
12 A Not that I recall.
13 Q Do you have a -- have you heard others just in your engagement with 14 stakeholders use that term?
15 A Yes, I think I have heard that term over the years.
16 Q When folks use that term, what do you interpret it to mean most 17 commonly?
18 A The way I think of it is there's this narrative around YouTube and what are 19 called rabbit holes, and the idea that you perhaps come to YouTube for information on 20 one topic, and then you get further and further and further into a more calcified, and,
21 perhaps, incorrect view on that topic, and then the content that gets recommended to 22 you is -- only represents that view and not a broader view or more accurate view or view
23 from, you know, another perspective.
24 Q Do you recall just broadly whether Mr. Flaherty or others in the White House
25 had represented concerns to YouTube about how recommendations -- YouTube's

1 recommendation system was recommending certain viewpoints?

2 A So I have my recollection refreshed around this email and I think that this

3 email indicates that. I also have a general recollection of the time of some policymakers

4 in Washington having that general concern. I don't have anything more specific than

5 that.

6 Q And was that based off your general recollection, that general concern that

7 YouTube may be recommending videos, content that displayed vaccine hesitance or 8 anti-vaccine views?

9 A Yes, I generally recall that about that time policymakers having that concern.

10 Q And is that concern consistent with the concerns that Mr. Flaherty or other 11 members of the White House were expressing to your team during this time?

12 A I think that concern is consistent with the email that you've shown me here,

13 yes.

14 Q At the bottom of that same paragraph, Mr. Flaherty writes, This is a concern

15 that is shared at the highest, and I mean highest levels of the White House. Do you

16 recall whether Mr. Flaherty or anyone else in the White House communicated that

17 message that the concern was shared by higher levels within the White House in any

18 other meetings with you or your team?

19 A Yeah. I don't have that specific level of recall, so I don't remember. I'm 20 sorry.

21 Q Did you, through your interactions with the White House or through your

22 team members' interactions with the White House, ever get a sense of how high within

23 the White House these concerns were coming from?

24 A I mean, I recall public statements from up to and including the President at 25 the time around concerns around, you know, vaccine misinformation.

1 Q Do you recall any internal conversations, conversations within the company,
2 about whether higher levels within the White House had this concern?
3 A I don't recall any conversations like that.
4 Q If I can take your -- call your attention to the third bullet point, Mr. Flaherty
5 writes, "I appreciated your unequivocal response that you are not recommending 6 anti-vaccine content and you are lifting authoritative information in both search and 7 recommendations to all audiences."
8 First, do you recall whether there was any discussion trying to break out concerns
9 about recommendations versus search results? If the conversation got that granular?
10 The company explaining to the White House.
11 [redacted]. Wait a minute. The concern -- you're asking about whether the 12 White House separated its concerns about which two things?
13 BY [redacted]:
14 Q Recommendations as opposed to search results.
15 A I don't recall that.
16 Q We had mentioned where we talked about in the guidelines and the search
17 rater guidelines for the raise reduce, do you recall if in these meetings or other
18 discussions with the White House if there was any discussion around the search rater 19 guidelines, what was included, what was not included for raise reduce?
20 A I don't recall.
21 Q For a meeting like this one with the White House, what's the company's 22 typically -- your team's, I should say, typical protocol as far as post-meeting? Is a
23 readout provided? What sort of work product, if any, is created?
24 [redacted]. I'm sorry, [redacted], which meeting are you talking about?
25 [redacted]. For meeting -- using as an example, the one between Mr. Flaherty and

1 members from the company referenced in this email.

2 [redacted]. Okay. Thanks.

3 [redacted]. Maybe I can just talk about how sort of general practice on my team

4 that I encourage.

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q Yes.

7 A So, you know, I encourage and, you know, model, this is what I do, that my

8 team takes thorough notes in meetings, so we understand what happened with a sense

9 of what our action items are in terms of, you know, oftentimes there are questions and

10 we have to go back and provide more information. And so, that sort of general practice,

11 you know, understanding what happened and then just making sure we're doing any of 12 the do-outs that come out of the engagements.

13 Q In spring, 2021, based off the team structure that you guys had at the time,

14 who on the team would most likely be taking notes for a meeting like this one with the

15 White House?

16 A So I only -- you know, there's only one person on this email that's in my

17 chain of command, and as is often the case in meetings, the most junior person takes the

18 notes, so if there were notes about the meeting, I would expect that [redacted] would

19 have taken those.

20 Q Now that you've had a moment to read the email and we've been talking

21 about some of your interactions with the White House, do you recall in this specific

22 instance whether [redacted] or anyone else within the company took notes about the 23 meeting with the White House?

24 A I do not recall.

25 Q When -- turning back to just kind of a more general common practice

1 question, when someone, whether [redacted], or someone else on your team is taking
2 notes, are those -- do those tend to be circulated via email or some other product or way
3 of communicating those notes?
4 A It just really depends. Certainly not necessarily. Just not necessarily is 5 what I would say.
6 Q How else would notes from a phone call be shared?
7 A Well, I guess my point there in that previous answer is that they might not
8 be shared. They might just exist for our team to have an understanding of what 9 happened and make sure we're doing the work coming out of it.
10 Q Uh-huh. Is there a way of -- let's say [redacted] is taking notes in the 11 meeting. Is there any sort of internal messaging system or things other than email
12 where you can access those notes or be sent those notes?
13 A Like an organized hub of some sort?
14 Q Yeah.
15 A No.
16 Q Okay. So typically it would be [redacted], or someone could take notes and 17 then maybe check back on them later if there's a question that needs to be referenced,
18 maybe they're emailed, but otherwise you can't think of otherwise notes might be shared
19 internally?
20 A Detailed notes from a meeting, no. No.
21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 2
22 was marked for identification.]
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q Okay. So this is exhibit 2. It's an internal Alphabet email dated April 25 22nd, 2021. I'll give you a moment to review it.

1 A Thank you. Okay. Thank you for the time.

2 Q Do you recall this email?

3 A I don't recall this email outside of having read it now and then having read it

4 in preparation for my appearance today.

5 Q I understand you have a specific recollection dating back to the email itself.

6 For an email like this, would -- you're copied on it, but it's from [redacted] originally.

7 Would he have run a draft like this by you first before sending it?

8 A A draft of the email, no, I don't think he would run a draft by me.

9 Q What about whether to email [redacted] in the first place?

10 A So I think generally, because I don't have the specific recollection, before my

11 team would engage other colleagues outside of the gap team, before they would ask

12 them to participate in what is effectively our work, we would probably discuss that,

13 because we are cautious about using other teams' times.

14 Q In this specific instance, do you recall whether you spoke to [redacted] about 15 whether to reach out to [redacted]?

16 A I don't recall.

17 Q Other than the example referenced by this email in relation to interactions

18 with the White House in the spring of 2021, do you recall other instances where your

19 team consulted with [redacted]?

20 A No, I don't recall.

21 Q Do you have a sense of how often members of your team will reach out to 22 [redacted] for help like this, or is this a relatively rare episode in your experience?

23 A Very rare. As we spoke earlier, I very rarely engage with [redacted] myself,

24 and I think that's true for my team as well.

25 Q [redacted] writes in the second sentence of his first email to [redacted],

1 Unfortunately, the role of tech in addressing vaccine hesitancy is about to come under a
2 massive spotlight, particularly as the supply of the vaccine is soon set to outpace
3 demand." Is that consistent with your recollection during this time?
4 [redacted]. Is what consistent?
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q That the role of tech addressing vaccine hesitancy is about to come under a
7 massive spotlight.
8 A So those aren't my words. What I would say I recall around this time was 9 that the White House was -- saw it as a policy priority to encourage Americans to get
10 vaccinated, and they had an interest in the role of tech platforms and that policy priority.
11 Q Did that policy priority include addressing misinformation on social media?
12 A Yes, I think they saw that as part of the way in which they would accomplish
13 that policy priority, yes.
14 Q In the bottom of [redacted]'s second paragraph there, he says, "As far as 15 timing goes, we are hoping to get something on the books in the next two weeks or so to 16 prevent anything from potentially spiraling out of control." Do you recall whether you
17 had a sense in April of 2021 whether there was the potential for things to spiral out of 18 control with respect to the company's interactions with the White House?
19 A So I don't recall much, if anything, about our engagement with the White
20 House in April of 2021, and I would just give you the additional piece of context in an
21 effort to be helpful here that on April 27th of 2021, I testified before the Senate Judiciary
22 Committee on a topic unrelated generally to this, on the topic of algorithms. And as I'm 23 sure you can understand, preparing for my first testimony before the storied Senate
24 Judiciary Committee required a lot of work, and I was sort of single mindedly focused on 25 that effort at the time, so this is sort of in a unique time period in my life.

1 Q Do you recall what that content -- so maybe after your testimony, just
2 generally within 2021, whether there were interactions with the White House where 3 things escalated beyond frustration?
4 A No, I do not recall anything ever in my history of working at YouTube in
5 engaging with both White Houses of anything escalating beyond frustration.
6 Q Do you recall any internal conversations within the company about how to 7 best manage the frustrations being expressed from the White House?
8 A I don't recall specific conversations. What I recall is that it is the job of my 9 team to explain our platform to outside policymakers, and that the best outcome is -- in 10 that situation, is having policymakers understand how our platform works and the 11 decisions that we make and that we are trying to do the right things by our community of 12 users and creators and advertisers. So I recall efforts to try and explain the work of our 13 platform to the White House at the time and to other interested parties in Washington
14 and across the region.
15 Q To your understanding, based off the situation in April of 2021, why was it
16 necessary to consult with [redacted]?
17 [redacted]. So, okay with the question, but you're asking her -- you know, it
18 wasn't [redacted] who communicated with [redacted]. It was [redacted]. But you're 19 asking her why [redacted] thought it was necessary to reach out to [redacted]. Is that right?
20 [redacted]. That's right.
21 [redacted]. Okay.
22 [redacted]. I don't recall, you know, again, the specifics of [redacted] reaching out to 23 [redacted], so I just couldn't tell you, because I don't know.
24 BY [redacted]:
25 Q To your understanding, based off the situation, the -- what [redacted] writes as far as aiming to prevent anything from potentially spiraling out of control, and the fact that your team certainly does not often reach out to [redacted], is the purpose of reaching out to [redacted] to, in some way, ameliorate, you know, benefit the company's relationship with the White House? To your understanding, what is the dynamic at play here?

[redacted]. I think she already testified she doesn't know why [redacted] reached out to [redacted], so if you're asking a broader question about the dynamics, maybe that's something she does know.

BY [redacted]:

Q [redacted] ultimately reports to you and you have a familiarity with what the general practice in the company and a general familiarity of what the relationship was like with the White House during this time. Just to your recollection, to your understanding, if there's additional information you can provide about the context here. Is this -- it sounds like something that's certainly not an ordinary occurrence of bringing in [redacted]. Is this -- are there any analogous situations you think can of where someone from outside your team is brought in because there are frustrations or difficulties in the company's interactions with stakeholders?

A Maybe I could take a step back in an effort to try and provide you with information that would be helpful here. So as I mentioned, I see it as the work of my team to do the vast bulk of conversations with policymakers about their areas of interest around the platform. And I see it as my -- the job of my team to be the subject matter experts on YouTube when engaging across Washington.

There are, sometimes, areas of particular interest that are so granular that it -- that it is helpful to engage people from the product side who are -- who, you know, are involved in designing the product and understanding more deeply how the product

1 works. That is -- we have to understand that to a certain level, but not, you know, the
2 entire level. So sometimes we rely on their expertise, and sometimes it is just necessary
3 to have different voices or to show sort of whole-of-company response. So again, I
4 don't remember exactly how [redacted] got involved in this particular meeting, but there
5 have been a few times over my time at YouTube where I have engaged my product
6 colleagues to talk to policymakers.
7 Q Are there any other examples that come to mind?
8 A Let me think. Just trying to think of a specific example to be responsive to 9 you here. I mean, so recently, we had a conversation with the Senate Judiciary
10 Committee that is considering Federal right-of-publicity legislation, intellectual property
11 legislation, and we involved copyright subject matter experts from YouTube, because as 12 you may agree, intellectual property law is a very specific area of law, and we wanted to 13 have that level of specificity to those conversations, and I'm not an IP lawyer. Not a 14 lawyer at all.
15 Q Based off your understanding of the company's relationship with the White
16 House in 2021, was the issue that members of your team, or who else was on the call
17 earlier, was unable to provide specific answers to Mr. Flaherty? Or in a couple 18 responses earlier you mentioned there's a benefit of showing up kind of a 19 whole-of-company response. Was it more of an effort to show a degree of 20 responsiveness to the White House?
21 [redacted]. You're asking --
22 BY [redacted]:
23 Q I guess trying to -- the IP example is well-taken, but based off your 24 recollection, was this a scenario where -- I guess was there difficulty in explaining to Mr.
25 Flaherty the company's approach, or was the concern more that there was a

1 disagreement that Mr. Flaherty thought YouTube should be taking either a more or less
2 aggressive approach?
3 [redacted]. Just to be clear, you're asking why -- you're positing reasons why
4 [redacted] may have sent this email?
5 [redacted]. Well, I think those -- the answer to the question will speak to that, but
6 just more broadly. I'm not asking why [redacted] sent the email, but more broadly, what 7 the effort is from your team to bring in others to -- for the next engagement with the
8 White House.
9 [redacted]. Sure. So what I can see in this email that you shared with me with 10 this bulleted list from Mr. Flaherty are some really detailed questions about how the 11 platform works. It's a level of detail that I don't often see policymakers engage at, and 12 so, I think it's possible that [redacted] just felt that there was only so far he could go in his 13 knowledge, and he might need somebody, for example, who had a deeper understanding 14 of how raise and reduce worked.

2 [12:08 p.m.]

3 [redacted]. All right. Do you recall whether there was any discussions within the

4 company about potential adverse consequences that the White House could take against

5 the company?

6 [redacted]. I do not recall any conversations like that.

7 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 3

8 was marked for identification.]

9 [redacted]. Okay. Thank you.

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q Do you recall this email?

12 A I do not. I do not, outside from I have seen this email in preparation for my 13 appearance today, but don't have an independent recollection of it.

14 Q At the bottom of the second paragraph [redacted] writes, "We believe having

15 the opportunity for you both to share more background would be hugely beneficial as we

16 seek to work closely with this administration on multiple policy fronts."

17 Independent of what [redacted] meant, in April of 2021 or thereabouts, do you

18 recall what other policy fronts the company was looking to work closely with the 19 administration on?

20 A So these are [redacted]'s words. These are not my words. And I don't 21 recall the specifics of this email.

22 So let me take a bit of a step back in an attempt to answer your question, which is

23 that YouTube is a big company, and there's also only one White House in all the world.

24 And so the White House would -- has the power to impact YouTube from a public policy

25 perspective.

1 And so it is the job of my team to try and explain how our platform works to the 2 only one White House that there is in the world and to other policymakers because
3 policymakers -- because it is the work of my team to try and help shape positive public
4 policy outcomes and this is an important policymaking organization.
5 Q In spring of 2021, do you recall in what sorts of ways the White House could
6 use policy that would be adverse to the company?
7 A What I recall is that YouTube in that period -- also true today -- had -- can be
8 very impacted by public policy decisions here on the Hill and in the White House.
9 And so, like, what I recall is that the White House had views on topics that would
10 affect YouTube from a public policy perspective. You know, the White House could help
11 inform the laws that Congress passes. The White House has a very large megaphone
12 and that could impact the company. And it's the job of my team to help manage that.
13 Q You mentioned there are topics that could have a huge impact on the 14 company. Do you recall which topics in 2021?
15 A I recall the company was very concerned then -- also -- it was also concerned
16 in the year prior, in 2020, and also concerned today -- about protecting our intermediary
17 liability or section 230 of the Communications Decency Act. I do recall that.
18 Q Do you recall within 2021 there were concerns about the executive branch's
19 approach to antitrust and whether that could be adverse to the company?
20 A I do recall that.
21 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 4
22 was marked for identification.]
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q This will be exhibit 4. It's an internal email among Alphabet employees
25 dated May 24th, 2021.

1 Give you a moment to review.

2 A Thank you.

3 [Reviewing.]

4 Okay. Thank you.

5 Q I'm just going to ask about the first sentence.

6 A Sure.

7 Q Well, first let me ask, do you recall this email?

8 A I have seen this email in advance of today just in preparation with my

9 lawyers. I don't have an independent recollection of it.

10 Q At the top, you first write, "It's worth noting this quote is from White House

11 Digital Director Rob Flaherty (who, as this group knows, has been tough on us at times)."

12 Given the date of this email, do you recall any other topics or discussions that your

13 team was having with Mr. Flaherty during this time outside of concerns around YouTube's

14 approach to vaccine misinformation?

15 A I don't recall any conversations that we were having like that with 16 Mr. Flaherty. I don't believe we were, but I don't recall.

17 Q And based off your general recollection of your team's interactions with 18 Mr. Flaherty and the White House, is your description of Mr. Flaherty being tough on you

19 at times consistent with your general recollection?

20 A I think that's a fair recollection. It's a fair characterization. It would also 21 be a fair characterization of many in Washington, but I think it's fair of him, too.

22 Q When we were looking at the previous exhibit about concerns the company

23 broadly held about potential adverse consequences policymakers could take, was there

24 any particular concern about the risk of changes to 230 and whether that issue was at the

25 forefront because the company was having discussions with the White House around content moderation addressing misinformation online?

[redacted]. Do you understand the question?

[redacted]. I think I understand the question.

[redacted]. What I think might be helpful is if I take maybe a bigger step back and just sort of tell what you I recall about the company's approach to COVID misinformation at the time, if that's okay.

[redacted]. Yeah.

[redacted]. And then happy to take follow-ups.

What I recall about that time -- very strange time -- in which the company was trying to navigate an approach through the novel moment of a global pandemic, and what I recall is that the company was trying to -- was charting its own course based on what we determined to be our responsibility to our users, our creators, our advertisers to a lesser degree.

And there was no playbook on that, right? We had -- the company had not existed in the period of a global pandemic before, and so a lot of novel decisions had to be made.

But what I recall was that those novel decisions were being made based on our own values and opinions and not because of, for example, the values and opinions of Mr. Flaherty.

BY [redacted]:

Q Do you recall whether within the company anyone had expressed concerns that because there was a focus from the White House about misinformation online, whether that concern heightened the risk of section 230 being reformed?

A Can I -- I want -- obviously all your questions are important. So it's

1 important. I want to make sure I get it absolutely right. So can I just ask you to ask it
2 again?
3 Q Sure. During this time do you recall if there was any concern within the 4 company that the White House's concern about misinformation online heightened the 5 risk of changes or reforms to section 230?
6 A I don't remember specific concerns like that.
7 And I would also just point out that Rob Flaherty was from the Office of Digital
8 Strategy, which to my knowledge is not a policymaking office at the White House.
9 So I don't recall conversations directly tying Rob Flaherty's concern or the Office of 10 Digital Strategy's concerns to our public policy goal of preserving section 230.
11 Q In an earlier response you'd mentioned -- and obviously this is out in the 12 public domain, too -- that the concerns around misinformation weren't limited to just 13 Mr. Flaherty and his team but went up to and including the President himself.
14 With the understanding that you don't recall any specific recollections of what 15 Mr. Flaherty was saying impacting the risk of section 230 reform, more broadly, to the 16 extent the company understood that the White House writ large had concerns around
17 misinformation online, did the White House's concerns heighten the risk of section 230
18 being changed or modified?
19 A I sort of take a broader assessment here.
20 So I think President Biden has been on the record about his views about section
21 230. President Trump has -- I'll just use the two examples of the two Presidents that 22 have been President while I've been on this job -- has also been on the record about his 23 views on section 230, and my understanding is they generally broadly align.
24 If I'm handicapping to the company what are the chances of section 230 being 25 reformed or repealed, I don't believe that Rob Flaherty's frustration at the time would play into that handicap calculation I'm making.

Does that answer your question?

Q Partially.

When you're making that calculation, once it becomes clear that this is a concern not limited to Rob Flaherty, does that change the calculus?

[redacted]. I'm sorry. I didn't -- you're saying that knowledge that the concerns were not limited to Rob Flaherty might have changed the calculus? So this is a hypothetical or is this --

[redacted]. Well, her previous response was whether, when assessing the risk of reform or removal of section 230 protections, whether Rob Flaherty's concerns changed that calculus.

If I understood your testimony --

[redacted]. Yes. That's right, yes.

[redacted]. So building off that answer, as we've discussed at other points within the interview, the concerns around misinformation online were not limited to just Rob Flaherty within the White House. It became clear that up to and including the President were concerned.

Once the company became aware that others within the White House, other than Rob Flaherty, shared this concern around misinformation on social media, did that change the company's calculus of the risk of section 230 reform or removing of those liability protections?

[redacted]. Okay. Maybe I've missed something, but I don't recall it being established that there were individuals in the White House beyond Rob Flaherty that were concerned about the COVID misinformation policy at YouTube.

BY [redacted]:

1 Q There was an earlier response to the witness, and I think there's also
2 evidence in the public domain of both the President's concerns and the press secretary
3 and others.
4 A I think those, if I recall correctly, those were concerns about COVID
5 misinformation but not specific to YouTube. In fact, the one I specifically recall was 6 specific to another platform entirely.
7 Q Yes. I think we're all in some degree at least referencing as one of the 8 examples President Biden at one point says that Facebook is killing people.
9 A Right.
10 Q But in an earlier response about the email where Mr. Flaherty indicates that 11 the concern "is shared by the highest (and I mean highest) levels of the White House," 12 you provided testimony that it's your understanding that the concern broadly reached up
13 to and including the President.
14 Is that still consistent with your recollection?
15 A That is consistent with my -- it's not -- it's not just recollection but sort of 16 assessment of the time based on those public comments that the President made.
17 I will just tell you I did not -- I don't -- just because Rob Flaherty said something
18 had the concern at the highest levels of the White House was not necessarily indicative to 19 me that the President had that concern.
20 But the President, as you and I have both acknowledged here, I think, did make 21 public comments about COVID mis- -- that platforms are killing people or Facebook is 22 killing people as a result of the COVID misinformation.
23 Q Okay. So I guess just kind of turning back to the --
24 A Yes.
25 Q -- question we were addressing earlier, the company understandably had

1 certain policy concerns. We went through a couple of them.

2 A Yes.

3 Q Just your general recollection, whether it's you or your team providing the 4 risk assessment or just your general awareness of what the company's concerned about,

5 when calculating the risk of section 230 being reformed or repealed, did the White

6 House's concern about misinformation online in 2021 to the company's understanding

7 increase the risk of section 230 being reformed or removed?

8 A So the concern -- again, I'm just really trying to be very precise but thorough

9 in answering your question here.

10 When many on one side of the aisle -- we're talking about reforming section 230

11 at that time -- misinformation was a key reason used to explain that.

12 There was an entirely other side of the aisle that used another -- used other

13 reasons for needing to reform section 230. So I recall that about that time.

14 So what I saw is that what I remember about that time is that the President's

15 views were sort of generally consistent with those on his side of the aisle and that those

16 views were also sort of irreconcilable with the concerns of those on the other side of the

17 aisle, and that what has been borne -- what I believed at the time and what has been

18 borne out to be true is that the irreconcilability of those views have resulted in no action

19 on that particular public policy matter.

20 But -- so let me pause there and see if that helps answer your question.

21 Q That does. And when you said that one side of the aisle had raised

22 misinformation as a reason to consider reforming section 230, just to clarify --

23 A Yeah.

24 Q -- you're referring to the Democratic Party.

25 A Correct. Correct.

1 Q So I guess then, just kind of piecing together the previous responses, if
2 there's this general understanding that the Democratic side of the aisle has concerns
3 about misinformation and that misinformation's one of the reasons they're at least 4 publicly positing section 230 can be reformed, when the Democratic White House is 5 raising concerns about vaccine misinformation, was it the company's view that that 6 heightened the risk of pressure from the left side of the aisle to want to reform or remove 7 the liability protections from section 230?
8 A I see why you are linking all these things, and I understand the intellectual 9 linkages between them, but it just -- it's not entirely consistent with my experience.
10 The White House is a stakeholder in public policymaking, and we want to make
11 sure the White House understands the efforts of the company.
12 The people we were talking to in the White House about those efforts, at least in 13 these conversations that I've been familiarized with, are not really the same people who 14 are making decisions on public policy as far as I understand the structure of the White
15 House.
16 But we certainly want to explain our approaches on anything to the White House
17 of any Presidency because the White House is a powerful public policymaking
18 organization.
19 So that's sort of how I see it. Hopefully I'm not overparsing my response here.
20 I just want to be really truthful with you about how I remember it.
21 Q Sure. So understanding that Rob Flaherty as the digital director isn't 22 handling other policy issues, but it's your understanding that the White House is in charge
23 of implementing the President's policies in a number of fields. And if a White House was 24 concerned about one issue, it could take adverse action in another set of issues?
25 A That --

1 [redacted]. This -- hold on. Sorry.

2 [redacted]. Yes.

3 [redacted]. Before you answer that question, I feel like, I mean, she's trying to

4 answer your questions. I think what you've just asked, unless I'm misreading it, is purely

5 hypothetical, right?

6 I mean, if we can stick to what happened, what her perception of what's in these

7 emails, any other factual information you want to provide to her, I think that might be a

8 little more profitable.

9 [redacted]. Can I share one piece of information that's perhaps helpful, which is

10 where we began in 2015, 2016, 2017, I worked in the White House, and so I have some

11 familiarity with the different functions of the White House and how those functions do

12 and don't work together.

13 And so I think I bring that understanding to our conversation today and then likely

14 to this period of time, as well.

15 And so I'm perhaps -- I think that may be why I keep going back to the fact that I

16 don't see Rob Flaherty as a policymaker in the White House because that is not my 17 experience of how policy gets made in the White House.

18 BY [redacted]:

19 Q But we've had a couple questions on this point, what Rob Flaherty was

20 communicating to the company via email, maybe in meetings as well, and what was

21 consistent with what came out in the public domain, these were concerns not particular

22 to Rob Flaherty but concerns to Mr. Flaherty's bosses, in particular up to and including 23 the President.

24 Is that still consistent with your understanding?

25 A I think it's clear that the President around this time had concerns with

1 misinformation on at least one platform.

2 Q So if the President has concerns regarding misinformation on at least one

3 social media platform, is the company during this time concerned that the President

4 could then direct the relevant policy advisers to take actions that are adverse to the 5 company regarding section 230 reform or removing the liability protections?

6 A I just don't recall conversations in which those direct linkages were drawn.

7 Q Okay.

8 [redacted]. We're over.

9 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please?

10 [Recess.]

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q [redacted], I want to ask a couple of general questions. I know the last

3 hour we talked a lot about 230 and a lot about the interaction with the White House and

4 what connection, if any, there would be between those two subjects.

5 A Uh-huh.

6 Q During your -- and a caveat. All these questions are to the best of your

7 personal knowledge.

8 But to the best of your knowledge, in any of your interactions, your interactions or

9 any interactions with your team members with U.S. Government officials, did any of those

10 officials ever try to coerce you or anybody at YouTube into removing any content?

11 A In the -- did -- to the best of my knowledge, no officials ever tried to coerce

12 me or my team into removing content.

13 Q Thank you.

14 Did anybody from the U.S. Government, any officials from the U.S. Government,

15 ever try to threaten you or coerce you or anybody else at your team to remove -- to 16 reduce content on its platform?

17 A Not to the best of my knowledge.

18 Q Did you ever experience any U.S. Government official threaten you or

19 anyone at YouTube with adverse actions, such as section 230 reform, if the platform

20 refused to take any particular action that this government official desired?

21 A I do not recall ever feeling threatened in my engagement with government

22 officials.

23 Q Thank you.

24 Based on your experience and interface with YouTube -- or, I'm sorry, your

25 leadership at YouTube -- would you agree that the company operates in a manner that

1 respects the First Amendment rights of its platform users?

2 A So I'm not an attorney. So I want to be careful in talking about the First

3 Amendment.

4 What I would say to be true is that freedom of expression is a core value of 5 YouTube, and YouTube is a great library, rich with the value of freedom of expression.

6 Q Sure. Thank you.

7 I want to talk a little bit about the last hour. You were given a couple of emails in

8 those. The ones I'd like to refer specifically to are exhibit 2 and 3. And I'll give you a

9 minute to --

10 A Can you just tell me which?

11 Q Sure. Exhibit 2 is the --

12 A Yeah. Okay. Got it. Yep.

13 Q And I'm just going to generalize these two emails together. The general

14 subject matter of these two emails is about providing information to the White House.

15 Is that a fair characterization?

16 A Yes, that's a fair characterization.

17 Q And it's to be helpful for the White House to understand YouTube's policies

18 regarding misinformation. Is that correct?

19 A YouTube's approach to misinformation. But, yes, generally true.

20 Q And I think in the last hour we talked about how sometimes when there's

21 granular kind of issues, you know, you might bring in somebody like [redacted] in order

22 to help explain topics, certain topics of information to an external stakeholder like the

23 White House, correct?

24 A That's correct.

25 Q Now, I just want to make a point for the record that these efforts like this

1 that your team might take in trying to provide information to the White House, that's
2 because it's part of your team's job to be responsive and helpful by providing information
3 to external stakeholders.
4 Is that fair?
5 A External stakeholders in the public policy communities, yes, that's correct.
6 Q And in no way, based on your understanding, was these offers or these 7 efforts to try to provide information taken because the company feared some kind of 8 adverse action like section 230 reform if it failed to provide this kind of information.
9 Is that fair?
10 A I don't recall there being a direct tie between these engagements or 11 engagements like them and section 230.
12 Q And to the best of your knowledge, has YouTube ever taken any actions on 13 misinformation other than it would have otherwise ordinarily done because of concerns
14 of adverse action from the White House like section 230 or antitrust?
15 A I'm not aware of any actions that we've taken like that.
16 Q Thank you.
17 So you mentioned in a previous hour that you had testified in front of the Senate
18 in April of 2021. And I'm going to introduce that as exhibit 5, I believe.
19 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 5
20 was marked for identification.]
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q So for the record, this is testimony that you gave in front of the Senate
23 Judiciary Committee in April 27th, 2021. Is that correct?
24 A This is my written testimony, yes.
25 Q Your written testimony.

1 And the reason I wanted to introduce it is just to be helpful on some of the dates
2 and the timelines that's in your written testimony to help refresh your recollection.
3 On page 5 -- which there aren't page numbers. You'll have to --
4 A Okay.
5 Q On page 5, the first full paragraph and the second sentence, I'm just going to 6 read from it.
7 "We began to remove content for COVID-19 misinformation in March 2020, under 8 provisions of our policy prohibiting Harmful and Dangerous content. But as the 9 pandemic progressed, we developed a fulsome and separate COVID-19 misinformation
10 policy. In October 2020, we further expanded the policy to include misinformation
11 about COVID-19 vaccines."
12 Did I read that correctly?
13 A You did.
14 Q And just for the record, October of 2020 was during the Trump
15 administration. Is that correct?
16 A That's correct.
17 Q And next it goes on to say, "Since March 2020, we have vigorously enforced
18 our COVID-19 misinformation policy to protect our users, removing 900,000 videos
19 worldwide."
20 And just for the record, that's since March 2020. And this testimony was in April 21 of 2021. So it's fair to say that a lot of those 900,000 videos were removed during the 22 Trump administration, as well. Is that fair?
23 A I don't know anything more than what's here, but I think that's a reasonable
24 conclusion.
25 Q Sure. And it says, "In the fourth quarter of 2020, we removed more than

1 30,000 videos for violating the vaccine provisions of our COVID-19 misinformation policy."
2 Did I read that correctly?
3 A You did.
4 Q And for the record, again, the fourth quarter of 2020 was during the Trump
5 administration, correct?
6 A That's correct.
7 Q Okay. If you skip down to the last paragraph.
8 A Uh-huh.
9 Q It's the second sentence, that begins with, "In the fourth quarter of 2020."
10 A Uh-huh.
11 Q I'm just going to read it.
12 "In the fourth quarter of 2020, of the 9.3 million videos removed for violating our 13 Community Guidelines, 94 percent of those videos were first flagged by machine 14 detection."
15 Did I read that correctly?
16 A You did.
17 Q So 9.3 million videos were removed in the fourth quarter, which was also 18 during the Trump administration. Is that correct?
19 A That's correct.
20 Q Now, if you go to page 8 -- I guess we were on 5.
21 A Okay.
22 Q I'm going to go down to the last paragraph.
23 "In January 2019, we announced changes to our recommendations systems to 24 limit the spread of this type of content."
25 Did I read that correctly?

1 A You did.

2 Q So it's fair to say that YouTube was also reducing content as one of the four

3 R's during the Trump administration. Is that correct to say?

4 A That's correct. This whole section is under the header of reducing the 5 spread of borderline content. So, yes, this type of content is borderline content.

6 That's what that refers to.

7 Q Thank you.

8 And those decisions to -- and I think last hour you testified about how this was a

9 time when YouTube was kind of charting its own course. It had never been in a global

10 pandemic before.

11 These types of decisions to start removing and reducing content that related to 12 misinformation during the COVID-19 pandemic, those were YouTube's decisions. Those 13 weren't decisions made by the United States Government.

14 Is that correct?

15 A The decisions for how we managed the vast library of content on our

16 platform are our own, and that was true at this time, as it is now, yes.

17 Q So it would be factually incorrect to infer or suggest that YouTube decided to 18 start moderating COVID-19 and misinformation because of coercion from the Biden

19 administration White House.

20 Is that correct?

21 A It's not my understanding from where I sit that that is why or how we made

22 that decision.

23 [redacted]. Thank you.

24 Oh, I do have -- we have that other exhibit.

25 [redacted] Exhibit No. 6

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted]. Just going to take a second and look at this.

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q Of course. And while you read it, I'm going to just state for the record this

5 is exhibit 6. This is an email. I'll wait until you have a chance to read it actually.

6 A Okay.

7 Q Do you recognize this email?

8 A I have seen this specific email in preparation for my appearance today. I

9 don't have a specific separate recollection of this particular email though.

10 Q Sure. So for the record, this is a -- this is an email that you were included

11 on that -- and at the top of the header, it's from [redacted] at Google, and it's to a

12 number of what appears to be industry officials or employees. And just to name a few,

13 we have, it appears to be, Facebook, Verizon, Reddit, LinkedIn, Mailchimp, Twitter, 14 Pinterest, Microsoft.

15 Is that correct?

16 A That seems correct.

17 Q Okay. And I would like to draw your attention down to the April 27th, 18 2020, at 8:36 a.m. line.

19 A Yep, I see it.

20 Q And it says, "As we have discussed, we are hoping to document the 'goals' of

21 our industry collaboration for both internal clarity and as a roadmap to respond to 22 external inquiries (as individual companies)."

23 Did I read that correctly?

24 A You did.

25 Q And there's a list of "DRAFT Goals of Industry Collaboration." And I just

1 want to highlight a couple, which is, one, "Address the unique, urgent challenge posed by
2 the distribution of COVID-19 misinformation online that can result in offline, physical 3 harm."
4 Did I read that correctly?
5 A You did.
6 Q And, "Acknowledge the cross-platform threat posed by misinformation 7 spread."
8 Did I read that correctly?
9 A You did.
10 Q So my question about this is it's -- it would appear to this -- from this email
11 that the industry was already collaborating on COVID-19 misinformation as far back as 12 April of 2020.
13 Is that a fair characterization?
14 A I think what you said is accurate. I would just add a clarifying comment to 15 say that there were pockets of collaboration among companies at certain levels on issues
16 affecting the industry.
17 I mean, I just don't want to -- Google's a really big company. YouTube's a big 18 company. I don't want to suggest that all of the company was collaborating in broad 19 ways with these other companies.
20 But, yes, there was certainly cross-industry engagement, as demonstrated by this 21 email.
22 Q And do you have any insight as to why this was a -- this was of concern that 23 would be -- had that kind of cross-industry collaboration?
24 A What I recall about this effort specifically, which is limited, but is consistent
25 with I think what I've testified to before today, which is that YouTube was trying to figure

1 out how to deal with this novel situation.

2 But it was novel, but it was global. And so it was affecting other platforms in

3 similar ways, and there just truly had not been another moment like this.

4 So it was a moment in which some best practice sharing and some threat trends

5 and other things were just useful as we tried to get our arms around.

6 I mean, this is basically one month into the pandemic, two months into the U.S.

7 version of the pandemic. So we were all just trying to figure out what we could learn

8 from each other as we charted our own course.

9 [redacted]. Thank you.

10 Can we go off the record, please?

11 [Recess.]

12 [redacted]. Can we go back on the record, please?

13 BY [redacted]:

14 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with

15 Stanford University?

16 A I don't believe so, no. I don't recall any.

17 Q Okay. Do you have any familiarity with the Election Integrity Partnership?

18 A I have familiarity in that I know that it existed at a period of time. I don't 19 really know much more than that.

20 Q To your knowledge, were members of the company interacting with the 21 Election Integrity Partnership?

22 A It's a really big company, 200,000 employees. I don't have any specific

23 knowledge about specific interactions with the Election Integrity Partnership.

24 Q Do any of your team members interact with the Election Integrity

25 Partnership?

1 A Not that I believe so.

2 Q Are you familiar with the Virality Project?

3 A I'm not.

4 Q As part of your role at the company, have you interacted with the Center for 5 Countering Digital Hate?

6 A Digital Hate. There's -- I don't know. There's one organization that I

7 interacted with once, and I'd have to look at the leadership of that organization to know if

8 that's the thing I'm recalling or not.

9 Q The group CCDH had put out the Disinformation Dozen report about 10 Facebook.

11 A Okay.

12 Q And then, more broadly, has done reports on social media companies.

13 Do you recall any familiarity with that group or any interactions with them?

14 A I don't recall. Now that you're saying now with the follow-up question, I

15 think they're a U.K.-based organization.

16 Q That's right.

17 A Oh, that's right. Okay.

18 Then I have not ever engaged with them directly, but a member of my team had 19 an engagement recently, like in the last 2 months, with them in a broader meeting.

20 Q What was that meeting?

21 A It was a meeting convened by the State Department about anti-Semitism on 22 online platforms.

23 Q And who from your team attended?

24 A [redacted] on my team attended.

25 Q Are you familiar with the World Federation of Advertisers?

1 A I think I've heard that name before, but that's it.
2 Q Do you have any familiarity with the Global Alliance for Responsible Media,
3 sometimes referred to as GARM?
4 A I'm generally familiar with GARM as an organization, yes, generally familiar.
5 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with
6 GARM?
7 A No, not that I recall.
8 Q Do you know if others within the company have had interactions with
9 GARM?
10 A I would expect that others in the company, but I do not know. That is 11 outside of my scope or role.
12 Q At a broad level, do you have a sense of which teams may -- from the 13 company -- may have interacted with GARM?
14 A So I don't know who interacted with GARM.
15 Q Okay.
16 A I would expect it would be our business teams.
17 Q To your understanding, just broadly, which team within the company would 18 handle concerns regarding creators being demonetized or concerns on that front?
19 A Sure. So concerns from creators are handled by our Partnerships team.
20 They are the team that engages directly with creators.
21 Q When a community guidelines section is being considered and maybe
22 changed, is one of the factors that's considered is whether certain creators who make a
23 livelihood off of YouTube, how they will be impacted by any change to the community
24 guidelines?
25 A So as we've discussed, I have limited view into the full policy development

1 process. But impact, in my experience, impact on creators of anything that YouTube
2 does is -- that is something we take seriously and consider.
3 Creators are hugely important, among the most important stakeholder of what
4 the company does. And we recognize that what we do impacts them.
5 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the
6 University of Washington?
7 A Not that I recall.
8 Q Are you familiar with NewsGuard?
9 A No, I don't believe I am.
10 Q Are you familiar with the Global Disinformation Index?
11 A You're saying that sort of -- like I think I've heard that name before, but I
12 don't have any more specific familiarity than that.
13 Q And do you recall any interactions with them?
14 A No, I do not.
15 Q As a part of your role at the company -- actually, let me take one step back.
16 Are you familiar with the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force?
17 A No, I'm not.
18 Q Okay. As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions
19 with the FBI?
20 A Not that I recall.
21 Q Are you familiar with the Global Engagement Center?
22 A I am familiar with the Global Engagement Center.
23 Q Do you recall any interactions with them as part of your role at the 24 company?
25 A I believe I have briefed a group of officials from the State Department that

1 included the Global Engagement Center on two separate topics that I recall.
2 Q What were those two topics?
3 A The first, working in reverse order, the most recent was a briefing that we
4 did on the removal of content at the direction of the Hong Kong government, a protest
5 anthem that the Hong Kong government, the Hong Kong judiciary ultimately found to be 6 seditious under Hong Kong laws. So that's one topic.
7 And then the other topic that I recall engaging a group of State Department
8 officials on that included the Global Engagement Center was the events of October 7th in 9 Israel and then the sort of subsequent content trends that happened as a result of those 10 events.
11 Q Do you recall any interactions with the State Department that maybe didn't 12 include the Global Engagement Center?
13 A Yes, I have had -- yes, as recently as -- yes, I have had engagements with the 14 State Department where the Global Engagement Center was not present, yes.
15 Q Have you had any engagements with the State Department regarding judicial 16 orders in Brazil regarding the suspension or removal of social media accounts or content?
17 A Thinking through my memory here. I don't believe I have ever had a
18 briefing with -- an engagement with the State Department around the topic of Brazil, not 19 that I recall.
20 Q Does Brazil fall within your team's portfolio as part of the Americas?
21 A It does.
22 Q Have there, just as part of your role at the company, have there been any 23 discussions with any U.S. Government stakeholders about judicial orders within Brazil for 24 social media accounts to be removed or suspended?
25 A Just thinking carefully to make sure I'm being thorough in my response,

1 because I've had a lot of conversations about Brazil. So I just want to think carefully if
2 I've had conversations with U.S. officials about Brazil.
3 I don't believe I have had any conversations with U.S. officials about Brazil, I don't,
4 not that I recall right now.
5 Q Okay. To your understanding, have any members of your team had 6 interactions with the U.S. Government about the company's interactions in Brazil or the 7 judicial orders coming out of Brazil?
8 A The only reason I'm pausing is because I recall my Brazilian colleague who 9 works on my team coming to Washington for reasons not to engage primarily with the 10 United States Government.
11 But there were conversations at the time about potentially engaging with the Hill, 12 not so narrowly as you describe about judicial orders exclusively but about freedom of 13 expression in Brazil.
14 I didn't participate in those meetings, and I don't actually know if they happened.
15 I am familiar with some conversations about potentially having meetings with the Hill on 16 that topic.
17 Q Regarding free expression in Brazil, do you recall any meetings with just U.S.
18 stakeholders, maybe not the Federal Government but just, more generally, with any U.S.
19 stakeholders?
20 A No, I don't. I don't recall any.
21 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had interactions with HHS or 22 any of the agencies within HHS?
23 A So in refreshing my memory for today, I have seen some exchanges in which
24 I'm on emails with HHS. And so I'm generally familiar with those, and I don't really recall 25 any specifics of those.

1 But to your question, yes, I'm familiar with that as a result of preparing for today.
2 Q Have you had any interactions with the Census Bureau as part of your role at
3 the company?
4 A Not that I recall.
5 Q As a part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with 6 ODNI?
7 A ODNI, I don't believe so. I don't recall any.
8 Q In one of the previous rounds we talked a little bit about your interactions
9 with CISA, especially leading up to the 2020 election.
10 Do you recall how many other times you've had interactions with CISA as part of 11 your role at the company?
12 A I don't recall a specific number of how many times I've interacted with CISA,
13 no.
14 Q Do you have a sense of how frequently you've interacted with CISA outside
15 of that, the one example we've talked about?
16 A I mean, over the last 4 years I've interacted with CISA I would characterize it
17 as a handful of times. I don't recall any recent interactions. I also recall a long period
18 of time in which there were no interactions sort of far from the election. That's what I
19 recall about CISA.
20 Q Do you recall if you had any interactions with CISA in the lead-up to the 2022
21 midterm elections?
22 A 2022 is November of 2022, and the reason I'm doing that math in my head is 23 [redacted]. And so I was on [redacted] leave for the election of 24 November 2022. So I just wasn't present, despite being employed at the company at 25 the time.

1 Q In the lead-up to the -- let me rephrase that question.

2 When talking through the example about in the lead-up to the 2020 election, do

3 you recall how early in 2020 you or your team first started having interactions with CISA?

4 A I don't recall, like, a specific month. I recall -- so I started at YouTube in

5 March of 2020.

6 What I would say is election work ramps as you get closer to an election period.

7 And so what I recall was both early in the job -- I was new in the job -- and also the 8 election work ramped over that year.

9 And, yes, so I recall the, like, sort of cadence of our work there increased through 10 2020.

11 Q Do you know if others within the company are having interactions with CISA

12 right now as we get closer to the 2024 election?

13 A This is a big company. I don't know all the interactions that are happening.

14 So there are people at the company who do more election-specific work. I don't know.

15 Q Which teams within the company do more election-specific work?

16 A Well, so, I mean, for example, there are people on the Government Affairs

17 team whose job it is entirely to engage with the Department of Homeland Security or to 18 focus on elections.

19 I'm covering a broad portfolio across multiple countries, leading a team, so that

20 engaging with CISA is just not a core -- it's an important but very small slice of my job.

3 [[redacted] Exhibit Nos. 7 and 8

4 were marked for identification.]

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q So the first is exhibit 7, which is an email chain from July 2021 between the

7 White House and the company, and then within that email chain, there is reference to a

8 tweet. And exhibit 8 is a screenshot of that tweet.

9 I will give everyone a moment to review.

10 A Okay.

11 Q So you're not on this email chain, but I want to ask first if you have any

12 familiarity with this exchange between the White House and with [redacted] and the 13 questions around the tweet highlighting screenshots of YouTube videos?

14 A No, I don't recall this email thread or this tweet.

15 Q Okay.

16 Do you recall, do you have any general recollection of a request coming from the 17 White House asking for more information about particular YouTube videos?

18 A I do not.

19 Q With the understanding you don't have any specific recollection, just

20 generally, do you recall if throughout the summer there were occasions where either

21 Mr. Flaherty or others from the White House were somehow communicating through 22 members of your team questions about specific videos?

23 A I don't have that recollection. I certainly recall that in, you know, my 4

24 years at YouTube, that we received outreach from policymakers on both sides of the aisle,

25 as you've and I discussed, about specific videos. And in 2021, the top, you know, topic

1 of top of mind for many was COVID misinformation.

2 Q So [redacted] on the second page, Bates number 12387, he responds first to

3 the question of the link with some information about what the company is doing,

4 provides some figures at a high level.

5 Mr. Flaherty follows up with additional questions back and forth, continuing on to

6 page 12386. And then at the top, [redacted] writes: "The content was not in violation

7 of our policies and, therefore, not subject to removal."

8 [redacted], who as you testified was on your team, who would he need to consult

9 with within the company in order to reach that, be able to reach that conclusion and

10 share it with the White House?

11 A Sure. And so since I don't recall this email, maybe what I could do is just 12 speak generally about how we would approach this.

13 So, you know, Mr. Flaherty here, I guess -- so he shares this tweet, which has this

14 content. That's a pretty, as I've said, a pretty common occurrence, relatively common

15 occurrence that policymakers reach out with content. And when that happens, we

16 escalate that to Trust and Safety to review the content. We share whatever information

17 we have to help them remove -- review the content.

18 So, you know, sometimes we have specific video URLs, sometimes we have a

19 channel name, sometimes, you know, even less than that, but we just pass that along to

20 the team that reviews this content, and then they review it against our community

21 guidelines.

22 They come back on an email thread to the escalator, in this case, you know, in this

23 example, my team. They provide us with a finding and then oftentimes just additional

24 sort of clarifying information. This content did not violate our policies because of X, Y,

25 and Z, or it did.

1 And then, when appropriate, we communicate that outcome, you know, to the 2 person who originally reached out to us.
3 Q And when you talk about the team that's doing the reviewing, is that
4 YouTube's Trust and Safety team?
5 A That's correct.
6 Q And, again, we'll just stick with the hypothetical. If you were on the 7 receiving end of a request similar to this, is there a particular point person, or is there a
8 team email? How do you get in contact with the Trust and Safety team, or how do you
9 ask, I guess, is a better way of asking?
10 A Yep. There is an email alias that we use that is staffed by skilled, full-time
11 employee content moderators that work on a 24/7 model, and they review the content.
12 Q And are there different ways to prioritize an escalation as something is more
13 time sensitive than others?
14 A So generally, the email alias that I use is -- has a very -- you know, so because 15 we consider policymakers to be, you know, a stakeholder that deserves a certain level of 16 customer service, there's an expectation that these emails are responded to within an 17 hour. Not a final decision in an hour. Sometimes these are very nuanced, complex
18 decisions.
19 But that email alias that I use, every incoming is treated the same, you know, with 20 the same urgency when it is escalated to that -- you know, via that alias.
21 Q And does your team always use that alias when there's a request from
22 policymakers?
23 A So I just want to be -- so I guess there's, in my experience, there's two email
24 alias, one that is for slightly less time sensitive requests. I've never used the slightly less
25 time sensitive requests because I consider all the requests that come from policymakers

1 in my region to be of an urgent nature. That's what I do.

2 So I only use this one email address that has the faster turnaround time.

3 Q And when information is coming back from Trust and Safety, is that all

4 conducted via email, or is there some other platform that's being used, or is it just emails

5 back and forth?

6 A In my experience, it's like an email thread. You know, we use Google -- we

7 use gmail at Google, and so it's a, you know, a gmail thread on our Google accounts

8 where you can see, you know, the initial incoming. You usually get an email back saying

9 acknowledged your request. We'll be back in touch. There will sometimes be, you

10 know, some more emails in which I say, for example, Majority Leader Scalise's office has

11 reached out again. Could I get a response on this? You know, how are we going here,

12 guys? And then we get a final answer in that same thread of emails.

13 Q Do you know if -- and this might be -- I'll rephrase the question.

14 Let's say you get a request and then a few weeks later you get a similar request

15 from a different policymaker. Is there a way or do you ever exercise judgment and look

16 at previous examples provided from Trust and Safety to make your own assessment, or

17 would you just send in the new request to Trust and Safety each time?

18 [redacted]. Answer the question if you can do so if you have experience with the 19 scenario that he's posing. If it's a hypothetical, I don't want you to guess.

20 [redacted]. Yeah, I guess I'm getting a little confused about what you mean by 21 similar request. So like identical video?

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q Yeah, let's walk through the different variations. If you receive -- let's say

24 policymaker A sends in video number one and then a week later policymaker B sends in

25 the identical hyperlink you had just seen and got reviewed a week earlier. Will you send in, in that second scenario, if you have experience, would you send the same exact video link to Trust and Safety, or would you say, no, I just got an answer from them a week ago and answer on your own to policymaker B?

A I don't recall ever receiving the same exact video by two different policymakers. I think if I did, I would actually send it in twice just to ensure accuracy in my communications.

Q And then do you recall any instances where you received a request or a question from a policymaker about a video or about a channel and you were able to provide a response back to that policymaker about whether it was violative or not without first checking with Trust and Safety?

[redacted]. Again, the question is if you have ever had such experience.

[redacted]. Yeah, I don't recall ever doing that, no.

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 9 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q This is exhibit 9. This is an email chain between the company and the White House from September of 2021.

A Okay.

Q You're not copied on this email exchange, but if I can call your attention to the second page of the exhibit, Bates number 12376, [redacted] emails Mr. Flaherty to preview a policy proposal and get any feedback that he may have. Is this type of outreach consistent with the pre-announcement outreach we discussed in the first round with the firearms policy update where there were a couple of stakeholders that in that case [redacted] had reached out to in advance?

A I see this to be the same type of outreach, reaching out to stakeholders once a policy has been decided upon to preview that policy as a sign of respect.

Q And given the team structure at the time in September of 2021, is this -- who would [redacted], if anyone, likely have consulted with before reaching out to the White House?

[redacted]. Why don't you start with whether he consulted with the witness.

BY [redacted]:

Q Sure. Do you recall if [redacted] --

A I don't recall him consulting with me about this.

Q With the understanding you don't have a specific recollection, for this, based off the team structure in September of 2021, what would have been the likely practice or the best practice of [redacted] of who he, within the company, should talk to first before deciding who to reach out to prior to an announcement?

A He would have talked to me, his manager, likely.

Q Anyone else?

1 A I think he would have -- I think the only person he would have consulted
2 with from a decision-making perspective is me, his manager. I think it's likely that he
3 had a conversation with [redacted] here as well but as a peer because she owned
4 that at the time White House relationship more broadly for the company.
5 Q Do you recall any discussions with [redacted] about this policy change just in 6 general, the lead up to the policy being announced?
7 A I've seen some emails in preparation for my appearance today, but I don't
8 have independent recollections about conversations [redacted] and I may or may not have 9 had at that time 3 years ago, no.
10 Q Do you recall any discussions similar to the discussions that you can recall for 11 the, obviously, much more recent firearms policy change of whether to notify certain civil 12 society organizations, do you recall any discussions in the lead up to the announcement
13 of this policy change of whether or not to inform particular stakeholders?
14 A I do not.
15 Q [redacted]'s email refers to previewing the policy proposal. At the company, 16 is there a practice of when making a pre-announcement notification to a stakeholder as 17 framing it as a proposal for any particular reason?
18 [redacted]. You're asking generally or specific to this?
19 [redacted]. Generally. [redacted] is the one that drafted this email, so just 20 generally, is there --
21 [redacted]. Did you understand the question?
22 [redacted]. Could you ask it again?
23 [redacted]. Sure.
24 [redacted]. I just want to make sure that we're clear on this.
25 [redacted]. Yep.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q Not specific to this, just generally, when your team is giving a notification,
3 just previewing something before it's being publicly announced, does your team refer to 4 the upcoming change as a proposal or as a finalized change?

5 A I suspect my team uses those interchangeably. I don't think of -- like, I
6 don't think there's a term of art that we always use to describe policies that are in that
7 end stage. Policy proposal makes sense to me. New policy makes sense to me. It's 8 not a formalized process there.

9 Q To your understanding, have there been occasions where the company has 10 previewed a proposal, sought feedback before a public announcement in order to keep 11 open the opportunity to make additional tweaks if necessary?

12 A So I only have responsibility for public policymakers, relatively narrow but 13 very important segment of the universe, and I am not familiar that I can recall with 14 moments in which we changed the policy as a result of the that pre-rollout feedback.

15 I can't speak for engagement with all the other stakeholders that exist for 16 YouTube that would include creators, as you previously mentioned, or advertisers. I
17 mean, the full universe of stakeholders.

18 But to the piece of the world that I have vision into, I do not recall that ever
19 happening.

20 Q So [redacted]'s email is written. It talks about previewing a proposal and 21 providing an opportunity for any feedback. Not specific necessarily to this example, but 22 just in your experience with the company, do you recall any instances where a 23 government stakeholder is getting a pre-public announcement preview of a policy change
24 and the government stakeholder had the understanding that they could provide feedback
25 that may be incorporated by the company?

1 [redacted]. I'm a little uncomfortable. It calls for an awful lot of speculation
2 when you're asking if the witness knows whether or not or is aware of situations where 3 the government person has an expectation, right. I mean, I don't see how she could 4 know that.
5 BY [redacted]:
6 Q Depending on what the government stakeholder communicates back, if you
7 can draw that pretty clear inference.
8 A The further we get -- the further we get from the question, it's hard for me
9 to remember the question. So can we just run it one more time so I can make sure I'm 10 being accurate here?
11 Q Sure.
12 So this is one example. We're going off communications produced to us. The 13 way the email reads on its face, it's framed as a proposal, other word choice could have 14 been used, and giving the opportunity for feedback from the White House.
15 Understanding you don't have any specific recollection of this example, I won't ask about 16 this example.
17 But just generally, when there is -- again, this is a pre-public announcement. The 18 rest of the world doesn't know yet about what exact changes are going to be occurring.
19 When engaging with government stakeholders before the public announcement, do you
20 recall ever being on the receiving end of feedback from the government stakeholder 21 where the government stakeholder is offering feedback about changes they think will be 22 good or bad about -- for the proposal?
23 A I don't right now as I sit here recall specific examples like that. I think it is 24 also my job and the job of my team to solicit that feedback in a way that provides
25 policymakers with some customer service and understand that feedback, but I don't recall

1 any specific examples of that right now.

2 Q In your experience with the company, when having interactions with the

3 White House on misinformation online, do you recall any discussions with the White

4 House about misinformation online on subjects other than COVID-19 vaccines, things

5 related to the pandemic?

6 A I don't recall specific conversations with the White House about topics other

7 than COVID, about misinformation topics other than COVID.

8 Q Generally, do you recall any interactions with the executive branch about

9 misinformation online on topics other than COVID-19 or vaccines?

10 A So I'm not immediately recalling all of the interactions that I've had with the

11 executive branch over my time, but you, in this recent round of questioning, mentioned

12 the Census Bureau, and I don't recall meeting with the Census Bureau. But I do recall

13 concerns from the Census Bureau about census misinformation.

14 So I offer that in an attempt to answer your question. That was not a

15 conversation I directly had, but that was a misinformation concern I remember from the 16 executive branch at the time.

17 Q Do you recall any communications with the executive branch about

18 misinformation online about climate, climate change, environmental concerns?

19 A I don't recall conversations with the executive branch about that, no.

20 Q Do you recall conversations with other U.S. stakeholders about that?

21 A I do recall that there have been concerns from the Hill about the topic of 22 climate change misinformation, yes.

23 Q Do you recall any conversations with the executive branch about

24 misinformation online regarding reproductive health?

25 A Not that I would specifically recall right now, no.

1 Q Do you recall any interactions with the executive branch about
2 misinformation online about inflation or other economic indicators?
3 A No, I do not recall that.
4 Q Do you know who Andy Slavitt is?
5 A Generally, I know who Andy Slavitt is, yes.
6 Q Do you recall any interactions with him?
7 A In what period of time?
8 Q Sorry. During your time at the company.
9 A I think that -- I don't specifically recall any interactions with him. I've seen,
10 in preparation for today, some emails that I think he's copied on and I'm copied on.
11 Q Do you have any familiarity with the community guideline section on hacked
12 materials?
13 A I have a very general familiarity.
14 Q Do you recall any discussions with the executive branch about the section of 15 the community guidelines dealing with hacked materials?
16 A I do not recall any conversations about that.
17 Q As part of your role at the company, do you interact with the CEO of 18 YouTube?
19 A I do sometimes interact with the CEO of YouTube, yes.
20 Q And on what occasions?
21 A It's a variety of occasions. I interact with the CEO to prepare him to engage 22 externally with my, you know, world of public policy stakeholders. I interact with him to 23 brief him on what is happening in my region of the public policy world. Those would be 24 the two primary ways in which I engage with him.
25 Q During 2021, when your office was having interactions with the Biden White House, who was your direct manager at that time?

A YouTube's vice president of Global Public Policy, [redacted]. She's been my manager for my entire time at Google.

Q Do you recall if you had any meetings with [redacted] about your team's interactions with the White House?

A I don't recall specific meetings about those interactions, no.

Q Based off now you've had an opportunity to review some of the emails and we've been talking about it, is that the type of situation where it would have been likely that you would have elevated some of the information to [redacted]?

A I think it's likely that I would have briefed her in some way about those interactions. I think it could have been -- you know, those briefings could have been relatively short and sort of glancing, but I think I would have, you know, generally made her aware of those interactions at the time.

[redacted]. Can we go off the record, please.

[Recess.]

[[redacted] Exhibit No. 10 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q I'd like to introduce an exhibit and give everybody a chance to read it before I ask any questions. For the record, this is exhibit 10.

A Okay. I'm ready when you are.

Q So do you recognize this email?

A I have seen a thread that had this email in it to prepare for my testimony today. I don't recall it independently of that preparation.

Q Sure. So this is an email from [redacted]. Is it [redacted]?

1 A [redacted], yes.

2 Q [redacted], on August 17, 2021, and you are copied on the cc line, and this email

3 appears to be about a new vaccine misinformation policy that you two will be rolling out

4 in September, and the purpose is to get feedback from regional/local leads about risks

5 and opportunities to inform our GTM strategy.

6 Is that correct?

7 A You mentioned on the cc line. I think I'm actually on the to line here, which

8 is maybe a distinction without a difference, but that is correct otherwise.

9 Q Thank you. I appreciate that.

10 Now, when you're -- can you tell me a little bit about, you know, kind of what this

11 process is in terms of rolling out a policy and getting feedback from regional/local leads,

12 how that works at YouTube?

13 A Yes. And I think this is -- you know, we've talked about this, a version of 14 this today. So YouTube updates its community guidelines from time to time, some big,

15 some small, and sometimes, as part of that process, my team and other teams like mine

16 that are external facing around the world with policymakers provide feedback about what

17 that roll out strategy would look like.

18 So when I say roll out, my colleague here uses GT M strategy, go to market

19 strategies, but I think those are synonymous.

20 Q Sure. And I wanted to introduce this as an exhibit to kind of put a timeline

21 on this. This is August 17, 2021, when this is going out to you.

22 The majority brought up on exhibit 9 an email exchange between [redacted] and

23 Rob Flaherty on September 21st, nearly a month after this email when [redacted] sent 24 the email to the external policy folks about the roll out.

25 I guess my question is given the testimony in the first hour about how, you know,

these things are kind of calcified or kind of baked, you know, in terms of the policy folks before it actually rolls out, would you say there is a fair assessment -- it's a fair assessment to say that this policy was also kind of already baked before it had been reached out from [redacted] to Rob Flaherty?

[redacted]. Can we first start with whether or not you know whether this policy was baked at this time in August 2021?

[redacted]. I don't know whether this policy was baked at that time because, again, I have this limited sort of tail end piece of the policy development process. So I don't know that it was baked, and I don't have a specific recollection of the details of this just because of how far this was in the past.

[redacted]. Okay.

[redacted]. Can I ask a question?

[redacted]. Yeah, go ahead.

BY [redacted]:

Q You said during the past hour that there is no term of art specifically that you use to refer to policy changes that you're rolling out when you are previewing them for stakeholders and that you sometimes use the word proposal interchangeably with new policy. Is that what I recall?

A Yeah, I think that's basically correct. I think what I said is [redacted] in that -- [redacted] in that email used policy proposal. I think I would use, probably use the word policy change, but I see them as interchangeable.

Q And does the use of the word proposal -- I mean, I guess what I'm saying is does that indicate to you that he was seeking approval? Would you use that as evidence that he was seeking approval from the government?

A I do not believe based on what I know and recall about that time and also

1 what I know generally about the policy development process that [redacted] was seeking
2 approval from the White House or anybody else at that time.
3 Q And why is that?
4 A Because in my experience, YouTube develops its policies independently of 5 what policymakers' views are. That is not to say that we are not aware of policymaker
6 views. Policymakers are one segment of the world that has views on what YouTube
7 does, but there are many constituencies, many constituencies with views of what
8 YouTube does.
9 And in my experience, YouTube charts its own course on what our policies are and 10 how we treat content, our vast library on content on YouTube. And government
11 policymakers in my experience do not have direct impact on those policies.
12 Q Thank you very much.
13 And that is -- that applies for COVID misinformation policies, just like the firearms
14 policy and any other content policies that YouTube decides to adopt and/or change?
15 A That is my experience with both of those specific policy areas, and that is my 16 experience more generally, yes.
17 Q Thank you.
18 [redacted]. We can go off the record. Thank you.
19 [Recess.]
20 [redacted]. We can go back on the record, please.
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q I want to pick back up with some of the questions at the end of that last
23 round.
24 So you mentioned that you would view [redacted]'s language of a policy proposal
25 synonymous with a policy change. I guess if you could say a bit more about why you're

1 able to draw that conclusion. I think probably a lot of folks would look at the word
2 proposal and interpret that as being a change that is not yet finalized.
3 Can you say a little bit more about why you think those policy change and policy
4 proposal are synonymous?
5 A I think those are effectively synonymous because of my experience at 6 YouTube, which is much broader than that one email or that one policy change. And,
7 you know, I think this is entirely consistent with what I just said in the previous round of 8 testimony, which is that I have been at YouTube for 4 years, and in that period of time,
9 our policies have changed in large and small ways, and I have not observed the direct 10 input from policymakers impacting those policies in meaningful ways.
11 So I just don't believe that -- so based on that experience, I don't believe that that 12 was the mission or the intent of [redacted]'s email. It's impossible for me to know what was 13 in his head, but I have never observed the company asking us to seek input from 14 policymakers in order to change or shape those policies.
15 Q You've testified that your team's responsibility is handling the relationship
16 with certain stakeholders, including the executive branch, including the White House --
17 A I'm sorry. Can I just pause you for one second?
18 Q Sure.
19 A I just want to add a clarifying comment just to the comment I just made.
20 I'm sorry. I stopped listening because then I thought about something in my head.
21 When I say policymakers there, I just want to be very clear I'm talking about
22 government officials. I think policymakers is sort of an imprecise term, so there are -- I
23 just want to be clear. I'm talking about government officials in that case when I say
24 policymakers.
25 [redacted]. Can we go off the record just for a moment?

1 [redacted]. Yes. Can we go off the record, please.

2 [Discussion off the record.]

3 [redacted]. Can we go back on the record, please.

4 [redacted]. [redacted], do you have anymore comments on exhibit 9?

5 [redacted]. So having looked at this email closely again, I would just like to offer

6 that I believe what [redacted] was doing here was reaching out to Mr. Flaherty to gauge his

7 reaction as a courtesy, consistent with what I said, not to shape the policy.

8 And sort of confirming my belief here is having my memory refreshed about this

9 email from more than a month earlier showing that the policy was, you know, largely

10 formed, entirely formed at that time.

11 It is not that we never ask the views or ask for input into our policy from 12 governments. Governments, including the United States Government, are full of deep

13 expertise, and so there could be, have probably been moments in which we have sought

14 out that expertise to inform our policy development.

15 I do not believe that is what happened with this policy in this email with 16 Mr. Flaherty.

17 BY [redacted]:

18 Q We've looked at some internal documents, including one of the exhibits back

19 from August about the stages of the policy development. And then in an earlier

20 response before we went off the record, you noted that you were testifying based off

21 your experience with the company and your understanding gleaned from that.

22 In the email that [redacted] is sending to Mr. Flaherty, to your knowledge,

23 Mr. Flaherty had no knowledge that the policy was finalized. Is that right?

24 A To my knowledge, I only know what I see in these emails, and [redacted] did

25 not say that the policy was finalized.

1 Q You've testified about how your team, part of your team's responsibility is
2 interfacing with government officials. When engaging with government officials, is 3 there a benefit to suggesting to the government official that a policy has not been
4 finalized and that their input may be received prior to the finalization of the policy?
5 A I have seen in many, many of my roles in Washington, in public service, on 6 the Hill, in the executive branch, that professional courtesies are given to policymakers
7 and that that's appropriate given the -- you know, reflecting the jobs that these folks do.
8 So I see this as a professional courtesy that is consistent with, for example, early 9 notifications that I helped ensure Congress received when I was at the Department of 10 Homeland Security.
11 Q Is there any benefit to the company when carrying out these professional 12 courtesies of suggesting that a policy has not been finalized, as opposed to providing the 13 courtesy that this policy has been finalized but hasn't been announced yet?
14 [redacted]. I mean, I'm a little uncomfortable with the question just because I'm 15 not sure that [redacted] has had any experience like what you're saying, and so,
16 therefore, I am -- my belief is it's much more of a hypothetical than a question about 17 something that -- a question about the witness' experiences. That said, I don't know 18 that she hasn't had an experience like that.
19 So if you have, then you can answer it. If it's a hypothetical, then I would 20 say don't guess?
21 [redacted]. So I can factor in my lawyer's advice, could I ask you to ask the 22 question again?
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q Sure.
25 You mentioned that this is broadly part of professional courtesy when there's

1 stakeholders, for whatever reason, that are worth extending that courtesy to. When a
2 company is extending that type of courtesy to a government official, is there any benefit
3 to the company in extending the courtesy of this is a not yet finalized proposal, as 4 opposed to a courtesy of this is a finalized proposal that has yet to be publicly
5 announced?
6 A I'm not aware of any direct benefits. I just see it as a sign of respect to 7 certain relevant stakeholders in Washington and a courtesy that is common practice with 8 those stakeholders.
9 Q You've referred to your team's interactions with government officials in 10 some ways almost as a customer service, providing -- gauging their sense of reactions and 11 feedback and whatever else. Have you had any experiences -- let me rephrase that 12 question.
13 Given your team's interactions with Mr. Flaherty throughout 2021 and his stated
14 concerns regarding YouTube's misinformation policies, would there be any benefit to the 15 company of giving the impression to Mr. Flaherty that he could provide feedback prior to 16 the finalization of the policy?
17 A So I'm getting caught on this word benefit that you're using because benefit
18 suggests to me something sort of like a tangible outcome. And so what I would say
19 is -- so I'm not familiar with any tangible outcomes in that way.
20 I think it is helpful to a company to have good relations with policymakers. That 21 is one of the things that I do across my broad region, and so I see it as generally helpful to 22 a company to have good relations with policymakers in all areas of government, executive 23 branch, legislative branch, Republican, Democrat, House, Senate, and that is some of 24 what my team does for the company.
25 Q And given Mr. Flaherty's continued stated interest in the YouTube's

1 misinformation policies, did it help maintain better relationships with Mr. Flaherty to 2 suggest the policy proposal was not yet finalized when asking for his feedback?
3 [redacted]. This is my problem with your question. Your question is basically, as
4 I understand it, would Mr. Flaherty prefer that he believe that he is actually giving input
5 into a policy or has the opportunity to give input into a policy that's not yet formed versus 6 a policy that is already formed. And I don't know how the witness can know what would 7 be in Mr. Flaherty's mind.
8 [redacted]. It's not what is in Mr. Flaherty's mind, but the witness' entire role at 9 the company is to manage relationships with government officials, has built an expertise 10 on what government officials prefer, how they interact, what professional courtesies are.
11 So I think it's completely reasonable to ask is this part of an effort in maintaining good
12 relationships with the White House to give the impression that the policy was not yet
13 finalized on an issue that Mr. Flaherty clearly feels very strongly about.
14 [redacted]. But she's already testified this is -- it's [redacted]'s email. It wasn't 15 given to her for her approval before he sent it, and she doesn't know why he used the 16 words that he used. So I don't see how she can answer your question.
17 [redacted]. Well, when we asked about the specific one, the objection is that she's 18 not on the email. When we go one step more general, then the objection is it's too
19 hypothetical. I think it's a reasonable enough question either way. I think we all have 20 a sense of what's getting asked here.
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q Based off your understanding of your team's interactions with Mr. Flaherty
23 and the fact that based off your understanding it's in the company's interest to maintain
24 good relationships with the White House and with other government officials, is there a 25 benefit broadly, not necessarily in this specific email, to suggesting to a government

1 official that the policy has not yet been finalized when asking for their feedback?

2 A So I only know what's here in these documents, as we've talked about, and

3 what I hear you saying is policy proposal makes it sounds like the policy was not calcified

4 and we were requesting, you know, offering the opportunity to shape the policy.

5 I don't know why [redacted] used the word policy proposal, but I also look at the

6 word two words before that, preview, and preview suggests to me you preview

7 something that exists. You know, you preview -- you're giving somebody the courtesy of 8 seeing something before the whole world sees it.

9 And so I can't really -- I don't accept that what this email suggests is a certain

10 opportunity to shape. So, again, because I just don't have this independent recollection

11 of exactly what was happening at this time, I just have to look at the, you know, the black

12 and white here. And I take a different view on what was happening than, perhaps, you

13 do.

14 Q I mean, I agree with the interpretation of preview. There is something that 15 exists, but what exists is a proposal, not a finalized change.

16 I understand you didn't draft this email, but the question is, just at a higher level,

17 based off your experience with government officials, you've talked about your office's

18 responsibility is maintaining good relationships with government officials, including the

19 White House. We have reviewed exhibits throughout this interview, including one

20 where you talked about how Mr. Flaherty has been tough on you guys.

21 Based off your experiences and your expertise, for someone, for a government

22 official who has clearly indicated a strong interest in a policy that the company has, is

23 previewing it as a not yet finalized version, does that further the company's goal in

24 maintaining a good relationship than if your team had said this is just a courtesy heads-up

25 of something that cannot be changed?

1 [redacted]. Okay. Specific to this situation or generally?

2 [redacted]. No, generally.

3 [redacted]. Generally. Okay.

4 [redacted]. Okay. I appreciate that clarification because it felt like the wound

5 up to the question was again about the specifics of this email and not about generally.

6 So let me take a step back and attempt to try and answer your question here.

7 I think in my experience, working in government and out of government, that this

8 is a human business and that we are -- that there are benefits to professional courtesies,

9 to professionalism, to the kind of soft skills of engaging with other humans. And there is

10 also genuine expertise on the other side of the table from the work that I do. And so

11 some moments would call for that genuine expertise and some moments we would not

12 need or want that expertise.

13 I mean, I think that policymakers appreciate like any human appreciate the 14 opportunity to provide genuine input where that opportunity is offered to them.

15 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please.

16 [Recess.]

17 [redacted]. [redacted], you were asked extensively about exhibit 9 in the last

18 hour. We just have a --

19 BY [redacted]:

20 Q While we're searching for that, [redacted], do you know offhand the date

21 that that vaccine misinformation policy actually was implemented?

22 A I do not.

23 Q We'll be introducing an exhibit to establish that.

24 [[redacted] Exhibit No. 11

25 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q [redacted], we're not planning on going into depth with this. We just wanted to introduce this as exhibit 11 so that we could just show you a time, a date stamp on the policy.

Would you agree that this policy, managing harmful vaccine content on YouTube went live on September 29, 2021?

A I do agree with that.

Q Okay. Thank you.

And so we're going to direct your attention back to exhibit 9, this [redacted] email that we've talked extensively about, and we just want to make sure we have the timeline straight. On the second page, when [redacted] initiates the first email, it's September 21, 2021. Do you agree with that?

A I agree with that, yes.

[redacted]. And that was only 7 days before or 8 days before the change was actually implemented, correct?

[redacted]. The change was implemented on, as we noted here, September 29th; whereas, this email is from September 21st.

BY [redacted]:

Q Now, going up one chain to September 29, 2021, the date that it was actually published, Rob Flaherty responds: "Sorry for not replying to this note. I thought I did. We'd welcome the meeting. I saw the news. Would love to talk through it. At first blush, it seems like a great step."

Do you agree with that?

A I do agree with that.

Q Okay. So if we go to the first page, there's some scheduling that goes on,

1 and they are talking about, the parties are talking about the first -- 2 P.M. on October 1st
2 as the hold date to actually discuss the policy. Do you see that?
3 A I do see that, yep.
4 Q Okay. So is it correct to say that Mr. Flaherty never actually commented on 5 this policy before it went live according to this -- what you know from this email chain?
6 A Correct. So I only know what's here in front of me, but according to this
7 email chain, it appears that Mr. Flaherty did not comment until after the policy was made
8 public because he says he has read about it.
9 Q And without being on the email chain and just based on your own
10 experience and understanding from being at YouTube and leading your team, would it 11 make sense for [redacted] to invite substantive policy proposed changes from 12 Mr. Flaherty when the policy went live before the meeting had actually happened?
13 And if you need me to rephrase my question, I'm happy to because I don't know
14 that that was clear.
15 [redacted]. Would you mind?
16 [redacted]. We're all humans here.
17 [redacted]. Yes, absolutely.
18 BY [redacted]:
19 Q I guess my question is would it make sense for [redacted] to request 20 substantive feedback in terms of what would actually -- changes that would be made to 21 the policy if you have evidence that the meeting never actually happened before the 22 September 29th launch?
23 A So I only know what's in these emails here. As we've discussed, I have no
24 recollection of this particular situation, for lack of a better word. But I don't believe that 25 in the meeting that follows Mr. Flaherty's response on September 29th, that that would

1 be about substantive input into this policy that now is actually calcified in that it is public.

2 We have announced it to the whole world. So I don't believe that that meeting at that

3 time would be about changes to the policy.

1

2 [3:17 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q But it still makes sense to have that meeting, because you said earlier you

5 want to keep lines of communication earlier open with stakeholders and to get their

6 views regardless of whether or not they have any input?

7 A Correct. And we want to be able to explain what's happening on our

8 platform to important stakeholders, which is a key function of my team's role.

9 Q And given that Mr. Flaherty had expressed and had discussion -- interested

10 and had discussions with YouTube about vaccine misinformation, it would make sense to 11 want to explain to him your new policies about vaccine misinformation.

12 A I think that is accurate -- that is accurate given my understanding of this

13 period of time and our work, yes.

14 Q Counsel asked you during the previous hour about the email in which you

15 referenced -- you stated that Mr. Flaherty had been tough on us at times. Did his being

16 tough on you at times have any impact on the decisions Google made about vaccine

17 misinformation?

18 A So I can only speak really for YouTube, so I would just narrow your question.

19 Q I'm sorry, did I say Google?

20 A You did. It happens a lot. Big company. In my experience, Mr. Flaherty,

21 being tough on us, which as you know were my words, had no impact on how YouTube

22 charted our own course on COVID misinformation.

23 Q And just to clarify for the record, the email chain where you made that

24 comment was in response to a public announcement about a collaboration between

25 YouTube and the White House about raising authoritative information, correct?

1 A That is my recollection, yes.

2 [redacted]. Thank you. We can go off the record.

3 [Discussion off the record.]

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q I had addressed this in one of the earlier rounds, but just so that the record

6 is clear later. In the spring of 2021, you don't recall any other interactions with

7 Mr. Flaherty outside of the context of discussions regarding YouTube's community

8 guidelines?

9 A No, I do not recall any interactions outside of that, no.

10 Q And so, for the email from May of 2021, where you reference Mr. Flaherty

11 being tough on you, to your recollection, you can't think of any other context you'd be

12 referring to other than Mr. Flaherty's interactions with your team about YouTube's

13 community guidelines. Is that right?

14 A Yes. So that is true. I would just be slightly more specific there, which is 15 about YouTube's COVID response, but yes, that's correct.

16 Q And then you provided some earlier responses about based off your

17 experience Mr. Flaherty being tough didn't play a role in the changes to the community

18 guidelines, but it's also your testimony previously correctly, you and your team played a

19 very limited role in changes to YouTube's community guidelines. Is that right?

20 A Yes, that is correct, but -- yes, that is correct.

21 Q And then just I'll clarify the record a little bit more. The last two -- looking

22 at the last exhibit, the date of the policy change is September 29th, 2021. I can have

23 you look at I think it's exhibit 9, the email from [redacted] to Mr. Flaherty. Which two 24 dates does [redacted] propose to meet with Mr. Flaherty?

25 A I wouldn't think -- one date. He proposes October 1st or next week as well.

1 Q Sorry. If you could flip to 12 --

2 A Oh, in the beginning. I'm sorry. Friday, September 24th or Monday,

3 September 27th.

4 Q And then, his previous sentence says, We'd like to preview our policy

5 proposal for you and get any feedback you may have. Based off the email, the sentence,

6 is there any reason Mr. Flaherty would think that the purpose of the meeting would not

7 include the opportunity to provide feedback?

8 [redacted]. Again, you're asking her to speculate. You said is there any reason

9 for him not to think. It necessarily implies that she has to figure out --

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q Based off the email as you're reviewing it today, what did you -- if you were 12 to receive this email, how would you interpret the purpose of the meeting to be?

13 A If I were to receive this email, I would expect that I am being -- having shared

14 with me a policy on removing content, that could mislead people on the safety and

15 efficacy of vaccines and being given the opportunity to offer feedback on that policy.

16 But if I could just be slightly more specific there, I don't know that it's clear that

17 that feedback is to change the contours of the policy, or to provide feedback about my

18 views on the policy. I just don't think that's clear here, and given that I don't have any

19 independent recollection, I think either are reasonable assumptions for the recipient of 20 this email.

21 Q With that ambiguity, is there a benefit to the company?

22 [redacted]. I mean, I think we've been through this. I'm not sure what more she

23 can say about what is the benefit to the company. I think she answered the question

24 before. In my view, it's sufficiently an amorphous question that I'm not sure how

25 she -- you know, I did not object to her answering it before, but I do object to her

1 answering it a second time. If you want to read back the transcript and find out how she

2 answered it the first time, we might be able to restate that.

3 [redacted]. With the way we have the court reporter set up, it's not as easy as

4 some other ways to read back the transcript. I think we can go off the record.

2 [redacted]. Can we go on the record, please.

3 [redacted]. So this is a transcribed interview of David Naggar. Chairman

4 Jordan has requested this interview as part of the committee's investigation of how and

5 the extent to which the executive branch has coerced and colluded with companies and

6 other intermediaries to censor speech.

7 Would the witness please state your name for the record?

8 Mr. Naggar. David Naggar.

9 [redacted]. On behalf of the committee, I would like to thank you for appearing

10 here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to

11 appear voluntarily.

12 My name is [redacted], and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I will now have 13 everyone else on the committee who's here in the room introduce themselves as well.

14 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

16 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

17 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

18 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

19 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

20 [redacted]. I would now like to go over the ground rules and guidelines that we

21 will follow during today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The

22 majority will ask questions first for 1 hour. Then the minority will have an opportunity

23 to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and 24 forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

25 Typically we will take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything we say, taking a written record. So we ask that you make verbal responses to all the questions.

Do you understand?

Mr. Naggar. I do.

[redacted]. So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will also do our best to limit the number of people directing questions to you at any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It's important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with counsel if they choose.

And it's my understanding that you are appearing today with counsel. Is that correct?

Mr. Naggar. It is correct, yes.

[redacted]. Could counsel please state your name for the record?

[redacted]. [redacted] with Covington & Burling for Amazon.

[redacted]. [redacted] from Paul, Weiss for Amazon.

[redacted]. Thank you.

We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point, just so say so.

If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or don't remember, it's best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay if you tell us if you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know this informing. If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us who, to the best your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to our questions.

You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.

Do you understand this?

Mr. Naggar. I do.

[redacted]. This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview.

Do you understand this?

Mr. Naggar. I do.

[redacted]. Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. 1001.

Do you understand this.

Mr. Naggar. I do.

[redacted]. Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

Mr. Naggar. There is not.

[redacted]. Finally, I would like to make note that the content of what we discuss here is confidential. We ask that you do not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with court reporter so that they can go with the official transcript, and any copies of those

1 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up today.

2 All right. So that's the end of the preamble.

3 Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority would like to add?

4 [redacted]. I'd like to thank you for your time for coming here today.

5 Mr. Naggar. Thank you.

6 [redacted]. The clock now reads 10:04. We will start with the first hour of

7 questioning.

4 They sent me to France to work in the French Book Club for 3.5 years. Came back to the

5 United States in 1998 to work for Bertelsmann there when they acquired Random House

6 and the merger of Random House and Bantam Doubleday Dell.

7 Then took over the sale force for Random House for a couple of years and then

8 became president of one of the publishing divisions from 2002 to 2007. Then I left

9 Random House to lead a startup called iAmplify, which I did for -- it was a digital media

10 startup. I did that for a year and a few months and then went to work for Amazon.

11 Q What was your first position with Amazon?

9 A 1 year.

10 Q And what was your next role after that?

11 A So 2019, the U.S., U.K., and German print book businesses were added as we

12 combined print and digital. We tried it out in those three countries first.

13 Q And how long were you in this role for?

14 A 1 year.

15 Q And what was your next position?

16 A We added the print book businesses in most other Amazon countries to

6 including books risk management and fraud and abuse detection, as well as Amazon

7 Publishing, which is our traditional publishing arm.

8 There's another person who manages worldwide demand generation as well as 9 Goodreads.

10 I have a leader for the Japan books business who reports to me directly and a

11 leader for the European books business.

12 And I have an assistant and a program manager who helps with quarterly business

13 reviews and that sort of thing.

14 Q And who do you report to in this role?

15 A The head of the international stores business.

16 Q And who's that?

17 A Russ Grandinetti.

18 Q How frequently as part of your role do you interact with Amazon's public

19 policy team?

20 A Not very often.

21 Q When you do have occasions where you interact with that team, who is your 22 primary point of contact?

23 A It varies by country.

24 Q For the United States?

25 A [redacted].

1 Q Are you familiar with the terms "misinformation," "disinformation," and
2 "malinformation"?
3 A Yes, I am.
4 Q To your understanding, what are the differences among those terms?
5 A I don't know. I'd have to look it up.
6 Q Does Amazon have policies regarding when it's inappropriate for certain
7 content within books to be sold, content moderation policies akin to content moderation
8 policies for social media companies?
9 A I don't know anything about content moderation policies for social media
10 companies, but we do have content moderation policies for books.
11 Q And what are those policies called within the company?
12 A Content moderation policies.
13 Q How familiar are you with Amazon's content moderation policies?
14 A The teams that work on those policies report to me, and I'm involved in 15 some of the decisionmaking.
16 Q Which teams work on those policies?
17 A It's called books risk management.
18 Q And who leads that team?
19 A Today is [redacted].
20 Q And how long has [redacted] been in that role for?
21 A I'm not sure. About a year, I think.
22 Q Do you know who was in the role prior to her?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Who was that?
25 A [redacted].

1 Q How long was he in the role for?

2 A Several years.

3 Q How many rungs in the company ladder are there between the head of the 4 books risk management team and your position?

5 A One.

6 Q And who's that?

7 A [redacted], who is the head of Independent Publishing, Amazon

8 Publishing, and that books risk management.

9 Q How long has [redacted] been in his role for?

10 A It's evolved over years, but he started with the Independent Publishing

11 10 years ago.

12 Q Are you familiar with how Amazon develops its content moderation policies?

13 A Each Amazon business has its own content moderation team, so I can only 14 speak to books.

15 Q For the books team, are you familiar?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Okay. Can you walk us through at a high level how that process works?

18 A The books risk management team will propose a policy. They will bring a

19 list of examples of books that that policy would affect and not affect. We debate, and 20 we decide to either implement or not implement a policy.

21 Q Who ultimately makes the decision of whether to propose a potential

22 change to the books content moderation policies?

23 A It escalates to me, so I generally make the harder decisions. But depending 24 on the type of policy, it can happen at different levels.

25 Q Okay. Have there been instances where it's been elevated to someone

1 more senior than you?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Can you provide an example?

4 A Well, when we first started, we -- Amazon had had a view prior to that of

5 general availability. Our view is to make a wide variety of viewpoints available to our

6 customers because our customers have a wide variety of viewpoints, and so we bias

7 towards as much content as possible being available.

8 And there was a book that was brought to our attention through the self

9 publishing service that was teaching pedophiles how to groom children, and it became

10 clear that we didn't want such a book in the store, despite our view of maximum

11 selection. And so we at the very high level first had to make the decision that we were 12 going to moderate and then define a policy.

13 Q When was this, approximately?

14 A That would have been either 2009 or 2010.

15 Q Besides that example, are you aware of other examples where changes to 16 the books team's content moderation policies -- or decisions regarding changes to the 17 books team's content moderation policies were elevated to someone above you in the 18 company?

19 A Yes.

20 Q What's another example?

21 A Mass killing denial policy.

22 Q Are there other examples?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Taking a step back, on how many instances can you recall where a decision

25 was elevated above you in the company regarding a change to the books content

1 moderation policy?

2 A A handful.

3 Q Which other examples can you recall?

4 A The total is a handful. I would -- our hate speech policy I think was

5 escalated. The way it works is I will make the decision and then recommend -- if it's one

6 that I feel warrants escalation, I will make that recommendation to my boss.

7 Q So once the books risk management team makes an initial proposal, you say

8 they'll provide some examples, and it's personnel within that team that decide -- find the 9 examples and decide which examples to include. Is that right?

10 A Yes.

11 Q You then say there's a debate. Who participates in that debate?

12 A Our legal counsel, myself, the head of Independent Publishing, and the team

13 that's proposing the change.

14 Q And through what forum does this debate take place?

15 A I'm sorry?

16 Q How does this debate take place? Is it a meeting? Is it emails back and 17 forth?

18 A It varies, depending on the level of complexity of the topic.

19 Q Okay. For topics that are more complex?

20 A The team will put together a document, and they'll bring that document to a

21 meeting.

22 Q And for issues that are less complex?

23 A It can be an email exchange.

24 Q For books related to -- that address vaccine hesitancy, for the consideration

25 regarding that policy change, are you familiar with the process the company took

1 regarding that content moderation policy change?

2 A I am.

3 Q Do you recall when it was first proposed?

4 A I don't remember the exact date.

5 Q Do you recall approximately?

6 A It would have been very early 2021, January.

7 Q And do you recall how the debates surrounding this policy change took

8 place?

9 A The team became concerned about vaccine misinformation and so decided

10 to work on a policy around how we might limit harm to customers. Again, our goal was 11 for maximum selection with a frame particularly around protecting customers from harm.

12 There was a recommendation to drink bleach to protect yourself from COVID.

13 There were things about vaccines that we weren't clear. We looked to external

14 medical and scientific experts' information to try and create a decision, and so the teams

15 felt that there was enough misinformation, or we just didn't know what was 16 misinformation, that we needed some kind of policy.

17 Q When you say you didn't know what was misinformation, what do you mean 18 by that?

19 A It wasn't clear how we should think about advising about content we should

20 be putting in front of our customers.

21 Q When you say it wasn't clear of what kind of content you should put in front

22 of your customers, do you mean it wasn't clear of what was or was not vaccine

23 misinformation in any sort of medium or it wasn't clear based off existing policies of, you

24 know, trying to prevent harm to Amazon consumers?

25 A The team felt we needed a new policy.

1 Q Was there a memo prepared from the books risk management team
2 regarding this policy change?
3 A The books risk management team and the legal team prepared a document,
4 yes.
5 Q Who participated in the debate regarding this potential policy change?
6 A I don't remember the exact names of the people who were in the meeting.
7 Q How many meetings were there?
8 A I don't remember.
9 Q Do you recall approximately?
10 A The meeting where it escalated to me was a single meeting, but I have no
11 idea how many meetings the team had before.
12 Q Is that common when there's a policy change that the debate is escalated to 13 you only in a single meeting?
14 A It depends on the complexity of the issue.
15 Q So for some policies it takes multiple meetings?
16 A It could.
17 Q In the single meeting that you're able to recall, who else can you recall that 18 was there?
19 A I don't recall. Typically it would have included our legal counsel, the head
20 of Independent Publishing and books risk management, and some members of the books
21 risk management team. I don't recall if there was anyone else, but that would have 22 been typical.
23 Q And do you recall when this meeting took place?
24 A It was in early February.
25 Q Had the books risk management team provided examples?

1 A I don't remember specifically, but typically there is a list of titles that helps
2 calibrate how we think about the issue and the policy they're proposing.
3 Q Who presented at this meeting?
4 A Meetings at Amazon are not presentations. There's a document, four to six
5 pages. That document is read in silence at the beginning of the meeting, and then the 6 meeting begins, the discussion begins.
7 Q Are you able to review a copy of that document prior to the meeting?
8 A No.
9 Q When you say the meeting begins, who facilitates the meeting?
10 A There is no real facilitator. It's whoever has comments on the content of 11 the document.
12 Q Do you recall what your comments were?
13 A I do not. And those would have been with counsel present and asking their 14 advice.
15 Q Do you recall at the end of the meeting what recommendations were made?
16 [redacted]. I'm going to object to any discussion as to the content of the 17 meeting because it was privileged, but if you could reframe the question.
18 [redacted]. Sure.
19 BY [redacted]:
20 Q To your recollection -- sorry. Let me take one step back.
21 For this policy change, did you elevate consideration of this policy change to 22 anyone above you?
23 A I did.
24 Q Okay. And who was that? Was it Russ?
25 A It was.

1 Q Did you elevate it to anyone else within the company above you?
2 A Not to my recollection.
3 Q Do you know if Russ elevated?
4 A I don't.
5 Q Was Russ in the meeting that you were in?
6 A No. Just to clarify, the escalation to Russ was not in the -- was in the form
7 of a meeting that we set up for a few weeks after this one.
8 Q Okay. Who attended that meeting?
9 A I don't remember.
10 Q But it was at least you, Russ?
11 A Yeah. Legal counsel, probably members of the books risk management
12 team.
13 Q Was it the same four- to six-page document considered in that meeting or 14 had it changed?
15 A I don't remember exactly.
16 Q Do you remember after the first meeting whether there was a
17 recommendation to make any substantive changes to the proposed policy change?
18 A I don't remember.
19 Q At the conclusion of the first meeting, do you recall if you were in favor of 20 changing Amazon's content moderation policy in any way?
21 A I do.
22 Q And which way? What was your position?
23 A My position was that it was appropriate to implement a policy to not
24 merchandise in our discretionary merchandising slots vaccine -- a list of vaccine
25 misinformation books, or we suspected.

1 Q Who within the company had the responsibility of determining what was or 2 was not vaccine misinformation?
3 A We came up with a policy, and then we implemented the policy.
4 Q To your understanding, what types of content fell within the policy?
5 A I don't remember exactly.
6 Q Do you recall objecting to any proposed examples of examples the books risk
7 management team thought should be included in the policy or you thought should be 8 excluded?
9 A That would have been in the context of the discussion with counsel.
10 Q Without getting into details, do you recall if there were any that you
11 objected to?
12 A I don't remember.
13 Q Do you recall anyone in the meeting disputing whether a certain claim was 14 or was not vaccine misinformation?
15 [redacted]. Excuse me. Can you repeat the question?
16 [redacted]. Sure.
17 Do you recall anyone in the first meeting disputing whether a certain type of claim
18 was or was not vaccine misinformation?
19 [redacted]. I'm going to object on the ground of privilege and instruct the 20 witness not to respond.
21 BY [redacted]:
22 Q In the second meeting, can you walk us through how that meeting was 23 carried out? Was it similar, a silent reading of the memo at the beginning?
24 A I don't remember specifically, but that is how most Amazon meetings
25 happen.

1 Q Was it -- let me rephrase that.

2 In the second meeting did the books risk management team again provide

3 examples?

4 A Yes. There would have been a calibration list of titles.

5 Q And is that list of titles included in the memo?

6 [redacted]. I'm going to object to questions about the memo which has been

7 withheld on the grounds of privilege.

8 [redacted]. In the second meeting do you recall any discussion or disagreements

9 regarding what types of claims should be considered vaccine misinformation?

10 [redacted]. I'm going to object to questions about the content of the meeting

11 with legal counsel.

12 BY [redacted]:

13 Q Following the meeting with Russ, had a decision been made by the company

14 regarding whether to adopt this proposed policy change?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And what was that decision?

17 A That we would adopt that policy.

18 Q From the time a policy is adopted, how long does it take for that policy to 19 take effect?

20 A The policy is in effect immediately. The question is how long does it take to 21 execute in terms of the technical complexity.

22 Q How long does it take to execute?

23 A It varies based on the policy and how difficult it is to identify titles.

24 Q Do you know how long it took to execute this policy?

25 A I don't remember.

1 Q How does the company identify titles that are potentially violative?
2 A We take our policies, and we apply them to the catalog that we have.
3 Q When you say you apply them to the catalog, what does that look like, just 4 as a matter of executing the policy?
5 A It varies based on each policy.
6 Q For the vaccine misinformation policy, how did it look like?
7 A I don't remember.
8 Q Is it a process that's automatic? Were there certain terms, or is there a
9 manual type of deal?
10 A I don't remember.
11 Q Is it the books risk management team that is responsible for finding the book
12 titles that are potentially violative?
13 A The books risk management team would execute the policy.
14 Q Okay. And by "execute the policy," does that include finding the titles that 15 are violative?
16 A Yes. They would need to identify the titles.
17 Q If there's a -- taking one step back, and that's to the vaccine misinformation
18 policy.
19 But if there's a close call, so to speak, of whether a title is or is not violative of any 20 of the content moderation policies, how are those handled?
21 A Can you say more?
22 Q Sure. In a -- with each policy, are there instances where there are clear
23 violations and are there instances where it's less clear?
24 A Yes.
25 Q Okay. So that latter category, how -- who makes the determination of 1 books that are -- it's arguable whether they are violative or not?

2 A The team will make a determination that this is a close call, and they will

3 escalate.

4 Q Okay. By "the team," you mean the books risk management team?

5 A Correct.

6 Q Who did they escalate it to?

7 A They would start with [redacted], with help from legal, and they would -- if [redacted]

8 is unable or feels that it's high enough judgment, he would escalate to me.

9 Q Do you recall if there were any books that were potentially violative of the 10 vaccine misinformation policy that were elevated to you?

11 A I don't recall.

12 Q Are you aware of whether there are any books potentially violative of 13 vaccine misinformation policy that were elevated to [redacted]?

14 A I don't know.

15 Q When there are instances where a book is being elevated for your review,

16 what does that process look like?

17 A It would be very similar. Depending on the complexity, an email or 18 document would be prepared.

19 Q To your understanding, once a book has been identified as violative of one of 20 the policies, are there any opportunities for reconsideration, another assessment of 21 whether it's violative at a later point in time?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And what does that process look like?

24 A It varies.

25 Q Are you familiar with whether -- well, let me take a step back.

1 How does it vary?
2 A It varies. It could be an escalation from an internal source, an external
3 source. It could be a regular policy review from the books risk management team as 4 examples.
5 Q How often on a regular basis does the books risk management team review
6 its content moderation policies?
7 A It's not on a set schedule.
8 Q Are authors notified if their book is included on a do not promote label or 9 category?
10 A They're not.
11 Q What are the enforcement mechanisms available to Amazon as far as what 12 steps they can take when it comes to moderating the content of books sold?
13 A I'm sorry. I don't understand the question.
14 Q For certain violations will Amazon remove the book from sale from its 15 marketplace?
16 A If it violates a policy and that policy is written where the book would be 17 removed, yes.
18 Q In addition to removal and the placement on the do not promote category,
19 what other options are available to the company?
20 A Those are the two primary.
21 Q When a book title is included on do not promote, does that affect how the 22 book appears in search results?
23 A To the best of my knowledge, it does not.
24 Q Which team within the company handles how search results appear within 25 the marketplace?

1 A There is a search team.
2 Q Who's the head of that search team?
3 A I don't know.
4 Q Is that search team within the books risk management team, or is that an
5 entirely separate team?
6 A That is a separate team.
7 Q Do you know who the search team reports to?
8 A I don't.
9 Q For the vaccine misinformation policy, do you know how frequently the 10 books risk management team reassessed that policy once it was first adopted?
11 A I do not.
12 Q Do you know how many books were first initially identified as violative of the 13 newly adopted vaccine misinformation policy?
14 A I don't remember the exact number.
15 Q Do you remember approximately?
16 A Somewhere between 35 and 45.
17 Q Do you know if any of those books were later removed from the do not 18 promote category?
19 A I don't remember.
20 Q Were any of those books removed?
21 A Removed?
22 Q From the marketplace or --
23 A No. Those books remained available for sale. Again, our goal is to make a
24 wide available -- of content available to our customers, and the widest possible selection
25 in this case means the books were still available for sale, still findable searching author

name, title name, still showed up on the author's author page, you know, were still -- if there was a widget that said other books by this author, they would still show up there. They were still very findable. We just were not going to use our discretionary placements like the front of a store table at a brick and mortar store to display them to customers.

Q How many book titles were added past the initial 35 to 45?

A I don't remember.

Q Do you know approximately?

A I do not.

Q Who would know that information?

A The books risk management team.

[redacted]. While you're doing this, do you know what time we started?

[redacted]. 10:04.

[redacted]. 10:04.

BY [redacted]:

Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the White House?

A Yes.

Q On how many occasions?

A One occasion.

Q And what was that?

A It was during the Obama administration, and we were trying to see if there was any connection we could make between schools' education and Kindle, making it easier, cheaper for students to get their learning materials.

Q When did you first learn that the Obama -- excuse me -- that the Biden

1 White House had contacted members -- personnel from Amazon regarding vaccine
2 misinformation?
3 A I don't remember the exact date.
4 Q Do you remember who first informed you?
5 A I don't.
6 Q Did you have interactions with [redacted] in March 2021 regarding the 7 White House's concerns on vaccine misinformation?
8 A I believe we were on some email threads together.
9 Q Do you recall any meetings with [redacted]?
10 A No.
11 Q To your understanding, what were the White House's concerns at that time?
12 A They were concerned about perceived misinformation, vaccine
13 misinformation appearing on the site.
14 Q Were you surprised that the White House had contacted personnel at 15 Amazon about this issue?
16 A I don't think I was surprised. It didn't affect my decision in any way.
17 Q Who else -- let me take one step back.
18 When you first were made aware of this information, what did you do with it?
19 A Nothing in particular.
20 Q Did you elevate it to Russ at any point?
21 A I don't remember. But it would have been my standard practice for an 22 escalation at that level to let him know.
23 Q Did you find out directly from [redacted] or was it someone within your 24 team that informed you about the Biden White House reaching out?
25 A I don't remember.

1 Q Were you -- did you ever receive -- did they ever forward you the emails that
2 the White House had sent to [redacted]?
3 A I don't remember.
4 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Did you interact with her during this time?
7 A I don't remember specifically.
8 [Naggar Exhibit No. 1
9 was marked for identification.]
10 [redacted]. [redacted], how are you marking the exhibits? Is this exhibit 1?
11 [redacted]. Yes.
12 BY [redacted]:
13 Q This will be exhibit 1. This is an email chain that starts with the White
14 House e-mailing personnel at Amazon. It finishes with an internal Amazon email dated 15 March 2, 2021. If I could have you flip to Bates number 4585. It's at the bottom of the 16 page.
17 It is an email from Mr. Slavitt saying, "Who can we talk to about the high levels of 18 propaganda and misinformation and disinformation of Amazon?"
19 And then on the bottom of the first page, going on to the second page, there's a
20 screenshot of search results for what's on, it appears, a search of vaccine on Amazon's
21 site. It's unclear who [redacted] forwarded this email to, given the redactions.
22 Having had a chance to review this email chain, do you recall ever seeing it?
23 A I don't remember seeing it at the time.
24 [Naggar Exhibit No. 2
25 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q All right. This is exhibit 2. This is an internal Amazon email dated

3 March 3, 2021.

4 Do you recall who from your team was updating [redacted] or [redacted]

5 around this time?

6 A I don't recall.

7 Q In the normal course of business, who would be most likely to be interacting

8 with the public policy team?

9 A It would be the books risk management team and then our legal counsel.

10 Typically, depending on the level of the escalation it might include [redacted]. It might 11 include me.

12 Q The first full sentence says that you want to alert Russ before actioning do

13 not promote. Is that consistent with your recollection of your initial response?

14 A It is.

15 Q Do you recall who you shared this position with within the company?

16 A In the meeting where we made the decision that I wanted to move forward

17 with the do not promote, I would have said let's start --

18 [redacted]. Let's not comment on the specific content of the meeting.

19 Can you rephrase the question slightly?

20 [redacted]. Sure.

21 BY [redacted]:

22 Q So the meeting that you recall happened in February of 2021. Is that right?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Did anyone touch base with you between the morning of March 2nd and the 25 evening of March 3rd regarding your position on actioning do not promote?

1 A I do not remember.
2 Q As you read this email, what does "actioning do not promote" mean?
3 A It would mean implementing the policy.
4 Q As of March 1st had there been a decision made regarding whether to action
5 do not promote?
6 A I had made the decision that I wanted to move ahead with the do not
7 promote policy in the meeting in February. We had a meeting the third week of March
8 with Russ set up to take him through it.
9 Q In this March 2, March 3, 2021, time period, had you made a decision to 10 action do not promote -- let me rephrase that.
11 In this time of March 2, March 3, 2021, did you make a decision to accelerate 12 when the do not promote would be actioned?
13 A I do not remember.
14 Q The next paragraph says, "Team is expanding search light keywords."
15 Do you know what "search light keywords" means?
16 A I don't.
17 Q Do you know which team this is referring to?
18 A I don't.
19 Q The next sentence says, "However they are not sure if they can get the 20 content itself adjusted but are looking into it."
21 Do you know what this is in reference to, "the content itself adjusted"?
22 A I don't.
23 Q Who would know?
24 A The team that they're referring to.
25 Q And you don't know which team that is?

1 A I don't.
2 Q If someone had come to you with a question regarding search light
3 keywords, who would you go to to try and find more information?
4 A The search team.
5 Q To your knowledge, did the search team adopt any policies or make any 6 changes regarding vaccine misinformation?
7 A I don't know.
8 Q Who would know that information?
9 A The search team.
10 Q For any of the books content moderation policies, has there ever been any 11 coordination between the books team and the search team regarding adoption of new 12 policies or changes to existing policies?
13 A Yes.
14 Q What are examples that you can recall?
15 A Very early in the pandemic we wanted to make sure that there was a link on 16 certain search keywords to the CDC guidance on COVID.
17 Q And were you involved in that decision?
18 A I was.
19 Q Who from the search team was involved?
20 A I don't remember.
21 Q What process was used to adopt that policy?
22 A I don't remember.
23 Q Was it different than the process you used to adopt new policies for the 24 content moderation policies?
25 A I don't remember.

1 Q Turning back to exhibit 1, on the front page there's an email from Mr. Slavitt
2 with a 3:14 timestamp, about two-thirds of the way down. The second paragraph says,
3 "We would welcome spending time on this with you, not just on policies, but examples
4 like this that are of concern. And in my opinion, even a CDC warning wouldn't be a great 5 solution."
6 Do you recall if you had any -- or, to your knowledge, did anyone from Amazon
7 have any interactions with the executive branch regarding the CDC label that had been
8 implemented?
9 A Not to my knowledge.
10 Q Did [redacted] or anyone else from the company share with you Mr.
11 Slavitt's opinion that even a CDC warning would not be a great solution?
12 A I don't remember.
13 Q Besides the CDC warning, can you think of other examples of where the 14 books risk management team was working with the search team regarding some change?
15 A No, not that I can recall.
16 Q For the example with the CDC label, what's the proper term that the 17 company would use?
18 A I'm not sure technically which implementation they chose, so I don't know.
19 Q For the CDC label that would pop up, do you know who decided which 20 search terms would trigger that label?
21 A I don't know.
22 Q Do you know broadly whether it was primarily the search team or the books
23 risk management team?
24 A I don't know.
25 Q Do you know who [redacted] and [redacted] are that are referenced in this email, out of 1 exhibit 2? I'm sorry.

2 A I don't know who [redacted] could be referring to. There are a lot of [redacted].

3 There's only one [redacted] with two [redacted], and he leads search at the time, a lot of the customer

4 experience on the website in the store.

5 Q Regarding the CDC label that was added in 2020, do you recall if you

6 interacted with [redacted] regarding that?

7 A I don't remember.

8 Q Regarding the CDC label, was that a decision that you had elevated to Russ?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Do you know if Russ elevated it to anyone else?

11 A I don't know.

12 Q The search light keywords here, are there other instances of your team

13 working with the search team regarding keywords other than the CDC label that could be 14 potentially applicable to this email?

15 A Not to my knowledge.

16 [Naggar Exhibit No. 3

17 was marked for identification.]

18 [redacted]. This will be exhibit 3. This is an internal Amazon email chain from 19 March 4th up until March 9th of 2021.

20 [redacted]. [redacted], is the highlighting on the original?

21 [redacted]. It is.

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q There are a number of redactions on this email chain.

24 Do you recall if you were on it?

25 A I don't recall.

1 Q If I could have you flip to the back page, Bates number 3370. There's an
2 email at the bottom, first one of this chain, with an 11:48 timestamp. And the 3 signature, this little books logo, is that consistent with someone from the books risk
4 management team?
5 A It could be.
6 Q Do you know what CPP stands for in this context?
7 A I do not.
8 Q The email says -- someone is asking, "I'm hoping you can help me set up a
9 new DNP class."
10 To your knowledge, prior to March 4, 2021, had anyone created a DNP class for 11 antivaccine books?
12 A Not to my knowledge.
13 Q To your understanding, why was that?
14 A Why was what?
15 Q Following the first meeting, you were in favor of a new antivaccine book DNP
16 class. Why by March 4th had there not been a DNP class created?
17 A I don't know the specifics of creating a DNP class, but we would not have 18 executed the policy, because when I made the decision, I also wanted to escalate it to 19 Russ. And we had a meeting in the second half of March with him.
20 Q In those meetings with Russ, does he have the ability to overrule you, to 21 change the policy if he wants to?
22 A He could.
23 Q So by March 4th, the decision was not yet final?
24 A In the sense that he could veto.
25 Q The next email in response adds a redaction "and Automations" at the top.

1 A Sorry. Where are you?
2 Q Sorry. On Bates number 7370.
3 A Got it.
4 Q Moving up to the next email, the 2:18 timestamp. The top of the email
5 adds -- there's a redaction, and then it says "and Automations." And then there's also in 6 the "to" line, crm-automations email address.
7 A I see the email address. Where is the first thing you referred to? In this
8 same email?
9 Q Yeah, the redaction and then "and Automations."
10 A Oh, I see.
11 Q Do you know what that's in reference to, automations?
12 A I don't.
13 Q Is there a team that handles automatic enforcement of Amazon's book
14 policies?
15 A There is a tech team.
16 Q But you're not familiar with the crm-automations email address?
17 A I'm not.
18 Q The email starts, "Hi team, I submitted SIM."
19 Do you know what that is referring to?
20 A I know what a SIM is. I don't know what the specific one is referring to.
21 Q And what is a SIM in this context?
22 A It is an internal system where we flag work for technical teams.
23 Q This individual writes he or she submitted a SIM to create a new DNP class
24 for antivaccine books.
25 Do you know who within the company made the decision on or about March 4th

1 to create a new DNP class for antivaccine books?

2 A I don't.

3 Q Given the context at this time, who would have been the appropriate person

4 to approve this decision?

5 A This would not have been a decision to move ahead with the policy. This

6 would have been a decision to create the class in anticipation of moving ahead with the

7 policy.

8 Q And who makes the decision to create a class in anticipation of the new

9 decision?

10 A I don't know.

11 Q The sentence continues, "The impetus for this request is criticism from the 12 Biden administration about sensitive books we're giving prominent placement to, and 13 should be handled urgently."

14 And then the email below says, "This is a high priority intended to address

15 negative feedback we're getting from the White House's Coronavirus Task Force."

16 Do you know who had informed these individuals about the White House's

17 criticism of Amazon's policies?

1

2 [11:01 a.m.]

3 Mr. Naggar. I don't.

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q On or around March 4th of 2021, were you aware that members of the 6 books risk management team were aware of the White House's criticism?

7 A I was not.

8 Q Do you think it's appropriate that members of the books risk management

9 team were made aware of the White House's criticism?

10 A I don't know that it's appropriate or inappropriate. I don't really have an 11 opinion.

12 Q The individuals on this email chain referring to the impetus for the request

13 and addressing it as a priority, do you think that's appropriate for the books risk

14 management team to prioritize certain decisions based off of criticism from the White

15 House?

16 A Books risk management team doesn't have authority to make a decision like

17 that, and this is a mischaracterization.

18 Q How is it a mischaracterization?

19 A The impetus for our policy began weeks before the Biden administration

20 reached out. We treated that outreach the same way we would outreach from any

21 White House administration. We took it seriously and we looked at what we were

22 already doing and decided whether, you know, we were going to move forward with our

23 policy independent of that outreach. I don't know how this person got the impression

24 that the outreach was the impetus, but it clearly was not.

25 Q But the person who's creating the DNP class has this impression based off of 1 this email. Is that right?

2 A It looks that way from the email, yes. They're incorrect.

3 Q Who has responsibility within the company to correct this sort of alleged

4 misunderstanding?

5 A Anyone who knows differently and who sees this email.

6 Q At any point prior to preparations for this interview, were you ever made

7 aware that members of the books risk management team had this understanding?

8 A Yes.

9 Q At what point was that?

10 A In the last week.

11 Q Anytime prior to that?

12 A No.

13 Q At the bottom of 7369, there are --

14 A Same exhibit?

15 Q Same exhibit. Bottom of the next page. 3:32 time stamp. There is a 16 reference to NSOC.

17 A Yeah.

18 Q Do you know what that's in reference to?

19 A I don't.

20 [redacted]. Where are you?

21 Mr. Naggar. It's at the bottom --

22 [redacted]. Bottom of 7369.

23 Mr. Naggar. Just above the highlight. I don't.

24 [redacted]. Go off the record, please.

25 [Recess.]

1 EXAMINATION

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q Good morning, Mr. Naggar. I have a couple follow-up questions from the

4 first hour. I just want to take a couple steps back and talk about Amazon's content

5 guidelines that apply to books. Now, Amazon has content guidelines that apply to 6 authors, publishers, and book vendors. Is that correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And at a high level, these content guidelines say prohibit dangerous things

9 like promoting a reader to drink bleach as a cure for COVID-19. Is that correct?

10 A Yes. Customer harm is a primary reason for the policies.

11 Q And Amazon had this customer harm or this dangerous activities policies

12 even before the pandemic. Is that correct?

13 A Well before.

14 Q Okay. And it's -- so it's fair to say that Amazon had enforced content

15 guidelines well before the Biden administration.

16 A Yes.

17 Q And if a book is identified as violating the content guidelines, it's subject to 18 removal from the platform. Is that correct?

19 A It depends on the guidelines. The policy could be removal. It could be 20 not allowing the book in discretionary merchandising.

21 Q Is that the same thing as saying do not promote?

22 A It is.

23 Q Okay. And if this happens, there's an action taken as a result of a content

24 guidelines violation, the ultimate determination to take that action is made by Amazon

25 and not any third party. Is that correct?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And books that are -- that -- when action is taken on books for content -- for

3 violating content guidelines, it's never -- it's not because they express a certain political or

4 ideological viewpoint. Is that correct?

5 A That is correct.

6 Q Internally speaking, we talked in the first hour a little bit about tech

7 platforms. Amazon's policies are a little different than other social media companies

8 because books aren't user generated. Is that a fair assessment?

9 A Books are author generated. I'm not sure I understand the question.

10 Q So I'm just trying to make the point that Amazon -- policies that apply to

11 Amazon, such as content moderation, are a little different than maybe other types of big

12 technology companies that are social media driven.

13 A I'm actually not aware of their content policies, so I couldn't say.

14 Q That's fair. So we talked in the earlier hour about the do not promote

15 policy. I just want to go into more depth about what that means and what it doesn't

16 mean. Amazon has certain tools it uses to highlight certain books to its customers.

17 Would examples be like Amazon Choice and Amazon Deals?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And how does that work generally?

20 A Those are -- there are some of those that are automatically driven based on

21 sales levels. There are some of those that are nominations. Some are chosen by our

22 editorial team. Obviously, that's a much smaller number.

23 Q So is it fair to say these tools make unsolicited suggestions for certain books

24 to Amazon's customers that they think the customer might be interested in?

25 A Can you just clarify what you mean by unsolicited.

1 Q Well --
2 A Unsolicited by the customer?
3 Q By the customer.
4 A Yes.
5 Q Okay. So these are effectively free advertisements for the books that 6 Amazon pushes out to its customers. Is that fair to say?
7 A I wouldn't classify them as advertisements, because there are also ads.
8 These are choices we make to put books in front of customers very similar to a brick and 9 mortar store using their front of store table.
10 Q So in a brick and mortar store, to use your example, that would be like a
11 table where you go and that's out in the aisle that would have, you know, staff selections 12 that the staff thinks that customers would be interested in.
13 A Yes.
14 Q And so when an Amazon is placed on a do not promote list, it's not actually 15 removed from Amazon's platform. Is that correct?
16 A When a book. You said when an Amazon.
17 Q When a book is placed on Amazon's do not promote list?
18 A Correct.
19 Q So it still shows up in search results.
20 A And more, yes.
21 Q So the only thing that do not promote policy does is remove a book from the 22 list of books that Amazon would have on the table, so to speak, in a brick and mortar
23 store.
24 A Yes, that's correct.
25 Q In your view, does any author or publisher have a right to being placed on one of these tables, these end tables in the brick and mortar store or in one of these type of monetization platforms?

A I don't believe so. The industry doesn't function that way.

Q Okay. And would you consider the do not promote policy to be censorship in any way?

A Absolutely not.

Q Thank you. One other follow-up question I had. When you talked in the first hour about you ballparked maybe 35 to 45 books being put on the do not promote list in the beginning, is that correct?

A Yes.

Q And how many books would you say Amazon has on its platform?

A Millions.

Q Is it north of tens of millions?

A I don't believe we've cracked ten million. I think we're still in single digits.

Q Okay. So it's fair to say that the 35 to 45 that were in this do not promote list is a very small fraction of the actual marketplace on Amazon's platform.

A Correct.

Q Okay. And one last follow-up question. When you talked earlier in the first hour about the -- about Amazon's decision very early in the pandemic to link certain key words to CDC -- to the CDC website, that was very early in the pandemic meaning that was during the Trump administration. Is that fair to say?

A Yes.

Q Thank you.

[redacted]. Follow-up?

[redacted]. I have a couple.

1 [redacted]. Sure.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q Just referring to the question of the do not promote list, picking up where

4 [redacted] left off just now, you said there were 35 to 45 approximately books that were

5 considered the do not promote list, correct?

6 A Of the anti -- of the vaxx misinformation group, yeah.

7 Q And that's out of several million books available on Amazon's platform at 8 large, correct?

9 A Correct.

10 Q And even of those 35 to 45 approximately books that were on the list, those 11 are still available to consumers, correct?

12 A Yes, they were.

13 Q So they could -- a person who wanted to purchase a book could still go on 14 Amazon's website, put it into the search bar, and it would appear for them, correct?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And they could put the author's name into the search bar and they could

17 find the book that way as well.

18 A Yes.

19 Q And if they pulled up another book by the author, a book that might have

20 been on the do not promote list by that same author would appear as a another book by 21 that author, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 [redacted]. Okay. Thank you.

24 [redacted]. Go off the record, please.

25 [Recess.]

1 [redacted]. If I can turn your attention back to what was Exhibit 1, and then if I
2 could have you turn to Bates number 45842. It's the second page of that exhibit, the 3 back of the first page.
4 Mr. Naggar. Am I on the wrong one? 45842?
5 [redacted]. Yeah.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q Sorry, 4584. There's a screen shot at the top of this page. The sender is 8 from the White House, but you can see if you flip the page over. Do you recognize this 9 book title or the image or anything about it?
10 A I'm just going to read the email quickly. Okay. Sorry, what was your 11 question?
12 Q Do you recognize this book title, the image of the cover, anything about it?
13 A I do not.
14 Q Do you know if this book was one of the original 35 to 45 that made the do
15 not promote class?
16 A I don't know.
17 Q If were one of the books that made that initial 35 to 45, is it your
18 understanding it would be just a coincidence that the White House had flagged this book
19 on March 2nd and it made the list on March 4th?
20 A I don't know.
21 Q When we were going through your professional background at the very
22 beginning of the first hour, you mentioned working for a number of -- Random House,
23 others in the book publishing business. As part of your role at any of those positions,
24 did you have a chance to interact with small time book sellers, large book sellers, Barnes
25 & Noble, people of the -- companies like that?

1 A Yes.

2 Q To your understanding, did any of them ever recount to you or share with

3 you any experience of a government official calling them to say that books on display

4 should be different?

5 A Not to my recollection.

6 Q I'll have you turn back to Exhibit 3 we were going through at the end of the 7 first hour.

8 [redacted]. 367.

9 Mr. Naggar. Thank you. Okay.

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q If I could have you turn to Bates number 7369. That's the second to last 12 page of the exhibit. We were starting to touch upon it at the end of the first hour.

13 A Yes.

14 Q You said you're not familiar with the acronym NSOC. Is that right?

15 A Correct.

16 Q Are you familiar with the acronym ASIN as it's used in this email?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And to your understanding, what does it mean in this context?

19 A I don't know what it stands for, but every item sold by Amazon has an ASIN.

20 It's an internal identifier.

21 Q Thank you. The email with the date stamp 3:32 p.m. at the bottom of that

22 page.

23 A Uh-huh.

24 Q The first sentence is we already have a CPP class to handle ad hoc requests

25 to block promotion, and then it says Shell, underscore, extremists, underscore, DNP. Do

1 you have any familiarity with the shell DNP being referenced there?
2 A I don't.
3 Q Not necessarily specific to the context being referenced in this email. Do
4 you have any familiarity of when, if ever, the books team will use ad hoc requests for 5 classes? For DNP classes?
6 A I don't.
7 Q Who would know that information?
8 A The books risk management team.
9 Q The -- if I can have you go up to the email with the time stamp 1:49 p.m.
10 A Okay.
11 Q Again, the emails are redacted, but someone from the company emails, Let's
12 hold off on actually pushing anything to, it looks like production, until we get the go
13 ahead from leadership. Do you know who from leadership they're awaiting for the go
14 ahead from around March 4th?
15 A I don't.
16 Q Given the context of what's going on here, who would be the appropriate 17 person in leadership to wait for approval from?
18 A I don't know who specifically on my team would be giving them the go
19 ahead. It would be based on the decision that I had made when I was vetting with Russ
20 in that meeting later in March.
21 Q Okay. From when the White House reached out, do you recall how quickly
22 you were able to discuss the matter with Russ?
23 A We had an email exchange the week after, I think.
24 Q There's -- the next email starts on the next page. It goes from March 4th to 25 March 8th, but then the message itself is back at the top of the previous page. It says,

1 we have sign off to proceed with this. Let's go ahead and add the books below to our
2 DNP class. Again, around March 8th, do you have any familiarity with who gave the 3 approval?
4 A I don't know who specifically gave them the go ahead, no.
5 Q There's more reference to others in automations. Do you have any 6 understanding which team that's referring to?
7 A I don't.
8 Q The next email -- this is Bates number 7368. There's an email with a time
9 stamp 1:59 p.m. in the middle of the page.
10 A Okay.
11 Q The last paragraph of that email says, Currently all of our DNP classes,
12 extremists, racially sensitive, and transgender youth, are ad hoc and ASIN based. Are 13 you familiar with those other DNP classes?
14 A Yes.
15 Q Do you know approximately when each was created, first created?
16 A I don't.
17 Q Do you know when the transgender youth DNP class was first created?
18 A I don't remember the date.
19 Q The email says all of our DNP classes are ad hoc and ASIN based. Do you 20 know what other options there are besides a DNP class being ad hoc and ASIN based?
21 A I don't know.
22 Q The -- once NSOC identifies an ASIN, it's added to the shell class. The next
23 sentence says, is the expectation the same for all anti-vaxx content, or is the request here
24 to develop a keyword-based approach to proactively classify new ASINs? Do you have 25 any familiarity with the keyword-based approach being discussed in this email?

1 A If I can just correct, it's not -- it doesn't say for all anti-vaxx content. It just 2 says for anti-vaxx content. I don't know -- I'm not sure what they're talking about.
3 Q Who would best know this information?
4 A The books risk management team.
5 Q Do you recall whether you were included in the debate and ultimate
6 approval of the decision to create a DNP class for transgender youth?
7 A I do.
8 Q And was that a decision that you made, or was it elevated to Russ?
9 A Same process as this. There was a discussion with the books risk
10 management team, with me. I thought we should do it, and we had an escalation
11 meeting set up with Russ.
12 Q Do you recall approximately what year that was?
13 A I don't.
14 Q If I have you turn to 7367, the first page of this exhibit, bottom email with 15 the time stamp of 2:38, the individual says, I'll work on this request tomorrow and have it
16 up and running by the end of the day. Do you recall if during this time you had any 17 familiarity regarding the March 9th scheduled meeting between [redacted] and 18 others at the company with the Biden White House?
19 A I don't know.
20 Q [redacted] testified before this committee and mentioned -- had testified
21 that he said there was a -- that his team had made the request for the decision to action
22 the do not promote class, to have it accelerated prior to that March 9th meeting. At the 23 time did you have any familiarity or understanding of that?
24 A I don't specifically remember, but I would have been made aware.
25 Q Do you recall, even taking one step back, any understanding of an interest in

1 accelerating action in the DNP class prior to the scheduled meeting with Russ?
2 A Can you be a little more specific.
3 Q Sure.
4 A From whom?
5 Q So the -- from anyone within the company. Did you have familiarity
6 that -- let me take one step back. There's the first meeting with you and the books risk
7 management team and legal and others in February of 2021. And there's a scheduled
8 meeting in the second half of March with you, Russ, and others. Under the normal
9 protocol, is the DNP class actioned only after the meeting with Russ?
10 A In this particular case, yes.
11 Q It seems like it was actioned before in this particular case.
12 A But we talked about there being a different conversation with Russ. We 13 moved up a conversation with Russ. It was an email exchange.
14 Q Sorry, taking one step back. Ignoring the emails here, let's use transgender
15 youth DNP class as an example. There's the first meeting with you, books risk
16 management team, legal, others. You make the decision to elevate it to Russ, so there's 17 a second meeting with Russ, you, and others. For the transgender youth DNP class, to 18 your understanding, would that DNP class only be actioned after the meeting with Russ?
19 A Correct.
20 Q Okay. And in this case it's your understanding that you had a meeting with 21 Russ prior to the -- that you had a meeting with Russ prior to the anti-vaccine DNP class
22 being actioned. Is that right?
23 A I don't believe it was a meeting. I don't remember.
24 Q Okay. Some sort of communication between you and Russ.
25 A Yes.

1 Q Did the scheduled meeting for that second half of March still take place as
2 scheduled?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Okay. And at that point what was being considered?
5 A That was to go through the details of the policy.
6 Q Okay. Do you remember what you shared with Russ about why it was 7 necessary to have a meeting earlier than the already scheduled one?
8 A I don't remember.
9 Q And you don't remember broadly of what reason was provided to you about 10 why the decision to action DNP had to be moved up?
11 A I don't remember.
12 Q Do you recall if you received any readout from [redacted] or others who 13 attended the meeting with the White House on March 9th?
14 A I don't remember.
15 Q In the leadup to that March 9th meeting [redacted] and others
16 participated in, you know, in preparation for that meeting, developing talking points, and 17 things of that nature, do you recall if you participated in any of those preparation efforts?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And what's your recollection of how you participated?
20 A That I was on some email threads where talking points were being discussed.
21 Q Do you recall anything else besides the email threads?
22 A I don't.
23 Q Are you familiar with the A9 team within Amazon?
24 A Yes.
25 Q What is that?

1 A Search.

2 [Naggar Exhibit No. 4

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q This will be Exhibit 4. This is an internal Amazon email chain March 17th

6 and March 18th, 2021.

7 A Okay. Thank you.

8 Q Having a chance to review this email chain, do you recall what sort of

9 discussions you had with the books risk management team from March 9th

10 approximately when the do not promote class was actioned to the scheduled meeting

11 with Russ in the second half of March?

12 A I don't recall the specific discussions.

13 Q Generally, do you recall if you had discussions with the team?

14 A I don't remember.

15 Q Was there any consideration of revising the policy from March 9th until 16 before the second half of March?

17 A I don't remember.

18 Q The email on the front page, this is Bates number 5954, again, the email

19 names are redacted. It says that's correct, we did enable this handling for what we're

20 calling high risk vaccination misinformation earlier in March as a low hanging fruit option,

21 with Russ and your approval, because the White House Coronavirus Task Force voiced

22 strong concerns over our position of anti-vaxx content. Do you disagree with the 23 assessment as described in this email here of why this option was taken?

24 A Can you just be a little more specific. I apologize for cutting you off.

25 Q Sure. The individual drafting this email says that the company adopted this

1 low hanging fruit option because of the concerns voiced by the White House Coronavirus
2 Task Force. Do you agree?
3 A I do not. It's a mischaracterization.
4 Q Why do you think it is -- we've looked at previous exhibits as early as March
5 4th now into March 18th with a number of individuals on these email chains. Why do
6 you think there was as widespread of a belief within the books risk management team
7 that the concerns voiced by the White House were the reason for the change?
8 A I disagree with the characterization that it was widespread. I certainly 9 never heard it at the time.
10 Q Is it concerning to you that this understanding persisted for at least a few
11 weeks?
12 A Yes.
13 Q The next sentence says, the latest version of our doc proposes expanding
14 that handling to medium risk anti-vaxx books and calls out that longer term. We'll 15 evaluate bringing additional strategies into scope. Do you recall discussions in this 16 period between when the DNP class was actioned to before the meeting with Russ of 17 expanding the policy?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And can you walk us through what was being considered exactly?
20 A The team had identified books that were high risk and medium risk. We 21 actioned the high risk books earlier and then wanted to discuss the medium risk.
22 Q And who's doing the actual assessment of what's medium risk versus high 23 risk?
24 A That would be the books risk management team.
25 Q Do you know who within the team?

1 A I do not.
2 Q Obviously, March of 2021 vaccines are being rolled out. Still in the midst of 3 the pandemic. Do you know who within the books risk management team had the 4 expertise or who they consulted with who had the expertise to make those types of 5 assessments of what was vaccine misinformation?
6 A I don't remember.
7 Q But your understanding is it was someone internal within the company, or 8 were external experts consulted?
9 A When we put into place policies like this, we look for external authoritative
10 sources for any of our policies.
11 Q For this policy, do you know which external sources?
12 A I don't remember.
13 Q Who would know?
14 A The books risk management team.
15 Q Do you know why medium risk anti-vaxxing books were not included in the 16 initial adoption when the anti-vaxxing do not promote class was being actioned?
17 A I don't remember.
18 Q Who made the decision of whether to include medium anti -- medium risk
19 anti-vaxx in the books?
20 A I did.
21 Q The next sentence in that same email says, the doc has been shared with 22 David who is aligned with our approach. Given the context of the email, is that referring 23 to you?
24 A Yes, I would imagine. I don't know for sure.
25 Q Can you walk us through, given for the emails that we've looked at so far,

1 when there's discussion of the proposal of the policy, considerations of how to expand it
2 or not, are your memories consistent with what's in the emails, but then when there's 3 emails -- in the same emails we're just referring to the impetus or the reasons behind
4 these changes, there's a disconnect. How can you reconcile those?
5 A What's the disconnect?
6 Q That the individuals talking with you at the time are on the same page 7 regarding the changes to the policy but apparently have a pretty fundamental 8 misunderstanding of the reason for those policy changes.
9 A I don't think there were policy changes. We came up with a policy at the 10 beginning of February, which I agreed with and thought we should move ahead with. I
11 decided in February that we should escalate to Russ to see if he had any different
12 thoughts, and we followed that process. We probably moved a little more quickly on 13 what we knew we were going to do. Public policy, you know, understandably was 14 feeling pressure. But no more pressure -- anybody who's on the front line of a
15 conversation, I feel pressure when an author calls me directly that I know and says there's 16 a problem with their book. I think anyone who's on the front line would feel pressure.
17 That pressure would not impact the policy itself. It becomes another input only.
18 Q Did the pressure affect the decision to move more quickly?
19 A It may have. I don't remember.
20 Q Okay. That pressure was from the White House?
21 A That -- there was a conversation where we were made aware that the White
22 House was asking. It was something we were going to do anyway. We may have 23 moved a week or two earlier.
24 Q You mentioned that there could be pressure from an author per se. To 25 your understanding, can the White House take stronger adverse actions against a

1 company than one individual author?

2 A I don't think about it like that.

3 Q Okay. Does the public policy team?

4 A I don't know.

5 Q Does other company -- does other leadership within the company?

6 A I don't know.

7 Q Were there any other reasons, other than the pressure, that the company

8 moved up the decision to action, the anti-vaccine do not promote?

9 A I don't remember.

10 Q If the pressure from the White House is enough to move up the decision,

11 how can you say that there was no impact on whether to adopt the policy?

12 A Because we'd already made the decision to adopt the policy. I was going to

13 ratify it with Russ. There was an email exchange, as we've discussed, where we decided 14 to move ahead with the high risk titles right away.

15 Q But the decision to move ahead with the high risk titles with Russ occurred

16 after the White House's outreach. Is that right?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Okay. So a decision had not been formally made yet prior to the White

19 House's decision -- or prior to the White House's outreach.

20 A A decision to do what?

21 Q To implement the anti-vaccine do not promote. You hadn't made --

22 A Yes.

23 Q You had taken your position on the issue.

24 A Yes.

25 Q But you also decided to elevate it, so it was not a final decision yet. Is that

1 right?

2 A You could characterize it that way.

3 Q When you're having discussions with the books risk management team

4 around this time, March of 2021, are these meetings taking place in person, over Zoom, is

5 it on the email? What's your recollection of how you're communicating with that team?

6 A Since the pandemic, almost all meetings are a combination of Chime, which

7 is our internal video conferencing system, in-person if there are people in the office.

8 Q Where were you based or which office were you based out of at this time?

9 A Seattle.

10 Q And where is most of the books risk management team based out of?

11 A They're spread quite widely. The leadership is in Charleston, South

12 Carolina. Actually, if I can clarify, you asked me earlier who leads it now. It's [redacted]

13 [redacted]. She's based in Charleston, but at the time it was [redacted] and he was based in 14 Seattle.

15 Q Do you recall any conversations with [redacted] in March of 2021 about the 16 anti-vaxxing do not promote class?

17 A With [redacted]? Yep.

18 Q With [redacted], excuse me.

19 A Not specific conversations, but I remember the meeting, and he would have 20 been part of that meeting.

21 Q The -- turning back to the email from Exhibit 4, the 6:50 a.m. time stamp, in 22 the middle of the page -- the one you have in front of you.

23 A Yeah.

24 Q The last sentence of the first paragraph where the person says, the latest

25 version of our doc proposes expanding that handling to medium risk anti-vaxx books and

1 calls out that longer term, we'll evaluate bringing additional strategies into scope. Do
2 you know what other additional strategies were under consideration?
3 A I don't know.
4 Q Were there discussions at a later period in time regarding additional 5 strategies to bring into scope?
6 A I don't remember any.
7 Q Was the DNP class expanded ultimately at some point to include medium
8 risk anti-vaxxing books?
9 A It was.
10 Q And do you know how many more books that added?
11 A I don't know.
12 Q Do you know approximately?
13 A I don't know.
14 Q Do you know if it's more than 35 to 45 that were initially added?
15 A I don't know.
16 Q Who would know the answer to those questions?
17 A The books risk management team that implemented the policy.
18 Q Do you know if the medium risk expanding the DNP class -- let me rephrase
19 that. Do you know when the decision was made to expand the DNP class to include 20 medium risk books?
21 A I don't remember exactly.
22 Q Was it the meeting from the second half of March with Russ?
23 A I don't remember, but that's most likely.
24 [Naggar Exhibit No. 5
25 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q This will be Exhibit 5. This is an internal Amazon email dated March 2nd,

3 2021.

4 A Okay.

5 Q So this email is dated the same day the White House reaches out to [redacted]

6 [redacted]. Do you recognize the title of the attachment of the email?

7 A Not that I recall.

8 Q Okay. Would this be different than the four to six page memo that would

9 be discussed at the start of the meeting in February?

10 A I have no idea what it is.

11 Q There's an email from someone to [redacted] saying, first we will not be

12 doing a manual intervention today. Do you know what that's in reference to, what a 13 manual intervention would be?

14 A I don't know what it would be in reference to.

15 Q What other options -- if there's a situation where someone from the books

16 risk management team wants to manually intervene, what would that option mean?

17 A I don't know specifically, technically what they would be doing.

18 Q Have you ever had familiarity with any examples of where there was 19 discussion regarding the decision to manually intervene?

20 A Decision to manually intervene. Not to my recollection. It is an option for 21 implementation. If the tech does not exist yet, we have used manual intervention until 22 we can build the tech.

23 Q Can you think of any examples?

24 A No specific ones come to mind.

25 Q The next sentence says, the team/PR feels very strongly that it is too visible.

1 Do you know which team is being referenced here?
2 A I don't.
3 Q Do you remember if you were consulted on March 2nd regarding whether a
4 manual intervention would be too visible?
5 A I don't remember.
6 Q Sentence continues, and will further compound the Harry/Sally narrative,
7 which is getting the Fox News treatment today apparently, in parentheses. Do you
8 know what's that in reference to, the Harry/Sally narrative?
9 A I don't know what the Harry/Sally narrative would be in this context.
10 Q The sentence continues, and won't fix the problem, long-term problem
11 because of consumer behavior associations. If we completely remove -- excuse me, it
12 says customer. If we completely remove customer behavior associations, it will break
13 the search. Do you know what the phrase customer behavior association means in this 14 context?
15 A I don't know.
16 Q Who would know the answer to that question?
17 A I don't know. I don't know what it means.
18 Q The last part will break the search. Do you know what that means?
19 A I don't know.
20 Q Okay. The last sentence says, the attached is still -- is the still in flux doc to 21 review with Russ on March 19th. On March 2nd, what -- the books vaccine
22 misinformation policy, what parts of the possibility would still be in flux?
23 A I don't know.
24 Q When there's the first meeting where you've approved, what types of 25 changes are acceptable to be made prior to March 19th -- or prior to the second meeting

1 with Russ -- let me rephrase that. The changes that are being discussed regarding from 2 the first meeting with you to the second meeting with Russ, are those changes that you
3 would have directed?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And then would you approve those changes prior to the meeting with Russ?
6 A Can you be more specific about those changes. In the document?
7 Q Sure. Just trying to get a sense of there's an initial meeting with you and 8 the legal team and others.
9 A Uh-huh.
10 Q And I don't want to put words in your mouth, but you approve broadly the 11 decision to go forward with the policy but have some changes that need to be made in 12 the meantime. Is that an accurate summary?
13 A I don't remember the specifics, but that's how it would work, yes.
14 Q And then once those changes are made, are you made aware of them, have 15 a chance to review prior to that email with Russ where you all sit down and read the 16 memos of the meeting?
17 A Not always. Again, we're talking -- I don't remember the specifics of this 18 instance, but in general, only if the team has some confusion around how to present a 19 particular issue.
20 Q Okay. And in this case you don't recall what changes needed to be made
21 from your first meeting to the meeting with Russ?
22 A I don't remember.
23 Q The next sentence says, Russ gave very direct guidance to the teams to be
24 boring and not do anything that was visible and that will draw more attention. Do you
25 recall when Russ gave this guidance that's being referenced?

1 A Not the specific instance here, no.
2 Q Is this a general guidance that Russ had given, or would this be specific to 3 this policy?
4 A General guidance.
5 Q Do you understand why hadn't Russ given that general guidance?
6 A I'm sorry?
7 Q Sorry. To your understanding, why did Russ give that general guidance to 8 the team?
9 A We didn't want changes in our bookstore to create churn.
10 Q What do you mean by churn?
11 A Could be anything. Could be author complaints. Could be anything. So 12 we just -- we try and do them in a way that our -- don't create that kind of churn.
13 Q Would that be include media scrutiny?
14 A Yes.
15 Q At the -- going back to the Harry/Sally narrative that's referenced in the first 16 paragraph, do you have familiarity with Ryan Anderson's book "When Harry Became 17 Sally?"
18 A Yes, I do.
19 Q When did you first become aware of that book?
20 A I don't remember the date.
21 Q Do you remember how it first came to your attention?
22 A It came to my attention in -- from the books risk management team as part
23 of a policy they were envisioning.
24 Q And do you recall when that was approximately?
25 A I don't.

1 Q What was the policy under consideration?
2 A It was an addendum to a policy that we had discussing whether we would
3 treat books that treated LGBTQ+ identity as a mental illness should be in the store or not.
4 Q Was that an existing policy, or that was the addendum?
5 A That was the addendum to hate speech policy. Our policies tend to branch.
6 Q And who from the books risk management team first discussed this with
7 you?
8 A I don't remember.
9 Q Did you first -- I guess when you first were approached about this book title
10 and branching off the existing hate speech policy, was that in one of the first meetings
11 you've been describing where there's a memo and you're with legal and you read the 12 memo in silence and then you discuss, or is this like a conversation that precedes all that?
13 A No. It would have been in a meeting.
14 Q Do you remember who attended that meeting for the meeting regarding 15 "When Harry Became Sally?"
16 A I don't remember the specifics.
17 Q For the addendum to expand and include books like "When Harry Became 18 Sally," the decision regarding that policy change, is that one that you escalated to Russ?
19 A It was.
20 Q And why did you escalate to Russ?
21 A It felt like the right thing to do.
22 Q Why?
23 A In my judgment, I escalate certain things to Russ, like the white -- like "When 24 Harry Became Sally."
25 Q Did your team have any discussions with Ryan Anderson while you were

1 considering changes to the hate speech policy?

2 A Not to my knowledge.

3 Q What about after the policy took effect?

4 A Not to my knowledge.

5 Q Your understanding was "When Harry Became Sally" was put on do not

6 promote or was it removed?

7 A It was removed from the store.

8 Q Was Ryan Anderson notified when it was removed?

9 A I don't know. I don't think so.

10 Q Was there any discussion about whether to notify the author?

11 A It's not common practice in the industry to notify an author when you decide

12 to carry or not carry a book from any retail.

13 Q You said for your policies you'll often consult external sources who have

14 expertise in whatever the category is for that policy. For this addendum, were any 15 external sources consulted?

16 A I don't remember.

17 Q Are you aware of public criticism from members of the media and elsewhere

18 regarding the company's decision to remove the book "When Harry Became Sally?"

19 A I remember media of both sides.

20 Q Did you have any direct interactions with anyone from the government

21 regarding the decision to remove "When Harry Became Sally?"

22 A I did not.

23 Q Do you know if members of the public policy team did?

24 A I believe [redacted] received a letter from a congressman, which was responded

25 to.

1 Q Did you discuss the matter with [redacted]?

2 A I don't remember.

3 Q Do you know if Russ escalated the decision of what action to take on "When

4 Harry Became Sally?"

5 A I don't know.

6 Q Did you ever read the book "When Harry Became Sally?"

7 A I did not.

8 Q When an author has a book removed, regardless of whether notified or not,

9 but at some point they're likely to figure out that it's not on Amazon, does that author

10 have any ability to appeal the decision?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And what does that process look like?

13 A Any author or publisher can reach out to us.

14 Q And when an author reaches out asking for the company to reassess the 15 decision, what does that process look like internally in the company?

16 A We'll look at the policy that was the result -- the removal was the result of --

17 Q And when you say we, is it the books risk management team?

18 A It would be the books risk management team, legal, myself.

19 Q Okay. Do you know if there are reassessments regarding "When Harry

20 Became Sally?"

21 A Yes. We've looked at it in the interim.

22 Q And have you been the decision maker?

23 A Yes.

24 Q For any of the reassessments, did you ever escalate it to Russ?

25 A Yes.

1 Q How many times?
2 A Once. Once.
3 Q Following the conclusion of reassessment, what, if anything, is shared with 4 the author?
5 A We don't share is standard industry practice.
6 Q In the reassessment process, is it similar in that there's a memo prepared
7 that's read in advance of discussion in the meeting?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Do you recall if there are any disagreements, either in the initial decision or 10 any of the reassessments regarding whether "Harry Became Sally" violated policy?
11 A I don't remember.
12 Q For the hate speech policy, is there the option to have a book only under do
13 not promote as opposed to removal?
14 A Yes. Those options are always available.
15 Q And what's the difference --
16 A Any policy.
17 Q For the policy that "When Harry Became Sally" was violative, what about the 18 book made it subject to removal as opposed to only being categorized under do not 19 promote?
20 A Was what we said in our letter to the senator, which is that it
21 characterized -- the main thrust of the book was to characterize LGBTQ+ identity as a
22 mental illness.
23 Q What does a book have to do to only be placed under do not promote for 24 that policy violation?
25 A There's no specific. It's a policy decision.

1 Q Within the books risk management team, is there a designated team for
2 making assessments of policy violations?
3 A I'm not sure.
4 Q Have you ever overruled a recommendation from the books risk
5 management team?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Can you provide an example?
8 A Not off the top of my head.
9 Q Has Russ ever overruled you?
10 A Yes.
11 Q Can you provide an example?
12 A Not off the top of my head.
13 Q For like the book "When Harry Became Sally," do you have a sense of how 14 long it was being sold prior to its removal?
15 A I don't remember.
16 Q Was it removed the same day that the addendum took effect?
17 A The policy change would have resulted in policy application. I don't know 18 how long it would have taken.
19 Q We touched upon this earlier, but just to dig a little bit more, you don't have 20 familiarity as far as how book titles are first identified?
21 A It can be a variety of sources.
22 Q Such as?
23 A Customers, internal employees, press escalation, White House escalation, 24 anybody.

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q Is there any sort of automatic processes in place to -- given the volume of 5 books available?

6 A Every detailed page that Amazon gives the ability for feedback, whether it is

7 books or any product, so there is a link that you can follow to give feedback.

8 Q Outside of someone, the press or a customer providing feedback, is there

9 any sort of algorithm or other forms of, you know, automatic processes to see if a book is 10 potentially violative?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And what does that look like?

13 A For example, copyright infringement.

14 Q What about any with respect to violations of the vaccine misinformation

15 policy?

16 A I don't know what specific technology they are using.

17 Q Do you know if they are using any?

18 A I don't know.

19 Q For any of the content moderation policies, are you familiar with certain key

20 words, or terms that are used for identifying potentially violative books?

21 A I don't know, unless it was a specific part of the policy.

22 Q Who would know that information?

23 A The books' risk management team who is executing.

24 Q Do you know how big the books' risk management team is, the number of 25 people?

1 A Hundreds of people. There are both manual operators, technicians, policy.
2 Q Do you know who the head of the policy team is within that team, within the
3 books' risk management team?
4 A Yes.
5 Q Who is that?
6 A [redacted].
7 Q How long's she been in that role for?
8 A About a year, I believe.
9 Q And who had the role before her?
10 A I don't remember. It was someone on [redacted]'s team. [redacted] was the person I 11 dealt with the most.
12 Q Do you know When Harry Became Sally, in that particular instance, how the 13 books' risk management team at first became aware that the book may be potentially 14 violative?
15 A I don't know.
16 Q Were you aware of criticism prior to the decision to remove by certain 17 outside groups that the book was sold on by Amazon?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Who made you aware of that criticism?
20 A I don't remember.
21 Q As part of your role at the company, have you had any interactions with the
22 Global Alliance for Responsible Media, GARM?
23 A No.
24 Q Do you have any familiarity with GARM?
25 A I do not.

1 Q Is the anti-vaccine misinformation policy still in place?
2 A I am not sure. I don't believe so.
3 Q Do you recall when the last change was made to that policy?
4 A I don't.
5 Q Have there ever been instances -- other instances where a policy's adopted
6 regarding content moderation and that policy is later removed?
7 A Every time we review the policies, we decide whether we want to modify 8 them or not, and they sometimes get tweaked, they sometimes move on.
9 Q Can you think of any examples where they were removed?
10 A I know we changed the COVID policies from the very beginning of the 11 pandemic when there was very little information we could trust about what was going on.
12 We just didn't know what we didn't know.
13 Q What -- every time when the policies are reviewed, what triggers an internal 14 review of a policy?
15 A Hey, it could be several things.
16 Q What are --
17 A It could be an escalation, it could be a specific book, then we decide to -- it is 18 always about the policy, rarely about the book. But there could be a book that triggers a 19 relook at the policy.
20 Q Was When Harry Became Sally, the book that triggered consideration
21 expanding the hate speech policy?
22 A I don't know.
23 Q Who would know?
24 A The books' risk management team.
25 Q Did you have any conversation with the public relations team about When

1 Harry Became Sally?

2 A It would have been in a conversation around the removal of the book.

3 Q And who from the PR team did you talk with?

4 A I don't remember.

5 Q Did you have conversations with the PR team when the vaccine

6 misinformation policy was adopted?

7 A They were part of the conversations.

8 Q Who from that team did you have discussions with?

9 A I don't remember.

10 Q Do you have discussions with the PR team for every policy change?

11 A Not always.

12 Q Who makes the decision of whether to include the PR team?

13 A It could be anyone in the chain of the making of the decision of the policy.

14 It could be in the initial books' risk management it could be in subsequent reviews.

15 Q Do you recall the Surgeon General sending a request for information to 16 Amazon in 2022?

17 A I don't.

18 Q Have you since gained any familiarity with Amazon's response to the 19 Surgeon General?

20 A Not to my recollection.

21 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please?

22 [Discussion off the record.]

23 [Recess.]

24 BY [redacted]:

25 Q Mr. Naggar, as you testified earlier, you made the decision to implement the

1 do-not-promote policy, or to recommend that it be finalized in February, correct?
2 A Yes.
3 Q For vaccine misinformation?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And all that was left after you made that decision in early February was for
6 Russ to ratify that decision, correct?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And Russ did ratify that decision, correct?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And Russ' decision to ratify that recommendation from you, to ratify your 11 decision, to your knowledge, did that have anything to do with communications between 12 the White House and the public policy team?
13 A Not to my knowledge.
14 Q And you do not recall even discussing that in terms of the discussion of 15 whether or not to ratify your decision?
16 A The discussion would have been one of those conversations with attorneys
17 present with privilege.
18 Q Fair enough. Thank you.
19 But to your knowledge, this was an independent decision, the subsequent 20 decision to implement the policy by Amazon?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And the White House's critiques of Amazon did not play a role in the 23 decision to implement that policy?
24 A They did not.
25 Q Thank you. Now I want to draw your attention to exhibit 3 and 4. And on

1 exhibit 3, if you turn to the last page, which is 7370, and 4 we will be looking at just the 2 front page.
3 A 73 -- got it.
4 Q Now my colleague in the majority stated during the last hour, suggested that 5 there was a widespread view that the do-not-promote policy was being implemented in 6 response to criticism from the White House, and in support of that, he cited these two
7 exhibits. Do you recall that during the previous hour?
8 A I do.
9 Q Okay. Now the name of the sender of these emails in exhibit 3 and 10 exhibit 4 are redacted, correct?
11 A Yes, they are.
12 Q And you don't -- or do you know who sent those emails?
13 A I don't.
14 Q You don't know if it was the same person who sent those emails?
15 A I do not.
16 Q You don't know if it was someone -- if it was more than one person if those 17 people were on the same team, and were getting information from one source, multiple 18 sources?
19 A I don't know, but those are possible.
20 Q And you have no idea how this person or these people came under this 21 impression?
22 A I do not.
23 Q And you don't know if this impression was shared by more than one or two 24 people?
25 A I don't.

1 Q And what you do know as you have stated several times in your earlier
2 testimony, this was a mischaracterization of why Amazon decided to implement the 3 do-not-promote policy. Is that correct?
4 A That is correct.
5 Q Thank you.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q Mr. Naggar, I have a couple of follow-up questions. If I could direct your 8 attention to exhibit 3?
9 A Which Bates? I don't have them numbered. I apologize.
10 [redacted]. You can use mine.
11 Mr. Nagger. Yes.
12 BY [redacted]:
13 Q So on the second page it begins with 7368?
14 A Yes.
15 Q Sorry, the Bates is 7368. You were asked in the previous hour about these 16 DNP Shell groups. Do you recall that conversation?
17 A I do.
18 Q And the majority counsel brought up, and I am reading from the Monday, 19 March 8, 2021, at 1:59 p.m. email. The second paragraph that shell extremist DNP is 20 intended only for ACINs identified by NSOC to contain extremist content. Did I read that 21 correctly?
22 A Yes.
23 Q So, I want to ask you some clarification, because if you go to the first page, 24 which is Bates 7367, you see the last email on the page, or page 2021, whoever the 25 author is the name is redacted. It says, "Shell DNP classes are easy to set up. And I will

1 work on this request tomorrow and have it up and running by the end of the day." Did I
2 read that correctly?
3 A You did.
4 Q Now if you go up one more email on the thread it says, hi all redaction and I
5 created the anti-vaxx DNP shell class and added for 43 ACINs below?
6 A You did.
7 Q So based on this email, it doesn't appear that the 43 ACINs were actually
8 ever added to the extremist shell. Is that a fair reading of this email chain?
9 A I don't know. It would seem to be, yes.
10 Q Thank you.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q I want to jump in with one thing. You mentioned earlier, you talked about 13 how you sometimes feel pressure from authors if they call and have an issue with 14 Amazon and that, you know, you referenced pressure from the White House. Did
15 anyone from the public policy team ever tell you that they felt pressure from the White
16 House to change Amazon's policies, or to do anything in particular with respect to vaccine
17 misinformation?
18 A No.
19 Q And was pressure from the White House anything that you recall discussing 20 with anybody at Amazon, whether it was from the public policy team or not?
21 A No, not as pressure. We would have called it the escalation from the White
22 House as we would from any other source.
23 Q And was it treated differently than you would treat escalation from any 24 other source?
25 A No.

1 Q Thank you.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I am actually going to pick up. I know we are going down the line here.

4 A That's okay.

5 Q On that thread, the question of pressure, and I want to turn to exhibit 5,

6 which is Bates stamped 5833. This is at email dated 3/2, 2021 the frontline is redacted

7 but it is addressed to [redacted] --

8 A Yes.

9 Q -- Books vaccine misinformation policy. You have that email in front of 10 you?

11 A I do.

12 Q And I think my colleague on the majority side read the first paragraph but

13 left out one of the phrases and so I just want to read it for the record. It says, "We will

14 not be doing a manual intervention today. The team/PR feels very strongly that it is too

15 visible, and will further compound the Harry Sally narrative (which is getting the FOX 16 News treatment today apparently)," and then continues on. Did I read that correctly?

17 A You did.

18 Q So the part that wasn't read earlier, which is getting the FOX News

19 treatment today apparently phrase. Do you have any idea what that is referencing?

20 A I don't.

21 Q You are familiar with FOX News as a media station?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And a news station, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And so, at least on the face of it, this suggests that FOX News is commenting

1 or expressing an opinion or doing something with respect to the Harry Sally narrative,
2 correct?
3 A I don't know.
4 Q In the earlier hour, you referenced outreach from Capitol Hill on the When 5 Harry Became Sally book. Do you recall that?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And you said there had been a letter from Capitol Hill. Do you recall that?
8 A I do.
9 Q Do you recall who that letter was from?
10 A I don't recall.
11 [Naggar Exhibit No. 6
12 was marked for identification.]
13 BY [redacted]:
14 Q I want to introduce a letter, exhibit 6, on February 24, 2021, to Mr. Bezos.
15 Have you seen this before?
16 A I will just take a moment to read it. Thank you.
17 Q Having had a minute to review, do you know if you've seen this letter
18 before?
19 A I have.
20 Q Do you recall when you saw it before?
21 A I don't.
22 Q When it -- when it arrived at Amazon or within the past week or two or 23 roughly a timeframe?
24 A It would have been around the time it arrived. It would not have been sent 25 to me immediately.

1 Q Okay. And this letter is written to Mr. Bezos, the CEO of Amazon, and it's 2 signed by Marco Rubio, Mike Lee, Mike Braun and Josh Hawley, correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q And I want to go through those one by one. Marco Rubio is the U.S.
5 Senator. He is a Republican from Florida, correct?
6 A I don't know, but okay.
7 Q Do you have any reason to disagree with my characterization?
8 A I do not.
9 Q Mike Lee is the Republican Senator from the State of Utah, correct?
10 A The same, I will agree with your characterization. I don't know for sure.
11 Q If I tell you that Mike Braun is the Republican Senator from Indiana, do you 12 have any reason to disagree with that characterization?
13 A I don't.
14 Q And the same, if I tell you that Josh Hawley is the Republican Senator from 15 the State of Missouri, do you have any reason to disagree with that characterization?
16 A I don't.
17 Q Okay. So looking at the content of this letter, turning back to the first page
18 of it, the second paragraph on the first page reads, "When Harry Became Sally prompted 19 important discussions in the national media and among policy makers in 2018 and 20 remains one of the most rigorously researched and compassionately argued books on the 21 subject. By removing this book from its marketplace and services Amazon has 22 unabashedly wielded its outside market share to silence an important voice merely for 23 the crime of violating woke groupthink." Did I read that correctly?
24 A You did.
25 Q Do you have any understanding of what woke groupthink means in that

1 sentence?

2 A Not entirely, no.

3 Q You say not entirely, do you have some understanding?

4 A I don't.

5 Q Okay. The next paragraph I am just going to read the last sentence. It

6 says, "Amazon short-sighted censorship of this well-researched and thoughtful

7 contribution to modern American discourse. It is not just a decision made in poor taste,

8 but an assault on free speech that carries weighty implications for the future of open

9 discourse in the digital age. Did I read that correctly?

10 A You did.

11 Q And I could go through more of the letter, but would you agree that on the 12 face of it, these two excerpts that I just read to you express disagreement with Amazon's

13 decision?

14 A Yes.

15 Q In the earlier hour we are discussing pressure and again we are discussing

16 pressure. And you said in the earlier hour that Amazon, and that you in particular,

17 received pressure from all sorts of sources from authors and from others as well. Is this

18 the type of -- would you classify this as pressure on Amazon from an outside source?

19 A This is typical of the kind of input we get when we are making our decisions.

20 It just becomes one of many factors.

21 Q Okay. Thank you.

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q Mr. Naggar, I have a couple of follow-up questions, if we could introduce

24 exhibit 7.

25 [Naggar Exhibit No. 7

1 was marked for identification.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q Mr. Naggar, I have marked what has been identified as exhibit 7. I will just

4 represent to you that this is the interim staff report from the Committee on the Judiciary

5 and Select Subcommittee on the Weaponization of the Federal Government, dated

6 May 1, 2024. And what I am showing you is an excerpt from that report, which is page

7 79.

8 A Yes.

9 Q I want to read just a couple of sentences from it to give you a background of 10 what my question is going to be. "On March 5, 3 days after the initial interaction with

11 the White House and just 4 days prior to the follow-up meeting, the books team met so

12 that they could review the policy proposal to handle anti-vaxx content in books." Did I

13 read that correctly?

14 A You did.

15 Q And there is a couple more sentences that go on to describe the acceleration

16 based on the testimony of [redacted]. Did you read that?

17 A I did.

18 Q Okay. The last sentence says, "Amazon's consideration of implementing

19 more censorious content moderation policies in February 2021 aligns with Facebook

20 which began to increase its censorship of the manmade theory of the origination of the 21 SARS-CoV-2 virus in hopes if appeasing the new Biden administration." Did I read that

22 correctly?

23 A You did.

24 Q Now, a couple of questions about that last sentence. Did Amazon, to the 25 best of your knowledge, have any coordination or collaboration with Facebook in

1 adopting its content moderation policies during this time?

2 A Not to my knowledge.

3 Q Did Amazon, in any way, develop its policy in February 2021, or as you

4 testified earlier, this was actually started in January 2021, correct?

5 A Yeah, it must have been for them to have a doc ready for me -- a document

6 in early February, they had to have started weeks before.

7 Q So was this COVID-19 vaccine disinformation policy in January and

8 February of 2021, was this, in any way, done to appease the Biden administration?

9 A No, it was not.

10 Q Okay.

11 A Just to correct, it was anti-vaxx content, not COVID-19 content.

12 Q I'm sorry. Thank you for the clarification.

13 Mr. Naggar, just a couple of follow-up questions. To the best of your knowledge,

14 did anyone from the U.S. Government ever ask Amazon to remove a specific content from 15 one of its platforms?

16 A Not to my knowledge.

17 Q Did anyone from the U.S. Government ever try to coerce Amazon into

18 removing content from its platforms?

19 A Not to my knowledge.

20 Q Did anyone from the U.S. Government ever try to coerce Amazon into 21 changing its content moderation policies on any of its service or platforms?

22 A You've seen the letter from the Senators, they are basically asking us to 23 change our policy.

24 Q My question more specifically, Mr. Naggar, is has does anybody from the 25 U.S. Government ever tried to coerce Amazon?

A No.

Q Did anyone from the U.S. Government ever threaten Amazon with adverse consequences if it did not remove content from one of its platforms?

A Not to my knowledge.

Q And did anyone from the U.S. Government ever threaten Amazon with adverse consequences if it did not change its content moderation policies?

A Not to my knowledge.

[redacted]. Thank you.

Go off the record.

[Recess.]

2 [1:34 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q On exhibit 4, Bates 5954, there is an email at the bottom of the page, and it

5 says, On our side as long as the scope of work touches only P13 central strategies. Just a

6 clarification question, based off the context of the email is that a reference to page 13 or

7 is there a set of strategies --

8 A No, it stands for personalization.

9 Q Okay.

10 A It is a bit of an odd convention within Amazon that for very long words, so

11 P13N is the way it is usually referred to and there are 13 letters between the P and the N.

12 Q Understood. Do you recall any of the central strategies discussed as it

13 relates to the vaccine misinformation policy?

14 A I don't.

15 Q At the end of our last round, we had started to discuss the 2022 response for

16 information that had the Surgeon General sent to Amazon and Amazon sent back. I can

17 introduce it as exhibit 8 an email from April 20, 2022. It is an internal Amazon email

18 with some back and forth regarding that so we will introduce that.

19 A This one we are finished with for now?

20 Q Yes.

21 [Naggar Exhibit No. 8

22 was marked for identification.]

23 [redacted]. I am sorry, is this 8?

24 [redacted]. Exhibit 8.

25 [redacted]. Thank you.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q First reviewing this email chain, does it refresh your recollection at all

3 regarding working on Amazon's response?

4 A It does. It would not have necessarily registered with me who the response

5 was for. It was a response that public policy felt they needed to send, and so I would

6 have looked at the latter part of the email.

7 Q I will have you flip to page number 5536, the second to last page.

8 A Thank you.

9 Q There is an email, Friday, April 1st, 2022, with a 12:32 time stamp.

10 A Yes.

11 Q It starts off, As you will see from the below note to S-team. What does the 12 S-team mean in this context?

13 A S-team is the most senior leadership at Amazon. It comprises somewhere

14 around 20 individuals, I believe.

15 Q And Russ will -- just -- actually, is Russ someone who's senior enough to be 16 considered part of the S-team?

17 A He is.

18 Q And what about you?

19 A No.

20 Q I will have you turn, flip forward to 5532, the back of the first page. There

21 is some discussion that continues in the subsequent emails around potential language to

22 consider, including the email that begins -- or that has the time stamp of 7:56 a.m. at the 23 bottom of the page. The first point that is being made says in quotes, "We have

24 practically blocked or removed more than 1,500 COVID-related books from sale for

25 violating our guidelines." Do you understand are those -- which policy or policies is that

1 in reference to that would qualify for removal?

2 A Our COVID-related policies.

3 Q And are the COVID-related ones separate from the vaccine-related ones?

4 A Yes.

5 Q So the vaccine-related ones, could the company remove books as an

6 enforcement option?

7 A It wasn't part of the policy as written.

8 Q Was there a do-not-promote-first to COVID-related ones?

9 A I don't remember.

10 Q On the front of that page, Bates number 5531. There is some additional

11 discussion, but in other figures there is the 1,500 removals figure and there is also

12 discussion of 35,000 books that discuss COVID-19. To your understanding, that latter

13 figure, 35,000, is that books just under the COVID-19 policy or was that both the vaccine

14 misinformation and the COVID-19?

15 A I don't remember. The document says discuss COVID-19, that is all I know.

16 Q And your recollection, you don't have a sense of the vaccine misinformation,

17 the do-not-promote class how big that number ultimately grew to?

18 A I don't remember.

19 Q Do you recall if you received updates regarding if there were instances of a 20 new batch of books being added to that do-not-promote class?

21 A I don't remember.

22 Q In other context is that -- would that be consistent, was that a type of 23 development that is worth escalating to your attention?

24 A Could be. It is not -- would not be a standard. Once we have decided the

25 policy, unless the team feels the policy should be revised, the number of books impacted

1 would not necessarily rise up to me.

2 Q We are finished with that exhibit for now.

3 A Okay.

4 Q I am going to introduce two exhibits at the same time, one from March 2nd,

5 and one from March 9th, both internal Amazon emails. I will give you a chance to

6 review and I will have some questions about this. So we will make March 2nd exhibit 9,

7 and March 9th exhibit 10.

8 [Naggar Exhibits No. 9 and 10

9 were marked for identification.]

10 BY [redacted]:

11 Q Thanks for taking the time to review those.

12 A Thank you for giving me the time.

13 Q March 2nd now, you are on parts of it that are redacted.

14 A Oh, sorry, this one.

15 Q Yeah. I will direct our attention to the very first page, 6226 is the Bates

16 number. And based off the redactions, it is unclear who is on the email chain, but the 17 time stamp of 1:54 p.m. --

18 A Yeah.

19 Q In the middle of the page there --

20 A Yeah.

21 Q -- is responding to the email below. It says for Q1. This is not something

22 we have had come up in the past and is taking the guidelines out of context. The line

23 cited is referring to misleading metadata, typos, image quality, et cetera, not the actual

24 truthfulness of the theories described within the text of the book. Prior to the vaccine

25 misinformation policy. Were there any other policies that you are aware of that address

1 the truthfulness of the theories described within the text of the book?
2 A There is a disappointing content policy where if the content is disappointing
3 in any way to customers who have bought the book and sought it out, we will evaluate 4 the book, but that that could be anything from formatting to false content.
5 Q Other than that, are there any policies specific to getting to the accuracy or 6 truthfulness of the content of the book?
7 A No, not to my knowledge.
8 Q When developing the vaccine misinformation policy, were there discussions
9 around the challenges of assessing the accuracy or truthfulness of the content of a book?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And how did the company decide to address those challenges?
12 A Those would have been conversations that we had in the meetings that we 13 had been describing. And we decided to add some books to do-not-promote list.
14 Q I guess I could just press a little bit more. In contrast, let's say a formatting
15 error, or the advertisement, you know, says this is a book about plants and it is actually a
16 book about sports, something where it is very clear, this seems to be setting the grounds
17 for a harder set of decisions to be made of assessing the accuracy of a book. In order to 18 be able to do that, what sort of mechanisms does the company consider putting in place?
19 A There was no way really for us to really assess the veracity of the 20 information in the book, so we decided that books that were specifically going against, at 21 the time, the generally accepted official recommendation that people get vaccines, that 22 we would not actively promote those to customers beyond all of the discovery vehicles
23 that are available to any book that we still carry.
24 Q For any book that was under consideration of being added to the vaccine
25 misinformation do not promote list, did someone from the book's risk management team

1 read the full book cover to cover?

2 A I don't know.

3 Q To your understanding, how -- when a book's under consideration for, let's

4 say, the conclusion of the book, so to speak, is to advocate against people taking a

5 vaccine and alleging that the vaccine is dangerous, are there ways that the company can

6 assess the conclusion of the book other than by reading the whole book?

7 A You can look at the product description provided by the author. And you

8 can read -- you can scan the book, and you can read the whole book and all of those

9 methods are used in various instances of figuring out whether -- whatever policy, this

10 vaxx policy or other. I just don't know which ones were used specifically here.

11 Q Who decides what approach to use, whether to scan the book or look at the 12 product details or to actually sit down and read the whole book?

13 A The book's risk management team will make the first evaluation.

14 Q Are you familiar with any instances where someone reviewed the product

15 label and was up for assessment. And then after reading the book, a decision was made

16 to not add the book to a do-not-promote list?

17 A I don't know of any specific examples.

18 Q Do you know of anyone on the book's risk management team had any sort of 19 medical training?

20 A I don't know.

21 Q How long does it take to conduct the average assessment of whether to add

22 a book to the do not promote list?

23 A It depends on what information you have available.

24 Q What additional information would be available other than the text of the 25 book and the product label?

1 A It could be the author's website making it very clear what their views are and
2 telling customers, or visitors to their website, that, you know, this is what this book's
3 about, if you want the full story, buy the book as one example.
4 Q For books that consider both, say, the pros and the cons of vaccines, based
5 off your understanding of policy would those books be violative of the vaccine
6 misinformation policy?
7 A I don't know. It really depends on the specifics.
8 Q And who is making the judgment now on the specifics?
9 A The book's risk management team will make the judgment, and escalate
10 anything that they consider questionable -- not questionable, but, like, they have 11 questions about, they are not sure which direction to go.
12 Q Is there any sort of audit done later to assess whether policies were 13 enforced uniformly?
14 A It happens.
15 Q And what does that process look like?
16 A It would be very similar to the original process.
17 Q When a book is being assessed for potentially violative or not, can you
18 identify which individual or individuals conducted that assessment?
19 A I don't know.
20 Q You don't know the answer to that question or you don't know that it is not
21 possible?
22 A I don't know the answer to the question.
23 Q Thank you.
24 Was there any -- in the lead-up to the development of the vaccine misinformation
25 policy, was there any discussion regarding that the adoption of this policy would be

1 restricting a viewpoint that was held by a decent portion of the country at the time?

2 A No, we weren't looking to push any particular viewpoint. We were looking

3 at authoritative information, what was being recommended by the government at the 4 time. We wanted the books in the store. As I have said, we really wanted the widest

5 selection possible so that all viewpoints are available to customers, so the book stayed in 6 the store.

7 But based on the generally available, most official recommendation at the time,

8 we felt that the books that were strongly recommending that customers, individuals, not

9 get vaccinations, we should not be promoting those.

10 Q The company was still then making the decision of which viewpoints should

11 or should not be promoted. Is that right?

12 A I don't think of it as viewpoints. We are trying to be as safe as possible.

13 And so we looked at the most available authoritative information we could get and made

14 a decision.

15 Q Having reviewed both the March 9 transcript and the March 2 transcript,

16 does this refresh your memory at all regarding discussions you had around this time in 17 prepping anyone for a meeting with the White House?

18 [redacted]. You are referring to a transcript?

1

2 [2:08 p.m.]

3 [redacted]. I'm sorry. We're viewing these two exhibits.

4 [redacted]. Okay. I thought you said transcript.

5 [redacted]. If I did, I misspoke.

6 Mr. Naggar. It doesn't specifically. Clearly, it was part of the -- I would have

7 been sent the portion that is about books and asked to review it.

8 BY [redacted]:

9 Q Was there any discussion of whether you should attend the meeting with

10 the White House?

11 A There was not.

12 Q Was there any discussion of whether you or anyone from the books' risk

13 management team should attend?

14 A I should say I'm not aware of any discussion where such a thing was 15 discussed. I don't recall it ever being discussed with me, either for myself or my team.

16 It would be atypical.

17 Q Exhibit 10, which starts with Bates number 6184, it's a March 9th email. I

18 would have you flip to 6186.

19 There's a set of talking points that are being drafted and it looks like continually

20 revised a little bit.

21 The second bullet point says, "Top Talking Points on Content Guidelines."

22 Do you know who helped prepare those bullet points?

23 A I don't.

24 Q Is this something that would have been elevated to you for your review?

25 A To the extent that it's related to books and it was going to be communicated

1 externally, most likely. I don't know for sure.

2 Q There's discussion in the first kind of sub bullet point under that section

3 regarding how Walmart and Barnes & Noble are addressing this issue.

4 Do you remember having discussions regarding how competitors were handling

5 this issue?

6 A Not specifically, no.

7 Q Is that something that your team tracks generally?

8 A They will look at how other bookstores are handling a particular policy we're

9 looking at.

10 Q The last sub bullet point under that section says, "We have dedicated teams

11 of trained professionals that specialize in case-by-case analysis of controversial content."

12 Which teams are being referred to in that language?

13 A This feels like a more general point to me than just books. But if it were 14 referring to just books, it would be the books' risk management team.

15 Q Are there any other teams that would conduct assessments of books other

16 than the books' risk management team?

17 A Not to my knowledge.

18 Q The talking points in the section above where it says, bolded, "Top Talking

19 Points --

20 A Uh-huh.

21 Q -- (to be made affirmatively)," and then there's three sub bullet points.

22 Would you or members of your team have played a role in developing those talking

23 points?

24 A It's very likely.

25 Q Do you have any recollection of that?

1 A Not specifically. We sometimes have more generic talking points that are
2 repurposed for various conversations. I don't remember specifically working on these.
3 Q You can put those down. Thank you.
4 A Thank you.
5 [Naggar Exhibit No. 11
6 was marked for identification.]
7 BY [redacted]:
8 Q This will be exhibit 11. It's an email chain from April 2022 related to the 9 company's response to the Surgeon General.
10 A Okay. Thank you.
11 Q Of course.
12 I'm going to have you turn to Bates number 4376. There's an email up at the top
13 of the page. You can see the time stamp at the bottom of 4375, but it's redacted as far 14 as who sends it.
15 A Right.
16 Q First, again, taking a step back, does this email chain refresh your 17 recollection at all as to some of the debates and discussion during the preparation of 18 Amazon's response?
19 A It does.
20 Q Do you know who you were working with from the books team on this
21 issue?
22 A I don't remember.
23 Q Do you recall discussions around the implications of including statistics of 24 books removed and how that might be -- how that might spur reaction from certain parts 25 of -- or certain groups who want the company to remove books related to the

1 transgender-related issues?

2 A Sorry. I forgot the beginning of your question.

3 Q That's all right. Does this email chain spur any recollections regarding the

4 discussion around whether to include statistics about book removals on medical

5 misinformation, and whether that will spur any sort of reaction to the decision not to

6 remove certain types of transgender-related books?

7 A Yes, it does.

8 Q Who participated in those discussions?

9 A I don't remember the specifics. I remember that I was involved. I don't

10 remember if it was beyond an email thread like this.

11 Q So this email chain is in 2022. This is over a year after When Harry Became

12 Sally was removed, and some of the other related correspondence that we've looked at

13 there. Were there discussions at the time of expanding that policy to expand the 14 number of books that would be potentially removed under the policy?

15 A The transgender policy?

16 Q Yes.

17 A Yes.

18 Q And were there ultimately any changes made to expand the number of 19 books that are removed under the transgender policy?

20 A Not to my recollection.

21 Q The consideration to expand the policy, was that -- was there ever a

22 recommendation made from the books risk management team to you to expand the 23 policy for the number of books that could be removed under the transgender policy?

24 A Not to expand the policy, no.

25 Q Any sort of modifications to the transgender policy?

1 A No, not to my recollection.

2 Q So when there's debates and consideration, are these just discussions that

3 you are having with the books risk management team, or what does that look like if

4 there's no proposal made?

5 A It could be books that they're not sure -- again, back to the more general,

6 they can escalate if there are books they're not sure the policy should apply to. They

7 received an escalation, could be internal employees, could be customer views giving us a

8 signal that there's something there. And they'll look at the book, and if they're not sure

9 it applies -- the policy applies, they can escalate that.

10 Q Were there any instances where a book was escalated for your review where

11 they said it was not violative of the transgender policy but that the policy should be 12 changed so that it would be violative?

13 A Not to my recollection.

14 Q If I could have you flip over to 4375, there's an email with a 10:31 time

15 stamp right in the middle of the page, and there's reference to -- it says, "our critics," it

16 appears to be referring to the company's critics, "including LGBTQ organizations like

17 HRC."

18 Were you aware of criticism around the company's approach to 19 transgender-related books at around this time?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And how is that type of criticism -- or how do you personally become aware

22 of that type of criticism?

23 A In that specific case, the internal transgender community was very vocal

24 about a number of books that they considered, in their words, to be hate speech. We

25 disagreed, and the books stayed up.

1 Q When you say "internal," within Amazon?

2 A Within Amazon. And there was also press around our not removing certain

3 titles.

4 Q For the assessment around this time that ultimately led to not -- to the

5 decision not to remove those books, was the protocol for that consistent with the 6 protocol you've described for generally when books are under assessment?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Do you recall if there was one particular book or set of books that triggered

9 criticism from within the company?

10 A There were several.

11 Q Do you recall any examples?

12 A "Irreversible Damage" by Abigail Shrier was one. "Johnny the Walrus," I

13 don't remember the author's name.

14 Q You mentioned for policies the books' risk management team will consult

15 with external sources when appropriate. Around this context, do you remember if the 16 books' risk management team consulted with outside groups about the policy?

17 A I don't remember.

18 Q You can put this exhibit back.

19 A Thank you.

20 [Naggar Exhibit No. 12

21 was marked for identification.]

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q This will be exhibit 12. It's an internal Amazon email dated March 8, 2021.

24 A Okay. Thank you.

25 Q The email of March 8th with the 6:12 a.m. time stamp in the middle of the

1 page --

2 A Yes.

3 Q -- there's reference to a chart in the frequently asked questions. Is that, to

4 your understanding, a chart that was internal to Amazon or part of a drafting for

5 information that would be made public?

6 A I don't know.

7 Q In the first question for that same email, there's reference to a Deny Term

8 List.

9 Do you know what that means?

10 A I do not.

11 Q In the second question there's a reference to Alerts Messaging widget.

12 Do you know what that is?

13 A I don't.

14 Q There's a response at 8:28, the time stamp at the top of the page, that says,

15 "Due to criticism from the Biden people, PP asked us to pursue" -- just in this reference,

16 that would be the public policy team?

17 A Yes. PP would be public policy.

18 Q -- "to pursue the 'low hanging fruit options' prior to our Russ review, and this

19 was one of them. There's a separate thread out to Russ asking for his permission to 20 implement prior to our 3/19 meeting."

21 Do you know who was on that thread to Russ?

22 A I don't remember.

23 Q Do you know when the request was made to Russ whether the -- as it's

24 conveyed here -- criticism from the Biden people or the White House was being conveyed

25 to Russ?

1 A I don't agree with the characterization that's here; same comment that I
2 made earlier. The policy is the important thing. Once the policy is decided,
3 independent of external influence, then we will decide on implementation and
4 implementation speed and technical complexity and all of that. And if there is, you 5 know, a source asking us to move more quickly on something we've already decided, if 6 we can, we would.
7 So I don't -- this characterization that public policy asked us to pursue low hanging
8 fruit options, they did, but it would not have pushed us to do something we hadn't
9 already decided to do.
10 Q But at this point, had Russ approved the policy change?
11 A There was an email thread saying we would like to move more quickly with 12 the high-risk titles, putting them into do-not-promote.
13 Q But as part of that email, Russ had not yet weighed in. Is that correct?
14 A He weighed in on that email thread saying that he agreed with the approach
15 for those high-risk titles.
16 Q Okay. So, again, just for clarity on the record --
17 A Yes.
18 Q -- the email to Russ following the White House's outreach, Russ had not yet 19 weighed in and had not yet decided whether to approve the policy or not?
20 A The overall policy.
21 Q Correct. Is that right?
22 A No.
23 Q What did the email say?
24 A He had not weighed in. We had not had the meeting with him that was for 25 later that month.

1 Q Okay.

2 A But we would have updated him by email that this is where we were

3 headed, that there was a White House escalation, as I said earlier, and since we're going

4 in this direction anyway, we can move a little more quickly and do that.

5 Q And given where your team -- the company was in the approvals process,

6 Russ, at that moment in time, still had the ability to veto the policy change. Is that

7 correct?

8 A He did.

9 Q In the 8:28 a.m. email, the next paragraph, the first kind of dashed bullet

10 point there says, "Search is looking for ways to shorten the lead time on this, but agree

11 18 weeks is too long."

12 First, do you know what they're referring to, what search is working on?

13 A I don't know what they were working on.

14 Q Do you remember any discussions regarding any implementations that were 15 going to take up to 18 weeks?

16 A Not in this specific instance.

17 Q For the implementation of a do-not-promote class, is that something that

18 could take up to 18 weeks or is this --

19 A It depends on the complexity -- I'm sorry. Please.

20 Q Is that likely referring to the do-not-promote class, or is that something you

21 would expect a shorter timeline for?

22 A It depends on the complexity of the implementation. You never know

23 which is going to touch a system that requires more engineer time, and the engineers will

24 come back with their proposal for how long it could take. If we feel it's too long, we will

25 look at whatever they're working on and reprioritize to make room for that tech work.

1 But it very much depends on the individual instance, the specific implementation
2 we're looking for.
3 Q Do you recall whether the engineers came back for the vaccine
4 misinformation policy and said this is more complicated than normal, less complicated
5 than normal?
6 A I don't remember.
7 Q There's discussion of different options available. There's -- the 8 second-to-the-last bullet point mentions, "A third option is to build a labeling CX in 9 parallel with the alerts widget."
10 Do you know what CX refers to there?
11 A Customer experience.
12 Q And what does it mean to build a labeling customer experience?
13 A I don't know. It's not a standard term.
14 Q Okay. As a -- to your understanding, have any members of the books' risk
15 management team had any interactions with the FBI?
16 A Not to my knowledge.
17 Q To your knowledge, have any members of the books risk management team
18 had any interactions with the Department of Homeland Security?
19 A Not to my knowledge.
20 Q Did the books' risk management team, to your knowledge, have any 21 interactions with HHS or any of the agencies within HHS?
22 A Not to my knowledge.
23 Q Do you recall in the spring and summer of 2021 whether you were aware at 24 the time that the White House was reaching out to social media platforms such as Twitter
25 and Facebook?

1 A Yes. It was very public.

2 Q Did you have any discussions with individuals at Facebook or Twitter about

3 outreach from the White House?

4 A No, I did not.

5 Q Do you have any familiarity with the Election Integrity Partnership run

6 through Stanford University?

7 A I do not.

8 Q What about Stanford University's Virality Project?

9 A I don't.

10 Q Do you have any familiarity with NewsGuard?

11 A I don't.

12 Q Do you have any familiarity with the Global Disinformation Index?

13 A I do not.

14 Q Do you have any familiarity with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?

15 A The what?

16 Q The Center for Countering Digital Hate?

17 A No, I don't.

18 Q Do you recall any -- being aware of discussions around the so-called

19 Disinformation Dozen around 2021, the top dozen accounts alleged to be spreading

20 vaccine misinformation?

21 A No, I'm not familiar with that term.

22 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please?

23 [Discussion off the record.]

24 [redacted] COUNSEL

25 [redacted] COUNSEL

1 [redacted] This is a transcribed interview of Jimmy Kirby. Chairman Jordan has 2 requested this interview as part of the committee's oversight of the Department of 3 Treasury's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network.
4 Would the witness please state your name for the record?
5 Mr. Kirby. Jimmy Kirby.
6 [redacted] Could agency counsel please state your name for the record?
7 [redacted]
8 [redacted]
9 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here
10 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to
11 appear voluntarily.
12 My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 13 everyone else from the committee who's here in the room introduce themselves as well.
14 [redacted] with Chairman Jordan.
15 [redacted] with Chairman Jordan.
16 [redacted] Chairman Jordan.
17 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
18 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
19 [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
20 [redacted] Chairman Jordan.
21 [redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will
22 follow during today's interview.
23 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 24 1 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal
25 period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more

1 questions and the interview is over.

2 Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour. If you would like to take

3 a break apart from that, please just let us know.

4 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

5 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

6 Do you understand?

7 Mr. Kirby. Yes.

8 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best

9 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just

10 those people on the staff whose turn it is.

11 Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks

12 down at the end of the table can hear you.

13 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we

14 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

15 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner

16 as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or you do not

17 understand one of our questions, please just let us know.

18 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any

19 point just say so.

20 If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best

21 not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us if you learned

22 information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.

23 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please

24 inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete

25 answer to the question.

1 You should also understand that although this interview is not under oath, that by
2 law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.
3 Do you understand that?
4 Mr. Kirby. Yes.
5 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
6 interview.
7 Do you understand this?
8 Mr. Kirby. Yes.
9 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to 10 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 USC Section 11 1001.
12 Do you understand this?
13 Mr. Kirby. Yes.
14 [redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to 15 today's questions?
16 Mr. Kirby. No.
17 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss
18 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this
19 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.
20 For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with 21 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those
22 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.
23 That is the end of my preamble. Is there anything that my colleagues from the 24 minority would like to add?
25 [redacted] We thank the witness for appearing voluntarily today.

1 I also note that this interview is being video'd. The practice has been that the
2 Republicans have not been video'ing current agency employees, and I'm not sure if there
3 was a discussion in advance.
4 I know we are -- the minority staff is usually taken off of emails, so if there was a
5 discussion we might've been excluded from it, but I don't know if there was an agreement
6 reached. I do know that this is not practice for the way that the majority has been
7 proceeding.
8 [redacted] Counsel, do you have anything?
9 [redacted] I mean, it wasn't flagged for us beforehand. I don't think we 10 have any objection to proceeding this way, but --
11 [redacted] Okay.
12 [redacted] Then I would also note that, again, the minority has not had any of 13 the videos made available to them. I understand the quality is not very good, so that 14 might be part of the reason. But we have not had any videos made available to us, and 15 that does create concerns about transparency.
16 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:08. We will start the first hour of 17 questioning.
18 [redacted] We do -- sorry, beforehand, just like we flagged before, we do
19 want to, given the content and the nature of this investigation, want to sort of, again, put 20 on the record with all of you that the BSA provides the suspicious activity reports and a 21 number of other reports, and any information that would reveal the existence thereof is 22 confidential.
23 Unauthorized disclosure of this information is a violation of Federal law. It's 24 subject to civil and criminal penalties. It also can cause, frankly, unjustifiable and 25 irreparable harm to people who are named in these and to national security and to law

1 enforcement interests.

2 So to the extent there is any testimony today concerning a particular SAR -- again,
3 I don't anticipate that there will be -- or any testimony that would reveal the existence of 4 a SAR or lack thereof, we would ask that the committee redact those portions of the 5 transcript, not make them publicly available, as, again, we think any type of disclosure of 6 that nature would cause harm to ongoing law enforcement equities and to national 7 security.

8 Mr. Kirby. And could I start with making an opening statement? Is 9 that permissible?

10 [redacted] Yes.

11 Mr. Kirby. Okay. It's short. I promise.

12 So good morning. My name is Jimmy Kirby, and I serve as deputy director of the 13 Financial Crimes Enforcement Network.

14 FinCEN is a bureau of the Treasury Department and a key component of Treasury's
15 Office of Terrorism and Financial Intelligence, or TFI.

16 I have been with Treasury for almost 18 years, virtually all of that time supporting
17 Treasury's national security and counter-illicit finance mission set.

18 I started my Treasury career in the Department's Office of General Counsel in 19 2006 supporting Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control, or OFAC, and I served in the 20 Legal Division until September 2020.

21 I spent more than 8 years in the OFAC counsel's office focused on a range of 22 priority national security matters, including enforcing Iran and North Korea-related 23 sanctions, as well as sanctions targeting global narcotics trafficking networks.

24 In late 2015, I was detailed to lead the FinCEN Chief Counsel's Office, and I served
25 as FinCEN's chief counsel from July 2016 to September 2020.

1 Following that role, I served as the associate director of FinCEN's Intelligence
2 Division, now known as the Research and Analysis Division, from October '20 to July 2022,
3 and I assumed my current position at the end of last year following extended periods as
4 the acting deputy director of FinCEN from July 2022 to December 2023.
5 I am here today in a voluntary capacity to answer your questions regarding FinCEN
6 actions supporting law enforcement in response to the events of January 6th, 2021, and 7 law enforcement's efforts to secure the inauguration thereafter.
8 Thank you for giving me the opportunity to make this statement.
9 EXAMINATION
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q Mr. Kirby, your opening statement touched on this. When did you first join
12 FinCEN?
13 A I was detailed to FinCEN around November of 2015, is when I first arrived.
14 Q And why did you join FinCEN?
15 A I was -- I had been working at the Main Treasury Department already in the 16 Office of General Counsel, and there was a vacancy that arose, the FinCEN chief counsel
17 position, and I was detailed from Main Treasury to assume the duties of that role.
18 Q And when did you first join the Department of Treasury?
19 A In September of 2006, give or take. Pretty sure September's right. I know
20 2006 is.
21 Q And what was your key motivation for joining Treasury and FinCEN?
22 A I had been in private practice here in Washington, and a substantial portion
23 of my practice prior to coming into government was in the OFAC, the Office of Foreign 24 Assets Control, economic sanctions space.
25 And so I was fortunate enough to get a job in the counsel's office where I had the

1 opportunity to do more of that work on behalf of the Department.

2 Q And what is your current position?

3 A I am the deputy director of FinCEN.

4 Q And can you describe your role and responsibilities as the deputy director of

5 FinCEN?

6 A I support the director in her management of the bureau's operations, and as

7 well as sort of supporting leadership -- again, the director -- in terms of ensuring FinCEN

8 meets our sort of mission goals and mission sets.

9 Q How many people do you oversee in your role?

10 A I believe our current head count is approximately 280, give or take a few

11 either direction, so approximately 280. So I support -- I manage, for all intents and

12 purposes, the senior executives principally that oversee the sort of different divisions of 13 the organization and the workforce.

14 Q And in 2021 what was your position?

15 A In 2021 I was the associate director of the then-Intelligence Division of

16 FinCEN.

17 Q And how long were you the associate director of the Intelligence Division?

18 A So I started that job in October of 2020, and I moved out of the role in the

19 summer of 2022, I think July of 2022, to serve as acting deputy director. So that's, I

20 guess, about a year and a half, maybe a little more, give or take.

21 Q And when you were in that role, what were your responsibilities?

22 A To sort of manage the operations of the Intelligence Division and to, again,

23 sort of support the other components of FinCEN with regard to their analytic research

24 needs of -- based on our -- the reporting that comes to FinCEN under the Bank Secrecy

25 Act.

1 Q And can you describe the organizational structure of the Intelligence Division
2 and how it fits within FinCEN?
3 A Sure. Then or now?
4 Q Then.
5 A Then.
6 So then, when I took that job in late 2020, if my recollection is correct, I believe 7 the position had been vacant essentially for the prior 2 years-ish, and at the time it was 8 divided into, I think, three offices.
9 So there was a deputy associate director and then three office directors that 10 reported to that deputy director, and there was an Office of Western Hemisphere Affairs,
11 an office of transnational issues, and then a -- I believe the last one was an analytic and 12 research office.
13 Q And who is your direct supervisor as the associate director?
14 A When I started the position, the deputy director of FinCEN at the time was 15 Michael Mosier.
16 At some point early -- relatively early in the current administration, Michael 17 moved out of that job, I think it was in Q1 of 2021, and AnnaLou Tirol moved into that 18 position. So AnnaLou became -- Ms. Tirol, my apologies -- became my supervisor.
19 Q And when did she become your supervisor?
20 A I think it's approximately December 2021, around in there. I mean, I'm 21 sorry, February 2021. I've gotten my calendars backwards in my head.
22 Q That's okay.
23 A There you go. Sorry.
24 Q And how many employees did you oversee in the Intelligence Division?
25 A I would say approximately 50, maybe a little more -- maybe a little more at

1 times. But I think approximately 50 to 55.

2 Q And is it a similar head count now?

3 A I think so, yes. I think their head count is in the 50s now. I'd have to sort

4 of confirm that. But it's about the same size.

5 Q And what was the mission of the Intelligence Division?

6 A So FinCEN's overall mission is to protect the U.S. financial system from illicit

7 finance. We do that in a number of ways, and one of them is through research and

8 analysis of the information filed with FinCEN pursuant to the Bank Secrecy Act.

9 And so a key function of the Intelligence Division is it's staffed with analysts who

10 are knowledgeable in terms of that data and different ways to support the mission set.

11 So, for instance, at the moment, a big part of their function is supporting our work

12 to sort of counter fentanyl in support of law enforcement.

13 So it would be very common for analysts in the then-Intelligence Division and now

14 Research and Analysis Division to be working sort of like very closely with law

15 enforcement on sort of priority issues or individual cases with a particular law

16 enforcement agent.

17 Q And why did the name change?

18 A I think a couple reasons for that.

19 One was our function -- FinCEN's functions were substantially modified by the 20 Anti-Money Laundering Act of 2020. And so y'all are probably familiar with we have a 21 new beneficial ownership reporting program that was contained in that statute.

22 There are also other things contained in that statute. Congress established an

23 analytic hub at FinCEN, which is now housed in this division. They set forth certain -- a

24 requirement that we regularly publish certain trends information based on information

25 filed with us, which I think we're required to do that at least twice a year.

1 And so we've been doing that since the statute was enacted in 2021 on sort of any
2 number of priority issues -- ransomware, other financial exploitation, and the like.
3 So the name change, one, reflected some of the changed responsibilities in the 4 division post this congressional act, and also to give a little bit more clarity as a practical
5 matter on what the division does.
6 FinCEN is not part of the intelligence community, the Intelligence Division was not
7 part of the intelligence community, and it wasn't always clear to folks what that term
8 meant. Whereas, research and analysis I think is a little more transparent in that regard
9 in terms of what the folks sitting in that division are doing on a day-to-day basis.
10 [redacted] And just so the record is clear, what role were you in when the 11 name change took place?
12 Mr. Kirby. I was the acting deputy director. I think that happened late last 13 year. We could confirm that if that's necessary, but I'm pretty sure it was late last year
14 when that happened.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q How frequently did you interact with FinCEN leadership as the associate
17 director?
18 A I would say pretty regularly.
19 So there's sort of a series of standing meetings, check-ins with leadership. There
20 would be, if I'm correctly recalling, sort of regular senior staff meetings.
21 And then on -- if there was certain particular like individual -- I would say, yes,
22 pretty regularly. That's kind of a mumbling answer, but I think that's the best answer I
23 have.
24 Q Would you say weekly? Daily?
25 A I would say, yeah, weekly. I don't know about daily.

1 Q Okay.

2 A Most of the time that I was in that role -- I changed into that role during

3 COVID. And so we weren't sitting around a table like this talking to each other, which

4 had been the practice prior to COVID during that period of time. But still, yes, regular

5 interaction with senior leadership.

6 Q And that would include the then-director of FinCEN?

7 A Correct, yes.

8 Q Okay. And how often did you interact with the Department of Justice?

9 A Me directly? Actually, me directly, I wouldn't say actually that was all that

10 common. That would've been more common, for example, in my prior role, the role I

11 had before the associate director position as chief counsel, because a key portion of that

12 job was actually supervising litigation involving FinCEN.

13 So in the run-up to me changing jobs in 2020, then numerous -- I wouldn't say

14 numerous -- we'll say three -- two or three substantial litigations in which we were in

15 regular contact with the Justice Department because of the need to file briefs, do case

16 coordination, strategy, that sort of stuff. I certainly did not have that kind of regular

17 interaction with the Justice Department when I moved out of the Legal Division.

18 Q And now how often do you interact with the Justice Department?

19 A Again, I would say it's not a regular thing for me in terms of my current

20 day-to-day job. If there's an interagency meeting where I'm attending, someone from 21 the Justice Department is attending, those are not very common for me. But, yeah, I

22 would say it's not a frequent occurrence.

23 [redacted] And just to clarify, when you were talking about your prior role

24 interacting with DOJ in connection with these litigation matters, what parts of DOJ would

25 you generally be interacting with?

1 Mr. Kirby. Oh, so principally the Civil Division. So the office -- the Federal
2 Programs Branch in the Civil Division represented us in one of the litigations I'm recalling,
3 and then also the Civil Division of U.S. Attorney's Offices, because, again, these were all
4 civil litigations that I'm thinking of at the moment.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q And prior to joining the Department of Treasury, you said that you worked in 7 private practice?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And were there any other positions before private practice?
10 A I clerked for a Federal judge after leaving law school for a little over a year in 11 Dallas, and then I -- when finishing that I went back to school, did an additional degree,
12 before coming and joining the law firm here in D.C., which was about 3 years there.
13 Q And what was that additional degree?
14 A Public international law at a law school in London.
15 Q Are you a licensed lawyer?
16 A I am, yes.
17 Q When did you become licensed?
18 A So I took the bar in 2001, so I'm going to go with 2001 is when I became 19 licensed.
20 Q And were you a lawyer throughout your tenure at Treasury and FinCEN?
21 A Yes. I am still a lawyer, so technically yes, though I do no longer work in a
22 legal role.
23 [redacted] Have you worked for any financial institutions?
24 Mr. Kirby. No.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Is the associate director of the Intelligence Division functionally the head of
2 the division?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And how did your role relate to the operation of the FinCEN Exchange?
5 A So the FinCEN Exchange was codified in the Anti-Money Laundering Act of 6 2020 that I mentioned before.
7 Management of that function is actually housed in a different division and was 8 housed at the time in a different division of FinCEN, the Strategic Operations Division.
9 The predecessor to the current FinCEN Exchange program -- so we had a program
10 in this space prior to the AML -- was also housed in that Strategic Operations Division.
11 Q And what program was that?
12 A It was still called FinCEN Exchange.
13 Q Okay.
14 A But it was sort of codified and formalized by Congress in the Anti-Money
15 Laundering Act of 2020.
16 Q And the Strategic Operations Division is primarily responsible for the FinCEN
17 Exchange?
18 A Yes, that's correct.
19 Q And that is separate and apart from the Intelligence Division?
20 A That is correct.
21 Q And so your role in relation to the FinCEN Exchange was limited?
22 A Yes, that is correct.
23 Q How does the FinCEN Exchange influence operations at FinCEN?
24 A Hmm.
25 So the FinCEN Exchange is probably our premier public-private partnership, and

1 it's a way for the private sector and different parts of government to come together and
2 share information on priority topics.
3 So a good example of that at the moment is our Project Protect FinCEN Exchange
4 series, which we are doing across the country this year in connection with the Treasury
5 Counter-Fentanyl Strike Force as a way of bringing regional and local banks together with 6 law enforcement and others as a way of sharing typologies and other information to sort
7 of help more broadly -- help financial institutions and others recognize transactions that 8 may involve fentanyl trafficking, but also just to sort of share information and practices.
9 That's a current example of how it is used. Combating fentanyl trafficking is 10 obviously a very high priority for us at the Treasury Department.
11 But it could sort of be on any number of priorities like that where the idea is to 12 sort of share knowledge and expertise. And so we've also done them on countering
13 Russian sanctions evasion. We've done them on different types of money laundering
14 typologies. So it is meant to be a venue that people could come together and share
15 information.
16 Q And where does that information typically originate from?
17 A I don't know if there's a typical. Based on my understanding of the 18 program, sometimes it's -- it may be law enforcement coming and giving a presentation 19 on -- again, going back to fentanyl -- different aspects of fentanyl trafficking; or it may be 20 a financial institution sharing expertise about different ways they analyze the information
21 they have to sort of identify illicit finance threats.
22 Q Would those materials ever come from the Intelligence Division?
23 A Yes. It is not uncommon for -- going back to my fentanyl Project Protect 24 example -- analysts that work on the fentanyl mission set do regularly participate in the 25 FinCEN Exchanges.

1 Q And when material was exchanged with the FinCEN Exchange that came
2 from the Intelligence Division, would you have a role in reviewing and approving those
3 materials?
4 [redacted] Can you be a little more specific with that? Like, we're talking
5 in sort of very high generality. So is there something specific you want to ask him about,
6 some specific materials, or, like, more specificity with that question?
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q I'm just asking for process. So if the Intelligence Division is sharing material
9 to the FinCEN Exchange, which you've testified that it has, what was your role in getting 10 that material approved and out the door?
11 A I think it would -- I actually -- I think it would depend. Again, given the 12 timeframe is the reason that I'm here, I had been in the position about 90 days when the 13 FinCEN Exchanges that I understand are one of the focuses of this investigation began.
14 So to the extent there were materials that had already been sort of approved, like 15 developed and approved, I would not have expected those necessarily to come back to 16 me for additional approval if they were something that was essentially on the shelf, for 17 lack of a better way of putting it.
18 And I don't think -- sort of, like, this is old recollection at this point, but my 19 recollection is that it wouldn't necessarily be there for every exchange. Something that 20 the Intelligence Division analysts may be presenting in that environment would've come 21 to me for clearance beforehand.
22 Q How does -- how did your role relate to the operation of the Bank Secrecy
23 Act Advisory Group?
24 A So the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group is another function that is actually
25 principally housed then and now in our Strategic Operations Division. It's another form

1 of essentially public-private partnership. So my role then would've been actually quite
2 minimal in connection with the sort of operations of that function.
3 Q And are you more involved with that function now?
4 A Yes.
5 Q How so?
6 A So there was a BSAAG -- for example, there was a BSAAG meeting earlier this
7 year, of which I gave the opening remarks in connection with that event. So that is not
8 something that I would've done in a prior and I did not do in a prior role. That is 9 different in the role that I'm in now.
10 Q And how does the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group influence operations at 11 FinCEN or the Department of Treasury?
12 [redacted] Can you explain what you mean by influence?
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q Change. I mean, it's an advisory group.
15 A Yeah. I mean, I think it's an opportunity for -- it's another way for us to sort 16 of hear from and learn from, in this case, usually actors that are actually subject to the 17 requirements of the Bank Secrecy Act in terms of their views and perspectives on any 18 number of sort of regulatory or enforcement or things like that.
19 And influence is sort of hard for me to sort of define one way or the other, but in 20 its, I think, proper form, in its current form, it's an avenue for us to hear views from the 21 sector.
22 I don't know if that answered your question.
23 Q I think so.
24 A Okay.
25 Q Do you know AnnaLou Tirol?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And what was her role in operations at FinCEN?

3 A When she arrived at FinCEN she arrived as the associate director for the 4 Strategic Operations Division. And I'm sorry, but I can't actually recall the date on that.

5 I think I cut you off though from something else.

6 Q What was your professional relationship with her?

7 A So when she arrived at FinCEN, my recollection, I think it was still when I was

8 the chief counsel, so she would've been my, for all intents and purposes, my client at the

9 time. And then when I moved over to the Intelligence Division in late 2020, she 10 would've been my peer. And then in early 2021, she became my manager.

11 Q And do you know [redacted]?

12 A I do know [redacted] yes.

13 Q And what was her role in operations at FinCEN?

14 A If I remember correctly, [redacted] came to FinCEN as the chief of staff. At the 15 time, I was the chief counsel, so, again, she would've been my client. And then we both

16 transferred to the Intelligence Division around the same time in October of 2020, and at 17 that point she would've served as my deputy.

18 Q And do you know [redacted]?

19 A I do know [redacted], yes.

20 Q And what was your relationship with [redacted]?

21 A [redacted] was an employee in FinCEN's Strategic Operations Division or its

22 predecessor, I think, for the entirety of our -- he's no longer with FinCEN, but I think for

23 the entirety of his time at FinCEN that we overlapped, I think he was in that division the 24 entire time.

25 Q Do the different divisions within FinCEN that you've described, do they

1 interact frequently, or would you say they're more siloed?

2 A Yes, they do interact. My current and prior understanding is that teams

3 interact regularly.

4 Q And does each division interact with the private sector?

5 A Do you mean in like a regulatory sort of like supervisory way?

6 Q Just in terms of contact with the private sector.

7 A So I think it would vary based on division, would probably be the best

8 answer I could give you.

9 So, for instance, our like Management Division, the folks that sort of run HR and

10 run like services and that sort of stuff, I would think of their private sector interaction as

11 more like managing contractors and managing contracts, dealing with vendors, that sort

12 of stuff.

13 Whereas the more like policy-facing operations at FinCEN -- the Policy Division,

14 the Strategic Operations Division, the Enforcement and Compliance Division, and the 15 Research and Analysis Division, probably along with our Chief Counsel's Office as well -- in

16 different ways, in different fora, not necessarily uncommon for them to interact with 17 different parts of the private sector.

18 Q And did you work closely with the Office of Stakeholder Integration and 19 Engagement?

20 A No, I don't think so. I was aware of what they did, their function at the 21 agency, but I wouldn't say that I worked with them a lot.

22 Q Did you interact with [redacted]

23 A Yes.

24 Q How frequently?

25 A I would not actually say it was that frequent, because at least my normal

1 interactions with that division, if my recollection is correct, [redacted] was sort of a mid-level
2 manager in that division. I would've probably interacted with his more senior managers
3 when I was interacting with that division more than I interacted with him directly.
4 Q And who would that have been?
5 A That would've probably been, again, AnnaLou in the first instance.
6 AnnaLou was the head of that division when I moved to the Intelligence Division.
7 Q And just so we have a clear record, which division was that?
8 A I moved to the Intelligence Division, and AnnaLou was the head of the 9 Strategic Operations Division at that time.
10 Q And did your office, the Intelligence Division, rely on the Office of 11 Stakeholder Integration to share Intelligence Division material?
12 A Yes, in the context of things like if employees were participating in 13 the -- actually, maybe not. I'm not actually sure.
14 So let me answer your question as I understand it, because I'm not sure my "yes"
15 is 100 percent right.
16 They would have interacted with that office if they were participating in a FinCEN
17 Exchange or if they were doing a presentation at a Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group
18 meeting.
19 [redacted] I'm sorry, who's the "they" in this?
20 Mr. Kirby. Intelligence Division employees.
21 [redacted] Thank you.
22 Mr. Kirby. I'm sorry. I'm slipping into pronouns and acronyms quite a bit, so
23 please stop me when I do that.
24 So it would have not been uncommon for them to interact with that office if they 25 were participating in a public-private partnership like that. And it would not have been

1 uncommon for them to share what they were going to be presenting with that office.
2 Does that answer your question?
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q Yes.
5 A Okay.
6 Q Would you ever share materials with the Office of Stakeholder Integration
7 and Engagement for distribution with the private sector?
8 A I don't know that that was a common -- I don't know that that was 9 necessarily common. But I also don't know that it's not something that would've
10 happened, particularly with regard to -- for instance, if you're talking to folks on the Bank
11 Secrecy Act Advisory Committee, you might share information with them for the 12 presentation so that folks are speaking from sort of a common set of facts, and it can give 13 a more robust -- that's sort of me speculating. But that's one scenario in which I could 14 see that playing out.
15 Q And when you were the associate director of the Intelligence Division, did
16 you interact with private sector entities?
17 A Yes.
18 Q And what types of private sector entities did you work with?
19 A So I did participate in a -- so one example would be I did -- I did participate in 20 FinCEN Exchange.
21 Am I allowed to talk about FinCEN Exchanges? I think I am.
22 [redacted] Uh-huh.
23 Mr. Kirby. Okay. Thank you.
24 That's why we always have to have the lawyers nearby.
25 And so I participated in FinCEN Exchanges involving, for instance, like

1 counter-Russia illicit finance after Russia invaded Ukraine.

2 And that's actually, in the Intelligence Division, the sort of most direct

3 circumstance I remember interacting with the private sector. Again, it was different

4 than when I was the chief counsel where you'd be interacting more with like opposing

5 counsel and stuff like that.

6 But I don't remember that being a sort of frequent thing that I did in the

7 Intelligence Division compared to, for instance, my job now where it's much more

8 common for me to interact with the public and the private sector than the job I had

9 before this one.

10 [redacted] And were those primarily financial institutions?

11 Mr. Kirby. I think so, yes.

12 [redacted] What sorts of nonfinancial institutions would you work with?

13 Mr. Kirby. I actually can't recall any off the top of my head that would not have 14 been considered financial institutions under our regulations.

15 [redacted] Would you have interacted with law enforcement entities in this

16 role?

17 Mr. Kirby. Yes, but I'm trying to think when.

18 So, for instance, going back to my Russia example, we worked with a lot of law

19 enforcement agencies in connection with trying to identify oligarch assets or other sort of 20 illicit assets.

21 And so we have worked very closely with not just sort of like the traditional law

22 enforcement at the Justice Department, but also the Bureau of Industry and Security at

23 the Commerce Department in terms of trying to share information to counter improper

24 exports and sanctions evasion by Russian actors for U.S.-origin or U.S.-restricted goods.

25 So I think some aspects of BIS are technically -- I'm sorry, Bureau of Industry and

1 Security -- are technically considered law enforcement. So in those circumstances -- but
2 I wouldn't have been the principal interlocutor with them, but in those circumstances I
3 would expect that I would have had interaction with those folks.
4 [redacted] How do you decide who to partner with in the private sector?
5 Mr. Kirby. I think it kind of depends on the topic and the mission set. And so
6 going back -- and I'm sorry, I keep going back to this example, but it's one we're doing a
7 lot right now, the fentanyl set. The Protect Exchange series that were really the priority
8 for us at the moment, a lot of the financial institutions that we're inviting to those 9 sessions are sort of regional and local banks as a way of sort of, as they're closer to their 10 communities, to ensure that we're sharing information in sort of like all levels of the 11 financial sector.
12 In terms of pulling together a FinCEN Exchange, you would sort of think about who 13 are the right law enforcement partners who were working on the topic or that have 14 expressed an interest in doing an exchange.
15 So I think some of it is sort of organic around the topic, the setting, the mission
16 set.
17 Going back to my Russia example, many of the agencies I mentioned are the 18 agencies you would expect to be working in that space. BIS, the Bureau of Industry and 19 Security, they're very focused on avoiding improper shipments to folks who are not 20 supposed to get them. Same with like oligarch money-laundering assets you would be 21 working with FBI and others; fentanyl you'd be working with DEA and others.
22 So, again, there's sort of -- it can change based on the mission set and setting.
23 [redacted] But just to make sure so the record was clear.
24 So I think the record was, how do you decide who to partner with?
25 Mr. Kirby. Oh.

1 [redacted] So I just want to make sure the record is clear on, when you
2 were in the role as the AD of the Intelligence Division, would you have been making those
3 decisions?
4 Mr. Kirby. No, I would not. I'm sorry if I missed that.
5 [redacted] Who would have been making those decisions?
6 Mr. Kirby. Again, principally that function was housed in the Strategic 7 Operations Division, so I think in that division sort of up to FinCEN front office at the time.
8 But principally I think the Strategic Operations Division would have been the sort of 9 interlocutor and coordinator in that space.
10 [redacted] Were those relationships preexisting?
11 [redacted] Which relationships?
12 [redacted] The relationships with the private sector in terms of the folks that 13 the Strategic Operations Division is interacting with. Are you cold reaching out to 14 institutions, or is there a list of partners FinCEN has?
15 [redacted] I think to the extent he knows, since he's just said that 16 would've been housed in a different division at the time and he wasn't the one making
17 those decisions.

1

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Sure. He's the deputy director now.

4 A So maybe I'll -- yeah, let me try that a couple different ways.

5 So some would be longstanding. So, for instance, we have a longstanding

6 partnership with most of your major law enforcement agencies. I don't think that would

7 surprise anyone given the nature of our mission. So we work very closely with the FBI,

8 at times we work very closely with DEA, just given the nature of our mission set.

9 And so with regard to -- so I think if you're asking like do we cold call in that space,

10 I think that would probably -- my expectation would be that would be a more organic

11 exchange. Sometimes it's partners want to have a FinCEN Exchange on a topic, have an 12 idea of the topic and the location and how that would be helpful.

13 With regard to private sector components, some may be entities that have

14 interacted with FinCEN in the past. I think some may be those that haven't. And I

15 think the Project Protect series I mentioned before that's focused on fentanyl you have

16 really a focus there on trying to reach regional, local banks to sort of share information

17 with them.

18 So while I don't know specifically how much of those may have involved like

19 someone participating in the exchange had a relationship with bank A, bank B, or bank C,

20 it would not surprise me if in a space of trying to reach out to make sure we're reaching

21 broadly in these spaces that you may -- some of that may be reaching out to a bank or

22 another partner that hasn't previously been in an exchange with us.

23 So I think it may be a mix. Hopefully that answered the question.

24 Q Were there tensions with the private sector? Were there ever

25 disagreements?

1 A So that one you're going to have to help me with being a little bit more
2 specific, because we also house an enforcement function at FinCEN. So that tends to
3 not be a kumbaya space. So if, you know --
4 Q In terms of receiving material or sharing material with the private sector,
5 vice versa.
6 A I think it's important -- one aspect of the FinCEN Exchange I think sometimes
7 that gets lost is that these are voluntary exchanges. They're voluntary. We don't order
8 people to show up at FinCEN Exchanges. The people on BSAAG apply to be on BSAAG.
9 So they're not folks that we've ordered to show up for those events either.
10 So I would say, at least in those types of exchange spaces, you're already starting 11 from a space of folks have asked to be there. And so while I'm not entirely sure what
12 would count as tension, I think you're starting from a space that the people in the room
13 have raised their hand generally to be in the room.
14 Q And you've testified to this, but FinCEN has oversight responsibilities over 15 the financial institutions?
16 A That's correct. We are the administrator of the Bank Secrecy Act, which 17 sets forth a number of anti-money laundering and counterterrorism finance regulatory 18 obligations for U.S. financial institutions and others.
19 Q And did the Intelligence Division have oversight responsibility?
20 A I don't think that's how it would normally be described.
21 So I think the principal role of the financial -- the Intelligence Division in this space
22 would be the analytic expertise that the analysts bring to being able to sort of review the 23 suspicious activity reports and other information that the financial sector and others file
24 with FinCEN pursuant to the Bank Secrecy Act.
25 They may support, in an analytic sense, efforts in, say, the Global Investigations

1 Division, in the sort of 311. I don't know if you all are familiar with that authority. It's 2 a PATRIOT Act authority that allows targeting foreign financial institutions in foreign
3 jurisdictions, a primary money-laundering concern.
4 So, for example, Iran, North Korea are right now designated as foreign financial 5 institutions of primary money-laundering concern, for example. So they may 6 support -- provide analytic support for work like that in that division or they may 7 provide --
8 Q What does that analytic support look like?
9 A It might be looking at things like SARs we receive on a certain topic. So
10 if -- so the -- to take two steps back, to give you a not fentanyl example, because I feel like 11 I'm giving you that example a lot, the Cyber and Emerging Technology Office at FinCEN is 12 housed in the Intelligence Division. It's now full-blown one of the three divisions I
13 mentioned to you before in the organizational structure. That division houses a lot of 14 FinCEN's expertise in that space.
15 So to the extent the Global Investigations Division is looking at using one of our 16 targeting authorities against a foreign illicit finance threat, they may look -- and it would 17 not be uncommon for them to look -- to the analytic expertise housed in that office if 18 they're looking at illicit activity involving virtual assets, things like bitcoin, Monero, Ether, 19 things like that.
20 So that would be a regular area for them to collaborate, the employees in the 21 Intelligence -- the Research and Analysis Division supporting the work of the employees in 22 our Global Investigations Division, maybe our Policy Division, if they're putting together
23 an alert or an advisory on the topic and they're looking to discern sort of filing trends,
24 filing typologies in a certain space.
25 The analysts in the Research and Analysis Division could support that work on a

1 topic that they are already familiar with. So that's what the support would frequently
2 look like.
3 Q And just back to the original question, how does the Intelligence Division's
4 analytics support the enforcement aspect?
5 A So one aspect of that might be -- I think it was -- that one's harder for me,
6 because I'm having a hard time coming up with a specific example of that.
7 But if an enforcement case were evaluating has this financial institution filed
8 with -- SARs with FinCEN that they are supposed to file, that would not be an unusual
9 thing, in my opinion, for someone in the Enforcement Division to reach out to an
10 employee in the Research and Analysis Division or a team in the Research and Analysis
11 Division and coordinate with them, because we also have a data quality metrics team in 12 our Research and Analysis Division who is very sort of good at sort of checking those sorts
13 of things for other teams.
14 Q Coordinate and check in terms of have they filed SARs? Are they filing the 15 things that they should be?
16 A Yes.
17 Q Are they -- okay.
18 A They can also check like how many have they filed. They can also check
19 how many using certain SAR filing codes and things like that.
20 So a lot of the expertise of analyzing the filings that we get is housed in the 21 Research and Analysis Division. There may be employees in other parts of FinCEN that 22 have that expertise as well, but the real -- the sort of concentration of that expertise is in 23 our Research and Analysis Division.
24 Q And changing gears some, did you engage with Google regarding domestic 25 violent extremism?

A I do -- no, I do not recall doing that.

Q I'd like to now enter an email from Aaron Weiss, Western Union, to dated April 19th, 2021, with the subject line "Capitol Riots/DVE" into the record as exhibit 1. Take some time to review.

[Kirby Exhibit No. 1
was marked for identification.]

It looks like this is just the first page. Is there a beginning of this email, second page?

No. This is the exchange that we're introducing.

Okay. So for the record, is there additional context that began this email chain?

No, there's not.

So there's no emails before the email at the very bottom of this document on this chain?

This could be a part of a larger chain.

Okay. So you don't know one way or the other whether there's any emails before this that would give this context?

I just want to ask about this specific exchange.

Okay, without providing the full document or the full context. That's what I want to be clear on the record, especially since he's not on this email.

And this is the document that we've been -- we've received from a financial institution, and this is the relevant excerpt.

, if it's helpful, we can pull up the document production and see what, I think it would be, 256 or 258 says.

I think we just want to know for the record like is this the full email or not.

[redacted] That's understood, and I think it's noted for the record. But I think we should just move forward with this. I'm not prepared to get into super detail with this email.

I just want to ask whether you can describe any conversations FinCEN may have had with Google.

[redacted] Also noting for the record that he's, of course, not on this email.

[redacted] Your note has been made for the record.

Mr. Kirby. So, yeah, not being on the email, I don't recall ever having seen this email before, and I don't recall any conversations with Google on this topic.

[redacted] Are you aware of any financial intelligence received from Google regarding the Capitol riots or DVE?

Mr. Kirby. No, not that I recall.

[redacted] Do you know why FinCEN may have been in touch with Google?

Mr. Kirby. Beyond what's on this piece of paper, no.

[redacted] In your role as associate director of the Intelligence Division, would you have -- would Google be one of the private sector entities that you would communicate with?

Mr. Kirby. I don't recall having communications with Google in that role. But just given who Google is and what they do, like it wouldn't -- it doesn't necessarily surprise me that FinCEN would have communications with Google. It's just I'm not familiar with this exchange.

[redacted] We can move on.

Mr. Kirby. Okay.

1 Do you want this back?

2 [redacted] Sure.

3 [redacted] We'll take this back.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Shifting back again. Does FinCEN have a role in the creation and filing of

6 SARs?

7 A So I'm going to deconstruct your question a little bit, because the 8 creation -- I'm not really sure what that means. But on the filing side, we are the 9 repository for financial institutions when they file SARs. So when you say creation,

10 could I ask what you mean by creation?

11 Q Yes. Does FinCEN ever direct financial institutions to file certain kinds of 12 SARs?

13 A I think the answer to that is no, but I'm not actually sure. Maybe I can put

14 some meat on that because I don't know that's -- I want to make sure I'm complete and 15 clear.

16 We are the administrator of the statute that requires the filing of SARs. And so

17 Congress has set forth a requirement in this regard. The regulations implementing that

18 are administered by FinCEN.

19 FinCEN regularly publishes advisories, alerts, and other sort of public-facing

20 material to advise the financial sector and others of illicit finance threats.

21 So within the last couple weeks we've filed one on fentanyl. We have put -- over

22 the course of this year we have materials that we've published on elder financial

23 exploitation, online exploitation of children.

24 These are things we put out for the sector in terms of trying to share information

25 with the public, particularly the financial sector, regarding illicit finance threats in a way

1 of hopefully helping folks identify this activity, file SARs with FinCEN that are then
2 available to law enforcement to support USG and other efforts to sort of combat these 3 issues.
4 So that's how I would sort of describe our role in that space. I don't think of it as 5 creation; I think of it as we're the administrator of the statute.
6 Financial institutions have the obligation under the regulations in the statute to 7 stand up their anti-money laundering program, identify suspicious activity, file it with 8 FinCEN, and we share information to sort of help them sort of identify suspicious or illicit 9 activity in a number of areas, but not all areas.
10 Q And does the Intelligence Division help identify potentially suspicious
11 activity?
12 A So at the Intelligence Division, now the Research and Analysis Division, it 13 would not be uncommon for analysts in that division to -- so the alert advisory function is 14 principally housed in FinCEN's Policy Division.
15 It would not be uncommon for analysts in the Research and Analysis Division to 16 support their colleagues in the Policy Division with regard to evaluating filings that we've 17 received, looking for information that we could sort of push out to the public and others
18 to sort of, again, help raise awareness of illicit finance threats, but also sort of guide the 19 sector in terms of hopefully being able to identify this type of activity and to file it with 20 FinCEN.
21 Q And how does that analysis occur? What tools are they using? What 22 sorts of things are they utilizing to identify things that may be worthy of sharing a
23 suspicious activity?
24 A Okay.
25 [redacted] Could I just -- I think just to --

1 Mr. Kirby. That's a long answer.

2 [redacted] I was just also going to clarify what you mean by identify as

3 suspicious activity, because I think he's just testified a moment ago that that's actually the

4 banks that support suspicious activity and the now-Research and Analysis Division does

5 analysis of that reporting.

6 So when you say identify suspicious activity, can you just explain what exactly you

7 mean by that?

8 [redacted] Yeah. So he also testified that the Intelligence Division helps

9 share materials related to potentially illicit activity and administering the statute, bringing

10 things to the attention of the public.

11 And so I'm asking, when you're analyzing those materials, what does that analysis

12 look like?

1

2 [11:02 a.m.]

3 Mr. Kirby. Here's a couple. I don't want to get too, like, bogged down. I don't

4 think this is a short answer, so I apologize in advance.

5 So some of it is just their expertise in a topic. So, you know, we have -- again, to

6 go back -- sorry I keep going back to this, but I think it is one that is sort of very topical at

7 point -- fentanyl space. We have worked -- we have a close partnership with DEA in

8 terms of identifying and working closely on cases and other matters in that space. So

9 there's a -- there's a familiarity and expertise analysts may have on the topic.

10 There's also the ability to, sort of, identify via key words or the filing code that a

11 financial institution may use for us. So if we've published an -- if we've published a prior

12 document that had -- so, for instance, in the fentanyl space, we have -- there's -- you

13 know, we've previously published in that space.

14 We have a filing code from our last advisory in that space we ask the financial

15 sector to use, identifying -- looking at what we're getting in response to those, sort of,

16 public guidance documents, and evaluating those as to both -- you know, so it's not just

17 the internal piece of that. It's potentially highlighting that to our law enforcement

18 partners or sharing that internally because it may be -- you know, the Policy Division, it

19 may be useful to them in terms of, like, crafting some sort of public document.

20 And then there are other -- you're now going to, sort of, go beyond my, sort of,

21 areas of expertise in terms of the ability to, sort of, engage in data analytics and other

22 things with regard to the filings we have in front of us to identify, sort of, themes,

23 typologies, information and the like.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q And was the Intelligence Division responsible for reviewing SARs?

1 A The Intelligence Division -- the then-Intelligence -- see, I get kind of caught
2 up on this, too. The then-Intelligence, now Research and Analysis Division, like, so they
3 don't review every SAR we get. We get. I think. About 55,000 filings altogether a
4 day. We are an agency of approximately 285 employees.
5 So -- but a big part of their job is -- is identifying the -- is reviewing the filings that
6 we get against the, sort of, prior- -- we have published priorities under the Anti-Money
7 Laundering Act 2020. They're on our website. The statute required us to do that.
8 And so we have -- we have identified a set of AML priorities on our website. We 9 have priorities as set forth by departmental administration leadership. These are sort of 10 long-standing, not different from one administration to the other. They each have their 11 priorities that they want us to focus on.
12 And so they are identifying our filings against these, sort of, priority mission sets
13 whom usually in the context of -- their area of assigned responsibility. So the folks that 14 work on Cyber and Emerging Technology are likely going to be focused on the filings
15 we're getting in connection with things like ransomware or the use of virtual currency to 16 engage in, you know, various illicit things on the internet, like engaging with dark net
17 marketplaces and things like that.
18 So, yes, they do review those materials. They don't review all of them that we 19 get, but it is a key part of their day-to-day function.
20 [redacted] How do employees decide which filings to review? If you're 21 getting 55,000 a day, are you just hoping the ones you review lead to something?
22 Mr. Kirby. So I think there's a couple answers to that question, too.
23 One is actually, sort of, going back to what I mentioned before with regard to the 24 filing codes. You know, one of the advantages of, you know -- pick a topic, fentanyl,
25 elder financial exploitation, ransomware, anywhere we have a published code. One of

1 the reasons we encourage financial institutions to use the code is it makes it much easier
2 for our analysts and our law enforcement partners to identify the filings that would come
3 in on ransomware, elder financial exploitation, et cetera.
4 And then the other are these, sort of, like, analytic tools -- which, again, you're
5 now escaping my -- sort of the outer bounds of my expertise in that regard. No one will 6 ever confuse me with a computer programmer. And so there are a variety of tools that 7 can be, sort of, deployed in that space.
8 [redacted] So is FinCEN using artificial intelligence or machine learning to 9 sort through this?
10 Mr. Kirby. I don't -- I don't -- I believe the answer to that is no. I do not believe 11 we're using artificial intelligence. That's my current understanding.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q Are there any --
14 A But you may search -- just to, sort of, finish that thought. But it wouldn't 15 be inappropriate -- or it wouldn't be unusual is a better way of putting it -- for someone to 16 be searching for key words in filings.
17 So even if -- and by that I don't mean the key word the filer used. I mean a SAR
18 usually includes a narrative section, for example. So they may search the narrative 19 section for, sort of, key words, typologies, perhaps the names of certain cartels, for 20 example.
21 So, you know, there is the ability to, sort of, search across documents. You're 22 not just, sort of, like, clicking through every document that came in yesterday sort of 23 thing.
24 Q Are there any codes or typologies that aren't published?
25 A I don't know the answer to that question in a, sort of, definitive way. My

1 expectation would be that most are -- most are public. But I actually don't know if there
2 are others that may not be over time.
3 Q Do you know if financial institutions are using artificial intelligence or 4 machine learning to identify potentially suspicious activity?
5 A I don't know the answer to that in a definitive way. I know that it is an area
6 of interest, but I don't -- I don't know the degree to which -- the degree to which people
7 are varying degrees down the road in that regard.
8 Q You mentioned that it's an area of interest. Could you explain a little bit on
9 that --
10 A Well, by that I mean -- and, frankly, I'm going by just what I read in the 11 papers on that principally of, you know, there's just -- I think there is -- one of the aspects
12 of the Anti-Money Laundering Act was, sort of, a drive to think about different ways to 13 reduce regulatory burden.
14 And so, you know, just from what I read in the press, there's a fair amount of 15 discussion about different ways. AI could be deployed in not just the financial sector but 16 other sectors in the future. But I don't have any sort of specific definitive knowledge of 17 where things are in that regard.
18 Q Does FinCEN ever notify law enforcement of particular SAR filings?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And how does that notification process occur?
21 A I don't know that there is a specific, sort of, definitive, it's always this way,
22 but I don't -- my understanding is that I don't think it would be uncommon. Going back
23 to my, you know, fentanyl example, if an analyst saw something they knew was relevant
24 to a DEA case that they were supporting, they might alert the DEA agent to that.
25 Similarly, you know, to the extent we receive filings on ransomware -- you know,

1 there's a fair amount of interest in combatting ransomware, so to the extent we have
2 relevant filings to that mission set, making the relevant law enforcement agencies aware
3 of that fact is something that I understand happens.
4 [redacted] We can go off the record.
5 [Recess.]
6 [redacted] We are back on the record.
7 EXAMINATION
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Mr. Kirby, you mentioned that you were FinCEN's chief counsel for 10 approximately five years. Is that correct?
11 A Altogether, including actings, yeah, almost five years.
12 Q And so I imagine that you are then well-versed in statutory and regulatory 13 authorities pursuant to which FinCEN operates?
14 A I would like to think so, yes.
15 Q I would certainly hope so. And also the ones that --
16 A You know, we'll see.
17 Q As well as the authorities that FinCEN helps to administer that you discussed
18 earlier?
19 A Yes.
20 Q And you used the term financial intelligence a few times during the previous 21 hour. Can you explain exactly what financial intelligence is.
22 A So when we use that term at FinCEN, we tend to be referring to the 23 information that is filed with us pursuant to the Bank Secrecy Act. So that would be 24 things like suspicious activity reports, forensic transaction reports, you know, those types
25 of reports that financial institutions and others file with FinCEN under the BSA.

1 And when I say BSA, Bank Secrecy Act. I'm trying to watch the acronyms, so --
2 Q Thank you. And just so you know, I'll be saying BSA regularly.
3 A Okay. Okay. Good.
4 Q Can you explain at a high level how the BSA and the financial intelligence
5 that FinCEN obtains through it, how does that help keep Americans safe?
6 A Well, the overarching purpose of the Bank Secrecy Act is set forth in the 7 statute to essentially -- to, sort of, generate reports helpful to law enforcement, helpful to 8 regulatory exams, you know. The purposes are expanded under the AMLA. It also 9 includes, sort of, like, tracing criminal proceeds and things like that.
10 So, you know, I think in terms of keeping people safe, suspicious activity reports, 11 we hear pretty consistently from our law enforcement partners, are a critical tool for 12 them in terms of combatting an array of financial crimes. I'll sort of come back to a
13 topic I mentioned before, you know, be it elderly -- elder financial exploitation. You 14 know, we've done -- we have a lot out in the space.
15 That's an area where, you know, a lot of financial institutions really are on the 16 front line with regard to the risk of things like so-called grandparent scams or romance 17 scams or things like that.
18 And we've worked hard to get information out to the sector in that topic and 19 some others to sort of alert, you know, the folks who may encounter that firsthand, 20 things they could be on the lookout for in terms of red flags, typologies of how that 21 works, et cetera.
22 Q But illicit finance doesn't just refer to crimes that are themselves financial,
23 but also just transactions that further other crimes, like violent offenses or drug
24 trafficking, for example. Is that fair to say?
25 A Yeah, I think that's fair to say.

1 Q Okay. We had a witness from the FBI tell us an example of a situation
2 where he was able to use SARs to identify somebody who was making, I believe it was,
3 bond-making equipment and was able to prevent what seemed like it could have been a
4 very serious tragedy.
5 Does that surprise you that SARs would be helpful in that regard?
6 A No. I mean, my understanding is they are -- they are useful and helpful in a
7 wide array of efforts to combat criminal activity.
8 Q I want to take a step back and ask you about FinCEN's mission. I believe
9 you stated the mission during the previous hour, but I missed some of what you said.
10 So if I could ask you to repeat that, I'd appreciate it.
11 A Sure. And I probably gave you the truncated version. I'm not sure I 12 always get the full thing from memory, but it's -- you know, our principal goal is to 13 support safeguarding U.S. financial system from illicit and criminal use and to support,
14 you know, law enforcement and other efforts to, sort of, combat those actions through 15 the strategic analysis of financial intelligence and other information. That's, essentially,
16 in a nutshell, what we do.
17 Q Your website -- or FinCEN'swebsite. I'm not going to give you ownership of 18 it -- says that FinCEN's mission is to safeguard the financial system from illicit use and 19 combat money laundering and its related crimes, including terrorism, and promote 20 national security through the strategic use of financial authorities and the collection,
21 analysis, and dissemination of financial intelligence.
22 Does that sound right to you?
23 A Yes. That's much more articulate than the way I put it.
24 Q Well, it's a lot easier when you're -- when you have the time to sit and type it
25 up or copy it from -- from the internet, as I just did.

1 So one of the things that FinCEN focuses on is combatting the use of financial
2 systems to finance terrorism, correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q And that is often referred to by the acronym of CFT, combatting the 5 financing of terrorism?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And FinCEN's Anti-Money Laundering activities are referred to often as AML
8 or --
9 A Correct.
10 Q -- generally in the field of -- in this field that acronym is used.
11 In FinCEN's work in countering the financing of terrorism applies to international 12 terrorism but also domestic terrorism here in the United States, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q FinCEN is not a new bureau or agency? I mean, it was established by 15 Congress in 1990. Is that right?
16 A We were initially established, I think, by the Department and then
17 Congress -- I think it was in the Patriot Act, but don't -- we can confirm that -- formally 18 established us as a bureau within the Department reporting to the Under Secretary for 19 Terrorism and Financial Intelligence.
20 Q Okay. My understanding is that in 31 United States Code Section 310 in 21 1990 FinCEN was codified as a bureau within --
22 A I will take your word for that then.
23 Q -- the Treasury Department. Thank you.
24 Separate and apart from FinCEN's regulatory function, in terms of its 25 information-sharing function, would you say that FinCEN essentially works as, sort of, a

1 clearinghouse for law enforcement, the Treasury Department, and financial institutions to
2 share information about trends and issues that they're seeing in illicit finance?
3 A I think that's a fair description. Yes.
4 Q And you talked during the previous hour a little bit about FinCEN's work or 5 collaboration with law enforcement agencies.
6 Why is it important for FinCEN to work with law enforcement agencies?
7 A You know, I think that's, sort of, one of the key functions that Congress has 8 set out for us in the Bank Secrecy Act.
9 When you look at the purposes of the statute, many of them involve combatting
10 criminal and other illegal activity in terms of making information available to them, you 11 know, that's the -- the sort of -- that's sort of embedded into our statutory, sort of,
12 overlay and construct.
13 So it's set forth for us as a key portion of our mission in our statutory -- in our, sort
14 of, overall statutory construct is at least in my mind how I would think about it.
15 Q So is it fair to say that Congress has directed FinCEN to work with law
16 enforcement to help in combatting illicit finance and the various crimes we've talked 17 about?
18 A Yeah. I see that as a key component of our underlying statutory structure.
19 Q And would you say that it's also a key component of your underlying 20 statutory structure to work with financial institutions and share information with them to 21 help them identify illicit transactions or suspicious activities that -- that could be related 22 to illicit conduct?
23 A I do. I see that sort of connecting back in a couple of different ways. You
24 know, one is we are the administrator of the statute, and the goal of the statute is -- at 25 least with regard to SAR filings is, you know, for the -- you know, the statutory construct

1 sets out, you know, the types of information that should be filed with FinCEN in this
2 regard, and as administrative statute see this, sort of, consistent with that in terms of the 3 sharing information that can help those subject to these rules better comply with them.
4 And then, as I said before, you know, the overarching, sort of, purposes section of 5 the statute lays out a number of purposes that involve combatting criminal activity as,
6 sort of, the key functions of the overall statute.
7 Q And --
8 A I'm missing my statute book right now because, as a lawyer, that's what I
9 would be, like, reaching for to actually read it back to you. So I'm -- I'm sorry in that 10 regard.
11 Q I've got Section 310 here. I can --
12 A Actually, the section I was referring to is actually 5311, which lays out the 13 purposes of the overall statute and will sort of lay out all of these different functions that 14 the reporting is meant to support.
15 Q Thank you. And we're going to talk about some of the other statutes
16 briefly as well.
17 But FinCEN is required by statute to maintain a database as a repository for SARs,
18 correct?
19 A Yes, that is correct.
20 Q And to make that database available to law enforcement?
21 A Yes, that is correct.
22 Q And FinCEN is required by statute to analyze and disseminate the data it has 23 and to issue guidelines to help identify criminal activity to appropriate federal, state,
24 local, and tribal law enforcement authorities, correct?
25 A Yes. That is correct. It looks like you have our statute in front of you. So

1 that all sounds right to me.

2 Q And FinCEN is required by statute to establish and maintain a financial

3 crimes communication center to furnish law enforcement authorities with intelligence

4 information related to emerging or ongoing investigations, correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And all of this work FinCEN is doing by statute in the interest of detection,

7 prevention, and prosecution of terrorism, organized crime, money laundering, and other

8 financial crimes, correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And you've talked about some of them at length during the previous hour, in 11 particular fentanyl, which seems to be a big focus.

12 But there's a wide range of crimes that FinCEN helps to -- helps financial 13 institutions to identify transactions that support those crimes, correct?

14 A Yes, that is correct.

15 Q You mentioned financial abuse of elders, I believe you mentioned some sort

16 of child sexual abuse?

17 A Online child sexual exploitation and child sexual abuse material.

18 Q Obviously, we have international and domestic narcotics trafficking --

19 A [Nonverbal response.]

20 Q -- terrorism?

21 A Yes. I'm sorry. I caught myself as soon as -- no nodding. Yes.

22 Q And I'm the only person who didn't catch it.

23 So I want to ask you a couple questions about the Bank Secrecy Act and how it

24 functions.

25 First of all, Bank Secrecy Act has been around for over 50 years. Is that right?

1 A Yes. I think -- I believe the, sort of, initial statute is an early 1970s statute.
2 Q And it's the Bank Secrecy Act that requires financial institutions to file
3 suspicious activity reports, or SARs, correct?
4 A The statute, in conjunction with regulations that have been promulgated by
5 the Treasury Department over the years.
6 Q And under those statutes and regulations, banks are legally obligated under
7 the Bank Secrecy Act to file a SAR for certain transactions that are relevant to a possible
8 violation of criminal law, including terrorism, correct?
9 A That's correct, but it's actually a little broader than that. It's possible -- a 10 relevant or possible violation of law or regulation.
11 Q Thank you for that.
12 A I actually don't think there's a criminal qualifier in front of law. So it's any 13 potential violation of law or regulation would meet the standards set forth in the statute
14 or regulation.
15 Q It could be a civil law?
16 A It could involve civil enforcement. And there's a -- and you may be getting 17 to this, but there's a conjunction to that.
18 There's the mandatory requirement and then there's the ability to voluntarily file,
19 as the statutory construct laid out by Congress really is to encourage filing. So 20 you -- there's the ones you're required to file, but there's also very much an 21 encouragement for people to voluntarily file beyond what they're required to file.
22 Q And -- but there is that first section, which is mandatory, correct?
23 A Correct, yes.
24 Q And that means that if a bank fails to appropriately identify transactions that 25 fall within those mandatory requirements, they could face penalties?

1 A Correct, yes.

2 Q And it would be FinCEN that would make that determination?

3 A Yes. And FinCEN -- and at least with regard to banks and credit unions, we

4 would normally be in close consultation with the relevant functional regulator in that

5 space for the financial institution in question.

6 Q Okay. Law enforcement agencies use information that they obtain from

7 FinCEN's database from the SARs in both proactive investigations in terms of helping to

8 prevent crime and also reactive investigations, helping to -- once a crime has occurred,

9 helping to identify the perpetrators. Is that correct?

10 A That sounds correct to me, yes.

11 Q And that's across all of these different types of offenses and threats to 12 national security that we've discussed?

13 A That is my understanding, yes.

14 Q Based on your experience and over nearly 20 years at the Treasury

15 Department, what would happen, in your opinion, if Congress were to roll back the Bank

16 Secrecy Act and stop requiring or even permitting banks to file suspicious activity reports?

17 A So that's a hard question for me to answer in the sense that, you know,

18 those are -- those are policy decisions that I often, sort of, feel like are beyond my

19 agreement in the first instance without, sort of, consultation above. So I'll sort of start

20 with that qualifier.

21 You know, I maybe would answer your question, if it's okay, a slightly different

22 way and would go back --

23 Q Sure.

24 A -- to what you said before about the role of these filings that we hear pretty

25 consistently from law enforcement are incredibly useful to them in a variety of

1 investigatory ways.

2 And, you know, we -- one of the, I think -- could be safe to say that one of the

3 goals of the Anti-Money Laundering Act of 2020 was to, sort of, put on us as an agency

4 the obligation to, sort of, provide more, sort of, public visibility and feedback into the 5 utility of the information that we're getting.

6 So over the last couple of years, you've seen FinCEN start publishing things, like a

7 year in review, that lays out, with input from law enforcement, you know, the different

8 ways they use the information that's made available to them from -- you know, from our

9 holdings. Or a relatively new product line for us, another sort of AMLA obligation, our

10 financial trend, financial threat analysis reports that are also available on our website, and

11 that is, sort of, walking through, you know -- and we're required to at least two a year,

12 but I think we're ahead of the two this year.

13 And that's where we're -- things like -- we published one earlier this year on online

14 child sexual exploitation. We published one on elder financial exploitation, I believe it

15 was this year as well. We've published them on ransomware and other things like that.

16 So, you know, one of the things that is, sort of, incumbent upon us under our

17 statutory authorities now is actually, I think, to show more, sort of -- to give more public

18 visibility into the value of the information that we get. We're trying to do that in a 19 variety of ways.

20 Q Those year in review reports, do they provide examples of, here's an

21 investigation where SARs were helpful? This is --

22 A I don't know if they go quite that far. But we have another publication that

23 does some of that, and that is every year -- there may have been a hiccup during COVID.

24 But usually most years -- let me phrase it that way -- FinCEN does the director's law

25 enforcement awards where there's an effort actually -- law enforcement agencies can,

1 essentially, highlight cases where BSA filings have been instrumental to the underlying
2 investigation, and we publish summaries of those on our website. So, again, to give
3 some visibility to the different ways the information is used.
4 Q And so in that situation, the director is awarding law enforcement for --
5 A Yes.
6 Q -- their service in --
7 A The law enforcement agency may get, like, an award recognition
8 from -- from the FinCEN director in response to those nominations that we receive.
9 Q You stated in the earlier hour that typically the process with SARs is a
10 financial institution files a SAR with FinCEN, and then it goes into a database where it's 11 made available to law enforcement, correct?
12 A Correct.
13 Q And FinCEN itself is not investigating the potential crime to which the SAR 14 relates?
15 A So FinCEN is not a criminal law enforcement agency. So we would not be,
16 in the first instance, investigating criminal activity. However, our analysts do provide a
17 lot of support on those -- on, sort of, priority topic areas.
18 -- and, again, to go back to fentanyl, you know, so our analysts may be doing
19 analysis of the information we get in that space both in support of our law enforcement
20 partners, but also, you know, Treasury is the -- Treasury -- sort of above us Treasury is the 21 administrator of the sanctions programs in the narcotics space. And we -- we have our 22 own, sort of -- as the department efforts to combat fentanyl trafficking and things like
23 that.
24 So FinCEN analysts can be supporting law enforcement, and that work could also 25 support the department's broader efforts in this space as well.

1 Q Thank you for that clarification. I want to go back to something that we
2 talked about a few minutes ago.
3 You mentioned there's the mandatory SARs reporting and then the voluntary SARs
4 reporting.
5 The voluntary SARs reporting allows banks to report any transaction that may be 6 potentially relevant to any violation of law or regulation regardless of how small that
7 transaction is. There's no -- there's no threshold for voluntary reporting, correct?
8 A That -- that is my recollection, yes. I think that's correct.
9 Q And you also stated --
10 A And I should add, actually, the safe harbor applies to both.
11 Q Can you explain what that means?
12 A So the statute sets forth a safe harbor for mandatory filings, the ones you're 13 required to make, and the statute extends the safe harbor to any that you -- really, again,
14 going back to the, sort of, encouraging filings. So you can't -- I don't have the exact
15 language in front of me, and I should have the exact language in front of me before I
16 speak to it.
17 But it, essentially, provides legal protection for any institution that chooses to file
18 suspicious activity with us if it's required or not.
19 Q So, essentially, is it fair to say that it means the banks can't be held liable for 20 disclosing that information?
21 A I think that's correct. That's probably a concise way of putting it.
22 Q Now, SARs are made available to law enforcement agencies, but they are 23 also subject to strict confidentiality provisions under the law, correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And FinCEN takes those -- its responsibilities to maintain the confidentiality

1 of SARs very seriously?

2 A Yes. That's -- it's very important for us to do that.

3 Q And I believe you stated earlier that FinCEN is receiving approximately, did

4 you say, 55,000 SARs a day?

5 A I think we receive 55,000 BSA filings a day, which is all forms. And as I say

6 that out loud, that may be an old stat.

7 But we get a decent number of filings per day across all the filing sets that we

8 have.

9 Q Can you explain what some of the other filing sets are?

10 A So we also receive currency transaction reports. Those are the -- for folks

11 who may not be familiar with them, if you go to a bank and clunk down $11,000 in cash,

12 they will fill out this -- it's the one I feel like people are most familiar with with FinCEN

13 because they've seen it in, like, movies and stuff. So that's one.

14 There is a -- the form when you cross the border with more than X number of 15 dollars, that's also a FinCEN form. And there's a nonbank counterpart to the currency

16 transaction report that requires the reporting of certain transactions by nonbanks in 17 excess of $10,000 as well.

18 Q With respect to those currency transaction reports, that's a requirement that

19 any transaction in excess of $10,000 be reported, correct?

20 A Yes. And there's a requirement to aggregate in connection with that. So

21 if you go to three branches of the same bank in the same day, the bank would aggregate

22 those up, and if it exceeds the 10,000, they would file a currency transaction report.

23 Q And that's different than a suspicious activity report, correct?

24 A Different from a suspicious activity report, yes.

25 Q But you could have a situation where the requirement of a currency

1 transaction report evolves into something that triggers a suspicious activity report. For
2 example, somebody goes to the bank to deposit $10,000. They're told they have to fill
3 out this report, and then they say, I'll just do 9,000. How about that? That might --
4 A Yes. That would be called a structuring SAR, and -- I'm sorry. That would
5 be called structuring. And a financial institution would normally file a SAR with someone 6 indicating they're seeking to avoid a regulatory obligation.
7 Q And you stated during the previous hour that FinCEN does not review all of 8 these -- I mean, there's millions per year, correct?
9 A Correct. Yes, we do not review all of them.
10 Q And law enforcement does not review all of them?
11 A That is correct.
12 Q So it's fair to --
13 A That is my understanding, I should say. I've never actually worked at a law
14 enforcement agency, so I'll say that is my understanding.
15 Q The Bank Secrecy Act is the legal process that authorizes banks to file
16 suspicious activity reports, correct?
17 A The Bank Secrecy Act and the regulations implementing the Bank Secrecy
18 Act, yes.
19 Q And that also allows the -- the Bank Secrecy Act and its implementing 20 regulations also allow financial institutions to provide the supporting documentation
21 underlying a suspicious activity report --
22 A Yes, that is correct.
23 Q -- to FinCEN or law enforcement?
24 A To -- I know for FinCEN, yes. I think for law enforcement, too, but I also 25 know that law enforcement has their own, sort of, authorities in that space as well, sort

1 of, separate from ours.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q A couple minutes ago you were asked about the confidentiality protections

4 for SARs. Do you recall that quick line of questioning?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And you were asked SARs are subject to strict confidentiality protections

7 under the law, and you said yes. You recall that?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Could you explain your understanding of what those confidentiality

10 provisions or protections are?

11 A The statute sets forth very broad protection for -- to prevent the 12 unauthorized disclosure of SARs. And so, basically, any use beyond the official purposes

13 and official purpose, and the prohibition applies to financial institutions, their employees,

14 their directors. It also applies to government employees and contractors as a means of 15 safeguarding the data, given the sensitivity of the data as a means of safeguarding the 16 data.

17 Q And with respect to FinCEN in particular, does FinCEN have particular

18 structures or procedures or regulations in place that pertain specifically to FinCEN

19 employees that -- to protect these -- protect the confidentiality of these SARs?

20 A So with regard to partner agencies, they enter into MOUs with us in terms

21 of -- and they sort of agree and recognize the sort of -- the need to protect the 22 confidentiality of the information.

23 And then with regard to employees, yes, it's part of the, sort of, conduct

24 obligations that would attach to any FinCEN employee that you have to respect the 25 confidentiality of this information. I believe -- but I should double-check this. I believe

1 that all employees that have access to the database have security clearances. And,
2 again -- and a sort of background investigation comes along with that in terms of ensuring
3 they should have access to this and other, you know, sensitive information.
4 So there are a variety of, sort of, technological but also just policy-based 5 restrictions on people's activities in this regard.
6 Q And are you familiar with what might happen to an employee if they are
7 careless with a SAR or if they intentionally were to leak a SAR or to make a SAR available
8 outside of the group of individuals that should have access to it?
9 A I am familiar with that. So -- and this is a space where, you know, if we 10 have concerns like that, we refer the matter to our Office of Inspector General and our 11 office of inspector general has taken action in the past in connection with potential
12 improper conduct in this regard.
13 Q And could that action include, for example, an employee losing their job?
14 A Yes, it could.
15 Q Thank you.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Now, you talked about this a little bit earlier, but I want to get into it in some 18 more detail.
19 It's the financial institution's responsibility to determine when, pursuant to the 20 BSA and its implementing regulations, they must file a SAR, correct?
21 A Yes, that is correct.
22 Q It's not FinCEN's responsibility to tell a financial institution -- and I'm going to 23 use the word bank to mean financial --
24 A Right.
25 Q -- institutions generally just because that's a mouthful.

1 It's not FinCEN's responsibility to tell a bank, you have to file a SAR for X
2 transaction or X pattern?
3 A That is correct.
4 Q And in order to meet this responsibilities under the Bank Secrecy Act,
5 financial institutions are required to have their own anti-money laundering and 6 countering the financing of terrorism programs, correct?
7 A Yes, that is correct.
8 Q And that's actually a requirement that is codified by statute?
9 A Yes. It's both in the statute and in regulations implementing the statute.
10 Q And those AML and CFT programs must be designed, among other things, to 11 ensure the institution's compliance with the BSA and to assist them in detecting and 12 reporting suspicious activity, correct?
13 A Yes, that is correct.
14 Q And while FinCEN provides general guidance and oversight of banks
15 concerning what constitutes an effective AML/CFT program, it's ultimately the bank's 16 responsibility to ensure that those programs are effective, correct?
17 A Yes, that's correct.
18 Q And it's the bank's responsibility to ensure that they file SARs in accordance 19 with the law?
20 A Yes, that is correct.
21 Q And it's the bank's responsibility to ensure that their programs effectively
22 detect and report suspicious activity on their networks, correct?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And most financial institutions, at least the larger major ones, have entire 25 units dedicated to their anti-money laundering and countering finance of terrorism units,

1 correct?

2 A That is my understanding, yes.

3 Q I mean programs. Excuse me. And those institutions have investigators,

4 people whose job it is, to analyze their customers' data, regularly search and monitor

5 them to identify suspicious activity --

6 A Yes, that's my understanding.

7 Q -- is that fair to say?

8 And based on your understanding of the applicable statutes and regulations, that

9 type of monitoring by a bank of its own customers' activity is -- that's entirely legal,

10 there's no issue there?

11 A I'm not aware of any legal issue with a bank doing that.

12 Q And you're aware, I imagine, that nearly 50 years ago the Supreme Court

13 ruled that the Fourth Amendment, for example, does not apply to bank records,

14 customers' bank records, because those records are the property of the bank, not the 15 private records of the accountholder, correct?

16 A That is my -- that is my recollection of that holding, yes.

17 Q And you stated earlier that banks can incur civil penalties or have civil

18 penalties and fines imposed on them for failing to file SARs.

19 In the appropriate circumstances they can also face penalties for, generally

20 speaking, not having an effective program design to root out suspicious activities,

21 correct?

22 A That is correct, yes.

23 Q So I want to talk about -- move on to talk about FinCEN exchanges a little bit

24 and how they work with banks to help banks meet their responsibilities under the BSA.

25 Information-sharing between banks and agencies through FinCEN exchanges and

1 other means help -- helps to inform banks about law enforcement priorities and identify
2 current trends in terrorist financing, money laundering, and other offenses, like fentanyl
3 trafficking, correct?
4 A Yes. I think that is correct. And the Project Protect series of exchanges
5 that we're doing this year in the fentanyl space, I think, is a good example of that.
6 Q So -- and in those exchanges, sometimes -- well, let me back up.
7 Those exchanges are often a two-way street in terms of information-sharing,
8 correct?
9 A Yes. The goal is for it to be a -- for it to be a sharing of experience and
10 information.
11 Q So the banks are sharing what they're seeing in their own customers' data, 12 and law enforcement is sharing with the banks the trends and the methodologies that 13 they're seeing. Is that fair to say?
14 A I think that's a fair statement, yes.
15 Q And the goal is that this information-sharing will help lead to more effective
16 and efficient SARs reporting by banks, correct?
17 A Yes, I think that's also a fair statement. Again, the Project Protect series in 18 the fentanyl space, I think, is a good example of that.
19 Q And those types of exchanges help if you have more effective, more
20 targeted, more efficient reporting by banks, that's going to help law enforcement detect
21 and deter criminal activity more effectively. Is that fair to say?
22 A I think that is our goal, yes.
23 Q Okay. And you stated earlier that, while the FinCEN Exchange program was 24 codified in 2020, just a few years ago, FinCEN exchanges have been operating before
25 that? There was a prior iteration?

1 A Yes, that is correct.

2 Q And can you explain a little bit about how those prior iterations worked or

3 how they differ from the current FinCEN exchange program?

4 A Let me see when they started. I think they started about two-ish, give or

5 take, years prior to the codified one -- the current codified version. I don't actually

6 know that there is a substantial difference in terms of what the goal of the exchange is

7 than in the way they function now.

8 But my understanding is that the perception was that these were a very positive

9 way of having public-private partnership, and that was one of the things that led Congress

10 to pick up the program and codify it in the statute, in the Anti-Money Laundering Act of 11 2020.

12 Q So, essentially, Congress thought it was valuable enough to make it a

13 statutory requirement so that FinCEN couldn't just decide one day we don't have the time

14 or the resources to do this?

15 A My understanding is that they were generally viewed as a very positive

16 thing, and that's how they got picked up and added to the statute. But that's a -- that's 17 a -- that's old memory at this point, so I need to add that qualifier.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q When you say they were generally viewed as a positive thing, who viewed

20 them as a positive thing? Was it the government? Was it the private sector? Was it

21 law enforcement? Some combination thereof?

22 A Our law enforcement partners, my understanding, we get pretty positive

23 feedback on the ability to have these exchanges. I think we've heard similarly positive

24 feedback from the financial sector.

25 But also, I would say, maybe taking a step back from that, I don't remember if it

1 was y'all's questions or y'all's questions, but we -- one of the things we talked about 2 earlier is that one of the goals if the statute is to, sort of, create more public-private 3 feedback.
4 So there's conversations, there's -- there's some of the other materials we're 5 putting on our website with regard to the value of the data, sort of, throughout the 6 Anti-Money Laundering Act are different ways that FinCEN is being asked to either, you
7 know, engage in more public-private partnership or share more output with regard to the 8 value and utility of the data that we're getting.
9 So it's sort of, in my mind, kind of part and parcel with a lot of the other things
10 that are set forth in the statute for us to do.
11 Q Understood. I think -- my point is just that when you say that the exchange
12 is reviewed policy, the private sector viewed them positively, as well as law enforcement,
13 as well as government entities?
14 A I think that's right. And the fact that they've always been voluntary. So,
15 you know, the only people who show up are people that want to be there. So if you
16 don't want to be there, you don't come is sort of my view -- would be my view at the end
17 of the day.
18 So the fact that people continue to use the space and continue to sort of share
19 information in the space, to me, that is a testament to the perceived continued value of 20 the exchange.
21 Q Thank you.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Now -- well, before I -- I want to follow up on that voluntary nature of it, but 24 I just want to step back for a minute.
25 The Anti-Money Laundering Act of 2020 -- which I believe you referred to earlier

1 as AMLA. You used that acronym.

2 A That's the acronym we used for that, yes.

3 Q That was passed in December of 2020, correct?

4 A Either that or, like, the first or second day of January 2021. It was like --

5 Q It was effective in --

6 A -- right in that -- right in that end of year, right at the beginning of the next.

7 Q So it actually went into effect just days before the attack on the Capitol?

8 A Yes, I think that's correct.

9 Q And you're aware that that bill had broad bipartisan support?

10 A Yes, I am.

11 Q Now, FinCEN exchanges, including the ones that were set up in the 12 aftermath of January 6th, operate under all the permissible legal authorities, including

13 the Anti-Money Laundering Act, Section 310, Section 53 -- 53? 58? The Bank Secrecy

14 Act --

15 A Yeah --

16 Q I'm going to -- I don't --

17 A There's a bunch of weird statutes get rolled into that. But yes, I think the 18 answer to your question is, you know, the program at large does operate under these

19 various legal authorities, and FinCEN takes its responsibility under those legal authorities

20 very seriously.

21 Q Now, during the previous hour, you mentioned several times about -- I think

22 you might have been asked as well about FinCEN providing typologies to financial

23 institutions.

24 Can you explain what a typology is in this context?

25 A Sure. So maybe I'll juxtapose that with red flags because I feel like those

1 tend to be the terms people use a lot in this space.

2 At least in my own mind, typology -- and I think this is sort of laid out -- would be

3 reflected in our public documents. Typology, to me, is sort of an overall way someone

4 goes about conducting some sort of illicit activity. And, you know, to go back to a

5 document that I mentioned before, we've previously published an advisory on elder

6 financial exploitation, and one of the typologies set forth in that document is the, sort

7 of -- what I think is commonly referred to as the grandparent scam, of someone calling

8 up, purporting to be a law enforcement official, purporting to be someone else, there's an

9 emergency with regard to your grandchild, your whoever, and we need you to send us

10 money, like, ASAP to deal with this situation. That's sort of an overall typology in my 11 mind.

12 A red flag would be a data point that may be indicative of the broader typology.

13 SO in that same document you would see as a potential red flag, if you're in a financial

14 institution, the person on the other side of the counter is referencing, you know, my

15 grandchild has been arrested in X place, I need to get X number of dollars to send to, like,

16 bail him out of jail. But you notice that the email -- the, sort of, money destination

17 or -- doesn't actually look like an official destination. That could be -- that could be a red 18 flag that this broader typology of elder financial exploitation is, sort of, going on.

19 So I don't know if that answers your question. But I view the typology as the,

20 sort of, overarching way something, you know, illicit may be happening. And then the,

21 sort of, individual red flags may be data -- data points that point to the overarching either

22 typology or to the illicit conduct.

23 Q So what I took from what you just said is that the typology is almost like a

24 fact pattern of this is -- this is how this particular scheme is working or this particular

25 criminal offense is -- I mean, not all, obviously --

1 A Yeah. And there could be multiple typologies.
2 Q Of course.
3 A And so -- but I think that's a fair -- I think that's a fair statement.
4 Q And so if a financial institution or a FinCEN is sharing a list, for example, of 5 terms that could potentially be indicative of suspicious activity, that would be more of a
6 red flag in your mind as opposed to typology?
7 A That sounds right to me.
8 Q And do you think that -- or have you experienced sometimes people in this
9 space using those terms interchangeably?
10 A Yes.
11 Q So sometimes people --
12 A Which is why I wanted to juxtapose them, as I think oftentimes they get 13 interchanged for each other. At least I think it's helpful to think of them -- I think they 14 say something slightly different.
15 Q So when FinCEN provides, whether it's passing on from law enforcement or 16 through its own analysis, either a typology or a set of red flags to a bank, is it instructing
17 banks to file SARs for any transaction they see that fits that -- that information they were 18 provided?
19 A No. And something we -- I think this is pretty standard across all of our 20 public products that, sort of, lay out typologies and red flags.
21 We often have a statement before the red flags that says something along the 22 lines of no individual or even, sort of, collection of red flags is necessarily indicative of 23 illicit activity. The thought is this information is shared with the sector that they can,
24 sort of, be aware of these data points, but sort of ingest them against a broader backdrop
25 of their know your customer, the, sort of, knowledge of your customer and transaction

1 set to sort of further inform the overall picture they have in the specific situation.
2 So we try to be careful in the -- in the public space to say that in our public
3 products.
4 Q And that's important because FinCEN is aware that banks know their
5 customers far better than FinCEN does. Is that fair to say?
6 A I think that is fair to say.
7 Q And is it your --
8 A We would expect them to know their customers better than we -- than we 9 know them.
10 Q You would certainly hope so.
11 Is it your understanding that when banks are looking or trying to identify 12 suspicious activity that they consider a variety of factors, not just information that they 13 might receive from law enforcement or from FinCEN, but their own knowledge of their 14 customers, their history, their transaction patterns, that sort of information?
15 A Yes. That's my understanding.
16 Q And when FinCEN passes along typologies or red flags, these are suggestions
17 to the bank of things to look out for, correct?
18 A You know, I'm not sure I would say suggestions. I think I would say, you 19 know, this is -- you know, we're trying to share information, so sometimes it may be 20 closer to us -- going back to my -- my elder fraud example, you know, these are typologies
21 we see in this space, and we're sharing them with you so that you're aware of them.
22 I don't -- I view them as more of an information-sharing exercise than a, sort of,
23 suggestion-based exercise. I think, you know, we show this information, we make it 24 available, we -- in some documents we may suggest departments that you share it with.
25 Like, that could be an area where it sort of veers into that. So it may not be just your

1 BSA/AML department. It may be your legal department. It may be other -- I think
2 some of our ransomware products may even say, like, your IT department, like, you
3 know, sort of things.
4 But I think -- that's another old memory that we should probably qualify.
5 But -- so I think, you know, the main goal is to share the information to make folks aware
6 of it with the hope and -- with the hope that it's actually helpful in identifying the activity
7 that we're talking about.
8 Q When FinCEN shares that type of information, it does not have any 9 expectation of the financial institution of how or whether the financial institution is even 10 going to use it. Is that fair to say?
11 A I think that's fair. I think -- I think we would be surprised a little bit if, like, 12 we publish something on elder financial exploitation -- just to go back to that one again.
13 You know, if you did absolutely nothing with that and you were in a space where that's an 14 issue that may come up for you, I would be surprised if a financial institution didn't make 15 use of that in some way, even if it's just to familiarize themselves with the topic.
16 But, again, there's no specific expectation of what you're supposed to do with the 17 information that we share.
18 Q And financial institutions have to be invited to participate in a FinCEN
19 Exchange. Is that correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And they're free to reject that invitation?
22 A Yes.
23 Q And if a financial institution does participate, if it accepts the invitation and 24 participates, it's not required to implement any changes to its AML/CFT programs,
25 correct?

1 A Yes, that's correct.

2 Q And banks who participate in FinCEN exchanges still must use their own

3 independent judgment in assessing transactions holistically to determine whether a

4 transaction is required to be reported under the BSA?

5 A Yes, that's correct.

6 Q And they're free to use their own judgment in determining whether or not to 7 utilize any of the red flags or typologies that FinCEN provides?

8 A Yes, that's correct.

9 Q I just want to move on before we conclude this hour.

10 You were shown an exhibit in the previous hour about -- that referenced an

11 invitation from Google and Google's Financial Intelligence Unit, or FIU. And I believe you

12 said that you would not be surprised about FinCEN having communications with Google.

13 Why is that?

14 A I believe Google has a payment function, and so, you know, if they have a

15 payment function, they're a financial institution under our regulations. So they would

16 have regulatory obligations with FinCEN in that regard.

17 And so the term "financial institution" encompasses a broad array of actors in the 18 moving money space. So it's banks, it's credit unions, and people we've principally been

19 talking about. But it's also money services businesses, your Western Unions, your RIAs,

20 your people like that, casinos, you know, check cashers, you know, virtual currency

21 exchangers.

22 So there's kind of a broad array of actors that have -- that are considered financial

23 institutions for purposes of our regulation.

24 [redacted] I just want to clarify one -- when you say there's a broad array

25 of actors, under the BSA in our regulations, is it appropriate for some part of an entity to

1 be subject to a regulation while others may not be?

2 Mr. Kirby. That's a good flag, yes. So the fact that they're doing payments, I

3 wouldn't -- wouldn't necessarily mean, like, the totality of Google is subject to our

4 regulations. That's a good flag.

5 [redacted] So because Google Pay is a payment processing system or

6 platform, they -- that section of Google qualifies as a financial institution?

7 Mr. Kirby. Probably qualifies -- I would need -- again, I always want to qualify

8 that because I don't know what I don't know. But in -- sort of, in at least the threshold

9 analysis of -- if you're telling me that an entity is involved in processing payments, I think

10 there's a pretty strong argument that they are going to have at least some obligations

11 under our authority.

12 [redacted] Thank you. We can go off the record.

13 [Recess.]

1 [12:18 p.m.]

2 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Mr. Kirby, I just want to get into a couple things that we discussed in our

5 previous hour.

6 You mentioned the different offices within the Intelligence Division.

7 A Uh-huh.

8 Q Can you describe the responsibilities of each of those offices?

9 A And you mean then --

10 Q Then.

11 A -- in the past?

12 Q Yes.

13 A Okay.

14 So, as I indicated, there were three. There was a Western Hemisphere Office, an

15 Office of Transnational Issues -- or maybe an Office of Transnational Threats. I think it

16 was Office of Transnational Issues. And then a third office that was the -- its acronym

17 was "ARO," but I'm actually struggling to recall what the acronym stood for.

18 So Western Hemisphere, I think, would've -- would've housed -- actually did house

19 things like what was then our Cyber and Emerging Technology Section, if I remember

20 correctly, was there. Also, the team that worked sort of your traditional

21 counternarcotics, Mexican cartels cases, or support to law enforcement, was there.

22 The Transnational Issues Office, if I remember correctly, housed the team that

23 supported the broader counterterrorism mission set and state actor -- I feel like that set

24 would've been there too.

25 And then the third office, the ARO office, included the data quality metrics team

1 that I mentioned before. There's a group of data scientists in that office, that are in that
2 office, that support the -- supported then and support still now the work of that overall
3 team.
4 That's sort of broadly what I recollect, how the offices were divvied up.
5 Q How many people, generally, were in each office?
6 A So we were sort of 50 to 55. I'm not sure it was quite a third/a third/a
7 third, but I don't remember with any -- I don't remember precisely how it broke up
8 between those three, to be honest with you.
9 Q And when you were in charge of the Intelligence Division, what was your 10 day-to-day like?
11 A So I think as I mentioned the prior time we spoke, the position that I stepped 12 into had been vacant for some period of time, I think actually right at about 2 years
13 before I stepped into the role. So, you know, I would say, at the beginning of my time,
14 the day-to-day was probably getting my hands around the different functions, the teams.
15 And it was a very different role than being the legal counselor, for example.
16 After the enactment of the AMLA, I would see that kind of changed a little bit, to 17 think about how we were going to meet these new obligations that had been placed on 18 us.
19 And so, you know, one example being the publication of these financial trend,
20 financial threat analysis reports. That was a new product at the time. And thinking
21 through how we were going to do that, how we were going to do that in a way that's 22 manageable -- because, you know -- and with results that we could sort of explain to the 23 reader.
24 Also, so 2021, there was -- we obviously had a change of administration in 2021,
25 and some, you know, mission sets took on sort of greater prominence. I would say, you

1 know, the ransomware mission set is one that has sort of continued to sort of tick up in
2 terms of priority. After Russia's further invasion of Ukraine, you know, that mission set
3 consumed quite a bit of my time.
4 And so, to the extent there's sort of a day-to-day, I don't know if that answers
5 your question, but maybe that's sort of the best way to divide it up. Because it
6 did change post me getting my hands around it a little bit more, the nature of the role.
7 Q Was there an office responsible for DVE issues?
8 A I don't believe we had an office for DVE. To the extent folks were working
9 on DVE, I think those were folks that had a background in working the terrorism mission
10 set. So I don't think it was a separate office or separate section or anything like that, if I
11 remember correctly.
12 Q Some people likely in that office --
13 A I would think so --
14 Q -- would be handling it?
15 A -- yes. That seems -- that's my general recollection. Yeah.
16 Q Going to the information-sharing operations at FinCEN, when the Strategic 17 Operations Division would share information with the financial institutions, what was the 18 protocol for sharing that information?
19 Would that office reach out to the Intelligence Division for approval on the types 20 of documents, the trends and typologies that they would then be sharing with financial 21 institutions and seek your approval on that or your team's approval on that?
22 [redacted] Can we just clarify the context?
23 So the Strategic Operations Division has a very broad mandate, right? They also 24 are the Financial Intelligence Unit. Like, they -- so I just want to make sure we're very 25 clear about what context, when you talk about, sort of, information-sharing. Are you

1 talking about FinCEN Exchange specifically?

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q I would say the FinCEN Exchange and other means, one-off emails of emails

4 from employees at FinCEN to financial institutions along the lines of, "We have some

5 typologies and trends that we think you might be interested in. See attached."

6 A So I don't know that there is a -- at least at that time, and I'm not really sure I

7 would think that one exists at this time either, really -- sort of a standard practice of that,

8 you know. I think it would be more sort of specific to the nature -- you know, again, to

9 the extent the folks are sharing information in anticipation of a FinCEN Exchange on what

10 that's going to look like, versus sharing in the context of maybe an advisory committee

11 meeting where they're going to be talking about something involving, like, regulatory

12 burden or something like that. So I don't know that there's sort of a -- I think it, like,

13 would be more, like, topic-, forum-specific.

14 I don't recall in my time in the Intelligence Division getting some document like

15 that, like, either be it a typologies or something document like you were referencing in

16 your exchange with [redacted] -- I don't recall getting a document like that to sort of evaluate

17 and clear for sort of the context of sharing in one of those venues.

18 But I also feel the need to preface that with: That was a long time ago at this

19 point, so I don't discount the possibility that I may have seen something and I just don't 20 recall having seen it.

21 Q So, as the Intelligence Division is analyzing BSA data and developing

22 typologies and trends that are then shared with financial institutions, were you sending

23 that to the office that dealt with the private sector and shared information?

24 A So I'm not quite sure I understand that description.

25 Let me sort of -- so, you know, in most circumstances, if we are sharing, you know,

1 typologies and red flags, if an analyst in the then-Intelligence Division, now-Research and
2 Analysis Division, is working on a project like that, I think in most circumstances my 3 expectation would be that that information is probably going to land in a public-facing
4 product of some kind. So that would be probably either our Policy Division or maybe
5 our Enforcement Division if it's in the context of an enforcement action. And any
6 resolved enforcement action by FinCEN ends up being placed on our website so everyone
7 can see what those are.
8 I don't -- off -- I just -- I don't recall it being sort of a standard practice that an 9 analyst would be developing, you know, sort of a typology sort of thing that you would 10 share directly with, like, one financial institution. Now, there may be needs to talk to 11 one financial institution in connection with a filing or something like that. But if we're 12 going to do the work of building out typologies and red flags, I would normally expect
13 that to be to a broader audience.
14 Q When that information was shared with the broader audience, would that 15 information have been analyzed by the Intelligence Division or maybe the Enforcement
16 Division before it is shared with a broader group of financial institutions?
17 A Again, I think it would depend.
18 So if the document you're talking about is, you know, trends and typologies in 19 terms of, you know, fraud filings, so if we have an analyst that did a lot of work on 20 analyzing fraud filings and identified typologies and trends out of that, then, yes, the 21 Intelligence Division, now-Research and Analysis Division, would play a leading role in that 22 analytic effort and would be working with the office that's sort of packaging that up into a
23 public product.
24 But, you know, to the extent that you have a FinCEN Exchange on fentanyl and a
25 non-FinCEN party is presenting on or discussing, you know, lessons they learned in this

1 space that might be useful to you, Financial Institution B, as you're looking at this same
2 mission set, that's not something I would expect the Intelligence Division to have weighed
3 in on prior to a partner agency, be it law enforcement or be it, you know, the private
4 sector potentially, sort of separately weighed in on before it's a topic of discussion in a
5 meeting like that.
6 Q Shifting gears, how many people have access to SARs and other BSA data?
7 A So FinCEN maintains this Electronic Access System that we were talking
8 about before. We have MOUs with partner agencies to be able to access that. My 9 recollection -- and we may need to confirm this -- is, I think via those partner agencies, it's 10 approximately 15,000 people, employees of those agencies, who are Federal, State, local 11 officials, who can access the data via that system.
12 I'm going to put a pin in that, though, as an estimate, because that is not
13 something I checked before we came up here.
14 There's -- I need to finish that response, because it's not complete. There is 15 another -- there is a very small subset of agencies that have the ability to ingest the BSA
16 data that is filed with FinCEN. Those are Federal agencies. Most of them are your sort
17 of usual, I think, agencies that probably wouldn't surprise you in this regard -- DEA, FBI,
18 folks like that -- who have the ability to actually just sort of take our data onto their own
19 systems. And so, you know, I don't have -- those agencies control the access to that 20 data on their systems. That's not something that I have visibility into at FinCEN.
21 So the principal way that people access the data is via the Electronic Access
22 System we were talking about earlier, but there is this other way of accessing the data
23 over here, and I want to be complete about that.
24 Q That other way is that Agency Integrated Access?
25 A That is Agency Integrated Access. And maybe I preempted your question.

1 Q We'll get into that in a little bit. The initial -- that is hosted by FinCEN, is
2 that FinCEN Query?
3 A Yes. And you access that via a system called FinCEN Portal.
4 Q Who's responsible for overseeing the access to that portal?
5 A That is also principally a function housed in our Strategic Operations Division.
6 So they manage the MOU processes with partner agencies and the coordinating with 7 those agencies.
8 Q And how is the data accessed?
9 A So my understanding -- and I will preface this with someone who has not 10 ever used this system, so -- but my understanding is that you have a unique login as an 11 external user. You come onto the system. We know it's you when you come onto the 12 system. You are able to run searches on the system. The system logs those searches 13 that you make.
14 And I think that's actually kind of it, in a nutshell. But the important part being,
15 it's a restricted system. There are expectations partner agencies have to meet in terms
16 of granting -- you know, identifying employees for access to the system. And the system
17 does -- my understanding of it is that it does track the searches, that if we let you onto 18 the system, it would track the searches that you make.
19 Q By tracking that, that's tracking the terms that are used to search?
20 A Yes. We call it an audit log. And so it maintains an audit log of the 21 searches that you would make.
22 Q And what type of data is available via these queries?
23 A So, in that system, you would have access to the sort of BSA form filing
24 information. So that would be the suspicious activity reports that we've been talking 25 about, and it would also be currency transaction reports that we hit on a little bit earlier.

1 The counterpart to the currency transaction report, what is known as Form 8300,
2 that's sort of a similar $10,000 filing for non-bank institutions.
3 And I think the CMI -- the form when you cross the border, that's the -- I
4 don't -- I'm going to get the acronyms wrong, but the acronym is "CMIR," but don't ask
5 me what the "C" in that -- Currency Monitoring -- anyway.
6 And so all of those reports are housed in that database. Because they're all
7 collected under the broader BSA authority within -- with the sort of same purposes and 8 uses set forth in the statute, and they're available on the system for authorized users.
9 Q And when a user searches those reports, do they only see -- so if they search
10 a name, will they only see reports filed on that name? Or will they get access to the rest
11 of that individual's transaction history?
12 A So I'm going to disaggregate that a little bit, and you tell me if I answer your 13 question, please.
14 So we don't have the ability to track -- and I'll use myself as an example so I'm not 15 using anyone else's name. FinCEN does not have the ability to track, to the best of my 16 knowledge -- and I feel like I would know if we did -- the transactions that Jimmy Kirby 17 engages in at his bank, on his credit card, on whatever.
18 So, when you come into that system, what you're going to have access to, if you
19 search for "Jimmy Kirby" -- and, again, as someone who has never used the system, also 20 take this with a grain of salt, that this is how I understand the system works. When you
21 search "Jimmy Kirby," you would get -- to the extent there are SARs that have been filed
22 on me, you would be able to see those; to the extent a bank has filed currency
23 transaction reports or a non-bank has filed a Form 8300 on me, you would see those; to 24 the extent -- or any of the other BSA forms that involve me, you would be able to see 25 those, because they are all filed on me.

1 But it would be -- the universe of that would be what has been filed on me, not
2 that there is some way to access transactional history involving me across the financial
3 sector. We do not have the ability to do that.
4 Q Are there limits on what purpose a user can query the FinCEN -- the BSA
5 database?
6 A So my understanding is that, when an authorized user goes in, they actually
7 have to put a purpose in for the search they are doing, and under the MOUs and other
8 access protocols, searches are to be limited to the purposes consistent with the Bank
9 Secrecy Act. I think that's more or less the precise language the statute uses in terms of 10 information-sharing.
11 Q And have there been instances where a FinCEN Portal query has been 12 misused?
13 A We have had instances where people have unauthorized disclosed data that 14 they had access to. And in -- both at -- it's a small number of cases over the years, but 15 that has happened.
16 When we become aware of that, it's referred to our Office of Inspector General, as 17 any other sort of potential violation of law would be that we come across involving either
18 an employee of ours or, if we become aware of this involving someone in another agency,
19 we would similarly refer to our Office of Inspector General to look into it.
20 Q Have those situations ever led to access being revoked for a user?
21 A So there's a -- and I don't know if this is where you're going, but I'll just sort
22 of jump ahead. There's a rather prominent case of this at FinCEN from 2018, and it
23 actually involved an employee getting arrested.
24 So this is a space where we take our obligations very seriously. This is a space
25 where employees have been arrested for engaging in improper conduct. This is a space

1 where former employees have gone to prison for improper conduct.

2 So this is not a slap-on-the-wrist type of situation. To the best of my knowledge,

3 this is the only circumstance in which an employee of FinCEN was walked out of the

4 building by Federal law enforcement agents, for potential, like, improper activity in this

5 space.

6 So, to jump ahead to, this is something we have dealt with and we have dealt with

7 quite seriously and our Office of Inspector General has dealt with quite seriously, we take

8 our obligations to safeguard this information very seriously. It is front of mind for us,

9 this obligation, in terms of thinking about ways we can think about different ways, better

10 ways, to safeguard the data, because the data is really sensitive.

11 And it's an important thing -- I mean, it's a very fair question, because it's an

12 important thing for us to do as an agency. You probably noticed my tone shift. It's

13 something I feel really strongly about, that it's an important trust and obligation that is

14 placed on the agency. And I don't have a lot of patience if we come across 15 circumstances where people have done stuff they're not supposed to do in this space.

16 So I was there in 2018. I have seen how important this is, to take these actions.

17 It's something I take very seriously in my job still, something we take very seriously as an 18 agency.

19 Q Thank you for that.

20 You mentioned that there is an audit log of the searches --

21 A Yes.

22 Q -- of the BSA database. Are there regular audits of access to the BSA

23 database?

24 A So my understanding is, yes, that there's a team in our Strategic Operations

25 Division that, as part of their regular coordination with the, you know, partner agencies,

1 customer agencies, they regularly review the logs as, you know, part of that exercise in
2 terms of coordinating back with the agencies to make sure that they're doing what
3 they're supposed to do under the terms of our MOUs.
4 Q Are those audits memorialized anywhere?
5 A I actually don't know the answer to that question. I think yes, but I don't 6 know for sure.
7 Q Who would know the answer to that?
8 A That's something we can take back and find out. We can find out the 9 answer to that question. I just don't know it off the top of my head.
10 [redacted] I think there's already a request pending that --
11 Mr. Kirby. Oh, there we go.
12 [redacted] -- we can correspond.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q So you mentioned there's approximately 55,000, give or take, BSA filings
15 each day. Is there any way to know how many people this covers?
16 A You mean, like, the subjects?
17 Q Yes, how many subjects are covered.
18 A I don't know the answer to that question. And I don't know -- I don't know
19 if that's something we track, to be honest.
20 Q Do you know who would track that?
21 A I mean, we can take that back, as well, and ask. But I don't -- I don't 22 actually think I've ever gotten that question before. I don't know the answer to it.
23 Q I assume the same answer would be to how many American subjects are 24 covered in that.
25 A So I don't know the answer to that, but I would maybe put a little more meat

1 on the bone in my response to that and at least say: If these obligations apply to
2 U.S. financial institutions, you know, I would operate on the assumption that the majority
3 of the filings -- or, actually, a substantial portion of the filings -- that's probably a better
4 way to put it -- probably involve U.S. persons, because these are financial institutions
5 operating in the United States subject to U.S. law.
6 Q Are BSA filings ever deleted from the FinCEN database?
7 A We are -- so the answer to that question now is, my understanding is, the 8 filings on the system, they are not presently deleted.
9 We are actively looking at a way to essentially remove filings in the system that 10 are older than -- it's 11 years, right? -- 11 or 12 years. That's something we're actively 11 working on at the moment -- or exploring, I should say.
12 Q Is there a timeline for implementing that procedure, or is it still in the 13 exploration phase?
14 A It's still in the exploration.
15 Q Okay.
16 So you mentioned Agency Integrated Access earlier. Once one of these agencies
17 imports this data onto their own systems, does FinCEN have any oversight over the BSA
18 data that has been imported?
19 A You know, we have a relationship with the agencies. You know, there is a
20 practical matter, I think, you know, at present at least, of the degree of oversight that we 21 can do when it's not on our system anymore.
22 We are in a broader -- if I could step back from your question, a broader exercise
23 is underway to actually update all of our access MOUs, so not the ones where you come
24 in via the FinCEN system, but also the MOUs that govern the Integrated Access space.
25 And, you know, thinking about are there changes we need to make with regard to

1 oversight in that space is sort of part of that effort at the moment.

2 So we're sort of well underway with updating the MOUs for access for agencies

3 who come in via the FinCEN system -- I don't know why I'm doing this -- for the FinCEN

4 system. If you come in via the FinCEN system, that update exercise is well underway

5 with a number of agencies.

6 The Integrated Access MOUs are ones we're still sort of, like, working on in terms

7 of -- but they will be updated, as well, as part of this broader exercise.

8 Q Can you describe the parameters of those MOUs with the agencies?

9 A So, ordinarily, they would govern things like type of data covered by the

10 MOU; respective agency obligations under the MOU; obligations with regard to if, you

11 know, you're, you know, Law Enforcement Agency A, the commitments you're making to 12 us in terms of the people that you're going to sort of put forward for access to the 13 information. For instance, there's a requirement -- I'm pretty sure there's a requirement

14 for all users, for instance, to have a background investigation.

15 I'm pretty sure that's right, right? Okay.

16 And so there's sort of that.

17 There's the obligation they take to sort of restrict access to the data that you're

18 using, given the sensitivity to it, and obligations with regard to sort of marking in certain 19 ways.

20 So it's meant to be somewhat more holistic in terms of access, protection, and 21 making sure the information is sort of adequately protected from, you know,

22 unauthorized disclosure or unauthorized dissemination.

23 I'm actually going to put a pin in and stop.

24 Is there anything I need to add to that, [redacted] Because you are very familiar

25 with this topic too.

1 [redacted] No, I was just going to --

2 Mr. Kirby. I don't know if I'm allowed to do that in my interview, but I'm going to 3 do it here.

4 [redacted] Just for context on this MOU discussion, since we are here

5 primarily for your role as director of [inaudible] the Intelligence Division, how much did

6 you work with the MOUs in that role --

7 Mr. Kirby. Oh.

8 [redacted] -- versus your current role?

9 Mr. Kirby. Actually, very little, to be honest.

10 What I'm telling you now is very much a product of the chair that I sit in at the 11 moment, not the chair that I sat in when I was in ID.

12 [redacted] When an agency has Agency Integrated Access, are they

13 receiving all of the inside filings, or is it limited to what is relevant to their issue area?

14 Mr. Kirby. My understanding is that they receive all BSA filings.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q Is there a material difference between the AIA system and the Electronic 17 Access System you described earlier in terms of what content is in either?

18 A I don't know that there's a material difference between the content. So,

19 you know, if you're coming in -- if your agency has Integrated Access and you're coming in 20 via the traditional system, you should have access -- each of you should have access to 21 the same BSA filings.

22 What the Integrated Access allows the agency to do when they take it onto their

23 systems is look at it in conjunction with other data they may have on their system.

24 Q And so, once that data is taken onto the system -- I know you mentioned

25 you're updating it -- does FinCEN continue to have access to the agency that has imported

1 it onto their system and how they're using it? Or is that a dialogue between FinCEN and
2 the agency with the MOU to have AIA?
3 [redacted] Can I -- is what you're asking is, when an agency with AIA
4 brings it onto their system, do we have continued visibility into it in the same way that we
5 do FinCEN Query? Is that the question?
6 [redacted] Right.
7 Mr. Kirby. And I think the answer to that is, no, we don't have the -- because,
8 again, we control the FinCEN Query system, so, you know, if you're coming in via Query,
9 we could, in theory, look at what you're searching. We don't have that same degree of 10 visibility.
11 But there is still an MOU in place with the agency that's bringing it on via 12 Integrated Access, is my understanding.
13 [redacted] Do you know how many filings are in the database?
14 Mr. Kirby. I don't know. It's a lot. But I don't know what "a lot" is. I don't 15 know.
16 [redacted] Don't speculate.
17 Mr. Kirby. I don't know. I don't know the answer to that. It's more than a 18 million.
19 [redacted] Yeah. If it's 55,000 per day, that's going to be a few.
20 Has there been an agency that's been in violation of the MOU that had AIA access
21 remitted (ph) or revoked?
22 Mr. Kirby. I'm not aware of a determination that an agency with Integrated 23 Access violated its MOU. So I don't know -- so, to the sort of first part of your question,
24 I'm not aware of the premise that would get me to the second part of your question.
25 I think that's probably my best answer on that.

1 [redacted] Can FinCEN audit AIA?

2 Mr. Kirby. My understanding under the MOUs is that we still do maintain the

3 ability to sort of coordinate with that agency regarding use of the data and what it's doing

4 with the data. So my understanding is, the answer to your question is yes. It's just we

5 would not have the same degree of visibility that we would when you're coming onto our

6 own system to access the data.

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q I know you mentioned you've never used the Electronic Access System.

9 You do seem very familiar. How are you familiar with that system?

10 A Through briefings and the broader exercise we're undertaking, actually, to 11 update the MOU documents generally. So I have been involved in that, so I've had the,

12 you know, opportunity to learn. And through meetings and other scenarios is how my 13 understanding of how this works has been gleaned.

14 Q And does the Intelligence Division, now-Research and Analysis Division -- do

15 they use that system?

16 A I believe some do use the portal system. And then my understanding

17 is -- you know, since it's a FinCEN system, my understanding is you can also access the

18 data by just our own internal systems. So, like, you know, the portal system is built for

19 principally external users to come in and use the system, is my understanding of the 20 difference there.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q You mentioned that the MOUs with respect to AIA are in the process of 23 being updated.

24 A Uh-huh.

25 Q Why are those being updated?

1 A As I indicated before, you know, safeguarding the data is a priority for us and
2 making sure we have, you know, the best practices in place. And so, across all of our
3 MOUs, we're working to make sure that they're all sort of, basically, recent, consistent,
4 and that we have taken that close look in terms of evaluating what, if any, changes need
5 to be made with regard to sort of any of the things covered by the MOU document.
6 So I think the top-line answer to your question was, frankly, I think it's time, and 7 it's a good time to do it.
8 Q Are there any specific issues that have come up, or is it just time?
9 A I think the main, if I had to pick an issue, is, you know, some of them were a
10 little dated. And so it's a good opportunity in terms of getting sort of -- you know, taking
11 a fresh look at everything and just bringing them up to date, in the sense of, you know, I
12 think there's a comfort that comes for a variety of users that, you know, the MOU you're 13 operating under is a fairly recent MOU.
14 So it's mainly driven by just, I think, a timing need to update. Some of them are a 15 little on the dated side, and it'd be helpful to bring them up more current.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Are you aware of any examples of personnel from another agency misusing
18 the data?
19 A So I don't know this for sure, so I'm going to start with that qualification. I 20 have recollection that there, again, have been sort of one-off instances in the past of,
21 actually, employees of other agencies -- you know, I talked a little bit about the incident
22 at FinCEN in 2018 -- that there may have been some similar, you know, at other -- one or 23 two maybe. But my recollection on that is a little thin. But those are the ones I'm sort 24 of -- that come to mind more front of mind for me.
25 What I understand from the team is that, in their experience, if they sort of call in

1 response to something they see on an audit log that raises a question, it's usually the 2 person just didn't -- it was an honest mistake; they didn't put in enough information.
3 So we don't see many instances of people acting inappropriately in the system.
4 But it is something that is important.
5 And, again, a goal of this MOU update exercise is just making sure everything is 6 timely and we've taken a look to make sure, you know, everything is up to date.
7 Q You described the thin recollections you have of maybe some other
8 instances. Do you recall which agencies?
9 A I don't, no. A Google search might resolve that, because if my memory is 10 correct, that should be public. We can take that back, too, if it would be helpful.
11 Q In either your current role or any of your prior roles at FinCEN, if you wanted
12 to review an audit of one of the other agencies, would you have the ability to do that?
13 A Yes. Well, I would have to ask someone to get it for me, but yes. I don't
14 have the ability to go in and just do it, but I could have someone bring it to me.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q Did you ever do that?
17 A No.
18 Q I think we'll go back to your time as associate director for the Intelligence
19 Division. In that role, did you coordinate with any offices from the FBI?
20 A I don't recall doing that directly, but I'm relatively confident that members of 21 my team did, because, again, it's fairly common for us to work with the FBI, and the FBI
22 has a representative housed in our offices. So we have a number of law enforcement
23 liaisons who sit with FinCEN; FBI is one of them.
24 Q So would that be an FBI agent or employee that is detailed?
25 A Yes. I don't think it's a full-on agent. I think it's an employee. But,

1 again, it would be very common to interact with the FBI, so I am relatively confident, even
2 though I don't recollect doing it directly myself, that members of my team would have.
3 Q So would you or your team work with the Strategic Partner Engagement
4 Section at the FBI?
5 A I don't know the answer to that. I do not recall working with that section.
6 I do not know the answer as to the broader team.
7 Q Did you or your team ever interact with Peter Sullivan, who was in that office
8 at the FBI?
9 A I don't recall interacting with Mr. Sullivan, and I don't know the answer as to 10 the broader team.
11 Q What was your relationship like or your team's relationship like with the FBI?
12 Was it collaborative?
13 A You know, my impression generally over many years, not just, you know, my 14 time in the role, has been that, generally, as an agency, including the components, we 15 have collaborative relationships with our law enforcement partners.
16 And I think you see that playing out now with the Project Protect series fentanyl
17 Exchanges that I mentioned before, with, you know, our support to DEA in the fentanyl
18 space. I think you see it on a number of mission sets at the moment.
19 I think we have historically had collaborative relationships with the main law
20 enforcement agencies. So I would not expect it to have been any different in a material
21 way 4 years ago as to what I see today.
22 Q Did you or are you aware of anyone at FinCEN sending SARs directly to the 23 FBI or any other law enforcement agency?
24 A So I think so, but I don't -- again, that wouldn't necessarily strike me as 25 unusual. The FBI has access to the data.

1 And, you know, going back to a description I was giving earlier of, if you're an
2 analyst working the cyber and emerging tech space -- this is coming to front of mind for
3 me most in that space. So, if we got a SAR involving a new ransomware strain or a SAR
4 discussing some type of, you know, attack in the space that has caused -- I don't know
5 that it would strike me as unusual that an analyst working on that would share that SAR
6 with NCIJTF, for example, or another FBI field office that is responsible for that particular 7 ransomware strain.
8 There are -- again, FBI has access to -- now, that may happen not -- because I don't
9 know this for sure. It may happen to just share the ID number, as opposed to sharing
10 the SAR itself. But I don't know that I would be surprised if they shared the actual SAR if 11 they thought the -- to discuss the discussion in the sort of narrative section of the 12 document if they thought it was relevant to the mission space that they're working on.
13 That's a long-winded way of answering your question. I hope it answered your 14 question.
15 Q Did --
16 A Actually, I'm going to qualify that one more time. But I would expect them
17 to only share it with agencies that otherwise have access. And, again, since most of our 18 main Federal partners do, that's not an issue.
19 Q Okay.
20 Did the FBI coordinate with FinCEN regarding its relationship and communications
21 with financial institutions?
22 A I might need you to be a little bit more specific on that one.
23 Q So, if the FBI is working with financial institutions, sharing potential 24 typologies or investigative information into financial crimes, would they coordinate with 25 FinCEN in the course of these communications with the financial institutions?

1 A So that's a pretty general question. Maybe I'll answer it the best I can.
2 You know, it's always been my understanding, at least since coming to FinCEN -- I
3 should qualify that -- that the FBI in particular, other law enforcement agencies, sort of 4 have their own relationships, their own authorities, when it comes to the sector, the
5 financial sector.
6 So I wouldn't expect them, in at least the abstract, to sort of come to us as a
7 matter of course with regard to them engaging with, you know, members of the financial 8 sector on cases that they're working on.
9 Again, we have -- law enforcement does regularly participate in the FinCEN
10 Exchanges that we convene, and so -- and, obviously, FinCEN is there for those and part of 11 those conversations, as the convening agency. But I don't know that I would expect sort
12 of across the board that if the FBI wants to call up Bank A they would sort of loop FinCEN 13 into that.
14 But I can't say that I know that in a specific way. That's more of a higher-level
15 reaction based on my perception.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Based off of -- going a couple questions earlier, you said it wouldn't surprise
18 you if members of your team, or FinCEN, I should say, were sending SARs directly to the 19 FBI, I guess by members of your team?
20 A I would say maybe analysts in the Intelligence Division, because I think that's 21 the team most likely to be sort of in the data.
22 But, again, that could happen via -- I'm not sure that -- I don't know that they
23 would necessarily send the document. They might just send the ID number. Because 24 with the ID number, the agency with access could just pull it up themselves.
25 Q And --

1 A And so, if -- I just don't know how that would happen.

2 Q And if you got the analyst working on an issue, he or she gets to the point

3 where they think it's significant enough, for whatever reason, to share with the FBI, is

4 that a type of decision the analyst would elevate, or is that something that analysts are

5 empowered to make on their own?

6 A Again, my guess is that it's going to be sort of team- and topic-specific.

7 Because it may vary based on the sort of topic integration with a law enforcement

8 agency.

9 So where you have a team that's collaborating very closely with DEA on a, you

10 know, fentanyl matter -- and, again, we have employees who spend some time at DEA;

11 DEA has employees that spend some time at FinCEN. It's meant to promote that kind of 12 information exchange. I just don't know the means on which it would happen.

13 So I think it would be probably topic-specific, team-specific. I don't know that 14 there would be sort of a one way it would always happen.

15 Q Do you recall any instances when you were associate director where

16 someone from within your team elevated the issue to your level, about whether it was

17 appropriate to share or to highlight a SAR to another agency?

18 A I don't. But I do recall being aware that, in the context of ransomware, we

19 were very transparent with -- and I think the FBI component with NCIJTF -- with regard to

20 alerting them to information that we would see. And, again, I just don't recall if that

21 meant we sent them the SAR or we sent them the number for them to pull up the SAR

22 themselves.

23 So I think that's sort of a "yes" to your second question of being aware that

24 information was shared at times. I just don't recall knowing exactly how that was

25 happening.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Did you ever flag specific names to financial institutions for SAR filing

3 purposes?

4 A I don't recall doing that, no. Yeah, I don't recall doing that.

5 Q Could Federal law enforcement provide a list of names to financial

6 institutions to consider for SAR filing purposes?

7 A You know, with regard to what law enforcement can and can't do, I've sort

8 of learned over the years it's probably best for me to defer to law enforcement on that

9 question. So that's a question you might want to ask the FBI or DOJ.

10 And, you know, to the extent, turning to my own knowledge, you know, it may 11 depend on who the names are. You know, again, I don't think it's uncommon for 12 financial institutions to sort of be aware of what's in the news, in terms of informing their

13 AML programs. So, you know, to the extent, you know, Jimmy Kirby was arrested

14 yesterday for engaging in all sorts of fraudulent activity, you know, my bank might take a

15 look at that if that was in the paper the next day. I don't think that would be a 16 surprising thing for them to do.

17 Q But would it be unusual for Federal law enforcement to send a list of specific

18 names for a bank to consider for SAR filing purposes?

19 A I don't know the answer to that question. I really don't, because I

20 don't know --

21 Q Have you seen it before?

22 A I mean, in terms of, like, things I've seen, you know, over the course of this

23 year I've seen materials in connection with the topic that we're here to talk about today,

24 and, you know, I do recall seeing -- there may have been names of people who had been

25 arrested, as one potential list of names that was shared with folks in terms of awareness.

1 If I'm aware of an instance, that's probably the only one that I'm aware of. But I
2 can't actually say that I have perfect recall of that circumstance either, because, again, I
3 don't recall being aware of anything like that at the time. But I do think, in terms of 4 reviewing materials just as these questions have come up over the course of the year, I do
5 have a recollection of that.
6 Q So you wouldn't say it's common for Federal law enforcement to send a list
7 of names.
8 A I don't know if it's common or not. I'm just not familiar with it, one way or 9 the other.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q So, in the 10 minutes or so we have left, I'm going to get into some specific 12 communications with you.
13 A Okay.
14 Q First, I'd like to enter into the record an email from KeyBank to [redacted],
15 dated January 15th, 2021, with the subject line "Inauguration Task Force," as exhibit 2.
16 [Kirby Exhibit No. 2
17 was marked for identification.]
18 [redacted] I think just before we start asking questions about this, is this 19 the full email? Is there an additional email or context in this chain, or is this just an 20 excerpt of a document?
21 [redacted] This is an excerpt of a document production, but this is -- all
22 we're going to be discussing is what is on this and the attachment.
23 [redacted] So that's not my question. Is this the full document? Are 24 there emails before or after it in this chain? Because I think that's important for the 25 record to show. If he's only being asked about one specific portion of an email exchange

1 without context, I want the record to be very clear on that point.

2 [redacted] Okay.

3 [redacted] So what's the -- so we need the answer before we proceed.

4 [redacted] This is the only email here from a representative at KeyBank to

5 various employees of FinCEN that we have --

6 [redacted] Okay. So --

7 [redacted] -- with this subject line.

8 [redacted] This is not a part of a larger thread.

9 [redacted] There's no other emails on this thread?

10 [redacted] No.

11 [redacted] Okay.

12 And you all are going to distribute the attachment, I assume, for context.

13 [redacted] Yes. And before you object, just let us enter the items into 14 evidence and let us start to ask questions.

15 [redacted] And then I'd now like to enter an email from [redacted]

16 dated January 15th, 2021, and the attachments "Jan 15 2021 compiled typologies" and

17 "KeyBank Query Logic for Active Shooters," with the subject line "Compiled typologies in 18 advance of 4:30 call," into the record as exhibit 3.

19 [Kirby Exhibit No. 3

20 was marked for identification.]

21 [redacted] So this is more than just a PowerPoint? This is from another

22 source, this --

23 [redacted] This is the email. And there were two attachments, and these 24 are the attachments.

25 [redacted] Thank you.

1 [redacted] Sorry. Just to clarify, there's a -- so, on what's been entered as
2 exhibit 2, it looks like there's an attachment, "KeyBank Query Logic for Active Shooters
3 version 01-15-2021.pptx." Is that attachment --
4 [redacted] That is what is in here. That's the PowerPoint that is in exhibit
5 3.
6 [redacted] But exhibit 3 was produced by a different -- is not actually the 7 one -- it might look the same, but it's not the one that was attached to exhibit 2. Does
8 that make sense? Because exhibit 3 is the KeyBank PowerPoint as attached to an email,
9 a different email.
10 [redacted] We'll just represent for the record that the slideshow that's 11 distributed by FinCEN is the same slideshow that's being sent to FinCEN from KeyBank.
12 Mr. Kirby. Okay. I'm ready.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q We've just got about a minute and a half left, so --
15 A I'm sure we'll knock all of this out in 90 seconds.
16 Q Acknowledging that you are not included on this email, had you ever seen
17 these emails at this time?
18 [redacted] You're talking about exhibit 2, for the record, right?
19 Mr. Kirby. This one.
20 [redacted] Exhibit 2 --
21 Mr. Kirby. This one --
22 [redacted] Yes.
23 Mr. Kirby. -- is the one you're talking about.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q Had you seen that at the time?

1 A I don't recall seeing this at the time, no.

2 Q You testified that [redacted] was a member of the Intelligence Division

3 when you were there.

4 A Yes.

5 Q She is cc'd on exhibit 3. Did you discuss this email with her at the time that

6 was sent to these financial institutions?

7 A I don't recall discussing this with [redacted] at the time, no.

8 Q Do you know if you or anyone in your office analyzed the information in the 9 attachments before [redacted] shared it with financial institutions?

10 A I don't know, no.

11 [redacted] Would this have been the kind of thing that would have normally

12 came to the Intelligence Division prior to it being sent out?

13 Mr. Kirby. I don't know, because it's not -- it doesn't appear to be our work

14 product. So I don't know the answer to that question.

15 [redacted] We can go off the record.

1

2 [2:08 p.m.]

3 [redacted] We're back on the record. Thank you.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q I want to start by asking a couple of questions about -- you were asked a lot

6 of questions during the previous hour about the confidentiality provisions and what

7 happens if somebody violates those, how those things are monitored, and you mentioned

8 an employee in 2018 who was criminally prosecuted for violating those provisions,

9 correct?

10 A Correct, yes.

11 Q Now, those criminal provisions apply not just to --

12 A Actually, I should stop there. I don't -- it was in relation to that, but I don't

13 know the specific prong DOJ used. So let me put that. There may have been a 14 conspiracy prong or something like that --

15 Q Fair enough.

16 A -- not the actual --

17 Q And I'm not going to ask you questions at that level of --

18 A Just to, again, make sure I'm clear on that.

19 Q Yes. I'm not going to ask at that level of specificity. I just want to make 20 clear that the criminal provisions that apply to unauthorized disclosure for dissemination

21 of Bank Secrecy Act information, those apply to anybody who is authorized to have that

22 information and then discloses it improperly, regardless of whether they work for FinCEN

23 or the FBI or anywhere else.

24 A I believe so, yes.

25 Q And, in fact, there's a criminal provision within the same chapter of the

1 United States Code 31, United States Code 5322, that makes it a felony to disclose -- to
2 violate those provisions of the Bank Secrecy Act?
3 A I'll defer to you on the number, but the provision, that sounds right to me.
4 Q Okay. Thank you.
5 Now, I want to pick up where we left off at the top of the last hour and just make 6 some clarifications about the record, because there were some exhibits introduced with 7 attachments and we raised some questions and some representations were made that I
8 just want to clarify. I'm not actually going to be asking you for any -- any questions
9 about this.
10 A Okay.
11 Q But I think it's important that we have an accurate representation, because 12 many different financial institutions produced documents to the committee in response,
13 and I want to be clear what is and is not produced by different institutions and what is 14 before you that you're being asked questions about.
15 So exhibit 2 is an email from [redacted]. And if you look at the Bates number,
16 it has a Bates number from KeyBank HJC 235. And I believe your counsel asked if this 17 was part of a chain, and it was represented that it was not, but you can see from the 18 email that there is an attachment of a KeyBank PowerPoint.
19 And then exhibit 3 was introduced, and exhibit 3 is not a production from 20 KeyBank; it's, in fact, an email to an employee at KeyBank and other institutions from 21 [redacted] and it has Bates numbers HJC 005 through 007.
22 And then there is a KeyBank PowerPoint, that does not have Bates numbers,
23 attached to exhibit 2, and it was represented during the previous hour that that is the 24 same PowerPoint that was attached to exhibit 2.
25 Now, I'm going to introduce the actual documents that were produced by

1 KeyBank as exhibit 4.

2 [Kirby Exhibit No. 4

3 was marked for identification.]

4 [redacted] And if you follow along, you can see that the Bates number for the

5 second page is a PDF of the KeyBank PowerPoint. It's the Bates number that follows the 6 Bates number for exhibit 2.

7 So you can see that this is the actual PowerPoint that was attached to the email in

8 exhibit 2, and it has redactions. So it is therefore not the same PowerPoint that was

9 produced in exhibit 3.

10 And now I would like to introduce the actual documents, the attachments from 11 exhibit 3. And I will state for the record that these are co-produced by Wells Fargo. So 12 now this will be exhibit 5.

13 [Kirby Exhibit No. 5

14 was marked for identification.]

15 [redacted] And you can see that exhibit 5, the first page has the same Bates

16 numbers. It's the same Bates numbers. It's HJC 118 dash many, many zeros 5 through

17 7. And then Bates 8 is a black and white PDF of a PowerPoint that is also redacted, and 18 that is not what was attached to exhibit 3.

19 The unredacted PowerPoint that was attached as exhibit 3 stapled together

20 representing as if it is the attachment to the email from the KeyBank employee to

21 [redacted] is actually a native file that was produced to the committee from Citibank, 22 completely separate institution.

23 And I'm going to introduce that for the record, just to make clear that what was

24 attached as one exhibit and introduced into the record as one exhibit as being an

25 attachment to an email that was produced to us from one financial institution actually

1 came from a different financial institution.

2 And the majority's representation that these are the same PowerPoints, I

3 understand that it's a natural assumption that they have the same title that they are the

4 same, but for the ones that were actually produced by the banks in exhibit 4 and exhibit 5

5 were redacted and we don't know that they were the same.

6 What we do know is that what was presented as the attachment to exhibit 3 was

7 not the document that was attached to exhibit 3. It was a document that was produced

8 by another bank. And we're going to introduce exhibit 6 for the record.

9 [Kirby Exhibit No. 6

10 was marked for identification.]

11 [redacted] So I would ask the majority, when we're being questioned -- when

12 we're questioning a witness about this PowerPoint, that we use the exhibits with the 13 emails that they were actually attached to from the institutions that actually produced

14 them.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q And with that out of the way, you were asked a series of questions during

17 the previous hour about whether law enforcement ever provides a list of names to

18 FinCEN or to financial institutions and ask them to file SARs or to search for people with

19 those names. And to me that made me -- rang a bell for me in terms of Section 314 of 20 the PATRIOT Act.

21 Are you familiar with Section 314(a) of the PATRIOT Act?

22 A Yes, I am.

23 Q And what is your understanding of what Section 314(a) allows law

24 enforcement agencies to request of financial institutions?

25 A So law enforcement agencies can ask FinCEN to query financial institutions

1 for -- it's essentially a hand-raising exercise for whether they have responsive
2 accounts -- maybe transactions as well, I have to check the reg -- for targets that have
3 been identified for either like counterterrorism or anti-money laundering reasons.
4 Q And so is it correct to say that law enforcement through their own
5 investigations identifies a suspect, and then if they want to investigate that suspect's
6 financial records they need to find out where those financial records are? So they send 7 a request to FinCEN to ask financial institutions, "Do you have any records for this
8 individual?"
9 Is that correct?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And the financial institutions respond yes or no, but the 314(a) response
12 does not include the actual financial records, correct?
13 A That is my understanding, yes. It does not include the actual financial 14 records.
15 Q And so when you say it's a hand-raising exercise, did you mean that any bank 16 who has records related to the subject named in the 314(a) request says, "We have 17 records"?
18 A Yes, essentially the yes/no as you phrased it.
19 Q And the purpose of that is to allow law enforcement to then serve a 20 subpoena or a search warrant or whatever -- whatever --
21 A Whatever process they have.
22 Q -- they have to then obtain those records?
23 A Yes, that is my understanding.
24 Q So it's kind of the flip side of a suspicious activity report, whereas with a
25 suspicious activity report it's the bank who's investigating or monitoring their customers

1 and then flagging for FinCEN and law enforcement what they deem to be suspicious;
2 whereas, with 314(a), law enforcement has identified an individual who is a suspect or a
3 target in some respect, and then they are trying to get their financial records, and they
4 use 314(a) as the first step to know where to go.
5 A I think that's a fair description, yes.
6 Q Okay. Thank you.
7 And like suspicious activity reports, Section 314(a) is a tool that is available to law
8 enforcement to help them combat the financing of terrorism, as well as money
9 laundering and other offenses?
10 A Yes, that's correct.
11 [redacted] Okay. Thank you.
12 And with that, we can go off the record.
13 [Recess.]
14 [redacted] We can go back on the record.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q I think where we left off in the majority's previous hour was relating to the 17 attachments sent in an email from [redacted] to a number of financial institutions.
18 That's the "January 15th, 2021, compiled typologies" and the "KeyBank Query Logic for 19 Active Shooters."
20 We can direct you to exhibit 5.
21 A Okay.
22 Q Let me know if you need a minute to review.
23 [Pause.]
24 A Okay.
25 Q You previously testified that [redacted] was a member of the Intelligence

1 Division. She's cc'd on this email.

2 Did you discuss this email or the attachments with her?

3 A I don't recall discussing the email or its attachments with her.

4 Q And do you recall if you ever received this email?

5 A I don't recall receiving this email either.

6 Q Do you know if you or anyone in your office analyzed the information in the

7 attachments before it was shared with financial institutions?

8 A I do not know the answer to that question.

9 Q Would that be the norm, the sort of thing that normally would go through

10 the Intelligence Division before being distributed?

11 A As I think I mentioned before the break, this isn't FinCEN's work product.

12 Q Well --

13 A So, I mean, the slide deck. So I don't know that there would be a sort of 14 like "usual" for that. So I don't know if it was reviewed by the Intelligence Division

15 before it was sent.

16 Q I will direct you to Bates number 6.

17 A Yes.

18 Q So if you'll notice, it says, "Lone Actor/Homegrown Violent Extremism

19 Indicators," and in parentheses says, "(developed from prior FinCEN analysis)."

20 A Yes. I'm sorry, I was referring to the slide deck in my response to the prior 21 question. My apologies for any lack of clarity on that.

22 Okay. I'm on Bates 6.

23 Q Do you know whether the Intelligence Division helped prepare these 24 indicators?

25 A I do not know.

1 Q Have you seen them before?

2 A I have in the sense of -- the questions that have arisen over the course of a

3 year, I have seen this list in connection with that effort or with those inquiries.

4 Q And on this email there's at least looks like 11 different financial institutions

5 listed.

6 Do you know how FinCEN decided that these materials would go to these financial

7 institutions and not others?

8 A I do not know, no.

9 Q Would this kind of exchange be considered a FinCEN Exchange?

10 A This is not what -- I mean, a FinCEN Exchange, at least in my mind, is when

11 sort of people convene to talk. Though it would also make sense to me that part of that

12 could be also extended to sort of include the information being shared in advance of an

13 exchange.

14 I've never really thought about it that way, but I could see it making sense in the 15 sense of, so folks are sort of talking from -- understanding the facts or the -- whatever it is 16 that's going to be discussed in the exchange.

17 But at least an exchange itself is something I tend to think of as the sort of actual

18 event of people coming together and talking.

19 Q The subject line states, "...in advance of 4:30 call." Did you participate in 20 that call?

21 A I do not recall whether I did or if I did not.

22 Q Did you participate in any calls with financial institutions in the weeks

23 following January 6th, 2021?

24 A I don't recall if I did or didn't, to be honest. I've sort of been relaying that a

25 bit in my mind in anticipation of coming here today, and it wouldn't surprise me if I did.

1 But if I did, it wouldn't have been many of these. I don't -- but I don't recall attending 2 any.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q Can we take a step back a little bit?
5 So in the days and weeks following January 6th, obviously there's many law
6 enforcement investigations going on. FinCEN is clearly sharing a lot of 7 information -- whether that's [redacted] -- with financial institutions.
8 What is the atmosphere at FinCEN at that time?
9 A Hmm. The atmosphere at FinCEN? I was aware that these exchanges
10 were going on. I think you see senior leaders copied on these emails, so this would've
11 been something that would've, I think, gathered attention from like -- that's something
12 folks would've been focused on in the aftermath of the event. And there was the 13 concern of violence in connection with the sort of upcoming inauguration.
14 There was also, though, sort of separate and apart from this, there was a 15 transition underway, and so there would've been all of the steps going on at that time in 16 connection with transitioning from one administration to the next administration.
17 So my recollection is there also would've been the sort of -- that work going on as 18 well of transition memos and meeting with any transition team or preparing things for a 19 transition team.
20 Sort of all of that was going -- would've been going on at the same time as this.
21 And then there was still the pandemic sort of overhang going on as well.
22 So I don't really recall a vibe per se, but there was a lot going on at this time and a 23 lot going on at this time that would have sort of drawn leadership's attention because of 24 all of the different work streams sort of associated with those things, if that answers your 25 question.

1 Q So looking at -- we'll look at this attachment specifically. At the top it says,
2 "Bank submission."
3 Is it fair to assume that a bank likely sent that to FinCEN and then [redacted]
4 was sending that out to other financial institutions?
5 A So I don't know the answer to that. But if I'm looking at the first sentence,
6 it seems a fair conclusion to draw. This came not from us but came from a financial
7 institution, given the reference to searching of "Zelle payment messages."
8 Q Would you or someone in your office have analyzed this submission from 9 the bank to determine whether it was legitimate and worth sending out to other financial 10 institutions?
11 A I do not recall. I don't know if that happened. And as I think I indicated
12 earlier today, for FinCEN Exchange presentations or materials by presenters that aren't 13 FinCEN, sort of irrespective of the topic, FinCEN wouldn't necessarily -- I don't think we 14 actually have a practice of sort of reviewing and validating those products or 15 presentations or whatever they are prior to whatever discussion is going to happen in 16 that regard.
17 Q So aside from that, this appears to be just an email in anticipation of the call,
18 so likely not part of the FinCEN Exchange.
19 A Uh-huh.
20 Q That wouldn't have been analyzed by anyone in your division, any other
21 division?
22 A I'm not aware of whether this was analyzed or not.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q Following January 6th, how did your team's attention change?
25 A So there were analysts working on this effort of supporting law enforcement

1 in connection with, my recollection is, requests from the FBI, which tends to be how we
2 get pulled into law enforcement support matters. So my recollection is there were
3 members of the Intelligence Division supporting requests from the FBI.
4 Q How many members?
5 A I don't know the exact number. But the terrorism team was I don't think 6 any more than six or seven employees, so it would've been almost certainly less than 7 that. I don't know that it would've been the whole -- I don't think it would've been the 8 whole team, but I don't know.
9 Q Did you have any conversations with that team in the days or weeks
10 following January 6th about where their priorities should be?
11 A I don't recall any discussions like that. This was being very much managed 12 at a leadership level within FinCEN, so I don't recall any discussions of the type you're 13 describing.
14 Q Who specifically within FinCEN leadership was involved that you can recall?
15 A Well, AnnaLou Tirol, who then became the deputy director shortly -- yeah,
16 shortly after the date of this email, again, at the time was the head of the Strategic 17 Operations Division and had a background in law enforcement.
18 And my recollection is the director at the time was also actively involved in these 19 exchanges and this effort.
20 Q Did you have meetings or discussions with AnnaLou in the days and weeks
21 following January 6th?
22 A I mean, it would have come up, I feel pretty confident, in leadership
23 meetings. But I don't remember specific conversations with her, specific meetings
24 dedicated to that purpose.
25 Q I guess just more broadly, how are you gaining this understanding of FinCEN

1 leadership's involvement?

2 A Well, as I think I mentioned a few minutes ago, I was aware that these

3 exchanges were going on, and I was aware that the senior leadership of the agency was

4 focused on this and was involved.

5 So it wasn't a secret that these exchanges were occurring, and I was aware they

6 were going on. And as I think I mentioned a few minutes ago, I feel pretty confident

7 that at least references to this work would've been raised in like senior management

8 meetings. So I was aware that it was going on.

9 Q I guess could you just walk me through a little bit more about what your role

10 was and what discussions you were having?

11 You're talking about FinCEN leadership is paying attention to this, and then there

12 are the analysts within your team that are working on this.

13 Who's talking to the analysts? Are these two separate discussions? Are they

14 intermediary? It's just it's not clear what your role is at this time.

15 A So I think I mentioned earlier today that about 90 days before this is when I

16 stepped into this role as head of this division. It was a pretty substantial change in 17 nature of responsibilities for me.

18 And also I had not been an intelligence analyst before. So this was a fairly

19 substantial change from serving as the legal adviser, and also the position I stepped into

20 had been vacant for some period of time.

21 So a fair amount of my efforts at the beginning of this job were, frankly, getting

22 my hands around the management functions, who sits where, who's -- that sort of stuff.

23 [redacted] had previously been chief of staff to the director, so it would not have struck

24 me as strange to have leadership working directly with her given their longstanding

25 relationship. And [redacted] is a very impressive individual. So, again, nothing about that

1 would've struck me as strange or unusual.

2 So I was not very involved in this sort of overall exchange effort. From where I

3 sat at the time, looking back on it, my impression was it was sufficiently staffed at a senior

4 management level that I didn't sort of see myself as adding a lot of additional value

5 beyond the managers who were already involved in that space.

6 And so maybe that's the best answer I can give you to your question.

7 Q Okay. And is [redacted] having regular interactions with the analysts who were

8 working on this?

9 A I don't know the answer to that question for sure, but it wouldn't -- again, it

10 wouldn't have struck me as unusual if she was.

11 Q Okay. What about like January 5th, before any of this happens, what was

12 the nature? You've only been on the job for 90 days. [redacted] has longer lasting

13 relationships with some of the analyst folks. Is that --

14 A I think that's probably accurate. But also we're in the middle of a transition

15 period. We've just come through the -- I mean, there's just a lot going on at that time.

16 So it's not as though people were just sort of like sitting around waiting for things to

17 happen. But then this happened and we had these requests from law enforcement and 18 others to sort of engage in this work.

19 So I don't -- it would never strike me as strange for teams to sort

20 of -- management teams anyway -- to sort of divide and conquer different topics based on 21 background or expertise or even personal relationships.

22 But I can only speak to sort of my own involvement. It was not extensive in 23 these exchanges while they were going on.

24 Q Were the analysts briefing FinCEN leadership directly?

25 A I would presume yes.

1 Q Do you recall a time period?

2 A But I don't know for sure, but I would presume yes.

3 Q Other than the six or seven folks who were on the counterterrorism team,

4 do you know of any other analysts within the team that were pulled on to work on this?

5 A Not specifically, no. It would not surprise me if some of the data quality or

6 folks like that who are just familiar with tracking stuff in the database, it wouldn't surprise

7 me if those folks were sort of pulled in to make sure any incoming filings were being seen.

8 But I don't recall specifically beyond any additional folks particularly.

9 Q For documents like the slide show, independent of this specific example, but

10 we'll say January 5th, so it's just independent of this specific example, if there was

11 incoming information that [redacted] receives and his job is just to interface, before he

12 then goes and shares about what he shared with us that he would send it to someone

13 else within FinCEN, was that a type of consideration that would get sent to your desk, to 14 [redacted] desk, to someone else? What's the nature of things that are sent to you directly?

15 A I don't know who [redacted] would've sent that to. [redacted] didn't work for me.

16 So I can't really speculate who -- I don't know who he did or did not send things to on 17 January 5th or before.

18 The FinCEN Exchange was codified in the statute right at the beginning of the year.

19 There were some number of these exchange -- exchanges like these that had gone on

20 previously, but at least the sort of exchange in its current form is sort of very much a

21 product of early 2021. But, again, I don't know who [redacted] would've sent what he was 22 sending to before, say, January 5th or before.

23 Q We've referenced a couple of the meeting notes. Do you recall just even at

24 a general level being on any Zoom calls or in-person meetings with FinCEN leadership

25 about analysis that was being conducted following January 6th?

1 A As I mentioned before, pretty confident this would've come up in senior
2 management meetings. At the time many of those would've been on Zoom.
3 So in that context, yes, I don't recall the particulars of the discussion, but I'm 4 pretty confident it would've come up in those discussions.
5 [redacted] And there, I just want to make -- you testified earlier about sort
6 of when -- about all of the ADs over the various divisions sort of standing -- I think you
7 said you thought they were weekly meetings. Is that what you're referring to here when 8 you sort of say senior management meetings, or are there --
9 Mr. Kirby. Yes. At the time, my recollection is we had a weekly senior 10 leadership meeting. There may have been meetings beyond that given the nature of 11 what was -- the attack on January 6th and the aftermath of that. But at the time we 12 did, my recollection, have standing senior management meetings once a week.
13 [redacted] And so in an earlier answer, based off your kind of broad
14 understanding of what was going on at the time, that analysts likely were briefing FinCEN
15 leadership, are the analysts getting pulled into the standing meeting, or is it your 16 understanding there were separate meetings going on?
17 Mr. Kirby. I think those would've likely been separate meetings if they occurred.
18 But I don't recall any sort of specific meetings in that regard. Yeah.
19 [redacted] Would an email like this have been sent without being reviewed
20 by an analyst?
21 [redacted] Just for the record, we're talking about exhibit 5?
22 [redacted] Yeah, exhibit 5, the bank submission, the attachments.
23 [redacted] So we're talking about the first attachment, bank submission,
24 on exhibit 5.
25 [redacted] Yes.

Mr. Kirby. And an analyst in the then-Intelligence Division?

[redacted] Correct.

Mr. Kirby. I don't know. I don't know if [redacted] sent this to someone in the Intelligence Division before he sent this or not.

BY [redacted]

Q There wasn't a general protocol for Intelligence Division to sign off on things before they were being sent out by individuals like [redacted]?

A I'm not aware of such a protocol. I mean, the events around January 6th are kind of a unique circumstance, so I don't know that we would've had a standing protocol in anticipation of such a thing. But I'm not aware -- I don't believe there would be a protocol sort of like requiring that in all instances. I was not aware of one at the time.

Q And you may have answered this earlier. Did the Intelligence Division create these typologies on exhibit 5, the indicators developed from prior FinCEN analysis?

A I don't know the answer to that.

Q Do you know who would --

A Someone like AnnaLou, [redacted], or [redacted] might. If they are derived from FinCEN analysis it would make sense to me that that would've come from the Intelligence Division, because that's the function at the time that they performed.

So, for instance, I would not have expected [redacted] to sort of come up with something like this on his own. So it would make sense that if it was developed at FinCEN it was developed in the Intelligence Division.

Q Were these typologies or indicators made public? I know you mentioned earlier that you published certain typologies.

A Uh-huh.

1 Q Do you know if these were made public?

2 A I don't know. I don't believe so. And, again, these may be more like red

3 flag data points if anything else. These at the bottom I don't think were ever made

4 public. I don't recall off the top of my head.

5 I'm kind of trying to mentally scan through products that I know were on our

6 website. I don't recall us putting a product like this on our website.

7 And one rationale for that, frankly, might be you don't want to alert people that

8 are thinking about doing this to necessarily how some of their activity may be seen,

9 would be one potential reason not to do that.

10 But I don't recall this being made public otherwise.

11 Q Do you know how these kinds of indicators -- what analysis would be 12 performed to create these kinds of indicators?

13 A I know in the past there has been interest in trying to figure out if there are

14 ways to anticipate lone actor attacks and if there are red flags that can be sort of 15 discerned from that.

16 If these were produced at FinCEN my guess would be that they were part of a

17 work stream of that type, but I don't know when they would've been produced.

18 Q But what are you analyzing?

19 A Oh.

20 Q When you're producing an indicator, what does that analysis look like?

21 A Going back to something we at some point today have talked about, I don't

22 know whose question it was, we talked about how financial institutions will often ingest

23 public news reporting as part of their AML program.

24 So, for instance, in the context of someone being identified as a suspect in an

25 action, like a lone shooter action, that could prompt financial institutions to check their

1 own records to see what they have on that individual, with the benefit of that new
2 information evaluate whether any of that might be suspicious activity that should be
3 reported to FinCEN.
4 And so one area of analysis in that regard could be if a bank were to file a
5 look-back SAR after learning that one of their customers were involved potentially in one
6 of these actions and then sort of evaluating.
7 So if you're asking like what is the person analyzing, one piece of data they may be 8 looking at is what types of filings are we getting on individuals that are identified as 9 having engaged in this sort of conduct and are there commonalities or other things that 10 can be drawn from that as some sort of -- that would be one potential area they're 11 looking at.
12 To the extent we're working with law enforcement on something of this type they 13 may also glean information that law enforcement may know in this space.
14 And so it could be a couple of different areas, but those are two that kind of stand
15 out to me that they could be looking at in the first instance.
16 Q And when FinCEN shares materials like this, how are they expected to be 17 used?
18 A So to be honest with you, I don't know how many examples we have of 19 sharing information like this.
20 It sounds like -- and, again, just based only on the emails -- the email, singular -- it
21 looks like the expectation is that this is going to form some portion of a conversation.
22 To the extent that's the case, it's comparing different approaches and 23 methodologies different institutions are using to the extent -- I mean, I could -- that 24 would sort of make sense to me given the table-setting email here.
25 But I don't know in the abstract that there's sort of a default expectation of what a

1 financial institution would do with something like this or information and materials like
2 this.
3 Q One of the indicators includes, quote, "The purchase of books (including 4 religious texts) and subscriptions to other media containing extremist views."
5 Do you have an idea of how FinCEN could have conducted an analysis to conclude 6 that as an indicator?
7 A I don't. I think the "extremist views" part of that I could see where if you're 8 thinking about that in terms of like jihadi materials, that could be one example of that in 9 particular potentially. But I don't know where that came from.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q How would FinCEN figure out that an individual was purchasing jihadi
12 material?
13 A So I don't think it would be us that figures that out on the first instance. I
14 think it would be the filer. And I think it would depend a lot on what information the 15 filer has access to.
16 So to sort of go outside the four corners of our conversation but to go to where 17 this has come up in other circumstances, one question I've heard raised in hearings is,
18 "Well, should people be filing on purchases of Bibles and things like that?"
19 Most of the time I don't think your typical filer is going to see that. They 20 shouldn't be filing on that anyway, to be very clear. But if you go to Barnes & Noble and 21 buy "insert name of religious text," whatever text you're buying, I don't know that your 22 payment processor or anyone is actually going to see that.
23 So I think it depends on like what information -- and broadening the aperture out
24 to an AML program, all the sources of information an individual financial institution, 25 individual filer has at their disposal, they may see things in a certain context in the

1 transactional space that may prompt them to file.

2 That's not something FinCEN would necessarily see. The only thing we're going

3 to see in most instances is going to be my financial institution saw something that caused

4 them to be concerned of potential relevant to any possible violation of law or regulation.

5 You sort of go back to that standard, it's a pretty broad standard, and they may file on

6 that.

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q Does FinCEN have a determination of what media contains extremist views?

9 A Not that I'm aware of, no.

10 Q Do you know whether any financial institution or FinCEN expressed a

11 concern that suggesting the purchase of religious texts might encroach on Americans'

12 right to religious freedom?

13 A I don't recall any conversations of that type. I don't know that I necessarily 14 would've been included or involved in those types of discussions.

15 But at the end of the day, FinCEN is an organization that is not out, in my

16 experience, looking to suppress people's constitutional First Amendment rights. So that

17 is not something in the first instance I think any employee of FinCEN in this space

18 would've been looking to do. That's just based on my experience of working for the 19 organization. I'm relatively confident in saying that.

20 Q Do you know who would've been involved in those conversations?

21 A Again, my guess, as this was sort of centered in our Strategic Operations

22 Division, my guess would be managers in that space, up to and including Ms. Tirol and

23 possibly our Chief Counsel's Office, which I was no longer in at the time.

24 [redacted] But I just want to be clear from that answer, I think there's a

25 premise in your question that those conversations took place, and his testimony was

1 actually that he doesn't recall if there were any such conversations. So I want to make
2 sure that answer is clear.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q Another one of the extremist indicators includes, "Donations to 5 organizations known to promote radicalism."
6 Does FinCEN have a list of organizations known to promote radicalism?
7 A Not that I'm aware of, no.
8 Q Do you know how an analysis would've concluded what organizations are 9 known to promote radicalism?
10 A I don't, no.
11 Q Are you aware of whether any SARs were generated on the basis of these 12 extremism indicators?
13 A I don't know if SARs were generated based on this.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Who at FinCEN would know where this analysis came from?
16 A I mean, I would start probably in the Strategic Operations Division, since 17 that's where the communications came from, and then work backwards from there.
18 And so I think all of these folks we've been talking about, they no longer work at 19 FinCEN, which would be a challenge in terms of working backwards in that regard 20 because they're no longer with the agency. We've had quite a bit of turnover in the 21 agency in the last couple years. But as a threshold matter that's where I'd be inclined to 22 start.
23 Q I guess, just based off your experience at the time, in mid-January 2021, if 24 you're seeing a list like this, where do you think within FinCEN someone is doing that type
25 of analysis?

1 A As I think I indicated before, if this was prepared at FinCEN I think it's a fair
2 conclusion to assume that it was likely prepared in the Intelligence Division, because
3 that's where that -- that's where I would expect -- analytic work, we're looking at filings
4 and other materials to try to generate red flags and typologies, I would expect that work
5 to happen there.
6 Q If you had follow-up questions about what some of these points mean, who 7 within the Intelligence Division would you consult with?
8 A In the first instance at the time I would've gone to [redacted], who is no longer at 9 FinCEN either. So I'm not sure who I would ask now about this, to be honest. I would 10 probably have to do some digging given the passage of time.
11 Q I mean, presumably this information is being shared to try to be helpful to 12 recipients on the list.
13 A That's my assumption, yes.
14 Q And if one of the recipients doesn't understand what one of the bullet points
15 means and you're the director of the Intelligence Division, we're just trying to get a sense
16 of who might know the answer to these questions.
17 A I think I answered that a minute ago. I said I would have gone to [redacted] at the 18 time. But [redacted] is not there anymore. And so I would need to figure out who to go to in 19 lieu of [redacted] with the passage of 3 and a half years. This didn't happen last week, with all 20 due respect.
21 Q I understand that.
22 For a list like this, when it's going to the banks -- obviously you're not copied on 23 this particular email -- are you receiving briefings?
24 We're just trying to get a sense of in the hierarchy, where you've got the analysts 25 themselves who are like maybe tip of the spear of trying to figure out the issue they're working on, are you getting regular briefings? Is this too granular? Are you too new?

Like why is it that -- it seems, at least based off the answers, maybe not as much familiarity with the meanings of these different bullet points.

A Uh-huh. I think it maybe is a mix of -- I was pretty new in the role. The leadership at the time was working directly with members of the team. It was my understanding people that they knew worked in the terrorism space.

We also weren't all sitting next to each other at this time because it was during the COVID period, so it wasn't -- you didn't just walk down the hall and start up a conversation on something like this like we do before and like we do now.

And it wouldn't have then nor now strike me as strange or unusual for different managers to focus -- particularly senior managers -- to focus on different aspects of the work stream.

So I think that's probably the best answer I have for you on that.

Q Did you ever receive any briefings about concerns, whether it was typologies or kind of related issues, of whether any of that kind of work implicates the First Amendment?

A I don't recall any briefings to that effect.

[redacted] When these indicators and search terms are sent out, what --

[redacted] I think I'll stop there. He's not testified that these are search terms. He's actually testified several times that they are not search terms. He said they're red flag indicators. So if you want to rephrase we can start over.

BY [redacted]

Q What methods could banks use to implement these red flags and monitor transactions? You mentioned a moment ago that banks might be able to see things that FinCEN can't.

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q Could you elaborate a little on that?

3 A Sure.

4 I think we've talked about earlier today one of the obligations that the Bank

5 Secrecy Act imposes and our implementing regs impose on banks is the requirement to

6 have an anti-money laundering program reasonably designed to essentially sort of detect

7 this suspicious activity, improper activity, that sort of stuff.

8 So whatever system they have put in place for that -- and some of that is probably

9 going to be an automated screening system.

10 So, for instance, like the OFAC SDN list, my understanding is that a number of 11 banks have automated screening systems to run those names against transactions to 12 ensure they're not dealing with designated terrorists, designated kingpins, those sorts of 13 folks that no one wants -- they don't want to deal with, we don't want them dealing with.

14 So they have program staff in place to be able to sort of know their customers, 15 evaluate the transactions going on through their institutions.

16 And so sharing information with them for them to feed into that overall program

17 is what I was kind of referring to in that regard, is we share information with the 18 hope -- they know their customers far better than we do.

19 We share information that is potentially helpful for them in understanding

20 broader illicit finance typologies, red flags that may indicate such typologies, with the 21 hope that it's helpful for them in terms of administering their overall program and

22 hopefully driving greater reporting to FinCEN.

23 Q So let's use the examples here specifically.

24 One of the red flags is MAGA, America First. How could that get implemented

25 into the AML system?

1 A So I think, as we talked about earlier today, I think one of the things we
2 would tell folks, and we do say this in our alert and other materials, is there is usually a
3 statement that no one red flag is indicative of any problematic activity.
4 That, again, my understanding is that at the time you see a bunch of terms here,
5 many of which they're both parties, people from both parties, terms like kill, shoot, blow,
6 which I'm assuming means blow up, is one -- gun, death, murder.
7 I read these as being targeted towards combating violence, which at the time
8 there was substantial concern, my recollection is, not in the post-January 6th
9 environment, concerns about violence given the pending inauguration.
10 So you've got a number of names on this list, individual data points, that if 11 someone is talking about violence in the context of any of these folks, that's how I'm 12 reading this broadly.
13 It's hard for me to sort of speak specifically as to one-offs of these terms, how
14 they might be implicated -- incorporated into a financial institution's overall AML
15 program, because at least the way I think of this, we generally tell financial institutions
16 that no one term is meant to be indicative of necessarily something.
17 You're sort of supposed to take these terms holistically and look at them against 18 sort of your sort of broader knowledge about the customer.
19 But I can't answer that specific, "How are they supposed to take that one term?"
20 I don't view it as just one term. They're sharing a list of terms, many of which are aimed 21 at violent activity.

1 [3:11 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q That statement of one term alone isn't included in this.

4 A It's not included in that. I appreciate that.

5 Q Moving to the red flags or the indicators portion, how could a bank

6 incorporate, again, donations to organizations known to promote radicalism, the

7 purchase of books, including religious texts and subscriptions to other media containing

8 extremist views, how does that get incorporated into an AML program?

9 A I'm going back to the conversation we just had. I think you would sort of

10 look at them holistically because there's also discussions in here of, you know, purchase

11 of precursor chemicals, potential bomb-making equipment, ammonium nitrate, you

12 know, sudden account closures, asset liquidation, disbursements.

13 Any one of those things may not stand out, but if you're seeing holistically

14 multiple indicators of this, I could see where an analyst may have been thinking -- and,

15 again, I don't know the underlying material they were looking at, but against a backdrop

16 of this suggests it was developed in the context of, sort of, attempting to combat lone

17 actors and how -- you know, trying to think about it, if there are indicators that folks

18 would be looking for that on the front end instead of just on the back end, it's obviously

19 easier when you know who the person is that did it after the fact to look back on there

20 what they did, you know.

21 [redacted] [redacted] is your question more a mechanical one, like, how would

22 a bank actually -- what would a bank actually do with any of these? I just want to make

23 sure we're, like, understanding the question there.

24 [redacted] My question is FinCEN is sharing materials that are, ostensibly,

25 useful to the bank. I'm asking how they're useful to the bank, how they can actually be

1 implemented.

2 [redacted] Because I think to the -- what I was going to say, to the

3 mechanics of that, is, like, you may be able to speak to that in a general term. But he

4 testified earlier, like, he never worked at a financial institution, right? And, like,

5 wouldn't have been engaging with the financial institutions on a regular basis in the role

6 that he was in during this time period.

7 So, like, to the extent he has, sort of, general knowledge of that, he can answer.

8 But, like, I think those are sort of questions about -- for the mechanics of how a bank

9 takes whatever these documents are and integrates them, I think it's going to vary widely,

10 and it's not something that's necessarily, like, his primary knowledge.

11 [redacted] Can we go off the record for a second.

12 [Discussion off the record.]

13 [redacted] All right. We can go back on the record.

14 I'd like to introduce two email threads. We have the full thread. The first one

15 involves MUFG sending an email to AnnaLou -- or to [redacted], and

16 AnnaLou Tirol, with the subject line "Major D.C. Transportation Vendor Lists."

17 And the second is a thread -- only interested in the top email -- from [redacted]

18 to various financial institutions, sending that "Major D.C. Transportation Vendor Lists"

19 Excel sheet. And this is exhibit 7.

20 [Kirby Exhibit No. 7

21 was marked for identification.]

22 Mr. Kirby. Okay.

23 [redacted] I will also introduce the vendor list that was attached, the Excel

24 sheet, as exhibit 8. I'll just note for the record that these were sent as native documents

25 so they're not Bates stamped. They were printed off of Excel. We're not going to go through this individually.

[Kirby Exhibit No. 8

was marked for identification.]

[redacted] And the different sections, there's different tabs of the Excel worksheet?

[redacted] They were separate, yes.

Mr. Kirby. Okay.

[redacted] Have you seen this email or this Excel document before.

Mr. Kirby. So in connection with the questions that have been coming up over the course of this year, I have previously seen the -- I think I've seen this list. I don't know that I've seen the email before, but I -- I do recall at some point over the course of this year having seen a vendor list, the airport -- I don't know if I've seen the email before.

[redacted] Just so the record is clear, when you refer to that -- did you come and voluntarily provide a briefing on behalf of FinCEN to the committee in connection with this inquiry?

Mr. Kirby. Yes.

[redacted] Is that what you're referring to --

Mr. Kirby. Yes.

[redacted] -- when you say "in connection with these questions"?

Mr. Kirby. Yes. I think you were both -- most of y'all were in the briefing earlier this year.

[redacted] I don't know that we got that on the record yet.

Mr. Kirby. Okay.

[redacted] So I just want to make that clear.

Mr. Kirby. Yes. I was here in March and briefed on, I think, your committee

1 staff and House Financial Services committee staff on similar questions in this space. So
2 we did some work in this space.
3 And, again, I don't recall if I've seen this before, but I -- I don't know if it was the 4 same list, but I have seen a vendor list at the three airports.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q And did you see this in the weeks after January 6th, or was the first time you
7 saw it this year when you were preparing for the briefing?
8 A The first time I recall seeing it is earlier this year when I was preparing for the 9 briefing. I think that was in March.
10 Q If I can just ask generally, how would a list like this, vendors at the three 11 airports in D.C., Union Station, bus stops -- bus stops, how is that useful for financial 12 institutions?
13 A My assumption would be that this was a means of identifying transactional
14 activity in the region around that time. So if you saw transactional activity involving 15 these vendors, that could be an indicator that -- and at the airport, that the person was 16 traveling in or out during that period.
17 Q Traveling to D.C., eating at Chick-Fil-A or Dunkin' Donuts, that's not -- that 18 doesn't have any nexus to criminal activity. Is that correct?
19 A I agree with you in that going to Chick-Fil-A is not indicative of anything
20 criminal or improper.
21 My guess would be this context is they're feeding into that broader email program
22 that they're seeing, sort of, other potential indicia of involvement in the activity.
23 Perhaps this is a way of confirming whether the person was here during that time.
24 That would just be my, sort of, very high-level guess, is it would be a confirmation
25 of a location as opposed to the individual place the person went. That's how I would read it.

Q In sharing this list with financial institutions, was FinCEN directing those financial institutions or encouraging those financial institutions to track and scrutinize all purchases made at those vendors?

A So I wasn't involved, to the best of my recollection, whatever comms happened at the time, so I can't speak to that. We would normally not -- again, sort of hard to draw normal in the space that we're referring to at the moment.

But, like, we would not -- when we share information with financial institutions, it would normally not be as an instruction to here are four red flags of X, go, like, search everything you have for that. That's not how we would normally communicate something.

However, I was not -- I have no recollection of being involved in any back-and-forth with FIs on -- I'm sorry -- financial institutions on this, and so I can't speak to this circumstance specifically.

BY [redacted]

Q [redacted] is on this email. Do you remember ever discussing this with her?

A I do not, no.

Q Do you know who may have approved of sharing the vendor list?

A I don't. AnnaLou is the most senior manager, at least that I can see on at least the top-level email. The print, as we go into the later ones, gets a little small, AND it's kind of packed in together.

So I can't see if there are other -- it looks like for most of these, AnnaLou is the most senior manager on the chain.

BY [redacted]

1 Q Would AnnaLou have been in a position to provide permission to share this
2 type of information with financial institutions?
3 A I mean, she over- -- she was the head of our strategic operations division in 4 January of 2021, and one of their principal functions is this information exchange, this
5 FinCEN Exchange, the BSAAG that I've mentioned -- the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group
6 that I mentioned before, responsibility for both of those functions is housed in that 7 division. So I don't know if she approved this, but I would assume she could 8 approve -- could have approved such a thing if she had -- if she had been asked.
9 Q If a bank is searching transactions made at transportation -- vendors at 10 airports like this, is that likely to sweep in lots of people totally removed from any 11 criminal activity if they're looking to see who might have been in D.C. on these dates?
12 A So I can't -- it's hard for me to speak to what banks are doing in their own
13 programs because, you know, they have the obligation to, sort of, know their customer,
14 have an AML program, all of that sort of stuff.
15 If I go back -- we talked about -- I think we talked about this before. If we go 16 back to the standard that's in the -- that's in the statute for suspicious activity, it's 17 relevant to any possible violation of law or regulation.
18 So, you know, to the extent one aspect of relevance is was someone at a certain
19 location, it's hard for me to say that that, across the board, would be something that a 20 financial institution wouldn't look at depending upon what kind of questions they're 21 getting, depending upon what else they have in -- in front of them.
22 I wouldn't -- I would not assume that any of these would be something that a
23 financial institution, in and of itself, would file on. That just would be my, sort of,
24 after-the-fact guess.
25 But, you know, it's hard for me to speak with deep specificity as to what bank A or

1 bank B, with all the other information they may have had before them, how they made
2 use of this information one way or the other.
3 Q Would you say that BSA filings taken as a whole are overinclusive?
4 A Overinclusive?
5 Q If the standard is any possible violation?
6 A So I don't know that overinclusive is the word I would use. But I would say
7 the statute -- you go back to the statutory language. The statute lays out a program that 8 very much leans in in terms of encouraging reporting.
9 On top of leaning in and encouraging reporting, the statute builds a number of 10 protections around both the filers and the information they file. And so, you know,
11 we've already talked to some extent about, you know, the penalties for improper
12 disclosure, the safe harbors that go around reporting of the information to FinCEN.
13 On top of that, we have, you know, MOUs that govern, you know, access to the 14 information given the sensitivity of the information.
15 So the entire statutory construct is very -- I read very much -- others may read it
16 differently, but I read very much as sort of leaning in on the question that, you know, it
17 errs in favor of having them report because it's not evidence -- SAR -- we're very clear on 18 this. We've said this in lots of different fora. SAR filings are not evidence of anything.
19 They are tip-and-lead information. That's why they're -- among the reasons they're so
20 protected.
21 But just because someone files a SAR on me for whatever reason, that in and of 22 itself is not proof of anything I did or did not do. There are other ways that investigatory
23 agency needs to determine that information. It's not through using the SAR.
24 [redacted] We can go off the record.
25 [Recess.]

1 [redacted] We can go back on the record. It's 3:38 in the afternoon.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Mr. Kirby, I want to return to exhibit 5. You were asked a number of

4 questions about that exhibit. I just want to make sure that none of your words get kind

5 of twisted afterwards.

6 A Okay. I have it.

7 Q And this is an email. We've been through it in a couple different iterations,

8 but this is an email dated Friday, January 15th, 2021, time stamped 4:00:25 p.m. And 9 it's Bates stamped HJC118, a lot of zeros, and 5. You see where it says that?

10 A Yep.

11 Q I realize there are redactions in the emails, but you are not on this email list,

12 correct?

13 A I do not see myself on this email.

14 Q Okay. And, in fact --

15 A Unless it's hidden under one of these redactions, I don't see it.

16 Q And, in fact, the FinCEN names are not redacted, correct?

17 A Correct.

18 Q So if you were on this --

19 A I would probably be able to see it.

20 Q -- it would probably be evident, correct?

21 And you said that you don't recall having seen this before, correct?

22 A No.

23 Q Okay. So to the extent that you commented on it, it was kind of your best

24 guess or speculation, but you don't actually have any knowledge of how this email came

25 to be or the contents of it outside of, you know, what's in front of you?

1 A That's correct.

2 Q Okay.

3 A Or in connection with preparing for the briefing I did earlier this year.

4 Q Okay.

5 A So some of this stuff I -- I think I saw the slide deck in connection with

6 preparing for that.

7 Q Okay. But you weren't aware of it in January of 2021, correct?

8 A That's correct. Not that I recall, no.

9 Q Okay. I want to look at -- on page 6 under section 2. It says, "Lone actor,

10 homegrown violent extremism indicators developed from prior FinCEN analysis." You

11 see where it says that?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And it says developed from prior FinCEN analysis. It doesn't actually say it's 14 taken directly from prior FinCEN analyses, correct?

15 A That's correct, yes.

16 Q Okay. And, actually, turning back to the prior page, the email is from 17 [redacted] -- it's somebody named [redacted]. Presumably, it's [redacted] who is listed on the 18 from line, correct?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And [redacted] says, "In advance of the 4:30 call, please find attached indicators

21 shared by two institutions, as well as indicators developed from prior FinCEN analysis on 22 lone actors, homegrown violent extremists."

23 You see where it says that?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And it specifically says "indicators developed from," correct?

1 A Yes.
2 Q That's the passive voice, correct?
3 A Yes.
4 Q In other words, we don't know who developed these, correct?
5 A That is correct, yes.
6 Q And we don't know how they were developed?
7 A I do not know how they were developed, no.
8 Q Okay. And so we don't actually know if it was -- if these are FinCEN bullet
9 points or if they're summaries of some documents or if -- or who put them together,
10 correct? We just don't know?
11 A Yeah, that makes sense.
12 Q So you agree with me, we don't know?
13 A Yes. Sorry.
14 Q And I think the -- because I think the comment was made earlier that these 15 are FinCEN's bullets, and I think there's actually not evidence of that, correct?
16 A Other than what's on the form here, the developed from prior FinCEN
17 analysis.
18 Q But, again, it says "developed from," it doesn't say taken from directly,
19 correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And it doesn't say who developed them?
22 A That's correct.
23 Q Or how they did that?
24 A That's correct, yes.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q I want to take a step back and just talk about the context in which all of
2 these emails -- which, again, you are not on -- were sent and what was happening in the 3 country in that time period.
4 These emails were sent in the weeks following the violent assault on the Capitol
5 on January 6, 2021, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Okay. And are you aware that the director of the FBI has referred to the 8 events of that day as an act of domestic terrorism?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And is that how FinCEN approached this investigation into the events of 11 January 6th, that it was investigating a domestic terrorism attack?
12 A At the time, yeah, I think that was -- that was my understanding at the time,
13 yes.
14 Q And FinCEN was aware that law enforcement agencies, including the FBI, in 15 mid-January of 2021 had issued public warnings about a substantial risk of violence in 16 connection with the upcoming inauguration, correct?
17 A Yes, that's -- again, that is my recollection at the time, there was a lot of 18 concern around the upcoming inauguration.
19 Q And is it your recollection that Federal law enforcement agencies, as well as 20 FinCEN, were focused on preventing similar violent attacks on our domestic institutions?
21 A Yes. That sounds -- that sounds right based on my recollection at the time.
22 Q And the inauguration of President Biden was scheduled for just two weeks
23 after January 6th, for January 20th, 2021. Does that sound --
24 A That sounds right.
25 Q -- correct?

1 Okay. And FinCEN was working with law enforcement and with financial
2 institutions to try to prevent the type of violence we saw on January 6th at the
3 inauguration. Is that a fair statement?
4 A That was my understanding of a key goal of this effort.
5 Q And the FinCEN exchanges related to January 6th that were set up in those 6 days and weeks afterwards were geared towards that effort of preventing future
7 violence, as well as identifying those who were responsible for the attack on January 6th.
8 Is that a fair statement?
9 A I mean, that generally is my understanding. Like I said, I wasn't very 10 involved in them. I was aware they were going on, but at a big-picture level, that -- that 11 comports with my general understanding at the time.
12 Q Okay. Now, I want to take you back -- if I could have exhibit 5. I want to 13 ask you some different questions about exhibit 5.
14 On the second page, the one with Bates number 6 -- well, my first question is,
15 when [redacted] sent this email to the banks, in this email did he ask the banks to conduct 16 any searches based on these terms?
17 A Not that I can see from the document.
18 Q Did he ask the banks to file a SAR for any transaction that had one of these 19 terms associated with it?
20 A Not that I can see from the document.
21 Q So if someone were to look at this email and say that FinCEN was telling
22 banks to flag Zelle transactions that use the word Trump, for example, as a suspicious
23 transaction, that would not be accurate, would it?
24 A That's -- the document doesn't say that, that's correct.
25 Q And it's the same for any one of the terms on that list?

1 A Yeah. The document doesn't say that for any of the terms on the list.
2 Q Now, the majority has cited this email as evidence of FinCEN targeting bank
3 customers with conservative viewpoints. But as you pointed out in the previous hour,
4 there are words on this list that -- that address both parties. For example, the fourth
5 term is Kamala, correct?
6 A Correct, yes.
7 Q And the fifth term is Biden?
8 A Correct, yes.
9 Q The term Antifa is on there?
10 A Correct, yes.
11 Q And Pelosi is one of the terms?
12 A Correct, yes.
13 Q And Schumer is the last one?
14 A Correct, yes.
15 Q And I believe you've said this many times, but I think it bears repeating,
16 generally speaking, when FinCEN talks about red flags or typologies, it does not intend 17 any one of them to, standing alone, be sufficient to file a SAR?
18 A Yes, that's correct.
19 Q And that is true with respect to the lone actor/homegrown violent
20 extremism indicators portion of this email as well?
21 A I would read them as consistent with how we say this in other contexts, so,
22 yes.
23 Q And nowhere in this email, whether it's with respect to the first list or the 24 second list, is there any request for any transactions to be flagged in any way or any SARs
25 to be filed?

1 A That's correct.

2 Q Now, I would like to turn to exhibits 7 and 8, in conjunction.

3 There is no request in this email for financial institutions to file SARs or otherwise

4 flag transactions for the vendors listed in exhibit 8?

5 A Not that I see in the email chain, no.

6 Q And if someone were to look at this email chain and say that FinCEN was

7 telling banks to file SARs or otherwise flag transactions for anybody who frequented the

8 Dunkin' Donuts at whichever airport is at 1 Aviation Circle -- I'm assuming that's Dulles

9 based on the phone number -- that would be incorrect?

10 A I don't read the email as saying that, no.

11 Q And that's true of any one of the vendors listed here. Is that fair to say?

12 A The gist of the email seems to focus on the location of the three airports, the 13 train station, and the bus stops.

14 Q But the email does not say, we want you to identify any customer who --

15 A Correct.

16 Q -- frequented one of these establishments?

17 A That's correct. It doesn't say that.

18 Q And would you expect, based on your experience with FinCEN typologies and

19 red flags and based on your experience with how banks determine whether or not to file

20 SARs, that this is one of many, many, many types of indicators that would be considered

21 before a bank decided to file a SAR?

22 A I would assume so, yes.

23 Q And, again, your focus -- FinCEN's focus. I don't mean you

24 personally -- FinCEN's focus in January of 2021 was preventing the type of violence that

25 we saw on January 6th?

A Yes. My understanding is safeguarding the inauguration was one of the principal goals of this effort.

Q And one way to safeguard it would be to try to identify people who participated in that violent assault on the Capitol and intended to return to the inauguration to complete their mission of disrupting the peaceful transfer of power, correct?

A That would make sense, yes, the legitimate focus of law enforcement.

[redacted] Thank you. We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

[redacted] We can go back on the record.

BY [redacted]

Q So we've discussed a number of these emails that were sent from [redacted] [redacted] from [redacted], many of which included [redacted], but that haven't included you.

Is there a reason why you would have been left off of these emails?

A I think it's hard for me to answer that question in the abstract. I think it is a reflection of the fact that I was not very involved in this particular work stream. So there were others involved in the work stream at a senior management level, so that would be my assumption and guess.

Q And that would have been [redacted], AnnaLou that were the senior executives on these emails?

A So AnnaLou was a senior executive. [redacted] was not, but was a GS-15. AnnaLou was actually a senior executive. But, yeah, they're both senior managers.

Q And at this time she was your deputy?

A Correct.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q [redacted] was?

3 A [redacted] yes. Sorry.

4 Q When you came, you know that you were relatively new, only about 90 days

5 in. When did [redacted] come in as your deputy?

6 A I think we actually both started the same day. Both -- both of us, I think,

7 were October of that prior year. We may have actually started on the same day in our

8 respective roles.

9 Q At that time did you sort of split some leadership roles given her experience

10 as the chief of staffs and time at the -- at FinCEN? Would you split some of that? Is 11 that why she was on these emails and you weren't?

12 A I don't remember anything quite that formal, but it sort of seems organically

13 that is how it worked out, you know, at least here.

14 Again, my -- our respective backgrounds and experiences were fairly different,

15 which actually, I think, is a good thing in a management team. And so -- but I don't 16 remember anything, kind of, this formal as what you're suggesting.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q So were there ever any conversations about the division of labor, who was 19 going to handle what work stream?

20 A Again, I don't recall anything quite that specific. You know, [redacted] had been

21 in the front office as chief of staff prior to this role and had an excellent relationship with

22 leadership. So there's nothing about leadership dealing directly with her that would

23 have struck me as kind of unusual or odd.

24 I think very highly of [redacted]. So she -- nothing about that would have stood out to 25 me as something I needed to be worried about.

Q Were you both responsible for the post-January 6th action items, or was she more focused on the post-January 6th investigations, and you were getting your --

A As a practical matter, she was more involved both, I think, by -- but, again, I'm the manager of this, so I kind of -- I don't want to be -- I want to be clear about that.

But, you know, I think it just -- as I said before, I don't think there was anything, sort of, formal in terms of, like, dividing up the role, so to speak. I just think, based on background, experience, prior roles, it just sort of organically developed this way.

And this was a relatively short period of time that is my understanding that these exchange -- you know, exchanges of information and the, sort of, corresponding FinCEN exchanges were actually going on. So we're talking a matter of a couple weeks, not, sort of, an extended -- you know, everything we're talking about is a, sort of, short period of time.

So nothing -- even with the benefit of hindsight, there's -- I don't -- nothing strikes me as, sort of, like, unusual about people going directly to [redacted] on anything.

BY [redacted]

Q Moving to, I think it's Exhibit 7 --

A I just had that one, didn't I? Yeah.

Q It's Bates stamped 662.

A Wait. Oh, the emails inside that. Okay.

Q Yes.

A Oh, wait.

[redacted] It's two emails together. It's one exhibit.

Mr. Kirby. Okay. I'm there.

BY [redacted]

Q Just wanted to direct your attention to the top email. That was sent on 1 Friday, January 22nd, 2021. That would have been post-inauguration.

2 A Uh-huh.

3 Q Do you have any idea why the transportation vendor list was being shared

4 after the fact?

5 A I don't recall discussing this at the time. But, you know, I am aware that

6 since the events of January 6th there's been a substantial amount of law enforcement,

7 you know, activity in connection with prosecutions and other, you know, activity of that

8 type.

9 So given that, you know, my understanding is that a lot of the work done at this

10 time was done in coordination with law enforcement, it wouldn't necessarily -- to the 11 extent law enforcement folks are identifying suspects involved in the initial event on

12 January 6th, it wouldn't necessarily surprise me if they continued to, sort of, engage in 13 information exchange related to that.

14 And, you know, weaving down the chain a little bit more, you know, it looks like

15 [redacted] also shared, like, a Pacer link to defendants that had been charged, which would,

16 again, sort of be consistent with at least some of the focus at this time being in terms of,

17 sort of, supporting law enforcement efforts with regard to folks who had been actually

18 charged as having, you know, allegedly engaged in criminal activity.

19 [redacted] But this was no longer about identifying potential threats to 20 inauguration? This was now supporting law enforcement in their investigations of 21 January 6th. Is that fair to say?

22 Mr. Kirby. I mean, I guess that would sort of make -- I'm not sure it was always 23 just one even at the beginning. I mean, I think there were -- I mean, I don't know this.

24 I'd have to go back and check. But I suspect there were people arrested prior to the 25 inauguration for their activity on that day.

1 So I would imagine there was a fair amount of overlap in those work streams until 2 the inauguration part of it was, sort, of safely squared away. So I don't know that it was
3 just one and then the other. I would imagine it may well have been both and very much 4 then transitioned into this, sort of, pretty much law enforcement in the response to as 5 opposed to the protection of, to your point.
6 [redacted] We can go off the record.
7 [Whereupon, at 4:00 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

19 LAWRENCE BERGER

1 [redacted]. Good morning. This is a deposition of Mr. Sean Clark. Chairman
2 Jordan has requested this deposition as part of the committee's oversight of the Federal
3 Bureau of Investigation's misuse of the security clearance suspension and revocation
4 process.
5 On July 10th, 2024, the House Judiciary Committee issued a subpoena for 6 Mr. Clark to appear at a deposition today, August 1.
7 I will mark the July 10th, 2024, subpoena as exhibit No. 1.
8 [Clark Exhibit No. 1
9 was marked for identification.]
10 [redacted]. On July 25, 2024, the committee noticed today's deposition. I will 11 mark the July 25th notice as exhibit No. 2.
12 [Clark Exhibit No. 2
13 was marked for identification.]
14 Mr. Berger. Can I keep this?
15 [redacted]. You can keep these two.
16 Mr. Berger. These two, okay.
17 [redacted]. The other exhibits come back to us.
18 Would the witness please state your name for the record?
19 The Witness. Sean, middle initial P, Clark.
20 [redacted]. Could counsel please state your name for the record?
21 Mr. Berger. Lawrence Berger, L-a-w-r-e-n-c-e, B, as in boy, e-r-g-e-r.
22 [redacted]. Thank you. My name is [redacted], and I'm with Chairman
23 Jordan's staff. I will now have everyone else from the committee who appear in the 24 room introduce themselves as well.
25 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

1 [redacted]. [redacted], Mr. Jordan's staff.

2 [redacted]. [redacted], Jim Jordan's staff.

3 [redacted]. [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

4 [redacted]. [redacted], with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

5 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

6 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

7 [redacted]. Thank you.

8 I will now review the ground rules and guidelines we will follow during today's 9 deposition. The committee will conduct today's deposition in accordance with the 10 House regulation for the use of deposition authority. This regulation is incorporated

11 verbatim into the rules for the Committee on the Judiciary with rule 11.

12 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for

13 1 hour, and the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of 14 time, if they choose. There will be one staff counsel per side asking the questions.

15 To the extent any members attend the deposition today and have questions for 16 the witness, they will be propounded during their side's respective rounds. The clock

17 will stop if the witness needs to confer with counsel, when counsel for the witness is

18 speaking, and when members are speaking during the opposite side's round. We will

19 alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the deposition is over.

20 We ordinarily take a break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to take a

21 break apart from that, just let us know.

22 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to

23 make a written record so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you

24 understand that?

25 The Witness. I do.

1 [redacted]. So the court reporter can take down a clear record, please try and
2 speak clearly so they can understand and so the people at the end of the table can hear
3 you as well. It is important that we do not talk over one another or interrupt each other
4 if we can help it and that goes for everybody present at today's deposition. We want
5 you to answer our questions in a complete and truthful manner. If you do not
6 understand one of our questions or need clarification about what we are asking, please
7 just let us know.
8 If you do not know the answer to a question or do not remember, please tell us
9 what you do know and remember. It is okay to tell us if you learned information from 10 someone else, just indicate how you came to know the information. If there are things
11 you do not know or cannot remember, just say so and please inform us who, to the best
12 of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to that question.
13 By law, you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you
14 understand that?
15 The Witness. I do.
16 [redacted]. This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in a 17 deposition. Do you understand that?
18 The Witness. I do.
19 [redacted]. Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject
20 to criminal prosecution for perjury. This includes, for example, stating that you do not 21 recall or remember something when in fact you do. Do you understand that?
22 The Witness. I do.
23 [redacted]. Furthermore, you cannot tell half-truths or exclude information
24 necessary to make statements accurate. You are required to provide all information
25 that would make your response truthful. A deliberate failure to disclose information can

1 constitute a false statement. Do you understand this?

2 The Witness. I do, yes.

3 [redacted]. Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to

4 today's questions?

5 The Witness. No.

6 [redacted]. The Federal Rules of Evidence, Criminal, and Civil Procedure are not

7 applicable for today's deposition. Under the House deposition regulations, a witness'

8 attorney may not instruct a witness to refuse to answer a question except to preserve a

9 privilege. The House recognizes constitutionally based privileges and not necessarily 10 those privileges derived from common law.

11 Finally, I will make note for everyone here today that the content of what we

12 discuss is confidential under the House deposition regulations. Under the rules, the 13 chairman and ranking minority member will consult before any release of testimony or

14 transcript, including portions thereof. This means it is a violation of House and 15 committee rules to disclose content of the deposition prior to its official release. For

16 this reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court

17 reporters so they can go in the official record. And any copies of those exhibits will be 18 returned to us when we wrap up.

19 Before we begin the first round of questions, we'll afford the minority, the 20 witness, and your counsel the opportunity to offer any preliminary remarks.

21 [redacted]?

22 [redacted]. We thank the witness for joining us today.

23 And I do just want to just note that this is being video-recorded. The minority is

24 not generally afforded access to the video. We are -- if majority releases

25 something -- we are usually given 24 hours in advance since that's happened on three occasions. For the 120-some depositions and transcribed interviews that have taken place we were not given the video we have to [inaudible] majority might intend to do with that. We have been denied -- provided access with the transcripts, but I note that, for the vast majority of the 120 transcripts that have been taken to date, 130 at this point, they've not been publicly released. So I just want to make that note for the record we have concerns about transparency of the handling of the deposition transcribed interviews for the 118th Congress.

[redacted]. Mr. Berger or Mr. Clark?

Mr. Berger. We have no comment. We're ready to commence?

[redacted]. The court reporter will now swear the witness in.

The Reporter. Do you swear or affirm that the testimony you are about to give will be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

The Witness. I do.

[redacted]. The clock now reads 10:05 a.m. We will start the first hour of questioning.

EXAMINATION

[redacted]:

Q Mr. Clark, I want to talk to you about your professional background and tenure at the FBI to start off with. When did you first join the Federal Bureau of Investigation?

A As a -- in January 1996, I entered the FBI as an accounting budget analyst for the Finance Division.

Q Okay. And when did you leave the FBI?

A I left -- I retired in August 2023.

Q Okay.

1 A Yeah, 2023.

2 Q And are you currently employed?

3 A I am. I just want to correct one thing. In January 1999, I became a special

4 agent with the FBI.

5 Q Okay. And can you walk us through the various positions you held at the

6 FBI?

7 A Sure. I spent the first about 3 years as an accounting analyst. Went to

8 school, got my masters at GW, and then became -- became an agent in 19 -- in January

9 '99. I went to the academy, graduated in April of 1999. My first office was in New

10 York. After maybe 6, 8 months of some training and some aspects of being on

11 surveillance squads and things like that, I was assigned to the Joint Terrorism Task Force,

12 probably sometime in the fall of '99, somewhere around there, maybe December. First

13 case, yeah, probably around December. And then I remained on the JTTF until 14 approximately late fall 2007.

15 I took a job at Headquarters. In 2006, I took a job for 18 months at Headquarters

16 as a supervisor detailed to the DHS, Domestic Nuclear Detection Office, because I have an

17 a explosives background. So some things there as well. And then went back to New

18 York, maybe for a few months, and then took a permanent position, a supervisory

19 position down at Headquarters. I was detailed to the CIA working counterterrorism and 20 WMD.

21 And, about 2011, in -- I think it was 2011, fallish, I decided -- didn't want to be a

22 unit chief. I was acting as a unit chief there. I wanted to work cases again. I stepped

23 down. We are allowed -- we are afforded that opportunity in the Bureau. And, for the 24 next 10 years -- I stepped down the Washington Field Office. For the next 10 years, I

25 worked on the Violent Crimes Against Children Squad, working prostitution, human

1 trafficking, internet crimes, things like that, missing children. I was a missing children
2 coordinator for D.C. for many years here so.
3 In the summer of 2021, I was deciding about retirement. I had some colleagues
4 say -- were pushing me back to Headquarters my last 2 years. And I decided to take a
5 TDY, a 90-day TDY to Security Division. I believe I got there August 1st, 2021. So, for 6 the next 90 days, I was a WFO agent that was afforded 90 days to kind of try it out, right?
7 See if I liked it, see if I could do the commute. I was a single parent of three, three 8 children. I had primary custody of my children. So I wanted make sure I could do the 9 commute and do the hours.
10 So I could. I really enjoyed the position. I was working in the Clearance
11 Investigation Unit. I think at the time was called AIU. And I think, after about maybe
12 30 to 45 days, I decided to put in for the permanent position. And so I departed
13 somewhere around November -- well, I had 90 days so it had to be I guess
14 count -- August, September -- somewhere beginning in November, I went back to the 15 Washington Field Office. I had to clean some of my cases up being on the squad for 16 10 years. And I returned I believe somewhere around two pay periods, maybe three.
17 Similar time, Novemberish, December, I came back to SecD CIU, Clearance Investigations
18 Unit, where I became a permanent 14, GS-14. And then I stayed there through 19 retirement.
20 In March of -- approximately March -- I think it was March -- end of March,
21 beginning of March 2023, I became the acting unit chief; never took the permanent unit
22 chief position. So, most of my time at SecD, I was a 14 supervisor reporting to a unit
23 chief.
24 Q Okay. And, so just kind of drilling down on your tenure at the Security
25 Division, when did you become a supervisory special agent with the -- was it the CIU? Is

1 that correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q The Clearance Investigative Unit?

4 A So I will just break it up twice for you. I was acting -- as some my

5 colleagues down here would know, I was acting for 90 days, basically an A in front of the 6 SSA, right, but I was still a WFO agent; I was still getting paid as a grade 13.

7 Q Okay.

8 A But I was afforded the acting role in my TDY role. But I became a

9 permanent supervisor, 14 in SecD CIU. Again, it was AIU at the time, but it became CIU.

10 I want to say it was somewhere around December 2021; could have been the end of 11 November, but it was somewhere around the first week of Decemberish 2021.

12 Q And you stayed in that role then until March 2023 when you became the 13 acting unit chief?

14 A That is correct.

15 Q And that would have been the acting unit chief of the CIU; is that correct?

16 A That is correct, yes.

17 Q So I kind of just want to talk about the organizational structure of the 18 Security Division. So it is our understanding that the Security Division is within the 19 Human Resources Branch. Does that comport with your understanding?

20 A It's its own division, but it falls under the Human Resources EAD.

21 Q Okay.

22 A So there is EAD that's the SPM, which is the -- when I was there, it changed a

23 little bit, but I know Jen Moore was the EAD at one point for a short time. She was head

24 of Human Resources, as well as Security Division. So Security Division is its own division.

25 Q And, within the Security Division, there are different sections. Is that

1 correct?

2 A There are, yes.

3 Q There's a Physical Security Section, a Personal Security Section, and a

4 Security, Integrity, and Investigation Section. Is that correct?

5 A So, without having an org chart in front of me, that sounds correct.

6 Q Okay. And the Security, Integrity, and Investigation Section is abbreviated

7 SIIS?

8 A Correct.

9 Q Is that correct?

10 A Yes.

11 Q So that's what we'll probably use today is SIIS.

12 A Yes.

13 Q And so then, within the SIIS, there are different units, and one of those units

14 is the Clearance Investigation Unit. Is that correct?

15 A That is correct.

16 Q Some of the other units within there is the Clearance Referral and Evaluation

17 Unit. Is that correct?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q And does that unit handle kind of the intake of any complaints that come in 20 about onboard employees or new employees? What can you tell us about that?

21 A Yeah, I mean, that's -- that's really a quick summary of what they do. They

22 evaluate, right? It's CREU, C-R-E-U, so it is Clearance Referral Evaluation Unit. So they

23 get referrals from everywhere, right? We can talk for that as well, but however the 24 cases come in. And then they have to evaluate. They evaluate it independently from

25 CIU and others. And they make the determination whether or not they are going to

1 open an investigation, which would come over to the CIU.

2 Q Okay. And, within the CIU, it's our understanding that there are several

3 different SSA supervisory special agents that are in charge of teams of investigators. Is

4 that correct?

5 A It evolved.

6 Q Okay. Tell us how it evolved.

7 A When I first got over there as a TDY agent -- again, I don't know exactly when

8 it occurred, but it was somewhere probably -- there was discussion when I was over there

9 as a TDY agent, but there was somewhere maybe in the beginning of 2022, there

10 was -- AIU was one unit when I was over there. It was the intake -- so all these 3 units

11 that you talked about, CREU, CIU and then CAU, which is the Clearance Adjudication Unit,

12 they were all one; they are under AIU. So, when I was there, they split it to three.

13 When they split, we didn't have enough SSAs. So, at one point, I was the only

14 SSA over there for the entire unit, reporting to Mike Smith, who was the unit chief. At

15 some point, I don't recall when, but there was one or two other SSAs that appeared. I

16 want to say sometime maybe March, April, May, sometime around there in 2022. But

17 there was a 4- or 5-month period that I was probably one of the only SSAs or the only SSA

18 there.

19 Q Okay. And how was the work divided after the other SSAs came on? Can 20 you tell us about that?

21 A Yeah. So, when we started coming up with, when we got two other SSAs

22 including myself, we divided it by region.

23 Q Okay.

24 A Northeast, Midwest, and then West.

25 Q Okay. And were you in charge of a specific region?

1 A Yeah, we had somebody come from New Haven. So he wanted the
2 Northeast.
3 Q Okay.
4 A So I just took the Midwest.
5 Q And so then, going back to the other units that are within the SIIS, as you
6 said the Clearance Adjudication Unit, and so what does that unit do to your
7 understanding?
8 A So, after the investigation in CIU is completed, we send the case over to CIU
9 for a continued evaluation, basically an audit almost; they'll review it. And they will do
10 final recommendation to executive management whether there's going to be a 11 revocation of that person's clearance, the person's going to get a letter of warning, or the 12 person is going to get reinstated if they were suspended by -- so there's different -- but 13 they had -- the CIU has basically final say on the outcome of the person's security case.
14 The only recommendation that CIU where I sit or where I sat was we could only suspend 15 somebody's clearance; otherwise, we recommend foreclosing, or sometimes we send 16 over to CIU, and they would evaluate whether that person should get a letter or not. So 17 CAU is basically the final stop.
18 Q Okay. And I just want to make sure I understand your testimony. So, at 19 one point, it was called the AIU? Is that correct? The CIU was called the AIU?
20 A The AIU was considered actually all three units.
21 Q Okay. And so, when you worked for the AIU, were you in charge or 22 involved in all three steps --
23 A No.
24 Q -- when it was broken down?
25 Okay. What can you tell us about --

1 A Yeah.
2 Q -- what your role was when --
3 A It was a --
4 Q -- what can you tell us about what your role was when it was just the AIU?
5 A It was still the investigations. It was one unit, but people had clear roles
6 and responsibilities. So I think it was a natural progression when they broke it up to 7 three.
8 Q Okay.
9 A It was pretty easy as far as what people's roles were.
10 Q Okay. Just to briefly going through the organizational chart, I know you had 11 mentioned that, at one point, the executive assistant director of the Human Resources
12 Branch in the Security Division was Ms. Jennifer Moore. Is that correct?
13 A That's correct.
14 Q And then was there an assistant director?
15 A Yeah, was it -- so, when I got there -- I think I arrived when Mr. Beidler was 16 the AD. I'm trying to think if he was there the whole time. I just remember Mr.
17 Beidler. I think Jen Moore was the AD when I first arrived actually as the TDY because 18 she approved my TDY, within weeks or months a short time she became the EAD.
19 Q Okay. And then was there a deputy assistant director that would have 20 been under Mr. Beidler?
21 A For a long period of time, again, I don't know the time period it would be at;
22 I would have to think back. But, for a long period of time, it was -- the section chief was 23 Jeff Veltri. He became the acting deputy assistant director, DAD, under Beidler. So 24 Beidler was the actual DAD.
25 Q Okay?

1 A And Jen Moore was the AD. When Jen Moore moved up to EAD, Beidler
2 moved up, and then Jeff moved up. And then Dena Perkins, who was the assistant
3 section chief, moved up to section chief -- acting.
4 Q Okay.
5 A So there was a lot of acting for quite some time.
6 Q Okay. And then, underneath of the section chief and assistant section
7 chief, there would have been a unit chief for the CIU specifically?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And then the supervisory special agents would have been under the unit
10 chief. Is that correct?
11 A That is correct. So, yeah, I think we were just missing the assistant section
12 chief for a while. There was nobody in that role.
13 Q Okay. And, when you were a supervisory special agent, did you supervise a 14 team of investigators, or how did that work? Did anyone report directly to you?
15 A So, like I said before -- and, again, I don't know exactly the timeframe,
16 whether it was 3 months, 4 months, 5 months, but there was a time I was the only SSA
17 there. So everyone reported basically to me. I know Mike Smith -- because we were 18 so short-handed. I mean, I don't know how many cases CIU would have open at one
19 time, but I would say hundreds, right? Just handling that from one person. I mean, all 20 the people would have to come through me, right? So Mike Smith as a unit chief kind of 21 jumped in a little bit and wore two hats. He kind of was an SSA as well at times. I just 22 couldn't handle all the cases as a single SSA. So I'm sorry; your question was?
23 Q No, that's okay. So, when you were the SSA and you were just the only SSA
24 there, how many FBI personnel reported directly to you?
25 A We had a lot of turnover, because we had contractors. We had RSPs,

1 which were basically retired FBI agents that we knew hired on. A little bit of a stab in
2 the dark here, I think it varied probably anywhere between 12 to 18.
3 Q Okay.
4 A And we had a couple folks that were in the field as well at some point, some
5 RSPs that worked out of field offices. So somewhere around there -- don't -- 12 to 18 I
6 would say somewhere, but it swung because there was -- sometimes we'd lose like two or 7 three contractors within 3 weeks.
8 Q Okay.
9 A And then it would take time to get them on board so -- but, yeah, they all
10 kind of fell under me. But, again, some of them went, depending upon the case, went 11 directly to Mike Smith, just because of the volume.
12 Q Then, when additional SSAs came on board, how many employees reported
13 to you? Did that change from 12 to 18? Did that go down?
14 A Most definitely, most definitely. It became more normalized, more
15 manageable. Anywhere between four to six people.
16 Q Four to six people?
17 A Yeah, much more manageable.
18 Q And you said that, on this team of 12 to 18 that then went from 4 to 6, there
19 were RSPs and contractors?
20 A Correct.
21 Q What's the role of an RSP?
22 A Same as a contractor. Basically they were investigators, just like they did in 23 the field during their careers. They would be assigned a case, and we actually 24 implemented eventually like file reviews. So, every 90 days, we'd review their cases and 25 have discussions with them, but they basically were investigators. They were the line

1 investigators.

2 Q Okay. And they were retired annuitants that were hired back on, is that --

3 A The RSPs, yes.

4 Q Okay.

5 A And the contractors were a mixed bag. They came from other Federal

6 agencies, from Pentagon to HSI to DEA maybe -- yeah DEA, ATF, pretty much all of them,

7 the Secret Service, yeah.

8 Q And, similar to the RSPs, would the contractors be involved in the 9 investigative piece?

10 A Oh, yeah, they would. Besides their background and where they came 11 from, they pretty much were treated the same way as far as investigators; it was their

12 case.

13 Q And, in addition that the RSPs and the contractors, were there special agents

14 or analysts that were detailed to your team?

15 A No, I wish. We had no analytical support.

16 Q So was it just RSPs and contractors?

17 A Correct.

18 Q Okay. So then, when you became acting unit chief, how many people

19 directly reported to you?

20 A It would have been the whole unit at that time so, again, roughly speaking

21 15, 16 people or maybe 20 people, somewhere around that range. I don't know exactly,

22 you know, people leaving and coming but somewhere around that range. There would

23 have been two or three in the field and then just the three, the three regions would fall

24 under me so, roughly speaking, 18 people maybe.

25 Q Okay. So, when you were an SSA, after the CREU --

1 A I'm sorry; I apologize. And then the SSAs would fall under me as well.
2 Q Okay?
3 A So we would have two at that time, and then we got a third, but one of them
4 left. So really two SSAs and then RSPs and contractors. So sorry about that.
5 Q That's okay. When you were an SSA, after CREU would evaluate the initial 6 complaint to determine whether there needed to be an investigation conducted or not,
7 then that complaint would come over to the CIU. Is that correct?
8 A It would come over as an open case.
9 Q Open case to the CIU?
10 A Correct.
11 Q And then would it be assigned to you when you were the only SSA but then 12 to the different SSAs according to the region?
13 A Yes, exactly right, correct.
14 Q Okay. And then, after it was assigned to you or your team, what types of 15 investigative steps would your team conduct?
16 A Just clarify one thing, when I became acting unit chief, I asked them to -- so
17 they were doing that; they were assigning it to the SSAs on the team.
18 Q Okay.
19 A But, when I became the acting unit chief, I asked them to change that to 20 assign them to me, and I would assign them out to the teams.
21 Q Okay.
22 A Only because I would be asked questions about cases I didn't even know
23 they were coming in. I didn't know they were assigned to the unit. So I wanted to kind 24 of have first peek at what was there.
25 Q Okay.

1 A And then, when I was asked by executive management or when I got called
2 about a case, so at least I was familiar with it, or at least it was there. So I kind of 3 changed it up a little bit, but you're correct on your assessment.
4 Q And, throughout the open investigation, what type of investigative steps
5 would your team take to evaluate a complaint?
6 A It is hard to generalize because every case was different, right? But I would
7 always have them evaluate whether or not, for instance -- so some things took a lot
8 longer to get, like something called ESOC data, enterprise. Gosh, operation groups,
9 enterprise -- basically it was like information that insider threat -- ESOC became insider
10 threat, would collect like user activity data, logs, access to cases, emails. We have an 11 internal messaging so we get all of that. So, depending upon the case, I would say, 12 order requests, all of that stuff, sooner than later because that stuff would take some 13 time if it was a high-priority case, weeks to months. That would be something that I 14 would ask the investigators to look at and immediately evaluate, what's some of the 15 things. Again, it depends on the case, but we might look for training records, request
16 training records. We may start conducting interviews. One of the basic things for 17 investigation is you always want to contact the complainant, if there is a complainant,
18 right, you know, get a feel, who is this person? Is this information real? Obviously,
19 what's written on paper is not always either accurate or the full picture. So the basic 20 investigative steps would initially be taken.
21 Have a conversation with their SSA. Sometimes I would tell the SSAs or when I
22 was an SSA, I would give some guidance, not on all the cases because we -- but some of 23 the ones that would perforate to the top and some of the ones that were being discussed
24 by management. Some of the ones that would come in and say, "Hey, you need to take 25 a look at this this morning." So, I mean, I can go over more investigative steps, if you

1 want.

2 Q That's good, it gives us a good enough flavor of what went on.

3 So, as the CIU was investigating the allegations that had come in, could an

4 individual's security clearance be suspended during pendency of the investigation?

5 A Yes, absolutely.

6 Q And what factors would go into determining whether an individual's

7 clearance should be suspended while the investigation was ongoing?

8 A Is this person's actions a risk to national security, right? Can this person

9 hold a clearance, you know? Again, a little bit of a general question, without knowing

10 specifically about that case -- every case was different, but evaluating the whole person

11 concept, right from the CFR adjudicative guidelines of, what is this person alleged to have

12 done? What are the facts? What are we basing the suspension on? Does it hold up

13 to legal sufficiency, right? We would not -- so, in CIU, myself and other investigators, we

14 would not make this judgment call on our own. We would have OGC, general counsel,

15 and executive management also reviewing and weighing in whether or not legal

16 sufficiency occurred. So we were fact collectors, right? And we would brief cases on a

17 weekly basis, and some of them couldn't wait the week because they were so -- right, so

18 obvious that this person was a concern to national security. But, really, can this person

19 hold a clearance? Are they safeguarding national secrets, protected information?

20 What is the risk to the organization? What is the risk to the USG?

21 Q Okay. I want to talk a little bit about the decisionmaking process, who all

22 was involved. I know you mentioned OGC and executive management. So who all

23 would need to sign off, if you will, on whether or not an employee's clearance should be

24 suspended during the pendency of the investigation?

25 A Lots of people. So, if everyone was in the office, right, basically it would

1 be -- the investigator would sign off -- so there's two things. For a suspension, you're
2 talking about a clearance action?
3 Q Correct. Just a suspension during -- while you're still investigating?
4 A Okay. So it would be the process would go -- the investigator would draft
5 up the EC, the electronic communication, with all the background and a letter, right, with,
6 say, for instance, if Jen Moore was our EAD at the time -- I think it changed but, but 7 whoever is our EAD, the SPM who handled the signing of the suspensions. So it would
8 go from investigator to the SSA or ISAC to the unit chief, where I would sit for 5 months
9 later on, to the assistant section chief, to the section chief, OGC, DAD, AD, EAD. So, for 10 instance, at any given point, if I was either the SSA or the acting unit chief, I either had six 11 or seven signatures above me.
12 Q Okay.
13 A I would be, like, the second signature.
14 Q Okay. And, if the investigator during their preliminary investigative steps 15 determined that the security clearance shouldn't be suspended during the pendency of 16 the investigation, was there any sort of ability for anyone above that investigator to 17 overrule that decision?
18 A So, if the investigator determined that they should not be suspended?
19 Q Correct. If their clearance should not be suspended during -- 20 A Because somebody overruled them above?
21 Q Correct.
22 A Yes, of course. We all have a chain of command, right. So the reason why
23 we have chain of command is that people who are higher can make judgment decisions,
24 right, based off of facts or whatever they know. But, yes, of course that can happen.
25 Q And how would that occur? Was the investigator briefing his cases to you

1 or to the section chief, unit chief? How did that occur, if there was an instance where
2 the investigator needed to be overruled?
3 A If the investigator needed to be overruled. Yeah, we would have meetings.
4 So I was big on using words like "articulate why you feel this way." I did this with one of 5 our SSAs, [redacted] He had issues all the time trying to figure out how to 6 articulate. He just didn't want to work cases or whatnot. I was, like, "Okay, articulate,
7 let's go in and talk to, like, Dena Perkins, who was the assistant section chief at the time,
8 who has an open-door policy, and let's explain what you found and whatnot." But he 9 had trouble articulating things for whatever reason.
10 But what are the facts? Why are you basing this decision off of your belief
11 or -- so yeah, I mean, it's like any time we would do investigations across my entire 12 28 -- almost 28 years with the FBI, it happened -- not even SecD; it happened everywhere, 13 right? Criminal Investigations, Counterterrorism Investigations. You would 14 have -- where are we? What do we have? What are you looking at? Let me see it.
15 That kind of thing. So I don't know if that answers your question. It is hard to talk
16 generalities a little bit.
17 Q I understand.
18 A I'm trying to answer your question, but if you could be a little more specific,
19 but, in reality, myself or an investigator or management, they are not always right. They 20 may not have all the facts, all right? So, sometimes, executive management doesn't 21 have all the facts. Sometimes, we don't have all the facts, because the executive 22 managers were talking to SACs. So sometimes getting together would help iron that 23 out.
24 Q Okay. And then, after the CIU was done with its investigation, then would 25 the case go to the CAU?

1 A It depends.

2 Q Okay.

3 A There were some cases -- again, I can probably give you a bunch of different
4 examples, but I'm going to give you one example. If we determined the initial allegation
5 was not correct, proven wrong -- like, for instance, I think we had a case one time
6 general -- generally speaking, that we had a case come in and looked bad. It looked like
7 an ASOC or somebody was gambling, right, online gambling or whatever or something.
8 It turned out, when we actually talked to him, I think he had has identity stolen or 9 something to that effect. Again, don't quote me exactly on the facts. And all our 10 checks were coming back that there was no issues with this individual, and it was just a 11 mistaken identity. So, if we were able to prove the allegations were not correct, we 12 would have -- I would go and speak to or Mike Smith would go speak to, as unit chief,
13 Dena Perkins, who was section chief -- acting DAD, and say, "Hey, we would like to close 14 this case based off of this. And they would usually, they would for the most part say, if 15 they didn't agree right then and then, they would say, "Hey, could you guys do a few 16 more things? Could you reach out and maybe talk to the CSO? Maybe there is 17 something that -- in this call about this person and in the field office has never been 18 documented." Or, "Hey, I'm looking through the file, and I just feel like a couple more
19 things need to be done before we make that decision," right? Or some things are so 20 obvious. So what I'm saying is sometimes we wouldn't send it over to CIU; we would 21 sometimes direct close it because the allegation was just proven opposite, right?

22 We also were worked polygraph cases. So those didn't go over to CIU as well.
23 Polygraph cases had different three digit three Alpha number. I think it was -- gosh, I
24 can't recall; was it 350E (ph)? I don't -- it's been a while. If somebody passed their 25 poly, right -- and we were there, we were there to help them get through their poly. We

1 would do the interview prior to the polygraph. The polygraph would be tomorrow.
2 We'd interviewed them and say, "Hey, what's going on with you? Tell us what's going
3 on. We see that you might have had trouble on your last poly related to alcohol or 4 whatever." "Yeah, you know, I drink a little too much when" -- "All right, tell us about
5 that," you know. We'd try to get them through it, and then the next day they'd have a
6 poly. If they passed that poly and we did certain background, we pulled maybe their 7 financials or something, and nothing was in their background, we would direct close that,
8 right? It wouldn't -- we wouldn't continue the investigation. Right.
9 Q Okay.
10 A And the reason why we got poly cases is I think two or more inconclusives or 11 if somebody failed a poly, it came to us automatically. So I should have said that earlier.
12 So we have polygraph cases, and then we have the investigations to allegations that 13 probably we're here more to talk about.
14 Q So, when the case would go to the CAU, would your team make any sort of 15 recommendation to the CAU, or did they independently evaluate the investigation and 16 what the investigation had concluded?
17 A It was supposed to be independent.
18 Q Okay. So no recommendation was given to the CAU?
19 A I mean, sometimes the CAU folks would come over and, you know, and ask
20 us about the case, "Hey, can you give us a little background on it?" But really it was up
21 to them to evaluate serial by serial. And sometimes they'd come back and say, "Hey, 22 can you guys" -- and this changed a little bit when I was there, but at one point, I think
23 some of the CIU folks would do the interviews. They saw maybe, hey, this person
24 should be interviewed; they would do the interview. But that changed. So, if they 25 determined, like, if certain things they thought were missing -- "Hey, I wish you guys

1 interviewed the partner of the, you know, subject employee. Can you guys go
2 back" -- and it would get reassigned back to us.
3 Q Okay.
4 A So they would kind of do like a file review and, you know, and determine 5 whether or not they had the four corners of the case, and they could make the 6 recommendation to management. So, yes, it was supposed to be independent, but 7 sometimes a case would back because they felt like it might be a little incomplete, certain
8 things might have been missed. And we would do what they asked and then send it
9 back to them so --
10 Q Then the CAU would determine whether the individual's security clearance
11 should be revoked or reinstated if it had been suspended. Is that correct?
12 A Yes. If it was suspended by CIU, they would either determine whether it 13 should be, yes, reinstated or revoked, correct.
14 Q Okay.
15 A But they would also have also -- we didn't suspend -- there were cases, and I 16 don't know specifically, but say we sent a case over there, we didn't suspend, and they
17 determined something happened or, hey, this is enough for a revocation. So some cases
18 would go straight to revocation without even a suspension, but that would be CIU.
19 Q Okay.
20 A They would also cases that would go over there sometimes for their 21 evaluation would sometimes just maybe get a letter or nothing; they would just close it.
22 Q And, when thinking about the chain of command when the decision was 23 being signed off on for either the clearance being suspended or the clearance being 24 revoked or the clearance being reinstated, was there anyone in the chain of command
25 whose decision or thoughts on the matter were given more weight?

1 A In CAU?

2 Q In the CIU or the CAU?

3 A Okay, yeah. Yeah, so I really can only comment about CIU, right. I don't
4 want to get into CAU's business, because they also have a lot of meetings and things that I
5 was not a part of, right, because I was doing my cases. People with more weight -- I
6 mean, obviously, again, it is like a hierarchy DOD kind of thing, you know. I'm not going
7 to jump and go and speak to the AD unless I go through different layers. What 8 happened -- I mean, really stopping at Dena Perkins really was my stop.

9 Q Okay.

10 A I didn't have a lot of -- maybe "exposure" is the wrong word, I didn't have a 11 lot of one-on-ones or meetings with, like, Jeff Veltri or E.D. Beidler (ph) or Jen Moore, for 12 instance, about cases. It just didn't happen. My go-to was either Mike Smith, my unit
13 chief, or Dena Perkins, who was acting as a section chief.

14 Q Okay.

15 A It doesn't mean it didn't happen, but it was seldom.

16 Q Okay. And the Justice Department's Inspector General released a report
17 recently regarding kind of the timeline. It was mentioned in the report the timeline for 18 the investigations that were taking place. And the IG found that, in the last 5 years, 106
19 FBI employees had their clearances suspended for 6 months or longer, and the average
20 time between suspension and the decision to revoke or reinstate was approximately 17
21 months. Can you help us understand why it takes so long for the investigation to take 22 place?

23 A So a very good question. Again, I'll answer in maybe some examples, but 24 hard to say generally, right. I mean, again, each case is different, each case is different.
25 But I will say one of the things that I was frustrated when I was over there was the IG, the

1 IG itself. So if a case is being investigated by the IG, the Security Division basically we
2 may have a case, we may have a security action because we feel this person cannot be in
3 our space off the allegation or initial findings, but the agreement really is -- and this was
4 from I know -- well, this is hearsay; I believe it came down from Paul Abbate, the deputy
5 director a couple years back, was I think he had a meeting with Horowitz, and they ironed
6 it out. Because SecD, when I first got there, we were doing interviews; we were 7 conducting our investigations, determining whether or not this person was a threat to 8 national security within FBI space, and the IG did not like that because a couple of times
9 we got ahead of our skis a little bit with them.
10 Q Okay.
11 A We interviewed somebody that they were really upset that we might have 12 interviewed. So Horowitz and Abbate met, and it was ironed out. And, basically, from 13 that point on, we were told, SecD was told, if IG has an investigation or interest, we are 14 not allowed to conduct interviews. We can do maybe internal pulls of information like 15 ESOC data and things like that. We can't do anything overt. If it came to a security
16 action, the IG would be told, "Hey, we need to suspend this person; this is why."
17 Discussions higher, way higher above me, be ironed out and say, "Okay, IG says we can do
18 it." So -- but that's one delay because you -- for instance, we could have a case, a 19 security action, opened for 2, 3 years, and we can't do our investigative steps.
20 Another important thing is IG would not share their findings with us. That is 21 huge. So we would have somebody potentially suspended, somebody who had an open
22 investigation that couldn't get promoted. And they would ask for updates every once in 23 a while, and we couldn't tell them anything because the IG controlled that narrative,
24 controlled that timeline. So that was one thing. And that was really frustrating, from 25 my point, because, you know, you have a case for 15 months, 17 months, and you can't

1 do anything with it. How is the Security Division supposed -- not me, but how is Security
2 Division generally speaking, the FBI, how are they going do either a suspension or 3 recommendation or a revocation or continue their case or finish their case and do due
4 diligence in a timely manner when they can't investigate it, and they are not getting
5 reports from the IG?
6 Now, we did get a couple cases when I know maybe I brought it up to 7 management's attention by Veltri or Beidler would have the call over with the IG and say,
8 "Hey, we're going to go forward in a couple of weeks and interview this person because 9 we can't have them in our space and you guys have got to tell us what's going on," but 10 that was seldom.
11 Q Okay.
12 A But it was a little bit of a battle between the IG and the FBI. So that's just 13 one example of why things took years, and it frustrated me, and it wasn't fair to the 14 employee. So you'd have to ask the IG sometime, ask the IG why it takes so long.
15 Why else would it take long? It's hard to say. We talked about the three units,
16 right? Maybe it was a little bit of a delay of opening -- I'll say maybe 30 days, 40 days,
17 60 days, I don't know. Then it comes to us. Turnover, turnover was an issue,
18 personnel. I mean, one time I think we were down five or six contractors. When I first
19 got there, some of investigators had 80 cases assigned to them. How do you work
20 80 cases? 18, 18 to 20 was probably the most I would want to give to an investigator
21 that I know could handle it; maybe a little more depending upon the kind of cases they 22 were. If they are polygraph cases, it could take 25. But I think one guy had, like,
23 85 cases, and he'd tell me, "Okay, what cases do you want me to work on today?" So
24 that was a delay as well, unfair to the employee, but it was just the way it was. A lot of 25 people didn't want to come to the Security Division. They were scared off about

1 security, I guess.

2 Keeping contractors in D.C. for the pay was very difficult. A lot of them would

3 say this is not a retirement job; they worked harder here than they worked at their own

4 agency. Just a lot of reasons, a lot of reasons. And then, you know, internal

5 discussions and case loads for CAU. Some would go to CAU. I don't know what their

6 case load was. We could talk probably -- I'm sorry; we could talk much longer about 7 this. But I will say it is unfair to the employee how long it takes.

8 Q Okay.

9 A And I do feel bad about that, but you have look at each case and ask yourself

10 why.

11 Q And I know we have spoken briefly about some of the members of the 12 executive management in the Security Division. I specifically want to talk about Ms.

13 Dena Perkins. I understand that she was at one point the assistant section chief and

14 then became the acting section chief. Was she there the whole time that were you at 15 the Security Division?

16 A She was.

17 Q Okay. And, to your understanding, how long had she been the assistant

18 section chief?

19 A Maybe 2, 3 years before I got there.

20 Q Okay.

21 A It was rough. It was rough. But she was -- she had a lot of institutional

22 knowledge. She was there for a few years prior to me, yes.

23 Q And, to the best of your knowledge, when did she become the acting section

24 chief?

25 A Whenever, if you know this, I don't know, but Jen Moore, when she got

1 promoted to EAD from AD, everybody kind of moved up, except for the unit chief and
2 myself; we stayed where we were. We basically operated without an assistant section
3 chief for quite some time. I would say over a year, maybe longer.
4 Q Did she always keep the acting section chief title, or did she at some point
5 become section chief?
6 A No, no, she never became section chief because she didn't have ASAC field
7 time. She would not qualify as a section chief.
8 Q So she was always just acting section chief?
9 A Correct.
10 Q Did she ever move away from the acting section chief role while you were at 11 the Security Division before you retired in August of 2023?
12 A She did.
13 Q When did she leave, to the best of your knowledge?
14 A When did she -- I'm sorry, when did she -- I'm sorry; when did he she 15 become an acting section chief again or --
16 Q No. When did she leave as the acting section chief?
17 A So I retired in August 2023. I think it was only -- I think she's only been out
18 a few months.
19 Q Before you left?
20 A Oh, no, no, no. I apologize. She's -- only a few months ago from --
21 Q From today?
22 A -- from 2024.
23 Q Okay.
24 A Correct.
25 Q Okay. So she remained in Security Division after you retired. Is that

1 correct to say?

2 A Yeah. Matt Nagle (ph) came in and filled the section chief position, and

3 they had the DAD position filled, the AD position filled. So she went back to assistant

4 section chief --

5 Q Okay.

6 A Maybe a few months prior to me retiring. So I don't know when Matt

7 Nagle (ph) got there, but he became the section chief somewhere May, June, somewhere

8 around that time, 2023. Yeah.

9 Q Okay. And, as a supervisory special agent, how often would you interact

10 with Ms. Perkins?

11 A So that varied. When I was the only SSA over there for 4 months or so

12 before [redacted] came and [redacted] got shuffled back over to CIU,

13 maybe a few times a week, not too often. I definitely respected chain of command.

14 So, if Mike Smith, my unit chief, was there, I would go to Mike; I would defer to him.

15 Again, Mike also wore the SSA hat a little bit. So, depending upon his bandwidth,

16 whether he wanted me to go and brief Dena because I might have had a little more

17 factual knowledge about the case; it depends. But we would have some interactions,

18 but I wasn't -- I was never the type of person to run down to my boss' office, you know,

19 multiple times a day. I was more of a purpose person. If I had a reason to be in your

20 office, there was a reason. So maybe just a couple times a week and it was all

21 case-related or if Mike wasn't around so --

22 Q Okay.

23 A But that increased obviously when I became the assistant unit chief -- acting

24 unit chief in, like, March 2023.

25 Q And how often would you interact with Ms. Perkins when you became the

1 acting unit chief?

2 A Daily.

3 Q Okay. And were you located in the same office --

4 A Yes.

5 Q -- with Ms. Perkins?

6 A Yes, same office.

7 Q And how involved in the clearance investigation process was Ms. Perkins?

8 What was her role in the process?

9 A Her role, so she was assistant section chief and then, again, acting section

10 chief before that. But, yeah, she played a very important role. She was very smart,

11 very hard worker. She got probably one of the best memories I've known of anyone.

12 She could cite a case 3 years ago: "Hey, this is very similar to a case that we had 3 years

13 ago." Yeah, she was very involved. It seemed to me that a lot of people -- again, this is

14 more hearsay, I guess, but she seemed like a lot of people would call her as well from like

15 field offices and things like that, other divisions. She was a go-to person for CIS.

16 Q Okay.

17 [redacted]. I'll mark as exhibit No. 3, a letter that was sent on June 28th, 2024,

18 from Empower Oversight to Inspector General Michael Horowitz.

19 [Clark Exhibit No. 3

20 was marked for identification.]

21 [redacted]:

22 Q And this is a 20-page letter. I'm only going to refer to the first nine pages.

23 Please read as much or as little, but take sufficient time to review. And I'll point to the 24 specific pages in the letter when I refer to something.

25 Are you good?

1 A Yes, I'm ready.

2 Q And the letter contains whistleblower disclosures that was sent to the

3 inspector general as well, as to the committee as part of the committee's oversight work

4 we do, look into whistleblower disclosures that are sent to us. So I just want to ask

5 some questions about this. So, looking at page 3 -- the page numbers are on the bottom

6 right-hand side.

7 A Do you mind if get my glasses?

8 Q Absolutely, please take your time.

9 A Page 3.

10 Q Yes, page 3, and I'm looking at the first full paragraph. And I'll read it for

11 the record: "On his arrival in CIU, SSA client immediately recognized SecD was a toxic

12 work environment. Many SIIS employees had had conflicts with Perkins, first as ASC and 13 then as acting SC. And several had filed complaints against her."

14 So what I'm wondering is, when you were SSA and then acting unit chief, did

15 anyone ever come to you with concerns about Ms. Perkins?

16 A Hallway talk. I think people were more scared or intimidated by her 17 directness.

18 Q And what can you tell us about the hallway talk that you observed or

19 individuals came to you?

20 A Well, it evolved for me, right, because I didn't have a lot of involvement with 21 her in the beginning. So I think people were taken aback because she was a little direct.

22 She reminded me of when I was in New York or Counterterrorism for 13 years with the

23 FBI, a lot of direct bosses that I worked with. And, you know, it was -- she wanted to get

24 the information, and she wanted to get the job done. She wanted to hold people

25 accountable and responsible. And, you know, some people didn't like that.

1 Q And can you provide a little bit more clarity for us about what you mean by 2 "more direct"?
3 A She would hold people accountable. She would have something done, and
4 she would follow up on it. If you didn't do it in a certain period of time, she'd ask you
5 again. She might ask you why you didn't do it. She held people responsible for what 6 they -- she also was aware of what was going on in files. She was aware of who was 7 doing work, who wasn't doing work. You know, "Hey, why is this investigator pushing 8 out paper and doing interviews when these three other investigators, you know,
9 are -- they have 20 cases each, and they seem like they are not moving them?" So she 10 was very -- very aware of the workers and the nonworkers.
11 Q Okay.
12 A She didn't really have a high tolerance for nonworkers so -- neither did I.
13 Q The deputy assistant director, Jeffrey Veltri, how often did you interact with 14 Mr. Veltri as an acting unit chief?
15 A I don't know if it was weekly or biweekly. I can't remember now. We'd 16 have these meetings; top cases we'd brief the AD, the DAD. So, obviously, at least once
17 a week I'd meet with Veltri. It was more like a table like this, and I'm briefing my cases, 18 my top two cases. And I'm looking for guidance, or I'm letting them aware of the 19 findings, right, because they were aware of a case, how it came in. I'm briefing them on 20 my findings or the investigative findings. But very, very seldom did I ever have 21 one-on-one meetings with Jeff Veltri. Again, my go-to was Michael Smith and/or Dena
22 Perkins.
23 Q Okay. And then going --
24 A And he was on a different floor. So he was upstairs, and he was with the 25 executive level managers. So, even going to see him, you would have to go through his

1 secretary, and sometimes he was in there, or you'd have to make an appointment. So a
2 little more difficult.
3 Q And, going back to exhibit 3, the letter that you have in front of you, page 4 five.
5 A Yes.
6 Q Looking at the first full paragraph there as well, and I'll read the first
7 sentence into the record: "SSA client quickly discovered that Acting SC Perkins and 8 Acting DAD Veltri were often inappropriately involved in individual clearances case
9 throughout those cases' time in SIIS, from referrals to investigations to adjudications and 10 appeals."
11 What can you tell us about Mr. Veltri's involvement in the clearance investigative 12 process?
13 A They were all very involved. Even Mr. Beidler was involved. Michael 14 Smith was involved. I was involved. If you're going to do a clearance action, I would 15 hope everybody would be involved. I mean, you're affecting somebody's life. You're 16 affecting somebody's job. You are affecting their family. So, yeah, of course, they 17 were involved.
18 They weren't involved in the cases -- like the polygraph cases or the cases that 19 didn't rise to that occasion. But, when you're talking about a clearance action, you'd 20 want management to be involved, and they were involved, yes, yeah.
21 Q And, looking at that next sentence, it says, "Perkins and Veltri would 22 frequently make initial judgments about cases based on their own prejudices, then would 23 refuse to move from their first impressions regardless of what facts an investigation
24 uncovered." I'm just wondering when did get Mr. Veltri and Ms. Perkins get involved in 25 the investigation? Was it right from the start when it came in to CREU, or was it at CIU

1 or CAU? When did they get involved?

1

2 [10:58 a.m.]

3 The Witness. Depended on the case, depended on the priority of the case,

4 depended on the -- the ramifications of the case, like, how severe it was, right, the

5 allegations.

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A So -- but, yeah, they were -- they were involved at times, I would assume, at 9 the CREU level when the intake came in. They were aware of cases sometimes before

10 they even hit SecD, right? Whether inspection had the case, the IG, maybe -- I'm making

11 this up, but, you know, an SAC has an issue with an employee, or, you know, a guy is

12 pulled over for his third DWI. They're called about it before paper hits SecD. So they 13 were -- they were involved.

14 You know, I wouldn't necessarily get called, but, yes, the SAC would call his

15 counterparts, his equals, Dena or Jeff or Beidler. So there were times they were 16 involved or aware of cases that, you know, I was not aware of.

17 So, at the CREU level, they were involved at times, at the CIU level, as well as the 18 CAU level. So it just depended on the case.

19 Again, I don't -- I didn't sit with them, you know, daily, regularly, hourly. But they

20 were -- they were aware of the hot -- the hot button cases, definitely, and probably some

21 of the lower ones as well.

22 Q Okay. Moving on to the next paragraph on page 5, it says, "Acting SD

23 Perkins would often direct SIIS staff to take particular actions, such as making specific

24 edits to electronic communications, ECs, on suspension or revocation before they were

25 allowed to proceed up the chain to the executive assistant director for issuance, yet

1 Perkins never documented in the adjudicative file the decisions she made, including when
2 she overruled line SIIS staff."
3 So what's the role of the acting section chief or section chief in editing documents
4 or electronic communications before they're added to the investigative file or move up to 5 the EAD?
6 A So I just want to -- here it says adjudicative file the decisions, so I can't 7 comment about that. That seems like it's more focused. And I know who this
8 whistleblower is. He was working for me, and then he moved over to the CAU. If I can 9 say his name on the record, I don't know if that's something I can say.
10 But he was one of the worst agents I've ever worked for, to be honest with 11 you -- worked with. Very lazy and didn't have a very good reputation. I'll just say that 12 for the record.
13 Adjudicative file, I can't comment. He's probably commenting this when he was 14 over at CAU. But what I will say is, everybody had -- during that chain we talked about 15 before, investigator, SSA, unit chief, associate section chief, section chief, DAD, AD,
16 EAD -- I'm sorry -- and OGC, everybody had editing capability, and that frustrated a lot of 17 people. I was -- I just went with it.
18 But sometimes the editing process just from start to finish to get paper out was 19 very frustrating because it took so long, right? Either sat in someone's inbox or they 20 had, you know, 10 different changes 10 different times.
21 So I wouldn't -- I wouldn't read too much into this because, of course, Dena and 22 Jeff and Tasha Gibbs, who was our OGC attorney, Mr. Beidler edited. I edited a bunch.
23 There were some times I spent two days on editing.
24 You know, editing is different than changing substance, right? So I don't know if 25 that says that here. It says edits. So I'm just going to go off of edits. And it happened

1 all the time because, if you're changing somebody's life and it's going to be a discoverable
2 document, you better get it right.
3 So, as far as that, I don't see anything wrong with that. It happens to everybody
4 at this table. You can have peer review. You can have executive level review, and it
5 comes back, red ink. I'm dating myself saying red ink, but it comes back.
6 Q Looking at the next paragraph there -- I'm sorry, two more paragraphs down,
7 but I'm starting with, "The SSA client participated."
8 "The SSA client participated in many discussions in which it became clear that 9 Veltri's and Perkins' perspective was that, if an FBI employee fit a certain profile as a
10 political Conservative, they were viewed as security concerns and unworthy to work at 11 the FBI."
12 My question is, during your tenure as unit chief -- acting unit chief -- excuse
13 me -- or SSA, did any of your subordinates ever raise concerns to you about individuals 14 being targeted because of their political ideology?
15 A I would say from Washington Field -- so I will tell you, I was at January 6th.
16 I was a bomb technician. I took care of the DNC pipe bomb with the Capitol Police. I
17 was in the truck, took care of suspicious vehicles. I cleared the rooms of these buildings
18 in Congress that night. Okay? I was there that day.
19 And then I was assigned cases at J6. I was a crimes against children investigator.
20 We were all working J6 cases, okay?
21 Q Uh-huh.
22 A It was very political, wherever it was coming from. I don't know which way
23 it was coming from. But it seemed that the goalposts were constantly being changed on 24 who to go after and who not to go after; just saying, whether it was D.C., U.S. Attorney's
25 Office, AG, whatnot. I even pushed back on a case that we wanted me to arrest

1 somebody, and I refused to sign the affidavit when I was at WFO.

2 The reason why I say that is J6 -- January 6th, we all sit here and we understand

3 how political and how sensitive that day was. You have people calling it insurrections,

4 and you have other people calling it a riot. What is it? I don't know. I'm not here.

5 I'm very apolitical.

6 Mr. Berger. Could I just ask a question?

7 The Witness. Yeah.

8 Mr. Berger. I just want to make sure we get back to the focus of her question.

9 The Witness. Yep.

10 Mr. Berger. Let's focus on what this sentence says.

11 The Witness. Yep.

12 Mr. Berger. The client -- the allegation, according to this letter, the client

13 participated in many discussions in which it became clear to the client that Veltri and

14 Perkins' perspective was that, if an FBI employee fit a certain profile as a political

15 Conservative, they were viewed as security concerns and unworthy to work for the FBI.

16 That's the question you're asking.

17 She wants to know whether you're aware that -- whether Veltri or Perkins had 18 such a perspective. That's what the focus is.

19 The Witness. Right.

20 BY [redacted]:

21 Q Yeah. My question --

22 A As far as Dena Perkins, I would say my involvement with her, I did not see 23 that, no.

24 Q And my question was to whether any of your subordinates as SSA or an

25 acting unit chief, had they ever raised concerns about this to you?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And what can you tell us about those concerns?

3 A Again, that's why I was trying to --

4 Mr. Berger. Well, answer her question.

5 The Witness. I was trying to say that it's not just SecD. It was governmentwide

6 that there's concerns, right? I was just trying to throw that out there.

7 So there were discussions related to some of the January 6th cases that,

8 obviously --

9 Q Discussions from your subordinates to you? Sorry.

10 A Yeah, just -- or just, you know, peers evaluating the facts and whether the 11 facts fit a security guideline.

12 Q Okay. And we're right at --

13 A And I'm sorry I went a little too far beyond -- I just was trying to tell you

14 the perspective --

15 Mr. Berger. You've answered the question.

16 [redacted]. And we're right at an hour, so we'll go ahead and go off the record.

17 [Recess.]

18 [redacted]. It is 11:13. We can go back on the record. Thank you.

19 EXAMINATION

20 BY [redacted]:

21 Q Mr. Clark, thank you again for joining us. As I said at the beginning, I'm 22 [redacted]. I'm the Democrat's chief oversight counsel.

23 A Okay. Thank you.

24 Q I want to actually take a couple steps back. I know we walked through your

25 background at the beginning --

1 A Yeah.

2 Q -- kind of in a cursory fashion. I want to do that in a little more detail just to

3 get a better sense of your skills and your background and what you brought to the SecD

4 position that you kind of --

5 A Okay.

6 Q So you said that you joined the FBI in January -- or in 1996?

7 A Correct.

8 Q And then you became an agent in 1999?

9 A Correct.

10 Q Why did you decide to apply to become an agent?

11 A You know, I always wanted to be an agent up until I was 12 years old. So

12 what made me decide? Just various things in the course of life -- across life.

13 One of my roommates in college, his dad was an FBI agent, so got exposed to that.

14 And then was going to go to law school, took some classes at GW Law, and then turned 15 into a forensic science master's degree.

16 But I've always been interested in law. I've always been interested -- my first job

17 out of college I worked for the Manhattan's DA's office --

18 Q Okay.

19 A -- Robert Morgenthau. And just -- just was always very interested in -- I

20 can't really pin it on one thing.

21 Q Okay. So you went to Quantico, I guess, in 1999?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And graduated. And you said that you were then assigned to New York

24 City?

25 A Correct.

1 Q And you were assigned to the Joint Terrorism Task Force. Is that right?
2 A Yes. I mean, so, at first, we do a rotation. But, yeah, my first assignment
3 was on the Joint Terrorism Task Force working the Middle East.
4 Q And can you -- I don't want to get into anything classified or anything
5 sensitive.
6 A Right, right, right.
7 Q But, at a high level, can you tell us what you were doing?
8 A It changed up a little bit. My first case that I worked on was -- it's 9 not probably classified now, but it's the Canadian Connection case with Abdul Ressam
10 (ph) coming over the border. New York had pieces of that, people that were supporting,
11 facilitating him. So that was probably my real -- real bite -- bite of the apple there.
12 And then -- I want to say that was December of, was it '99 or -- yeah, I think somewhere 13 around that time.
14 And then worked different cases, like, related to Pakistan, Algeria, things like that.
15 And then 9/11 happened, obviously, and then I was pretty -- pretty much focused on 16 Pakistan, counterterrorism, international terrorism, Pakistan-related.
17 Q Okay. So, just to put this in context, in -- in September of 2011, were you
18 working counterterrorism in New York City?
19 A September 2001?
20 Q 2001. I'm sorry, 2001.
21 A Yeah, yeah. Yes, I was. I was assigned to a squad that was working 22 Pak-Afghan matters, as well as Northern -- Northern Africa.
23 Q Okay. And as you -- so did you work on the 9/11 cases?
24 A I did, yes.
25 Q And can you tell us anything about what you did with those cases?

1 A Yeah. I mean, so I say 9/11 cases. We all worked on 9/11 leads, right,
2 after 9/11 happened, obviously, being in New York City. The -- to say that I was on the 3 actual squad, the 9/11 squad, would not be accurate.
4 But I had -- I was working other groups, right, that were all associated with Middle 5 East terrorism, right? I don't want to name the groups here, but they were factions and 6 groups that were not linked to the -- well, actually, one guy was -- to the hijackers,
7 but -- so originally it was leads, and then I ended up opening a bunch of cases regarding
8 other organizations.
9 Q Okay. And then you said that in -- I might have gotten the timeline wrong
10 here -- in 2006, you transferred to Headquarters. Is that right?
11 A Yeah. That's about right. January 2006. So I had a case in New York
12 that lasted about 3 to 4 years; got the Attorney General's Award for it. I actually got two 13 Attorney General Awards.
14 Q Sorry. Not to interrupt you, but what is the Attorney General Award, just 15 for the record?
16 A It's the highest award awarded to an investigator. I had a case up in New 17 York between 2002 and 2006 before I transferred of a guy who became the number one
18 cooperator for counterterrorism in the Bureau. I was the lead agent on him. I
19 identified him. I arrested him, and he became a cooperator. For 4 months he -- it 20 wasn't exposed to the public that he was arrested because he was cooperating and giving 21 us information on people that were not even on law enforcement or foreign liaison radar.
22 So I worked that.
23 And then I was named counterterrorism New York agent of the year back in 2005,
24 and I got an Attorney General Award. And then I transferred down in 2006 to do an 25 18-month TDY to DHS Domestic Nuclear Detection Office.

1 Q And what is the DHS Domestic Nuclear Detection Office?

2 A It was a startup. I believe Cheney, the Vice President at the time, started

3 an office. He wanted a one-stop-shop, basically, of determining what the radiological

4 detection piece was to the United -- United States Government. You know, we had

5 FEMA, which was, like, you know, right or boom (ph), but there's nothing, like, left.

6 So I think he was kind of trying to figure out -- so he started up a small office, I was

7 interagency, and I was, like, one of three FBI agents that was over there.

8 Q How long -- was that a detail?

9 A It was a detail, yeah.

10 Q And how long did that detail last?

11 A 18 months.

12 Q And, after that detail, you returned back to FBI Headquarters?

13 A I went back to New York.

14 Q Back to New York, okay.

15 A Yeah, for a few months.

16 Q And what did you do in New York?

17 A I went back to the terrorism, JTTF, working Pakistan, counterterrorism.

18 Q And, after that, is that when you returned to the Washington Field Office?

19 A Yeah. It was a very short period of time. Because I knew I was going to 20 take -- my family was down here, and we determined -- we decided during that 18

21 months to stay down here.

22 Q Okay.

23 A So I reapplied -- I applied -- not reapplied -- applied for a job with the CIA as 24 a detailee over at Counterterrorism WMD.

25 Q And what did you do next?

1 A So, for the next 3 years, approximately 2007, 2008, to 2011-ish -- again, it's
2 somewhere around there. May have been the end of 2010. I think it was 2011 -- I
3 was -- I ended up being the lead detailee for the FBI over in the weapons of mass
4 destruction with the CIA.
5 I was working as a detailee over there. I was fully embedded with the CIA.
6 Obviously, you can imagine what we were doing, and I did that until I decided to leave
7 and go to Washington Field Office, step down as -- from a 14 to a 13, Grade 13.
8 Q And why did you decide to step down?
9 A I did about -- that point about 13 years in counterterrorism-ish, give or take.
10 And, even though I arrested people and we were -- I was involved in really high-level
11 cases where I was the lead agent, doing some really sensitive techniques and things like 12 that and traveling the world, working with liaison, I just felt like -- I felt like there was an 13 emptiness in my career, that I wanted to do something like crimes against children.
14 Hate to say this, but put handcuffs -- use my handcuffs and -- and do some violent crime.
15 Get inside of a courtroom, put cases together, get a lot of counterterrorism cases. You
16 know, a lot of it was more like counter-intel, intelligence case collection. So I wanted to 17 kind of check that box.
18 Q And is it fair to say you kind of wanted to be on the ground?
19 A Yeah, that's very fair. And then -- yeah, that's very fair.
20 Q And you said that you were -- so you were assigned to the Washington Field
21 Office, right?
22 A Yes.
23 Q To the Violent Crimes Against Children section. Is that right?
24 A Yes. The squad, yes.
25 Q The squad, sorry.

1 And what -- what were your responsibilities there?

2 A I was an investigator. I was a 13 investigator, one of the senior people on

3 the squad at that point. I don't know exactly when, but somewhere around 2013, '14,

4 when I was named the kidnapping, missing child coordinator for the whole area of

5 responsibility. Actually, caught a case, I was the lead agent -- first agent out the door,

6 lead agent, led the case -- led the task force on a case called -- missing child named

7 Relisha Rudd. She was a missing kid out of D.C., still missing today, but worked that

8 case.

9 I was a missing child coordinator. And then worked mostly human trafficking,

10 child prostitution. Did some online stuff, but I was never online-certified.

11 Q And then, after that, you were assigned to SecD. Is that right?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay. And I think we talked through that in some level of detail. So I'm 14 not going to go through that -- through your assignments there.

15 But when did you retire from the FBI?

16 A End of August 2023.

17 Q So, between -- just doing the math, you spent a total of 27 years with the 18 FBI. Is that right?

19 A That's correct.

20 Q And, just holistically, the vast majority of your time with the Bureau was

21 spent protecting our country from terrorism, doing counterterrorism work, and then

22 protecting children. Is that right?

23 A That's correct.

24 Q Are you proud of your work that you did with the Bureau?

25 A Absolutely.

1 Q Why?

2 A Felt like it made a difference. I can point to victims that I made a difference

3 to, you know. It's the victims who you're looking at and the people that you put

4 behind -- in jail. You prosecute. You know you did the right thing at the end of the 5 day, protecting American -- American public.

6 Some of the counterterrorism cases, there are some very bad people that were

7 put away that didn't do harm to the United States. And also people that I put away, sex

8 offenders, hands-on offenders, CSAM producers.

9 Q I'm sorry. I hate to say this for the record, but CSAM is child sexual abuse

10 material, correct?

11 A Correct. They're not doing that anymore. There were a couple times I

12 identified a victim that the family didn't even know that person was a victim, so got them

13 help. So just got chills actually thinking about it. You know, a 13-year-old girl who was 14 abused at 9 years old; never told her parents or her parents didn't believe her.

15 Q You talked earlier that you received the Attorney General's Award, I think

16 you said, twice?

17 A Yeah. When I was on the Crimes Against Children squad, I also -- in 2015

18 and '16, I also got the Attorney General's Award.

19 Q And what was that award for?

20 A It was a special technique that our squad put together that was -- we were

21 using a special technique, sensitive technique that is being used now throughout all 56

22 field offices. We were the first field office that implemented it. And it literally took 23 hands-on offenders off the street.

24 Q And then you received the counterterrorism agent of the year award for 25 New York, correct?

1 A Yeah. I think it was the [inaudible] agent -- award, yeah, in 2005.

2 Q So you twice received the highest award that the department gives to

3 investigators, and you were named counterterrorism agent of the year for New York,

4 correct?

5 A That's correct.

6 Q Were there any other awards that you received?

7 A A bunch of U.S. Attorney awards, merit awards, things like that. Yeah.

8 Other awards, yes, from the attorney -- U.S. Attorney's Office.

9 Q Thank you. I want to move on. I want to return, actually, to what's been

10 marked as exhibit 3, which is the Empower Oversight letter. I think you still have that in 11 front of you.

12 A Yes, I do.

13 Q You were asked about -- there we go. You were asked about the 14 allegations in here about Ms. Perkins.

15 Do you recall that line of questioning in the earlier hour?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And you were asked specifically about the allegation about Ms. Perkins

18 being -- that she was not -- was not well-liked, for lack of a better word?

19 A Not well-liked, and I believe misunderstood.

20 Q Misunderstood, okay. And you used the phrase that she wanted to hold

21 people accountable.

22 A Yes.

23 Q Do you recall saying that?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And I want to just get clarity for the record on what you meant by that.

1 When you said she wanted to hold people accountable, you meant people in
2 section D; so her reports, correct?
3 A That's correct.
4 Q And can you explain again for the record what you meant by that?
5 A Yeah. I mean, so some -- some of the cases moved fast and quick and we
6 needed answers. For instance, I'll give you one example. One of the SSAs, [redacted]
7 [redacted] (ph), wasn't -- wasn't doing what Dena wanted for her to do, call different police
8 departments and get information related to why this guy had, like, 11 or 13 inquiries
9 related to ATF checks. There was -- there was an issue with this guy in an office making
10 people -- making threats and talked about weapons. And she said we need to talk -- we 11 did an offline NCIC check, and it didn't give any details. So you actually had to call the 12 police departments.
13 So she asked [redacted] and her team to do it. And the next day she asks me, as the 14 acting unit chief, if it was done, and I got to find out if it was done. And I find out [redacted]
15 called in sick. So Dena went really -- was really upset about this. Because you have a 16 field office that's concerned about an employee who is talking about weapons and 17 making threats or people felt threatened. I don't know if he was making threats. And 18 the SSA didn't do what she was supposed to do and hadn't even really started it.
19 So -- and you're talking about 24 hours later. So myself and the investigator had 20 to make those calls, and even Dena made the calls. She was calling the police
21 department. So things like that really would irk Dena. It would irk me as well.
22 So there was accountability, and some people had kind of a laissez-faire attitude
23 with it, like, "Yeah, I'll get that tomorrow." And, "No, it was asked for you to get to it 24 today." So she'd hold people responsible for that and accountable.
25 Q Do you think that Ms. Perkins put inappropriate pressure on staffers to get

1 things done?

2 A I can only say for me. I don't want to talk about others.

3 Q Understood.

4 A I came from a high pressure cooker in New York in counterterrorism, so I

5 have a high threshold. I didn't feel that with her. I felt it was my due diligence, and I

6 was going to give strong effort.

7 Did she have sometimes stress? She was stressed. She -- if I had 300 cases, she

8 had 700 cases. She was over the section; I was over a unit. I think sometimes she

9 wanted answers yesterday as opposed to today, but I didn't take it where she gave undue

10 pressure.

11 Q Right.

12 A I will say, subjectively, some people couldn't take that.

13 Q Just turning to the example you gave of wanting the calls to be made within

14 24 hours or wanting things to be done quickly, do you think it was inappropriate for her

15 to want investigative steps to be taken quickly or efficiently?

16 A No.

17 Q Why do you say that?

18 A Dena was very thorough. Again, she didn't intimidate me as far as her work

19 ethic. I think her work ethic -- as I said before, she's misunderstood. Her work

20 ethic -- she worked harder than -- I would put myself up against 95 percent people in 21 outworking. I couldn't outwork her. She was a worker.

22 And I think she pushed that off on people, and people -- some other people just

23 could not take that, so --

24 Q Looking specifically at wanting investigative steps to be taken efficiently, I

25 think you said in the earlier hour that, you know, people's lives are -- or people's jobs

1 were in the balance here or people's work ability was in the balance --

2 A Yes.

3 Q -- do you think that that was part of the reason that Ms. Perkins was

4 encouraging -- encouraging the SecD employees to work as efficiently as possible to do

5 these investigative steps in a timely manner?

6 A Yes. She also would err on the side of caution regarding national security.

7 That was a big thing with her. She would tell us all, you know, we -- we're all for this

8 security clearance, and -- but not everyone should have one because of the risks to the 9 organization. So she was concerned about that as well.

10 Q Looking at page 5, that first full paragraph that [redacted] read out to you,

11 the second sentence there, "Perkins and Veltri would frequently make initial judgments

12 about cases based on their own prejudices, then would refuse to move from their first

13 impressions regardless of what facts and investigation uncovered."

14 Looking at -- I just want to take that clause by clause. So that very first clause,

15 "Perkins and Veltri would frequently make initial judgments about cases based on their 16 own prejudices," is that consistent with your experience with Ms. Perkins?

17 A No.

18 Q Is that consistent with your experience with Mr. Veltri?

19 A Let me caveat, my -- my one-on-one with Veltri was very limited.

20 Q Okay. But, in the limited one-on-one that you had, did you experience

21 that?

22 A His prejudices. No. But he was a very convicted, strong-willed person,

23 which also, again, intimidated people. But he -- I never saw that personally.

24 Q You never witnessed him expressing prejudices?

25 A No.

1 Q And then the sentence continues that Perkins and Veltri would refuse to
2 move from their first impressions regardless of what facts and investigation uncovered.
3 Is that consistent with your experience with Ms. Perkins?
4 A So my specific experience, it's not. I can actually point to cases where she
5 asked me to get a suspension ready for somebody, I would ask her -- and same with Jeff.
6 Q Sorry. Jeff Veltri?
7 A Jeff Veltri. Apologize.
8 And the initial request for suspension paperwork to be drawn up off the allegation
9 that came in, I would ask them for -- and they respected my opinion. And I would ask
10 them for, hey, can you give me seven days, can you give me five days. I need to be a 11 factfinder. I need to do some interviews, I need to collect some data points, I need to 12 collect some facts.
13 And never did I -- for me -- I can't speak about anyone else, but never was I
14 involved in a case where I came back and said, hey, what came in -- and this is factual on 15 two cases. What came in isn't what happened. This is what happened. And we 16 didn't talk about suspension paperwork after that, so --
17 Q So, in other words, in at least two cases that you can recall sitting here
18 today, you presented the facts to Ms. Perkins?
19 A Ms. Perkins. And then one other with Ms. Perkins and Mr. Veltri.
20 Q And they did change their positions, or they did accept your 21 recommendation to not pursue the case?
22 A Correct.
23 Q Okay.
24 A Maybe three cases that I can think of right off the top of my head.
25 Q The second full paragraph on this page references Acting SC Perkins would

1 often direct SIIS staff to take particular actions, such as making specific edits to electronic
2 communications on suspension and revocation before they were allowed to proceed up
3 the chain to the executive assistant director for issuance?
4 A Yeah.
5 Q You noted in the earlier hour that these electronic communications went 6 through many rounds of editing?
7 A Yes.
8 Q In your opinion, was it concerning that they went through many rounds of 9 editing, or was that a good thing?
10 A That's the process. I don't make the process. That's the process when I
11 got there; that's the process that was -- and that's the way it was done.
12 Q Did you find anything inappropriate in Acting SC Perkins making edits or 13 directing staff to make edits?
14 A I made edits. I directed staff to make edits. It's appropriate. Never did I
15 see that I ever witnessed that facts were asked to be changed --
16 Q Okay.
17 A -- or documents, factual documents be changed. But edits are part of all
18 our lives. It happens.
19 Q And was -- the process that you referred to, is it fair to say that the editing
20 process was designed to make the electronic communication as accurate as possible?
21 A The case -- again, I'm talking specifically about me. I can't talk about 22 others. But ones I was involved in, yes.
23 I can't point to a case where I feel that I signed something where I felt like at the 24 time -- at the time that was factually incorrect because somebody above me changed it.
25 I wouldn't sign it.

1 And I point to what I gave before as an example. My lawyer is going to tell me to
2 stay on point here. But the Washington Field Office, I did not feel comfortable signing
3 an affidavit that a U.S. attorney in D.C. changed regarding a January 6th case, and I
4 refused to sign it. I refused to sign it.
5 Q Did you face any retaliation for refusing to sign it?
6 A They found somebody else.
7 Q But you were never -- you weren't demoted or anything like that for that?
8 A At that point I had, like, 25 years in, and I was respected.
9 Q Okay. So there were no actions taken?
10 A I let my -- I let my supervisor know that, you know, he may -- they may get a 11 call, but nothing ever happened.
12 Q Okay.
13 A And I did it very politely. I did it very professionally.
14 Q The -- you mentioned in the earlier hour that you were familiar with the 15 whistleblower who submitted this --
16 A Yes.
17 Q -- case?
18 And you said your -- that, in your opinion, this individual was very lazy and had a 19 poor reputation. Those were the words you used. Do you recall saying that?
20 A That's my opinion, yes.
21 Q Can you explain why you said that?
22 A He was a big shoulder-shrug guy, [redacted]. He would -- so I was a supervisor
23 with him. Mike Smith was our unit chief. I'd be like just -- going to give you a couple
24 examples real quick here. "Hey, Mike. Where is [redacted] today?" "Oh, he's here." "No, 25 he's not." And then we find out he's in New Haven logged on, and he doesn't tell anybody he's out of SecD. He's up in New Haven.

So he just did his own thing. He kind of like flowed in on a cloud. Just really just -- I felt like there was something missing with him, honestly, upstairs.

He did not like Dena Perkins. He would have conversations with me. He did not like Dena Perkins within the first 30 days of getting to SecD. It was very odd for me, and I remember thinking about this. This guy just got here, and he hates her. He actually would talk about it. And he was scared of her. And I don't know where he got that from.

But, just to give you an example of something personally that I dealt with, when I became acting unit chief and myself, [redacted] we were in a room together, and they were, like, "Who wants to be the acting unit chief? Mike is leaving." "Hey, we vote on Sean." I was like, "I'll do it, guys, if you want me to do," right? And then Dena Perkins asked if I could do it.

But, when I became the acting, [redacted] -- I saw part of [redacted] -- because I didn't deal with him every day. I wasn't his unit chief until March of 2023. He didn't articulate anything. He at the point had probably -- I said before, when the cases came in, we would assign them. And, when I became the unit chief, I assigned them to the supervisor. I wanted to know what was coming in.

[redacted] would sit on cases as supervisor. He wouldn't assign them out to investigators. I don't even know how many cases he would have. He would hold these cases, not work them. And then I noticed he started doing cases on his own as a supervisor. He was the third serial in the case. Like, the first serial was the opening. The second serial might be some checks that CREU does. The third serial is kind of maybe what we're getting into with the CIU folks.

The third serial is like a 302 where [redacted] is interviewing the subject employee by

1 himself, and it's like two paragraphs. The first paragraph is the preamble, and the
2 second paragraph was, like, three lines. And I'd call him in and be, like, [redacted], you can't
3 interview this person by yourself. And, second of all, you didn't even ask them about 4 the allegations. What is this? This is, like, garbage." I'd try to help him.
5 And he would shoulder shrug. He was a big shoulder-shrug, nonverbal. He just 6 didn't articulate. And I was in meetings with him and Dena, when Dena would be, like,
7 [redacted] is everything okay? Like, can you explain yourself? Why are you not working this
8 case? Why are you not going forward with it?"
9 And he would just be like -- and for the record, I'm shoulder shaking. He 10 wouldn't say anything. He'd literally sit there like a child. It was very uncomfortable.
11 And I remember, at one point, I went to talk with him, and he just got up and left
12 and disappeared for 3 hours. He would disappear for -- I was in an acting role. I wasn't 13 looking to hurt anyone. I was looking to retire, right?
14 He just -- he -- he wasn't a worker. He was disgruntled. I believe he had an 15 OPR on him at the point. I think he threatened some employee in the elevator. Again,
16 I -- that's hearsay for me.
17 Q Sorry. OPR is an OPR investigation?
18 A Unit inspection investigation, and I think he was sent to OPR.
19 Q So it's a misconduct investigation?
20 A Misconduct. I think he -- supposedly, I heard he threatened somebody
21 with his weapon on an elevator, another SecD employee.
22 I will tell you personally I had a private conversation with Dena about him, and she 23 told me, "We're concerned. Beidler, myself, we're concerned about him. There's 24 something going on with him. Is everything right at home?" And I'm like, "I don't 25 know him that well. I don't know. I know he's got two girls."

1 I'm going on a little bit of a tangent here, but we were concerned about him
2 personally because something was going off the rail -- off the rails with him, not just work.
3 He was a terrible -- he turned out to be a terrible writer. He was a terrible investigator.
4 He was lazy. He cut corners. He wasn't disseminating cases. He wasn't working 5 cases.
6 Julia Arseni (ph) was the CREU intake supervisor. Julie came over to me a few
7 times and said, "You got to stop [redacted] from coming into my office. He's coming down
8 every time we assign a case and says, 'This is stupid. Why are we opening this case?'"
9 It wasn't Tim's say.
10 So I had conversations one-on-one with [redacted] and said, "[redacted], instead of fighting if 11 this case should have been opened or not, just do the -- do the bare minimum. Do a 12 couple interviews, do a couple checks, and then make a recommendation to 13 management, to me, to Dena, to close it and base it off of facts; be able to articulate."
14 And he just wouldn't do it. He just wouldn't do it.
15 So they ended up -- and I was -- I wasn't the one part of this, but Dena told me
16 they were going to move [redacted] over to CAU because they were worried about him, and it
17 was a slower pace. CAU was a way slower pace. The adjudication process was much
18 slower. You basically read like a lawyer, and you make determinations. You basically 19 rewrite somebody else's product. It's a lot slower pace.
20 And that's why -- my understanding is why they moved him over to CAU. But he 21 just -- he was a guy that had no gas. He had no drive, and he couldn't explain himself.
22 Q That was a lot, and I want to unpack some of it.
23 A Yes. Apologize.
24 Q You referenced situations in which this individual would interview subjects
25 by himself?

1 A By himself.

2 Q Is that a violation of policy or process?

3 A I don't have policy in front of me, but it's -- from day one, when you become

4 an agent, you never -- you never interview a subject or subject -- in this case subject

5 employee. I hate to call employees subjects.

6 Q I understand.

7 A Subject employee. You don't interview subjects by yourself, never.

8 Q Why is that?

9 A It's a he said/she said. You want a witness. You want somebody to take

10 notes. You want somebody to take the lead. Maybe your partner has additional 11 information to ask. You want a witness. You never want a he said/she said.

12 Q You said that this individual would sit on cases?

13 A Yes.

14 Q What did you mean by sit --

15 A He wouldn't assign them out. He wouldn't assign them out.

16 In one case, there was a guy up in Boston, Dena asked us to suspend him. And

17 he sat on it. And I ended up, as the acting unit chief, had to get involved it. I said,

18 "Why are you sitting on it? She wants a suspension." I didn't know a lot about the 19 case. Then I had to start reading the case as a unit chief. I had my own caseload.

20 And he just -- basic stuff wasn't done, interviews, nothing, you know -- so I got him

21 involved. And I said, "You don't want to suspend this person; let's go down and 22 articulate why. Give her reasons." And, after some interviews and after some data

23 pulls, whatever, we went down and explained to her why, after three weeks, she didn't

24 have a suspension. And she said fine.

25 Q She accepted it then?

1 A She accepted it.

2 Q In the earlier hour, there was some discussion about cases taking a long time

3 to go through SecD, that there was a long timeline for the resolution of some cases?

4 A Correct.

5 Q Would somebody like this individual sitting on cases, not processing them,

6 not moving them forward, that would contribute to such a delay, correct?

7 A Yes.

8 Q You said that he started doing cases on his own. He was a supervisor,

9 correct?

10 A He was a supervisor. 14.

11 Q Would supervisors typically do cases on their own?

12 A Not on their own. Now, there were cases I jumped in because they were 13 high priority or they had to get done, but I always had an investigator with me.

14 Q And why do supervisors not do them on their own, generally?

15 A Because you're a supervisor. You're supervising four to six people or more.

16 You have hundreds of cases, maybe upwards of 150 to 200 cases you have oversight over.

17 You don't have time to be doing cases. You don't have time to be writing 302s. And 18 it's just -- it's very time-consuming.

19 Q So, in other words, that could also hold up the processing of cases?

20 A Absolutely, yes.

21 Q Okay. Or delay the processing of cases?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Okay. You said that this individual -- I think your words were he was a 24 terrible writer. Can you explain what you meant by that?

25 A He was a lazy writer. I don't know what he did before SecD. Maybe he

1 was an author. I have no idea.

2 But what I saw, he -- he wasn't putting effort in. And even documents he would

3 be reviewing for his investigators, when it would come up to my level, there was just

4 things that were just incorrect, misspellings, just lazy, just lazy. So --

5 Q And, again, what he was -- the documents that would come up would be, for 6 example, electronic communications or evaluations of subject employees, correct?

7 A Yes, for the most part.

8 Q And so, if there were incorrect facts in there or missing facts, for example,

9 that means that a subject employee whose case is being evaluated might not be

10 evaluated fairly or might not be evaluated with all the facts?

11 A There are a lot of facts missing when he would do a case.

12 Q Okay.

13 A I would -- he would be one of the last people that I've dealt with in my 27

14 years that I want to work a case. He just cut corners all the time.

15 Q Are you able to provide any examples?

16 A Not specifically, but I just recall, like, his 302s, and then the next serial would

17 come up, and he'd want to close a case. I'm like, "Dude, you can't close a case. Like,

18 you didn't pull the ESOC data, or you didn't, like, do any other interviews. You never 19 interviewed the subject employee. You didn't even ask them about the allegation.

20 You, like, brushed over it."

21 "This case is stupid. We shouldn't be working it."

22 "Okay. I get it. All right. You think it's stupid and you shouldn't be working it.

23 You need to do a little more. Just do a little more." I was, like, supportive of it. I

24 wasn't necessarily saying that the case had to be opened and this guy -- you know, the 25 person needed to be suspended.

1 Like I said, it didn't happen -- actually, suspensions happened very infrequently.
2 But he just, you know -- and then when I became the acting, it was almost like he just,
3 you know, turned me off, honestly. He just -- I don't know.
4 Q And you said he was a terrible investigator as well?
5 A What I saw. I don't know what he did before SecD.
6 Q Understood. But based on what you saw, he was a --
7 A He had a bad attitude. He had a really bad attitude, and I tried to correct
8 that.
9 Q How did you try to correct that?
10 A I would talk with him. Again, "Okay, I understand you don't want to work
11 this, or I understand you -- you know, Dena is asking for a suspension based off the 12 allegations that came in. It doesn't look good, but why don't you want to draw up the 13 paper."
14 "Oh, this is stupid. This guy didn't do this."
15 "How do you know that? You haven't done any interviews; you haven't done
16 any investigations. Get your investigator on it. If you want, get involved in it."
17 He just fought everything. Things that you -- that should be easy, he fought.
18 He made things harder for himself.
19 Q So, when you say he had a bad attitude, is that what you're referring to?
20 A Yes.
21 Q But, according to the letter, exhibit 3 letter --
22 A Yes.
23 Q -- this individual was ultimately suspended himself; are you aware of that?
24 A Only -- only -- yes, I am, yes.
25 Q And are you familiar with the circumstances or the reasons for which he was

1 suspended?

2 A Just hearsay matters. Friends in the unit. But I was not involved in the 3 investigation. I wasn't aware that an investigation was opened on him.

4 Q Okay.

5 A And he was suspended after I retired.

6 Q Okay. The Rules of Evidence don't apply here. So I am going to ask you

7 for the hearsay just to help us evaluate.

8 A Sure.

9 Q So what -- what is your understanding of why he was suspended?

10 A Disclosure of internal information, taking photos of secret enclave

11 information, somehow getting it to the media.

12 Q What's secret enclave information?

13 A So FBINet, we have a secret side, computers.

14 I believe what I heard -- again, this is just what I heard, is that he was taking

15 pictures of his screen and -- about -- about stuff like yoga or something. I think it was in 16 here. Maybe I read it from here. That was just one thing.

17 Then I heard that -- that he wasn't factual in his interview and --

18 Q His suspension interview or his interview with SecD?

19 A Correct.

20 Q So, in other words, he --

21 A But I don't know what he wasn't factual about, what he lied about. I

22 don't -- I don't have that information. I just heard it wasn't truthful.

23 And then -- and then I heard just discussion amongst old colleagues in this

24 Empower Oversight, his lawyer or whoever wrote this, states that he passed a polygraph.

25 I heard he did not pass his polygraph. He failed miserably.

1 Q So, from what -- your understanding is that this letter then is not accurate?

2 A There are things in here that I could pick apart, yes.

3 Q Are there any other items that you're going to point to that you believe are 4 inaccurate?

5 A I'd have to go through it.

6 Q Okay. I can give you some time to go through it. We have -- actually, I

7 could ask you to go through it at the next break, too.

8 A Okay.

9 [redacted]. Okay. We can go off the record.

10 [Recess.]

11 [redacted]. We'll go back on the record. It's 11:59 a.m.

12 Mr. Clark, I want to start by entering exhibit No. 4, which will be November 10,

13 2023, article titled "FBI Accused of Targeting Trump Types; Agents Who Served in Military 14 Deemed Disloyal."

15 [Clark Exhibit No. 4

16 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q I'll give you time to review.

3 A I'm aware of this article. Thank you.

4 Q Okay. And the -- I'll refer to the specific page numbers. They're on the -- I

5 believe the bottom left there. It says 1 through 12, but you probably only have 1

6 through 8 because the rest were advertisements. So we didn't print those.

7 But I'll draw your attention to page 2, and I'm going to start with, "The

8 whistleblowers said Jeffrey Veltri." "The whistleblowers said Jeffrey Veltri, deputy

9 assistant director of the Bureau's Security Division, and Dena Perkins, assistant section

10 chief, specifically pursued employees who served in the Marine Corps or other military

11 branches. They stripped the agents of security clearances, which sidelined them on the 12 job and pushed them toward the exit, according to the disclosures. The whistleblower

13 disclosures say Mr. Veltri and Ms. Perkins either declared or attempted to declare the 14 Marine and other veterans as, quote, 'disloyal to the United States of America,' end

15 quote."

16 Did anyone ever raise concerns to you as either SSA or acting unit chief regarding 17 this type of activity occurring?

18 A Activity occurring as far as focusing on military?

19 Q Correct.

20 A No. This is -- this article completely caught me off guard. Never -- never 21 witnessed this.

22 Q Okay. And what part of the allegations in this letter specifically regarding 23 Mr. Veltri and Ms. Perkins going after military veterans caught you off guard?

24 A Just people categorizing military veterans. We -- the Bureau -- I don't even 25 know -- probably 30, 40 percent, I'm guessing, probably military veterans. Just by pure

1 numbers, if that's the case, our suspensions in cases would have gone up.

2 But, for the record, Dena Perkins was in the Marines. So -- my father was a

3 Marine. So never did I see them going after just because somebody was in the military.

4 Never, no. That's false.

5 Q Did anyone who reported directly to you as either SSA or acting unit chief,

6 did anyone ever come to you with these types of concerns?

7 A About military?

8 Q Correct. About these specific allegations.

9 A Never.

10 Q Never?

11 A Never.

12 Q And, going down on the same page, it says, "In these cases, there was no

13 indication that any of the individuals had any affiliation to a foreign power or held any 14 belief against the United States, it said." "It" meaning the -- the disclosure.

15 I know the cases aren't specifically mentioned in here, but just wondering if you

16 are aware of any -- any sorts of cases that this is referring to?

17 A It's so hard. It's such a vague -- it's general sense. I mean, I would think

18 maybe Alan is the case that they're referring to because he was a Marine, I guess. And

19 affiliation to a foreign power, I think, one of the things that he was suspended on was a

20 guideline for allegiance to the United States.

21 But that's the only case I can maybe think of that this would relate to. But,

22 again, this is a very, very vague and general statement.

23 Q And, in the course of your interactions with Ms. Perkins, I know when you

24 became acting unit chief, you said it was daily interactions, and Mr. Veltri it was a little bit

25 more irregular.

1 Can you think of anything that would lead people to believe that they were
2 targeting veterans?
3 A Absolutely not. And I actually worked a case where a veteran is 4 supposedly -- allegation came in and that he beat his wife. They wanted him suspended,
5 Veltri and Dena and everybody, Beidler; everybody wanted him suspended.
6 And I said, "Give me a week." And came back, and it turned out the agent
7 was -- I proved with police cameras and interviews that we did, and I was personally
8 involved in it, personally involved with the subject employee, that it was his wife that was 9 beating him, and he was a veteran. Nothing ever came up about him being a veteran.
10 In fact -- yeah. It never came up, and they wanted him suspended based off the 11 allegation that we proved the actual opposite. So, if this was true, they would have 12 been blinded by his being part of DOD, which they weren't.
13 I never -- let me just state -- and I know you're getting at. This article completely
14 caught me off guard. It's honestly -- and we can go line by line. It's garbage. This 15 article is garbage.
16 And I'm here and telling you on the record, I have no knowledge and no
17 awareness that anybody was ever gone after because they were a veteran. Dena
18 Perkins was a veteran. My father was a veteran. I would not have tolerated that.
19 Never happened. So --
20 Q And, looking at page 3 of the article, the very top paragraph, it says, "Other
21 signs that an employee was a, quote, 'rightwing radical and disloyal to the United States,'
22 end quote, according to Ms. Perkins and Mr. Veltri, were failure to wear a face mask,
23 refusing to take the COVID-19 vaccination, and participating in religious activities."
24 When you were SSA and acting unit chief, did anyone come to you to disclose 25 similar concerns?

1 A No. In fact, we were told not to ask about the COVID-19 vaccination when I
2 was -- when I was there.
3 Q Okay.
4 A I can't remember who. Maybe ODC gave us that guideline. I'm not sure.
5 But, if somebody is reporting this, I was not present for it.
6 Q Okay. And why were you told not to ask about the COVID-19 vaccination?
7 A Because we weren't basing our security clearances on that. We were
8 not -- couldn't suspend somebody because they were refusing to take the COVID-19.
9 I think it was kind of being worked out through the administration. So it was just 10 something that we were -- we weren't going to touch.
11 Q Okay.
12 [redacted]. And I'll mark as exhibit No. 5 -- it's a document that was released
13 through the Freedom of Information Act and posted publicly online.
14 [Clark Exhibit No. 5
15 was marked for identification.]
16 The Witness. Yep.
17 BY [redacted]:
18 Q The title of the document is "FBI Security Division, Security Integrity and 19 Investigations Section/Clearance Investigations Unit. And I'm not going to ask you about 20 the content that's in here. I'm just going to look at the specific questions in here.
21 A Okay.
22 Q Have you ever seen this document before?
23 A Last week, I think, in the New York Post or something, yes. That was the 24 first time I saw that.
25 Q Okay.

1 A Saw this.

2 Q And the document for when it was used was April 2022. Were you with

3 the SIIS still in April 2022?

4 A I was, yes.

5 Q And what was your role at that point in time?

6 A April 2022, I was a supervisor.

7 Q Okay.

8 A SSA.

9 Q Was that still when you were the only SSA there, or had the other SSAs come

10 in at that point in time?

11 A That was probably right around the time -- we're probably right on the line

12 whether or not I was there or somebody came in. We're right there. I mean, that's 13 probably -- I'm not sure. You're probably talking about days or weeks right there.

14 Q And this document has been represented to us as a questionnaire that's 15 used in interviews of colleagues of an individual whose security clearance is under review.

16 Did you ever use a similar form when you would conduct these interviews or your

17 team would conduct the interviews?

18 A Well, you say "interviews," were there other interviews, or is it one

19 interview?

20 Q Just -- I'm talking in general. When you would conduct interviews of

21 colleagues -- of individuals whose clearance was under review by the SIIS, would you use

22 some sort of similar form or a standard questionnaire that you would go through?

23 A Me personally or investigators that worked for me?

24 Q Both.

25 A For me, no. So, just for the record, this is not an official FBI document.

1 This is something that a contractor --

2 Q Okay.

3 A -- created. He used the nice headers and whatnot. I've never seen this

4 before. It's not an official document.

5 Second, it varied. So there were some very senior RSP, for instance -- this is

6 nothing against the contractors, but I saw a difference between the FBI personnel retirees

7 and the contractors. There's some very good contractors.

8 But, for the most part, the FBI agents retired as RSPs didn't have to write all their

9 questions up, right? Maybe, like, some ideas or whatever, and they'd go in there and

10 kind of -- I don't want to say ad lib, but they would know how to roll with the questions

11 and -- right? And that's how I operated. I didn't write my questions.

12 Q Uh-huh.

13 A But I knew topics that I was going to come up with, right?

14 This individual, I know who this individual is. He -- I believe -- I think he was, like,

15 his or something, a contractor. He was a very thorough guy.

16 And there was one or two contractors. And I would say to them, "Why do you

17 guys write all your questions out?" Again, I never saw this before, but -- I think that's

18 what he was doing. I think he was just writing his questions out. But I don't

19 remember -- I don't recall seeing this.

20 Q Okay. And the contractor who created this document, did he report

21 directly to you?

22 A Again, I don't know if I was the only one there or not. If I was the only one

23 there, then he would have.

24 Q Okay.

25 A But I will say before coming here, to be transparent, I was able to review and

1 talk to some folks over in Congressional Affairs in the FBI. I guess they did an audit of 2 FBI SecD related to this, and they said I did not sign this document. This document was 3 signed into the file by Unit Chief Michael Smith.
4 Q Okay.
5 A So I've never seen this before.
6 Q And, understanding that you've never seen it before, there were questions
7 included in the questionnaire of whether the individual vocalized support for President
8 Trump, whether the individual objected to the COVID-19 vaccination.
9 A Right.
10 Q And I know you just said that you were not supposed to ask about the 11 COVID-19 vaccination or get into that because that wasn't a valid basis to revoke
12 someone's clearance.
13 So I'm just wondering, when you saw this, did it surprise you that those questions
14 were included?
15 A Yes. But I know the individual that did this. Yes, I am surprised, and he
16 should have not asked that, absolutely not. But he's the type of person -- and, again, I
17 can -- I can give you his name. It's Roger Aarons (ph). I believe it's Roger Aarons (ph).
18 He's a very thorough guy.
19 I never talk politics with him. I don't know where he stands on this matter. It's 20 not like he was -- I don't think he was coming after Trump or COVID folks.
21 But he's the type of guy, just in my mind, my opinion, working with him for 2
22 years, he was trying to bound the boundaries of his questions and trying to maybe assess 23 who this person was.
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A Right or wrong, which this case I think was wrong; he shouldn't have had

1 questions like this. But I -- you'd have to ask him what his mindset was, but that's my
2 opinion. But he shouldn't have had these.
3 Vocalize your support for President Trump? I mean, again, an agent for 20-plus
4 years, Bureau 27 years, I mean, I can't remember any time I was with anybody, said on an
5 interview, "Vocalize your support -- you know, what's your support for President X."
6 Never heard of that before.
7 So I don't know. You'd have to ask him, but I'm just going off of what they told 8 me. I wasn't -- I didn't sign these.
9 I will caveat one thing. Michael Smith, the unit chief, is a good guy.
10 Hopefully -- hopefully, my former colleagues down the table will understand this is, if 11 these were attached to a 302 -- I don't want to fault Mike for submitting this into the file.
12 I'm not here to defend Mike, but Mike was probably reviewing the 302. He probably 13 was seeing if the attachment was there as far as the notes. But we had such volume, I
14 don't know if Mike would have gone in and, like, looked at the guy's notes. You know
15 what I'm saying?
16 I'm just being honest. So did Mike approve this? Yeah. But I'm sure Mike 17 would have had an issue with this as well if he saw this.

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q Okay.

5 And if we can go back to exhibit No. 3, which is the June 28th letter --

6 A June 28th letter. Sorry, which one? Oh. Okay.

7 Q And it's page 5.

8 A Sure.

9 Q Kind of in this same vein, I'm looking at the -- it won't be the sentence that I

10 read, but I'm looking at the paragraph that starts with "SSA Client disclosed to UC

11 [redacted]."

12 It says, "... his concerns about these issues, and eventually found that a large

13 number of SecD employees also had concerns about its operations. Because of the 14 influence of acting DAD Veltri and acting SC Perkins, it was very common when SSA Client

15 arrived in SecD for investigators to ask inappropriate questions of the sort we recently

16 referred to your office for investigation" -- which is in reference to the 17 questionnaire -- "such as whether employees under investigation had vocalized support

18 for former President Donald Trump or whether they had vocalized objection to the 19 COVID-19 vaccine."

20 A Okay.

21 Q During your tenure as SSA and acting unit chief, did anyone who reported

22 directly to you raise concerns about questions of this nature being asked?

23 A Well, I think what they talk about here is Unit Chief Michael Smith, not me.

24 Q Uh-huh.

25 A No. Again, if I knew people were talking about specifically questions about

1 Donald Trump or COVID-19, I would've told them to stay away from that.

2 Like, if the person they're interviewing discusses it and brings it up, that's fair

3 game, right? You're there to hear their opinion and take the information. But we

4 shouldn't be going in there and making this a political thing, right?

5 Q Uh-huh.

6 A I mean, I don't think this investigator was making it political, but, obviously,

7 this is not defensible.

8 Q Uh-huh.

9 A And I can't sit here and defend this.

10 Q So, in your mind, you would agree that these types of questions would be

11 inappropriate questions to ask in an interview?

12 A Yes, absolutely.

13 Q I want to turn and ask questions about a couple of specific adjudications or

14 security clearance investigations for whistleblowers that have come forward --

15 A Okay.

16 Q -- to this committee.

17 And you already mentioned Mr. Allen, so are you familiar with now-former staff

18 operations specialist Marcus Allen?

19 A I'm familiar with him, yes.

20 Q Okay. And were you ever responsible for his security clearance

21 investigation, or did you ever have any involvement in the investigation?

22 A So, again, coming here and discussing with some of the folks, they were able

23 to pull my involvement with the Marcus Allen case.

24 Q Okay.

25 A I was not really involved with the Marcus Allen case. I signed five things to file, per what they said.

Q Uh-huh.

A I'm not a Bureau employee anymore. I can't get into -- just, they gave me five documents they said I signed.

Q Okay.

A Four of them were uploads of emails, right, just things you put into the file.

I think [redacted] was the investigator at the time. I think it was somewhere around December -- probably when I got right back -- probably right when I was in the first month of being an SSA permanent, December of 2022. January -- I think I'm right -- 2023 is when he was suspended.

So four documents that I signed were just uploads of stuff, nothing substantive. I did sign his EC for his suspension in January. I don't --

Q Okay.

A -- know the exact date, January something --

Q Uh-huh.

A -- it was 2023 -- probably because I was the only SSA there.

Q Okay.

A I was the only SSA there. So it was the investigator, then me, and then unit chief, and then all the other folks that I mentioned before, the six, seven layers above me.

That is the only involvement that I had with the Marcus Allen case. I wasn't really familiar with it.

Now, I did sit next to [redacted], [redacted] --

Q I'm sorry. Are you saying [redacted] or [redacted]?

A [redacted], [redacted], [redacted].

Q [redacted]? Okay.

1 A [redacted]. [redacted]. He was the initial investigator. I sat next to him.
2 Q Uh-huh.
3 A But, really, I had no involvement. I wasn't the supervisor.
4 Q Uh-huh.
5 A Mike Smith took this case, one, probably because I was acting; two, the 6 other SSA was leaving, Matt Marlowe (ph). He went back to Richmond. And Mike
7 Smith ended up being point for this case --
8 Q Uh-huh.
9 A -- as SSA and unit chief. I had -- again, I was probably running with the 10 other 300 cases, but --
11 Q Uh-huh.
12 A So Marcus Allen I had very little to do with.
13 Q Okay.
14 And just so we can have a clear record, I'll enter as exhibit No. 6, this is the 15 suspension letter from January 10th, 2022, to Marcus Allen.
16 [Clark Exhibit No. 6
17 was marked for identification.]
18 The Witness. Yeah. I also distributed that to the field office, which was 19 pretty -- via email to the SAC, which is pretty standard. The SSA does that.
20 BY [redacted]:
21 Q Okay.
22 A Thank you.
23 Q And I'll give you a second to review if you need to review --
24 A Okay, thank you.
25 Q -- and then we can start in.

1 A Yeah.

2 Q Okay. So you said that you were responsible for sending this over to the 3 SAC of the Charlotte Field Office. Is that correct?

4 A Yeah. Once Jen Moore signs it, it comes back to us with a signature.

5 And then the SSA over the team -- at the time, I was the only SSA -- sends a

6 canned email to the field and says, you know, this shall be, you

7 know -- whatever -- delivered to the employee. Usually they know it's coming.

8 Q Okay.

9 And had you had any conversations with the SAC or anyone in the Charlotte Field

10 Office --

11 A No.

12 Q -- regarding Mr. Allen's case?

13 A I mean, I don't want to say -- so, if I did, it would've only been maybe the 14 CSO, the chief security officer, who we usually dealt with for presentation delivery

15 process.

16 Q Uh-huh.

17 A But I never had any -- I can tell you, I never had any conversations with 18 anybody in Charlotte related to this case, substantively.

19 Q Uh-huh.

20 A If I did, it would've been process. "Hey, here it is. Management wants 21 you to deliver it to him tomorrow."

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A I -- I don't know. I don't know if that even happened, but I'm making a 24 guess.

25 Q Okay.

1 And at the time that you -- I believe you said you signed the EC for the suspension.
2 A As one of, like, eight or nine signatures, yes.
3 Q Uh-huh. What was your understanding of what the allegations were 4 against Mr. Allen at that time?
5 A I didn't review -- I didn't review it, coming over here. It's been 3 years.
6 Q Uh-huh.
7 A But I guess it was based off of allegiance. And I just -- I just remember
8 [redacted] being against that.
9 Q Being against the suspension?
10 A The allegiant part. He thought --
11 Q Okay.
12 A He thought Allen could've been suspended because of personal conduct.
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A But, again, I don't have the substance. I don't -- I can't sit here and give you 15 an honest answer about why and why not.
16 Q Uh-huh.
17 A I just can't. I wasn't involved with the case.
18 Q Did you have any conversations with [redacted] regarding the Allen case
19 and why he disagreed with the inclusion of the allegiance piece in this letter?
20 A Again, I think he could see it -- I think at the end he said, I could see it as a
21 personal conduct issue but not an allegiance issue. I think he was basing it off of some 22 of the information that he reviewed that I never reviewed.
23 I think he felt uncomfortable signing the document, but his SSA at the time was 24 Matt Marlowe. And Mike Smith was the unit chief.
25 Q Uh-huh.

1 A So I was more somebody sitting next to him, not in the file, maybe listening
2 to him, maybe listening to him and Matt, but --
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A -- I didn't partake in the case.
5 Q And so, if [redacted], who was -- was he the line investigator on the case?
6 Is that accurate to say?
7 A Yes.
8 Q So, if [redacted] believed that the allegiance piece should not have been 9 included as the reason for suspension of Mr. Allen's clearance, do you know who made
10 that decision?
11 A I think what I was told was, lawyers were involved. They thought there was 12 legal sufficiency. I don't know who.
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A Obviously, management was involved. This was, I'm sure -- I'm trying to 15 think who the AD would be at the time. Was it Jen Moore or Eric (ph) Beidler (ph)? I
16 don't know. I think it was Beidler (ph). So it had to have been Beidler and the usual
17 folks -- Jeff Veltri, Dena Perkins, Michael Smith, Matt Marlowe (ph)-- the chain --
18 Q Uh-huh.
19 A -- the chain.
20 But I was not -- I was not -- I will tell you, I was not in -- I had a lot of meetings,
21 right? The Bureau has a lot of meetings. I was not in meetings related to this case.
22 Q Okay.
23 A I don't know what happened. I don't know who made the decisions. I
24 don't know who pulled the strings.
25 But, obviously, at the end of the day, there had to be, at the time, at the

1 time -- we love using that word -- but, at the time, legal sufficiency, I would think.
2 Q Uh-huh.
3 A I don't see how people would sign off on something that they didn't think
4 had legal sufficiency. But, again, I was not privy to that.
5 Q When you were signing off on this EC, did it give you pause that the line
6 investigator wasn't comfortable with the inclusion of the allegiance angle, yet you signed
7 off on a version that did include the allegiance angle?
8 A I'm going to tell you, I don't remember.
9 Q Okay.
10 A I don't -- I almost want to tell you, I probably was reviewing it from an 11 editing perspective --
12 Q Uh-huh.
13 A -- but I just don't remember. Honestly, it just -- it wasn't a focus of mine.
14 This case was not a focus of mine. And I'm being honest. I'm not protecting anybody, 15 I'm not trying to hide anything. I just -- I had such a minimal role in this.
16 Q Uh-huh.
17 A And, you know, my signature was on the EC, but I just -- I don't recall the 18 facts. I don't really recall the details behind the facts.
19 Q Uh-huh.
20 A I just can't sit here and give you an honest -- I can give you an honest
21 answer; I just can't give you what my mindset was at the time. I can't. I just don't 22 recall.
23 Q And you said that Unit Chief Mike Smith was the individual who was the 24 supervisor on this case. Is that accurate to say?
25 A That's accurate.

1 Q Did you ever have any conversations with Unit Chief Smith regarding this
2 case as it was ongoing and progressed?
3 A I think the only thing that touched upon this case that I had a conversation
4 with Mike was, when I came back from WFO and I became the supervisor --
5 Q Uh-huh.
6 A -- soon after, [redacted] was taken off the CIU and put to C-R-E-U, CREU.
7 Q Uh-huh.
8 A They put him into a different unit. And I think I had a -- I know I had a
9 conversation with Mike saying -- again, I had a very limited -- I was only here 90 days.
10 Q Uh-huh.
11 A I mean, think about any job that we start. It takes 3 to 6 months to feel 12 comfortable. I wasn't there yet.
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A But I -- my limited exposure to [redacted], I thought he was pretty fair and a good
15 investigator, right? But, again, very limited.
16 So I think I said to Mike, "Mike, we don't have a lot of investigators here."
17 Remember, before, I told you we were short-staffed? You know, at times, we were very 18 short-staffed, as far as investigators and SSAs.
19 And I said, "Mike, why are we -- we need people. You guys are saying we need 20 people. Why are we losing [redacted]?"
21 Q Uh-huh.
22 A And he basically told me that it was a decision by Dena Perkins and 23 management to move him over there. But I don't know why.
24 Q Okay.
25 A I don't know why. I wasn't part of that conversation. And I was told not

1 to bring it up again, and I didn't.

2 Q Who told you not to bring it up again?

3 A Mike. It was a decision made by management.

4 Q Uh-huh.

5 A So I was looking at it from a personnel perspective, like, number-wise. I

6 didn't have the background.

7 I think a lot of this happened when I was back at WFO. There was a gap there.

8 They were working the case, and I came back, and they were talking about suspending

9 him.

10 Q Uh-huh.

11 A And here I am, walking into it.

12 Q Okay.

13 And just to go back to exhibit No. 3, which is the January 28th -- or, excuse me, the 14 June 28th letter, I'm looking at page 6.

15 A Six. Okay.

16 Q And just for brevity's sake, I'm going to kind of jump around on this page, but

17 I'll point to you where I'm looking at.

18 A Okay.

19 Q I'm going to start with the paragraph, the first full paragraph, "The CIU 20 investigator."

21 So it says, "The CIU investigator assigned to the Allen case [redacted] began calling

22 SOS Allen's coworkers on November 17, 2021 to interview them. Every one of the

23 individuals interviewed stated Allen had 'never given...cause to question his allegiance to

24 the US.'"

25 And then if you go down to the paragraph below the inset paragraph and the next

1 paragraph, it says, "On SSA Client's arrival in CIU, he learned that the investigator on the
2 Allen case had ultimately concluded SOS Allen's 'Allegiance to the United States' was not
3 in question and that the suspension of his security clearance was not warranted. Yet
4 acting SC Perkins and acting DAD Veltri pushed for SOS Allen's clearance to be suspended
5 on the theory that Allen's purpose in distributing information within his field office was to
6 absolve January 6, 2021 subjects. Neither Perkins nor Veltri could explain how passing
7 possibly exculpatory information about investigative subjects was improper.
8 Nevertheless, Perkins overruled the initial investigator and reassigned the case to another
9 investigator to move forward with suspending SOS Allen's clearance. In clear retaliation,
10 Perkins transferred the initial investigator to the Intake Unit, a less prestigious assignment
11 than CIU because of its limited investigative responsibilities."
12 And I know you kind of just described --
13 A Yeah.
14 Q -- how [redacted] was moved from CIU to the intake unit, which was CREU.
15 And so I'm just -- does this kind of match your recollection of what happened? He ruled
16 that, you know, allegiance shouldn't be considered and then he was moved to the CREU?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Okay.
19 A And, again, if you look at some of these time periods that are in here, part of 20 that time period I was back at Washington Field Office. I wasn't even present at SecD.
21 Q Uh-huh.
22 A So -- and that's why I'm trying to tell you, I don't have the details. I wasn't
23 privy, I wasn't present.
24 But, yes -- to your question, yes.
25 Q Okay.

1 And then in March 2023, kind of to jump forward a bit, you were named acting
2 unit chief. Is that correct? Does that kind of go with when --
3 A Yeah, I want to say it was -- I want to say it was around March 2023. Yes.
4 Q Okay.
5 And then on May 18th, 2023, our committee held a hearing with various 6 whistleblowers regarding the retaliation they had faced at the FBI. You know, we 7 had -- Mr. Allen, Mr. O'Boyle, and Mr. Friend testified.
8 And, in this letter, it talks about some of the actions that were -- that may have
9 been taken prior to the hearing. And specifically on page 9 of the letter --
10 A Okay.
11 Q -- the second full paragraph under B there on page 9, it says, "SSA Client
12 observed that acting SC Perkins put pressure on CAU for SSA [redacted]'s adjudicative
13 team to revoke SA [redacted]'s and SOS Allen's clearances prior to them testifying before
14 the House Subcommittee on Weaponization on May 18, 2023. Accordingly, SOS Allen's
15 clearance was revoked on May 9, 2023, and SA [redacted]'s was revoked May 17, 2023."
16 Were you involved as acting unit chief in the revocation of Mr. Allen's clearance
17 on May 9th, 2023?
18 A No. A completely different unit, separate. CAU is completely -- as we 19 discussed in the beginning.
20 Q Uh-huh.
21 A No, I had no involvement.
22 Q Did you hear anything, that there was kind of a rush to revoke clearances
23 prior to the hearing? Or is this just something that you learned about reading the 24 letter?
25 A Sometimes you're not sure exactly where the information came from --

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A -- years later. But I know, obviously, reading the letter.

3 Q Uh-huh.

4 A Yeah, I'm going to stick to that.

5 Q Okay.

6 A I don't want to -- yeah, I don't want to -- I don't recall. I don't recall.

7 Occasionally, I might have a conversation with [redacted], who was the CAU unit chief,

8 but I don't remember her saying that you were rushing. So, no.

9 Q Okay.

10 And the night before the hearing, on May 17th, the FBI sent the committee a

11 letter with information regarding, you know, some of the clearance investigations for 12 Mr. Allen and Mr. Friend.

13 Did you receive any outreach from -- the letter was signed by the head of the 14 Office of Congressional Affairs. Did you receive any outreach from them prior to sending 15 that letter?

16 A And what did the letter say?

17 Q We can enter that as an exhibit --

18 A Okay.

19 Q -- if you'd like. It's a longer letter, but it may jog --

20 A I don't want to say I didn't have any --

21 Q -- your memory. Yeah.

22 A Yeah, I don't know.

23 Q So this will be exhibit No. 7. It's a May 17, 2023, letter from 24 Mr. Christopher Dunham to Chairman Jordan.

25 A Okay.

1 [Clark Exhibit No. 7

2 was marked for identification.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q And, like I said, it's a longer letter, but it may jog your memory.

5 A Thank you.

6 And, I'm sorry, so -- okay. They testified May 18th, and this letter --

7 Q Correct.

8 A -- is May -- the day before. Okay.

9 Q It was provided to the committee the night before --

10 A Okay.

11 Q -- and then subsequently immediately leaked to the press.

12 A Of course.

13 Q And the information about Mr. Allen starts on page 7.

14 A Okay. Do you want me to go to page 7?

15 Q I'm not going to ask you any specifics. I'm just wondering if any of this

16 looks familiar.

17 On page 7 of the letter, it talks about Mr. Allen's security clearance suspension,

18 Mr. Allen's security clearance revocation, and some of what was found during the

19 investigation.

20 And so I'm just wondering if your team was asked to provide information or if you

21 remember being asked to provide any information.

22 A I don't -- I don't remember seeing this letter.

23 Q Okay.

24 And prior to the May 18th hearing that the committee had, did you receive any

25 outreach from Congressional Affairs regarding information, whether it be for the letter or

1 for any member of the committee?

2 A Congressional Affairs didn't normally go directly to me, or it would -- I would

3 think they would probably go to the executive managers.

4 Q Uh-huh.

5 A But I don't -- the only time we dealt with Congressional Affairs was if we

6 knew of a letter from Congressional Affairs that might be of interest. But I don't -- no --

7 Q Okay.

8 A -- they wouldn't have asked me anything.

9 Q Okay.

10 And, recently, this year, May 31st, 2024, the FBI reinstated Mr. Allen's clearance.

11 Are you aware of that? I know you aren't at the FBI anymore, but --

12 A Through the news. Yeah, through the news.

13 Q Did it surprise you that the FBI had reinstated Mr. Allen's clearance?

14 A I just don't have enough information to say why or why not.

15 Q Okay.

16 A I just -- I was not involved in this case. So I can't say I was surprised or I was 17 not surprised. I just -- I really have no comment on it.

18 Q Okay.

19 A And that's answering your question.

20 Q Yes.

21 A I'm not saying "no comment." I'm just -- yeah.

22 Q And moving to a different case, for Mr. Garrett O'Boyle, are you familiar with 23 Special Agent Garrett O'Boyle?

24 A Very.

25 Q And how so?

1 A So I was a supervisor, the SSA, over the O'Boyle case with the investigator
2 that was assigned.
3 Q Okay. And when did you become involved in Mr. O'Boyle's case?
4 A Probably -- actually, August 1st was the -- August 1st, 20- -- sorry.
5 August 1st, 2022, is when the case was opened by CREU --
6 Q Uh-huh.
7 A -- and -- which I reviewed 2 days ago, the opening -- and it was assigned to 8 me, it came to me.
9 Q Okay. And so August 1st, 2022, it is opened, and then Mr. O'Boyle is 10 suspended on September 23rd, 2022.
11 Did you and your team do any sort of investigating into the allegations in that 12 August-September timeframe?
13 A Absolutely. His suspension letter was signed on the 23rd?
14 Q The 23rd, that's correct.
15 A Okay. That was a, I believe, Friday, right? So he would've been handed it 16 effectively on the 26th. I think he was suspended that Monday.
17 Q Uh-huh.
18 A But, yes, we conducted investigations over the course of 19 the -- whatever -- approximately 45 days from August 1st to his suspension --
20 Q And --
21 A -- and then continued.
22 Q Oh, sorry. And how many investors were involved from your side of things
23 in the investigation?
24 A When you say "involved" -- well, there was one -- there was one investigator
25 assigned to the case.

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A Did he do any interviews and brought another person in the unit to help

3 him? He might've. But there was one investigator.

4 Q Okay.

5 And between August 1st, 2022, and the letter that was signed September 23rd,

6 2022, how did you determine that Mr. O'Boyle's clearance should be suspended during

7 the pendency of the clearance investigation?

8 A How did we -- okay. That's not a simple answer. How did we come about 9 his clearance action?

10 Q Uh-huh.

11 A Okay. I'm kind of a timeline guy, so I'm just going to try to make sense.

12 Let me just bracket some things.

13 So SecD, myself, became aware of the case opening August 1st, 2022. When we

14 got the case, we realized, myself and -- probably the investigator found it and maybe told

15 me, but we realized that, in May, sometime in May 2022, the New York Office criminal

16 squad inspection division and then counterintel -- counterintel, CD -- I think it's IIU -- I

17 think it stands for "internal investigation unit" --

18 Q Uh-huh.

19 A -- they were all involved in the case 3 months prior to SecD being involved

20 and possibly even being aware. I don't remember before that, so -- before being aware

21 of that. But so they did their own investigation, right? And some of that came over to 22 us.

23 The August 1st opening to us was, I believe, an EC from insider threat. I'm just

24 going off of memory here, and I did review it a couple days ago quickly, but they were late

25 giving me access to it. But it generally said that -- so it originally came over as a leak

1 investigation.

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A We determined that it wasn't a leak investigation. I don't know exactly

4 when we determined that but somewhere between August 1st and suspension.

5 Sorry. I'm trying to answer your question.

6 Q Take your time.

7 A So I'll speak general, and then if you have specific followup questions --

8 Q Uh-huh.

9 A We were able to obtain his, Mr. O'Boyle's, online activities, his account user

10 information, regarding his searches, his viewing on the FBI enclave Secret side, where our 11 case files are.

12 Q So when you -- sorry. So when you say "online activity," you're talking

13 about on the FBI system.

14 A Correct.

15 Q Not just, like, a Google search.

16 A Correct.

17 Q Okay.

18 A Correct, on the FBI enclave Secret side, where our casework is.

19 So what we were able to determine was: Back in October and November 2021,

20 Mr. O'Boyle was in a case file called "Project Veritas" at least eight times.

21 During the time that he was in "Project Veritas," he was using snipping tools that

22 we know forensically that he was using, through the insider threat ESOC program that we

23 have that collects on account user activity.

24 He was in specific files -- so he didn't have -- the case was locked down; he wasn't

25 able to get into the files. What he was able to see was, like, what the case was about or

1 the sub-files.

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A Does that make sense?

4 Obviously, we'll get to the video, May 11th, 2022, video. On that video

5 that -- the Project Veritas guy's name is?

6 Q James O'Keefe.

7 A -- James O'Keefe interviewed an unknown FBI agent. On that were those

8 sheets, the case sheets I'm talking about.

9 Q Uh-huh.

10 A We determined that O'Boyle -- through forensics and examination, we were

11 able to say that he was using a snipping tool when he was viewing cast or different

12 sub-files, the main, right?

13 And I think, out of 158 individuals that were not associated with the case, Project

14 Veritas, independently of SecD, back sometime in May or after, the New York agents with,

15 I guess, inspection or insider threat or whatnot or CD -- they determined -- New York

16 determined that O'Boyle was their main concern. He was not a case manager. He was

17 not a case participant. And he was one individual that accessed the case more than 18 once. He was in it frequently over a time period.

19 And, even prior, before Project Veritas became open to the public, I

20 believe -- don't quote me on this, but I believe something came out in November

21 regarding Project Veritas and a search warrant -- he was in a case file that he had no

22 need -- he was a Kansas City agent. He had no business being in a New York criminal

23 case file that was labeled "public corruption" or "media." And it was a SIM, it was a 24 sensitive investigative matter.

25 Now, again, I don't want to point to my colleges down the table here, but there's

1 something called "need to know."

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A And Mr. O'Boyle was doing searches for "Project Veritas." We had search

4 strings, we had spreadsheets of all his searches. So something brought him to this file,

5 and then he was curious, and then he was using snipping tools.

6 So, fast-forward to May 11th, all of a sudden, what he was doing in the case

7 file -- and he was the only one -- is in this video that James O'Keefe is interviewing an 8 unknown agent.

9 Q Uh-huh.

10 A So that's one, okay?

11 Q Uh-huh.

12 A And if you look at the letter -- I'm not sure which exhibit this is, but -- is 13 this -- no --

14 Q That's Mr. Allen's.

15 A -- that's Allen's. I apologize.

16 If you look at the letter where he was suspended -- and the facts back it up on the 17 EC, if you ever had access to it -- that's just one example of what Mr. O'Boyle was doing.

18 And we suspended him not on media leaks -- because we didn't know if that was

19 him or not. I know this article says or something somewhere on the internet says that,

20 you know, Sean Clark knew that it wasn't him in the video --

21 Q Uh-huh.

22 A -- and he still went ahead and suspended him. That's garbage, absolute

23 garbage. I stand up here -- like I said on my record before, I stand by everything I've

24 done in the Bureau factually. If I thought something was wrong, I'll be the first one to

25 admit it, I'll be the first one to take the pain, right? We did not base the suspension on

1 that video. We did not. We didn't know who it was at the time.

2 Now, there was discussion, hallway banter, like, "Is it O'Boyle? Who is it?" But

3 it didn't matter, because what we did is, if you look at the EC -- I'm sorry -- the suspension

4 letter for O'Boyle, we suspended him on Guideline K and Guideline M. Guideline K of 5 the Adjudicated Guidelines, (c)(4). Guideline K is handling protected information.

6 Guideline M is -- it just escaped me -- use of -- use or misuse of IT systems.

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A That's what we got him on. And I have other examples.

9 Q Uh-huh.

10 A So fast-forward. April 19th, April 25th of 2022, Mr. O'Boyle was in 11 Guardian leads, five Guardian leads: Detroit, Boston, Denver, and I don't remember the 12 other two.

13 Q Uh-huh.

14 A They were all related to parent-school-board meeting alleged threats.

15 Okay. So why is a Kansas City agent in Guardian leads? Again, I'll point to my

16 colleagues down at the other end if you want to confer with them later. There's no

17 reason why a Kansas City agent is in New York files and all these Guardian leads.

18 Q Uh-huh.

19 A And let me go back to the New York file real quickly. We ended up

20 interviewing -- we ended up interviewing the New York -- SecD ended up interviewing the 21 New York -- during that, I believe, the August through the September -- interviewed the

22 case agent as well as the New York supervisor of the criminal squad. And they told

23 us -- and we didn't know this at the time -- they told us O'Boyle was bouncing off their 24 sheet.

25 They were like, "Who is this guy? He has no business being here. He never told

1 anybody on the squad that he was looking at our files. He didn't have access."
2 He -- there was no reason. They weren't even aware of this guy.
3 And, again, some of the questions legally, you might say, well, what about the 4 other 157 people that might've visited the case? But they said it was minimal, and he
5 was the only one in all these other subs. And he was using snipping tools.
6 That came out on the video on May 11th --
7 Q Uh-huh.
8 A -- that James O'Keefe -- okay? And if you listen to the May 11th video of 9 the James O'Keefe interview, the person on there says, "I got these from a colleague."
10 Q Uh-huh.
11 A Again, it didn't go into our suspension, our legal sufficiency to suspend on 12 Guideline K and Guideline M, but it does have you thinking, as an investigator,
13 "Colleague? Interesting."
14 And I will tell you, after we pulled the online user data, Seraphin, Kyle Seraphin,
15 who we later identified forensically as being the voice on that May 11th -- and I think just 16 this past week he came out in public and said it was him -- it was him.
17 Q Uh-huh.
18 A Ninety-five percent -- our lab, the FBI lab, the subject-matter experts
19 reviewed samples of Seraphin's voice, as well as they were able to unscramble parts of his 20 voice on that interview. Ninety-five percent sure they were Seraphin.
21 We knew this back in November 2022, 2 months after we suspended O'Boyle,
22 right? But let's play this out. If we based our suspension just off that video --
23 Q Uh-huh.
24 A -- which we didn't -- we would've gone and overturned it and said, "Hey, we 25 got it wrong." But it wasn't based off the suspension.

1 And we knew it was Seraphin back -- I think they were saying in the -- I'm saying in
2 the podcast and all that --
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A -- I've seen some stuff where Seraphin will say and O'Boyle will say, like,
5 "Sean Clark knew that it wasn't me." Yeah, we did know in November --
6 Q Uh-huh.
7 A -- but it didn't change anything.
8 So let's go to April again, back to April, the school boards. We have forensic
9 proof that O'Boyle was downloading and burning to CDs and DVDs those five Guardian
10 leads related to the teacher -- or, I'm sorry -- the parent-school-board meetings that 11 ended up in the press, ended up, I believe -- maybe you can help me out -- in May 12 sometime, May 12th. Somewhere around there, it made it to the press --
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A -- and it was leaked to the press. And it was the exact same ones O'Boyle 15 was in.
16 Now I'm going to fast-forward a little bit. I'm a timeline guy, but I'm going to 17 fast-forward.
18 After he was suspended, myself and Brian Murphy, the investigator for Security
19 Division that had the O'Boyle case, we went down and -- and there's a lot of things I'm 20 leaving out, right?
21 Q Uh-huh.
22 A We waited for New York. New York had a criminal investigation. They 23 determined months and months and months later that they weren't going to go forward.
24 And then we had two boxes down at CIRG, down in Quantico area, that O'Boyle
25 shipped internal to the Bureau upon his move. And nobody knew what to do with it.

1 And I'm like, "You know what? This is administrative. Let's just go down there and
2 we'll just open it up. We'll parse out his personal items, and we'll ship it back to him."
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A And his Bureau stuff, he can't have it. He's suspended. And what
5 happens if he had classified information in there or whatnot?
6 Q Uh-huh.
7 A But we went through it. We found, Brian and I found a CD, or CDs -- I can't 8 remember if it was plural -- CD with those five Guardian leads burned on the CD, those 9 five Guardian leads that were leaked about the school-board-parent threats.
10 Q Uh-huh.
11 A So not only did we forensically have it via ESOC and insider threat data, user
12 data, but we also, later on, after he was suspended, we found this CD in his personal 13 items. So --
14 Q Going back to the question that I had asked -- so the complaint comes in 15 August 1st, 2022, and he's suspended September 23rd, 2022 --
16 A Yep.
17 Q -- and receives the letter September 26th.
18 A Yes.
19 Q When between that timeframe was a decision made to suspend
20 Mr. O'Boyle's clearance pending the investigation?
21 A I don't know when the exact date was. It was in that time period, but it
22 probably would've been closer to -- so I don't know exactly when it happened. I would 23 say -- I'd say, probably weeks after we got the case. Because, again --
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A -- I gave you examples before. I would go to management and say, give me

1 7 days, give me 10 days, let me collect the facts first.

2 So CD, New York, inspection all had this case in May --

3 Q Uh-huh.

4 A -- and in June. And I think June -- I think sometime in June or end of May,

5 CD was like, hey, there's no classified information, we're not going forward with

6 a -- whatever they call it -- leak or whatever. So they were out.

7 We had to get our ducks in a row. I didn't know what we had. It came in as a

8 leak investigation August 1st. He didn't get suspended until 4 or 5 weeks later as a

9 leaker. We suspended him as unauthorized access, misuse of IT, right?

10 So when was the decision made? It was sometime in that time period. But it

11 wasn't a snap to judgment. It was, let Sean and his team collect the evidence, do some 12 interviews, and determine. But it happened pretty quickly. And if you want to know

13 why, I can tell you.

14 Q And it happened pretty quickly in relation to the August 1st coming in? Or 15 what do you mean by "it happened pretty quickly"?

16 A We were up -- I know we were up a little bit of a timeline because he was 17 transferring. So I think, by the time we got the case, he was already transferring.

18 And, unfortunately, I think we found out, like, somewhere, like, first, second, third

19 week of August that he sold his house. I had nothing to do with that. I know I'm

20 blamed for it. I know I'm blamed for his, like, personal goods being held up. I had

21 nothing to do with his personal goods. It's all garbage out there in the news. I wasn't 22 even involved in that.

23 We were concerned -- the things that we were seeing, some of the stuff that I

24 outlined, we were concerned about what he was doing and where this information was

25 ending up. We weren't saying he was going direct to media. We didn't know how it

1 was getting out. But stuff that he was accessing was getting out.

2 He was transferring to a very sensitive --

3 Q Uh-huh.

4 A -- group, a national security operation ground group. He was going to

5 have -- it's kind of a silly word, "keys to the kingdom," but -- he was going to have access

6 to collection techniques.

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A He was going to have opportunity to see DT, CT, CI subjects across the entire

9 Bureau.

10 And it was determined, because of what I told you, what we were finding -- and

11 we were drafting stuff. We were drafting timelines. The ECs -- in the file, there are ECs

12 that are timelined to some of this stuff before we even drafted the suspension. We 13 were writing up what we found as we went along.

14 Q Uh-huh.

15 A And it was determined, we can't have him go to this specialized sensitive

16 group, if he's doing this. Because management didn't want him having access to this

17 new specialized group. He would've found out about some of the FBI's sensitive

18 off-sites. He would've been privy to all CT's -- I say "all." I don't want to use

19 "all" -- TTCI, DT, international terrorism cases.

20 Q Uh-huh.

21 A That was just not allowable. That was not allowable.

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A And we did have a little time to work, because we did find out that he was

24 on, like, paternity leave. And nobody knew when he was coming back or when he was

25 out of the office. And I think he went home. I think he went home to, like, Wisconsin

1 or whatever. That's just --

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A But --

4 Q So I guess the next question is -- because, when Ms. Moore testified before

5 this committee, she said there was a level of urgency to act on Mr. O'Boyle's clearance.

6 A Yes.

7 Q You're saying that he was being transferred to this unit that was going to 8 have access to highly sensitive information and there was concern about that.

9 Why wait the 7 weeks from the August 1st when you received the initial complaint

10 to September 23rd and then the 26th, his first day in the office when he had to move

11 from Kansas to Virginia? Why wait until then?

12 A Just because of some of the things I laid out. We were getting our ducks in

13 a row. We were drafting things. We were going through ESOC. I wasn't just going to 14 take New York's, you know, "Hey, this guy -- you know, there's a bright spotlight on this 15 guy." Well, what does that mean? I need the facts. I need to see the ESOC data.

16 We had to get the raw data ourselves and review it.

17 Some of the searches that he was doing, we weren't even sure what he was -- you

18 know, you have a spreadsheet of searches. Well, maybe some of it was legitimate for 19 his work. I don't know.

20 So things took time for us to put our case together.

21 And he was also out of the office a lot during that period of time.

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A So sometime -- I think it was somewhere around September, first

24 week/second week of September, it was determined, he's out of the office, but we're

25 afraid that he's going to come back in during an off day and access information.

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A So this is, I think, a week or two before he was suspended. We suspended

3 his -- don't hold me to "a week or two," but somewhere around that period, there was a

4 communication between Mike Smith via email to the unit that handles access to the FBI

5 Secret side computers --

6 Q Uh-huh.

7 A -- and we had his access turned off, just in case he dipped back in.

8 But so, why wait? So SecD was behind the eight-ball. Remember, some of 9 these other units had some of this information, but we only got it in August.

10 I don't think 35 days from getting to suspension is a long time. It's not a long

11 time. If you ever work these, you want to get it right.

12 Q Uh-huh.

13 A And we got it right.

14 Q And if you cut off his access in the first weeks of September, why not let him

15 know that his clearance was suspended?

16 A How could I get a suspen- -- it hadn't been approved. Nothing was

17 suspended.

18 Q But when you were cutting off his access to the building because --

19 A No, not the building. Just his FBI red side, his Secret side.

20 Q Okay. And if you were cutting off his access to the red side because he was 21 such a risk, a security risk, why not suspend his clearance then?

22 A Because we didn't have the paperwork, we didn't have the authority, we 23 didn't have the signatures. These things take a while.

24 It's not like I can just -- I mean, so there's things called "10-day admin

25 suspensions." You can suspend somebody for 10 days. I think the SAC can do that.

1 And I think if it's any more than 10 days, we have to get, like, DOJ approval or something.
2 I forget the process. But we've done that before when somebody needs it.
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A But he was out of the office. He was out of the office on paternity leave.
5 So we felt like it was minimized. We felt like the risk was minimized because he wasn't
6 accessing systems. And that's what we were suspending him on, okay?
7 So I think the risk was minimized. And then we even minimized it even more.
8 We were taking steps that we could pre-suspension to minimize the risk to national 9 security because of -- based off of what he was doing, and we had concerns.
10 Q Uh-huh.
11 A And, in fact, we found out in August, beginning of August, when he was, like,
12 in all this, that he was searching something called "American contingency" regarding 13 domestic violence, some case that was labeled -- I think the guy's name was Mike Glover
14 or something -- that ended up getting into the media, I believe got into the media.
15 And, again, sometimes searches that he was doing didn't make sense to us until 16 they hit the media --
17 Q Uh-huh.
18 A -- and you're like, wait a second, why -- you know, like -- but he was still 19 actively doing it up until the time he took paternity leave. So the risk was there.
20 Q Uh-huh.
21 A But we did take steps to minimize that when he was on paternity leave so 22 we could line our ducks in a row, that we could have a suspension that stood with legal 23 sufficiency on its own --
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A -- which we did.

1 And I'll tell you what. Being at SecD for all that time, that's not a long time.
2 August 1st to September the 25th, that is not a long time.
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A I mean, that's moving pretty quick.
5 Q Yeah. And September 26th aligned with his first day out here in Virginia at 6 his new unit.
7 A Yeah.
8 Q When Ms. Moore came and testified before the committee, she just said it
9 was mere coincidence that, you know, it had happened on his first day. And he had 10 transferred from Kansas all the way out to Virginia, packed up his family's belongings; it
11 was in FBI storage. And she said it was just mere coincidence that it happened that day.
12 Would you agree with that assessment?
13 A I don't want to speak for her. I didn't read her testimony. I didn't 14 read -- did she say "coincidence"? I don't know what she said.
15 Q Mere coincidence.
16 A Maybe. I don't know.
17 What I will tell you is, SecD was driven. We did not determine the date the 18 suspen- -- so suspension was signed on that 23rd, the Friday, I think it was.
19 Q Uh-huh.
20 A We were driven by New York. New York had a criminal investigation.
21 Again, I point to my colleagues if you want to refer. Criminal investigations drive, just 22 like I said before that OIG investigations were driving.
23 Q Uh-huh.
24 A SecD was secondary in a lot of these investigations. If there was a criminal 25 investigation, it was going to trump us.

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A And they were going -- they were the ones that dictated a little bit -- oh, I say

3 "dictated." We coordinated with them. We did coordinate with them. I was on the 4 phone with them. It was determined that he was not going to get access to that unit.

5 And we found out that he was reporting on Monday, and New York was ready to

6 go and interview him. SecD never interviewed him. I think somewhere O'Boyle is

7 talking in the public like, "When SecD interviewed me, I said I was a whistleblower."

8 New York -- I mean, SecD never interviewed him. He was interviewed by New York.

9 Q Uh-huh.

10 A And it was a 10-minute conversation, a short 302. And I believe the chief

11 security officer of CIRG handed him his suspension paperwork that day.

12 Q Uh-huh.

13 A So coincidence? I don't know. If you want to wordsmith -- I don't know.

14 I wasn't there. I will tell you that it was coordinated and he wasn't going to report to 15 that unit.

16 Q Uh-huh. And when did you become aware that he was transferring?

17 A Probably soon after I got the case on August 1st.

18 Q Uh-huh. And I know --

19 A But it was already in motion.

20 Q Uh-huh.

21 A I think his goods were -- again, I think I heard through -- like, a while back, I

22 think. Wasn't his goods already in transport?

23 Q That's correct.

24 A Yeah. So we had nothing to do with that.

25 Q Uh-huh.

1 A Sean Clark, SecD, CIU, we had nothing to do with that. I had nothing to do
2 with the selling of his house.
3 Q Uh-huh.
4 A In fact, I will tell you, we felt bad for him a little bit. You know, listen, he 5 did what he did, but he's still a fellow agent, he's still a human being, he's still a family
6 man --
7 Q Uh-huh.
8 A -- you know?
9 I don't want to -- I'll just tell you, I worked sex offenders for years. I would sit
10 across the table from hands-on offenders. And you still feel for them a little bit, from a 11 personal perspective, because they're screwed up, right?
12 So I felt bad for O'Boyle that he was -- his family, I felt bad for his family when all 13 this was going on. But I had no control over that.
14 Q Uh-huh.
15 A In fact, we had conversations like, "Wow, he just sold his house and he's 16 buying a house in a couple weeks." I think we found that out through Kansas City
17 executive managers, ASAC or SAC, who was in touch with him. And from a human 18 perspective, that hurts.
19 But you've got to do your job. He was a national security risk.
20 Q Uh-huh.
21 A And, I'm sorry, Sean Clark, SecD, CIU, we had nothing to do with that. It
22 was just a bad -- it was just bad timing. It was bad timing.
23 [redacted]. And we're at the hour mark, so we'll go off the record.
24 The Witness. Okay.
25 [Recess.]

1 [redacted]. All right. It's 1:08. We can go back on the record. Thank you.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q All right. Mr. Clark, I want to return to what was marked as exhibit 5. It's

4 the -- what you said is not an official FBI document.

5 A Yes. Okay.

6 Q You said that this was used by a contractor. Is it your understanding that

7 this was also created by that contractor?

8 A That's my understanding, yes.

9 Q Okay. And so these were not questions -- this was not a document that 10 you or anyone who reported directly to you used, correct?

11 A Correct.

12 Q Okay. Looking at the questions that are listed on here, the -- 13 A Okay, let's go back. You said somebody that reported to me used.

14 Q Right.

15 Mr. Berger. As a direct report?

16 [redacted]. As a direct report, yes.

17 The Witness. Again, I think, going back -- and we talked about this -- I don't

18 know if I was the only one over there at the time as an SSA or not.

19 BY [redacted]:

20 Q Okay.

21 A So I don't want to -- to answer that --

22 Q Understood.

23 A -- question accurately, he might've at one point reported to me directly. I

24 don't know if he reported to me then.

25 Q Okay.

1 A But I did not sign this document in the file.

2 Q And you never saw this document before? When you were an FBI

3 employee, you never --

4 A Not until --

5 Q -- saw this document --

6 A Not until, like, 2 weeks ago when it hit the press.

7 Q Okay.

8 The questions on here, you described some of these questions, I think, as 9 "inappropriate" in the prior hour.

10 A I do, yes.

11 Q To the best of your knowledge, are these questions that you ever asked

12 anyone in an interview?

13 A No.

14 Q Okay. To the best of my knowledge, are these questions that anyone you

15 directly supervised, whose work you actually reviewed, ever asked in an interview?

16 A Well, let me back up. There's a lot of questions on this questionnaire. So

17 there are questions I would've asked --

18 Q Understood.

19 A -- right?

20 Q The questions -- fair. And that's a good distinction. The questions that 21 you've described as inappropriate, so those are the questions, "Vocalize support for

22 President Trump?", "Vocalize objection to Covid-19 vaccination?", that --

23 A Those are questions I did not ask.

24 Q Okay.

25 A That's correct.

1 Q Okay. And to the best of your knowledge, did anyone who directly
2 reported to you, whose work you remember reviewing, ever ask those questions?
3 A Not that I recall.
4 Q Okay. And if you had become aware that individuals who reported to you,
5 whose work you were reviewing, were asking those questions, what would you have 6 done?
7 A I would've -- yeah, I would've said, you know, absolutely not say -- not ask
8 these questions. Absolutely. Stay away from the COVID-19, like I said before. And 9 vocalizing your support for any President, that has no business in SecD.
10 Q Okay. So you would've stepped in to stop it?
11 A I would have, yes.
12 Q Okay.
13 Do you know if anyone other than this particular contractor asked these type of 14 questions -- or asked these questions?
15 A I'm not aware.
16 Q Okay.
17 Do you -- you said you know who this contractor -- uh-huh?
18 A Let me be fair, though. I wasn't in these interviews a lot of times, right?
19 There was high-profile cases sometimes I would be involved in the interviews. But any 20 interview that I was involved with, like, in the interview, these questions were not asked.
21 Q Understood.
22 And what I'm getting at is, the Washington Examiner article that was introduced as 23 exhibit 4 --
24 A Ah, yes.
25 Q -- suggests that these questions were widespread, that they were asked

1 frequently by SecD.

2 A Right.

3 Q I'm just wondering if you have an opinion on that claim.

4 A I'm not aware of that.

5 Q Okay. So, in your experience, these were not questions that were widely

6 asked at SecD?

7 A No.

8 Q Okay.

9 And you said you know the contractor who wrote -- who prepared this document?

10 A I believe I know him, yes.

11 Q Okay.

12 A His name is blacked out, but I believe -- I believe I know who this is, yes.

13 Q Okay. And what's your opinion of that contractor as an employee?

14 A As I stated before on the record, he never talked politics. I didn't -- again, if

15 it was Roger Arends (ph) -- we're talking specifically of Roger Arends (ph). If it was 16 anybody else, then -- you know.

17 Q Uh-huh.

18 A He never talked politics. I felt like he was a very -- he was a very laid-back

19 guy. I think he, like -- I think his parents were, like, hippies. He's very, like, a laid-back 20 guy. He talked about, like, Volkswagon -- you know, Volkswagon and stuff like that.

21 Just harmless.

22 Q Okay.

23 A He was a harmless guy. Very thorough.

24 I would sometimes question him and some of the other investigators, like I said

25 before, where I'm like, why do you guys have, like, 20 pages of notes before the

1 interview? Like, they would type up their questions sometimes before the interviews.
2 And that wasn't me.
3 Q Right.
4 A I didn't need that. I could just go in and talk to people.
5 But he was genuinely a nice guy.
6 Q Did he ever display bias --
7 A No.
8 Q -- that was concerning to you?
9 A I never saw that with him.
10 Q Okay. And, specifically, did you ever witness political bias from him?
11 A Never saw that with him, no.
12 And I only knew him inside of work though. I didn't know him outside of work.
13 Q Understood. But that's the context that we're talking here, so --
14 A Yes.
15 Q To your knowledge, did this individual interview Mr. O'Boyle?
16 A Mr. O'Boyle was never interviewed by SecD.
17 Q Okay. Do you know if this individual ever interviewed Marcus Allen?
18 A This person did not interview -- again, if it's Roger Arends (ph), this person
19 did not interview Marcus Allen.
20 Q Okay.
21 Do you know -- are you familiar with Kyle Seraphin?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Okay. Do you know if this individual interviewed Kyle Seraphin?
24 A I think we're all aware of Kyle Seraphin, right?
25 Q Why do you say that?

1 A Well, he's got his own blog or his own podcast. He's a self-serving former
2 agent.
3 The question was, did this individual interview Kyle Seraphin?
4 Q Do you know? To the best of your knowledge.
5 A I don't recall if Kyle Seraphin was interviewed by SecD. I don't remember.
6 Q Okay.
7 A Do you know if he was?
8 Q I don't know. And I know there's a number of --
9 A But he wouldn't -- I don't --
10 Q Okay.
11 A Unless this guy was a second on the interview. He was not the lead --
12 Q Okay.
13 A -- of the Kyle Seraphin case.
14 Q The reason I'm asking is because the Washington -- Examiner or Times?
15 The Washington Times article -- I think I might have said Washington Examiner earlier. I 16 apologize. It's the Washington Times.
17 A Yeah.
18 Q The Washington Times article refers to some of these allegations, and then it
19 refers to Mr. Seraphin and Mr. O'Boyle. And so I'm just trying to get a sense of --
20 A Oh, okay.
21 Q -- if this might have been --
22 A Yeah, no, I don't think this contractor had anything to do with the Kyle 23 Seraphin case.
24 Q Okay.
25 A Just, can you give me just 30 seconds to think about that?

1 Q Sure. Sure.

2 A Okay. Thank you.

3 Yeah, I don't believe he had anything to do with the Kyle Seraphin case.

4 Q Okay. And I want to return to Kyle Seraphin later.

5 A I'm just trying to think -- also Friend. He didn't have anything to do with 6 Friend either.

7 Q Okay. He had nothing to do with the Stephen -- that's a reference to 8 Stephen Friend?

9 A Stephen Friend. Actually, the whistleblower of [redacted] actually

10 interviewed and worked the Stephen Friend case.

11 Q Okay.

12 A So -- and was part of the team that suspended Mr. Friend.

13 Q Do you know if that whistleblower supported the suspension of Mr. Friend?

14 A Was he what?

15 Q Was he supportive of the decision to suspend Mr. Friend?

16 A I would assume. He signed the paperwork, and he sat in Mr. Friend's

17 interview.

18 Q Okay.

19 I want to move on to the discussion about Mr. Allen.

20 A Okay.

21 Q And we are going to return to that Washington Times article, so don't --

22 A Okay.

23 Q -- put it too far away.

24 I want to turn to the Empower Oversight letter again. This is the one marked

25 exhibit 3.

1 A Okay.

2 Q And on page 6 -- well, I'm going to turn to page 6, but I have some questions

3 to ask you before we talk about it.

4 A Okay.

5 Q In the prior hour, you referred to, I believe it was, [redacted] who was

6 the line agent who handled this case. Do I have that name right?

7 A Yes. [redacted]

8 Q [redacted]. I'm sorry.

9 A He went by [redacted]

10 Q [redacted]. You said that --

11 A Initially he was the investigator, initially, right, and then it became somebody

12 else.

13 Q Right.

14 A Okay.

15 Q You said that he believed Mr. Allen should be suspended for personal 16 conduct reasons.

17 A I mean, that's just me recalling.

18 Q Okay. Why do you believe that -- what's your understanding of why

19 [redacted] believed that Mr. Allen should be suspended for personal conduct reasons?

20 A I don't remember. I don't want to --

21 Q Okay.

22 A Maybe -- I'd be guessing. I'd be guessing if I said, and it wouldn't be fair.

23 Q Okay.

24 A It wouldn't be fair.

25 Q On page 6 of this, at the bottom of the second-to-the-last paragraph, it says,

1 "In clear retaliation, Perkins transferred the initial investigator to the Intake Unit, a less
2 prestigious assignment than CIU because of its limited investigative responsibilities."
3 I think you said the timeline was accurate, that he was transferred to the intake
4 unit. Do you agree with the characterization of that transfer as being retaliatory in
5 nature?
6 A I wasn't privy to any conversations that would've -- so hallway rumor was 7 that there was retaliation going on because [redacted] wasn't signing paperwork or he was not
8 working fast enough. That's hallway rumor.
9 Q Uh-huh.
10 A But I was not privy firsthand to any of these conversations.
11 Q Okay.
12 A So I'm just giving you --
13 Q Yep. Understood.
14 A -- what was happening.
15 Q Understood. Because earlier you said the timeline matched up, but --
16 A The timeline --
17 Q -- you actually don't know --
18 A The time- --
19 Q -- if this is true or not, that it was --
20 A The timeline matches up.
21 Q Right.
22 A I mean, [redacted] would --
23 The Reporter. Excuse me.
24 [redacted]. Sorry.
25 The Reporter. Please, one at a time.

1 [redacted]. Sorry.

2 The Reporter. Thank you.

3 The Witness. [redacted] would come and complain a little bit to some of us. So I

4 think I'm hearing bits and pieces like that.

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q Right.

7 A But I never heard anything from Perkins related to retaliatory or that she had

8 it out for him.

9 I wasn't in a position either. I was the SSA. Again, when all this was happening,

10 I was transitioning back from Washington Field Office.

11 Q Uh-huh. Understood.

12 A And I was a newer employee there. So I don't know if people really knew

13 me --

14 Q Understood.

15 A -- to bring me into closed doors to say, "Hey, did you hear?"

16 Q Uh-huh.

17 A So, yeah, I can't comment on this.

18 Q Okay. So you have no knowledge one way --

19 A I have no --

20 Q -- or the other.

21 A I have no knowledge.

22 Q Okay.

23 On page 9 of this letter, there's a reference to the May 18th, 2023, congressional

24 hearing. And we talked through that at some length in the prior hour. Do you recall

25 that?

1 A I do.

2 Q Okay. Do you recall anyone, any of your supervisors or anyone that you

3 reported to, ever saying that these cases had to be resolved in advance of the hearing?

4 A So that would've been -- specifically what cases?

5 Q Either the Allen case or -- the Allen case in particular.

6 A According to this -- I mean, I'm just going off --

7 Q No, no, I'm asking if you --

8 Mr. Berger. Hold on. She's asking you --

9 [redacted]. -- yeah, if you --

10 The Witness. No, I --

11 Mr. Berger. Hold it. Hold it.

12 The Witness. Okay.

13 Mr. Berger. Why don't you just repeat the question?

14 [redacted]. Sure. Let me rephrase the question.

15 The Witness. Yeah.

16 BY [redacted]:

17 Q Do you personally recall Ms. Perkins, Mr. Veltri, or anyone else in your chain

18 of command ever telling or saying -- telling you or saying anything to the effect of, that

19 Marcus Allen case needs to be resolved by May 18th, 2023, in advance of this 20 congressional hearing?

21 A No, because I had no -- I really had no involvement in Allen's case. No.

1

2 [1:19 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q Okay. So you have no knowledge of that happening?

5 A No knowledge.

6 Q And you referenced, I believe, [redacted]?

7 A [redacted].

8 Q [redacted].

9 A [redacted].

10 Q Thank you. I'm trying to read my writing.

11 You said you might have had a conversation with her.

12 A Just occasionally, unit chief to unit chief, but in passing. Maybe, "Hey, what 13 are you working on?" kind of thing. But I don't really recall exactly.

14 Q Do you remember --

15 A Because this case, according --

16 Mr. Berger. Let her finish the question.

17 BY [redacted]:

18 Q Do you remember [redacted]?

19 A Do I remember?

20 Q Do you remember Ms. -- sorry, her name is [redacted]. Is that right?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Do you remember if [redacted] ever said to you, "Oh, we need to wrap up

23 this Marcus Allen case in advance of the May 18th, 2023, hearing"? Is that something 24 she said to you?

25 A No.

1 Q To your knowledge, did anybody in your chain of command ever pressure
2 you to conclude the Garrett O'Boyle case in advance of the May 18th, 2023, hearing?
3 A No.
4 Q To the best of your knowledge, did anybody in your chain of command ever
5 place any pressure on anyone to resolve the Stephen Friend case in advance of the 6 May 18th, 2023, hearing?
7 A No. And I am very limited with Friend as well.
8 Mr. Berger. All right. The answer is no, right?
9 The Witness. No.
10 Mr. Berger. Okay.
11 BY [redacted]:
12 Q All right. I want to move on to Garrett O'Boyle. But before I do that, I 13 want to talk about the security policies a little more generally.
14 A Okay.
15 Q When you joined SecD, what type of training did you receive?
16 A When I joined SecD?
17 Yeah, there was very limited training. I don't know if there was any training at 18 that point.
19 Q You've referenced a couple of times the SEAD directive?
20 A Yeah.
21 Q What is that?
22 A SEAD 4.
23 Q SEAD 4?
24 A It's the Security Executive Agent Directive, which I believe is -- ODNI issues
25 guidance for all IC departments to follow for security matters.

1 Q I want to introduce SEAD 4. This will be exhibit 8.

2 A Okay.

3 [Clark Exhibit No. 8

4 was marked for identification.]

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q And we're introducing the whole thing. You're welcome to read as much of

7 it as you'd like, but I can -- we're going to refer to -- we're going to talk through it more

8 generally and then we're going to talk through the specific guidelines you referenced

9 earlier.

10 A Okay.

11 Q If you want to refresh your recollection, take as long as you want.

12 A I can --

13 Q You're good?

14 A I can follow as you're reading, yeah.

15 Q When you joined SecD, did you become familiar with the requirement that 16 FBI agents must retain security clearances?

17 A I knew that when I began at the Bureau, yes.

18 Q Okay. And what's your understanding of why this requirement exists?

19 A Why does it exist? Because anything involved with our position we come

20 across classified information.

21 Q And is it fair to say that classified information includes national security

22 information?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And that it's important to safeguard that information?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Is it fair to say that the FBI security clearance requirement ensures that
2 highly sensitive material and classified material remains protected?
3 A Yes.
4 Q If that -- if such material, meaning classified material, but also sensitive law
5 enforcement information, is disclosed to an unauthorized party, it could compromise
6 ongoing investigations, correct?
7 A That's correct, yes.
8 Q For example, it could tip off a target or a subject that the FBI is looking into 9 them, correct?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And then that individual could destroy or conceal evidence, correct?
12 A Yes, yes.
13 Q And it could also create a risk of harm to others who might be involved in the 14 case, correct?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Okay. Unauthorized release of information -- of such classified or sensitive
17 information -- could also pose a risk to our national security interests, correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q How so?
20 A Well, just all the things that you just said. I mean, you could tip off
21 subjects, you could tip off techniques, you can ruin an investigation. Different parts of 22 the investigation may not be ready for the courtroom or you may not have enough
23 valuable evidence. That person may go underground, may use different communication 24 devices or techniques.
25 Yeah, I mean, the whole load of things we can talk about. But release of that

1 information is detrimental to national security.

2 Q And it could also tip off foreign entities, correct?

3 A Correct.

4 Q And that could pose an additional risk, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q I want to turn to the SEAD 4 directive. You said you're familiar. Have you

7 read this document before?

8 A I have. And I just want to correct one thing. We did get training on SEAD

9 4.

10 Q Okay. Can you describe the training you received on SEAD 4?

11 A OGC attorney Tasha Gibbs would give like an hour or two training to the

12 Security Division and go over just the regular -- we'd just go over these documents and 13 discuss maybe case examples.

14 Q Okay. Could you describe in a few words your understanding of what the 15 purpose is of the SEAD 4 directives?

16 A I'm not a lawyer, and I did have this flip card at my desk, so I have to use it

17 every day as a reminder.

18 It's guidance on if somebody should be allowed to keep their security clearance,

19 whether they are a risk to the United States, based off of certain directives, guidelines,

20 and then sub-guidelines under that.

21 Q And you said earlier that these were issued by ODNI. That's the Office of 22 the Director of National Intelligence. Is that correct?

23 A That's correct.

24 Q And is it your understanding that these same guidelines apply across the 25 Federal Government?

1 A That is correct.

2 Q Okay. So this is not an FBI-specific document?

3 A No.

4 Q The version that I've just introduced as exhibit 8 was introduced on June 8th,

5 2017, correct?

6 A Yes, that's correct.

7 Q So it's been in effect at this point for 7 years, correct?

8 A That's correct.

9 Q And it was the version that was in effect the entire time that you worked for 10 SecD, correct?

11 A Unless it changed. But, yes, I believe so.

12 Q I want to turn to guideline K, which is the handling of protected information.

13 That starts on page 21 of this document.

14 A Okay.

15 Q And you said in the earlier hour that guideline K was one of the bases under 16 which Mr. O'Boyle was suspended, correct?

17 A It was, yes.

18 Q Okay. Guideline K is the handling of protected information. And I want to 19 read into the record what's listed here as number 33, the concern that says, "Deliberate

20 or negligent failure to comply with rules and regulations for handling protected

21 information -- which includes classified and other sensitive government information, and

22 proprietary information -- raises doubt about an individual's trustworthiness, judgment,

23 reliability, or willingness and ability to safeguard such information, and is a serious

24 security concern."

25 Did I read that correctly?

1 A That's correct, yes.
2 Q So the concern described in this section, it's not just classified information,
3 it's sensitive information, correct?
4 A That is correct.
5 Q And what's your understanding of what "sensitive information" means in this
6 context?
7 A Anything that could harm the government.
8 Q Okay.
9 A Yeah. Harm cases.
10 Q Would this include what's sometimes referred to as law enforcement
11 sensitive information?
12 A Yes.
13 Q What is law enforcement sensitive information? What's your 14 understanding of that?
15 A It's unclassified information that should only be in the hands of law
16 enforcement.
17 Q So information related to ongoing cases, for example?
18 A Yes.
19 Q The concern says that it's not just deliberate failure to comply with rules and 20 regulations, but also negligent failure to comply with rules and regulations.
21 What's your understanding of what that means?
22 A I'm sorry, repeat that. Deliberate --
23 Q Yeah. So the very first five or six words there it says, "Deliberate or 24 negligent failure to comply with rules and regulations," and it goes on as a concern.
25 You'd agree that "deliberate" means somebody intentionally accessing information

1 inappropriately.

2 A Right.

3 Q What's your understanding of what negligent means here?

4 A Just not following the rules. Just negligent in following the rules and even

5 though they're aware of the regulations and rules.

6 Q Okay.

7 A Like disregard.

8 Q And I want to look at under number 34, the "conditions that raise a security

9 concern and may be disqualifying." And I want to just read this in some detail.

10 So the first condition listed there is the "disclosure of protected information to 11 unauthorized persons." You see where it says that?

12 A (a), correct, yes.

13 Q Yes. So it says "deliberate or negligent disclosure of protected information

14 to unauthorized persons, including, but not limited to, personal or business contacts, the 15 media, or persons present at seminars, meetings, or conferences."

16 Did I read that a correctly?

17 A Yes, you did.

18 Q What's your understanding of why it's of concern when information is 19 deliberately or negligently disclosed to unauthorized persons?

20 A Because the need to know. The person that they are disclosing it to, the 21 unauthorized, has no access, has no business having that information.

22 Q You've used the term "need to know" a couple times in this interview.

23 A Yes.

24 Q What do you mean by that?

25 A Does that person have a right to be involved in the case? Do they have a

1 duty? Are they assigned that area of responsibility, for instance? Are they
2 contributors to the case?
3 So if they are not all that or any of that, they really have no need to know. It's a
4 way of we protect our information.
5 Q Okay. And if somebody does not have a need to know information, then
6 they shouldn't have access to it. Is that correct?
7 A That's correct.
8 Q The second condition here, under (b), is "collecting or storing protected 9 information in any unauthorized location."
10 What's your understanding of what that means?
11 A So, for instance, for classified information -- or even unclassified information
12 if it's sensitive or law enforcement sensitive -- unauthorized location, you have to store it
13 in -- and we all get training on this -- what's the right collection and storage of that 14 document, for instance. A CD in a box or a CD in a car or something like that, that's 15 negligent. That's not -- for an example. So basically where it's authorized.
16 Q So, and for example, if somebody were to take a screenshot of sensitive 17 information or a photograph of sensitive information and then were to take it outside of 18 FBI systems and were to told it on their personal device or to print it out, that would be 19 improperly collecting or storing information, correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q (c) is "loading, drafting, editing, modifying, storing, transmitting, or 22 otherwise handling protected information, including images, on any unauthorized
23 equipment or medium."
24 I think that kind of goes along with (b), "collecting or storing protected 25 information in an unauthorized location."

1 What's your understanding of what that means?

2 A Yeah, just that. I mean, how somebody's handling the protected

3 information on like loose media or how they're they storing it.

4 Q Letter (d) is "inappropriate efforts to obtain or view protected information

5 outside one's need to know."

6 Can you describe briefly your understanding of that element?

7 A Well, specifically, why was O'Boyle going into the Project Veritas case? He

8 had no business. And that's per the case agent, per the supervisor. He had no need to

9 know. It was all inappropriate efforts on his part. And he didn't do it once. He did it

10 numerous times over a month or two.

11 Q And you have noted a couple times that he did this numerous times. Why

12 is that significant?

13 A It just seems like he kept going back and was interested in seeing if there

14 was any updates. I can't get into his head why he was doing it. I'd be guessing. It

15 just shows that he had a true interest in what was being displayed.

16 Q Is it fair to say that it suggests that it was not an accident that he had

17 accessed it once and then didn't go back, but he had an intent to repeatedly access this 18 file?

19 A Yes, because he was doing search strings as well, yes.

20 Q And when you say he was doing search strings, can you explain what you

21 mean by that?

22 A He was searching in databases for Project Veritas or specific people's names.

23 So he was actively typing in names or cases or case numbers. He wasn't randomly just 24 bumping into things on the site, you know what I mean?

25 Q Are you aware of what names he was searching for?

1 A I don't have the spreadsheet in front of me, but yeah, a few.

2 Q Are there any that you can recall sitting here today?

3 A Glover. As I mentioned before, I can't remember his first name. Maybe it

4 was Michael. I don't know. American Contingency. I don't recall what he was

5 searching in the Guardians, but he was searching some things in the Guardians. I don't

6 recall what that was. Project Veritas. I'd have to think about it, it's been a while.

7 Q Okay. You said there is a spreadsheet at FBI that details that?

8 A Yeah, because it's his UAM, it's called user activity monitoring. So, yeah,

9 there should be a spreadsheet.

10 Q Letter (g) here is "any failure to comply with rules for the protection of 11 classified or sensitive information."

12 What's your understanding of what that means?

13 A I mean, we all have the security awareness briefings every year. So we all

14 know how to protect classified or sensitive information. So it's failure to do any of that.

15 Q On the note of those rules that we just referred to, I want to introduce as

16 exhibit 9 form FD-889, which is the "FBI Information Technology and Information Systems

17 Rules of Behavior for General Users Agreement Form."

18 [Clark Exhibit No. 9

19 was marked for identification.]

20 BY [redacted]:

21 Q Are you familiar with this document?

22 A I am, yes.

23 Q Okay. What's your understanding of what this document is?

24 A It's something that every employee of the FBI or probably in the IC has

25 to -- and intel community -- has to sign to gain access to sensitive databases.

1 Q Okay. And what does this document -- what responsibilities does this form
2 place on individuals who are going to access sensitive computer systems?
3 A Well, we'd have to read all -- it's very detailed. But kind of goes off, like
4 locking your screen, taking precautions. Probably, I don't know, does it say anything in 5 here about like just addressing how you operate online. It's rules and regulations. And 6 everybody should be familiar with it.
7 Q Okay.
8 A So I could go over here and cite it.
9 Q I want to turn to page 4.
10 A Page 4, yes.
11 Q And I want to look under expressly the prohibited behavior, which is near 12 the bottom of the page.
13 A Okay.
14 Q That says -- that section reads, "Expressly Prohibited Behavior: Unless 15 required as part of official duties, the following behaviors or activities are prohibited on 16 any FBI IT/IS -- " do you know what that stands for?
17 A IS. Information systems? IT --
18 Q And IT is information --
19 A Information technology.
20 Q "-- authorized to operate by the FBI or on other agency IT/IS authorized to 21 operate in FBI controlled facilities."
22 And then it says, "I will not:
23 "1. Knowingly violate any statute or order, such as compliance legislation, 24 copyright laws, or laws governing disclosure of information, including but not limited to:
25 "a. Attempt to process or enter information onto a system exceeding the

1 authorized classification level for that IT/IS.

2 "b. Connect classified IT/IS to the Internet or other unclassified systems.

3 "c. Remove sensitive/classified media (paper or electronic) from controlled

4 areas/facilities (i.e. taking classified media home) without authorization.

5 And then d, which is on the next page, says, "Use FBI IT/IS or FBI information for

6 personal benefit, profit, to benefit other persons, non-profit business dealings, any

7 political (e.g., lobbying or campaigning) party candidate or issue or for any illegal activity."

8 Did I read that section correctly?

9 A Yes, you did.

10 Q So I want to look at c.

11 A c, okay.

12 Q On the next page.

13 So you said all employees are required to sign this agreement, right?

14 A They are, yes.

15 Q So all employees are required to verify that they will not remove sensitive or 16 classified media, paper or electronic, from controlled areas or facilities without

17 authorization, correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q Do you know if Mr. O'Boyle signed this form before beginning employment

20 with FBI?

21 A Yes, most definitely.

22 Q Okay. So he would have verified that he will not remove information.

23 A Yes.

24 Q And by removing information, he violated his -- what he had signed, what he

25 pledged to do?

1 A A hundred percent, yes.

2 Q I want to move on. I want to introduce as exhibit 10 form FD-857a, which

3 is "Sensitive Information Nondisclosure Agreement."

4 [Clark Exhibit No. 10

5 was marked for identification.]

6 BY [redacted]:

7 Q Have you seen this before?

8 A I have, yes.

9 Q To the best of your knowledge, does FBI require all employees with access to 10 sensitive information to sign this document?

11 A Yes, they do, yes.

12 Q In paragraph 3 of this document it says employees verify that they have

13 been informed that the unauthorized access, disclosure, or retention of sensitive

14 information or negligent handling of such information could cause irreparable damage to 15 FBI investigations, correct?

16 A Correct.

17 Q Okay. In paragraph 4, employees verify they have been advised that any

18 breach of the agreement may result in a termination of their relationship with the FBI and 19 access to FBI facilities, correct?

20 A Correct, yes.

21 Q To the best of your knowledge, did Mr. O'Boyle sign this document at the 22 beginning of his tenure with FBI?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Okay. So again, when he accessed the information that you've described,

25 he would have violated this agreement, correct?

1 A That's correct, yes.

2 Q All right. I want to turn back to the SEAD guidelines. I want to turn to

3 guideline M, which was the other guideline you'd referenced earlier. That's on page 23.

4 A Okay. I'm there.

5 Q Guideline M is the "Use of Information Technology." And the concern

6 associated with this guideline is that, quote, "Failure to comply with rules, procedures,

7 guidelines, or regulations pertaining to information technology systems may raise security

8 concerns about an individual's reliability and trustworthiness, calling into question the 9 willingness or ability to properly protect sensitive systems, networks, and information."

10 And then it goes and describes what information technology is, correct?

11 A Correct.

12 Q Okay. What's your understanding of that first sentence that describes the 13 concern about failing to comply with rules and regulations?

14 A Just give me one second just to re-read it. I apologize.

15 Q Sure.

16 A Well, basically, we just went over the rules and procedures that he signed

17 onboarding or whatnot. And he knew the rules and procedures. And I gave some 18 examples prior in my testimony that he failed to comply with those rules and procedures.

19 So it would fit under the guideline M.

20 Q And "he" is Mr. O'Boyle?

21 A Mr. O'Boyle, yes.

22 Q And specifically why -- it says that failing to comply with rules, procedures,

23 guidelines, et cetera, calls into question the willingness or ability to properly protect

24 sensitive systems, networks, and information.

25 Why does an individual -- just speaking broadly here -- when an individual fails to

1 comply with the rules pertaining to information technology systems, why does that create
2 concern about their ability to safeguard sensitive systems and information?
3 A Well, it goes into patterns, patterns and behavior. And you start
4 questioning the person's allegiance or the way they go about their business, whether
5 they're sloppy or they protect or not protect sensitive information. So, yeah.
6 Q In the discussion in the earlier hour about Mr. O'Boyle you noted that he was 7 transferring to a unit with access to highly sensitive information, probably highly classified
8 information as well, correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q Okay. Can you describe the concerns about why his access, his prior 11 activity, his prior access to information that he did not have a right to know, his misuse of 12 information technology systems created such a concern about the risk that he might pose
13 if he had access to that highly classified information?
14 A Yeah, he just seemed like loose a little bit with the rules. As I stated before
15 in a couple of examples, he was going to cases that he had no business being in, and then 16 it was getting out to the media somehow.
17 So he showed a pattern of behavior over months, maybe a year, and it was not a
18 one-off, it wasn't a mistake. He was proactively looking for cases.
19 So for him to be assigned to a very sensitive unit, there was worry about him
20 having access to some of the most sensitive cases in the FBI and what he potentially 21 would do with that information.
22 Q I want to return to the Washington Times article, the November 10th
23 Washington Times article.
24 And you said you're familiar with this article?
25 A Unfortunately, yes.

1 Q Can you please turn to page 5 of this article?

2 A Okay. I'm there.

3 Q About halfway down, I think it's the fourth full paragraph on this page, it

4 says, "The disclosure" -- whistleblower disclosure -- "said FBI supervisor Sean Clark and

5 Ms. Perkins were behind the scheme to punish Mr. O'Boyle."

6 Was there a scheme to punish Mr. O'Boyle?

7 A What scheme? There was no scheme.

8 Q So is this an accurate statement?

9 A Absolutely 100 percent false.

10 Q Okay. When you received the O'Boyle case in August of that year -- it was 11 August of 2022, correct?

12 A August 1st, 2022, correct.

13 Q August 1st of 2022. Was your reaction, "We need to punish Mr. O'Boyle"?

14 A First of all, it's not in my nature. And second of all, absolutely not.

15 Like I said before, I gave examples of cases, my character is to find the right

16 answers, facts. Where those facts lead us in this case led us to a suspension. Yeah.

17 So no, I never -- back to your question, I believe was did I scheme or did I -- no.

18 Q And is a suspension a punishment, is that the appropriate way to describe a

19 suspension?

20 A I mean, some people would say that. I'm sure if I got a -- if I got suspended

21 I would think it was a punishment, maybe time-out. I don't know how you want to 22 describe it.

23 Q Is it fair to say that the true purposes of a suspension, though, is to prevent

24 an employee from accessing information that might do harm if they were to release it?

25 A One hundred percent, yes.

1 Q Okay. That paragraph continues, "They," referring to you and Ms. Perkins,
2 "allegedly transferred him," meaning O'Boyle, "across the country with the intent to
3 suspend and financially devastate him."
4 What's your response to that line?
5 A It's a joke. This is a joke article. Absolutely 100 percent false.
6 I had nothing to do with his transfer. I had nothing to do with his current 7 position -- his position that he's coming to. I had no intentions -- or, I mean, intent -- to 8 suspend and financially devastate him. No.
9 My intent was to get the right information as soon as we could to prevent harm to 10 national security of the patterns that he was doing and get it right.
11 Unfortunately, the case came in August 1st, 2022. This train already left the 12 station, his transfer, his selling of his house, his buying potentially of a house, his 13 household goods being shipped. Sean Clark and Ms. Perkins had nothing to with this.
14 So this is a garbage paragraph right here, garbage article. This is to capture the 15 audience. This has nothing -- this is based off of no facts, and it didn't happen.
16 Q There is a break there where an advertisement, I believe, goes, and right
17 underneath that there's a paragraph that says, quote, "'Clark bragged to at least one
18 other FBI employee in SecD that he was going to really "screw" O'Boyle,' the disclosure
19 said."
20 Did you ever tell anyone in SecD that you were going to screw O'Boyle?
21 A Why would I say that? No.
22 Mr. Berger. She's asking whether you ever said that.
23 The Witness. No, I know, Larry.
24 The statement makes me very angry honestly.
25 [redacted]. Why does it make you angry?

1 The Witness. Because it's not me and it's not true. People can write whatever
2 they want in papers. We've probably all been written about. But bring this person
3 here, this one other employee, and let's ask them that in front of me. I never said this.
4 BY [redacted]:
5 Q There's an allegation, that I think was what [redacted] was hinting at in the 6 prior hour, that SecD, and you in particular, held the suspension letter to Mr. O'Boyle until 7 he actually had moved and then served it on his new location intentionally to put him in a
8 hard spot, to financially disadvantage him or to create additional hardship for him.
9 Is that allegation true?
10 A That's not true. What I said before is there was a criminal case going on 11 with New York. They were dictating some of this as well. He was on paternity leave.
12 And we had to get our facts right. Ask anybody, 40 days or 35 days from opening
13 to suspension is pretty quick.
14 So the timing sucked for O'Boyle, but Sean Clark, SecD, had nothing do with that.
15 I feel bad for him and his family as far as that. I had nothing to do with that.
16 And the suspension being served that day was because we didn't want him -- we 17 had our facts, we had our suspension, and we didn't want him getting into a sensitive 18 position. That's what it comes down to.
19 Q Do you know if Ms. Perkins intentionally withheld the letter in order to cause
20 him -- cause Mr. O'Boyle additional hardship?
21 A Absolutely none of that happened.
22 Q Okay. Do you know if EAD Moore intentionally had the letter withheld in 23 order to cause additional hardship to Mr. O'Boyle?
24 A No.
25 Q Some final questions on the O'Boyle decision.

1 I forgot to ask this in the earlier hour. The Empower Oversight letter suggests
2 that Mr. O'Boyle was suspended for making protected disclosures to Congress.
3 Is that accurate?
4 A No, a hundred percent inaccurate.
5 Q He was -- Mr. O'Boyle was not suspended for making protected disclosures
6 to Congress?
7 A That is correct.
8 Q And, in fact, he was suspended for improperly accessing sensitive systems?
9 A Guideline M, guideline K, correct.
10 Q And improperly removing information from the systems?
11 A That is correct, yes.
12 Q Was the suspension or revocation of Mr. O'Boyle's security clearance
13 motivated by animus on your part?
14 A I had nothing to do with the revocation. The suspension, absolutely not,
15 zero percent.
16 Q Okay. Was it done to punish him for his political or ideological beliefs?
17 A I didn't even know his political beliefs. So, no.
18 Q Are you confident that the true motive behind FBI's decision to suspend
19 Mr. O'Boyle's security clearance was to protect the national security of the United States
20 against a serious potential security risk?
21 A Yes.
22 Q To the best of your knowledge, was the suspension issued to Marcus Allen
23 motivated by any type of animus?
24 A I was not part of that investigation, so I'd rather not comment.
25 Q Okay. But you don't have any personal knowledge?

1 A I have no personal knowledge.

2 Q Okay. Do you have any personal knowledge of that suspension being

3 issued, the Marcus Allen suspension being issued to punish him for his political or 4 ideological beliefs?

5 A No, I'm not aware of that.

6 Q All right. Thank you. We can go off the record.

7 [Discussion off the record.]

8 [redacted]. Back on the record. The time is 1:54 p.m.

9 BY [redacted]:

10 Q Mr. Clark, I just have a few more questions that I wanted to ask you.

11 Going back to Mr. O'Boyle's case. I know you had mentioned you became aware

12 that he had sold his house, his personal belongings were shipped out here to Virginia, and 13 that he did transfer here.

14 Did you ever become aware that there was -- he was kind of denied access to his

15 personal belongings, he didn't have access to them for about 4 weeks while they were

16 held in, I believe, it was someone that had contracted with the FBI to hold the 17 belongings? Did you ever become aware of that?

18 A I never did, no, never did. Only one caveat. Coming here, I just briefly

19 looked at Jen Moore's testimony. I think she stated in that. That's probably the first 20 time I saw that. I think she -- did she mention that?

21 Q She did, yes.

22 A I was not aware of that. I was not involved in that. So, no. And, in fact,

23 I wasn't even aware that his stuff was being transported. All I knew was that he was 24 buying a house and selling a house.

25 Q Okay. And at some point, I believe in the second hour, you had mentioned

1 some interactions with the Kansas City Field Office.

2 A Yes.

3 Q Did you have those interactions or did someone on your team have those

4 interactions?

5 A Probably both.

6 Q Okay. And who did you reach out to at the Kansas City Field Office?

7 A ASAC Jeffrey Berkebile?

8 Q Yeah.

9 A Spoke to him. I may have spoken to SA Dayoub.

10 Q Okay.

11 A But it probably was more of -- no, I don't think I spoke to him on that case.

12 No, that was a different case. The ASAC.

13 Q And what was the reason for that outreach?

14 A The ASAC.

15 Brian Murphy, the investigator, and I interviewed ASAC Berkebile. We wanted to

16 ask him, I think early on, probably sometime in August, I would say, or early September,

17 we wanted to see if he could listen to the May 11th, 2022, Project Veritas interview to see

18 if he could determine who it was or if he -- you know. So we did a 302 on that.

19 Q Okay.

20 A And I think during that 302 -- I just reviewed it -- Berkebile was giving us

21 some background character on O'Boyle.

22 Q Did you ever talk to the Kansas City Field Office about the plan to suspend

23 Mr. O'Boyle's clearance?

24 A I'm sure that came up, yes.

25 Q Okay. And what timeframe would that have occurred?

1 A The best I can say is sometime probably between August and September. I
2 know that's not what you want to hear, but somewhere in those 30 to 40 days.
3 Q Okay. And would it have been immediately before the suspension of his 4 clearance occurred or weeks before that?
5 A I don't know. It's a pretty condensed timeframe. So, I mean, we could 6 probably surmise that probably within a few weeks of it being signed off on.
7 Q And according to one of the disclosures we've received, someone at the 8 Kansas City Field Office raised objections to the suspension because of an FBI policy that 9 didn't permit the transfer of an employee while there was an ongoing investigation.
10 Do you remember that occurring or was that conversation with you or would that 11 have taken place with someone else?
12 A I don't know what you're talking about. I apologize. What do you mean?
13 Q Did you ever hear of any objections being raised by the Kansas City Field
14 Office for suspending Mr. O'Boyle's clearance while he was transferring?
15 A Never heard that.
16 Q Okay.
17 A It wasn't with me.
18 Q And I know during the last hour you went through some of the statements
19 that were included in the article and the disclosures.
20 But just kind of wanted to retrace those steps a bit. But some of the statements
21 were that you were out to punish Mr. O'Boyle, you wanted to screw Mr. O'Boyle. At 22 one point you wanted to, quote, "eff that guy," or financially devastate him.
23 Why would people think you had such animosity towards Mr. O'Boyle?
24 A Who is the source of those?
25 Q It's whistleblower disclosures.

1 A Who's the whistleblower?

2 Q Well, I'm not going to name a whistleblower on the record, that's not what

3 the committee does.

4 But I'm just wondering why do you think people would think you have so much

5 animosity?

6 A When you say people --

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A -- it's just one whistleblower.

9 Q I cannot --

10 Mr. Berger. We don't know -- yeah, we don't know whether it's people, whether 11 it's one person.

12 The Witness. I don't know.

13 Mr. Berger. But he's asking --

14 The Witness. I don't know. I'm not here talking to my accused. I have no 15 idea.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q And if it's just one person, why would even a person think that you had

3 animosity towards Mr. O'Boyle to make these type of statements?

4 A I don't know who would say this. I had no animosity. I didn't even know

5 Mr. O'Boyle. I'm a fact guy, f-a-c-t, fact. I follow the facts.

6 I have no animosity to Mr. O'Boyle. I don't know him. So I don't know why

7 they would say that.

8 If it came from [redacted] I already outlined him and I relationship. So he

9 has probably underlining motivations to hurt me. And I know of some other allegations

10 out there about me that's he's made up. So if it's come from him, it's not worth weight.

11 Q Have you ever had any conversations while were you at the FBI with EAD

12 Moore about Mr. O'Boyle's case?

13 A I didn't talk to Ms. -- Jen Moore was like seven levels above me.

14 Q When Ms. Moore came before this committee in June 2023, she stated that 15 the review process of Mr. O'Boyle's clearance would be done in a month, which would 16 have been July 2023. His clearance was ultimately revoked this month.

17 Just wondering if you could provide any color about why there was such an 18 extension of time, if you can. I know you left in August 2023.

19 A I'm sorry, the date she said was -- when did she testify? I apologize.

20 Q June 2023, at the beginning of June.

21 A June 2023. Okay.

22 Q I believe it was her last day with the Bureau actually.

23 A Okay. So she said it was going to be adjudicated a month later.

24 Q Uh-huh. It would have been resolved within a month.

25 A From the adjudication unit.

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A Yeah. I don't know why she would have said that. That's really fast.

3 Q Okay. Jumping to a different topic, I know that you had said that you had

4 left SecD at some point to go back to the WFO. What was that timeframe again?

5 A August 1st of 2021 through 90 days from there, that's when I went back.

6 Q Okay.

7 A So I'm quickly doing the math. August. September. So end of October I

8 returned to WFO. During that period I -- I would have been there maybe two pay

9 periods, I think. So I would have returned somewhere after Thanksgiving.

10 Q Okay.

11 A Probably the first week of December.

12 Q And during the first hour that we had together, you had mentioned some

13 investigative activity that you had taken with regard to the events that occurred at the 14 Capitol on January 6th, 2021.

15 A Correct.

16 Q I mean, you said you ultimately responded to the Capitol for the pipe bomb

17 that was placed near the DNC. Is that correct?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q Were you working in SecD at the time or were you at WFO at that time?

20 A I was at WFO. That day I was working as a bomb technician --

21 Q Okay.

22 A -- assigned to the Capitol Police with Metropolitan Police Department.

23 Q Okay. And when were you called to the Capitol? Do you remember the 24 time? Did you immediately go to the DNC or --

25 A That was our first callout. Gosh, anywhere between 10 -- was it 10 a.m.,

1 10:30, 9:30? Somewhere around there. It was in the morning. We worked on it for a
2 few hours.
3 Q Okay. And who initially called you here to the DNC pipe bomb? Was it
4 your supervisor? Or who was making those calls that day?
5 A Probably got a telephone call from the coordinator, the bomb tech
6 coordinator. We had radio comms. There was a command post set up that day at 7 WFO. I don't know who called me.
8 Q Okay.
9 A But somehow the call came and said, "We need bomb technicians over at 10 the DNC and the RNC," because I think there was two pipe bombs.
11 Q And as a bomb technician, what was your role? What actions did you take 12 with regards to the pipe bomb that was found near the DNC?
13 A Well, it was a little chaotic that day. Normally we would render it safe and 14 then collect the evidence, because it probably would become a domestic terrorism or a 15 potential criminal, and the FBI or ATF would take the lead on that.
16 But my role specifically was I worked with Capitol. We rendered one of the DNC
17 pipe bombs, had the end caps off, we rendered it safe. But I was on to my next call.
18 And there was -- I just remember the streets were chaos. We couldn't even collect the 19 evidence that day. We couldn't even find the end caps, we had to come back the next 20 day.
21 Q And so after you rendered the pipe bomb safe, then was that the end of your 22 involvement with any sort of investigative activity in relation to the pipe bombs that were 23 found near the DNC and RNC?
24 A Yeah, I had nothing to do with it after that.
25 Q Okay.

1 A I was off and running on something else.

2 Q Okay.

3 A But there were other FBI folks there that stayed.

4 Q Did you ever get any sort of briefings or updates on what was going on with

5 the pipe bomb investigation?

6 A None. My main role after that was crimes against children.

7 Q Okay. And to this day there's been no subject arrested in regards to the

8 pipe bomb. Just wondering, are you surprised by that, that it's taken this long for the 9 investigation to take place?

10 A My understanding was the individual was obfuscated, his face was

11 obfuscated, and cell phone data in the city was very difficult to pin him down or pin her

12 down.

13 I'm sure the FBI really tried to figure out who that was, but I can't comment

14 because I didn't work the case at all. All I was was there was that day to render safe the 15 device, that was it.

16 Q And during the first hour you had talked about how the goal posts were

17 constantly shifting with regards to who the FBI was going after. Can you kind of provide 18 a little bit more color there? What did you mean by that?

19 A You know, one day it was investigate, arrest anybody that was assaulting the 20 police officers. Next day it was anybody that was inside the Capitol. A week later it

21 was anybody that was on the steps of the Capitol. A month later it was anybody that 22 was on the grass within a hundred yards. I mean, it just kept changing.

23 At one point it was anyone that broke down a barrier or went past a barrier. But

24 discussions occurred. If the barrier was already down and 100,000 people walked past, 25 or whatever, thousands of people, how would you know the barrier was down?

1 So it was just goal posts were constantly being changed for the investigators.
2 That's what I meant.
3 Q And were you working January 6th-related investigations while at the WFO
4 after the pipe bomb investigation or did you go back to just working on crimes against
5 children?
6 A They had us all working J6 -- or, I'd say, yes, I was working J6 investigations.
7 I think I had one -- I was a lead on one and I think two or three I was a co-case. Most of 8 them were assaults on police officers.
9 And so, yes, I partook in at least three or four J9 -- J6 investigations, yes.
10 Q Okay. And during a round of questioning with my Democrat colleague you 11 mentioned something about an arrest affidavit that you didn't want to sign and they 12 found someone else to sign.
13 Was that in relation to a January 6th case? I'm sorry, I was down at the end of 14 the table and didn't hear you?
15 A Yeah, yeah. No problem, no problem. It was, yes.
16 Q And what can you tell us about that?
17 A Actually it was just in the news. He just pled, I think. Trying to think of his 18 name. Just give me a second, I apologize.
19 Q Take your time.
20 A I forget his name. Oh, my God. It's going to come -- I'm going to walk out
21 of this room and it's going to come to me.
22 Q The name isn't important. I guess I'm just wondering, what were your 23 concerns with the arrest affidavit that led you not to sign it?
24 A So we presented facts to the U.S. Attorney's Office -- and this is best of my
25 ability, just don't hold me to it, it's been two or three years -- presented facts to the U.S.

1 Attorney's Office, and they would put it into the affidavit where they would shape the 2 affidavit.
3 And what they came back with, I didn't find some of the paragraphs were 4 accurate. I think they were trying to boilerplate some of the affidavits to fit all of them
5 because they had concerns later down the road related to discovery.
6 So I just think the hours and days of video that we were watching of this individual
7 just didn't fit some of the things that they had in the affidavit. I don't remember 8 specifically what it was.
9 And I asked him if he could change that. I said, "Hey, if you can change this,
10 change that, whatever, and I'll sign it, because I feel this is factually based off of my 11 observations." And it came back and they just wouldn't -- they wouldn't change it. So
12 I refused to sign the affidavit.
13 So he was like the right-hand guy of -- who was the guy that was sued? Sandy
14 Hook, made comments about Sandy Hook, and he was sued for like a billion dollars.
15 Mr. Berger. Jones?
16 The Witness. What was his name?
17 Mr. Berger. Yeah, Jones, I think.
18 The Witness. Yeah.
19 Mr. Berger. Or the guy who said it was FBI.
20 The Witness. He's out in Texas somewhere.
21 Mr. Berger. Yeah. I think his name is Jones. But anyway, it doesn't matter.
22 The Witness. He's associated with him.
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q And when you -- sorry to go back to this -- but when you talked about the 25 moving the gold posts and like who should be targeted, whether it be people who had

1 entered the Capitol or on the steps of the Capitol, on the grass.

2 So where was that direction coming from? Was that coming from

3 Headquarters? WFO? Who was making those decisions, to the best of your

4 knowledge?

5 A I just remember conversations with the line AUSA that I had. I think he was

6 either D.C. or DOJ. It might have been just general speak amongst case agents in the 7 squad.

8 Where that was coming from? I don't know exactly. I could surmise. But I'd 9 rather not do that here.

10 Q And at the time you were working the January 6th-related cases were you an 11 SSA still there back at WFO?

12 A Oh, no, no.

13 Q Did you have a different title?

14 A I was an SA. I was a special agent.

15 Q Okay.

16 A Yeah.

17 Q And when did you stop working January 6th-related cases?

18 A When I transferred to SecD.

19 Q Okay. So did you ever go back full-time to working on crimes against 20 children or was it always just a mix after January 6th?

21 A Oh, after January 6th?

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A So we were kind of told to focus on January 6th and that's our day job. And 24 we were, we were focused on the assault cases definitely. There was no problem

25 working those.

But I think, as you have more time in the Bureau, you realize how to manage your time better. And so we were focused on emergencies. If there's an emergency as far as crimes against children, we identified the hands-on offender that needed to be taken off the street.

Some of the cases that we knew that could wait waited, but I was still working the crimes against children. Was it a hundred percent? No. Probably more so on the January 6th cases, especially the first few months.

[redacted]. We can go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

BY [redacted]:

Q Just a couple of follow-up questions on what you were just asked.

You said that you were one of the bomb technicians that responded to the DNC pipe bomb, correct?

A The DNC, correct.

Q Okay. Can you explain, do you have training in disabling bombs? I don't know what the technical term is. But can you explain your training in that regard?

A Yeah, rendering safe, RSP, procedures. Yes, I had 17 years of training.

Q Okay. And where did you receive that training?

A Initial training 5-week course is in Huntsville, Alabama. It's called the Hazardous Devices School, run by FBI and DOD/Army.

Q Okay. And would you say that you are able to determine -- to assess a bomb or an explosive device to determine whether it's live or whether it poses a danger or not?

A God, that's an open-ended question.

Q Have you had training in that?

1 A Yeah, we have. Yes, correct, yes. So I am able to -- or was able to -- make
2 an assessment, determine the course of action.
3 Q You said that you rendered the pipe bomb at the DNC safe. What does 4 that mean?
5 A So there were two operators I believe from Capitol Police in their truck and I
6 was with them. I was standing behind them. They were operating the robot. And 7 basically we had -- we loaded up two -- I believe it was two shotguns on the robot. And 8 they basically -- we basically shot -- they shot, the Capitol Police, but I was there as the 9 FBI and I was -- we were all kind of, "Hey, do this, do that. Hey, move it over that way."
10 That kind of thing. Collaborating. But I did not operate it. It was all Capitol Police.
11 But they shot the end cap off. And then they were putting a guy in a suit to go
12 down to make sure that it was rendered safe where basically somebody could go down
13 there and, say, "Clear," right, no explosives in the pipe and everything's scattered.
14 And I said to them, "Why don't we just -- you have another loaded shotgun. Just 15 shoot the other end cap off." Because we couldn't see if there's anything still inside the 16 cap, inside the pipe.
17 So that's kind of what I did. And then they ended up shooting the second end
18 cap off.
19 Q Was it your understanding that it was a live bomb, meaning it had the 20 potential to cause damage?
21 A You know, I don't know. I mean, it looked like it.
22 Q Okay.
23 A But I don't know what the lab -- I don't -- I can't -- I don't want to comment.
24 I don't know what the FBI lab came back with. I didn't follow it.
25 Q You referred to the FBI lab just now. The FBI lab assesses explosive devices

1 after they are sent to the lab, correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q And so if the lab were to determine that it had been a live device, that would

4 be a pretty good indication that it had been a live device, correct?

5 A Yeah, they're the experts.

6 Q Okay.

7 A Yes.

8 Q On the January 6th cases that you referred to, you said you worked three or 9 four cases total, correct?

10 A Directly, yes.

11 Q Okay. And you were never in a supervisory capacity, correct?

12 A I was not, no.

13 Q Okay. So you weren't privy to the discussions that might have been -- you

14 referred to them moving the goal posts. You weren't privy to any discussions that might

15 have been taking place at the supervisory level or at the leadership level about how to 16 determine how to place those boundaries, correct?

17 A I was not present, correct.

18 Q Okay. So you kind of got the end result of that, but you don't know what 19 went into that decision?

20 A That would be accurate, yes.

21 Q Okay. With respect to the one case that you referred to, I'm going to -- you

22 said that the -- where you didn't agree with the affidavit?

23 A Yeah.

24 Q I'm going to read a couple of names and see if either of these might be the 25 individual.

1 Samuel Montoya?

2 A No.

3 Q Owen Shroyer?

4 A Yes.

5 Q Okay, it was Owen Shroyer.

6 You said that you didn't agree with the way that the affidavit was written, correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q But you would have signed it if it had been changed, correct?

9 A The way I sent the information over with the facts I found, yes. I would

10 have signed it, yes.

11 Q So if the affidavit had reflected the changes that you had suggested, you

12 believe that it would have shown sufficient reason to arrest the individual?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Okay. So you didn't have concerns about whether the individual should be 15 arrested or not, you just didn't agree with the way the affidavit was phrased?

16 A That's correct.

17 Q Okay. All right.

18 I want to turn to kind of a more sensitive matter.

19 Your name obviously was in the news, it was in the Washington Times article, it's 20 been in the letters from Chairman Jordan that are available on the public website.

21 A lot of the allegations made against you are that you are a partisan actor and that

22 as an FBI employee you made decisions for partisan reasons.

23 What's your response to that allegation?

24 A Could you expand on "partisan"?

25 Q That you made decisions for political reasons or out of bias or personal

1 animus?

2 A A hundred percent false. Can I go into that a little bit?

3 Q Please.

4 A I'm apolitical. I'm an Independent. I vote for both parties. I have no

5 political affiliation. For the record, I voted for Trump twice. I've also voted

6 Democratic.

7 So I've lived my career apolitical. I actually don't even like saying that in this

8 room. Don't even like you guys knowing who I'm aligned with because it's my own

9 personal belief. I have an "I" next to my name, Independent, because I don't want a 10 party telling me how to vote.

11 So to say that I have an agenda or a political agenda is a hundred percent false.

12 Q And there have specifically been allegations that SecD and you as a part of 13 SecD were retaliating against individuals in the FBI who had conservative political 14 leanings. What's your response to that allegation?

15 A I am conservative leaning, so hundred percent false.

16 Q Do you have concerns that others in SecD might have made decisions to 17 punish individual -- other FBI employees -- based on their conservative leanings?

18 A On their conservative leanings?

19 Q Uh-huh. Based on -- so, in other words, did you ever witness anyone else

20 in SecD punishing FBI employees because those FBI employees held conservative

21 viewpoints?

22 A Oh, okay. No, it never came up.

23 Q And just to go through this specifically, did you ever witness that from Ms.

24 Perkins?

25 A No.

1 Q Did you ever witness that from Mr. Veltri?

2 A With my limited interaction with him, I did not witness that.

3 Q Okay. Did you ever witness EAD Moore taking any action against FBI

4 employees because those employees held conservative beliefs?

5 A No, I had very limited interaction with AD Moore. But, no.

6 Q And in your limited interactions --

7 A No.

8 Q -- you did not witness that?

9 A No.

10 Q Okay. As I said, your name has been made public through the press and 11 through this investigation.

12 Have you experienced any threats as a result of that publicity?

13 A I have.

14 Q Are you comfortable describing what you've experienced?

15 A Well, just all internet stuff.

16 I have three children, divorced. I have primary custody of my two older ones.

17 Well, they're older now. But I have 85 percent custody of my children. And I had to let

18 them know about what was going on. If somebody shows up at my house that they

19 don't know -- I mean, this article came out on Veterans Day. So this hit home and it hit

20 out of nowhere.

21 And so, for instance, I'll give you one example. Online, I think it's Twitter,

22 O'Boyle sends things out about me, about, "Hey," he says, "eff this mother effer, he's 23 going to ruin my family financially," or whatever he says, which is a hundred percent

24 inaccurate. I didn't even have the power if wanted to do that.

25 And then some people are commenting. And I think one sent a meme or

1 whatever and some guy is like, "Where does Sean Clark work? Where does he live?
2 What is he doing?" And there is a guy with a baseball bat hitting some other guy sitting
3 at a computer.
4 Yeah, there is a lot of hatred out there. I try not to pay attention to it.
5 Unfortunately, I do go online because I'm curious. I want to know what's coming
6 around the corner.
7 But it's definitely affected me, before I even got called here. It's affected me,
8 definitely.

1

2 [2:21 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]:

4 Q How has it affected you?

5 A It's crept into my own position, my new position. I retired from the FBI

6 thinking that I did the right thing. I did the right thing. I still stand here, I did the right

7 thing. Check the paperwork. I did the right thing.

8 I had to go to my new company and tell them, "Hey, by the way, all this is out

9 there now."

10 I have a colleague that is friends with Seraphin. He was 15 years as an agent and

11 basically resigned from the FBI as a 15-year agent because of issues he was having way

12 before me. I had nothing to do with it. Resigned. He's working at my company. He

13 disclosed my picture --

14 Q Sorry. Mr. Seraphin did or the other individual?

15 A This individual.

16 Q Okay.

17 A Hold on one second. His name's Phil Kennedy. He's friends with 18 Seraphin. He is Seraphin's -- and he's all over -- what is that -- what is the app that 19 they're on? It's not Twitter.

20 Q Truth Social.

21 A Truth Social. Phil Kennedy is all over that.

22 He was the originator -- he was the original producer of Seraphin's show. And

23 what 15-year agent leaves the FBI at 15 years? He was leaving because of performance

24 issues at WFO.

25 But he's working for my company. He's very involved still with the podcast.

1 And one day I got a call at my desk, and I didn't answer it. But it was a voicemail.
2 I went to my email. I'm at a private company now. And it was Seraphin and O'Boyle
3 calling me, saying -- and I think my friend might have been on it, too -- saying, "Hey, we'd
4 like to talk to you about what you said about O'Boyle and how you eff'd this mother effer
5 and blah-blah-blah, and how you ruined his family. Call us back. We're live on our 6 podcast." They were calling me live on a podcast.
7 And I know it was Phil Kennedy because he's all over the show. He was the 8 original producer. He's still involved. He's at my company. And my internal photo
9 and my internal telephone number at my company was released to Seraphin. They have 10 my photo.
11 My son took a photo of me in a similar outfit. I only shared it with my company,
12 and only 60 people got it. Welcome to the firm. And Phil Kennedy was on that email.
13 So it's hitting home pretty, pretty tight. And here I am, put my time in in the 14 Bureau, and now it's affecting where I currently work.
15 And it's drip, drip, drip. I'm back here today. I have to let my counsel know. I
16 have to let my partners know. I have to take off. It just -- it's affected my life. It's 17 affected my children's lives.
18 Q I just want to run a couple things.
19 So you said that Mr. O'Boyle actually called you with Kyle Seraphin?
20 A Kyle Seraphin and Mr. O'Boyle called me, and they were laughing. "Yeah, 21 let's confront him." It was related to that article. I think it was a Monday. I think 22 that article came out on a Friday. I think it was a Monday they called me. I still have 23 the voice mail. I still see the photo. There's a whole show about me.
24 And this is what they said on the show. They said they're going to call me every 25 day until I answer, and they're going to call my supervisors at my new job to let them

1 know who I am and what I'm about. They were threatening my new position.

2 I had to go to my management, who barely knew me, and say, "Hey, by the way,

3 this baggage is coming in."

4 It sucked.

5 Now I'm like concerned about being a single father and potentially losing my job in

6 a private industry because these guys are spreading lies and rumors. And now they're

7 coming after me at my work, threatening me. I felt -- well, I felt threatened.

8 I even called 911, and I asked them if I could file something for a doxxing, because

9 I was afraid somebody was going to doxx me. And I didn't want my -- at the time my 10 11-year-old be home alone or my 16-year-old and somebody rolls in with guns.

11 Yeah, it hit home. It hit home.

12 Q Has your home address been made public?

13 A I don't know. I mean, I'm sure Kennedy knows where I live, and he's all

14 over that podcast. Even just yesterday he's posting things about burn the FBI down and 15 all this other junk.

16 So, yeah, it's hitting me today. And I'm telling you right now what I've told you

17 here is all truth, and I stand by my work.

18 Q Thank you.

19 [redacted]. We can go off the record. Thank you.

20 The Witness. Thank you.

22 ANDREW HERMAN, ESQ.

1 [redacted] We can go on the record. It's 10:01 a.m.

2 This is a transcribed interview of Dr. Donell Harvin. Chairman Massie and

3 Chairman Jordan requested this interview as part of the committee's oversight of Federal

4 law enforcement actions relating to the events that occurred at the U.S. Capitol on

5 January 6th, 2021.

6 Would the witness please state your name for the record.

7 Mr. Harvin. My name is Donell Harvin.

8 [redacted] We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to

9 freely consult with counsel if they so choose, and it is my understanding that you are

10 appearing today with personal counsel. Is that correct?

11 Mr. Harvin. That's correct.

12 [redacted] Could counsel please state your name for the record?

13 Mr. Herman. Andrew D. Herman.

14 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here

15 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to

16 appear voluntarily.

17 My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have

18 everyone else from the committee who is here introduce themselves as well.

19 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

20 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

21 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

22 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

23 [redacted] [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.

24 [redacted] Thank you. I'd like to now go over some of the ground rules and

25 guidelines that we'll follow during today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in

1 rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1 hour and then the minority will have
2 an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time, if they so choose. We'll 3 alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.
4 Typically we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you need to take a
5 break apart from that, please just let us know. We're happy to accommodate that.
6 As you can see, there's an official court reporter taking down everything to make a
7 written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you
8 understand that?
9 Mr. Harvin. Yes.
10 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our 11 best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to 12 just those people on the staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak clearly so the court 13 reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you as 14 well.
15 It's important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we
16 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.
17 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
18 as possible so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not
19 understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide
20 range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point just let us know.
21 If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best
22 not to guess. Please give us your best recollection. And it's okay to tell us if you 23 learned information from someone else, just indicate how you came to know the 24 information. If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and 25 please inform us who to the best of your knowledge might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question.

You should also understand that by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you understand that?

Mr. Harvin. Yes, I do.

[redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview. Do you understand this?

Mr. Harvin. Yes, I do.

[redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for making false statements under 18 USC Section 1001. Do you understand this?

Mr. Harvin. Yes, I do.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

Mr. Harvin. No, ma'am.

[redacted] Finally, I'd like to make note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation. And for the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

I also want to note for the record that we have been joined by Chairman Massie.

Mr. Massie. How are you doing?

Mr. Harvin. Good morning, sir.

Mr. Massie. Good to see you. Thanks for coming in.

Mr. Harvin. My pleasure.

1 [redacted] That's the end of my preamble. Is there anything my colleagues
2 from minority would like to add?
3 [redacted] Not at this time. I'd just like to thank you for your time today.
4 Mr. Harvin. Thank you. It's my privilege.
5 [redacted] Mr. Herman, anything?
6 Mr. Herman. No.
7 Mr. Massie. I'll have to go to votes, but I do plan to come back, so --
8 [redacted] Okay. The clock now reads 10:04 a.m. We'll start with the first 9 hour of questioning.
10 EXAMINATION
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Dr. Harvin, can you describe your academic background?
13 A I have a bachelors in fire emergency services from John Jay College in New 14 York City. I have a masters in emergency management, also from John Jay College. I
15 have a masters certificate in terrorism, MA certificate in terrorism, from John Jay College.
16 I have a masters of public health and environmental science from Hunter College in New 17 York City, and I have a doctor in public health and environmental science from SUNY
18 Downstate.
19 Q Can you describe the nature of your current employment?
20 A I am self-employed by and large; however, I do have some academic 21 appointments. I'm faculty at Georgetown University in several departments, and I'm a 22 visiting scientist at Harvard University School of Public Health.
23 Q Have you ever held a security clearance?
24 A Yes.
25 Q What level?

1 A TS/SCI.

2 Q What years?

3 A 2019, and if it's good for 5 years, to probably this year.

4 Q Gotcha. Can you describe the nature of your employment on January 6, 5 2021?

6 A I was the chief of homeland security and intelligence. Functionally, I was

7 the executive director of the Washington, D.C. fusion center.

8 Q Were you also a law enforcement officer with the Metropolitan Police

9 Department at that time?

10 A I was a sworn law enforcement officer as a reserve.

11 Q Okay.

12 A So that's a nonpaid position.

13 Q Okay. How did you -- how did your work as a police officer help inform the 14 way you thought about your duties at the fusion center?

15 A It did not.

16 Q It did not?

17 A No.

18 Q Okay. What were the duties that you held as a reserve MPD officer?

19 A I had the same duties as a regular police officer; it's just you're not full time

20 and you don't get paid.

21 Q Okay.

22 A It's almost like a volunteer EMT.

23 Q Got it. Okay.

24 What were your roles and responsibilities as the chief of homeland security and

25 intelligence for D.C.?

1 A I oversaw several situational awareness and intelligence functions for the
2 District of Columbia Homeland Security and Emergency Management Agency, or HSEMA,
3 part of that is public/private partnerships, outreach to the community, particularly houses
4 of worship, around that time a lot of synagogues in dealing with antisemitism.
5 Situational awareness 24 hours, which is a watch desk of basically scanning the NCR
6 region, the National Capital Region, for any natural and manmade hazards, so it's like a
7 24-hour watch desk. And then the intelligence and analysis piece, which is really 8 connecting with DHS, mostly I&A and other law enforcement entities within the District of 9 Columbia's physical footprint, not government, as a plug-in to the intelligence 10 community.
11 [redacted] Can I just interrupt to ask, Dr. Harvin, when you use an acronym, if 12 you could say the name.
13 Mr. Harvin. Okay. Was there an acronym that I used?
14 [redacted] I&A.
15 Mr. Harvin. I&A, DHS Intelligence & Analysis.
16 [redacted] Thank you so much.
17 Mr. Harvin. You're welcome.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q Who is your direct supervisor in that role?
20 A Dr. Christopher Rodriguez, who was the director of D.C. HSEMA at the time.
21 Q And can you just kind of broadly describe the organizational chart of your 22 office for us?
23 A Yeah. So we have the director of D.C. HSEMA, Dr. Rodriguez; a deputy 24 director, I don't know who that was on January 6th, to be honest with you. It may have 25 been Christopher Wyatt or Carrie. I know Christopher Wyatt left at some point,

1 probably Carrie, Carrie Sudofnik. And then there were several other chiefs, so there was
2 a chief of finance, there was a chief of, I think, preparedness. There was a chief of ops,
3 and there was a chief of intelligence in homeland security, so there were four chiefs.
4 Q And would those four chiefs report directly to you?
5 A Negative. There was -- those are my colleagues.
6 Q Got it. Okay.
7 Mr. Massie. Did they report to Dr. Rodriguez?
8 Mr. Harvin. Correct.
9 Mr. Massie. Okay. And you did, as well, directly?
10 Mr. Harvin. Correct.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q So in your capacity as the director of the D.C. fusion center, was your 13 supervisor Dr. Rodriguez at that time as well?
14 A Yes, correct.
15 Q Okay. And was the organizational chart of your fusion center different than 16 what you just described?
17 A The people underneath me?
18 Q Yes.
19 A Yes.
20 Q Yes, okay. Can you describe that for us?
21 A Functionally, I had two -- two chiefs, although, you know, civil service titles is 22 hard. I had two main managers underneath me, one that did operations and was also 23 my privacy officer, made sure that anything that came out of the fusion center was 24 cleared from a privacy standpoint, not violating civil rights or civil liberties; and the other 25 one ran my analysis. And then I had another chief -- I would say deputy chief, if you will,

1 division head that oversaw that 24-hour watch desk.

2 Q What other organizations had representation at the fusion center?

3 A Every law enforcement entity in the District of Columbia, I think there's over

4 30, has a seat in the fusion center. It's more of a concept than a physical place. So it's

5 like an emergency operations center. So regardless of whether they sat in that seat or

6 detailed someone 24 hours to be there, they had a seat. So when we activated they all

7 had a role -- a place. It was up to them whether they showed up or not.

8 Q And just to be clear, that included Federal law enforcement at the --

9 A Yes. So I could tick off some of them, so SCIS was commonly there;

10 our -- D.C. Guard had an intelligence officer; the FBI had someone permanently detailed

11 to us, an analyst, not an agent, an analyst --

12 Q Okay.

13 A -- from the Washington Field Office. DHS had a permanent detail for us,

14 DHS I&A, Intelligence & Analysis. I had an intelligence officer detailed to us. We had

15 connections with U.S. Capitol Police intelligence, and we had connections with Park

16 Police. And obviously there's a whole lot of other police agencies, but those are the 17 main players, and obviously D.C. MPD, Metropolitan Police.

18 Q Okay. Is it fair to say that ATF, DEA, they also had seats --

19 A No, they weren't really, no.

20 Q Okay.

21 A Although they're law enforcement, they really didn't have an intelligence

22 role, and then my years there they never interacted with us.

23 Q Okay.

24 A But they -- they're all welcome.

25 Q Sure. We'll go ahead and enter as EXHIBIT 1, your January 24, 2022, TI with

1 the J6 Select Committee.

2 [Harvin Exhibit No. 1

3 was marked for identification.]

4 [redacted] And when we refer to the transcript we'll go ahead and point you to 5 the page just to kind of help make sure you recollect your testimony and know what

6 we're talking about.

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q So when you get that we'll start on page 20.

9 A Sure. I didn't bring my reading glasses, so -- I'm in denial. I'm getting

10 older and I need glasses, but I leave them at home. They're never there when I need

11 them.

12 Mr. Herman. Eventually you'll get bifocals.

13 Mr. Harvin. Eventually I won't have to read any documents, my friend, and I'll be 14 retired.

15 [redacted] Sorry, you said page 20?

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Page 20, yes. So down on line 19, that's kind of what I'm concerned with.

18 So during your interview with the January 6th Committee, you mentioned an issue you

19 had with other law enforcement agencies being prohibited from sharing information with 20 the fusion center. Can you explain what caused that issue?

21 A At a macro level, there is no requirement on law for any State or local fusion

22 centers to share information with each other or with DHS.

23 Q And how did that impact your mission, particularly --

24 A It negatively impacted --

25 Mr. Herman. Let him finish.

1 Mr. Harvin. I'm sorry.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q How did that impact your mission leading up to January 6th?

4 A It negatively impacted the mission leading up to January 6th because our

5 neighboring fusion centers in Virginia and Maryland felt the need to withhold information

6 about law enforcement sensitive cases and things they were tracking pertaining to

7 January 6th that they could not share with us.

8 Q Did they ever point to a justification for why they felt that way or why they

9 were reluctant?

10 A State statute or Department policy.

11 Q Okay.

12 BY [redacted]

13 Q Can you explain the difference between your fusion center and then the 14 fusion centers that were in Virginia and Maryland. I know that there is a difference

15 between the law enforcement fusion centers and the non-law enforcement.

16 A Yeah.

17 Q Can you kind of help unpack that for us?

18 A So all fusion centers are set up in concept the same, right. State and local

19 resources supported by Federal Government generally through DHS grants owned by the

20 State and locals as a plug-in to the intelligence community vis-a-vis DHS Intelligence &

21 Analysis to pull and push information intelligence. Where those fusion centers are

22 housed varies greatly across the country. Some are housed as independent agencies;

23 some are housed within Homeland Security agencies, like mine in New Jersey; some are

24 housed within State police or county police or local police, like New Jersey, Maryland,

25 Virginia.

1 And so what happens is that those fusion centers, by virtue, must take on not only
2 the culture, because they're usually drawing from police officers, but also the rules,
3 regulations, and code of that jurisdiction or that agency. And so when you do that you
4 almost adopt the DNA of those law enforcement agencies, and law enforcement agencies
5 generally don't share law enforcement-sensitive information with non-law enforcement
6 agencies.
7 Q Okay. And do you know in the leadup to January 6th, were -- was the 8 Virginia fusion center and the Maryland fusion center, were they communicating with one
9 another? Did you ever get a sense that they were sharing intelligence that they had 10 with one another but not with the D.C. fusion center?
11 A I don't know.
12 Q Okay.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q How did COVID-19 affect the information sharing that was happening at your 15 fusion center?
16 A So fusion intelligence at the State and local level is about building
17 relationships and working with people, and so having a center about this big where you 18 had desks, you had cubicles with no height so you can see everybody, bullpen, and 19 sharing that information with other agencies is critical to information sharing.
20 COVID-19, the State, local, and Federal level, there was a telework construct that 21 was brought on board, and at any given time, I may have -- I think the max I was allowed 22 to have was one or two people in the office, and Federal partners also didn't come in.
23 So, you know, if you went to a SCIF, you were the only one allowed in the SCIF at any 24 given time. And the SCIF is where -- I'm sorry, SCIF is secured information -- S-C-I-F, I'm 25 not quite sure. It's where we exchange secured information. That's where

1 conversations happen that are classified. If you can only -- you can't have a
2 conversation with yourself and share information. So I think a lot of that information
3 exchange was hindered by COVID-19 because of the restrictions that were put into place.
4 Q And your Federal law enforcement representatives that might typically show
5 up, like the FBI analyst, did she continue to show up?
6 A No. We were told -- and I don't know -- I wasn't told directly. One of my 7 supervisors were told that she was -- told that she was unable to come in because of 8 restrictions that either the DOJ or FBI put into place in terms of, you know, remote work
9 or working off site.
10 Q Okay.
11 A And then --
12 Q So just to put a fine point on it, those were not your restrictions as director
13 that you were imposing kind of under fusion center. It was DOJ and FBI saying, no, we 14 cannot go to the fusion center?
15 A That's correct.
16 Q Okay. Did you ever --
17 A I'm sorry, if I can --
18 Q Yeah, please.
19 A And likewise, our DHS, I call it handler or IO, intelligence officer, experienced
20 some of the same issues on DHS, so he also wasn't around.
21 Q Understood. Did you ever attempt to secure a position for a representative
22 from your agency on the FBI's Joint Terrorism Task Force?
23 A Several times.
24 Q And what was the outcome of those attempts?
25 A They were unsuccessful.

1 Q Did they provide a justification for denying your attempts to provide
2 someone?
3 A They -- and I met at the Washington Field Office on several occasions. They
4 said they were working on it. It was a process, and it could take some while. They said
5 it was a clearance process.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q Why did you feel it was important to have representation on the JTTF?
8 A I have two answers for you, one is personal and one is professional. The 9 professional one is many fusion centers either had the JTTF in the fusion center, like our 10 colleagues in Maryland, it's embedded asked in the fusion center, or have a 11 representative within the fusion center. And I visited other fusion centers that had the 12 JTTF in the back room.
13 My personal one is, I'm from New York, and I know what happens -- I was there on 14 9/11. I know what happens when agencies don't share information. And I was 15 personally offended by the fact that one of my best friends, who was the chief of the JTTF
16 at NYPD would come down to D.C. every 1 or 2 -- every 2 or 3 months to spend time with 17 NYPD officers that were detailed to the Washington JTTF. And so my question to the 18 Washington Field Office is, how can NYPD that's not in our jurisdiction have two or three 19 people permanently assigned to the JTTF and the Washington D.C. fusion center, and this 20 is -- our jurisdiction cannot have one?
21 Q And in your transcribed interview at the January 6th Committee, I'm looking 22 at page 56 here, starting line 19. It says -- you responded to a question, "Well, the 23 reason why you have an FBI intelligence analyst embedded in the fusion center is to share
24 face-to-face intelligence, to provide access to fintel."
25 Then if you go down to line 23, "And so it was just a different -- to be honest with

1 you, I don't -- I can't be any more blunt. We just didn't come to expect anything from 2 the WFO, and they didn't disappointment."
3 So was there not an information sharing from the FBI to the fusion centers? Is 4 that accurate to say?
5 A Yeah, so -- and I'll be blunt here, because I'm a New Yorker, and I don't know
6 any other way to be, we had on paper an analyst that was very good from the WFO
7 detailed to come to the fusion center generally about 2 days a week. She would go into
8 the SCIF, wouldn't report in to anybody, wouldn't let anyone know that she was there,
9 spend the entire day in the SCIF and leave. If you were -- you know.
10 And so the information intelligence she was sharing was available through other 11 means. So we would get an email from her, oh, go to HSN and log on and you'll see this.
12 It's already out there. Or we would get it a day or two after our DHS person sent it. So
13 it's really, from an Intelligence & Analysis standpoint, very generic, basic. It wasn't 14 anything that would further our mission in any means, but it was sufficient, I guess, in 15 their eyes, to provide us things that we can get other -- through other means.
16 Mr. Massie. I'm going to have to go to votes, so I have a couple quick questions
17 so we don't have to go back to this.
18 Did you ever interact with Steven D'Antuono, who was in charge of the FBI office
19 in D.C.?
20 Mr. Harvin. Yes, sir.
21 Mr. Massie. Were these his decisions to make?
22 Mr. Harvin. I don't know, sir.
23 Mr. Massie. Okay. What was your interaction -- what were your interactions 24 with him like?
25 Mr. Harvin. Immediately after January 6th, I pushed for my director to have a

1 phone call with him to demand that we have access to the JTTF so this wouldn't happen
2 again, because we were preparing for inauguration. And that was rebuffed on that call
3 with Dr. Rodriguez on the line.
4 Mr. Massie. Okay. Another topic, you had -- somebody beneath you was in 5 charge of analysis. You were describing the org chart. And later I think we're going to 6 talk about a junior analyst who came up with a very prescient prediction. Did the junior 7 analyst work for this person in charge of analysis underneath of you?
8 Mr. Harvin. Yes, sir.
9 Mr. Massie. Okay. Those were my questions, just so we don't have to go back
10 and revisit that. All right. I'll be back after votes.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Thanks.
13 Did those interactions with the FBI leave you with the impression that they were 14 complacent?
15 A No.
16 Q Were you ever concerned that the FBI maybe had misplaced priorities?
17 [redacted] I'm sorry, I didn't hear that. Could you repeat that?
18 [redacted] Were you ever concerned that the FBI had misplaced priorities?
19 [redacted] Thank you.
20 Mr. Harvin. No.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q Would you characterize the FBI liaison to the D.C. fusion center as an active 23 and contributing member of the group?
24 A No.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Did the intelligence sharing, was that a -- between the WFO and your fusion
2 center, was that an ongoing problem or was that just a problem after COVID? Did it
3 ever get better during your tenure?
4 A It was a problem that I inherited, which is why I got the job. I had no
5 background in intelligence at all. My background, as an executive in government in D.C.
6 and in New York, I had a reputation for building relationships and mending relationships.
7 And so I had grown -- I had developed a very strong relationship with the WFO through
8 my work in D.C. forensics overseeing the forensics. And so they thought I would be a
9 good asset, because the relationship between the WFO and the fusion center was almost 10 nonexistent. So I was brought on board to repair that.
11 Q Do you know if the -- did the intelligence sharing ever get better? I know
12 your tenure there wrapped in 2021. Do you have any inclination or whether it has 13 gotten better? Is there any intelligence sharing, if you know?
14 A I don't know.
15 Q Okay.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q What role did the fusion center have in monitoring threat streams in the 18 leadup to January 6th?
19 A So we had the lead role in the District of Columbia for those locations that 20 are within the District of Columbia's jurisdiction. In doing so, however, we picked up 21 intelligence and information that pertained to areas and locations that were outside of 22 our jurisdiction, like, for example, the U.S. Capitol.
23 Q So let's go ahead and enter as an exhibit, exhibit 2, your opinion piece that
24 you wrote for Politico, "What the January 6th Committee Report Left Out."
25 [Harvin Exhibit No. 2

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted] Take as much time as you need to review as well.

3 Mr. Harvin. I -- you know, I'm a little familiar with it.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Sure. What was your awareness of threat levels before January 6th in the 6 leadup to that day?

7 A That spans a period of about 5 weeks. So the timeline is, and there was the

8 MAGA One and MAGA Two. I don't know any other way to describe them -- we'll call

9 them rallies, and then we were made aware of another march that would be happening

10 on January 6th. We assigned an analyst -- not we, there was a rotation, so it's the next

11 analyst up, that's how we do it, it's a rotation cycle, so that individual becomes -- goes

12 from a regular analyst now to take the lead. And then when that -- the event is done,

13 MAGA One, MAGA Two, whatever, they go back to their normal analyst slot. And that 14 individual is in charge of monitoring the threat until the day of that incident.

15 Early on, we'll say the first couple of weeks, nothing, didn't seem like anything,

16 and so there was very little threat. As we got closer and closer, the threat picture

17 increased great.

18 Q So in this article you stated that the events of January 6th represented the 19 most telegraphed and predictable attack on the homeland in history. When did you

20 reach that conclusion?

21 A I guess on January 7th.

22 Q Did anyone else from the law enforcement community or those represented

23 at the fusion center kind of speak to you about the fact that in their minds it was 24 predictable and telegraphed?

25 A Every single person that I know in the business told me that privately.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Anyone in the leadup to January 6th?

3 A No.

4 Q And the 5 weeks you're talking about, so if I'm remembering correctly, I

5 think the first rally or event in support of President Trump was in November and then the

6 second one was maybe in December. Would that encompass the 5 weeks leading up

7 to --

8 A It may be 4.

9 Q Okay.

10 A It was -- it was more than 2 weeks, less than 5, so let's say 4 or 3. I don't

11 know the exact time that it was announced. It was around the time MAGA Two, and it

12 was announced it was a Stop the Steal. So it may have been brewing out there. It's

13 not until it rises to a certain thing that someone says, oh, we should be tracking this

14 because it's coming to D.C.

15 I don't know if it pertains to the -- there's a whole lot of things that go into it, like

16 it's internet chatter or noise, but it's mostly, I think, people pull permits. I hate to

17 use -- well, they get a permit from the District of Columbia to do an activity, and that's

18 formally generally what triggers us to say how many people they are expecting, you

19 know, how do we protect them -- that's our first thing, right. Like we're in the unique

20 position to protect people that may come to the District to harm us. Whether it's, you

21 know, Unite the Right or BLM or whatever, we have to make sure their First Amendment

22 protected activities are protected, and we generally do that conventionally when there is

23 a permit pulled. But sometimes we're monitoring the tea leaves, people saying they're

24 going to come, and we'll start doing a little advance work. So I'm really a little fuzzy on 25 the exact, but I know it was more than 3 weeks.

1 Q And during your transcribed interview with the January 6th Committee, you
2 had mentioned something about concern -- your main concern was interpersonal
3 violence. Is that correct?
4 A Uh-huh.
5 Q Can you unpack that? I know you mentioned it in your transcribed
6 interview with the other committee, but if you could just unpack that a bit for us.
7 A Yeah. So MAGA One, MAGA Two, pretty peaceful with the exception of,
8 you know, some interpersonal violence with people on the far left coming, right, and 9 that's not just D.C., that's like every place in this country. Like our job is to make sure
10 these people stay apart. We saw a lot of interpersonal violence in -- during the summer
11 of 2020, particularly towards the end. And so we felt that if we can just keep those 12 people away, the people on the far left, you know those groups, that the people on the 13 right will have their ability to peacefully protest, and we should have no issue. So that 14 was our main concern, at the outset.
15 Q And at the fusion center, your kind of area of jurisdiction, if you will, is the 16 District of Columbia, not the Capitol or any other sort of Federal land. Is that correct?
17 A That's correct.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q At what point did you assign an analyst to January 6th?
20 A And once again, that's a little fuzzy. It may be 3 or 4 weeks before. It's 21 whenever -- I didn't assign it. My -- it came up in a daily meeting, like, okay, we're 22 tracking this. And I'm like, okay, well, what is it, MAGA Three? And they're like, no,
23 they're calling it January 6th, Stop the Steal. I'm like, okay, all right. There's just so
24 many -- we weren't worried about January 6th, none of us were in the intelligence
25 community, Federal or local. We were worried about the inauguration.

1 And so all the apparatus and all the intelligence information gathering, 90 percent
2 of my staff were focused on the inauguration. That timeline is so compressed and the 3 demands are so high getting ready for that, and so for me, January 6th was a
4 nothing-burger at the outset.
5 Q At what point did you begin forecasting your belief that January 6th could be 6 violent?
7 A About 2 weeks before we were concerned, I believe we saw a lot of 8 derogatory information, derogatory meaning threatening language and information
9 online after former President Trump tweeted out to be here. I don't know what the 10 exact day of that is, the famous, you know, "It will be wild," tweet. And literally, within 11 a day, it went from zero to 60.
12 And I don't know how to explain it in non-intelligence terms, but we saw a
13 tenfold -- let's say a tenfold increase in interest. Along with that, we saw some people
14 say, well, it's going to be -- intimating that it would be violent, which we hadn't seen
15 before, particularly groups that generally -- had never come to Washington, D.C., groups
16 that I did not -- we did not and I did not associate with the former President as a 17 supporter.
18 Q When you were trying to share that information with the FBI, for example,
19 what kind of reaction did you receive from them?
20 A I didn't share that information directly with the FBI. We shared that in 21 meetings, so everyone had the opportunity.
22 Q Was the FBI analyst participating in those meetings?
23 A I don't know if that analyst was there. So, once again, we were all 24 attending meetings -- the backdrop of this is we were all attending meetings weekly for 25 the NSSE that was -- the national special security event that was the inauguration. And

1 everyone would be tracking that inauguration, and then someone would say, oh, yeah,
2 are you guys tracking this January 6th thing? And people would nod their head, right.
3 And I would say, you know, my guys, my team are collecting something. If you guys
4 want something, let us know. It would never be on the agenda for it.
5 So it was -- because if you think about it, they're there for the NSSE. They're not 6 there for a First Amendment protected activity. So it was really left on the table. And 7 that concerned me about 2 weeks before January 6th that nobody in the Federal
8 Government was talking -- they weren't having meetings specifically about January 6th.
9 All the meetings were talking about the inauguration and then maybe January 6th would 10 come up. That prompted me to do something that was unprecedented, which is 11 convene and invite our Federal partners specifically to talk about January 6th.
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q And what day was that, do you remember, when you convened your Federal 14 partners?
15 A I'm going to guess it's -- and I believe that a TikTok of the actions that I took 16 was submitted to the House.
17 Q Okay.
18 A So I would defer to that. My memory, I would say, 2, maybe 2 and a half
19 weeks before.
20 Q Okay. And if it helps with the timeline, too, I believe that the tweet that 21 you spoke about earlier was December 19th. Does that kind of comport with your 22 recollection?
23 A That makes about right, yeah.
24 Q Okay. So it would've been after the tweet that you convened your --
25 A Yes.

1 Q -- Federal law enforcement partners?

2 A Absolutely, yeah.

3 Q And who all attended that meeting, if you remember?

4 A It was a call --

5 Q It was a call.

6 A -- because we were still in COVID, right. And it wasn't a video call, so it was 7 an open line. I can tell you some of the people that I know were there.

8 Q Okay.

9 A There are people who may have called in and didn't speak. D.C. MPD was

10 there, their intelligence bureau, that was Captain Shane Lamond specifically. I do not

11 know if the WFO was there. I can't recall. We didn't take attendance. Didn't want to 12 make people -- once these -- you know, you come, share information. Jack, I forgot his 13 last name, who was my counterpart here in the Capitol.

14 Q Donahue?

15 A Donahue, and Julie Farnam, they attended each one. And we came here

16 and met with them as well. We have a very close connection with them. Several times

17 we came here. And our DHS IO, intelligence officer, was there for each one. Park

18 Police may have showed up. And then, you know, that's what stands out in my mind.

19 Q And to the extent you can remember, can you kind of tell us what all

20 occurred at that meeting?

21 A Yeah. It's, you know, your general -- your real simple, I would start off with

22 the analysts who was tracking this would give a very brief intel report, verbal, maybe last

23 3 or 4 minutes. They're very succinct. And that's how we would start off, this is what

24 we know, this is what we don't know, and we would go around the table and share

25 information. Generally, no one had anything more to share.

1 There were some things that did start coming out like someone mentioned that 2 there was, you know -- someone had intercepted some radio communication channels or
3 something like that that would be shared on that day, you know. But it was an open 4 line.
5 It wasn't a secured line. And so it was really for situational awareness. I don't 6 want to make it sound like, you know, there was intelligence being shared or fintel. Like 7 it was an open line, we weren't face to face, it was just making sure that everyone was on 8 the same page in the absence of any Federal leadership tracking this.
9 Q And I believe you had said this was like unprecedented for you to convene
10 this type of meeting. Had you ever convened a similar meeting prior to the one that you
11 convened, likely in December?
12 A No, because what we realized, about 2 or 2 and a half weeks before is that
13 the target was the Capitol. This is not my jurisdiction. It's not my role to write a threat
14 assessment for the U.S. Capitol or any other Federal establishment, nor was it my role to 15 convene about this. My fallback, and I talked to my officer and I spoke to my general
16 counsel, and I was like, well, how do I do this without roughing feathers? Well, the 17 space between the Ellipse of the White House and the Capitol is D.C.
18 And so Capitol, I'm not telling you what you do, Secret Service, they may or may 19 not have been there, that's Secret Service, I'm not telling you what you do, but there's a 20 whole lot of space in between that things can go wrong because it was a rally, a march.
21 And so that gave me some jurisdictional skin in the game, if you will, to convene this.
22 And people, by and large, are appreciative of it.
23 Q Following the first meeting, did you convene any other similar meetings prior 24 to January 6th?
25 A I think that was -- I think we had -- that was a biweekly meeting, so we

1 probably met about four or five times before January 6th, specifically -- and I think I
2 remember it's called an operational intelligence -- January 6th operational intelligence
3 meeting. So I was very specific about what I called it, so I wouldn't step on the feet of 4 the U.S. Secret Service and what they were doing with the inauguration. But it was -- it,
5 once again, was the same format, it was on the calendar, invites shared out to the same
6 people, they showed up or they didn't.
7 Q Did any other Federal entities convene similar meetings focused solely on 8 January 6th that you were invited to?
9 A No, ma'am, not that I was invited to or aware -- was aware of.
10 Q Correct.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q In your Politico piece you stated that, "There is 'no credible or specific threat'
13 was a refrain that I heard no less than 40 times leading up to January 6th, but there were 14 mountains of non-credible and nonspecific threats, enough to prompt a robust
15 preparedness response," end quote. Is it your belief that there was a robust 16 preparedness response prior to January 6th or not?
17 A On behalf of what entity?
18 Q The -- maybe the Federal law enforcement partners?
19 A No.
20 Q No.
21 A And as a juxtaposition, the D.C. was prepared. I briefed the mayor. I
22 briefed Dr. Rodriguez. We shared with them what we expected as well as other -- I
23 personally briefed other D.C. government agencies, and that's why you saw D.C. MPD in 24 full force, vacation days restricted, fully suited up, prepared to help defend the Capitol if 25 needed.

1 Q Along with MPD, were there any other D.C. agencies that come to mind that
2 you briefed?
3 A Yeah. D.C. -- the D.C. health department and the health coalition, so they
4 brought all their hospitals to a call. That was on January 5th. I think there were about
5 70 people on that call. The D.C. medical examiner, knowing my forensic background, to 6 let them know that -- make sure they were fully staffed up because we expected fatalities
7 based on some of the things we were seeing. D.C. Fire Department, deputy mayor of 8 public safety.
9 Q Prior to January 6th, did you ever participate in a tabletop exercise?
10 A We held our own red teaming tabletop exercise, but I was not invited to any 11 others.
12 Q Is a red teaming exercise synonymous with a tabletop exercise?
13 A It's more specific.
14 Q Okay.
15 A Yeah.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Can you explain what you mean by red teaming?
18 A Yeah, red teaming -- so red teaming, structured analytical technique. Early 19 in the spring of that year we had some -- I had some discretionary funds to prepare for 20 the inauguration, so I brought in some experts to train my team on how to do structured 21 analytical technique, which involves -- the end product of that involves presenting that as 22 a red teaming. A red teaming is, you know, bad guy, black hat, penetration testing, if 23 you will, and that evolves into what we call a tabletop exercise. So someone will 24 present a scenario and people will respond, what are you going to do about that?
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q As a matter of practice, when conducting red team exercises, would you
2 have your analysts present a single scenario or would they present both a most likely
3 scenario and a most dangerous scenario?
4 A They -- I gave them free reign. So like I said, we -- they got the training
5 early in the spring, and I know that if you don't use these skills you lose them. So we
6 actually did this weekly. It had nothing to do with January 6th or the inauguration.
7 Every week. So we had a rotation, and whoever was that week was assigned to do a
8 scenario, Godzilla, whatever. You make it up, you get free reign, you present it. We 9 took -- we had a daily meeting on that one day, I think it was Wednesdays, every 10 Wednesday. We kept the meeting short. Anyone have anything to say? No. We're 11 going to go into our red teaming, and the analysts would present a scenario.
12 Concurrently, we had a -- and I just want to explain the whole idea. I'm going to do it 13 quick.
14 Q Please.
15 A I also paid for a contractor, a vendor to come in and produce what we call
16 emerging incident playbooks. Most of my staff were new, less than a year. And so we 17 created a handbook with flip charts with different scenarios, and so the analysts, based 18 on the scenario, could follow along with their flip chart and be like, okay, this is the 19 product, this is what I'm going to contact, this is what I'm going to track, this is -- these 20 are the systems I'm going to log onto, this is how I address that particular scenario. Real 21 generic stuff, WMD stuff, terrorism, stuff like that. And so the red teaming went hand in 22 hand with them using their emerging events playbook, the flip chart to answer some of 23 the questions that the analyst was presenting.
24 I don't know if that answered your question?
25 Q No, it did.

1 A Okay.

2 Q I appreciate that. It's a great answer.

3 There was an article that spoke about a worst-case scenario where someone could

4 plant and improvise an explosive device near the Capitol to divert law enforcement. Is

5 that accurate? Was that one of the scenarios that was red teamed?

6 A You said there was an article?

7 Q Yeah. It was in the Post about a December 30th meeting, which included

8 this worst-case scenario where --

9 A So a week before any event, we would have whoever, MAGA One, MAGA

10 Two, we did this, we had the lead analyst do a red teaming. On that particular day it

11 was -- I think it was Wednesday, the 30th -- you have to correct me if I'm wrong -- our

12 lead analyst presented the scenario and a component of that scenario where IED is used

13 as a diversionary tactic.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q Can you walk us through the scenario that was presented?

16 A IEDs are improvised explosive devices.

17 I have to admit, my memory of that is pretty fuzzy because those exercises

18 weren't for me. They were for my staff. It's kind of like I'm the football coach, and

19 these are like the assistant coaches going through the Xs and the Os. It's to get your 20 mind ready, especially with the -- we had a long weekend with the holiday.

21 I actually didn't even remember that that was part of the scenario until

22 January 6th when my -- one of my deputies called me up and says, you're not going to

23 believe this, but they're saying on the radio there's IEDs just like in the scenario. I'm

24 like -- otherwise, it was not something that was remarkable. The use of improvised

25 explosive devices by terrorists or would-be maligned actors is as old as IEDs as a

1 diversionary tactic.

2 And so vaguely it was, you know, a large mass attacks the Capitol, and at some

3 point IEDs -- and I don't know if it was on Capitol Grounds, and I don't believe they

4 exploded in this scenario, but they were discovered drawing law enforcement away. It

5 may have -- it may have exploded. I don't know. I think that I would remember that in

6 this scenario, but, yeah. I -- admittedly, don't tell any of this to my staff, I wasn't paying

7 that much attention.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Do you recall -- you said it may have been on the Capitol Grounds, but you

10 don't necessarily recall exactly where the IEDs were placed in the scenario?

11 A No, and I don't think they were specific about it.

12 Mr. Herman. Let him finish is.

13 Mr. Harvin. Oh, okay. I'm sorry.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q I think he got the gist of it.

16 Mr. Herman. Yeah. No, but I just want to make sure it's clear for the 17 stenographer.

18 [redacted] Yep. Yep.

19 Mr. Harvin. I'm getting conversational. I'm sorry.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q I'll just repeat in case it's difficult. Do you recall where exactly the IEDs

22 were placed in this scenario?

23 A They weren't -- the location wasn't specific.

24 Q And do you recall in this scenario who discovered these IEDs?

25 A I don't believe anyone was specific. It was just they were discovered.

1 Q Okay.

2 A We only had an hour for it, so it's a very high level.

3 Q Sure. Given the fact that it would serve no purpose to divert law

4 enforcement from the Capitol before a group was prepared to exploit the absence of that

5 security, did the analyst opine on possible triggers for when this diversion might be

6 created?

7 A Not that I recall.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Can you walk us through how an analyst comes up with these types of 10 scenarios, just to kind of lay a little bit more groundwork?

11 A I don't know. They use their experience. They use a lot of the threats

12 that are -- it's not supposed to be too far fetched, right, but it's supposed to trigger

13 people to do things. And so I remember there was a couple of active shooter ones

14 during the summer of 2020 when we had a lot of -- because that's what we were tracking,

15 worst-case scenarios. There were a couple of vehicle ramming ones. These things

16 aren't particularly original, to be honest with you. It was pretty vanilla, just to get

17 people in the mindset and to trigger them opening the book and saying, okay, I have an 18 active shooter, this is what I'm going to do, I have a -- you know.

19 And so how they -- you know, and it's part of the structured analytical technique

20 process, so they'll learn to kind of whiteboard scenarios that are plausible and not so

21 plausible, you know, low probability, high impact, and kind of come to something that's

22 reasonable for the group.

23 Q And prior to this specific red teaming exercise and the scenario involving the 24 IEDs, had you received any sort of intelligence or were you aware of any sort of 25 intelligence about the possible use of IEDs on January 6th?

1 A No, not that I recall.

2 Q Okay.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q It's -- so it's -- it would be uncommon if the analyst cited to underlying

5 reporting about an element of the red teaming exercise? So when he's talking about

6 IEDs or pipe bombs or whatever, he wouldn't point to chatter that maybe you guys have

7 collected that spoke to that?

8 A No.

9 Q No. Was the certification vote scheduled for 1:00 p.m. ever discussed in 10 the context of being a trigger or potential flash point?

11 A No.

12 Q As a result of the red team exercise, what plans if any were discussed to

13 mitigate against an IED-type diversion working successfully to divert law enforcement

14 from the Capitol?

15 A I don't believe we discussed any plans because we have no jurisdiction and 16 we're not an operational unit.

17 Q Given how consequential an IED initiated diversion might be for leaving the

18 Capitol exposed, did you solicit solutions for addressing how an incident like that might

19 affect your people? And, granted, the Capitol is not your jurisdiction, but that absence

20 of security at the Capitol, did you ever think that that might end up pulling your people in 21 or that you would have a larger part to play on January 6th?

22 A No. We have a small unit, intel unit. Most of our work is done in a room

23 like this with no windows. And not to sound frank, but it's not my problem, not my

24 jurisdiction. But an IED with injuries would have a cascading impact. The U.S. Capitol

25 utilizes MPD for homicide investigations. The medical examiner is the medical examiner

1 for the U.S. Capitol, so it's a very unique -- the hospitals would be impacted. The blood
2 blanks would be impacted. So it's the consequence management of that that really
3 concerns us that the State and locals would have to take on, not the prevention or 4 interdiction of that.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q During these operational calls -- I'm sorry, I forgot the name. I didn't write
7 it down. But during these operational calls that you had with your Federal law
8 enforcement partners, did you ever discuss, hey, the fusion center red teamed this 9 scenario? Did you ever have any discussions of those types?
10 A No, because this was on the Wednesday before January 6th. Thursday, I
11 believe, was the 31st, so no one's going in. Friday was the 1st. Then there was a
12 weekend. And then it was Monday and Tuesday is what we had, so no, because this 13 was -- this actually happened, what, 3 working days before January 6th.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Did the analyst that came up with the simulated scenario and the pipe 16 bombs, did he come up with that on his own or was he, as the lead analyst for 17 January 6th, kind of working with the team to build out the scenario?
18 A The analysts are tasked with coming up with that. How they come to that,
19 you know, I would assume they could get help. I don't know intrinsically the answer to 20 your question. It would behoove them to do that on their own, because why let out the 21 scenario before it happens, like you're giving the answers to the question, so --
22 Q Right.
23 A But I'm -- once again, I'm not part of that. That's like further down the food
24 chain from me, and so I'm not there when they're kind of sitting in their cubicle kind of 25 coming up with this, and, quite frankly, it probably took 5 minutes to come up with this.

1 It's not that -- these things aren't allowed, but they start off as like, you know, it's a sunny
2 day, you have derogatory information, you see a tweet, they may post a fake tweet, and
3 then this happens. What do you guys do? And then, you know, they may have some 4 interject -- injects to stimulate certain things, but that's it.
5 Q When the discussion of that scenario is taking place, can you kind of set the 6 scene for us, like how many people are in the room? Is it a lot of back and forth
7 between, you know, the person that's presenting the red team threat and the rest of the 8 folks that are talking through how to address that?
9 A Yeah. We did the -- we did physically, in person, and we needed space so
10 we did it in the EOC, the emergency operations center, which seats like 120 people, so
11 everyone had like nice arm distance. We invited some of our Federal counterparts. I
12 can't recall who showed up. I think our DHS person showed up. I don't recall who else
13 showed up. And it's -- I don't know if you've ever been in an emergency operations
14 center, there's usually a stage like this, persons like this, there's seats, and I'm probably 15 on my phone not paying attention, just to make sure everyone is there and the boss is 16 here, so let's make sure it's going smoothly.
17 Q During your interview with the January 6th Committee, you also stated that 18 on December 30th, based on what your analyst was reporting to you, you called Director
19 Rodriguez. Is that correct?
20 A That's right.
21 Q Was the analyst simulation discussed with Dr. Rodriguez during that call or at 22 any other time?
23 A No, because that wasn't the cause of my concern. My calling Dr. Rodriguez
24 after hours had nothing to do with the red teaming scenario.
25 Q Okay.

1 A It was other information.

2 Q On page 22 of that transcript, you stated that -- I'll give you a second to find

3 it.

4 A Uh-huh.

5 Q So you note that you had your analyst brief the director as well. Did your

6 analyst touch on the potential use of IEDs on that call with Director Rodriguez?

7 A No. We didn't believe that it was a potential use of IED. That wasn't the 8 topic of the discussion.

9 Q Following your call with Dr. Rodriguez, he and other law enforcement

10 leaders briefed Mayor Bowser. Is that correct?

11 A That's correct.

12 Q Do you know if the analyst simulation was discussed at all during that --

13 A I don't think it would be, because Dr. Rodriguez wasn't there for the red

14 teaming, and we didn't mention that as part of our discussion. That's make-believe.

15 We called him with true concerning information. That had nothing to do with the red

16 teaming operation -- exercise.

17 Q Did you or anyone from Dr. Rodriguez's office have any communication with 18 anyone associated with FirstNet regarding the December 30th simulation?

19 A No.

20 Q Did your department prepare an intelligence assessment or issue any threat

21 products in the days prior to January 6th that indicated potential use of IEDs?

22 A No.

23 Q So just to disaggregate intelligence and to the discipline of collection and the 24 discipline of analysis, were your subordinates responsible for both collection and

25 analysis?

1 A We have a collection team that's actually called a collection team, basically
2 OSINT, and then we have an analysis team. The collection team is out there. They're 3 kind of like the antenna. They're picking things up, they're aggregating it, and they're 4 sending it to the analysis team which is a more sophisticated team.
5 Q Is the collections team concerned exclusively with OSINT, or do they also -- is 6 there a HUMINT component of that?
7 A Not for our fusion center, because we're not law enforcement.
8 Q Okay.
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q For the record, can you tell us what OSINT stands for?
11 A I'm sorry, and I'll mention HUMINT. OSINT is open-source intelligence, and 12 HUMINT is human intelligence that's generally garnered through a confidential informant
13 or some type of plant, undercover plant inside of an organization. We don't do that 14 because we're not law enforcement.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q So you didn't -- did you have tasking authority if you had an information gap
17 to go to your collection guys and say try and fill this gap, or how would that work? Were 18 you even the guy making that sort of --
19 A I wasn't making that decision.
20 Q No, okay.
21 A And based on the concerns of the collective, we can search OSINT for things
22 that concern us, but it has to be done deliberately and it has to be done in connection
23 with the approval of a high-level supervisor, one of my deputies, and generally the privacy
24 officer, because OSINT can be used -- OSINT can inadvertently or advertently violate
25 human -- civil rights and civil liberties.

1 Q Understood. Thanks.

2 Mr. Massie. I'm sorry, I've been gone and I may ask some redundant questions,

3 but I'll try not to because I had a rough idea what you might ask.

4 [redacted] Sure.

5 Mr. Massie. And so you talked about the tabletop exercise?

6 [redacted] Yes, sir.

7 Mr. Massie. Okay. Were there any details of the bomb in this tabletop

8 exercise? Like, as I understand it, there was a tabletop exercise about there may be 9 bombs planted. Is that correct?

10 Mr. Harvin. I don't know if there was more than one. It was -- I think it was an 11 IED.

12 Mr. Massie. Okay.

13 Mr. Harvin. And that's how it was described in the tabletop. There was no

14 description of what it was.

15 Mr. Massie. And in this exercise, what was the scenario, that the IED would be

16 used as a distraction or to -- so -- well, I'll let you describe it.

17 Mr. Harvin. It was used as a diversion.

18 Mr. Massie. A diversion, okay. And were there any details, or was it just 19 sort -- of the IED in this exercise, or was it just sort of an abstract notion?

20 Mr. Harvin. It was an abstract notion.

21 Mr. Massie. Okay.

22 Mr. Harvin. It was to trigger the response of our analysts to go into their books

23 and say, okay, what's my IED protocol? And you can see -- actually see people going to 24 the -- you mentioned IED, okay, I know I have an IED tab, and go to the IED tab.

25 Mr. Massie. And did you go -- did you already go into the details of that

1 scenario, like where it would be -- would -- in that scenario would the IED be planted on
2 the Capitol Grounds or near the Capitol or --
3 Mr. Harvin. I believe, and my recollection of that -- because as I explained to the 4 staff, I really wasn't paying attention. These tabletops are for the staff -- I believe it was 5 near the Capitol.
6 Mr. Massie. But not at the Capitol?
7 Mr. Harvin. That's correct.
8 Mr. Massie. Okay.
9 Mr. Harvin. It wouldn't be a great diversionary tactic if it was at the Capitol,
10 because then it wouldn't draw law enforcement away. I think that was the goal of the 11 scenario to draw law enforcement away and cut the force in half, if you will. For me, in 12 retrospect, it doesn't make sense because officers wouldn't flock to -- we're taught not to 13 go towards an IED, but I don't -- you don't fight the scenario.
14 Mr. Massie. There was an article in the Washington Post about this. Do you 15 feel like that article was embellished?
16 Mr. Harvin. In what way?
17 Mr. Massie. Well, was it more dramatic than what actually, you know -- it 18 mentions a junior analyst. Was there a junior analyst that came up with this?
19 Mr. Harvin. Yeah, but most of my staff were junior.
20 Mr. Massie. Okay.
21 Mr. Harvin. I had a huge turnover, about 60 percent turnover in the year of 22 COVID, so --
23 Mr. Massie. Do you remember which particular junior analyst it was that came 24 up with this idea?
25 Mr. Harvin. The analysts that worked for me are still actively in the intelligence

1 community and so I can't divulge who they are. To answer your question, I know what
2 analyst it is, but I can't divulge their name.
3 Mr. Massie. And I appreciate that, and I'm happy to keep them out of a
4 transcribed interview, keep their names out, but I would hope we could find out who that
5 is confidentially -- more confidentially later.
6 Mr. Harvin. I would have to refer you to the District of Columbia.
7 Mr. Massie. Okay. So were there any -- you guys -- this was just a paper
8 exercise or, as they say, tabletop exercise, so it was in a -- just in a boardroom or 9 something?
10 Mr. Harvin. A room like this, and we did it weekly actually, different scenarios
11 every week.
12 Mr. Massie. Okay. And how many times did you do the diversion scenario?
13 Mr. Harvin. This was the first time. You know, all these analysts, they don't try 14 to redo something that someone already did, so this was the first time it was used.

1

2 [11:00 a.m.]

3 Mr. Massie. So one analyst brings this to the table and says we should do this

4 one this week and you or his supervisor approves?

5 Mr. Harvin. No. They have full autonomy to present the scenario as they see 6 fit.

7 Mr. Massie. Okay. Were there any ground exercises or drills?

8 Mr. Harvin. No. We are not an operational unit, the fusion center.

9 Mr. Massie. Are you aware of any other agencies doing exercises?

10 Mr. Harvin. Not that we were made aware of or invited to.

11 Mr. Massie. There's a theory that what happened on January 6 was -- with the 12 two pipe bombs was possibly -- may have started out as an exercise. Do you think that

13 could be possible?

14 Mr. Harvin. I'm not really tracking the pipe bomb story.

15 Mr. Massie. Okay.

16 Mr. Harvin. I think it would be stupid if that was possible. It would be ill

17 advised.

18 Mr. Massie. Are you aware of detail such -- on January 6 details such as the 19 actual improvised bombs that were found had 1-hour kitchen timers on them?

20 Mr. Harvin. I don't know. I haven't been tracking that. And I don't really

21 believe what's in the current media, and I don't have, unfortunately, have access to the

22 actual investigation material. So I actually can't even tell you the exact location of 23 where they were found or what they look like. If you showed me some photos, I

24 wouldn't know.

25 Mr. Massie. Okay. Did you -- all right. I think that's all the questions I have

1 right now on that.

2 [redacted] Okay.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Were you ever called upon in your capacity as a reserve MPD officer to 5 support any of the post-January 6th investigations?

6 A No. So I -- in truth, I went to NY -- MPD to become a sworn officer in 7 furtherance of getting the fusion center acknowledged as a law enforcement entity.

8 That was the plan from the beginning. We reached out to the DOJ and said we wanted

9 to get our own ORI number, I don't know what that stands for, but it's designating that

10 you're a law enforcement entity. I had drafted emergency legislation for the mayor to

11 send to the city council to name us a law enforcement entity because of the problems

12 that we were having that we talked about earlier. And all those actually were

13 successful. And this D.C. Fusion Center is now designated a law enforcement entity

14 within a civilian operation for investigative purposes. So no one's carrying badges or 15 guns. But no.

16 So MPD understood my role as a D.C. official and they also understood why I was

17 going to the academy. But I still had to do two shifts a month to keep my badge and gun

18 and my credentials, which was important. But they gave me some time off because of 19 January 6th obviously.

20 Q Okay. Post-January 6, did your fusion center discuss the pipe bomb at all

21 and the fact that the pipe bomber was likely still running around and had not been 22 detained?

23 A No, because our pivot was on -- I think it was mentioned a day or two later

24 that we got it right. You know, banter, office banter. But we were focused on the 25 inauguration. That was like -- we were on high alert for a couple of weeks. It was

1 just -- it was just a bad time. So --

2 Q Was the fact that the January 6 pipe bomber had not been detained, did that

3 play into your preparations for inauguration at all?

4 A No.

5 Q Was there a similar scenario or red top exercise run in the lead-up to 6 inauguration that included IEDs or pipe bombs?

7 A No, but we didn't run any tabletops red team exercises for the inauguration

8 because all that was under the auspices of the NSSE. So we attended Secret Service

9 things that were done. And I don't recall IEDs. I don't even recall them doing red

10 teaming, to be honest with you.

11 [redacted] Okay. I think we're out of time.

12 [redacted] We'll go off the record.

13 [Recess.]

14 EXAMINATION

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q Thank you for appearing before us voluntarily today.

17 I'd like to go through your professional background prior to joining the fusion

18 center just so we can get it for the record. I know you've had a really long and storied

19 career.

20 You actually started your career as a paramedic with FDNY, correct?

21 A My public safety career actually started when I was 16, I was a lifeguard with

22 the State of New York. Then I became an EMT after seeing some EMS folks arrive to

23 some cases I had at the pool. I talked to them, liked it. I was an EMT for a couple of 24 years. And then became a paramedic with FDNY, that's correct.

25 Q And how long were you with FDNY?

1 A Maybe 7 or 8 years. I'd have to think. '96 to 2000 -- about 6 years.

2 Q And then during your time as a paramedic, you actually responded to 9/11.

3 Is that correct?

4 A That's correct. Twenty-three days ago on this day, I was in the pile, still.

5 [redacted] Twenty-three years.

6 Mr. Harvin. Twenty-three years ago, yes. On this day 23 years ago I was still 7 digging through the pile of 9/11.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q Well, thank you for your service in that regard.

10 What did you do after leaving FDNY?

11 A I managed a private EMS service that was a 911-provided service through a

12 hospital. And then after that, I went back to the city and worked for the health

13 department in radiological, nuclear, and biological response planning.

14 Q So can you describe a little bit what that job looked like?

15 A The city job?

16 Q Yes.

17 A I was the lead scientist for the New York City Health Department on the 18 Bureau of Environmental Emergency Response and Preparedness. And in that capacity,

19 I helped with the BioWatch program, which is a sentinel biological monitoring program.

20 And I was the lead industrial hygienist and the radiological emergency response.

21 So we did emergency response for radiological incidents, the planning for nuclear

22 and radiological incidents, which was a huge concern back then in 2007 in DHS, and a lot

23 of exercises, training, and field work.

24 Q Okay. And then in 2010, you left the health department and you went to 25 work for the New York City Medical Examiner's Office. Is that correct?

1 A Actually, New York City Medical Examiner's Office was an office underneath
2 the health department.
3 Q Okay.
4 A So it was a lateral transfer to another agency, but it was a promotion. I
5 became the deputy director there.
6 Q And what did your role as deputy director entail?
7 A It entailed overseeing the high end special investigations forensics unit.
8 Q Can you give me an idea of what high end --
9 A CSI New York. We had the -- basically, the crime scene unit for the medical 10 examiner's office, death investigations. And particularly my expertise, why I was hired,
11 because I had no forensic background, is because the medical examiner's office had 12 gotten some grant money and they were looking to build out a capability to conduct
13 crime scene investigations in contaminated environments, environments contaminated
14 with nuclear, biological, chem, and radiological materials. So that's the expertise I
15 brought to that unit.
16 Q And then in 2014, you left New York and you came here to D.C. to join the 17 D.C. Medical Examiner's Office. Is that correct?
18 A Yeah. I was recruited to come down, asked to come down to help them set
19 up the same system that we had in New York.
20 Q Gotcha.
21 [redacted]
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Are there any other sort of high profile or significant national emergency
24 events that you've responded to besides 9/11?
25 A While I was in New York City, we were requested as a mutual aid, which is

1 when one jurisdiction contacts another jurisdiction, to respond to Sandy Hook. And so I
2 took my unit up to Sandy Hook to help process that crime scene.
3 Q Shortly after the shootings at Sandy Hook?
4 A The same day.
5 Q The same day. And I believe I read somewhere that you also responded to 6 the World Trade Center bombing in, was it 1993?
7 A I was actually a paramedic student --
8 Q Oh, wow.
9 A -- back in '93 at Beekman Downtown Hospital when that happened.
10 Q So you've -- you've had experience in some of the -- pretty much almost all 11 of the darkest days of this country in the past 30 years.
12 A I'm always in the right place at the wrong time.
13 Q It sure sounds like it. But again, we thank you for your service very much.
14 I want to go back to the events in and around January 6. And I have a couple of 15 follow-up questions from some things that you stated during the earlier hour.
16 You talked about how there were collection teams, intelligence collection teams
17 and intelligence analyst teams. Was the analyst assigned to January 6, the junior analyst
18 that's been mentioned, was he part of the collection team?
19 A All of our junior analysts are part of the collection team. They work their 20 way up, so yes. But we don't restrict them from being part of the regular rotation.
21 There was just too much going on that year to put the burden of being a lead analyst on 22 four or five analysts, so we created a rotation cycle so that every -- it was basically
23 whoever's next up has that event.
24 Q And this particular analyst was assigned to the January 6th rally, as you
25 thought it would be at the time, because he was next up on the rotation --

1 A Correct.

2 Q -- not because of anything in particular?

3 A Not because he was better or even volunteered. And by -- I don't make

4 those assignments, my manager does. And they look at the depth chart. They only

5 skip someone if they're on vacation or otherwise can't do it because they're sick or

6 something.

7 Q Now, you mentioned that in the days and weeks after former President

8 Trump's be there, be wild tweet, that -- I believe you said things went from zero to 60 in

9 terms of what you were seeing in terms of intelligence. And you mentioned groups that

10 we hadn't seen come to D.C. before.

11 What groups are you talking about, do you remember?

12 A So what concerned us were the armed militia groups. They had not been

13 here at all. My professional opinion is the reason why they doesn't travel to the District

14 was because -- not -- it was simply because you're not allowed to have open carry or even

15 concealed carry without a permit in D.C. So they don't generally travel. And we track

16 them, we speak to other people in other States. They travel outside of their State, but

17 they usually travel where they're allowed to open carry, because that's their whole

18 persona.

19 Q And seeing indications that members of these groups were planning to come

20 to D.C. for January 6th, did that indicate to you that it was -- there was more potential for 21 violence than you had initially expected?

22 A The actual trigger point that really made me concerned that I picked up the

23 phone and called Director Rodriguez was not that just -- we were tracking these groups

24 for a week or a couple of weeks before that call. On that day, we got a call from one of

25 our analysts who had information that these groups were actually communicating with

1 each other. And if you understand, you know, domestic extremists, these are generally
2 groups that they don't communicate with each other. They have their kind of lanes.
3 You know, you have White supremacists and neo-Nazis or anti-government groups
4 communicating with each other. That's a threat stream that combines that was 5 concerning for the analyst. And me not knowing much better, I elevated it.
6 Q And --
7 A I don't know if that answers your question.
8 Q That does answer my question. Thank you. Because my next question
9 was going to be, did you see them communicating with each other.
10 And I believe you said that these are groups that you would not typically see --
11 A So we're not familiar with these groups --
12 Q I said, these are not groups that you would typically see coordinating.
13 A Yeah. So we're not familiar with these groups, we have no background on 14 them at all. We're familiar with the groups in our area. They don't come to the 15 District. They generally don't travel unless they're armed, and they said online they 16 were coming armed, and they're working with other groups. All those three things
17 created a unique threat environment that we had never seen in the District of Columbia 18 ever.
19 Q Thank you.
20 Now, I want to talk specifically about the pipe bombs, because the reason why
21 you've been asked to testify is because the majority and the committee believes that you
22 might have information about who planted those pipe bombs. So I'm going to come out
23 and specifically ask you, do you know who planted the pipe bomb at the RNC on January 24 5th?
25 A No, ma'am.

1 Q And do you know who planted the pipe bomb at the DNC on January 5th?
2 A No, ma'am.
3 Q And do you have any information about those pipe bombs, other than what
4 has been publicly reported?
5 A No.
6 Q And were you part of the teams that responded to either the RNC or the 7 DNC on January 6th?
8 A No, ma'am.
9 Q Were you part of the team that investigated the planting of the bombs?
10 A No, ma'am.
11 Q Do you have any information about the FBI's investigation of who planted 12 the bombs, other than what's been publicly reported?
13 A No, ma'am.
14 Q So you don't know, for example, how many witnesses they've interviewed?
15 A I have no clue.
16 Q And you have no information about the forensic analysis of the bomb?
17 A No, I don't.
18 Q Now, you also don't have any training -- well, if you did you would have 19 mentioned it. I'm assuming that you do not have any training in analyzing explosive 20 devices.
21 A That's never been my job description. The only training we've had 22 pertaining to IEDs is to cord up the area and create a safe environment. So all first
23 responders in the academy get IED awareness training. I teach that, I teach it all across 24 the world for first responders. And it's basically recognition of the device, cordoning off 25 the device, making sure you don't use your cell phones or things like that that could

1 trigger the device, and calling the proper authorities to manage or even determine if it's
2 actually a device, because sometimes you don't know, but you're not supposed to touch
3 it.
4 Q And the devices in this situation, in this case, you've not actually seen them
5 yourself?
6 A I have not seen them. I don't know if -- I think I saw a news article, but I
7 don't know if they had a photo of it or not.
8 Q Okay. And so you don't know of any photos that are out there -- well, for 9 example, you were asked a question about a kitchen timer. You don't know if there was 10 actually a kitchen timer?
11 A Yeah, because I've never seen the actual -- 12 Q And because you weren't involved in the investigation, you don't know if 13 there was any kind of remote detonator or anything like that?
14 A Yeah. I mean, after I left D.C. government, I shut all this stuff off, so I have 15 haven't been tracking it.
16 Q I want to ask you a couple of follow-up questions about the red team
17 exercise. You mentioned that it was pretty vanilla standard stuff. Can you explain 18 what you mean by that?
19 A Because we have a big team and we try to get everyone engaged and it's 20 only an hour, we try not to go into too many details. And so it's a very high level, you
21 know -- I'll give you an example.
22 There is a parade, a march for LGBTQ+. It's a sunny day, there's about 5,000
23 people. You start seeing tweets about we're going to come and attack it, right. What 24 do you do? Some people start -- when we see derogatory information online, we notify 25 law enforcement, we do this, we do this, we try to run it down. If it's serious enough,

1 we'll create a SAR, which is a suspicious activity report, upload that to the FBI database,
2 which we actually manage on our end, and let the FBI direct things out. And they
3 continue to monitor, right. Okay, good.
4 So now it's the day of the event and, you know, you get Maryland fusion center
5 says, we're tracking a vehicle that came up as a hit and they're driving into the District,
6 right. So they lead you through this thing all the way to the idea someone's going to 7 come and try to vehicle ram it. They're not talking about the place or necessarily the 8 individual, they try to keep it high level. It's just, once again, trying to get people's mind 9 right for the event that they're coming to.
10 Q And the red team exercise on, I believe it was December 30th, that -- where 11 an IED was discussed, I believe you said that the IED was just one component of the 12 scenario that was run through that day.
13 A Uh-huh.
14 Q It was not a red team exercise about an IED at the Capitol. It was about a 15 larger scenario.
16 A It was a component of the scenario.
17 Q And I believe you also said that the use of IEDs as a diversion is as old as 18 terrorism itself, or something to that effect?
19 A You learn it in the police academy, you learn it in the fire academy, you learn
20 it at EMS academy. IEDs are used often to divert from an actual thing and/or to target
21 first responders. It's what we call a secondary device, so it's more of awareness.
22 Q So it wasn't a particularly -- the analyst who chose to include that in the red
23 team exercise was doing that because that's something that folks are taught, as you said,
24 from the beginning of time, not because he had any particular foreshadowing abilities,
25 correct?

1 A That's correct. And I believe even DHS has a website devoted to IEDs as a
2 diversionary tactic. So that's publicly available information.
3 Q And if I understood your testimony correctly, you had no specific intelligence
4 that there would be IEDs at --
5 A Not that I would -- not that was shared with me.
6 Q And thank you for that clarification.
7 You also said that it was not part of briefings to other law enforcement agencies
8 because I believe you said it was make-believe.
9 A It was make-believe. We had no information there was an IED. And 10 suggesting that something could happen isn't enough to warrant alerting our law
11 enforcement partners of something.
12 Q Now, I'm sure you're aware that there's been a theory advanced by some 13 that the pipe bombs were part of a false flag planted by law enforcement or supporters of 14 President Biden to create a diversion to divert law enforcement resources on January 6th.
15 Are you familiar with that theory?
16 A I am familiar, yes.
17 Q And based on the intel that you developed in your time as head of the D.C.
18 Fusion Center, what is your response to that theory?
19 A I have no idea who planted that. That's my professional response. My 20 private response is, I can't imagine a public safety person even jokingly doing that 21 because of the injury that could occur.
22 Q And you said you cannot --
23 A I can't imagine a public safety servant or anybody doing that. It would be a
24 first. I don't recall -- I'm a student of terrorism and I teach terrorism. I teach it at 25 Georgetown, I was teaching it last night, I'll be teaching it when I leave here. I don't

1 recall of any, in the history of our country, current law enforcement or public safety
2 official planting a bomb.
3 Q And when you talk about how common it is to use IEDs as a diversion tactic,
4 you're talking about by actual terrorists or violent people, not law enforcement?
5 A Maligned actors.
6 Q Maligned actors. Thank you. That's the perfect term. Not the actual 7 public safety community?
8 A That's correct.
9 Q Thank you.
10 Are you familiar with a man named Darren Beattie?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And who is he? What's your familiarity with him?
13 A A reporter, writer.
14 Q Fair enough. He wrote an article entitled, Meet Donell Harvin:
15 Trump-Hating Deep State Official Who "Predicted" J6 Pipe Bombs in Advance.
16 I assume you're familiar with that article?
17 A Yes. Somebody sent it to me.
18 Q And that article led with an illustration of you in front of the Capitol holding 19 what purports to be a pipe bomb. Is that correct?
20 A That's correct.
21 Q Okay.

1 [redacted] I'd like to introduce that into the record.

2 [Harvin Exhibit No. 3

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Dr. Harvin, that is the illustration that came along with --

6 A That's correct.

7 Q -- Dr. -- I'm sorry, Mr. Beattie's article, correct?

8 A That's correct.

9 Q How did you feel when you first saw that illustration of -- that purports a

10 picture of you bombing the Capitol?

11 A I laughed.

12 Q You laughed?

13 A Yeah.

14 Q And that illustration has been -- or the article itself and the theory has been

15 amplified on social media, correct?

16 A I believe so, yes.

17 Q Have you read the article?

18 A I skimmed through it.

19 Q Well, let me ask a question that should seem obvious, but I'm just going to 20 go ahead and ask it based on the picture. Did you plant the pipe bombs at the RNC and 21 the DNC?

22 A No, I did not.

23 Q Thank you.

24 A And I think that, you know, that wouldn't be the way that I would end, as

25 you mentioned it, ma'am, a storied public safety career. I've seen a lot, I've been

1 injured. I've done a lot over my career. It's all been to help people for not much. It's
2 just because I serve the public, and this is not serving the public.
3 Q You mentioned that you've been injured. Can you talk about that a little 4 bit?
5 A I have PTSD from 9/11, plus I go every year and get checked up annually.
6 And several years ago, the doctors found a spot on my lung so they're monitoring that.
7 Q And I imagine that's because of your exposure at the 9/11 site?
8 A That's correct. But I've also been -- I've also been -- that's correct. I'm 9 sorry. I've also been assaulted on the job, as many first responders have been,
10 physically. And so it takes a toll on you, but we continue to put that uniform on and 11 serve the public.
12 Q You've also, as part of your work here in D.C., you exposed yourself to a 13 different type of risk during the pandemic, didn't you?
14 A That's correct.
15 Q Can you tell us a little bit about your work at the morgue?
16 A Um --
17 Q If it's too difficult, then --
18 A No. When we realized that the cases were mounting, I no longer worked 19 for the medical examiner's office but I reached out to the medical examiner and I gave 20 him some advice to activate the system that I had built over the course of four and a half
21 years, which was a mass fatality system. Because of their staffing issues and lack of 22 expertise, they made a special request to have me detailed to run that operation.
23 So over the course of a week, we pulled together an amazing team, Title 10, Title
24 32 military, Active Duty, and National Guard, as well as D.C. workers. It's the first time it
25 ever happened that you have that type of coordination on the ground. And we set up a

1 disaster morgue where we stored hundreds of deceased for months until we were able to
2 get them final disposition.
3 Q Do you remember when in 2020 you set up that morgue?
4 A I think it was spring.
5 Q So early pandemic?
6 A Oh, yeah. Yeah, I mean, we were watching it come down from New York
7 and I was communicating with my old boss in New York who mentored me and trained
8 me. And I basically said, Frank, what are we expecting? He said, when it hits you, it's 9 going to hit you hard. And so I had -- we had a few weeks to prepare, unlike my 10 colleagues in New York who got slammed.
11 Q And it's my understanding that every person in D.C. who died of COVID 12 during that time, their body passed through that morgue. Is that correct?
13 A Yes, ma'am. We saw every body that passed through.
14 Q And so that was a service that you performed?
15 A Sixteen hours a day, 7 days a week. I wasn't hired for that, but that's what I
16 did. And I still ran the fusion center at the same time.
17 Q So to be clear, you as a paramedic student were at the World Trade Center
18 in '93; you responded to the World Trade Center bombing on 9/11 and exposed yourself
19 to the health risks that came with that; you responded to the Sandy Hook shooting; and 20 you were part of the team that did everything you could to try to prevent violence on 21 January 6th, as well as -- and before that, this is just a year after you set up this morgue
22 and handled every dead body from the District in the earliest days of the pandemic. Is 23 that fair to say?
24 A Yes.
25 Q And I want to be clear that I'm bringing all of that out and highlighting it to

1 make clear to folks like Mr. Beattie that -- the absurdity of the suggestion that you were
2 part of any false flag operation with respect to pipe bombs at the DNC and the RNC.
3 Just to let you know why I've asked you to discuss such difficult topics.
4 A Understood.
5 Q I want to talk now just about some of what you said in the previous hour
6 about January 6th generally.
7 You talked a little bit about the lack of preparedness by Federal law enforcement
8 for the violence that unfolded that day. Now, there's a theory out there that this lack of 9 preparedness was intentional on the part of Federal law enforcement so that the attack
10 on the Capitol would be successful.
11 What is your response to folks who hold that theory?
12 A Once again, I don't believe that those who engaged in the homeland security 13 or security enterprise of our country would do anything intentionally to harm our 14 institutions or anybody. So I reject that theory personally and professionally.
15 Q When people amplify that sort of theory online that the government is out
16 there allowing Americans to be killed or accusing law enforcement agents of doing 17 something harmful that they did not do, what is the potential impact of that just for 18 public safety, for the threat landscape generally?
19 A I haven't done any research on this and I haven't consumed any data
20 specifically, but I will tell you anecdotally my own personal experience and those of my 21 colleagues that still work in the business that it degrades the public's trust in public
22 institutions in a way that that can hinder the mission. And what I mean by that is that 23 homeland security and the security of our country is not owned by the government, it
24 really is owned by the people. The government relies on the people to protect them.
25 And if no one's willing to pick up the phone and make that tip or lead, if no one's willing

1 to talk with a government official or law enforcement agent about something that's
2 suspicious, then we can't do our job.
3 Q Thank you, Dr. Harvin.
4 [redacted] If you give us 1 minute.
5 We can go off the record.
6 [Discussion off the record.]
7 Mr. Massie. Okay. I just want to follow up on one question before. I was
8 asking you about who the analyst was that came up with the tabletop exercise. And I
9 respect that you don't want to give us the name, we've got to maybe go through other
10 channels for that, but you mentioned they were still involved in the intelligence-gathering
11 effort or community. And before you also mentioned that you had your own analyst but 12 that people were detailed to your office as well.
13 Can you tell us, was the analyst who came up with this scenario, the IED diversion 14 scenario, was that one of your analysts or was it somebody that was detailed to you from 15 another office?
16 Mr. Harvin. That was one of our analysts.
17 Mr. Massie. Okay. Thank you.
18 The media, they wrote some articles, Washington Post wrote some articles, you 19 did some interviews about how your office predicted this and the other office -- or the 20 other departments, they either didn't listen or didn't take it seriously. And there were a 21 lot of details in those interviews, but they don't seem to key in on the one thing that your 22 office got the most right, which was the pipe bomb.
23 Did you think that was peculiar that they didn't talk about the pipe bomb in those 24 interviews or -- I mean, that was the one thing you guys seem to have got 100 percent
25 right.

1 Mr. Harvin. You know, I -- I think the media is peculiar, so --

2 Mr. Massie. Okay. I do too.

3 Mr. Harvin. Anything they do focus on or don't focus on I don't really question.

4 Mr. Massie. Okay.

5 Mr. Harvin. And just to clarify, when you say we got it right, we got the fact that
6 they were coming to attack the Capitol, right, in the biggest sense and that this was not
7 some benign group that we had originally starting thinking it would be benign, but it
8 evolved to us that it was going to be maligned. But I think some people on the Federal 9 side still thought that these were the same people that were coming before MAGA 1,
10 MAGA 2, which was basically very, very quiet and low key from a violent standpoint.
11 There was some violence, I don't want to downplay that, but it was interpersonal
12 violence. These are different people.

13 Mr. Massie. Switching gears here. We are still waiting on the DOJ IG's office
14 report of January 6. And so I wondered, have you been questioned by the DOJ IG's
15 office about January 6th?

16 Mr. Harvin. I have been questioned, but I believe it's an NDA or some type of 17 agreement that I had to sign that I cannot divulge the line of questioning. I don't even 18 know if I'm allowed to say that I was questioned, but I've already said it, so --

19 Mr. Massie. Okay. That's fine. We'll find out soon enough. Hopefully we'll 20 get that.

21 How long ago did that happen?

22 Mr. Harvin. That was around the January 6 questioning period. So you have to 23 refresh my memory. The Washington Post article came out, it was probably about a 24 month thereafter.

25 Mr. Massie. Okay.

1 Mr. Harvin. But I could be wrong. I have it in my calendar.

2 Mr. Massie. Okay. Do you have any familiarity with FirstNet services?

3 Mr. Harvin. Yes.

4 Mr. Massie. And what -- how do you know about FirstNet?

5 Mr. Harvin. FirstNet is a secure public safety communication network that was, I

6 believe, funded by DHS as a parallel system to the commercially available system to

7 provide -- I sound like a commercial, I'm sorry -- redundant, secured, public safety

8 communications in the event of some type of outage.

9 Mr. Massie. And did HSEMA use FirstNet?

10 Mr. Harvin. The District of Columbia uses FirstNet.

11 Mr. Massie. Okay. Have you ever communicated with Karlin Younger?

12 Mr. Harvin. I don't know who that is, sir.

13 Mr. Massie. Karlin Younger is the person associated with FirstNet who just 14 coincidentally found the first pipe bomb near the Capitol Hill Club/RNC.

15 Mr. Harvin. I don't know that person from -- never met them or communicated

16 with them.

17 Mr. Massie. Okay. Those are my questions, and I'll turn it over to staff.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q When did you become aware of the pipe bombs that were planted at RNC

20 and DNC?

21 A I got a phone call while I was in the fusion center from my -- I said we

22 weren't operational, we don't have an operational, but we do -- the part that is

23 operational is our situational awareness. As I mentioned before, we have a 24-hour

24 watch desk that they generally kind of monitor, kind of like an overwatch from electronic

25 systems surveillance, all the conventional stuff. But for big incidents we will forward

1 deploy an analyst or a team of analysts to give on-the-ground situational awareness as to
2 movement of crowds or things like that, to report that into the fusion center and the 3 emergency operation center, if it's set up, as part of the EOC structure.
4 So we had people out there on January 6. And it was reported to me that they
5 were hearing it on the police radio that there was IEDs that were found. That's the first
6 time I heard it. I don't know the exact time. But it would be pretty close to when it
7 was transmitted on the police radio.
8 Q Did your people that were forward deployed in the field, did they take 9 precautions to blend into the crowd at all?
10 A They didn't blend into the crowd, they stayed in their vehicles.
11 Q Okay.
12 A At least that was their instructions. I can't intrinsically tell you they got out
13 of the vehicles or not. It wouldn't be safe to do so. But they're out there in black
14 SUVs, like many other government --
15 Q Sure.
16 A Basically looking at traffic patterns, understanding that our primary job is to 17 protect, once again, those who are protesting with their First Amendment activities and 18 to make sure that critical infrastructure is not impacted.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q And what was their role, if you will? Were they collecting intelligence --
21 A Um --
22 Q -- to keep the peace?
23 A No, no. I mean, there's other agencies out there. And once again, it's not 24 our jurisdiction, so they were probably -- and I don't know the exact where they were.
25 They were probably on D.C. property watching this all unfold from across the street,

1 letting us know there's a large crowd, there's a fight, you know, things like that. But I
2 can see that on -- we can see that on -- not even television, because the media wasn't
3 broadcasting it. We have OSINT, and so open-source intelligence was showing us. I'm 4 like, yeah, I can see that there's people recording and live-streaming what's going on.
5 So -- and I have multiple cameras. So, in fact, I had better situational awareness than my 6 guys and gals out there in the field who were in a standoff capa- -- standoff position
7 couple blocks away.
8 Q And do you remember how many of your staff were deployed, if you will,
9 out in the field that day?
10 A I want to say we had two cars --
11 Q Two cars.
12 A -- with maybe four people, because there may have been a third person, but 13 it's a minimum of two people. We don't send a person out by themselves. So I would 14 say two.
15 Q Okay. And did that -- how many people were out in the field? You said
16 four. Did that ever change throughout the day or did that stay consistent?
17 A I think we -- we had a small staff. So at some point we called them back,
18 and we didn't have anyone else out there. And then later in the day, we detailed staff to 19 the FBI to assist them with the investigation that same day.
20 Q And as part of the investigation that the FBI was conducting on that same
21 day, were those officials out in the field or were they at the WFO or FBI headquarters?
22 A So the FBI set up something called the blue whale, which is known as their, I
23 think, command vehicle. We call it a blue whale because it's big and blue. And so we 24 detailed analysts to go to that location in the field. I don't know the exact location, I
25 think it was near the Capitol. It may have been on like the parking lot, if I recall.

1 Because we had a direct line -- created a direct line to the fusion center.

2 And to basically -- and that was a service that we were providing. We weren't

3 getting anything out of that. So it wasn't like some type of transaction, we're going to

4 send someone there, you're going to send me intel, I'm going to send you intel. It was

5 basically a person embedded with them to provide them with all the derogatory

6 information that we had collected off of OSINT that did not rise to a level that needed to

7 be reported before but, certainly, we had categorized, and that was the instruction to our

8 staff, hold onto this, right, that we can forward to them afterwards.

9 Q And beyond embedding some of your staff with the FBI and the blue whale,

10 were there any other taskings that you gave on that day for your staff?

11 A Before then, I had -- I had worked out with Jack Donohue embedding

12 intelligence analysts in the Capitol with his team. And that was done 2 days before

13 January 6th.

14 Q And what was that individual's role as he was embedded with the Capitol

15 Police?

16 A The Capitol Police didn't generally come to us in terms of their intel. And

17 so it was -- for me it was to have a direct line of communication and access to the fusion

18 center network, which is a live network. That's something uniquely that we can provide,

19 to provide -- and just to give them an extra body that can do OSINT or run down things.

20 We gave them a very, very senior person to do whatever he needed.

21 Also, to be quite honest with you, it was my guy on the inside, right. So I knew if

22 something went left, something went bad, I wasn't going to be able to call, pick up the

23 phone -- Jack wasn't going to be able to pick up the phone or Julie, they'd be busy. And I

24 can call my person, like, what the heck's going on or what are you hearing. So --

25 Q And once the -- you know, there was a curfew that was put in place,

1 individuals dispersed from the Capitol. Was there any sort of taskings that you had to
2 monitor individuals after they left the Capitol?
3 A No, ma'am.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q If I heard you right, it kind of sounded like leading up to January 6, the FBI
6 wasn't necessarily concerned with hearing what your fusion center had to say about the 7 threat. But then after January 6, suddenly they wanted a representative from your 8 fusion center to come and share with them all the derogatory information that you were 9 aware of?
10 A We offered and they accepted. I wouldn't say they came to us.
11 Q Okay.
12 A Because we told them we had collected a lot of things that we did not
13 submit through eGuardian. eGuardian's a system that you submit suspicious activity
14 reports. If I was to quantify it, probably less than 10 percent of the things we see we'll 15 submit. And if I was to quantify it, less than 10 percent of the things we submit they 16 actually look at. So if you look at it, like 1 percent of the stuff that we actually submit 17 are actually investigated, run down to the ground.
18 So our job isn't to give them a whole lot of information. Our job is to do due
19 diligence, sift through the stuff, and see where there's credible threat and then forward
20 to them and let them handle it from there.
21 Q Did you get the impression that the analyst that you provided to the FBI
22 post-January 6 was kind of welcomed into the group and made to be a part of the team or 23 were they kind of kept on the outside?
24 A I sent one of our better folks who's very personable. We got daily reports
25 from him from within that unit, and his time was fruitful there. And I felt it was building

1 relationship.

2 Q Do you know if, because the Capitol wasn't your jurisdiction, if they spoke

3 with him about things happening off Capitol Grounds, like the pipe bomb?

4 A I don't know. But the reason why you want someone there, it is a saying in

5 our business, if you're not there, you're not there. Conversations may be had, people

6 start feeling comfortable with you after a day or 2, you'll hear things, right. They may 7 bring you in, they may not, but that's why you want your person there.

8 Q For sure. And what he was sending back, it didn't touch on the pipe bomb

9 case or kind of developments in, you know, investigating leads and things of that nature?

10 A Not the pipe bomb. So specifically I'll tell you what our activities were.

11 We were helping -- and on our end we were tasking our folks based on what they needed,

12 right. And one thing, he's the plug. We had a plethora of OSINT, someone holding a

13 gun saying I'm going into the Capitol; someone say, hey, I just left the Capitol and I got a

14 police badge -- I'm just making things up, right. I'm giving you examples of things that 15 could indicate criminality, not just I was at the Capitol.

16 I think it's very important, because there was a lot of people at the Capitol that

17 saw what was happening and they turned around and walked away. And that's not

18 reported, right. There's a lot of people who are out there that said, I don't want to have

19 anything to do this, and they left. These are individuals that either indicated on OSINT

20 they were actively committing something that could be determined as a crime or

21 criminality or post the incident that they had participated in a crime of criminality, not

22 just I showed up, waved a flag and left.

23 And so we have that information on our end and we were feeding that to that one

24 individual. I don't know what he was doing in the blue whale, but whatever it is, we got

25 credit for identifying, right. So what's happening in blue whale is Capitol Police is pulling

1 CCTV, all these agencies are kind of crunching this and like, okay, who is this guy? Okay.
2 Send that back to the fusion center. Do you have someone that has a profile that looks
3 like this? Do you have that guy who is actually taking a photo, and we are helping make 4 that match. Yeah, it looks like John Doe, here goes his profile, this is the actual video he 5 filmed while he did that, send that to the blue whale, and they do what they want to.
6 So it was updates on, like, it started, oh, we helped identify 12 people; next, 48
7 people. And at the end of the day, I think it was like a couple of hundred people, and
8 we were able to report that to the Mayor. And specifically, our task was not to help
9 with the investi- -- not to do the investigative work but to help identify these people
10 through OSINT.
11 I hope that was --
12 Q No, that's great.
13 A Okay.
14 Q That's helpful. I appreciate that.
15 Are you aware that Steven D'Antuono testified to this committee that the FBI was 16 unable to complete a full geofence for the pipe bomber because one of the cell service
17 provider's data was corrupted?
18 A I'm not -- I'm not tracking that. No, I'm not aware.
19 Q Does that strike you as odd given the success of the geofence tactic for 20 people that were just blocks away at the Capitol?
21 A Yeah. I'm actually not aware -- I should be more aware of geofencing, but 22 it's just not something that -- I'm vaguely aware but not enough to speak about how 23 accurate or consistent it is in terms of what it's able to do.
24 Q Sure. Are you aware that former Capitol Police Chief Steven Sund testified
25 that he believes the pipe bombs were a diversion intended to draw law enforcement

1 resources away from the Capitol?

2 A I'm not aware of his testimony, but I would agree with him. I have no

3 reason to -- I know Steven Sund, I have no reason to disagree with him.

4 Q So from your own experience that day, what you'd seen in the aftermath of

5 January 6th, you would agree that the pipe bombs were consequential in diverting

6 security resources from the Capitol?

7 A I don't know if they were consequential. I don't know how many people

8 actually -- how many resources were actually pulled away and if those are resources that

9 would otherwise be used at the Capitol. For instance, with large-scale incidents, there's

10 often a bomb squad on standby. And these guys and gals are sitting around doing

11 basically nothing because there's no bombs.

12 If those resources weren't engaged in defending the Capitol or they're there as a

13 stand-off capability in case an IED -- so those units were pulled on and they're doing their

14 job. They're not there like doing the tug of war with protesters.

15 So not knowing -- I don't know who was deployed. I don't know how many

16 agencies were there. I don't know if it -- people -- you know, the thought is that people

17 were fighting with protesters. Oh, there's a bomb, I got to stop fighting with a protester

18 and go to this thing. So how effective it was as a diversion I don't know. Steven Sund

19 would be better placed to answer that.

20 Q Are you aware that the perimeter established around the DNC pipe bomb

21 prevented the fulfillment of the request from Capitol Police that 400 bike racks be

22 delivered to the east front of the Capitol to be used as a protective barrier?

23 A I'm not aware of that. That's the first I'm hearing that.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q And following January 6th, did your official continue to be detailed to the

1 FBI, that one official that you had placed with the FBI, to help with investigations?
2 A I wouldn't call him official, but an analyst, yes.
3 Q Okay.
4 A For a couple of weeks, I believe, until things ramped down.
5 Q Okay. And so you said just a couple of weeks, so it was a short duration?
6 A Wasn't a long time.
7 Q And when did you leave the fusion center again?
8 A End of March, early April.
9 Q Okay. And as part of -- as you know, there's been several investigations
10 into the events that occurred on January 6th, 2021. As part of one investigation, you
11 were interviewed by the select subcommittee on January 6th. Is that correct?
12 A That's correct.
13 Q How many times were you interviewed?
14 A I met with them three times. I don't know if they were technically 15 considered interviews the first time. All three Zoom. The first time they -- we spoke 16 probably for an hour, and then they scheduled me for sworn testimony. And then they 17 scheduled me for another meeting, I can't remember if it was sworn or not, with another
18 group that was investigating law enforcement stuff. I think it was the blue team or 19 something they called it. I could be wrong.
20 Q And was this all conducted by staff of the select committee?
21 A The first and the last. There were some lawmakers, I believe, in the 22 second. And I think they asked a question or two. I can't recall who it was.
23 Q Okay. Are there any other entities that you have provided testimony to,
24 besides our committee today, regarding your role in the January 6 investigations?
25 A Just the Department of Justice OIG.

1 Q And when did you testify for the Department of Justice OIG?

2 A It was around that same time. I can get back to you with the exact date

3 because I have it on my calendar. I don't want to be rude and pull out my laptop. And 4 that was a sworn testimony as well.

5 Q And do you have a sense of what that testimony was being used for by the 6 inspector general?

7 A I was under the impression, I believe from their opening remarks, just like

8 you were kind enough to provide opening remarks, that were fulsome in terms of what

9 they were looking for, is they were trying to get to the heart of any intelligence or

10 information sharing lapses or gaps that could have occurred or may have occurred before

11 January 6.

12 Q And so you provided testimony regarding kind of similar testimony to what

13 you provided today. Is that correct?

14 A It's a little more -- it's a little different than today. They really were more

15 keen on our relationship with the field office, how we conduct business, and who else we

16 conduct business with in terms of intelligence and information sharing.

17 Q Were there any other entities besides the select committee, our committee,

18 and the DOJ inspector general that you provided testimony to regarding --

19 A No, ma'am.

20 Q And I'm sure you're generally familiar with the 845-page report that the 21 select committee put out. Is that correct?

22 A Yes, ma'am.

23 Q And you kind of, in your Politico piece, walked through some of the concerns

24 you may have had with the report or things that you thought they had left out. You

25 know, in your Politico piece you said that the committee looked away from those who

1 should have prevented January 6th.

2 Can you kind of provide some insight into that or unpack that for us?

3 A Yeah. And I appreciate the opportunity because I have a word count that I

4 have to meet here in the Politico piece.

5 What I was essentially saying was the potential exists to overlook vulnerabilities,

6 not just in the U.S. Capitol's protection infrastructure, but globally throughout our

7 homeland security enterprise because of the symptoms that led us to January 6th from

8 an intelligence and information sharing and actionable operational response. And so in

9 not addressing those in the report, I felt that I had to write this to articulate that someone

10 needs to discuss, particularly the information sharing and intelligence that I talked about

11 extensively, with not only the DOJ OIG investigation interview but also with the 12 January 6th committee that I think was left on the table.

13 [redacted] We can go off the record.

14 [Discussion off the record.]

15 [redacted] We can go back on the record.

16 Dr. Harvin, I think we just have a few more questions.

17 Mr. Massie. This has gone pretty quickly compared to most TIs.

18 So you mentioned that you had somebody embedded the day of January 6 and

19 that you were also doing real-time identification of individuals, or you did that afterwards

20 or during or --

21 Mr. Harvin. So we had someone embedded in the U.S. Capitol Police's

22 intelligence office, which is in their police headquarters, 2 days before, yes. And we did

23 not do real-time identification because no one had committed a crime. It would be a

24 violation of their civil rights and civil liberties to do so. We did so after a request of the

25 FBI to help retroactively identify some of the people that they thought were violent

1 offenders.

2 Mr. Massie. Okay. So thank you for clarifying that.

3 There was gallows erected on the grounds here, and it seems like so far there

4 hasn't been, at least in the -- by the FBI, identification of the people who erected those

5 gallows.

6 Did you work on that part of it, trying to identify who erected the gallows or was

7 in proximity of the gallows?

8 Mr. Harvin. I'll answer your question directly. The answer is no. And 9 indirectly, my professional opinion is I don't believe that erecting gallows is illegal.

10 Mr. Massie. Okay.

11 Mr. Harvin. I could be wrong, because it's Federal property. You'd probably

12 better know. But I don't think -- if I was in charge of the fusion center and that was a

13 request that came, that's something that I would have to have my privacy officer look at

14 and speak with the attorneys about to see if that was an actual crime. My personal

15 opinion is that's a First Amendment protected activity, as unpalatable as that may seem.

16 Mr. Massie. Yeah. And we actually did have, I think -- was it Director Wray

17 testify that he didn't think they were actually meant to be erected to actually hang

18 somebody; that they were more of a First Amendment type statement or a protest.

19 But others have placed great importance on that, as if it were intent -- evidence of 20 intent to commit a crime. And so that's why I asked that question.

21 And that was my question I had.

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q Are you generally familiar with the 845-page final report of the select

24 committee?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Are you generally aware that the select committee was charged with
2 investigating the facts, circumstances, and causes that led to what transpired that day?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Are you aware that the committee's final report consisted of eight chapters,
5 including a chapter titled "Analysis of the Attack"?
6 A That's correct.
7 Q In your Politico piece, you stated that the committee looked away from 8 those who should have prevented January 6th. What did you mean by that?
9 A I think in the forward -- and I'd have to refresh looking at that -- but I believe
10 early on in the document there was a statement that I thought was categorically false
11 insofar as law enforcement could not have possibly known or some -- I'm, you know,
12 paraphrasing. And just reading that statement, I said I had to counter that, because 13 they knew, because I made sure everyone knew. And we were all in the same room,
14 and everyone nodded in agreement when we were tracking the threats. I push back on 15 that notion that it was an intelligence failure of any regards. It was a failure to heed the 16 intelligence.
17 Q I understand that the fact that these 400 bike racks could not be delivered to 18 the Capitol because of the perimeter that was established at the DNC because of the pipe
19 bomb, that's the first time you're hearing about it. But would it surprise you that -- and 20 I'll represent to you that that is in the J6 select committee's final report in appendix 1.
21 But would it surprise you to know that despite being highly consequential for their
22 diversionary effect, the pipe bombs are not mentioned in the January 6th committee's 23 analysis of the attack chapter?
24 A In retrospect, you're absolutely right.
25 Q As someone who has worked in the law enforcement and homeland security space for a long time, and as someone who has undoubtedly written your fair share of reports, wouldn't a critical feature of any serious report on January 6th include mention that the two pipe bombs were allegedly placed the evening of January 5th, sat undiscovered for nearly 17 hours, then were both independently discovered within 16 minutes of the certification of the vote scheduled for 1 p.m. on January 6th?

A Is that a question or a statement?

Q It's your -- I'd like to get your opinion as someone who's done these reports.

A Okay.

Q Recognizing what a consequential aspect the pipe bombs were, that would be a critical feature to include in your report, I would assume, but I'd like to get your take on that.

A I don't think I can -- I'm qualified enough to answer that. Once again, if Chief Sund said it impacted his operation, then I would defer to him.

[redacted] Okay. That's all I've got.

[redacted] We can go off the record.

[Discussion off the record.]

1

2 [12:08 p.m.]

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Dr. Harvin, during the --

5 A Are we back on the record?

6 Q Oh, sorry. Yes. We're back on the record. Thank you.

7 A I'm getting used to this.

8 Q Yes, you are.

9 During the previous hour, Representative Massie stated that your office had

10 correctly predicted the pipe bombs on January 6th.

11 Do you consider the inclusion of a pipe bomb scenario, an IED scenario, in that

12 tabletop exercise to be a prediction of what would happen or --

13 A I wouldn't classify it as a prediction.

14 Q And as you testified earlier, you actually had no intelligence suggesting that

15 IEDs would be used?

16 A It was not in any of the intelligence internally that we consumed or that was 17 reported to me.

18 Q Thank you.

19 And we just finished with a discussion about the lack of analysis of the pipe bombs

20 in the select committee's report.

21 Do you believe that the failure to include that or the absence, I should say, of that

22 analysis was an intentional attempt to cover up law enforcement's involvement in a false

23 flag operation with respect to the pipe bombs?

24 A I don't know if I can answer that, but I would tell you that if there's an

25 ongoing -- an active investigation, it would not make sense to include anything more than

1 a mere mention of the pipe bombs.

2 Q And to your knowledge, the identity of the person who planted the pipe

3 bombs is still unknown, correct?

4 A That's correct.

5 Q And to your knowledge, there still is an ongoing investigation, correct?

6 A I don't know if there's an ongoing investigation.

7 Q You have no information either way?

8 A I don't know either way.

9 Q Okay. Fair enough.

10 A I don't know if they've closed the case or what.

11 But I would like to add -- and I know you didn't ask. It's unique -- bombing

12 suspects are a unique type of investigation. As a student -- I've never investigated

13 bombings. As a student, we know -- Eric Rudolph, I think it took 5 or 6 years to capture

14 him. He was the Atlanta City bomber. But the Unabomber, I think it took 16 or 17

15 years, and he's prolific.

16 And so I think bombing -- IEDs, bombs, things like that, they present a unique

17 challenge for law enforcement that's been well-documented, once again, as a student, as

18 a professor of this. So it's not unusual that it would take so long. Therefore, it's not

19 unusual that they would fail to mention it, but they did fail to mention it in the report.

20 Q And so based on the examples that you just gave and what you've studied in

21 your long career and your education, the fact that the perpetrator has not yet been

22 identified is not an indication to you that there's law enforcement involvement in the 23 actual criminal activity?

24 It's not suspicious to you, I guess I should say, that the person has not been

25 identified?

A It's concerning as heck because there's someone who planted bombs that are still on the street. And it indicates to me that whoever planted them didn't want to get caught. Some people do.

But it's not unlike historical incidents where it takes a large number of people to track down one person, especially if it's a lone actor. That's the biggest challenge that we have in security. People who are doing this on their own, they're not communicating, so there's no signals to intercept. We call that signal intel. There's nobody communicating, so they're keeping this on their own, and they're long out of town. It's difficult. It's a difficult proposition. So it's not unusual, but it's very concerning.

And to your point, it's not necessarily indicative that -- I just -- I didn't even want to get into a conversation about a public safety person doing that. I think it's -- I think it's absurd.

Q Thank you.

[redacted] With that, we can go off the record.

[Whereupon, at 12:15 p.m., the interview was adjourned.]

25 [redacted] This is a transcribed interview of Mr. Timothy M. Dunham. Chairman

1 Jordan has requested this interview as part of the Committee's oversight of the 2 Department of Justice. Will the witness please state your name for the record.
3 Mr. Dunham. Timothy M. Dunham.
4 [redacted] Can counsel please state your name for the record.
5 [redacted] from the FBI's Office of General Counsel.
6 [redacted] On behalf of the Committee, I want to thank you for appearing here
7 today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to 8 appear voluntarily. My name is [redacted] I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now
9 have everyone else from the committee who is here in the room introduce themselves.
10 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.
11 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.
12 [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
13 [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
14 [redacted] I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines to follow during 15 today's interview. Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask 16 questions first for one hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask
17 questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth
18 until there are no more questions and the interview is over. Typically, we take a short 19 break at the end of each hour, but if you'd like to take a break apart from that, please just 20 let us know.
21 As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to
22 make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions. Do you
23 understand?
24 Mr. Dunham. I do.
25 [redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best

1 to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just
2 those people on the staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak clearly so the court
3 reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you.
4 It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if you
5 can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview. We want you to 6 answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will 7 take our time. If you have any questions, or if you do not understand one of our 8 questions, please just let us know.
9 Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any
10 point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not
11 remember, it's best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it's okay to 12 tell us if you learned the information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to 13 know the information.
14 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so. Please inform 15 us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer
16 to the question.
17 You should also understand that although this is interview is not under oath that
18 by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. Do you
19 understand that?
20 Mr. Dunham. I do.
21 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
22 interview. Do you understand this?
23 Mr. Dunham. I do.
24 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to
25 criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 U.S.C. Section

1001. Do you understand this?

Mr. Dunham. I do.

[redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

Mr. Dunham. No.

[redacted] Finally, I'd like to make a note that the content of what we discuss here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we use today will remain with the court reporter so they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

That is the end of my preamble. Is there anything that my colleagues from the minority want to add?

[redacted] Yes. We thank the witness for joining us voluntarily this morning. I also just want to make the same note on the record we've made a number of times, that we have at -- my counter referred to the official transcript. We have significant concerns that there have been close to 150 transcribed interviews and depositions conducted by this committee this Congress. The vast majority of those transcripts have not actually been finalized, and it seems there has been a selective release of the transcripts, but noting my objection on the record. Thank you.

[redacted] Counsel?

[redacted] As you indicated, the witness is here today in response to the chairman's request. We understand the chairman and the committee have had a number of questions regarding the security clearance adjudication process, and just wanted to confirm he is here in response to the chairman's request today, even though his name was not specifically included in the chairman's letter.

[redacted] Thank you. The clock now reads 10:06. We will start the first hour of questioning.

EXAMINATION

BY [redacted]

Q Mr. Dunham, when did you join the FBI?

A 2002, October.

Q And can you walk us through the positions you've held?

A Sure. October of 2002, I entered on duty. In early 2003 I was assigned to the Chicago Field Office as special agent. Late 2007 I reported back to our headquarters and held positions in our Counterintelligence Division, our Counterterrorism Division, and as a detailee to the CIA. In 2012 I transferred to the Albany Field Office for a few years as the supervisory special agent of one of our joint terrorism task forces. I was lucky enough to be able to be promoted to the administrative criminal assistant special agent in charge for the Albany Field Office while there.

In 2017, I reported back to headquarters as the section chief for our leadership development program. 2018, went over to WFO as the special agent in charge of the Counterintelligence Division there. 2019, transferred to be the special agent in charge of the Criminal Division at WFO. And then in 2020, went back to headquarters as the deputy assistant director of our Criminal Investigative Division.

In 2021, I was promoted to be the assistant deputy director of our Training Division, and then assumed my current full-time role as the EAD last June, 2023. As of last week, I am the acting associate deputy director of the FBI.

Q And can you describe your responsibilities in your current position?

1 A In my current position, as I sit here today is the acting ADD. The shorthand
2 is responsible for all of the business operations of the FBI. In my permanent position as 3 the executive assistant director of the human resources branch, I oversee our Human
4 Resources Division, our Training Division, our Security Division, and our business statistics
5 and analytics section. So essentially, all of the employee-related matters for the FBI.
6 Q In your role as the EAD, you supervise the Security Division, correct?
7 A I do.
8 Q Can you briefly describe the organizational chart for the Security Division?
9 A The organizational chart for the Security Division? It's -- so my direct report
10 is the assistant director of the Security Division. There's two branches that are run by 11 deputy assistant directors. Broadly speaking, we break it out into kind of background 12 operations on one side and then security operations on the other, and that goes all the 13 way down to the unit level.
14 Q And how many people report directly to you?
15 A For the whole branch, it's approximately 1,500. Not directly. I'm sorry.
16 Report directly to me is about six.
17 Q Okay.
18 A Yeah.
19 Q In your role as the ADD, what is your visibility into the various aspects of the 20 security clearance investigative process?
21 A So I think it's important to know up front I'm not in the day-to-day process of 22 the security clearance of our investigation process. I oversee the assistant director of 23 the Security Division, so I meet with that individual regularly to understand the 24 operations that are going on. I will sometimes meet with folks below him in leadership.
25 As a part of that role, the EAD is also currently the security programs manager, which is

1 kind of the final decision maker for security clearance decisions.

2 Q Can you help us understand the process that that sector uses when deciding

3 to suspend an FBI-released security clearance?

4 A Broadly speaking, we would take in a referral. That referral is reviewed to

5 determine whether or not it would merit an investigation. If it does, it would go to the

6 investigative unit. Generally, the investigative unit would be the one that would review

7 the facts at hand to determine whether or not a suspension was warranted. Sometimes

8 that's -- the facts at hand we believe are sufficient where we need a suspension to be able

9 to investigate more thoroughly. That's typically issued by our investigations unit.

10 Q And who is the ultimate decision maker when it comes to suspending

11 security clearances?

12 A The securities programs manager.

13 Q Does an employee have a right to appeal the decision?

14 A The suspension?

15 Q The suspension.

16 A Right now, the right to appeal applies if the suspension has been longer than

17 a year, and they believe that there has been -- or the suspension was a result of a

18 whistleblower retaliation. Otherwise, it's upon the final -- the adjudication decision.

19 Q And how long does the appeal process take typically?

20 A That varies. I mean, it can be some time, depending on any number of 21 factors.

22 Q And once an employee's clearance is revoked, the employee can no longer

23 fulfill their duties as an agent of the FBI, correct?

24 A That's correct.

25 Q When an employee is notified that the clearance is suspended, have they

1 had any chance at all to refute the allegations made against them prior to an appeal?
2 A Depends -- I can't speak specifically. I guess it would depend on what the
3 investigative process was. For instance, I could see a scenario in which a clearance was 4 not initially suspended, and so -- and, like, an employee interview was conducted and
5 they would have had the chance to be interviewed, and then the suspension occurred, so
6 it's certainly possible, but not always.
7 Q By revoking an employee's clearance, the FBI is effectively suspending them
8 from the job, correct?
9 A By revoking the employee's -- the actual revocation?
10 Q Yes.
11 A They couldn't fulfill their job responsibilities with no clearance, that's right.
12 Q Is that the same with the suspension?
13 A That is correct, if they don't have an active security clearance.
14 Q Can you describe for us the investigative and evaluative process utilized by 15 the FBI to make a final decision on an employee's status?
16 A It's in our investigative unit. There is any number of investigative steps 17 they may take, records reviews, interviews, you know, anything that you would do in the 18 course of a normal investigation. Once the investigative unit believes the investigation
19 is complete, it is then referred to our adjudicative unit. It's reviewed by an adjudicator
20 who looks at the facts and makes a recommendation in terms of a security action, or no
21 security action at all at times, and then it goes up through the chain of review, which is 22 fairly extensive, until it arrives to me in the form of a summary of what we call electronic 23 communication, or EC. It's a document that lays out the summary of the investigation
24 and the adjudicative recommendation, and then I make the decision based on that 25 document.

1 Q And what's the normal timeline for completing the security clearance
2 investigation?
3 A I wish I could give you a normal timeline. I'm not sure there is one. You
4 know, we try to do these things as quickly as we can. The reality is in a world of limited
5 resources, it's not often as quickly as we would like. You know, if you need data about 6 specific timelines, I'm happy to go back and provide that.
7 Q So from an outsider's -- from an outsider's perspective, if there is an 8 appearance that the FBI makes employees linger an indefinite suspension in the hopes 9 that they'll just resign, do you have any comments on that?
10 A I would refute that view. You know, again, the reality is in order to do this,
11 we fully appreciate the security action decision is an incredibly important determination
12 for that employee, so we want to be sure that we do a full and thorough review of the 13 facts at hand. You know, the other factor, right, is that our investigative unit has 14 somewhere in the order of 11 personnel. Our adjudications unit has somewhere on the 15 order of 15 personnel.
16 When you're talking about several hundreds of these investigations each year, just 17 the workload is difficult to get done that quickly, but we strive to do the best we can in 18 that area, and we are constantly trying to come up with ways that we can improve the 19 timelines.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Thank you, Mr. Dunham.
22 A Sure.
23 Q Going to switch gears here and talk about some different topics. Okay.
24 We're going to talk about a few of the personalities you may or may not know based 25 upon your timeline, and I realize that you've come in as of June of '23, so you're going to

1 have a different sight picture based on that timeline as well as where you sit. Having
2 said that, are you familiar with former acting section chief Dena Perkins?
3 A I know the name Dena Perkins. I have -- I can't say that I have never met
4 Dena Perkins. I may have met her in various work formats. I have never worked 5 closely with her or had a meeting with her about, you know, the issues that we're
6 discussing here today that I can recall.
7 Q Okay. We're going to present, I believe, exhibit 1 here.
8 [redacted] Correct, [redacted]
9 [redacted] Correct.
10 [Dunham Exhibit No. 1
11 was marked for identification.]
12 [redacted] It's going to be a letter from counsel to Mr. Horowitz, and we'll 13 present that to you, Mr. Dunham, so you can review that as soon as we get that out
14 there. It might be in the other box if it's not there. We'll pause for station
15 identification.
16 [Discussion off the record.]
17 [redacted] June 28, 2024. No? We may not be asking you about that.
18 Not in that other box? All right. That's fine.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q I will say this. The committee will represent we've received numerous 21 whistleblower testimony that certainly indicated that Ms. Perkins may have 22 inappropriately inserted herself into various decisions, but without that documentation,
23 we're going to let that one pass. I'm sure that's fine with you.
24 [redacted] Oh, you did find it? [redacted] can you pass that out, please. We 25 won't dwell on that too long. We may come back to that later in some other things.

1 We can absolutely get that out to our colleagues across the table so they can review that.
2 BY [redacted]
3 Q You've probably seen this one in the past. You may not have, Mr. Dunham,
4 but the legal team may have seen that. I'm looking specifically at page 3, by the way,
5 and it's a lengthy document, so there is a quote on page 3. Sec D was a toxic work
6 environment. Many SIIS employees had conflicts with Perkins first as ASC, or assistant
7 section chief, then as acting section chief and several had filed complaints against her.
8 The nature of the question, Mr. Dunham, is just really have you ever heard any of 9 those complaints brought to your level during your tenure? That would be really all I
10 want to ask of you. Have you been made aware of any complaints from any Security
11 Division folks specifically from that section that have maybe raised concerns about Ms.
12 Perkins to you?
13 A Other than outside of things like this that I have been made aware of -- 14 Q Yeah. Certainly I wouldn't hold you accountable to that, but anything
15 internally.
16 A I certainly heard that there was a -- I mean, it was a difficult time with 17 everything that was going on. I'm trying to remember as I sit here, it's hard to separate
18 some of those various things. I mean, I am aware there are allegations against Dena. I
19 don't recall, I'm sorry, specific sources from which I knew they came.
20 Q Okay. And is it fair to say you -- from what I thought I heard you say, you
21 did not meet regularly with Ms. Perkins and you would not have based on the nature of 22 her position.
23 A No. I would have, you know, heard about her work from time to time
24 through the assistant director, but she's not someone that I would meet regularly.
25 Q How involved would you say, based on your knowledge, is Ms. Perkins in the

1 security -- by volition of where she would have sat as -- let's just say as the acting section
2 chief of the SIIS, of the security investigation, and forgive me, I'm forgetting the acronym
3 myself, but of that section, where would positionally how much -- how involved would 4 she be in that process, to your knowledge?
5 A I mean, sure, as the section chief, I would expect any section chief to be 6 involved in the work of their section. If, you know, we're kind of thinking about 7 structurally, right, depending on which unit we are talking about, I mean, you would have 8 had a line employee, a supervisor, a unit chief potentially, an assistant section chief, so
9 there are several lines before you get to the sitting section chief. So in terms of 10 day-to-day, you know, in the weeds, I couldn't really speak to that. I would certainly 11 expect her to be knowledgeable of and involved in the work going on within that section.
12 Q Okay. And can you explain what, if any, sign-off responsibilities Ms. Perkins
13 may have enacted in that role as far as the process is concerned?
14 A I'm trying to figure out exactly which -- she would have been -- well, the 15 section chief of the SIIS would see any of the documents generated by the SIIS. That 16 would include adjudication decisions, right? She would be -- or the section chief 17 position would be one of the signatories. There would still be above that person the 18 DAD, the AD, and EAD, so there's still several more layers of review, but she would be in 19 that chain. That position would be in that chain.
20 Q Would Ms. Perkins be involved in, say, deciding case openings or closings, or 21 would that be normally a lower level in the hierarchy, or would that depend?
22 A Right. Potentially, right? You know, I think standard workflow, that 23 would be in the investigator supervisor kind of unit chief realm, but it certainly wouldn't 24 be that surprising to learn that a section chief had been involved in a specific investigation
25 discussion. I mean, you would expect certain oversight and management, maybe not in

1 each case, right? But in some.

2 Q In your experience, Mr. Dunham, once it's gone beyond the section chief and

3 now begins to go to the deputy assistant director or assistant director and beyond ranks,

4 is it common for sometimes things to be kicked back down for further questions by

5 people, you know, more senior in the ranks, or do you tend to sail through, or how would

6 you describe?

7 A Certainly not uncommon. From where I sit, you know, I'm at the Hoover

8 building, right? The majority of our Security Division is over at Patriots Plaza, or

9 whatever else. So to the extent that the DAD and the AD may kick work back below

10 them, I wouldn't even necessarily see that in the workflow. So I'm sure it happens. I

11 can't really speak to how frequently.

12 Q Fair enough. Thank you very much. Moving on, do you know Mr. Jeff

13 Veltri, the former section chief who I believe had fleeted up to deputy assistant -- acting

14 deputy assistant director at one time when Ms. Perkins had been the acting section chief?

15 Have you worked with Mr. Veltri?

16 A I don't believe I've ever worked directly with Mr. Veltri. I know Mr. Veltri

17 just from his roles in the FBI and now his role as being in charge of the Miami Field Office.

18 Q Sure.

19 A Excuse me.

20 Q These would have been specific to his roles, and I wasn't certain based on

21 the timeline of things if you would have worked directly in that capacity, so for that

22 reason I'm going to move on from that topic, because I don't want you to have to 23 speculate.

24 A Thank you.

25 Q [redacted] he was a supervisory special agent, [redacted] in, I believe, one of

1 the clearance investigative unit branches, if you will. Are you familiar with Mr. [redacted]
2 [redacted] at all?
3 A I am not. I've heard his name, you know, recently, but I never worked with 4 [redacted] that I recall or I'm familiar with him.
5 Q I'm going to spare you questions about [redacted] for that reason as well. I
6 did not want you to have to speculate. I certainly wanted to ask. Thank you for your 7 candor there.
8 We're going to go back to that June 28th disclosure for this next round of 9 questions, so we'll be in and out of there a little bit, but can you tell us how the SIIS
10 handles security clearance and adjudications in general? I think you did describe that to 11 us, but just kind of walk us through really closely from intake to adjudication. What 12 would that look like?
13 A So there's three separate units. We get, you know, what we would call a 14 referral from any number of sources. It's reviewed by our evaluations unit. The 15 determination is made there as to whether it merits an investigation or a no action. If it
16 merits an investigation, it proceeds, to the best of my understanding of the day-to-day
17 workflow, to the investigations unit where the investigation itself would be conducted.
18 Upon completion of that investigation, they just then refer over to the adjudications unit
19 for review and recommendation. So then at that point, once an adjudication
20 recommendation is made, that's when it goes up the six, seven, eight layers to the SPM.
21 Q And there's multiple eyes on that, obviously, throughout the process.
22 A That's right.
23 Q Okay. Thank you. Sort of an admin question here. Does the FBI follow
24 the adjudicative guidelines as laid out in title 32 of the Code of Federal Regulations and 25 the office of the director of national intelligence's security executive agent directives, the

1 SEADs, specifically SEAD number 4?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Okay. Along those lines, then, adjudicative guideline A leads us to the 4 United States. In your experience, Mr. Dunham, what are the most common reasons

5 that a security clearance is suspended? What guidelines are most commonly used?

6 We can take that apart and I was going to ask you how often guideline A is used, but let's

7 take that in pieces. What are the most common reasons that you have seen that a

8 security clearance might be suspended?

9 A Okay. So I have been in this role for, you know, since June of last year. I

10 did not work security matters before that, right? So to the extent, my experience for

11 the last whatever that is, 16, 17 months has been, if I'm going by memory, I would say the 12 most common ones that I see are guideline E, personal conduct. Certainly, we will see

13 misuse of IT, things of that nature. Comparatively speaking, just to get to the next part

14 of your question, guideline A is used much less often.

15 Q Okay.

16 A I don't have specific numbers on that in front of me, but --

17 Q No. That's -- I appreciate that. I wouldn't have expected you to come

18 armed with that. I was just curious if in your experience and realizing that wasn't your

19 forte prior to this role, if you had seen that used often as far as guidelines.

20 A Not often, no.

21 Q Okay. I believe we're going back to June 28th, the disclosure there in front

22 of you.

23 A Okay.

24 Q On page 5 there's a comment in there from this disclosure form that says,

25 "Perkins and Veltri would frequently make initial judgments about cases based upon their

1 own prejudices, then would refuse to move from their first impressions regardless of
2 what facts and investigation uncovered." The question is, were -- let me just phrase it
3 this way, Mr. Dunham. Were you ever made aware of any of those allegations as 4 stipulated in that document? Did that ever rise to your level, any of those complaints or 5 concerns about those two individuals? Realizing you didn't work directly with Mr.
6 Veltri?
7 A Right. And also realizing this is the perspective of one individual as far as I
8 can tell. In terms of not formally, certainly, you know, like I said, as I've been digging
9 into preparation for this, and so on and so forth, I've become aware of the nature of the 10 allegations regarding these two individuals.
11 Q Let me ask it in perhaps a better way. It's maybe a little more fair.
12 A Sure.
13 Q Based upon personal experience or knowledge, not external sources or news
14 products or rumint, have you had any colleagues or charges or subordinates who have 15 actually made you aware in your current position --
16 A I don't recall.
17 Q -- of allegations to that effect?
18 A I don't recall that, no.
19 Q Okay. Thank you. The next question I have, how often do decisions
20 regarding security clearance adjudications change after further investigation? Perhaps 21 let's look at that from a complaint perspective. When that complaint first came in as 22 whatever the allegation was --
23 A Right.
24 Q -- how often would you say that those end up washing out, percentage wise?
25 I don't know if you roughly have an idea of how often that changes.

1 A So if you're -- I recall looking at some numbers recently. I think our
2 referrals over the last few years, right, run anywhere from, like, 1,000 to 1,500. That's a
3 rough approximation.
4 Q That come in to the intake unit.
5 A That's right.
6 Q Okay.
7 A Then I believe, based on my recollection, that the number of those that 8 actually go into investigations is somewhere in the 400 to 600 range, you know, so you're 9 talking whatever that comes out to be roughly.
10 Q Yeah.
11 A I'm sorry, I'm not sure if there was another part to that question.
12 Q No, no, no. So what we're seeing is of the initial tranche of referrals that 13 come in, that gets minimized to, you know, a third or a half, roughly, or whatever that 14 looks like that comes in. And then from there, the final that you have of that subset,
15 what percentage do you believe actually washed out versus end up going through? And 16 again, that's speculation, but I'm asking you to say how often do these resolve themselves
17 is what I'm getting at.
18 A Yeah. I don't have a great answer for that, other than to tell you that when 19 I think of the work that I've seen --
20 Q Yeah.
21 A -- and the ones that come to me are, generally speaking, positive actions, if 22 that makes sense, like something from a warning letter up to a revocation.
23 Q Sure. That might be something that would be an easy statistic to pull. I'm 24 just curious of how many end up being cleared or of that subset that are open, how many 25 end up being solved as far as cleared and not further --

1 [redacted] For clarity, when you say, "wash out," meaning closed with no --
2 [redacted] That was mitigated or that person is reinstated. They aren't
3 fired. Let's put it that way. That they're reinstated as far as that goes.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q So we get the complaint. Roughly a half or third get open. Some get 6 dismissed on the front end. Then we have that subset that are investigated, right?
7 And of that, what would you say actually ends up being these were people that, you
8 know, legitimately --
9 A I'm sure We can pull that.
10 Q -- they were revoked? There's probably a statistic there. If it's not too
11 much trouble, that would be wonderful.
12 All right. We talked about the role of the section chief and the suspension
13 revocation process, so we will move on from that. The question came up about how 14 involved, Mr. Dunham, would you -- you've been a section chief before, so you
15 understand this intimately. How often would a section chief make substantive edits to a 16 product that they are actually reviewing or approving?
17 A I'm not sure that's something I could, you know, tell you. When I was a
18 section chief, I did it routinely. Obviously, the leadership development program is a 19 different approach --
20 Q Sure.
21 A -- than the Security Division. I mean, I guess maybe to get to what I 22 think -- it would not be unusual for a section chief to make a substantive edit or change to 23 a document.
24 Q Would that normally be done so that the author or the investigator would be 25 aware that, in fact, that had been changed or that there was maybe a discussion with that

1 investigator or author of that document so they understood why that information was
2 added or subtracted from the document --
3 A I would think --
4 Q -- in your experience?
5 A Yeah, I would think that would be a reasonable practice that you would 6 explain the change or edit that you would like to make.
7 Q The reason that I ask, again, is going back to Ms. Perkins, that the committee
8 has received information that the investigators in some cases, and we'll probably get to a 9 little bit of that later with some specific examples, had found facts and circumstances that 10 would tend to paint a picture in one direction, and perhaps, Ms. Perkins had added 11 information that may have been given at perhaps a different outlook.
12 A Okay.
13 Q That was the nature of the question, but I think we'll touch on that a little bit
14 later, again, so thank you for your answer. The initial drafter of most of these 15 investigative documents, just for the committee's edification, who is the initial drafter of 16 an investigative or adjudicative document? What level would that potentially be -- 17 A What we would call a front-line employee, an investigator, either an 18 investigator or an adjudicator. They typically work under the supervision of a supervisor
19 and then a unit chief. There are some structures. I don't remember exactly which 20 ones where you have something of a team leader in between, right, but typically it's a 21 front-line investigator or adjudicator.
22 Q Okay. Again, according to whistleblowers, Perkins never documented in 23 the adjudicative file in the decision she made, including when she overruled line SIIS staff.
24 Have you ever been made aware of any allegations to that effect about Ms. Perkins?
25 A I mean, again, not that I recall. I feel like recently I've heard a lot about all

1 of this, so trying to separate, you know, where from what.

2 Q We do appreciate that. We would not want you to speculate. Just based

3 upon your personal knowledge.

4 A Thank you.

5 Q A whistleblower told the committee that a large number of Security Division

6 employees also had concerns about its operations. Have you ever been made -- in your

7 current position for roughly a year, has that ever been risen to your level, Mr. Dunham,

8 where you've heard that people are concerned about the way the Security Division is

9 conducting these investigations, and the methodologies, and, perhaps, some of the 10 outcomes? I think that's the crux of the question is that maybe there's an unfair

11 wielding of power at the beginning of that question.

12 A Sure.

13 Q So has that complaint or concern ever risen to your level in your current

14 position?

15 A Not that I can specifically recall. I would like to think that if I heard

16 something like that, I would have taken some form of action, right? Or look into it. I

17 mean, certainly, I am generally aware that there has been that complaint about Security

18 Division activities in the past.

19 Q All right. Thank you for that. I believe it's on page 5 of the disclosure.

20 Again, this is coming from this individual's perspective, but in that disclosure, SSA client

21 participated in many discussions in which it became clear that Veltri's and Perkins'

22 perspective was that if an FBI employee fit a certain profile as a political conservative,

23 they were viewed as security concerns and unworthy to work at the FBI.

24 That particular set of facts and circumstances, would that fall under the guidelines

25 in the FBI as something that you would look at as far as a need to suspend someone's

1 security clearance?

2 A Being a political conservative?

3 Q Yes, sir.

4 A No.

5 Q Would there be any guideline where that type of activity would actually fall

6 under it, if it would, that you're aware of?

7 A Certainly not what we would think of as political conservativism, no.

8 Q Moving to the next exhibit.

9 [redacted] I will introduce a Washington Times article as the next exhibit.

10 [redacted] Are you good?

11 Mr. Dunham. Yeah.

12 [Dunham Exhibit No. 2

13 was marked for identification.]

14 [redacted] We're going to introduce this next exhibit, and I'll hand it back

15 over to my colleague.

16 Mr. Dunham. Sure.

17 [redacted] This will be exhibit 2.

18 Mr. Dunham. Okay.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q So Mr. Dunham, according to whistleblowers, Mr. Veltri and Ms. Perkins

21 specifically pursued employees who served in the marine corps or other military

22 branches, and either declared or attempted to declare the marine and other veterans as

23 disloyal to the United States of America. Were you aware that this was going on?

24 A First off, I would at least dispute that this was going on. I'm not sure what

25 this reporting is coming from. Second of all, anything that was done by Mr. Veltri or Ms.

1 Perkins would have been before my time as EAD, so this thing that I was aware what was
2 going on would not be accurate. Third of all, just as a baseline statement, the idea that
3 we would go after someone who was a veteran, simply because they were a veteran,
4 that's a non-starter.
5 Q So no one ever raised this issue to you before?
6 A Certainly not formally. I mean, this -- again, there's been a lot of swirl
7 recently about what went on during this period of time in sec D, so to say that I had never 8 heard any of this in some format, I'm sure I have, but again, I'm not sure where this
9 accusation is coming from or what the evidence is that it's based on, but to target
10 someone for a security action purely because they were a veteran would be 11 unacceptable, obviously, and I would certainly question the perception that this was 12 happening.
13 Q In the article, the whistleblowers also stated, quote, "In these cases there
14 was no indication that any of the individuals had any affiliation to a foreign power or held 15 any belief against the United States." Were you aware of these cases?
16 A I'm not sure which cases you're referring to. Is there a specific case you 17 want to --
18 [redacted]
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q That case is most likely tied to Marcus Allen's investigation.
21 A I'm aware of the Allen case.
22 Q We'll talk about that a little later.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q So, according to another whistleblower, other signs that an employee was a
25 right-wing radical and disloyal to the United States, according to Ms. Perkins and Mr.

1 Veltri, were a failure to wear a face mask, refusing to take the COVID-19 vaccination, and 2 participating in religious activities." What's your reaction to this?
3 A Okay. Well, separating it out, right? If you're talking about action taken
4 purely because of some belief related to COVID, that would not be acceptable, but may
5 have occurred -- again, without context, you can't -- you know, I'm just trying to provide a
6 fulsome answer here. There were points in time at which we were under a Federal 7 mandate for various masking and vaccination issues, right? If you did not follow the 8 guidelines for that, that could have been an issue under, like, guideline E, personal 9 conduct, which relates to your ability to follow rules and regulations, and so on and so
10 forth. I'm not saying that's what happened in this instance. You know, it certainly 11 wouldn't be because of some belief related to COVID. It would be the failure to comply 12 with, you know, a lawful guideline or policy.
13 Q Without speculating, did you ever personally witness Perkins or Veltri make 14 comments to this effect?
15 A No.
16 Q And did anyone ever raise issues to you about Perkins and Veltri seeking out
17 right wing employees?
18 A Again, I wasn't in the role at the time that they were in the Security Division,
19 so not during that time period, no.
20 Q Next, I'd like to introduce the FBI Security Division questionnaire as exhibit 3.
21 Do you want to take a moment to look at it?
22 A I think I'm familiar.
23 [Dunham Exhibit No. 3
24 was marked for identification.]
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Are you aware of the CIU using the questionnaire for interviews with 2 colleagues that can take questions about whether the individual applies support for
3 President Trump, what has been known as the Trump questionnaire?
4 A I'm aware, yes.
5 Q And do you know who drafted this questionnaire?
6 A I believe it was a contract employee in the Security Division who drafted this 7 as a job aid.
8 Q Do you know when the CIU began using these forms?
9 A I can't recall off the top of my head. First of all, though, I do want to clarify
10 I would hesitate to call this a form. This was something that was created by a contract
11 employee as what I would describe as a job aid. This is not an official FBI form.
12 Q So this is, by no means, a standard questionnaire?
13 A I would say it is not a standard questionnaire, no. That would not be 14 my -- --
15 Q Do you know why it was important to know if the individual in question
16 supported President Trump?
17 A So without -- first of all, I should say, as you all are probably aware, when we 18 were made aware of this, we had our Inspection Division do an internal review. We are 19 working with OIG. We have sent them anything responsive to this that they have asked
20 about, so in the specific sense of factual, like, when did this happen and what happened, I
21 defer to their results. I do think it's helpful, though, like, to talk about the question that 22 you're asking.
23 Certainly, this is poorly formulated, and taken out of context is troublesome.
24 When you're talking about that first question, the only thing that I could offer was, again,
25 outside of the context of this questionnaire, under guideline A, we do have a duty to

1 investigate whether an individual might have a loyalty to an ideology, an individual,
2 anything other than the Constitution. I am not saying that that is specifically the reason
3 for this. I don't know that. But when you look at these questions, that is the context in 4 which you could see how something like this question may have been drafted.
5 I mean, the other piece to that, right, we just touched on guideline E, personal
6 conduct, your ability to follow rules and regulations. All FBI employees are under, you
7 know, the provisions of the Hatch Act, so in the sense of if it was, you know, political 8 activity in the workplace, that could potentially be something that would be relevant
9 under guideline E.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q If I may, sir, but the question is specific to one candidate and one former 12 President. It's not a political party. It's not a question of political activity. So you can 13 say a little bit more about what additional context it was that someone could get to the 14 point of drafting the question.
15 A Again, we turned this all over to the OIG, so I want to wait until that process
16 is done. The point I'm trying to make, and maybe I made it unartfully, was, if there is an 17 indication that an individual could have a higher loyalty to something other than the 18 Constitution of the United States, that would be something that may be relevant under a 19 whole-person concept. I can't say specifically I know that that's what was going on here.
20 That's about the only way that I could understand something like this being drafted.
21 Q Are you aware of any instances of the President Trump's support of the FBI
22 having a higher loyalty to something other than the Constitution?
23 A Not off the top of my head, no.
24 Q Have there been any other questions specific to a candidate or to a former 25 president, or support of that candidate and former president could be in the context of

1 support for a loyalty other than --

2 A As I sit here today, I don't recall -- certainly, this is highly unusual. Like,

3 don't get me wrong. I'm just trying to offer the way in which the employee may have

4 gotten there as opposed to defending it or supporting it.

5 Q Do you know which contractor it was?

6 A If I'm remembering correctly, I believe I do. It was the individual -- I think

7 it's in our inspection report. I believe the last name is Pena, I believe.

8 [redacted] Could you ask him to spell that.

9 Mr. Dunham. I believe it's P-e-n-a. I'm sorry, this is based on my recollections

10 of reviewing our internal inspection report.

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Are there any policies or guidelines within the FBI that would support -- I'll 13 refer to them as a contractor.

14 A Sure.

15 Q To deduce this might be an appropriate question?

16 A I can't think of any policies or regulations, right? Like, specific formal, the 17 FBI says this. That's why I offered that explanation for context, right? You know,

18 unfortunately, the IGE, or whatever, will have to determine if that was actually the frame

19 of mind here.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q The questionnaire also asks whether the colleague had heard the individual

22 vocalize an objection to COVID-19 vaccines. Why was it important to know if the 23 individual objected to the vaccine?

24 A Again, I'm going to defer to the IGE and their findings on the specifics of this

25 case. I would just offer, again, for context, my theory would be that it would relate to

1 compliance with the existing Federal workplace guidelines at the time.

2 Q So from your perspective, how would this factor into whether the individual

3 was suitable for the whole security clearance?

4 A You could almost erase the subject of the conversation, right? This is

5 not -- in my mind, anyway, information offered right here would not be relevant because

6 it's specific to COVID. It would be relevant because it's specific to the employee's

7 willingness to follow established rules and guidelines.

8 Q A whistleblower told the committee that because of the influence of acting

9 DAD Veltri and acting ASC Perkins who is very common when an SSA client arrived in sec

10 D for investigators to ask inappropriate questions, such as whether the employee under

11 investigation had vocalized support for former President Donald Trump, or whether they

12 had vocalized objection to the COVID-19 vaccine. Has anyone ever raised concerns

13 about this to you?

14 A I mean, again, outside of the context of the material we're talking about 15 today, I can't -- I don't recall that, no.

16 Q How is it handled if a person whose clearance was under review objected to 17 the vaccine because of the medical conditions or religious exceptions?

18 A We had a medical -- we had a religious -- sorry, I'm forgetting the exact term,

19 reasonable accommodation policy process that they could follow if they had a religious

20 objection. Again, we go back to whatever the guidelines were in place at the time, and

21 I'm sorry, I don't remember on a given day or time, right, what the level was. There

22 were varying levels depending on the COVID levels in the area. I'm sure we all

23 remember that experience. So it would go to their willingness to obey those guidelines

24 or other processes in place.

25 Q So a whistleblower reported that despite issues like support for former

1 President Trump, for vaccine hesitancy being a common theme in discussions regarding 2 suitability for classified information, those issues were almost never mentioned in the 3 written clearance suspension and revocation notices sec D issued to FBI employees.
4 Why were those questions included in the questionnaire if not to be mentioned in the 5 actual notices?
6 A I know you all don't want me to speculate, but that's what I'm doing right
7 here, right? My speculation is that they were asked for their reasons that I talked about 8 and were ultimately not deemed to be relevant to the final decision.
9 Q So you'd agree that answers to those questions could form the basis for a 10 suspension or revocation?
11 A I agree that answers indicating that you're not willing to follow established
12 rules, guidelines, policies could indicate a problem under guideline E for personal 13 conduct, which using the whole-person concept could contribute to a security decision.
14 [redacted]
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q We're going to continue on. This time we're going to move on briefly to 17 Marcus Allen, the Marcus Allen case. I do know that you would have had at least some 18 role towards the end of that case, so with that in mind, are you familiar with staff
19 operation specialist Marcus Allen and certainly his investigation?
20 A I'm not familiar with him personally. I've never met Mr. Allen, to my 21 knowledge, but I am familiar with his case, yes.
22 Q Okay. Do you recall who supervised that clearance investigation?
23 A Did you mean, like, the SPM at the time or the supervisor?
24 Q Well, your recollection, I guess, from the SIIS level who the investigator 25 would have been and who the supervisor would have been at the time for most of that?

1 A All of this would have been before my time.

2 Q Understood.

3 A If I'm recalling correctly, his suspension and revocation were both issued in

4 advance of my time reporting to the Security Division, so I don't recall specifically who

5 was, you know, working or immediately supervising him.

6 Q That's fine. Thank you. What is Mr. Allen's current status with the FBI?

7 A My understanding is that his -- he has resigned from the FBI.

8 Q Do you recall the circumstances that surrounded Mr. Allen's initial complaint

9 and investigation?

10 A I recall the circumstances as they were documented in the reinstatement EC,

11 which is the primary document that I'm familiar with it as relates to Mr. Allen, so yes.

12 Q Okay. So only via that, the summary you see, basically.

13 A Not only by that but, I mean, I'm certainly familiar with the circumstances.

14 That's the decision-making document that I use, yeah.

15 Q That makes sense. Are you aware that the FBI questioned Mr. Allen's

16 allegiance to the United States?

17 A I am aware that the FBI predicated the suspension and the revocation under 18 guideline A.

19 Q Do you recall the facts of why they had chosen guideline A?

20 A You know, obviously, wave tops (ph) here, but Mr. Allen had sent an email

21 citing certain news sources and then telling squad mates and co-workers something to

22 the effect of needing to be cautious working investigations related to January 6th. That

23 was the initiating event, as I remember it. I'm not sure you want me to go any further at 24 that point.

25 [Dunham Exhibit No. 4

1 was marked for identification.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q We're going to pass out, I believe, exhibit 4. It will be the January 10th

4 letter from then-executive assistant director Moore to Mr. Allen. So that is the January

5 10th letter. I'm assuming you may have seen this, Mr. Dunham, in the past. Pass that

6 over for the team there.

7 A The suspension letter? Yes.

8 Q Yes, sir. If you need to refresh your memory real quick, that is absolutely

9 okay.

10 A No. I'm good. Thank you.

11 Q Okay. At one point the letter states the suspension of your security

12 clearance is based on security concerns related to adjudicated guideline A, allegiance to 13 the United States. What information did the Security Division have to support the 14 security concerns and who decided that Allen's alleged behaviors rose to the level of and

15 best fit the concerns under guideline A?

16 A I'm sorry, what information did they have that led them to that belief?

17 Q Yes. Our understanding of the committee is that based on the facts and

18 circumstances, you'll look if there is an adjudicative guideline that that particular behavior

19 of concern may fall under. What led them to choose guideline A with Mr. Allen's 20 sending of emails?

21 A I can't -- I'm sorry, I can't speak to the specific information they had at the

22 time to make that decision, because I wasn't there. My understanding is that, obviously,

23 they had the email. I believe at that point, but my memory may be faulty on this, that

24 they had some other internal communications.

25 Q Okay. Thank you. Okay. According to whistleblowers, Mr. Allen's

1 colleagues told the clearance investigative unit, the CIU, that he had never given them
2 cause to question his allegiance to the U.S. The CIU investigator then concluded that
3 Allen's allegiance to the United States was not in question, that the suspension of his
4 security clearance was not warranted. Are you aware of that?
5 A Not firsthand, no. Again, I wasn't in the role at the time.
6 Q Understood. I just didn't know if you had heard about that or been briefed
7 on that after the fact, but that would have been after the fact. I understand. After the 8 CIU investigator made his findings, according to whistleblowers, Perkins overruled the 9 initial investigator and reassigned the case to another investigator to move forward with 10 suspending SOS Allen's clearance. Had you heard of that allegation?
11 A I've been made aware of that allegation relatively recently. I certainly -- I
12 don't recall it, you know, concurrently.
13 Q Okay. Are you aware that Ms. Perkins then reassigned the CIU investigator
14 to a, quote, "less prestigious assignment," unquote?
15 A I've heard that allegation, yes.
16 Q And the committee understands that did predate your time in this position.
17 A Yeah.
18 Q A second CIU investigator also concluded in September of '22 that she did
19 not believe there was enough basis for the clearance investigative unit to revoke SOS
20 Allen's clearance. Are you aware of that?
21 A I don't recall being made specifically aware of that. Again, before my 22 time -- and we've reviewed so many materials related to this, I don't recall that 23 specifically, but --
24 Q Are you aware of the allegations that in May of 2023, Ms. Perkins exerted
25 pressure on the investigators to revoke Allen's security clearance before this committee's

1 May 18th hearing where Allen was set to testify?

2 A I guess the answer would be the same. I don't -- I certainly didn't know

3 that at the time.

4 Q Okay. According to whistleblowers, SSA client observed the acting Section

5 Chief Perkins put pressure on the clearance adjudicated unit, the CAU, for that client's

6 adjudicative team to revoke special agents and SOS Allen's clearances prior to them

7 testifying before the House subcommittee. So this is that -- this is filling out that alleged

8 incident. According to SOS Allen's clearance, it was revoked on May 9th of 2023 and the

9 other special agents was as well at the time, another individual who's testifying on May

10 17th. Did anyone ever raise concerns about the timing of that realizing that you would

11 report a month later? Were there ever concerns raised to the chain of command about 12 the timing?

13 A The fact that Mr. Allen's and another employee's were done on the same

14 day? Is that --

15 Q And that Mr. Allen and that same former employee were literally about to

16 testify in front of this committee the very next day, the very next day. Were you ever

17 made aware when you checked in in your current role, which I realize was a month later,

18 that that --

19 A I don't recall that. It may have been in the materials I've reviewed. I

20 don't recall that specific piece.

21 Q Yeah. Thank you. Moving on, we're going to present May 17th, 2023,

22 letter. Do we have that? It's a letter to the committee, I believe, from the FBI. May

23 17th. It's from the FBI to Mr. Jordan dated May 17th. We're going to give you that in 24 just a second.

25 A Sure.

1 Q And we're also going to probably want to pull the May 31st letter just to
2 have it at the ready there from Mr. Dunham. I'll close out this thread. So I believe
3 we're going to be on exhibit 5 with the letter from the FBI to Mr. Jordan, Chairman
4 Jordan.
5 [redacted] I think we have copies, if you guys want them, obviously.
6 [redacted] May 17. Did you say you have it, [redacted]
7 [redacted] Here we go.
8 [redacted] We haven't done this in a while, Mr. Dunham.
9 Mr. Dunham. Take your time. No rush.
10 [Dunham Exhibit No. 5
11 was marked for identification.]
12 BY [redacted]
13 Q All right. Let me pass out -- all right. We've got three of these. This will 14 be exhibit 5. This is pretty waves. It's got a lot of charts and graphs.
15 A Okay.
16 Q You can review that if you like, but I really only have one question that will 17 be derived from that.
18 A Sure.
19 Q Within the body of this letter, the FBI claimed that Allen expressed sympathy 20 for persons or organizations that advocate, threaten, or use force or violence or use any 21 other illegal or unconstitutional means in an effort to prevent Federal Government
22 personnel from performing their official duties. Did you ever come to learn how the FBI
23 made that determination?
24 A I'm sorry, [redacted] can you tell me where you are in the letter?
25 Q Yes. Probably way at the back.

1 [11:02 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Probably way at the back, page 7. Sorry, Tim.

4 A No, that's fine.

5 Q I didn't mark that myself.

6 A That's all right.

7 Q But the crux of it was, we're talking about -- clearly it's about adjudication.

8 It's going to be about A.

9 A The adjudication of Allen?

10 Q So how did we get to that statement --

11 A So my understanding --

12 Q -- based upon the facts and circumstances that the investigation revealed?

13 How did we --

14 A So my understanding of that would be based primarily on the reinstatement

15 EC and a few other supporting documentation pieces, right?

16 But my understanding of how we got there was that Mr. Allen's email and a few

17 other internal communications were assessed to indicate the sympathy or the support

18 [inaudible]. But the terminology that you reference --

19 Q Yes.

20 A -- and then --

21 Q The organizations that have a K threat and et cetera, yeah?

22 A Yes.

23 [redacted] I do think it's important to state for the record that this letter

24 documented the FBI's revocation decision for Mr. Allen. The process affords him a

25 reconsideration, which is the process that this witness has gone through in reaching the

1 reinstatement decision. So just to put that on record.

2 [redacted] Yes, thank you. Thank you for that.

3 And it's the bottom of page 8 where that was derived from.

4 Mr. Dunham. Okay.

5 [redacted] Thank you, [redacted] for that, but --

6 Mr. Dunham. And then the other prong that -- I believe the other prong was the 7 piece about the deficient investigative efforts.

8 BY [redacted]

9 Q And we'll talk about, I think, how that all came about in a bit.

10 A Sure.

11 Q Are you aware that this letter actually arrived to the committee the evening

12 before the hearing where, of course, Mr. Allen and the other gentlemen would be

13 testifying. I know that -- I recognize the timing -- you may not have been --

14 A As I sit here today, I am aware of the --

15 Q And that this letter actually was given to the press as well prior to that

16 hearing.

17 Do you have any idea how that decision was made as far as the timing and the 18 sequencing of this letter, the revocations and those --

19 A I don't have any firsthand knowledge, no.

20 Q Now let's speak to something that I know you'll feel comfortable speaking to,

21 and that will be the letter from yourself to the committee -- or not to the committee but

22 to Mr. Allen -- May 31st of 2024. That will be the next exhibit.

23 [redacted] Could we pull that one more?

24 Two minutes. We need to go off the record?

25 [redacted] No, you have 3 minutes.

1 [redacted] Oh, yeah.

2 [redacted] Off the record.

3 [Discussion off the record.]

4 [redacted] What I think we'll do -- thank you, [redacted] -- what I think we'll do

5 is we'll actually enter this exhibit and then we'll go ahead and we'll end our hour.

6 [Dunham Exhibit No. 6

7 was marked for identification.]

8 Mr. Dunham. Okay.

9 [redacted] Does that sound fair? So this will be exhibit 6, which will be the 10 letter to Mr. Allen --

11 Mr. Dunham. Yes.

12 [redacted] -- from Executive Assistant Director Timothy Dunham, dated May 13 31st of 2024.

14 And with that, we will go off the record.

15 [Recess.]

16 [redacted] It is 11:15. We can go back on the record.

17 Mr. Dunham, thank you again for joining us today.

18 EXAMINATION

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q Before I get started, I just want to make one clarification for the record.

21 A Sure.

22 Q Looking at exhibit 5, it's the May 17th, 2023, letter.

23 A Okay.

24 Q That was signed on page 11 --

25 A Yes.

1 Q -- by Christopher Dunham, acting assistant director. I believe that's with 2 the Office of Congressional Affairs. Do you see where it says that?
3 A Sorry. I'm almost there.
4 Q Okay.
5 A Yes.
6 Q Your last name is Dunham as well, correct?
7 A It is, yes.
8 Q Are you any relation to Christopher Dunham?
9 A No relation.
10 Q Okay, thank you.
11 Moving on, I want to talk through your background in just a little more depth. I
12 know you gave a quick run-through at the beginning, but I want to make sure I have the 13 facts right and just build that out a little bit.
14 A Sure.
15 Q You joined the FBI, you said, in 2003?
16 A 2002.
17 Q 2002. Okay. And that was when you went to Quantico?
18 A That's right.
19 Q And then you graduated from Quantico in 2003?
20 A I did, that's right, early 2003.
21 Q And you were assigned to the Chicago Field Office?
22 A Chicago Field Office.
23 Q And what did you do in Chicago?
24 A I was an investigator, a case agent, working counterintelligence matters.
25 Q Okay. I don't want to get into anything law enforcement sensitive and

1 certainly nothing classified.

2 A Sure.

3 Q But can you talk broadly about any of the matters that you would've worked

4 on as a kind of a junior agent?

5 A I mean, I guess without, you know -- general investigations, so anything that

6 you might think of involving counterintelligence investigations, which, unfortunately, by

7 their very nature are --

8 Q What are counterintelligence investigations?

9 A Investigations protecting national security secrets or countering activities of 10 foreign intelligence services.

11 Q Thank you.

12 In 2007, you said you were transferred to headquarters. Is that correct?

13 A That's correct.

14 Q And I think I wrote down these acronyms correct. But you were assigned

15 to CTD, correct?

16 A My first assignment was with the Counterintelligence Division at

17 headquarters.

18 Q Okay.

19 A Then I had an assignment with our Counterterrorism Division at 20 headquarters, and then I had an assignment out at the CIA headquarters.

21 Q And broadly speaking, can you talk through what you did at those 22 assignments?

23 A In the Counterintelligence Division, my job was to program manage or

24 oversee Counterintelligence Divisions of a certain nature in various areas of the country.

25 So making sure field offices had their resources, making sure our program had kind of a

1 national coherence, things to that effect.

2 In the Counterterrorism Division, I was assigned to a unit overseeing

3 extraterritorial counterterrorism investigations. So it was terrorism threats emanating

4 or impacting U.S. interests abroad. My area was Western Europe.

5 And then at the CIA, I was assigned to the HUMINT Coordination Center, where 6 my job was to assist in the coordination of human intelligence operations.

7 Q You were transferred to the Albany Field Office in 2012?

8 A That's right, Albany, New York, yes.

9 Q And was that your choice, or was that -- how did that happen that you ended

10 up in Albany?

11 A It was my choice, yes. Yes.

12 Q And what type of work did you do when you were at the Albany Field Office?

13 A When I reported I was the supervisory special agent for one of the joint 14 terrorism task forces.

15 Q What are -- or at the time -- I realize some duties might've changed.

16 A Of course.

17 Q But at the time, what type of duties did the joint terrorism task force have?

18 A So the one that I was assigned to, we had an assignment of a complement of 19 agents. We also had assigned a complement of what we call task force officers, or law

20 enforcement officers, from other agencies so that we can more effectively share

21 information.

22 Our job was to kind of be the frontline of counterterrorism investigations for

23 upstate -- 40 counties in upstate New York and the entire State of Vermont on the 24 international terrorism side.

25 We also had some domestic terrorism responsibilities. And so we conducted just

1 on-the-ground CT investigations.

2 Q So just to put it kind of in layman's terms, is it fair to say that when you were

3 assigned to Albany, your job was to take the lead effectively in helping to protect the 4 greater New York region and up to Vermont from international terrorism?

5 A Not the city. They might get upset if I claimed that. But, yes, that's

6 correct.

7 Q In 2017, you were transferred back to FBI headquarters?

8 A That's right.

9 Q And what were your responsibilities at headquarters?

10 A There I was the section chief of what was then our Leadership Development

11 Program Section, and we were charged with developing and administering formal

12 leadership development activities for the FBI.

13 We also had some responsibilities related to building what I would call human

14 resources processes, like promotion processes and things of that nature.

15 Q And was that your first leadership position at headquarters?

16 A Well, technically, the previous positions were all at the supervisory special

17 agent level, so those are technically leadership positions. The LDP, as we call it, position

18 would've been my first Senior Executive Service position.

19 Q Thank you.

20 2018, you were transferred to Washington Field Office. What were your

21 responsibilities at WFO?

22 A So I was the special agent in charge of our Counterintelligence Division

23 there, so I oversaw our counterintelligence operations for the Washington Field Office

24 area of responsibility.

25 Q And was that international terrorism, domestic terrorism, or --

1 A That was counterintelligence.

2 Q Oh, I'm sorry.

3 A Yeah, yes, no, right, right. So back to protecting national secrets and

4 countering foreign intelligence adversaries.

5 Q Thank you.

6 You said you became a special agent in charge of the Criminal Division at WFO in

7 2019. How big is the Criminal Division at WFO, if you recall, or how big was it at the 8 time?

9 A To the best of my memory it was something on the order of 300-plus agents,

10 give or take.

11 Q Is it fair to say that the Washington Field Office Criminal Investigative

12 Division is one of the biggest for field offices in the country?

13 A It's fair to say that, yeah, to the best of my knowledge. I mean, obviously,

14 L.A. or New York might be close. But yes.

15 Q And as special agent in charge, you were at the top of the leadership

16 structure there, correct?

17 A The Criminal Division. So Washington Field Office, as you probably know, is

18 one of our what we call ADIC offices where we have an assistant director in charge, as 19 opposed to -- so I did have an immediate supervisor there, the ADIC at WFO.

20 Q Right. But you oversaw the whole Criminal Division, correct?

21 A Criminal Division, that's right.

22 Q You were transferred back to headquarters in 2020?

23 A That's right, yeah.

24 Q And you became the deputy assistant director of the --

25 A Criminal Investigative Division, yeah.

1 So in that role, I reported to the assistant director for the Criminal Investigative
2 Division, so the head of all criminal investigations for the FBI. I oversaw transnational
3 organized crime, violent crime, to include crimes against children, and then what we call
4 like our operational support section, which was a number of kind of various support
5 functions.
6 Q And then when did you actually become -- were you actually put in charge of 7 the security -- or executive assistant director, I guess, oversee for human resources?
8 A So I became the acting EAD the first business day after EAD Moore retired,
9 shortly thereafter. It was within June. I don't remember the exact date. I want to 10 say it was the 20th, but please don't quote me on that if I was on the right date.
11 Q Of 2023, correct?
12 A Of 2023, yes.
13 Q Okay. So you're here today talking about your -- what you -- about the 14 investigation that the majority is running, but your experience with the Security Division
15 has really only been a little over a year. Is that fair to say?
16 A That's fair to say.
17 Q Okay. So the comments you've made today, you've said a couple times
18 that you're speculating because you've been asked about things that occurred before you
19 were in your current -- in that position, correct?
20 A Sure.
21 Q And you said now you are the acting associate director of the FBI?
22 A Yeah, associate deputy director.
23 Q Associate deputy director.
24 A Yeah.
25 Q Sorry.

1 A No.

2 Q Is that third in the chain of command at FBI? Is that correct?

3 A It is, that's right.

4 Q So is it fair to say that in roughly -- you started 2002 -- 2024 is 22

5 years -- you've gone from being a field agent to being third in line at the FBI?

6 A That's roughly accurate, yes, ma'am.

7 Q I would imagine that to have that kind of a rise you've probably been

8 awarded some accolades in your time?

9 A I'd have to think back through that. But sure.

10 Q Off the top of your head, are you able to talk about any type of awards that

11 you've received in your time at FBI?

12 A Most of ours are various like cash incentives or things like that, so I have

13 received some of those. Like in 20- -- I don't remember the exact year, I'm

14 sorry -- probably the one of note when I was at the Albany Field Office, I was a part of a

15 team who was awarded the Director's award for integrity and compliance.

16 Q Sorry. The Director's award for --

17 A I've forgotten the exact title, but it's like efforts in integrity and compliance

18 for the work with our Albany Field Office compliance counsel.

19 Q Okay. And what is the Director's award?

20 A Each year -- gosh, it's such a like it is what it is thing, right? The awards that

21 the Director gives in a number of areas, outstanding counterterrorism investigation. We

22 have a new one this year, outstanding legal support. Or one of them is [inaudible]

23 integrity and compliance.

24 Q And those are among the highest awards that the department -- or that the 25 Bureau awards, correct?

1 A Yes, ma'am. I mean, in terms of those, right, we have the valor awards and
2 all those other ones. But in terms of the Director's awards, yes, they'd be among the 3 highest.
4 Q Okay. Moving on, I want to get back to a couple of comments you made in 5 the prior hour.
6 A Sure.
7 Q You were asked about Ms. Perkins and things that might've been said about 8 her. And then you were also asked about some of the whistleblower allegations. And 9 there's some terminology that you used that I just want to get a better sense of.
10 A Sure.
11 Q You said that there was a lot of swirl going on. What did you mean when 12 you said "swirl"?
13 A At the period of time which we're talking about, which was before my time
14 as EAD, I was the assistant director of the Training Division. So in that role, I was a part 15 of the Human Resources Branch.
16 So one of my colleagues was the assistant director for the Security Division. My 17 boss was EAD Moore. So I was aware during this time period that there were a lot of 18 things going on, particularly, I guess, in the post-January 6th timeframe.
19 Q And specifically the term "swirl," is it fair to say that that's gossip? Is that a 20 fair analogy or a fair definition?
21 A Yeah. I didn't mean it to be like certainly a term of art or anything like that.
22 It was just reflecting that it was a busy time with a lot of things going on.
23 Q Okay. And I think you were asked about like -- you were asked about 24 different allegations and you said you weren't necessarily sure of the source of different
25 allegations. And then you also said that you weren't sure where you heard certain

1 things.

2 A Right.

3 Q The majority counsel introduced one Washington Times article. I think it's 4 exhibit 2. There have certainly been other news reports.

5 Is it possible that some of the swirl or some of what you've heard came from these

6 news articles?

7 A I mean, it's certainly possible. I mean, for example, I recall watching a fair

8 chunk of the public testimony that was done shortly before EAD Moore retired with 9 Mr. Friend and so on and so forth. So yes.

10 Q Okay. So it could be public information, not necessarily things that you

11 heard from employees at FBI, in other words?

12 A Yeah. I mean, it could be. I was trying to answer that question right to

13 the fullest extent that I could, acknowledging that I was aware that there was a high level

14 of activity and other things going on.

15 I don't remember anything specific, and certainly that looked like it was germane.

16 I don't remember being informed of something that rose to the level where I would need

17 to formally report it in any way.

18 Q And I guess what I'm getting at is that there's an allegation that everybody at

19 FBI was talking about Security Division and all of the terrible things that were happening

20 at Security Division. Is that consistent with your experience?

21 A I don't think it's fair to say that everybody in the FBI was talking about all the

22 terrible things that were going on within Security Division. I mean, I'm pretty proud of 23 the operations of our Security Division. I think they do a fine job.

24 I certainly think just given the nature of the public scrutiny at the time, I mean, it's

25 fairly unusual for us to have three employees up testifying in public and so things of that

1 nature. So certainly there was a lot of attention on the issues at the time.

2 Q Okay. And the attention was, in part, driven by congressional activities,

3 correct?

4 A Certainly in the form of that particular hearing.

5 Q You were asked about the process by which an employee is suspended and

6 then the appeals process. And just to -- I think there was a question about whether an

7 employee who is suspended gets to protest that suspension or gets to have their voice

8 heard in some way.

9 A Right.

10 Q And you referenced the possibility for an employee interview. Do you

11 recall that?

12 A I do.

13 Q In what stage would that happen, if an employee interview were to take

14 place?

15 A That would most likely happen during the investigative stage. And the

16 point that I was trying to make there, there are times in which we would issue a

17 suspension before the interview. There are also potentially times that we would issue a

18 suspension after an interview. So that the point that I was trying to make was just that 19 they would have that potential opportunity.

20 Q And if an employee were to decline to participate in an interview, they

21 would effectively waive that opportunity to have --

22 A Yes.

23 Q -- to speak with the investigator, correct?

24 A And that's a problem under the security adjudication guidelines, yes.

25 Q Why is that a problem?

1 A Because of the security adjudication guidelines. You have to comply with
2 the security investigative process. If you fail to comply with that process, then that can
3 be taken into account in the ultimate decision.
4 Q When you say it can be taken into account, what do you mean by that?
5 A So it would be a negative factor. It might not necessarily, by and of itself,
6 be dispositive, but it would certainly be a negative factor.
7 Q And why is that considered to be a negative factor?
8 A Because we have a duty to protect national security information.
9 A security clearance is a privilege, not a right. There are certain protections in 10 place to ensure that administrative processes, such as a security investigation, are not 11 impacting potential criminal investigations. And so we expect our employees to be 12 forthright when it relates to their security clearance.
13 Q Okay. And if an employee were to decline to participate, in addition to 14 hindering an investigation, it could also delay or slow down the adjudication of that 15 individual's --
16 A Sure.
17 Q -- security clearance determination, correct?
18 A Absolutely, yes.
19 Q I want to turn to exhibit 3, which is the contracting form.
20 A Oh, right. Okay.
21 Q Before I get into the substance of that form, you had mentioned that this 22 was compiled, you believe, by a contractor. You recall saying that?
23 A That's my understanding, yes.
24 Q Why does section D -- I'm sorry, not section D -- why does the Security
25 Division use contractors?

1 A We need to be able to supplement our workforce. We don't have the
2 sufficient resources to be able to do what we'd like to do, let alone what we need to do in 3 a manner we'd like to do it.
4 Q So the FBI -- so it's -- the --
5 A Supplemental workforce.
6 Q Right. So the Security Division uses contractors because they don't have 7 sufficient employees to do the work that they need to do. Is that fair to say?
8 A I think that's fair to say. And another point that I think that is relevant to 9 this, right, is that the contractors are supposed to be trained.
10 Q And I was going to actually ask you about that.
11 So can you explain? You said they're supposed to be trained. Why do you say 12 "supposed to be"?
13 A Well, I mean, my understanding -- and, obviously, I'm not heading our 14 Facilities and Finance Division -- but when we hire contract personnel, they're supposed
15 to report ready to do the job that we ask them to do. So their home company, for lack 16 of a better term, handles their baseline training and preparation for the job role.
17 Q And does the FBI -- do you have familiarity with the training that they do 18 undergo?
19 A For the contractors?
20 Q For the contractors, yeah.
21 A I don't personally, no.
22 Q Okay. You said you weren't clear -- turning to exhibit 3 now -- you said you
23 weren't clear on -- or speaking, sitting here today --
24 A Sure.
25 Q -- and I realize that there's an investigation being conducted by the Inspector

1 General -- about how many times this particular document was used by contractors or by
2 anyone, correct?
3 A Yeah. I mean, specifically, if you need specific numbers, we can provide 4 them. There was an internal inspection review that was done that summarized some of 5 those numbers. But my understanding is that it was very low.
6 Q And I'm actually looking at this exhibit. It looks like there are three 7 interview forms. I'm calling them forms, and just for the record, earlier you said this is 8 not really a form, it's not a standardized form that the FBI uses?
9 A I would use the term job aid.
10 Q Okay.
11 A That would be my term.
12 Q We'll use that term. There are three job aids here. You don't have any 13 reason to believe that it was used more than three times, correct?
14 A I can't say that. I believe it was. I don't think it was a large number of 15 times, objectively speaking, but I can't say for sure that it was just these three times if 16 that's what you're getting at.
17 Q But regardless, you don't -- it wasn't, for example, used a hundred times, to 18 the best of your knowledge?
19 A Yeah, I'm trying to remember. I don't believe so. That sounds high to 20 me --
21 Q Okay.
22 A -- from what I remember reading.
23 Q Okay. I want to turn -- you were asked about a number of the questions at 24 the beginning of this document. But I want to turn -- it's on page 4 of the first 25 document, and then it's on different pages. It's on each 1, but it's question number 11.

1 A Okay. Sorry. Yeah.

2 Q Question number 11 reads -- and I think it means are you aware -- but it

3 reads, are you "aware he attended the Richmond Lobby Day event on 1/18/2021?"

4 Do you see where it says that?

5 A I do.

6 Q You weren't asked about this in the prior round, correct?

7 A I was not, that I remember, no.

8 Q Are you familiar with the Richmond Lobby Day event?

9 A I am not, other than my understanding, general awareness, is that it was 10 billed as a Second Amendment activity, but I'm not familiar with the event itself.

11 Q The date in this question is 1/18/2021. Do you see where it says that?

12 A I do.

13 Q So that would've been about 2 weeks after January 6th, 2021, correct?

14 A That's -- yes.

15 Q And it would've been 2 days before the January 20th, 2021, inauguration,

16 correct?

17 A That's right.

18 Q I'm going to introduce as exhibit 7 a CNN article entitled, "Armed

19 demonstrators gather at Virginia state Capitol as states stay tight on security ahead of 20 inauguration."

21 [Dunham Exhibit No. 7

22 was marked for identification.]

23 BY [redacted]

24 Q And I'll give you a minute to read this --

25 A Yeah, thank you.

1 Q -- so you can read the whole thing.

2 [Witness reviewing.]

3 A Okay.

4 Q Ready to continue?

5 A Yeah, sure.

6 Q Okay. Just turning to page 1 of this, the article reads, "Dozens of armed

7 demonstrators gathered at the state Capitol in Richmond, Virginia, on Monday as

8 authorities remained on alert at capitols across the United States two days ahead of

9 President-elect Joe Biden's inauguration. Several demonstrators in Richmond identified

10 themselves as members of the Proud Boys and Boogaloo groups as well as the Black

11 Panthers."

12 A Okay.

13 Q "The demonstrations were part of the State's annual 'Lobby Day,' an event

14 held in support of Second Amendment rights and hosted by the Virginia Citizens

15 Defense League."

16 Did I read that correctly?

17 A You did.

18 Q And right underneath what I read, there's a picture. Do you see that 19 picture?

20 A I do.

21 Q Could you describe what you see in that picture?

22 A I see what appears to be three individuals crossing a street in military garb, is

23 how I would describe it, camouflage. At least two of the three, the third one may be as

24 well, appear to be carrying assault-style-type rifles. The one in the middle has an

25 American flag.

1 Q And I'll just read the caption into the record. Underneath it says,
2 "Members of a pro-gun group carry their weapons near the state Capitol on January 18,
3 2021, in Richmond, Virginia." Did I read that correctly?
4 A You did.
5 Q Okay. Having reviewed this, does this help kind of refresh your recollection
6 about what the Richmond Lobby Day event was?
7 A It -- I mean, it does. I remember that there were various demonstrations
8 post-January 6th for the election, sure.
9 Q Could it be a concern if an FBI employee participated in this type of 10 demonstration?
11 A It could be. Again, I want to be very careful on how I parse that answer,
12 right, like certainly participation at an event solely to show support for Second
13 Amendment rights would not be of concern.
14 However, if you are advocating violence, if you are affiliating with a group that 15 advocates violence, if you are carrying your firearm in a way that is counter to the law in 16 the area in which you're -- those would all be things that would potentially be of interest
17 to the FBI.
18 Q Okay. And that is something that FBI could reasonably investigate if an 19 employee was doing -- participating in those type of activities that you just described kind 20 of?
21 A Yeah, as long as we could articulate how the stated activity fell within the 22 security guidelines, we could look at that for security purposes, certainly.
23 Q And I think there was a question about adjudicative guideline A, but also 24 adjudicative guideline E is personal conduct, correct?
25 A Right.

1 Q Could participating in this type of event potentially run afoul of guideline E,
2 personal conduct?
3 A Again, potentially, right, depending on the facts and circumstances. If it
4 was a lawfully convened demonstration, certainly no issue there. I mean, I don't know
5 as I sit here right now what the open carry laws as comes into the style of weapons being
6 displayed are in the city of Richmond.
7 But if they were in violation of law in that nature, that might be something that
8 would be of interest.
9 [redacted] Thank you.
10 I'll turn it over to my colleague for her questions.
11 [redacted] We've looked at the security adjudication guidelines a lot
12 today. I just want to enter those for the record as exhibit 8.
13 [Dunham Exhibit No. 8
14 was marked for identification.]
15 Mr. Dunham. Okay.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Does this look like an accurate document of the guidelines we've been

3 discussing?

4 A Without reading every single word, it does, yes.

5 Q How did you become familiar with these educative guidelines?

6 A When I assumed my role as the EAD for HRB, one of the first things that I got

7 was a briefing from the Security Division and our Office of General Counsel on all of the 8 applicable statutes and guidelines. This was a part of that briefing.

9 Q And could you describe briefly what the purpose of them is?

10 A To set forth the adjudicative criteria for anyone who holds a security

11 clearance related to national security. In layman's terms, they're the areas of interest in 12 determining whether someone should or should not hold a security clearance.

13 Q In your understanding, what agencies do these guidelines apply to?

14 A Anyone who falls under the DNI, the ODNI authorities.

15 Q So that's all agencies across the executive branch?

16 A That's my understanding, yes.

17 Q This version went into effect on June 8th, 2017. Is that right?

18 A That's what it says here, yes.

19 Q We've discussed guideline A a few times today. That refers to allegiance to 20 the United States. Is that right?

21 A That's right. Yes.

22 Q And then I wanted to turn specifically to guideline K, which has to do with 23 the handling of protected information. It's on page 21. Do you see that?

24 A I'm getting there.

25 Sure do, yeah.

1 Q Are you familiar with this guideline?

2 A I am.

3 Q So the concern in this guideline that's listed here reads, "Deliberate or

4 negligent failure to comply with rules and regulations for handling protected

5 information -- which includes classified and other sensitive government information, and

6 proprietary information -- raises doubts about an individual's trustworthiness, judgment,

7 reliability, or willingness and ability to safeguard such information, and is a serious

8 security concern."

9 Did I read that right?

10 A You did.

11 Q And this concern isn't just limited to classified information but any sensitive

12 information. Is that right?

13 A That's right.

14 Q So that includes information that would be considered law enforcement

15 sensitive?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And it applies to both deliberate and negligent failure to comply with the 18 rules. What's your understanding of what that means?

19 A Deliberate would be with intent, right? Negligent is typically without 20 intent.

21 Q Why do you think it's important that both of those are -- or why is that

22 important that both of those are a concern?

23 A Because we're talking about, bare minimum, sensitive is potentially classified

24 national security information. So an intent element, while I guess relevant, is not

25 dispositive. I mean, we all have a duty to protect this information and to ensure that we

1 don't handle it in a negligent manner.

2 Q So both the deliberate and negligent mishandling of this protected

3 information is a serious concern. Is that right?

4 A That's right.

5 Q The guideline goes on to list conditions that could raise a security concern

6 and may be disqualifying, and the first concern listed there is "deliberate or negligent

7 disclosure of protected information to unauthorized persons," and that includes the 8 media. Is that right?

9 A That's right.

10 Q Why is it a concern if an individual with access to this protected information

11 discloses it to unauthorized people?

12 A I mean, it could be any range of reasons, right? I mean, it could range

13 anywhere from personally protected information about individuals or subjects, ranging all

14 the way up to highly classified information that has national defense implications. So

15 there's a wide range of reasons.

16 Q And this isn't just an FBI policy. It is something that concerns the whole

17 executive branch.

18 A That's right.

19 Q The second condition listed here is "collecting or storing protected

20 information in any unauthorized location." Is that right?

21 A That's right.

22 Q Would this include a situation in which an individual removes protected

23 information from an FBI computer system and transmits it to a non-FBI computer?

24 A It would.

25 Q And that situation of removing from a protected computer and moving it to

1 a non-FBI system, that would also implicate the condition (i), "failure to comply with rules
2 or regulations." Is that right?
3 A Oh, I'm sorry. Are you on the same list? Yes, that's right.
4 Q And concern (c), "loading, drafting, editing, modifying, storing, transmitting,
5 or otherwise handling protected information...on unauthorized equipment."
6 A Sure.
7 Q Looking at condition (f), it says a condition that could raise a security concern
8 is "viewing or downloading information from a secure system when the information is 9 beyond the individual's need-to-know."
10 Did I read that right?
11 A You did.
12 Q What does the "need to know" mean in this context?
13 A I mean, generally speaking, it means directly related to your job
14 responsibilities. Obviously, you need to have adequate access to information to 15 perform your duties in the FBI but don't need to see things that aren't related to your job.
16 Q Why is it a security concern if somebody is accessing information that they 17 don't need to know?
18 A Because this is sensitive and classified information, so by its very nature,
19 broadly spreading it to folks who don't need to know it is a security risk.
20 Q And then the last condition here is the "failure to comply with rules or 21 regulations that results in a damage to national security," whether it was deliberate or 22 negligent.
23 Does the FBI have specific rules or regulations about handling protected
24 information?
25 A We certainly have rules and regulations, yeah, training and policies.

1 Q Does the FBI take particular steps to ensure that employees are aware of
2 those rules?
3 A We conduct annual training related to those rules, yes.
4 Q I want to look specifically at an FBI form, FD-889. This will be exhibit 8.
5 Voice. 9.
6 [redacted] 9. Thank you.
7 [Dunham Exhibit No. 9
8 was marked for identification.]
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q This is the FBI Information Technology and Information Systems Rules of 11 Behavior for General Users Agreement Form. Does it look familiar to you?
12 A It does.
13 Q Have you -- why does it look familiar to you?
14 A I've executed this form before.
15 Q So the FBI requires all employees to sign this agreement?
16 A Yes.
17 Q Is that right?
18 A That's right.
19 Q I want to look at the "Statement of Responsibility" that's at the bottom of 20 the first page. It reads, "I understand that I am to use FBI systems only for lawfully 21 authorized purposes." It lists some lawfully -- or laws that list those purposes.
22 And then the second sentence says, "Even where granted access, I must" -- "Even 23 where granted access, I must access the system files and information only on a 24 need-to-know basis and only in furtherance of authorized tasks or mission-related 25 functions," right?

1 A Yeah.

2 Q Can you explain what employees are agreeing to in that?

3 A Well, the way that I would interpret that, right, is, for example, our Sentinel

4 system, which is our case management system of record. As a general rule, if you access

5 that system, you have broad access to cases outside of your investigative responsibilities,

6 but you're not supposed to access those.

7 We have certain rules in place for restricting files and things of that nature. But

8 the general rule is, you access what you need to access for your job, even though you may 9 have the ability to access more than that.

10 Q And why is it important that employees agree to not access those things that 11 they don't need to know?

12 A It's the same basic information security principles we talked about before,

13 right? Generally speaking, any kind of sensitive information or national security

14 information, the more broadly it's spread, the greater security risk that presents.

15 Q Looking at page 4, this is where users sort of start to certify various things 16 they will not do.

17 A Right.

18 Q And one of them is that they will not remove sensitive or classified media

19 from controlled areas without authorization. Is that right?

20 A I'm not following you. I know as a general --

21 Q Yeah. It's the very bottom on page 4, letter c.

22 A Oh, there we are. Yes. Uh-huh.

23 Q Does that include taking a photograph or a screenshot of sensitive

24 information?

25 A It would.

1 Q We can put that to the side.

2 I want to introduce as exhibit 10 form FD-857a.

3 [Dunham Exhibit No. 10

4 was marked for identification.]

2 Q This is a Sensitive Information Nondisclosure Agreement. Does this look

3 familiar to you?

4 A It does.

5 Q Are FBI employees required to sign -- with access to sensitive

6 information -- required to sign this?

7 A Yes.

8 Q In paragraph 3 of this nondisclosure agreement, employees verify that they

9 have been advised that "unauthorized access, unauthorized disclosure, unauthorized

10 retention, or negligent handling of sensitive information may cause irreparable damage to 11 FBI investigations," and that they will not divulge sensitive information unless they have 12 been given authorization beforehand.

13 Is that right?

14 A That's right.

15 Q And then in paragraph 4, employees verify that they have been advised that

16 a breach of this agreement could result in termination of their employment. Is that

17 right?

18 A That's right.

19 Q Finally, I want to look at guideline M of the National Security Adjudicative

20 Guidelines. That's on page 23.

21 A Yes.

22 Q This one deals with the use of information technology. Is that right?

23 A That's right.

24 Q The concern is that "failure to comply with rules, procedures, guidelines, or

25 regulations pertaining to information technology systems may raise security concerns

1 about an individual's reliability and trustworthiness, calling into question the willingness
2 or ability to properly protect sensitive systems, networks, and information."
3 Is that right?
4 A That's right.
5 Q Why does it raise a security concern if somebody can't comply with the rules
6 related to information technology?
7 A I mean, it's very similar to the rules that we just talked about, right? If 8 you're improperly accessing national security or sensitive information through the use of 9 information technology to which you have no need to know, that creates a security risk.
10 Q On page 24, or lower in the guidelines, there are some mitigating factors
11 that could mitigate the security concerns, and the one on page 24 is that if "the misuse 12 was due to improper or inadequate training or unclear instructions."
13 Could you talk about the training that FBI employees go through to make sure that 14 they are handling information technology systems correctly?
15 A Well, certainly we touch on it at various points of time. I mean, when 16 you're hired as a new employee, you have annual training on the various forms of 17 information technology and security. So I mean it's routine and regular training.
18 Q And you said it happens yearly?
19 A Yeah. I believe -- I'm trying to remember specifically the course, right, but I
20 believe when we do information security that we touch on the IT aspects annually, yes.
21 Q FBI employees are required to hold a security clearance as a condition of 22 employment. Is that right?
23 A That's right.
24 Q And they can't do their job without a security clearance. Is that right?
25 A That's right.

1 Q That's because FBI agents regularly have access to sensitive information. Is
2 that right?
3 A That's right.
4 Q And so the security clearance requirement ensures that this sensitive
5 material is protected?
6 A Yes.
7 Q If such material is disclosed to unauthorized parties, it could compromise
8 ongoing investigations. Is that right?
9 A Certainly, depending on the material. But yes.
10 Q And it could tip off a target or a subject of investigation. Is that right?
11 A That's right, yes.
12 Q It could cause someone to destroy or conceal evidence?
13 A Certainly, yes.
14 Q It could also harm our national security interests. Is that right?
15 A It could, absolutely, yes.
16 Q And it could even put FBI agents in danger. Is that right?
17 A That's correct.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q And I actually, I apologize, I want to turn back to exhibit 3.
20 A Oh, sure.
21 Q I had some questions that I forgot to ask just a couple minutes ago. And it's 22 not about the document itself, but just about that topic area.
23 A Oh, okay, yeah.
24 Q All right. You said that this document is now subject of an Inspector
25 General investigation, correct?

1 A We have been working with the Inspector General, yes.
2 Q When did you first become aware that this document existed?
3 A Oh, gosh, I don't recall. I don't believe -- I'm trying to think back -- I don't
4 believe I knew this document existed until the Inspector General asked us about it.
5 That's the best of my memory.
6 Q Okay. Do you know who brought it to the attention of the Inspector
7 General?
8 A No.
9 Q You referred to some actions that were taken following this, you becoming 10 aware of this document. I know you said that you were complying with the 11 investigation. Any other actions that were taken once you became aware of this
12 document?
13 A Yeah. I mean, we -- so first we conducted an internal review by our 14 Inspection Division. They went back through and reviewed -- it's hard to say on the 15 record, don't quote me, but -- don't quote me -- but something like 1,200
16 investigations-ish.
17 Q Who ordered that internal review?
18 A I think it was a -- it was more of an internal consensus decision that it
19 needed to be done.
20 Q Were you part of the decisionmaking team?
21 A Sure. The then-associate deputy director at the time, I believe, Brian 22 Turner, was aware, our AD in Inspection Division. So we had just -- 23 Q So when management became aware of this --
24 A Yes, that's right.
25 Q -- they ordered the -- or they asked the Inspection Division to --

1 A That's right.

2 Q -- immediately begin investigating? Is that correct?

3 A Yes.

4 Q Okay. And then what happened?

5 A So they produced their kind of initial internal report, and then since that

6 time we've been cooperating with the OIG review.

7 Q Have you taken steps to make sure that this type of document is not used?

8 A Yes, we're not using this document.

9 Q And can you describe those steps?

10 A The specific steps I'd have to leave up to the assistant director of the Security

11 Division. Certainly the intent -- the commander's intent, for lack of a better term, is that

12 this form is not to be used, and anywhere we find it we need to stop, and also a general

13 intent that job aids such as this we need to be sure are being used appropriately.

14 Q And how was that intent, as you described it, conveyed?

15 A I don't think I can point to a specific like issuance or order other than 16 discussions amongst management that that was the understanding.

17 Q Okay. And it sounds like there were a number of officials from 18 management involved once they became aware of this document, correct?

19 A I think that's fair, sure.

20 Q So the FBI took it pretty seriously. Is that fair to say?

21 A Oh, no question, yes.

22 Q When you say "no question," what do you mean by that?

23 A No, I mean, obviously something like this is concerning, because of the 24 impression that it could give about our security process.

25 So we ought to be sure that things like that are handled appropriately and not in a way that would even have the hint of being improper in some way.

[redacted] Okay. Thank you.

Thank you. We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

[redacted] We'll go back on the record. The time is 12:05 p.m.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Mr. Dunham, I'm going to circle back. I had skipped over a section I wanted
3 to revisit, just a couple questions, heading back to Jennifer Moore, who I believe was the 4 executive assistant director prior to yourself. Just a couple quick follow-up questions on 5 that, and then we'll go back to the exhibit we left with.
6 A Okay.
7 Q Prior to Ms. Moore's departure from the FBI, how often did you interact with
8 her?
9 A Regularly. She was my immediate supervisor.
10 Q I forgot Training Division, so --
11 A Yeah, yeah.
12 Q So you did have regular meetings. How often -- what was the 13 meeting -- how would I say this? I'm trying to make this easy.
14 A Sure.
15 Q What was the meeting schedule or operational tempo of your meeting
16 schedule as far as executive team within HRB when Ms. Moore was the director -- or 17 sorry -- executive assistant director?
18 A Yeah, I mean, it certainly varied depending upon whatever was going on in a
19 given week. But as a general rule of thumb, I would have, I believe, a weekly with her
20 one-on-one, and then we would try to have a weekly where all three assistant directors
21 within the branch were in the room with her so we could talk as a team.
22 Q All right.
23 A It wasn't always that way, but that was the goal.
24 Q Sounds pretty fair. I understand sometimes there were daily meetings.
25 So that seems like that wasn't a bad tempo.

1 Based upon that relationship, of course, and the fact that you did have regular,
2 necessary, required dialogue, did you have awareness of some of these issues that we
3 had spoken about in the past through those conversations and those executive meetings
4 when say the security -- the assistant director of the Security Division may have been
5 briefing particular issues that had bubbled to the surface?
6 A I had some high-level general awareness. I don't recall being like briefed
7 on a regular basis at the weekly meeting or anything like that.
8 Q Kind of going back to the swirl, if you will, that my colleagues had kind of 9 broken down.
10 A Sure.
11 Q So I was just understanding what your exposure to some of that was.
12 Okay. We may talk about that a little bit more later, but I'm going to move back
13 ahead to -- and forgive me all, because I know we've had a lot of exhibits. So was that 14 exhibit 5, the letter?
15 [redacted] 6.
16 [redacted] 6, okay. Thank you.
17 [redacted] His letter is exhibit 6.
18 [redacted] Yes.
19 [redacted] Yes.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q That would be your letter, Mr. Dunham?
22 A Yes, sir.
23 Q I'm assuming you have some familiarity with that. Would that be correct?
24 A I do, yes.
25 Q Okay. As soon as I can get to my section. All right. Here we go.

1 So in reference to that letter dated May 31st, 2024, the FBI, under your pen, did
2 reinstate Marcus Allen's clearance, correct?
3 A That's correct.
4 Q Quoting from parts of that letter, the letter stated, "My decision to reinstate
5 your security clearance is based upon a determination that the original security concerns
6 have been investigated and have been sufficiently mitigated."
7 It's sort of a large question, but how did you arrive at this conclusion? And let 8 me set that up, if I may.
9 A Sure.
10 Q It certainly had been a long period of time and a lengthy investigation, and to 11 say there was angst and sadness and a lot of public awareness of that would be an 12 understatement.
13 So what led you ultimately, from the time that you entered in your current role --
14 A Sure.
15 Q -- to the time of that letter? How did we get there? How did that story
16 end as it did?
17 A Well, I mean, I'm presented, as I think I've explained previously, with a
18 summary EC with a recommendation from my team that did the readjudication.
19 So when a request for reconsideration comes in, it's assigned to a new 20 adjudicator. They take a look at the facts, any supplemental facts that may be available, 21 they write up a recommendation, and then they send it through the process similar to 22 how we would've made the original decision.
23 When I received the reinstatement recommendation, I read the document, and I
24 concurred with the recommendation that the security concerns had been mitigated.
25 Q Okay. If I might just be able to unpack a little bit of that.

1 A Yeah.

2 Q So understanding you come in, you have a summary you see which

3 encapsulates, at a very high level, succinctly all the different investigative steps. I

4 understand that.

5 Did I hear you correctly when you said that at a certain juncture when you're

6 nearing the end, I think, that there's a new adjudicator then assigned with fresh eyes. Is

7 that what I'm understanding?

8 A When we get a request for reconsideration, right --

9 Q Okay.

10 A -- the frontline employee then reviews it, the readjudication

11 adjudicator -- that's probably not the right term, but you understand the concept.

12 Q Yes.

13 A They look at it again, because it wouldn't be ideal for the same adjudicator

14 to then review the request for reconsideration.

15 Q Okay. Forgive this question if it is somewhat silly.

16 A Sure.

17 Q But I'm not sure. So a request for reconsideration, is that an internal 18 request, or is that an external request?

19 A That's the external request from the employee.

20 Q From the employee's counsel?

21 A Yes, yes.

22 Q Okay. I wasn't sure if perhaps someone internally had said let's --

23 A No.

24 Q -- let's review this again.

25 A Right.

1 Q Okay. Okay. Thank you.

2 So with respect to that, did it -- does it or did it concern you at all, as you were

3 reviewing the totality of this, that there had been, as we have previously mentioned, two

4 line investigators, so the line folks, that had concluded years before that there was

5 insufficient evidence to revoke Allen's clearance, yet it was revoked anyway, and now the 6 FBI, of course, did ultimately end up reinstating Allen's clearance?

7 So the question really is, the crux of that --

8 A Sure.

9 Q -- did that -- were you aware of that? And did it bother you? Did it

10 manifest itself that there had been conflicting opinions?

11 A I can't -- I'm sorry, I wish I had -- those were before my time. I don't know

12 or remember exactly when I knew what.

13 What I can tell you is that did not have any impact on my decision. I mean, I

14 review the reinstatement EC as it's presented by my current team and judge it based on 15 those merits.

16 Q Okay. Thank you.

17 So, of course, the million-dollar question.

18 A Sure.

19 Q Why? Why did it take over 2 years to get to this point, right? How did it

20 take that long?

21 A The length of time question, as we said before, I came in at a certain point.

22 Broadly speaking, I mean, there's any number of reasons why something like this

23 could take this long. There's OIG coordination, there's the investigation itself, there's 24 making sure that we do a full and fair both investigation and adjudicative process.

25 I think when you say 2 years, you're referring to the time from the suspension

1 through the initial revocation all the way through the reinstatement, so there's some
2 other procedural steps in there --
3 Q Yeah.
4 A -- such as when Mr. Allen requests his documentation and prepares his 5 request for reconsideration.
6 Certainly, as you say that out loud, we all would like for it to take much less time,
7 but that is the nature of the process.
8 Q No. Thank you. You hit on the point. I mean, to someone from the 9 outside of certainly the FBI --
10 A Sure.
11 Q -- and the private family, that seems like an awfully long time to resolve an 12 issue like that, especially when someone's livelihood and their family's very welfare is 13 being impacted.
14 And with that being sort of the segue, do you have any regrets about how 15 Mr. Allen and his family were treated for the 2 years that it took for the FBI to resolve 16 what some may say was a straightforward security inquiry that likely shouldn't have taken 17 that long?

1 [12:14 p.m.]

2 Mr. Dunham. So I guess I kind of have to speculate my answer on that one,

3 right? Like, as a person, I'm certainly sorry for what Mr. Allen went through with his

4 family. I imagine those personal circumstances were very tough.

5 No doubt about it, from a professional viewpoint, again, while I certainly would

6 like for it to take less time, I would point to Mr. Allen's process as one that ultimately 7 worked.

8 You know, we have an appeal process for a reason. We have an appeal process

9 so that an employee can ask someone to take a second look at something. We did that.

10 And in this case, we reinstated.

11 Certainly, again, it would be wonderful if the first decision, you know, 100 percent

12 of the time was the right decision or the accurate decision, or however you want to cast

13 that, but like the court systems, we have appeals for just this reason.

14 So, I'm sorry it took that long, but I believe in this instance, the process was 15 performed correctly and it ended up with the right result.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Thank you for that answer. Under your leadership, are you looking at some

18 of these examples and -- I realize that resources are always challenging at the national

19 level for any organization, but are you looking at any ways to streamline that process

20 under your leadership or things that may be able to have done in the future to hopefully

21 mitigate -- lessen the instances of these types of scenarios?

22 A I appreciate that question.

23 The short answer is yes, I've certainly had conversations with the assistant director

24 of the Security Division.

25 I also appreciate you indicating the lack of resources certainly going forward with

1 the potential budget issues over the next few fiscal years. That will become even more
2 of an issue.
3 But the answer, are we talking about ways to improve? We are. For one idea,
4 for lack of a better term, but just to illustrate what you're asking for is we are considering
5 the idea of TDYing in supervisors from the field much like we do in our internal
6 investigations process, right? You're familiar with that. To conduct the security
7 investigations, hoping that that gives us more bandwidth, more capacity to be able to do
8 some of these in a faster manner.
9 So that's just one example. Those discussions are ongoing, but certainly 10 improving the timeline is something we will do our best to do.
11 Q For the benefit of the committee, Mr. Dunham, although some may be 12 familiar with that, would you -- that does -- can you explain exactly what TUI, and how 13 that may be a potential career enhancement or how that works?
14 A Yeah. So in our Inspection Division, our internal investigations process, one 15 of the things that you need to do to qualify to be an assistant special agent in charge is to 16 become what we call "inspection certified." That means participating in a number of 17 Inspection Division activities for credits.
18 One of the credits that you can obtain is supporting our internal investigation
19 section by coming in on a temporary duty assignment. Typically, it's two weeks in which 20 the TDY agent handles investigative tasks or whatever else to try to help processing our 21 internal investigations. So we are in the early stages of discussing that a -- you know, a 22 complementary program for security investigations could be a way to add some 23 bandwidth.
24 Q Am I to understand that that is potentially career enhancing for that 25 supervisor as well as then the other benefit would be the additional manpower for this

1 purpose?

2 A It's career enhancing from the standpoint of we have to perform certain of

3 these credits to be able to be promoted. It's also maybe not career enhancing in the

4 way that you and I would mean it within the Bureau, but in the way that it gives people

5 awareness of those activities that oftentimes our operational supervisors are not exposed

6 to. Certainly our -- you know, the majority of our operational supervisors going through

7 their promotion chain don't touch on security. So to have that experience at a front-line

8 supervisor level and have that background as you promote up would certainly be helpful

9 as well.

10 Q All right. The committee appreciates that you are, in fact, looking at ways

11 to potentially avoid these types of scenarios in the future. Certainly the duration we can

12 agree on some of these was troubling, but understandably, there is a lot of moving steps,

13 so I know there is attention there. Specific -- I'm going to move along to the next

14 individual.

15 [redacted] Mind if I ask --

16 [redacted] Please.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q Just for my own understanding, the disagreement of the two line

19 investigators for Marcus Allen's case, when did you first learn of that?

20 A I honestly don't know. I can't remember. I'd been made aware at some

21 point about the line investigator disagreement with how things were handled. It may

22 have been -- there was a meeting, I don't want to speculate too much, but there was a

23 meeting in June that we had with some folks from OIG where it might have been raised

24 there.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q June of this year?

2 A June of '23. But by and large, that issue had no bearing on my decision if

3 that's helpful.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q With that understanding that you're saying it had no bearing, but is

6 that -- let's actually take a step back. Not Marcus Allen's case, but other cases?

7 A Sure.

8 Q If there is a disagreement by one of the line investigators, is that something

9 that is normally included include when a decision is being reconsidered?

10 A Based on my experience, I don't think it would necessarily be included.

11 Again, that's based on my experience without having had a career in Security Division.

12 You know, I can think of one other example where -- well, we had certain times where

13 folks are recused, right? And so then they wouldn't have appeared in the approval chain

14 where they might normally. What we're striving for, right, is the adjudicative team

15 taken as a whole at the end of the day agreeing with the recommendation that is being

16 made. So in a perfect working scenario, if one of the team members had a

17 disagreement, they would work it out amongst the team.

18 Q I guess -- I think you answered this. Again, for my own understanding.

19 A Sure.

20 Q You said the appeal processes you made it akin to our court system. If the

21 Supreme Court has taken up something on appeal, they could see, hello, if there was a

22 disagreement among the judges. I know it's not a perfect analogy, but is that a fact of

23 whether there was disagreements by a line investigator? Is that fact always made

24 aware for the --

25 A I don't think always made aware, no. Certainly, there could be times that a

1 dispute could be raised almost like to a more senior decision maker for a tiebreaker, or
2 something like that. But if you told me that, you know, there was a case that we were
3 investigating where there was a differing view between the supervisor and the line
4 employee, I'm not sure that I would always be aware of that in the case. As long as they
5 were able to come to some kind of resolution.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q At what level for the benefit of the committee might something like that 8 normally be mitigated?
9 A I mean, it's --
10 Q In a situation of line investigators who have differing opinions about a 11 particular investigative matter that they're both involved in?
12 A Well, I mean, the documents, typically speaking, right, they come out of the 13 unit chief level. They're not -- you know, so, like, at the investigative level, the unit chief
14 would have signed off on the package that goes to the adjudication unit. I think we're 15 probably talking about two very, I mean, different scenarios, right? I think you all are 16 talking about a much more strident disagreement than the everyday disagreement that 17 I'm probably referring to, so it's a special set of circumstances.
18 I mean, if we, again, hypothesizing, if we had a scenario today, as I sit in the EAD's 19 chair where someone absolutely would not, you know, agree to a recommendation or 20 otherwise participate, I would presume I would more than likely be made aware of that.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q Okay. The June 2023 meeting you were referencing earlier, can you walk
23 us through a couple of the facts around that meeting. Who was in it? What was the 24 purpose of the meeting?
25 A Yeah. This was a very -- this was a meeting with the Office of the Inspector

1 General, who was very early on in my tenure, I'd have to pull my calendar to see if I was
2 acting or named at that point, so I was very new to all of this.
3 And I can't tell you exactly who was in the room. There were some 4 representatives from OIG and there were representatives from the FBI, and the general
5 discussion was the Allen matter, so I am -- I offered that in full disclosure, because there
6 may have been discussion about this disagreement in that meeting. As I'm thinking
7 about it, I think there probably was, but again, I was so new I'm not sure I fully 8 appreciated the history of what I was hearing.
9 Q Do you know if in that meeting there was discussions regarding the timeline
10 we discussed at the end of the first hour about the letter from the FBI to the committee
11 immediately preceding the hearing that the committee had featuring Mr. Allen?
12 A I'm sorry, I don't remember that being a topic of discussion. It's possible.
13 Again, I was so new to the scenario, I was trying to catch up. It's possible, but I don't 14 remember that being discussed.
15 Q Do you remember, just generally speaking, whether anyone ever briefed you
16 on that timeline, whether it was in this meeting or a subsequent meeting?
17 A As it was mentioned today, I certainly remembered hearing at some point,
18 you know, about the letter going over the night before, right? Like, again, I'm leery of 19 using the term "swirl," like, I was aware of that going on, but I wasn't involved in that 20 decision, or anything like that.
21 Q Can you say more about how you may have become aware?
22 A I mean, not with any specificity. I'm sorry. I would have maybe at some 23 point during the transition, or something to that effect.
24 Q The disagreement that the two line investigators had for Marcus Allen's
25 case --

1 A Okay.
2 Q -- besides the June 2023 meeting with the OIG where it may have come up --
3 A Yeah.
4 Q -- do you recall any other instances where someone from within the FBI
5 raised that fact with you at a meeting or a private conversation?
6 A I don't, and I certainly don't want to sound like I'm making light of it. I
7 mean, the fact of the matter is when I took over this role, that event had already
8 occurred, and my focus, you know, as it relates to Mr. Allen became his reconsideration
9 request, so since I didn't have any formal pending matter in front of me about it, right,
10 that didn't occupy a lot of my thought. That's how I feel.
11 Q Okay. You know, I guess another way of maybe asking this.
12 A Sure.
13 Q You certainly have many years of service to the Bureau.
14 A Yeah.
15 Q You're a new face in this role. Certainly, there are at least folks, two line
16 investigators, but others who are concerned about this. I just wonder if there's anyone 17 in the Bureau who kind of used the opportunity of you stepping into this new role to 18 reraise concerns they tried to raise previously about this case?
19 A If there is, I don't recall it as I sit here today or maybe didn't take it in the 20 way that they intended it to be taken. You know, again, when I take over a new role, I
21 mean, you know, in any job in the Bureau, you'll hear rumblings about disagreements or 22 whatever else, and until it rises to you formally, you know, you take note of it. And if it's 23 not something that you deem that you need to take action on at that moment, you know,
24 it may pass by. So I don't recall anything of that nature.
25 Q Okay. Since you assumed this role, did you have any conversations with

1 folks below you or anyone touching this matter about how long it took for the whole
2 process to take with Mr. Allen to play out?
3 A Certainly, in a general sense. You know, like, when you're here 2 years, like
4 [redacted] was saying, that's troubling, right? We don't -- we want that to be faster. I'm not
5 sure -- I mean, more specific than that?
6 Q Just -- you assumed this role. You're getting briefed on where the situation
7 stands. At that point it had been --
8 A By and large, and if the error is mine, the error is mine. But by and large,
9 when I stepped into this role without the background in security processes, I presume, or 10 at least my starting point is that those processes are working as they're intended. And 11 so if, you know, something is taking a long time, there's generally, you know, a valid
12 reason for it.
13 Q For the line investigator with the allegations that they were reassigned, I 14 think you said an earlier response you may have heard during that initial briefing, or 15 something to that effect.
16 A Yeah. As we're talking about it, I feel like there was some mention of that,
17 yeah.
18 Q Do you recall, again, any other informal rumblings or complaints or just folks
19 who were in the office and had the opportunity to raise this concern? Do you recall
20 anything to that effect?
21 A I mean, if they did, it wasn't to a level that I took note of it. I don't have a 22 great answer for you on that. I'm sorry. I don't -- as I sit here today, I don't recall that.
23 Q And have you taken any steps to dig into it any deeper about the merits
24 behind that allegation?
25 A I have not. I mean, my understanding is that that's with the OIG or

1 somewhere else, and so, at that point I would not do that.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q All right.

3 A Yeah.

4 Q We're going to move on to special agent Garret O'Boyle. I believe you're

5 familiar with special agent Garret O'Boyle's matter?

6 A I am.

7 Q Do you recall who supervised O'Boyle's clearance investigation?

8 A I'm sorry, if you mean, like, the line -- you know, the front-line investigator,

9 not off the top of my head. I mean, if you look at the EC, you'd be able to see what

10 supervisors approved the document.

11 Q Sure. Do you recall who may have been at the section level in charge of the 12 section during the majority of the time of that investigation?

13 A I mean, again, this is a presumption that it would have been Mr. [redacted] or

14 Ms. Perkins. I know at a certain point section chief Matt Nagle came on board. I don't 15 remember exactly the date he reported.

16 Q What was your role specifically in O'Boyle's clearance investigation?

17 A My role is the SPM, so I make the final decision in terms of the adjudication

18 recommendation or decision.

19 Q All right. So are you aware that Mr. O'Boyle began making protected

20 disclosures to Congress in November of 2021?

21 A I'm not, and, I mean, I think there's probably a discussion to be had about

22 whether or not it was a protected disclosure, but in general, with regard to your question,

23 other than what I read about, you know, the claims from his counsel, or whatever else, it

24 wouldn't be something I would be involved in or interested in.

25 Q Were you aware, maybe, perhaps rephrasing, but that he was making

1 disclosures to the Congress at the beginning --

2 A Certainly he was on television testifying, right, before I took over in this role.

3 Inasmuch as that, yes.

4 Q Okay. As far as the time frame of when Mr. O'Boyle's relationship began

5 with the committee, you would -- are you aware or unaware of when that relationship

6 began?

7 A I'm unaware. I believe there were some statements to the effect that he

8 had such a relationship, right, but I don't remember exactly when it began.

9 [redacted] For the record, in November of 2021, Mr. Dunham was the 10 assistant director of the Training Division.

11 [redacted] I understand. Asking only as a result of all the other

12 preparations and sort of the totality of the investigation and what may have come up in 13 that investigative summary, sure. Certainly understand at the timing there.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q During his testimony before this committee, I think you may have seen parts

16 of that, Mr. O'Boyle detailed the abject cruelty with which the FBI treated him and his

17 young family. Are you aware that Mr. O'Boyle was suspended on his first day reporting

18 to a new duty station in Virginia?

19 A I have heard that, yes.

20 Q Mr. O'Boyle testified, "so I'm suspended on September 26th. At the time 21 the FBI essentially rendered me and my family homeless." What is your reaction to

22 that?

23 A What is my reaction to that? I have no reaction. I think as previous

24 testimony stated that this was not an intentional act. He was in the process of 25 transferring, you know. It's certainly unfortunate circumstances, but there was no

1 intent or animus.

2 Q So according to whistleblower disclosures, [redacted] and Ms. Perkins

3 transferred Mr. O'Boyle across the country with the intent to suspend and financially

4 devastate him. Did anyone ever raise concerns or did that story ever ruminate or

5 percolate up to you?

6 A I mean, not at the time. It was before my time as the EAD. I've heard that

7 allegation, I guess, in subsequent documentation. I mean, I would just offer that Mr.

8 Veltri and Ms. Perkins had no bearing on his ability to transfer. They don't issue orders.

9 They don't determine timelines. They don't do any of those things.

10 Q Those duties would fall under --

11 A It would fall under the Human Resources Division in terms of transferring.

12 Q Which is a different --

13 A It's a different division within the branch, but the way that was worded

14 made it sound at least like Mr. Veltri and Ms. Perkins were directing the timing of the 15 transfer, and they would not have had the authority to do that.

16 Q Thank you for that clarification.

17 A Sure.

18 Q According to -- and on that note, so being that your -- you've been intimately

19 familiar in various components certainly of the human resources branch by different

20 positions, according to whistleblower testimony, the FBI Kansas City's management had

21 pushed back and objected to Mr. Clark's plans, much to your point there, Mr. Dunham --

22 A Uh-huh.

23 Q -- because his transfer violated FBI policy against transferring employees

24 who are under investigation. Were you aware of that?

25 A I was not aware of that at the time. Again, I wasn't the EAD at the time

1 that this occurred.

2 Q What policy would that have violated if it violated a policy?

3 A I'm not sure. I'd have to do a search of our policy library.

4 Q Does the FBI normally -- is the FBI in the normal process of transferring

5 employees if there is an alleged or potential adverse personnel action that is in process

6 against that employee?

7 A Certainly, we have a name-check process, so if there's some kind of ongoing

8 disciplinary matter that may or may not impact a promotion and a transfer. I mean, in

9 this case, I can't specify to what anyone knew when and how that would have impacted

10 the issuance of the transfer orders.

11 Q The committee is aware that in the general sense, a promotion or a transfer

12 is generally held up if there is potentially an adverse personnel action. Is that true?

13 A I don't know if I would even say, typically. I mean, it's certainly possible.

14 Please don't misunderstand me. But again, you know, I try not to speculate, but

15 without -- if the transfer unit -- and some of this is dependent, too, on when Mr. O'Boyle

16 decided to execute his transfer, and things of that nature. If the individual working with

17 him on that was not aware of the adverse personnel action, right? I mean, it's --

18 Q Would matters of this sort likely been discussed at senior levels within the

19 Security Division or the Human Resources Division? It would seem that those would be 20 somewhat important and might thereby raise to that level of being discussed as far as

21 timing. The committee has had a hard time understanding how that could accidentally

22 happen or why that would be allowed to happen. That seems to be, perhaps, the

23 greatest concern is that what happened was a very tragic series of events that unfolded

24 for Mr. O'Boyle and his family, regardless of where the process went or didn't go, and it

25 seemed to be preventable. So why would the FBI knowingly have transferred him

1 knowing that the intent was to then basically put him on unpaid leave and remove him
2 from his position knowing that he would -- do you understand the spirit of that?
3 A I understand what you're getting at.
4 Q I understand it predates your time.
5 A Right.
6 Q But you have unique awareness because of where you sat on, certainly,
7 human resources policies. You've been in the meetings that mattered under Ms. Jen
8 Moore.
9 A I think my answer to that question, [redacted] would I reject the inference that it
10 was done intentionally. Now, could it have been done because, again, the transfer unit
11 was not aware of the pending -- the security issue? Where was that carried? What 12 happened when they did the name check? Like, there is -- it is possible there was a
13 process failure, and for that, you know, we would seek to remedy it, but I'm certainly 14 unaware of, nor would I believe that it was an intentional act to harm Mr. O'Boyle.
15 Q Okay. Still on Mr. O'Boyle, did you ever have any communications with 16 executive assistant director Moore as you were onboarding about the status of Mr.
17 O'Boyle's investigation?
18 A I'm sure I did. I don't remember specifics. As you might imagine, her 19 retirement was somewhat of an interesting event since she was doing a similar activity on 20 her last day in the FBI, and so, we did a few transfer conversations. It wouldn't surprise
21 me if we spoke about this in those conversations. But again, at the time this was the 22 business of the Security Division that I was coming in to take over.
23 Q Were you aware at a high level of some of the potential issues that you may 24 or may not be walking into based upon --
25 A I think that's fair, sure.

1 Q So in June of 2023, I believe it was, to your point, one of Ms. Moore's final
2 acts as an FBI employee when she was testifying, I think, for the second time. She
3 stated that the review process would be completed in a month. This is specific to Mr.
4 O'Boyle's investigation. That, again, was June of 2023. Do you know why she would 5 have thought that?
6 A She was probably being optimistic would be my guess. You know, you
7 would like to think that that would have been the case. Mr. O'Boyle's, you know,
8 investigation is another example of a timeline that we wish would have been sooner.
9 There are a few things that you can point to, right, in terms of OIG coordination at the 10 beginning. There is, as you all are well aware, about a four-month period where we 11 were trying to arrange an interview with Mr. O'Boyle that never ultimately happened.
12 Outside of those time periods, you know, we were conducting the investigation and 13 performing our adjudication duties.
14 Q Okay. So you may forgive me, I'm trying to jot that down, but I think you
15 synopsized some of the investigative activity. My follow-up question to that was what 16 investigative activity took place between June of '23 and July of '24 when ultimately 17 your -- the letter was issued under your pen? So we have OIG coordination --
18 A That was at the beginning, which was probably before my time, but --
19 Q As you stepped into the job, we're fairly late into this process, so perhaps 20 could you walk me again through sort of, to your knowledge, what happens
21 investigatively from June when you become EAD to the time the letter is issued. What 22 steps were occurring investigatively?
23 A I think, and I'm trying to remember, I mean, again, this is one case out of,
24 you know, any number of cases, right?
25 Q I can appreciate it, but I do have to believe this was one probably near the

1 top of your list of things that you were at least aware of.

2 A I mean, I was aware of it, but I was also aware we weren't rushing our

3 process. I'd have to go back and look exactly at the timeline. I believe that '23

4 timeline was the months that we were attempting to arrange the interview. I believe it

5 was the end of August that ultimately he decided not to be interviewed. And so at that

6 point, it went into the adjudicative stage, and we want to make sure that we made the 7 right decision.

8 [Dunham Exhibit No. 11

9 was marked for identification.]

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q Okay. Okay. Thank you. And we're going to enter in -- goodness, what

12 exhibit are we up to now? Exhibit 11 will be Mr. Dunham's letter dated July 16, 2024, to

13 Mr. Garret O'Boyle, so we'll go ahead and get that over to you and pass it out to 14 everybody. I don't suppose you need to take too much time reading that one.

15 A No.

16 Q All right. If I may, then, I'm just going to move along to the first question.

17 And so, of course, the letter you hold there, July 16, 2024, is the official revocation of Mr.

18 O'Boyle's security clearance. Is that correct?

19 A That's correct.

20 Q So the question that the committee had is why did it take the FBI from 21 September of 2022 until July of '24? Again, it's a timeline question. I know we've sort

22 of addressed that in the past, but in this case, we have to be completely open and honest

23 about the unfortunate events that befell Mr. O'Boyle. Process, we can -- the 24 investigation notwithstanding, merits of wherever we landed notwithstanding, as a

25 human being in the FBI family that I understand that ultimately the FBI does mean a lot

1 when you're in the FBI. Who -- I don't need to relitigate the details of the horrors that,
2 unfortunately, befell his family as a result of going through a punitive process.
3 So the question is, with all that happened and all of this in the balance, how did it
4 take 2 years? And why does it take the FBI 2 years when we're placing someone on 5 unpaid leave for that duration? Wouldn't there be an onus upon the agency perhaps to 6 move with a little bit more expediency in that situation? So I know that I threw a lot at 7 you, but why did it take 2 years?
8 A I would take exception with the description that it is a punitive process. It's 9 an administrative process.
10 Q But you do have to agree, Mr. Dunham, that unfortunately, to someone not 11 within the FBI even understanding as we discussed in the last hour with our colleagues, 12 that the stakes are high holding a clearance and we all understand those stakes, and 13 rightfully so.
14 That this is still very much a human element, and to the American public for whom 15 we all work, when they see that with a family, with a person with a 2-week old baby who 16 can't get his clothes for a month and then is sent a bill for $10,000 for the privilege of 17 whatever that was to get his things, the optics one would have to admit are not good.
18 It's not the FBI at its finest, I think would be a fair thing to say, or at least that 19 would be the American public's perception, and that is why I'm asking the question.
20 A I appreciate that. I'm not overly concerned about 21 the optics. I'm concerned about the process and how we undertook this. Again, I've 22 already said I'm not excited about the fact that the process from beginning to end took 23 that long. There is at least, you know, 4 months in which Mr. O'Boyle refused to come
24 in for an interview that was a part of that time. There was some time at the beginning.
25 And then clearly, we were adjudicating -- I mean, the other thing that I would go back to

1 is the limited resources that we have to perform these investigations and the number of
2 these investigations that we are performing, and the idea that we would, you know, move
3 Mr. O'Boyle to the top of the list for whatever reason means that there are other
4 employees whose adjudications we are not processing.
5 So it's all a -- a prioritization balancing act to try to come to the best resolution.
6 So again, as a person, I am certainly sorry that it took this long to do it. In terms of a
7 process, we needed to make sure that we got it right, and I believe that we did.
8 Q You answered my second question. It would have been very similar to the 9 first. The committee appreciates your personal and professional distinguishment there.
10 I think it is fair to say you can understand from the committee's perspective why they 11 would have some trepidation about believing that this may happen again, and these are 12 people we're dealing with, and I don't need to tell you that because I know you realize
13 that. I understand as a professional that your job is to follow the process and to remove 14 emotion from it and make sure it's done correctly.
15 A That's right.
16 Q But we also understand as leaders and citizens and human beings that there
17 is another component to that, so that is the last question that I have. I'm going to turn it 18 over to my colleagues. I'm sure they may have another one or two, and I thank you.
19 A Thanks, [redacted]

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q So I wanted to go back to the Trump questionnaire we talked about earlier.

3 A Okay.

4 Q So you had mentioned that potential reasons that both someone's support

5 for Donald Trump as well as opinions on actions and whether they got the COVID-19

6 vaccine or wore masks could be justified for, I believe, criteria A, and I believe E.

7 A I think I would probably phrase that a little differently if you don't mind,

8 right? I think the way that I would phrase it was that what I said was that whether or

9 not someone held allegiance to something other than the Constitution to be higher, or

10 whether or not somebody followed, you know, legal policy regulatory guidelines would

11 be why. So within the frame of your question, that's what I meant to convey.

12 Q Are you aware of any other circumstances where, at least from an outsider it

13 would appear that politically motivated questions have been asked in regard to 14 someone's security clearance that didn't directly involve a specific incident?

15 A We did our internal review of questions that were asked in various

16 questionnaires. They flagged the questions that were discovered, and that's all been

17 provided to the OIG, so I'm not in a position to go into, like, specifics, and then there's

18 always the question of what somebody would perceive as politically motivated versus

19 not, and so on and forth, right? But we have been cooperating with the OIG to try to 20 figure out what happened here and to make sure that it's addressed appropriately.

21 Q Have any specific policies been put in place to prevent certain types of 22 questions like these from being asked again?

23 A Well, again, I'd go back to, right, we're not -- we wouldn't put a policy in

24 place to ask a question that has a potentially legitimate basis, right? But I understand

25 the concern about these questions. Don't get me wrong. We have not put an official

1 policy in place to my knowledge. Certainly, what we have done is stopped the use of 2 these questionnaires, and we will continue to be performing quality control within the
3 division.
4 Q And were any actions taken with the contractor who did issue these
5 questions?
6 A My understanding is that contractor is no longer with the FBI. Left a few
7 months ago. I don't know, as I sit here today, what the circumstances of that were.
8 [redacted] Great. Thank you.
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q Have you had any conversations with that former contractor?
11 A I have not, no.
12 Q Do you know anyone who has?
13 A I am sure we have employees in the Security Division that -- I mean, I
14 shouldn't say I'm sure. I would presume, right, that were there at the same time. I
15 don't know whether, like, OIG has, or anything like that.
16 Q Let me ask a different question. Have you heard of anyone asking the 17 contract -- former contract employee why he had those questions?
18 A I have not personally heard that, no.
19 Q Do you know how many investigations this contract employee used those 20 questions for?
21 A I don't. I believe our -- I mean, off the top of my head, I believe our 22 inspection internal review has that. We'll be happy to get that for you.
23 Q Once these questions, you know, were made public, did anyone within the 24 Bureau come talk to you about concerns related to these questions?
25 A I mean, certainly I talked to the assistant director of the Security Division as

1 he was aware of them. I've had, you know, professional discussions with others
2 certainly in leadership about them. I don't recall anyone coming to me, you know, from 3 the working level, or something like that, if that's what you mean, but certainly we've had 4 conversations at the leadership level.
5 Q Have any folks within the Bureau formally or informally raised concerns
6 about political bias or politically motivated questions to you?
7 A I mean, other than through the various, right, reports and actions that
8 contain all of that type of information?
9 Q Sure. Separate from allegations --
10 A I don't remember anybody asking -- you know, coming to me about a
11 politically motivated question. I don't recall that, no.
12 Q Have you had any discussions internally at the Bureau about what sort of 13 chilling effect the public release of these questions have? What I'm trying to get at is --
14 A Yeah, sure.
15 Q Certainly, there's probably many folks within the Bureau who voted for 16 President Trump.
17 A Of course.
18 Q They see this. Has there been any discussions in the Bureau about how to 19 try to mitigate what sort of effect that may have on those folks within the Bureau to 20 withhold their policy views about whether they're welcome within the agency?
21 A I mean, other than the sense of making sure that this was done
22 appropriately and addressed appropriately, there's not been conversations, you know,
23 that I am aware of to discuss it, like, as a topic with the workforce, if that makes sense.
24 Q So building upon -- we obviously touched upon a few instances that played 25 out in the press --

1 A Sure.

2 Q -- that caught the attention of Congress.

3 A Sure.

4 Q There's the obvious example of Marcus Allen. There's this questionnaire.

5 There appear to be at least a couple data points for those who are concerned that there's

6 at least certain folks within the agency who, you know, opposed people of a certain

7 political viewpoint or political leaning. Have there been any discussions about how to 8 counteract that view?

9 A I mean, not that I can recall. I mean, aside from the individuals that you're

10 hearing from, I mean, I would tell you that I don't believe that's the general

11 understanding of our workforce. I'm not saying that there aren't certain aggrieved

12 individuals within our workforce, but I don't think it's like a commonly accepted, you

13 know, issue within the FBI that we are somehow targeting people of certain political 14 values or beliefs.

15 Q And no one within the Bureau has privately raised those concerns to you?

16 A I mean, I certainly don't recall it, no.

17 Q Just to circle back, we had discussed your interactions or familiarity with 18 Dena Perkins.

19 A Sure.

20 Q Prior to taking the role in June of 2023, can you remind us what was 21 the -- did you know Dena Perkins at that time?

22 A I probably heard her name, right? She was an assistant section chief or

23 acting section chief, so that's a certain level of responsibility and notoriety, maybe not in

24 the bad way, but within the organization, right? So I had heard the name, but I was in

25 the Training Division, which as you probably know, I was physically located down at

1 Quantico, so I -- my typical -- which was awesome, for the record, but my typical schedule
2 was to come up to headquarters maybe one day a week. My understanding is -- as little
3 as possible, right, [redacted] My understanding is that Ms. Perkins sits over at Patriots Plaza,
4 so even when I came to headquarters, I wouldn't have had the physical interaction with
5 her.
6 Q So since taking the role and you've had a chance to learn more about these 7 matters, and what have you heard or what's your understanding of how Ms. Perkins was 8 as a boss?
9 A I haven't had a, you know, a briefing, or anything like that. Certainly, I am
10 aware of the fact that there are the issues reflected in the complaints, right? I've heard
11 of those complaints. I've not really heard too much other than that. I think, by and 12 large, obviously, there are some folks that have issues with her. I think, by and large,
13 she's a respected executive within the Security Division. She's right now, if I remember,
14 actually working in our Human Resources Division.
15 Q And have you heard anything informally about folks either praising or 16 criticizing Ms. Perkins or her reputation as a boss?
17 A I mean, certainly I've heard people praising her. You know, other
18 than -- again, you know, it's like scuttlebutt almost. The information is so vague it's hard
19 for me to source it for you. I can't remember if it's from here or there. I'm sure there 20 are people that have the impression of her as a strong personality, right, so to speak, but 21 beyond that, I mean, no real detail. I mean, I just haven't had -- my approach, you
22 know, with the Security Division and Human Resources Division, even the Training
23 Division that I used to run, they're run by the assistant directors. My job is to make sure
24 we're all pulling in the same direction. So if they have internal, you know, management, 25 leadership, whatever deficiencies, I trust those subordinate leaders to handle those.

1 Q Same set of questions for Mr. Veltri.

2 A Uh-huh.

3 Q First, when you took the position, can you -- what was your familiarity? Did

4 you know?

5 A I'm familiar with the name. I did not know Mr. Veltri. Since that time,

6 you know, he's now serving as our special agent in charge of the Miami field office, so I've

7 interacted with him on a few occasions at different places.

8 Q Have you heard, again, anything formally or informally about how Mr. Veltri

9 is as a boss?

10 A Not as a boss. I mean, you know, the general reputation that I understand,

11 again, you know, of Jeff is he's probably similar to Dena. He's praised by certain folks.

12 I think he, again, has -- it's not a great characterization but a strong personality. Yeah, I

13 just haven't worked with him that much.

14 Q I guess either, again, formally or informally in private conversations with you,

15 you have these line investigators who, based off our understanding, disagreed pretty

16 strongly with the assessment for Marcus Allen.

17 A Yeah.

18 Q And, you know, I'm sure part of the process is trying to figure out exactly,

19 you know, how they got overruled. Seems like their perspective at least was vindicated

20 in the end.

21 A Uh-huh.

22 Q Their assessment. Has there been anyone who's added any context that

23 you found helpful in understanding why that initial assessment was not accepted

24 ultimately?

25 A Not context. I mean, I -- you know, without -- I mean, I think when you

1 look at that set of facts, if it's a difficult one to navigate from a security perspective,
2 certainly, as you know, no doubt must be resolved in favor of national security came into
3 play. I think when we readjudicated it, we simply saw some of the factors that were 4 considered the first time differently. And that's, you know, why we reinstated Mr.
5 Allen's clearance.
6 Q You mentioned that there were emails that you were sharing and news
7 articles. Do you know which news articles?
8 A I'm roughly familiar. I mean, I think there was a revolver news article.
9 There's a couple mentions specifically in the reinstatement EC, I believe. Like, a gateway
10 pundit, or something like that, so, I mean, in that sense that I read about them in the 11 documents, yeah, I'm familiar.
12 Q And have you had any conversations with the two line investigators that 13 performed the initial assessment?
14 A No. No. Not about this assessment. I -- no.
15 Q And is that -- again, just for understanding.
16 A Sure.
17 Q Is that typical? So there's a chance to appeal. There is a reassessment
18 going on. Is that typical for the process not to talk to the original line investigators?
19 A It is, I mean, in my experience. As we were talking about before, we have 20 hundreds of these that we do each year. Even just the adjudication, right, a standard
21 process would be the adjudicator, the supervisor, the unit chief, the assistant section
22 chief, the section chief, the deputy assistant director, the assistant director. So by the 23 time it gets to me, it's gone through seven or eight sets of eyes, three of which are senior 24 executive service members. In my experience, when I've had questions or needed an 25 understanding, I've gone straight to the assistant director of the Security Division. Could

1 I, you know, convene an adjudicative team meeting? I could. I haven't found it
2 necessary to do so.
3 Q Realizing, I think, that you took this position only in June of last year --
4 A Sure.
5 Q -- for Dena Perkins and folks that may say she has a strong personality, for 6 anyone above her in the chain, do you recall instances where they asked her to take a
7 second look at things or change her decision?
8 A I don't. I mean, for the simple reason that that -- I don't, I'm sorry. I was 9 going to say on this particular matter was before my time. I don't remember
10 anyone -- there have been times that I have called the assistant director of Security 11 Division with questions. Whether or not they're questions that had anything to do with 12 Ms. Perkins' review or judgment, I don't know at that point, because it's, you know, the 13 chain of command.
14 [redacted] We'll break here. Thank you.
15 [Recess.]
16 [redacted] At the top of the hour, I want to just note something for the record.
17 There were a number of references to whistleblowers telling the committee certain 18 things. To my knowledge, those were not transcribed interviews, or if they were, we 19 weren't -- the minority was not invited to participate. And whatever those disclosures
20 may have been were not provided to the minority, and so, I'm saying that for the record, 21 because they've not been subject to cross-examination, so they've not been tested and,
22 you know, we don't know the full extent of what was or was not told to the committee,
23 so making that note for the record.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q I want to turn back to the discussion about Mr. Allen.

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q In the very first hour, what was introduced as exhibit 4 was the January 10th,

3 2022, suspension letter. You have that in front of you?

4 A I do.

5 Q And it was the -- there was some discussion about adjudicated guideline A,

6 which is allegiance to the United States of the National Security Adjudicative Guidelines

7 for Determining Eligibility for Access to Classified Information or Eligibility to Hold a

8 Sensitive Position. That's what's noted in the January 10th letter.

9 But then, turning to your letter, the May 31st, 2024 letter, which is marked as

10 exhibit 6, it notes that the suspension was based on both guideline A and guideline E.

11 Do you see where it says that, or are you familiar with that?

12 A I'm familiar with it, yes.

13 Q And I think there was a lot of discussion around guideline A, but not around

14 guideline E. Can you briefly explain for the record your understanding of what guideline

15 E, which was personal conduct means and -- first what it means generally, and then what

16 it means with respect to Mr. Allen.

17 A Sure. I mean, my understanding of that is that it's, you know, in large part,

18 it's kind of any activity that would reflect positively or negatively upon your ability to hold

19 the national security clearance. One of the issues that we've talked about quite a bit

20 today is the ability to follow rules and regulations, and so on and so forth. So it's a much

21 broader guideline in terms of what applies.

22 Q And actually, I'll just read into the record. If you turn to exhibit 8, it's the C

23 guideline, C4. Exhibit 8, page 12. At the bottom of that it begins guideline E, personal

24 conduct. You see where it says that?

25 A Uh-huh.

1 Q And what it says under paragraph 15, the concern is, quote, "conduct
2 involving questionable judgment, lack of candor, dishonesty, or unwillingness to comply
3 with rules and regulations can raise questions about an individual's reliability,
4 trustworthiness, and ability to protect classified or sensitive information." Did I read
5 that correctly?
6 A You did.
7 Q And then it goes on. Paragraph 16 is "conditions that could raise the 8 security concern and may be disqualifying." See where it says that?
9 A I do.
10 Q And some of the examples are the deliberate omission, concealment, or 11 falsification of relevant facts from any personnel security questionnaire or other issued 12 statement, deliberately providing false or misleading information or concealing or 13 omitting information concerning relevant facts to an employer, investigator, security
14 official, et cetera.
15 Then C is credible adverse information in several adjudicative issue areas that is 16 not sufficient for an adverse determination under any other single guideline, but which,
17 when considered as a whole, supports a whole-person assessment of questionable 18 judgment, untrustworthiness, and reliability, lack of candor, unwillingness to comply with 19 rules and regulations, or other characteristics indicating that the individual may not 20 properly safeguard classified or sensitive information. Did I read that correctly?
21 A You did.
22 Q Okay. And then D is kind of a catch-all. It's credible adverse information
23 that is not explicitly covered under any other guideline and may not be sufficient itself for 24 an adverse determination, but which combined with all available information supports a 25 whole-person assessment of questionable judgment, untrustworthiness, unreliability, lack

1 of candor, unwillingness to comply with rules and regulations, or other characteristics
2 indicating that the individual may not properly safeguard classified or sensitive
3 information. And then it includes a list of examples, right?
4 A It does.
5 Q Okay. You said in just the prior hour that the facts around Mr. Allen's
6 situation, I think you referred to as a difficult set of facts.
7 A Sure.
8 Q Do you recall saying that? Can you explain what you meant by "difficult set 9 of facts"?
10 A Sure. I mean, using the two primary -- what I understand to be the two 11 primary kind of pillars, if you will, of the decision regarding Mr. Allen, you had the email 12 that he sent, the inferences or conclusions that could be drawn from that; and then the 13 other piece was the, depending on your description, the investigative deficiency and 14 failure to find certain investigative facts when conducting searches.
15 Q And taking those one by one, you referred to the email that he sent. What 16 was that in reference to?
17 A There was an email, I believe it was September 29th, I want to say '21, but 18 I'm not exactly sure about that. It was an email he sent to his squad, I believe his legal 19 advisor, his supervisor referring to some open-source articles, and essentially saying that 20 you've got to be careful with January 6th investigations, there's chances that 21 headquarters' elements were not being forthright I think was the phrase he used.
22 Q And why -- realizing that what ultimate determination was made here --
23 A Sure.
24 Q -- why would that have potentially been a concern to the Bureau?
25 A Well, I mean, potentially, again, in a whole-person concept, if you're reading

1 into those underlying articles or whatever else, are you finding, you know, an undue
2 sympathy with individuals who have committed criminal conduct.
3 Q And then, sorry, you said there was a second element there.
4 A Uh-huh.
5 Q I didn't write it down, so could you restate it.
6 A Right. There was an allegation or statement made that at least on one
7 occasion, I believe that ultimately became two, that Mr. Allen had been charged with 8 conducting certain investigative activity, mostly database searches related to a guardian
9 related to January 6th, that he had performed that search, failed to find any relevant
10 information, so that resulted in a case not being opened. When that search was 11 performed by someone else at a later date, relevant information was found that resulted 12 in an investigation.
13 Q And I think in the first hour you referred to Mr. Allen as having insufficient --
14 A Investigative deficiency. That would be a broad term I would use to 15 describe the lack of results in his database searches.
16 Q Right. And so essentially there was concern that he was potentially not 17 doing his job well. Is that fair to say?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And looking at guideline E, which I just read it, refers to the whole-person
20 assessment.
21 A It does.
22 Q Can you explain what that means -- well, can you explain what that means?
23 A Yeah. The whole-person assessment? It just means that it's our 24 responsibility, because this is a significant decision, but obviously protecting national 25 security, we have to take every element into account, right? You can't just necessarily

1 make your decision on one factor or in other words, one factor which may by itself be
2 insufficient to be positive or negative when taken in conjunction with other factors can
3 combine into your ultimate decision.
4 Q Is it fair to say that it can be the whole-person assessment -- so, sorry. Let 5 me strike that.
6 A Sure.
7 Q There's situations, for example, where an individual is charged with a DUI,
8 and that might be a more open-and-shut case about whether an individual should hold a
9 security clearance or should be disciplined in this way, right?
10 A Sure.
11 Q When you're evaluating an individual under a whole-person assessment, is 12 that a more complicated evaluation?
13 A Yeah, I would say so, just for the reason, right, that we just discussed, which 14 is something that on its face may not rise to the level as a predicate for an actual decision
15 and combined with other things, each of which may not be enough individually, can at 16 the end of the day result in being sufficient to make a decision.
17 Q And is it fair to say that when the FBI is making that whole-person
18 assessment, whoever is making that determination draws information generally from a 19 variety of sources?
20 A Sure, yeah.
21 Q And that can be a more deliberative process? In other words, it can take 22 longer?
23 A Yeah, absolutely.
24 Q Okay. You've said a couple times you've referred to the national security
25 concerns taking precedence --

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q -- and determinations. I want to -- well, what's your understanding of both

3 what that means and why that was the case? We can break that down. What's your

4 understanding of what that means, first?

5 A Sure. The basic guideline is any doubt must be resolved in favor of national

6 security, right? And so that's the highest goal here. So if you're in a zone where you're

7 not -- it's not conclusive one way or the other, you have to protect the national security

8 first and foremost.

9 Q And what's your understanding of why that's the case?

10 A Because we're all charged with protecting that information because of the 11 damage that can be caused if not protected properly.

12 Q So there was some discussion in the earlier hour about, you know, whether

13 you felt bad for people on an individual level when there was a suspension, and then

14 there was a resolution. Is it fair to say that during that time of suspension, the primary

15 concern for the agency is protecting national security interests?

16 A Yeah. I mean, that's the point I was trying to make, right? Was that on a

17 personal level you feel for people anytime they're going through those things, but as a

18 process, that is our highest duty is to make sure we do this correctly.

19 Q Okay. And to protect national security interests?

20 A That's right.

21 Q Okay. I'm going to introduce for the record, and I don't know that I'll have

22 any questions on it, but it's executive order 12968 signed August 2nd, 1995. Are you

23 familiar with this executive order?

24 A I am.

25 [Dunham Exhibit No. 12

1 was marked for identification.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And this is exhibit 12. This executive order governs access to classified

4 information, correct?

5 A That's right.

6 Q Okay. And on page -- this is printed in the Federal Register, so I don't

7 actually know what page it is on the official executive order, but on the Federal Register

8 page for 40250.

9 A Okay.

10 Q The first full paragraph at the top of that page is labeled subparagraph B. I

11 just want to see -- I want to look at the last couple of sentences there.

12 A Sure.

13 Q It reads a determination of eligibility for access to such information is a

14 discretionary security decision based on judgments by appropriately trained adjudicated

15 personnel. Did I read that correctly?

16 A You did.

17 Q And discretionary means it's up to the -- it's up to the decision of the trained

18 individuals, correct?

19 A That's right.

20 Q And then the next sentence reads, "eligibility shall be granted only where

21 facts and circumstances indicate access to classified information is clearly consistent with

22 the national security interests of the United States and any doubt shall be resolved in 23 favor of the national security." Did I read that correctly?

24 A You did.

25 Q Okay. So when you're saying that any doubt is resolved in favor of national

1 security, that's not just an FBI policy, correct?

2 A No. That's right.

3 Q That's actually set by executive order, correct?

4 A That's correct.

5 Q And that was signed by the President -- would have been President Clinton in

6 1995, correct?

7 A That's right.

8 Q So that's been in place for almost 30 years.

9 A That's right.

10 Q Okay. I want to move on to Garret O'Boyle. I think you addressed this in

11 the prior hour, but just to have this clean on the record, there was a quote that was read

12 that alleged that Mr. O'Boyle was treated with, quote, unquote, "abject cruelty by the 13 FBI."

14 A Yeah.

15 Q Do you recall that coming up in the prior hour?

16 A I do.

17 Q Do you agree with that assertion?

18 A I do not.

19 Q And why do you not agree with that?

20 A As we were just talking about, our highest purpose is to ensure the 21 protection of the national security. We believe that we did that in this case. There

22 was certainly no intentional- or animus-driven purpose to try to make things harder for

23 Mr. O'Boyle. Again, personally, I'm very sorry for his circumstances, but we executed

24 our process properly, and so that's the final outcome.

25 Q There was some discussion about the time -- the timing in which his transfer

1 was executed from Kansas City to Virginia. You'd been transferred a number of times in 2 your career, correct?
3 A I have.
4 Q In your experience, do FBI employees have a window of time in which they
5 can choose to execute that transfer?
6 A Generally speaking, yes, that's right.
7 Q And so in other words, they might have a month and FBI employees are able 8 to move anytime within that month, correct?
9 A Sure.
10 Q Do you know if that --
11 A Depending on what the time frame is. Typically, I don't know the specifics 12 here, you know, the kind of rule of thumb in my head is typically you're expected to 13 report within 90 days of receiving your orders to your new station.
14 Q Okay. So typically, and again, putting this situation aside, typically, FBI 15 employees have 90 days in which they can just -- they can choose when to make that 16 actual physical move.
17 A Roughly, that's my recollection. I mean, certainly, we can make 18 adjustments based on, you know, other factors, but that's what I recall as being the 19 general guideline.

1 [1:23 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q To your knowledge, was Mr. O'Boyle permitted to pick the time in which he

4 would make the move from one duty station to another?

5 A I don't know specifically, but I would presume within whatever the window

6 was that he was given that he was allowed to determine exactly what date it would be.

7 Q Okay. There was some discussion about the process and why the process

8 took so long for Mr. O'Boyle. You referenced him -- he declined -- or a 4-month period

9 in which he failed to appear for an interview.

10 A Right.

11 Q Can you describe what you meant by that?

12 A My understanding of that is in early May -- and you'll have to forgive me, the

13 year is escaping me right now, but I believe it was 2023 -- we reached out to him to try to 14 have a security interview to address some of the concerns.

15 There was, over a fairly long period of time, a significant amount of what I would

16 call back-and-forth. We would offer dates. He would have, I think, in one case it was a 17 family obligation or whatever else, and so we would try to reschedule.

18 Ultimately, I believe at one point he had agreed to a date near the end of August

19 or perhaps in early September but then asked for his counsel to speak to someone from 20 our Office of General Counsel.

21 After that conversation he sent us an email saying that on advice of his counsel he

22 was not going to be sitting for an interview.

23 Q And so that caused at least a 4-month delay in the process?

24 A Sure, yeah.

25 Q Are you aware of whether Mr. O'Boyle also went through the Merit Systems

1 Protection Board?

2 A I believe I've heard that he did, but I don't have much in the way of specifics

3 on that.

4 Q The Merit Systems Protection Board is not part of the FBI, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q What's your understanding of what the Merit Systems Protection Board is?

7 A I don't have a deep working knowledge of the Merit Systems

8 Protection Board, but my understanding is it's a body that provides certain employment

9 protections for our veterans.

10 Q And if an individual like Mr. O'Boyle were to go to the Merit Systems

11 Protection Board, that would effectively put a pause on FBI's ability to adjudicate the 12 matter, correct?

13 A I don't know the answer as I sit here right today. It's certainly possible.

14 Q It's another step in the process at least, right?

15 A Again, I am sorry. I haven't had that much experience, interaction with the 16 MSPB to date, so I don't know -- I'm not -- I can't be conclusive on that. But I appreciate

17 the point.

18 Q I want to get to the actual substance of the allegations involving Mr. O'Boyle,

19 and I understand that some of these predated you.

20 A Sure.

21 Q But to the best of your understanding.

22 What's your understanding of the nature of the allegations against Mr. O'Boyle?

23 A Broadly speaking, the nature of the allegations is that he mishandled

24 sensitive information, inappropriately accessed sensitive information, was perhaps less

25 than forthright during certain interview opportunities. And there is the issue around the

1 potential transmission to Mr. Seraphin.

2 Q And let's take that piece by piece.

3 When you said he inappropriately accessed information, what information did he

4 inappropriately access?

5 A I mean, over a period of time it was a wide range of information for which he

6 had no apparent need to know, which is one of the reasons why we would like to

7 interview him, to be able to ascertain what that may be.

8 It involved -- I think the most notable piece is the Project Veritas piece. He

9 accessed a sensitive investigation, numerous files on it, so forth.

10 There were some other Guardians that he accessed. There were some classified

11 documents that he accessed dealing with various topics for which he had no apparent

12 job-related need to know.

13 Q Okay. In our prior hour, my colleague talked through the various

14 information technology forms that individuals signed, verifying that they will not

15 improperly access information.

16 A That's right.

17 Q Would Mr. O'Boyle have signed one of those forms?

18 A I presume so, yes.

19 Q And he would've received training on accessing or not accessing information,

20 correct?

21 A That's correct.

22 Q You referenced the disclosure to Mr. Seraphin. Who is -- that's a reference

23 to Kyle Seraphin, correct?

24 A Yes, ma'am.

25 Q Who is Kyle Seraphin?

1 A Kyle Seraphin is a former FBI agent who has since left the organization and
2 now is something of a media profile pundit, I guess would be the description.
3 Q Have you had any interactions with Mr. Seraphin?
4 A So when I was at the Washington Field Office, assigned as the special agent
5 in charge for the Counterintelligence Division, Mr. Seraphin at that time was assigned to 6 one of the squads, to the best of my recollection.
7 Q And do you recall having any personal engagement with him?
8 A Limited. At the time that I reported, he was seeking a transfer out of the 9 Counterintelligence Division, which was ultimately granted, as I recall.
10 Q Were there any concerns about Mr. Seraphin's performance?
11 A I don't think there were any, and this is going back a ways, and obviously in 12 today's date, that seems much like a much bigger deal. At the time, it was interacting 13 with an agent on a squad of which I had many.
14 So I don't remember him being described as a high performer by any stretch, but I
15 don't remember like formal performance-related issues going on.
16 Q And Mr. Seraphin, you said, is no longer with the FBI, correct?
17 A That's correct.
18 Q And is it correct that Mr. O'Boyle produced information he had obtained
19 from FBI systems to Mr. Seraphin?
20 A I believe that to be the case.
21 Q And in fact that factored into the decision regarding Mr. O'Boyle, correct, the 22 Security Division's decision regarding Mr. O'Boyle?
23 A Yeah. I need to be very precise on this particular point, right?
24 At the time of the decision, the disclosure to Mr. Seraphin directly was not a
25 known fact. It could certainly be surmised by the totality of the facts revealed in the

1 investigation.

2 My understanding is, since that time, I think, through counsel, Mr. O'Boyle has

3 acknowledged providing that information to Mr. Seraphin in some form.

4 [Reporter clarification.]

5 A Yeah, in some form. I can't remember if it was -- how exactly it was done.

6 But I believe he has acknowledged that he transferred that information.

7 Q Mr. O'Boyle has alleged that he was suspended for making protected

8 disclosures to Congress. Are you familiar with that claim?

9 A I'm familiar with the claim, yes.

10 Q What's your response to that allegation?

11 A I mean, that's completely inaccurate. That's my response.

12 Q And can you explain why it's completely inaccurate?

13 A Sure. I mean, there's -- I mean, we've already kind of gone through all of 14 the different things, right, like multiple times over a period of time -- accessing

15 information for which he had no need to access, downloading, copying, snipping,

16 improperly packaging.

17 I mean, there is a relative list of issues with Mr. O'Boyle's handling of sensitive, at

18 times classified, information. None of that relates to whatever protected disclosure he 19 may have made. So they're unrelated.

20 Q And you said he did potentially mishandle classified information?

21 A That's my understanding as well.

22 Q Is it against the law to mishandle classified information?

23 A I believe so, yes, it is.

24 Q If somebody -- if an FBI employee is accused of violating the law -- again,

25 getting back to the timeline of the adjudication --

1 A Yeah.

2 Q -- of Mr. O'Boyle, if an FBI employee is accused of potentially violating the

3 law, or if there's suspicion that an FBI employee violated the law, would there be an

4 additional investigation that FBI might conduct outside of the Security Division?

5 A Potentially, certainly.

6 Q And where would that investigation be conducted?

7 A I think what you're getting at is, would there be a criminal investigation?

8 And the answer is potentially, right?

9 I mean, to be clear, when -- and this is why I was before -- like there are times at 10 which we have unintentional mishandling of classified information, that when you look at 11 the event it's clear that there was no intent to harm national security. The employee

12 made a mistake, right? We have an administrative approach to handle that.

13 So I wouldn't want to say any and every such instance results in a criminal

14 investigation, but that is certainly a potential depending on the severity of the 15 mishandling.

16 Q And if you're able to say in this setting, was Mr. O'Boyle subject to a criminal

17 investigation?

18 A I mean, my understanding is yes. I certainly know -- I think it's public -- that 19 he was the subject of a criminal referral from Congress to the Department of Justice.

20 Q Couple of wrap-up questions on Mr. O'Boyle.

21 We talked briefly about the allegations that FBI intentionally, quote/unquote,

22 slow-walked the resolution of Mr. O'Boyle's case in order to cause him additional 23 hardship. What's your response to that allegation?

24 A I think my response is the same as it was earlier, right? Again, I mean, I

25 understand, but on a personal level I'm very sorry for Mr. O'Boyle. The circumstances

1 do not sound ideal in any way, shape, or form.

2 In a professional level, again, our obligation is to protect the national security

3 through the processes that have been established, and that's what we did here.

4 We all wish it would've been less time, we all wish that there wouldn't have been

5 the unfortunate incident with his transfer. But those are the realities of our proper

6 execution of the process.

7 Q You said that Mr. O'Boyle declined to cooperate with FBI's internal

8 investigation and that he didn't -- he refused to show up for an interview, correct?

9 A Yeah. Now, he had -- just to be very clear, like previously he had sat for an

10 interview that was not related to a security investigation. But in the instance of us

11 asking him to participate in a security-related interview, yes, he did decline.

12 Q And that obviously delayed the resolution of his case, correct?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Was the suspension or the revocation of Mr. O'Boyle's security clearance

15 motivated by animus, to the best of your knowledge?

16 A No.

17 Q And with respect to Ms. Perkins specifically, do you have any information or

18 do you have any knowledge of Ms. Perkins making any decisions regarding Mr. O'Boyle

19 based on animus against him?

20 A No.

21 Q And same question for Mr. Veltri. Do you have any knowledge of Mr. Veltri

22 making any decisions regarding Mr. O'Boyle based on animus?

23 A No. Certainly I'm aware of allegations --

24 Q Right.

25 A -- that such things occurred, but I am not aware of personal -- I don't have

1 any personal knowledge that that is accurate.

2 Q And to the best of your knowledge, was the decision to suspend

3 Mr. O'Boyle's security clearance done to punish him for his political or ideological beliefs?

4 A No. We're not aware of his political or ideological beliefs when we're

5 conducting -- like that's not something we ask or inquire about, given the questionnaire

6 issues before. But in this case, that wouldn't have been a motivating factor.

7 Q And that's also true for the decision to revoke Mr. O'Boyle's clearance,

8 correct?

9 A That's right.

10 Q There have been a couple of names that have come up repeatedly today,

11 and I just want to ask some questions about those.

12 The first one is Jennifer Moore. You indicated former Executive Assistant

13 Director Moore was your supervisor for a period of time, correct?

14 A That's right.

15 Q Do you have any reason to believe that Ms. Moore made decisions,

16 particularly regarding -- in her position as EAD but throughout her career -- based on her

17 political -- based on political bias or any type of animus?

18 A No.

19 Q What's your opinion of Ms. Moore's character?

20 A The highest opinion of Ms. Moore's character. She's been a colleague and 21 friend for a number of years.

22 Q I realize this is a subjective question. In your opinion, was Ms. Moore good

23 at her job, meaning as EAD?

24 A Yes.

25 Q With respect to Ms. Perkins, I just asked you specifically about Mr. O'Boyle,

1 but are you aware of Ms. Perkins making decisions based on political animus or -- yeah,
2 political animus?
3 A Yeah, again, not aware. Aware of allegations that such occurred, generally
4 speaking, but not aware of it actually happening, no.
5 Q And those allegations that you referenced, that's like the Washington Times
6 article that we --
7 A Yes.
8 Q -- discussed today, those, it's not allegations that individuals brought to you,
9 correct?
10 A Not brought to me, no.
11 Q Okay. You said that you've heard people praising Ms. Perkins. And for 12 the record, yes or no?
13 A Yes.
14 Q Okay. And when you said you've heard people praising her, can you 15 describe what have -- who are the people that have praised her, what type of -- what's 16 been said about her?
17 A I mean, most of who said was Mr. Veltri, who I've had a conversation with,
18 who was very -- strong praise for Ms. Perkins. Other than that, certainly I've talked to 19 the assistant director, I'm not sure if it's come up with the deputy assistant director or 20 not, but a general sense of her professionalism.
21 Q And same set of questions for Mr. Veltri.
22 Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Veltri has made decisions based on 23 animus or based on trying to punish people based on their political beliefs?
24 A No.
25 Q Okay. And you also said that you've heard people praising Mr. Veltri?

1 A Yes. I mean, I know EAD Moore thought highly of him. I can't think of 2 anybody off the top of my head like other than that, but, I mean, he's generally thought
3 of as a competent executive, yes.
4 Q Do you have any concerns to be -- sorry -- do you have any reason to be
5 concerned with the workplace performance of Ms. Perkins?
6 A I do not.
7 Q Okay. And do you have any reason to be concerned with the workplace
8 performance of Mr. Veltri?
9 A I do not. I mean, Mr. Veltri has never worked for me, but in a general
10 sense, I do not.
11 Q Another name to put out there.
12 Are you familiar with an individual named Tim [redacted]
13 A I am.
14 Q How are you familiar with Mr. [redacted]
15 A Mr. [redacted] was a supervisory special agent in the Security Division when I 16 reported. He's since had his security clearance suspended. I believe earlier in the 17 year, April time frame, he left the FBI.
18 Q What's your understanding of why Mr. [redacted] had his security clearance
19 suspended?
20 A My understanding at the time was there was -- I'm sure that folks here are 21 familiar with Mr. Friend, Stephen Friend. There was a display on Mr. Friend's website
22 involving a screenshot of an FBI computer system on which he was apparently deriding
23 our wellness program.
24 The screenshot was such that it would've come from inside of the FBI, so we were 25 trying to determine how that might've occurred.

1 It's been a while since I've looked at this, but over time there was an observation
2 made that the computer screen that was on Mr. Friend's website was very similar in 3 nature to [redacted] computer screen.
4 I know that sounds interesting at first, but the way it was described to me is that
5 there were flecks or specks or something on the screen like a soda can opening that had 6 left something that you could match up the two screens.
7 And so there was a belief that Mr. [redacted] had provided the screenshot to 8 Mr. Friend. So we interviewed Mr. [redacted] and issued a polygraph to Mr. [redacted] on this
9 under the -- intending to determine was there additional material, did he send this image
10 to Mr. Friend, was there additional material, were there anything else that we should
11 know.
12 During the interview, I don't remember exactly what he said. It was things to the 13 effect, oh, well, I might've sent a picture to a friend, I might've done this, I might've done
14 that.
15 I don't believe he ever -- I don't believe he ever admitted to sending the material
16 to Mr. Friend. And then on the polygraph -- and I don't know what the specific 17 questions of the polygraph were -- but he failed the polygraph test.
18 So at that point, we issued him a suspension letter so that we could investigate
19 and fully determine was there additional information leakage. But then he left the 20 Bureau in April.
21 Q So to break this down, the concerns were both that he may have provided
22 essentially, I guess, a photo of his computer --
23 A A screenshot, yeah.
24 Q A screenshot.
25 A You know, actually, a photo -- yes, it would be a photograph of his screen.

1 Q A photograph of his screen. And the concern was that there might have
2 been additional information provided or leaked, correct?
3 A Yeah.
4 Q And the concern also then would've been that he might not have been
5 truthful in his interview. Is that correct?
6 A That's correct.
7 Q And it was on the basis of that, the totality of those circumstances, that he
8 was suspended, correct?
9 A That's right.
10 Q And you said he left the Bureau in April?
11 A Yeah. I know he's left the Bureau. My understanding, he's resigned. I
12 believe it was April time frame.
13 Q And if he's resigned, then that means that the investigation is no longer
14 ongoing, correct?
15 A That's right.
16 Q Okay.
17 A Or shouldn't be. Maybe I shouldn't -- I mean, yeah, that's a whole different
18 area. But, yes.
19 [redacted] Okay. Thank you. We can go off the record.
20 [Whereupon, at 1:42 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] Good morning. This is a transcribed interview of Assistant Section
2 Chief Dena Perkins. Chairman Jordan has requested this interview as part of the 3 committee's oversight of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's misuse of the security
4 clearance suspension and revocation process.
5 Would the witness please state your name for the record.
6 Ms. Perkins. Dena Perkins.
7 [redacted] Could agency counsel please state your name for the record.
8 [redacted] Greer from the FBI's Office of General Counsel.
9 [redacted] from the FBI's Office of the General Counsel.
10 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I want to thank you for appearing here

12 appear voluntarily.
13 My name is [redacted] and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff.
14 I'll now have everyone else from the committee who is here in the room introduce

20 [redacted] Ranking Member Nadler's staff.
21 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.
22 [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.
23 [redacted] Thank you, everyone.
24 This transcribed interview was originally scheduled for September 13th.
25 However, on September 11th, only 2 days before your scheduled interview, the FBI

1 demanded that the committee deviate from its longstanding transcribed interview
2 protocol and grant you special treatment.
3 The Constitution affords the House the authority to determine its own rules and
4 procedures. Consistent with this authority, House committees have developed, over
5 both Democrat and Republican majorities, protocols for conducting voluntary transcribed
6 interviews.
7 These protocols include that a witness for a transcribed interview has the choice
8 of being represented by either agency counsel or personal counsel at a transcribed
9 interview, but not both.
10 When it scheduled your September 13th transcribed interview, the FBI had full 11 knowledge of the committee's longstanding protocol for conducting transcribed
12 interviews.
13 According to a letter we received from your personal counsel, it is our 14 understanding that the FBI, not you, are insisting that agency counsel be present for your 15 interview, and you were willing on September 13 as well as today to appear with just your 16 personal counsel present in the room.
17 Further, the FBI has attempted to interfere in our investigation by refusing to 18 authorize your testimony before the committee unless FBI counsel is present for your
19 interview.
20 You should know that, by law, neither the FBI nor the Justice Department can 21 prevent their employees from providing information to Congress.
22 As an extraordinary accommodation to you and the FBI, we have arranged for 23 your personal counsel to be directly outside of the room today and will permit you to ask
24 for a break at any point during the interview and leave the room when you believe you
25 need to consult with your personal counsel.

I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will follow during today's interview.

Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for 1 hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more questions, and the interview is over.

Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to take apart from that, including when you need to consult with your personal counsel, please just let us know and we will take a break.

As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

Do you understand this?

Ms. Perkins. I do.

[redacted] So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know.

Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point, just say so. If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not

1 remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to
2 tell us if you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to
3 know the information.
4 If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so and please
5 inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete
6 answer to that question.
7 You should also understand that, by law, you are required to answer questions
8 from Congress truthfully.
9 Do you understand that?
10 Ms. Perkins. I do.
11 [redacted] This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an
12 interview.
13 Do you understand this?
14 Ms. Perkins. I do.
15 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject
16 to criminal prosecution for making false statements under, 18 U.S.C., section 1001.
17 Do you understand this?
18 Ms. Perkins. I do.
19 [redacted] Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to 20 today's questions?
21 Ms. Perkins. No.
22 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make note that the content of what we discuss
23 here today is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this
24 interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.
25 For that same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with

1 the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript, and any copies of those
2 exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.
3 That's the end of my preamble. Is there anything my colleagues from the
4 minority would like to add?
5 [redacted] Yes. We thank the witness for appearing voluntarily today.
6 I do want to note for the record that it's not our understanding that it is 7 longstanding precedent that the -- to make witnesses choose between agency counsel
8 and personal counsel. I think that might be a precedent on the Oversight Committee,
9 but that was not the precedent under our prior Democratic chair. So I want to make 10 that note for the record.
11 I also want to note that the witness is here voluntarily. It's only 1 week after the 12 original date, so it was -- I don't think that posed any burden on the committee.
13 And, finally, I just want to note that the Democratic Members continue to have 14 concerns about -- I think there's been 150ish depositions and transcribed interviews to 15 date. The vast majority of those transcripts have not been made public. They have 16 not been made official. It's been over a year in several cases. So our Members 17 continue to have concerns about that.
18 I also want to note that the transcripts that have been made official don't actually 19 seem to have the exhibits attached, and so just noting that for the record, that we have 20 concerns with the procedure on that point. Thanks.
21 [redacted] [redacted] anything?
22 [redacted] Yes, thank you.
23 First, counsel referred several times to positions and decisions by the FBI. Just so
24 the record is clear, the FBI is a component of the Department of Justice and, thus, are 25 bound, as are employees, by Department policies and guidelines.

1 As part of the FBI's accommodations to this committee's request for dozens of 2 transcribed interviews in this Congress and following multiple transcribed interviews by
3 the FBI senior executives responsible for security clearance determinations, the FBI
4 authorized the testimony of today's witness. This is, in itself, extraordinary as she is not
5 a member of the Senior Executive Service.
6 In light of this committee's public allegations against this witness, which have been
7 amplified online, she retained personal counsel. Because the committee will not allow 8 both agency counsel and personal counsel in the room for this interview, she has elected
9 to proceed voluntarily with agency counsel, with the understanding, as you stated, that 10 she will be able to pause and consult with her personal counsel whenever she would like 11 to do so.
12 Her personal counsel has asked us to request that his letter, dated September 13 19th, which you referenced, be included for the record.
14 The FBI continues to object to the committee's insistence that government
15 servants, such as today's witness, be forced to choose between appearing with agency
16 counsel or personal counsel.
17 However, none of this should reflect on this witness, who has served the FBI and 18 the United States more broadly for her entire career, nor should it reflect on her
19 willingness to appear before this committee to answer your questions.
20 Finally, given her non-SES role and especially in light of the vitriol that has been
21 dedicated to her online, we specifically request that the committee not publicly release
22 the transcript.
23 In the event that the committee does determine to release it nonetheless, the FBI
24 requests that all mentions of the witness' name and identifying information be redacted.
25 Thank you.

1 [redacted] Thank you, [redacted]

2 I will mark as exhibit No. 1 a letter that the chairman received, dated September

3 19, 2024, from Ms. Perkins' personal counsel, John Wood with Holland & Knight. I'll just

4 note for the record as well that, in the first paragraph, it states, "Ms. Perkins is not

5 insisting that agency counsel be present. Rather, this is a requirement of her employer."

6 [Perkins Exhibit No. 1

7 was marked for identification.]

8 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:09 a.m. We'll start with the majority's first

9 hour of questioning.

10 EXAMINATION

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q Ms. Perkins, can you tell us when you joined the FBI?

13 A March 2nd, 1997.

14 Q And what's your current role?

15 A I'm the assistant section chief of the FBI Security Division, Security Integrity

16 Investigation Section, also known as the SIIS.

17 Q Thank you. And can you give us a brief overview of the different positions

18 that you've held at the FBI during your long tenure there?

19 A I've been a special agent for the entirety of my career. I started as a special

20 agent working case investigations at the Washington Field Office in 1997. I've worked

21 violent crimes, white-collar crimes, labor racketeering,

22 counterintelligence/counterterrorism investigations before I was promoted to

23 supervisory special agent at the Terrorist Screening Center in 2005.

24 I spent 3 years in that capacity before returning to the Washington Field Office as

25 a special agent. I was promoted to supervisory special agent once again in 2011,

1 overseeing special investigations for White House staff, Department of Justice, and
2 congressional staffers.
3 I also then at that point took another position at the FBI's Training Division as an
4 instructor, teaching new agents and intelligence analysts.
5 I have served as a supervisory special agent overseeing community outreach and 6 recruiting efforts for the Washington Field Office before taking my current assignment as 7 the assistant section chief in the Security Division on October 1st of 2018.
8 Q And can you describe your roles and responsibilities in your current position?
9 A The assistant section chief is an administrative role that supports the section
10 chief, the SES position over the section. There are some administrative responsibilities, 11 to include budget, personnel, hiring, staffing, training, also to fill in for the section chief in 12 his or her absence.
13 I provide oversight of investigations, review, recommendations of investigations, 14 documentation, to ensure that they are consistent with the adjudicative guidelines, they 15 are consistent with internal protocols and templates. And I also provide responses for 16 data calls from any of our external entities, to include Department of Justice or this
17 committee.
18 Q And it's our understanding that the Security Division is one of the three 19 divisions within the Human Resources Branch of the FBI.
20 Does that comport with your understanding?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Have you ever worked within any other divisions within the Human 23 Resources Branch?
24 A The Training Division is within the Human Resources Branch.
25 Q And, within the Security Division, there are several different sections. Can

1 you briefly describe the several different sections, to your knowledge?

2 A There are five sections within the Security Division. We already discussed

3 the SIIS. There was also a Security Operations Section. There is a Strategic Resources

4 Section. There is the Background Operations Security Section, and the security

5 clearance -- security -- it's SSCS. It's the Security Clearance Section. I forget what the 6 other S stands for.

7 Q And your section, I believe you've been calling it the SIIS. Is that correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q The SIIS, the Security Integrity and Investigation Section. And there are 10 several different units underneath of the larger section. Is that correct?

11 A I'm sorry. Can you repeat the question?

12 Q There are several different units within the SIIS. Is that correct?

13 A That is correct.

14 Q And what are those units?

15 A There are four units within the SIIS. There is the Clearance Referral and

16 Evaluation Unit. There is the Clearance Investigation Unit, the Clearance Adjudication

17 Unit, and the Polygraph Unit.

18 Q And can you briefly describe for the Security Division, speaking specifically to

19 the SIIS, what's the organizational structure look like, who's at the top, working on down

20 to you and then lower as well.

21 A There's approximately a hundred employees, to include contractors and

22 detailees, within the section. It is led by an SES section chief. There's an assistant

23 section chief, 4 unit chiefs, and approximately 17 supervisory special agents, and then a

24 variety of contract investigators, Reserve Service Program investigators and adjudicators

25 and professional staff employees within the section.

1 Q And the section chief of the SIIS, would they be your direct supervisor?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And who is the section chief of the SIIS right now?

4 A [redacted]

5 Q And, before [redacted] who was the section chief?

6 A The previous section chief was Jeffrey Veltri.

7 Q And, above the section chief, is there a Deputy Assistant Director? Does it

8 go directly to that?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And who was the Deputy Assistant Director when you arrived at the SIIS?

11 Let's start -- let's go chronologically.

12 A Charles Margiotta.

13 Q And who was the next Deputy Assistant Director?

14 A Doug Beidler.

15 Q And then after --

16 A I'm sorry. I correct myself. It was Jeffrey Dutton.

17 Q Okay.

18 A And then Doug Beidler.

19 Q And after Mr. Beidler left, was Mr. Veltri the Deputy Assistant Director?

20 A Mr. Beidler was promoted.

21 Q Okay.

22 A And that's when Mr. Veltri was the Acting Deputy Assistant Director.

23 Q Okay. In your role as the assistant section chief of the SIIS, what was your 24 visibility into the various aspects of the security clearance investigative process?

25 A I had a broad optic into all of the processes, from intake, investigations,

1 adjudications. I met regularly with -- with the supervisors, unit chiefs, staff, to answer
2 any questions, provide them guidance, direction, application of the guidelines, more
3 administrative oversight.
4 Q And I want to walk through the process that the Security Division uses when
5 deciding to investigate, suspend, revoke an FBI employee's security clearance.
6 So the process starts when concerns about a person's eligibility comes into the 7 Clearance Referral and Evaluation Unit. Is that correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And what steps does the CREU, if you will, take to determine whether an 10 investigation is warranted?
11 A To put it in perspective, there are approximately 50 or more referrals that 12 come in each week. And the team looks to those referrals. They come in from a 13 variety of different vectors.
14 They ensure that they are entered into a repository where they can all be 15 reviewed in a timely fashion. That review process involves looking to our threat
16 priorities. The Security Division has established threat priorities which outline what it is 17 that constitutes a security-relevant concern for investigative purposes.
18 If the referral that comes in rises to the level of one of those concerns, then an 19 investigation will be initiated.
20 Q And what was your role at this stage? If a referral or concerns came into 21 the CREU, what was your role at that stage?
22 A Generally, as a resource for conversation if the application of the threat
23 priorities was consistent with opening a case, based on the referral: Here's a referral.
24 Here's our threat priorities. We're thinking this does fall into this category. Just more
25 of a conversation as a resource to talk through a referral.

1 Q Can you unpack that a bit more for us? What do you mean by a resource
2 for conversation?
3 A Generally, the -- the supervisor or unit chief would come in, just talk through 4 a referral. We would discuss the elements of the referral and determine the -- the 5 appropriateness of opening an investigation. Just a conversation, a sounding board.
6 Q And who makes the decision as to whether an investigation is warranted?
7 A It could take many forms. Generally, on a routine basis, we have a process
8 that is set up that it runs on its own. Referrals come in. The referral investigators will 9 evaluate it and discuss it amongst themselves, look at the threat priorities, open
10 an -- recommend opening an investigation.
11 A supervisory special agent will sign off on it. If all in agreement, the unit chief 12 on top of that will sign off on it to open the case.
13 And sometimes information will come in from -- from other vectors directly to the 14 Assistant Director Or Deputy Assistant Director. They understand our threat priorities
15 because they approve them.
16 They -- they are the -- the AD of Security Division is the chief security officer of the 17 FBI. If they receive information, they'll send it down, and we'll discuss it. We all 18 understand what the threat priorities are. And we may get information that way. But,
19 ultimately, the documentation to open the investigation is always written at the unit
20 level.
21 Q And so, if a referral would come in through, you know, the Assistant Director
22 Or the Deputy Assistant Director, does it go to the CREU?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Always goes to the CREU?
25 A It will always make its way in there, because we want to ensure consistent

1 documentation in the referral system.

2 Q And what type of documentation is used in the referral system?

3 A Could you clarify your question?

4 Q Is it just like an electronic communication, an EC, that gets started in that

5 process, or what type of documentation is used during the referral process?

6 A So any referral that is received by the Security Division is entered into an

7 application or a database. It could be an email referral. It could be a security incident

8 report. It could be an ROI from the OIG.

9 Any referral can come in a variety of different forms. But, to ensure consistent

10 review and documentation, it will be uploaded in PDF form into the application, into the 11 database.

12 Q And, when the investigator makes their recommendation at the CREU as to 13 whether to open an investigation or not, you explained how the SSA has a signoff, the UC

14 has a signoff.

15 Is that the last signoff, or do they need to come to you?

16 A No. It is -- it is approved at the unit chief level.

17 Q And so, after -- if an investigation is warranted, it then goes to the Clearance

18 Investigations Unit. Is that correct?

19 A Correct.

20 Q And what type of investigative steps are taken at that point in time?

21 A It could take a variety of different forms, depending on the allegations.

22 Q Are there interviews that are conducted, document reviews that are done?

23 Can you give us kind of a sense of what investigative steps a CIU typically takes?

24 A Interviews can be conducted. Document reviews can -- can be performed.

25 Again, it depends on the allegations. Whatever is most appropriate.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q Any indices traces in the system? ESOC?

3 A Sure. Well, that's a different -- so ESOC queries can be requested.

4 Generally, we don't do that as a -- as a -- if it's warranted, ESOC will be requested. It

5 depends on the allegations.

6 If there's an allegation that somebody was arrested for criminal conduct outside

7 the Bureau, ESOC wouldn't necessarily be appropriate to investigate those allegations.

8 We would try to ensure that we tailor any investigative steps to be -- to be relevant to the 9 allegations.

10 Q But you generally do general indices traces in the system?

11 A The Clearance Referral and Evaluations Unit will -- will perform all those 12 baselines.

13 Q Indices, warrants --

14 [redacted] I'm sorry, but --

15 Ms. Perkins. Yes, they will do all that.

16 [redacted] -- I can't understand what you're asking.

17 [redacted] What I'm asking is --

18 [redacted] We've got to have one person speak at a time.

19 [redacted] I'm sorry. We can do this off the record.

20 [Discussion held off the record.]

21 [redacted] We're on the record now. So, [redacted] please re-ask your question.

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q Okay. I'm asking if -- what types of indices traces they run when they're 24 getting ready to open a case, warrants, warrants, NCIC, et cetera.

25 A Sure. And so, just to clarify, when the Clearance Referral and Evaluation

1 Unit opens an investigation, they will conduct some baseline database checks. They will
2 run what is referred to as indices. They will run NCIC. They will run border crossings
3 checks, things like that, credit report.
4 Just some basic baseline databases so that the investigator has a -- sort of a
5 whole-person assessment of -- of the employee as well as the allegations that have been 6 referred for investigation.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q And if you will, the goal of the Clearance Investigations Unit is to conduct an 9 investigation into the individual whose clearance is under review to determine their 10 suitability to hold a clearance. Is that accurate?
11 A Yes.
12 Q And the CIU at the end would make some sort of recommendation, either to 13 send it to the Clearance Adjudication Unit, as to whether to reinstate the clearance or 14 revoke the clearance. Is that correct?
15 A No.
16 Q Tell us how it works.
17 A Let me clarify that. So the Clearance Investigations Unit, they're -- when 18 you say to reinstate the clearance, that's only if a clearance is suspended would it need to 19 be reinstated. Every investigation that is opened is not automatically suspended. So 20 there are approximately 700 investigations ongoing. There's not 700 employees who 21 are suspended.
22 So, with that, the investigation is conducted to address the underlying security
23 concerns, whether it was just through interviews, interviews with external law
24 enforcement partners, supervisors, coworkers, complainants, victims, that type of thing.
25 There are sometimes electronic database reviews, whatever is relevant to address the

1 underlying security concerns.

2 After the investigation is complete, they will write a summary of their

3 investigation. They do not make recommendations. They will then send it to the 4 Clearance Adjudication Unit for adjudication of the investigation.

5 Q And what is your role in the process that the CIU is undertaking to conduct

6 an investigation?

7 A In my capacity as the assistant section chief, again, I'm a force multiplier.

8 I'm an administrative resource. Oftentimes, supervisors or the unit chief will come into

9 my office, have a conversation.

10 They will give me an overview of the allegations or the investigation to date.

11 Sometimes it's just independently to talk through next steps, or sometimes it's in

12 response to an inquiry, a data call, whether it's from the Department of Justice, whether

13 it's from senior leadership, whether it's from any other entity that has an interest in the 14 matter.

15 But I will have an administrative role to discuss the investigation and offer

16 suggestions or recommendations, if warranted.

17 Q And what factors go into determining whether an individual's clearance

18 should be suspended while the investigation is ongoing at the CIU?

19 A Generally, when a referral comes in, we assess the veracity of the complaint,

20 the seriousness of the allegations, and the impact on national security, and make an

21 assessment as to whether or not a recommendation for a clearance suspension should 22 occur while the investigation is ongoing.

23 Q And who is required to sign off on that decision?

24 A These recommendations are made in the Clearance Investigations Unit. A

25 supervisory special agent, a unit chief, the assistant section chief, the section chief, Office

1 of General Counsel, Deputy Assistant Director, the Assistant Director, and the EAD in their
2 capacity as the security programs manager of the FBI.
3 Q And who is making the initial recommendation, if you will, that an
4 individual's clearance should be suspended? Is that the line investigator, the SSA? Is it
5 a collaborative decision? Can you give us a bit of insight on that?
6 A In those situations, it's a collaborative discussion. Generally, something of 7 that magnitude would not be unknown. Generally, if we get a referral that is that 8 heightened or elevated, it is -- it is briefed up immediately in the Clearance Referral and 9 Evaluations Unit.
10 Generally, if something significant that -- of that magnitude comes in, multiple 11 people are made aware immediately, just based on the impact to the organization, the 12 national security. And, as the case is opened, there are briefings all the way up to the 13 AD, sometimes the EAD, to discuss the appropriate steps to mitigate risk to national 14 security.
15 Q And you mentioned a summary document that's drafted towards the end of 16 the investigation that is provided to the Clearance Adjudication Unit. Did I get that
17 correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Can you tell us who is writing that document?
20 A The investigator who is assigned that case will summarize their work in that 21 electronic communication. It is signed off by their supervisory special agent and the unit
22 chief.
23 Q And does the supervisory special agent and unit chief have any review
24 responsibilities, editing of the EC?
25 A I would presume so. If there is information that is grammatically incorrect

1 or missing information or portion markings, classifications, that type of thing, I presume
2 that that would be the appropriate thing to do as a supervisor.
3 Q Do you ever have the opportunity to weigh in on a summary EC?
4 A I would not have reason to review a summary EC or approve it.
5 Q And, if someone had questions about what should be included in the 6 summary EC or they wanted to use you as a resource, would they just come and talk to 7 you?
8 A I can't recall a situation where I reviewed a summary EC. But, if they had a
9 question, I would certainly -- my door's always open. People come, drop by all the time.
10 Q And, moving to the Clearance Adjudication Unit, is that the final step in the 11 process, if you will?
12 A Not necessarily, but for the purpose of the intake, investigations, and 13 adjudications, it is a -- it is a step in the process.
14 Q And do you have a role in the Clearance Adjudication Unit's process?
15 A I'm one of the reviewers on recommendations that go to the SPM. Similar 16 to the Clearance Investigations Unit, any recommendations made by the 17 Clearance Adjudications Unit will go through the same levels of review.
18 Q And can you just walk through that review process again for us, just so it's 19 clear for the record.
20 A So an adjudication that recommends a security warning letter, a clearance
21 revocation, or an administrative separation, those all are signed off by the Security
22 Programs Manager.
23 So those would be reviewed and signed off on by a supervisory special agent, a
24 unit chief, assistant section chief, section chief, Office of General Counsel, Deputy 25 Assistant Director, Assistant Director, Security Programs Manager.

1 Q And so would the Security Programs Manager kind of have the final
2 decisionmaking authority, or where does the final decisionmaking authority rest?
3 A Security Programs Manager.
4 Q Okay.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q Do you have any idea, like, how many like allegations that come in, do any of 7 those get kicked over to OPR? How is that addressed?
8 Do you guys -- you probably look at every one of them, but are any like deemed to 9 be like more of an OPR lane than Security Division lane?
10 A The Security Division and the Inspection Division, which has the investigative 11 responsibility prior to Office of Professional Responsibility adjudicating any -- any action,
12 Inspection Division and Security Division share information. Anything that comes into 13 Security Division will also be shared with Inspection Division and vice versa.
14 So, while Security Division and Inspection Division have delineated roles, there is 15 sometimes overlap between misconduct and security-relevant concerns, but our 16 processes are delineated.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q And what is the normal timeline for completing a security clearance
19 investigation?
20 A That can vary.
21 Q And can you tell us why that timeline varies, what factors go into making the 22 timeline shorter or longer?
23 A There could be external factors that delay Security Division's ability to 24 investigate. For example, some allegations may be under investigation by the 25 Department of Justice Office of Inspector General. Some allegations may be

1 investigated by external law enforcement, local law enforcement.

2 In those situations, the Security Division is often asked to hold their overt

3 investigative steps in abeyance pending those investigations being complete.

4 Q And, according to the Inspector General for the Department of Justice,

5 Inspector General Horowitz released a recent memorandum describing kind of

6 the -- some of the issues with the clearance process at the Justice Department as well as

7 the FBI.

8 And, of the 106 FBI employees who had their clearance suspended for 6 months

9 or longer, the average time between suspension and a decision to revoke or reinstate the 10 individual's clearance was approximately 17 and a half months.

11 Can you help us understand why it takes that long?

12 A What I can say is that it should not take that long. And sometimes

13 averages -- and I'm not going to minimize, there are cases that take too long to complete,

14 but averages are what they are. They're sometimes confounds of one or two cases that

15 for whatever reason are open for 4 or 5 years. A couple of those cases were under OIG

16 investigation. So understanding that those are outliers.

17 But, in our standard operating procedures, we have put the -- the expectation

18 before our investigators that if a clearance is suspended, it should be -- the investigation

19 should be completed and to the Clearance Adjudications Unit within 6 months.

20 And the Clearance Adjudication Unit should prioritize any case where an employee

21 is suspended for adjudication, so that they either can make a determination to reinstate

22 the clearance or to revoke the clearance. At that point, the employee has -- has their

23 appeal rights that kick in.

24 Q And, as the assistant section chief, you're seen as a leader in the Security

25 Division, especially within the SIIS.

1 Have you instituted any changes or sought to effect any policies related to the 2 duration of how long these investigations are taking?
3 A I hired a supervisory management and program analyst to create a
4 dashboard that would allow the SIIS front office, myself, the section chief, senior 5 leadership to assess the status of investigations.
6 I counseled unit chiefs on numerous occasions, the former unit chief of the 7 Clearance Adjudication Unit probably the most. I counseled her on at least seven
8 occasions for the -- the lack of timeliness in adjudications. There were cases that were 9 just sitting for a year and 2 years, sometimes longer, without adjudication. In my 10 estimation, that is unacceptable.
11 Q And, when you say "counseled," what do you mean by "counseled"?
12 A I discussed with her the -- what is your process? What are your 13 performance metrics? Are you doing file reviews? I need you to do file reviews to 14 ensure that your adjudicators understand what their priorities are.
15 If you're doing a file review and you see that a case has been open for 3, 4 years,
16 as a leader, I need you to move that to the top of the list so that it can be prioritized for 17 adjudication. That type of counseling.
18 In some case cases, after a couple of verbal counselings, when the -- when 19 improvement did not occur, I would go to written counseling to document the 20 performance issue.
21 Q And, switching to talking about some individual leaders within the Security
22 Division, we've mentioned Jeffrey Veltri before. He was the Deputy Assistant Director.
23 He is now the special agent in charge of the Miami Field Office. I'm going to refer to him
24 as Mr. Veltri so we don't get his titles confused.
25 You've been at the Security Division since 2018. When did Mr. Veltri first come

1 to the Security Division? Was he there before you arrived?

2 A He reported in July of 2021.

3 Q July of 2021. And did he come on directly as the Deputy Assistant Director

4 or --

5 A He reported as the section chief of SIIS.

6 Q Section chief. And, when was he promoted to the Deputy Assistant

7 Director position, if you know?

8 A And he was not officially the DAD. He was an acting. What happened

9 was, through the vacancy of a senior leadership position, there was a shift in the chain of 10 command.

11 After a former ADD retired, then Ms. Jennifer Moore, who was our Assistant

12 Director of Security Division, she moved up to be an Acting EAD. And then

13 our -- Mr. Beidler, who was DAD, moved up to be Acting AD, so on and so forth.

14 So, at that point, Mr. Veltri became the Acting DAD and, as the assistant section

15 chief, I moved into the acting section chief role.

16 Q And, to your knowledge, what was his role as the Acting Deputy Assistant

17 Director?

18 A As the Acting Deputy Assistant Director, he was responsible for the branch,

19 branch two of Security Division. There are two branches. We discussed the five 20 sections that are in Security Division. They are divided into two branches.

21 So branch two has three sections: Security Operations Section, Security

22 Resource Section, and the SIIS. And so he was responsible for oversight of those three 23 sections.

24 Q And how often did you interact with Mr. Veltri while he was the Acting 25 Deputy Assistant Director?

1 A Daily.

2 Q Daily?

3 A Multiple times a day.

4 Q And did you have regular meetings with Mr. Veltri?

5 A We had standing meetings. We had ad hoc meetings, yes.

6 Q And, when you were interacting with him on a daily basis, what did those

7 interactions consist of? Were you discussing specific cases? Was it more

8 administrative? Can you kind of give us a little bit of a flavor of what those interactions

9 were like.

10 A It would be both.

11 Q Okay.

12 A It could be as simple as we've got job vacancies. We have a budget

13 constraint. We need to cut the section budget by X number of dollars. Things like 14 that. So it could be administrative.

15 It could be discussing cases. Oftentimes, we'll get external inquiries on cases.

16 For example, if a case is sitting too long, what's the status, that type of thing. And so, if

17 he receives that type of a question, he will call down, ask me for a status update.

18 I'll go to either the investigator or adjudicator, get an update and report back up.

19 That type of thing. It could just be -- it could be investigative. It could be 20 administrative.

21 Q And where were those external inquiries coming from?

22 A It could be coming from a number of vectors. We get a number of requests

23 from -- from the Hill. People write their Representatives, and we get a lot of those 24 requests.

25 There are requests from other agencies. Perhaps an individual under

1 investigation is -- is a candidate for a job, that type of thing. And so we'll have to
2 respond to a name check.
3 It could be coming from senior leadership because, you know, there is a -- as the 4 gentleman noted earlier, an Office of Professional Responsibility adjudication, and there's 5 a question as to what the status is of a security investigation if there's a parallel
6 investigation. This is a routine practice on a daily basis multiple times a day.
7 Q And, when you would meet with Mr. Veltri to discuss cases, would the case
8 discussions occur with the unit chiefs and you as the assistant section chief, the section
9 chief, or what did those meetings look like? Who attended those types of meetings?
10 A For clarity, I'll describe. We had standing case briefings with all of those 11 parties, and I'll outline them again. But, generally, on a weekly or biweekly basis, we 12 would have case briefings with the investigator, adjudicator, supervisor, unit chiefs, 13 myself, the Acting Deputy Assistant Director, the Assistant Director. And Office of 14 General Counsel would be present to provide perspective. Sometimes the SPM would 15 dial in if he or she was available.
16 Q And how involved was Mr. Veltri in the clearance investigation process?
17 Did he have visibility into all of what the various units were doing? Did he follow cases
18 from start to finish?
19 A I would say he -- as an approver on any of the recommendations going to the 20 SPM, he had visibility. I'm not sure if I understand your question.
21 Q I was just wondering, to your knowledge, did you get a sense of what 22 Mr. Veltri's visibility was into specific cases?
23 A No.
24 Q And we've received some whistleblower disclosures that, you know,
25 Mr. Veltri was adamantly and vocally anti-Trump in the workplace. And I just kind of

1 wanted to get a sense of in your interactions with him -- you interacted with him on a
2 daily basis at work. Did he ever give you these types of indications?
3 A No.
4 Q And who is [redacted]
5 A [redacted] is a former supervisory special agent who was assigned to the
6 Security Division.
7 Q And do you know what unit chief -- or unit [redacted] was under as an SSA?
8 A Clearance Investigations Unit.
9 Q And what was his role as an SSA, to your knowledge?
10 A As an SSA, he oversaw investigations, approximately a hundred
11 investigations, with a handful of investigators, five or six investigators on his team.
12 Q And how often did you interact with SSA Clark?
13 A Daily.
14 Q And did you have regular meetings? Did he attend some of these standing 15 meetings that you've spoken about?
16 A Yes. If an investigation was being briefed to the assistant director, he 17 would be present with his investigator briefing the case.
18 Q And, when his investigator was briefing the case, would the investigator do
19 the briefing, or was it Mr. Clark who was doing the briefing on behalf of his line
20 investigators?
21 A The investigator would generally brief the case. Mr. Clark would jump in if 22 clarity was needed, but generally the assistant director or former EAD wanted the 23 investigators and adjudicators to brief their cases as much as possible.
24 Q And we've previously mentioned EAD Jennifer Moore. When did she 25 become EAD?

1 A I don't remember the exact date of her promotion. I know that she
2 became the Acting EAD in November of 2021.
3 Q And do you remember around when she left the position as EAD and the 4 current EAD, Mr. Dunham, came in?
5 A I believe that was in the summer of 2023.
6 Q And how often did you interact with EAD Moore?
7 A In what capacity, if I could ask?
8 Q Just in your capacity as acting assistant section chief, how often did you
9 interact with her?
10 A So, when I was the acting section chief, she was the Acting EAD. My 11 interaction with her would be rare. Generally, if she needed something very quickly, she 12 would send me a message asking for a specific piece of information, but that might occur
13 once a month or once every other month. It was rare.
14 Q It was rare?
15 A Yes. She had an assistant director. She had a DAD. So to reach out
16 directly to a section chief would not be very common.
17 Q Was there any point in time when your interactions with EAD Moore were 18 more frequent?
19 A I can't think of any specific scenario where they would be frequent.
20 Q Did she ever attend any of the regular meetings that you attended?
21 A She attended as many as she could; or if there were specific questions that 22 she had, based on a recommendation that had been put forth, and the case was being 23 briefed, she would attend so that she could ask questions.
24 Q And I know she was over the whole Human Resources Branch, but did you
25 ever get a sense of how involved or knowledgeable Ms. Moore was about the clearance

1 investigation process and active cases that were going through the clearance
2 investigation process?
3 A Was she -- you're asking her knowledge of the process?
4 Q We can take it step by step. So what was her knowledge of the clearance
5 investigation process?
6 A She was very knowledgeable of the process. She was a former section
7 chief within the Security Division overseeing clearance investigations of the -- she was on 8 the side of the background operations security section doing the White House
9 backgrounds.
10 She understood the clearance investigation process. The process is the same.
11 The client or the -- the -- whether it's an on-board employee or an external candidate is 12 really the only difference. The process is the same.
13 Q And, to your knowledge, what was Ms. Moore's visibility or awareness of 14 individual cases that were going through the clearance investigation process?
15 A I can't speak to her knowledge or visibility of specific cases.
16 [redacted] Okay. I'll enter as exhibit No. 2 a June 28th, 2024, letter to 17 Inspector General Michael Horowitz from Empower Oversight.
18 [Perkins Exhibit No. 2
19 was marked for identification.]
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Ms. Perkins, this is a lengthy document, so feel free to review as much as 22 you want and take your time. When I refer to it, I'll refer to specific pages as well as give 23 you a general direction of what paragraph I'm looking at.
24 A I've seen this document online, and I am familiar with a lot of the 25 misinformation that is in this document.

1 Q Okay.

2 A I'm ready for your questions.

3 Q Okay. I'll look first on page 3 of the document. The page numbers are on 4 the bottom right-hand corner.

5 So I'm looking at the paragraph that starts with "more alarmingly." I'll read that

6 first sentence: "More alarmingly, SSA Client discovered SIIS's operations for handling

7 the FBI's security clearance program were nothing like Federal standards required."

8 Can you tell us how SIIS handed security clearance adjudications? Did it follow

9 the Federal regulations and the ODNI directives?

10 A Yes. And what I'll offer is that SSA Client was not a trained adjudicator and 11 had not received any adjudicative training for the ODNI.

12 Q And our understanding is that there are 13 guidelines as far as how, you

13 know, the security clearance adjudications should be handled.

14 Does that comport with your knowledge, there's 13 that are laid out in the Code

15 of Federal regulations?

16 A There are 13 adjudicative guidelines in SEAD 4, the National Security

17 Adjudicative Guidelines, yes.

18 Q Now, looking back again at page 3, looking at the first full paragraph on that

19 page, I'll read it for the record: "On his arrival in CIU, SSA Client immediately recognized

20 SecD was a toxic work environment. Many SIIS employees had conflicts with Perkins,

21 first as ASC and then as acting SC, and several had filed complaints against her."

22 Did anyone ever raise concerns to you about a toxic work environment?

23 A Complaints were raised to me about the toxicity of SSA Client and other

24 supervisors in the SIIS. They found their vitriol, their complaining, their -- their gossip to 25 be toxic, yes.

1 Q And what did you mean by vitriol?

2 A The SSA Client would often complain about having too much work, the cases

3 were BS, and that we shouldn't be working these investigations, that type of thing.

4 They would make -- there was a -- the toxicity also related to supervisors and unit

5 chiefs that would leave the office for 3, 4 hours for coffee breaks, lunch breaks, and were

6 not available to the investigators and the adjudicators when questions arose. And so

7 the team found that to be very frustrating, SSA Client included.

8 Q And, when you received some of these complaints, these complaints came

9 to you, what steps did you take?

10 A I would counsel. I would meet, discuss. I'm understanding that you're

11 leaving for 3 hours for a coffee break. Folks are seeing you sitting downstairs in the 12 coffee shop for 3 hours having conversations with other supervisors. I need you in the 13 office. I need you managing your teams. I need you available and engaged.

14 And so I would have those counselings. If I was unsuccessful and the problem

15 continued, elevated it to Acting DAD Veltri, and he would weigh in as well. We had 16 these counselings several times.

17 Q And did the problem with the supervisors and the UCs taking long breaks,

18 did that ever remedy itself with the counseling, or did there persist to be a problem?

19 A There persisted to be a problem. At some -- in some cases, the problem

20 got a little better, but the problem persisted.

21 Q Okay. Switching over to page 5 of the document. I'm looking at the third

22 full paragraph. The first sentence in that paragraph states, "SSA Client disclosed to

23 UC" -- unit chief, redacted -- "his concerns about these issues, and eventually found that a

24 large number of SecD employees also had concerns about its operations."

25 Did concerns about the operations of the Security Division, did those ever arise or

1 come up to your level?

2 A No.

3 Q No one ever raised any sort of complaints about the operations of the 4 Security Division?

5 A No.

6 Q And no one ever raised concerns to you about whether the Security Division

7 was following Federal adjudicative guidelines?

8 A No.

9 Q So, looking again at that page, on the first full paragraph, the second

10 sentence, it states, "Perkins and Veltri would frequently make initial judgments about 11 cases based on their own prejudices, then would refuse to move from their first

12 impressions -- regardless of what facts an investigation uncovered."

13 Were you involved in the initial decisionmaking of whether to open an

14 investigation or not?

15 A So, just so I can have it on the record, this statement is false. As we

16 previously discussed, I would often have conversations with intake teams or supervisors if

17 they wanted to discuss a case and was involved in that capacity. It would not be 18 unusual for me to speak with intake personnel about opening a case.

19 Q And what would give someone the sense that you were making initial 20 judgments based upon your prejudices?

21 A I can't speak to SSA Client.

22 Q Did anyone ever raise concerns about this statement of you making initial

23 judgments based upon your own prejudices? Did anyone raise concerns about that

24 directly to you?

25 A No.

1 Q Looking at the next sentence, "Acting SC Perkins will often direct SIIS to take
2 particular actions, such as making specific edits to electronic communications (ECs) on 3 suspension or revocation before they were allowed to proceed up the chain to the 4 Executive Assistant Director for issuance."
5 Did you direct SIIS staff to make edits to ECs before the document proceeded up
6 the chain?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And can you tell us what that process looked like?
9 A Generally, on any communication that was put into workflow, it would go
10 through, as I noted earlier, the supervisory special agent, unit chief, section chief, all the 11 way up the food chain, the chain of command.
12 But -- and, before it left the unit, we would ensure that it has gone through a
13 thorough review of grammar, spelling, syntax, you know, consistency with the templates
14 that have been established. You can't have 20 different formats going up to the -- the 15 SPM. There's a consistent template that should be followed.
16 I would look -- generally, what would happen -- and I'll kind of explain it just for 17 clarity. In our system of record, it's called the Sentinel system, it is not a -- it does not 18 allow for editing per se.
19 You can make comments at the top of a document, something like indent
20 paragraphs or add portion markings, but you can't really edit a document if there's 21 grammar and spelling errors.
22 So, generally, what would happen is that the GS-14 supervisory special agent or 23 the unit chief would just cut and paste the content of a document into a Word document.
24 And they would look at it, make some edits, send the track changed document to me for 25 review.

1 I would look at it. If I had any additional comments, I would add them, say
2 that -- and then send it back to the unit chief. They would work with the supervisory 3 special agent and the investigator or the adjudicator, depending on the unit, and 4 implement those -- those -- those edits.
5 If there was a question about an edit, we would sit down and discuss it. And 6 then they would put the official document back into the system of record, and then it
7 would be routed for -- for approval.
8 Sometimes it would still come back down with questions from that level, but we 9 wanted to ensure that anything in the system of record was grammatically correct, had 10 no spelling errors, and that there was nothing in there that was outlandish. And I can 11 certainly give you some examples if you would like.
12 Q If you want to provide examples, please feel free.
13 A Sure. So I'll give you an example of a clearance adjudication document that 14 came -- came through. The unit chief, [redacted] was the unit chief of that unit at 15 the time. And there was a document that came in recommending revocation of a
16 security clearance.
17 And, in that document, the adjudicator had written information to include a 18 criminal history of the employee's brother, who was not an FBI employee and whose 19 clearance was not under review. Something like that has no bearing on the employee's 20 suitability to hold a security clearance.
21 In the same document, the adjudicator wrote that the employee, quote, "used his 22 race and size to get what he wants." That has no bearing on somebody's suitability to 23 hold a security clearance.
24 So I edited that document and made recommendations that Unit Chief [redacted]
25 take a closer look at the content of those documents to ensure that where there's

1 training and understanding of the adjudicative process that those adjudicators receive
2 that training.
3 Q And, right after the sentence I just read, it says, "Yet Perkins never 4 documented in the adjudicative file the decisions she made, including when she overruled
5 line SIIS staff."
6 When you would make recommendations or need to delete something, as you
7 said, the criminal history of someone's brother, for example, how was that documented
8 in the system?
9 A It wouldn't need to be. We wouldn't have 15 versions of a document
10 sitting in a file. If I was writing a search warrant as a criminal agent, I'm not going to 11 have 15 drafts that have gone back and forth with my supervisor and the U.S. Attorney
12 sitting in my case file. That's just not -- that's not feasible, and it's not -- it's not -- it's 13 just not sustainable.
14 But generally, it would be -- if there was edits, it would be emailed back to an
15 investigator or an adjudicator. In some cases, they would save the track-hanged
16 document into a shared drive folder. If there were questions about an edit or -- or a
17 recommendation, that would be documented in that file.
18 Q And, to the extent, you know, an SIIS staff, a line investigator, an SSA, if they 19 had recommended someone's clearance should be revoked or should be suspended and 20 you disagreed with that assessment, how was that documented?
21 A Sure. And generally, if there was a recommendation that was put forth, it
22 was a conversation. Generally, again, the day-to-day tweaks to a document are for 23 grammar, spelling, syntax, application of the guidelines, or, you know, consistency with 24 templates. Those are just general administrative edits.
25 If there was a recommendation that was inconsistent with precedent or

1 inconsistent with the adjudicative guidelines, it's a conversation: Help me understand
2 the recommendation. And generally: Here's a couple of cases of similar status, of 3 similar conduct, and, you know, this was the adjudication.
4 So there are dangers with departing from consistency and with precedent. So
5 we'll have a conversation. If there is a strong sense of -- of, well, this case is special or I
6 see this case differently, it's a -- it's a briefing to executive management to have a more
7 collaborative discussion to fully understand the adjudicator or the investigator's position
8 and have conversations with the -- about the guidelines with the Office of General
9 Counsel and the DAD, Assistant Director, and sometimes the EAD.
10 Q Okay. And, looking further down on page 5, the last paragraph before 11 number 1, Marcus Allen case, the first sentence says, "SSA Client participated in many 12 discussions in which it became clear that Veltri's and Perkins' perspective was that, if an
13 FBI employee fit a certain profile as a political Conservative, they were viewed as security
14 concerns and unworthy to work at the FBI."
15 Would that be an adequate basis to revoke or suspend an employee's clearance?
16 A Again, just for the record, this is a false statement. No. The FBI does not 17 open clearance investigations or recommend clearance actions based on political 18 affiliation.
19 Q And we've heard from multiple whistleblowers that the FBI is using its 20 security clearance adjudication process to purge its ranks of those who disagree politically
21 with FBI leadership.
22 Do those types of statements surprise you?
23 A These statements to me are just false. That's all I can say about those 24 statements. Those statements are false.
25 Q And, as you read these statements and you think back to your tenure at the

1 Security Division, can you think of any time where you would have maybe given anyone
2 the impression that you were allowing political considerations to sway your 3 decisionmaking?
4 A No.
5 [redacted] I'll enter as exhibit No. 3 an article from The Washington Times,
6 dated November 10th, 2023. The title is "FBI accused of targeting Trump types; agents
7 who served in military deemed disloyal."
8 [Perkins Exhibit No. 3
9 was marked for identification.]
10 [redacted] And please take your time to review the article, if you need time.

1 [11:00 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Again, I'll point to specific pages, too.

4 A That's fine. We can proceed.

5 Q So, looking at page 2 of the document, the page number should be on the 6 bottom left-hand corner.

7 It states, "The whistleblower said Jeffrey Veltri, Deputy Assistant Director of the

8 Bureau's Security Division, and Dena Perkins, Assistant Section Chief, specifically pursued

9 employees who served in the Marine Corps or other military branches."

10 Were concerns like this ever raised for you?

11 A No.

12 Q Okay. And, further down on that page, it states, "In these cases, there was

13 no indication that any of the individuals had any affiliation to a foreign power or held any

14 belief against the United States, it said."

15 Are you aware of any of these cases, or were any of these concerns brought to

16 your attention?

17 A No. And I would like it on the record that I find these allegations to be 18 disgusting. I am a veteran.

19 Q Uh-huh.

20 A There are 7,700 veterans in the FBI, which comprises 20 percent of the 21 entire workforce. There are no veterans being targeted by the Security Division or 22 anyone at the FBI that I'm aware of.

23 Q And what would lead people to believe that you were targeting veterans?

24 Do you have any sense of what people would have considered you targeting veterans to 25 be?

1 A I can't speak to motivation other than to create chaos, to create angst and
2 anger against -- against me or Mr. Veltri for holding people accountable for poor
3 performance.
4 Q What do you mean by hold people accountable for poor performance?
5 A As I indicated, we counseled individuals for taking long coffee breaks and not
6 being engaged with their programs or for sending forth documents that were poorly
7 written and holding them to a higher level of performance.
8 And I think the situations like this here are just -- are just employees who 9 are -- who are seeking to retaliate against supervisors who held them accountable.
10 Q And do you have any knowledge that kind of backs up that belief that these 11 are employees who are disgruntled with you counseling them and holding them
12 accountable?
13 A Well, yes, I think that many of these statements that have been made by a
14 SSA client who is [redacted] and, you know, looking at these articles that were written
15 shortly after his clearance was suspended for security concerns, they all timely occurred
16 following his being held accountable for security relevancy concerns.
17 Q Looking at page 3 of the document, the first full paragraph, it says, "Other 18 signs that employee was a," quote, "right-wing radical and disloyal to the United States,"
19 end quote, "according to Ms. Perkins and Mr. Veltri, were failure to wear a face mask,
20 refusing to take the COVID-19 vaccination, and participating in religious activities."
21 Would not wearing a face mask or refusing to take the COVID-19 vaccination or a
22 person's religious affiliations, would those constitute a valid concern for someone's
23 eligibility to hold a clearance?
24 A No.
25 Q Did anyone ever raise these types of concerns that you were taking into

1 consideration someone wearing a face mask, not taking the vaccine, or participating in
2 religious activities?
3 A No. And just for the record --
4 Q Uh-huh.
5 A -- I'm a lifelong practicing Catholic. So I find these allegations to be rather 6 disgusting.
7 Q Are you aware of the Clearance Investigation Unit using a questionnaire for 8 interviews with colleagues of the individual whose clearance was under review that 9 contained questions about whether the individual vocalized support for President Trump?
10 A I'm aware of a questionnaire that was brought to the attention of Security
11 Division in June of 2024. I had no knowledge of that questionnaire prior to that date.
12 [redacted] Okay. And we'll enter one of the questionnaire that's been made
13 available under the Freedom of Information Act. It was released to an outside group,
14 and they publicized the questionnaire. And so we'll mark that as exhibit No. 4 just to 15 kind of guide the discussion.
16 [Perkins Exhibit No. 4
17 was marked for identification.]
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q My questions won't be about the content in the questionnaire. It will be 20 just, like, the questions that were asked.
21 And you said that you became aware of this questionnaire in June of 2024. Is
22 that correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q But you had no knowledge or awareness that a questionnaire such as this 25 was being used in CIU investigations?

1 A Correct. I had no knowledge that the questionnaire had been used at any 2 point.
3 Q And, if you look on page 1, one of the questions is vocalize support for
4 President Trump, which is question No. 2. Question No. 3 on the next page is vocalize
5 objection to the COVID-19 vaccination.
6 What's your reaction to the fact that some of these questions were being asked
7 during the clearance investigation process?
8 A Well, when I first saw this questionnaire from the Department of Justice,
9 asking for more explanation about it, I, honestly, I thought it was a joke. I thought it was 10 something that was made up because, you know, clearly -- and the article's written by 11 Kerry Picket and some of the allegations by Empower Oversight. They have perpetuated
12 lies and misinformation about me.
13 And I thought that this questionnaire was just another made-up allegation to try
14 to smear the Security Division's reputation.
15 And it was through review of a discovery package that we realized that one
16 particular contract investigator had asked these questions. I immediately spoke to the 17 unit chief of the Clearance Investigation Unit, made sure that he sat down with his 18 investigators and made very clear these types of questions had no place in Security
19 Division.
20 Q And how is it happening that a contractor is writing these types of questions,
21 using them in the investigation, and the leaders in the Security Division just have no idea 22 that it's going on?
23 A Understood. And, in this particular case, there -- this, as I understand,
24 when we looked back and answered questions for the Department of Justice Office of 25 Inspector General, this particular contractor was working in the Security Division at a time

1 when we had significant staffing shortages of supervisors.

2 And there was one supervisor in the Clearance Investigation Unit and a unit chief,

3 and the detailed engagement that we would typically hope to have between supervisors

4 and investigators was just not possible just due to just being stretched so thin in the unit.

5 So, with that, it's not an excuse --

6 Q Uh-huh.

7 A -- but it's an explanation as to how this investigator was able to, you know,

8 write these questions and ask them of anybody on any investigation.

9 Q Why would the contractor have believed that these questions were

10 appropriate?

11 A I can't speak to that. That contractor is no longer assigned to Security

12 Division.

13 Q And is it appropriate to be asking an individual's colleagues, who the 14 individual's clearance is under review, whether they support President Trump or oppose

15 the COVID-19 vaccination? Is -- are those valid questions to be asking?

16 A No.

17 Q And do you know if these questions were ever considered when, you know,

18 writing the Summary EC?

19 A I can't speak to that. I have not reviewed the Summary EC. So I can't 20 speak to that.

21 Q To your knowledge, is the Security Division undertaking any sort of review to 22 understand what investigations this questionnaire was used in?

23 A Yes.

24 Q And is there any sort of review that is being undertaken to determine if an

25 individual's support for President Trump or opposition to a COVID-19 vaccination, if those

1 were improperly considered during the security clearance investigation process?

2 A Understanding that this was an isolated case, we are complying with DOJ

3 OIG request for information of any case that templates or questions of this investigator or 4 any other investigator were used.

5 But our review has determined that this was an isolated case, an isolated incident

6 by one contractor on one investigation.

7 Q And have you reviewed the contractor's other investigations, whether or not

8 this question was used to determine if they were asking inappropriate questions such as

9 this?

10 A Not just his but all, a review of all investigations and Security Division

11 have -- has been conducted, and there were no other similar questions that were asked of 12 any subject --

13 Q And to your understanding --

14 A -- to my knowledge.

15 Q -- who is undertaking that review?

16 A The Department of Justice Office of Inspector General.

17 Q So it's an outside entity, not Security Division investigating itself.

18 A Correct.

19 Q If you go back to the whistleblower disclosure from June 28th, I believe that 20 was exhibit 2.

21 A This document?

22 Q That's correct. And we're looking at page 5 again. And, again, I'll draw

23 your attention to the third paragraph down.

24 Looking at the sentence that says, "Because of the influence of Acting DAD Veltri

25 and Acting SC Perkins, it was very common, when SSA client arrived in SecD, for

1 investigators to ask inappropriate questions of the sort we've recently referred to your
2 office for investigation," referring to the Trump questionnaire --
3 A Uh-huh.
4 Q -- "such as whether employees under investigation had vocalized support for
5 former President Donald Trump or whether they had vocalized objection to the COVID-19
6 vaccine." Were any of these concerns ever raised to you that investigators were asking
7 inappropriate questions? Did you ever hear that?
8 A No.
9 Q No.
10 [redacted] Okay. We're at the hour mark. So we'll go off the record.
11 [Recess.]
12 [redacted] All right. It is 11:18, and we can go back on the record.
13 EXAMINATION
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Ms. Perkins, thank you again for joining us.
16 As I mentioned, I'm with Ranking Member Nadler's staff. I'm [redacted]
17 I want to take a couple of steps back --
18 A Okay.
19 Q -- before we get into some of the subject matters that's been discussed
20 today --
21 A Sure.
22 Q -- and talk about your background a little bit.
23 A Uh-huh.
24 Q You said that you joined the FBI in 1997, correct?
25 A Correct.

1 Q Why did you decide to join the FBI?

2 A Well, I was inspired to join the FBI when I was in high school.

3 I -- that -- my senior year in high school was when Pan Am Flight 103, the

4 bombing, occurred. And that was my sort of first sort of I guess optic into the FBI,

5 watching on TV, seeing the investigation unfold.

6 And I remember -- there was no internet back then, of course. So you have to

7 open the phone book and look for the FBI. I called the local field office to ask how does

8 one become an FBI agent.

9 And the recruiter was actually very kind and said, "Well, you need a college degree

10 and some relevant work experience."

11 So, not being of a college family -- no one in my family had ever gone college -- I

12 enlisted in the Army to earn the GI Bill and the Army College Fund.

13 And, after I completed my enlistment, I went on to serve in the National Guard

14 and went to college, put myself through college with the GI Bill and while working full

15 time in juvenile corrections, and then applied to the Bureau and was at Quantico in

16 March of 1997.

17 Q And you've been at the FBI since 1997, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q So your entire career has been either at the FBI or in the military, fair?

20 A Yes, in addition to, as I noted, working in juvenile correctional --

21 Q Right.

22 A -- programs.

23 Q Okay.

24 A Yeah.

25 Q So is it fair to say you've spent your entire career in public service?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And you talked through your various duty assignments with the FBI. I don't

3 want to go through all those in detail.

4 But am I correct that you've been working in security, in the Security Division in

5 some way, shape, or form since 2011? Is that --

6 A More or less. I've done security and suitability adjudications for the better

7 part of 14 years, yes.

8 Q Okay. And through -- progressively -- through roles with progressively

9 more supervisory responsibility. Is that fair to say?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Okay. Are you proud of the work you've done about with Bureau?

12 A Absolutely.

13 Q Why is that?

14 A It is an honor to serve in the Bureau. It's an honor to serve the public. I'm 15 very proud of the work that we do, not just making processes better but keeping America

16 safe. It's just an honor to wear the badge.

17 Q During your 28 years -- is that right --

18 A Just about.

19 Q -- with the depart -- with the Bureau, rather, have you received any awards

20 for your work?

21 A Yes, ma'am. I have received well over 30 performance awards to include

22 three Exceptional Performance Awards.

23 Q And what is -- well, what's a performance award, first?

24 A Performance award, it could be a cash award, time off award, just

25 recognition from my supervisor that the work I am doing or the problems I have complete

1 had been noteworthy. So I've received over 30 of those.

2 Exceptional Performance Awards are given to a smaller percentage of any field

3 office or division for extraordinary performance, and it's a very small percentage of 4 employees who will receive those awards.

5 Q Okay. Thank you.

6 Okay. I want to turn to some of the more specific issues that have been raised

7 today.

8 As a little bit of background, you mentioned that the Security Division gets around

9 50 referrals a week. Is that right?

10 A Correct.

11 Q So that's around 2,600 a year. Is that about right?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay. What percent of those referrals would you estimate, if you can,

14 are -- result in suspensions?

15 A I don't necessarily have the metrics offhand. But what I can say is that at

16 any given time, there is not more than approximately 30 recommendations for clearance

17 suspensions in any given year.

18 Q Okay. So a very small percentage. Is that fair?

19 A Very small, very small.

20 Q Okay. And you said in the earlier hour that -- and it's clearly true because

21 such a smaller percent result in suspensions -- that not every issue that's raised in the 22 Security Division merits suspension, right?

23 A Correct.

24 Q What are some of the other steps the Security Division can take other than 25 spending a clearance?

1 A Certainly. In some cases, we may recommend a security awareness
2 briefing, for example. A security violation or a security infraction, an employee may just 3 need to have a conversation with a security officer in their division or field office to 4 remind them of security procedures and protocol, to ensure they're not, you know,
5 putting information or systems or facilities at risk. So a security awareness briefing may 6 be appropriate.
7 In some cases, the referral that comes in may be more under the purview of the 8 Performance Appraisal Unit. May -- perhaps a performance improvement plan would 9 be appropriate.
10 Perhaps it's something that's more misconduct oriented, and perhaps an Internal 11 Affairs investigation is more appropriate to address the underlying concerns.
12 Q And, in some cases, is it determined that no action at all is appropriate?
13 A Absolutely.
14 Q Okay. You mentioned that when a -- when the Security Division does
15 decide to suspend a clearance, there's -- I didn't write down all the layers of review, but I
16 think it's seven or eight layers of review. Is that fair?
17 A That's fair.
18 Q Okay. So it's fair to say that it's a fairly significant action for the Security
19 Division to take, correct?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Okay. What merits the suspension? At a very high level, what merits
22 suspension of a security clearance?
23 A Unmitigable risk to the national security.
24 Q Are you familiar with Executive Order 12968, which is the executive order
25 governing access to classified information?

1 A Yes.

2 [redacted] Okay. We're going to introduce that for the record as exhibit 5.

3 [Perkins Exhibit No. 5

4 was marked for identification.]

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q And I'm sorry. Actually before I get into this, you've been working in the 7 Security Division in some capacity or handling security adjudications for 14-ish years,

8 correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Fair to say you've received training in how to adjudicate clearances in that 11 time period?

12 A Yes.

13 Q And is Executive Order 12968 something you've come across as part of your

14 training?

15 A It is something that would support training, yes.

16 Q Okay. And what's your understanding of what this executive order says or 17 does?

18 A Basically that there are -- there are requirements for individuals to have

19 access to national security information.

20 Q Okay. And I want to look at part 3, Access Eligibility Standards, which

21 begins on page -- so I'm sorry. This is on the Federal Register. So it's on 40249 of the 22 Federal Register.

23 A 402 --

24 Q Four-nine.

25 A -- 49.

1 Q It's the fifth page. I think it's printed. It's at the very bottom there and
2 continues onto the next page.
3 So I'm just going to read into the record.
4 A Uh-huh.
5 Q This section reads, "No employee shall be deemed to be eligible for access to
6 classified information merely by reason of Federal service or contracting, licensee,
7 certificate holder, or grantee status, or as matter of right or privilege, or as a result of any 8 particular title, rank, position, or affiliation."
9 Did I read that correctly?
10 A Yes, ma'am.
11 Q What's your understanding of what that sentence means?
12 A Essentially having a security clearance is not a right. It is a privilege. And 13 it's certainly something that, you know, has requirements.
14 Q Okay. And then paragraph (b) that immediately follows that, it says,
15 "Eligibility for access to classified information shall be granted only to employees who are 16 United States citizens for whom an appropriate investigation has been completed and 17 whose personal and professional history affirmatively indicates loyalty to the United
18 States."
19 Do you see where it says that?
20 A Yes, ma'am.
21 Q Okay. And what's your understanding of what affirmatively indicates 22 loyalty to the United States means?
23 A So the ability to adhere to the Constitution, certainly to not be engaging in 24 conduct that is contrary to the national security or the interest of the United States
25 Government.

1 Q Okay. And I want to look at the very last sentence of that paragraph B. It
2 says, "Eligibility shall be granted only where facts and circumstances indicate access to 3 classified information is clearly consistent with the national security interests of the 4 United States."
5 A Uh-huh.
6 Q "And any doubt shall be resolved in favor of the national security."
7 Do you see where it says that?
8 A Yes, ma'am?
9 Q What's your understanding of "any doubt shall be resolved in favor of the 10 national security"
11 A Yeah, and how we see that is in many cases -- in some cases there's -- there
12 is -- it's -- it does appear black and white --
13 Q Uh-huh.
14 A -- that, if someone has engaged in certain conduct, it's very clear that it is,
15 again, black or white.
16 In some cases, they're a little less clear. Sometimes it's a little more gray.
17 When you look at the whole person, you see, well, maybe this person has done, you 18 know, some good things, and but yet there's this conduct, and it's maybe it's a pattern, or 19 it's been egregious.
20 And, as you look at the whole person, it's sometimes not as clear. But, in those 21 circumstances, the executive order and the National Security Adjudicative Guidelines
22 compel the Security Division or any adjudicative agency to resolve that doubt in favor of 23 national security.
24 Q Okay. And we're here today to talk about suspensions specifically.
25 A Yes.

1 Q I think there's been some discussion of a timeline involved in resolving some
2 of these adjudications. You indicated that you thought in some cases it was too long.
3 A Uh-huh.
4 Q But is it fair to say that, under this provision, which has been in place since
5 the executive order was signed in 1995 --
6 A Yes.
7 Q -- the Security Division, if there is that gray area, the Security Division has to 8 make the ruling or has to decide to suspend a clearance. Is that fair to say?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And why is that?
11 A Because the alternative is that we compromise the national security, that an 12 individual who may be engaged in conduct that is contrary to the national security has 13 access to national security information, and that is unacceptable risk.
14 Q Okay. Thank you.
15 I want to move on to -- actually, let's turn to the Washington Examiner article.
16 And is that exhibit 3.
17 And I know you went over this in some detail earlier, but just a couple of followup
18 questions.
19 Before we get into the substance of this, you were asked a number of questions
20 about Jeffrey Veltri.
21 Do you recall those questions?
22 A Yes, ma'am.
23 Q And you indicated that you frequently interacted with Mr. Veltri in your role.
24 A Yes.
25 Q Okay. What was your impression of Mr. Veltri's work ethic?

1 A Mr. Veltri had a phenomenal work ethic. He would come in early. He
2 would stay late.
3 If there was a high-priority case that needed attention or resolution or answers for 4 whether it's DOJ or the, you know, committee or any -- any customer, he would stay with 5 the team and work through it and make sure that he was available to provide any support
6 that he could.
7 Q Did you have any -- ever have any reason to question Mr. Veltri's integrity or 8 his honesty?
9 A No.
10 Q And you say that very definitively. Can you explain why you -- what your 11 impression was of his integrity?
12 A Again, every decision that I knew Mr. Veltri to make was in the best interest
13 of national security, the FBI, and the Security Division.
14 Q Did anyone ever raise concerns about Mr. Veltri to you?
15 A No.
16 Q Okay. Turning to this Examiner article, on page 2, as printed, you said that 17 the section -- the article alleges broadly that there were -- that the Security Division was 18 suspending the clearances of military veterans.
19 And you said that you find those allegations to be offensive. Do you remember 20 saying that?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Can you explain why you find them offensive?
23 A One, as a veteran, I'm -- who's married to a disabled veteran who served in 24 Desert Storm, I find it disgusting. My father was a Vietnam veteran, and my grandfather
25 was a WW II veteran and prisoner of war.

1 I find allegations that anybody would target veterans disgusting. But to allege
2 that a veteran is targeting other veterans I find extremely, extremely offensive.
3 Q Are you aware of whether Mr. Veltri is a veteran, as well?
4 A I don't believe he is.
5 Q Okay.
6 A But what I will say is that, if I can recall, during his time in the Security
7 Division, he would routinely ask me for a list of anyone in the section who had served in 8 the military so that he could send out an email on Veterans Day or any other days of 9 service, recognition of servicemembers, and just thank them for their service.
10 So I do recall him being very appreciative and respectful of those who served.
11 Q On following page of this article, the allegation was made or the -- the 12 allegation in the article is that you and Mr. Veltri took into account in conducting 13 adjudications whether an employee had failed to wear a face mask or refused to take the 14 COVID-19 vaccination or participated in religious activities. Let's take those one by one.
15 To the best of your recollection, in your work as a supervisor, were you ever 16 aware of a situation where an employee was -- had a clearance suspended or was 17 otherwise suspended or was otherwise punished ed for failing to wear a face mask?
18 A No. In fact, no investigation would have been opened on those allegations.
19 Q And why is that?
20 A It doesn't fall within our threat priorities. I mentioned those in the earlier
21 hour. There are -- threat priorities or bans that govern what falls within our 22 investigative purview. Not wearing a face mask is not one of those.
23 Q What about refusing to take the COVID-19 vaccination?
24 A No.
25 Q And participating in religious activities?

1 A No.

2 Q And you said earlier that you found the allegation about participating in

3 religious activities somehow being taken into account in security clearance adjudications

4 to be particularly offensive because you are a lifelong practicing Catholic. Do you recall

5 saying that?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And why is it particularly offensive to you in that capacity?

8 A As someone who holds faith dear, the allegation that we would target

9 people because of their faith is offensive.

10 Q And we might return to this later. I'm not going to get into the individuals

11 mentioned yet.

12 I want to turn to exhibit 2, which is the Empower Oversight letter. This is the 13 Empower Oversight letter dated June 28th, 2024.

14 And quickly, at the -- during the last hour, you had mentioned -- one

15 second -- sorry -- that Empower Oversight had -- Empower Oversight has made a number 16 of allegations against you, correct?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And what's your understanding of what or who Empower Oversight is?

19 A I understand that Empower Oversight -- and there's a couple of 20 individuals -- Tristan Leavitt, maybe Jason Foster. I've seen that they have posted

21 allegations about me on social media, targeting me, spreading disinformation about me.

22 I understand that they may be affiliated with former employees who have been

23 the subject of security clearance investigations. It appears that they're affiliated with 24 [redacted] who made a number of these allegations against me.

25 Q And, just at a high level, without getting into specific allegations, are the

1 allegations Empower Oversight has made against you, are those generally truthful or 2 generally false?
3 A They're false.
4 Q Okay.
5 A They're lies, absolute lies and disinformation.
6 Q And I want to get into this letter now from Empower Oversight.
7 On page 3 of this letter, it refers to SSA client who you indicated is [redacted]
8 correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q Okay. You mentioned -- and it discusses a number of allegations raised by 11 the SSA client, or [redacted]
12 A Uh-huh.
13 Q You indicated in the prior hour that [redacted] didn't have training in -- I'm 14 not sure if I wrote it down right -- in the adjudicative guidelines or in some element. Can 15 you explain what you meant?
16 A Yes. What I noted in this letter, most alarmingly, SSA client discovers SIIS
17 for handling security clearance were nothing like the Federal standards required.
18 He's talking about upon his arrival in April of 2022. He had no security
19 background.
20 And, again, we train. There's training available through the ODNI, which is the 21 sort of overarching authority on security clearance adjudications.
22 I did ask all of my unit chiefs to attend the ODNI training. At that point, it was all
23 online just due to COVID protocols, and so it was much easier to get into classes and 24 training online just because of the number of people who can dial in.
25 So I do believe the unit chiefs did complete the training, at least two of them.

1 And I did ask that their SSAs also make time to receive the training just so they
2 understood the application of the adjudicative guidelines.
3 And it is my understanding that [redacted] did not complete that training.
4 Q He never completed the training.
5 A Not to my knowledge. If he did, I was not aware. But I know, when I had 6 spoken to his former unit chief about the SSAs attending the training, it was my 7 understanding at that point that he had not completed the training.
8 Q Is there some record when an individual completes the training?
9 A They can request credit for training in our administrative -- it's called Virtual
10 Academy, but they would also just alert their supervisor that they were -- because it's a 11 week-long training. They're going to be offline. So we would know they were in the 12 training.
13 Q And you said the training is conducted by ODNI. That's the Office of the 14 Director of National Intelligence, correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q Do you know -- and I understand if you don't. Do you know if ODNI keeps a 17 record of who's completed the training?
18 A I believe they would.
19 Q Okay. I want to turn to -- we spent a fair amount of time on this -- to page
20 5. And I know we've gone through this in some level of detail. I'm going to go through 21 it again. So bear with me.
22 But the paragraph -- the first full paragraph on this page, it reads that, "Perkins
23 and Veltri would frequently make initial judgments about cases based on their own
24 prejudices, then would refuse to move from their first impressions, regardless of what 25 facts and investigation uncovered."

1 You indicated that this allegation is false.

2 A Yes.

3 Q Okay. And, just to be clear, so to be clear, you did not make judgments

4 about cases based on your own prejudices.

5 A No, I make judgments on cases based on the adjudicative guidelines.

6 Q Okay. And you've referred to the adjudicative guidelines a number of 7 times. Those are the SEAD 4 guidelines. Is that correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q What's your response to the allegation that you would frequently make

10 initial judgments about cases based on your own prejudices?

11 A Again, these are false. These are lies. It is not how we conduct business

12 at the Security Division. It's not how I conduct myself as a special agent of the FBI.

13 We get facts in evidence, and we might determine that, at its face value, it falls

14 within our threat priorities. However, the facts in evidence that are uncovered during

15 the investigation will determine whether or not those allegations are substantiated or

16 not.

17 And we don't keep ourselves so rigid in first impressions that, you know, we are

18 blind to what the facts in evidence, you know, determine during the course of the

19 investigation.

20 Q And specifically the reference to their own prejudices or your own

21 prejudices, do you have any understanding what that might refer to?

22 A No.

23 Q Do you believe you hold prejudices?

24 A No.

25 Q And, to be abundantly clear, I think throughout this letter and in other

1 allegations, there's been allegations that you are prejudiced against Conservatives.
2 What's your response to that allegation?
3 A That's falls.
4 Q And there's been allegations that you're prejudiced or biased against 5 individuals who support former President Trump. Are you familiar with those 6 allegations?
7 A I've head those allegations. Those allegations are false.
8 Q What's your response to that allegation?
9 A They're false.
10 Q The next paragraph here, it indicates that Acting SC Perkins, that's you,
11 would make edits to electronic communications that were not documented.
12 Do you see where it says that?
13 A Uh-huh.
14 Q And you indicated in the earlier hour that there's no -- in Sentinel, which is 15 the system that the FBI uses to track electronic communications. Is that fair to say?
16 A Yes.
17 Q It's not possible to edit directly, correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Okay. But you said that you did make edits into -- and track changes in 20 Word documents, correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And were those Word documents saved?
23 A In some cases, they were saved, but they were viewed as draft.
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A In some cases, a case manager or investigator or adjudicator might save it in

1 a working folder --

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A -- a shared drive or a personal drive just to have it to refer to later on, yes.

4 Q And, when you made edits in a Word document, for example, and tracked

5 changes, you would email it to whoever it was going back to, correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And so there would be an email track record of that --

8 A Absolutely.

9 Q -- as well, correct?

10 A Absolutely.

11 Q So it wasn't the case that you were trying to hide your edits, correct?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay. The following paragraph reads, "Because of the influence of Acting

14 DAD Veltri and Acting SC Perkins, it was very common when SSA client arrived in SecD for

15 investigators to ask inappropriate questions of the sort we recently referred to your office

16 for investigation such as whether employees under investigation had vocalized support

17 for former President Donald Trump or whether they had vocalized objection to the COVID

18 vaccine."

19 Do you see that?

20 A I do see that.

21 Q Is that a true allegation?

22 A No.

23 Q And what's your reaction to that allegation?

24 A I think [redacted] over the past year has shopped a variety of different

25 allegations against me to a variety of different individuals. And, upon this questionnaire

1 being put forth, I think he's taken that opportunity to blame me for it.

2 My reaction is it's just false, and it's unfortunate that he's that desperate to try to

3 blame me for his own situation.

4 Q And I want to turn to both [redacted] and the questionnaire in a moment.

5 A Uh-huh.

6 Q But I just want to finish out a couple more questions on this letter.

7 A Uh-huh.

8 Q The following paragraph indicates that SSA client participated in many

9 discussions in which it became clear that Veltri's and Perkins' perspective was that, if an

10 FBI employee fit a certain profile as a political Conservative, they were viewed as security

11 concerns and unworthy to work at the FBI.

12 You indicated that allegation as false earlier.

13 A It is false.

14 Q Okay. And what's your reaction to that allegation?

15 A My reaction is it's false. There were never meetings or conversations

16 where an individual's political leanings or political affiliation had any bearing on their

17 security clearance eligibility.

18 Q And is it true that it would be improper for political affiliation or political

19 leanings to have a bearing on security clearance eligibility?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And did anyone ever raise to you concerns that you were -- that you were

22 giving off an appearance of being biased against political conservatives in some way?

23 A No.

24 Q Okay. So nobody ever brought anything like that to your attention?

25 A No.

1 Q And, as far as you know, this concern is solely something raised by
2 [redacted]
3 A Correct.
4 Q Okay. I want to turn to [redacted] now.
5 As an initial matter, I think you mentioned that [redacted] you believe is the SSA
6 client referred to in that Empower Oversight letter.
7 A Yes.
8 Q Who is [redacted]
9 A [redacted] was a Supervisory Special Agent who was assigned at the 10 Security Division. I believe he reported in April of 2022.
11 He was not an overly motivated individual. He did sort of the bare minimum of 12 work. I would give him a lot of feedback.
13 When his documents would come forth for review, again, just the process we 14 discussed, we would make review, edits, tweaks, mostly for grammar, syntax, spelling,
15 and, you know, the format, template, you know, that we used, consistency.
16 And I would often send back the exact same edits. Some things are just 17 boilerplate language in a template, and he would have the same errors and the same
18 every time.
19 It's like, "[redacted] change your template. Change your go-by documents because 20 you're sending these same errors every time."
21 So it just -- he seemed very lazy. He often required a lot of redirection and 22 correction.
23 Q And, when you say redirection and correction and the feedback that 24 you -- actually take that one by one.
25 The feedback that you mentioned, would that be written on documents, or would

1 it be sitting down to talk with [redacted] in meetings?

2 A It would be both.

3 Q Okay. How did he react to that feedback?

4 A It's interesting. To best describe [redacted] any reaction that you would

5 get from [redacted] would generally be the same. He would look at you, shrug his

6 shoulders, and just sort of shrug, no real comment back. He would just "okay." That

7 was generally any response that you would get from [redacted]

8 Q In earlier hour, there was some discussion about the timeline and how

9 certain adjudications took a long time to revolve.

10 Is it fair to say that [redacted] might have contributed to some of those delays?

11 A It is fair to say that.

12 Q And why is that, or how is that?

13 A At one point, I do recall having a conversation with [redacted] who had

14 agreed to serve as the acting unit chief when the unit chief retired, and he brought to my 15 attention that he saw that [redacted] was hoarding cases.

16 So, as we discussed in the earlier hour, the Clearance Referral and Evaluation Unit

17 would open an investigation, assign it to the Clearance Investigation Unit. And it was 18 actually because of [redacted] that we had to sort of change the process a little bit.

19 Generally, the CREU team would look to see where the employee who was being

20 referred to for investigation was located. We divided up field offices and divisions by

21 regional teams, and typically the CREU team would assign it directly to an SSA in that

22 region to then assign to an investigator.

23 But, because we realized that [redacted] was hoarding cases and not assigning

24 them to investigators, they weren't -- were not mitigating risk. He's just holding them,

25 hoarding them.

1 So we changed the process slightly that CREU would assign it to the unit chief.
2 Q Uh-huh.
3 A The unit chief would then have visibility on it and then would talk to the 4 regional supervisor.
5 And then who should I assign this to directly?
6 And it would go -- so to avoid the hoarding.
7 Q So, just to be clear, when you say hoarding, [redacted] was keeping cases, I
8 guess, in his --
9 A In his queue.
10 Q -- in his queue and was not assigning them out? Is that --
11 A Correct.
12 Q Okay. And so, because they weren't assigned out, those cases weren't 13 being investigated.
14 A Correct. There were, in some cases, he was trying to investigate them
15 himself. He would do interviews. But, again, any interview needs to be done with two 16 people. You have a, you know, secondary that can kind of corroborate.
17 He would make a couple of phone calls on his own, write up a document, put it in 18 a file, and try to close the case without any further investigation.
19 Q So, in other words, he wasn't following appropriate investigative protocols.
20 Is that fair to say?
21 A That is very fair to say.
22 Q Okay. You mentioned that other employees raised concerns about
23 [redacted]
24 Were those his subordinates?
25 A They were subordinates. They were peers.

1 Q Would you say there were a large number of complaints raised about
2 [redacted]
3 A Yes.
4 Q And we say large. Is it possible for you to quantify that in any way?
5 A At the point that I had spoken with his unit chief, [redacted] before he
6 retired February of 2023, I let him know in a matter of about a week's time I had gotten
7 calls from a section chief in another section within Security Division, general counsel,
8 another division.
9 And I had heard complaints from other unit chiefs within our section and some 10 subordinates of his, just complaints about him, his unprofessionalism, his complaining
11 just about his work -- "these cases are BS" -- and just his overall lack of professionalism.
12 And that was all within a short period of time.
13 So I approached his unit chief and asked him, "First of all, is [redacted] okay? Is there 14 anything we need to do for him, you know, make sure he's okay first."
15 And he thought everything was okay.
16 But I asked him, "Then I need you to sit with him and talk with him, counsel him 17 because this number of complaints in a short period of time is remarkable."
18 Q You've referred to counseling a couple of times. Is counseling a formal FBI
19 process?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And can you explain what counseling is?
22 A Sure. Generally, when -- for me personally, my leadership style -- and 23 there's not a textbook, per se. But I'll start with a verbal.
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A "Hey, I'm seeing your work is a little short of expectations. What's going on? Do you need more training? You know, see if we can work through it. What do you need? You know, why is this the situation?"

Or, in the case of [redacted] "We're getting complaints about your professionalism, your laziness, your complaining, bringing down morale. What's going on?"

And then the encouragement of, "I need you to improve. I need you to stop having these outbursts on the floor in fronts of your team," give that corrective recommendation.

And, if it doesn't improve, then the next step would logically be to document it in our system of record.

Q And I was going to ask about that documentation.

Were there counseling sessions or, I guess, concerns documented about [redacted]

A Yes.

Q And you said the system of record. What is the system of record?

A It is called HR Source.

Q Sitting here today, are you aware of the number of times that concerns about [redacted] would have been documented in HR Source?

A I documented two counseling session with [redacted] in HR Source.

Q Do you know if any other supervisors in the Security Division would have documented any concerns about [redacted]

A I'm not aware. I can only see what I contribute into there. And I think that's for the employee's benefit so that you're not prejudiced to what another supervisor might have documented. They get a fresh start with any new supervisor.

But, for me personally, I know that I entered two counseling sessions with him.

1 Q Understood. Do you know if Mr. Veltri was aware of the concerns around
2 [redacted]
3 A At the point that [redacted] started to have problems, again, as I noted, I
4 had started to get complaints in February of 2023.
5 In December, January of twenty -- December of '22, January of '23, Mr. Veltri was 6 aware that there was an internal investigation initiated on [redacted] I think that was 7 his first introduction to there being a problem with [redacted] where he had -- that the 8 committee's not aware.
9 There was an allegation that [redacted] physically pushed someone in an 10 elevator in our Security Division building and showed off his weapon as a threat to the 11 person for not closing the elevator door fast enough.
12 Q And I'm sorry. When was that internal investigation opened?
13 A I believe December of '22 or January of '23, that timeframe.
14 Q Do you know if how -- if or how that internal investigation was resolved?
15 A The allegations were substantiated, and I believe he was given a 5-day
16 suspension.
17 Q And you referenced him showing his weapon in an FBI elevator. Would you
18 say that was -- you said that was a threat effectively.
19 A That's how the complainant wrote the complaint, that he felt threatened by
20 [redacted]
21 Q Okay. And ultimately [redacted] was suspended, correct?
22 A To clarify --
23 Q Uh-huh.
24 A -- suspended by OPR or suspended by the Security Division?
25 Q Well, I guess you had mentioned in the earlier hour that [redacted] was

1 suspended because of security concerns.

2 A Yes.

3 Q So I guess was he suspended -- let's take them one by one. Was he

4 suspended by OPR? And OPR is Office of Professional Responsibility, correct?

5 A Correct. He was -- it was recommended that he received a 5-day

6 suspension without pay from OPR for the elevator incident. He was in the process of

7 appealing that suspension, I understand, at the point that his security clearance was later

8 suspended in September of 2023.

9 Q Okay. And --

10 [redacted] Sorry. Is that information you know from the Security Division role

11 or as sort of his supervisor?

12 Ms. Perkins. Both.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q And let's turn to the suspension by the Security Division. And you just said

15 the month, and I just forgot. He was suspended you said in September of 2023?

16 A September 20th, 2023, correct.

17 Q And was that related to the elevator incident?

18 A Not specifically.

19 Q Okay. What's your understanding of the reasons that he was suspended by

20 the Security Division?

21 A On approximately March 31st of 2023, a Security Division-specific email was

22 somehow transmitted to a former FBI employee who is part of a group that calls

23 themselves The Suspendables, former FBI employees whose clearances had been 24 suspended or revoked.

25 Q Not to break in --

1 A Yeah.

2 Q -- but was that former FBI employee Kyle Seraphin?

3 A It was Stephen Friend.

4 Q Stephen Friend. Okay. I apologize.

5 A Stephen.

6 Q Yes.

7 A This group of individuals who's had security clearance suspensions or

8 revocations, they've sort of coalesced into sort of a group that calls themselves The

9 Suspendables.

10 And this Internal Security Division -- again, it only went to the Security Division -- it

11 was captured by a photograph, apparently by cell phone, and then transmitted to 12 Stephen Friend and posted online on that or on the same date with the caption, "We, the 13 Suspendables, have a mole in SecD."

14 And the Insider Threat Office alerted to it and was concerned, especially with 15 this -- this brag or this boast that the sender was a mole providing information to the

16 Suspendables.

17 So, through -- we can certainly go through the steps if we need to. But,

18 ultimately, it was determined that [redacted] was a potential suspect in having

19 transmitted that photograph to Stephen Friend.

20 Q And, just for the record, what is the Insider Threat Office?

21 A Sure. The Insider Threat Office is a standalone division within the FBI that

22 provides analytical support to Security Division, as well as other divisions, Inspection

23 Division, Counterintelligence Division, looking for anomalous activities through FBI

24 systems, communications, anything that could present a potential, you know, present

25 potential insider threat indicators, whether it's communications that -- that are suspect or

1 present that as an individual conducting activity that's not in the interest of the FBI.
2 Again, they are there to provide analytical support and proactive analytics to
3 Inspection Division, Counterintelligence Division, and Security Division, as appropriate.
4 Q And, in the case of [redacted] I want to make sure I have this timeline right.
5 So the incident in the elevator would have happened in late 2022. Is that right?
6 A Correct.
7 Q Okay. And then an investigation was opened also in late 2022, correct?
8 A By the Internal Affairs section.
9 Q Right. By the Internal Affairs section.
10 And so, while he was under investigation, in approximately March 2023, he then 11 sent this photo to Mr. Friend, correct?
12 A Correct.
13 Q Okay. And so and that -- and the posting online said that -- referred to 14 mister -- who we now know as [redacted] the person we now know as [redacted] as a 15 mole.
16 A Yes.
17 Q And you indicated that that language was particularly concerning, the use of 18 the term "mole."
19 What's your understanding of what "mole" means?
20 A Somebody who is working against the interests of the organization.
21 Q And why was that of concern that whoever it was that was leaking this 22 information, again, that we now know as [redacted] was a quote, unquote "mole"?
23 A For one, he had access to some of the most sensitive information within the 24 FBI, certainly with regard to employees. And he has a significant role in determining 25 whether or not we have other security risks within the organization.

1 And, if he himself is providing information externally, if he himself is engaging in 2 conduct that is contrary to the interests of the organization and the national security, he
3 shouldn't be in a position where he is making those recommendations for other
4 investigations.
5 Q Okay. So, to be clear, it's not -- the concern wasn't just the content of the 6 original email that was leaked. It was that this individual may be leaking or may have 7 access to and be able to leak further national security information, correct?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Okay. And, as we talked through earlier, with executive order -- the 10 executive order governing classified information, any concern about risk to national 11 security has to be resolved in favor of protecting that national security, correct?
12 A Yes.
13 Q So, in other words, in that situation clearance had to be suspended. Is that 14 fair to say?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Okay. What was the -- is [redacted] still an FBI employee?
17 A No.
18 Q Okay. And what were the circumstances around his separation, if you
19 know?
20 A He resigned from the FBI.
21 Q And when did he resign?
22 A I don't have the exact date. I don't recall offhand, but he resigned while he 23 was under investigation.
24 Q Okay. So the investigation was never completed.
25 A The investigation was completed, I believe. I did recuse myself after a

1 number of these letters and allegations started to surface through The Washington times
2 that I -- it was clear that it was [redacted] I recused myself.
3 So I had no oversight, but I understand that the investigation was complete.
4 Q Okay. Are you aware of whether [redacted] ever took a polygraph exam?
5 A I am aware that he took a polygraph exam on September 20th of 2023.
6 Q And that polygraph exam was to question whether he had been involved in 7 the leaking of emails, correct?
8 A Yes.
9 Q And what was the result of that polygraph exam?
10 A It was a strong deception indicated.
11 Q So it indicated that he lied on his polygraph. Is that --
12 A Yes.
13 Q Okay. I want to turn to the -- move on from [redacted] and turn to the 14 questionnaire, which was exhibit 4.
15 You were asked a number of questions about this questionnaire in the earlier
16 hour. And can you -- I know you've said this, but I don't know that I wrote the answer
17 down. When did you first become aware of this questionnaire?
18 A On or about June 1st of 2024.
19 Q And how was it brought to your attention?
20 A It was brought to my attention when the Inspection Division, External Audits
21 Section, received a request for information from the Department of Justice Office of 22 Inspector General about this template.
23 The RFI sought to obtain any official templates used in security investigations from 24 the Clearance Investigation Unit.
25 And we didn't -- I didn't know how to answer that question. I didn't know what

1 they were talking about. We don't have preformatted templates for questions because 2 all interviews would follow a process of addressing each specific underlying security
3 concern.
4 So, when they asked for the official templates, we didn't know what they were 5 referring to. So we asked for additional information from the Inspection Division, and 6 they provided this.
7 And that's when I said earlier I thought it was something that was made up and 8 portrayed to look like it was from Security Division, only the find out that it was used in 9 this one case.
10 Q So, to be clear, this is not a Security Division form or template.
11 A Correct. It is not an official Security Division form or template.
12 Q And you indicated that it was actually created by a contractor, correct?
13 A Correct.
14 Q Why does the Security Division use contractors?
15 A When the -- there was a precursor unit to what is currently now the SIIS. It
16 was all one unit referred to as the Analysis and Investigations Unit. I think this goes back
17 to the Robert Hanssen investigation.
18 The AIU was set up to address internal investigations or continued eligibility
19 concerns for employees. And, based on just lack of funded staffing level, a contract was 20 established to bring in contract investigators.
21 At that time, most of them were prior Federal investigators or prior FBI retired
22 agents. But, as that contract has gone through a number of evolutions, they are not just 23 Federal investigators. They could be former police officers. They could be former 24 analysts for law enforcement agencies.
25 So the criteria may change a little bit, but historically it's been because there is no

1 funded staffing level for specific investigators within the section.

2 Q So is it fair to say -- and thank you for that background.

3 Is it fair to say that the Security Division uses contractors because there's a lack of 4 full-time employees in the Security Division?

5 A There's a lack of funded staffing level.

6 Q Okay. And what is funded staffing level? What do you mean by that?

7 A Basically the divisions and field office are given a number, a magic number,

8 that tells them how many FBI employees they can have assigned to their field office or

9 division, whether it's the number of analysts, the number of agents, the number of 10 supervisors, the number of whatever.

11 And, in Security Division, we do not have funded staffing level for investigators.

12 So investigations are conducted by contractors.

13 In the past 3 years, we've been granted a number of Reserved Service Program

14 personnel, who are former FBI employees, former FBI Special Agents. But that's only 15 been within the last 3 years. AIU was set up 20 years ago, thereabouts.

16 So even the RSPs are not FSL. They're temporary positions.

1 [12:08 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And FSL is?

4 A Funded staffing level. I'm sorry. They're not official Security Division

5 employees. They are temporary positions.

6 Q And to be clear, everything that you've just talked about -- the funded

7 staffing levels, the magic number, the number of levels -- all of that is beyond your

8 purview, correct?

9 A Absolutely.

10 Q You have no role in determining how many funded positions -- funded

11 investigative positions, for example, the Security Division has.

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay.

14 Turning back to the questionnaire, in this packet, which was released to Empower

15 Oversight, it includes three completed questionnaires.

16 A Yes.

17 Q Are you aware of whether this -- you said a full investigation was conducted

18 into this questionnaire.

19 A Yes.

20 Q Are you aware of how many times this questionnaire was used in an

21 investigation? Was it three times? Was it more than that?

22 A It's my understanding that this line of questioning was all for the same

23 investigation.

24 Q Okay.

25 A And that these were questions that were asked by the same investigator for

1 one case.

2 To my understanding, when we looked into the matter, it was explained to our

3 supervisors in SecD when asking the investigators, "What is this?" the current contract

4 company that is used by Security Division, their contractors typically typed their questions

5 in a similar format.

6 For whatever investigation, whether it was this case or any other case, they would

7 typically type up their questions and go down sort of a checklist.

8 So the unit chief provided some retraining and explained that this is just not

9 acceptable.

10 Q And when you said this was used for one case, that was an investigation into 11 one particular employee? Is that right?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Okay. And so there might have been numerous questionnaires, because

14 these questionnaires were used to interview potentially associates of that employee,

15 correct?

16 A Yes.

17 Q But it was all for one particular investigation, correct?

18 A Correct. This line of questioning, yes.

19 Q Okay.

20 Can you turn to page 4 of the questionnaire? I want to read question 11. It

21 says, "Aware he attended the Richmond Lobby Day event on 1/18/2021?"

22 Do you see where it says that?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Are you familiar with the Richmond Lobby Day event which took place on 25 1/18/2021?

1 A I don't know what that is.

2 [Perkins Exhibit No. 6

3 was marked for identification.]

4 [redacted] Okay.

5 I want to introduce into the record exhibit 6, which is a CNN article dated January

6 18th, 2021, entitled "Armed demonstrators gather at Virginia state Capitol as states stay

7 tight on security ahead of inauguration."

8 And take as long as you need. I can tell you I'm only going to ask about the first

9 page.

10 [redacted] Can I just note for the record we are referring sort of shorthand to

11 this document as a questionnaire, but I don't know if that is an accurate description of 12 what the document actually is?

13 Ms. Perkins. Yeah. I think what we understood was that the investigator used

14 it as sort of an interview guide to sort of create a roadmap to the -- through the 15 investigation -- or through the interview of a subject or a third party.

16 BY [redacted]

17 Q Thank you for that, and I appreciate that clarification. I do want to know.

18 I've been calling it a questionnaire as well. It's not intended to suggest that it is any type

19 of formal document. It's just shorthand. But I appreciate that clarification.

20 A Okay. I've read the first page.

21 Q Okay. I want to read the first two paragraphs of this document into the 22 record. It says:

23 "Dozens of armed demonstrators gathered at the state Capitol in Richmond,

24 Virginia, on Monday as authorities remained on alert at capitols across the United States

25 two days ahead of President-elect Joe Biden's inauguration.

1 "Several demonstrators in Richmond identified themselves as members of the 2 Proud Boys and Boogaloo groups as well as the Black Panthers. The demonstrations
3 were part of the state's annual 'Lobby Day,' an event held in support of Second
4 Amendment rights and hosted by the Virginia Citizens Defense League."
5 Did I read that correctly?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And underneath those paragraphs there's a photograph. Do you see that 8 photograph?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Could you describe what that photograph shows?
11 A It shows three individuals in camouflage fatigues, two of whom -- well, all
12 three of whom are carrying firearms and an American flag.
13 Q And the caption to that photograph reads, "Members of a pro-gun group
14 carry their weapons near the state Capitol on January 18, 2021, in Richmond, Virginia," 15 correct?
16 A Yes.
17 Q January 18th, 2021, was roughly two weeks after January 6th, 2021, correct?
18 A Yes.
19 Q And January 6th, 2021, is when there was an attack on the Capitol here in 20 Washington, D.C., correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q And January 18th, 2021, was also two days before the Presidential election,
23 correct?
24 A Presidential --
25 Q I'm sorry, Presidential inauguration, correct?

1 A Inauguration. Yes.

2 Q Might it be of concern to the FBI if an employee engaged in an event where

3 individuals were wearing fatigues, carrying firearms, and might be associated with groups

4 like the Proud Boys?

5 A That's certainly a gray area.

6 What I do see is -- again, just based on a photograph, there does appear to be First

7 Amendment-protected activities here. They're assembling. They're carrying weapons.

8 Again, I don't know what open carry laws are in Richmond. I don't know those 9 laws. I think certainly a number of questions would be asked.

10 But attending a rally, if there are no trespassing issues like we saw on January 6th,

11 I don't know that it would be security relevant unless there were complaints about safety

12 or feeling threatened or anything along those lines.

13 Just attending a rally in and of itself would not fall under the purview of Security

14 Division to investigate clearance eligibility as a standalone.

15 Q Okay. Thank you for that.

16 And I am almost out of time, so just a couple of quick follow-up questions on a

17 different topic.

18 You were asked about Jennifer Moore in the prior hour. You recall those

19 questions?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And you indicated that you Interacted with Ms. Moore -- or Executive

22 Assistant Director Moore -- infrequently, correct?

23 A Correct.

24 Q With that understanding, during your interactions with her, did you ever

25 have any reason to question Ms. Moore -- EAD Moore's integrity?

1 A No.

2 Q Did you ever have any reason to question EAD Moore's honesty?

3 A No.

4 Q What was your impression of EAD Moore as an FBI employee?

5 A EAD Moore was a very strong, very effective, very well-respected leader.

6 I will note that one thing that stands out from working for her when she was the 7 assistant director of the Security Division -- she reported to Security Division July of 2021.

8 In September she held a meeting with all of her supervisors. All of her -- the

9 DADs were there, the section chiefs were there, the supervisors, unit chiefs, and online

10 were all of the investigators and adjudicators.

11 And she made very clear her expectations for briefings. She wanted to be 12 briefed regularly. She wanted to set aside significant time to talk through difficult cases.

13 And more than anything, she wanted opposing views. If you didn't have an

14 opposing view, she would make you give her an opposing view. She wanted to debate.

15 Because she felt it was very important to evaluate all aspects of a case so that she was 16 better informed to make a decision.

17 [redacted] Thank you for that.

18 And we can go off the record.

19 [Discussion off the record.]

20 [redacted] I wanted to clarify, in the first round we spoke about several different

21 types of electronic communications, and thought it might be helpful just to be precise in

22 the types of communications that you were speaking of in terms of a summary versus a

23 recommendation.

24 Ms. Perkins. Yes. An important distinction.

25 In the first hour you asked questions about the investigative summary,

1 understanding that the electronic communication is just a vehicle by which the FBI
2 commits information to the case file. It's just the name of a document, an EC.
3 However, the investigative summary is just that internal write-up of the investigation
4 from the case manager as the case moves from investigations to adjudication.
5 We also use ECs in the Bureau for anything else, specifically in the Security
6 Division, if there is a recommendation for the security clearance, a suspension,
7 revocation, a warning letter. It's all written on an EC.
8 [redacted] Okay.
9 Ms. Perkins. But depending upon what the purpose is, there may be higher
10 levels of reviews. The case summary is a lower level, so I wouldn't see that. The front 11 office executive management would generally approve those documents, because it's just 12 going from the Clearance Investigation to the Clearance Adjudication Unit just through 13 normal workflow.
14 [redacted] Okay. Thank you for that clarification.
15 [Perkins Exhibit No. 7
16 was marked for identification.]
17 [redacted] And before we went on the record, I passed out what we're marking 18 as exhibit number 7, which is a September 19th, 2024, letter to the committee from 19 Empower Oversight.
20 And so please take your time to review it. I'll refer to it during the second hour,
21 as well as the first June 28th letter that I've already marked. So please take your time to 22 review.
23 [redacted] I don't have one.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q During my question I'm just going to use through page 11, so you don't have

1 to read. But take your time, please.

2 A Sure. You said going through page 11, ma'am?

3 Q Yes.

4 A Okay. I'm ready.

5 Q Okay.

6 Looking at the first page of the September 19th, 2024, letter, I'll just note that it

7 says the document contains new information from new witnesses, so this isn't just the

8 individual whistleblower that you've named throughout the TI today. It doesn't appear

9 to be just information coming from that individual.

10 Starting on page 2, the first paragraph: "Under then-Acting DAD Veltri, the FBI's

11 Security Division probed the political beliefs and personal medical decisions of FBI

12 employees as part of its security clearance investigations."

13 Then, "Additional witnesses from inside SecD have provided us information that

14 SecD leadership improperly encouraged using those factors when considering suspending

15 and revoking FBI employee security clearances to remove them from the FBI -- without

16 properly documenting those factors in FBI files.

17 "Contrary to Director Christopher Wray's recent testimony before your

18 committee, the so-called 'Trump questionnaire' was not the only time FBI's SecD

19 interrogated employees about coworkers' support for Donald Trump and views on

20 personal medical decisions, such as whether to take the experimental COVID-19 vaccine."

21 Did anyone ever raise these concerns to you that there were questions about the 22 COVID-19 vaccination and President Trump that were being asked by investigators?

23 A No.

24 Q Okay. Would it surprise you if individuals were asking these types of 25 questions and you had no awareness?

1 A It would surprise me. I would firmly believe that if any contractor or RSP
2 asked questions along these lines, somebody would have raised that concern.
3 Again, it was a one-case, isolated incident of a contractor. If this was a pervasive
4 problem, somebody would have raised this up the chain of command.
5 Q Because it sounds from this disclosure that purports to contain information
6 from multiple witnesses that there seems to be a problem that's endemic within the 7 Security Division of asking these types of questions.
8 Would that surprise you?
9 A It would surprise me, because this did not occur.
10 Q And so you are sure that it is not occurring? Have you looked at other files
11 to make sure that there have been no questions? What kind of insight do you have into 12 the questions that investigators are asking?
13 A I worked following the DOJ OIG inquiry after June, 2024, when this was 14 discovered through the discovery process, I went to the information technology
15 applications division and asked that they independently -- because I'm not an IT person, I
16 don't have administrative rights to case files -- for them to conduct a query and report it
17 to Inspection Division.
18 All results went not for me, but to the Inspection Division of any word search of 19 Trump, COVID, vaccine, whatever buzzwords that could have corroborated these lies,
20 these false allegations in this letter. And the result was that this was not a systemic 21 issue. This was an isolated questionnaire. And that is it.
22 Q Did you have any sort of insight into what the internal review entailed? Do 23 you know if they went through case by case making sure?
24 A Yes.
25 Q Did they interview line investigators?

1 A They -- again, you're asking about questions.

2 Q Uh-huh.

3 A So they looked for any attachments to interviews or interview FD-302 is the

4 document that the FBI uses to transcribe an interview. They looked for all internal

5 security investigations for those types of words and terms and they came up short. This

6 was not a systemic problem.

7 Q Do you know if they conducted any interviews of line investigators?

8 A I'm not aware if the Department of Justice OIG has conducted interviews of

9 individuals.

10 Q So you wouldn't know whether the Department inspector general has asked

11 interviewers whether they asked these type of questions and don't document them?

12 A I'm not aware of the status of that process.

13 Q Okay.

14 If you turn to page 10 of the document. Looking at the last full paragraph, that 15 starts with, "For example," I'll read it into the record.

16 "For example, according to multiple witnesses within SecD, the two CIU

17 contractors who used the so-called 'Trump questionnaire'" -- or has been corrected for 18 the record, it was an interview guide -- "often said they were fearful of being fired by SC

19 Perkins and talked about the 'Kelly Cart' coming for them.

20 "The 'Kelly Cart' was a reference to a female contractor in SIIS who, after

21 reportedly pushing back against SC Perkins' wishes, had an unknown FBI employee show

22 up with a cart at her desk and box up her personal belongings. The female contractor

23 was walked out of the building, and her employment was terminated. According to 24 whistleblowers, this fear of consequences for displeasing SecD and FBI leadership was 25 widespread."

1 Would it surprise you if people were fearful to bring some of these concerns to
2 your attention?
3 A It would. And I will state that this here "Kelly Cart" was a term that was 4 created by [redacted] the former unit chief of Clearance Adjudication Unit. She's the 5 only person that's ever used that term.
6 Q And what can you tell us about the use of that term?
7 A She monickered it a sign of dismissal, and I found that to be disrespectful to 8 anybody. I don't know who Kelly is that she's referring to. I've not walked out anyone
9 named Kelly. So I'm not sure who she's referring to.
10 Q So it would completely surprise you if anyone, any of your subordinates,
11 were nervous to bring concerns to your attention?
12 A Yes.
13 Q Okay. I want to turn it over to my colleague [redacted] here who has a couple
14 questions for you.
15 [redacted] Yeah. I just have a couple questions.
16 So it was represented to us by a former employee of SecD, going back a few years
17 now, that SACs in the field were using the security referral process to flush people they 18 didn't like in their field offices during the time when Jeff Sallet was the associate deputy 19 director.
20 So during your time in SecD, did you ever see, like, any referrals coming in from 21 the field where you felt like SACs were trying to take advantage of the SecD process
22 versus referring something to OPR?
23 Ms. Perkins. That's a good question. And I would say that that is why I was so
24 adamant in 2019 that we establish threat priorities in the Security Division.
25 Anybody in the FBI knows that if you want to know what constitutes misconduct

1 under Inspection Division, Internal Affairs Section, there is an offense table and there is an
2 OPR penalty guide. Everyone knows how to -- but does anyone know what constitutes a
3 security investigation?
4 So even in the Security Division, they didn't know what constituted a security
5 investigation.
6 When I first arrived, there were over 1,600 investigations open. They just 7 opened cases. So in 2019 we established those threat priorities. This is what we
8 investigate. This is the appropriate use of the guideline.
9 And so if we got those phone calls from individuals who were looking to, I think,
10 use Security Division as the Easy Button to deal with a personnel issue, we spoke to the 11 guidelines. We spoke to the threat priorities. That does not fall within the purview of 12 Security Division. That may be more appropriately handled by Performance Appraisal
13 Unit and Human Resources Division or the internal investigation process in Inspection
14 Division.
15 So whether or not that was the perception, and I think we certainly understand
16 that that did probably occur, people trying to call Security Division for an Easy Button
17 solution, but we would respond with these are our threat priorities, this is our process,
18 and that does not fall within our purview.
19 [redacted] So before those guidelines, what you put into place occurred, you
20 feel pretty confident that, like, that process was abused by SACs in the field or maybe 21 assistant -- or Associate Deputy Director Sallet ramrodding stuff through?
22 Ms. Perkins. So I arrived to Security Division, like I noted, in October of 2018. I,
23 by January of 2019, was serving at that time as the acting section chief. I filled that role
24 a couple of times for Security Division. And the first thing I did as the acting section 25 chief right after my arrival was establish those guidelines.

1 I can't speak to what may have happened prior to 2018, October of '18, when I
2 arrived there. I know that I, myself, fielded a couple of calls from SACs who were asking,
3 "Hey, is this something that would fall within your purview?" "Well, no, actually, that's 4 probably misconduct or that's probably performance. We deal with security matters."
5 [redacted] Are you familiar with former staff operation specialist Marcus Allen?
6 Ms. Perkins. I am.
7 [redacted] To your knowledge, who supervised Mr. Allen's clearance
8 investigation?
9 Ms. Perkins. I believe it was SSA [redacted] So there is inaccuracies in this
10 document. [redacted] was the SSA.
11 [redacted] I would ask that his name be redacted. He's a current non-SES
12 employee.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q And what was your involvement with Mr. Allen's clearance investigation?
15 A I received a phone call from an ASAC in the Charlotte Field Office on or about 16 November 2nd of 2021. The conversation followed an email that he had sent where he 17 had expressed concern at Marcus Allen's ability to remain unbiased and that he had 18 continued access to domestic terrorism case files in Sentinel.
19 In my conversation with the ASAC, he expressed concern about what he called 20 spiraling behavior that had been escalating for about a year.
21 Q And what did you -- did you respond back to the ASAC?
22 A Well, it's a conversation, it was a phone call.
23 Q Okay.
24 A Sent the email. Had a conversation with him.
25 He put out a lot of information, and I answered, well, this would fall within our

1 purview, this would not fall within our purview.

2 He put out a lot of information. So I know there's statements here about not

3 attesting or not receiving the vaccine. He understood through my explanation that that

4 is not something that the Security Division will investigate.

5 Any failure to attest or comply with those requirements was handled by the 6 Internal Affairs Section of the Inspection Division.

7 But when he noted the spiraling behavior, the increased hostility, the outbursts in

8 the office during a meeting about the domestic terrorism threat in the AOR, these were

9 all indicators to us of concern.

10 I requested a baseline analysis from the insider threat office and had a follow-up

11 conversation with the investigator at the time, was [redacted] and the former SSA

12 who was supervising the case and the unit chief of the Clearance Investigation Unit who is

13 now retired, [redacted]

14 Q And are you aware of Mr. Allen's current status with the FBI?

15 A I believe he resigned.

16 Q And are you aware that back in May of 2023, May 9th of 2023, the FBI

17 revoked Allen's security clearance?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And then a year later the FBI reinstated Allen's security clearance. Are you

20 aware of that?

21 A Yes.

22 Q Does that surprise you, that his clearance was reinstated?

23 A Can you clarify the question? I'm not sure what would be surprising.

24 Q You had just said about his escalating behaviors, how the ASAC had raised

25 some escalating behaviors, his outbursts. You had talked about how that could raise a

1 concern. So were those concerns mitigated?

2 A They were mitigated, but they weren't necessarily unsubstantiated.

3 Q Okay. And do you remember the circumstances surrounding Mr. Allen's

4 initial suspension?

5 A Yes. Specifically is there anything you'd like to ask me?

6 Q Yeah. Are you aware that the FBI questioned Mr. Allen's allegiance to the

7 United States?

8 A That is the application of the Adjudicative Guidelines. If you have a copy of 9 SEAD 4, we could certainly talk through the appropriate application of that guideline.

10 But it does, under Guideline A, reflect that individuals who are supportive or

11 associated or sympathetic with individuals who engage in acts of sedition does fall under 12 Guideline A, loyalty to the United States.

13 Q And you're aware that Mr. Allen is also a veteran. Is that correct? You're 14 aware of that?

15 A Yes.

16 Q How did the concerns about Allen's eligibility to hold a clearance, how did

17 those come to the Security Division, if you're aware?

18 A I understand that there was a referral made by the field office. I think the 19 email traffic I saw was that they reported to OGC. OGC forwarded information to 20 Security Division.

21 It went through in that intake process we discussed in the first hour. And it all

22 seemed fairly straightforward at that point. Again, I received the direct phone call from 23 the field office ASAC on November 2nd of 2021 and we discussed it, as I previously noted.

24 Q So your phone call with the ASAC on November 2nd, 2021, would have been

25 after the CIU opened the case into Mr. Allen. Is that correct?

1 A After CREU, yes, opened the case and it had been assigned to CIU, yes.
2 Q Did Mr. Veltri receive any sort of referral regarding Mr. Allen, to your 3 awareness?
4 A I'm aware that he had received an email through that whole, as I mentioned,
5 the field office reached out to OGC, OGC forwarded it to Security Division. And as I
6 recall from the email traffic, Mr. Veltri forwarded it to the unit chief of CREU, who was 7 [redacted] (ph).
8 Q Okay. If you look at page 5 of the September 19th letter, the very last 9 couple sentences on the page, I'll read them into the record.
10 "Rather than sending the information about Mr. Allen to be assessed by CREU, SC
11 Veltri cut the normal process short and directed that it go directly to CIU to have an 12 investigation opened. As SC Veltri's successor would later note, this was an 'abortion of 13 the process,'" end quote.
14 Do you have any insight into whether the short-circuited went straight to the CIU
15 rather than stopping at the CREU?
16 A I don't think this is factually accurate. There was an EC written in CREU to 17 open a case. There was no shortcut. There was no DAD Veltri writing an EC and 18 assigning it to a CIU investigator. That's what this to me reads. That did not occur, to 19 my knowledge.
20 Q To your knowledge, did referrals go to the CREU before Mr. Veltri received 21 any sort of referral?
22 A I don't know if this particular email was sent in dual process, if it was sent to 23 OGC and CREU. Sometimes a field office will send information to the Inspection
24 Division.
25 And as I noted earlier, we share information early between the Inspection Division

1 and Security Division. So I don't know if they sent this to Inspection and then Inspection
2 sent it to CREU as well as then it went to OGC in that process.
3 Sometimes we get things in duplicate and triplicate. So I can't speak specifically
4 if there was an existing referral in CREU prior to DAD Veltri being made aware.
5 Q So you're not aware of the exact sequencing of how the events occurred,
6 whether CREU had a referral before Mr. Veltri had a referral?
7 A I can't answer that question.
8 [Perkins Exhibit No. 8
9 was marked for identification.]
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q Okay. I'll enter as exhibit number 8 the January 10th, 2022, letter from EAD
12 Moore to Mr. Allen regarding the suspension of his security clearance.
13 Do you need time to review or are you okay?
14 A I'm okay.
15 Q Okay. So the letter states in the first paragraph, "The suspension of your 16 security clearance is based on security concerns related to Adjudicative Guideline
17 A -- Allegiance to the United States."
18 Are you aware of what information the Security Division had on January 10th, 19 2022, to support that?
20 A There was the information from the field office, as I noted, in the phone call,
21 and then the email that was sent to the Security Division that I received.
22 There was concern that he was spiraling, that he was -- had escalated over a
23 period of a year, that he had had this outburst during a threat review and prioritization
24 meeting discussing the domestic terrorism threat. So we had that information.
25 We also had the insider threat baseline analysis, which is outlined in this

1 document in part as well, yes.

2 So I understand there were a couple of interviews.

3 But, again, at the point that you've got information from the insider threat office

4 that's referenced on page 7 of this letter that there's a linear pattern of increased hostility

5 which may ultimately result in the direct influence or manipulation of information that

6 could directly interfere with FBI mission objectives, that's concerning. That's an insider

7 threat concern. They assess him to be an insider threat.

8 Q And are you aware of the September 29th, 2021, email that Mr. Allen sent

9 that questioned Director Wray's testimony?

10 A I don't recall that there was a direct questioning of Director Wray's

11 testimony. And, again, it has been a couple years. But I don't recall that.

12 I think there were more the links were sympathetic towards January 6th subjects.

13 There was some propaganda about the FBI being responsible for January 6th, or things

14 along those lines.

15 Again, it's been a couple of years, but I don't recall there being specifically an

16 allegation about the Director. But, again, I would have to refresh my memory with 17 those links.

18 Q Okay. And we'll come back to that.

19 But looking back at the January 10th letter, the second paragraph states: "The 20 Security Division has learned you have espoused conspiratorial views both orally and in 21 writing and promoted unreliable information that indicates support for the events of

22 January 6th."

23 Do you know how the Security Division defines conspiratorial views?

24 A Certainly the links that he was sending out from these dubious news sources

25 were not sourced. They're not credible. In fact, as I understand from an interview

1 with his supervisor, his supervisor, an intelligence analyst, the SIA had counseled Marcus
2 Allen.
3 The email links that he was sending out was a pattern of behavior spanning about
4 eight or nine months. And after, like, the second email, the SIA counseled him on only 5 relying on reliable news sources, not these conspiratorial websites.
6 So as I understand, his SIA defined it as unreliable and conspiratorial and told him
7 to cease, but he continued that behavior.
8 [redacted] I just want to clarify a timeline piece for the record, that the witness 9 was involved in the clearance investigation through the revocation decision, but you were 10 not involved in the reinstatement.
11 Ms. Perkins. That is correct.
12 [redacted] Is that correct?
13 Ms. Perkins. That is correct.
14 [redacted] Okay.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q And I'm going to flip through some -- several pages of this September 19th
17 letter here. But starting on the bottom of page 4, I kind of just want to talk about you
18 had mentioned some links from unreliable sources. So I kind of want to dive into what 19 you define as unreliable sources.
20 A And this is a clarification. They were defined by the insider threat office,
21 not Dena Perkins personally.
22 Q Of course. I'm just talking about the representations you've made here
23 today, ma'am.
24 So it says at the bottom of page 4:
25 "On September 29, 2021, Mr. Allen made a protected whistleblower disclosure to

1 his supervisors and colleagues when he emailed regarding reports which originated with 2 The New York Times that confidential FBI informants were present at the Capitol on
3 January 6, 2021."
4 I'm just wondering if under the definition that you had learned from the -- what
5 individual was it?
6 A Insider threat office, and his supervisory intelligence analyst.
7 Q So would the insider threat office deem The New York Times to be a
8 conspiratorial outlet?
9 A I'm not assigned to the insider threat office, so I'd have to defer to insider
10 threat to answer that question.
11 Q On page 8 it says -- I'm starting with the paragraph that says, "The Insider
12 Threat."
13 "The Insider Threat assessment recorded that Mr. Allen's September 29, 2021, 14 email was 'inclusive of links from questionable sources.' Some of the allegedly 15 questionable sources included RealClearInvestigations.com and RealClearPolitics.com
16 which the FBI assessment claimed 'takes legitimate information and adds specific 17 language to spin the opinion of the information more favorably to right-leaning readers.'
18 "Yet in another December 8 EC, the CIU investigator recorded that all of the news
19 outlets Mr. Allen shared with his colleagues, including RealClearPolitics, were also 20 contained in FBI Daily News Bulletins for September 12, 23, and 29."
21 Do you know if the RealClearPolitics and RealClearInvestigations would be 22 considered to be conspiratorial news outlets?
23 A Again, I'll defer to insider threat to speak to what their assessment process
24 is. I'm not assigned to the insider threat office.
25 Q Okay. What we're just trying to understand is the September 29th email, in

1 addition to some Skype messages and in addition to the information you received from 2 the ASAC during the phone call, formulated the basis for suspending Mr. Allen's clearance
3 to begin with. And so we're just trying to understand kind of the baseline of what the 4 FBI was considering to be conspiratorial.
5 A Yeah. And certainly what you're referring to in links is one aspect. We 6 have an individual who is engaging in conduct which his supervisor attempted to correct
7 through verbal counseling.
8 Stop sending out these -- because he wasn't sending out some of the sources that 9 may have similar postings or similar publishings. He was sending out links to Gateway
10 Pundit or American Gulag or things that the insider threat office found to be unsourced
11 and generally not reliable.
12 So this is happening over a period of time. His supervisor has counseled him.
13 He is having an outburst in a threat review and prioritization meeting stating that the 14 domestic terrorism threat is not what we think it is. He is trying to dissuade people in 15 the office from following precedent and protocol.
16 You have management in that office is saying we're concerned that he has access
17 to domestic terrorism investigations and that he is unable to remain unbiased.
18 And so when we take that into the whole person, plus the fact that you've got the 19 insider threat office saying that this will result in the direct influence and manipulation of 20 information that could ultimately interfere with the FBI mission objectives, that is where,
21 when we look at the guidelines, and that's when we look at the executive order, that's 22 what it means to resolve any doubt in favor of national security, and that is what we did.
23 Q And when you say dissuade his colleagues from taking actions, what of Mr.
24 Allen's actions were in an attempt to dissuade his colleagues?
25 A When you look at the email communication, and I believe it was the

1 September 29th email or subsequent emails or prior emails, again, it was a linear pattern
2 of him sending out these emails, was that the D.C. elements were not being truthful and
3 that people should proceed with caution. And that was viewed as attempting to 4 persuade or dissuade people from following the DIOG or following leads and directives
5 coming from FBI headquarters.
6 Q So does "proceed with caution," does that implicate any sort of action that 7 he was asking for his colleagues to take?
8 A I think it was attempting to dissuade them from following through with 9 directives coming from FBI headquarters.
10 Q Okay. And my question was, was he asking his colleagues to take any overt
11 actions?
12 A Again, he's not a supervisor. He's an analyst. And investigations in the 13 FBI are driven by intelligence. And he's putting out information under the guise of 14 intelligence and appeared to be dissuading people from following through.
15 Q So I have a very specific question. Was he asking his colleagues to take 16 action, yes or no?
17 A No.
18 Q Okay.
19 Are you aware that as part of his job assignment related to the Joint Terrorism
20 Task Force he was responsible for conducting open source searches and circulating
21 relevant material to his colleagues?
22 A That would be part of an intelligence function.
23 Q Okay. And are you aware that at the time Mr. Allen circulated these links
24 regarding the events that occurred at the Capitol on January 6th, 2021, the Charlotte
25 JTTF, which he was assigned to, had opened January 6th-related investigations?

1 A It's a long question. I'm sorry to ask you to repeat.

2 Q Okay.

3 A Maybe you can break it down a little bit.

4 Q Of course. So at the time that Mr. Allen circulated these links to his

5 colleagues on the JTTF, the JTTF in Charlotte had opened January 6th-related

6 investigations. Were you aware of that?

7 A At the time I received the referral, I would not have known what was going

8 on in the Charlotte Field Office.

9 Q Do you know if your subordinates conducted any sort of investigation into

10 whether he was just carrying out his job duties?

11 A I can't speak offhand of what interactions the case managers had with the 12 field office, other than the documents we already discussed.

13 Q Okay. And turning to page 6 of the September 19th article.

14 I believe this page kind of references the November 2nd, 2021, call you had with 15 the ASAC in the Charlotte Field Office. So I'll just read that paragraph into the record.

16 "Meanwhile, the FBI set November 1, 2021, as its deadline for implementation of 17 the Biden Administration's government-wide federal employee vaccine mandate.

18 "The morning of November 2, 2021, a Charlotte Field Office ASAC emailed SC

19 Veltri: 'We have some added concerns about the employee, particularly since he is one

20 of the only two employees in Charlotte who is refusing to follow policy and attest to his

21 current vaccination status.'

22 "About three and a half hours after the ASAC's email, ASC Perkins twisted the

23 Charlotte Field Office's message, writing to the FBI's Insider Threat Office: 'Charlotte is a 24 bit concerned he is escalating.'"

25 After you got off the call with the ASAC in Charlotte, did you make a phone call or email the FBI insider threat office to make them aware of the ASAC's concerns?

A Yes. And it was through instant message.

Q And you had said previously, and if you can just remind us of what you talked to the ASAC about the vaccination status. You mentioned that that couldn't be used as a basis. Is that correct?

A Yes. Going back to the time frame of the attestations, which was, I believe, earlier, prior to this here referral, it was determined by senior leadership of the FBI that the Security Division had no role in attestations or vaccinations or testing, so on and so forth, that all those matters would be addressed by the Internal Affairs Section of the Inspection Division.

So in the case of Mr. O'Boyle's status, that was not under the purview of the Security Division, and I did explain that to Mr. [redacted] (ph), the ASAC down in Charlotte.

Q Okay. And I want to talk about the CIU investigator's interviews with Mr. Allen's colleagues. And there's reference to that on page 7 of the September 19th letter, but I'm going to use the June 28th disclosure, which I believe was exhibit number 2. Looking at page 6 of that document. The September 19th letter just has specific dates.

[redacted] In your prior response I believe you mentioned Mr. O'Boyle, but you were intending to refer to Mr. Allen?

Ms. Perkins. I'm so sorry. I stand corrected. I'm referring to Mr. Allen. Thank you.

[redacted] Thanks, [redacted]

So if you look at the -- I'll say it's the next indented paragraph after the inset paragraph. It starts with, "On SSA Client's arrival."

Ms. Perkins. Uh-huh.

1 [redacted] "On SSA Client's arrival in CIU, he learned that the investigator on
2 the Allen case had ultimately included" -- "concluded," excuse me -- "SOS Allen's
3 'Allegiance to the United States' was not in question and that the suspension of his
4 security clearance was not warranted."
5 Did you become aware of the investigator's conclusions?
6 Ms. Perkins. I had a meeting with the investigator, that was [redacted]
7 along with his unit chief [redacted] on or about November 17th of 2021. We 8 discussed his concerns.
9 And I think in my assessment, in that meeting, in that conversation, was [redacted]
10 [redacted] had been assigned to the Security Division for all of about two and a half months,
11 maybe 10, 11 weeks at this point in time.
12 He had not received any adjudicative training. And it was my assessment that he 13 misunderstood and didn't have a full appreciation or understanding of SEAD 4 and the 14 Adjudicative Guidelines and application of the Adjudicative Guidelines.
15 Any person hearing "loyalty to the United States" is probably thinking a spy or a
16 terrorist, and that's a reasonable sort of concern, that you're looking at somebody
17 through the optic of espionage or terrorism.
18 But the guidelines clearly outline being sympathetic towards individuals engaged
19 in sedition or attempt to overthrow the United States Government, things along those 20 lines.
21 So with that, I tried to draw him to the Adjudicative Guidelines. I tried to talk
22 through it. And there seemed to be some rigidity on his side with regard to application
23 of Guideline A.

1 [1:08 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q And if you move up on page 6 of the June 28th disclosure, the first full

4 paragraph, it states, "The CIU investigator assigned to the Allen case began calling SOS

5 Allen's coworkers on November 17, 2021, to interview them. Every one of the

6 individuals interviewed stated Allen had never given cause to question his allegiance to

7 the United States."

8 Was that a factor, to your knowledge, in the investigator's kind of conclusion that

9 there was no evidence to suspend the clearance?

10 A And I would draw to the conversation we had. He had a secondary

11 investigator doing the interviews with him.

12 And [redacted] interviews were described as very thin, at best. He conducted

13 very baseline questions. They were not in depth. They were not thorough.

14 As we would see in the case file, when another investigator took over the 15 investigation and she asked more probative, more in-depth questions to the question of

16 the application of Guideline A, the information she got was much more robust with 17 regard to relevant security concerns.

18 You can't just ask somebody, "Do you question his allegiance?" because that's a

19 hard question to answer. But if you ask, "Did he appear sympathetic towards January

20 6th subjects? How? Tell me what his actions were. What was he doing?"

21 And that is how the follow-up interviews went with those exact same employees,

22 many of whom stated the first interview wasn't this in depth.

23 And so it is my understanding that [redacted] asked very baseline, superficial

24 interview questions which were not in depth enough to address the underlying security

25 concerns.

1 Q Okay. In your response, you've used two different terms, "appearing
2 sympathetic" and "expressing sympathy." Those are two vastly different things.
3 So which one was it? Did he appear sympathetic or was he expressing
4 sympathy --
5 A He was both.
6 Q -- towards an individual?
7 A He was both.
8 Q There was both? Okay. And how did he express sympathy?
9 A In the emails he notes that -- he forwards links that January 6th subjects
10 were political prisoners.
11 In his interview, he also stated that they were not being treated fairly, that they
12 were being persecuted.
13 So that's consistent with his expressing sympathy.
14 I think the appearance of sympathy is when he's walking around the office making
15 comments about individuals who were not being treated fairly, and then doing database
16 checks, which failed to identify very clear open source information about January 6th 17 subjects.
18 Q If you continue to look on page 6 here, down in the first paragraph that we
19 were talking about, it says, "Yet acting SC Perkins and Acting DAD Veltri pushed for SOS
20 Allen's clearance to be suspended on the theory that Allen's purpose in distributing 21 information within his field office was to absolve January 6, 2021, subjects. Neither
22 Perkins nor Veltri could explain how passing possibly exculpatory information about 23 investigative subjects was improper."
24 Can you help us understand how passing exculpatory information about 25 investigative subjects would be improper?

1 A You're referring to a very specific line here as though his sending the email
2 was the sole basis of the recommendation, which it's not.
3 As I explained, you have the information from an ASAC. You've got a baseline
4 analysis from insider threat office. You've got outbursts. You've got a linear pattern of 5 increased hostility. His supervisor was trying to correct his behavior.
6 So there's not one forwarding of emails that could be viewed as exculpatory or 7 providing diverse perspectives on subjects. There's a pattern of behavior that calls into 8 question his judgment, his trustworthiness, and his decision-making.
9 Q Okay. And I'm asking a very specific question here about the passing of the 10 links that we've discussed.
11 How would passing those links be improper?
12 A But you're asking the question as though this is true, that passing links is 13 what Security Division, myself included, and Mr. Veltri used as the basis to suspend his 14 clearance, and that is not true.
15 Q Okay. So taking it out of the Allen context --
16 A Uh-huh.
17 Q -- if an individual passed along links regarding any sort of investigative 18 subject that was exculpatory in nature, is that improper and the basis for a security
19 clearance suspension?
20 A If somebody is providing information from reliable sources that is potentially 21 exculpatory, I would have no concerns about that at all.
22 Q Okay.
23 [redacted] Also, as a point of clarification, are the representations in the 24 paragraph you're drawing from from SSA Client's testimony? They're not really cited to 25 by Mr. Leavitt in the body of this.

1 [redacted] It says -- the start of this paragraph here says, "On SSA Client's
2 arrival in CIU." So this would be from SSA Client's perspective.
3 [redacted] Okay. So SSA is not really cited [inaudible]. So I'm just trying to 4 clarify it for the witness' understanding.
5 Ms. Perkins. Thank you, [redacted]
6 And this is clarification. SSA Client, [redacted] arrived to the unit 5 months after 7 all of these conversations and events occurred.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q Going on in the paragraph, it says, "Nevertheless, Perkins overruled the 10 initial investigator and reassigned the case to another investigator to move forward with 11 suspending SOS Allen's clearance. In clear retaliation, Perkins transferred the initial 12 investigator to the Intake Unit, a less prestigious assignment than CIU because of its 13 limited investigative responsibilities."
14 I know we've talked about the first investigator was removed from the case. A 15 new investigator was assigned to the case.
16 Was the first investigator reassigned to a different unit?
17 A So let's clarify, because you put it on the record.
18 So the first investigator wrote the suspension you see. So there was no taking 19 the case away from him, assigning it to somebody else. So what is being sort of 20 portrayed here is just false.
21 So the first investigator actually wrote the suspension document, briefed the case
22 to EAD Moore, and at no point made any notes about objecting to the recommendation.
23 That briefing occurred on December 2nd of 2021.
24 So I'll gladly answer your question if you could repeat that.
25 Q Yes. So I guess your testimony brought up a different question.

1 So is it your understanding that the first investigator, who you have identified as
2 [redacted] was he ever reassigned?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Okay. What can you tell us about his reassignment?
5 A Yes. So in working with [redacted] there was -- my impression from him
6 was that he felt entitled to a higher pay grade. He was hired in August of 2021. He 7 spent a good portion of his career working in the Inspection Division.
8 And as noted in the paragraph that you read for the record, the investigator on 9 the Allen case had ultimately concluded that SOS Allen's allegiance was not in question.
10 So that's an adjudicative determination. An adjudicative determination occurs
11 after a complete investigation. And he appeared to want to adjudicate from the get-go,
12 and that is just not how the process works. You're supposed to investigate, hand it off
13 to an adjudicator for a clean handoff and adjudicative process. But he was resistant to 14 sort of that process.
15 And so what we also saw was that in a number of investigations that [redacted]
16 worked, his ability or his willingness to ask the tough questions, do those probative
17 interviews that need to be done, was lacking.
18 And in the light most favorable to [redacted] it had probably been over 20-plus 19 years since he had conducted an interview, which is probably why those interviews were 20 so thin.
21 But it was difficult, because oftentimes we were having to go back and redo
22 interviews or steps, because his interviews were so thin and his investigations were just 23 lacking.
24 So in conversation with DAD Veltri a couple months after all of this here and after 25 about two or three other cases came up short, very similar, very thin, he asked if I

1 thought [redacted] was able to do the job, do the tough questions. And I said I had
2 concerns.
3 Q And all of this investigating that was happening in November of 2021 was in
4 the lead-up to the initial suspension of Mr. Allen's clearance in January of 2022, pending
5 CIU's investigation. Is that correct?
6 A Yes. So the suspension took place in January to mitigate the risk to the 7 national security while the investigation unfolded.
8 Q So was [redacted] in charge of determining whether or not or investigating
9 whether or not Mr. Allen's clearance should be suspended pending the CIU investigation?
10 A Yes. As a result of the briefing that he provided to EAD Moore on 11 December 2nd, he laid out all the facts and evidence. And in those briefings, as I noted 12 in the first hour, they will be very sort of collaborative, investigators, supervisors, the 13 DADs, the AD. OGC is on hand to weigh in on legal questions.
14 And following that briefing, looking at all the facts and evidence, there was 15 concern. And he had a draft suspension EC.
16 There had been prior meetings with Office of General Counsel to talk about legal 17 sufficiency. And I had meetings. The unit chief, [redacted] had called a meeting in 18 November to discuss the facts and evidence. And it was very clear that there was 19 concern about his impact on national security.
20 So all that information went into a recommendation to suspend the clearance and 21 a briefing to the EAD, the security programs manager. And in that collaborative 22 conversation, it was decided that, yes, absolutely, there's legal sufficiency and that's the 23 appropriate step to mitigate risk to national security.
24 Q During that collaborative briefing, did [redacted] support the suspension --
25 A Yes.

1 Q -- the initial suspension of his clearance?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Okay. And so is it accurate that [redacted] who you have named during

4 this interview, he was transferred from the CIU to CREU? Is that correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q After your assessment?

7 A After my assessment of his work?

8 Q With Mr. Veltri.

9 A Yes.

10 [redacted] Okay. And we're at the end of our hour, so before I go on to 11 something else we'll go off the record.

12 [Recess.]

13 [redacted] It is 1:35. We can go back on the record.

14 Thank you for your patience. I know this has been a long day.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q I want to talk mostly about Mr. Allen, which was the topic of most of last

17 round.

18 But before I get into the substance, are you familiar with the term "whole person 19 standard"?

20 A Yes.

21 Q What does that term mean?

22 A Per SEAD 4, the National Security Adjudicative Guidelines, it explains the

23 adjudicative process. It is a careful weighing of all information, both positive and not so

24 positive, regarding an individual as an assessment is made to their eligibility to maintain a

25 security clearance.

1 Q And as part of the whole person analysis, an investigator, adjudicator,
2 whatever the stage is at, whoever is looking at a particular case, takes into account not
3 just one particular news article or one particular incident, but an entire view of a person
4 or an entire holistic view of a person's actions and other -- I guess other things that might 5 weigh in on that.
6 Is that fair to say?
7 A That's correct.
8 Q You mentioned the SEAD 4 guidelines a couple times.
9 A Yes.
10 [Perkins Exhibit No. 9
11 was marked for identification.]
12 [redacted] I'm going to go ahead and introduce those. Those will be exhibit 9.
13 And we are introducing the whole packet. I think for purposes of right now we're only 14 going to look at Guideline A. But obviously take as long as you would like to look 15 through these.
16 Ms. Perkins. I'm very familiar with the guidelines. We can proceed.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q So just to lay the foundation here, the SEAD guidelines, this version that 19 we've introduced is effective June 8th, 2017.
20 And you said you're very familiar with them. Can you explain how you're familiar
21 with them?
22 A These guidelines are the overarching document that governs what we do in 23 the SIIS. It governs the appropriateness of an investigation being initiated, what 24 elements of that particular guideline will be addressed during the investigation, what is 25 relevant, what is mitigating.

1 And then it guides the adjudicators in their whole person analysis in determining
2 whether or not a recommendation should be made against a security clearance.
3 Q You've been with the Security Division a long time and I'm sure you've gone
4 through a number of trainings in your time. But can you describe any trainings that 5 you've received with respect to the SEAD guidelines?
6 A Yes. Early on, when I mentioned earlier in the second hour that I was the 7 supervisor of a team at the Washington Field Office that oversaw the background
8 investigations for White House staff, DOJ, and select committee members.
9 So at that point I received training from the OPM and there were some other
10 trainings with IC partners. So I received a number of training courses and have also 11 conducted training for internal teams to understand the guidelines.
12 Q Okay. And for the record, OPM is the Office of Personnel Management?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And the IC is the intelligence community, correct?
15 A Yes.
16 Q And you said you've conducted trainings for others. What type of training
17 would, for example, an investigator in the Security Division receive with respect to the 18 SEAD guidelines?
19 A And as I noted, in my capacity as the assistant section chief, my role being 20 somewhat administrative, one of my duties is to just assess where there might be gaps in 21 our process that we need to fill. And often that gap is training.
22 When we look at our investigators and adjudicators, a lot of them come from 23 other agencies, not necessarily former -- the RSPs, the Reserve Service Personnel, are 24 former FBI employees, but the contractors are generally from a variety of different
25 backgrounds.

1 So I put together training sessions that I conducted in 2023 and 2022 to baseline
2 train everyone. Again, whatever your background was, if it's not in security, you need
3 an understanding of the guidelines.
4 So generally, these were 2-day trainings, an introduction to the National Security
5 Adjudicative Guidelines. I would bring OGC in to do a walk-through of those. And then 6 as well as training on how to use our systems and applications and things like that.
7 Q Okay. Thank you for all of that.
8 So turning to Guideline A, which is on page 8 of the SEAD 4 guidelines that I just 9 introduced, Guideline A is allegiance to the United States, correct?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And this is the guideline that was noted in the suspension letter given to 12 Mr. Allen, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q I'm going to read into the record the concern.
15 Paragraph 3 reads, "The Concern. The willingness to safeguard classified or 16 sensitive information is in doubt if there is any reason to suspect an individual's allegiance
17 to the United States. There is no positive test for allegiance, but there are negative
18 indicators. These include participation in or support for acts against the United States or 19 placing the welfare or interests of another country above those of the United States.
20 "Finally, the failure to adhere to the laws of the United States may be relevant if 21 the violation of law is harmful to stated U.S. interests. An individual who engages in acts
22 against the United States or compromises [sic] support or encouragement to those who 23 do has already demonstrated willingness to compromise national security."
24 Did I read that correctly?
25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. And I realize that that's six sentences or five sentences that I just 2 read, but can you summarize your understanding of what this concern means?
3 A The largest concern is the -- it's a threat to national security. It is an
4 undermining of the United States and working against those interests.
5 Q And then underneath "The Concern," there's paragraph 4. It's, "Conditions
6 that could raise a security concern and may be disqualifying," correct?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And I'm going to go through these and ask both what your understanding is,
9 what they mean, and whether they apply to Mr. Allen's case.
10 So with (a), 4(a) is, "involvement in, support of, training to commit, or advocacy of 11 any sabotage, espionage, treason, terrorism, or sedition against the United States."
12 What's your understanding of what that means?
13 A Obviously, multiple scenarios here. But generally, folks that are actively 14 engaged, personally actively engaged in the sabotage or any of the things. But more of 15 an active role.
16 Q And with respect to Mr. Allen specifically, was this particular condition
17 something that was at issue in the whole person assessment of him?
18 A No.
19 Q Okay. Moving on, 4(b) is "association or sympathy with persons who are 20 attempting to commit, or who are committing, any of the above acts."
21 What does that mean?
22 A And what we see there is -- so an individual who may not be directly actively 23 engaged in the conduct of concern, but who is more passively supportive or associated 24 with those individuals.
25 Q Was this condition something that was at issue in the Guideline A

1 assessment, the whole person assessment for Mr. Allen?

2 A Yes.

3 Q And why was that?

4 A As previously noted, his comments, his conduct, his emails, his actions that

5 appeared to be sympathetic towards the January 6th subjects, his unwillingness to

6 conduct his duties analytically in support of those investigations due to his feeling that

7 they were political prisoners. That appeared to be his sympathy with those individuals.

8 Q And the individuals, the January 6th defendants --

9 A Yes.

10 Q -- that you referred to, the concern was that they had supported or had 11 otherwise engaged in acts consistent with sedition against the United States, correct?

12 A Correct.

13 Q Okay. Moving on to paragraph (c), it's "association or sympathy with

14 persons or organizations that advocate, threaten, or use force or violence, or use any

15 other illegal or unconstitutional means, in an effort to: overthrow or influence the U.S.

16 Government or any state or local government; prevent Federal, state, or local

17 government personnel from performing their official duties; gain retribution for perceived

18 wrongs caused by the Federal, state, or local government; and prevent others from

19 exercising their rights under the Constitution or laws of the United States or of any state."

20 And I realize that was a lot in there. But can you say, at a high level, what's your 21 understanding of what this refers to?

22 A And here is where we applied some of the rationale or the adjudicative

23 concerns with regard to individuals who may have been sympathetic towards the January

24 6th defendants.

25 The prevention of Federal, State, and local government personnel from

1 performing their official duties, that was the certification of the election. And so the
2 January 6th subjects who were involved in that conduct, that is the concern.
3 And Mr. Allen or -- specifically Mr. Allen, his sympathy, calling them political 4 prisoners, his unwillingness to do his analytical duties, that was the relevant security
5 concern.
6 Q Okay. And looking at this from a whole person analysis, you've indicated
7 that -- actually, sorry, withdraw that.
8 After these concerns, conditions on the SEAD 4 guidelines, there's five conditions
9 that could mitigate security concerns. Do you see where it says that?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And has as an example, "The individual was unaware of the unlawful aims of 12 the individual or organization and severed ties upon learning of these; the individual's 13 involvement was humanitarian and permitted under U.S. law; involvement in the above 14 activities occurred only for a short period of time and was attributable to curiosity or 15 academic interest; or the involvement or association with such activities occurred under 16 such unusual circumstances, or so much time has elapsed, that it is unlikely to recur and 17 does not cast doubt on the individual's current reliability, trustworthiness, or allegiance."
18 Can you describe how the Security Division takes into account these mitigation
19 conditions when it's considering somebody?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Or somebody's eligibility to hold a clearance, I should say.
22 A And it lays out pretty well. And the guidelines are written very 23 straightforward so that an adjudicator -- and, again, I want to draw a distinction between 24 the investigative and the adjudicative process.
25 The threat priorities that I previously referred to are tethered to the guidelines.

1 So if any of these acts or behaviors are identified in a referral, that may certainly support
2 the basis of an investigation being opened.
3 Certainly, when we look at whether or not to recommend a suspension, we're
4 looking at the veracity of the complaint and the impact on national security, you go
5 through, you'll see different guidelines that may not be as high risk to national security.
6 If somebody has alcohol use disorder, for example, Guideline G, that's going to be viewed
7 in a different weight than Guideline A.
8 So in this case here, so that's sort of that recommendation for a suspension, is 9 veracity of the complaint, impact on national security.
10 But once it gets to the Clearance Adjudication Unit, that's where they're looking at 11 the entire investigation, all the information, both favorable and unfavorable, and they're 12 looking at these conditions.
13 And at that point, they're applying, okay, was it a one-time, one-off scenario?
14 Was it so long ago? Were there other circumstances that would not possibly surface
15 again? That type of thing.
16 So with that, in Mr. O'Boyle's case, it wasn't --
17 Q Sorry, Mr. O'Boyle?
18 A I'm sorry. Mr. O'Boyle. Why am I saying Mr. O'Boyle? I'm sorry, I
19 apologize. Mr. Allen.
20 In Mr. Allen's case, it was certainly over a sustained period of time a linear pattern 21 of behavior over several months that led to this concern by his management that he 22 was spiraling.
23 Q And were the conditions that could mitigate security concerns considered in 24 the ultimate adjudication of Mr. Allen's security clearance?
25 A Yes.

1 Q Okay. And for the duration of your involvement, the determination was
2 made that the mitigating factors didn't exist or were not significant enough to overcome
3 the concern to national security, correct?
4 A Correct.
5 Q Okay. And so, for example, it was not the case that Mr. Allen was unaware
6 of the unlawful aims of the individual or organization, meaning the January 6th
7 defendants, correct?
8 A I think that's a fair assessment.
9 Q Okay. As you said, it was not the case that his involvement was only for a 10 short time. It continued over many months, correct?
11 A Correct.
12 Q And it was not the case that a lot of time had elapsed or that there were 13 particularly unusual circumstances at issue, correct?
14 A Correct.
15 Q Okay.
16 There was some discussion in the earlier hour about New York Times articles and 17 RealClearPolitics articles, and the question was, why would these articles raise concern?
18 I just wanted to give you the opportunity. Was it those particular articles that 19 raised such concerns that these guidelines -- that justified suspending a security clearance 20 under these guidelines?
21 A No.
22 Q Okay. And can you explain, did those articles play a role as part of the 23 whole person evaluation?
24 A They would have. And, again, because you're looking at all information,
25 both favorable and unfavorable. Looking to determine whether any element of the

1 investigation addresses one of the security concerns or provides mitigation. And that's
2 just the adjudicative process.
3 Q And you've mentioned several times that the concern here is -- the concern
4 of the guidelines writ large, not Mr. Allen specifically -- is that an individual who has 5 access to national security information might not safeguard that information correctly.
6 Is that fair to say?
7 A Correct.
8 Q Was that the concern with respect to Mr. Allen?
9 A I would say that the primary concern that was relevant for Mr. Allen was that 10 he was viewed by the insider threat office, the entity within the FBI that is tasked with 11 identifying insider threats, he was assessed as an insider threat, that they felt that his 12 linear pattern of increased hostility, that his sympathy towards January 6th defendants, 13 and his pushing of these views that were not credible, that were propagandist, and that 14 the manipulation of information would be in conflict with the FBI's interests and the 15 national security. That was the primary concern.
16 Q And why is it of a concern if somebody who has -- who is considered an 17 insider threat, who has that type of risk profile, has access to national security
18 information?
19 A I think in his case, where we are concerned is that the manipulation of 20 information, again, and as we saw in the investigation, he was tasked as a squad
21 operation specialist to do database checks, baseline checks, do intel workups on potential
22 subjects, January 6th subjects.
23 And he was intentionally not producing information that was easily accessible
24 through his database queries. And that was leading to investigations being closed due 25 to a lack of predication. And, therefore, subjects are not being investigated who should

1 be investigated, per the FBI's authorities and responsibilities. So that has a negative
2 impact on the national security.
3 Q In the earlier hour, you were asked about a September 2021, I believe, email
4 he sent to colleagues with links to a variety of sources. And the question was asked, did
5 he ask his colleagues to take any specific action?
6 Is that dispositive here, whether an individual specifically demands that colleagues
7 act or don't act?
8 A And I appreciate that question, because he didn't order anyone to take 9 action, but the fear factor that he disseminated throughout the office and the 10 recipients -- and, of course, people are going to talk about it, people are going to share 11 their concerns and thoughts -- it was sort of this very passive, very veiled sort of 12 discouraging people of doing their jobs and following orders and directions and guidance
13 from the FBI.
14 So his influence, while not directly ordering anybody -- he's not a supervisor, he
15 couldn't order anyone necessarily -- but it certainly had the potential to impact the FBI's
16 mission by scaring people out of doing their jobs.
17 Q And you mentioned that he -- I think you used the term he created a fear
18 environment or -- was that something that his supervisor in Charlotte had expressed 19 concern about?
20 A It was in my conversation with the ASAC in November, November 2nd of 21 2021, that his conduct, his outbursts in the intel meetings, the emails, just proceed with 22 caution, it was almost like at your own risk.
23 It was just sort of this sentiment that if people follow the guidance from FBI
24 headquarters, the D.C. elements, that they were going to be on the wrong side of things
25 down the road.

1 Q There were also some -- there were a number of questions raised about New
2 York Times articles. I think RealClearPolitics was referred to in the earlier hour. And 3 those are both websites mentioned in this September 19th, 2024, letter.
4 But you mentioned a couple of other websites that are not mentioned in this
5 letter. So I just wanted to ask.
6 One of the websites you mentioned is The Gateway Pundit?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Did Mr. Allen email links to his colleagues from The Gateway Pundit?
9 A He did.
10 Q What is The Gateway Pundit?
11 A As I understand, it is a -- again, just based on the insider threat baseline 12 assessment, the links to the news sources or the news sources from the links that he sent 13 out in that email were just viewed as not credible news sources, propagandist websites.
14 Q And that's an assessment that the insider threat division made, correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q Does your division have any role in making that assessment?
17 A We did not. We did not.
18 Q And would you typically have any role in that type of insider threat
19 assessment?
20 A I can't think of a situation where we did any type of baseline analysis.
21 Again, that's why the insider threat office is there to support us.
22 Q Another website that you mentioned is American Gulag. Am I
23 saying -- remembering that correctly?
24 A I believe so. I'm not familiar with it outside of this scenario, but yes.
25 Q Did Mr. Allen email links to articles on the American Gulag website?

1 A He did.

2 Q And do you recall whether the insider threat analysis considered American

3 Gulag to be a reliable news source?

4 A They found it similar to the Revolver News, to be a propagandist,

5 not-so-reliable website.

6 Q And you just mentioned a third website, Revolver News?

7 A Yes.

8 Q Did Mr. Allen email links to Revolver News?

9 A He did.

10 Q And what's your understanding of what Revolver News is?

11 A Same as the others. These are apparently -- again, based on the baseline

12 analysis, I'm not an authority on these websites -- but it was assessed that they are sites

13 that circulate propagandist conspiracy theories and stories.

14 Q And, again, that was an assessment made by the insider threat -- I'm sorry, is 15 it insider threat section or insider threat division?

16 A We call it the insider threat office.

17 Q Okay.

18 A They call it InTO as an abbreviation.

19 Q So that was an assessment made by the insider threat office?

20 A Yes.

21 Q And you did not play any role in making that assessment, correct?

22 A No.

23 Q So that was an independent assessment?

24 A Yes.

25 Q Okay.

1 On page 8 of the September 19th letter, just to close out the questions on insider
2 threat, the -- sorry.
3 Starting on page 7 of this letter, there's an allegation that the insider threat office
4 baseline assessment was altered sometime between November 15th and December 7th,
5 2021. Do you see where it says that?
6 A In which paragraph?
7 Q Sorry. It's on page 7.
8 A Oh, yes. Yes, I see that. "Sometime." Yes.
9 Q Are you familiar with that allegation?
10 A That is untrue.
11 Q Okay. And when you say it's untrue, how do you know it's untrue?
12 A So the baseline analysis was requested on November 2nd of 2021. And as 13 they expedited their analysis, they sent a draft copy to the Security Division, Inspection
14 Division. Again, they provide an analytical support role to the administrative divisions,
15 Security Division and Inspection Division.
16 And it was draft only because, as you -- drawing back to the approval process for 17 Security Division documents, it goes through those eight layers of signature, similar to 18 insider threat. They have a number of layers of approval.
19 But after the analyst has written their assessment, the supervisor has approved it,
20 the unit chief has approved it, it is safe to disseminate to the customers, Security Division,
21 Inspection Division.
22 There are a couple of more layers of approval before it can be serialized to the 23 system of record, to Sentinel. But it would not be sent out if the information was going 24 to be significantly altered.
25 So [redacted] had expressed concern when I met with him and [redacted] on

1 November 17th. "I disagree with the baseline analysis, and it's only a draft. We
2 shouldn't be making any recommendations based solely on a draft," he said.
3 And so, after the briefing with EAD Moore and Security Division management on 4 December 2nd, after that briefing, again, where [redacted] didn't make any objections,
5 any comments about the recommendation, came back down to the unit, [redacted]
6 came in my office and said he's concerned that it's only a draft still. I contacted insider
7 threat office and said, "Please let me know when the baseline analysis has been 8 serialized."
9 And it was signed on or about -- it was on December 7th of 2021. There was no
10 change from the draft that we had to the final serialized document. There was no 11 change.
12 Q Okay. So the allegation here that the baseline assessment was altered is 13 just false?
14 A It's just false.
15 Q Okay.
16 Let's actually turn to the other Empower Oversight letter. I think it's page 6 of 17 the June 28th, 2024, letter.
18 And we've talked through this in some level of detail. There's a couple of -- just a 19 couple points I want to just follow up on.
20 You'd mentioned that [redacted] or [redacted] the -- sorry. Take that 21 back.
22 The letter refers to interviews conducted by the individual we now know is [redacted]
23 [redacted] correct?
24 A Correct.
25 Q Okay. And in this letter, it says every one of the individuals

1 interviewed -- and I'll add, apparently by [redacted] -- stated that Allen had, quote,
2 "never given...cause to question his allegiance to the U.S.," correct?
3 A Correct.
4 Q Okay. And you indicated in the prior hour that while they stated that in the 5 original interview and follow-up interviews, they did express concern about Mr. Allen's
6 allegiance to the United States?
7 A The follow-up interviewer asked more probing questions. And rather than 8 ask an incendiary question like, "Do you question his loyalty to the United States?" it's,
9 "Did you ever find him to be sympathetic towards January 6th defendants?" "Oh, yeah,
10 absolutely."
11 So the quality of the interviewer is going to have an impact on the quality of the 12 interview.
13 Q And is it fair to say that questioning -- calls to question someone's allegiance
14 to the United States could be considered a conclusion as opposed to an investigative 15 step?
16 A Yes.
17 Q So is it fair to say that the secondary interviewer who asked kind of more
18 probing questions -- is that fair to say?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Asked more investigative questions, whereas [redacted] had 21 asked -- basically was seeking conclusions?
22 A Yes.
23 Q Okay.
24 You've seen this letter before?
25 A I have.

1 Q And you looked through it today.

2 A Yes.

3 Q In this letter, does it reference those secondary interviews at any time? I'm

4 going to give you a minute to look through it again.

5 A No, I don't think so. I thought [redacted] made reference to the -- a

6 conversation with the second investigator, but --

7 Q But those particular --

8 A Yeah.

9 Q -- the follow-up interviews --

10 A No.

11 Q -- conducted by the secondary interviewers, in fact, are not mentioned in 12 this letter, correct?

13 A No, not at all.

14 Q So it's fair to say that this letter withholds relevant information.

15 A Absolutely.

16 Q That information would be -- the information about the secondary -- the 17 follow-up interviews -- that would be included in Mr. Allen's case file, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q And so if Empower Oversight had access to the case file, they would have 20 access to those interviews, correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Okay.

23 You were asked also about the line -- sorry, hold on one second.

24 With the fourth paragraph down, it begins, "On SSA Client's arrival in CIU."

25 A Yes.

1 Q It says, "Acting SC Perkins and Acting DAD Veltri pushed for SOS Allen's
2 clearance to be suspended on the theory that Allen's purpose in distributing information
3 within his field office was to absolve January 6, 2021, subjects. Neither Perkins nor 4 Veltri could explain how passing possibly exculpatory information about investigative 5 subjects was improper."
6 Do you see where it says that?
7 A Yes.
8 Q SSA Client is [redacted] correct?
9 A Correct.
10 Q Do you recall [redacted] asking you in Mr. Veltri's presence or without Mr.
11 Veltri there how, quote/unquote, "passing possibly exculpatory information about 12 investigative subjects would be improper"?
13 A No. In fact, [redacted] was not even assigned to the Security Division at 14 this time. He did not report to Security Division until April of 2022. So at the time of 15 the security clearance suspension, he was not even part of the Security Division.
16 Q And so I realize this sentence is written in passive voice so it's a little
17 confusing, but there was never any discussion in which [redacted] asked you about Mr.
18 Allen's decision to pass, quote/unquote, "exculpatory information," correct?
19 A No.
20 Q Okay. So assuming that this refers to a conversation between you and 21 [redacted] in fact, that conversation just never happened?
22 A It never happened.
23 Q Okay. And was there ever a conversation between you and [redacted]
24 about, quote/unquote, "passing exculpatory information"?
25 A No. I think my conversations with [redacted] were more related to his

1 struggle to apply Guideline A to the investigation.

2 Q In your assessment, was Mr. Allen passing possibly exculpatory information

3 about investigative subjects to others in his field office?

4 A I can't speak for Mr. Allen, but what I can speak for is my conversation with

5 his ASAC in the office. And they spoke to him after he sent the email. And I think they

6 actually tried to offer him sort of that out, that, "Hey, were you possibly just trying to

7 provide opposing views?" You know, maybe some information about what these

8 subjects might be reading or believing in their -- to explain their conduct to the

9 investigators.

10 And he seemed to kind of nod. And, again, this was all relayed to me from the

11 ASAC. And then he just continued to go down the hole of the D.C. elements are not

12 being honest, and the assessment, as it was relayed to me from the ASAC, just really 13 professing more of the propagandist views from these websites.

14 Q You said something in the earlier hour that I think I wrote down verbatim,

15 but I want to read it back to you.

16 You were asked about whether passing exculpatory information would be

17 something of concern to the Security Division, and your response was, quote, "If someone

18 is passing reliable links showing exculpatory information, that is not a concern."

19 Do you remember saying that or something similar to that?

20 A Yes.

21 Q Okay. And there's a lot of qualifiers in there, right?

22 A Yes.

23 Q You qualified reliable links showing exculpatory information.

24 Was Mr. Allen passing reliable links or reliable links to news sources?

25 A Based on the assessment from insider threat, the information that he had

1 been -- and not just in that September 29th, 2021, email, but several times throughout
2 the year -- he was passing on disinformation that was just not credible. And it didn't
3 appear to be, "Hey, here's the opposing views or here's some potentially exculpatory
4 information." It appeared to be a disinformation campaign.
5 Q And when you say it was disinformation, can you talk to the nature of the 6 information that he was sending?
7 A That January 6th defendants were political prisoners, that the FBI
8 orchestrated January 6th. These types of just noncredible topics and views that are 9 just -- they're just lies. They're just lies.
10 Q And with respect to the allegation that the FBI orchestrated January 6th,
11 that's something that Mr. Allen passed along?
12 A I believe that was one of the sublinks, yes.
13 Q And are you familiar with the theory that January 6th was a, quote/unquote,
14 "false flag attack"?
15 A I've heard some things along those lines. I'm not as versed on that story.
16 Again, we're not operational in Security Division.
17 Q Understood. But to the best of your knowledge, is there any truth to the 18 allegation that the FBI was, in fact, the cause of January 6th?
19 A I have no reason to believe that that occurred, and I have no knowledge of
20 that.
21 Q So to the extent that Mr. Allen was passing information suggesting that 22 along, he was passing along false information, correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q Just some wrap-up questions on Mr. Allen.
25 There's an allegation that Mr. Allen was suspended because he raised concerns

1 about FBI Director -- about some statements made by FBI Director Wray.

2 Is there any truth to that allegation that he was suspended for that reason?

3 A No.

4 Q Was the suspension or revocation of Mr. Allen's security clearance

5 motivated by animus towards him?

6 A Towards Mr. Allen?

7 Q Towards Mr. Allen.

8 A No.

9 Q Was it done to punish him for his political or ideological beliefs?

10 A No.

11 Q Was it done to punish him for his religious beliefs?

12 A No.

13 Q At a high level, what was the motivation behind the FBI's decision to suspend

14 and revoke Mr. Allen's security clearance?

15 A To mitigate risk to national security.

16 Q In the earlier hour, there was a reference to Mr. Allen being reinstated I

17 think the day before he resigned. You weren't involved in the reinstatement process,

18 correct?

19 A That is correct.

20 Q But are you familiar with the reasons that he was reinstated at a high level?

21 A High level.

22 Q Okay. You said in the earlier hour that the concerns about him I guess

23 were mitigated but not unsubstantiated.

24 A Correct.

25 Q Do you recall saying that?

1 A Yes.

2 Q Can you explain what you meant by that?

3 A So when a reconsideration request is evaluated, they have to look at all the 4 facts and evidence. Are the underlying security concerns mitigatable?

5 And, again, I was not part of the meetings and conversations regarding the

6 reinstatement. But I understand that Mr. Allen did resign. And perhaps that was 7 mitigating. But I'll defer to the adjudicators and the approvers on that document.

8 But it did not say that the allegations were unsubstantiated, which means that

9 those security concerns were realistic and they were real. Those concerns were valid.

10 And so the suspension and the revocation was valid. They weren't

11 unsubstantiated. So it wasn't as though that on reconsideration the adjudicator said,

12 "Huh, these were all just false."

13 There is sufficient mitigation, meaning by reinstating his clearance we're

14 comfortable with making that recommendation -- again, maybe because of his

15 resignation -- but at no point were those allegations determined to be false.

16 Q So just to put this into a little finer -- finer point on this, there was no finding

17 made, for example, that he did not email links to unreliable news sources, correct?

18 A Correct.

19 Q And there was no finding made that he did not create an environment in his 20 office where people might be afraid to take certain actions, correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q Okay. So I want to move on.

23 We've talked a lot today about [redacted]

24 A Yes.

25 Q And I don't want to make you go through everything again. But, at a high

1 level, who was [redacted]

2 A [redacted] was a Reserve Service Program, RSP, reemployed annuitant,

3 hired within the Security Division. And in his prior FBI career, I understand he was a

4 chief inspector in the Inspection Division and he was a former special agent in charge in

5 the New York Field Office.

6 Q And when did he begin working in the Security Division?

7 A In August of 2021.

8 Q And that was in the CEIU, correct?

9 A CIU, yes.

10 Q CIU. Sorry, CIU.

11 A Yes.

12 Q And you said that at the time that he initially conducted the interviews and

13 the evaluations of Mr. Allen's case he had not had training in the SEAD 4 guidelines. Is

14 that correct?

15 A Correct.

16 Q And he had only, in fact, been there for 10 weeks, maybe?

17 A Correct.

18 Q Okay. Was he assigned to cases other than Mr. Allen's case?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Were there concerns about his work performance with respect to other

21 cases?

22 A Yes.

23 Q And is it fair to say that it's the totality of those concerns that led to 24 [redacted] being reassigned?

25 A Yes.

1 Q Did his supervisors express concerns about his capabilities or his work
2 performance?
3 A When [redacted] first on-boarded, we had an acting unit chief in CIU.
4 This individual was very young, 6 years in the FBI, maybe 7 years. And I think at that 5 point, he was very green, had to hold his hand quite a bit.
6 So, no, he did not express those concerns. I saw the work product. I was 7 communicating with executive management on some of the cases that [redacted] had 8 been assigned.
9 Just a real quick anecdotal case was there was a case of an assistant special agent
10 in charge who was alleged to have engaged in significant domestic violence against a
11 spouse. A lot of alcohol was involved. So we got Guideline J concerns, Guideline G
12 concerns.
13 And [redacted] approach was just very passive. His interviews were very thin.
14 In fact, he interviewed the victim, who was in the house with the employee, and then 15 interviewed the employee right afterwards.
16 In a situation like that, one would hope to separate them, interview them at the 17 same time, make sure that the victim's in a safer place, that they can speak freely and 18 comfortably, not in the presence of a potential abuser.
19 And after his interviews, he came and he briefed me and said, "Ah, just a little just 20 spat. Give them a little EAP and they'll be fine." EAP, Employee Assistance Program.
21 Just give them a little counseling and they'll be fine.
22 And he appeared to really want to push to close the investigation. And we found
23 out a couple weeks later that this was a pattern of behavior, that this employee had prior 24 partners who they had also engaged in significant domestic violence.
25 And when [redacted] interviewed the former victim, they felt so -- they were

1 retraumatized by his interview. They found him to be less than compassionate, just very
2 cold and very -- just almost upset that he had to redo work when he wanted to close this
3 case.
4 So [redacted] I saw in this other letter from September 19th that he's highly 5 respected. I'm not sure who's giving those accolades. But there were certainly some 6 concerns regarding his ability to objectively investigate security cases and apply the 7 Adjudicative Guidelines.
8 Q Is it fair to say that particularly in the role in the Clearance Investigation Unit,
9 if an individual is not conducting interviews properly or is not taking appropriate
10 investigative steps, that could compromise an investigation, correct?
11 A Absolutely.
12 Q And that could actually have the impact of hurting either national security or 13 a victim, in the case of a domestic violence case, correct?
14 A Correct.
15 Q But it also could potentially impact the individual who is under investigation,
16 right?
17 A Yes.
18 Q Because ultimately the Security Division wants to get it right.
19 A Absolutely.
20 Q [redacted] was transferred to the Assessment Division, correct?
21 A Correct.
22 Q When was that?
23 A I want to say February or March of 2022.
24 Q There's an allegation in the September 19th letter that the reassignment was 25 retaliation against [redacted] for not deciding the Allen case the way that you wanted

1 him to.

2 Is that true, that he was reassigned in retaliation for his work on the Allen case?

3 A Absolutely not.

4 Q What's your response to that allegation?

5 A My response to that is twofold.

6 One, [redacted] is not the only RSP who has ever been reassigned. I've

7 reassigned probably 10 or more RSPs.

8 You want to get it right. Sometimes people are better skilled at administrative

9 duty, database checks and quick opening communications. Some people are more

10 skilled at thoughtful adjudicative processes. So you want to put people where their 11 skills are.

12 I had an adjudicator that was struggling, and I moved him into investigations to 13 help him understand better the investigative process so that he could adjudicate better.

14 And I had an intake person who was not very good at database checks, and she

15 was much better at investigations and interviews, was more of a social engaging kind of a

16 person.

17 So you want to put people where they're more successful.

18 In my assessment of [redacted] he was struggling on those cases. And so the

19 thought, again, in a light favorable to [redacted] perhaps it was because he was prior

20 FBI. They're prior FBI. Maybe it was harder for him to kind of pull that trigger.

21 And so moving him into Clearance Referral and Evaluation Unit -- which, again, I

22 saw a couple times in these documents that it was a less prestigious. That's ridiculous.

23 All the work that we do is substantial. And whether you are investigating employees or 24 contractors, it's all important to the national security.

25 But in moving him into the Clearance Referral and Evaluation Unit, he was working

1 contractor denial of access cases, and hoping that he would be much more successful
2 there.
3 And so that's my first response to that.
4 Secondarily, [redacted] has made a complaint, and it was investigated, regarding 5 my transfer of him. And the Inspection Division investigated that, and they found those 6 allegations to be unsubstantiated. So that is just a false allegation.
7 Q And just to be clear -- and thank you for all that.
8 And so the transfer to the Clearance Referral Unit was not a demotion in any way?
9 A No, not at all.
10 Q Okay. And there was no -- there's no reduction in pay, for example?
11 A There's no reduction of pay. And RSPs are at-will employees. They go 12 where we need them to accomplish the mission.
13 So, no, there was no reduction of pay. There was no change in any status.
14 Q And RSP, can you remind us what that stands for?
15 A Yes. The Reserve Service Program is a reemployed annuitant.
16 Q Which is different than a contractor, correct?
17 A Correct.
18 Q Okay. I want to move on to somebody else.
19 A Yes.
20 Q You mentioned this name in the prior hour. [redacted]
21 A Yes.
22 Q Who is [redacted]
23 A [redacted] was direct hired to be a reemployed annuitant unit chief in the 24 Security Division. It's an atypical hiring practice. But she was direct hired as a
25 reemployed annuitant unit chief.

1 She had no background in security, but she was placed in the Clearance
2 Adjudication Unit to supervise the adjudicators in CAU.
3 Q What were your interactions with [redacted] What was the extent of 4 your interactions with her?
5 A So, as the acting section chief in SIIS, I was her on-site supervisor. And I
6 would work with her to ensure that she was managing the Clearance Adjudication Unit
7 effectively. She was managing the cases. She had a couple of subprograms within that 8 unit that aren't relevant.
9 But predominantly to ensure that she was properly adjudicating the cases in a
10 timely manner. That was a challenge. That was a challenge.

1 [2:24 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q It was a challenge because of the nature of the work, or it was a challenge

4 for her specifically?

5 A It was a challenge for her specifically. She was not an effective case

6 manager. I counseled her on no less than seven occasions --

7 Q Seven formal counselings?

8 A So I went back through my notes and identified seven dates that I addressed

9 concerns about the timeliness of the adjudications, talked with her about her lack of 10 doing file reviews, the lack of program management, the lack of performance metrics.

11 In a year's time or 2 years' time, I saw that one adjudicator, you know, adjudicated 120

12 cases and she had another adjudicator that closed maybe 10 in 2 years. They're all

13 getting paid the same.

14 So there was just an inability to effectively manage her unit. And that impacts

15 the subjects. Because you're under investigation; if you're suspended, you're suspended

16 in perpetuity. And there was just no rhyme or reason to her -- to case prioritization.

17 And, again, two of the counselings I did with her were in writing --

18 Q Uh-huh.

19 A -- just because I was just so concerned about her lack of receptiveness to the 20 feedback that I was providing her.

21 Q And you said that some of your concerns were based in her management of 22 the performance of her employees and some were based in kind of the management of 23 the program at large.

24 With respect to the performance of her employees, part of the concern was that

25 some employees were moving cases very quickly and some were moving cases very

1 slowly, correct?

2 A Correct.

3 Q In the very first hour, the question of the timeline was raised and whether

4 cases were sitting too long in SecD.

5 If an employee is not processing cases quickly, that contributes to a longer time to

6 adjudication, correct?

7 A Correct.

8 Q And so it would fall on [redacted] as the manager of those employees, to

9 ensure that cases are being moved quickly --

10 A Absolutely.

11 Q -- or efficiently, I should say?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Okay. And she was not doing that?

14 A She was not.

15 Q Okay.

16 Is [redacted] still employed by FBI?

17 A No.

18 Q Are you familiar with the circumstances by which she departed FBI?

19 A Yeah. She was on an NTE, Not to Exceed, agreement. Again, as an RSP,

20 that is a temporary position. It's my understanding that her appointment as a GS-15 RSP

21 unit chief was not routine in the FBI, so at the end of her 2-year NTE, she was just not

22 renewed.

23 Q And the FBI could have chose to renew her, correct?

24 A They could've chosen to renew her, and it's my understanding that none of 25 the Security Division supervisors wanted to bring her on their teams.

1 Q Okay. So is it fair to say there were kind of widespread concerns about
2 [redacted] performance?
3 A Yes.
4 Q Okay. Did others express concerns about her performance to you?
5 A Yes.
6 Q And you said that very definitively; is that fair to say?
7 A Yes.
8 Q Did a lot of people express concerns about her performance to you?
9 A Yes. I had basically just -- so much performance, yes, but also just her 10 general sense of drama, just her -- just her -- her -- just -- she was -- she was a drain on 11 morale.
12 Q And how was she a drain on morale?
13 A Just gossip. Just, you know, sabotage. Just --
14 Q Meaning -- sorry. Meaning that she was the source of gossip?
15 A She was the source of gossip.
16 Q Okay.
17 A She was just -- and then -- so that's just her personally. But, professionally,
18 yes, the quality of her work, her lack of candor. She would just often make things up.
19 She in one case went to the assistant director of the Security Division and lied
20 about my lack of support for her on a project, said she was begging me for help, because 21 the project was a disaster. And when, you know, she said she was begging me for help, I 22 refused to even acknowledge, you know, her need for help.
23 And when I produced the emails where I was offering her assistance and then she 24 was turning me down, you know, she was like, "Oh, I don't remember that. Maybe 25 Dena hacked into my emails, and maybe she sent those emails to herself." I mean, these were just -- it was absurd.

But she just lied. She just was not a credible person. And, again, the quality of her work was just generally poor.

Q And I should've asked this about [redacted] as well. Is [redacted] still employed by the FBI?

A He is not.

Q And are you familiar of the circumstances by which he separated from the FBI?

A Yes. He promptly resigned, same day -- it was the date, I want to say, March 22nd or March 23rd of 2023. Whether it was as a direct result or coincidental -- as I noted earlier, he had made allegations against me and Mr. Veltri for his transfer that he viewed as retaliatory. The date that the adjudication -- the unsubstantiated adjudication of those allegations came into the Security Division, he immediately promptly resigned the same day.

Q Okay.

[redacted] Thank you. We can go off the record.

[Recess.]

[redacted] We can go on the record.

BY [redacted]

Q Okay. We wanted to pick up on where we left off on Mr. Allen's matter.

A Yes.

Q So a second CIU investigator was assigned to the matter after the first one was reassigned to a less prestigious assignment, as we understand.

A That's a false assertion. There are no changes in prestige or status for any of the RSPs in any of the units in the section.

1 Q Okay.

2 The second CIU investigator also concluded in September of 2022 that she did not

3 believe there was enough basis for CIU to revoke Allen's clearance.

4 Are you aware of that?

5 A I -- that is not consistent with any conversations I had with that case

6 manager. You said September 22nd? Of what year, sir?

7 Q September of 2022.

8 A September of 2022? The investigation was still ongoing, so I don't know

9 that --

10 Q Uh-huh.

11 A And, again, adjudications, adjudicative determinations are not made in CIU.

12 And she was a CIU investigator. So she would not have made any adjudicative

13 assessments or conclusions on that case.

14 Q Okay.

15 [redacted] So, for the witness's own understanding, if you could cite back to

16 exhibits that have been previously used in other hours, it would help contextualize her 17 response.

18 Ms. Perkins. Thank you.

19 [redacted] Okay.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q So, after the case was forwarded to CAU, the unit sent it back to CIU for 22 further investigation in January of 2023.

23 A That's --

24 Q Is that --

25 A In my recollection of the briefing on this case, which occurred in January of

1 2023, the investigator wrote her case summary, it was assigned to the adjudicator, the
2 adjudicator had a question.
3 So it wasn't so much that it was sent back. It was the adjudicator had a question,
4 that question being: Do you know if Marcus Allen was ever counseled for his behavior,
5 whether it was the emails, the outbursts, or whatever? Had he ever been counseled by 6 a supervisor?
7 The investigator looked through her notes and file and said, "Let me just be
8 certain. I'll reach back out to the field."
9 And so it wasn't so much it was transferred back; it was just more of a clarifying
10 interview.
11 Q Okay.
12 It was reported to us that, at that time, you allegedly pushed CIU to find SOS
13 Allen -- that SOS Allen intentionally omitted derogatory information on two January 6
14 subjects in order to sabotage the J6-related cases.
15 Can you explain to us how these events played out? Because according to 16 Ms. Moore's testimony to this committee, Allen was wrongfully accused of intentionally
17 omitting derogatory information from a J6-related case.
18 A So that's a multifaceted question, but I'll address the --
19 Q Yeah.
20 A -- first part, and then we can get to Ms. Moore.
21 Q Sure.
22 A But so -- and I'm not trying to be comical or disrespectful, but I'm not 23 clairvoyant. There's no way that I could have anticipated information out there about 24 his sabotaging a January 6th investigation before an interview took place.
25 So -- but in the case, as I understand, the adjudicator asked the investigator about

1 whether or not Mr. Allen had received counseling. She reached out to the squad
2 supervisor of the Joint Terrorism Task Force and asked the question.
3 That supervisor clarified. The agent supervisor of the squad, he's an intel
4 analyst. He falls under a supervisory intel analyst. However, I do recall there being a 5 situation where his intel supervisor admonished him about something that occurred with 6 a case. And he provided some context and said, "You may want to also speak to the 7 case agent."
8 And so, being an investigator, that investigator followed up to learn more about 9 what may have occurred with the case agent and the January 6 defendant.
10 In that followup interview, the investigator learned that there were some 11 concerns about Marcus Allen selectively turning over intelligence information about 12 January 6 defendants. She had reported a specific case and said that it had occurred in 13 another scenario, to the point where she just stopped relying on Marcus Allen because he 14 was not reliable, and so she would just go to other intel analysts to conduct the queries.
15 So all that information was as a result of the adjudicator asking the investigator
16 about counseling and then her learning that there were some concerns about his failure
17 to turn over relevant intelligence regarding January 6 defendants.
18 I didn't know about that information until after the interview took place.
19 Q Uh-huh. Okay.
20 So Marcus Allen's -- ultimately was revoked.
21 A He was.
22 Q He was. So why did it take another year and a half to resolve that case?
23 Did it take that long?
24 A After the revocation?
25 Q From -- yeah, yeah, to the revocation, which occurred on May 9, 2023, is my

1 understanding. And so can you explain, like, why it took so long?

2 A And as I noted in the last hour, I had significant concerns about [redacted]

3 and her program management of the Clearance Adjudication Unit.

4 Generally there's a process -- and it's not all [redacted], so I'm not trying to, you know,

5 say it's all her fault. But once a clearance revocation takes place, there is a process by

6 which an employee can request discovery and reconsideration.

7 If they request discovery, that means they request the entire investigative file that

8 was relied upon to make the clearance recommendation. That involves the Discovery

9 Processing Unit and then a process of redaction, so that can take several months. So

10 part of it was outside the control of Security Division.

11 But -- and then, doing that, that employee has a period of time, 30 days, to then

12 rebut and provide additional attestations about the -- assertions -- excuse me -- about the 13 allegations.

14 And so, at that point, then, there should be an emphasis in Clearance Adjudication

15 Unit to prioritize the review of that reconsideration. And I found that under [redacted] that 16 process was just not well-developed.

17 And just to give you some perspective, at one point I met with her. There were

18 over 70 cases that were sitting in reconsideration, and she had moved maybe 10 cases

19 forward in a period of a year. And so -- and she had two adjudicators sitting on 20 reconsideration cases.

21 Q Uh-huh.

22 A They just weren't moving. There was just no oversight, there was no

23 prioritization of those cases.

24 Q Okay.

25 So he's revoked on May 9th. And then on May -- and we'll enter the next exhibit, a May 17, 2023, letter, into the record. That'll be --

[redacted] It's from the FBI to the committee.

[redacted] Yeah. Is it exhibit 10?

The Reporter. Ten.

[Perkins Exhibit No. 10 was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]

Q We'll get -- oh, you got it. Okay.

A Yes.

Q Good.

Were you involved in drafting that May 17th letter?

A No.

Q No? Okay.

A I recognize -- and, in full disclosure, I recognize some of the charts. We have an analyst within the SIIS who provided -- did her best to try to establish some metrics and visuals. So I do recognize these. But, no, I did not write the letter.

Q Okay.

So it's revoked on May 9th. Allen makes an appearance before this committee on May 18th.

So what was the final determin- -- why was there the final determination to revoke his clearance? What was the "why," ultimately?

A Well, as -- have you -- I don't know what the committee has access to. Have you seen the revocation? Do you have his discovery? Do you have the revocation --

Q We just have this letter.

1 A I understand.

2 Q I mean, just stuff like that. So --

3 A Okay. Understood.

4 So, in January of 2023, this case was briefed to, again, that collaborative briefing
5 process that I've described a couple of times in the earlier hours after that followup
6 interview, as I had mentioned, that the investigator did on behalf of the adjudicator's
7 request, and learned that there was this apparent intentional sabotage and failure to turn
8 over relevant information to a January 6 defendant, and that it had been something that 9 had occurred previously -- again, corroborating the insider threat office's assessment that 10 he would manipulate information, you know, contrary to the interests of the FBI and the 11 national security.

12 So that is corroborating the concern about Marcus Allen, his trustworthiness, his 13 decisionmaking, and his reliability, and then looking at just sort of that whole person.

14 The case was briefed to the assistant director with OGC and the new Deputy 15 Assistant Director at the time. Mr. Veltri had already left. And so, in this collaborative
16 briefing, the conclusion at the end of the briefing was there was insufficient information 17 to reinstate the clearance -- because he was already suspended -- and that the 18 adjudication should proceed with the revocation.

19 So that was in January of 2023.

20 Q Uh-huh.

21 A So [redacted] was in that briefing. And she was then -- as a result of that 22 sort of briefing process, the takeaway was: Proceed with writing a clearance revocation
23 recommendation.

24 Why it took 5 months or 4-1/2 months? It just goes to the other issues that I've 25 destroyed about [redacted] and her program management ability.

1 Q Okay. Because it just seems odd with the timeline. You know, like, this
2 letter's written on May 17th, and then he's appearing the following day. So that just 3 raises some questions about the timing of that letter and all that. So -- and --
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q Ma'am, getting back to that briefing on the 23rd, that was to executive
6 management. I'm assuming everybody was sort of in the room; you know, the usual
7 parties that should be there were there.
8 Do you recall any dissenting opinions at that time in that meeting or any other
9 points of view in that particular meeting?
10 A In that meeting, I recall that what was contrary, your objecting point
11 of -- alternative points of view, was just whether or not the baseline analysis from insider
12 threat should be incorporated into the adjudication.
13 Q Okay. So that was the only point that sort of stuck out to you?
14 A That was the one that stood out to me. Because I understand that -- so [redacted]
15 [redacted], just to put this on the record, he objected to the baseline analysis. And so he 16 had independently sought out a separate nonanalytical entity to draft an opposing 17 analytical product. They were not analysts. He went to IT professionals to do analysis
18 and then had this competing baseline analysis.
19 He had also, actually, tried to get insider threat office to change their baseline 20 analysis. He had a former subordinate that worked in the insider threat office; he had 21 worked for him in Inspection Division and was now in insider threat office. And that 22 individual felt pressured by [redacted] to change the analytical conclusion in the 23 baseline.
24 And so, when they didn't change it, he went outside and got another entity to do
25 an analysis of Marcus Allen.

1 And so, in that briefing in January of 2023, there was the question of the dueling
2 analysis, or analytical products. And, ultimately, I think it was just determined
3 to just not include insider threat if it made the adjudicator uncomfortable about 4 conflicting information.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q How did you learn that information? Like, all the stuff with [redacted]
7 how did you learn that?
8 A So, when the baseline analysis was given to the Security Division, again, as I
9 mentioned in I think the first hour, [redacted] and his unit chief, [redacted] came to 10 my office to discuss it. And he disagreed with it.
11 And then -- I don't know when he went to this other entity to get an analytical 12 product, but I found out about it after the fact. And I just asked his unit chief, like, why
13 would we do that? And he wasn't sure why. He just, you know, felt that he 14 would -- kind of went on his own.
15 But the complaint about the subordinate -- I got a call from the supervisor at the 16 insider threat office on December 6th of 2021 with the complaint about the subordinate
17 feeling pressured by [redacted] to change the analysis.
18 [redacted] I would just add that there were some prior questions about the 19 timing of this letter and it being sent to the committee on May 17th. I would note for 20 the record that, as the letter indicates, this was a request and a deadline set by the 21 committee and the chairman.
22 And I quote: "Your May 8th letter requested that EAD Moore return to 23 'complete her testimony' before May 18th in advance of the committee's upcoming 24 hearing. Accordingly, EAD Moore rearranged travel and other obligations to abide by 25 the committee's timeline and to be in a position to provide additional information in

1 advance of that hearing. As the committee elected not to proceed with EAD Moore's
2 continued interview today, May 17th, we write to provide the committee with additional 3 information that you requested in advance of the committee's upcoming hearing."
4 [redacted] Thank you.
5 [redacted] Are you done there?
6 [redacted] I think so. Oh, one last question about the revocation.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q So were you in favor of it, for Allen's revocation?
9 A I agreed that the guidelines were properly applied, yes.
10 Q Okay. And Mr. Veltri, obviously? I mean, all the way up to the EAD level,
11 right?
12 A No. Mr. Veltri was not in the Security Division at that time.
13 Q Oh, he was out? Okay.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q Was there anyone in the room that disagreed with the conclusion to revoke?
16 A Again, my recollection was discussion about the use of the insider threat
17 baseline or not to use it and which guidelines were applicable.
18 Q And if the baseline was not used, would that have changed the final
19 assessment?
20 A No, because I think what we saw there was the -- whether or not we used
21 did it not take away the information or the concern that he would manipulate
22 information in contradiction of the FBI's mission.
23 And what we saw from the interviews that were conducted, where he was 24 intentionally withholding or sabotaging -- withholding information or sabotaging those 25 investigations of January 6th defendants, that corroborated that national security

1 concern, whether or not we say that the insider threat office gave us a heads-up a year
2 prior or whether or not we just note that his withholding of information on January 6
3 investigations, domestic terrorism investigations, was a national security concern.
4 Q For what [redacted] did, setting aside whether the procedural aspect was 5 atypical or not, did the IT folks and who else you spoke to -- can you say more about 6 whether there was a disagreement on the substance, on the merits of what was being 7 alleged?
8 A Yes, because -- so understand there's two entities. And I know some of you
9 are prior Bureau, so it may make more sense. But insider threat office is an analytical 10 entity. Where he went was to an entity called ESOC -- and please don't ask me to 11 explain what "ESOC" stands for. I know that they're more of the IT, information
12 technology, -type people.
13 So [redacted] went to ESOC, who are basically the 1's and 0's folks that pull raw
14 data. They're computer folks that pull raw data about user activity, whether it's just raw 15 data about queries through our systems of record or emails or text messages. It's just 16 raw data. That is their skill set. They provide the raw data, in some cases to insider
17 threat, to sort of synthesize and put into a product. Or, in some cases, we'll just get the 18 raw data, put all hands on deck, and then just look at it ourselves.
19 So to ask folks that are more, you know, IT-focused to perform an analytical 20 function was really not appropriate.
21 Q Uh-huh.
22 Did you have an opportunity to -- I guess, for the ESOC folks, was there a work
23 product, was there a final thing that you were able to review?
24 A I don't --
25 Q I understand that's not --

1 A Yeah.

2 Q -- the role, but --

3 A Yeah. I don't recall actually reading it.

4 I know that when I learned about it -- because it was being referenced by [redacted]

5 [redacted] And I spoke with [redacted] on December 6th about the call I had gotten

6 from insider threat office and said, you know, what I'm understanding here is [redacted]

7 [redacted] in disagreement with their product, which is under their purview, their

8 program, and he's asking them to change it, and when they said no, he goes outside and

9 has somebody else try to write a competing product that, you know, impeaches or

10 overrules the prior assessment. And it's just -- it's just -- it didn't seem entirely

11 appropriate.

12 And so I did talk to [redacted] and [redacted] said that he would talk to [redacted] and 13 address it.

14 Q Was it just [redacted] then, who had a one-on-one conversation with 15 [redacted] about why he was doing what he was doing?

16 A Yes, to my knowledge or understanding. I don't know if anyone else did.

17 I didn't speak to him directly about that, about those steps he took.

18 Q I guess, understanding, again, the irregularities with the procedure and your

19 concerns on that front, was there anyone who still looked at the assessment from ESOC

20 just to see if there was any merit to what their conclusion was?

21 A I can't speak to that, but it should probably be in the case file, I presume.

22 We wouldn't withhold it. I assume it would be in the case file.

23 Q Just turning back, if I can, the timing and the line of, you know -- but the 24 hearing was, you know, scheduled for May 18th. You're saying, walking out of this 25 meeting January 2023, a decision had been made.

1 A Yes.

2 Q Is there anything more you can tell us about why -- what was -- what steps

3 remained and had to be taking place for the next 4-1/2 months?

4 A I know that -- I recall in April of 2023 having another counseling session with

5 [redacted] about the length of time some of these cases were sitting, and, you know, I

6 specifically pointed out Marcus Allen. Said, this was a discussion we had in January of 7 this year; it's already April.

8 I would routinely go through and look to see which employees were in a

9 suspended status. And, you know, where's the case? What's going on? We've got to 10 get these cases moving, because they don't have the ability to appeal until after the 11 adjudication if it's going to go in the way of a revocation.

12 And so I did counsel her in April of 2023 about the lack of timeliness in her

13 adjudications.

14 BY [redacted]

15 Q Okay.

16 Well, just to put a fine point on the letter, I just want to be clear. I think we are,

17 but just if I can get that on the record, just to make sure that I am. Don't want to 18 assume.

19 So, ma'am, did you or your team provide any information that was included in the 20 letter? Were you tasked to support the letter that we have here, the May 17th letter?

21 A As I noted, I do recall seeing some of these charts.

22 Q Okay.

23 A Because this would only be able to come from the SIIS. How many referrals

24 or cases, you know, things like that, that would come from my team.

25 Q Okay.

1 Okay. Moving along off of the letter for now, so around the same timeframe,
2 according to documents released under FOIA, Representative Goldman's office
3 communicated with the Office of Congressional Affairs in advance of the May 18th
4 hearing. It appears from the documents that the FBI may have provided nonpublic
5 information protected by the Privacy Act to Representative Goldman's office on Allen
6 prior to the hearing.
7 Did you or anyone on your team, to the best of your knowledge, ever provide
8 information to OCA, to the Office of Congressional Affairs, in advance of the May 18th
9 hearing?
10 A I can't speak to that. I don't know if Security Division provided information.
11 Obviously, if this information is what you're referring to, then, yes, as I previously noted,
12 we provided some charts and metrics, which are reflected on page 2, 3, and 4 of this
13 document.
14 Q Just to clarify, to your recollection, would it be accurate to say you don't 15 recall a specific OCA tasking separately? Would that be accurate? Or -- I don't want to 16 put words in your mouth.
17 A Yeah, I'm not sure I'm understanding your question. I understand that -- 18 Q Well, the spirit of it is -- I know we get real formal here, but the spirit of it is 19 simply that Representative Goldman reached out to the FBI, which many Representatives
20 do --
21 A Uh-huh.
22 Q -- asked for information, received information, information possibly that may 23 have been beyond the scope of what should've been provided. But that's neither here
24 nor there.
25 And really just asking, do you know if you supported that request, your team?

1 A I have no knowledge of that. If you're referring to this letter, sir, I've told
2 you what we've provided.
3 Q Yes.
4 I think, in just plain speak --
5 A Yeah.
6 Q -- going off the script here, you can certainly understand the committee's -- if 7 the roles were reversed and you were sitting here and you realized what you have just 8 said -- which, by the way, you've been very professional, articulate, clearly knowledgeable
9 and very good at your job. So we appreciate your testimony today.
10 But, having said all of that, when you describe the January 2023 executive, you
11 know, briefing about Mr. Allen and all that went on there, and then the 4-1/2 months
12 that went on, again, and the counseling sessions for [redacted] et cetera -- if you didn't 13 know that coming in to today, which certainly we did not, and you look at the fact that a 14 letter appears magically the night before these people are to testify, that letter is 15 magically released to the media within the same timeframe, we have a Representative
16 whose office is being contacted and getting information ahead of that hearing, who sits 17 on this committee on the opposite side that my colleagues sit, having that information in 18 advance of the hearing, you would scratch your head as a seasoned investigator. I think 19 we share that.
20 I mean, these are things that you would at least ask, how did that happen? That 21 seems highly consequential, that that would just magically happen the night before. I'm 22 not blaming that on you, but I'm merely putting it into context, why we've delved down
23 this line of questioning.
24 But the other thing that sticks out to us is -- and as highly capable and competent
25 as you clearly are in your profession and what you do -- how on Earth do we go from, you

1 know, a revocation -- which we understand. You walked that dog. But how do we get
2 a complete 180, then, within a year, right, where all of a sudden -- so we have a
3 suspension, and you've done a very good job articulating for the committee, and I
4 appreciate that, all the information that was before you. And then we get to revocation,
5 which we understand how that thought process came about.
6 But then within a year, right, we go from the May 17th letter to the May 31st
7 letter -- which I realize, when Mr. Dunham authored that letter, you were no longer in 8 that position at that time. But you understand, within a year everything changes.
9 And it's sort of incredulous to the committee, how does that change in a year,
10 when we were so sure about, you know, the suspension, the revocation, we were locked
11 in, the facts appeared to be there, and then we do a 180 and they're not? Can you
12 provide any context at all as to how that can happen?
13 Because this man's life, I think it's worth noting on the record -- I think we know
14 this, but I'll play the Captain Obvious moment. This man's life -- his thrift savings were 15 emptied, his wife's thrift savings were emptied for an, "Oh, gee, that really unfortunate."
16 And although the Bureau reinstated him and gave him full backpay, you and I both know
17 that doesn't fill up his TSP account ever again. So it's sort of a big "oops".
18 How did we get there, Ms. Perkins?
19 A And you -- that was a lot of information, so I'll --
20 Q It's a lot, but I'll give you --
21 A -- I'll certainly --
22 Q -- time to respond.
23 A Yeah. So I'll go to the piece of -- and, again, as -- and for one, as I noted
24 earlier --
25 Q Yes.

1 A -- the sufficient mitigation of the underlying security concerns does not
2 mean those allegations were unsubstantiated. And there's a distinction there. And if
3 the mitigation includes Mr. Allen's willingness to resign from the FBI, again, I'll defer to 4 folks that were part of those conversations because, you know, I was not.
5 Q And, to be clear, I don't want you to speculate. But you're very clearly a
6 subject-matter expert in this field and in the right position for the FBI at the right time,
7 clearly, with that expertise.
8 And that's how I'm asking you how, within a year's timeframe, we are locked in to 9 one set of conclusions and we do an about-face.
10 [redacted] And the witness has already said she was not part of the 11 reinstatement decision. So you're asking her to speculate specifically about something 12 she wasn't involved in.
13 [redacted] But I do believe, counsel, that she was there for the length of the 14 time and only recently removed from that position and would have, based upon her 15 subject-matter expertise, a pretty good idea of how to get us there.
16 Ms. Perkins. What I will offer, in general terms, not specific to Mr. Allen --
17 [redacted] Yes.
18 Ms. Perkins. -- but what I will explain is that that is why we have a 19 reconsideration process. That is built in to this whole adjudication.
20 In one of the earlier hours, the question was, well, is the adjudication the end of 21 the road? No. There are discovery processes. There's reconsideration processes.
22 There's even the opportunity to appeal before the DOJ, our Access Review Committee.
23 [redacted] Yes.
24 Ms. Perkins. So, again, these are all opportunities for information to be provided
25 and to be assessed and, you know, evaluated.

1 I've seen maybe 12 -- I'm not going to -- I don't want to be wrong on the record,
2 but -- 12 to 15, perhaps, reconsiderations go in the way of a restatement.
3 [redacted] Yes.
4 Ms. Perkins. That's why that process is there.
5 And, again, what is the mitigation? And if the mitigation included Mr. Allen's
6 resignation from the FBI, then that cannot be, you know, overlooked. And, again,
7 reinstatement -- sufficient mitigation does not mean unsubstantiated.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q As we sit here, as a professional, with all your experience, which is vast, in 10 this area, are you at peace with the final decision that was authored by DAD Dunham?
11 A What I, as a professional, know is, my role is to provide information to the 12 decisionmaker. In any of these suspensions or revocations, my job as a midlevel
13 manager is to ensure that the SPM has all of the information that he or she needs to 14 make that decision. Because, as you noted, it has impacts on families.
15 Q Absolutely.
16 A It's a big decision. These aren't just pieces of paper; these are human 17 beings. We understand that. Anyone who's worked for me knows that that is my 18 mantra. Not paper; these are people.
19 So, you know, absolutely, you know, I provided all information that I can to the 20 decisionmaker. And I respect their decision. It's not my decision to make.
21 Q Thank you.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Suspending people without pay, though -- you know, when they get 24 suspended, they go off-duty without pay, right? Is that a relatively new thing?
25 A No.

1 Q Because my recollection in some cases was, I knew guys that failed
2 polygraphs, and they were just simply moved to administrative positions. And, you
3 know, it sounds like that's been the policy, to suspend people's pay. That's a
4 case-by-case basis, then?
5 A And, again, as I noted in one of the earlier hours, is that any
6 recommendation to suspend a clearance is when there is a concern about unmitigatable
7 risk to national security. Over 700 cases ongoing right now in the Security Division; only 8 about 30 to 40 of those individuals are in a clearance-suspension status.
9 So SEAD 4 of the National Security Adjudicative Guidelines specifically state that 10 no adjudicative decision can be made solely on the basis of a polygraph examination.
11 So, in that example, there would be no recommendation to suspend a security clearance
12 based on a polygraph absent adjudicatively relevant information. So, again, polygraph 13 cases would not result in a suspension unless there was some type of an admission that 14 was disqualifying.
15 Q It just would seem to me like somebody, you know, being, you know, DI on a 16 poly, deception indicated on a polygraph, on foreign intel or something along those lines
17 would be more than enough reason to get them out of the building.
18 A Well, and, again, absent adjudicatively relevant information, in a polygraph 19 investigation, if there was a failure, the investigation would seek to determine what the 20 underlying reasons were for those polygraph results.
21 Q Okay.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Okay. We're going to move along.
24 A Okay.
25 Q Switching gears, Special Agent Garrett O'Boyle, certainly that has been

1 front-page, above the fold, more than once. Are you familiar with Special Agent Garrett
2 O'Boyle?
3 A I am.
4 Q What was your role, ma'am, in O'Boyle's clearance investigation?
5 A I received a call from the insider threat office on or about July 27th of 2022
6 reporting information that an unknown subject had been identified conducting an 7 interview on YouTube related to a New York Field Office criminal investigation. The 8 interview apparently took place in May, on May 11th of 2020. Information about that 9 specification New York criminal case was disclosed during that interview.
10 The person who was interviewed appeared to be shielded, appeared to be
11 voice-modified to disguise that person's identity. But between the New York Field Office 12 and the insider threat office, they were able to pinpoint a point in time where that 13 information had been accessed by this unknown subject or others.
14 With that, insider threat office and New York Field Office went through and did
15 their work which they do, that baseline analysis, that user activity. And they identified
16 that the only individual who had accessed that New York case file and all of the serials 17 containing information that was disclosed during that interview -- the only person who 18 accessed that case file and those serials was Garrett O'Boyle.
19 Q Okay. And so I think -- I was going to ask the followup of the materials that 20 you relied upon, but I'm going to -- I believe that we're talking about internal audits of FBI
21 systems --
22 A Yes.
23 Q -- and being able to identify, you know, who had access to the case --
24 A Yes.
25 Q -- and that capability.

1 Anything additional, ma'am, that the Bureau relied upon as far as the basis for
2 opening that investigation beyond that that you're aware of?
3 A So that referral was sufficient to predicate the investigation.
4 Q Thank you.
5 [redacted] Over to you, [redacted]
6 [redacted] Uh-huh.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q Are you aware that O'Boyle began making protected disclosures to Congress
9 in November of 2021?
10 A I understand that's what he's alleging at this time, but we attempted to 11 conduct an interview of Mr. O'Boyle and he declined to participate in an interview.
12 Q Okay.
13 And during his testimony before there committee, Mr. O'Boyle detailed the abject
14 cruelty with which the FBI treated him and his young family.
15 Are you aware that Mr. O'Boyle was suspended on his first day reporting to a new 16 duty station in Virginia?
17 A I am aware.
18 Q Okay.
19 Are you aware that in order to accommodate the transfer Mr. O'Boyle had to 20 move from Kansas to Virginia?
21 A I'm aware.
22 Q Yeah? Okay.
23 And then, according to a whistleblower, Kansas City management objected to 24 Mr. Clark's plans to suspend Mr. O'Boyle after his transfer because it violated FBI policy
25 against transferring employees who are under investigation.

1 Why did the Bureau go ahead and transfer him anyway?

2 A So I'll explain my understanding of the transfer unit's practice.

3 When an individual is selected for a position or being provided a transfer between

4 duty stations or assignments, there is a name-check process that occurs, and one of those

5 name checks is with the Security Division. This is an individual that has an active

6 investigation.

7 So, at the point that Mr. O'Boyle applied for his job and was selected for his job, it

8 was well before the Security Division investigation was opened, so there was no

9 prohibition against him being selected for that assignment and then proceeding with the 10 transfer. He was well under the transfer process before our investigation was even 11 opened.

12 Q Okay.

13 So, basically -- and we've heard this before in previous appearances by other

14 people, like Mr. Clark. But, basically, Security Division, they don't have any weigh-in on 15 any of that; you guys didn't have a role in as far as his transfer, anything like that --

16 A No.

17 Q -- whatsoever?

18 A The transfer was sought by Mr. O'Boyle.

19 Q Yeah.

20 A He put in for the job, and he was selected. Again, the only role that

21 Security Division has is doing a name check. And that would've been done back in,

22 what, May or June, before his transfer orders were issued.

23 Q Okay.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q So, again, for the benefit of the committee, for someone who may not

1 understand that, oftentimes, the committee, understands that perhaps if there is an
2 adverse personnel action against an employee, that oftentimes would delay a transfer or 3 a promotion.
4 In this case, for the record, testimony is that, of course, Mr. O'Boyle had applied
5 for and been selected prior to the SecD investigation being opened --
6 A Correct.
7 Q -- and so that was already down the tracks.
8 A Correct.
9 Q And once that is -- and I don't know this to be true; perhaps one of my 10 Bureau colleagues would know. Once that is in motion, the transfer unit would not
11 necessarily have a reason to check again if there's an adverse personnel action? Are you
12 aware if they would or would not? It seems like that would've stopped it had it did,
13 but --
14 A No. In fact, just as a point of clarification, not to go too granular into the 15 FBI's process, but once the transfer unit does that name check, they're clear, they issue
16 the transfer orders, transfer unit is done.
17 At that point, it then moves on to the transfer payment and services unit, which is 18 not even within the HRB. It's under Finance and Facilities Division. So it's matter of 19 financial transactions and services and so forth.
20 So, once the orders are issued, they're done, TPSU takes over, and they facilitate 21 the transfer.
22 [redacted] Have there been any changes to the protocol in light of this case and 23 what happened?
24 Ms. Perkins. Specifically?
25 [redacted] Just to try to prevent a similar situation where the transfer's been

1 approved already, an issue arises with SecD, and now you have a situation where, you
2 know, the agent is caught in limbo.
3 Ms. Perkins. I think these circumstances are so unique. Certainly, you know,
4 without minimizing the impact on Mr. O'Boyle's family, because I'm very sympathetic to 5 the situation that he was in, in the 6 years that I've been in Security Division, I've never 6 seen a situation align like this.
7 But, certainly, I think there are recommendations that we could make, but not to 8 so much change the entire policy or practice of the FBI, but certainly to, you know, try to 9 communicate with, say, for example, TPSU about, you know, access to, you know,
10 household goods, that type of thing.
11 But, no, I don't think -- to my knowledge, I don't think there's been any change to 12 any policy based on a specific case.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q So that testimony makes perfect sense in context of how that could've set 15 the stage for the events that unfolded.
16 My only question is, of course, the special agent in charge and the executive
17 management in the Kansas City division likely or I believe would have been, you know,
18 aware that there was something afoot with Special Agent O'Boyle.
19 Was there, to your knowledge, any conversation from, you know, SecD with 20 executive management in Kansas City? And if so -- second part -- could that not have 21 been a perhaps emergency brake to some of this?
22 A And it's all hypothetical, so certainly I don't want to --
23 Q I understand. But --
24 A -- speak out of --
25 Q -- the first part first, though.

1 A So, to answer your question, there were routine conversations with Kansas
2 City management. But understand, you know, while I got a call from the insider threat
3 office on or about July 27th, the case is opened August 1st of 2022, and as we're assessing
4 the facts and evidence that we have at that point in time, we're getting the information
5 from insider threat, we're looking at that user activity, we're communicating with the 6 New York Field Office over a span of, you know, a week to 2 weeks. His household
7 goods were packed up on August 11th and August 12th, so they're already moving across
8 the country. He's already sold his house.
9 So, you know, I'm not sure at what point in time there could be an emergency
10 brake, because his house has already been sold, his household goods are already on a
11 truck, you know.
12 But at the point that they were in Manassas, I understand that EAD Moore was 13 very concerned about just making sure that they were not stuck in the middle of the 14 United States on a truck somewhere, that they could be accessed by Mr. O'Boyle.
15 Q Thank you for that.
16 I have nothing further.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Okay. I want to follow up on a few more questions about Mr. Allen.
19 And I forget the exhibit number; I think it's exhibit 3 or exhibit 4. It's the 20 September 19, 2024, letter.
21 [redacted] It's exhibit 7.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Oh, okay. I was off. It's exhibit 7.
24 If I could have you turn to page 11.
25 In the second full paragraph on that page, there's a line that the second

1 investigator wrote in her 302 saying, "Allen confirmed he had sent the [September 29,
2 2021] email and the Holy Spirit compelled him to do so. Allen believed he had a moral
3 imperative to share the information."
4 The next paragraph has some allegations against Mr. Veltri. It says that 5 Mr. Veltri "made comments suggesting Mr. Allen was delusional for referring to his 6 religious belief instead of secular, moral or ethical reasons for disclosing wrongdoing.
7 The implication to others in SecD was that DAD Veltri believed Mr. Allen's Christian beliefs
8 as a devout Catholic were a reason to revoke his access to classified information."
9 The first part of this letter, were you aware of this allegation?
10 A I was not aware of this allegation. No.
11 Q Were you aware of the summary in the 302 that Mr. Allen invoked that the 12 Holy Spirit compelled him to --
13 A Yes.
14 Q -- do what he did?
15 A That was part of that briefing that I referenced, the January 2023 briefing.
16 Yes.
17 Q Do you recall anyone in SecD making comments regarding this statement
18 that Mr. Allen is said to have made in his interview?
19 A Sure. Again, I'll back up. I understand that this interview occurred
20 in -- was it -- what was the date of the interview? I know after that interview -- there
21 were multiple briefings on the Mr. Allen case, and I can certainly pinpoint them if need 22 be.
23 But there were a couple of statements that Mr. Allen made. One was that he 24 was compelled by the power of the Holy Spirit. There was another one where he made
25 reference to, like, a 1980-era prophecy that Donald Trump would lead us to God. He

1 had made statements to his supervisor that he was having visions, that he was feeling like
2 he was being torn and pulled in multiple directions.
3 And so, in the context of all of that, it was a relevant conversation. So I
4 remember a briefing sometime -- and, again, I can get the date if need be, but just for 5 hitting the point here -- you know, Security Division assessed whether or not it had an
6 obligation to determine whether or not there was a Guideline I concern. And as you
7 look at SEAD 4, Guideline I goes to psychological, you know, conditions. Is there a
8 Guideline I concern here that is impacting Mr. Allen's ability to render good judgment?
9 Or is he just potentially -- is he being manipulative? Is he kind of being manipulative 10 with that?
11 And so, you know, with that, at no point did DAD Veltri attack Mr. Allen for his 12 Christian faith. We did have a case briefing and a conversation, a rather robust 13 conversation, as to whether or not some of these statements were, you know, potentially 14 indicative of a Guideline I issue or whether or not he was, you know, being manipulative.
15 Ultimately, there was no request for a psychological evaluation of Mr. Allen, so
16 there was no pursuing a psychological issue.
17 Q Did Mr. Veltri want there to be a psychological analysis?
18 A He recommended that we discuss it as a team. Ultimately, we -- when I
19 spoke with him and I spoke with Office of General Counsel and I spoke with the case 20 manager, we were concerned that looking at his psychological fitness would be 21 manipulated and construed as attacking him for his faith.
22 And, you know, the other very real possibility was that Mr. Allen was just being 23 manipulative. And, you know, we continued to investigate on whether or not he was 24 manipulating information and engaging in conduct that was in conflict with the other
25 adjudicative guidelines.

1 [redacted] With the understanding the witness has been pretty forward-leaning
2 in discussing certain deliberations, I'm just flagging for the record that some discussions
3 with the OGC embed may implicate certain legal privileges, which we'll flag in real-time in 4 response to your questions.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q So these discussions that you were just recounting, your previous couple
7 answers, are these multiple one-on-one discussions with the different
8 entities -- Mr. Veltri, OGC?
9 Or is this -- maybe a different way of asking: That main briefing you were talking
10 about, who was in that briefing?
11 A So that would've been a routine standing SIIS case briefing. So that 12 would've been case managers, supervisors, unit chiefs, myself, DAD, OGC, AD.
13 Q Can you say more about the -- so the second option was the concern that 14 potentially Mr. Allen is invoking his faith as a way to, what, protect further inquiry? Or 15 what did you mean by that?
16 A You know, some of the statements -- you know, the prophecy, the visions,
17 the Holy Spirit compelling him -- you know, was he trying to kind of create a scenario
18 where the FBI would then engage on that and conduct an analysis or an assessment of his 19 psychological fitness and then, you know, allege that the FBI was persecuting him for his 20 faith?
21 And so there was robust discussion about, you know, how to address those 22 concerns. Were there legitimate, potentially, you know, indicators that he was, you
23 know, not, you know, seeing facts clearly and that he was having these, you know,
24 imaginations and so forth? Or, again, was it just a situation where he was trying to draw
25 the FBI into challenging him at that level?

1 Q So, of those two options, so the first would be that if he's sincerely feeling
2 that the Holy Spirit is compelling him to do so, that could warrant a psychological
3 assessment and --
4 A Not -- no. Again, taking it in totality. There were multiple statements that 5 he was --
6 Q Okay.
7 A -- making. "Oh, the Holy Spirit's compelling me to send out emails." You
8 know, "The 1980 prophecy says that, you know, Donald Trump's going to lead us to God."
9 And, you know, "I'm having visions, I'm seeing things, I'm being pulled in multiple 10 statements." Those are statements that, you know, warrant a review.
11 Q Maybe a different way of asking the question: If -- I'm just trying to 12 connect the two different responses here. Because, ultimately, the decision's not to --
13 A Yes.
14 Q -- do to the psychological --
15 A Yes.
16 Q -- analysis. Is the only way that the FBI can get there if the assessment is 17 that he's doing this in kind of a manipulative way?
18 A You know, the -- and, again, the question was, do we have an obligation
19 under the adjudicative guidelines to address Guideline I? And ultimately the decision
20 was, no, we're not going to address Guideline I; we don't see this as a delusional disorder.
21 So, based on the facts and evidence that we had, we did not see that there was a
22 psychological condition. So we did not pursue a psychological fitness-for-duty
23 evaluation.
24 Q Can you say more, what facts and indicators you saw that helped you to 25 reach that conclusion?

1 A Sure.

2 And just generally in cases that we have worked, looking at precedent, we've seen

3 other behaviors and other conduct that is more indicative of an employee who's

4 struggling with a condition, with, you know, a potentially disqualifying psychological

5 condition.

6 In this case here, we had these three statements, and, again, it just appeared to

7 be that he was baiting the FBI, he was baiting the Security Division.

8 Q Was there anyone in any of these briefings who thought that the "Holy

9 Spirit" comment should be put into the same category as, like, the prophecy statement

10 and some of these other ones?

11 A I can't recall specifically if anyone said, put these in a bucket or a category.

12 Q For Mr. Veltri, when he's, you know, suggesting, you know, should we 13 consider at least a psychological assessment, what was his basis?

14 Because in order to get, I guess, to get to the point, if I'm understanding correctly,

15 of an assessment being necessary, it'd be that Mr. Allen is not manipulating or using this

16 to bait the FBI.

17 A Uh-huh.

18 Q What was Mr. Veltri seeing that would suggest that that was not the case?

19 A I can't speak for Mr. Veltri. What I can speak to is, the takeaway from the

20 briefings and the meetings was that there was not going to be a request for a

21 psychological fit-for-duty evaluation on Mr. Allen.

22 Q Do you recall anyone else sharing the same perspective as Mr. Veltri?

23 A Well, you're seeming to make as fact that Mr. Veltri wanted a psychological

24 fitness-for-duty evaluation, and I want to clarify for the record that at no point did

25 Mr. Veltri insist that there was a psychological condition.

1 What I will say is that there was a conversation and a collaborative conversation,
2 which -- all of these cases that are, you know, going to lead towards a recommendation
3 for a suspension or a revocation, all of these are conversations that we have 4 collaboratively, looking at the facts and evidence, and making those recommendations.
5 So, again, it was appropriate to determine whether or not the Security Division
6 had an obligation under Guideline I to assess psychological fitness. Ultimately, the 7 decision was made to not request that evaluation.
8 Q Taking a step back from this specific instance, or all the context of this
9 instance, for situations where there are -- someone is invoking something where it is a 10 gray line of whether there's a psychological issue or if this is a sincerely held religious 11 belief --
12 A Uh-huh.
13 Q -- what else is the -- what other facts or indicators that the FBI would look 14 for?
15 A On Guideline I specifically?
16 Q Yes.
17 A I think we're going to see behaviors, aberrant behaviors.
18 Again, we have SEAD 4 in front of us, and we can look at Guideline I. And, again,
19 we always apply the guideline. This isn't a process that isn't rooted in policy.
20 If you look at Guideline I, you know, "Certain...mental and personality conditions
21 can impair judgment, reliability, or trustworthiness." And it obviously goes through.
22 And if you look at "Conditions that could raise a security concern," under 23 paragraph (a), "behavior that casts doubt on an individual's judgment, stability, reliability,
24 or trustworthiness." And we go on into "irresponsible, violent, self-harm, suicidal,
25 paranoid, manipulative, impulsive, chronic lying, deceitful, exploitative, or bizarre

1 behaviors." So, certainly, some of those bizarre behaviors would be of concern.

2 So, you know, with that, you know, we didn't see a pattern of behavior that would

3 call into question a potential psychological condition. Again, we've seen some

4 delusional disorders, we've seen people that have those issues. And we work with our

5 Psychological Services Unit to evaluate and determine whether or not there is a

6 disqualifying condition.

7 Q Okay.

1 [3:24 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Just one last question before we wrap up. Do you still talk to Mr. Veltri?

4 A He's a special agent in charge of the Miami Field Office. I've considered Mr.

5 Veltri to be a mentor since he was my supervisor. We'll talk from time to time, not on a

6 regular basis.

7 Q Okay. And you're aware of his public posts on social media against Donald

8 Trump?

9 A Those allegations have been determined to be false.

10 Q Well, in the media, it was reported that the Bureau forced him to take that 11 stuff down.

12 A Yeah. As I understand --

13 Q So I just was going to ask if, you know, you've thought that any of his political

14 leanings ever -- you witnessed it ever cloud his judgment involving any of these

15 investigations?

16 A Yeah. So, just as a point of clarification, I understand the Office of Public

17 Affairs has issued statements in the recent last couple of days that debunk those

18 allegations as false, that anyone in the FBI had any concerns about Mr. Veltri and his 19 social media posts.

20 But I'll defer to OPA to speak more specifically to their statement. I'm not on 21 social media, I don't follow anyone on social media, because I don't have any accounts.

22 But I can say that, in my experience working with Mr. Veltri, he was fair and he

23 was objective on all of our investigations.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q Okay. Just a couple more things. And I think our hour is almost up here.

1 But to help clarify the record, in previous rounds we've talked about the different
2 pieces of information in Mr. Allen's case, and you mentioned an outburst that had 3 happened.
4 A Uh-huh.
5 Q Can you say a bit more again? And as part of that, too, was there one or 6 were there multiple instances?
7 A Sure. As I recall from some of the interviews, that in the summer of 2021
8 there was a threat review and prioritization process. Intel components would be a part 9 of that. And there was a discussion about a domestic terrorism threat. And his 10 outburst was along the lines of, "We don't have all the facts," and, you know, just 11 countering that the domestic terrorism threat was prevalent and a realistic issue to be 12 addressed by the FBI. And his supervisor did counsel him for that outburst and told him
13 it was inappropriate.
14 And, again, there was the counseling early on in the year about emails he was 15 sending out. And then he's continuing to send out these emails. His supervisor is 16 saying, use reliable news sources, not these, you know, other websites that are not 17 reputable.
18 And then he's having this outburst, and then he sends this email trying to, you
19 know, convince people or dissuade them from, you know, following up headquarters'
20 orders. So that pattern of behavior was established.
21 Q Uh-huh. To your knowledge, were there any other instances similar to 22 what you're describing -- what's described in the file as the outburst?
23 A As significant as that, I'm not aware.
24 What I do recall from some of the interviews that were taking place, that he was 25 very vocal, just kind of the day-to-day walking through the office, walking through his

1 squad area, vocalizing that January 6 subjects were not being treated fairly and "we don't 2 have all the facts" and things like that.
3 So, certainly, to the extent of an outburst, I don't know, from reading the 4 documents, that they were at that level, but certainly that this was sort of a pattern for 5 Mr. Allen.
6 Q If you could say a little bit more about -- again, we understand the situation.
7 Obviously, you weren't there for the outburst itself.
8 A Of course.
9 Q "Outburst" in the sense of speaking out of turn? Or did he raise his voice?
10 A Yes.
11 Q What more can you say about --
12 A It was described to me from the ASAC in my November 2, 2021, call, was 13 that it was; it was sort of jumping up, raising his voice, sort of, you know, an outburst,
14 screaming in a loud voice, elevated voice, you know, "We don't have all the facts," 15 da-da-da-da-da.
16 And so, for one, I think it was notable because it was determined to be somewhat 17 uncharacteristic of Mr. Allen. But then again, as people were -- well, he's kind of,
18 like -- for the past year, he's been very -- you know, very -- there's kind of a shift in his 19 behavior and his mindset. So when I noted in the email that he was escalating or 20 spiraling, that was how it was described to me by the ASAC.
21 Q Okay.
22 Do you know if -- how many people were interviewed who witnessed the 23 outbursts?
24 A I can't speak to that, but I'm sure it's in the case file.
25 Q Do you recall at all whether there were differing views about the degree to

1 which it was an outburst as opposed to a different viewpoint maybe not expressed in the 2 right way?
3 A I certainly can't speak to that. All I can say is what was explained to me,
4 that it was an outburst and it was concerning. But, again, I'll defer to the case file for 5 any specific interviews of other witnesses.
6 [redacted] I think we're at a good stopping point.
7 [Recess.]
8 [redacted] It is 3:39. We are back on the record.
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q I have a couple of questions about Marcus Allen based on the conversation
11 just within the last hour.
12 A Yes.
13 Q First of all, on the alternative baseline assessment that was conducted, for 14 the record, you said that was done by ESOC. Is that the Enterprise Security Operations
15 Center? Does --
16 A Yes.
17 Q -- that sound right?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Okay. And that is -- as you said, that's under the IT, not the insider threat, 20 but the information technology section, correct?
21 A So, at the time that this occurred, yes, it was under the information
22 technology branch. That particular unit has now since moved under insider threat.
23 Q Okay. But at the time, it was not.
24 A Correct.
25 Q So it was not in an analytical branch or in any entity that had analytical

1 responsibilities.

2 A Correct.

3 Q Okay.

4 When [redacted] asked for that assessment -- or, I'm sorry, the fact of [redacted]

5 [redacted] asking for that assessment, is that something that had ever happened before --

6 A No.

7 Q -- in the Security Division?

8 A No.

9 Q Okay. So it was unusual.

10 A It was, very much so.

11 Q And was it appropriate for him to request that type of assessment?

12 A Based on the circumstances, I don't think so. Because, in my

13 understanding from talking with his unit chief, [redacted] it appeared -- and, again, in

14 light of the information that he tried to pressure the former subordinate at insider threat

15 office to change the recommendation, or the analytical conclusion, it appeared to me that

16 he was trying to impeach insider threat and to rebut their analytical findings.

17 Q And you mentioned a couple times that he was trying to intimidate the ESOC

18 employee --

19 A The insider threat employee.

20 Q -- insider threat employee -- I'm sorry -- into altering the baseline

21 assessment. Was that employee considered junior to [redacted]

22 A He had been.

23 Q Okay.

24 A Again, [redacted] was retired. But in his capacity as an SES in the 25 Inspection Division, he once held a supervisory subordinate role over this individual who

1 worked as a supervisor in the insider threat office. And it appeared that he had tried to 2 leverage that relationship as a former supervisor to persuade him to make the change to 3 the conclusion.
4 Q Okay. And how did you become aware that he had worked to intimidate
5 this other employee?
6 A I got a complaint from that employee's supervisor on December 6th of 2021.
7 And he called me and said, we have a situation here with [redacted] He explained it
8 to me. He forwarded me an email, some back-and-forth, where there had been some 9 dialogue between [redacted] and the SSA. And, ultimately, in that supervisor's 10 conversation with the supervisory special agent, he got the sense that [redacted] was trying to 11 pressure him and persuade him to change the findings.
12 Q Okay. Would that type of -- the concern about the intimidation and the 13 pressure to alter the findings, would that be documented in Mr. Allen's file?
14 A No.
15 Q Okay. So that would be -- okay.
16 I want to return to the questions that were asked about page 11 of the September
17 19, 2024, letter. That's exhibit 7. These are the questions about the Holy Spirit.
18 A Yes.
19 Q You mentioned in the earlier -- I think it was the very first hour we were 20 here -- that you yourself are a practicing Catholic, correct?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Okay. And the Holy Spirit is something that's associated with Catholic 23 ideology, correct?
24 A Yes.
25 Q What's your response to the allegation that belief in the Holy Spirit might

1 trigger an investigation under Guideline I?

2 A And, again, as a standalone, a belief in the Holy Spirit is not a basis for a

3 security investigation.

4 The larger issue or larger question that would be asked is, is an employee

5 hallucinating? Is an employee -- we had a case -- and just again, not Mr. Allen, but we

6 had a case of an individual who was hallucinating and was having conversations with their

7 deity of choice. And so it wasn't so much the faith piece; it was the hallucinations, it

8 was the conversations with -- you know, the imaginary conversations that were taking

9 place in her mind.

10 And so, certainly, SecD has an obligation to determine whether or not there is an

11 underlying issue there. But just Mr. Allen's belief in the Holy Spirit was not in any way, 12 shape, or form a basis for any investigation.

13 Q And you mentioned a couple of other examples of things he had said or

14 referred to that were part of this kind of whole-person evaluation under this potential

15 Guideline I investigation that, to be clear, never actually took place.

16 There was a reference to a 1980s-era prophecy about Donald Trump becoming

17 President, I guess, in -- I guess, can you -- I'm not familiar with that, and it's not

18 mentioned in the Empower Oversight letter. Can you explain what that refers to?

19 A Yes. Apparently -- and, again, what it is rooted in, I don't have specifics.

20 But I understand that he had made a comment to a supervisor, and this came up in an

21 interview, that there was, like, a 1981 or 1984 prophecy that said Donald Trump would

22 lead us, meaning the United States, to God.

23 Q And you said he also had been experiencing -- or he said he had been 24 experiencing visions?

25 A Correct. He had told his supervisor that he was -- he said, I'm having

1 visions, I feel like I'm being pulled in different directions. And those were statements
2 that came up in the interview with his supervisor.
3 Q Okay. And do you recall what those visions were visions of or --
4 A Not specifically.
5 Q Okay.
6 And, as you said, there was no corresponding behavior, correct?
7 A Correct.
8 Q So Guideline I was not applicable here.
9 A Correct.
10 Q Okay.
11 The letter -- page 11 of this letter says, "... it is difficult to imagine a clearer signal
12 from a SecD leader that improper considerations about an FBI employee's protected First 13 Amendment religious beliefs unconstitutionally infected the security clearance process."
14 And I should've read the first part of it. That's referring to -- actually, sorry. Let 15 me withdraw that and just read the whole paragraph. I apologize.
16 A Okay.
17 Q It says, "According to our SecD SSA client, DAD Veltri made comments
18 suggesting Mr. Allen was delusional for referring to his religious belief instead of secular,
19 moral or ethical reasons for disclosing wrongdoing."
20 And let's take that sentence standing alone. Are you aware of DAD Veltri ever
21 making any comments suggesting Mr. Allen was delusional for referring to his religious 22 beliefs?
23 A No.
24 Q Okay.
25 The next sentence reads, "The implication to others in SecD was that DAD Veltri

1 believed Mr. Allen's Christian beliefs as a devout Catholic were a reason to revoke his
2 access to classified information."
3 To the best of your knowledge, did DAD Veltri believe that Mr. Allen's Christian
4 beliefs as a devout Catholic were reason to revoke his access to classified information?
5 A No.
6 Q Okay.
7 And then the final sentence of that paragraph reads, "Again, it is difficult to 8 imagine a clearer signal from a SecD leader that improper considerations about an FBI
9 employee's protected First Amendment religious beliefs unconstitutionally infected the 10 security clearance process."
11 In your opinion, did Mr. Allen's religious beliefs or Mr. Veltri's opinions about Mr.
12 Allen's religious beliefs infect the security clearance process?
13 A No.
14 Q Did they have any impact at all on the security clearance determination with 15 respect to Mr. Allen?
16 A No.
17 Q Okay.
18 I want to move on to Garrett O'Boyle.
19 A Yes.
20 Q Just a minute. Too many papers.
21 I don't want to spend too much time on Mr. O'Boyle, but I do want to go through 22 the allegations that led to his suspension in just a little bit more detail.
23 Can you describe for the record what the circumstances were that led to Mr. Allen
24 being suspended?
25 A As I noted in one of the earlier hours, when the insider threat office referred

1 the matter to Security Division, at that point in time -- again, this was July 27th of
2 2022 -- there had been an interview on May 11th of 2022 of an unknown subject having 3 an interview with a media representative or an individual portraying as such, and this
4 interview was available on YouTube, discussing a very specific New York Field Office
5 criminal investigation.
6 And the insider threat office's assessment, in their coordination with New York
7 Field Office, they determined that the information that had been disclosed in that 8 interview came specifically from the case file in our system of record, Sentinel, and very 9 specific serials and very specific subfiles. And there were screenshots of the case file
10 that were displayed during the interview and were then accessible on YouTube.
11 And the review by the insider threat office and the New York Field Office
12 determined that the only person who did not have a valid and legitimate need to know or 13 need to access those case files and serials was Garrett O'Boyle.
14 Q And that was the reason for the initial suspension, correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q And, then, as the investigation proceeded, was further information or 17 further evidence uncovered about Mr. O'Boyle's role in accessing information and/or 18 producing that information to others?
19 A Yes. So, multifaceted.
20 So, in reviewing his user activity, we received information -- just lots of 21 information about the dates that he was accessing the case file. Apparently the first
22 time he accessed that New York case file was on November 5th of 2021, which was a day
23 after a search warrant relevant to that New York case file was executed.
24 And, you know, certainly no need to know, no need to access. Generally 25 employees are not permitted to just watch the news and then go perusing through our

1 system of record to look for information about the case. So he had no legitimate need
2 to know.
3 And, then, on November 23rd is when Garret O'Boyle had accessed the case file
4 multiple times, subfiles, was screenshotting information, cutting and pasting it to a Word
5 document, and then was printing a number of documents that very same day, November
6 23, 2021.
7 We also saw that, fast-forwarding to April of 2022, he was also burning multiple
8 disks, like, 15 CDs, with case information, FBI case information, threat assessment
9 information, again, without any legitimate need to know or access those case files.
10 But, again, relevant to the suspension -- and just noting that some of that 11 information that he had burned to CDs ended up in, like, a Washington Times news print
12 article on May 12th, the day after the YouTube interview on May 11th of 2022.
13 Q And I want to turn to Guideline K in just a moment --
14 A Uh-huh.
15 Q -- but before I do, was it also the case that the Security Division determined
16 that Mr. O'Boyle had passed that information to an individual named Kyle Seraphin?
17 A The investigation later confirmed that. And that was an analysis that was 18 conducted, and I believe we got the report on November 4th of 2022, that the voice
19 match to the YouTube interview was a match to a sampling of an interview of Kyle 20 Seraphin on another interview. So it was determined to be a 99-percent match to Kyle 21 Seraphin.
22 Q And who conducted that analysis?
23 A The FBI's Operational Technology Division.
24 Q And that's not a part of SecD, correct?
25 A Correct.

1 Q Okay. So, again, that's an independent analysis.
2 A Correct.
3 Q I do want to turn to Guideline K.
4 A Uh-huh.
5 Q That's on page 21 of SEAD 4. I'm sorry. That's 21 of exhibit 9.
6 Guideline K is the handling of protected information, correct?
7 A Correct.
8 Q And I'll read "The Concern" out here. It says, "Deliberate or negligent 9 failure to comply with rules and regulations for handling protected information -- which 10 includes classified and other sensitive government information, and proprietary 11 information -- raises doubt about an individual's trustworthiness, judgment, reliability, or 12 willingness and ability to safeguard such information, and is a serious security concern."
13 Did I read that correctly?
14 A Yes.
15 Q And what's your understanding of what this concern encompasses?
16 A Essentially, are we following the rules and regulations related to the 17 protection of proprietary information in the FBI?
18 Q And this concern or Guideline K, it doesn't just refer to classified
19 information, correct?
20 A Correct.
21 Q So it would also apply to what sometimes is called as "law enforcement
22 sensitive information"?
23 A Correct.
24 Q What is law enforcement sensitive information?
25 A Anything that could impact the ability for a law enforcement agency to

1 effectively conduct their duties. It could pertain to investigative methods, sources, that
2 type of thing, that, if compromised, again, could impact our ability to effectively utilize
3 those techniques in the future.
4 Q Okay. And the concern applies to both deliberative and negligent failure to 5 comply with the rules, correct?
6 A Correct.
7 Q What's your understanding of what "deliberative" means, first? So -- sorry.
8 Let me rephrase that.
9 A I'm not an attorney.
10 Q You're fine. Deliberative mishandling is intentional mishandling, correct?
11 A Sure.
12 Q What's your understanding of what negligent mishandling would be in this
13 context?
14 A Certainly. If I'm a courier and I'm transporting documents from one place
15 to another place and I leave it on the Metro, for example, I accidentally left it on my seat
16 and got off the train, it was not on purpose, but I'm still responsible for that security
17 incident.
18 Q Okay.
19 Are you familiar with the term "need to know"?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Okay. So I want to -- underneath -- paragraph 34 under Guideline K is 22 "Conditions that could raise a security concern and may be disqualifying include:", and 23 then there's a whole list, but letter (f) is "viewing or downloading information from a 24 secure system when the information is beyond the individual's need-to-know."
25 What does "need to know" mean in this context?

1 A "Need to know" is the fundamental principle of information security. As 2 we have access to the most sensitive information in the intelligence community, in the 3 law enforcement community, we understand -- our agreement with the FBI is we sign an 4 FDA (ph) as soon as we onboard in the FBI. We understand that we should not be
5 accessing information that we don't have a legitimate purpose to do so.
6 Q Did Mr. O'Boyle have a legitimate purpose for accessing the New York case
7 information that he accessed?
8 A No.
9 Q So he had no need to know that information?
10 A Correct.
11 Q Okay.
12 Under letter (c) under "Conditions that could raise a security concern and may be 13 disqualifying include:", "loading, drafting, editing, modifying, storing, transmitting, or 14 otherwise handling protected information, including images, on any unauthorized
15 equipment or medium."
16 A couple minutes ago, you referred to Mr. O'Boyle taking screenshots and 17 copying/pasting into a Word document and then printing off those documents. Would 18 that violate this guideline?
19 A Absolutely.
20 Q And you said he had also burned 15 CDs containing information.
21 A Correct.
22 Q Would that violate this guideline?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Okay.
25 And then Mr. O'Boyle produced that information to Kyle Seraphin, correct?

1 A Correct.

2 Q Would that violate this guideline?

3 A Absolutely.

4 Q Okay.

5 Is it fair to say that that's a fairly cut-and-dried case?

6 A Yes.

7 Q We talked earlier about gray area, but, in this case, Mr. O'Boyle deliberately

8 transferred data to different mediums and then produced it to an outside source.

9 A Yes.

10 Q And he never had a need to know that information in the first place.

11 A That is correct, and neither did Kyle Seraphin.

12 Q And for the record, who is Kyle Seraphin?

13 A Kyle Seraphin was a former FBI employee who was assigned to the 14 Albuquerque Field Office at the time that he was referred to the Security Division for

15 investigation.

16 Q And Mr. Seraphin has separated from the FBI, correct?

17 A That is correct.

18 Q Are you familiar with when he separated from the FBI?

19 A I believe it was February of 2023.

20 Q Are you familiar with allegations that Mr. O'Boyle was suspended for making

21 protected disclosures to Congress?

22 A Am I aware of the --

23 Q Of that allegation?

24 A I've seen letters from Tristan Leavitt and Empower Oversight making that 25 claim, but they are false claims.

1 Q Okay. And that's what I was going to ask. What's your response to those
2 allegations?
3 A Yeah, they're false.
4 Q Okay. And, in fact, Mr. O'Boyle was suspended for violating the security
5 guidelines, correct?
6 A Absolutely.
7 Q Okay.
8 Are you aware of whether Mr. O'Boyle mishandled classified information in 9 addition to law enforcement sensitive information?
10 A Yes.
11 Q And did he mishandle classified information?
12 A Yes.
13 Q What was the context of that mishandling?
14 A As I recall from the investigation, Mr. O'Boyle accessed and downloaded and 15 printed classified intelligence reports that were not related to his duties as assigned in the 16 Kansas City Field Office.
17 When he was under transfer from Kansas City to the -- it's called CIRG -- Critical
18 Incident Response Group in northern Virginia, he packed up his office papers and office
19 supplies, and he shipped those documents from Kansas City to CIRG. And those go
20 through FedEx. They're not special handling. They're just going with everybody's 21 routine, you know, packages and so forth.
22 And upon inspection of that box and the boxes that he had transported through 23 FedEx, we identified the classified document, improperly wrapped. It wasn't 24 double-wrapped and cover-sheeted as classified information should be handled. It was 25 just thrown in the box, you know, and shipped through FedEx and certainly, you know,

1 could have been compromised at any point along the way.

2 Q Okay.

3 And in addition to being a violation of the security guidelines, is it also potentially

4 a criminal offense to mishandle classified information?

5 A Certainly. I don't know the chapter and verse, but, absolutely, it can have

6 criminal implications.

7 Q And are you aware of whether a criminal investigation was opened into Mr.

8 O'Boyle?

9 A I'm aware that the New York Field Office at the point that there was 10 unauthorized access to that case file did have a case open on Mr. O'Boyle.

11 Q Okay.

12 And just a couple of wrap-up questions on Mr. O'Boyle.

13 Was the suspension or revocation of Mr. O'Boyle's security clearance motivated

14 by animus?

15 A No.

16 Q Was it done to punish him for his political or ideological beliefs?

17 A No.

18 Q And are you confident that the true motive behind the FBI's decision to 19 suspend Mr. O Boyle's security clearance was to protect the national security of the 20 United States?

21 A Yes.

22 Q One last set of questions.

23 Your name has been in the press related to the allegations that we've been 24 discussing here today, correct?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And I think at the very, very beginning of today, which I realize was several 2 hours ago now, your counsel noted that the allegations have been amplified online as 3 well, correct?
4 A Yes.
5 Q And, in fact, that led you to hire private counsel, correct?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Okay. I'm going to ask you some questions about those allegations, and if
8 you need a minute, I understand.
9 You were named in the November 10, 2023, Washington Times article that we 10 discussed earlier, correct?
11 Does someone have a tissue?
12 A I'm good, I'm good. I've got it covered.
13 Yes.
14 Q And that's not the only time the Washington Times published your name,
15 correct?
16 A Correct.
17 Q Okay. What's the impact of those articles on you?
18 A I understand that the intent of this group of former employees is to smear
19 my name, my reputation.
20 I also believe that the efforts by the Washington Times, Kerry Picket, Empower 21 Oversight, Tristan Leavitt, and this group of former employees, which includes Stephen
22 Friend, Garrett O'Boyle, and Kyle Seraphin -- the goal is to insight anger and angst and 23 rage and potentially cause me some type of harm.
24 There have been upwards of 10 newspaper articles; 50, 60 posts on X and more on 25 Truth Social. I have been made aware that there are threats to have me hanged.

1 And there have been efforts to try to find personally identifying information about
2 me. There was one such effort where followers of Kyle Seraphin and Garrett O'Boyle
3 and Stephen Friend -- this individual thought they found me and someone they believed 4 to be my spouse and tried to engage in doxing efforts on those individuals that were not,
5 fortunately, me or my spouse.
6 So, yes, I think the impact on me has been an effort to smear my reputation and 7 potentially cause me physical harm.
8 Q Do you have concerns -- sitting here today, do you have concerns for your 9 personal safety?
10 A I do.
11 Q Can you describe the concerns that you have?
12 A All it takes is one person to believe these lies -- and they are lies. None of 13 these allegations are true. All it takes is one person to track me down, or my family
14 members, and try to be a hero, try to gain favor with, you know, these people that call
15 themselves "The Suspendables." And so I am very concerned for my safety and the 16 safety of my family.
17 Q And have you had to take steps to protect yourself or your family?
18 A Yes.
19 Q Are you comfortable talking about those steps here today?
20 A No.
21 Q Okay. Thank you.
22 [redacted] Okay. Thank you. We can go off the record.
23 Ms. Perkins. Thank you.
24 [Whereupon, at 4:06 p.m., the interview was concluded.]

1 [redacted] Good morning. We are here today to record the nonappearance of 2 Nathan Wade for a deposition that was scheduled via subpoena by the chairman.
3 Nathan Wade is a former special prosecutor at the Fulton County District
4 Attorney's Office. Chairman Jordan requested this deposition as part of the committee's 5 oversight of politically motivated prosecutions by State and local officials, as well as the 6 Fulton County DA's Office receipt and use of Federal grant funds.
7 On September 21st, the House Judiciary Committee issued a subpoena for Mr.
8 Wade -- this was last Friday -- to appear at a deposition today. That's exhibit 1 that 9 we've marked in a package of exhibits.
10 On the same day, the committee noticed that deposition -- actually, I think we 11 noticed it on the 22nd, a Saturday -- and that's exhibit 2.
12 And this is part of a long-running effort to get information from the Fulton County
13 DA's Office and Mr. Wade specifically.
14 On January 12th of this year, the committee requested six categories of 15 documents for Mr. Wade regarding his role as special prosecutor leading the investigation
16 into and prosecution of former President Trump. I'll mark the January 12th letter as 17 exhibit 3.
18 On May 9th, the committee sent a follow-up letter to Mr. Wade reiterating the 19 committee's request for documents and requesting his voluntary appearance at a
20 transcribed interview. That voluntary transcribed interview was scheduled for -- initially 21 for June 27th. The committee needed to reschedule that June 27th TI due to other
22 committee business. July 11th was the next day that was scheduled for Mr. Wade's 23 voluntary interview.
24 On January 10th, we heard from Mr. Wade's lawyer -- I'm sorry -- on July 10th, we 25 heard from Mr. Wade's lawyer, Mr. Evans, and he indicated that, in fact, Mr. Wade would

1 not be appearing on July 11th.

2 To that end, the committee, you know, made multiple attempts to try to bring in

3 Mr. Wade. Mr. Evans apparently had some litigation matters pending during the month

4 of August, so we agreed on September 18th as the next day for Mr. Wade to appear

5 voluntarily. And then the day before that, we heard from Mr. Wade's lawyer, Mr. Evans,

6 that he, in fact, was not going to appear on September 18th, and that's what led to the 7 chairman issuing the subpoena on September 21st.

8 The subpoena was sent to Mr. Evans. The subpoena was also sent to Mr. Wade.

9 Mr. Evans notified us last week that, in fact, he didn't want to take service of the 10 subpoena, so we had to engage the Marshals Service. It's our understanding the 11 Marshals Service has made contact now with Mr. Wade and he is in possession of the 12 subpoena, or he at least has made an appointment with the Marshals to take the 13 subpoena for today. Obviously, he is not here.

14 With that, [redacted] do you have anything?

15 [redacted] I do indeed.

16 So thank you for that recitation of the dates. That largely matches with what our 17 understanding is, with one small exception that I'll get to in a minute.

18 I do want to note, as my Republican counterpart noted, the TI was scheduled to 19 be a transcribed interview on September 18th, 2024. The letters between Governor Roy

20 Barnes, who is counsel for Fani Willis, and Governor Barnes and -- I'm sorry. Strike that.

21 The letters between Governor Barnes, counsel for Fani Willis, and Mr. Chairman

22 Jordan directly had been introduced into the record, I believe, and the letters between

23 Mr. Barnes and Mr. Evans were also introduced into the record.

24 We have some concerns that when these transcripts have been finalized, they

25 have not included all relevant exhibits. So I'm going to read portions of these into the

1 record just so it's in the record in the event that they're not included. And I apologize.
2 This might take a minute.
3 I'll start with the letter from Roy Barnes, counsel for Fani Willis, to Jim Jordan.
4 This is undated, but I believe it was sent --
5 [redacted] I think it's exhibit 7.
6 [redacted] It's exhibit 7.
7 [redacted] Yeah.
8 [redacted] This is undated. It was sent sometime in the week prior to 9 September 18th, according to the email chain.
10 The letter reads in relevant part, "Your request" -- again, addressed to Jim 11 Jordan -- "Your request to interview Mr. Wade implicates significant equities and 12 privileges of the Fulton County District Attorney's Office, and I ask that you work with 13 myself and the District Attorney's Office regarding this request."
14 It continues, "He" -- referring to Nathan Wade -- "has knowledge of highly 15 sensitive and confidential prosecutorial information that belongs to the Fulton County
16 District Attorney's Office, and whose disclosure could interfere with an ongoing criminal
17 matter and prejudice the fair administration of justice. This includes knowledge of key 18 evidence, confidential attorney communications, legal theories and analyses,
19 prosecutorial recommendations and deliberations, as well as the sources, procedures,
20 and techniques employed in this investigation. Any interview of Mr. Wade could 21 implicate secret grand jury information, confidential investigative sources, and 22 information protected by attorney-client, work product, and deliberative process
23 privileges, among others."
24 It continues a paragraph down, "The committee and DANY," which stands for the 25 District Attorney of New York -- "reached an agreement" -- this is in the case of the Mark

1 Pomerantz matter -- "reached an agreement that allowed general counsel Lubeck to be
2 present at Mr. Pomerantz' deposition after a Federal Appeals Court temporarily blocked
3 the deposition from moving forward.
4 "According to the DANY's office, the Appeals Court's stay 'afforded us the time
5 necessary to coordinate with the House Judiciary Committee on an agreement that 6 protects the district attorney's privileges and interests.'"
7 It continues in the following paragraph, "Therefore, if you will not withdraw your
8 request for Mr. Wade's testimony, I ask that you negotiate with the Fulton County District
9 Attorney's Office to develop an agreement that protects the Fulton County District
10 Attorney's Office's privileges and interests and does not jeopardize the integrity of an 11 ongoing criminal prosecution." Signed, Roy Barnes, counsel for Fani Willis.
12 It's our understanding that there was no engagement, or at least we have not 13 been made aware of any engagement between majority counsel and Ms. Willis' office or 14 her attorney.
15 Next, I want to just read into the record portions of the letter sent from Roy
16 Barnes to Andrew Evans who represents Nathan Wade.
17 That reads in relevant part, "The committee has failed to include the office of the 18 Fulton County district attorney in any discussions concerning the timing, scope, and 19 content of Mr. Wade's testimony. This raises several grave concerns.
20 Nathan Wade was hired in November of 2021 to assist the Fulton County District
21 Attorney's Office regarding certain election corruption matters. Over the next 3 years, 22 he helped secure and prosecute the indictments of over a dozen co-conspirators who 23 sought to subvert Georgia's 2020 Presidential Election results. In his role as special 24 counsel, he was privy to confidential communications and the author and recipient of 25 confidential documents. The vast majority of these communications and documents

1 remain confidential given that there is an active and ongoing prosecution.

2 "It is clear from the committee's public correspondence to your client that it seeks
3 to compel Wade to testify about these privileged matters. This would violate several 4 legal principles and/or professional rules. First, it would violate Mr. Wade's contractual
5 agreements with the Fulton County District Attorney's Office which require him to 6 maintain confidentiality and which explicitly provides that the work product created
7 during his tenure as special counsel is owned by the Fulton County District Attorney's
8 Office.

9 "Secondly, the testimony of Mr. Wade would also violate the attorney-client
10 privilege which, under Georgia law, belongs to the client, in this case, the Fulton County
11 district attorney. There has been no waiver of this privilege here. Thirdly, the 12 testimony of Mr. Wade would violate the Georgia rules of professional conduct. Under 13 Rule 1.6(a), Mr. Wade is required to 'maintain in confidence all information gained in the 14 professional relationship with a client, including information which the client has 15 requested to be held inviolate or the disclosure which would be embarrassing, or would 16 likely be detrimental to the client unless the client gives informed consent.' This duty
17 continues to exist even 'after the client-lawyer relationship has been terminated,' Rule
18 1.6(c). To avoid any doubt, the district attorney is expressly withholding consent to 19 share all information gained in the professional relationship with a client. The only 20 exceptions to this rule are for disclosures which are 'impliedly authorized in order to carry 21 out the representation or are required by these rules or other law'" -- and then in 22 italics -- "or by order of the court," end italics, end quote.

23 "As I understand it, Congress has not sought to compel Mr. Wade's testimony by 24 order of court, and thus no applicable exception applies. In short, Georgia law requires
25 Mr. Wade to refuse to testify concerning 'all information gained in the professional

1 relationship' regardless of whether a privilege applies or not. Failure to comply with
2 these ethical obligations will subject Mr. Wade to a bar complaint from the Office of the 3 District Attorney of Fulton County. My office is separately communicating to the 4 committee today demanding to have a representative present at any interview or
5 testimony so that the Fulton County district attorney may assert any necessary privilege
6 objections. This procedure was recently followed in Bragg v. Jordan, case No.
7 1:23-cv-3032-MKB-(S.D.N.Y.). In the interim, I respectfully request that Mr. Wade cancel
8 his meeting with the committee scheduled for next week so that my client can be
9 appropriately included in any future conversations regarding the committee's alarming
10 attempts to have Wade testify about an active and ongoing prosecution." Signed Roy 11 Barnes, counsel for Fani Willis.
12 We're not taking a position on the failure to appear in that instance. I just 13 wanted to read that into the record so that Mr. Wade's -- what I understand to be Mr.
14 Wade's position is that he is caught between an instruction from his employer and the 15 request from Congress. I want to put that on the record. We're not taking a position
16 on that. We do have concerns about the service of process in this matter.
17 Exhibit 5. Exhibit 5 contains an email from Mr. Evans to the Republican counsel, 18 copying myself, dated Tuesday, September 17th, 2024, time-stamped 1:03:30 p.m. The 19 email indicates that Mr. Wade will not be appearing on September 18th for the 20 transcribed interview, and then it reads, quote, "Second, I am not authorized to accept 21 service for a subpoena or any legal process on his behalf."
22 Notwithstanding this, on -- we will introduce as exhibit 8 an email chain between 23 Republican staff and Mr. Evans dated Saturday, September 21st, 2024, at 2:06 p.m.
24 It reads, "Mr. Evans, attached is a cover letter and deposition subpoena from the 25 House Judiciary Committee for your client, Mr. Wade. The return date is Thursday,

1 September 26th at 10:00 a.m. Also included is a copy of the committee rules." And
2 then it's signed by committee staff.
3 This email was sent even though Mr. Evans had indicated he was not able to 4 accept service.
5 Mr. Evans responded to that email on September 23rd, 2024. That's at the top
6 of this exhibit time-stamped 10:29 a.m. The email reads, "I received this email on 7 Saturday. I am not authorized to accept service on Mr. Wade's behalf. I have not been
8 able to reach Mr. Wade recently."
9 So, at least as early as Monday at 10:29 a.m., the majority staff was on notice that 10 Mr. Evans was not able to accept service and that he was not able to contact his client.
11 It appears that then there was no effort -- sorry. The proper procedure here
12 would have been to contact the Marshals Service at that time. This is not an uncommon 13 practice in --
14 [redacted] We did. We contacted the Marshals Service on Friday.
15 [redacted] On Friday? And when did the Marshals Service --
16 [redacted] Yeah. And made arrangements to -- you know, we asked the 17 Marshals Service to go serve him. And then the Marshals didn't do anything over the 18 weekend.
19 And on Monday morning, the Marshals Service emailed Mr. Wade, who obviously 20 is trying to dodge this subpoena. They emailed Mr. Wade and said they would like to 21 make an appointment to deliver the subpoena to him, which, of course, caused Mr. Wade
22 to, you know, become unavailable. He wasn't at his law office. He wasn't at his house.
23 They went to his house and spoke with his gardener, and his gardener notified the 24 Marshals that he wasn't there to take service. So he's dodging service here.
25 [redacted] Okay. I don't know that I would necessarily accept -- I don't know

1 the circumstances behind that. He very well could be traveling. He could be ill. I
2 think there are reasons. I obviously don't think anybody should dodge service, but I
3 think that's a presumption that's being made.
4 We weren't informed that the Marshals Service had been tasked. I had actually
5 asked Republican counsel yesterday if that was the case and didn't receive a response.
6 [redacted] Okay.
7 [redacted] It sounds like now the Marshals Service did make contact. I
8 assume -- well, we'll introduce as exhibit 9, an Atlanta Journal-Constitution article
9 dated -- it was yesterday. Yesterday afternoon was the date and time of it, yesterday
10 being September 25th.
11 In this, Chairman Jordan's spokesman, [redacted], indicated that the committee
12 will need to tap the U.S. Marshals to locate him.
13 [redacted] Yeah, that's bad reporting. That's not the --
14 [redacted] Regardless, it sounds like the contact was not made at the time of 15 this article. So the contact --
16 [redacted] No. The reporter got it wrong.
17 [redacted] What time was contact made with Mr. Wade by the Marshals
18 Service? Like, actual service of the subpoena, not emailing.
19 [redacted] They served him, I think, this morning or they made an arrangement
20 to serve him this morning.
21 [redacted] Okay. So he didn't have the subpoena in hand until this morning?
22 [redacted] Yeah. I think they also emailed it to him and I emailed it to him.
23 So I think Wade does have the -- I mean, Wade had the -- Mr. Evans asked me to contact 24 Mr. Wade directly, and so I sent the subpoena to Mr. Wade. So he has had the 25 subpoena.

1 [redacted] Did he confirm receipt when you sent it to him?

2 [redacted] He did not.

3 [redacted] Okay. My only point is that the purpose of the subpoena is to

4 provide notice of the date, time, and manner, and I think we don't have confirmation that

5 Mr. Wade had information about the date, time, and manner until this morning.

6 You know, this is -- attempted to begin at 10:00 a.m. today. I think I'm not quite

7 sure what the rush is here given that Congress is now in recess until after the election. It

8 seems like we could have done this next week. We might be back next week.

9 So, you know, I think we do have questions about the service of process, and I

10 don't know that serving someone the morning -- who lives in Atlanta -- serving someone

11 the morning of a deposition and expecting them to appear within hours is, you know, not

12 necessarily a reasonable expectation.

13 [redacted] Right. I'm sure he knew about it last Friday. And we've been

14 trying to schedule this for a long time. I mean, I went through some of the dates. At 15 some point, enough is enough. We are where we are.

16 [redacted] I hear you. I just think we don't have confirmation

17 that -- confirmation that somebody knows about the subpoena is when it's officially

18 served on them, and it sounds like it was not served on him until this morning, you know,

19 within hours, or within maybe only a couple hours prior to the start of the deposition.

20 [redacted] Mr. Evans confirmed for us yesterday that he is still representing Mr.

21 Wade, and so, it's a little farfetched to think that Mr. Wade didn't hear about the

22 subpoena for today from his lawyer. You know, it was served last Friday -- or sent

23 last -- sorry -- sent last Saturday.

24 He didn't hear about the subpoena from me directly when I emailed him. So he

25 didn't hear about the subpoena when there was a news account published yesterday.

1 So there has been a number of opportunities for Mr. Wade to know about this
2 deposition, and so the fact that he may not know about it is a little farfetched from our 3 point of view.
4 [redacted] I understand your position, but the fact remains that we don't have 5 confirmed acceptance of the subpoena until this morning.
6 [redacted] And just by way of rebuttal, the September 21st letter that the 7 chairman sent to Mr. Wade marked as exhibit 1 -- it's a cover letter to the subpoena -- it
8 goes through some of the arguments Mr. Barnes raises.
9 Mr. Barnes doesn't represent the District Attorney's Office. In the Pomerantz
10 matter, Ms. Dubeck -- and it's not -- he spells her name wrong. It's Ms. Dubeck -- is the 11 general counsel for the District Attorney's Office of New York. Mr. Barnes doesn't -- Mr.
12 Barnes, as we understand, represents Fani Willis in her individual capacity.
13 So, you know, this is not a lawyer or general counsel from the Fulton County DA's
14 Office writing us -- asking to participate. And we recount that in the letter.
15 And also, Mr. Barnes, the good governor here, he botches the whole recitation of 16 what happened in the Pomerantz litigation. So we'll just let our letter stand to rebut his 17 misunderstandings there.
18 [redacted] And, as I said, we're not taking a position on that. I did want his 19 letter to be part of the record. That is why I read it in.
20 [redacted] Yeah. And we made it a part. Yeah.
21 [redacted] We just have concerns about the record not ultimately being 22 complete when lawsuits are filed, so --
23 [redacted] Okay.
24 [redacted] -- noting that for the record.
25 [redacted] Yeah. And we marked them as exhibit 6 and 7 at the top of the

1 proceedings today, so --

2 [redacted] And I just want to be clear that an attorney not being authorized

3 to accept service is different than not wanting to accept service which is, I believe, how

4 you characterized it in your initial statement.

5 [redacted] Well, you know, it's one thing if Mr. Evans is no longer representing

6 Mr. Wade, but if -- you know, they're trying to set up a situation where Mr. Wade can

7 avoid acceptance of service. You know, that amounts, you know, largely to an 8 obstruction of the committee's work.

9 [redacted] I think that's a pretty serious charge to level without evidence of 10 actual obstruction.

11 [redacted] Well, we have lots of evidence that that is the case.

12 [redacted] I don't think -- we don't see that evidence laid out here. I think

13 Evans made it pretty clear that he was not able to accept service and that he wasn't able 14 to contact his client.

15 So I don't know what's going on in Georgia, but I think accusing someone of 16 obstruction in these circumstances is a pretty serious charge to level without any hard

17 evidence.

18 [redacted] All right. Anything else?

19 Thank you. We'll go off the record.

1 [redacted]. Good morning.

2 This was supposed to be a deposition of Jen Easterly, Director of the Department

3 of Homeland Security's Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency.

4 Chairman Jordan requested this deposition as part of the committee's oversight of

5 how and to what extent the executive branch has coerced or colluded with companies

6 and other intermediaries to censor lawful speech.

7 I've marked a number of exhibits prior to the deposition, and we'll just go through

8 those now.

9 On October 2nd, 2024, the committee issued a subpoena for Director Easterly to 10 appear at a deposition today, October 11th. I will mark the October 11th subpoena as

11 exhibit No. 1.

12 [Easterly Exhibit No. 1

13 was marked for identification.]

14 [redacted]. On October 4th, 2024, the committee noticed today's deposition.

15 I'll mark the October 4th notice as exhibit No. 2.

16 [Easterly Exhibit No. 2

17 was marked for identification.]

18 [redacted]. The chief counsel for CISA accepted service of the subpoena the 19 same day it was issued, which was on the 2nd. I'll mark that correspondence as exhibit

20 No. 3.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 3

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. The committee has sought Director Easterly's testimony since July. On July 2nd, 2024, the committee requested that the Director testify at a hearing before the Select Subcommittee on the Weaponization of the Federal Government on July 31st.

I'll mark the invitation as exhibit No. 4.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 4

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. In the invitation, the committee detailed the purpose of the hearing and the reasons for seeking testimony from Director Easterly.

CISA staff declined to provide information about Director Easterly's availability for the July 31st hearing, insisting instead that the committee make premature representations about extraneous matters, such as the identity of other potential witnesses.

After nearly 2 weeks of discussions, CISA staff eventually claimed that Director Easterly was scheduled to be out of town on the date of the hearing, the July 31st hearing.

In an effort to move forward in good faith and as an accommodation to CISA, the committee next offered three potential dates for a public hearing in September.

Despite several attempts to engage with CISA about the narrow question of Director Easterly's availability, CISA refused to engage substantively, only to eventually claim that the Director was unavailable on all of the dates offered by the committee.

Those email communications are exhibit No. 5.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 5

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. On September 13th, 2024, given the importance of Director Easterly's testimony, the committee requested she appear for a transcribed interview. This was after CISA had twice declined to make her available for a public hearing.

I'll mark that letter as exhibit No. 6.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 6
was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. On September 20th, CISA responded via letter, noting concerns with the committee's request for a transcribed interview without indicating the Director's availability to provide testimony.

The September 20th letter is exhibit No. 7.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 7
was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. In yet another attempt to obtain Director Easterly's voluntary appearance, the committee wrote another letter on September 24th responding to the concerns raised by CISA and reiterating our request that Director Easterly appear for a voluntary transcribed interview on October 4th.

The September 24th letter is exhibit No. 8.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 8
was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. On September 27th, CISA responded, claiming that a hearing is the, quote, "most appropriate," end quote, means for the committee to obtain Ms. Easterly's testimony.

Incredibly, CISA made this claim despite twice refusing to work in good faith with the committee to schedule the Director's testimony at a public hearing.

I'll mark DHS' response as exhibit No. 9.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 9

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. The committee continued to engage with CISA in October in an attempt to gain Director Easterly's voluntary compliance with our requests.

However, CISA never offered dates on which Director Easterly was available to testify in any setting, whether it be a transcribed interview or a hearing.

I'll mark those email communications as exhibit No. 10.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 10

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. CISA's refusal to work with the committee and to schedule Director Easterly's testimony forced the committee to resort to compulsory process, which brings us to today.

Prior to Director Easterly's testimony, the committee reached out via myself to both CISA and DHS on Wednesday to discuss Ms. Easterly's deposition. Both entities refused to provide any information to the committee.

The next time the committee heard from DHS or CISA was last night after 6 p.m. and less than 24 hours before Ms. Easterly's scheduled deposition. In a letter, DHS told the committee that Ms. Easterly would not appear at today's deposition despite a subpoena compelling her attendance here today.

The committee does take issue with DHS' characterization of the legality of the committee's subpoena in their letter of last night. That is exhibit No. 11.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 11

was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. And, with that, [redacted]?

[redacted]. We do not take a position on the agency counsel question, as we

1 have not throughout this Congress. I do want to make some notes on the ticktock, the 2 schedule that the majority counsel just went through.
3 With respect to exhibit No. 5, which is the email chain, the last email in the 4 chain -- or, I'm sorry, the top email in the chain, which I don't actually think is the last
5 chronologically, but the top email in the chain, which is dated Friday, August 23rd, 2024,
6 4:12 p.m.
7 I just want to note that the initial date offered for the hearing was July 31st, 2024.
8 The Congress was in recess at that time so there were ultimately no hearings held that
9 day, and I assume this hearing would not have gone forward either. I guess we won't
10 know. But my understanding is that it's unlikely this hearing would have happened.
11 I also want to note that on the email that is on page 3 of this exhibit, which 12 is -- begins on page 2, dated Friday, August 9th, 2024, time stamped 10:04 a.m., from 13 Charles Abernathy to [redacted], copying [redacted], on page 3 Mr. Abernathy, who is, I
14 believe, the Director of Government Affairs for CISA, says in the second paragraph -- it
15 says in the first paragraph that "The Director likes to offer a meeting to every Member
16 prior to a hearing," and then asks, "Is the 9th," meaning September 9th, "a fly-in day or 17 are Members going to be in all Monday?" That appears to be an effort to accommodate 18 the committee's interest in speaking with Ms. Easterly.
19 And in the following paragraph, Mr. Abernathy says, "We still want to come, but 20 this seems outside a normal hearing process. I am having trouble committing with the 21 limited information you are providing, i.e., are you free one of 3 days for a hearing that 22 might be one witness or might be two panels of 5 witnesses each or something in 23 between. We really need the basic information on the hearing at a minimum."
24 So we are not part of this email chain. The minority was not part of this email
25 chain. This is the first time that we are seeing it.

1 But I do want to note that Mr. Abernathy made representations in this chain that
2 suggested that Ms. Easterly -- that Director Easterly was willing to attend.
3 I also -- I'm not going to read from the DHS letters. I know that they were 4 introduced into the record. I do want to note, in the past when transcripts have been 5 finalized exhibits have not been included, so we reiterate a request that these letters be 6 included in full.
7 I know there's actually one transcript where I think majority's general counsel
8 name was misspelled [redacted] throughout. So it was an uncorrected transcript,
9 among other things. So we just request that those letters be included in full.
10 And then I have a couple of exhibits that I do want to introduce separately.
11 So I want to introduce -- I want to note that in the letters preceding this and in the 12 various reports the majority has put out there have been various representations made
13 regarding the Election Integrity Partnership and CISA and their engagement. I think that 14 would have been explored today if Director Easterly had appeared. I'm disappointed we 15 won't be able to. But a number of those representations we believe misrepresent the 16 facts that we have gathered in this matter.
17 I want to introduce a letter that we sent to the chairman dated August 22nd,
18 2023.
19 [Easterly Exhibit No. 12
20 was marked for identification.]
21 [redacted]. Pages 17 to 36 of that letter deal with specific -- what our position is 22 are specific misrepresentations regarding CISA and the Election Integrity Partnership.
23 And then pages 37 to 46 of that letter detail various threats and intimidation that data
24 scientists working on this issue have faced, in part, because of this investigation.
25 Again, I'm not going to read that into the record, but I do request that the letter be included in the transcript in full.

And then I want to introduce a letter dated September 20th, 2024, from a number of Members of Congress, including Chairman Jordan.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 13 was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. This letter expresses concern about the need to detect and counter foreign influence. It also expresses concern about various misinformation, including misinformation targeting Springfield, Ohio.

This is a topic that I think CISA is likely involved in addressing, and that is another issue that we would have liked to address today. So we do ask that this letter be included in full.

Thank you.

[redacted]. I would just say that we appreciate your comments and the fact that you would have also liked Ms. Easterly to appear today. Hopefully, we will have that opportunity.

Just one thing to respond to. You know, trying to set up a meeting with Members allegedly in advance of the hearing is not a substitute for a transcribed interview or a public hearing where there is testimony -- or a transcript produced. Excuse me.

[redacted]. Understood. And I don't mean to represent that it is. My point in referencing that is that Mr. Abernathy represented that the Director likes to do a meeting before every hearing as part of her process.

So my read on that is that by trying to set up a meeting, she was intending to appear for a hearing.

[redacted]. Without ever giving availability.

1 But, with that, we can go off the record.

2 [Whereupon, at 10:11 a.m., the interview was concluded.]

24 ROY BARNES

25 ANDREW EVANS

1 [redacted] Good morning. This is the deposition of Nathan Wade, former
2 special prosecutor at the Fulton County District Attorney's Office. Chairman Jordan has 3 requested this deposition as part of the committee's oversight of politically motivated
4 prosecutions by State and local officials, as well as the Fulton County District Attorney's
5 Office's receipt and use of Federal grant funds.
6 On September 20th, the chairman authorized the first deposition subpoena. And 7 we sent that around via email to your counsel and then you directly on Saturday,
8 September 21st. May have sent that to you after your counsel instructed us that he was 9 not authorized to accept service.
10 There was then a back-and-forth with the Marshals Service trying to serve you the 11 first subpoena. So we'll probably have questions about that. Ultimately, you were 12 served on September 26th, which, in fact, was the morning of the subpoena. So you did 13 not appear for the first deposition subpoena.
14 On October 2nd, the committee issued a new subpoena for you to appear at 15 today's deposition, which is October 15th. We'll mark that as exhibit 1.
16 [Wade Exhibit No. 1
17 was marked for identification.]
18 [redacted] I probably should have said this at the top. My name is [redacted]
19 [redacted] I am a staffer with Chairman Jordan's staff, the House Judiciary Committee.
20 I'll have the other staffers here in the room introduce themselves, starting with my 21 colleague, [redacted]
22 [redacted] [redacted] with the House Judiciary Committee.
23 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
24 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.
25 [redacted] [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler.

1 [redacted] [redacted] intern with the Democratic staff.

2 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

3 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

4 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

5 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's staff.

6 [redacted] And just for the record, Mr. Wade, would you please state your

7 name for the record.

8 The Witness. Nathan Wade.

9 [redacted] And you're joined here with two counsels. I'll have them introduce

10 themselves.

11 Mr. Evans. Andrew Evans, counsel for Nathan Wade.

12 Mr. Barnes. Roy Barnes, counsel for Nathan Wade.

13 [redacted] I'll now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will follow

14 during today's deposition. The committee will conduct the deposition in accordance

15 with the House regulation for the use of deposition authority, and we had sent that

16 around both with the September 21st subpoena and the subpoena we served shortly

17 after October 2nd.

18 This regulation is incorporated verbatim into the rules of the committee,

19 specifically Rule 11. Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority staff will ask

20 questions first for one hour; then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions

21 as well for an hour.

22 To the extent there are Members that join us, and if they have questions for you,

23 they will be propounded during their respective side's rounds. So if a Republican

24 Member comes in, that Member will use time that's allotted for us. If it's a Democratic 25 Member, they will go during the Democrat round.

1 The clock will stop if the witness needs to confer with counsel, when counsel for
2 the witness is speaking. And when members of the opposite side are speaking, we'll
3 stop the clock. We will alternate back and forth, hour to hour, until there are no more
4 questions and the deposition is over.
5 We ordinarily take a short break at the end of each hour. But if you'd like to take
6 a break apart from that, please let us know. You can take a break really for any reason,
7 if you need to get a granola bar or confer with counsel or use the facilities.
8 Whatever -- whatever you need, you let us know. We'd like to make your experience
9 here as comfortable as possible under these circumstances.
10 The Witness. Thank you.
11 [redacted] As you can see, there's an official House reporter taking down
12 everything we say to make a written record. So that along those lines, we'll ask you to 13 give verbal responses to questions. I'm sure you understand that. Is that correct?
14 The Witness. I do.
15 [redacted] So the reporter can take down a clear record, please try to speak
16 clearly. And that's also good so the people at the end of the table can hear. From time
17 to time, we've got to ask you to restate something if somebody didn't hear. And so,
18 hopefully, you can bear with us on that front.
19 We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner
20 possible. If you do not understand one of our questions or need clarification about what 21 we are seeking, please let us know. If you don't know the answer to a question or don't 22 remember, please tell us what you do remember.
23 It's okay to tell us if you learned information from somebody else. Just indicate
24 how you came to learn the information. If there are things that you do not know or 25 can't remember, just say so, and inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be

1 able to provide a more complete answer for the committee.

2 By law, you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully. You

3 understand that?

4 The Witness. I do.

5 [redacted] This also applies to questions propounded by congressional staffers

6 in a deposition setting like that. Do you understand that?

7 The Witness. I do.

8 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject

9 to criminal prosecution for perjury. This includes, for example, stating that you don't

10 recall something when, in fact, you do.

11 Do you understand that?

12 The Witness. I do.

13 [redacted] Furthermore, you can't tell half-truths or exclude information

14 necessary to make statements accurate. You're required to provide all information that

15 would make your response truthful. A deliberate failure to disclose information can

16 constitute a false statement or perjury.

17 Do you understand that?

18 The Witness. I do.

19 [redacted] Is there any reason you're unable to provide us with truthful

20 answers here today?

21 The Witness. No reason.

22 [redacted] Okay. The Federal Rules of Evidence, Federal Rules of Criminal or 23 Civil Procedure are not applicable for today's deposition.

24 Under the House deposition regulation, a witness's attorney may not instruct the 25 witness to refuse to answer a question except to preserve a constitutionally-based

1 privilege. And the House and the Senate, we don't ordinarily entertain common law
2 privileges.
3 Finally, I will make a note for the staff here today that the content of what we
4 discuss is confidential under the House deposition regulation. Under the rules, the 5 chairman and the ranking minority member need to consult before the release of any
6 testimony, transcripts, including portions thereof.
7 So this means it's a violation of the House and committee rules for us to disclose
8 the content of the deposition prior to the ranking member and the chairman discussing it.
9 For this reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court
10 reporter so that they can go with the official transcript.
11 Before we begin the first round of questions, we will afford the minority and 12 counsel for the witness and the witness an opportunity to offer any preliminary remarks.
13 Mr. Barnes. Well, before he makes preliminary remarks, the common law
14 privileges do apply no matter what the rules say. You cannot force a witness to violate a 15 professional standard of responsibility.
16 Mr. Evans. And there's a U.S. Supreme Court case on that. You guys are aware
17 that the Mazars case in which John Roberts talks about -- that the common law privileges
18 would still be applicable at a deposition setting. So we would still assert -- tell him to 19 refuse to answer certain questions that we felt were covered by privilege.
20 [redacted] And to the extent you do, we certainly can get the chairman to make 21 a ruling on that, and there are certain things we can do.
22 Mr. Barnes. You can do it. That's the reason they have judges. But a ruling by 23 the chair would not be sufficient to overcome the instructions I'll give a witness on a 24 privilege.
25 Mr. Evans. And I've read Rule 11 several times in the House rules, and the

1 constitutional objection will be the 10th Amendment, separation of powers. Everything
2 that's not enumerated to the Federal Government is reserved for the State. So that's 3 where our constitutional objection would lie, in addition to the other grounds.
4 [redacted] Okay. Well, I mean, I've never -- we've never dealt with an
5 objection on that ground before.
6 But just so we're all clear, if you're not going to answer questions, there's nothing
7 we can do to make a witness --
8 Mr. Barnes. Sure. I understand. But I don't want to mislead by -- after you 9 make your statement saying -- you know, not tell you exactly what our position is.
10 [redacted] Fair enough. And so the way the process would work is we 11 would -- we'd confer with the chairman, get a ruling, advise you of the ruling, give you an 12 opportunity to answer the question after you've heard the chairman's ruling. And then 13 from there, we could -- you know, the committee could proceed to a contempt
14 proceeding.
15 Mr. Barnes. Sure. Which I'd be entitled to a jury trial in D.C. And so --
16 [redacted] Well, contempt in the House context.
17 Mr. Barnes. You can't enforce anything. Do you have a jail?
18 [redacted] We're not going to put anyone in jail over this. I mean, the House
19 does have inherent contempt --
20 Mr. Barnes. The only power you have is by criminal contempt, and you're 21 entitled to a jury trial on a criminal contempt. But we need not get --
22 [redacted] Well -- I mean, we do, under the rules, have a provision, you know,
23 with a contempt citation. We can go to court on civil -- civil route or we can -- the 24 House can proceed via a criminal contempt citation.
25 Mr. Barnes. Sure. Both of which are overseen by a Federal judge.

1 [redacted] Indeed. Indeed.

2 Mr. Barnes. Bound by the Federal Rules of Evidence.

3 [redacted] Indeed. We can -- you know, we can make a criminal referral --

4 Mr. Barnes. Sure.

5 [redacted] -- to the Justice Department or, in fact, we could end up just

6 deciding to do nothing.

7 Mr. Barnes. You and I are not going to settle it, but I just wanted to make sure

8 that I was candid with you and tell you what our position is.

9 [redacted] Fair enough.

10 Mr. Evans. And in the spirit of that, we've largely got categories of 11 questions -- for example, biographical questions which you could ask him that he would

12 be perfectly willing to answer. That's not a problem. Questions you mentioned, the 13 service of the subpoena, again, not a problem. You can ask him everything like that.

14 But then there's other categories of questions, like conversations he may have had

15 with certain House committees or something that we would cite privilege to based on

16 attorney work product or confidentiality. So that's largely where we're going is that 17 we've kind of put these into categories of things for the objections.

18 [redacted] Right. And so, I hope we can work through some of those because,

19 to the extent there were communications with other House committees, if you're not

20 going to provide content of those communications, we would hope that you would

21 provide the date and the individuals involved because that certainly wouldn't be

22 protected by the privilege.

23 Mr. Evans. Well, the -- I don't want to do anything to jeopardize the privilege.

24 So I don't want to provide that, but there are public records of dates with meetings and

25 stuff that you guys have the invoices submitted and stuff like that that gives you a lot of

1 the information that you're already asking for.

2 [redacted] Right. But just so we understand, I mean, if we're talking about a

3 communication that's privileged, the fact that the communication occurred is not

4 privilege. The fact that person A spoke to person B, you know, at the level of a privilege

5 log, we certainly would believe we're entitled to that information.

6 Mr. Barnes. All right.

7 [redacted] Any other -- any additional opening remarks? I know there was

8 some letters exchanged.

9 Do you have any interest in making those part of the record?

10 Mr. Barnes. They're going to be made part of the record. We've marked them.

11 [redacted] Can I make --

12 [redacted] Of course. Yeah.

13 [redacted] It will only take me two seconds. It's always good to be reminded that

14 we don't have a jail in the House. So I just wanted to make a couple of notes for the 15 record. First of all, thank the witness for joining us, especially I understand that you

16 have a hurt ankle. So thank you for traveling up here with an injury, among other things.

17 The buzzer just went off, and I think everyone kind of perked up. That's just the 18 House bell. There's proceedings on the House floor. So I -- I think they're probably done

19 for the day.

20 And then I wanted to make a couple of notes. We continue to have concerns

21 about the videotaping of these proceedings, primarily because there's not been copies

22 provided to the Democratic staff or Members. I understand we are able to go view them

23 in the majority's office suite, but that's not the same, especially with Members not here

24 because of -- especially with Members not here because of the recess. And when we are

25 provided with copies to have and hold, it's usually 24 hours before release, which

1 is not really enough time.

2 [redacted] That's not true. I mean, you get a week -- if we're going to release

3 any video, we give it to you one week before we put it out.

4 [redacted] We've had a number of instances where we got them the day before.

5 [redacted] That's inaccurate.

6 [redacted] That's inaccurate.

7 [redacted] We can go back and check the record. I still would argue that a

8 week is not --

9 [redacted] We've been careful with the video. I mean, the video, the 10 agreement is --

11 [redacted] [redacted] I appreciate that you want to talk over me, but can I please

12 finish my statements?

13 [redacted] I'm not trying to talk over you. I'm just trying to --

14 [redacted] But you literally are talking over me. So if I can finish my statement,

15 and then I'll give you the time back. Sound good?

16 So we continue to have concerns with the video. We also continue to have

17 concerns with the transcripts. I think there's been something like 135 depositions and

18 transcribed interviews to date. The vast majority have not been released, including

19 depositions and transcribed interviews dating to February, March, and April of 2023. So

20 that's over a year ago at this point.

21 For the transcripts that have been released, a number of them have not

22 included -- most of them, barring those that included the joint Oversight Committee have

23 not included exhibits, which is -- the transcripts, in our minds, are not actually final if

24 they're not including exhibits and if they don't include errata -- corrected errata,

25 so -- thank you.

1 [redacted] As far as the transcripts go, you know, we release transcripts once a
2 matter is concluded. I mean, you don't ordinarily put out transcripts during the middle
3 of an investigation, but --
4 [redacted] I don't think that's accurate, though, because I think there have been
5 transcripts released during impeachment.
6 [redacted] I said ordinarily. I said ordinarily. And we're more than -- we're 7 more than willing to put out these transcripts. So if there's any particular ones you're 8 interested in getting out --
9 [redacted] Among other -- so I would ask that this transcript, in particular, be 10 released fairly expeditiously. I would also ask that I think the entire tech investigation, 11 almost all of those transcripts have not been released yet.
12 [redacted] So --
13 [redacted] And I think that's something like 40-some transcribed interviews and 14 depositions.
15 [redacted] I mean, I don't know the specific reasoning why the tech
16 investigation transcripts haven't been released. But at the conclusion of that work, they 17 certainly will. And then once a transcript is ready for release -- you know, a transcribed
18 interview, the rules on secrecy don't apply. So the minority staff certainly has the ability
19 to supplement a transcript release with the exhibits. I think it's largely just a logistics
20 thing about loading these things on website.
21 [redacted] I hear you, but it does fall in the majority responsibility. It's not the 22 responsibility of the minority.
23 But I appreciate the point that the rules don't apply to transcripts and, you're 24 right, we actually probably could release them if we chose to do that. So far, we've not 25 chosen to do that.

1 [redacted] Any additional remarks?

2 [redacted] No. Thanks.

3 Mr. Evans. Just to be clear, how soon do you think that the transcript for this

4 deposition would be available to us?

5 [redacted] So we normally get the transcript pretty quickly. These reporters

6 do an amazing job. They get it to us within -- usually -- usually within 2 days.

7 Mr. Evans. Okay.

8 [redacted] Oftentimes less than that.

9 Mr. Evans. Would that be something that I'd have a chance to review?

10 [redacted] Of course.

11 Mr. Evans. Okay.

12 [redacted] And so the way it works, once it comes in, you can review it. And,

13 you know, if there's any errata that you want to flag --

14 Mr. Evans. Would you guys notify me when it's ready?

15 [redacted] Of course. Of course. Minority gets it at the same time. As

16 soon as we get it, the minority staff gets it. Our clerks just send it right along to them at 17 the very same time that our staffers get it.

18 And then as soon as everyone reviews it, we can put it out right away.

19 Mr. Evans. Okay.

20 [redacted] That's what we've done in other depositions where either the 21 witness or the minority or we've -- the deposition transcripts are ready to go almost 22 immediately.

23 Mr. Evans. Okay.

24 The Witness. So question, just point of clarification?

25 [redacted] Of course.

1 The Witness. Prior to the release of the transcript, my counsel will have the
2 opportunity to review it before it's released?
3 [redacted] Of course.
4 The Witness. Now, tell me what "released" means? Where does it go?
5 [redacted] Normally we just -- we put it on our website.
6 The Witness. All right.
7 [redacted] Now, if there's anything in the transcript you don't want released,
8 you can tell us that you would seek a redaction, and we would consider that request.
9 Sometimes we're able to honor it; sometimes we're not.
10 If it's personal information, we ordinarily honor that type of thing. Like, if there's 11 specific addresses or that type of thing, we would ordinarily honor that type of request.
12 [redacted] There was one transcript that was released to Fox News before the 13 minority released it -- or before the minority received it. So we do ask that you take 14 precautions here that this transcript is not produced to any news outlets before the 15 minority has --
16 [redacted] Well, I don't know how that happens. That has nothing --
17 [redacted] It did happen once. I'm just asking you to take particular 18 precautions that it doesn't happen here. Thank you.
19 [redacted] I can't say -- I don't know which one you're talking about, but -- 20 [redacted] It was one of the impeachment transcripts. I believe it was one of 21 the U.S. attorneys.
22 [redacted] Okay. I mean, you know, these transcripts in the impeachment
23 proceedings were done before two or three committees, and so I don't --
24 [redacted] I'm sorry. It was one of the U.S. attorneys were interviewed solely 25 by the Judiciary Committee, [redacted] if you recall. Actually, I think it was Scott Brady.

1 [redacted] Okay. Anyway, that's neither here nor there.

2 Do you have any more questions, or do you have an opening statement you'd like

3 to offer?

4 The Witness. I do.

5 Good morning. My name is Nathan Wade. I'm a licensed attorney in good

6 standing in the State of Georgia.

7 I am here after voluntarily accepting service of a subpoena from the House of

8 Representatives of Congress of the United States of America. I am here of my own

9 volition, having paid for my own flight tickets and hotel room in an effort to respond to 10 any legal relevant inquiry.

11 Please note all arrangements were made per agreement for my voluntary

12 testimony to take place back in July, but this committee changed that date for its own

13 convenience.

14 You are aware I served as special assistant district attorney in the case of the State

15 of Georgia versus Donald Trump, et al., Indictment Number 23 SC 188947 in the Fulton

16 County Superior Court.

17 Prior to accepting the appointment as a special assistant district attorney for the 18 Office of the District Attorney of Fulton County, I served as a prosecutor several times

19 during my career; first as an assistant solicitor general in Cobb County, Georgia, then as a

20 special assistant attorney general for the State of Georgia.

21 I began my private practice in 2000 where I served as a criminal defense attorney

22 representing hundreds of individuals in State and Federal courts charged with felony and

23 misdemeanor offenses. I've tried many felony cases representing clients in serious

24 matters, including but not limited, to capital offenses, murder, rape, armed robbery,

25 aggravated assault, and drug trafficking. Many of these cases garnered media attention.

1 I've served as a civil attorney in private practice representing individuals,
2 businesses, and corporations alike with no attention given to partisan politics. I've
3 previously been retained to represent a Republican sheriff. I've served as legal counsel
4 to the Cobb County branch of the NAACP.
5 In 2010, I began serving as a municipal court judge in several cities in the State of 6 Georgia, and was proud to have become the first African American to do so in the city of 7 Marietta, Georgia. I was invited to assist in the training of newly appointed municipal 8 court judges and did so with great pleasure.
9 I have received dozens of accolades and statewide recognitions over the course of 10 my legal career.
11 My team and I investigated the issues in the election interference case for more
12 than 2 years. This case was not politically motivated. Rather, it was an independent
13 investigation based upon facts, interviews, evidence, and the rule of law. I had no
14 mandate other than to honestly seek the truth. I was never directed, ordered, asked,
15 coerced, or pressured to bring any charges against anyone.
16 I took my oath as a special prosecutor with a solemn pride and responsibility. I
17 did not violate that oath and did nothing to compromise the integrity of the Fulton
18 County indictment alleging interference in the 2020 presidential election.
19 No one at the White House, the White House counsel's office, the Department of 20 Justice, or the January 6th committee directed, ordered, asked, coerced, or pressured me 21 or any member of my investigative team to seek or not to seek an indictment against 22 anyone.
23 Due to the lack of cooperation from witnesses and government officials, the 24 Fulton County District Attorney requested permission from the Fulton County Superior
25 Court judges to impanel a special grand jury to investigate the complaints surrounding the

1 2020 election. This special purpose grand jury returned an exhaustive report
2 recommending indictments on a host of individuals, many of which were not named in 3 the pending charging document.
4 Following this recommendation, a Fulton County grand jury returned an 5 indictment against all individuals named in 23 SC 188947, respectively. Several 6 defendants moved to disqualify the District Attorney of Fulton County and myself from 7 the prosecution of this case. The trial court held a hearing, during which I testified and 8 was cross-examined for hours by defense lawyers. In March of this year, the motion to 9 disqualify was denied.
10 In its distasteful dicta, the court opined that either I resign or the district
11 attorney's office resign from the prosecution of the election interference case.
12 Consequently, I voluntarily submitted my resignation immediately.
13 Since that date, I have had minimum contact with the Office of the District
14 Attorney of Fulton County and have had no access to documents left there.
15 On May 9th, 2024, I received a letter from this committee on the judiciary
16 requesting that I produce six categories of documents. I voluntarily complied with that 17 request by producing all documents that I possessed. I had nothing responsive to 18 categories of documents relating to notes, memoranda, or communications between the 19 Fulton County District Attorney's Office and any other agency.
20 The committee's stated purpose in requesting those documents and in seeking my 21 appearance to date is that the committee is, quote, "considering potential legislative 22 reforms establishing clear guidelines outlining the permissible use of Federal grant funds
23 under 34 U.S.C. Section 10261, et seq., and 12291, et seq., creating penalties for 24 unlawfully misusing Federal grant funds under Title 34 of the United States Code, 25 constructing stringent automatic audit requirements for department grants, managers, or

1 modifying eligibility requirements pertaining to grant recipients that misuse Federal
2 funds," close quote.
3 The committee has also, quote, "considered legislation broadening the existing
4 statutory right of removal of certain criminal cases from State court to Federal court as a
5 remedy against politicized prosecutions by popularly elected State or local prosecutors,"
6 close quote.
7 I am here to cooperate, and I welcome all legal and relevant inquiries related to 8 your defined scope. Contrary to any fabricated story that I somehow evaded service of 9 process, I voluntarily reached out to the U.S. Marshals office and suggested a meeting
10 place and time immediately upon being made aware, through false inflammatory media
11 reports, of Congress' attempts to serve me.
12 You are aware that I am bound by the Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct and 13 Responsibility, and must at all times, maintain in confidence all information gained in the 14 attorney-client relationship.
15 Now, I have been served with the following letter which I will serve -- which will 16 serve as guardrails directing my responses as it relates to certain topics, and I'll read this 17 letter to you and provide this as an exhibit.
18 [redacted] That will be Exhibit 2, I guess.
19 [Wade Exhibit No. 2
20 was marked for identification.]
21 The Witness. This is a letter sent to myself from the Office of the Fulton County
22 District Attorney, Atlanta Judicial Circuit. And it reads, "Dear Mr. Wade, I write to you in 23 my official capacity as district attorney of Fulton County and on behalf of my office
24 regarding a recent subpoena you received from the House Judiciary Committee related to 25 your employment as a special counsel to the Office of the Fulton County District Attorney.

1 As you know, you were contracted by the office and investigated attempts to
2 interfere with the 2020 presidential election in the State of Georgia. This investigation
3 led to the indictment of several individuals under Georgia's RICO law, and prosecution of 4 these charges is ongoing.
5 I write to remind you of your continuing obligation not to disclose any confidential
6 information related to ongoing criminal matters on which you worked while you were a
7 special counsel district attorney, including information that is protected from disclosure
8 by grand jury secrecy rules or applicable legal privileges held by the office.
9 To that end, this letter should serve as formal notice that the Fulton County
10 District Attorney is asserting all applicable legal protections and privileges over the 11 information you obtained as a result of as special counsel to this office.
12 As the special counsel of our investigation into unlawful interference in the 2020
13 presidential election, you have knowledge of highly sensitive and confidential
14 information, the disclosure of which could interfere with an ongoing criminal prosecution.
15 This includes knowledge of key evidence, confidential attorney communications, legal 16 theories and analysis, prosecutorial recommendations and deliberations, as well as 17 knowledge of the source, procedures, and techniques employed in this investigation.
18 Given this, I am concerned that questions posed to you by the committee could 19 implicate several significant established privileges and confidentiality interests. This 20 includes, quote, 'preservation of the secrecy of grand jury proceedings,' close quote,
21 which is, quote, 'a well-recognized principle in Georgia,' close quote, as well as in the 22 Federal legal system.
23 Attempts by the committee to solicit information from you about evidence in the 24 election interference case would run afoul of this fundamental principle. In addition,
25 questions about the substance of your work in the case would also seek information that

1 is protected by the deliberative process, privilege, attorney-client privilege, and work
2 product privilege, among others.
3 As Chief Justice John Roberts recently noted, it has, quote, 'long been 4 understood,' close quote, that recipients of legislative subpoenas retain common law and
5 constitutional privileges with regard to such information. It is the responsibility of the 6 Fulton County District Attorney's Office and its employees to protect secret grand jury or 7 privileged information, and specifically to protect confidential or sensitive information
8 related to ongoing criminal matters.
9 As a former contracted prosecutor with this office, this remains your responsibility
10 as well. As you are undoubtedly aware, the sharing of nonpublic privileged information
11 violates Georgia professional ethics rules, including special rules applicable to 12 prosecutors.
13 After withdrawal from a representation, attorneys are still required to refrain from 14 disclosing confidential information. Such disclosure can prejudice defendants, victims,
15 or witnesses, or affect the overall integrity of the proceedings.
16 Since the committee's demand for your testimony would require you to divulge
17 confidential and privileged information, we previously asked the committee to withdraw 18 its demand to interview you, or if the committee was unwilling to do so, to work with the 19 Fulton County DA's Office on a compromise agreement that would protect our privileges
20 and maintain the integrity of ongoing proceedings. To date, the committee has refused
21 our request.
22 The Fulton County District Attorney will continue to seek an agreement with the 23 committee, including by allowing counsel representing the office to attend your 24 deposition and assert applicable privileges and protections as warranted. However, in 25 the absence of such agreement, I am directing you as a former special counsel district

1 attorney for the Fulton County District Attorney's Office to refrain from answering any of
2 the committee's questions related to your role in the office's investigation of attempts to
3 disrupt the 2020 presidential election in the State of Georgia.
4 It is incumbent upon you and your counsel to guard against the unauthorized
5 disclosure of confidential information by invoking all applicable legal protections and 6 privileges outlined in this letter. I also understand that the committee has expressed
7 interest in questioning you about the office's, quote, 'receipt and use of Federal grant
8 funds,' close quote.
9 I do not believe that you possess any personal knowledge on this subject, as you
10 were not funded by any grant, nor consulted on any grant matters. Thus, this office has 11 no objection to you providing any relevant information to the committee in which you
12 have firsthand knowledge, provided that your answers do not interfere with any ongoing
13 litigation or implicate confidential or privileged information.
14 By allowing you to share relevant personal knowledge regarding receipt and use of 15 Federal funds, the office does not waive any privileges or interests in protecting 16 confidential information in your possession, as it is believed you have no firsthand
17 knowledge regarding this topic.
18 Finally, I wish to remind you that the importance of the Fulton County District
19 Attorney's Office ongoing prosecution. The criminal efforts to undermine Georgia's 20 2020 presidential election not only shook the foundations of our State's democracy, but 21 also endangered public servants and election workers who were brave enough to stand
22 up for the rule of law.
23 As long as I am district attorney, I will continue to do everything in my power to 24 protect the integrity of this criminal investigation and all others in which my office leads.
25 My legal duty to protect the secrecy and integrity of all criminal investigations has been

1 bestowed upon both you and I by Federal, State, and local law. I have no interest in
2 waiving this legal responsibility on behalf of this office. I am confident that you will do
3 the same.
4 Yours in service, Fani T. Willis, District Attorney, Atlanta Judicial Circuit."
5 [redacted] We'll mark that as exhibit 3.
6 [Wade Exhibit No. 3
7 was marked for identification.]
8 [redacted] What was the date of that?
9 [redacted] What exhibit --
10 [redacted] Well, exhibit 2 is his opening statement.
11 [redacted] Okay.
12 [redacted] So exhibit 3 is the letter.
13 [redacted] Do you have a copy?
14 [redacted] I didn't get a copy. I don't know if Mr. Wade brought copies.
15 [redacted] He did read it into the record. That's fine.
16 [redacted] So we're going to mark exhibit 4 would the October 11th letter to 17 Chairman Jordan from the district attorney.
18 [Wade Exhibit No. 4
19 was marked for identification.]
20 [redacted] We're going to mark as exhibit 5 an undated letter to [redacted]
21 from the Governor on behalf of the district attorney. Do you have a date to that,
22 Governor?
23 Mr. Barnes. No, I don't.
24 [Wade Exhibit No. 5
25 was marked for identification.]

1 [redacted] And then exhibit 6 is a September 30th letter from the governor to 2 the chairman.
3 [redacted] I can represent that we received exhibit 5 via email on September
4 20th, a couple days after you all did. We did receive it.
5 [redacted] So exhibit 6 is the letter where the governor urges the chairman to 6 seek anger management training.
7 [Wade Exhibit No. 6
8 was marked for identification.]
9 Mr. Barnes. Hope he has done so.
10 [redacted] So we want to make sure that's --
11 [redacted] That's dated September 30th.
12 [redacted] Yeah. And I identified that. All right. I think we're getting ready 13 to go. The court reporter will now swear the witness in.
14 The Reporter. Do you solemnly declare and affirm under penalty of perjury that 15 the testimony you are about to give will be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the 16 truth?
17 [redacted] The clock now reads 10:35. [redacted] from the majority staff will 18 begin an hour of questions.
19 EXAMINATION
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Good morning, Mr. Wade. I want to start off by talking a bit about your 22 professional background.
23 How many years have you been a practicing attorney in Georgia?
24 A Since 1999.
25 Q And you are still licensed to practice in Georgia. Is that correct?

1 A That is correct.

2 Q Is that the only jurisdiction you are currently barred in?

3 A Yes, ma'am.

4 Q And so it's been about 25 years. Can you provide an overview of the 5 previous positions that you've held?

6 A Okay. Let me refer back to my statement here. I served as a prosecutor

7 several times during my career, first as an assistant solicitor general in Cobb County,

8 Georgia; then as a special assistant attorney general in the State of Georgia.

9 I began my private practice in 2000, where I served as a criminal defense attorney,

10 representing hundreds of individuals in State and Federal courts charged with felony and

11 misdemeanor cases. I have tried many felony cases representing clients in serious

12 matters, including but not limited to, capital offenses, murder, rape, armed robbery,

13 aggravated assault, and drug trafficking.

14 I have served as a civil attorney in private practice representing individuals,

15 businesses, and corporations alike. I have previously been retained to represent a

16 Republican sheriff. I served as legal counsel to the Cobb County branch of the NAACP.

17 I began serving as municipal court judge in several cities in the State of Georgia

18 and was proud to have become the first African American to do so in the city of Marietta,

19 Georgia.

20 Q You said in 2000, you started your private practice. Would that be the Law

21 Offices of Nathan J. Wade?

22 A Yes, ma'am.

23 Q And do you still practice under that moniker, under that name?

24 A I do.

25 Q So you said your practice is focused on criminal offenses, but you've also

1 worked on the civil side. Is that correct?

2 A It's not focused on criminal defense. But I've done them both, yes, ma'am.

3 Q If you had to characterize a primary focus for your years of practice, what

4 would that be?

5 A Today, more civil.

6 Q More civil. Was it, in the past, more criminal?

7 A In the past, it has been, yes.

8 Q And are you currently just practicing under the Law Offices of Nathan J.

9 Wade?

10 A Yes, ma'am.

11 Q Are you employed by any other private law firms?

12 A No, ma'am.

13 Mr. Evans. I know where this is going. I think he's going to need clarification on 14 what that means.

15 BY [redacted]

16 Q Do you provide services to any other private law firms?

17 A Am I co-counsel at times with cases, with other law firms? Absolutely.

18 Q Are you currently under a contract with any other private law firms?

19 A No, ma'am.

20 Q Are you in any sort of joint partnership with any other law firms?

21 A No, ma'am.

22 Mr. Evans. We're talking about right now?

23 [redacted] Correct, sir.

24 Mr. Evans. Okay.

25 BY [redacted]

1 Q Are you contracted to provide any services to any government entities?

2 A Currently, no, ma'am.

3 Q When was the last time that you were contacted with a government entity

4 to provide services?

5 A As special prosecutor in Fulton County.

6 Q And prior to your appointment as special prosecutor for Fulton County, had

7 you been contracted with any other government entity to provide services?

8 A Yes, ma'am.

9 Q And which ones were those?

10 A Let's see. As I noted in the opening remarks, the Cobb County Sheriff.

11 Q Uh-huh.

12 A The city of Marietta as a municipal judge; the city of Roswell as a municipal 13 judge; the city of Austell as a municipal judge.

14 Q I want to talk with you -- you spoke in your opening statement about the 15 various correspondence that you and your counsel have had with the committee.

16 And so we first requested your transcribed interview on May 9th, 2024, via letter.

17 Did you receive the May 9th letter?

18 A Repeat the question, ma'am.

19 Q So the committee first requested your voluntary testimony via transcribed

20 interview in a May 9th, 2024, letter. Did you receive that letter?

21 Mr. Evans. Is that marked as one of the exhibits?

22 [redacted] It is not marked as one of the exhibits. In exhibit number 1, which

23 was the subpoena, it includes two cover letters, first the October 2nd one, and then the 24 second one is dated September 21st.

25 Mr. Evans. Okay.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q And I can read from the September 21st letter. The second sentence says,
3 "As part of our oversight, on May 9th, 2024, the committee requested that you appear for 4 a voluntary" -- "for a transcribed interview relating to your work for the FCDAO."
5 I'm just asking if you remember receiving the May 9th letter.
6 A I don't recall receiving -- I do recall receiving a series of letters. I don't 7 recall the dates, nor the contents of those letters.
8 Q And when did you first seek to schedule your transcribed interview, if you
9 can remember?
10 A I don't recall. That was a communication between my attorney and 11 whomever he was communicating with.
12 Q And so originally your transcribed interview was scheduled for late June.
13 As you said in your opening statement, the committee needed to reschedule that.
14 In communications with your counsel, he informed the committee -- and I can 15 read from the September 21st letter again.
16 Mr. Evans. Sorry. We're bouncing back and forth a little letter, the May letter,
17 the September letter. This one is the September letter?
18 [redacted] This is the September 21st, 2024, cover letter. It's part of exhibit
19 number 1.
20 Mr. Evans. Okay.
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q So the first sentence in the second paragraph of the September 21st, 2024,
23 letter reads, "After two months of communications following our May 9th letter between 24 your counsel and committee staff, your counsel informed the committee on July 19th,
25 2024, that you agree to appear voluntarily for a transcribed interview on September 18,

1 2024."

2 Do you remember being informed that you would be at a transcribed interview on

3 September 18th, 2024?

4 A Vaguely.

5 Q Had you made any travel arrangements to come here for the September

6 18th transcribed interview?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And you ultimately did not appear on September 18th, 2024, before the

9 committee. Is that correct?

10 A I want to make certain that I'm answering as it relates to the proper letter.

11 There were so many letters back and forth that I don't want to mislead you.

12 So let me be clear. The preparation to come for the July time frame, that was 13 agreed upon. I did prepare to do that.

14 Q Uh-huh.

15 A I believe that was the question you just asked me, right?

16 Q I asked about your September 18th transcribed interview, the reschedule of 17 transcribed interview for September 18th. Did you make any travel arrangements for 18 that transcribed interview?

19 A For September the 18th?

20 Q That's correct.

21 A No.

22 Q And you ultimately did not attend the transcribed interview on September

23 18th. Is that correct?

24 A Is that the -- is that the subpoena that I was given on the date?

25 Q No, sir. If you look at the September 21st, 2024, letter which is part of

1 exhibit number 1 -- I believe it's page 3 of exhibit number 1 --

2 A I don't have a September --

3 Q This one.

4 A That says October 2nd.

5 Q So here's the September 21st, 2024, letter. I'm specifically looking at the

6 second paragraph. It starts, "After 2 months of communications following our May 9

7 letter between your counsel and committee staff, your counsel informed the committee

8 on July 19th, 2024, that you agreed to appear voluntarily for a transcribed interview on

9 September 18th, 2024. In the week preceding the scheduled interview, the committee

10 contacted your counsel twice via email and did not receive a response.

11 Instead, on September 13, just 5 days before your scheduled interview, your

12 counsel informed the committee that due to an unsolicited letter from Roy Barnes,

13 counsel to Fulton County District Attorney Fani Willis, you would postpone your 14 appearance. Notably, your counsel offered the committee no alternative date for your

15 testimony.

16 Finally, on September 17th, your counsel confirmed that you would not appear for

17 your scheduled interview based on concerns raised by the Barnes letter."

18 So in reading that, I go back to the question of, did you appear for your September

19 18th transcribed interview?

20 A Well, based upon what you just read, it sounds like I was not -- that there

21 were ongoing communications and negotiations, and I wasn't required to appear.

22 Q And so based upon your failure to appear on September 18th, the 23 transcribed interview, the committee then moved to compulsory process via a subpoena.

24 When did you first learn the committee was issuing you a subpoena for your

25 testimony?

1 A I had -- I had played in a community basketball league and
2 fractured -- hairline fractured my ankle. Because of that, I was in and out of ortho
3 surgery centers.
4 I was, obviously, prescription medicating because of the pain and the swelling in
5 my right ankle. And to date, it is -- it is still swollen. So at times I may have to elevate 6 it to keep the swelling down.
7 But I took a few days to take care of my fractured ankle and to prepare for an 8 upcoming mediation and arbitration. When I was able to deal with the pain without the 9 assistance of the prescription pain medication and came to, I turned on my cell phone
10 and prepared to go and exercise down in my exercise room. And when I did that,
11 messages started to ring through.
12 And one of the messages was from a U.S. marshal identifying himself and leaving a
13 phone number. I called that gentleman back. And at this point it's 4:00 a.m. because I
14 rise at 4:00 a.m. to do my exercise regimen. He answered the phone. And I said to 15 him, I understand that apparently I am missing. I've seen reports that no one can find 16 Nathan Wade. I'm here. Who is looking for me?
17 The marshal then said to me, Sir, that is ridiculous. We know that you're not 18 trying to hide or evade service. And I said, What service? And he said, I have 19 something here to serve upon you from Congress.
20 And I said, I tell you what, I can meet you now, or we can designate a time and a
21 place. And he said, No problem. He said, But that subpoena was for today. He said, I
22 don't think I'll need to serve that upon you, but let me get some clarification and I'll call 23 you back.
24 We hung up the phone. Approximately 8:30 or 9:00 a.m., he called me back, and 25 he said, Mr. Wade, I'll need to go ahead and leave those papers with you. Where are

1 you going to be and what time would you be there? I said, I'll tell you, I'll meet you at 2 my office.
3 I hadn't been to my office in quite some time, over a week I hadn't been there.
4 I'll be there, and I'll meet you, and you can give me what you need to give me. He said,
5 Thank you. We hung up the phone.
6 Maybe 45 minutes to an hour later he walks through the door, shook my hand,
7 handed me the documents and walked away.
8 Q And was your attorney authorized to accept service of a subpoena on your 9 behalf from the committee?
10 A I hadn't spoken to my attorney at that point.
11 Q But previously -- previous to the subpoena?
12 A Nope. We had no conversation about him accepting anything on my 13 behalf.
14 Q So you said that you had never spoken to your attorney about accepting 15 service on your behalf. Is that correct?
16 A We had no conversation about him accepting service of any kind on my 17 behalf.
18 Q On September 21st, as [redacted] noted in his opening remarks, he emailed
19 you a copy of the subpoena.
20 Did you receive that email?
21 A Who emailed me?
22 Q [redacted]
23 A I don't know. I don't recall receiving an email. But if he said he sent it, I'm 24 sure that he did. He seems to be an honest man.
25 Q Are you aware that on that same day prior to sending you that subpoena,

1 [redacted] also attempted to send the subpoena to your attorney? Were you aware of
2 that?
3 A No.
4 Q So did you have any communications with your attorney on September 20th
5 when the subpoena was authorized? Not looking for content of discussion, just yes or 6 no, sir.
7 A Do I have contact with my attorney? Constantly.
8 Mr. Evans. I mean, that goes to conversations that we've had. I would tell him
9 not to answer that question.
10 [redacted] We're just looking for whether a conversation occurred; not the 11 content of the conversation. Just a yes or no.
12 Mr. Evans. Conversations that he has with me are privileged. So I'm going to 13 tell him not to answer that.
14 BY [redacted]
15 Q So did you have a conversation with your attorney ever about the subpoena?
16 [redacted] That's content.
17 Mr. Evans. Yeah. Hang on. Don't answer yet. Did we ever have a 18 conversation about the subpoena? Yeah. I mean, I'm going to instruct my client not to 19 answer.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q Did you have any conversations with your attorney on September 20th?
22 Mr. Evans. Same objection.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q On September 21st? Just looking for a yes or no; not about the content of 25 the discussion.

1 Mr. Evans. Same objection.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q On the 23rd?

4 Mr. Evans. Same objection.

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q So on September 23rd, that was the first time that the marshals attempted

7 to serve you in person.

8 Were you aware that they attempted to serve you in person on September 23rd?

9 A I think I just shared with you an experience where I voluntarily reached out

10 to the marshals, and they served me in person.

11 Q So your testimony is that you turned your phone off because you had 12 fractured your ankle. Is that correct, sir?

13 A No, ma'am. My testimony was I turned my phone off to prepare for an

14 arbitration and mediation that was upcoming, along with nurse my ankle back to health.

15 So I sort of -- when I get into trial mode, when I'm preparing for trial, I shut the 16 world off. My job is to handle my client's business, and I don't want any outside

17 interference. So I had no contact with anyone during the course of that preparation.

18 Q So what date did you turn your phone off?

19 A I turned it off -- the exact date, I can't recall. I'd give it to you if I could. I

20 can't recall the exact date.

21 Q So did the phone -- if we requested your phone records for September 20th

22 to September 26th, will we find that your phone was off, you had no communications via

23 your cell phone?

24 A I don't know what date it was when I shut it off. But during the course of 25 that period, you will find no communications because the phone was off.

1 Q And so what happened first, the phone being turned off or you hurting your
2 ankle?
3 A The ankle injury occurred first.
4 Q Okay. And so between that time, you said that you turned your phone on 5 then at 4:00 a.m. on September 26th, and that's when you received the messages from 6 the marshals. Is that correct, or do I have the timeline mixed up?
7 A I don't recall -- I do recall the marshal saying to me, This subpoena that I am
8 to serve you is for today's date. So whatever that date was, that's the date I turned my 9 phone on and returned that phone call.
10 Q So on the second attempt to serve the subpoena in person on September 11 24th, the marshals spoke to a work crew that was doing some landscaping work at your
12 house.
13 Are you aware of those conversations that occurred?
14 Mr. Evans. You're referring to the second. What's the first attempt?
15 [redacted] So the marshals made several attempts to serve Mr. Wade the 16 subpoena.
17 Mr. Evans. In person?
18 [redacted] In person, that's correct.
19 Mr. Evans. When was the first attempt?
20 [redacted] The first attempt was on the 23rd, which is that Monday.
21 Mr. Evans. And then the second attempt was when?
22 [redacted] On the 24th.
23 Mr. Evans. Okay.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q So on the 24th is the date that they spoke with your -- the individuals doing

1 landscaping around your house.

2 Are you aware that they spoke to those individuals?

3 A No. And I'm shocked that the marshals never mentioned to me that they

4 had come to my home. And I had -- I had no conversation with anyone doing any

5 landscaping around my property at that time either.

6 Q And on September 24th, they also attempted to serve you in person at your

7 law office. Are you aware of that?

8 A I am not. During the course of that conversation, the marshal did say to me

9 that he stopped by my law office and the paralegal or receptionist told him that I was not

10 there.

11 Q And the marshals represented to the committee that the paralegal told the 12 marshals that you were out of town until October 2nd.

13 Is that an accurate statement? Were you out of town until October 2nd?

14 A I don't know what they would have shared with them. I don't know.

15 Q And then you said at 4:00 a.m. on the 26th, you reached back out to the 16 marshals. Is that correct?

17 A I did.

18 Q And you did that via a phone call?

19 A I did.

20 Q And then you accepted service on the 26th?

21 A On that date.

22 Q On that morning?

23 A Whatever that morning was, yes.

24 Q And then on October 2nd, the committee issued another subpoena, and you

25 subsequently accepted service of that subpoena. Is that correct?

1 A So -- so because at this point, I had had contact with the marshal via cell
2 phone, that same gentleman called me and he said, Mr. Wade, I have another document
3 for you. How can I get it to you?
4 Q Uh-huh.
5 A I said, Well, when do you want to get it to me? And he said, As soon as
6 possible.
7 I told him at that point that I'm on my way to court. You can meet me at the 8 courthouse if you like. Here's where I'm going, and here's the time that I'll be there.
9 And he said, I will show up there, and I will hand you the documents, and he did that.
10 Q Okay. And I want to now pivot to talking about your appointment as 11 special prosecutor for the Fulton County District Attorney Office.
12 So who contacted you first about the special prosecutor position?
13 A So this is an interesting story or series of events, how this came about.
14 The Witness. And forgive me, Governor Barnes, I'm going to have to tell on you
15 here.
16 Mr. Barnes. That's fine. You won't be the first.
17 The Witness. I was a part of a search committee, if you will, for the then-newly 18 elected district attorney.

1 [10:58 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Okay. And can you provide dates for when you were part of the search

4 committee?

5 A Oh, God, I cannot. I'm sorry.

6 Q Okay. If it's helpful, DA Willis came into office on January 1st of 2021. Is 7 that a helpful time frame?

8 A It is. So January 1st I was a part of the search committee for that newly

9 elected district attorney, and we were tasked with trying to identify someone who would

10 serve as lead counsel on the election interference investigation.

11 The goal, or the trick, was to make certain that the individual selected or identified

12 was one who had no axe to grind, if you will, one who would be able to be objective, and

13 follow wherever the investigative process would lead them. There were between three

14 and five candidates that we spoke with, a few of which I cannot recall, but there were a

15 multitude of individuals who were reaching out and sending resumes trying to obtain the

16 position, one of which -- one individual that we did speak with is in the room this

17 morning, and that is Governor Barnes. He, I guess, artfully bowed out accepting the 18 position of special prosecutor, and he would cite to safety reasons. He would cite to the

19 low financial compensation that Fulton County would offer, and he would cite to a busy

20 law practice, that he couldn't afford to devote the necessary amount of time that a case

21 like this would need. But interestingly enough, he also shared with us at that time that

22 he had no interest in traveling in a caravan of security constantly.

23 Now, I should have taken the hint when he said that. I did not. I didn't

24 understand what he understood at the time apparently. I had no clue that I would need

25 security for accepting that position.

1 But at any rate, he was one that turned the position down. Other people turned
2 it down. Eventually, eventually I guess the committee turned their guns on me and
3 started trying to convince me to accept the role. I said no. I said no more than once.
4 But at some point, I relented and accepted the case because it did pose some
5 interesting -- I thought interesting legal issues. It was unlike any concept or anything
6 that I had ever dealt with. As a matter of fact, it turns out it's unlike anything that has 7 ever happened in American history, so I was right in that regard.
8 I didn't give -- I didn't give enough credence, though, to the underlying warnings
9 that were issued to me by former Governor Barnes.
10 Q And so the search committee, you said that began when DA Willis took office
11 on January 1, 2021. Is that correct?
12 A Yes.
13 Q And was there outreach to you to be part of the search committee prior to 14 January 1, 2021?
15 A Absolutely.
16 Q And when did that start?
17 A Sometime after the election, but prior to her taking office.
18 Q Okay. So between the election -- and you're referring to the 19 November 2020 election. Is that correct?
20 A Yes, ma'am.
21 Q And so when you had conversations with individuals you said on multiple 22 occasions you said no, and you turned the positions down, who were those conversations
23 with?
24 A They were with -- mostly with the District Attorney --
25 Mr. Evans. I'm not objecting right now because we're talking about the process

1 of bringing him on board, but, like, we're headed pretty close to where I'll start objecting
2 once we -- like if we start asking about the case and the investigation and stuff, so --
3 [redacted] Okay. I'm asking about his hiring and being brought on.
4 Mr. Evans. Okay.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q So you said that you had conversations with DA Willis regarding -- prior to 7 your appointment as special prosecutor. Is that correct?
8 A Yes, ma'am.
9 Q About the role itself. Is that correct?
10 A Yes, ma'am.
11 Q Did you have any, I would say, interviews with DA Willis regarding the 12 position?
13 A Define "interview." What does this mean?
14 Q Like a job interview, where you sat down with DA Willis, and she talked 15 about your job qualifications, the role of the special prosecutor, you two discussed why
16 you would be best fit for the position. Was there any sort of discussion like that?
17 A It was more of a conversation sort of making me aware of my background
18 and accomplishments, if you will. So if that's an interview, then that's what it was, but it
19 was more of her and her counsel at the time just kind of reminding me, Well, you've done 20 this, and you've done that, and you've done this, and you've done that.
21 [redacted] Could I just ask, are we talking about him serving as a special
22 prosecutor or him serving on the search committee?
23 [redacted] I'm talking about his appointment as special prosecutor.
24 [redacted] Okay.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q And so how many conversations, if you had to quantify, do you believe you
2 had with DA Willis specifically prior to being hired as special prosecutor?
3 A I have no clue, ma'am.
4 Q Was it more than five, more than ten?
5 A I have no clue. It was a lot.
6 Q More than one?
7 A Absolutely.
8 Q Did you have conversations with anyone else besides DA Willis regarding the 9 special prosecutor role, and Governor Barnes I'll say?
10 A I did. And I'm trying to recall if that was -- that was [redacted]
11 Q And who is [redacted]
12 A He's the individual that I had the conversation with prior to my being 13 appointed, if you will, as special prosecutor.
14 Q Did he work in DA Willis's office?
15 A At the time she didn't -- she hadn't taken office yet.
16 Q Okay. So you spoke with [redacted] prior to DA Willis taking office?
17 A I did.
18 Q Okay. Any other individuals besides [redacted] Governor Barnes, and 19 DA Willis that you had conversations with about the position?
20 A I'm sure there were. I just can't recall who they were.
21 Q Okay. I'm going to mark another exhibit. This will be exhibit number 7.
22 This is Judge McAfee's March 15, 2024, order.
23 [Wade Exhibit No. 7
24 was marked for identification.]
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q This is exhibit number 7. And to the extent I use this as an exhibit, I'll make
2 sure to refer you to a specific page number, but feel free to take time to review it.
3 Are you good to go?
4 A I'm good to go.
5 Q And in your opening statement you referred to distasteful dicta. Is this
6 what you were referring to, this order?
7 A Portions of it, yes, ma'am.
8 Q Okay. I want to look specifically at page number 1, the sentence starting 9 "among other." And I'll read it into the record. "Among other allegations of 10 disqualifying conduct, the defendants contend that the District Attorney obtained a 11 personal stake in the prosecution of this case by financially benefiting from her romantic
12 relationship with Special Assistant District Attorney Nathan Wade, whom she personally
13 hired to lead the State's prosecution team."
14 I'm just wondering if you could help us unpack "personally hired." Would you
15 describe that as DA Willis having conversations with you? Did she give you the job
16 offer? Can you help us understand personally hired?
17 Mr. Evans. It calls for speculation.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q So did you receive a job offer from DA Willis?
20 A If you're asking me to interpret what this judge was meaning when he made
21 those statements, I can't -- I couldn't do it for you.
22 Q So would you say the fact -- his statement that she personally hired you, is 23 that an inaccurate statement?
24 Mr. Evans. Well, you're asking what Nathan's understanding of a judge's 25 order -- of a judge's use of the word "personally hired." He has no way to know what

1 Judge McAfee meant by that.

2 [redacted] I'm asking if he believes that statement is accurate. Is "personally

3 hired" accurate?

4 Mr. Evans. You're asking him --

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q To your understanding, is it accurate?

7 A Aside from what he wrote in this order, I can tell you that the only person --

8 Q Uh-huh.

9 A -- who had the authority to appoint me as special prosecutor was the District

10 Attorney of Fulton County, Georgia, at the time. That's who had the authority to make

11 the appointment. Aside from whatever the process was, ultimately, she had the 12 authority to do it.

13 Q So when you received a job offer or a contract from Fulton County, were 14 those discussions had with DA Willis?

15 Mr. Evans. That's too broad of a question. I mean, are you asking about 16 specific things? Are you asking about -- because you just said everything.

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q When you were retained by Fulton County District Attorney's office -- you

19 would agree that you were retained by the Fulton County District Attorney's office. Is

20 that correct?

21 A I would agree with that.

22 Q When you were retained by the Fulton County District Attorney's office, who 23 did you have conversations with?

24 A I had conversations upon being retained --

25 Q Uh-huh.

1 A -- and contracting with the Fulton County District Attorney's office with
2 [redacted]
3 Q And what was [redacted] role at the District Attorney's office?
4 A I don't know the exact title that he has.
5 Q And what did you discuss with [redacted] Was it just the maneuvers of the 6 contract, or what were the specifics?
7 Mr. Evans. Of what?
8 [redacted] He said that he had conversations with [redacted] regarding his
9 retention, so I'm asking in what regards.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q Was it about the specifics of the contract? Was it about the rate that you
12 would be given per hour?
13 A All of the above.
14 Q Okay. And did you have any of those types of conversations with DA Willis,
15 or were those just had with [redacted]
16 Mr. Evans. Hang on. I just want to be more precise with the questioning
17 because it keeps getting back to this broader question of -- what's the actual question?
18 [redacted] The actual question is he -- we have just discussed that he had 19 conversations with [redacted] regarding his retention as special prosecutor for the Fulton
20 County District Attorney's office.
21 Mr. Evans. But that's just --
22 [redacted] And he described -- excuse me. He described that he had had 23 conversations about the rate. He had had discussions with [redacted] about the contract
24 itself. So I'm asking, did he discuss any of those, his rate, and/or his contract with DA
25 Willis?

1 Mr. Evans. Okay.

2 The Witness. No.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q No. You just had those types of conversations with [redacted]

5 A That was his job. His job was to sit with me, hammer out the details of the 6 contract, which were this is our contract, this is our rate, sign it. So there you go.

7 Q And in the judge's order, it states that you were personally hired to lead the 8 State's prosecution team.

9 Is that accurate to describe you as the lead for the prosecution team?

10 A Yes, that's accurate.

11 Q Did you have any discussions with DA Willis regarding you leading the 12 prosecution team?

13 A That's what she hired me to do.

14 Q Beyond just explaining that you would lead the prosecution team, were

15 there any more details provided, like how many employees you would supervise, if you

16 would lead a team of prosecutors, if you would have office space at the Fulton County

17 District Attorney's office. Were there any of those types of conversations?

18 A So there's a contract that's in the public sphere.

19 Q Uh-huh.

20 A And that -- I'm going to just ask that the four corners of that document

21 control.

22 Q Uh-huh.

23 A The contract speaks for itself. If you don't have it, I could ask my counsel to 24 provide another copy of it to you. I know that it was provided in some discovery

25 responses, and it was the actual -- a copy of the actual contract that was executed. So

1 whatever those details are, it's in there.

2 Q And prior to the contract being sent to you, you discussing it with [redacted] I

3 believe you said his last name was, is that correct? Did you have any discussions with 4 DA Willis of what the job would entail?

5 A It's all in the contract?

6 Q Did you lead a team of prosecutors at the Fulton County District Attorney's

7 office?

8 A I did.

9 Q How many did you -- were on your team?

10 A So let me say this: Those men and women, many of which are not known

11 to the public, there's some safety concerns there.

12 Q Uh-huh.

13 A And I don't think that we should really be talking about --

14 [redacted] She didn't ask names.

15 The Witness. Am I responding to you or him? Which?

16 [redacted] He'll just help out with the objections.

17 [redacted] I'm sorry. This is a deposition. I think under the deposition rules

18 only one counsel is allowed to ask questions.

19 [redacted] I didn't ask a question. I just confirmed that she did not ask names.

20 [redacted] I think that's a violation of the rules. Obviously, you guys are in

21 charge, so you can do whatever you want, but I --

22 [redacted] It's not a violation of the rules. It's just confirming she did not ask

23 for names.

24 The Witness. So let me say that there was a team, and there was more than 25 one.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q There was more than one. Did you supervise a team of more than five

3 individuals?

4 A Yes.

5 Q More than 10?

6 A No.

7 Q Okay. So it was between five and ten. Is that correct?

8 A That's correct.

9 Q And were those individuals all barred attorneys?

10 A No.

11 Q Okay. And can you give us a sense of were they -- were the individuals,

12 paralegals, secretaries, assistants? What did that look like for the individuals who were 13 not barred attorneys?

14 A All of the above.

15 Q Okay. And how many individuals would you say were barred attorneys?

16 More than five?

17 A I believe, yes.

18 Q Okay. And I want to ask you a little bit about the organizational structure.

19 So there --

20 Mr. Evans. Are we talking about just for the Trump case, or are we talking about 21 just overall in the district attorney's office?

22 BY [redacted]

23 Q I'm talking about just for the case against President Donald Trump. That

24 was our understanding is that you were hired specifically to be a special prosecutor on

25 the case against President Donald Trump. Is that correct? There were no other cases

1 that you worked on?

2 A That's not correct.

3 Q Okay. So you worked on cases other than just the prosecution and

4 investigation of President Trump?

5 A Yes.

6 Q How many other cases did you work on?

7 A I don't know.

8 Q What types of cases were they?

9 A Criminal cases.

10 Q Criminal cases. What types of crimes?

11 A I don't recall.

12 Q Were they all in a specific unit or division of the district attorney's office, like 13 the anticorruption unit? Were they all in that vein?

14 A No, ma'am.

15 Q Okay. And so talking specifically about the investigation and prosecution of 16 President Trump, how many attorneys did you supervise?

17 Mr. Evans. Now we're starting to get into the actual investigation, and this is

18 where I'll start objecting. I don't mind about he was interviewed to do a job. I don't

19 even mind about how many barred attorneys were working. But now we're starting to

20 get into specifics about the investigation, and that's where I'm going to object under

21 privilege and stuff. I don't want to talk about the structure of anything that had to do

22 with the case or the investigation of --

23 Mr. Barnes. And I don't want to get down to such specifics that, even though

24 names are not used, that you could identify people. I mean, you don't know how bad

25 this has become since President Trump has brought this out public and Chairman Jordan

1 to the extent of having to move out of their houses.

2 So with that admonition, then you can go ahead.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q So you said that you supervised a team that was between five and 10

5 individuals. Is that correct?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And so, would those -- even though, you know, I believe under the contract

8 you were limited to 60 hours per month, is that correct, to your recollection?

9 A I don't recall, but it was something -- it was awful.

10 Q And, you know, I believe DA Willis and you have both publicly said that you

11 worked more hours than you billed for. Is that correct?

12 A Absolutely.

13 Q So when you were working for the DA's office, you also had your private law

14 practice as well. So I just want to specifically focus on your work for the DA's office.

15 When you -- so you supervised a team of five to ten people. Did those

16 individuals reach out to you for guidance? I'm not asking for the specific guidance you

17 provided, but would they reach out to you and take direction from you?

18 Mr. Evans. What's meant by guidance?

19 [redacted] Can we interview this individual as an example.

20 Mr. Evans. That's too broad of a question. He's not going to know.

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q Would team -- would the individuals that you supervised, would they ever

23 contact you? We'll start off with that.

24 Mr. Evans. Well, I'm just going to object to this whole line under -- I mean, this

25 would all be covered under attorney work product, under attorney-client privilege. I

1 mean, there's still an ongoing investigation in addition to a Court of Appeals decision
2 about the motion to disqualify.
3 So we've got several different problems here with confidentiality and even 4 disclosing, you know, broad architecture of how the structure was and who's 5 communicating with who and even without getting into the granular details about all of 6 that. So I'm just going to continue to assert these objections under all of these
7 privileges.
8 [redacted] So how would the -- discussing the structure of the office, how 9 would that affect the investigation?
10 Mr. Evans. Because it's -- as Governor Barnes said, there's -- you start to limit
11 this to a universe of people that could be identified. Even just saying five to 10 barred
12 attorneys, you can start getting people going back through records and trying to figure 13 out who these attorneys are so they could be the subject of, you know, verbal attacks or 14 whatever. So, I mean, I don't want to give anything that would put anybody in jeopardy 15 for that.
16 [redacted] And how would whether conversations occurred between him and 17 the individuals that he supervised be covered under the attorney-client privilege?
18 Mr. Evans. Because you're starting to get into -- when you say five to 10 barred 19 attorneys and then you start asking questions about did any of those people tell you who 20 to talk to and stuff, then you're starting to get into people with specific knowledge. And 21 if they could be identified, there would be an absolute reason to go after certain people.
22 [redacted] Yeah. And I'll State that I tried to start out broad and you objected
23 to the question. I tried to say did you have -- did anyone from your team reach out for 24 guidance?
25 Mr. Evans. It's not a perfect science what we're doing. I get it. I was trying to

1 give some leeway with asking some questions about the process of hiring him and stuff
2 like that, but anything even, you know, tied to the investigation and so -- keep in mind
3 this is a 2-year investigation. It's still going on. So it got put on hold by the Court of 4 Appeals while they review the order on the motion to disqualify, but it's still going on.
5 So we've got all of these people that are working in the office that are still a part
6 of all of this. Nathan is not part of this case anymore since he resigned, but all of these
7 other people still are. So there's a lot to protect here, not just with this but with the 8 ongoing investigation.
9 [redacted] And so --
10 Mr. Barnes. Since this is about grant money, why don't you -- why don't we get 11 down to it. You were paid this. Do you know if this came from Federal funds? I
12 mean, how -- what is this beyond the scope of the subpoena --
13 [redacted] I'm trying to get there, sir, but we have to lay the groundwork first if 14 it's hiring a special prosecutor.
15 Mr. Barnes. Why don't you just ask him if he knows anything about the grant
16 money, about how he was paid?
17 [redacted] We'll get there. We'll get there.
18 Mr. Barnes. Well, I mean, but why do we have to run the risk of narrowing down
19 number of people. I don't think you fully understand these nuts and how violent they 20 can become. And so, I mean, you know, just ask the question. Just ask the question.
21 [redacted] And if you'll permit me to, I'll go ahead and get back to questioning.
22 So we'll restart the clock.
23 BY [redacted]
24 Q So did you have an office space at the Fulton County District Attorney's
25 office?

1 A Did I have a place where I went to complete the work that I was contracted
2 to do with the Fulton County District Attorney's office?
3 Q That's correct, sir.
4 A Yes.
5 Q And was that at the physical address of the Fulton County District Attorney's
6 office?
7 A I cannot -- I cannot, for safety reasons, disclose where that office was.
8 Q Okay. I'm not asking for the specific address, but you had a desk
9 somewhere where you completed your Fulton County District Attorney office work. Is
10 that correct?
11 A Someplace.
12 Q Someplace. And did you have an official email address with Fulton County?
13 A No.
14 Q So if someone needed to reach out to you regarding your work with the 15 Fulton County DA's office, would they email you on your regular Nathan J. Wade Law
16 Office email address?
17 A They would email a legal assistant, a paralegal, or one of the other full-time
18 team members to get to me.
19 Q Okay. And did you have a business card with the Fulton County DA's office
20 that identified you as a special prosecutor?
21 A I did.
22 Q And did you have a government phone or a phone number where you could
23 be reached to discuss Fulton County business?
24 A I did not.
25 Q You did not. So would the similar process --

1 Mr. Evans. See even that's getting too close because you're starting to ask
2 whether people are using their personal cell numbers to conduct business with Fulton
3 County. I object to that because that could potentially reveal an identity of people.
4 Keep in mind, he had to change his phone number like after some of this went on.
5 So this is not just academic objections. This is real-life stuff that there has been a lot of 6 threats and people have faced.
7 [redacted] Yeah. What this line of questioning is trying to get at is how 8 integrated into the Fulton County District Attorney's office were you?
9 Mr. Evans. I don't understand the relevancy of that. We know that he had a
10 contract with them. It's not disputed that he was the special prosecutor on the case. I 11 don't -- what difference does it make where he worked or what phone number he had or 12 anything? I don't understand.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q So I'll just ask a broad question then.
15 Did you feel like you were integrated into the day-to-day operations at the Fulton
16 County District Attorney's office?
17 A What does "integrated" mean?
18 Q Did people know who you were? Did people interact with you on a daily
19 basis?
20 A Most people did not know who I was.
21 Q Okay. Just the individuals who were -- you supervised on your team, they 22 obviously knew who you were; but other individuals at the Fulton County District
23 Attorney's office did not know who you were?
24 A Most other individuals at the Fulton County District Attorney's office did not
25 know my roles nor have any knowledge of the work that I was performing.

1 Q And prior to your appointment as special prosecutor, you listed in your
2 opening statement and in the first few of my questions, roles that you had where you
3 were a prosecuting attorney. Is that correct?
4 A Yes, ma'am.
5 Q Prior to your appointment as special prosecutor, had you ever worked in a
6 district attorney's office?
7 A No.
8 Q And in your opening statement, you mentioned various criminal cases that 9 you had worked on regarding, you know, whether it be capital cases, murder cases, rape
10 cases. Had you ever worked on a RICO case or a racketeering case?
11 A Okay. So when you say, "worked on," are you meaning tried? Because 12 the cases that I mentioned were cases that I actually tried.
13 Q Okay. So we can take it a step back.
14 Had you ever just worked on, not you being the attorney of record on the case, for 15 a RICO case?
16 A Are you asking if I've ever participated in the prosecution of a RICO case?
17 Q Correct.
18 A The answer is no.
19 Q No. So this was the first case where you were prosecuting a RICO case?
20 A Yes.
21 Q And how did you get up to speed on the contours? Obviously, RICO is a
22 complex law. Not talking about while you were on the job, but prior to taking the 23 position on, did you do any study of the RICO law?
24 Mr. Evans. I would just say that last clarification is what is I was going for is that 25 you could talk about what you did to learn about the law, like the law itself, what RICO as

1 a count means, but I don't want anything --

2 The Witness. I absolutely -- I absolutely did. I went to what you

3 would -- what I would call RICO school to learn about what it is, what it means, and how it

4 works. It's a very complicated legal concept, but the dubbed godfather of RICO, the

5 gentleman who wrote the book --

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A -- spent hours and hours teaching me RICO, if you will.

9 Q And beyond that, did you do any other study to prepare yourself for taking

10 on the position of the special prosecutor?

11 A I don't know that there's anything greater than sitting at the foot of the 12 person who has written the book on a legal concept. There's nothing better than that.

13 Q And who are you referring to when you say he wrote the RICO book?

14 A John Floyd.

15 Q John Floyd.

16 Mr. Evans. And that's the only name I want to have you give. And the only

17 reason I didn't object there is because he's already part of the public record, but

18 that's -- okay.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q And did Mr. Floyd work for the Fulton County District Attorney's office or did

21 you just seek him out?

22 A I don't know who he works for.

23 Q Okay. So he wasn't contracted by the district attorney's office, to your

24 knowledge?

25 Mr. Evans. That's not the same question.

1 Mr. Barnes. No, it's not the same question.

2 Mr. Evans. And the answer is it's public record that he was.

3 Mr. Barnes. And had been for years from time to time by the predecessor DA.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q So how did you go about contacting Mr. Floyd?

6 A He was teaching a RICO course, and I went to the course.

7 Q So when you say you went to RICO school, that would be accurate; you did

8 go to a class about RICO to understand the contours of the law?

9 A Absolutely.

10 Q And during your time as special prosecutor at the Fulton County District

11 Attorney's office, did anyone supervise you?

12 A What does that mean, "supervise me"?

13 Q Was there any -- if there was an organizational chart, was there anyone

14 above you?

15 Mr. Evans. I would object to that on the same grounds that we're talking about

16 before that we're getting too far into architecture and structures and, you know, stuff

17 that pertains to the case itself, so I don't --

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q In your role as special prosecutor, did you report directly to DA Willis?

20 Mr. Evans. You don't have to answer that if you don't want to.

21 [redacted] What's the objection? What's the privilege?

22 Mr. Evans. Again, it's just -- first of all, I don't see the relevancy to anything

23 having to do with grant funds. I don't see the relevancy of anything to do stated in the 24 committee's letter about oversight of removal to Federal court stuff, so I find this whole

25 line of questioning irrelevant.

1 But I want to go back to the original objections of just -- we're just getting into too
2 much confidential material with the structure. Who he's reporting to, who's working for 3 who, all this kind of stuff is just not anything that he's going to answer.
4 Mr. Barnes. And --
5 [redacted] And what's the privilege? You didn't State a privilege.
6 Mr. Barnes. Well --
7 Mr. Evans. The privileges -- there's several privileges. I mean, there's just 8 generally attorney work product privilege that deals with confidential information.
9 There's attorney-client privilege generally which is going to cover it. There's grand jury
10 secrecy provisions which are talking about confidentiality and the process and everything.
11 We've got Georgia Bar Rule of Professional Conduct 1.6. There's just a general rule of 12 confidentiality anyway. So we've got a multitude of privileges.
13 [redacted] And how does whether DA Willis supervised him fit into those 14 privileges? It's just a "yes" or "no" answer.
15 Mr. Evans. The contract that he has with Fulton County is public record. None
16 of the rest of this stuff is public record. So you're asking for stuff about how it all works.
17 So whatever DA Willis decided was the hierarchy and how communication was going to 18 get passed and who was going to be supervised by who, that's all attorney-client privilege
19 to me because that's confidential material on how the office operates.
20 [redacted] And that wasn't my question. It was, did DA Willis supervise him?
21 That's a "yes" or a "no" answer. So how would that lead you to the reporting structure
22 that DA Willis had set up?
23 Mr. Evans. Because I don't know what supervised means. They have 24 conversations, but I don't want -- I don't feel that he's at liberty to discuss some kind of 25 rigid hierarchy for how information was communicated within the office. That's my

1 objection.

2 [redacted] So we can take it broader if that would make you feel more

3 comfortable.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Did anyone oversee you in your position as special prosecutor?

6 Mr. Evans. Well, that was the first question I objected to. The second one was

7 when you said did Fani Willis oversee you? So I don't understand --

8 [redacted] How do we not know what the word "supervise" means?

9 Mr. Evans. What are we trying to get to here, though? I don't understand,

10 like the --

11 [redacted] Look we just ask the questions. I mean --

12 Mr. Evans. Yeah.

13 [redacted] Sometimes when you ask a question, as you know, it leads to other

14 things. But, I mean, we're objecting here to the meaning of the word "supervisor"?

15 Mr. Evans. No. I'm objecting to the conversation as it was explaining about just

16 getting into how information is passed within an office on a case that is subject to grand

17 jury secrecy laws, a case that's subject to --

18 [redacted] I didn't ask how information is passed. I asked who -- did anyone

19 oversee Mr. Wade in his position as special prosecutor. That's not how information

20 passed. It's just did someone oversee you? Yes or no? Did DA Willis --

21 [redacted] Was it the criminal division? Was it the deputy DA? Was it --

22 Mr. Evans. We're still getting into too many names and identifiable people.

23 [redacted] And to make you more comfortable with the question, that's why I

24 took it back to did anyone ever oversee you in your role as special prosecutor?

25 Mr. Evans. Okay. You can answer that question. Did anyone ever oversee

1 you?

2 A No.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q So you had ultimate authority in the case you would say?

5 A Yes.

6 Mr. Evans. I mean, I would object that that calls for speculation generally, but --

7 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, folks, I'm an old man, and eventually we're going to have to 8 go to the bathroom.

9 [redacted] Hey, we're at a minute 51. Can you wait for just 9 minutes?

10 Mr. Barnes. Okay. I can make it.

11 BY [redacted]

12 Q So, Mr. Wade, it's a matter of public record that you were paid -- you

13 received for your services somewhere a little bit over $700,000. And I understand from

14 your testimony at the hearing that there was a structure where it went into a joint

15 account between you and your law partners, paid expenses, and then it was divided

16 among the three of you. But is it accurate to say that you were reimbursed -- not you,

17 your law firm, your partnership was reimbursed $700,000 for your services, a little bit

18 over that?

19 A Reimbursed?

20 Q In payment for your service that you provided to Fulton County District

21 Attorney, you received $250 per hour. Is that correct? That was your rate?

22 A That was not my rate, no, ma'am. But again, the contract is going to

23 control.

24 Q Uh-huh.

25 A So whatever that contract says, that's what it was.

1 Mr. Evans. The objection I would have is just on that one, the form of the
2 question. This question was asked at the hearing, and there was about a 30-minute
3 discussion about what it meant, what the word "law firm" meant --
4 [redacted] Correct.
5 Mr. Evans. -- because he's had three, four iterations of partnerships and 6 everything. So I would just ask for --
7 [redacted] Yes. I was just attempting to truncate it here for the record.
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q I understand that you, yourself, did not receive the full payment. Is that
10 correct?
11 A That's correct.
12 Q And that it was divided among -- after expenses were paid, it was divided
13 between you, Mr. Bradley, and Mr. Campbell. Is that correct?
14 A That's correct.
15 Q And at some point, Mr. Bradley and Mr. Campbell also had contracts with 16 the Fulton County District Attorney's office for first appearances and/or filter or taint
17 review, I believe it's called. Is that correct?
18 A That's correct.
19 Q Do you have an understanding of when they were contacted regarding, you 20 know, negotiating those contracts to be brought on to do the first appearances, taint and 21 filter review?
22 A I do not.
23 Q Did you ever -- were you ever involved in the first appearance contract?
24 A I was not.
25 Q Were you ever involved in the filter or the taint contract?

1 A I was not.

2 Q Do you have an understanding of when those contracts ended specifically?

3 A I do not.

4 Q And was the payment structure similar to how your payment from the 5 Fulton County District Attorney's office was received? It went into the joint account,

6 expenses were paid, and then the remainder was divided among the three of you?

7 A Well, it would go into an account --

8 Q Uh-uh.

9 A -- and then the way you explained it would happen.

10 Q Okay.

11 A So not necessarily a joint account.

12 Q And DA Willis --

13 Mr. Evans. I just want to make sure, are you -- did you -- were you aware that 14 Judge McAfee has a YouTube channel that recorded the hearing?

15 [redacted] Correct. And I watched his testimony, and I watched DA Willis's

16 testimony, Mr. Bradley's testimony, Mr. Yeartie's -- Ms. Yeartie's testimony. I watched

17 all of that.

18 Mr. Evans. Right. So these questions, specific questions have been asked and 19 answered.

20 Mr. Barnes. Under oath.

21 Mr. Evans. Under oath.

22 [redacted] And as [redacted] said, sometimes responses elicit additional

23 questions or new information.

24 Mr. Evans. Well --

25 [redacted] So that's what we're just -- we're just asking the questions here.

1 Mr. Evans. Right. So I didn't object to some of the other questions that were 2 asked at the hearing tangentially, but these actually have been asked and answered.
3 [redacted] And what would the privilege be then if they've already been
4 answered?
5 Mr. Evans. The -- well, we keep pigeonholing this into privilege. I mean, I've 6 already said that I don't recognize that as the limitation. But I would object just 7 generally under the common law deposition rules of -- or just the general deposition rules
8 of everything of just asked and answered and just not wanting him to -- these things
9 happened a long time ago. What I'm concerned is that he might say something that 10 might be inconsistent with testimony that he gave at the hearing that might cause a 11 problem, not because he's trying to be misleading or anything, but just because he just 12 doesn't remember. And so I don't want him to answer questions --
13 [redacted] Well, if he doesn't remember questions, if he doesn't remember
14 something, he can tell us.
15 Mr. Evans. He can say that. But we are getting into questions that have already 16 been specifically asked.
17 [redacted] And we're not going to -- [redacted] is not going through every 18 question that has been asked --
19 [redacted] I will also point out this is still on appeal, this issue.
20 Mr. Evans. It is.
21 [redacted] We're ready to go back. Okay.
22 BY [redacted]
23 Q Were you the only special prosecutor, to your knowledge, that was 24 contacted to work on the case against President Trump --
25 [redacted] Are we good to go?

1 [redacted] Yeah. I was just asking if you would just tell us when you pause your
2 timer so we can keep track of time.
3 BY [redacted]
4 Q To your knowledge, were there other special prosecutors besides yourself
5 that were contracted to work on the case against President Trump and his 6 co-defendants?
7 A Yes.
8 Q And how many others were there?
9 A At least two.
10 Q And were their roles similar to yours?
11 A No.
12 Q How did their roles differ?
13 A They weren't required to spend the amount of time that I was required to 14 spend on the case. They were more as needed.
15 Q And when you say the time that you were required to spend on the case,
16 what do you mean by "required"?
17 A Well, your earlier question probably 30 minutes ago dealt with RICO and my 18 understanding of the concept, the legal concept of RICO. Well, in order to be certain 19 that I can fully, or could fully understand the concept, I was required to go through the 20 training. I was required to make certain that I understood how to apply each and every 21 element per the statute. I was required to -- and I'm trying to answer your question --
22 Q Uh-huh.
23 A -- without going into now investigative processes, but we had different
24 requirements.
25 Q And do you have any knowledge of or a reason to believe that the Fulton

1 County District Attorney's office paid you with federally-derived funds?
2 A So that -- that's some kind of misconception that A, that the Fulton County
3 District Attorney's office paid me anything. Why? Is that your next question why?
4 Q Sure. Go ahead, sir.
5 A I'll answer it. I would submit an invoice, many of which you've seen,
6 probably all of which you have. I would submit an invoice, and 3 to 5 or so months later,
7 I would receive a physical check from the Fulton County Board of Commissioners. That's 8 who paid me.
9 Q Uh-huh.
10 A So the Fulton County District Attorney's office never wrote me a check.
11 They didn't pay me a dime. But the Fulton County Board of Commissioners did.
12 Q And when you received a check from the Board of Commissioners, did you 13 ever have knowledge of or a reason to believe that those funds were derived from 14 Federal funds?
15 A I have no clue where they got the money. I was just more, I guess, 16 astonished in the fact that it took me 3 to 5 or 6 months to get it.
17 Q And, you know, we'll talk about the invoices in the next round, so we'll go
18 back to that. But the practice was you would track your time, you would put it in an 19 invoice, and then -- would you send that to the Board of Commissioners or send that to 20 the Fulton County District Attorney's office?
21 A I would send it to the payroll department within the Fulton County District
22 Attorney's office, and they would then do whatever they needed to do with it.
23 Sometimes it would be, What does this mean or what does that mean? I would then go 24 into my investigative file, look through my investigative notes, and clarify whatever it was 25 I needed to clarify. And then they would then do whatever they needed to do with it

1 within that 3- to 5- to 6-month period, and I would get a physical check.

2 Q And when you said if they had questions about something, you would go

3 check your investigative file, would those questions come from individuals in the payroll

4 office?

5 A I don't know where they came from. It would -- the questions would come

6 from the email, and it was like a general Fulton County email that it would go to, and then

7 they would bounce back a question surrounding entry whatever, and then I would then

8 check the file of the notes, the investigative file of notes and hit "reply" and respond to 9 the inquiry.

10 Q If your invoice total was $2,000 -- and I know that's probably low, but if it

11 was for $2,000, would you be paid out $2,000?

12 A Sometimes.

13 Q And when you say "sometimes," were there sometimes questions regarding 14 the invoices or you weren't reimbursed for all of the hours you noted in the invoice?

15 A When I say "sometimes," I mean sometimes the invoice was $2,000, to use

16 your example, and I was paid $1,500.

17 [redacted] Okay. And we're at an hour, so we'll go off the record.

18 [Discussion off the record.]

19 [redacted] Okay. We can go back on the record.

20 BY [redacted]

21 Q Mr. Wade, thank you again for appearing here today.

22 I'm going to start by just clarifying something that was raised during the earlier

23 hour. You were asked by my majority counterpart who had ultimate authority over this

24 case. What does that phrase mean to you? What did you understand that to mean?

25 A Well, when she asked me the question, I thought that she was asking in a

1 context of day-to-day operations, but you just used the word "ultimate authority."
2 Obviously, the ultimate authority rests with the elected District Attorney and/or the grand
3 jury who was making the decision to charge or not to charge. I didn't -- I didn't have the 4 power to charge anyone.
5 Q And I appreciate that clarification. Thank you.
6 Now, you touched on this a bit in your opening statement, but I'm going to ask
7 some questions to follow it up.
8 In several of Chairman Jordan's letters to you, he's referred to the prosecution of 9 Donald Trump, a prosecution which includes 18 other defendants, repeatedly as 10 politically motivated.
11 What is your response to the claim that this is a politically-motivated prosecution?
12 A Well, again, I had no political motive. I have no political motive. I have 13 never met any of the individuals that were charged prior to this indictment experience.
14 I had nothing to gain by anyone being charged, or not being charged. I simply did what I
15 said in my opening statement, which was I followed the evidence, the facts, and the rule 16 of law.
17 Q And were those charges ultimately filed because the Fulton County District
18 Attorney's office had evidence that you believe was sufficient to prove that the 19 defendants, including Donald Trump, had committed violations of Georgia's criminal 20 laws?
21 A Yes, ma'am.
22 Q And the special purpose grand jury in Fulton County found probable cause
23 that the defendants in the case committed those violations, including racketeering, 24 solicitation of a violation of oath by a public officer, false statements, forgery, and 25 elect -- election fraud, excuse me. Isn't that correct?

1 A And more, yes, ma'am.

2 Q Yes. And it is a matter of public record that several of the defendants, I

3 believe at least four in that case, have already pled guilty, correct?

4 A Yes, ma'am.

5 Q And of the defendants who pled guilty, three of those are themselves

6 attorneys, correct?

7 A Yes, ma'am.

8 Q Now, when the grand jury returned its charging recommendations in this

9 case, it actually recommended that the DA's office indict 39 individuals for their roles in 10 attempting to overturn the election results in Georgia. Is that correct?

11 A It sounds familiar, yes, ma'am.

12 Q Okay. I'm going to introduce into the record the Special Grand Jury Report

13 dated September 8 of 2023, and I believe that date is the date of the judge's order

14 unsealing the report. And I believe we are on exhibit 8. Thank you.

15 [Wade Exhibit No. 8

16 was marked for identification.]

17 BY [redacted]

18 Q Now, before I ask you some questions, I just want to correct the dates that I

19 put on the record. The actual Special Purpose Grand Jury Report, the initial report is 20 dated the 15th of December 2022, and then there's an addendum dated May 12, 2022.

21 The September 8, 2023, is the date of the judge's order unsealing those two reports. So

22 I just wanted to make that clear.

23 Now, in the Special Grand Jury Report, the grand jury recommended that criminal

24 charges be filed, among others, against now former Georgia Senator David Perdue. Isn't

25 that correct?

1 A That's correct.

2 Q And the grand jury also recommended that criminal charges be filed against

3 now former Georgia Senator Kelly Loeffler, correct?

4 A That's correct.

5 Q And the grand jury also recommended that criminal charges be filed against

6 current Senator Lindsey Graham, correct?

7 A That's correct.

8 Q And the grand jury also represented that criminal charges be filed against 9 former National Security Advisor Michael Flynn. Isn't that correct?

10 A That's correct.

11 Q Now, these four individuals I just mentioned, David Perdue, Kelly Loeffler,

12 Lindsey Graham, and Michael Flynn, they are all Republicans, correct?

13 A I believe that's correct.

14 Q And despite the grand jury's recommendation, the Fulton County District

15 Attorney's office, with you acting as special prosecutor, declined to file charges against 16 any of these prominent Republican officials. Isn't that correct?

17 A Well, let me ask you this: That list that you gave wasn't intended to be the 18 entire list of officials that were not charged in that indictment.

19 Q That is correct. There were 39 recommendations, correct?

20 A There were 39 recommendations.

21 Q And there were 19 individuals who ultimately were charged, correct?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Okay. And so, I'm not going to go through all 20 of them. I just wanted as

24 a representative sample to note and have you confirm that despite the grand jury's

25 recommendation, the district attorney's office declined to file charges against those four

1 individuals we just discussed. Is that correct?

2 A Among others, yes, ma'am, that's correct.

3 Q And are you able to tell us today why you made that decision?

4 A I am not.

5 Q But you can confirm that the district attorney's office, with you working as

6 special prosecutor, actually indicted fewer than half of the individuals for whom the 7 grand jury recommended that you charge?

8 A Yes, ma'am.

9 Q And just to clarify, when I asked if you were able to tell us why you made

10 that decision and you said no, that's because it falls under several -- I assume that's 11 because it falls under several privileges and grand jury secrecy provisions?

12 A That is correct.

13 Q Thank you.

14 Now, I'm going to ask you another set of questions that touches on some issues

15 that you mentioned in your opening statement.

16 In -- now, you stated in your opening statement that certain people or agencies

17 did not order you or direct you to file charges. I'm just going to -- I want to make this

18 very, very clear for the record because I think it's very important, especially in light of the

19 fact that the chairman in his letters to you accused you of improperly coordinating with

20 and colluding with, quote, "Democrats in Washington, D.C.," unquote.

21 Did anyone in the White House order you or, to your knowledge, anyone else at

22 the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald Trump in this

23 matter?

24 A No, ma'am.

25 Q And did anyone in the White House direct you or, to your knowledge,

1 anyone else at the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald
2 Trump?
3 A No, ma'am.
4 Q And did anyone in the White House, to your knowledge, try to coerce the 5 Fulton County District Attorney's office into filing charges against Donald Trump?
6 A No, ma'am.
7 Q To your knowledge, did anyone in the White House pressure the Fulton
8 County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald Trump?
9 A No, ma'am.
10 Q And, to your knowledge, did anyone in the White House even so much as ask
11 the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald Trump?
12 A No, ma'am.
13 Q Did anyone in the United States Department of Justice ever order you or, to 14 your knowledge, anyone else at the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges
15 against Donald Trump?
16 A No, ma'am.
17 Q Did anyone in the Department of Justice ever direct you or, to your 18 knowledge, anyone else in the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges
19 against Donald Trump?
20 A No, ma'am.
21 Q To your knowledge, did anyone in the U.S. Department of Justice try to 22 coerce the Fulton County District Attorney's office into filing charges against Donald 23 Trump?
24 A No, ma'am.
25 Q And, to your knowledge, did anyone in the U.S. Department of Justice

1 pressure the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald
2 Trump?
3 A No, ma'am.
4 Q And, to your knowledge, did anyone in the U.S. Department of Justice even 5 so much as ask the Fulton County District Attorney's office to file charges against Donald
6 Trump?
7 A No, ma'am.
8 Q Was the decision by the Fulton County District Attorney's office to criminally
9 indict Donald Trump and his 18 co-defendants an independent decision that was made
10 without influence of Federal officials?
11 A That decision was made by the grand jury of Fulton County, and to my 12 knowledge, no Federal officials interacted with that grand jury.

1 [12:11 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q We spoke briefly at the end of the last hour about the source of the funds

4 that were used to pay you, and I want to ask a related question in light of the allegations

5 or that there are open questions about whether Federal funds were used to finance your

6 prosecution.

7 Do you have any information about how the Fulton County District's Office used

8 its Federal grant funds?

9 A No, ma'am.

10 Q Was it part of your role as the special prosecutor to administer the use of 11 those funds?

12 A No, ma'am.

13 Q We began the first hour by talking about the service of subpoenas on you for 14 this deposition, and I would like to just clarify some points about the timeline.

15 First, I would just like to note for the record that at least it's my understanding

16 that the subpoena was first issued on September 21st, and you testified that it was

17 served on you the same day as the deposition was scheduled to commence. And that 18 was on September 26th. Is that correct?

19 A That's correct.

20 Q So you were actually served 5 days after the subpoena was issued?

21 A Yes, ma'am.

22 Q And you were asked some questions during the previous hour about

23 attempts made by the marshals to serve you at your home before the 26th.

24 Is today the first time you're learning about those efforts to serve you at home?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And if I understood your testimony, when you turned your phone on at 2 approximately 4:30 in the morning on September 26th, you had a voicemail from 3 somebody at the U.S. Marshals Service?
4 A I did.
5 Q And you voluntarily returned that phone call?
6 A Yes, ma'am.
7 Q And because that was the same date of the deposition, the person you
8 spoke to from the Marshals Service wasn't sure if he should go through with serving you
9 with the subpoena on that day given that it would be impossible for you to appear?
10 A That's correct.
11 Q And then he returned your call?
12 A He did.
13 Q And if I understood your testimony correctly, you made arrangements for 14 him to serve you at your office?
15 A I did.
16 Q And you were present in your office when he arrived with that subpoena?
17 A Yes, ma'am.
18 Q And you voluntarily accepted service without incident?
19 A I did.
20 Q And I believe you testified that on October 2nd, when this deposition was 21 rescheduled for today's date, the person from the U.S. Marshals reached out to you
22 again. Is that correct?
23 A That's correct.
24 Q And, again, you made arrangements for him to serve you?
25 A I did.

1 Q And this time you made arrangements for him to serve you at the court
2 where you would be making an appearance later that day?
3 A Yes, ma'am.
4 Q And if you had not provided him that information, would he have any basis
5 for knowing which courthouse you would have been at that day?
6 A No, ma'am.
7 Q And you were present at the courthouse as you had told him you would be
8 when he arrived to serve you with the subpoena?
9 A Absolutely.
10 Q And you voluntarily accepted service?
11 A I did.
12 Q And that was on October 2nd, correct?
13 A Yes, ma'am.
14 Q And that was to appear here today on October 15th?
15 A It was.
16 Q And that is less than 3 weeks after the initial subpoena was issued on 17 September 21st?
18 A Yes, ma'am.
19 Q Thank you. Now, there were a lot of mentions during the previous hour 20 about safety issues and security issues that have arisen as a result of not just your 21 involvement in this case, but this case generally. And I believe you said something to 22 the effect of -- that you wish you had listened to Governor Barnes' warnings.
23 Can you expand on that a little bit? Can you tell us what you were referring to 24 and why you wished you had listened?
25 A I can. Governor Barnes did not look at me and say, These are the things

1 that are going to happen to you if you accept this appointment because, remember, at 2 that time I was not even being considered for the position. It was just that he, at that
3 time, said that he was not interested in having to live his life with security around him
4 24/7 again.
5 I didn't take that literal, and I should have, because as a result of this prosecution,
6 I've gotten a huge amount of death threats. Someone leaked my address, so I couldn't
7 get into my home on many nights because there were people outside of my home. I
8 couldn't get into my office because there were people outside of my office.
9 At a certain point, I had to dump my voicemails every hour because it would fill up
10 so quickly with people calling and making lewd, racist comments, as well as death threats
11 on my work voicemail. At some point in the process, the -- my cell phone number got 12 distributed to the public and then the messages started coming to my cell phone.
13 I couldn't spend time with my -- comfortably with my children because of the fear
14 that someone would associate them with me and then do something to my children. So 15 I couldn't, for that time period, go around my children. Wasn't really excited or 16 comfortable with going around my parents, as they are elderly and they got a lot of 17 threats.
18 My father and I have the same name, so some of the people who were making 19 threats rerouted some of the threats to -- to him, and it disturbed him greatly to the 20 extent that he began to worry about my safety. He shared some of the comments with 21 my mother, and then she began to worry about my safety.
22 And it was just a snowball effect. Whereas, before I would have kept all those 23 things from my family, particularly, my aging parents and my children. I would have 24 kept them away from those things.
25 But I didn't -- I didn't prepare or couldn't prepare for the apparent attack and

1 family divide that this thing would cause when I accepted the -- the role.

2 Q I imagine you had no idea that you, for example, would be separated from

3 your children out of what I presume was concern for their safety. Is that fair to say?

4 A Yes.

5 Q And were you concerned for your own safety as well during that time? Did

6 you consider some of these threats to be legitimate?

7 A I was concerned for my own safety to the extent to where I had to wear a

8 bulletproof vest in public. I'm a licensed gun owner. I had to carry a weapon for my

9 own protection. Somehow my license tag on my car got leaked, and then there were

10 people following me.

11 I've gone into the grocery store to pick up a few odds and ends from the grocery

12 store and was followed around the grocery store. There's so many -- I got -- obviously, I

13 got things in the mail, lots and lots of mail from both sides; people who were supportive

14 and -- some people who were supportive, but many from -- many things from people who

15 were not supportive.

16 Q Have the threats continued since your withdrawal from the case?

17 A The threats have subsided tremendously, but I get one or two here or there

18 still.

19 Q Is it possible for you to quantify the number of death threats that you've

20 received, or is it a volume that's so big that you couldn't even keep track?

21 A Oh, my God. I couldn't even -- I couldn't begin to quantify it. I have no

22 clue how many. A lot.

23 Q Your home address was leaked, your personal cell phone number, even your 24 license plate. Is that accurate?

25 A Yes, yes.

1 Q And I imagine that with each of those revelations, the death threats and the
2 negative attention increased dramatically?
3 A It did. As a result, I've had to change all those things. The only thing that I
4 did not change was my office address and office phone number. So threats continue to 5 come through that vein.
6 Q But you've actually had to move your home as a result of the risk to your 7 safety?
8 A I have.
9 Q And from comments that were made during the previous hour, you're not 10 the only person involved in this prosecution that's had to take those measures. Is that
11 correct?
12 A That's correct.
13 [redacted] And with that, we can go off the record.
14 [Discussion off the record.]
15 [redacted] We'll go back on the record.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Mr. Wade, when we ended our last hour, I was talking about the invoices
18 you sent, but then you were paid out by the Board of Commissioners, and so I want to 19 introduce one of those invoices for the record. This is an invoice from the Law Offices of 20 Nathan J. Wade.
21 It's invoice number 8. This will be -- it's invoice number 8, and it will be exhibit
22 number 9.
23 Mr. Barnes. Okay.
24 [Wade Exhibit No. 9
25 was marked for identification.]

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q So I want to draw your attention to the sixth line item that starts with "travel

3 to Athens." Do you see where I'm looking?

4 A I do.

5 Q Okay. It says -- in this line item, there's headings, and the description is

6 travel to Athens, conf with White House counsel. Date completed is May 23rd, 2022.

7 Hours billed is 8 hours at $250.

8 Did I read that correctly?

9 A You read it correctly.

10 Q And so this invoice states that you billed eight hours for travel to Athens and

11 a conference. Is that accurate to say? Conf is short for conference or is that confer?

12 What is that short for?

13 A So accompanying the billing invoices was, again, investigative notes that

14 would clarify the entries on the invoice itself. When I resigned in March, obviously,

15 those notes stayed with the district attorney's office. So any questions you might have

16 that would clarify anything in the invoices, I would need to refer to those notes that I

17 don't have and haven't seen.

18 Q Okay. So we'll go off of your memory, your recollection.

19 In the May time frame of 2022, do you remember either meeting, discussing with,

20 or conferring with White House counsel?

21 Mr. Evans. I'm going to object based on attorney-client privilege, attorney-client

22 work product.

23 He's also stated that he doesn't remember the specific conversations because he

24 doesn't have the notes as well. So I'm going to direct him not to answer that question

25 because of the privilege.

1 [redacted] I'm going to stop the clock here real briefly and say, in the last
2 rounds, questions were propounded about, oh, did the Department of Justice ask you or
3 the White House ask you to do this, and he answered, well, no, no, no, no.
4 And so I think it's fair for us to say, like, Okay, when did you speak with -- not
5 asking for the content of the communications, although I think -- I think we're entitled to 6 know what the content is. But putting that aside, okay, I think we are entitled to know
7 about when did these communications with DOJ officials happen, if they happened, who 8 were they with, when did these communications happen with White House officials, and 9 who were they with?
10 Mr. Evans. I think that's answered by the invoices. It's got the dates right there
11 as public record.
12 [redacted] I do just want to clarify. We did not make any kind -- to the effect of 13 did you have conversations. Our questions did not presume that the conversations took 14 place. So I just want to make that clarification.
15 [redacted] Right. But on one hand, I mean, when you're asking questions
16 about -- the question you asked was did DOJ tell you to do boom, boom, boom.
17 [redacted] The answer is no, so --
18 [redacted] Right. I did not suggest -- I have no idea if he ever met with the 19 DOJ or not. I do not mean to presume that he did.
20 [redacted] Right. So that question naturally leads, okay, did anyone from the 21 Justice Department meet with you. I mean, that's a natural, like, follow-up.
22 And, again, we can agree to disagree on whether the specific communications are 23 subject to a privilege that Congress recognizes. I do think it's fair to ask, you know, at a 24 privilege log level, when the communications happened and who they were with.
25 Mr. Evans. Okay. I think the when is answered by the invoice, and I think who they were with is -- was answered by his statement about he doesn't have the notes from those specific dates. So I don't know what he could provide that's not already been answered.

[redacted] I mean, I think it's fair for [redacted] to ask, you know, who was your contact in the White House counsel's office, who did you meet with when you met with them. Again, she's going to ask the questions. But when you met with them, where did you meet with them?

Mr. Evans. Okay. And I think that our answer is going to be it's in the notes, and it's also -- the dates are known, and we'll just continue to object.

[redacted] So, you know, she's going to ask, like, you know, what is your recollection of who you met with. If he doesn't have a recollection, she's going to ask, like, is there a way for you to get us that information. And maybe the answer is no. All right.

BY [redacted]

Q Mr. Wade, turning back to invoice number 8, we're working off of the line that says travel to Athens, conf with White House counsel, May 23rd, 2022.

Do you remember meeting with the White House counsel in May of 2022?

A I don't.

Q You have no recollection of meeting with anyone from the White House counsel's office?

A I don't.

Q It says, "travel to Athens." Did the meeting take place in Athens?

A I -- the invoice says travel to Athens. So that means to me that I traveled to Athens.

Q So if it says conf with White House counsel, that would mean there was a

1 conf with White House counsel?

2 A So after the word "travel to Athens," that's a semi-colon --

3 Q Uh-huh.

4 A -- which means that we're going to go into a new thought.

5 Q Uh-huh.

6 A So --

7 Q So if you billed for a conf with White House counsel, would that have

8 occurred?

9 A If I billed for a conf with White House counsel, this document doesn't say

10 that that conf with White House counsel happened in Athens. That's not what that says.

11 Q Okay. But I'm asking -- because you said if it says travel to Athens, then you

12 would have billed for travel to Athens. Is that correct?

13 A That's correct.

14 Q If it says conf with White House counsel, would you have billed for a conf

15 with White House counsel?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And so if you billed for it being completed on May 23rd, 2022, do you believe

18 that's when it would have likely occurred?

19 A No.

20 Q Okay. So can you tell us what it means when you would put a date in the 21 date completed line here for your invoices?

22 A I believe that it would have -- it would have been completed on or before

23 that time.

24 Q So if there was a conf with White House counsel, it would have occurred on 25 or before May 23rd, 2022?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And if you billed for 8 hours at $250, there are two -- as you explained, there

3 are two different thoughts there, two different actions in the description. The eight

4 hours would have been split among those. Is that --

5 Mr. Evans. I think he's answered that by saying that he has to look at his notes.

6 So I'm going to object for that reason.

7 [redacted] Is that Mr. Wade's testimony, or is that your testimony?

8 Mr. Evans. I would just object based on speculation. I don't think this is clear

9 what the answer to that is.

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q When you filled out these invoices and it has hours billed, 8 hours at $250,

12 what does that mean in practice?

13 A That means that it took 8 hours to complete the tasks that are described in 14 the description column.

15 Q Okay. So this would mean here that it took 8 hours at $250 per hour to

16 complete the tasks which are described as two separate things, travel to Athens and conf

17 with White House counsel. Is that correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q Do you remember who your contact was at the White House counsel's

20 office?

21 A I do not.

22 Q Would it be you that would have reached out to the White House counsel's

23 office?

24 A Possibly.

25 Q Do you believe it would have been, you know, a paralegal, a subordinate, or

1 an assistant that would have reached out to White House counsel on your behalf?

2 Mr. Evans. I'm going to object as to asked and answered. He already provided

3 the best answer that he knows when he said he didn't know.

4 [redacted] I asked him the question of did he reach out. He said he didn't

5 know.

6 BY [redacted]

7 Q So I was asking if he remembered whether you would have had a paralegal,

8 someone that was on your team, or an assistant reach out to schedule this conf with

9 White House counsel?

10 A I don't recall.

11 Q Okay. Do you remember who attended this conf with White House

12 counsel?

13 A I don't recall.

14 Q Is it safe to assume, since you billed for the conf with White House counsel,

15 that you attended this conf with White House counsel?

16 A Yes.

17 Q Okay. Do you remember if it was in person or by telephone?

18 A I don't recall.

19 Q And if you don't recall whether it was by telephone or in person, how would

20 the committee figure that out? Would it be to get your notes?

21 A I think he's communicating with you.

22 Q Oh, you can continue to answer the question.

23 A I'm sorry. I was allowing him to -- you go ahead.

24 Q Yes. If the committee wanted to determine whether it was by telephone or

25 at the White House itself or in Athens, would your notes that are accompanying the

1 invoice, would that kind of denote all of the details?

2 A So let's be clear. The investigative notes are a part of the investigative file.

3 They didn't accompany the invoice.

4 Q Uh-huh.

5 A They sort of provided perspective for me to respond to any inquiry as it

6 relates to the invoices. So I didn't turn over an invoice and the investigative notes to the 7 payroll department. That's not what I did.

8 I turned over the invoice to the investigative -- I mean, to the payroll department.

9 Q Have you ever visited the White House?

10 A Oh, gosh. As a kid, I can remember my dad -- my dad and mom taking me

11 to the White House on summer vacations. Yeah. It was a fond memory.

12 Q And between November 2021 and March 2024, did you ever visit the White

13 House?

14 A Let's see. Going -- coming into D.C. after doing it with my parents, I would

15 often visit the White House, you know, take pictures, that kind of thing.

16 Q So I'm gathering that you may have visited the White House as a tourist

17 between November 2021 and March 2024.

18 Did you ever attend meetings at the White House in your capacity as special

19 prosecutor?

20 A No.

21 Q Did anyone from the White House travel to Georgia to meet with you?

22 A That's a tough question because I don't know who -- I don't know who is in

23 the White House.

24 Mr. Evans. Is it in the capacity of him as a special prosecutor?

25 [redacted] Correct.

1 Mr. Evans. Did anybody travel from Washington to Georgia?

2 [redacted] Uh-huh.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Did anyone from the White House counsel's office or from the White House

5 staff in the context of this case travel to Georgia to meet with you or anyone on your

6 team?

7 Mr. Evans. I'm going to object on that one based on the privilege objections that

8 we've already cited and direct you not to answer that question.

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q So the -- so you're saying that -- it's a yes-or-no question.

11 Did anyone from the White House ever travel -- from either the White House

12 counsel's office or the White House staff, travel to Georgia to meet with you or anyone

13 from your team regarding this case? Not asking about the content that was discussed at

14 the case.

15 Mr. Evans. Is that a new question?

16 [redacted] I'm not asking about the content. I'm asking did a meeting occur,

17 which would be at the privilege log level.

18 Mr. Evans. What is the difference between that question and the one that I just 19 objected to?

20 [redacted] I'm asking at a privilege log level. Did any meetings occur, which is

21 either a yes-or-no answer. It's not getting into the content, what was discussed, what

22 advice was provided, what advice did Mr. Wade provide. Just did the meeting occur?

23 Mr. Evans. I mean, I'm objecting for the same reason. I don't mind if Mr. Wade

24 makes affirmations that nobody directed him to do it. But I don't -- for the same

25 reasons that we've talked about, I don't want to get into individual conversations, names, all those kind of stuff.

[redacted] I'm just notifying [redacted] that we're stopping the clock while we're sorting this out.

[redacted] What's the difference between saying no, a communication didn't happen and no, a meeting didn't occur? What's the difference there?

[redacted] And a minute ago he said he didn't meet at the White House as part of his duties as a special prosecutor. So what's the difference of, like, asking have you met in Athens?

Mr. Evans. That wasn't -- that particular detail wasn't the difference. It was the -- first you were asking him kind of open-ended where he was answering them as a tourist. And then when you started getting into the specifics of -- in his capacity, that's when I started objecting. Maybe I missed the first one.

[redacted] He stated that he did not meet at the White House in his capacity as a special prosecutor.

Mr. Evans. Correct.

[redacted] So a next logical follow-up question is, did you meet somewhere else?

Mr. Evans. Right. And that should have been -- I should have objected to the question about did he meet at the White House. Like, that wasn't any kind of -- where I just intentionally started objecting on the second question, I should have just raised that the first time around.

I object to the whole line of asking about the investigation side.

[redacted] And we earlier asked, were these conferences in person or on the phone? They're on the log.

Mr. Evans. So they happened. Like it's when we're getting into the details of

1 who and --

2 [redacted] No. And what's on the log is conference with White House

3 counsel.

4 Mr. Evans. Right.

5 [redacted] So the question is, is this in person or on the phone?

6 Mr. Evans. Right. That's where -- the conference happened. Where I'm

7 starting to object is where it happened, with who, and then those kind of things.

8 [redacted] Yeah. I don't think that's a fair objection. You know, I think we

9 can agree to disagree on the kernel of what was discussed, but on the baseline of, like,

10 where it occurred and who was in attendance --

11 Mr. Evans. I mean, I just disagree that we're dealing with all the same privileges.

12 I mean, this is still going to be attorney-client, it's still going to be work product, it's still 13 going to be grand jury secrecy.

14 [redacted] Whether it happened in person or the phone?

15 Mr. Evans. It's just -- yeah. I mean, I don't --

16 [redacted] Because I don't think that's a fair objection. Like -- so -- I mean,

17 we're not running out to the chairman every time you object. But, I mean, this is 18 something that I think we wouldn't want to take to the chairman.

19 Mr. Evans. Okay. So the difference right now is where it happened.

20 [redacted] Yeah.

21 Mr. Evans. What would be the next line of the disagreement?

22 [redacted] I don't -- I mean, I don't know that we would have a next line --

23 Mr. Evans. Okay.

24 [redacted] -- based on your stated objection, which we disagree with.

25 Mr. Evans. Right.

1 [redacted] But just in terms of just --

2 Mr. Evans. Like if you just said who was there --

3 [redacted] Right.

4 Mr. Evans. -- what was discussed, those kind of things, those would be

5 objections to --

6 [redacted] Well, the what was discussed is falling into your objection, which I

7 don't agree with, but I'm acknowledging --

8 Mr. Evans. Right.

9 [redacted] -- and I'm trying to work around.

10 Mr. Evans. So it's just a matter of answering where these conversations took

11 place?

12 [redacted] Right. And the roster of people involved.

13 Mr. Evans. I mean, that's --

14 [redacted] And if you're not willing to give --

15 Mr. Evans. I'm not open on the people involved. Maybe we could meet on the 16 location.

17 [redacted] Well, on the people -- how about this -- people involved. We're

18 not asking for staffers on the -- on the DA's -- from the DA's side just given the privacy

19 issues. But on the White House side, I think we are.

20 Mr. Evans. Do you mind if I take a couple minutes?

21 [redacted] Yeah.

22 [Discussion off the record.]

23 [redacted] Back on. Where do we land?

24 Mr. Evans. You can ask him the question about where these meetings occurred.

25 And even the next question that you want to ask him, which is who was involved in these

1 meetings. And so that's our concession. We'll let you ask the names and the places,
2 but we're going to push back on any substance.
3 [redacted] Okay.
4 BY [redacted]
5 Q Okay, Mr. Wade. Back to reference to this May 23rd, 2022, bill date here.
6 A Uh-huh.
7 Q It says conference with White House counsel. Do you remember where 8 that conference occurred?
9 A I do not.
10 Q Do you remember who attended?
11 A I do not.
12 Q Do you remember at all what office the attendees came from, from the 13 White House? Was it individuals from the White House counsel's office?
14 A I do not recall. You know, during the course of this investigation, we 15 interviewed probably hundreds of people, tons of conversations. Without my notes, I
16 really couldn't give you any specifics now. Because I have the invoice in front of me, I
17 could be reminded that certain things did occur.
18 Q Okay.
19 A But in terms of the specifics of the entries, I don't recall.
20 Q So you -- do you remember where you were located at this period in time for 21 the conference with White House counsel? You don't remember traveling at this time
22 frame?
23 A I don't -- I don't recall. I'm sure you guys have means of getting, you know,
24 flight manifestos and things of that nature. But I don't recall where I was, which 25 is -- which is why it was sort of entertaining watching these gentlemen go at it over

1 something that I don't remember.

2 Q Do you -- was this conference with White House counsel over the phone or 3 in person?

4 A I don't recall, ma'am.

5 Q Okay. I'm going to move to another invoice. This will be exhibit number

6 10, but it's invoice number 14.

7 [Wade Exhibit No. 10

8 was marked for identification.]

9 BY [redacted]

10 Q And I'll give you a moment to review that. I'm going to review to the 11 interview with D.C./White House line, if that's helpful.

12 A Okay.

13 Q So I'll just read the lines in for the record. Again, it says, "Interview with 14 D.C./White House, November 18th, 2022. Eight hours at $250. Cost $2,000."

15 Do you remember an interview with D.C. or the White House occurring on 16 November 18th, 2022?

17 A I don't remember it happening. I know that it did because the entry says

18 that it did.

19 Q Do you remember it occurring on or near November 18th?

20 A I don't remember it happening, but I know that it did because the date

21 completed says November 18th.

22 Q Do you have any recollection of what you were referring to or who you were

23 referring to when you said interview with D.C./White House?

24 A I don't.

25 Q Do you know if this interview involved officials from the White House or staff

1 from the White House?

2 A I don't.

3 Q Did the interview with D.C./White House, to your recollection, involve

4 anyone from the Department of Justice?

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q Do you remember if this interview occurred over the phone or in person?

7 A I don't recall.

8 Q Do you recall whether you were referring to just one interview with 9 D.C./White House, or were there multiple interviews?

10 A I don't recall.

11 Q Do you recall if you traveled to D.C. for this meeting?

12 A I don't recall.

13 Q Do you recall if anyone traveled to you in Georgia for this interview?

14 A I don't recall.

15 Q Do you recall if you reached out to schedule this interview or if someone

16 from the White House reached out to you to schedule the interview?

17 A I don't recall.

18 Q Do you recall if anyone on your team or a paralegal or assistant reached out

19 to schedule this interview on your behalf?

20 A No, ma'am, I don't recall.

21 Q And if you billed for it, if you billed 8 hours for interview with D.C./White

22 House, it's safe to assume that you would have taken part in the interview?

23 A Yes, ma'am.

24 Q Okay. I'm going to move on to exhibit number 11, which will be invoice 12.

25 [Wade Exhibit No. 11

1 was marked for identification.]

2 [redacted] What number is this?

3 [redacted] This is exhibit number 11 but invoice number 12. Did not mean for 4 that to happen.

5 BY [redacted]

6 Q Have you had sufficient time to review, sir?

7 A Yes, ma'am.

8 Q Okay. And I'm going to look at the fourth line. I'll read it in for the record.

9 Again, it says, "Witness interview; conf call D.C.; team meeting. Date completed

10 September 7th, 2022, to September 9th, 2022. 24 hours at 250. Cost $6,000."

11 I know we went through this with the first invoice that we looked at. When you

12 used a semicolon, that would typically denote three separate things that occurred. Is

13 that correct?

14 A Yes, ma'am.

15 Q Is that safe to assume with this?

16 A Yes.

17 Q So the conf call D.C., do you remember if this happened via telephone?

18 A Well, I don't remember if it happened via telephone. I can read, though,

19 and it says call. So --

20 Q Okay. And the call -- would the call have occurred, and if you remember,

21 between September 7th and September 9th of 2022?

22 A Again, I don't have an independent recollection of it, but on the invoice it

23 says that it occurred between September 7th and September 9th.

24 Q Do you remember who participated in this call?

25 A No, ma'am, I don't.

1 Q If you billed for a conference call D.C., is it safe to assume that you would
2 have participated in the conference call?
3 A Yes, ma'am, it is.
4 Q Do you remember who the call was with in D.C.?
5 A I do not.
6 Q So -- if you can pull up exhibits 9 through 11. So those are the three 7 invoices that we've looked at so far.
8 A All right.
9 Q So on invoice number 12 -- I'll just use the invoice numbers because that will
10 be easier, if you're okay with that -- it says, "Conference call D.C."
11 Invoice number 8, it says, "Conference with White House counsel.
12 Invoice number 14, it says "Interview with D.C. White House."
13 Since you noted that it was a conference call D.C. in number 12, would you have 14 similarly denoted if it was a call rather than a meeting?
15 A Sometimes.
16 Q Did that help jog your memory at all about any particulars of the previous 17 meetings we spoke about?
18 A It did not.
19 Q Do you remember who you referred to when you said conference call D.C.?
20 A Who I referred to?
21 Q Correct. Who you were speaking with?
22 A Oh, no, ma'am.
23 Q To your knowledge, did District Attorney Willis ever meet or communicate
24 with individuals associated with the Biden White House?
25 A I have no clue what she did.

1 Q Do you recall yourself having any conversations with the Biden White House
2 regarding your role as special prosecutor?
3 A No, ma'am.
4 Q Did you ever speak to anyone at the Justice Department, the U.S.
5 Department of Justice, regarding your role as special prosecutor?
6 A I don't recall.
7 Q Do you remember speaking to anyone on Special Counsel Jack Smith's team?
8 A I don't recall.
9 Q I'll go through some names just in case it's helpful for your recollection.
10 The office is led by Special Counsel Jack Smith.
11 Did you ever have any communications with Special Counsel Jack Smith?
12 A No, ma'am.
13 Q Did you ever have any communications with Jay Bratt? He is an official who 14 works on Special Counsel Jack Smith's team.
15 A No, ma'am.
16 Q Did you ever have any communications with J.P. Cooney? He's also an 17 official who works on Special Counsel Jack Smith's team?
18 A No, ma'am.
19 Q As far as the Justice Department, you don't remember any conversations
20 that you had with the Justice Department?
21 A I do not.
22 Q Did you ever speak with Deputy Attorney General Lisa Monaco?
23 A No, ma'am.
24 Q An official who is the highest-ranking career official in the Justice
25 Department whose name is Bradley Weinsheimer, have you ever spoken with him?

1 A No, ma'am.

2 Q So to the extent that you had conversations with the Justice Department,

3 you do not recall having those conversations?

4 A That's correct.

5 Q And to the extent that you had conversations with Special Counsel Jack

6 Smith or his team, you don't recall any of those conversations?

7 A No, ma'am.

8 Q Do you recall if any occurred with Special Counsel Jack Smith's team?

9 A None occurred.

10 Q Okay. Can you say that none occurred with the Justice Department?

11 A None occurred.

12 Q During your time as special prosecutor with the Fulton County District

13 Attorney's Office, how many times did you meet with Members or staff from the Select 14 Committee to investigate the January 6th attack on the United States Capitol?

15 A I've never met with anyone.

16 Q And I'm going to just refer to it as the January 6th committee just to truncate

17 and expedite things. I'm going to offer as exhibit number 12 a December 17th, 2021,

18 letter from District Attorney Willis to Chairman Bennie Thompson.

19 [Wade Exhibit No. 12

20 was marked for identification.]

21 BY [redacted]

22 Q And I'll give you a moment to review.

23 A Okay.

24 Q Before today, had you ever seen this letter before?

25 A Yes.

1 Q And were you aware of the letter due to your role as special prosecutor, or
2 did you just see it in the news?
3 A Oh, oh, I was aware of it.
4 Q Because of your role as special prosecutor or because you saw it in the 5 news?
6 A Because of my role as special prosecutor.
7 Q Did you have any role in drafting the letter?
8 A No.
9 Q Did you provide any input for the letter?
10 A No.
11 Q I'll read the second paragraph of the letter. It says, "Please accept this 12 letter as an official request from me for access to records that may be relevant to our 13 criminal investigation. Those records include but are not limited to recordings and 14 transcripts of witness interviews and depositions, electronic and print records of 15 communications and records of travel."
16 The next paragraph says, "It may well be most efficient for your staff and effective
17 for our understanding for my staff and me to meet with your investigators in person.
18 We are able to travel to Washington any time between January 31st, 2022, and February
19 25th, 2022. We will do our best to accommodate the schedule of the committee."
20 The question is, do you remember traveling to D.C., Washington, any time
21 between January 31st, 2022, or February 25th, 2022?
22 Mr. Barnes. Not in regard to the letter; just whether he traveled to D.C.?
23 [redacted] Just in regards to the letter.
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q Did you travel to D.C.? We'll start there.

1 A I recall traveling to D.C. Now, where you lose me is when you start -- these
2 dates. I don't remember any --
3 Q When do you recall traveling to D.C.? Is that helpful to start there?
4 A It's not, because I don't recall the dates. But I do recall traveling to D.C.
5 Now, I couldn't tell you what month I went. I couldn't tell you it was in '22 or '23. But I
6 went.
7 Q Were you on official business for the Fulton County District Attorney's Office
8 when you traveled to D.C.?
9 A Yes.
10 Q Was it to conduct witness interviews?
11 A Some.
12 Q And did you ever travel to D.C. to meet with anyone from the January 6th
13 Committee, either Members or staff?
14 Mr. Barnes. I think you're getting mighty close to investigative techniques there.
15 Who he -- I mean, you know, did he talk with a specific group or not. I'm going to object 16 to that.
17 [redacted] What's the privilege?
18 Mr. Barnes. The privilege is work product.
19 [redacted] Of who he -- whether a meeting occurred while he was here in 20 Washington, D.C.?
21 Mr. Barnes. Well, you --
22 [redacted] It's at a privilege log level.
23 Mr. Barnes. But that wasn't the question. You said, did you meet with 24 members of the January 6th Committee.
25 [redacted] That's correct.

1 Mr. Barnes. That's what you said.

2 [redacted] And we stated previously that the privilege log level would be

3 whether a meeting occurred, who attended the meeting, and the date of the meeting.

4 Mr. Barnes. And I will let him say if the meeting occurred, but who attended the

5 meeting and that's -- you're getting into investigative techniques and interviews of people

6 that may have -- that may have information.

7 So you may answer the first part, Nathan. Did a meeting occur with staff or

8 members of the January 6th Committee?

9 The Witness. Staff or members of the January 6th Committee?

10 BY [redacted]

11 Q That's correct.

12 A No.

13 Mr. Barnes. I take it back.

14 [redacted] Okay. We are now going to be on exhibit number 13. This will be 15 invoice number 6.

16 [Wade Exhibit No. 13

17 was marked for identification.]

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Have you had sufficient time to review? I'm going to wait until you finish

20 your cracker.

21 So I'm looking at the line that includes team meetings; conf with Jan 6th. So I'll

22 read it in for the record. It says, "Team meeting; conf with Jan 6th; research legal issues

23 to prep interview." It says, "inter," stops at V. "April 18th, 2022, to April 21st, 2022.

24 24 hours at 250. Cost $6,000."

25 Are you looking at the line that I'm looking at? Just want to make sure.

1 A I am.

2 Q Okay. Is it safe to say that in the previous invoices, we have spoken about

3 how, when things are separated by a semicolon, there are three different things. Is that

4 the case in this line item?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Do you recall what you meant by conf with Jan 6?

7 A I don't.

8 Q Do you recall if this was in reference to a meeting with the January 6th

9 Committee?

10 A I'm sure that it was.

11 Q Okay. Do you recall whether the conference took place in person or over 12 the phone?

13 A I don't recall.

14 Q Do you recall who attended the conference with January 6th?

15 A No, ma'am, I don't recall.

16 Q If you billed for 24 hours for the team meeting; conf with Jan 6th; research

17 legal issues to prep interview, is it safe to assume that you attended the conf with Jan 6th

18 or took part in the conference?

19 A Yes.

20 Q Okay.

21 [redacted] I'll enter as exhibit number 14, this is a Politico article dated January

22 10th, 2024. The title of it is, "Jan 6th Committee Helps Guide Early Days of Georgia

23 Trump Probe." This is exhibit number 14.

24 [Wade Exhibit No. 14

25 was marked for identification.]

1 Mr. Barnes. Are you saying that newspaper articles are true?

2 [redacted] That's what we're going to talk about.

3 Mr. Barnes. I just wondered.

4 BY [redacted]

5 Q Have you had sufficient time to review, sir?

6 A Yes, ma'am.

7 Q Okay. And if it's helpful, the page numbers are on the bottom right-hand

8 corner. I'll refer to the specific pages.

9 I'm going to look at page number 2 first. And the first full sentence on that page

10 states, "Committee staff quietly met with lawyers and agents working for Fulton County

11 District Attorney Fani Willis in mid-April 2022 just as she prepared to convene a special

12 grand jury investigation."

13 Does this article at all help jog your memory about the April 2022 entry that you

14 had in your invoice?

15 A No, ma'am, it doesn't. As a matter of fact, internally I'm laughing

16 uncontrollably because even the title -- the title of this article, "Committee Helped Guide

17 Early Days of Georgia Trump Probe," I don't know if you've ever had the pleasure of 18 meeting District Attorney Fani Willis. No one is going to guide her anywhere and tell her

19 anything. Yes. So that didn't happen.

20 Q Okay. So if we go to page 4 --

21 A All right.

22 Q -- at the bottom of the page, it says -- I'm looking at the last two full

23 sentences at the bottom of page 4. It says, "The two former committee officials

24 confirmed to Politico that Willis' team met with committee staff in Washington in April

25 2022. Some of Willis' top prosecutors attended, including Wade and [redacted]

1 as well as investigators on her team."

2 Do you remember a meeting occurring in Washington in April of 2022, as the

3 article states?

4 A I don't remember the month. But as I previously stated, I remember

5 coming to D.C.

6 Q Okay. Do you remember meeting with committee -- we'll use "committee

7 officials," that's what term Politico used.

8 A No.

9 Q If we flip back to page 2, the second full sentence states, "In the previously

10 unreported meeting, the Jan 6th committee aides let the district attorney's team review

11 but not keep a limited set of evidence they had gathered."

12 Do you remember reviewing evidence as the article states?

13 Mr. Barnes. All right, ma'am. Now you are getting into content of 14 investigation, and I'll tell him not to answer that. What he reviewed, what he's used,

15 what he saw is definitely part of a work product. It's also part, if it's ever presented to a

16 grand jury, part of the secrecy privilege. So I direct him not to answer that.

17 [redacted] I mean, the grand jury secrecy privilege, I mean, the fact that there's

18 a document that existed that he looked at that's part of the investigation, that's not part

19 of the grand jury's secrecy. It's if that document was shown to the grand jury.

20 Mr. Barnes. Correct. And so --

21 [redacted] We're not asking whether, like, things are shown to the --

22 Mr. Barnes. Yeah. But you're asking what he reviewed. That's the question.

23 Did you review the document? What did you review? And so that is definitely an 24 investigation work product.

25 [redacted] I think we can ask him if he contributed to the article, if he met with

1 the reporters.

2 Mr. Barnes. You can ask him that.

3 [redacted] I think we can ask him whether as he -- he believes anything is

4 inaccurate that you --

5 Mr. Barnes. That's getting a little far. I ain't never seen a newspaper article I

6 couldn't disagree with something.

7 BY [redacted]

8 Q Okay. Mr. Wade, did you contribute to this January 10th, 2024, article that

9 was written by Betsy Woodruff Swan and Kyle Cheney?

10 A No, ma'am.

11 Q Have you ever spoken to either of those reporters regarding an article?

12 A No, ma'am.

13 Q I'll reread the statement before I ask the question. It says, "In the 14 previously unreported meeting, the January 6th Committee aides let the district

15 attorney's team review but not keep a limited set of evidence they had gathered."

16 Is that accurate?

17 Mr. Evans. Where are you reading from?

18 [redacted] On page 2.

19 Mr. Evans. Right. But which paragraph?

20 [redacted] It's the second full sentence.

21 Mr. Barnes. State your question again.

22 [redacted] I will reread.

23 [redacted] Are we all on the same page?

24 Mr. Evans. What does it start with?

25 [redacted] It says -- okay. So I'm looking at the paragraph on the top of page

1 2. It's the first full paragraph. It states, "Committee staff quietly." I'm looking at that
2 next sentence. I'll read it again for you.
3 It's, "In the previously unreported meeting, the Jan 6th committee aides let the 4 district attorney's team review but not keep a limited set of evidence they had gathered."
5 Mr. Barnes. That's the same question you asked before. I'm going to object to 6 that, because what he reviewed and what he decided to do with it is part of the 7 investigative product that is protected by the work product of privilege.
8 [redacted] So to be clear, you're objecting to, is the statement accurate?
9 Mr. Barnes. Yes, ma'am. Because it would -- it would also invade the 10 investigative process that he was going on if it's accurate. It doesn't matter if you ask 11 him or if it's accurate; it's the same thing.
12 [redacted] Yeah. But I think she can ask, you know, the newspaper reports,
13 "Committee staff quietly met with lawyers and agents working for Fulton County District
14 Attorney Fani Willis in mid-April 2022." I think she can ask whether that happened.
15 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, she can ask that, but that wasn't the question.
16 [redacted] She can also ask whether the Jan 6th Committee aides let the district
17 attorney's office team review but not keep a limited set of evidence. That doesn't get 18 into specific types of evidence.
19 Mr. Barnes. Yes, it does.
20 [redacted] How is that?
21 Mr. Barnes. Because it's kind of like saying, Well, did you review the statement
22 that a witness --
23 [redacted] No, no, no. The statement is particular, but I'm talking at a higher
24 level.
25 Mr. Barnes. Well, I think -- we're not going to open that door. You can ask if he

1 met with him, and I think you already have. But you can ask him again. You know,
2 memory kind of wanders there.
3 But I'm not going to let you -- of course, I'm not going to let you. You do
4 whatever you want to. But I'm going to instruct him not to answer what he reviewed
5 and -- what he reviewed or whether he reviewed anything, because that is a part that's 6 getting into the investigative processes of what he's considered.
7 And since the January 6th information is now public, then you could -- since it is 8 now public, what difference does it make?
9 [redacted] Well, I don't think it's public what the January 6th committee
10 provided to the Fulton County DA's office.
11 Mr. Barnes. No. But all the information is public.
12 [redacted] That's not true. They destroyed a whole trove of information that 13 they believed was not favorable to their point of view.
14 Mr. Barnes. Well, Chairman Jordan should have gone and testified and 15 straightened them out.
16 [redacted] We have -- Chairman Jordan sent a number of letters.
17 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, he sent a number of letters. But he refused -- he was 18 subpoenaed and refused to appear.
19 [redacted] They never -- he never said he wasn't going to testify. The last 20 letter came from us and was not -- was not met. And we were willing to -- to discuss 21 certain things as outlined in our letter.
22 I think a lot of that was a little bit of -- or for show for the public, and they didn't 23 really make an effort to get him.
24 Mr. Barnes. Not that anything is ever for show in Washington, D.C., but you've 25 got our position here.

1 [redacted] I think [redacted] can also ask the witness whether and what the
2 guidelines were or the rules on that meeting in terms of keeping documents or --
3 Mr. Barnes. Listen, anything that goes into the gathering of information that led
4 to an indictment of an investigation that's still ongoing is off limits. Now, I could be
5 wrong, you could be wrong, but we're not going to voluntarily answer it.
6 [redacted] Okay. But if you're saying the documents provided by the January
7 6th committee led to an indictment, I mean, that's a fairly newsworthy type of thing to be 8 saying.
9 Mr. Barnes. I'm not -- I don't know whether it is or not. And that's the reason
10 we're not going to allow him to answer. Go ahead.
11 BY [redacted]
12 Q Okay. So just to redirect everyone, we are on the first full paragraph on 13 page 2. We'll start at the beginning. It says, "Committee staff quietly met with lawyers
14 and agents working for Fulton County District Attorney Fani Willis in mid-April 2022."
15 Do you know if a meeting occurred in mid-April of 2022?

1 [1:16 p.m.]

2 The Witness. Again, the dates -- I can't attest to the dates.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q Did you ever attend a meeting with committee staff?

5 A You referring to -- so the problem we're having is this word "staff" and

6 "members."

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A And my answer is no.

9 Q So did you meet with members of the January 6 Committee then?

10 A No.

11 Q Do you recall anyone from the district attorney's office meeting in 12 mid-April 2022 with anyone from the January 6 Committee?

13 A No.

14 Q If you look down at the next full paragraph, with the sentence starting "Over 15 the next few months."

16 Is everyone there?

17 "Over the next few months, committee staff also had a series of phone calls with 18 Willis's team. They answered the prosecutor's questions and shared insight."

19 And so, do you remember having any phone calls with committee staff?

20 A No.

21 Q Do you remember any phone calls occurring?

22 A I remember phone calls occurring.

23 Q Okay.

24 [redacted] Any phone calls with committee staff?

25 The Witness. No.

1 BY [redacted]

2 Q So when you say you remember phone calls occurring, what are you

3 referring to?

4 A I'm referring to phone calls that would have occurred as it relates to this

5 January 6 inquiry.

6 Your question is --

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A -- specifically dealing with staff and members of the committee. And my

9 answer is no.

10 Q So when you say "inquiry," what do you mean?

11 A An inquiry is a question.

12 Q Yeah. So when you say the January 6 inquiry, what are you specifically

13 referring to? You said you had phone calls about the January 6 inquiry?

14 A Your question regarding the January 6 is an inquiry to me.

15 Q Okay.

16 A You're inquiring --

17 Q So did you have -- you're saying no, you did not have any conversations with

18 the January 6 Committee, whether it be committee staff, whether it be committee

19 members, or anyone associated with the committee. Is that accurate?

20 A That's a different question.

21 Q Okay. So I can -- so I'll break it up again.

22 Did you have any meetings with the January 6 Committee staff?

23 A No.

24 Q Did you have any meetings with the January 6 Committee members?

25 A No.

1 Q Did you have meetings with anyone associated with the January 6
2 Committee?
3 A I believe that I did.
4 Q And when you say -- when I say individuals associated with the January 6
5 Committee, how are they associated with the January 6 Committee, to your knowledge?
6 A That means that they were not staff or members.
7 Q So were they working on the January 6 investigation?
8 A Yes.
9 Q In what capacity?
10 A Ready?
11 Q Yes, I am.
12 A Lawyers.
13 Q Lawyers. So who were they lawyers for?
14 A I'm not sure.
15 Q Were they -- in what context were you speaking to lawyers that were 16 involved in the January 6 Committee?
17 A In the context of an investigation.
18 Q So the lawyers were involved in the January 6 committee's investigation?
19 A Yes.
20 Q Did they represent -- so lawyers for the committee --
21 A I'm not saying that.
22 Q Okay.
23 A I don't know who they were lawyers for. I don't know.
24 Q Because there were obviously lawyers that worked on the committee staff,
25 like the staff as a whole.

A No.

Q You did not speak with any lawyers that worked on committee staff?

A Correct.

Q Were they lawyers for individuals who testified before the January 6 Committee.

Mr. Barnes. Now we're getting mighty close here on who they represented and they represented a witness, they did this, and they did that. I'm going to -- let me hear the question one more time.

BY [redacted]

Q Yes. So the question was, did you -- did the lawyers that were associated with the January 6 Committee that they -- that you met with, were those -- did those individuals represent witnesses before the January 6 Committee?

A I don't know.

Q Okay.

[redacted] This is just to go off here. Just as a point of clarification, [redacted] and I are lawyers. Okay. I'm the general counsel to the committee. She's the chief counsel for oversight. We are lawyers for the committee.

And so I'm not sure -- in the context of the committee, there's staff or members. There's no -- I mean, if they're consultants, I mean, maybe. Maybe that's a third category. But I don't think we're following you as to what you're saying, like people associated with. I mean, that's sort of a nebulous category that I'm not sure what you're talking about there.

Mr. Barnes. Yeah, but he doesn't know who does what. You all know the insides of this.

[redacted] Yeah, but --

1 Mr. Barnes. He's an outsider. He doesn't know if they were consultants,
2 they're hiring on an individual basis, or were they on the staff permanently. I assume
3 you're all on the staff permanently.
4 [redacted] We are.
5 Mr. Barnes. I know committees hire lawyers from outside.
6 [redacted] Not very often here.
7 Mr. Barnes. Well, I don't know. See, that's how ignorant I am. See, I don't
8 know the ways of Washington.
9 [redacted] Right. So but I think that -- I mean, we're having a little bit of a 10 disconnect here because, like, somebody associated with the committee, we're trying to 11 understand what his understanding is of that.
12 Mr. Barnes. I think he said -- he said the lawyers associated -- he doesn't know
13 who they represent, but they were, in some way, associated with the January 6.
14 [redacted] With the January 6 Committee?
15 Mr. Barnes. Well, with the January 6 inquiry. Now, whether they were 16 representing the witness, whether they were representing the committee, who knows?
17 [redacted] Okay.
18 Mr. Barnes. Go ahead. I don't know.
19 BY [redacted]
20 Q Okay. So I just want to make sure that the record is clear. You don't
21 know who the lawyers were that you met with that were associated with the January 6
22 Committee, who they represented. Is that correct?
23 A That's correct.
24 Q Okay. We'll go back to invoice number 8.
25 This is the one we spoke about the travel to Athens, that line.

1 [redacted] Is that exhibit 9?

2 [redacted] Uh-huh, yes.

3 BY [redacted]

4 Q So the very last item is Team meeting: Conf with Jan 6; SPGJ witness prep,

5 May 31, 2022, 8 hours at 250, cost $2,000.

6 Do you see where I'm looking on the invoice?

7 A Yes, ma'am.

8 Q And just to go over the questions again, we have previously discussed how 9 the semicolons denote different things that occurred.

10 Is that the case with this?

11 A Yes, ma'am.

12 Q So the team meeting was separate from the conf with Jan 6. Is that

13 correct?

14 A Yes, ma'am.

15 Q And if you bill for a conf with Jan 6, it's safe to assume that you attended the 16 conference with Jan 6. Is that correct?

17 A Yes, ma'am.

18 Q Now, when you -- so this billing date is May 31, 2022. And with the Politico

19 article we were just reading it talked about how the initial meeting occurred in April 2022.

20 Then there were several phone calls following that, in the months following April.

21 So I was just wondering if you remember this conference with January 6?

22 A I don't.

23 Q Do you remember who attended the conference?

24 A No, ma'am.

25 Q Do you remember whether anyone associated with the January 6 Committee

1 attended this conference?

2 A Well, by virtue of the entry --

3 Q Uh-huh.

4 A -- it says, With Jan 6, so that would mean that someone associated with this

5 would have attended.

6 Q Okay. So now if we look at invoice number 14, which you have already --

7 A Okay.

8 Q -- right above the line that we already worked with, the interview with

9 D.C./White House, it says Jan 6 meeting and attorney conf, November 16, 2022, 8 hours

10 at 250, cost $2,000.

11 Do you see where I'm looking on this invoice?

12 A I do.

13 Q Do you remember this Jan 6 meeting?

14 A I don't.

15 Q Do you remember by virtue of the entry if it involved individuals associated

16 with the January 6 Committee?

17 A No, ma'am, I don't.

18 Q It's safe to assume, since you billed for this, the January 6 meeting and 19 attorney conference, you attended this Jan 6 meeting. Is that correct?

20 A So this entry is sort of confusing without the investigative notes because this

21 entry could be in reference to a meeting that had already occurred. In other words, it

22 could mean that there was a meeting and attorney conference involving that with

23 whomever. That doesn't necessarily mean that on November 16, that there was a

24 January 6 meeting.

25 Q So you're saying that this could have just involved something related to

1 January 6, not individuals associated with the January 6 Committee. Is that your
2 testimony?
3 A Yes, ma'am.
4 Q I want to talk about one more invoice. This is invoice number 19. This 5 will be a new exhibit, number 15.
6 [Wade Exhibit No. 15
7 was marked for identification.]
8 BY [redacted]
9 Q I want to look at the second to the last entry. It starts with "Zoom conf."
10 Do you see where I'm reading?
11 A Yes, ma'am.
12 Q It says, Zoom conf with investigators in other jurisdictions, April 25, 2023,
13 8 hours at $250, cost $2,000.
14 Are we looking at the same --
15 A Yes, ma'am.
16 Q -- entry?
17 I just kind of wanted to enter this to help jog your memory. Do you remember
18 ever conferring with any other jurisdictions that were actively investigating or prosecuting
19 President Trump?
20 A No, ma'am.
21 Q Did you ever have any communications with anyone from the Manhattan
22 DA's -- Alvin Bragg's office?
23 A No, ma'am.
24 Q Did you ever have communications with DA Alvin Bragg?
25 A No, ma'am.

1 Q Have you ever had any communications with the former DA, Cy Vance?
2 A No, ma'am.
3 Q Did you ever have any communications Carey Dunne?
4 A No, ma'am.
5 Q Did you ever have any conversations with Mark Pomerantz?
6 A No, ma'am.
7 Q Did you ever have an understanding that the Manhattan DA's office earlier in 8 their investigation had similarly considered the New York RICO statute as a vehicle for 9 their prosecution of President Trump?
10 A Are you asking me if I know that?
11 Q Correct. Were you aware of that?
12 A What I'm trying to -- what I'm trying to do is decipher whether I learned that 13 in my capacity as special prosecutor or did I learn it later in the process. I do know that 14 today, yes.
15 Q Okay. And when you -- if you remember, when you wrote, Zoom
16 conference with investigators in other jurisdictions, what jurisdictions were you referring 17 to?
18 A I have no clue.
19 Q Would they have all been involved in DA Willis's prosecution and 20 investigation of President Trump and his codefendants?
21 A I don't recall.
22 Q Okay.
23 A But I can tell you that no other jurisdiction was involved in any 24 decisionmaking regarding this indictment.
25 Q Do you recall anything about this Zoom conference that you're referring to

1 here?

2 A I don't. And I'm trying really hard to, but I don't.

3 Q Do you recall if it took place in one entire business day? Was it 8 hours in 4 one business day? Was it split between two?

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q Would you recall if you had spent 8 hours on a Zoom conference in one

7 sitting?

8 A Well, what I do know is there would have been -- in all likelihood, there

9 would have been an entry that would have broken up the dates. But since there's no

10 semicolon here, this is one --

11 Q Uh-huh.

12 A -- this is one entry, that would tell me that this was, in all likelihood, an

13 all-day conference.

14 Q Okay. And you don't remember anything about this all-day conference?

15 A I don't.

16 Q You don't remember who attended?

17 A No, ma'am.

18 Q Since you billed for it, you obviously attended the 8-hour conference. Is

19 that correct?

20 A Yes, ma'am.

21 Q Okay.

22 A You know what?

23 Q Yeah.

24 A This entry -- one, two, three -- if you go up two entries above it, you can see

25 where I would have broken the dates up.

1 Q Uh-huh.
2 A But this entry could have very well expanded over -- yeah, over some time,
3 but I don't want to speculate for you. I don't remember.
4 Q So you're saying it could have been a cumulative 8 hours broken up between 5 several Zooms? Is that what you're speculating, if you will?
6 A Yes.
7 Q Okay. I want to move back to, I believe it's exhibit number 7, the judge's
8 order of March 15, 2024.
9 Oh, that's Judge McAfee's order. That looks like the grand jury. Sorry.
10 A Okay. All right.
11 Q So prior to the motion that this order was on, I believe it was filed in January
12 of this year, which made the relationship between you and DA Willis public, were you
13 ever concerned about if that relationship became public the optics of the relationship,
14 whether it would cause a problem with the case?
15 A I'm not sure I understand the question.
16 Q Were you ever concerned that if your relationship with DA Willis became 17 public, that it would cause an issue with the case, cause motions to be filed, for a motion
18 to dismiss and disqualify? Did that ever concern you?
19 A So now I'm getting confused because I didn't -- I didn't think I was coming
20 here to answer questions about my personal life.
21 Q I'm asking you questions -- I'm going to ask you questions about the order,
22 and some of this is that there's this conflict of interest that arose that was brought up.
23 There was hearings. There was public testimony about it. And that goes to our -- that 24 goes to our oversight of politically-motivated prosecutions and the venue bill that we've 25 discussed at length.

1 Mr. Evans. Well, we --

2 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, let's talk about that a little bit.

3 You better get your -- hit your phone.

4 I don't see -- it seems to me it would be way exceeding the scope of the subpoena.

5 A personal relationship that may have existed has nothing to do with whether it's

6 politically motivated. And, I mean, I -- you know, if we go get into folks' sex habits here,

7 you won't be able to --

8 [redacted] Well, we haven't done that.

9 [redacted] We are not.

10 [redacted] We haven't.

11 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, but that's what you're implying. We won't be able to have a

12 quorum in Congress now if we're going to get into sexual investigations --

13 [redacted] We are not getting -- yeah, we're not going there.

14 Mr. Barnes. Well, that's what's she's saying. She is just saying nicer words.

15 She's saying personal relationships, not sexual relationship, but that's what she's 16 implying.

17 [redacted] No, she isn't implying that.

18 Mr. Barnes. Well, now, don't tell me that. Personal relationships --

19 [redacted] Maybe you don't know [redacted] but she wouldn't imply that.

20 Mr. Evans. But all of that stuff was asked during the hearing as well, and so I

21 don't know what new ground -- you know, what we're going to cover here as far as --

22 [redacted] Yeah. There's now an order from a judge.

23 Mr. Evans. Sure, yeah.

24 Mr. Barnes. And it's on appeal and superseded.

25 [redacted] It is.

1 Mr. Barnes. So it's on appeal and it's superseded, and everything is there. I
2 mean, this order speaks for itself. But, you know, a witness does not give up all personal
3 things and private things because he volunteered whether by subpoena or voluntarily
4 appears.
5 So I'll let him make the decision as he goes down the road.
6 [redacted] All right. Ready?
7 [redacted] Yes.
8 [redacted] I'll push the button here.
9 The Witness. So you said that the point of your question was to determine
10 whether or not it was politically motivated. Let me go back to my statement --
11 [redacted] Yeah, she is --
12 The Witness. I'll read it. I'll read the -- 13 [redacted] She just asked the question, and you can answer it. Like, I don't
14 know --
15 [redacted] Yeah.
16 [redacted] -- that there's anything more to it than that.
17 The Witness. Yeah. I'll read it back to you.
18 Let's see, "This was not politically motivated, rather it was an independent
19 investigation based upon facts, interviews, evidence, and the rule of law. I had no
20 mandate other than to honestly seek the truth."
21 BY [redacted]
22 Q So we can go to the order. So let's go to page 2 of the order. This is 23 exhibit number 7.
24 So on page 2, it's the next to last full sentence on that page. The sentence starts
25 with "However." I'll let you get oriented before I read it.

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q Okay. "However, the established record now highlights a significant

3 appearance of impropriety that infects the current structure of the prosecution team - an

4 appearance that must be removed through the State's selection of one of two options.

5 The defendant's motions are therefore granted in part."

6 Were you ever concerned that there was a significant appearance of impropriety

7 regarding your relationship with DA Willis?

8 A Again, I don't understand how a personal relationship has anything to do

9 with your prescribed scope.

10 [redacted] Okay. You can just say I'm not answering that question, and we 11 can move on.

12 Mr. Barnes. That's okay.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q Can you describe what led to your decision to resign from your role as 15 special prosecutor?

16 A The judge's order.

17 Mr. Evans. Yeah.

18 BY [redacted]

19 Q Was there ever a possibility that DA Willis would resign, or was it always 20 your decision that you would resign?

21 A Let -- okay.

22 Mr. Evans. I don't think he can --

23 The Witness. I want --

24 Mr. Evans. Hang on 1 second.

25 I don't think he can answer or speak for what Fani believed in any way.

1 The Witness. Well, I want to make it make sense. The case belonged to the 2 Fulton County District Attorney's office who was acting on behalf of the citizens of the 3 State of Georgia and Fulton County. DA Willis and her office, they are the Fulton County
4 District Attorney's office.
5 I was appointed at her designation. Let's just talk this through.
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q Okay.
8 A If DA Willis resigns, what authority do I have to continue the prosecution?
9 The answer is none, because I was an agent appointed by the office. So, in effect, this
10 order, in all of its ridiculousness, said one thing, and that was, I needed to resign.
11 Does that make sense, or should we walk through it another way?
12 Q When was your last day with the office?
13 A The day the order came out in March.
14 Q So March 15, 2024, was your last day in the office?
15 A That's the day I resigned, the day this order came out.
16 Q And DA Willis accepted your resignation on that date. Is that correct?
17 A She did.
18 Q Okay. And the resignation was effective immediately if you --
19 A It was.
20 Q Okay. Since you resigned from the Fulton County District Attorney's office, 21 how many interviews have you given with news outlets?
22 A I don't know.
23 Q Is it more than five, less than five?
24 A Less than five.
25 Q Okay. In the judge's order on page 19, in the first paragraph, I'm starting

1 "With this includes the District Attorney's unorthodox decision." I'll read the sentence.
2 It says, "This includes the District Attorney's unorthodox decision to make
3 on-the-record comments, and authorize members of her staff to do likewise, to authors
4 intent on publishing a book about the special grand jury's investigation during the 5 pendency of this case."
6 The question is, were you ever authorized to provide on-the-record comments to 7 authors publishing a book?
8 A Never.
9 Q Do you know who was authorized to provide comments?
10 A I do not.
11 Q In our first hour, we spoke about how in January 2021, you sat on, like, a
12 special committee. Is that what you called it -- or search committee, excuse me.
13 So how often were you in communication with DA Willis regarding that search 14 committee, the duties of the search committee?
15 A I would say daily.
16 Q Daily. And what forms of communication? Was it phone calls, text
17 messages, emails, various forms of communication?
18 A Talking in person, talking on the phone, yeah.
19 Q And earlier in the first hour you said the communication regarding the 20 search committee started between the election in November of 2020 and when she took 21 office in January -- on January 1, 2021. Is that correct?
22 A That's correct.
23 Q So during that time period, January until you were hired on November 1,
24 2021, how often were you in communication with DA Willis?
25 A So she had formed a transition team --

1 Q Uh-huh.

2 A -- to assist in her transitioning to that role. I was a part of that team, so --

3 Q Is that different from the search committee? Sorry to interrupt.

4 A That is different.

5 Q Okay.

6 A So we were -- our role was to facilitate a smooth transition from the old

7 regime into the new. So once elected -- I think your question was from the time that

8 she was elected?

9 Q Correct, January 2021.

10 A That transition team was very active. I don't know how many times we 11 communicated.

12 Q And when did the initial outreach occur for you to serve on the transition

13 team?

14 A Again, between the time of her winning the election and the time that she 15 took office, somewhere in there.

16 Q So did your transition team duties continue into 2021 after she took office on

17 January 1, 2021?

18 A There may have been a few duties that went into her -- the beginning of her

19 regime, but not much of anything. At that point the transition was done. It was 20 complete.

21 [redacted] Okay. We'll go off the record.

22 [Discussion off the record.]

23 [redacted] Okay. We are back on the record.

24 BY [redacted]

25 Q Mr. Wade, I just want to ask you some follow-up questions on some of these

1 invoices that we looked at. So if you could do me a favor and take a look at 2 exhibit number 10, which is invoice number 14.
3 A Yes, ma'am, I have it.
4 Q Now, the entry that says, "Interview with D.C./White House." Do you know
5 what D.C. is an abbreviation for here? Do you remember?
6 A District of Columbia.
7 Q But you don't recall who that interview was with?
8 A No.
9 Q So if you don't remember who the meeting was with, can you be sure that
10 D.C. means District of Columbia as opposed to somebody with the initials of D.C.?
11 A I'm fairly comfortable saying that I would have meant District of Columbia,
12 but there is a remote possibility that I meant someone with the initials D.C.
13 Q Okay. And then it says, "D.C./White House." It does not specify if the 14 White House in question was someone from the Trump White House or someone from 15 the Biden White House, correct?
16 A That's correct.
17 Q And it doesn't specify if the meeting was with the White House or about the 18 White House, correct?
19 A That's correct.
20 Q And you don't recall either way?
21 A I don't.
22 Q If you'll just give me a minute to look back.
23 If I could have a moment?
24 Okay. So I want to step back and ask, at least one of the defendants in the 25 Fulton County case was employed by the White House at the time of the events for which

1 he was indicted, correct? I'm referring to Mark Meadows.

2 A So re-ask the question for me.

3 Q Mark Meadows was employed by the White House at the time of the --

4 A At the time of the indictment?

5 Q At the time of the events for which he was indicted.

6 A Aww, yes, ma'am.

7 Q And as an attorney and as somebody who I'm presuming follows the news,

8 you're aware that individuals who work for the White House are subject to executive

9 privilege in some circumstances. Isn't that correct?

10 A Yes, ma'am.

11 Q And is it fair to say, based on your experience as an attorney, as both a

12 prosecutor and a defense attorney, that when you have somebody you want to interview,

13 or, perhaps, call as a witness and you're aware that potential issues of privilege might

14 arise, you would want to speak to the counsel for the privilege holder in advance to know

15 how much that privilege might block the information that you're seeking, correct?

16 A Absolutely.

17 Q And so is it fair to say that before you would interview a witness who worked

18 at the White House, you would want to speak to White House counsel about whether or

19 not executive privilege would bar the information you were seeking from that witness?

20 A Yes, ma'am. So particularly, the regulations of Touhy would govern these

21 individuals, and there were certain steps that had to be taken in order to get permission

22 to speak with these individuals, which was not a friendly process the whole way.

23 Q Can you explain when you refer to Touhy regulations, what you mean by

24 that?

25 A So simply put, we would have to -- "we" being any person or agency

1 requesting to have a conversation with certain officials, you're required to, first of all, say
2 what type of conversation you want to have with them; second of all, give the specific
3 questions you want to ask them; and, thirdly, give an explanation as to why you can't get 4 that information from another source. And then you would have to get permission to 5 speak with them.
6 Q And from whom do you have to get that permission and to whom do you
7 have to give notice of those questions?
8 A Other governmental agencies.
9 Q And -- so when you are seeking to interview somebody who is or was a
10 Federal official about matters that took place within the context of their employment, you
11 have to comply with these Touhy regulations, and you also have to be concerned about 12 issues of executive privilege, correct?
13 A That is correct.
14 Q And those are the issues that you discussed with White House counsel,
15 aren't they, during the meetings that you had in this case?
16 A So I don't recall the issues that were discussed, but what I can tell you is that 17 is a 110 percent necessary step, and it has to take place.
18 Q And it's a step that you recall following as part of your duties as special
19 prosecutor in this case?
20 A I do.
21 [redacted] We can go off the record.
22 [redacted] We'll go back on the record.
23 [Discussion off the record.]
24 BY [redacted]
25 Q I'm going to mark at the top exhibit number 16, I believe, and this is a Free

1 Beacon article from April 10, 2024, titled "Justice Department Uncovers 'Inconsistencies'
2 in Fani Willis's Use of Federal Grant Funds."
3 [Wade Exhibit No. 16
4 was marked for identification.]
5 The Witness. What is the source of this?
6 BY [redacted]
7 Q This is the Free Beacon. It's up there at the top. It says freebeacon.com.
8 It's from Free Beacon.
9 Mr. Barnes. What is it?
10 [redacted] It's a news organization.
11 Mr. Barnes. Never heard of it.
12 The Witness. Okay.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q I just kind of wanted to enter this to help guide our discussion.
15 A Okay.
16 Q So the committee has received information that DA Willis has misused
17 Federal grant funds. Just curious if you have any knowledge as to how grant funds are 18 used at the Fulton County District Attorney's office?
19 A No, ma'am, I do not.
20 Q In your role as special prosecutor, did you handle anything with Federal 21 grants?
22 A No, ma'am, I did not.
23 Q Nothing came across your desk in regards to a Federal grant? Is that 24 accurate to say?
25 A That's accurate.

1 Q So just looking at the article here, the first -- or second full paragraph, I
2 should say, says, "The bombshell discovery comes 2 years after Willis fired a
3 whistleblower who had warned the District Attorney that her office was attempting to 4 misuse a $488,000 Federal grant to pay for swag, computers, and travel."
5 Then if you go down a couple of paragraphs, it says that the $488,000 Federal 6 grant, which was earmarked for the creation of a Center for Youth Empowerment and
7 Gang Prevention in Atlanta.
8 Did you have any awareness of the grant funds that were earmarked for the 9 creation of a Center for Youth Empowerment and Gang Prevention in Atlanta?
10 A Did I have any involvement in that or are you --
11 Q Well, let's start, did you have any knowledge of Federal grant funds that 12 were earmarked for the creation of the Center for Youth Empowerment and Gang
13 Prevention in Atlanta?
14 A No, ma'am.
15 Q Did you have any involvement with the Center for Youth Empowerment and 16 Gang Prevention in Atlanta?
17 A No, ma'am.
18 Q In the paragraph above it says -- this is a Justice Department spokeswoman 19 talking to the Free Beacon. It says, "During our review of the award to respond to this 20 inquiry, we have noticed some inconsistencies in what Fulton County has reported to the 21 Federal Subaward Reporting System, and we are working with them to update their 22 reporting accordingly."
23 Were you ever aware of the Justice Department noting to the DA's office that 24 there were some inconsistencies in their reporting for Federal grant funds?
25 A No, ma'am.

1 Q Did you ever have any conversations with DA Willis regarding the allegations
2 in this article?
3 A No, ma'am.
4 Q You never spoke with DA Willis about the use of grant funds at her
5 office -- Federal grant funds, excuse me, in her office?
6 A No, ma'am.
7 Q Did you have any conversations with anyone at the Fulton County District
8 Attorney's office regarding the use of Federal grant funds?
9 A No, ma'am.
10 Q Did you have conversation with anyone in the Fulton County District
11 Attorney's office regarding the specific allegations that grant funds were misused for 12 purchasing swag, computers, and travel?
13 A No, ma'am.
14 Q Okay. I want to talk about some use of campaign funds.
15 There was a concern raised from DA Willis's testimony at the hearing in regards to 16 the motion to disqualify and motion to dismiss regarding that she kept campaign funds
17 and put it with other cash that she had on hand. I believe she said where she said she 18 laid her head.
19 I'm just wondering if you had any knowledge of use of campaign funds to pay
20 expenses not for campaigning?
21 A No, ma'am.
22 Q Did you have any knowledge of DA Willis keeping campaign funds with her
23 cash that she keeps where she lays her head?
24 Mr. Evans. Where's that quote coming from?
25 [redacted] That's coming from her testimony.

1 Mr. Evans. In the hearing?

2 [redacted] In her hearing, yes.

3 Mr. Evans. I remember the part about the cash. I don't remember the

4 campaign funds.

5 [redacted] The campaign funds, yeah, I can read the part from her testimony

6 here.

7 Oh, it's in an article. She said, "Cash is fungible. I have had cash for years in my

8 house. So for me to tell you the source of where it comes from...when you go to Publix

9 and you buy something and you get $50 and you throw it in there. It's been my whole

10 life. When I took out a large amount of money during my first campaign, I kept some of 11 the cash of that."

12 Mr. Evans. Okay.

13 BY [redacted]

14 Q So there have been allegations that that was money that was earmarked for

15 her campaign, and so I'm just asking whether you had any knowledge of the use of 16 campaign funds.

17 A No, ma'am. I didn't know DA --

18 Mr. Barnes. What articles was that?

19 [redacted] This is a Fox News article. I'm happy to enter it for the record if 20 you'd like.

21 Mr. Barnes. Yeah, if you would do that so it's in the record.

22 [Wade Exhibit No. 17

23 was marked for identification.]

24 [redacted] Okay. This will be exhibit number 17. It's a Fox News article.

25 The title is "Fani Willis, Nathan Wade referred to Georgia State bar for misconduct by

1 watchdog group," and --

2 The Witness. And for the record, it has a very handsome picture of a gentleman

3 on the front of it.

4 [redacted] Yeah, I believe that's Mr. Bradley?

5 The Witness. No.

6 [redacted] No?

7 The Witness. That would be Mr. Wade.

8 [redacted] That's you?

9 The Witness. Oh, that's not me.

10 [redacted] That's Mr. Bradley.

11 The Witness. That's not a handsome picture. That's not a handsome picture at 12 all. Scratch that from the record.

13 [redacted] So we're just noting that for completeness of the record. And,

14 Governor Barnes, that quote is on page 2 of the article. The pages are on the bottom

15 right-hand corner.

16 The Witness. It's the second page that has the handsome gentlemen on the 17 front.

18 [redacted] There you go.

19 BY [redacted]

20 Q Switching topics -- we're just trying to cover as many topics as possible to get

21 through our questioning here -- the committee has also been made aware of a possible

22 motor vehicle accident that DA Willis was involved in after she took office in 2021 that

23 was a one-car accident, involved her Fulton County vehicle.

24 Just wondering if you have any knowledge of an accident occurring in 2021.

25 A In 2021, no, ma'am.

1 Q Do you have knowledge of any accident occurring that was a one-car
2 accident involving DA Willis's Fulton County vehicle?
3 A Yes, ma'am.
4 Q And what can you tell us about that car accident?
5 A There was an accident that occurred maybe 2 or 3 months ago, a
6 hit-and-run, but that's all I know.
7 Q So 2 or 3 months this year, 2024?
8 A 2024.
9 Q A hit-and-run?
10 A Uh-huh.
11 Q And it involved DA Willis's Fulton County vehicle. Was she driving?
12 A To my knowledge, yes.
13 Q And was it just her car? Obviously, the other car that hit and run, but -- did
14 she hit a car? Did the other car hit her? Do you know the logistics of the accident?
15 A I wasn't present, but I understand that some other vehicle swiped hers and 16 kept going.
17 Q Okay. And did you respond to the scene of the accident, if you will?
18 Were you involved?
19 A Did I respond to the scene of the accident?
20 Q Correct.
21 A No.
22 Q No. How did you become aware?
23 A The scene of the accident was on an expressway.
24 Q Uh-huh.
25 A When I found out about it, I went to a gas station where the police and

1 investigators had -- I don't know. What do you call it? Rendezvous maybe? I don't
2 know. So I went to that location.
3 Q And what was your role there at the gas station?
4 A My role was to make certain that she was okay.
5 Q Uh-huh. Were you -- so what occurred after the accident? Was there a
6 report that was filed, to your knowledge?
7 A Oh, I'm not certain. There was the police there. I don't know.
8 Q So did your role end after you confirmed that DA Willis was thankfully okay
9 from the accident?
10 A Yes, yes.
11 [redacted] I think we're good to go off the record.
12 [Discussion off the record.]
13 [Whereupon, at 2:13 p.m., the deposition was concluded.]

2 Good morning. This is a transcribed
3 interview of [redacted] Chairman Jordan
4 has requested this interview as part of the 5 committee's investigation of how and the extent to 6 which the executive branch has coerced and 7 colluded with companies and other intermediaries
8 to censor speech.
9 Would the witness please state your name for
10 the record.
11 THE WITNESS. [redacted]
12 [redacted] Thank you. And I understand
13 that you are represented today by agency counsel.
14 Would agency counsel please state your name
15 for the record.
16 [redacted] [redacted] FBI Office of the 17 General Counsel.
18 [redacted] [redacted] Department of 19 Justice.
20 [redacted] [redacted] I understand that
21 Agency counsel represents the FBI and not you
22 personally? Do you understand that?
23 THE WITNESS. Yes.
24 [redacted] And you still would like to 25 continue with her as counsel today?

1 THE WITNESS. Yes.

2 [redacted] On behalf of the committee, I

3 want to thank you for appearing here today to

4 answer questions. The chairman also appreciates

5 your willingness to appear voluntarily.

6 My name is [redacted] and I'm with

7 Chairman Jordan's staff. And I'll let everyone

8 else from the committee who is here in the room

9 introduce themselves as well.

10 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's

11 staff.

12 [redacted] [redacted] of Chairman

13 Jordan's staff.

18 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman Jordan's

19 staff.

20 [redacted] [redacted] Chairman

21 Jordan's staff.

22 [redacted] Thank you.

23 I'd like to go over the ground rules and

24 guidelines that we will follow for today's

25 interview.

1 The questions will proceed in rounds. The
2 majority will ask questions first for one hour and
3 then the Minority will have an opportunity to ask
4 questions for an equal period of time if they so
5 choose. We will alternate back and forth until 6 there are no more questions and the interview is 7 over.
8 Typically, we take a short break at the end
9 of each hour, but if you would like a break apart
10 from that, please just let us know.
11 As you can see, there's an official reporter
12 taking down everything we say to make a written
13 record, so we ask that you give verbal responses
14 to all questions. Do you understand?
15 THE WITNESS. Yes, I do.
16 [redacted] So the House reporter can take
17 down a clear record, we will do our best to limit
18 the number of people directing questions at you
19 during any given hour to just those people on the 20 staff whose turn it is. Please try and speak
21 clearly so that the reporter can understand and so
22 the folks down at the end of the table can hear
23 you.
24 It is important that we don't talk over one
25 another or interrupt each other, and that goes for

1 everybody who is present at today's interview.
2 We want you to answer our questions in the
3 most complete and truthful manner as possible, so
4 we will take our time. If you have any questions
5 or if you do not understand one of our questions,
6 please let us know. Our questions will cover a
7 wide range of topics, so if you need clarification
8 at any point, just say so. If you honestly don't 9 know the answer to a question or do not remember,
10 it is best not to guess. Please give us your best
11 recollection. If it is okay to tell us if you
12 learned information from someone else, just 13 indicate how you came to know that information.
14 If there are things you don't know or can't 15 remember, just say so and inform us who, to the 16 best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a
17 complete answer to the question.
18 You should also understand that although this 19 interview is not under oath that by law you are 20 required to answer questions from Congress
21 truthfully.
22 Do you understand that?
23 THE WITNESS. Yes, I do.
24 [redacted] This also applies to questions
25 proposed by Congressional staff in an interview.

1 Do you understand this?
2 THE WITNESS. Yes, I do.
3 [redacted] Witnesses that knowingly provide
4 false testimony could be subject to criminal
5 prosecution for making false statements under 32
6 USC Section 1001.
7 Do you understand this?
8 THE WITNESS. Yes, I do.
9 [redacted] Is there any reason you are 10 unable to provide truthful answers to today's
11 questions?
12 THE WITNESS. No.
13 [redacted] Finally, I'd like to make note
14 the content of what we discuss here today is 15 confidential. We ask that you not speak about 16 what we discuss in this interview with any outside
17 individuals to preserve the integrity of our
18 investigation.
19 For the same reason, the marked exhibits we
20 will use today will remain with the court reporter
21 so that they can go in the official transcript,
22 and any copies of those exhibits will be returned
23 to us.
24 That's the end of my opening remarks. Is 25 there anything my colleagues from the Minority

1 would like to ask?

2 [redacted] So first of all, thank you to the

3 witness for joining us and flying in from [redacted]

4 A little disappointing that we did not all go to

5 [redacted]

6 I wanted to make some substantive comments as

7 well, which we don't usually do at the beginning

8 of these, but I believe this might be the last

9 interview in this investigation, so I want to just

10 lay out some -- our position for the record on

11 this investigation writ large, if that's okay. If

12 you'd rather, we can talk about it at the 13 beginning of our one hour.

14 [redacted] No. You can go ahead.

15 [redacted] So we had, I think by one count,

16 at least five witnesses who were directly involved

17 in the subject of this investigation today from

18 FBI in addition to the witnesses from DOJ and from

19 the various social media companies. And we

20 believe that we have heard elements of the same

21 thing from all of these witnesses. The first is

22 that the --

23 [redacted] Wait a second. So you're going

24 to tell this witness what other witnesses have

25 said before we ask him questions?

1 [redacted] I can hold it until the
2 beginning. I offered --
3 [redacted] We didn't know you were going to 4 start telling the witness about testimony from 5 other witnesses.
6 [redacted] [redacted] if you want me to hold my
7 opening, I don't want to cause a fight right now.
8 I wanted --
9 [redacted] That's not a fight. But even in 10 your hour, if you're going to use your hour to 11 tell the witness about what other witnesses have
12 said --
13 [redacted] I don't think you can put 14 limitations on --
15 [redacted] I mean, if that's what you're 16 going to do, that's pretty outrageous.
17 [redacted] If that's the preference, I'm
18 happy to wait.
19 So with that, at [redacted]'s request, the 20 general counsel for the Minority we will hold our 21 opening comments till the beginning of our hour.
22 [redacted] [redacted] anything?
23 [redacted] Yes. Respectfully, the FBI would 24 dispute your characterization of the scope in that 25 your representation we may have coerced certain

private social media companies. Our understanding of today's interview is that the witness is here to speak to specific conversations he may have had with external partners, including social media companies, in October of 2020 while he was working on the Foreign Influence Task Force.

I'd also mention this is an extraordinary accommodation, because [redacted] is a non-SES employee. To that effect, we would just respectfully reiterate our request that [redacted]'s name be redacted in any public-facing way the committee may push out today's conversation. We appreciated that the committee has respected his confidentiality while he maintains his sensitive role working as an analytic attach abroad.

[redacted] Thanks for that.

The clock now reads 10:08 p.m. We'll begin with the first hour of questioning. [redacted]

EXAMINATION BY

[redacted]

Q What is your full name?

A [redacted]

Q What is your current place of employment?

A The FBI.

1 Q Okay. What is your current title?
2 A Analytic Attach .
3 Q How long have you worked in that role for?
4 A Since July of 2021.
5 Q Beginning with college, what is your
6 educational background?
7 A For undergraduate, I attended the University
8 of Georgia, majored in international affairs; then
9 attended Georgetown University for a master's 10 degree in security studies, later doing a research
11 sabbatical at the National Intelligence
12 University.
13 Q Starting with your first job after college,
14 what is your professional background?
15 A I interviewed for the FBI prior to graduating
16 from college, so in the interim, I had a temp job
17 in Georgia but began working for the FBI shortly
18 after graduating from college.
19 Q What was your first position with the FBI?
20 A Intelligence analyst at headquarters in the 21 counterintelligence division.
22 Q And how long were you in that role for?
23 A A little over a year as a -- it was called a
24 reports officer at the time. And in 2007, I moved
25 to a more all-source intelligence role,

1 counterintelligence analysis section.
2 I can go on if you'd like.
3 Q Please.
4 A So 2007 through 2012, I was in that
5 counterintelligence analysis section role. 2012 I
6 moved up to the Directorate of Intelligence as we 7 stood up the Global Intelligence Section. I was 8 in the Global Intelligence Unit 1. I was there
9 from 2012 until 2016, when I did my research
10 sabbatical at the National Intelligence University
11 looking at foreign influence in the Foreign Agents
12 Registration Act.
13 Came back from that in 2017 to the Criminal
14 Investigative Division of Public Corruption, Civil 15 Rights Intelligence Analysis Unit, where I looked 16 at illegal foreign influence and was dual hatted
17 with the Foreign Influence Task Force.
18 Q And how long were you in that role for?
19 A That was 2017 until up and through the 2020
20 elections. Did some preparations for my job in 21 [redacted] in sort of like the spring of 2021, moving
22 to [redacted] that summer.
23 Q And are you familiar with the terms
24 misinformation, disinformation, and
25 malinformation?

1 A I'm familiar with mis- and disinformation.
2 Q Have you heard the term malinformation at 3 all?
4 A Only through my prep materials for today's
5 interview.
6 Q Do you understand what's the difference
7 between misinformation and disinformation?
8 A Misinformation is false information, but the 9 distributor of the information was not aware that 10 it was false when it's sending.
11 Disinformation is distributed by someone who 12 is aware that what they are sharing is false,
13 intentional sharing of false information.
14 Q When officially did you join the FITF?
15 A Roughly at the beginning, in fall of 2017.
16 Q And how did you get assigned to the FITF?
17 A Following my research sabbatical, the 18 material I was researching, Foreign Agents
19 Registration Act, foreign influence were useful
20 topics that the FITF was establishing itself. And 21 as the FITF grew out from the counterintelligence
22 division to include other divisions, public
23 corruption was one of the units that was detailing
24 personnel to the FITF.
25 Q Who was responsible for hiring folks for the

1 FITF?
2 A Counterintelligence division management plus
3 selections within my management team, CID.
4 Q When you joined the FITF, what was its
5 overall structure?
6 A Initially, it was more like a unit structure,
7 not as big as a section, focused primarily on
8 Russian foreign influence.
9 Q And how big was the FITF at the time?
10 A At that time, 2017, 10 to 15 people.
11 Q Who was the head of the FITF?
12 A So initially it was [redacted], but he
13 went back to New York. After him it was -- I
14 don't recall the unit chief at that time. There
15 were supervisory intelligence analysts, and then
16 we really reported up through a deputy assistant
17 director who was assigned to the counterintel
18 division.
19 Q Who was the deputy assistant director?
20 A Initially it was Dina Corsi. Later, Nickie
21 Flores.
22 Q By the beginning of 2020, do you recall how
23 big FITF was?
24 A At that time it was approaching more section
25 size, 40 to 50 people, with multiple different

1 units under it.
2 Q And from when you started in 2017 until up to 3 the 2020 election cycle, did your role or your
4 responsibilities change?
5 A For the most part, no. As we approached the 6 summer of 2020, I was also filling in as the 7 acting supervisor for public corruption intel
8 analysis, which included election crimes.
9 Q What were your responsibilities with FITF?
10 A My role was to look at illegal foreign 11 influence, so it falls generally into a few
12 different criminal violations, one being voter
13 suppression, another being foreign money in
14 campaigns, and, finally, in Foreign Agent
15 Registration Act violations.
16 Q And who did you report to at the FITF?
17 A My direct supervisor in CID was the SIA,
18 supervisory intelligence analyst for public
19 corruption. In the FITF, primarily worked through 20 the FITF Russia supervisory intelligence analyst.
21 Q Who was that?
22 [redacted] Can we take that back?
23 Q Sure. For this individual, who did they 24 report to?
25 A The FITF Russia unit chief.

1 Q Who was that?
2 A [redacted]
3 Q How many people were affiliated with the 4 Russia unit or assigned to the Russia unit in 5 2020?
6 A I think a similar, 10 to 15, to include the 7 detailees like me.
8 Q Do you know who Laura Dunlo is?
9 A I do.
10 Q Do you know when she joined the FITF?
11 A Not exactly, but perhaps it was when this 12 sort of grew out from the focusing on Russia to 13 focusing on other countries. So perhaps 2018,
14 2019.
15 Q And which unit in the FITF was Laura Dunlo
16 assigned to in 2020?
17 A FITF China.
18 Q How often would you interact with Ms. Dunlo
19 in 2020?
20 A Fairly often. A few times a week.
21 Q What was the nature of those interactions?
22 A So as the -- one of the CID reps, while
23 primarily reporting up through the FITF Russia
24 unit, we were more of an enterprise resource for 25 the other FITF units. So I would speak to the

1 Russia unit, the China unit, the global unit when
2 there were questions about illegal foreign
3 influence.
4 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
5 A I do.
6 Q What was his role at FITF during your time
7 there?
8 A He was the assistant section chief.
9 Q And how frequently did you interact with him?
10 A Less so. He was just a bit more senior. So
11 perhaps in section-wide meetings, biweekly at most,
12 I would say.
13 Q And how frequently did you interact with
14 [redacted]?
15 A I would say almost daily, depending on the 16 time. Probably he was the one I interacted with 17 the most of FITF unit chiefs.
18 Q Do you know who Brad Benadinis is?
19 A I do.
20 Q What was his role at FITF when you were
21 there?
22 A He was section chief.
23 Q How frequently did you interact with him?
24 A I would say a similar time frame as [redacted]
25 [redacted].

1 Q Did you have anyone who reported to you in
2 the FITF?
3 A Not in the FITF.
4 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
5 [redacted] With regard to the name you just 6 referenced, we would prefer to characterize that
7 person as an ODC embed in the FITF.
8 Q Okay. How many members of ODC were embedded
9 in the FITF during your time there?
10 A I believe two.
11 Q Did those two individuals change over time?
12 A One did not, the other did, to my
13 recollection.
14 Q We identified one. Do you know the name of 15 the other individual?
16 A Not that I recall.
17 [redacted] The individual my colleague
18 mentioned, [redacted] -- was he the one that did
19 not change?
20 THE WITNESS. Correct.
21 Q During your time with the FITF, how
22 frequently would you interact with representatives
23 from social media companies?
24 A The meetings began as more of a quarterly
25 basis. I wasn't a part of them, I think, until

1 perhaps late 2018 to 2019. So beginning at 2 quarterly, but then as the election got closer and
3 it was COVID, so it was phone calls, not in-person
4 meetings, it eventually became monthly to, I
5 think, biweekly to weekly.
6 Q Do you know when the meetings first started?
7 A Not exactly.
8 Q And before COVID, were these meetings in
9 person?
10 A Some of them were, yes.
11 Q And where would they take place?
12 A Usually in San Francisco, Silicon Valley
13 where the company's headquarters are based. I
14 recall at least one here in D.C., Meta.
15 Q Were all members of the FITF based on in 16 D.C.?
17 A Yes, at headquarters.
18 Q Before COVID, how many members of the FITF
19 would fly out to San Francisco?
20 A It was a smaller group because it was in 21 person. I think those groups at their largest 22 were perhaps six people.
23 Q Who would decide who from the FITF would 24 attend?
25 A FITF management.

1 Q And when you say FITF management, what do you
2 mean?
3 A Perhaps the equivalent of the unit chief at 4 the time at the beginning when it was only that 5 big. Later, the unit chiefs and probably
6 assistant section chief in Section 2, but I didn't 7 have visibility. This is a bit of guessing on my 8 part.
9 Q Prior, we've received testimony about
10 bilateral meetings between FITF and social media
11 companies and then also broader industry meetings
12 with the U.S. government partners. Are you
13 familiar with both sets of standing meetings?
14 A I'm familiar with them, but I was for the 15 most part only a part of the bilateral meetings.
16 Q Did you ever attend any of the broader
17 industry-U.S. government partner meetings?
18 A A few of the phone calls that were leading up
19 to 2020, but I did not attend any of the in-person
20 group meetings.
21 Q In 2020, how many members of the FITF would
22 join the calls, the bilateral calls?
23 A Bilateral calls, a larger group, because it's 24 easier to join on the phone. Usually around 10 to 25 12.

1 Q And did you attend all of the bilateral FITF
2 meetings? Most of them?
3 A Most of them, I would say.
4 Q How many members of the Russian unit would
5 attend the FITF calls in 2020?
6 A Two people, perhaps three from the Russia
7 unit.
8 Q And typically, who were the two or people
9 from the Russia unit?
10 A The unit chief, the supervisory intelligence
11 analyst, and depending on the topic, other group
12 substantive expert analysts from the unit.
13 Q Just as a question of clarity here, you were 14 that substantive expert most of the time, or that 15 in addition to you?
16 A No. I was the sort of CID representative on 17 the calls.
18 Q In 2020, now that things have staffed up, in 19 terms of any changes at FITF management, did the 20 roles and responsibilities of Laura Dunlo change
21 throughout the year, to your understanding?
22 A I think in 2020 she was the sometime acting
23 unit chief, perhaps later the full-blown unit
24 chief of FITF China. I think those were her
25 titles.

1 Q For the broader industry partner meetings,
2 the ones that you recall attending, how many
3 members of the FITF would join those calls?
4 A Similar group of 10 to 12.
5 Q And in terms of the discussions for the 6 substance of what was being raised, how did those 7 differ from the FITF bilateral meetings to the 8 broader U.S. government industry meetings?
9 A I really was a part of very few of the 10 broader industry ones. The bilateral meetings
11 were usually specific about sharing tear line
12 material that was useful to that particular
13 platform. That was generally not done in the few 14 group meetings that I was a part of. That would 15 be, perhaps, other more general tear lines that 16 were approved for the group with less specifics of 17 the IP addresses, URLs.
18 Q In advance of a bilateral FITF call, what 19 sort of prep work would you and your team do in 20 advance of that meeting?
21 A There would be an agenda arranged through the 22 FITF of which topics would be raised on the calls.
23 Sometimes CID would have a topic. Generally, our 24 role in the call with social media companies was 25 speaking about voter suppression around the

1 manner, time, and place of voting.
2 Q And who from the FITF ultimately was
3 responsible for preparing the agenda?
4 A To my recollection, sort of a collaborative
5 effort by the unit chiefs and then arranging
6 logistics through San Francisco field office.
7 Q Were these agendas written down?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Are they, to your knowledge, accessible
10 through the Sentinel system?
11 A Yes.
12 Q During the meeting, was there anyone from the 13 FITF responsible for taking notes, recording
14 minutes?
15 A Yes. Generally, they were written up. I
16 remember seeing many, many write-ups by our San
17 Francisco colleague.
18 Q And who is your San Francisco colleague?
19 A Elvis Chan.
20 Q And are these write-ups available in Sentinel?
21 A Yes.
22 Q What about after a FITF call? Would there be 23 any sort of debriefing meeting, typically?
24 A Yes, but as the pace grew, there weren't
25 necessarily debriefings after each call.

1 Q Did you ever brief anyone above the section
2 chief of the FITF about your work with the FITF?
3 A We wrote papers that went to the people above
4 that level. I don't recall a particular briefing.
5 Q What were the subjects of those papers?
6 [redacted] Reminding the witness, this is an
7 unclassified setting. Your question potentially 8 implicates classified or law enforcement sensitive
9 material.
10 THE WITNESS. I'll speak in general terms
11 that it hasn't -- intelligence analysts of the 12 FBI, part of our job as all-source analysts is to 13 write finished intelligence for executives to 14 inform them of what threat actors are doing. So
15 that is generally the kind of papers we were doing
16 for FBI executives.
17 Q During these FITF bilateral calls, were there
18 ever any discussion regarding mis- or
19 disinformation relating to vaccines or COVID-19?
20 A I don't recall anything about COVID or 21 vaccines.
22 Q Do you recall any discussions in 2020 during 23 the FITF bilateral meetings regarding concerns to 24 a potential hack and leak operation from Russia?
25 A I recall that hack and leaks were discussed

1 as a tactic that the Russians had used before.
2 Q During the FITF bilateral meetings, do you
3 recall any discussions about certain content or 4 certain narratives that may be online and derived
5 from foreign actors?
6 A Generally, in those calls, we did not speak
7 about content with the narrow exception of my role
8 in CID around voter suppression, where the content
9 itself about manner, time, and place of voting was 10 important.
11 Q Did you have any interaction was Elvis Chan
12 prior to joining the FITF?
13 A No.
14 Q And what role did Mr. Chan play during the 15 FITF calls?
16 A He was the organizer of the meetings and 17 generally kept the meetings to the agenda.
18 Q Now, are you familiar with the Countering
19 Foreign Influence Task Force at SISA?
20 A In very general terms.
21 Q Do you recall any interactions with them
22 during your time at the FITF?
23 A A few. There was like -- I recall a think
24 tank event that I attended where they were there.
25 But I generally wasn't the one interacting with

1 that group.
2 Q At the bilateral FITF calls, were there any 3 members of the force who were not detailed or who
4 were not assigned by the FITF to attend?
5 A Yes. We would occasionally arrange for 6 presenters from field offices, special agents who
7 were working particular cases that were relevant
8 to our mission.
9 Q Were there ever bilateral FITF calls where 10 there were members from other federal agencies
11 besides the FBI?
12 A We hosted a series of calls with the 13 Department of Justice Foreign Registration Act
14 chief at the time for some of the companies.
15 Q Do you recall any other agencies?
16 A There were -- one second.
17 (Discussion held off the record.)
18 A To fully answer the question, it would be 19 better in a classified setting, but for this 20 level, that's the complete answer.
21 Q Based off documents that are out in the 22 public domain, Elvis Chan would from time to time
23 send information to social media platforms. Would 24 you or your team have any responsibility for 25 preparing what was said?

1 A At times, yes.
2 Q Who from the FITF would ultimately sign off
3 on what could or could not be sent to social media
4 companies?
5 A I don't have the exact insight on the
6 particular approval chain, but I think unit chief
7 to section chief.
8 Q When there were discussions about a -- the 9 risk of Russia using hack and leak operations as a
10 tactic, was there any discussion of a subject
11 matter of what might be hacked or what might be 12 leaked?
13 A No.
14 Q Was there ever a discussion on the timing?
15 A Perhaps in general terms. It was more likely 16 to occur closer to the election.
17 Q During these meetings, do you recall any 18 discussions of someone from the government asking
19 social media companies how they would treat hacked
20 materials on their platform?
21 A I don't recall that.
22 Q Do you recall any discussions where Burisma
23 or Hunter Biden was raised?
24 A Only the October 14th call.
25 Q I take it you are familiar with the New York

1 Post story from October 14th?
2 A Yes.
3 Q If you could walk us through that day. So
4 start at the very beginning. Do you recall how
5 you first heard about the New York Post story?
6 A Sure. Came to work that day on the 14th,
7 and in the FITF, I was one of the analytic
8 representatives from CID. I also had operational
9 colleagues who are detailed there, so supervisory
10 special agents.
11 At that time one of the supervisory special
12 agents who sat next to me was also the program
13 manager for the Baltimore field office, and so I
14 learned about the article from him as we were at 15 our desks and he saw the news article, and he 16 audibly expressed surprise about the article and 17 how so much of the details about the laptop were 18 in the public, because the laptop was part of an 19 ongoing investigation out of Baltimore field
20 office.
21 Q And who was that individual?
22 A I don't remember his full name, but he was an
23 SSA in the public corruption unit.
24 [redacted] Out of the Baltimore field
25 office; is that correct?

1 THE WITNESS. The way it works is they have
2 like 18-month TUIs at headquarters. So at that
3 time he was a headquarters employee, but his
4 responsibility included the Baltimore field office
5 and other mid-Atlantic field offices to program
6 manage their public corruption cases.
7 [redacted] Did you ever have an
8 understanding of how he came to learn that there
9 was an ongoing investigation regarding the laptop?
10 THE WITNESS. So that would be part of his 11 responsibilities as a program manager for that 12 field office where the case was being 13 investigated. In the public corruption unit, they 14 track all of the cases referencing public
15 officials or people close to public officials.
16 [redacted]
17 Q Did you know about the laptop prior to him
18 expressing surprise?
19 A I did not.
20 Q What did he say exactly?
21 A He said he was surprised to see this New York
22 Post story about the laptop because the laptop was 23 part of the Hunter Biden investigation out of the 24 Baltimore field office. He just couldn't believe
25 that these details were coming out in public.

1 Q And to your understanding at the time, did
2 you know whether any members of the FITF were
3 receiving briefings from that case team?
4 A I did not know.
5 Q What about sitting here today?
6 A I've read some of the letters from the 7 committee where it appears people were
8 knowledgeable, but I was not aware of it at the 9 time.
10 Q Did you ask him any questions about the 11 laptop or the investigation?
12 A No. I had to leave quickly thereafter.
13 There had been a positive COVID case on my team,
14 so we were all encouraged and I encouraged other
15 members of my team to go get a COVID test. So I
16 left the office shortly thereafter to get a COVID
17 test at the D.C. National Guard COVID test station
18 by the National Building Museum.
19 Q How early in the morning were you starting
20 your day in October of 2020?
21 A I don't think I recall that exactly.
22 Q We received testimony that there were a
23 number of FITF meetings prescheduled for that day.
24 A Uh-huh.
25 Q Can you walk us through the first meeting you

1 can recall attending?
2 A The first meeting I recall was the bilateral
3 meeting with Twitter.
4 Q And approximately how long did that meeting
5 take place after you had had this discussion with 6 the SSA?
7 A A few hours. The COVID test I was taking
8 took longer than I expected, so I joined the call
9 on my cell phone from leaving the test station.
10 Q Had there been any discussions with other
11 members -- had you had any discussions with other 12 members of the FBI about the laptop or about the 13 article before this Twitter FITF meeting?
14 A No.
15 Q How many members of the FITF attended this
16 call with Twitter?
17 A I don't recall exactly. Perhaps five or six
18 at that time.
19 Q Do you recall who?
20 A I remember [redacted] was there. Our OGC rep. I
21 don't know when exactly she joined, but Laura
22 Dunlo joined as well. Elvis Chan. Myself.
23 [redacted] Was the ODC rep the same
24 individual you spoke about earlier?
25 THE WITNESS. Yes.

1 [redacted]

2 Q Anyone else from the FITF that you can

3 recall?

4 A Not that I can recall.

5 Q Do you remember if there were any other

6 government representatives on that call?

7 A Not that I can recall.

8 Q How many representatives of Twitter were on

9 the call?

10 A Perhaps two.

11 Q Do you recall who?

12 A I know Yoel Roth was on the call. I don't

13 remember who else from Twitter at the time.

14 Q Did anyone from Twitter ask about the New

15 York Post article?

16 A So my recollection of the call is

17 introductions occur, and then off the agenda Yoel

18 Roth proactively and independently says, We've

19 seen the New York Post story about Hunter Biden's

20 laptop. We assess this as a Russian

21 disinformation effort. And then there was awkward

22 pause.

23 Q And what broke the pause?

24 A [redacted] chimed in to speak in general

25 terms about Russian disinformation, and then I

1 spoke up to say this is [redacted] from CID;
2 that's part of a separate matter, and then our OGC
3 rep came in to say we have no comment on this.
4 Q What did you mean, that was part of a
5 separate matter?
6 A I meant that this was part of a separate
7 matter where we had no comment about it.
8 Q Did Twitter ask more questions about the
9 separate matter?
10 A Not at that time.
11 Q Did they ask more questions at a later time?
12 A No.
13 Q Did they ask any additional questions about
14 the New York Post story?
15 [redacted] Sorry. Can I confer with him for 16 one minute?
17 [redacted] We're off the record.
18 (Discussion held off the record.)
19 [redacted] We just have a point of 20 clarification.
21 THE WITNESS. To my knowledge, there was no
22 further follow-up from Twitter.
23 [redacted]
24 Q How long was the Twitter FITF meeting?
25 A Guessing at this stage, four years later, but

1 perhaps 30 minutes.
2 Q And have you ever had a chance to see the --
3 let me rephrase it.
4 To your knowledge, was anyone taking notes or
5 writing up a summary of this meeting?
6 A I think as part of general practice, there
7 was a write-up that was put in somewhere.
8 Q Typically, Mr. Chan was the one responsible
9 for preparing it?
10 A Yeah, typically.
11 Q Okay. At the end of the Twitter FITF call,
12 tell us what happened next.
13 A I received an instant message on our sort of 14 internal instant message system from the OGC rep
15 that the response to anything about the article is 16 just "no comment."
17 [redacted] Is that the same OGC rep that 18 we've mentioned earlier?
19 THE WITNESS. Yes.
20 [redacted]
21 Q And what did you respond?
22 A "Okay."
23 Q Was there any other discussion with the OGC
24 rep?
25 [redacted] I think that your question

1 implicates legal privileges, so we may have to
2 respond to those in real time.
3 You can answer of the existence of those
4 conversations.
5 THE WITNESS. Perhaps in an IM or two more
6 with that OGC rep and then a later discussion with 7 a different OGC rep just describing what occurred
8 on the call.
9 [redacted]
10 Q Who is the different OGC rep?
11 A Our OGC rep for CID at the time was not a
12 FITF detailee.
13 Q Who was that?
14 A I don't recall her name.
15 Q From either of these OGC reps, did you
16 receive any reprimand or criticism for your 17 comment during the call?
18 A No. Just that in future iterations, your
19 response will be "no comment." And the CID one, I 20 just kind of took the discussion and that was the 21 end of it -- of that call.
22 Q So the first discussion with the OGC rep
23 embedded in the FITF, that took place over instant
24 message. What about the second conversation?
25 A It was a phone call I had later that day.

1 [redacted] And how did that OGC CID rep
2 come to know what occurred on the call?
3 THE WITNESS. I can't speak to that.
4 [redacted] But that individual, the OGC CID
5 rep, was not on the call with Twitter; is that
6 correct?
7 THE WITNESS. Correct.
8 [redacted]
9 Q Did you have any conversations with [redacted]
10 about your comment on the Twitter FITF meeting?
11 A I don't think so, no.
12 Q For the instant message between --
13 A To the best of my recollection, there were 14 lots of IMs going on during this time, but I don't 15 recall speaking to [redacted] about it.
16 Q For the IM from the OGC rep embedded within 17 the FITF, was that a direct message to you?
18 A To my recollection, that was a direct
19 message.
20 Q Were there any other direct messages or group
21 messages you had with the FITF immediately
22 following the Twitter FITF meeting?
23 A I recall one with Elvis where I may have 24 proactively sent him a message that if this was to 25 come up again, the answer is "no comment."

1 Q What did Elvis say back?
2 A "Okay." But this is me recalling from four
3 years ago.
4 Q Do you recall any discussions, either in 5 person, on the phone, or multiple people on the 6 messaging system, discussing how to respond to 7 future questions?
8 A I think just that one I've described from the 9 OGC rep on "no comment" is how we respond to 10 questions about the story.
11 Q Did you have any discussions with Ms. Dunlo
12 about how to respond to the story?
13 A No. Not to the best of my recollection.
14 [redacted] Were you ever given an
15 explanation for why the response to questions
16 about the story was supposed to be "no comment"?
17 THE WITNESS. There was not a direct
18 explanation, to my recollection, but it seemed in 19 line with our policies.
20 [redacted] And how did it seem in line with 21 your policies?
22 THE WITNESS. That we don't comment on the 23 veracity of press reporting.
24 [redacted] But you were never told directly
25 what the reason was for the "no comment" response?

1 THE WITNESS. I don't recall a reason.
2 BY [redacted]
3 Q Did anyone ask you how you knew about the 4 laptop?
5 A Not that I recall, no.
6 Q From your understanding of discussions with 7 other members of the FITF, do you have a sense if 8 they understood or had familiarity with either the 9 laptop or the Hunter Biden investigation?
10 A Not at that time.
11 Q Have you since learned that?
12 A From the committee's letters, yes.
13 Q So after you received these messages, do you
14 recall what the next meeting was with the social
15 media companies?
16 A There was a group call with social media
17 companies shortly thereafter. I can't recall who 18 brought up the New York Post story again, but it
19 was brought up again, and Elvis pitched the 20 response over to me where I said there's no
21 comment.
22 Q Did anyone else from the government offer any
23 commentary of any kind regarding either the story
24 or the laptop or the investigation?
25 A Not to the best of my recollection.

1 Q Why did Elvis pitch it over to you?
2 A Because I had -- well, this is my assessment
3 of it. He didn't explain that to me. But because 4 I had responded to those questions in the previous
5 call with Twitter.
6 Q Following the U.S. government industry call,
7 was there any internal discussions among the FITF
8 members about whether to change the response from
9 the FITF?
10 A Not that I was a part of.
11 Q What was the --
12 [redacted] Sorry. Just to clarify, the 13 witness testified he wasn't participating in the 14 broader U.S. government calls, so if you can
15 characterize them as the FITF bilateral meetings
16 with the social media partners, I think just for 17 the clarification of the record, that would be 18 helpful.
19 [redacted] Sure. So maybe I missed that.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q The next call was not the broader industry
22 call?
23 A It was the broader industry call. It was one
24 of the few that I was a part of, the broader 25 industry call.

1 Q Do you recall what the next meeting was that
2 day?
3 A I don't.
4 Q Did you attend a FITF meeting with Facebook
5 on or about that day that you can recall?
6 A That's possible. I think Facebook was part
7 of the broader industry call as. If there was a
8 bilateral call, I don't remember that one in 9 particular.
10 Q Do you remember any calls where Ms. Dunlo or 11 someone else from the team responded "no comment"
12 when asked about the laptop?
13 A Not that I remember today.
14 Q In the days following the 14th, did any of 15 the social media companies reach out, to your 16 knowledge, either to you or to members of your
17 team asking for additional information?
18 A To my knowledge, no. No one reached out to 19 me.
20 Q What about the FITF broadly?
21 A I can't speak to that.
22 Q When the SSA expressed surprise when the 23 story first broke, did you have any follow-up
24 discussions?
25 A No.

1 Q Was this SSA just having familiarity with the
2 investigation, or did this person report directly
3 on it, to your knowledge?
4 A To my recollection, it was more familiarity
5 as a headquarters program manager. He was not
6 somebody working on the case itself.
7 Q Do you know any members of the case team?
8 A I do not.
9 Q Do you know if any members of the FITF shared
10 any additional information about whether the FITF
11 assessed the laptop or the reporting from the New 12 York Post to be part of Russian disinformation?
13 A I don't recall any other discussions about 14 the laptop.
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q I want to switch topics for just a little 17 bit. Can you tell us about your preparation for 18 today's interview.
19 A Sure. I prepared with Agency counsel and 20 with DOJ counsel and my PLI attorneys.
21 Q What are PLI attorneys?
22 A Professional liability insurance.
23 Q Did you review any documents today before
24 your interview?
25 [redacted] So I think that your question

1 does potentially implicate attorney-client
2 privilege and other internal deliberative process
3 privileges, but I think, generally speaking,
4 you're free to answer.
5 THE WITNESS. The Agency counsel prepared a
6 preparation packet for me, so I reviewed that.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q So Agency counsel prepared a package of 9 documents for you to review; is that correct?
10 A Correct.
11 Q Do you remember what documents were in there?
12 [redacted] We can't speak to our internal 13 preparation for the witness as he previewed many 14 of the documents he's discussed thus far in his 15 testimony are publicly available from the 16 committee's representations of prior transcript
17 interviews.
18 BY [redacted]
19 Q Did you identify any documents that you
20 wanted to review prior to today's interview?
21 A I didn't do any preparation outside of the 22 sessions with counsel.
23 Q And how many sessions did you have?
24 A We spoke Friday, Monday, and Tuesday.
25 Q Did you identify any specific events you

1 wanted to kind of refresh your memory on?
2 [redacted] The committee did scope this
3 interview to a particular meeting and a particular
4 conversation. So given that it's been four years,
5 the witness did review publicly available
6 documents from the committee, including the 7 correspondence he already referenced.
8 [redacted] I'm just asking whether you had
9 any specific events that you thought you may want
10 to recollect prior to today's transcribed
11 interview.
12 THE WITNESS. The October 14th call.
13 BY [redacted]
14 Q Just digging a little bit deeper. During the 15 Twitter FITF call -- actually, let me take one
16 step back.
17 In a typical FITF call before October 14, how 18 often did you have a speaking role?
19 A Semi-regularly.
20 Q And without getting into specifics but just 21 generally, what would be the nature or the purpose
22 for you to have a speaking role?
23 A My general role when speaking with social 24 media companies was to -- would be to speak about 25 the voter suppression around manner, time, and

1 place of voting. That's generally the topic I
2 would address with the companies on the calls.
3 Q And when it was your issue area, would either
4 Mr. Chan or someone hand it over to you, or were 5 you at liberty just to jump in as the expert and
6 answer?
7 A Usually if it was an agenda item, Mr. Chan
8 would pitch over, but if it sort of came up
9 naturally in the conversation, I would interject.
10 Q During the Twitter FITF meeting, you
11 mentioned there was a long pause and then, to your 12 recollection, [redacted] was the first to jump in;
13 is that right?
14 A That is correct.
15 Q After Mr. Roth first says what Twitter's
16 understanding is at the time, were there any 17 instant messages between members of the FITF about 18 the meeting?
19 A So at that time I was on my cell phone
20 walking back to the building, so I don't know if 21 there were items at that moment.
22 Q Just generally, are you able to access IMs,
23 you know, from previous meetings if needed?
24 A I think as the Agency we can, but it's not
25 something that's easy to do.

1 Q Was there anything else -- actually, let me
2 rephrase that.
3 Did Mr. Roth share anything at that time
4 about how Twitter intended to enforce its policies
5 with respect to the New York Post story?
6 A He said they intended to suppress the story.
7 Q Do you recall if he provided any level of
8 detail to you on how Twitter intended to do so?
9 A Not beyond that.
10 Q What about other social media companies?
11 Were there, on the U.S. industry call or just 12 generally on the calls some of the days following,
13 did any other companies share with you what
14 FITF -- how they intended to treat the story?
15 A In that broader industry call immediately
16 following the Twitter call, I remember Yoel Roth
17 repeating what he had told us on the earlier call,
18 that they assessed the story was Russian
19 disinformation and intended to suppress it. I
20 don't recall other industry partners speaking to 21 their intentions on that call.
22 Q So [redacted] speaks in general terms. Can 23 you say a little bit more about anything you can
24 remember about what he was saying?
25 A He was really talking in general terms about

1 previous Russian efforts at foreign malign
2 influence.
3 Q Did he mention that Russia had previously
4 used hack and leak as a tactic?
5 A I don't recall if he specifically mentioned
6 hack and leak in that moment.
7 Q Was it Mr. Roth to speak again about the 8 questions or once [redacted] finished speaking?
9 A Once [redacted] finished -- or perhaps as 10 there was just like a pause in his speech --
11 that's when I jumped in to speak.
12 Q And why did you jump in?
13 A I thought it was important to close the 14 discussion so that we weren't commenting on
15 Twitter's conclusion.
16 Q And what do you mean by "commenting on
17 Twitter's conclusion"?
18 A Really just that, that we -- that this was a
19 separate issue that we have no comment about.
20 Q And by it being a separate issue, do you mean
21 that it was not the Russian disinformation that 22 Twitter was assessing it to be?
23 A That we weren't commenting on their intention
24 or assessment at all.
25 Q When you spoke to the SSA first thing in the

1 morning about the article, did that individual
2 share with you or identify to you anything in the 3 article that was not true?
4 A Not to my recollection.
5 Q Did you share with anyone in the FITF, more
6 broadly on the 14th or shortly thereafter, the 7 fact that you had this discussion with the SSA?
8 A I think there were instant messages at the 9 time with Elvis, between Elvis and I, where I
10 mentioned that there was an ongoing investigation.
11 Q And did Elvis ask you or did you volunteer
12 this information?
13 A I don't recall exactly.
14 Q Do you recall what questions Mr. Chan had?
15 A No.
16 Q Were these just direct messages between you
17 and Mr. Chan?
18 A To my recollection, yes.
19 Q Were any of these text messages or were these
20 all through the FBI?
21 A These were the internal instant message
22 system.
23 Q To your knowledge, was Mr. Chan having any 24 follow-up discussions with social media companies?
25 A Not that I recall.

1 Q Do you recall if there were kind of multiple
2 instances either throughout the day or throughout
3 the coming days where you were talking to Mr. Chan
4 or was this all in the same initial discussion?
5 A To my recollection, it was all that day, that
6 discussion.
7 Q Did you have a sense later that day that
8 others within the FITF knew the New York Post
9 story was not part of Russian disinformation?
10 A I don't know the answer to that. I don't
11 know.
12 Q Given what Mr. Roth shared at the outset of 13 the Twitter FITF meeting and in the context of 14 having the discussion you had with the SSA in the 15 morning, was there any part of you that was 16 concerned that Twitter and possibly other social
17 media companies were mistaken in their assessment
18 of the New York Post story?
19 A Could you say that question again.
20 Q Sure. The morning of the 14th, after 21 hearing what Mr. Roth shared about how Twitter was 22 assessing the story, and given what you knew based 23 off your conversation with the SSA earlier that 24 morning, did you have any concerns about how 25 social media companies were incorrectly assessing

1 the story?
2 A I think my concerns were about how Twitter
3 would take our discussion on the topic and hence
4 why I sought to close the topic when it came up.
5 [redacted] Can you unpack that for us.
6 What do you mean by how Twitter would take your
7 discussion on the topic?
8 THE WITNESS. It was very -- this was the 9 first time, to my recollection, that a social
10 media company had proactively and independently
11 told us what they intended to do regarding the 12 press article, and it's not our position to 13 comment on the veracity of press articles. So I
14 wanted to try to separate our role from commenting 15 on the story whatsoever.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Why do you think Mr. Roth shared with you
18 what Twitter was doing?
19 A I can't speak for Mr. Roth.
20 Q Up to that point, there had been discussions
21 with the FITF between Twitter, other social media
22 companies, the FITF about Russian disinformation;
23 is that right?
24 A Correct. I would clarify it more as foreign 25 malign influence indicators, but true.

1 Q Either directly or indirectly, did you have
2 the impression that Mr. Roth was raising this with 3 the FITF as seeking to find out if the FITF had 4 anything else to share about whether it was
5 Russian disinformation?
6 A I can't speak to his intentions that day.
7 Q Was there ever any discussion among members
8 of the FITF about whether to share some of the 9 information to inform the social media companies
10 that the article and the laptop are not part of a
11 Russian disinformation effort?
12 A I don't recall discussions with FITF
13 colleagues on that.
14 [redacted] So prior to the October 14th
15 phone call where Mr. Roth says what Twitter
16 intends to do with the story, you said that there
17 had been these bilateral meetings where it had 18 been raised by the FITF. I think you said Russia,
19 foreign malign indicators; is that correct?
20 THE WITNESS. Yes.
21 [redacted] Was there any discussion of hack
22 and leak operations?
23 THE WITNESS. Answering your colleague's
24 question earlier. There was a -- general
25 discussions about how the Russians had used hack

1 and leak as a tactic in previous operations.
2 [redacted] And those both predated the
3 October 14th phone call; is that correct?
4 THE WITNESS. Correct.
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q Just to close the loop on that. When the OGC
7 rep told you that the -- going forward, you would 8 be saying "no comment," was he directly or 9 indirectly suggesting that what you had said was 10 not aligned with the appropriate policy?
11 A He did not imply that.
12 Q He didn't state it either?
13 A Correct.
14 Q To your knowledge, did [redacted] or others
15 have any follow-up discussions with social media
16 companies about the laptop or the story?
17 A I don't know. To my recollection, there were 18 none that I was a part of.
19 Q The discussion you had with the SSA in the 20 morning, did you document that discussion in any 21 way?
22 A I don't think so.
23 Q Did the SSA share with you that the FBI was 24 in possession of the hard drive or the laptop?
25 A To my recollection, he said that the laptop

1 was part of the investigation.
2 Q Did he share anything to the effect that the
3 contents of the laptop had been authenticated?
4 A I don't recall any discussion about
5 authentication.
6 Q The original article, there was actually a
7 picture of the subpoena from the FBI. Did he 8 express any familiarity with that document?
9 A I don't recall to that level of detail.
10 Q Did you have any discussions with this SSA at 11 any point, either later that day or the days
12 following, to share that social media companies
13 were asking questions about it?
14 A I don't know if he was in the office later
15 that day or not.
16 Q Were you both in the office later that week?
17 A I believe so.
18 Q And do you recall any discussions?
19 A I may have mentioned in general terms that it
20 came up.
21 Q What was this individual's reaction?
22 A He was glad that he didn't have to do calls
23 with the social media companies.
24 Q Why was that?
25 A I don't know.

1 Q Did you -- when sharing this, did you share
2 what information or response, I should say, the 3 FBI provided?
4 A That we said "no comment."
5 Q Do you have familiarity with the statement
6 that 51 former intel officials put out about five
7 days after the New York Post story?
8 A I'm aware in general terms of that.
9 Q Did you have any familiarity with the 10 statement or that folks were working on a
11 statement prior to its publication?
12 A No. I just saw the news.
13 Q Once it was in the news, was there any 14 discussion among members of the FITF to share with 15 the social media companies that the story and the 16 laptop were not part of a Russian disinformation
17 effort?
18 A Not that I recall.
19 [redacted] Can we go off the record, please.
20 (Discussion held off the record.)
21 (Recess taken from 11:05 a.m.to 11:19 a.m.)
22 [redacted] It is 11:19. We can go back on
23 the record.
24 [redacted] thank you again for joining us
25 today. I appreciate it.

1 THE WITNESS. You're welcome.

2 [redacted] I'm going to make a version of

3 the comments that I was going to make at the 4 beginning. I understand that [redacted]'s concern

5 was that I intended to lay out a road map, I

6 guess, of what other witnesses have said. That's

7 not our intention. I do want to make it clear for

8 the record a couple of things, though.

9 I think we've heard from a number of FBI

10 witnesses, a number of technology company

11 witnesses -- and by technology companies, I mean

12 social media companies specifically.

13 What we've heard is that FBI acted in

14 accordance with its own policies throughout. And

15 I think in the first hour of questioning we didn't

16 hear anything that contradicted that.

17 I want to note that it is now October 23,

18 2024. We're here today to talk about an article

19 that was released on October 14, 2020. That's

20 four years.

21 I think our members have some concern with

22 the continued use of committee resources to

23 explore events that took place four years ago and,

24 in particular, I'm concerned that it may -- that

25 part of the goal of this investigation may be to

1 attack the Office of General Counsel of FBI,
2 taking -- getting rid of the OGC at FBI as one of
3 the goals of Project 2024. I wanted to make that
4 note on the record.
5 I wanted to also make the note that we
6 continue to have concerns about the transcripts
7 being withheld from the public in this case. We
8 have -- the majority has said that they are doing
9 that because the investigation is still ongoing,
10 but we do understand that transcripts have been
11 provided to America First Legal and to Jean
12 Hamilton and potentially to others as well, so the 13 transcripts have been provided to outside
14 entities, just not to the American public. And my 15 understanding is they've not been provided to FBI
16 either, although FBI is able to come and review
17 them in the majority's office space.
18 I also want to make the note that the 19 October 14, 2020, article, the topic of that 20 article was the Hunter Biden laptop, the alleged 21 Hunter Biden laptop. The committee and jointly
22 with the House Oversight Committee and the Ways
23 and Means Committee held -- I don't even know how 24 many transcribed interviews and depositions
25 concerning Hunter Biden matters. Those interviews

1 definitively showed that whatever was on the
2 laptop, whatever was not on the laptop, whatever
3 the truth of the October 14th article was or was 4 not, there is no involvement by President Biden in
5 his son's business affairs.
6 And finally, I want to note that our members
7 continue to have concerns. In fact, I believe a
8 letter was just sent today to the chairman of this 9 committee and other committees and copies -- or 10 actually, and to the ranking members as well,
11 noting concerns about continued misinformation and
12 the attempts to interfere in the election. I
13 would note that just yesterday there was a story
14 about Russia spreading misinformation about Vice 15 Presidential candidate Tim Walz. There's also 16 obviously the Iraq hack happened earlier this year
17 as well.
18 So our members' position is that the work of 19 the FITF is more important than ever, and we have 20 great -- and our members have great concern that 21 the work done by this -- or the way that the work
22 has been construed by the majority done in this
23 investigation, which, again, our members do not 24 think is an accurate representation of what the 25 investigation has shown, might have a chilling

1 effect on the FITF and its ability to do its work.
2 And, again, that is particularly concerning now in
3 the current climate, knowing that Russia and Iran
4 and China and others are actively working to 5 interfere.
6 So with that small preamble, let me move on 7 and get back to some of the stuff we were actually
8 talking about.
9 BY [redacted]
10 Q I want to that a step back and look at the 11 FITF writ large, how the FITF does its work. And 12 just, again, to clarify the record, the FITF
13 During these Foreign Influence Task Force;
14 correct?
15 A Correct.
16 Q And the focus of the FITF is on combating
17 malign foreign influence operations; correct?
18 A Correct.
19 Q Can you explain in layman's terms what a
20 malign foreign influence operation is?
21 A Sure. It's when a foreign government seeks 22 to be subversive, undeclared, covert, or
23 clandestine in their efforts to either influence
24 the U.S. government or the U.S. people.
25 Q And I don't want to get into anything

1 classified in this setting, but you mentioned in
2 the earlier hour that your focus was on voter
3 suppression efforts, and that's voter suppression
4 efforts by malign foreign entities; correct?
5 A In my role with the FITF, yes, those foreign 6 actors.
7 Q And can you explain broadly, again without 8 getting into classified information, what the 9 concern was in 2020 around the potential for 10 malign foreign actors to try to suppress the vote
11 in particular with respect to the time, place, and 12 manner?
13 A Sure. Our concern was that foreign actors
14 could use fake social media accounts to try and 15 mislead Americans about the manner, time, and 16 place of voting. So whether that was vote on 17 Wednesday, you know, the election is on Tuesday,
18 or something to that effect of tweet your vote,
19 which you can't tweet a vote. So making sure that 20 we were combating those efforts by foreign 21 governments.
22 Q And I want to look in little more depth at 23 how FBI worked to combat those efforts. And I'm 24 going to introduce -- I guess this is Exhibit 1 -- 25 as Exhibit 1 a printout from FBI's website. It's

1 entitled "Combating Foreign Influence."
2 A Okay.
3 (Exhibit Number 1 was
4 marked for identification.)
5 BY [redacted]
6 Q Have you seen this before?
7 A Yes, I have.
8 Q And I want to actually look at the -- this is 9 a web page, so it's all one page --
10 A Yes.
11 Q -- but as printed out, it's the second page
12 of this exhibit.
13 On the second page at the top it says:
14 "Through the FITF, the FBI is taking a
15 three-pronged approach to this serious threat."
16 Do you do where it says that?
17 A Yes.
18 Q And I want to talk through each one of those
19 prongs in succession.
20 A Okay.
21 Q So the first prong reads: "Investigations and 22 operations. The FITF works with FBI field offices
23 across the country to counter the extensive
24 influence operations of our foreign adversaries."
25 Did I read that correctly?

1 A Yes.
2 Q And at a high level, what's your
3 understanding of what that means?
4 A The FITF, being headquarters, works with 5 field offices around the country who have
6 individual investigations into specific efforts by 7 foreign states to do malign foreign influence
8 against the U.S.
9 Q And then the second prong reads "Information
10 and intelligence sharing. The FBI works closely
11 with other intelligence community agencies as well
12 as with state and local law enforcement partners
13 and election officials to ensure a common
14 understanding of the threat and unified strategy
15 to address it."
16 Did I read that correctly?
17 A Yes.
18 Q And briefly, what's your understanding of
19 what that means?
20 A That the FBI works in partnership with our 21 MUSC intelligence community agencies as well as 22 state and local government partners who have a
23 role in this space.
24 Q And then the third prong is really the focus
25 of what we're here today to talk about. The third

1 prong reads "Private sector partnerships. The FBI
2 considers strategic engagement with U.S.
3 technology companies, including threat indicator
4 sharing, to be important in combating foreign 5 influence actors. The FBI also partners with 6 election stakeholders to defend against foreign
7 malign influence on U.S. elections "
8 Did I read that correctly?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And I want to look at the first sentence
11 there, "The FBI considers strategic engagement
12 with U.S. technology companies, including threat
13 indicator sharing, to be important in combating 14 foreign influence actors."
15 What are threat indicators?
16 A So particularly in this space, we're talking
17 about technical intelligence on what foreign 18 states are doing via social media to influence the 19 government or the public. So IP addresses, URLs.
20 Q And why is it important -- what's your
21 understanding of why it's important for the FBI
22 and the Foreign Influence Task Force to share
23 threat indicators with social media companies?
24 A Broadly, the FBI seeks to combat these
25 foreign malign influence efforts, and by sharing

1 information with the private sector, we can have a
2 greater effect to try and limit the ability of 3 foreign states to influence the U.S. public and
4 government.
5 Q And can you explain a little more about how 6 this type of information sharing works? I know we 7 talked about the bilateral meetings earlier. Any 8 other methods of sharing information?
9 A Publicly? As you see, we have this page on 10 our website. There's also others where we have 11 educational information about what election crimes
12 are, what constitutes voter suppression, so that 13 not only are we doing this with the private 14 sector, but we can activate the public as part of 15 the partners we have in this space.
16 Q So one example of that -- and I realize you
17 are no longer with the Foreign Influence Task
18 Force. But this past summer, when it became known
19 that Iran was trying to distribute hacked material
20 or what appears to be hacked material from the 21 Donald Trump campaign, the FBI made that public.
22 That would be an example of public information
23 sharing; is that right?
24 A It seems like it.
25 Q Again, with the understanding that you were

1 not there. I'm just trying to use an example.
2 A It seems in line with the ODNI election
3 security component.
4 Q Is it fair to say that, talking about, again,
5 sharing directly with social media companies, with 6 technology companies, that when FITF shares
7 information with these companies, including
8 information like threat indicators, it does so
9 with the expectation that these companies will use
10 their own means of addressing or verifying or will 11 ultimately make their own determinations as to 12 whether to take action with respect to any 13 information provided by the FITF?
14 A We do provide -- from my time on the FITF, we 15 provide information, and then the companies could 16 do with it what they chose.
17 Q So if the companies wanted to, they could 18 ignore information the FBI provided; correct?
19 A It's their platform. They can choose
20 whatever.
21 Q And is it fair to say that FBI -- we're
22 talking about the FITF here, but FBI broadly
23 shares information with private sector companies?
24 So, for example, with the energy sector, if 25 there's a threat to the energy sector, the FBI

1 will share information?
2 A Sure. We have an intelligence product line,
3 offer a liaison information report, and you'll see
4 many cybersecurity products along a similar vein.
5 Q And, again, when a cybersecurity product is 6 released, those are often released publicly;
7 correct?
8 A Correct.
9 Q And companies can choose to take action or 10 they can choose to ignore them; correct?
11 A Correct.
12 Q During your time with the FITF, did you ever
13 ask any social media company to remove any account
14 on its platform?
15 A Our job was not to ask for its removal. We 16 were providing indicators that they could choose
17 to do with what they will.
18 Q So "no" During these answer? You never asked
19 any company to remove an account on its platform?
20 A That is correct.
21 Q Okay. During your time with the FITF, did
22 you ever witness any other FBI employee ask any 23 social media company to remove any accounts from
24 its platform?
25 A Not to my recollection, no.

1 Q In your time -- and I have a series of these
2 questions.
3 In your time with the FITF, did you ever
4 witness any other U.S. government employee ask any 5 social media company to remove any account from
6 its platform?
7 A Not to my recollection.
8 Q In your time with the FITF, did you ever ask
9 any social media company to remove any particular
10 content from its platform?
11 A Not to my recollection, no.
12 Q In your time at the FITF, did you ever
13 witness any other FBI employee ask any social 14 media company to remove any particular content
15 from its platform?
16 A Not to my recollection, no.
17 Q And, finally, during your time at the FITF,
18 did you ever witness any other U.S. government
19 employee ask any social media company to remove 20 any particular content from its platform?
21 A Not to my recollection, no.
22 Q In your experience at the FITF, did the FBI
23 contact social media companies regarding accounts
24 based on the nature of the account that -- of the 25 content that the account was sharing or based on

1 concerns that the account might be operated by a
2 malign foreign actor?
3 A So to unpack that one a little bit: On the
4 national security side of the Foreign Influence
5 Task Force, we did not examine content. Much more
6 technical indicators.
7 On my and CID's narrow lane of voter
8 suppression, there was a content-based analysis
9 about whether someone was saying misleading
10 information about the manner, time, and place of 11 voting.
12 Q And that's in part because it's potentially 13 illegal to spread misinformation --
14 A Correct.
15 Q And just to finish my question. And that's 16 in part because it's actually potentially illegal
17 for anyone to spread incorrect information about 18 the time, place, and manner of voting; correct?
19 A That is a potential criminal violation, yes.
20 Q There's been an allegation made that FBI and 21 more specifically the Foreign Influence Task Force
22 warned social media companies of a likely hack and 23 leak or a potential hack and leak involving Hunter
24 Biden specifically.
25 Did you ever participate in any briefing at

1 which anyone from FBI delivered such a warning?
2 A And in this, you mean to social media
3 companies?
4 Q Yes.
5 A No, I did not. Not to my recollection.
6 Q Did you ever participate in any briefing to 7 social media companies in which anyone else from 8 the United States government delivered such a
9 warning?
10 A As I referenced in earlier discussions, there
11 were general discussions about the Russians
12 potentially doing a hack and leak, but we never 13 discussed any of what the content would be. As I
14 mentioned, content neutral on the national 15 security side.
16 Q Understood. And so the conversations were 17 the Russians have previously used hack and leak as 18 a tactic; correct?
19 A Correct.
20 Q The conversations were not and we anticipate
21 the Russians may release hacked information about
22 Hunter Biden; correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q I want to turn to that October 14, 2020,
25 meeting with Twitter a little more specifically.

1 There's been an allegation made that during
2 the October -- the October 14th meeting with
3 Twitter that you said during that meeting that,
4 quote/unquote, the laptop is real or the laptop
5 was real.
6 Did you make any comment to that effect?
7 A Those are not the words I used.
8 Q And, in fact -- withdraw that.
9 I want to turn to the discussion about the 10 "no comment," which you indicated that the 11 decision was made that there would be no comment
12 about what Yoel Roth said; correct?
13 A Correct.
14 Q Is it your experience that the FBI generally
15 does not comment on investigations?
16 A Yes, that is my experience.
17 Q So would you agree that "no comment" is a
18 fairly typical response from the FBI?
19 A Yes, it is.
20 Q In fact, it's FBI policy that FBI virtually
21 never comments on potential or ongoing
22 investigations; correct?
23 A To the best of my understanding, yes.
24 Q So commenting on an investigation would
25 actually be a departure from that policy; correct?

1 A To my understanding, yes.
2 Q What's your understanding for the reasons why
3 FBI does not comment on potential or ongoing
4 investigations?
5 A I just follow the policy. I'm less one to
6 sort of investigate the reasons of them.
7 Q Okay. I want to introduce as Exhibit 2
8 another page from the FBI's website. This is from 9 the FBI's website about frequently asked questions
10 page.
11 (Exhibit 2 was marked for
12 identification.)
13 [redacted] I'll give you a minute to read
14 it.
15 Are you ready to continue?
16 THE WITNESS. Yes.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q The question in this frequently asked
19 questions section reads: "Can I obtain detailed 20 information about a current FBI investigation that 21 I see in the news?"
22 Did I read that correctly?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And then the answer provided is:
25 "No. Such information is protected from

1 public disclosure in accordance with current law
2 and Department of Justice and FBI policy. This
3 policy preserves the integrity of the 4 investigation and the privacy of individuals
5 involved in the investigation prior to any public
6 charging for violations of the law. It also
7 serves to protect the rights of people not yet
8 charged with a crime."
9 Did I read that correctly?
10 A Yes.
11 Q So according to this -- again, it's from the 12 FBI's website -- the reason that FBI doesn't 13 comment on ongoing or potential investigations is 14 to preserve the integrity of those investigations;
15 correct?
16 A So saith the website, yes.
17 Q There's also privacy concerns involved
18 because individuals whose names might be involved
19 in a potential or ongoing investigation ultimately 20 might not be charged with a crime; correct?
21 A Correct.
22 Q I realize -- [redacted], you're not an
23 attorney; correct?
24 A Correct.
25 Q Are you familiar broadly with the Justice

1 Manual?
2 A In very broad terms.
3 Q Okay. The Justice Manual is produced by the 4 Department of Justice, and it's provided to 5 prosecutors to help with its policy guidelines for 6 prosecutors. Is that a fair summation of what it
7 is?
8 A Yes.
9 Q FBI is a component of the Department of 10 Justice; correct?
11 A Yes.
12 Q FBI is bound by Department of Justice
13 policies; correct?
14 A Yes. In my experience, yes.
15 [redacted] I want to introduce as Exhibit 3
16 Section 1-7.100, which is entitled "The General
17 Need for Confidentiality," which is from the 18 Justice Manual.
19 I should note this entire section, 1-7.000,
20 was quite lengthy when printed. We're only going 21 to look at 1-7.100, which is "A General Need for 22 Confidentiality," so we haven't printed off the 23 entire thing. The entire section is available on 24 the Department of Justice's websites.
25 (Exhibit 3 was marked for

1 identification.)
2 BY [redacted]
3 Q Let me know when you've had a minute to read
4 it and are ready to continue.
5 A Yes.
6 Q So I'm going to read this section into the
7 record. The first paragraph reads:
8 "Much of DOJ's work involves nonpublic
9 sensitive matters. Disseminating nonpublic
10 sensitive information about DOJ matters could
11 violate federal laws, employee nondisclosure
12 agreements, individual privacy rights, put a
13 witness or law enforcement officer in danger,
14 jeopardize an investigation or case, prejudice the 15 rights of a defendant, or unfairly damage the 16 reputation of a person."
17 Did I read that correctly?
18 A Yes.
19 Q So is this consistent with your understanding
20 for the reasoning behind the policy that FBI, DOJ,
21 and by extension, FBI cannot comment on ongoing
22 investigations?
23 A Yes.
24 Q And then the second paragraph reads:
25 "DOJ personnel" -- and, again, FBI personnel

1 are considered DOJ personnel; correct?
2 A Yes.
3 Q "DOJ personnel should presume that nonpublic
4 sensitive information obtained in connection with
5 work is protected from disclosure except as needed
6 to fulfill official duties of DOJ personnel and is 7 allowed by court order, statutory or regulatory 8 prescription, or case law and rules governing
9 criminal and civil discovery. Other than as 10 necessary to fulfill DOJ duties, disclosure of 11 such information to anyone, including family
12 members, friends, or even colleagues, is 13 prohibited and could lead to disciplinary action.
14 Unauthorized disclosures of sensitive personal or 15 proprietary information could lead to criminal
16 prosecution or administrative action."
17 Did I read that correctly?
18 A Yes.
19 Q So you agree that the policy makes it clear
20 that DOJ personnel could actually be subject to 21 discipline if they were to divulge information
22 about nonpublic matters; Correct?
23 A Correct.
24 Q The one exception here is as required by 25 official -- official duties may require disclosure

1 of such information; correct?
2 A Correct.
3 Q Was it part of your official duties to 4 comment on the New York Post Hunter Biden story?
5 A Not to my recollection, no.
6 Q So if you had provided any comment or anyone
7 else on FITF had provided any comment on the 8 story, it actually would have violated department
9 policy; correct?
10 A I think we were cognizant of these policies
11 and trying to be very careful about our statements
12 regarding that topic.
13 Q Okay. When the statement -- when the "no 14 comment" -- when the statement was made that we
15 have -- that the department has or that FBI has no
16 comment on the October 14th story, was it your 17 intention to encourage Twitter or any other social 18 media company to suppress the story?
19 A No. That was certainly not my intention, to 20 my recollection.
21 Q Okay. The statement was made in the earlier
22 hour -- and I'm paraphrasing it because I didn't
23 take it down directly, but I believe the question
24 was whether you had any concern with Mr. Roth's
25 statement that the story was likely Russian

1 disinformation and that they intended to suppress
2 -- "they" being Twitter -- intended to suppress
3 the article.
4 Q At the time, you had just learned about the
5 laptop that morning; correct?
6 A Correct.
7 Q As you were sitting in that meeting, did you
8 know what percent of that article might or might 9 not be true?
10 A No, I did not.
11 Q You hadn't worked on that investigation?
12 A That is correct.
13 Q And you didn't know if the laptop was part of 14 the Russian disinformation plot?
15 A I had very little familiarity with the
16 laptop.
17 (Discussion held off the record.)
18 Q And so the question earlier about, you know,
19 did it concern you that Twitter intended to 20 suppress the story, is that something that crossed
21 your mind when you were sitting in that meeting?
22 Or were you more concerned about protecting the 23 integrity of a potential investigation?
24 A I wanted to make sure to speak to CID
25 equities on that call to ensure that we were not

1 commenting on any sort of ongoing matter.
2 Q Okay. And the reason that you weren't
3 commenting was because of department policies;
4 correct?
5 A Correct. Intending to follow all the
6 appropriate policies.
7 Q When you say "CID equities," part of the 8 reason is also that you didn't want to potentially 9 compromise any potential ongoing investigation;
10 correct?
11 A That is correct.
12 [redacted] We can go off the record. Thank
13 you.
14 (Recess taken from 11:46 a.m. to 11:53 a.m.)
15 BY [redacted]
16 Q I want to pick back up. You mentioned, I --
17 think it was for the SSA sitting next to you, do
18 you remember some aspects of this individual's 19 name or was that someone else?
20 For the SSA sitting next to you, did you
21 mention that you remember some aspects of that 22 individual's name?
23 A I mean, I would be guessing. I'd hesitate to 24 guess about it.
25 Q Was it a man or a woman?

1 A Man.
2 Q Do you remember the first name, at least?
3 A I mean, again, I'd be guessing. I know after 4 his 18-month headquarters tour, he went back to 5 the Baltimore field office.
6 Q And did you -- had you worked with this 7 individual before or after?
8 A Very little. He -- for most of his time at 9 headquarters, he was a regular public corruption
10 program manager, supervisory special agent. We 11 had -- I think, recently had one of our
12 operational counterparts from public corruption
13 who was detailed to the FITF had rotated out to a 14 different position, so he was briefly filling in 15 for a couple-week period.
16 Q Those couple weeks in October of 2020?
17 A Uh-huh.
18 Q And during that -- just walk us through.
19 Your offices were next to each other?
20 A Yes. It would be nice if we all had offices,
21 but it's much more cubicles. A windowless room
22 where there was a series of six cubicles. I was 23 sitting here. There was another analyst assigned
24 from public corruption to the FITF next to me. He 25 had the cube in front of me.

1 Q And when he's expressing surprise, is he
2 talking to you directly or is he just kind of like
3 sharing it with the office broadly?
4 A Kind of out to the office broadly, because we
5 were in this -- because we were working in public
6 corruption matters, we were removed where we sat
7 from most of the other FITF members due to the 8 sensitivities of the cases that we were involved
9 in.
10 So I think at that time there may have been
11 just the three or four of us in that office.
12 Q Who else was in the office that morning?
13 A Again, recalling back four years ago, but I
14 believe another analyst from public corruption
15 intel analysis who was detailed to the FITF, this 16 SSA from PCU, and perhaps another SSA from PCU who
17 was detailed to the FITF.
18 Q And do you recall the names of those
19 individuals?
20 A I remember two out of the three, but they are 21 non-SAS'ers.
22 [redacted] It may be necessary to request
23 their names.
24 [redacted] We'll take it back as part of the 25 accommodation process, [redacted]

1 Q When the SSA is expressing his surprise at 2 the article and everything else going on, did
3 anyone else in the room react?
4 A Perhaps the analyst next to me just kind of 5 gave that raised eyeball little reaction. That's 6 about it.
7 Q When going through the article, I mean, was 8 this a prolonged part, identifying specific parts
9 that the SSA was surprised made the article?
10 A I don't recall it at that detailed level.
11 Q I want to go through a couple of other
12 individuals affiliated with the FITF.
13 Do you know who [redacted] is?
14 A I do.
15 Q Who is that?
16 A So I don't think [redacted] was working at the FITF
17 when I was there. I know at this time I think
18 he's the assistant section chief.
19 [redacted] The individual you just
20 referenced is currently in a non-SES role on the 21 Foreign Influence Task Force. We would 22 respectfully request that the committee not
23 publish his name in any outward-facing way today's 24 conversation is used.
25 THE WITNESS. Give me one second.

1 [redacted] Yes.
2 (Discussion held off the record.)
3 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
4 A I do.
5 Q What was his role with the FITF?
6 A In following [redacted] he was the FITF
7 Russia unit chief.
8 Q Was he with FITF before that?
9 A Yes. He was an SSA, FITF Russia.
10 Q How frequently did you interact with him when 11 you were with the FITF?
12 A Quite frequently. Near daily.
13 Q How often would he attend the bilateral FITF
14 meetings with the social media companies?
15 A Pretty regularly, I'd say.
16 Q Could you say a little bit more about how his 17 role was in the hierarchy in relation to yours in 18 the Russia unit?
19 A He was one of the supervisory special agents
20 at that time before becoming later the unit chief,
21 so he was one of my primary counterintelligence
22 division operational counterparts.
23 Q Was he on the Twitter FITF call on the 24 14th?
25 A I don't know for sure.

1 Q But to your recollection, he attended most of
2 the FITF meetings?
3 A To my recollection, yes.
4 Q Did you have any discussions with him about
5 the New York Post story about the laptop or the
6 investigation?
7 A Not that I recall.
8 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
9 [redacted] The individual you just
10 referenced is currently a non-SES employee working 11 in the office of the private secretary of 12 engagement, so we would respectfully request you
13 not publish their name.
14 THE WITNESS. I do know [redacted]
15 Q Was she on the FITF while you were?
16 A I don't know if we overlapped. I know she 17 later took the FITF China unit chief job.
18 Q Did you work with her while you were part of
19 the FITF?
20 A I don't think so.
21 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
22 A I do.
23 Q And what's his role with the FITF?
24 A He's one of the subject matter expert
25 intelligence analysts on FITF Russia.

1 Q And was he part of the FITF when you were?
2 A Yes, he was.
3 Q How often would he attend the FITF bilateral
4 meetings?
5 A Occasionally, I would say.
6 [redacted] For the same reason, I just
7 request that you redact his name from any public
8 release of today's transcript.
9 Q Do you recall if he was on the Twitter FITF
10 call on the 14th?
11 A I don't recall if he was or not.
12 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
13 A I do.
14 [redacted] Reiterating my request for the 15 record.
16 Q And what was -- what is or was her role with
17 the FITF?
18 A She was one of the cyberdivision analysts
19 detailed to the FITF Russia.
20 Q How often would she attend the FITF bilateral
21 meetings?
22 A Occasionally as well.
23 Q Do you recall if she was on the Twitter FITF
24 meeting?
25 A I don't recall if she was or was not.

1 Q And as part of your current role, do you have
2 any direct engagement with FITF?
3 A I do, but I want to be mindful of potential
4 classified equities here.
5 Q Do you understand that after you departed
6 from the FITF, did the pace or frequency of the 7 meetings change?
8 A I'm not sure. I can't speak to that.
9 Q In your current role, do you ever attend FITF
10 bilateral meetings?
11 A No.
12 Q In your current role, do you ever attend the 13 U.S. government industry partner meetings?
14 A No.
15 Q Do you have any awareness of whether meetings
16 between the FITF and social media companies were 17 paused in 2023?
18 A I wasn't a part of the FITF at the time, so I
19 don't have any knowledge of pace or any of those 20 matters.
21 Q Do you have any familiarity with the standard
22 operating procedure the FBI adopted for 23 engagements with social media companies?
24 A Is there a time frame?
25 Q The most recent one I understand was adopted

1 in this year, earlier in 2024.
2 A I'm not familiar with those.
3 Q In 2020, were you aware of any standard
4 operating procedures addressing how the FITF or 5 others within the FBI should engage with social
6 media companies?
7 A There were guiding policy documents. One
8 that I recall today During these DOJ Cyber Task
9 Force report. That may not be the exact correct
10 title.
11 Q Do you remember any other guiding documents?
12 A We have our standard ones with the FBI, the 13 DIOG and other FBI policies.
14 Q The DOJ Cyber Task Force report, was that for 15 a different task force or was that just named for
16 the FITF?
17 A It was not specifically for the FITF, but it
18 included a big section on foreign influence. I
19 think it was released under the auspices of Deputy 20 Attorney General Ron Rosenstein.
21 Q For any of these guidance policy documents,
22 were any FITF-specific that you can recall?
23 A I think that DOJ cyber one does speak to 24 FITF's role.
25 Q Any others?

1 A That's the one that I remember best today.
2 BY [redacted]
3 Q [redacted] thanks for coming in --
4 A Sure.
5 Q -- from [redacted]
6 Real quick, I just want to frame out
7 something quickly for us, and then I have a couple
8 of questions. You may or may not have direct
9 knowledge, but I think it puts the final point on 10 where we're gathered here and why we have been 11 gathered here so often in the past.
12 I'm going to hit the timeline real quick on 13 the events. It's going to be very, very brief and 14 very, very rough. But for the sake of just sort
15 of a quick review, October of '19, roughly, is 16 when Mac Isaac filed a report of the existence of 17 this laptop to the FBI in Albuquerque.
18 In December of '19, Wilmington RA actually
19 takes possession of said laptop. By spring,
20 March-April of '20 -- and this is just for the 21 benefit -- I'm not talking at you, just for the 22 benefit of the room here.
23 Roughly spring, March, April of '20, in fact,
24 the laptop has been authenticated and is under
25 review by the FBI's computer forensic folks, so

1 there's no doubt as to that it exists and, of
2 course, it's being examined.
3 By summer of '20, sort of a fun fact, not
4 necessarily related, the Aspen Security Institute
5 has a tabletop exercise with major media outlets
6 to basically rehearse how they would cover a
7 potential hack and dump operation story should it
8 occur. And then, lo and behold, miracle of 9 miracles, in October of '20, in fact, there is a 10 story that comes out about a laptop. And then, of 11 course, the events that we detailed.
12 So with that being a rough timeline, I just 13 think it's important to remember that there's no
14 alleged laptop. There's a laptop. It's been 15 confirmed, it's been corroborated, and it's 16 actually under active investigation. I say that 17 for the good of the room with the heading of the 18 next question.
19 With that being the backdrop, to your
20 knowledge -- and this is just to your knowledge --
21 did the FBI's investigation ever at any point
22 indicate anything that would make this look like
23 it was a Russian disinformation operation?
24 [redacted] Just for the record, that's the 25 committee's representation of these events and not

1 necessarily contingent on the FBI's extensive
2 accommodations regarding this general fact
3 pattern.
4 THE WITNESS. And I wasn't directly involved
5 in the investigation, so it's difficult for me to 6 really answer that question.
7 Q The reason I ask that question is that -- and 8 perhaps unbeknownst to some in the room, I'll 9 represent that this committee, its investigators,
10 myself included, as well as Mr. Comer's oversight
11 investigators have made contact and have had 12 witnesses from the Wilmington investigative team.
13 And having at least a baseline knowledge of FBI
14 operations myself, I do understand that when we're
15 actively investigating a matter, especially a
16 matter of that type of import, we would be -- that 17 investigative team would be getting regular 18 updates, of course, to management, both in the 19 Baltimore field office, who oversaw the Wilmington
20 resident agency, what we call the RA, and to FBI
21 headquarters components.
22 With that being the case, it is the 23 committee's understanding -- and when I say
24 committees, I will say plural, both this committee
25 and Mr. Comer's committee -- that the Wilmington

1 RA case agents were, in fact, doing their job at a
2 high level we expect, and they were finding
3 evidence of criminality. They were briefing that 4 evidence of criminality to FBI headquarters and
5 were very surprised when the output from FBI
6 headquarters would be "We aren't sure this laptop
7 exists" and/or "It may be Russian disinformation."
8 So of course they would go -- rather rinse, repeat
9 again, and brief those results back up to FBI
10 headquarters, which were -- and I'm not suggesting 11 you'd know this, but I think it's important to 12 understand the detail from the actual
13 investigators showing evidence of clear
14 criminality, reaching out to FBI headquarters and 15 then once again coming out "We're not sure the 16 laptop exists" and/or "It could be Russian
17 disinformation."
18 So with that being the case, do you
19 personally, [redacted] have any firsthand
20 knowledge of any of the discussions -- and I
21 realize that they may have been senior to your 22 level -- as to how that discrepancy with the 23 investigative reporting and the output by FBI
24 specifically with FITF had occurred?
25 A I don't think I have firsthand knowledge of

1 those discussions.
2 Q I appreciate that. And I wasn't sure that
3 you did.
4 And part of my soliloquy was for the benefit
5 of framing why we've had so many of these
6 interviews.
7 And I will add to being intimately familiar
8 with the FBI's righteous policy of not commenting 9 on ongoing investigations I would submit to all in 10 this room that had the FBI merely added to that 11 testimony that we have possession of a laptop,
12 it's an active investigative matter, and therefore 13 we have no further investigation, we may have 14 saved lots of time and effort by this committee
15 and others and not be sitting in this room.
16 But I thank you for coming in from [redacted] for 17 this and subjecting yourself, [redacted]
18 A Sure.
19 [redacted] That's all I have.
20 BY [redacted]
21 Q When you say "no firsthand knowledge," just 22 to press a little bit more, any secondhand
23 knowledge?
24 A To the extent I knew about the Hunter Biden
25 investigation, heard the discussion from the

1 morning of the 14th, perhaps I learned a few
2 months before in the most general term that there
3 was an investigation involving Hunter Biden in my
4 lane as being in public corruption.
5 Q And how did you learn about that?
6 A As I mentioned earlier, in public corruption,
7 part of the duties of the headquarters unit is to 8 track the investigations into public officials or 9 ones that are close to public officials. So since 10 public corruption is very sensitive -- are very 11 sensitive investigations, there's a lot of 12 awareness maintained by those at headquarters
13 about some of the cases that are most sensitive,
14 this being one of them at the time.
15 Q And so is it the case team or headquarters
16 who provided you some sort of information about
17 the investigation?
18 A The public corruption unit at headquarters.
19 Q Do you remember who specifically?
20 A There's a work product that the public
21 corruption unit has about these sensitive cases,
22 just that they exist.
23 Q What do you recall about the work product
24 related to the Hunter Biden investigation?
25 [redacted] Well, I think that your question

1 implicates certain internal potentially privileged
2 deliberative documents, law enforcement sensitive
3 equities, ongoing investigative equities as well
4 as potential classification concerns.
5 THE WITNESS. So at least for these questions
6 on that document, all that would be listed for 7 this case is subject, case number, violation.
8 Q Do you remember when, approximately? When 9 you say a few months, how far before?
10 A At this stage, that's sort of the best of my 11 recollection was a few months before.
12 Q The individual who sat next to you in the 13 SSA, you said there were some rearrangements; he 14 was actually only next to you for a couple of 15 weeks during his 18 months. Where was he prior to
16 that?
17 A He was one of the SSAs in the public
18 corruption unit.
19 Q Would he have been within the same office or,
20 you know, no window room space? I'm trying to get 21 a sense. Was this someone you interacted with 22 with any degree of frequency prior to 2020?
23 A So, not much. Just for some of the 24 logistics, criminal investigative division sits in 25 more open space because a lot of the work is not

1 classified. That's the main offices of the public
2 corruption unit. And for most of the analysts
3 doing public corruption intelligence work are on a
4 different floor. Those of us who were detailed to 5 the FITF sat on the counterintelligence division
6 floor. So for most of his 18-month tour, he was 7 down in the CID space.
8 Q From that first time you were made aware of 9 this investigation, when the October 14, 2020,
10 story breaks, do you know of anyone else, either
11 on your floor or just generally, who is affiliated 12 with the investigation?
13 A No. At headquarters it was more so a -- in a
14 program management role, which would have been 15 that SSA who sat next to me and, perhaps, I would 16 imagine, the unit chief of public corruption knew
17 as well, but we never -- we hadn't spoken about
18 the case.
19 Q And when was the first time that you had a 20 sense that part of the investigation involved the 21 laptop or the hard drive from the laptop?
22 A Just that discussion the morning of the 23 14th.
24 Q During the Twitter FITF meeting, was there
25 any discussion of the laptop itself, whether it

1 exists, whether it was real?
2 A I don't recall the laptop being specifically
3 mentioned. It's possible that Mr. Roth read the 4 title of the article or something that may have
5 mentioned it. I don't recall that exactly.
6 Q And what about in the U.S. industry partner
7 meeting, the next meeting? Was there any
8 discussion of the laptop?
9 A I don't remember the laptop itself being
10 mentioned specifically. It's possible.
11 (Discussion held off the record.)
12 A Just to clarify, for questions about that 13 second call, I remember there being multiple 14 social media companies on the call, but I don't 15 recall if there were other government agencies. I
16 think it was just FBI.
17 Q Okay. And was that unusual?
18 A It didn't seem unusual at the time. We may 19 have had, like -- we had a pretty steady beat of 20 bilateral meetings. It was just different when it
21 was all conference calls in the time of COVID. So
22 I'd have to look back at the notes and agendas at 23 the time to see how regularly there were these 24 multiple social media company calls, but it was 25 prescheduled. This was not one that was like only

1 on the 14th did we schedule it. It had been
2 scheduled before.
3 Q Whether for the 14th or just generally, in
4 advance of these broader calls, would the U.S.
5 government partners coordinate in advance in any
6 way?
7 A So I wasn't generally a part of the ones with 8 multiple USG partners, so I can't speak as much to 9 those. When it was FBI with a company or multiple 10 companies, there was preparation and an agenda
11 made.
12 Q I guess just to press on more, if you don't
13 know based off the content -- but for the ones
14 that had, say, SISA, other components of DHS along
15 with FBI and sometimes ODNI, you don't have any 16 familiarity one way or another if there was a
17 pre-meeting among just U.S. government partners to 18 coordinate their agenda?
19 A I wasn't a part of those, so I don't know
20 exactly. I wasn't a part of those.
21 Q Do you know if anyone from FITF or the FBI
22 generally communicated to other U.S. government
23 partners that the FBI's response would be "no 24 comment" if there was a question from the social
25 media companies?

1 A I don't know if that was given to other USG
2 agencies.
3 Q Do you know if there was any conversation
4 between the FBI and other agencies on or after the
5 14th about questions from social media companies
6 about either the laptop, the article, the 7 existence of the investigation?
8 A I think what I could say is to my
9 recollection, I didn't have any.
10 Q For the work product that you had mentioned
11 that you haven't received a few months earlier,
12 who else on the FITF would have had the 13 opportunity to see that?
14 A I don't think generally the FITF members
15 would see that. That was only for people in 16 public corruption.
17 Q In the prior hour, you mentioned that U.S.
18 government representatives would share, you know,
19 past examples of Russia and others using the 20 tactic of hack and leak, but that there was no
21 discussion of content. Did the social media
22 companies ever try to press, though, and ask what
23 content might be hacked and might be leaked?
24 A Not to my recollection, no.
25 Q Did that surprise you? It seems like that

1 would be kind of the most obvious next question.
2 A It didn't surprise me at the time.
3 Q How come?
4 A That's generally not how the discussions
5 would go.
6 Q Did anyone from the social media companies or 7 the government partners ever try to raise
8 potential topics of what might be hacked or what
9 might be leaked?
10 A Not that I recall.
11 Q Do you have any familiarity with the 12 roundtable that the Aspen Institute hosted in the 13 summer of 2020?
14 A Only from hearing about it today and then
15 maybe in some of the prep materials.
16 Q Did you ever receive a briefing during your 17 time at the FITF about whether a confidential
18 human source was a victim of a foreign influence
19 operation?
20 A I think in --
21 [redacted] Your question implicates sources,
22 methods, concerns. We'll have to address those 23 based off your follow-up questions.
24 THE WITNESS. I think in general terms, I can
25 answer yes to that question.

1 Q Do you know who Tim Tebow is or is affiliated
2 with the FBI?
3 A Yes, in general terms.
4 Q How often did you interact with Mr. Tebow
5 during your time with FITF?
6 A Never directly. I knew of his role at the 7 Washington field office.
8 Q Do you have any familiarity with the
9 October 2020 briefing that FITF provided to 10 Mr. Tebow?
11 A Not specifically, no.
12 Q Does the FITF ever engage directly with 13 confidential human sources?
14 A That seems like it would implicate some 15 classified equities.
16 [redacted] If you could be more specific
17 with your question. "Engage" is somewhat broad.
18 Q The subject has to do with the FITF's
19 interactions with Mr. Tebow.
20 A Okay.
21 Q I'm not going to get into the prior 22 testimony. I don't think it's necessary for the 23 witness today.
24 For the leaked documents from the DNC in the 25 summer of 2016, as part of your role at the FBI,

1 did you work on that matter at all?
2 A No. At that time I was on my research
3 sabbatical.
4 Q And what about the Crossfire Hurricane
5 investigation?
6 A Again, I think at that time I was on my
7 research sabbatical.
8 Q In the lead-up to the 2020 election, the 9 reports from -- they're all the in the public
10 domain now -- an election command post being set
11 up, run out of the San Francisco field office.
12 Are you familiar with that?
13 A Familiar with the one in San Francisco and 14 was part of the one at headquarters.
15 Q Can you walk us through what the purpose of 16 each command post was at the San Francisco
17 headquarters?
18 A So headquarters, we had a command post that 19 went 24/7 in the lead-up during and after the 20 election to take in reports about potential
21 threats to the election, whether foreign malign
22 influence indicators or, on the CID side, whether 23 there were any of the violations that we worked 24 present and relevant to the election so we could
25 work those criminal violations. This included

1 potential voter suppression, intimidation of
2 election workers, etc.
3 Q How many people were at each command post in 4 2020?
5 A I can't speak to the San Francisco one, but
6 at headquarters, I think we had, perhaps, two
7 competing -- not competing, but two complementary
8 command posts at the time. The one I was in,
9 focused on the election itself, was each shift
10 perhaps 20 to 30 people and three shifts during 11 the 24 hours.
12 Q What was the other one?
13 A I think it was called the NC3. I can't 14 remember what that acronym stands for.
15 (Discussion held off the record.).
16 A Ours was focused on the election itself. I
17 think the other one was focused on potential
18 violence that was not necessarily election-related.
19 Q So is that one pre and post existing the 20 election?
21 A I believe so.
22 Q And who was in charge of the first one, the 23 election-focused command post?
24 A FITF was.
25 Q Do you recall who, specifically?

1 A I think it fell under the auspices of DAD
2 Flores, Nickie Flores, counterintelligence
3 division.
4 Q During this time with the command post, are 5 you physically changing where your desk is 6 normally?
7 A Correct.
8 Q And following the New York Post story and the 9 series of meetings prescheduled for the 14th, do
10 you recall any discussions with anyone as part of 11 the election command post about the story, the 12 investigation, the laptop?
13 (Discussion held off the record.)
14 THE WITNESS. Just to clarify, the command
15 post was set up just the days immediately before
16 the election, so there was still a few weeks
17 between the 14th call and the command post being 18 set up.
19 But I don't recall discussions with people at 20 the command post about the New York Post story.
21 Q Do you have any familiarity with whether 22 others within the IC had an understanding of the 23 ongoing investigation pre-October 2020?
24 A To my recollection, I don't know that the IC
25 was aware. I don't recall any time that they

1 would be.
2 Q In the -- we'll say the summer of 2020,
3 approximately how frequently are you interacting
4 with representatives from ODNI?
5 A I'd say I was on email chains with ODNI
6 perhaps on a weekly basis.
7 Q Any other engagements?
8 A Because I wasn't a part of those sort of 9 multi-USG Agency meetings, my engagement was much
10 more via email.
11 Q Were there members of the Russia unit who 12 would have regular engagements with ODNI?
13 A I think so.
14 Q Do you know who in particular?
15 A I mean, generally, as analysts, when you
16 write a finished intelligence product, it could be
17 distributed to other members of the intel
18 community, to include ODNI. So other analysts on 19 the Russia unit, to include managers in the Russia
20 unit.
21 Q Do you know for [redacted] or for others
22 within the Russia unit, who their point of contact
23 was, their counterpart was at ODNI?
24 A The only name I remember is Shelby Pierson.
25 Q Did you ever work directly with Ms. Pierson?

1 A I knew of her work. I didn't work directly
2 with her. There may be email chains that I was on
3 and she was on as well.
4 Q How did you become familiar with her work?
5 A She is the -- forgive me if I don't have the 6 title exactly right but the ODNI election
7 executive.
8 Q What was the nature of the interactions
9 between Ms. Pierson and the FITF election unit?
10 A As the ODNI election executive, speaking as 11 an analyst, she was one of the customer's
12 reanalysis that we would write that would be 13 distributed to MUSC and to decision-makers in
14 government.
15 Q Was there any work product in 2020 that
16 discussed Burisma?
17 A Work product? Could you define more.
18 Q Sure. You said when intelligence analyst,
19 various agencies prepare work product, they share
20 it with one another. So in the product drafted by 21 one Agency or shared or a joint product prepared
22 together, do you recall any of that mentioned
23 about Burisma?
24 [redacted] Just for the record, we've made
25 an extraordinary accommodation here, voluntarily

1 producing a then line-level intelligence agent
2 from the Foreign Influence Task Force. To the 3 extent your question raises potential
4 classification concerns, ongoing investigative
5 concerns, including Special Counsel Weiss's
6 potential investigation, I would just flag the FBI
7 considers this topic out of scope and potentially 8 classified, depending on the witness's level of 9 knowledge.
10 THE WITNESS. I'd be worried about responding
11 in this form for classification reasons.
12 (Discussion held off the record.)
13 Q Are you familiar with the defense briefing
14 that Nickie Flores and Brad Benafidis provided to 15 Senators Grassley and Johnson?
16 A Not specifically. I know that we do
17 defensive briefings as a matter of course.
18 Q Did you have any familiarity at the time
19 about that briefing?
20 A I knew there were many defensive briefings
21 going on. At the time, I don't recall specific 22 ones for those senators.
23 Q Can you speak, just at a very general level,
24 about what role the FITF would play in either
25 preparing work product or recommendations in

1 advance of any recommendations limited to the --
2 A I think I had not as much involvement in this
3 side that the FITF did. The FITF would nominate
4 perhaps some intelligence as to this intelligence
5 may require the need of a defensive briefing for a
6 particular public official, whatever level, and
7 then it would go to the board to be discussed.
8 Q And did you ever directly participate in
9 that?
10 A I don't recall participating in any of the 11 boards. In my role as the public corruption
12 detailee to the FITF, some of our role was 13 cross-checking public corruption investigative 14 equities so that that was part of the 15 consideration of the board.
16 Q And do you have familiarity with the internal 17 FITF processes, who would be involved, who would 18 approve?
19 A To the best of my recollection, it would be 20 FITF managers, unit chief, and section chief
21 level, perhaps final approval being DAD or higher.
22 Q Do you have any -- how frequently would you
23 interact with Nickie Flores when you were part of 24 FITF?
25 A She was quite more senior than I was, so

1 there would be times I'd be working on
2 intelligence product which would go through her
3 for her approval, but very limited interaction for 4 me on a direct basis.
5 Q We touched on this briefly in the first hour,
6 but just to press a little bit more.
7 You had fairly limited actions with SISA; is
8 that right?
9 A Correct. Yes.
10 Q Do you have any regular interactions with 11 other components of DHS?
12 A Not that I recall, no.
13 Q Are you familiar with the Global Engagement
14 Center?
15 A Yes, I'm familiar with it.
16 Q As part of your work at the FITF, did you
17 have any direct interactions with the Global
18 Engagement Center?
19 A My work with the FITF, maybe very limited. I
20 don't recall much of substance.
21 Q During your time with the FITF, did you have
22 any direct interactions with the White House?
23 A I don't think direct interactions with the 24 White House, no. There were some intelligence
25 products that I worked on which were received by

1 White House customers.
2 Q In the previous hour, you were talking about
3 the FBI would not formally ask, to your
4 understanding, social media companies to take any
5 particular action but was just sharing
6 information.
7 Would the FBI ever ask social media companies
8 if they took any action?
9 A To my recollection, that was not anything I
10 was a part of.
11 Q But to your understanding, did it occur?
12 A I don't know if that occurred or not.
13 Q Were there any policies at the time governing
14 whether the FBI could follow up with social media
15 companies?
16 A Not that I can recall today.
17 Q For the USG industry meeting, just to try to 18 walk through details a little bit more closely
19 again, which social media company do you recall
20 first raising the story?
21 A So this is on October 14 --
22 Q Yes.
23 A -- following the Twitter call?
24 Q Yes.
25 A I think in that call, it was Twitter again.

1 Mr. Roth.
2 Q Do you recall which other companies were on
3 that call?
4 A Just to clarify, I don't know if there were 5 other USG agencies on that call. It was 6 definitely multiple social media companies and 7 FBI. I don't know if other USGs were there.
8 I recall Meta/Facebook being there. Beyond
9 that, I would be a little bit of guessing, but I
10 think Google was there too.
11 Q Do you recall any specific individuals from 12 Meta or Google?
13 A The Meta names, I don't recall. If Google
14 was there, I think it would have been [redacted]
15 [redacted].
16 Q Do you recall if there was anyone from 17 Microsoft?
18 A I don't remember it, if yes or no.
19 Q Who from the FBI that you can remember was on
20 the call?
21 A Elvis was there. I think Laura Dunlo, [redacted]
22 [redacted], myself, the OGR representative. There may 23 have been others, but those are the ones I
24 remember.
25 Q And how did Mr. Roth -- what he shared differ

1 from what he shared in the first meeting?
2 A I think it was very consistent.
3 Q Was there a question at the end, or how 4 did -- how did it get to the point in the
5 conversation when Mr. Chan was saying that to you?
6 A I don't recall a particular question. More
7 of an announcement, proactive independent
8 announcement, like in the previous call. I think 9 for Elvis handing it off to me, it was like "Any 10 comment, [redacted]?" No, no comment.
11 Q So Mr. Roth shares this sense of an
12 announcement of Twitter's perspective, and there's 13 no -- to your recollection, any commentary, any 14 questions until Mr. Chan hands it off to you?
15 A To my recollection, that was the next thing
16 said.
17 Q Were there any questions or other comments
18 offered after you said "no comment"?
19 A Not that I remember. I don't think so, but I
20 don't particularly recall.
21 Q Did Mr. Roth offer any thoughts to you or the 22 FBI after these first two meetings, to your
23 understanding?
24 A Outside those calls, I don't recall any other
25 interactions within this topic.

1 Q Did you have a chance to review the meeting
2 summaries of the Twitter FITF meeting and the 3 second call?
4 A Perhaps back in that day, but I haven't seen
5 them in the years now.
6 Q Have you -- since October of 2020, have you
7 had a chance at any point in time to see the 8 instant messages that you sent or were sent to you
9 on or about the 14th?
10 A As part of my prep material this week, yes.
11 Q How many were there?
12 A I don't know the exact number. I'd say a
13 dozen, maybe a little bit more.
14 Q And there were communications between you and 15 the OGC rep embedded in the FITF, you and Elvis
16 Chan. Were there any other messages?
17 A So from the time, those are the ones I recall
18 being a part of. I was shown messages that other
19 people had about the discussion, but I wasn't a
20 part of those at the time.
21 [redacted] For the record, the FBI provided
22 these as an accommodation for in-camera review
23 following their March 2024 letter, so it's 24 consistent with what you already have.
25 Q Who is -- who participated in those messages?

1 A The ones that I saw, [redacted], Laura Dunlo,
2 Elvis, OGC rep.
3 Q Are you familiar with the Center for Internet
4 Security?
5 A Only as part of the prep material. I was not
6 familiar with it. I honestly still don't know
7 exactly what it is.
8 Q During your time with the FITF in 2020, did
9 you have any interactions with the Election
10 Integrity Partnership?
11 A Not that I recall.
12 Q During your time at the FITF, did you have
13 any interactions with Stanford University?
14 A Yes.
15 Q What was the nature of those interactions?
16 A So there was a call. I don't remember the 17 exact time frame of it, perhaps earlier in 2020.
18 I think it was another conference call in the time
19 of COVID where Elvis had arranged for Rene Deresta
20 to brief us on a recent paper the Stanford
21 Internet Observatory had done -- if I remember
22 correctly, Russian GRU influence operations.
23 Q Do you recall any other interactions with 24 Stanford during your time at FITF?
25 A During my time at FITF, that's the one I

1 recall that I was a part of.
2 Q Until the election of 2021, just ask again:
3 Do you recall any discussions that FITF had with 4 social media companies touching upon COVID or
5 vaccine mis- or disinformation?
6 A Nothing that I was a part of, to my
7 recollection, touched on those topics.
8 Q To your understanding, did the FITF ever
9 engage with social media companies about COVID-19
10 or vaccine mis- or disinformation?
11 A To my experience, no.
12 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
13 A Perhaps. The name is familiar.
14 Q Do you recall any interactions?
15 A Not for me in particular, no.
16 Q In the first hour, you mentioned that one of 17 the purposes of your decision to jump in and say
18 it was a separate matter was to kind of shut down
19 discussion on what Mr. Roth was talking about.
20 Can you walk us through a little bit more?
21 Mr. Roth shares what Twitter is doing, and your 22 recollection is that in the Twitter FITF meeting,
23 there was not a question asked at the end of 24 Mr. Roth's statement; is that right?
25 A I don't recall a particular question.

1 Q And then [redacted] was talking in only
2 general terms, to your recollection; is that
3 right?
4 A That's correct.
5 Q And [redacted] During these head of the unit
6 chief -- was head of the Russia unit at the time?
7 A Correct.
8 Q I guess help us understand a little bit
9 better here. If there's been no question and 10 someone is above you in the unit chief -- and the 11 unit hierarchy is kind of handling the response,
12 why did it fall on you to offer something?
13 A I wanted to ensure that CID equities were 14 protected.
15 Q What's "CID equities"?
16 A An ongoing investigation.
17 Q Were there any other equities or any other
18 group's equities in the FITF who would also want
19 to not comment on an ongoing investigation?
20 A It's consistent with our policies to not
21 comment on ongoing investigations.
22 Q Why do you think [redacted] didn't lead with 23 that response?
24 A I think this was an exceptional situation.
25 We hadn't been presented with one where the

1 companies had come on our call and told us what
2 they were going to do, so there wasn't a stock and 3 prepared response.
4 So I can't speak for [redacted] as to why he
5 spoke at that time, but I've given my
6 representation as to why I did it.
7 Q And at no point did you receive any formal or 8 informal reprimand or criticism about your 9 statement?
10 A Not to my recollection. Just that in future
11 iterations, we should say "no comment."
12 Q Prior to the 14th, how frequently would you
13 interact with the OGC representative?
14 A Pretty regularly.
15 [redacted] Just clarifying timelines.
16 Understanding the academic -- whether or not you
17 were working on a sabbatical, and when you came 18 back, prior to the 14th in your role as one of 19 the CID reps in the FITF, did you have knowledge
20 prior to that of the Hunter Biden laptop
21 investigation prior to October 14th in your
22 official duties in CID?
23 THE WITNESS. Only as I've represented
24 earlier that I was generally aware that there was 25 a case. I had no knowledge of a laptop until the

1 morning of the 14th.
2 [redacted] So you personally had not
3 received any specific briefings about that case?
4 THE WITNESS. To the best of my recollection,
5 that's correct.
6 [redacted] Thank you.
7 BY [redacted]
8 Q During your time with the FITF, did you have
9 any interactions with the Aspen Institute?
10 A Not that I recall.
11 Q During your time at the FITF, did you have 12 any interactions with the Global Disinformation
13 Index?
14 A Not sure what that is.
15 Q Following the 14th and the days after that,
16 we'll say after October 2020, did you ever have 17 any conversations with Elvis Chan about the 18 investigation or the laptop?
19 A Not that I recall.
20 Q In 2020, it took several days for the 21 election to be called. How long from Election Day
22 itself did the election command post keep you for?
23 A A few days at least. I don't remember the 24 exact end date. I remember working a fair number
25 of days following the election, and then at least

1 my shift got a break one day and that was the day
2 that the press called the election. And I think
3 it still ran for a day or two following the press
4 calling it.
5 Q Then do you recall when the next FITF
6 bilateral meeting was after the election?
7 A I don't. I was beginning to transition to my 8 new job.
9 Q Do you recall any discussions with [redacted]
10 [redacted] with either you sharing to [redacted] or 11 [redacted] sharing to you informational awareness
12 of the ongoing investigation?
13 A Not that I recall, no.
14 Q To your recollection, no one asked you how 15 you knew?
16 A Not that I remember, no.
17 Q To your understanding, at any point did
18 anyone raise the possibility of sharing something
19 with the social media companies to inform them
20 that the story was not part of the Russian
21 disinformation effort?
22 A I don't remember anyone raising that with me.
23 Q Did you get a sense from the Twitter FITF
24 call that others on the FITF were aware of the 25 investigation of the laptop?

1 A During and immediately after that call, I did
2 not have that sense, to my recollection.
3 Q At what point did you get that sense?
4 A Honestly, I probably didn't learn that other
5 people on the FITF knew about the investigation
6 until some of the letters from the committee.
7 Q Have you had any interactions with the Center
8 for Countering Digital Hate?
9 A I don't know that group.
10 Q As part of your role with the FITF, did you
11 have any direct interactions with the NSA?
12 A I hesitate to comment on digital classified
13 interactions here.
14 Q What about the National Science Foundation?
15 A I don't recall any interactions with them.
16 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?
17 A I remember him, yes.
18 Q What's your recollection?
19 A He was one of Facebook's/Meta's policy
20 people, if I recall.
21 Q Do you recall any discussions with him or 22 calls that you were on where he was discussing the 23 story or the investigation and the laptop?
24 A Not specifically. It's possible he was one
25 of the Facebook representatives on that broader

1 industry call on the 14th.
2 Q To your understanding at the time in 2020,
3 how would social media companies treat hacked
4 materials?
5 A I don't think I'm in a good position to
6 answer that. I didn't have an in-depth
7 understanding of that topic.
8 Q To your understanding, were social media
9 companies treating hacked materials differently in 10 the lead-up to the 2020 election than they did in 11 the 2016 election?
12 A I don't think I have a good answer for that
13 one either. It just wasn't really my purview.
14 Q Who on the FITF would best know?
15 A I don't know that there's really a good
16 person to speak to company policies other than the 17 companies themselves.
18 Q Do you have an approximate sense of how 19 many -- when you say that the FBI would provides
20 formal line indicators, could you give us a sense
21 of the volume of how frequent the communications
22 were or the number of pieces of information that 23 were being provided?
24 A It was a pretty regular exchange. Sometimes
25 it would be very limited in nature, you know,

1 single-digit items being shared. Other times it
2 would be larger pieces of data.
3 I know it's an inexact answer, but it was a
4 pretty regular sharing of those sort of
5 indicators.
6 Q Do you have a sense of how often the 7 companies would share with the FBI whether they
8 took any sort of action?
9 A My answer to that would be it was uneven.
10 They wouldn't always respond. So sometimes.
11 Q Do you recall if one company or any
12 particular companies would respond more frequently
13 or less frequently than others?
14 A I think I'd say that they would respond in 15 different ways. Some would respond directly back
16 to us. Others would post press releases about 17 action they had taken on their platform either on 18 a quarterly basis or ad hoc. And all of those 19 options could have been in response to things that 20 they had shared or not at all.
21 Q And which platforms would respond directly?
22 A I recall Twitter responding directly
23 occasionally. Others may have as well, but I do
24 remember Google posting more of a sort of 25 quarterly update and Facebook or Meta having their

1 own sort of ad hoc announcement process.
2 Q Do you recall anyone from a social media
3 company flagging a different assessment of how an 4 account or piece of information was attributed?
5 A Not that I recall today.
6 [redacted] Could we go off the record,
7 please.
8 [redacted] Actually, before we go off the 9 record, I have two sort of errata items based off
10 my own misstatements.
11 [redacted] of course, is a line-level
12 intelligence analyst, which is what makes today's 13 voluntary transcribed interview an extraordinary
14 accommodation for the FBI to make specific to 15 these facts and circumstances.
16 I also referred to the Office of Private 17 Sector Engagement. I meant to refer to OPE, the 18 Office of Partner Engagement. So just to clarify
19 my own statements. Thank you.
20 (Recess taken from 12:54 p.m. to 1:37 p.m.)
21 [redacted] It is 1:37. We can go back on
22 the record.
23 At the start of our second hour, I just want
24 to make some comments based on comments that were 25 made by the majority's professional staff member

1 in the prior hour.
2 He walked through the timeline on the
3 so-called laptop from their perspective. I don't
4 want to -- I don't know that we necessarily agree
5 with that timeline, but I did want to make a
6 couple notes.
7 First, he represented that by March, April,
8 spring of 2020, the laptop had been authenticated.
9 I think that's a -- I'm not sure about the use of 10 that term. I think "authenticate" can mean
11 different things to different people. I think in 12 particular here determining that a laptop existed
13 and/or belonged to somebody is much different than 14 determining that the laptop had not been tampered
15 with or that its contents had not been altered in 16 any way, and to our knowledge, there's been no
17 determination on that. I'm not asking to you
18 comment on that. I want to make that note on the 19 record.
20 He also mentioned that the majority staff of 21 the Judiciary Committee and the Oversight
22 Committee have had conversations with the 23 Wilmington investigative team. That is the first
24 that we are hearing of that. Those certainly 25 aren't interviews that the Minority was invited to

1 participate in. I don't know if they were
2 transcribed or not. They certainly were not
3 subject to cross-examination by the Minority. So
4 I don't know what representations were made during 5 that, but on their face not being subject to 6 cross-examination, we note that that is what it
7 is.
8 I would note that as part of the broader
9 impeachment inquiry in the Judiciary Committee, we 10 did talk to now Special Counsel David Weiss. He 11 was special counsel at the time we talked to him
12 at well. His first deputy. We spoke with U.S.
13 attorneys for the District of Columbia and the 14 Central District of California. And then the 15 career head of the Department of Justice Tax
16 Division, the special agent in charge of the 17 Baltimore field office, and the assistant special
18 agent in charge of the Baltimore field office.
19 And one virtue that those witnesses were asked
20 about and did say is that oftentimes there's a
21 dispute between prosecutors and investigators
22 about whether evidence is actually -- the value of 23 certain evidence, whether it might lead to 24 chargeable offenses.
25 I think there was an allegation made in the

1 Majority's prior hour that there are chargeable
2 offenses on the laptop. I think that's quite a
3 stretch, and I think if that's based on the word
4 of these Wilmington investigators in particular, I
5 think that we have a lot of concerns about the 6 veracity of that statement.
7 I don't have any questions, but I wanted to 8 make that clear for the record.
9 And back to this interview.
10 BY [redacted]
11 Q In the prior hour, you were asked if you had 12 had any engagements with the White House during 13 your time at the FITF. You said that you believe 14 that there were intelligence products that would 15 have been sent up to the White House, but that to 16 your recollection, you didn't have any direct
17 engagement. Do you recall that conversation?
18 A Correct. At that time on the FITF, that's
19 correct.
20 Q And again avoiding discussion of any
21 classified information, but when we're talking
22 intelligence products, that's potentially like
23 briefing materials writ large? Is that what we're 24 talking about? Or memoranda or what, generally?
25 A For us, it's usually a written product that

1 goes to perhaps the briefer to brief it.
2 Q And you said earlier that your primary focus
3 on the FITF was concerns about voter suppression
4 and misinformation about time, place, and manner
5 of voting; correct?
6 A Yes, and other illegal foreign influence
7 efforts.
8 Q Okay. And so it's fair to say that whatever
9 intelligence products that you had worked on that 10 went up to the White House would have concerned
11 those matters; correct?
12 A Correct.
13 Q What was the time frame for those products
14 going up?
15 A I mean, that's a large part of what we do as 16 analysts and the different kinds of intel
17 products, that we'll do some internally to the 18 FBI, others for U.S. intelligence community and 19 leadership and government. So it was on a pretty 20 regular basis we were doing those. There's some 21 executive orders that mandate certain intelligence
22 products following the election as to whether or 23 not there was interference or not.
24 Q And just looking at the time frame, you were 25 at the FITF from -- can you remind me when you

1 started?
2 A Sure. Towards the beginning, fall of '17, up
3 through the 2020 election.
4 Q So it was during the Trump administration; is
5 that correct?
6 A That is correct.
7 Q So whatever intelligence products you worked
8 on that have gone up to the White House would have
9 gone up to the Trump White House; is that correct?
10 A That's correct.
11 Q And then just some kind of wrap-up
12 questions -- well, wrap-up questions pending
13 whatever the Majority asks about the next round.
14 Had you ever heard or -- I'm sorry. Strike
15 that. Withdrawn.
16 Had you ever seen or heard of anyone from the 17 White House in either administration, so Trump
18 administration or Biden administration, attempting 19 to exert political pressure to influence the work
20 done by the FITF?
21 A I don't recall that, no.
22 Q Okay. Have the decisions that you've made
23 during your time as an FBI employee and talking
24 throughout your time with the FBI been influenced 25 at any time by partisanship, ideology, or

1 political considerations?
2 A No, definitely not.
3 Q Have you witnessed ever -- have you ever
4 witnessed, during your time with the FBI, other
5 FBI employees appearing to make work-related
6 decisions in a manner that is motivated by 7 partisanship, ideology, or political
8 considerations?
9 A Not to my recollection, no.
10 Q And if you had witnessed such conduct, which 11 I'll describe it as improper conduct -- if you had 12 witnessed such improper conduct by a member of the 13 FBI or a fellow employee or a colleague, what 14 steps would you have taken?
15 A There are policies we're required to follow,
16 particularly around the Hatch Act, that we're
17 especially sensitive to in public corruption. So 18 there are reporting protocols for that sort of 19 behavior, were it to be witnessed.
20 Q And if you had witnessed it, you would have
21 reported it accordingly?
22 A That would be my plan, yes.
23 [redacted] Thank you. We can go off the
24 record.
25 (Discussion held off the record.)

1 [redacted] First, just a quick point of
2 clarification. I don't know what was asked in the 3 amount of time since I left, but when referring to
4 Wilmington, those were TIs for oversight, so I
5 understand the Minority did attend those and had 6 the opportunity to cross-examine.
7 [redacted] I guess I'm not clear. Were
8 those TIs that the judicial Minority was invited
9 to?
10 [redacted] I was not there. We can talk more
11 off the record, but they were -- I'm definitely 12 happy to represent that there were at the very 13 least staff from both parties there, and it was 14 the typical transcription of the Majority/Minority
15 asking questions.
16 [redacted] I'm not actually sure what we're
17 referring to then, because to my knowledge, there
18 was no Wilmington law enforcement transcribed
19 interviews. There were only interviews with the 20 U.S. Attorney's office. Maybe it's a reference to 21 the interviews with the IRS agents, which, again,
22 the judiciary staff, to my knowledge, was not
23 invited to participate in, but we can talk further
24 offline.
25 BY [redacted]

1 Q [redacted] do you know if members of the 2 media reached out to the FBI on October 14th to 3 ask if the laptop was real, if the story was
4 disinformation?
5 A I don't have recollection of that,
6 personally.
7 Q Did you ever hear even secondhand if that was
8 the case?
9 A I don't remember hearing, secondhand or not.
10 Q If there was a media inquiry that was 11 directed to you, who within the FBI would you
12 direct that to at the time in October 2020?
13 A The national press office for the FBI.
14 Q Okay. Do you have a point of contact there?
15 A I do.
16 Q Who is that?
17 A It was a non-SES employee, [redacted].
18 [redacted] We would just request that you
19 redact the sensitive names from the record. She's 20 non-SES. I'm not sure what relevance her specific 21 role has in this context either.
22 Q So you don't have any, you said, secondhand,
23 firsthand knowledge of any interactions the FBI
24 had?
25 A Not that I recall.

1 Q During your time with the FBI, have you ever
2 worked with Jeffrey Veltri?
3 A I'm familiar with the name, but no, not in a
4 direct capacity.
5 Q Have you been involved in any way in the 6 investigation into the Iranian hack of and leaked
7 documents related to the Trump campaign?
8 A You're speaking about the very recent one?
9 Q Yes.
10 A No, not on that particular issue.
11 Q During your time at the FITF, do you recall
12 any instances where you or others raised concerns
13 if the First Amendment was implicated by the FBI
14 engaging directly with social media companies?
15 A Not that I recall, no.
16 Q Did you ever receive any trainings or things
17 other than the guidance documents about ensuring 18 there were no violations of the First Amendment?
19 A We have regular trainings in the FBI about 20 protecting Constitution, First Amendment rights.
21 Many are on at least an annual renewal basis, so
22 you have to continue to take those trainings
23 repeatedly.
24 Q Were there any that touched on how to engage
25 with social media companies about disinformation?

1 A I don't think there were any trainings that
2 dealt with social media company interactions,
3 specifically. This is where we leaned a lot on 4 our OGC representative, to his expertise on
5 policies and procedures.
6 Q How much visibility would the OGC
7 representative have regarding Elvis Chan's
8 communications with social media companies?
9 A I don't think I can speak to that.
10 Q Just generally speaking, if FITF wanted to 11 share some information with social media
12 companies, would it always have to go through OGC?
13 A To my recollection, it would, as a general
14 rule.
15 Q Okay. What about just emails generally?
16 A I don't know that -- I think it depended on 17 the content of the emails. If it was just 18 arranging a meeting, I don't think that would 19 necessarily need to go through OGC, but for 20 operational matters, I think that was a regular 21 course of duty.
22 Q Did you ever interact directly with social
23 media companies via email?
24 A I was on emails with the companies, but to my 25 recollection, not point-to-point emails with a

1 group.
2 Q Did you have any familiarity with
3 switchboarding that SISA was engaged with in the 4 2020 election cycle?
5 A I'm not familiar with what that is.
6 Q We've mentioned briefly [redacted].
7 After his service in the FBI, he went to Meta.
8 Did you interact with him when you were a member
9 of the FITF when he was part of Meta?
10 A I think there were calls that he and I were 11 both on and I believe at least one in-person
12 meeting here in D.C.
13 Q Was that pre-COVID, that in-person meeting?
14 A I think so, yes.
15 Q Do you recall if he was on any of the calls
16 on or about the 14th?
17 A Not specifically, but I think it's possible
18 that he would have been on the call.
19 Q Do you know if he had any direct follow-up
20 conversations with anyone from the FITF?
21 A I don't have any recollection of that.
22 Q Before leaving the FITF, did you have any 23 direct interactions with ODNI's Foreign Malign
24 Influence Center?
25 A I think this is one of those where I was on

1 some emails with them.
2 Q Do you recall generally any other
3 interactions or what those emails were about?
4 A I think during my time on the FITF, I don't
5 know for how long that entity existed. I don't 6 believe there was that much.
7 Q Do you recall in the lead-up to forming that 8 center, you were involved or had any awareness of 9 the FITF's involvement?
10 A My memory is just of limited interactions on 11 email, potentially as sort of a customer base for 12 intelligence products.
13 Q What do you mean by "customer base for 14 intelligence products"?
15 A So when we do finished intelligence work,
16 when you're writing a paper that's to be sent to 17 the U.S. intel community, particularly a paper
18 that deals with foreign influence, that would be 19 one of the customers we would want to read that
20 paper.
21 Q Do you know who [redacted] is as
22 affiliated with ODNI?
23 A I do not.
24 Q What about [redacted]?
25 A I don't know that name.

1 Q Within the FITF, was there anyone embedded in
2 the FITF that was meant to represent headquarters
3 or leadership?
4 A We were all headquarters body, but the FBI
5 person were often headquarters bodies. I don't 6 know that there was a particular person assigned
7 to represent leadership.
8 Q When Mr. Roth was sharing his announcement in 9 the Twitter FITF meeting and the second meeting,
10 in either meeting, did he share any pieces of 11 evidence or why Twitter was making the assessment
12 it was making?
13 A Those specifics, I don't recall.
14 Q Do you recall generally if there was at least
15 some sort of explanation for either?
16 A He may have provided one, but I don't recall
17 any details about it at this stage.
18 Q Did Mr. Roth invoke in either meeting that 19 there had been discussions of the risk of Russia
20 or other foreign actors using hack and leak as a
21 tactic?
22 A I don't recall that specifically.
23 Q During your time at the FITF, were there ever
24 any instances of foreign governments seeking to 25 have the FBI help facilitate efforts to counter

1 disinformation?
2 A Would you repeat that question.
3 Q Sure. When you were at the FITF, were there
4 ever any instances where a foreign government,
5 partner country, was contacting the FBI for 6 assistance in working with social media to counter
7 disinformation efforts?
8 A I would say that as part of the regular 9 duties of the FITF, we did meet with foreign 10 country partner delegations. During my time on 11 the FITF, I don't remember any of those
12 engagements relating to foreign delegations
13 seeking the kind of interaction with social media
14 companies you described.
15 Q When the FITF would send at least in foreign 16 malign indicators to social media companies and 17 you send them off to the right person, was it ever
18 specific enough that the FBI would identify 19 particular accounts as being those of a, you know,
20 either inauthentic or foreign adversary?
21 A So generally the kind of two types of things
22 would be sent over. On the foreign malign
23 influence side, usually more technical indicators,
24 IP addresses, URLs. It could have included
25 specific user accounts, but usually it would be

1 more like user I.D. numbers because the account
2 names can change.
3 And then on the voter suppression side,
4 because that's our narrow lane where we do look at 5 the content, it would in those cases sometimes be 6 the user name and the content that was shared or 7 just the user names and/or the user I.D.
8 Q For -- when looking at the content and -- was 9 there any effort by the FBI to differentiate
10 between actors who were attempting to send false
11 information about an election and satire humor,
12 you know, Republicans vote Monday, Democrats vote
13 Tuesday?
14 A For on the voter suppression side of things,
15 we went through a fact pattern analysis with 16 attorneys from the Department of Justice's public
17 integrity section who were the lead on election
18 crimes, and when reviewing that content, they 19 would review it to see if it was potentially 20 indicative of criminal conduct. Once it cleared
21 their standards, we would be able to send those 22 posts or accounts to the social media companies
23 for whatever action they deemed necessary at that 24 moment.
25 Q So your team would do that assessment?

A I think we would do the initial searches, and then to ensure that we were following the letter of the law, we referred back to the election crimes experts.

Q When you say doing the initial searches, what does that look like?

A We have different software tools where we would search open source databases about content indicative of criminal conduct.

[redacted] Just flagging for the record, this potentially implicates sensitive law enforcement techniques, so just clarifying for the witness that that's a sensitivity here.

Counsel, I think we're starting to go beyond the scope of today's interview with regard to some of these topics, which we've covered extensively with the multiple other FITF personnel you've interviewed this Congress.

[redacted] Well, I've got a couple more questions and we can discuss any concerns.

BY [redacted]

Q For open source databases, do you know which ones?

A I think I would hesitate to specify particular software under a law enforcement

1 sensitive manner.
2 Q Are these tools that anyone on the FITF has
3 access to?
4 [redacted] I would just say, particularly
5 given the fact that we are currently at the FBI
6 engaged in efforts to counter the criminal voter
7 suppression violations [redacted] is referring
8 to as well as combating formal malign influence
9 prior to the 2024 election, the FBI would have 10 concerns with [redacted]'s specific
11 representations regarding the manner in which 12 personnel may be conducting searches of criminal 13 activity if it were to be released publicly, so we 14 would respectfully request the opportunity to 15 review the transcript for the many non-SES names
16 that have been invoked today as well as these 17 potentially privileged areas.
18 [redacted] For each of these, we've given an 19 opportunity for the FBI to review.
20 [redacted] As I say, for the good of the 21 order, we did not have an opportunity to review
22 the many law enforcement sensitivities that were 23 in Laura Dunlo's transcript prior to the 24 Majority's choice to plug it into an amicus brief
25 in federal litigation that the FBI was depending

1 on, so for the good of the record.
2 BY [redacted]
3 Q Who was there during these lead of the DOJ
4 election crimes unit at the time you were there or
5 at the time you were at FITF?
6 (Discussion held off the record.)
7 THE WITNESS. It was the -- they were both
8 attorneys in the public integrity section. I
9 can't remember the exact title, but elections
10 crime lead or something similar.
11 Q You don't remember the name?
12 A I remember the names, but --
13 [redacted] The witness is not going to be
14 able to speak to non-SES employees from the public
15 integrity section if he doesn't remember the 16 title.
17 BY [redacted]
18 Q Do you recall sending the email at the bottom
19 of Bates-numbered 21660?
20 A I didn't remember until presented with it,
21 but it does appear to be my email.
22 Q The second paragraph, the second sentence,
23 you say, "We think knowing the correct information
24 will enable more effective enforcement of 25 disinformation related to the election."

1 I understand you don't recall the specific
2 email here. Do you recall any discussions with
3 social media companies about whether the FBI's
4 information chair would assist with their
5 enforcement of their terms of service?
6 A So I would frame it this way: Particularly 7 in this time frame, April of 2020, COVID has just 8 sort of hit in March of 2020, and primaries for 9 the 2020 election were underway, many of which the 10 shape and form of voting changed or had been
11 provided particular special circumstances.
12 So in my role as working the voter
13 suppression angle, it's important to know how 14 voting was to occur in the correct way to then 15 know if someone is intentionally misleading on the 16 manner, time, and place of voting.
17 So I think that's where the sending of an 18 email like this comes from.
19 Q Do you recall any discussions either where 20 you raised it or were you on a call where the 21 government raised concerns that certain companies
22 were not enforcing their terms of service there
23 under the policies?
24 A I don't think we raised the issue of their 25 enforcement. We were providing information that

1 may be useful to them per their terms of service.
2 Q And so this is an example of sending correct
3 information, but the FITF would also send content
4 that DOJ had assessed to be as unlawful?
5 A Indicative of potential criminal conduct.
6 Q In those instances, was there ever any -- did
7 you have any follow-up from the FBI about those 8 specific pieces, if they were taken down or not?
9 A I think at that stage, it would -- I don't 10 have recollection of that, because if there was 11 follow-up, that may be a particular case team or 12 the DOJ attorneys themselves.
13 Q Was there anything within FBI once that 14 particular piece of content is flagged as unlawful 15 that the FBI would internally track to see if the 16 social media companies took any action against it?
17 A I don't recall if we had a tracker as you
18 described.
19 Q Was there any sort of system or effort made
20 to see what happened to pieces of content.
21 A I don't recall a system to that nature.
22 Q If not a formal system, would members of the 23 team ever go back and check to see what happened
24 to the pieces of content?
25 A So I think what would happen sometimes as we

1 are looking for this kind of content that is
2 indicative of manner, time, and place voter
3 suppression, as you're running searches, you would 4 see that from time to time, posts that had been
5 referred were still up. Sometimes they were still
6 up, sometimes they were still down. And then
7 other times we would also find new posts.
8 Q And if in one of those searches you saw there
9 were posts that were still up, was that 10 documented, and was that -- let me stop there. Is 11 that documented?
12 A I don't recall that being the focus of our
13 efforts.
14 Q If not a focus, though, if it was something
15 that came across, would it be documented?
16 A I don't remember a formal system to do that 17 kind of work at my level where I was.
18 Q If there was an instance where a subsequent 19 search saw that certain pieces of content were 20 still up, was that ever indicated to the social
21 media companies?
22 A I don't recall that occurring.
23 Q How long would it take from -- let's say you
24 identify a piece of content for it to be reviewed
25 by DOJ before being communicated to the social

1 media companies?
2 A It was a pretty fast process.
3 Q Okay. Hours? Days?
4 A If it's in this time frame of a particular
5 primary or the election itself, minutes.
6 Q And then in terms of documentation, is it per 7 piece of content? Is it per account? How is 8 there -- you've got to keep track of things that 9 you identified?
10 A So for the voter suppression side of things,
11 it was, I would say, more individual posts. The 12 post itself had the content that may include a 13 user name, and then documented in emails back and 14 forth with DOJ, companies themselves.
15 Q Did you ever either hear through Mr. Chan or 16 anyone else communicating with social media
17 companies that they shared back that a certain 18 piece of content did not violate their terms of 19 service?
20 A That may have occurred. I don't remember a
21 particular example.
22 Q How often would DOJ say that there weren't
23 indications of criminality?
24 [redacted] Counsel, now we're getting close
25 to what could be potential privileged,

1 deliberative information.
2 THE WITNESS. In this, I wouldn't say I had
3 full insight to this because I didn't submit every
4 piece to the attorneys. It's hard for me to make
5 that sort of assessment.
6 Q When you say that, because someone else in 7 the FITF did or were there times you didn't have
8 to submit it to DOJ?
9 A All needed to be submitted to DOJ. There
10 were those that I submitted individually. Other 11 members of my team also submitted things to the 12 DOJ attorneys.
13 Q Would you have to run everything up above
14 your supervisor first, or were you working on your 15 matters and could just directly submit it to DOJ?
16 A I think for the most part, it was submitting
17 to DOJ usually with the awareness of my 18 supervisor, but not necessarily for the approval.
19 Q Was this a process that [redacted] would 20 have been aware of when he was at the FITF?
21 A I don't believe so. This developed after he 22 had departed the FBI, to the best of my
23 recollection.
24 Q Do you have a sense of the volume in 2020 of 25 the pieces of content your team flagged?

1 (Discussion held off the record.)
2 A Let's say it's an estimate looking back four
3 years now. What I would say of posts that were 4 indicative of potential criminal conduct, dozens,
5 maybe slightly more. It was also -- you have to 6 remember this was the primaries and the general.
7 Q Then FBI, DOJ had their assessment. Was the 8 information shared with social media companies,
9 maybe they take an action or maybe they don't.
10 Was whether the social media company took any
11 action independent of whether DOJ or FBI chooses
12 to take any additional steps?
13 A I think that's fair to say. What we were 14 doing in this interaction with the companies did
15 not preclude any other investigative actions that 16 might be ongoing.
17 Q Are you familiar with NewsGuard?
18 A Not particularly.
19 Q During the time with FITF, do you recall any 20 interactions with NewsGuard?
21 A Not that I recall. I don't remember that 22 entity specifically.
23 Q During your time with the FITF, did you have
24 any interactions with Clemson University?
25 A Yes, I did.

1 Q Do you recall what that was?
2 A One second.
3 (Discussion held off the record.)
4 [redacted] If you have a conversation
5 that -- or sorry. If you have a question that
6 relates to the scope of today's interview
7 regarding [redacted]'s efforts as a FITF CID
8 embed prior to the 2020 election, he's at liberty
9 to speak to those.
10 Q Sure. Did you have any interactions with 11 Clemson in this context?
12 A During my time in FITF, I was the academic 13 outreach lead, so I spoke with researchers at 14 Clemson because of their expertise on Russian 15 malign influence efforts, along with some of my 16 colleagues.
17 Q Did you ever have conversations with 18 Professor Darren Linvill?
19 A Yes, I did.
20 Q Do you have familiarity with Hamilton 68?
21 A Yes.
22 Q What's your understanding of what that is?
23 A I think that was a think tank-run effort to 24 look at foreign malign influence on social media.
25 Q Did you or anyone at the FITF ever assess the

1 merits of that effort, how good they were at
2 actually identifying foreign malign efforts?
3 A I don't know if we assessed the 4 effectiveness, as your question kind of is getting
5 at. We were familiar with it and would review
6 what they would produce.
7 Q Do you recall if there were times where,
8 based on off your review, you assessed that the 9 Hamilton 68 was misattributing the source of 10 either the accounts or content?
11 A I don't recall an analysis of that nature.
12 Q Okay. Can you tell me a little bit about the 13 difficulties of attribution, trying to assess who 14 an account is from?
15 (Discussion held off the record.)
16 A Attribution -- usually in the FBI it's more
17 attributed to cyber efforts when we were trying to 18 attribute something. Just one way they can get at 19 that is how we describe our confidence levels, so
20 low confidence, medium confidence, high
21 confidence, and high confidence would have to be
22 multiple sources of at least good reliability.
23 That's what we'd need to try to assess that
24 something is high confidence.
25 Q During your time with the FITF, how reliable

1 did the FBI consider the work by Hamilton 68?
2 A I don't know that we assessed its reliability
3 necessarily. It was a -- it was the information
4 available via open sources that we took into
5 account. I don't know that we gave it a
6 particular, you know, confidence rating.
7 Q Did you ever receive reports, either those
8 you saw publicly or privately, that Hamilton 68
9 was making mistakes and misattributing certain
10 accounts identified as Russian they were American?
11 A I recall press reporting to that effect.
12 Q Were there any discussions that you were a 13 part of or aware of in the FBI about how to treat
14 Hamilton 68's work?
15 (Discussion held off the record.)
16 A Would you repeat the question. Sorry.
17 Q Sure. After seeing those reports, were you a 18 part of or aware of any conversations within the 19 FBI about whether that would change how the FBI
20 assessed Hamilton 68's work?
21 A Not that I remember today, but I can see that 22 being a topic that we would perhaps discuss.
23 Q When other agencies, for instance, the Global 24 Engagement Center, wanted to identify accounts as 25 Russia-based or other adversary-based accounts and

1 they would communicate that with social media
2 companies, is that something that the FITF would
3 always be looped in on, to your understanding?
4 A To my recollection, we would not.
5 Q Got it. Did you ever, through public
6 reporting or through some other private
7 confidential means, learn of situations where 8 other agencies were making mistakes and 9 misattributing American accounts as foreign
10 accounts?
11 A I saw some of that in the committee's
12 materials that were provided to me for preparation
13 for today.
14 Q Other than that?
15 A That's the time I remember seeing it.
16 Q Just more generally, do you recall any
17 frustrations expressed either by representatives
18 of the social media companies or other government
19 partners about whether particular agencies were 20 weak in accurately assessing and attributing
21 content?
22 A I don't recall that to that specificity.
23 Q For the tools that the FITF has available,
24 are those tools that the researchers would have
25 access to as well?

1 A I think not necessarily would we have the
2 same tools as they would have.
3 Q As part of this work, would -- does the FBI
4 need the voluntary efforts from social media
5 companies to provide certain data?
6 A Any voluntary efforts, no. I would say
7 particularly during my time on the FITF, there
8 were voluntary disclosures by the companies which 9 were helpful for us in understanding foreign
10 malign influence efforts.
11 Q Were there agreements formalizing this degree
12 of cooperation from the companies?
13 A To be clear, the voluntary disclosures I'm 14 talking about were ones that were publicly
15 available.
16 Q Were there any nonpublic either data or 17 information that the companies would permit the 18 FBI to access?
19 [redacted] I think that question implicates
20 sources, methods, classification concerns.
21 [redacted] So do you instruct him not to 22 answer? So we're clear on the record.
23 [redacted] You're free to answer within 24 those guardrails.
25 THE WITNESS. I would prefer not to answer

1 with those guardrails.

2 BY [redacted]

3 Q Were these tools the FBI developed or do you

4 need a license from the companies?

5 A This gets back to what I would consider

6 somewhat law enforcement sensitive.

7 Q You mentioned it was after [redacted]

8 left FITF. Do you recall when, approximately,

9 FITF started using these tools?

10 A I mean, there are tools that the FBI has more

11 generally, and some of them aren't useful towards

12 the FITF and -- excuse me -- the CID voter

13 suppression mission, but some of them are

14 enterprise-wide tools that weren't specifically

15 created for this mission, so they were preexisting

16 the FITF administration.

17 Q Is there a search function with these tools?

18 [redacted] Okay. This implicates sensitive

19 law enforcement sources, techniques, other

20 sensitive internal tools the FBI may use in its

21 base to combat foreign malign influence, which is

22 an ongoing effort, particularly sensitive as we

23 are engaged in combating the bad actors prior to 24 the 2024 election cycle.

25 Our understanding of today's scope was that

1 you wanted to speak with [redacted] about his
2 engagements with certain external partners, to 3 include specific social media companies and
4 conversations, which he had provided the best of 5 his recollection for several hours now in detail.
6 We are acting in good faith. This man has flown
7 from France, but you're really treading on some 8 sensitive areas here, which if the committee does
9 have further questions, we are happy in the Office
10 of Congressional Affairs to further engage you on 11 the accommodations request, but I have serious
12 concerns regarding us being in unclassified
13 settings here discussing some of these topics.
14 [redacted] If there are concerns, we can --
15 please raise them for each question.
16 BY [redacted]
17 Q Without addressing the previous question, for 18 these tools, were there trainings about guardrails
19 as it relates to potential First Amendment
20 implications?
21 A As I talked about, we had regular trainings
22 about First Amendment protections, and we reviewed
23 our use of the tools with OGC attorneys before
24 using them to ensure that we were protecting U.S.
25 citizens' rights. And particularly in my role in

1 CID looking at voter suppression, these were posts
2 that were indicative of criminal content.
3 Q During your time at the FITF, were you aware
4 of any intentional, unintentional misuse of these 5 tools?
6 A Not that I recall.
7 Q Without getting into specifics of the 8 function of the tool, is there a system in place
9 to later audit or check how a tool is used by an 10 FBI employee?
11 A I think that's fair to say almost all of our
12 tools are that way in the auditing system.
13 [redacted] Go off the record, please.
14 (Discussion held off the record.)
15 EXAMINATION BY
16 [redacted]
17 Q Back on the record. Thank you.
18 Just a couple of follow-up questions on the 19 challenges of attributing content.
20 You were asked about Hamilton 68 in the prior 21 round, and you said that Hamilton 68 was an 22 open-source source of information, essentially;
23 correct?
24 A That was how we treated it.
25 Q When you say that's how you treated it, what

1 does that mean?
2 A Just as an all-source analyst is trained to
3 do, you look at all sources available to try to
4 make the best intelligence assessment about a
5 series of threats. And so we took what Hamilton
6 68 was doing as one of the inputs but weighed
7 against all the other sources we had available at 8 our disclosure.
9 Q So fair to say you wouldn't take Hamilton 68
10 or any open source piece of information at face
11 value?
12 A I think that's fair to say. We would make 13 sure to compare and contrast, see if it was 14 corroborated, uncorroborated, how it did over
15 time.
16 Q And that's how the FBI treats open source
17 information across the board, not just in the FITF
18 context; correct?
19 A Certainly.
20 Q With respect to this searching for content,
21 the content was -- we're talking about -- only 22 about searching for content that might -- in the 23 context of voter suppression concerns; correct?
24 A That's what my team was looking into.
25 Q And that's, as we said in my earlier hour,

1 misinformation regarding the time, place, and
2 manner of voting; correct?
3 A Yes, particularly for us. So just one
4 clarification. Intentionally misleading to
5 manner, time, and place of voting.
6 Q Why did you make that clarification?
7 A Because if someone -- like when you go back
8 to the criminal statute, which I don't have in 9 front of me, this is one of those criminal
10 violations where you have to prove willfulness.
11 So when we're actually talking about the criminal
12 investigation part of it, there are further
13 elements that you have to prove.
14 Now, when looking at a post, it's difficult
15 to know whether or not someone intended to mislead
16 someone, but if that's how it could have been 17 received, these are the kind of things we look to 18 our DOJ attorneys to weigh in on.
19 Q Thank you for that clarification.
20 And as we said in the earlier hour and as you
21 just alluded to now, the concern is that this kind
22 of intentional misleading of voters in an attempt
23 to prevent them from voting and prevent voters
24 from casting their votes is illegal; correct?
25 A Correct.

1 Q And that's illegal for anyone, so whether the
2 individual is a United States citizen or a Russian
3 citizen or from some other foreign entity, it's 4 illegal to intentionally share inaccurate
5 information about the time, place, and manner of 6 voting with the goal of suppressing votes;
7 correct?
8 A That is correct.
9 Q There was a reference in the earlier -- the 10 round that we just finished -- I don't think it
11 was a full hour. The question was asked about the 12 volume of content that was then identified for 13 social media companies, and you said it was 14 potentially dozens of pieces of content. Do you 15 recall saying that?
16 A Yes.
17 Q And when we're about those dozens, those 18 dozens of pieces of content are all pieces of 19 content that included potentially criminal
20 information; correct?
21 A Potential criminal conduct.
22 Q And when those pieces of information were 23 identified through social media companies, they 24 were -- is it fair to say that they were just 25 passed along?

1 A Passed along as a potential violation of
2 their terms of service.
3 Q And then the social media companies could
4 elect to take action or not take action; correct?
5 A It was their call.
6 Q And, in fact, you said that occasionally in 7 running follow-up searches, you would sometimes
8 identify that those posts were still up, meaning
9 that the social media companies had not taken
10 action; correct?
11 A True. At least by that time.
12 [redacted] Thank you. We can go off the
13 record.
14 (Discussion held off the record.)
15 EXAMINATION BY
16 [redacted]
17 Q I want to jump briefly back to the Twitter
18 FITF meeting with the prep materials. You were 19 made aware that others from the FITF have 20 testified before the committee. And I can 21 introduce the excerpt if that would be helpful, or 22 not, but [redacted] testified at our committee. He 23 identified you, but said that he recalls someone 24 saying something to that effect of "yes, the 25 laptop is real."

1 ;Just in your review of the materials and
2 everything going on, how do you reconcile what
3 seems to be a slight inconsistency between his
4 testimony and your recollection?
5 A I think [redacted] saying that and his 6 takeaway was that the laptop was real could be
7 consistent with me saying that's part of a
8 separate matter.
9 Q And do you recall anyone else on the call
10 mentioning the word "laptop," discussing it, or 11 saying things that would suggest that it exists?
12 A Not that I recall.
13 Q When Mr. Roth was explaining his -- what his 14 company was approaching to it, did he say anything
15 to the effect of whether he thought the laptop had 16 been manipulated in any way or that the contents
17 weren't true?
18 A I don't remember to that level of detail his 19 sort of impromptu presentation.
20 Q You said this was abnormal to have a company
21 share what they intended to do in that manner?
22 A True.
23 Q After this incident, were there any protocols
24 put in; place about how to address if a similar
25 situation occurred again?

1 A We have that guidance from our OGC rep to say
2 "no comment." There may be protocols in place at 3 this stage sort of post my time on the FITF.
4 Q Were there any protocols or any discussion to 5 put in place protocols about what to do when a
6 social media comes to the FBI saying we think this
7 is disinformation and the FBI knows that it's not?
8 A I don't recall protocols to that effect.
9 Q I guess just walk me through if I'm
10 misunderstanding here. So certainly at the FITF,
11 you're information sharing, sharing information
12 about when there are instances of foreign malign
13 influence operations that -- disinformation
14 efforts from adversaries. In that situation, the 15 FBI is able to share some information. Is there
16 any sort of parallel or mirrored protocol about
17 what to do when the companies are misattributing
18 something or have the facts wrong?
19 A I would say that what the companies do with 20 their platforms is their responsibility.
21 Q Was there ever any discussion about whether 22 the silence from the FBI was a -- could be 23 misinterpreted as the FBI not having evidence when 24 it did?
25 A Particularly in this call, it wasn't silence.

1 We responded. I responded saying it's part of a
2 separate matter, and then OGC said there was no
3 comment.
4 Q Do you recall when you said it was part of a
5 separate matter, did you say like the 6 investigation, the laptop is, or was it just "it"
7 broadly was part of a separate matter?
8 A It was part of a separate matter.
9 (Discussion held off the record.)
10 Q Are you aware of any instances where there
11 was a similar situation again of social media
12 companies saying, Hey, we're aware of this, this 13 is what we're going to do?
14 A Not that I recall. Granted, I left the FITF
15 in 2021.
16 Q For the software tool we were discussing, are 17 you aware of any other federal agencies that have 18 access to that tool, utilize that tool?
19 A I can't speak to whether they do or do not.
20 Q And is it limited to just the FITF or are 21 there others within the FBI?
22 [redacted] Privilege, sources, methods,
23 techniques, law enforcement entities.
24 [redacted] Are you instructing him not to
25 answer?

1 [redacted] You can answer within the
2 boundaries I just articulated.
3 THE WITNESS. So repeat the question.
4 Q Is this software tool limited to just the
5 FITF or can others within the FBI use it as well?
6 A It's an enterprise tool.
7 Q Was this particular enterprise tool newly
8 developed and then used for the FITF, or was a
9 preexisting one repurposed?
10 [redacted] For the record, the FBI has 11 serious concerns with the committee poking around
12 regarding law enforcement sensitive tools,
13 techniques used to combat foreign malign influence
14 efforts as well as the various criminal violations
15 [redacted] testified to today. If the committee
16 has remaining questions regarding our 17 capabilities, we would be happy to engage you in 18 the accommodations process. We really should not
19 speak to that in an unclassified setting. Given
20 our understanding of the scope of today's 21 interview, it's not appropriate.
22 THE WITNESS. Could you repeat the question.
23 Sorry.
24 Q For the enterprise tool, was it designed for 25 the -- I don't know the best way I can rephrase

1 it.
2 For the enterprise tool, was it a preexisting
3 tool that was repurposed for the FITF, or was it
4 designed for the FITF?
5 (Discussion held off the record.)
6 A Preexisting. And this is also -- this was 7 one that my team used under our criminal
8 investigation responsibilities under the lane of 9 voter suppression where it did not matter whether 10 it was a U.S. citizen poster or foreign citizen
11 posting; it was still potentially indicative of 12 criminal conduct, which is why we were able to use
13 the tool in that way.
14 I just want to make sure we're
15 differentiating between this being a tool of FITF
16 to try and find foreign influence. This was a
17 tool we used to try and find potential criminal
18 conduct, some of which may have been done by 19 foreign actors.
20 Q I'm not going to ask you what they are, but 21 are you familiar with what other applications this
22 tool is used for besides voter suppression?
23 A In broad terms. But that's what I was using 24 it for.
25 (Discussion held off the record.)

1 [redacted] Could we go off the record,
2 please.
3 (Discussion held off the record.)

1 [redacted]. Good morning. This was supposed
2 to be a deposition of Jeffrey Veltri, Special
3 Agent in Charge of the FBI's Miami Field Office.
4 Chairman Jordan requested this deposition as part
5 of the Committee's oversight of the FBI's misuse
6 of the security clearance suspension and
7 revocation process.
8 On October 11, 2024, the Committee issued a
9 subpoena for SAC Veltri to appear at a deposition
10 today, October 24th. I will mark the October 11th
11 subpoena as Exhibit No. 1.
12 [Veltri Exhibit No. 1 was marked for
13 identification.]
14 [redacted]. On October 17, 2024, the Committee
15 noticed today's deposition in accordance with its 16 rules. I'll mark the October 17th notice as
17 Exhibit No. 2.
18 [Veltri Exhibit No. 2 was marked for
19 identification.]
20 [redacted]. The Committee has sought SAC
21 Veltri's testimony for over five months. On May 22 15, 2024, the Committee requested that SAC Veltri
23 appear for a transcribed interview. The letter gave a deadline of May 29th to schedule the TI. I'll mark the letter as Exhibit No. 3.

[Veltri Exhibit No. 3 was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. On July 19, 2024, after two months had passed since the initial request, the FBI sent the Committee a letter not offering dates that SAC Veltri was available but instead stating that the FBI would offer a different witness for a briefing. I'll mark the exhibit as No. 4.

[Veltri Exhibit No. 4 was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. Although the Committee had serious reservations about the personal knowledge the witness proposed by the FBI had about misconduct within the Security Division and the specific security clearance adjudications in question, the Committee as an extraordinary accommodation quickly accepted a transcribed interview with EAD Dunham days after the FBI sent the offer. Between May and September, Committee staff followed up with the FBI numerous times in an attempt to schedule SAC Veltri's transcribed interview.

Despite the follow up, the FBI never scheduled SAC Veltri's transcribed interview.

On September 25, 2024, the Committee sent another letter to Director Wray reiterating the Committee's request for a transcribed interview with SAC Veltri. The Committee gave the FBI until October 9th to schedule the interview. I'll mark that letter as Exhibit No. 5.

[redacted]. Between September 25th and when the Committee issued the subpoena on October 11th, the Committee staff continued to engage with the FBI in an attempt to schedule SAC Veltri's interview. Again, despite these efforts the FBI refused to schedule SAC Veltri's interview, which led the Committee to issue a subpoena.

On October 22nd the FBI Office of General Counsel, instead of confirming Mr. Veltri's appearance on the 24th, staff for the Office stated that they were only prepared to authorize a voluntary appearance by SAC Veltri on an appropriate timeline, despite already having five

1 months to do so and informed the Committee for the
2 first time that SAC Veltri obtained personal
3 counsel. I'll mark the October 22nd e-mail chain
4 as Exhibit No. 6.
5 [Veltri Exhibit No. 6 was marked for
6 identification.]
7 [redacted]. On the evening of October 22nd,
8 SAC Veltri's personal counsel, who is here with us
9 today, reached out to the Committee staff.
10 Committee staff spoke to personal counsel on the 11 morning of October 23rd and throughout the evening
12 yesterday.
13 After 9:00 p.m. yesterday, the Justice
14 Department sent SAC Veltri's personal counsel a 15 letter that stated, "After consultation with the 16 Attorney General and the FBI Director, the Justice
17 Department directs Mr. Veltri not to appear
18 pursuant to the subpoena."
19 I'll mark the October 23rd letter from Mr.
20 Bradley Weinsheimer as Exhibit No. 7.
21 [Veltri Exhibit No. 7 was marked for
22 identification.]
23 [redacted]. This morning, two hours before the start of the scheduled deposition, the FBI sent the Committee a letter and this will be Exhibit No. 8.

[Veltri Exhibit No. 8 was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. I want to correct a few things from the letter. First, the Committee never declined the briefing with EAD Dunham. As stated earlier the Committee accepted TI with EAD Dunham days after the July 19th offer, and followed up with the FBI on July 26th after hearing nothing from the FBI to obtain dates for that interview.

Second, the FBI has, in fact, declined to make SAC Veltri available for a voluntary transcribed interview for over five months. The FBI is now offering the investigation into the second attempted assassination of President Trump as reason to declining to schedule the TI. However, the Committee had been requesting SAC Veltri's TI for nearly four months before the assassination attempt investigation began. In addition, seven other SACs, who all have busy field offices, have appeared before the Committee this Congress without incident.

And now, I'll turn it over to my colleague, [redacted].

[redacted]. Thank you. Just a couple of quick comments. The letter dated October 23, 2024 marked as Exhibit No. 7. This is the letter from the Department of Justice to Mr. Veltri's attorneys. It makes a number of comments about Agency counsel and questioning the validity of the subpoena. We are not taking a position on that as we have not taken a position on similar issues in past disputes.

I do want to note on the letter that is dated this morning, October 24, 2024, from the FBI to the Chairman, that it was not copied to Mr. Nadler. It does comment that, and I should note that Minority staff is not included in the negotiations over timing, date, or anything like that, but according to this letter, the FBI was willing to authorize a voluntary appearance by SAC Veltri on an appropriate timeline that accounts for significant, current responsibilities.

Again, I am disappointed accommodation couldn't be reached here. I think there are factual items listed in some of the Majority's earlier letters, the substantive letters, that we dispute that we think would be also disputed by the testimony of Mr. Veltri. I think a voluntary transcribed interview would have enabled those to come to light.

I also want to note that the letter from the FBI does detail the number of steps that the FBI has taken to try to comply with the Majority's requests. Including making the Executive Assistant Director more available for not one, but two interviews, making EAD Dunham available for interviews and Security Division Assistant Section Chief Dena Perkins in this matter, in addition to dozens of other FBI witnesses who have appeared this Congress. Thank you.

[redacted]. Will personal counsels please introduce themselves for the record?

Mr. Ariail. My name is Shreve Ariail.

Ms. Johnson. I'm Katie Johnson.

Mr. Ariail. And we're both with Jenner and Block. And I serve as, with my colleague, as

1 personal counsel to Mr. Veltri in the matter and
2 I'm here for the purpose of entering into the
3 record the fact that Mr. Veltri is not appearing
4 here today in response to the direct instructions
5 from his employer, the Department of Justice, that
6 he cannot give testimony in the matter. And then
7 as was entered in the record, I think it's Exhibit
8 No. 7, he received that direction in a letter by 9 counsel last night from Bradley Weinsheimer, and 10 we received the letter at 8:27 p.m. last night,
11 October 23rd.
12 I shared the letter over e-mail with the 13 Committee staff last night and I have copies but 14 it's already in the record so we don't have to 15 worry about that.
16 I appreciate that the Committee staff have been 17 open to discussing alternatives to proceeding with 18 today's deposition. I think we've had some good 19 faith discussions in the last 24-to-36 hours, but 20 in light of the letter that arrived last night,
21 Mr. Veltri is unable to appear. I wanted to 22 provide the information today in person as a
23 courtesy to the staff, the Chairman, and the Ranking Member, and out of respect for the Committee's constitutional prerogatives here and that's all I plan to say. I yield back.

[redacted]. All right. Off the record.

[Whereupon, at 10:07 a.m., the deposition concluded.]

9 here today to answer our questions. The chairman also appreciates your willingness to

10 appear voluntarily.

11 My name is [redacted], and I'm with Chairman Jordan's staff. I'll now have 12 everyone else from the committee who's here at the table introduce themselves as well.

13 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

14 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

15 [redacted]. [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

16 [redacted]. [redacted], Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

17 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

18 [redacted]. [redacted] with Ranking Member Nadler's staff.

19 [redacted]. [redacted] with Chairman Jordan's staff.

20 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

21 [redacted]. [redacted], Chairman Jordan's staff.

22 [redacted]. I'd like to now go over the ground rules and guidelines that we will

23 follow during today's interview.

24 Our questioning will proceed in rounds. The majority will ask questions first for

25 one hour, and then the minority will have an opportunity to ask questions for an equal

period of time if they choose. We will alternate back and forth until there are no more questions and the interview is over.

Typically, we take a short break at the end of each hour, but if you would like to take a break apart from that, please just let us know.

As you can see, there is an official court reporter taking down everything we say to make a written record, so we ask that you give verbal responses to all questions.

Do you understand?

Ms. Easterly. You bet.

[redacted]. So the court reporter can take down a clear record, we will do our best to limit the number of people directing questions at you during any given hour to just those people on the staff whose turn it is.

Please try and speak clearly so the court reporter can understand and so the folks down at the end of the table can hear you. It is important that we don't talk over one another or interrupt each other if we can help it, and that goes for everybody present at today's interview.

We encourage witnesses who appear before the committee to freely consult with counsel if they so choose, and it is my understanding that you are appearing today with counsel.

Is that correct?

Ms. Easterly. Correct.

[redacted]. Could counsel please state your name for the record?

[redacted]. [redacted] with CISA.

[redacted]. [redacted] with CISA.

[redacted]. Thank you.

We want you to answer our questions in the most complete and truthful manner

as possible, so we will take our time. If you have any questions or if you do not understand one of our questions, please let us know. Our questions will cover a wide range of topics, so if you need clarification at any point, just say so.

If you honestly don't know the answer to a question or do not remember, it is best not to guess. Please give us your best recollection, and it is okay to tell us if you learned information from someone else. Just indicate how you came to know the information.

If there are things you don't know or can't remember, just say so, and please inform us who, to the best of your knowledge, might be able to provide a more complete answer to the question.

You also should understand that although this interview is not under oath, by law you are required to answer questions from Congress truthfully.

Do you understand that?

Ms. Easterly. Of course.

[redacted]. This also applies to questions posed by congressional staff in an interview.

Do you understand that?

Ms. Easterly. Yes.

[redacted]. Witnesses that knowingly provide false testimony could be subject to criminal prosecution for perjury or for making false statements under 18 USC, Section 1001.

Do you understand that?

Ms. Easterly. Yes.

[redacted]. Is there any reason you are unable to provide truthful answers to today's questions?

Ms. Easterly. No.

[redacted]. Finally, I'd like to make note that the content of what we discuss today here is confidential. We ask that you not speak about what we discuss in this interview to any outside individuals to preserve the integrity of our investigation.

For the same reason, the marked exhibits that we will use today will remain with the court reporter so that they can go in the official transcript and any copies of those exhibits will be returned to us when we wrap up.

All right. That's the end of the preamble. Is there anything our colleagues from the minority would like to add?

[redacted]. Yes.

We'd just like to thank the witness for taking time out of your busy schedule and making some time to come join us today.

Additionally, we have had a little over 150 transcribed interviews or depositions in the committee this Congress. To date, less than 50 of those transcripts have been released. There is over a hundred yet to be released. So we would just like to continue to mark our request to release those transcripts, with appropriate redactions.

[redacted]. The clock now reads 10:03. We will start the first hour of questioning.

[redacted]. Just before we begin, can I confirm that today's interview is not being recorded?

[redacted]. That's correct.

[redacted]. Thank you.

1 EXAMINATION

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q Can I have you state your name again?

4 A Jen Easterly.

5 Q And when did you become director of CISA?

6 A July 2021.

7 Q And what was your previous role in government before becoming director?

8 A Well, I was in the government -- just previous?

9 Q Yes.

10 A Yeah. I was the senior director for counterterrorism at the National

11 Security Council.

12 Q And when were you in that role?

13 A October 2013 to --

14 [redacted]. Can you speak up a bit, Director? Sorry. They're having

15 difficulty --

16 Ms. Easterly. Sorry.

17 October 2013 to December 2016.

18 BY [redacted]:

19 Q And who did you report to in that role?

20 A I reported to Lisa Monaco.

21 Q And in that role, did you interact with the predecessor at CISA?

22 A Not really.

23 Q Okay. In any of your prior government roles, did you interact with the 24 predecessor at CISA?

25 A No.

1 Q At the end of that role, what was your next position?

2 A I went to Morgan Stanley and was the global head of the Cybersecurity

3 Fusion Center, and then became the head of the Fusion Resilience Center, then the head

4 of firm resilience.

5 Q And what were your responsibilities in those roles?

6 A Well, the Global Fusion -- Cybersecurity Fusion Center was a new center that

7 was stood up to identify, understand, detect, and respond to cyber threats to the firm.

8 And then we expanded the firm's -- the center's remit to include the full range of

9 threats. So weather, infectious disease -- which is how I ended up being one of the crisis

10 managers for the firm for COVID-19 -- and really any business-disrupting events. And 11 then head of firm resilience is focused on anything that could impact the business,

12 whether it's an operational incident or a risk.

13 [redacted]. Director, if you can, I think, speak up even a little bit more.

14 Ms. Easterly. Sure.

15 BY [redacted]:

16 Q And in that role with Morgan Stanley, did you have interactions with CISA?

17 A Not that I recall. I'm sure my team at Morgan Stanley probably had some 18 interactions. I think it was quite new. Most of our interactions were not with the U.S.

19 Government.

20 Q Okay. Do you recall any interactions with the U.S. Government in that

21 role?

22 A For me directly, not that I recall. I mean, I'm sure there were -- oh, there

23 was something called the FBIIC. I don't know what the acronym stands for, but it was

24 some of the banking institutions, so probably something with Treasury. And then with 25 regulators, so some of the regulatory agencies.

1 But my interaction with them -- because I was very focused on operations, so it
2 would be much more about how do you leverage capabilities to detect and respond to
3 cyber threats to the firm. And so it was a lot of that. And then working with other
4 banks, and then working with clients.
5 Q When did you first become familiar with CISA?
6 A I don't really remember, because it didn't exist when I left the White House.
7 And so I think the main thing that I recall was there was guidance that came out about 8 what was called essential work.
9 And I just remember, I think that came from CISA, I remember it sticks in my mind
10 because we wanted to make sure that we had an understanding of who were essential
11 workers within the firm.
12 Q In your role with Morgan Stanley, do you have anything that touched upon 13 misinformation/disinformation?
14 A No.
15 Q When did you first -- or let me take one step back.
16 Have you met Chris Krebs before?
17 A Uh-huh.
18 Q When did you first meet Mr. Krebs?
19 A I don't actually remember. I remember going to a change of command 20 ceremony at Fort Meade and I think he was there and I said hello. But we didn't have 21 much interaction.
22 Q Okay. And do you recall any interactions with him while he was the 23 director?
24 A No. I mean, other than when I saw him at the change of command at Fort
25 Meade. We might have exchanged an email or something. I think he wanted

1 me -- just trying to remember.

2 Kevin, he was McAleenan. He was coming on as -- I think he was coming on as

3 the acting secretary and he was coming up to New York and wanted to meet with folks in

4 the financial sector who understood the security mission. And I think Chris sent me a

5 note saying, "We've asked financial sector people to meet with Kevin." I think that was

6 the only other interaction I had with him that I recall.

7 Q Do you recall when that was?

8 A I don't actually.

9 Q When were you first contacted about potentially taking the role as director?

10 A I mean, I don't remember the day. It was sometime in April of 2021.

11 Q Who contacted you?

12 A I don't remember his name. I think it was somebody from PPO.

13 Q Do you recall at what point if you received a briefing on what CISA's role was 14 with respect to combating mis-, dis-, and malinformation?

15 A I don't.

16 Q Before we get much further, to your understanding, what's the difference

17 among those three terms, misinformation, disinformation, and malinformation?

18 A Misinformation is inaccurate information that's provided unwittingly.

19 Disinformation is inaccurate information provided maliciously or wittingly. And then -- I

20 never really understood malinformation. I think it's accurate information provided

21 maliciously.

22 Q Prior to taking the role as director, had you ever heard the term

23 malinformation?

24 A No.

25 Q When assuming the role as director in July 2021, to your recollection, which

1 division or branch within CISA was responsible for focusing on combating mis-, dis-, and
2 malinformation?
3 A Can I mention one thing? When I started hearing it was in the prep for 4 Senate confirmation, because it was something that congressional staffers had brought
5 up. Specifically, there was a lot of interest in, I would just call it, disinformation,
6 misinformation, disinformation. And in fact, I think it was, as I recall, the first question
7 that I got in my confirmation hearing, was about that, and it was not a controversial thing
8 when it was asked about it.
9 So I do remember. I don't know if they called it MDM. I just recall it being
10 disinformation.
11 What was your question?
12 Q When you assumed the role in July 2021, do you recall which division or 13 branch within CISA was responsible for combating MDM?
14 A I mean, I think it's -- it was just a focus on elections, so within the election
15 space.
16 Q Okay. And do you recall the name of the team or division at that time in 17 July 2021?
18 A I don't know if it had a different name. It became the elections security
19 and resilience team.
20 But just to be clear, like, if you put it in context, I was a cybersecurity person, and
21 so I was very focused on -- and this was after SolarWinds and Colonial Pipeline and Kaseya
22 and Chinese attacks against Microsoft Exchange.
23 So from what I recall, other than hearing it in -- from congressional staffers and 24 from some of the Members, I was really very focused from the beginning on the 25 cybersecurity mission.

1 Q Who was your point of contact or briefing you on issues related to MDM?
2 Would it be the head of ESR or was that someone higher in the org chart?
3 A I really don't recall. I don't recall.
4 Q If you had a question about something related to how CISA is approaching
5 combating MDM, who would you reach out to?
6 A Probably the head of the National Risk Management Center, a guy called Bob 7 Kolasky.
8 Q As director, do you have a set of deputies? Or what's the reporting
9 structure?
10 A I have division chiefs, six division chiefs who report to me, and then the front
11 office, so deputy director, executive director, chief of staff.
12 Q And is the National Risk Management Center one of those divisions?
13 A It is, yeah.
14 Q And is that the division most likely to address issues with combating MDM?
15 A That's where the election work was. I don't know what it was called 16 before, but it was called ESR when I became the director, I think.
17 Q In any of your previous roles, whether at Morgan Stanley or many years in 18 the government, have you had other opportunities to work on combating issues related 19 to election security?
20 A No.
21 Q Do you know who Brian Scully is?
22 A I do, yeah.
23 Q Do you understand -- what's his role?
24 A I mean, he's within the National Risk Management Center in the election
25 security and resilience team, which is -- so CISA, just to step back for a sec, two key roles,

1 right?

2 America's cyber defense agency, the national coordinator for critical infrastructure

3 resilience and security insofar as the election security role. It's all about being the lead

4 Federal Government agency to support State and local election officials.

5 So I don't -- I mean, I work with the leadership team. I don't interface, interact

6 with Brian Scully on a regular basis. So I think he's part of the election security team.

7 Q What about Geoff Hale? Do you work with him or interaction with him?

8 A I had more interactions with Geoff, because he was the leader of the 9 election security team, although he actually moved, so I haven't interacted with him in a

10 while.

11 Q How frequently do you interact with Secretary Mayorkas?

12 A Interact? You mean, like, talk to him or meet with him?

13 Q Yes.

14 A Maybe, like, once a week. It depends, right? If there was an issue of the 15 day, it could be more frequently, or it could be less frequently. But we are -- at CISA,

16 most of my interaction is with our partners outside of CISA.

17 Q Have you had any meetings with Secretary Mayorkas regarding CISA's role in 18 combating MDM?

19 A Not that I recall, no.

20 Q Are you familiar with CISA's formerly organized task force, the Countering

21 Foreign Influence Task Force? Before your tenure.

22 A It was before my tenure? Yeah, I think it was before my time.

23 Q Okay. Did you receive any briefings on the role of the task force or why its 24 structure changed?

25 A No. I'm trying to remember from -- not that I recall.

1 Q Are you familiar with what switchboarding is?

2 A I am.

3 Q To your understanding, what is it?

4 A My understanding is it was a program that was developed in the last

5 administration at the request of State and local election officials where they would, if

6 they identified election-related potential misinformation or disinformation, they would

7 send it to CISA personnel that would then forward it to relevant media platforms and say,

8 like, "This is for your situational awareness," and not say to do one thing or another with

9 it.

10 Q When did you first find that CISA was engaging or had engaged in 11 switchboarding?

12 A I really don't recall, because it stopped. I mean, it stopped in the 2020

13 election cycle. I think the last time it was done was before I got to CISA.

14 I think -- I'm trying to remember. I think I had heard about it sometime -- it was 15 probably in 2022, but I don't remember specifically.

16 Q When you say it was sometime in 2022, what was -- to your recollection,

17 what was --

18 A I think it might have been with respect to the midterm elections. So I just 19 don't remember the exact time.

20 Q Do you remember who you spoke to about it?

21 A My recollection, which is not -- which is kind of a vague one, but my

22 recollection is that there was a meeting about preparation for the 2022 midterm and

23 what we were going to do to ensure that we could provide support to State and local

24 election officials.

25 And I don't remember the timing on this, [redacted], but I remember a meeting where

1 the issue of -- I mean, it's a terrible name, switchboarding, but this issue came up. And I
2 recall asking about, like, what it was about. In particular, I wanted to know about the 3 measures of effectiveness with the program.
4 And it -- from what I remember -- and again, it's a little bit of a fuzzy
5 memory -- but from what I recall, it didn't make any sense to me that we would put 6 resources to a program where there was so little that was -- so little getting out of it.
7 So this is where we really -- I mean, at my direction, we very much focused on not
8 trying to play Whac-A-Mole with misinformation and disinformation on behalf of State
9 and local election officials, but ensuring that we could provide access to accurate
10 information.
11 It was really -- and that's where the focus area was really focused on working with 12 our intelligence community and FBI partners to ensure that -- to help highlight the tactics
13 of foreign adversaries and interference and influence and to put out accurate information
14 about election infrastructure, because it can be very complicated and technical.
15 And then that's really where I focused very deliberately on the amplification of 16 State and local election officials as the subject matter experts. They are the ones to go
17 to for any type of election-related question, because they run elections.
18 Q Who was in this meeting?
19 A I really don't remember. I do think Brian Scully was there. I think that 20 was the one interaction I had with him. But I'm fuzzy on who -- on the others that were
21 there.
22 Q Was it only personnel from CISA?
23 A I think. There would have been no reason not to have anybody or no
24 reason to have other people.
25 Q Uh-huh. And when you say that you were concerned about looking at

1 measures of effectiveness and that CISA was not getting much out of it, can you say a bit
2 more about what you understood to be --
3 A Yeah. What I understood -- and again, it was very high level, because it
4 happens many levels below me -- but from what I understood, State and local election
5 officials had this concern.
6 Obviously, as you know, the designation of CISA as the lead Federal Government
7 agency for election infrastructure and security came in the aftermath of Russian attempts
8 to influence and interfere in the 2016 election. So the idea was that State and local 9 election officials were worried about this.
10 And, again, I wasn't here during it, so don't -- take this with a little bit of a grain of 11 salt, because this is just my high-level understanding.
12 And there were some -- there were less than, again, high level, 200 pieces of 13 information that were sent to CISA by election officials in both parties that were sent 14 forward.
15 So from a technology background, when you think about all of this information
16 that's out there, it just seemed to me not to make any sense.
17 And it's not a core mission of ours. And so that's why it felt to me the right thing
18 to do was to focus on how we can amplify the voices of State and local election officials
19 and how we can just make accessible accurate information about election infrastructure.
20 Q When you say it was not a core mission, how did you understand it,
21 switchboarding, not to be part of CISA's core mission?
22 A Well, it was something -- it certainly wasn't part of anything that we did
23 when I came on board, you know, where we have 10,000 people at CISA, between our 24 Federal employees and our contractors. And the heart of what we do is focused on 25 reducing risk to election infrastructure, so we have cybersecurity experts, we have

1 physical security experts.

2 And in terms of -- I don't even know if there's experts on things like this -- but

3 really we wanted to make sure that insofar as the technical understanding about how to

4 protect and reduce risk to the infrastructure, right, we do critical infrastructure, that's

5 really where our expertise is.

6 And that's why with 2024, which I saw the chairman noted was free and fair and

7 safe and secure, and I think credit to the State and local election officials who did

8 tremendous work, that's really where we were very focused, in ensuring they had what

9 they needed from a cybersecurity, a physical security perspective. And then we had this

10 focus pursuant to the notification framework on the foreign interference side.

11 Q In this meeting where switchboarding is being discussed, did you have a

12 sense of -- let me ask you, did you personally have any concerns about whether

13 switchboarding implicated any First Amendment concerns?

14 A No.

15 Q Was there any discussion of whether there was any concerns of whether 16 switchboarding implicated the First Amendment?

17 A No.

18 Q You said it was at your direction. Was it your decision to no longer

19 continue switchboarding?

20 A Yeah. I mean, as the director of the agency, I'm very focused at the high

21 level in terms of vision and strategy and resources. So it was certainly a resource

22 decision, yeah.

23 Q When you assumed the role as director, what was your understanding of 24 how frequently personnel from Brian Scully's team were interacting with social media

25 companies?

1 A I really didn't have any understanding of it at all.

2 Q Once you get further into your tenure in this roughly 2022 meeting before

3 the midterms, walking out of that meeting, what was your understanding of what was

4 appropriate for CISA to interact with social media companies?

5 A I mean, it's important to understand, so we are a voluntary agency. We're

6 not a regulator. We're not law enforcement. We don't collect intel. Everything we

7 do is by, with, and through partners. And we meet with industry all the time,

8 technology companies, particularly technology companies that have an understanding of 9 threats to critical infrastructure.

10 Some of those technology companies might also own social media companies.

11 But I have been very clear that our focus, particularly if we're working with technology

12 companies, it's very focused on cybersecurity threats to our critical infrastructure.

13 Q And does mis- and disinformation fall within one of the cybersecurity

14 threats?

15 A Tell me more.

16 Q Well, there's obviously been much debate about the scope of CISA's role in

17 whether mis-, dis-, and malinformation is a type of cybersecurity issue. I guess just in

18 your answer, are you trying to exclude that MDM work, or is that one of the cybersecurity

19 issues that you have in mind?

20 A I'm very focused on the technical aspects of cybersecurity. So insofar as it

21 relates to election infrastructure security, our concerns were around ransomware. Our

22 concerns were around distributed denial of service. We're focused on doing

23 assessments of cybersecurity, ensuring that they had things like endpoint detection,

24 response capabilities, that they had incident response plans to deal with cybersecurity

25 threats. So that was really the focus.

1 Q Uh-huh. As part of that role, does that include any focus on content, such 2 as information that's misleading about elections, misinformation that's true but
3 represented in a misleading way?
4 A No. If there was information that specifically was about threats to election
5 officials or election infrastructure. But that's not our mission if it's foreign. So the IC
6 would focus on that. If it was evidence of a crime, then law enforcement. But our 7 authorities are basically to focus on cybersecurity, cyber defense.
8 Q And to your understanding, help me understand better, for Brian Scully's 9 team, what is their role ultimately then if it's not as content focused?
10 A I don't -- Brian's -- so I don't -- I don't know. I mean, it's many layers below
11 me, so I don't know if he still has a team.
12 Q Did you receive any reports or indications that switchboarding continued
13 after you gave this direction in that meeting?
14 A No.
15 Q What about other direct interactions with social media companies?
16 A No. We -- I mean, for me, I have not interacted with social media
17 companies that I recall. And, frankly, my teams have interactions with technology 18 companies all the time as it relates to cyber threats to critical infrastructure.
19 But I think it's been very clear that insofar as election officials had concerns
20 around disinformation, our focus is very specifically on ensuring we can put out accurate
21 information about election infrastructure security.
22 Q You've testified before and referred to something, cognitive infrastructure.
23 Do you recall using that term?
24 A When I testified? Which testimony?
25 Q I believe it was for the -- was it House Budget?

1 [redacted]. I believe the cognitive infrastructure was a media article that you
2 were quoted in.
3 [redacted]. Director, if you don't recall it, can you guys refresh her
4 recollection with whatever you're referring to.
5 [redacted]. I'm sorry, if you're referring to a specific article, can you let us know
6 the date?
7 [redacted]. Yeah. We are getting that.
8 [redacted]. We're having a little trouble hearing back here, so reiterating the 9 request --
10 Ms. Easterly. Sorry. Sorry. I'll try to use my military command voice.
11 Coming off a little bit of a cold.
12 [redacted]. The room is not designed for acoustics.
13 [redacted]. I'm not sure we have that specifically marked, [redacted], so I'm going 14 to look through.
15 [redacted]. Okay. Just when you pull it.
16 BY [redacted]:
17 Q In the lead-up to the 2022 midterms, to your understanding, was Brian 18 Scully's team meeting regularly with social media companies?
19 A I don't know.
20 Q If Brian Scully's team was still flagging mis- and disinformation for social 21 media content moderation teams, who ultimately within your chain of command is 22 responsible for reporting that to you?
23 A To the best of my knowledge, there has been no flagging of content to social 24 media companies since the early on in 2021.
25 Q But if there were direct communications between CISA and social media

1 companies, is that ultimately reported through the National Risk Management Center?

2 [redacted]. Just to clarify, [redacted], can you just be clear if you're talking

3 about what is referred to as switchboarding or talking to social media companies?

4 Those are two distinct activities. Just so the director understands your questions.

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q Yeah. I'm happy to spell this out more.

7 A Yeah, that would be --

8 Q Just our understanding is that switchboarding is a type of direct interaction

9 with social media companies that CISA used to have.

10 A Under the previous --

11 Q Yeah, under the previous director. But CISA had ongoing direct

12 communications with social media companies. So trying to get a sense of you gave a

13 direction at this meeting. Who is responsible for reporting to you if this isn't being 14 followed?

15 A The direction I gave at the meeting was specific to this issue about 16 forwarding emails. Again, we are a voluntary partnership agency. If there are

17 meetings with technology companies, to include social media companies, the focus,

18 again, would be about cyber threats to election infrastructure.

19 That is the value of any interactions that there would have been. But I

20 don't -- that's very in the weeds for me, so I couldn't speak to any specifics.

21 Q In terms of your direction, walking out of that meeting --

22 A Yeah.

23 Q -- was it your intent to convey whether Brian Scully and his team -- so no

24 more switchboarding -- but can they go and flag independently on their own for social

25 media companies that a certain post is misinformation?

1 A I don't think so.

2 Q You don't think that would be consistent with the direction you gave?

3 A No. And as far as I am aware, there has been no more of this forwarding of

4 emails between election officials and social media platforms. As far as I am aware, that

5 stopped in early January -- or early 2021 -- certainly before I arrived.

6 Q Do you have a sense of the frequency in which Brian Scully's team met with 7 social media companies in the lead-up to the 2022 election?

8 A I don't.

9 Q There are a number of media invites, much of this out in the public domain.

10 Was there any mechanism for you to be made aware of whether during these meetings

11 members of Brian Scully's team or the personnel in CISA are communicating with social 12 media companies what types of content to be on the lookout for?

13 A Was I on the invites?

14 Q You've given this direction as the director.

15 A Well, I have -- again, very big agency. I have people that work for me.

16 They work very closely with our legal team.

17 And certainly if there was something happening that did not comport with my

18 direction, I'm sure I would be aware of it. So I have no awareness that there was any

19 continuation of the activity to forward emails from State and local election officials to 20 social media platforms.

21 And just to be very clear, [redacted], and I've said this many, many times, CISA does not

22 censor, has never censored, does not use third parties to censor. Every day the men

23 and women of my agency execute their mission to reduce risk to the American people in 24 a way that comports with the law and the Constitution.

25 So the forwarding of emails was not in any way a form of censorship. The reason

1 why I gave direction for it to stop is I thought it was a terrible use of precious resources.
2 Q Do you have familiarity with the Election Integrity Partnership?
3 A Not really.
4 Q Do you know who Alex Stamos is?
5 A I do.
6 Q Did you know Alex Stamos prior to taking the role as director?
7 A I knew him a little bit. He was known as a cybersecurity expert certainly in 8 the community. I didn't have any regular interaction with him, but I asked him to serve 9 on our advisory committee given his cyber expertise.
10 Q Have you since learned about the role that the Election Integrity Partnership
11 played related to the 2020 election?
12 A Very vaguely, because, again, I wasn't around during that period of time and 13 key folks had departed before I got there. So not really.
14 Q Were there any discussions in 2022 about whether CISA could offer any 15 support to the Election Integrity Partnership?
16 A Not that I know of.
17 Q It's your understanding, based off the role of the Election Integrity
18 Partnership, is that the type of effort that CISA can support?
19 A I don't really understand what it is.
20 Q It's in lead-up, both in 2020 and 2022, a group of researchers, Stanford,
21 University of Washington, that made recommendations, especially in 2020, to social 22 media companies directly with recommendations on how to moderate content.
23 A I'm really not familiar with it and I don't -- I'm not familiar with anything we 24 did with it during my tenure.
25 Q Do you know who Kate Starbird is?

1 A Yes.

2 Q How do you know Dr. Starbird?

3 A She was on my advisory committee.

4 Q Did you know her prior to her serving?

5 A I did not.

6 Q How did you find her name?

7 A She was -- I forget how I found her. She was recommended as somebody

8 who was smart in the world of disinformation.

9 [Easterly Exhibit No. 1

10 was marked for identification.]

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q I'd like to introduce as exhibit 1 a November 10th, 2021, article from The Hill.

13 A Got it.

14 Q I just wanted to return to the question I had earlier about your reference to 15 cognitive infrastructure. It's used on the second page, three paragraphs down.

16 A Infrastructure?

17 Q What did you mean by the term cognitive infrastructure?

18 A When is this? Like, 2021?

19 Q Yes.

20 A So it was quite a while ago. I don't recall using this very -- I mean, I think I

21 probably just meant how people make decisions, and so it's important to have the most

22 accurate information to be able to make the best decisions.

23 Q Do you recall any conversations within CISA regarding how to develop or 24 strengthen cognitive infrastructure?

25 A No. I think I know much has been made probably of that phrase, but it was

1 a one-off comment.

2 Q At the top paragraph on that same page you say that you're going to grow

3 and strengthen your misinformation/disinformation team.

4 At this point, this is an article from November 2021. What was your intention at 5 that point of how to grow and strengthen the misinformation/disinformation team?

6 A From what I recall, [redacted], and this was very much informed by my discussions

7 with the staff as I was preparing for my confirmation, and again, I very much remember

8 the first question the chairman of my authorizing committee asked me was about the 9 misinformation/disinformation mission. And I felt that the signal that I was getting was

10 this was something that the Congress, which of course authorizes and appropriates

11 money to us, wanted to see growth.

12 As I recall, so I had a -- so I was looking at that. It's why I asked one of our

13 subcommittees from the cyber committee, cyber advisory committee, to look at are there

14 ways that we can help with this disinformation issue around election infrastructure.

15 And then ultimately we didn't end up providing additional resources to that team,

16 because I felt that the focus on providing accurate information and helping people

17 understand and election officials understand the tactics of foreign malign influence and

18 really amplifying the voices of State and local officials, I felt like that was the best place

19 for the mission.

20 Q And when you say you ultimately decided not to provide more resources,

21 when approximately was that decision made?

22 A I don't recall. I think it was probably sometime in -- I don't really recall. I

23 don't want to speculate. But it was probably in 2022.

24 Q If the advisory subcommittee on mis- and disinformation ran throughout

25 2022, was this a decision made at the end of that process, near the election, or was this

1 earlier --

2 A I don't -- I have a vague recollection. I remember getting briefed on

3 recommendations in June or July of 2022, and then I think we shut it down. So it ran for

4 about six months, I think, and then I closed out that subcommittee and stood up some

5 other ones.

6 Q Who decided who would be on that MDM subcommittee?

7 A I don't know it was called MDM subcommittee. I thought it was mis- and

8 disinformation, but I don't have a perfect recollection.

9 Folks within -- so within the committees, people decide where they want to focus

10 areas, so I don't know how exactly -- who made those decisions, but typically they're

11 made within the committee itself. People say, "Oh, I want to serve on this, I want to 12 serve on that."

13 Q Okay. Who is responsible for deciding people for the overall advisory 14 committee at CISA?

15 A I chose them.

16 Q And you don't recall how you received Dr. Starbird as a potential person?

17 A I don't recall.

18 Q Do you know the former Twitter executive Vijaya Gadde?

19 A Who is it?

20 Q The former Twitter executive Ms. Gadde, G-a-d-d-e?

21 A Oh, Vijaya Gadde?

22 Q Yes.

23 A Yes. She was on it as well.

24 Q Did you know her prior to taking the role as director?

25 A Not really, no. I mean, I knew vaguely who she was, but no.

1 Q Do you remember how her name was referred to you?

2 A Not specifically. I think I had -- and I don't remember. I think I'd asked

3 some just generally people in the technology community like who were people who were

4 experts in things like tech and cyber and privacy. So people were teed up. I don't

5 remember the specifics.

6 Q Did you have someone who was helping you for names who were in the 7 mis- and dis- --

8 A So the folks who ran the committee, they -- and some people

9 self-nominated. So there were all kinds of names that came to me. So it was like a

10 bunch of different sourcing of -- I think there was -- I don't even remember. There were

11 likely more names. I don't remember how many people started out on it, but we ended

12 up with, like, 20 or so.

13 Q Do you know who Renee DiResta is?

14 A Yes.

15 Q How did you first get to know Ms. DiResta?

16 A She was, I think, although my recollection of this is very vague, she was part

17 of an effort when I was at the White House in 2016 to -- we were focused on preventing 18 terrorists from using the information environment to recruit and radicalize terrorists.

19 And there was some work that was -- and I was the head of CT, so there was some work

20 that outside people came in to sort of come up with how can we best do this, and I think

21 she was part of that.

22 Q Did you have any interactions with her during your tenure as director?

23 A Maybe once.

24 Q Do you recall what the occasion was for that?

25 A It wasn't like a formal thing. I think they -- that she was -- I just remember

1 seeing her at an event, and I don't remember the details around it. But I didn't have any
2 real interactions with her.
3 Q In either your role as director or previously, have you had any interactions
4 with the FBI's Foreign Influence Task Force?
5 A No.
6 Q In either your role in the White House or your current role as director, have
7 you had any interactions with the Global Engagement Center?
8 A Is this the State Department thing?
9 Q Uh-huh.
10 A Yes. When it was stood up, I think, we did a little bit of work specific to the 11 ISIS mission. But, yeah, in 2016.
12 Q Uh-huh. What about as director?
13 A Who was the director?
14 [redacted]. Do you know who the special envoy is?
15 [redacted]. Currently? Maybe Adele Ruppe.
16 [redacted]. We'll pull it. We can wait until the next round.
17 BY [redacted]:
18 Q Have you had any interactions with Andy Slavitt during your role as director?
19 A Who is that?
20 Q He was a former senior White House adviser who led the COVID Response
21 Team.
22 A Never heard of him.
23 Q During your tenure as director at CISA, was there any discussion regarding 24 combating mis- and disinformation related to COVID-19 or vaccines?
25 A No.

1 Q Did you ever have any discussions with the Chief Counsel's Office regarding
2 switchboarding? Were there any legal or constitutional issues?
3 A The Chief Counsel's Office?
4 Q At CISA.
5 A Specific on the forwarding of emails thing? Maybe. I don't recall specific
6 ones. I mean, probably in -- to me, it was not -- again, it was very focused on measures
7 of effectiveness and resources and was not a legal issue. So if there was something that 8 had to do with the legal issues, I don't recall.
9 Q Are you familiar with the Disinformation Governance Board?
10 A I am.
11 Q When did you first become aware that there would be an effort to try to 12 stand up this board?
13 A I don't know if it was 2022 or 2023. I just --
14 Q It was '22.
15 A It was '22? Maybe in, like, early 2022.
16 Q And do you recall who first brought it to your attention?
17 A I don't.
18 Q When the idea was presented to you, did you understand what was the 19 purpose of the board?
20 A It wasn't brought to me. I didn't -- I wasn't involved in it at all.
21 Once it became a public thing, I recall the explanation was that it was looking to 22 better coordinate efforts in the department that was focused on misinformation and 23 disinformation. That's my sort of vague recollection of it.
24 Q Do you know who within CISA was the point of contact to discuss how CISA 25 fit into --

1 A No. I know it was led out of the department, but I don't know who. I
2 didn't see this as anything that we were particularly involved in.
3 Q During your tenure, there has been this mis- and dis- branch within ESR.
4 Do you recall any discussions about whether that branch would be one of the ones that
5 would be coordinating under the proposed board?
6 A I don't.
7 Q Have you ever met --
8 A Just to be clear, to give you context, what was happening at this point in 9 time was Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine, and we were -- that was where my 10 intense focus was for -- from late 2021 to, I mean, deep into 2022. And so that's 11 really -- that's why I don't have this, like, direct -- that's really where my focus was at the 12 time.
13 Q Which of your deputies would you have relied upon the most during this
14 time?
15 A I rely upon -- I had both a deputy and an executive director. The deputy 16 was the one who was in charge of our mission-enabling offices and the executive director
17 was in charge of policy, so I relied on them for different things.
18 Q Did either take the lead on handling questions or engagement with the 19 proposed board that was being set up?
20 A Not that I know of, no.
21 Q Have you ever met Nina Jankowicz?
22 A No.
23 Q Are you familiar with the Center for Internet Security?
24 A The CIS? Yes.
25 Q And what is CIS?

1 A It's a nonprofit focused on cybersecurity. They have these controls that
2 focus on cybersecurity of critical infrastructure. So we had some interaction with them.
3 And they're also -- they have a relationship with the multistate ISAC and the 4 EI-ISAC. So I think we have, like, a grant program with them.
5 Q And what is the role of the EI-ISAC?
6 A It's to provide threat information to its members. The members, I think,
7 are about thousands of State and local election officials to provide threat advisories and 8 very specifically focused on cybersecurity.
9 Q Uh-huh. Does it notify individuals about mis- and disinformation?
10 A Not that I know of. Our cooperative, our relationship with CIS is very 11 specifically in the grant itself. It's just focused on cybersecurity, because it's their 12 expertise.

1 [10:59 a.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q And when you use the term "cybersecurity," you're excluding focus on the 4 content of mis- and disinformation?

5 A Yeah. Cybersecurity, when I say cybersecurity I'm really talking about the

6 confidentiality, integrity, and availability of the technical systems that underpin

7 infrastructure.

8 Q To your understanding, has there ever been a time that the EI-ISAC was 9 focused on content such as mis- and disinformation?

10 A I don't think so. Not that I know of.

11 Q Either during your meeting in -- sometime in 2022 or otherwise, has there

12 been any discussion regarding taking the prior role in switchboarding that [inaudible]

13 engaged in and relying on CIS or the EI-ISAC to act?

14 A There's not that -- no.

15 Q How did you first become familiar with CISA's providing a grant for CIS?

16 A I don't recall. I might have been briefed on it as a part of overall grant

17 programs, but I don't want to speculate.

18 Q Did you have any familiarity with CIS prior to becoming director or in your

19 prep to becoming director?

20 A I think I became aware of it during my preparation for Senate confirmation

21 hearings. So it was probably after I was -- after I was nominated. And it was because

22 of the, as I recall, this whole idea of these controls that they have. So how does

23 infrastructure use various compensating controls to reduce risk to infrastructure.

24 Q Have you had -- received any information from either Brian Scully, Geoff

25 Hale, anyone in the reporting chain, about requests from either State and local officials or

1 CIS about the creation of a misinformation portal to expedite flagging of election-related
2 mis- and disinformation?
3 A No.
4 Q In that meeting regarding the -- where you provided direction on no longer
5 using resources to engage in switchboarding, was there anyone in the meeting that 6 advocated for continuing switchboarding?
7 A Not that I recall.
8 Q Was the discussion only focused on resources or were there any other
9 reasons for or against switchboarding that were discussed?
10 A My focus was on resources. I always focus broadly at CISA. As you know,
11 we're a very new agency with a -- I want to make sure that we are good stewards of 12 resources. So one of the things I really try to do is to focus the Agency on not just 13 measures of performance but really measures of effectiveness. How are we using the 14 resources? Like, we'e using resources that Congress gave to us reduce risks to the 15 critical infrastructure Americans rely on every hour of every day. So that is typically how 16 I'm thinking about resource allocation. And, certainly, if there were any issues around,
17 you know, the legality of things, that would obviously be brought to me, but nothing ever 18 was.
19 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please.
20 [Recess.]
21 [redacted]. We can go back on the record.
22 EXAMINATION
23 BY [redacted]:
24 Q I want to start by talking a bit more about your professional background.
25 You served in the Army for 20 years. Is that right?

1 A Twenty-one.

2 Q Twenty-one. And you became a major in 2000?

3 A Maybe. When did I get promoted? Either 2000 or 2001.

4 Q Okay.

5 A I don't recall.

6 Q And then you were promoted to Lieutenant Colonel?

7 A Uh-huh.

8 Q Is that -- can you say "yes" for the record?

9 A Yes, I was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel prior to my deployment to -- my

10 first deployment to Iraq.

11 Q And during that time you helped stand up and lead the Army's information

12 warfare battalion. Is that right?

13 A It was actually the Army Network Warfare Battalion. So it wasn't

14 information warfare, it was cyber warfare.

15 Q Generally, at an unclassified level, can you describe what work that battalion

16 did?

17 A At an unclassified level we were focused on computer network exploitation

18 and, as necessary, computer network attack.

19 Q And then you mentioned your deployments. You were deployed abroad

20 during your military service?

21 A Yes. I was deployed to Haiti in '95; to Bosnia in '97; to Kosovo in the 22 summer of 2000; to Iraq in 2006, 2007, and part of 2008; and to Afghanistan, 2010, 2011.

23 Q Thank you for your service.

24 After that you also worked for NSA's elite Tailored Access Operations unit. Is

25 that right?

1 A Correct.

2 Q Broadly, at an unclassified level, can you describe what kind of work you did

3 there?

4 A NSA's mission is a foreign intelligence collection mission. So this is really

5 about using the computer network operation skill set to get foreign intelligence

6 information.

7 Q And you also helped establish the U.S. Cyber Command. Is that right?

8 A Uh-huh.

9 Q Is that a yes?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Thank you.

12 A Yes.

13 Q What is the U.S. Cyber Command?

14 A It was the combatant command stood up in 2009, 2010 -- I think officially the 15 2010 -- to project power in cyberspace and to defend military networks.

16 Q You then served as the deputy director for counterterrorism at the NSA. Is

17 that right?

18 A Correct.

19 Q And how long were you in that role?

20 A I think shortly -- I was in that role shortly after I returned from Afghanistan as 21 a cyber advisor until I went to the White House. So it's May of 2011 to October of 2013.

22 Q And what were your responsibilities in that role?

23 A I was in charge of developing and implementing NSA's counterterrorism

24 strategy.

25 Q And then you mentioned after that you went to the White House and

1 worked on counterterrorism issues. Is that right?

2 A Yes, the senior director for counterterrorism in charge of -- so leading the

3 development and implementation and resourcing of global counterterrorism strategy and

4 hostage policy.

5 Q And then you mentioned after that you went to Morgan Stanley. Is that

6 right?

7 A Yes.

8 Q You mentioned working with a Treasury group. Could you remind me of 9 the acronym that you mentioned?

10 A There was something called the FBIIC. And I don't know what it stands for,

11 but the FBIIC is on the -- the FBIIC is on the commercial side on firms. And the FBIIC is

12 sort of the -- I think it stands for like financial banking or Federal banking. It's sort of the 13 government entity so that government and the private sector were working together.

14 Q And then you became director of CISA. Is that right?

15 A Correct.

16 Q You were unanimously confirmed by the Senate?

17 A Correct.

18 Q So you've been working in national security for over two decades. Is that

19 fair to say?

20 A Oh, I'd say over three decades.

21 Q Over three decades?

22 A Yeah.

23 Q Have you won any awards for your work throughout your career?

24 A I have.

25 Q Could you describe some of the most prestigious awards?

1 A I received a Bronze Star for my time -- my service in Iraq. I received a
2 Bronze Star for my service in Afghanistan. I received the American Hostage Freedom
3 Award for my work around hostages being held by terrorist groups. I received the Grace
4 Hopper Award. I received the George C. Marshall Award in Ethical Leadership.
5 Those are just a couple.
6 Q Thank you.
7 Are you proud of the work that you've done for the national security?
8 A Incredibly.
9 Q Can you give us some examples of the work that you're the most proud of?
10 A I mean, I would probably point to two. One was when I was in Iraq in 2006,
11 I was there as part of the surge. And as you all may recall, this was a time where we 12 were suffering enormous casualties from improvised explosive devices that were being 13 set off by terrorist groups. And so I was asked to go there as the head of our National 14 Security Agency military forces on the ground to operationalize a high-tech system called 15 Real Time Regional Gateway, RT-RG, which essentially took all of the intel in theater and 16 correlated it and enriched it to enable JSOC, the Joint Special Operations forces, to be 17 able to illuminate terrorist networks, not in weeks or days, but in hours or minutes so 18 they could prosecute those networks.
19 And it was a really, really hard project. We were in a van in the middle of Camp
20 Victory trying to code this thing and make it work, and there was all kinds of borders and 21 rocket fire everywhere. But, you know, we were able to get the thing up and running.
22 And, ultimately, it provided a capability that allowed the forces on the ground to take 23 thousands of insurgents off the battlefield and was credited with saving many lives of 24 Iraqi civilians and troops on the ground. So it's one of the things I'm most proud of.
25 It's what I got the first Bronze Star for.

1 Q Moving on to CISA's work. You mentioned CISA considers election security
2 a critical infrastructure subsector. Is that right?
3 A Well, we do because it was designated as such actually before I got there,
4 but --
5 Q And so it was designated in 2017. Is that right?
6 A Yes.
7 Q And, generally, why is election infrastructure considered a critical
8 infrastructure subsector?
9 A I think at the aftermath, as I understand it -- I wasn't here -- in the 10 aftermath of Russian attempts to interfere in the 2016 election, it was recognized that 11 election infrastructure should be critical infrastructure given that, at the end of the day, it
12 is free and fair and safe and secure elections are a matter of national security. And 13 that's what critical infrastructure is, infrastructure that is vital to national security,
14 economic security, or public health and safety.
15 Q And you mentioned that your background is primarily in cybersecurity. Is
16 that right?
17 A Cybersecurity, and I had the counterterrorism work as well.
18 Q CISA is focused both on cybersecurity and other aspects of infrastructure
19 security. Is that right?
20 A And physical security.
21 Q Yep, physical security.
22 Generally, can you describe what cybersecurity work CISA does to address in the 23 election infrastructure sector?
24 A Yes. So as -- I've talked about this a lot because it's something that I'm 25 really proud of. Over the past almost 4 years, there has been enormous work done to

1 improve the security and resilience of election infrastructure, to the point where I can
2 say, have said, with confidence that election infrastructure has never been more secure.
3 So from a place where there was very little mechanisms to detect and prevent cyber 4 threats, now you have multiple layers in place to prevent any sort of tampering or 5 manipulation with election infrastructure. And a lot of that was enabled by work that
6 we've been doing with State and local election officials, whether that's helping them
7 instantiate and point detection response capabilities, blocking of access to malicious
8 websites, cybersecurity assessments to help them reduce risks, do things like phishing or 9 ransomware, numerous or multiple tabletop exercises to ensure that they were prepared
10 to respond to things like ransomware attacks or distributed denial of service attacks. So
11 an enormous amount of work.
12 In just this past election cycle, we've provided more than 700 cybersecurity
13 assessments to State and local election officials to help them reduce cyber risk.
14 Q And can you generally describe what the physical security threat to election
15 infrastructure looks like?
16 A The physical threats are mostly about threats to election officials and to 17 election offices. And this was something that election officials told me, almost since I
18 took the job, that they were increasingly concerned about. This includes harassment,
19 bullying, swatting, threats of violence to election officials and their families -- election
20 officials of both parties and their families, largely stemming from unfounded claims that 21 the 2020 election did not represent the will of the American people.
22 And so we did a lot of work to help election officials and election offices build
23 security and resilience that includes things like over, I would say, almost 1,300 physical
24 security assessments. So looking for vulnerabilities in the physical security of election
25 offices. So that's why you probably read about things like panic buttons, bollards,

1 bulletproof glass, all kinds of things to help election offices secure places where they were
2 going to count the vote, and then also work around personal considerations for people
3 who are in elections.
4 So we look to provide advisory assistance and things like training for how do you
5 deescalate tense situations. And, you know, even though this is a very small part of our
6 mission, we have a $3 billion budget. And the election security mission is I think about 7 $45 million. So it's a tiny amount.
8 I am really proud of the work that the team was able to do to help election
9 officials run safe and secure and free and fair elections. And I think it was a good day for 10 a democracy.
11 Q I want to talk next about the disinformation threat to infrastructure. I'm 12 going to introduce as exhibit 2 the 2024 DHS Homeland Threat Assessment.
13 [Easterly Exhibit No. 2
14 was marked for identification.]
15 BY [redacted]:
16 Q Have you seen this before?
17 A I have not. No.
18 Q I'm not going to ask you to read the whole thing, but take your time to look 19 at it.
20 [redacted]. Do you want her to focus on any particular --
21 [redacted]. Sure. I think we're going to be focusing on information on page 6
22 and page 19. But take as much time as you want to read it.
23 Ms. Easterly. Sure.
24 Sorry, 6 and what?
25 [redacted]. Nineteen.

1 Ms. Easterly. Nineteen.

2 [redacted]. Are you familiar with DHS' homeland threat assessments

3 generally?

4 Ms. Easterly. Generally.

5 [redacted]. Let's look at the very first page I think -- the methodology

6 page. It's labeled iv.

7 BY [redacted]:

8 Q The Homeland Threat Assessment is prepared by the Office of Intelligence

9 and Analysis at DHS. Are you familiar with that office?

10 A Yes.

11 Q And broadly what's your understanding of what that office does?

12 A They focus on intelligence relevant to homeland security.

13 Q They're not part of CISA, correct?

14 A No.

15 Q Okay. So they do -- is it fair to say that OI -- it's sometimes abbreviated

16 OIA, correct -- or I&A? I'm sorry.

17 A I&A.

18 Q I&A.

19 A Yeah.

20 Q I&A provides recommendations from an external perspective -- perspectives

21 external to CISA, correct?

22 A Yeah. We don't do a lot with them.

23 Q Okay.

24 A You mean provides recommendations?

25 Q Well, I'm looking at this. They make some comments about generally the

1 threat --

2 A Yeah.

3 Q -- landscape, for example, in advance of the 2024 elections.

4 They're not part of CISA. They're doing that from outside of CISA, correct?

5 A Correct.

6 Q Okay. Thank you.

7 A I don't know if my -- I don't do much with them.

8 BY [redacted]:

9 Q Looking at a page with "Methodology" with little Roman numeral iv.

10 A Okay.

11 Q This says that this "Homeland Threat Assessment reflects the insights from

12 across the Department, the intelligence community, and other critical homeland security

13 stakeholders. It focuses on the most direct, pressing threats to our homeland during the 14 next year and is organized into four sections." And then speaks further about the 15 Homeland Threat Assessment. Is that right?

16 A Yes.

17 Q And then looking at page 6, there's a section entitled, "Foreign 18 Misinformation, Disinformation, and Malinformation." Do you see that?

19 A Yes.

20 Q This section reads, "Nation-state adversaries likely will continue to spread

21 mis-, dis-, and malinformation aimed at undermining trust in government institutions, our

22 social cohesion, and democratic processes. The proliferation and accessibility of

23 emergent cyber and AI tools probably will help these actors bolster their malign

24 information campaigns by enabling the creation of low-cost, synthetic text, image, and

25 audio-based content with higher quality. Russia, China, and Iran continue to develop

1 the most sophisticated malign influence campaigns online. Many of the tactics these
2 adversaries use to influence U.S. audiences will likely be used in the lead-up to the 2024
3 election."
4 Did I read that right?
5 A Correct.
6 Q And then the section goes on to list different tactics that foreign malign
7 influence campaigns may utilize. Do you see that?
8 A Yes.
9 Q Do you have any information that -- to contradict the threat assessment 10 here that foreign misinformation, disinformation, and malinformation are a threat to the 11 U.S. homeland?
12 A I mean, when I've talked about it with respect to election infrastructure, I 13 talked about the fact that election infrastructure has never been more secure, but the 14 threat environment has never been more complex. And we talked about the cyber 15 threat, the physical threats, and have talked about threats from our foreign adversaries 16 who remain intent on influencing and interfering in our elections, specifically, to 17 undermine American confidence in the legitimacy of those locations and to stoke partisan 18 discord.
19 And I haven't read this document, but essentially that comes from the work that 20 the Office of the Director of National Intelligence has been focused on over the past
21 several months. They have been doing regular updates to provide information about 22 what foreign adversaries are doing. And I've had teammates that have sat in on those 23 updates. So I don't think it's any different from this. I don't -- as far as I'm aware, they 24 don't use the term "malinformation." But where they've been really focused and 25 therefore where I've been focused is on our foreign adversaries looking to malignly

1 influence or interfere in our elections.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q And when you say you've been really focused on that threat in particular,

4 can you explain what you mean by focused? Are you just learning about it or is CISA

5 actually taking steps to prevent those actions?

6 A Yeah. I mean, we don't have an ability to prevent because we're not law

7 enforcement, we're not a regulator.

8 Q Understand.

9 A So what we do is really two things. We work with the intelligence

10 community, ODNI, and the FBI pursuant to what's called the Notification Framework that

11 was developed in the previous administration that really, as necessary, puts out joint

12 statements around foreign adversary activity. So we did four of those, and those

13 ultimately come up to me for final approval. And those were around the Iranian hack

14 and leak operations around -- and then two others around Russian videos: One where

15 ballots were being ripped up, one where migrants were purportedly illegally voting in

16 Georgia. So that's where I say, you know, focused pursuant to the Notification

17 Framework.

18 And then as I mentioned earlier to [redacted], all of the focus that we have had is really

19 about, from a CISA perspective, just ensuring that as a lead Federal Government agency

20 for election infrastructure security that there's accurate information about election

21 infrastructure specifically.

22 Q And I think we're going to get back to that in a little bit, that piece about the

23 making sure it's accurate information available. But quickly on the notifications, is it fair

24 to say that those notifications are broadly disseminated?

25 A They're public. Yeah, absolutely.

1 Q And talking about the Iran hack just because that's a recent example, is it fair
2 to say that the purpose in distributing that was so that people would know this had
3 happened and could critically assess any information that might flow from it? And I
4 guess that might be a compound question, so if you want me to break that down I can.
5 A No. I mean, I think it's continent with what I mentioned earlier, you know,
6 that the community and credit to the intelligence community for very rapidly
7 declassifying information recognized the importance of being transparent for the 8 American people about what our foreign adversaries are trying to do to interfere in or to 9 influence our elections. I think as Americans we can all agree that our foreign 10 adversaries should not have a vote in our democracy.
11 Q And apologies for keeping to press on this. But the Notification Framework
12 involves multiple different agencies, correct?
13 A Yes.
14 Q What's CISA's actual role in that process?
15 A Yeah. So we're involved insofar as it relates to cyber defense or 16 cybersecurity. So when you see the four joint statements that have come out, it's really 17 our contribution would be to say, you know, to mitigate the threat of hacking or phishing
18 these are the best practices. And if you think you've been the victim of a cyber incident, 19 here is the contact information.
20 We're not intel. We're not law enforcement. So that's not our role. Our role
21 is really specific to cybersecurity, cyber defense best practices.
22 Q Okay. Thank you.
23 And we'll introduce as exhibit 3 the notification on the Iran hack.
24 [Easterly Exhibit No. 3
25 was marked for identification.]

1 [redacted]. I believe this is the --

2 [redacted]. Okay. This actually the Russia --

3 [redacted]. This is the November 4th, so this was right before the 4 election. It discusses some of the earlier notifications as well.

5 [redacted]. And I don't know that we have questions about this. I think we're

6 just introducing so the record's complete on this.

7 Ms. Easterly. So like our main -- just as an example, our main contribution there

8 was what -- "CISA recommends voters seek out information from trusted official sources."

9 So it's really the amplification of State and local election officials and then report

10 information.

11 BY [redacted]:

12 Q You answered my question. Thank you.

13 In the earlier hour we discussed the phrase "cognitive infrastructure." And I

14 know you said you didn't remember exactly what you meant by that. But some of our

15 other witnesses have discussed similar things and said that CISA works to build resiliency

16 to things like foreign influence campaigns. Would you agree with that?

17 A I'd have to see what they said. I mean, my real focus all along is just to do

18 those three things; make sure that we can work with our IC and FBI colleagues to help

19 election officials understand the tactics of foreign malign influence operations. So some

20 of that is on our Protect2024 website, providing accurate information through

21 mechanisms like the Rumor vs. Reality website. And then, finally, and I think most

22 importantly, just amplifying what State and local election officials have said. And that's,

23 you know, where I've spent a lot of time over the past 6 months with Secretary of State

24 Phil McGrane in Idaho, Secretary of State Bob Evnen in Nebraska, Secretary of State Dave

25 Scanlan in New Hampshire, really standing side by side with election officials, and from a

1 Federal Government perspective, and they talk about it from a State perspective, why
2 Americans should have confidence in the security and integrity of our election systems.
3 Q And that amplification of trusted sources, why does CISA do that? How 4 does it help address the disinformation threat?
5 A I think at the end of the day there is a variety of reasons, skepticism about 6 the security and integrity of our election system. And I think the best way to deal with 7 that is if people have questions, which, right, legitimate people should be able to get
8 answers to questions, I really think it's important that people know that the best person
9 to ask those questions of are your State or local election officials.
10 Because the reality is, States run elections. That's what the Constitution says.
11 And if you've seen one State's election, you've seen one State's election. They're all
12 different. Different equipment, different processes. And it's a source of strength
13 because it means that no malicious actor could tamper with election infrastructure in a
14 way that could have a material impact on the outcome of, certainly the Presidential 15 election, without being detected. But it also means that the way that elections are run
16 in Michigan is different from the way they're run in Georgia, or the way they're run in 17 Ohio, or the way they're run in Arizona. And so just making that point that if you have 18 questions, talk to your State or local election officials.
19 And I also say, if you're skeptical about the security and integrity of elections, be 20 part of the process. Sign up to be a poll worker. Because most people who have
21 actually worked from 4 a.m. to 2200 at night on elections, they say, oh, now I understand 22 the multiple layers that have been put in place to ensure the security and resilience of 23 election systems.
24 Q So is it fair to say that CISA's response to the disinformation threat posed by 25 foreign adversaries is not to take down online content, but rather to amplify true

1 information?

2 A Yeah, to amplify the information coming from State and local election

3 officials and to provide accurate information about election infrastructure security.

4 Q So if someone were to leave here today and say that, when Director Easterly

5 talked about cognitive infrastructure she wanted to brainwash people into thinking a

6 certain way, is that accurate?

7 A No.

8 [redacted]. And what's your response to that allegation, if it were to be made?

9 Ms. Easterly. Much has been made of the phrase "cognitive infrastructure" in

10 the past few hours. As far as I recall, I mentioned it once to highlight, you know, the

11 mechanisms we use to make a decision. I don't know how you get from that to 12 brainwashing. I'd love to know a little bit more about what the allegations are. But,

13 you know, just to be very clear, I have dedicated nearly 35 of my years of my life to public

14 service for the American people. As you pointed out, and you asked me to point out, I,

15 you know, have two Bronze Stars, and have been sworn since I was 18 years old to

16 support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies foreign and 17 domestic.

18 So I would point to my record. Which by the way, I should also point out that

19 CISA is a nonpartisan, nonpolitical agency, and I am a lifelong Independent. I didn't take 20 this job for any political or partisan reason. I took it because I care about our national

21 security. I worked

22 for President George W. Bush. I worked for President Obama. I worked for President

23 Biden. I am very focused on protecting the American people from the myriad of threats

24 that present themselves to the critical infrastructure Americans rely on every hour of 25 every day.

1 [redacted]. Thank you.

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I want to turn to what we discussed in the earlier hour that we've called

4 switchboarding. You're familiar with that term?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Is it fair to say that the practice of switchboarding is, in fact, essentially just

7 forwarding emails?

8 A That's entirely what it is, from my understanding.

9 Q And to your knowledge, in the cases where forwarding emails occurred, CISA

10 employees were forwarding emails from State and local election officials to social media

11 companies. Is that right?

12 A That's my understanding.

13 Q And do you have an understanding of why CISA was doing this?

14 A No.

15 BY [redacted]:

16 Q And to be clear, to the extent that you don't have an understanding of why

17 CISA was doing this is because it occurred prior to your tenure, correct?

18 A Yeah, it was all done during the previous administration.

19 Q So it was all done under the Trump administration?

20 A Correct. I think there was a slight -- I think there was an overhang -- I

21 shouldn't even speculate. It was -- yeah.

22 Q But to the best of your knowledge --

23 A To the best of my knowledge it was all about the 2020 election.

24 Q Thank you.

25 [Easterly Exhibit No. 4

1 was marked for identification.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I'll introduce as exhibit 4 a DHS OIG report entitled, "DHS Improved Election

4 Infrastructure Security, but Its Role in Countering Disinformation Has Been Reduced."

5 Have you seen this before?

6 A I don't know.

7 Q Okay.

8 A That's an interesting title. I might have seen -- I don't know if I've seen a

9 final. I think I've seen a draft of it.

10 Q I'll specifically be looking at page 4, the results summary.

11 A Yeah.

12 Q But take your time to review as much as you want.

13 A Okay.

14 Q And that "Results of Review" section, in the third paragraph -- I'll just read

15 that paragraph. "DHS continued to assess that disinformation involving the time and

16 location of polling operations poses a threat to the secure and efficient conduct of the 17 election infrastructure. However, CISA personnel stated the component discontinued its

18 efforts to work directly with social media companies to counter disinformation after the 19 2022 election." Do you see that?

20 A Yeah. I don't think it's accurate. I mean, first seen on this, but I'm not

21 quite sure what that means or where it came from as I -- I mean, I don't know if it's

22 related to the forwarding of disinformation. But, certainly, as I mentioned to [redacted]

23 earlier, if this is related to the forwarding of emails, that did not happen in the 2022

24 midterms.

25 Q And there's no citation at the end of that sentence, is there?

1 A No, but it sure would be helpful.

2 Q So we talked about two different interactions CISA has had with social media

3 companies in the runup to both the 2020 and 2022 elections. In 2020, there was this

4 forwarding of emails. And then in 2022, there were these industry information sharing

5 meetings. Is that right?

6 A I am not very familiar with any -- I mean, we have industry information

7 sharing meetings all the time at CISA with respect to our meeting -- or our mission. If

8 there were meetings with technology companies, including social media companies, they

9 would be focused very specifically on threats to election infrastructure as would be the,

10 like, cyber threats to election infrastructure. I do not believe there was any discussions

11 around content.

12 Q So you've testified multiple times that the switchboarding or forwarding of 13 emails of content did not occur after early 2021. Is that right?

14 A Correct.

15 [redacted]. And to be clear, your belief is that this statement and this report is 16 inaccurate, correct?

17 Ms. Easterly. Yeah. I don't know actually know what it means. I don't see a

18 sourcing, "work directly with social media companies to counter disinformation." If

19 they're referring to the forwarding of potential disinformation, that did not occur during 20 the 2022 election, just to be very clear.

21 [redacted]. Okay. Thank you.

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q So in the previous hour we discussed why CISA stopped that practice, and 24 you mentioned you wanted to know about the measures of effectiveness of the program.

25 Is that right?

1 A Yes.

2 Q By measures of effectiveness, did you mean you wanted to know how many

3 pieces of content were taken down off of social media platforms?

4 A Just meant like, is this an effective program? What are we doing to reduce

5 risk to election infrastructure? And when I -- because it's all about, like, what we're

6 trying to do. We don't just want to understand and manage risk. We want to reduce

7 risk through tangible things like cybersecurity assessments that then lead to

8 improvements, physical security assessments that then lead to putting physical measures

9 in place to protect election offices. And this particular program couldn't even describe

10 what would be a measurement of effectiveness. It just didn't make any sense to me.

11 Q So you didn't discontinue this program because not enough content was 12 being taken down?

13 A It had nothing to do with content being taken down. You know, our -- just

14 to be very clear, you know, CISA does not censor, has never censored. Everything we do

15 is in alignment with the law and the Constitution. So there would never have been any

16 discussion about content being taken down. That's not our mission. That's not our 17 focus. And that is never where I would have positioned the Agency.

18 Q I want to turn to the advisory committee. We've discussed it a bit in the 19 last hour. Generally, what was the cybersecurity -- the CISA Cybersecurity Advisory

20 Committee?

21 A It is a committee set up pursuant to authorities received in the 2021 National

22 Defense Authorization Act. And it's supposed to be a group of advisors from various

23 critical infrastructure sectors from the technology world, the cybersecurity world, the 24 privacy world, who are focused on providing recommendations about how to optimize

25 various aspects of our mission.

1 Q And then, specifically, you were asked about the Protecting Critical
2 Infrastructure from Misinformation and Disinformation Subcommittee. Is that right?
3 A Yes.
4 Q To the best of your knowledge, what was the purpose of this subcommittee?
5 A Again, this was sort of off the back of discussions with the chairman of my 6 authorizing committee and what, to me, seemed like very bipartisan discussions around
7 protecting election infrastructure from disinformation, in particular foreign adversary
8 disinformation. And so the idea was, are there ways to enhance our ability to do that?
9 So that was the ask, high level.
10 Q Did you have a specific role in the subcommittee, like attending the 11 meetings?
12 A No, I'm basically firewalled. So I don't -- I'm not allowed to be part of the 13 subcommittees. The only thing that comes to me materially are final written 14 recommendations, and they come to me right before they provide those widely 15 transparently -- all this, as you probably know, everything's up on the web page. The 16 tasking, the -- all of that -- final things. Because the only thing that really matters is what 17 ends up coming to me. And then I take a look at it and decide whether to accept or 18 decline.
19 Q And the subcommittee, the mis- and disinformation subcommittee, did 20 submit final recommendations to you. Is that right?
21 A Yes.
22 Q Did CISA accept all of the recommendations of that subcommittee?
23 A I don't remember. In general, we don't usually accept just across the 24 board. We don't usually accept them all. So we typically may accept, partial accept,
25 decline. Sometimes the recommendations don't make sense for us given our mission

1 and authorities. Sometimes they don't make sense from a resource perspective, so
2 I -- but I don't recall.
3 Q The allegation has been made that this subcommittee recommended that 4 CISA be placed in a situation to be an arbiter of truth by detecting mis- and 5 disinformation. Is that accurate, from your recollection?
6 A No.
7 Q Why not?
8 A I don't even know where to begin. What is -- tell me again.
9 Q The allegation has been made that the subcommittee recommended that 10 CISA become the arbiter of truth.
11 A What does that mean?
12 Q By detecting or -- yeah, by detecting mis- and disinformation.
13 A I wouldn't know what to make of that. I don't --
14 Q Does CISA detect mis- and disinformation?
15 A We don't monitor information. It's not our mission, so -- and I don't know
16 what it means to be the arbiter of truth. As I mentioned earlier, what we are looking to 17 do is to provide access to Americans about accurate information when it comes to 18 election infrastructure security.
19 Q You were also asked in the prior hour about CIS, the Center for Internet
20 Security. Do you remember that?
21 A I do.
22 Q You talked about CIS having cybersecurity controls. Is that right?
23 A Yes.
24 Q Could you explain what a control is in that context?
25 A Yes. So it could be something as simple as putting a firewall in place to

1 block malicious activity. It could be best practices around patching vulnerabilities,
2 external-facing vulnerabilities, particularly vulnerabilities that are being exploited by
3 cyber criminals for ransomware attacks.
4 So one of the big focus areas over the past 3-plus years is to help critical
5 infrastructure owners and operators implement better mechanisms to protect their
6 infrastructure. We were asked to create something called the Cybersecurity
7 Performance Goals, which are ways to reduce risk to cyber threats. And so I was 8 interested in, you know, other -- CIS I think is a nonprofit, but it has some good cyber 9 expertise. So I was interested in other types of ways of articulating controls,
10 compensating controls to reduce the risk of cyber threats.
11 Q And, finally, I know you mentioned that you were not part of the specific
12 USG industry meetings with social media companies, but could you describe generally
13 why CISA might be having industry meetings?
14 A Again, so our mission is to lead the national effort to understand, manage,
15 and reduce risk to the critical infrastructure Americans rely on every hour of every day for 16 water, for power, for aviation, for healthcare, for finance, for transportation, for 17 communication. The vast majority of that critical infrastructure is owned and operated
18 by the private sector. And so to protect and defend that critical infrastructure, we have 19 to have a strong partnership with all of the private sector companies, including 20 technology companies that underpin, you know, the digital backbone of critical
21 infrastructure.
22 So the bread and butter of why Congress set us up is to help work with the private 23 sector to reduce risk to critical infrastructure. Of course, election infrastructure is part
24 of that. So if there are meetings with technology companies, to include social media
25 companies, they would have been around the threats to election infrastructure.

1 Q And, generally, in these industry meetings, whether with social media
2 companies or technology companies, more generally, is the information sharing both 3 ways, or is it just the government telling companies, or just the companies telling the
4 government?
5 A I mean, I couldn't speak to that specific meeting. You know, broadly, when 6 we're focused on cybersecurity issues, companies would share what they're seeing in 7 terms of threats to their networks. We could share what we see in terms of threats to 8 our networks.
9 Because you can think about different dots in the cyber threat landscape. The 10 idea would be to try and put those together so that you can really understand the threat
11 to the Nation from very serious cyber threat actors -- Russia, China, Iran, North Korea,
12 cyber criminals. And so the idea would be to really focus on operational collaboration.
13 And the Congress gave us authorities to set up something called a joint cyber planning
14 office. And we established that in August of 2021. And that is the idea that we both 15 want to share information to reduce cyber risk.
16 Q In your experience, do companies generally want to engage with CISA in 17 these kinds of meetings?
18 A Well, in the cybersecurity meetings -- it's evolved. We went from 10 19 companies -- and these have been critical infrastructure on their operator companies -- to 20 I think we're at over 300. So we have a lot of great industry partners. We really focus
21 on information sharing pursuant to the Cyber Information Sharing Act of 2015.
22 We focus on cyber defense planning, so planning for major threats to our
23 infrastructure. And if there is a significant threat -- for example, Log4j was a major open 24 source vulnerability that was revealed in December of 2021. So we work to provide 25 ways to mitigate threats to infrastructure from exploitation of this open source

1 vulnerability. So a variety of different -- we had a lot of focus, for example, on 2 ransomware.
3 So I think increasingly industry realizes that we as a government are trying to add
4 value, are trying to be transparent, are trying to be responsive. And so we've evolved in 5 a way that I think has helped to make the country safer.
6 BY [redacted]:
7 Q In the prior hour you were asked about an engagement between CISA and 8 State Department's Global Engagement Center. Do you recall that conversation?
9 A Yes.
10 Q And I think it was very brief, but you said that you think you had maybe a
11 brief interaction with them, with the Global Engagement Center.
12 A Not in my time at CISA.
13 Q Okay. Oh, okay.
14 A I haven't had any interaction with my time at CISA.
15 Q Understood. Okay. I'm sorry, I must have missed it.
16 You had interaction with them prior to that?
17 A When I was at the White House it was being stood up.
18 Q Okay.
19 A And I had interaction with some of the folks who were involved in it then,
20 because it was very specific to the counterterrorism mission. That's all I recall from that.
21 Q Okay. And, again, I realize now we're looking back 10 years, give -- or 22 8 years, give or take. But to the best of your recollection, you said that the interaction
23 at that time was focused on foreign terrorism threat, and I think you said it was -- in the 24 prior hour you said it was work specific to ISIS? Did I hear that correct?
25 A It was all about, I remember, from 2013 -- so I was at the White House as the

1 senior director for counterterrorism from 2013 to the end of 2016. And as you'll recall,
2 in I believe May of 2014, that's when ISIS invaded Mosul. And that really began global
3 terrorism attacks around the world -- in Paris and Istanbul and Brussels -- and then even 4 here in the U.S. -- San Bernardino, the Pulse nightclub. And so we were just very 5 focused on how to prevent another 9/11 style attack in the homeland from foreign 6 terrorist organizations. So it's very much about ISIS, which of course emerged from 7 al-Qaida.
8 [redacted]. Okay. Thank you.
9 [redacted]. We can go off the record.
10 [Discussion off the record.]
11 [redacted]. Can we go back on the record, please?
12 BY [redacted]:
13 Q I just want to pick up briefly regarding the OIG report from September. Did 14 you have an opportunity to review the report before it was released?
15 A When was it was released? I don't remember. September. There may 16 have been a draft, but I don't remember reviewing it in any detail. This was right in the 17 middle of when we were extremely focused on working, you know, with election officials
18 on sort of making sure that they had everything they could for the 2024 election cycle.
19 Q There's two instances where it refers to CISA's decision to stop engaging 20 with social media companies, including on the, I guess, opening page. So that's third
21 page in, and the title is "DHS OIG Highlights," which is what we found at the top.
22 A Okay.
23 Q And then two paragraphs down, second sentence says, "according to CISA
24 personnel, the component discontinued its efforts to work directly with social media
25 companies to counter disinformation after the 2022 election."

1 Do you have any sense of who the CISA personnel on that team that spoke to you,
2 OIG?
3 A I don't, but I can tell you that out of -- to the best of my knowledge, if that
4 relates, [redacted], to the forwarding of disinformation, that that is inaccurate.
5 Q We started to touch upon this in our first hour, but in terms of direct
6 interactions with the social media companies, to your understanding, the switchboarding
7 had stopped, but that didn't necessarily prevent personnel from CISA directly flagging
8 disinformation of their own accord?
9 A I can't imagine a scenario where something like that would have happened.
10 Yeah. And remember, it was CIS -- we don't monitor disinformation. We don't flag
11 disinformation. To the best of my knowledge -- but this happened in the previous 12 administration -- I think as you know, it was all about allowing State and local election
13 officials to tee up things that they thought were disinformation. But to the best of my 14 understanding, CISA has never independently monitored social media to flag
15 disinformation.
16 Q In the lead-up to the 2022 midterm elections, State and local officials are 17 certainly meeting with CISA personnel raising what they're seeing on social media?
18 A I don't know that to be true.
19 Q You don't believe that to be true?
20 A I don't know that to be true. Certainly, State and local officials express
21 concern about disinformation broadly, but I have never heard that they're bringing us
22 information specifically from social media or media more broadly.
23 Q But that was the dynamic for a number of years --
24 A What was?
25 Q State and local officials raising specific pieces of content to --

1 A I think that only happened during the previous administration. Certainly
2 didn't happen during my tenure.
3 Q Again, with the understanding that -- switchboarding, to your understanding,
4 didn't continue.
5 A Right.
6 Q But if there are these meetings and regular engagements between State and 7 local officials and CISA personnel, and then the same CISA personnel are meeting with the 8 trust and safety teams of social media companies, I guess, what is giving you the 9 confidence that there was no discussions about content?
10 [redacted]. I just want to flag, there's a lot of number of premises in that 11 question. So I want to make sure the director thinks through those carefully.
12 Ms. Easterly. Yeah. Can you go through the first part again?
13 BY [redacted]:
14 Q Sure. So I'm happy to walk through each one.
15 A Yeah.
16 Q State and local officials were talking to CISA personnel in the lead-up to the 17 2022 elections.
18 A Yes, for sure. But just to be clear about what those discussions are. So
19 our support to State and local election officials, certainly during my tenure, were very 20 much about providing resources to them. So it involved cybersecurity assessments, 21 physical security assessments, training, webinars, things like how to protect yourself from 22 phishing.
23 To the best of my knowledge, there are no specific discussions with such State and 24 local officials about specific pieces of social media. So I don't think that piece is 25 accurate.

1 Q During 2022, there is a subcommittee on mis- and disinformation that's
2 advising, serving an advisory role. Publicly, there are statements from you saying this
3 was a priority for CISA. I guess just to press a little bit more, we have the OIG report 4 that contradicts the testimony you're providing.
5 What basis is there to say that State and local officials were flagging pieces of 6 content before your tenure by all public indicators that continues to be this focus from 7 CISA on MDM, that there is no more effort from State and local officials to flag content to 8 CISA?

[12:12 p.m.]

[redacted]. Can you point the director to the statement in the IG report that contradicts her testimony that switchboarding did not happen during her tenure?

[redacted]. I'm not contesting whether switchboarding itself occurred or not, but switchboarding is only one specific type of direct engagement with social media platforms. And the committee's concern is any of those direct engagements with social media platforms.

[redacted]. So to be clear, are you talking about a discussion with a social media platform, or are you alluding to the fact that you think CISA used meetings as, like, a back door? I'm not quite sure what you're getting at because there's a very -- could have a discussion about many topics. So if you could help specify, particularly where you are calling into question the director's credibility.

[redacted]. I'm not trying to question credibility, but I'm trying to make sense of this OIG report and the meaning of it.

Ms. Easterly. Yes.

BY [redacted]:

Q In the previous hour with the minority, there was a discussion of information sharing and that information sharing goes in both directions --

A Uh-huh.

Q -- in these meetings.

A Yes.

Q Trying to get a sense of whether that information sharing from CISA included any discussion of themes of misinformation/disinformation, or specific posts of misinformation or disinformation. Neither of those discussions would be switchboarding.

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q I'm trying to get a sense of that.

3 A I have no knowledge of any of that. Insofar as we were meeting with 4 technology companies or technology companies that had social media companies, it
5 would have been very specifically about direct threats to election infrastructure, as I've 6 said multiple times.

7 When I had a chance to take a look at this mission specifically, it didn't make any 8 sense to me for us to be thinking about how do I -- how can I deal with pieces of 9 misinformation or disinformation.

10 That made no sense, which is why we focused very specifically on making sure 11 that there was access to accurate information and then to amplifying the voices of the 12 subject matter experts, which are those State and local election officials.

13 And just to be clear, when I came into this mission, I didn't know very much about 14 election infrastructure security at all. And so a lot of the decisions that I ultimately 15 made were very much informed by discussions with election officials of both parties to 16 understand what would be most useful, most helpful to them, and that's where I pointed 17 the agency.

18 Q So there is a real concern about a line between promoting authoritative
19 information and efforts to flag or identify information, misinformation, malinformation.

20 To your understanding, does CISA's scope of CISA's statutory authority permit CISA
21 to focus on that latter half of targeting misinformation, malinformation?

22 A Our focus is entirely on articulating accurate information about election
23 infrastructure security and amplifying the voices of State and local election officials, given 24 the decentralized nature of election infrastructure, and on working with the intelligence
25 community and the FBI to provide information to State and local election officials about

1 the tactics that our foreign adversaries use to influence or interfere in our elections.

2 I've been very, very clear. Those are the three missions. But I've also been very

3 clear that I think the best use of our resources and our budget -- remember, out of a $3

4 billion budget, it's only -- this mission is only about $45 million.

5 And I thought, based on talking to State and local election officials across the

6 country, both parties, the best use would be to help them reduce cyber risk given what

7 we've seen with ransomware, given what we've seen with distributed denial of service

8 attacks -- we saw that in the 2022 midterms -- and with the very real physical threats that

9 they were worried about.

10 So that's really where we focused the vast majority of our efforts, and that was

11 responsive to State and local election officials.

12 Q If there was an additional statutory prohibition on CISA flagging

13 misinformation/disinformation, would that preclude CISA from carrying out its current

14 mission?

15 A Tell me more.

16 Q So if I understand the primary -- your understanding of the primary purpose

17 of CISA's mission --

18 A Yeah.

19 Q -- with a very heavy emphasis on cybersecurity, if there's a --

20 A And physical security.

21 Q And physical security.

22 If there's a prohibition on CISA directly flagging for social media companies specific

23 pieces of content as misinformation/disinformation, would that in any way prevent or

24 infringe upon CISA's ability to carry out its current mission?

25 A I mean, I wouldn't speculate on a statute that doesn't exist, but it certainly

1 wouldn't impact anything we're doing under my tenure.

2 Q The previous administration and the previous director, there were more

3 explicit descriptions, efforts to -- when they'd refer to cybersecurity risks -- one of those

4 risks they would identify was the risk of misinformation/disinformation.

5 To your understanding, I guess, why, in your understanding, is mis- and

6 disinformation excluded from the cybersecurity perspective?

7 A Can you help me understand -- can you just get me the reference, because I

8 don't understand that. I don't understand the question.

9 Q Sure. We'll get you the document on that.

10 In the previous round of questions, there were questions about the allegations

11 that the committee and others have made about CISA's role and the constitutional

12 implications.

13 Have you had an opportunity to review either of the reports that the committee

14 has put out on CISA?

15 A Which reports?

16 Q There was a report from June 2023, one from November 2023.

17 A I have not reviewed them.

18 Q Okay. The reports include evidence of emails, internal documents.

19 Has there been anyone that has briefed you on the substance of the reports, the 20 concerns that our Members have?

21 A Not in any detail at a high level, just because I'm here with you today, but I

22 haven't read any of that.

23 Q Was there anything that the Office of Inspector General requested from CISA

24 when putting together this most recent report that CISA declined to provide?

25 A Say that again.

1 Q Was there any information when compiling this current report from the
2 Office of Inspector General that the OIG requested but CISA declined to provide?
3 A Not that I know of. Certainly, if we were asked to provide things to the IG,
4 we were fully responsive.
5 Q During your tenure as director, have you had any discussions with the 6 leadership of the Office of Intelligence and Analysis regarding efforts to combat mis- and
7 disinformation?
8 A No.
9 Q I want to turn to the efforts that CISA had in the lead-up to the 2024
10 election, including the task force with Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Election Threats
11 Task Force.
12 Are you familiar with CISA's partnership with that task force?
13 A What is it?
14 Q The Pennsylvania Election Threats Task Force.
15 A Yeah. I mean, in terms of -- so our mission is to support State and local 16 election officials. We work with all States to help them reduce risk to the full range of 17 threats, whether that's through cybersecurity assessments, physical security assessments,
18 training, exercises.
19 So if -- this sounds like kind of what we do with all States, I guess. And some 20 States organize their systems to protect against various threats. I don't know if that's 21 what that is.
22 Q So this State in particular, I mean, did you have awareness prior to CISA
23 joining the task force?
24 [redacted]. Could you share -- I mean, does it make sense to share the 25 statement with the director as an exhibit if you're going to ask her about it?

1 [redacted]. Yeah. We're going to introduce it, but I don't know if it will help with
2 the last question.
3 This will be exhibit 5.
4 [Easterly Exhibit No. 5
5 was marked for identification.]
6 Ms. Easterly. I'm sorry, [redacted]. What was your question?
7 BY [redacted]:
8 Q Prior to CISA joining a task force like this --
9 A Did we join it?
10 Q Yes.
11 A Where is that?
12 Q It's on the bullet points. There's a reference to U.S. Department of 13 Homeland Security.
14 A Does it say CISA?
15 So I'm not aware of this. I'm not aware that we joined it. But we work with -- I
16 mean, we work with State and local election officials. That's our mandate, is to help
17 them reduce risk to their election infrastructure.
18 Q All right. So for participation in a task force like this, this is not something
19 that would go up to you?
20 A I don't even know that we've joined this. I mean, in general the mission is 21 to work with State and local election officials across the country to ensure that they have
22 resources to reduce risk to election infrastructure. So, no, I wouldn't be focused on -- I
23 mean, we work with all States.
24 Q Are you familiar with the recent reporting regarding a tabletop exercise that 25 CISA and others were scheduled to have on election day?

1 A Can you tell me what you're talking about?

2 Q Sure. This will be exhibit 6.

3 [Easterly Exhibit No. 6

4 was marked for identification.]

5 Ms. Easterly. Okay.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q First, are you familiar with the Armed Forces Communications and

3 Electronics Association?

4 A Vaguely. It's not something I have any interaction with directly.

5 Q Are you familiar with the exercise that was planned that was the subject of 6 the reporting?

7 A I guess, according to this, but not --

8 Q Prior to reviewing it just now, do you have any familiarity?

9 A Very, very vague. Very, very vague. What is -- I'm trying to figure out

10 what the issue is. It's a --

11 Q There was an exercise planned on election day. I'm trying to understand

12 first your awareness prior to the reporting of whether --

13 [redacted]. Just for the record to be clear, was it a CISA exercise or an 14 external exercise?

15 [redacted]. CISA was -- well, that's part of the problem is that there were 16 statements that seem contradicting.

17 Ms. Easterly. So, bottom line, my direction to the agency was that we are fully

18 focused on support to State and local election officials. So if there was somebody who

19 said that CISA was going to be involved in some external engagement, I would think that 20 that is not accurate.

1 BY [redacted]:

2 Q Do you know who [redacted] is?

3 A Like a former FBI guy?

4 Q He's a supervisory cybersecurity advisor for CISA.

5 Just to try to get the record clear as we can, did you have any awareness of this

6 exercise as it was being scheduled?

7 A No.

8 Q Okay. Prior to the reporting, did you have any awareness of this exercise?

9 A No.

10 Q Since the reporting, have you received a briefing on CISA's role in the 11 scheduling of this exercise?

12 A No.

13 Q You said you had a vague awareness. How did you obtain that vague

14 awareness of the reporting?

15 A I think that -- so there was a letter sent, and I guess, from my very vague

16 recollection, I think somebody said there's a letter to Secretary Mayorkas from Ranking

17 Member Paul about our involvement in an exercise. And they said we don't have any

18 information on -- we're not involved in this exercise. And I said, good, we should be fully

19 focused on support to State and local election officials.

20 So I think it was like a very brief, like, just so you know, there's this letter, because

21 he's the ranking member, and -- yeah. I mean, that's the very -- I mean, it didn't seem

22 like anything that was a big deal.

23 Q Who provided you with that summary?

24 A I don't remember. Probably, since it was a letter that came in, it could be

25 somebody on my Leg team, but I don't remember who specifically. Like, I'm -- again,

1 I've got a lot going on. So there's a lot of information that comes to me.

2 This did not seem to me of any significance in any way. It was just helpfully

3 clarifying what it is that we were focused on.

4 Q Did you have any direct conversations with [redacted], the CISA official?

5 A The CISA official?

6 Q Yes. Official who was scheduled to initially attend.

7 A No.

8 Q No?

9 A I mean, again, so I'm the director. So I -- it's a very big agency. So, no.

10 Q Do you know if anyone who was providing the briefing said whether they 11 had any conversations with [redacted]?

12 A No.

13 Q Was any --

14 A I mean, if there were -- I can't speculate because, certainly, my direction was

15 that we are fully focused on supporting State and local election officials. So there may 16 be follow-up to say let's ensure that that's -- but I don't know what happens at layers and 17 layers below me.

18 Q Did you give any direction on what the follow-up should be?

19 A I gave direction to make sure that, of course, we should be fully focused on

20 providing full support to State and local election officials, and I assume that that direction

21 was followed.

22 Q Is there any benefit to conducting a tabletop exercise on election day?

23 A I don't think so. At the end of the day -- I mean, if -- I don't know what this

24 tabletop was for. But we did a ton of tabletop exercises -- I think about 200 of 25 them -- with State and local election officials. We stopped kind of the month before

1 because that's where State and local election officials need to be fully focused.

2 So, certainly, if it had anything to do with election security, I don't think it would

3 make sense. I also -- I guess -- I haven't read this fully. I'm happy to read it fully. But

4 I don't -- can you help me understand what the concern, what the -- I don't -- it's not

5 making sense to me.

6 Q There was intentionally a statement from CISA saying they had no

7 involvement, and then there appeared to have been documents produced from reporting

8 or from the Senator's office.

9 A Those weren't -- is that the document? Because that is not a CISA

10 document, and people using our name is unfortunate, but does not mean that we in any

11 way have approved it.

12 I don't see either -- yeah. I mean, this looks like it comes from their agenda.

13 This is not ours.

14 Q Okay. Just trying to understand what CISA's role was.

15 A Yeah. I mean, I don't -- yeah.

16 Q Turning back to testimony that you gave in the first round about the 17 effectiveness of switchboarding and whether it was worth the resources that went into it.

18 Can you say a bit more about, from your understanding, what the purpose of 19 switchboarding was in the prior tenure?

20 A You know, it was all done during the previous administration. And I really

21 shouldn't speculate. From what I was -- from how it was described to me, it didn't seem

22 like it was a useful exercise of resources.

23 Q In the first hour you were talking about measures of effectiveness.

24 A Right.

25 Q What is the metric that you're looking at with switchboarding that would be --

A I'm just looking broadly. So we have to ensure that every dollar of our budget is effectively utilized. And it was not clear that that effort was in any way reducing risk to election infrastructure.

I didn't understand -- again, it happened before my time, but I had no -- and the people -- again, I had one conversation with Scully on this. And no one could explain how this program helped to reduce risk to election infrastructure.

And so that has to be the measure -- how are we allocating resources and what are we getting out of it so we can say we've reduced risk to election infrastructure -- and there was no articulation of that.

Q Uh-huh. What sort of reasons were provided for why it was happening previously?

A I really don't recall the -- my vague recollection -- and this was, again, quite a while ago -- was that this was specifically an ask from State and local election officials, and so it was agreed to do.

But I shouldn't really speak to that because it wasn't my program. I didn't make those decisions. I don't know who made those decisions.

And when I was made aware of the program, I gave direction to no longer do it because it didn't make any sense to me.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 7
was marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q So this will be exhibit 7. It's an email to Director Easterly a couple months before taking the position of director.

A Okay.

1 Q So, first, do you recall this email?

2 A Not really. I mean, it was like three and a half years ago.

3 Q Do you know who Brian de Vallance is?

4 A To the best of my knowledge, he was a former DHS official.

5 Q Do you know what his role or responsibilities were?

6 A I don't, no.

7 Q Do you recall the call that was scheduled between you, Brian, and Tony

8 Sager?

9 A I mean, so far, I don't really recall it. I don't recall the call actually

10 happening, but I'm sure it did.

11 Q In Brian's note to you, there's a discussion of ODNI.

12 First, in the about four lines, five lines down, there's a reference to the DNI SM

13 Center. Do you know what that's in reference to?

14 A No.

15 Q The next sentence refers to that some at ODNI are not big fans of CISA. Do

16 you have any understanding of --

17 A No.

18 Q -- why that might be?

19 A No. Not at all. I don't know. Why wouldn't you be a fan of CISA?

20 Q Prior to -- or as you were briefing and preparing to become director, did you

21 receive any briefings about CISA's relationship with ODNI?

22 A No.

23 Q How frequently do you interact with the director, the director's office?

24 A Couple times a year, not often, because we spend most of our time on the 25 unclass side just because we're so external facing.

1 So in the run-up to the election, I spent a little bit more time with the DNI just
2 because we were coordinating those joint statements on foreign adversary activity. But
3 pretty -- again, like, less than five times a year.
4 Q In any of these times, do you recall any discussions about tensions between 5 ODNI and CISA?
6 A No. I think we've got a really good relationship. But this was before I got 7 there, right?
8 Q Yes.
9 A Yeah. So I don't think that's the case now. I don't know. Do you have 10 separate information saying it is?
11 Q No. But Brian is making you aware of this. I'm trying to understand if you
12 have any additional information.
13 A No, not at all.
14 Q As the large paragraph continues, it's like the third-to-last sentence, Brian
15 writes, "While it's likely to be controversial, we know how to secure elections but we do
16 NOT know how to deal with mis- and disinformation. This Center would be a step in the 17 right direction. We need to try, it would be great for DHS to own it."
18 First, in this particular context, do you know what Brian is referring to about DHS 19 owning the responsibility of dealing with mis- and disinformation?
20 A No. No. I mean, just reading the paragraph, whatever the DNI SM
21 Center, I guess that's his suggestion.
22 Q Were there any discussions about whether the center or just more broadly
23 of how to expand or fit DHS' mission to address mis- and disinformation?
24 A Not that I recall. I mean, I don't know what this is referring to. What I do
25 know is that in 2022 -- and I think it was new authorities that DNI stood up, what's called

1 the Foreign Malign Influence Center, and that's focused on foreign adversary efforts to
2 influence and interfere in the elections. I don't know if those are related, but that's very 3 clearly an intel mission.
4 Q Okay. But specific to mis- and disinformation, do you recall any discussions
5 when you're being prepared to become director or right at the beginning about whether 6 DHS was best suited to deal with mis- and disinformation?
7 A Not that I recall. Certainly not broadly. I mean, as I said, the staffers and 8 the chairman had brought up disinformation as relevant to election security.
9 Q Touching upon our question earlier, if -- I guess, do you disagree then with 10 the positions, the perspective as being shared by the Senators and staffers, is 11 disinformation part of election security?
12 A As I evolved in my views on this, certainly there is a serious issue with 13 inaccurate information, which has impacts on Americans' trust in our elections. I think if 14 you look at some of the statistics, there were a lot of folks who did not have confidence in 15 the security or integrity of our elections. Some of that is because there's inaccurate
16 information out there about the security of elections.
17 And so as I evolved in my thinking on this mission and as I looked at the resources,
18 as I talked to State and local election officials, my strong focus was on putting out
19 information to help the American people understand why they can have confidence in the 20 security and integrity of elections. That seemed to me the best focus for our agency.
21 Q Why -- I guess, has it been under consideration during your tenure about 22 efforts to have CISA personnel flag misinformation or disinformation that, in the view of 23 the CISA personnel, is undermining the integrity of the elections?
24 A No. It's not our mission, and it's not a good use of our resources, and it's 25 not anything we would focus on.

1 Q Have there been efforts from other agencies to push CISA to consider that
2 during your tenure?
3 A Not that I know of.
4 Q Are there any legal or constitutional prohibitions that would prevent CISA
5 from directly flagging mis- and disinformation to social media companies?
6 A I'm not a legal or a constitutional lawyer. I think Congress may have a view
7 on that. I don't.
8 Q Have you received any briefings on whether that's a potential issue?
9 A No.
10 Q So is this just a -- is it a purely resource-driven decision, or is there some sort
11 of -- do you have a position on whether it's an effective approach to protect election
12 security by directly flagging mis- and disinformation?
13 A From my experience, my tenure, my discussions with State and local election
14 officials, where I landed on the right mission for CISA is to focus on ensuring election 15 officials understand the tactics that our foreign adversaries use for influence and 16 interference and putting out accurate information about election infrastructure and 17 amplifying the voices of State and local election officials. That is where I focused the 18 agency, that's where we focused our efforts both in 2022, as well as in 2024.
19 And as I think you saw, whatever it was, ten or so days ago, it was a free and fair
20 and safe and secure election. And so I'm very proud of the team's efforts to put 21 resources to support State and local election officials in reducing the risk to their
22 infrastructure.
23 Q When you refer to tactics by foreign adversaries, when discussing that, to 24 your knowledge, do CISA personnel share themes or topics that foreign adversaries are 25 likely to emphasize?

1 A Share? Help me understand.

2 Q So when sharing information with, say, social media companies or any

3 external --

4 A We're not sharing information. I mean, it's public, so anybody can go to 5 our website. But the foreign tactics typically come from the intelligence community, or

6 the FBI may come up with tactics used by cybercriminals.

7 We are -- if you look at our website, for example, there's good public service

8 announcements around this. So we are looking very specifically at the cybersecurity or 9 the cyber defense aspect of this.

10 So, for example, there's one about ransomware, there's one about distributed

11 denial of service attacks. I think there may be one about -- actually, I don't want to say

12 because I don't remember. But, again, it's very focused on the security of election

13 infrastructure.

14 Q Is there any information sharing regarding that foreign adversaries will try to 15 amplify mis- and disinformation?

16 A Certainly with respect to the recent -- I don't know about the amplification.

17 I think if you go back to ODNI and look at some of the updates that they put out, I -- again,

18 I don't have it in front of me, but they would talk about what those foreign adversaries'

19 tactics are.

20 Some of it has to do with funneling money to marketing firms, to unwitting

21 influencers. You probably saw the indictment from the two, I think, Russian officials

22 that were funneling almost $10 million to unwitting influencers to, essentially, put out

23 Russian propaganda.

24 But, again, that was really the IC and then FBI. And then we come in, in terms of 25 talk to your State and local election officials, here are the best practices for cyber defense,

1 cybersecurity.

2 Q The standing meetings that existed in 2022 between CISA and other agencies

3 and social media companies, did those continue at all in 2024, to your knowledge?

4 A Not to my knowledge.

5 Q When you became director, at any point in the first year or so of your

6 leadership, did you ever receive a briefing about the frequency of the meetings, their

7 nature?

8 A Not that I recall.

9 Q I don't know if he's come up or not yet. Do you know [redacted]?

10 A Yes.

11 Q When he was at -- I don't know if your tenures overlapped the first time.

12 A No. He was gone.

13 Q Did you know him prior to becoming director?

14 A No. I mean, I -- when I was doing my confirmation prep, I think I connected

15 with him. But I didn't know him.

16 Q Exhibit 8.

17 [Easterly Exhibit No. 8

18 was marked for identification.]

19 Ms. Easterly. Is this supposed to be with [redacted]?

20 [redacted]. Yes. These are produced to us from CISA.

21 Ms. Easterly. I don't remember this discussion. Do you know what year this is?

22 [redacted]. 2022 is our understanding.

23 [redacted]. What year did you say?

24 [redacted]. 2022.

25 [redacted]. Just to be clear, are we confident it's from [redacted]?

1 [redacted]. We can talk during the break, too.

2 [redacted]. Okay.

3 [redacted]. But I think some of these have been -- reached the public domain --

4 Ms. Easterly. Yeah. I don't recall this conversation with [redacted].

5 BY [redacted]:

6 Q Do you know Rob Silvers?

7 A Sure.

8 Q What's Rob's role?

9 A He's an under secretary for policy.

10 Q The darker blue text, there's a reference to running a governance board to 11 look at potential new areas of confronting MDM.

12 Do you recall any discussions about a new governance board to address mis- and

13 disinformation?

14 A Is that -- did I write that?

15 Q Yes.

16 A I assume this was the Disinformation Governance Board.

17 Q The text continues, "It doesn't change or impact anything we're doing or 18 have already established."

19 With respect to confronting MDM, to your understanding, what efforts did CISA

20 have to combat MDM?

21 A I don't know what year this was, but it looks like if this is 2022 -- is that what

22 you said?

23 Q Uh-huh.

24 A As we went into the midterms, where I focused the agency was on three

25 things. First, it was working with our IC and FBI partners on characterizing the tactics of our foreign adversaries to influence or interfere in elections. It was using -- it was putting out accurate information about election infrastructure security. And it was amplifying the voices of State and local election officials as the authoritative and trusted subject matter experts.

So I don't remember this, but I assume that's what I was talking about.

Q I'm going to introduce --

[redacted]. Just to clarify for the record, exhibit 8 is a text message in the -- it's not clear from the document who the texts are between. I don't know that it matters for the purpose of your questions, but just to be -- make that clear on the record that it's not clear who the text exchange is between.

Ms. Easterly. I don't recall that exchange with [redacted]. I mean, I've had millions of exchanges with millions of different people. I don't talk to [redacted] very often, if at all. But I don't recall this.

[redacted]. I'm going to introduce as exhibit 9 a document produced to us from Microsoft. We'll give you an opportunity to review.

[Easterly Exhibit No. 9
was marked for identification.]

[redacted]. [redacted], can you clarify? This appears to be a compilation of documents jammed into one. At first, I was thinking it was one email exchange or something, but this appears to be some sort of compilation Microsoft had. Does that seem accurate?

[redacted]. This is how it was produced to us.

[redacted]. Okay.

[redacted]. I believe it's a compilation of interactions Microsoft had with various DHS personnel, and it was compiled in the context of preparation for further

1 engagements with DHS.

2 [redacted]. Okay. Thank you.

3 Ms. Easterly. All right.

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q I'll have you turn to Bates number 8066.

6 A 8066, yes.

7 Q There are -- the name's redacted from Microsoft, but I have to represent

8 that it's our understanding that it's [redacted]. But, regardless, there are texts

9 that are identified as being from you that employees of Microsoft obtained. This is in 10 2022, February 2022. The darker texts -- it's a screenshot of texts received from you.

11 The first text of the darker texts on the right there, you write, "Just trying to get us

12 in a place where Fed can work with platforms and better understand the mis/dis trends so

13 relevant agencies can try to prebunk/debunk as usual."

14 And then the next one you say, "Not our mission but was looking to play a

15 coordinated role so not every department/agency" -- D/A -- "is independently reaching

16 out to platforms which could cause a lot of chaos."

17 Do you remember discussions in early 2022 about trying to figure out what

18 Federal agency should take the lead on this issue?

19 A When was the date?

20 Q February, it looks like 26th.

21 [redacted]. Do you know the year?

22 [redacted]. Based off the email, it's been represented to us, I believe, 2022.

23 [redacted]. Okay.

24 Ms. Easterly. I don't have a -- I don't recall much of this. I can put it, I think,

25 into strategic context just looking at the date, which was, I think, right after the Russian full-scale invasion of Ukraine.

And I think there was concerns about Russia retaliating for U.S. support to Ukraine by attacking our critical infrastructure, first and foremost about cyber threats to critical infrastructure. That's what motivated our Shields Up campaign.

Given Russian past efforts to leverage interference and influence, I think there was a concern about that as well, though I was very focused on the cyber threats because that's really where the intel was at this point in time.

I don't remember the context of this exchange, but what I assume I was referring to is CISA has a role within our statute to serve as the national coordinator for critical infrastructure, security, and resilience.

So we work with Sector Risk Management Agencies, we work with industry to help coordinate those conversations. So I assume that's what I meant in that role.

[redacted]. And at this time are you still considering whether mis- and disinformation trends are one of the risks that CISA or someone in the Federal Government should be --

[redacted]. Just to clarify, do you mean present day or at the time of the text?

[redacted]. No, at the time of the text.

Ms. Easterly. Say that again. Ask the question again.

BY [redacted]:

Q So at the time -- in we'll say early 2022 -- as director were you looking at or still considering mis- and disinformation trends as a type of risk that CISA needed to be looking at?

A I think it was brought up, and then I don't recall that anything came of it, because the focus became very laser-focused on potential Russian cyber attacks. And

1 that, again, I'm always making these decisions about how do we get the best bang for the 2 buck from American taxpayers. And that was where the intel was telling us is that
3 Russia was looking to use its pretty formidable cyber power to attack U.S. critical
4 infrastructure.
5 So that was really the focus. I don't remember any more focus on this.
6 Q To the extent there were discussions on considering how best to combat
7 misinformation/disinformation trends, were there any discussions about how to do that
8 consistently with First Amendment concerns?
9 A So this would -- again, I'm speculating here, which I probably shouldn't do.
10 But to get into my head back then, this was entirely about Russia, so I don't think Russia
11 has protected speech. Certainly, that's what -- again, because it looks like it was around
12 the time of Russia-Ukraine.
13 Q Are you familiar with the term "attribution in the space of people," what the 14 IC will say contents come from a foreign bot network?
15 A Yes.
16 Q Either in your role as director or in your previous roles in the government,
17 have there been any instances where a private sector partner came back to the 18 government and said accounts that you all identified as foreign are actually domestic?
19 A I've never had those conversations because we don't do any sort of 20 monitoring for information. That wouldn't be a conversation that I would ever have.
21 Q Even if it's not a conversation that you had directly, did you ever receive any 22 information or any indication of the U.S. Government sharing information that the 23 government is concerned may be attributed to foreign actors and a social media company
24 coming back and saying, no, these are domestic actors?
25 A No, I don't think so. Not that I recall.

1 Q In this early 2022 time period when there are at least preliminarily certainly
2 people bringing up concerns of misinformation/disinformation trends, do you recall what
3 other agencies were considered as potentially having a role to play?
4 A No. No. I mean, again, we're really focused on threats to critical
5 infrastructure. And so we worked with all of what's called the SRMAs, the Sector Risk
6 Management Agencies.
7 So if there were, for example, threats to finance, Treasury might be involved. If
8 there were threats to energy or pipelines, Energy might be involved. But I don't recall
9 those discussions.
10 Q And just to press a little bit more. Understand the different divisions there.
11 But within each of those, if there's a concern about misinformation, whether that poses a 12 threat to that sector, critical infrastructure, do you recall any discussions on that front?
13 A No. Because we have -- as I evolved in this job and understood more about 14 the mission and the budget, we only focus on foreign influence and disinformation insofar
15 as it relates to election infrastructure.
16 So that's probably what I meant, again, speculating here because I don't 17 remember this discussion. But where it says, "Not our mission," I think I was just very 18 focused on the national coordinator piece of our congressional statute.
19 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please?
20 [Recess.]
21 [redacted]. We can go back on the record.
22 BY [redacted]:
23 Q I want to start where we left off on exhibit 9, that Microsoft document.
24 In the text messages in the dark blue circle that is from -- purports to be from you,
25 you mention relevant agencies can try to prebunk or debunk -- sorry, in the Microsoft

1 document. In the darker ones.

2 A Yeah.

3 Q What is prebunking?

4 A It's basically getting out accurate information. So if you understand that

5 there's a misunderstanding -- do you mind if I eat my bar?

6 Q That's okay.

7 A A misunderstanding relevant to accurate information about a matter of 8 infrastructure security, we could look to put out information about that ahead of time.

9 And, again, that's really where we -- where we're very, very focused, is on getting

10 accurate information out there.

11 Q So prebunking doesn't involve taking down the inaccurate information?

12 A No.

13 Q And this may be straightforward, but just to make the record clear, to your 14 knowledge, does CISA prebunk or debunk true information?

15 A All's we do is we focus on putting out accurate information when it comes to 16 election infrastructure security. If it's accurate, great.

17 Q So CISA doesn't try to prebunk or debunk true information, only false

18 information or rumors?

19 A I don't recall this specific exchange because it was quite a while ago. To

20 give you a little bit more of my thinking -- because those are not, frankly, terms that I use

21 now. I think those were some terms that I was becoming familiar with.

22 But ultimately, where I landed in terms of where I felt our mission needed to be

23 focused and scoped was not on misinformation, disinformation, malinformation. It

24 wasn't on prebunking, debunking, any of that. It was just very clearly those three

25 things: foreign tactics, accurate information -- and principally that is through the

1 #Protect 2024 web page, Rumor vs. Reality -- and through amplifying the voices of State
2 and local election officials.
3 Q In this context you mentioned CISA's role as the national coordinator for 4 critical infrastructure, resiliency, and security. Is that right?
5 A Yep. You got it.
6 Q Could you explain a little bit more about what CISA's role is in that position?
7 A Yeah. So that comes from the CISA statute. And it was also recently
8 articulated in what's called National Security Memorandum. I'm not sure the number.
9 So our role is to really look at threats to critical infrastructure from a cross-sector
10 risk perspective. So that's why it's important.
11 We are looking at infrastructure, but we work with -- say, if it's about finance
12 where I used to work, Treasury Department has a lot of expertise on that. If it's about 13 hospitals, HHS.
14 So we work with, like, communications providers. And so you have to look at the 15 cross-sector risk. So we work with our industry partners, our Sector Risk Management
16 partners to help coordinate an understanding of all of the threats to critical infrastructure
17 so that we can determine ways to best reduce those threats.
18 Q And you were talking about how in this early 2022 time period that work to 19 reduce threats across the critical infrastructure sectors may have been related to the 20 Russian invasion of Ukraine.
21 Could you talk a little bit more about CISA's concerns about what the threat was?
22 A Well, certainly, it was just a year ago. And I saw this more from the private 23 sector, the SolarWinds campaign. And we know that Russia is a very sophisticated and 24 well-resourced cyber threat, and I believe this was made public so I can talk about it.
25 There was very specific intel about potential Russian threats to U.S. critical

1 infrastructure. So that's where we were very focused on what we could do through our
2 Shields Up campaign, essentially, to help businesses, CISOs, CIOs, CEOs, and even
3 individuals understand steps that they could take to protect themselves from potential
4 Russian retaliatory attacks to our critical infrastructure.

1 [1:20 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q At the time there were -- you've talked about these cybersecurity threats

4 that people were worried about. Was there also a concern about Russian influence

5 campaigns at that time?

6 A I think there -- again, like, speculating from this because I don't -- my focus

7 was very much on cyber. But I think there was a thought that just because Russia has

8 used influence campaigns, has interfered, that this is another thing that they could do.

9 So I think that that was kind of in the mix. But, again, the focus became very, very much

10 on cybersecurity.

11 Q Another topic area that CISA has worked on debunking or prebunking false

12 information is disaster relief in hurricanes. Is that right?

13 A Huh-uh.

14 Q No?

15 A No. I think -- we don't do that. I think our colleagues at FEMA do it.

16 That's a different component.

17 Q Does CISA work with other government agencies to warn about potential

18 scams related to disaster relief?

19 A I don't -- not that I know of. If there were -- sometimes it happens that in

20 an environment where there's an opportunity for a highly entrepreneurial cyber threat

21 actor to take advantage of a crisis, we might warn people around that in terms of the four

22 steps: update your software; complex, unique passwords and a password manager;

23 enable MFA; don't fall for phishing. And so we might say, hey, you know, we are -- there

24 is some evidence of cyber criminals taking advantage of disaster money, things like that,

25 so -- but I don't recall specifics, but that's certainly something the cyber threat aspect we

1 could do.

2 [Easterly Exhibit No. 10

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q Just to refresh your recollection I'll introduce as exhibit 10 a September 25th,

6 2024, alert from CISA related --

7 A Oh, there you go.

8 Q -- titled, "CISA Warns of Hurricane-Related Scams." I'll give you a moment

9 to review.

10 A Yeah. So it's like on the militia cyber activity.

11 Q So this is the kind of work you were talking about, CISA warning people --

12 A Yeah. There's like -- you know, bad actors are always -- actors are -- you

13 know, malicious, actually are bad people. They're always trying to take advantage,

14 particularly of vulnerable people. You know, my mom is 91, my dad's 85. There's a lot

15 of elder scams out there. People take advantage of older people. So, you know, from

16 a PSA, our Secure Our World campaign perspective, I can -- I don't remember the specific

17 alert, but I can see why my team might put it out.

18 Q I want to move on to exhibit 6. This was the article about the tabletop

19 exercise.

20 [redacted]. I'll steal these from you.

21 BY [redacted]:

22 Q Generally, before we get into much detail, what is a tabletop exercise?

23 A It's where we bring together partners from industry and we work through a

24 scenario. So there's a ransomware attack. Again, I think I mentioned to [redacted], we did

25 some 200 of these during this election cycle. And I think, interestingly, one of the

1 scenarios that we worked through was bomb threats, and that turned out to be pretty
2 prescient. As you probably know, there were multiple bomb threats, hoaxes, called in 3 on election day. But they didn't have significant impacts because election officials knew
4 exactly what to do. They were able to work with local law enforcement to bring in 5 bomb sniffing dogs. There was, you know, minor disruption, and then they went on 6 with using voting places.
7 So it's a great example how exercising through various scenarios helps
8 prepare -- you know, whether it's election officials -- but we do hundreds of exercises
9 about all kinds of things, because exercising -- and I did this when I was at Morgan
10 Stanley. If you're able to bring together the right people to work through a major attack
11 on your infrastructure, you'll be better prepared when the actual attack occurs.
12 Q So in talking about the specific tabletop exercise mentioned in the article,
13 you talked about how, if it was an election security tabletop exercise, it may not have 14 been very useful to do it on election day. But do you know if this was an election
15 security tabletop exercise?
16 A I don't.
17 Q So turning to page 3, the agenda, it says -- it says "Critical Infrastructure
18 Tabletop." And I'll represent to you that this conference was titled Homeland Security
19 Conference on Critical Infrastructure. So is it possible that this was not an election
20 security tabletop exercise?
21 A Yeah, very possible. I just -- I really don't know very much about it, but I'm 22 reading it. It seems to say Critical Infrastructure Tabletop.
23 Q Looking at the sentence right under the agenda, it says that this
24 announcement regarding the tabletop exercise went viral, "with an assortment of outlets
25 like Infowars and influencers like Laura Loomer warning of, quote, Election Interference

1 by Homeland Security on Election Day."

2 Do you have a response to the idea that this tabletop exercise would be election

3 interference by the Department of Homeland Security?

4 A I don't understand what that means. Can you help me understand what

5 that means?

6 Q If people are pointing to this tabletop exercise as evidence that somehow

7 DHS is interfering in the election, do you have a response to that?

8 A I guess I -- can you help me understand what -- I don't understand -- I don't

9 understand what that means.

10 Q Do you think that it's accurate that DHS interfered in the election?

11 A I mean, it looks like there was some reference there. I don't know Laura

12 Loomer. I don't know -- I don't know what this is referring to. I don't know how you

13 get from a -- an exercise that, frankly, we didn't participate in, to election interference.

14 Like, if somebody can help me understand that logic trail, I'd be happy to decompose it or 15 unravel it.

16 Again, I'm very proud of the team for working with State and local election officials

17 across the Nation to help them reduce risk to election infrastructure, and I think those 18 efforts were proven out in that it was a free and fair and safe and secure election.

19 Q Thank you.

20 I'm going to turn to a topic -- I apologize we're asking you over and over about a

21 topic that you have already said you were not in the social media industry meetings, but I

22 just want to make the record clear.

23 So you were asked if CISA shared content in the social media meetings, and you

24 explained that you weren't there. I'd like to make it clear for the record the committee

25 did interview Geoff Hale. You're familiar with Geoff Hale, correct?

1 A Uh-huh.

2 Q Yes?

3 A Yes.

4 Q Thank you.

5 And he was asked specifically, did CISA flag or report potential disinformation for

6 social media or technology companies during or in connection with these industry

7 meetings? This is page 55 of that transcript. He answered, Not at all.

8 You're welcome to look at the testimony if you're interested.

9 A I trust that you read it.

10 Q Do you have any information that would contradict Mr. Hale's testimony?

11 A Nope.

12 Q Moving on to CISA's mission more generally, some have suggested that CISA

13 should help States and localities assess whether they have good cyber hygiene in their

14 hardware and software in preparation for an election, but nothing more.

15 Do you think CISA's election security work should be limited to just assessing good

16 cyber hygiene?

17 A What we have done for our election security infrastructure security mission

18 to be responsive to what we have heard from State and local election officials -- and

19 again, all of our -- we're a partnership agency, so all of our resources are voluntary. I'm

20 happy to say that all States have taken advantage of, in some way, our voluntary

21 resources. And so we make available a full suite of resources. Some of it could be

22 related to cyber hygiene. Some could be related to best practices for securing emails.

23 Some of it could be related to understanding vulnerabilities on internet-facing

24 infrastructure.

25 So if you look at our Protect2024 website, that's the full range of resources that

1 we provide. And again, that's very focused on being responsive to State and local
2 election officials.
3 We also focus on physical security responsive to State and local election officials.
4 As I mentioned, you know, since the 2020 election, election officials of both parties and
5 their families have been subject to harassment and threats of violence. I myself
6 experienced a pretty serious swatting incident. And so we have provided resources
7 specific to reducing risk to physical security.
8 Q I want to talk more about the physical security aspect in a little bit. But do
9 you think that it would be detrimental for State and local officials if CISA was limited and 10 not allowed to share those resources beyond cyber hygiene?
11 A I think that -- again, my measure is you always have to get feedback from our 12 customers and our partners, so you'd have to actually ask State and local election
13 officials. But from the feedback that I have received, I mean -- you know, one of the 14 reasons -- I know this committee wanted to see me earlier, one of the reasons why I
15 waited to come chat with you all until after the election is I was on the road. So from 16 most of the last 3, 4 months I was up in New Hampshire with Dave Scanlon visiting polling
17 places, making sure that he had the resources that he needed from CISA. I was in Idaho
18 with Phil McGrane. I was in Nebraska with Bob Evnen from -- the secretary of state
19 there; with John J. Ashcroft, secretary of state of Missouri. I was with Monae Johnson, 20 secretary of state of South Dakota. I was with Scott Schwab, secretary of state of 21 Kansas. I was with Paul Pate, secretary of state of Iowa.
22 And, you know, it is a -- election security, I think it's important to understand, it is 23 a nonpartisan, nonpolitical mission. I will point out that all of those secretaries are all
24 Republican secretaries of state, and, you know, all secretaries of state look to take 25 advantage of our resources, taxpayer-funded resources and capabilities.

1 And again, you would have to ask them, but I feel like, given the 1,300 physical
2 security assessments, 700 cybersecurity assessments, nearly 500 training sessions that we
3 did, nearly 200 exercises that we did, the security clearances that we sponsored, so I feel
4 like that helped election officials reduce risk, and I'm very proud of our role in ensuring a
5 safe and secure and free and fair election.
6 Q Speaking of that work that you were doing closer to the election, some have
7 suggested that CISA should not be involved -- significantly involved closer to an election.
8 So why does CISA ramp up the election security work as election day approaches?
9 A Well, we do it internal, so election officials -- my meetings -- the last meeting
10 I had when I went out to Nebraska for Secretary Evnen's was I want to say probably in 11 September. So State and local election officials really, like, they want to take that last 12 month to focus, so we probably will, you know, be there in terms of providing resources
13 up until like a month before. Of course we'll be on call, and during election day we were 14 on call for election officials if they needed anything from us. But, you know, when 15 you're getting ready -- like, when you're about to do the mission, you want to just focus 16 head down on the mission.
17 Q What effect do you think it would have if CISA was not allowed to do the 18 election security work around election day?
19 A Well, on election day what we do is we just set up our election operations
20 center where it's CISA personnel, it's some of the vendors, it's some of the associations,
21 like NASED and NASS, and really it's just so that we can understand what's happening
22 across the broad environment. For example, bomb threats. So there were bomb
23 threats across multiple States that came from dot-RU email addresses. And 24 understanding that is the potential trend was important, and that's the kind of thing that 25 we do.

1 But we are -- only if election officials need our help do we weigh in, because we
2 know they're very busy running elections. But election operations day is really we are 3 there to make sure we understand what's happening across the threat environment.
4 Q What about the months leading up to the election? Do you think it would
5 have had a negative effect if you were not allowed to meet with the secretaries of state,
6 for example?
7 A Well, you'd have to ask them. All I can say is we had extensive meetings
8 with secretaries of state and, you know, to the -- almost to the person, those were great
9 meetings. You know, they -- if they had issues they would raise them, and I would try
10 and solve those problems and -- you know, again -- and I've been around the country
11 working with secretary of states, spending of time with secretaries of state. And the 12 great -- I really enjoy it, because they know that elections are political, but election
13 security is not. Election security is not a political, not a partisan issue. It's really a 14 matter of securing our most sacred democratic process.
15 So, you know, as I explained before, I'm a -- I'm not a Republican or a Democrat.
16 I'm a hard core Independent, and I came back from a very happy life, a very comfortable
17 life at Morgan Stanley because I felt this was an incredibly important mission. So I
18 don't -- certainly, if there's a restriction on providing support, you know, it would only 19 redound to the detriment of partners who in a voluntary way can take advantage or not 20 take advantage of our services and capabilities.
21 Q There have been calls that CISA should refrain from duplicating cybersecurity
22 functions done elsewhere at the Department of Defense, FBI, NSA, and Secret Service.
23 In your knowledge, does CISA duplicate the cybersecurity functions of other agencies?
24 A Not at all.
25 Q Does CISA play a unique role in election infrastructure security compared to

1 other Federal agencies?

2 A Yes. So our role very specifically within cybersecurity -- because I think

3 there were two separate questions. Within the Federal cyber ecosystem, we are very

4 purely the cyber defense agency. We protect and defend the dot-gov, the Federal

5 civilian executive branch and critical infrastructure, acknowledging that critical

6 infrastructure is largely owned and operated by the private sectors, so that is very much a

7 partnership endeavor. That is not the mission of FBI. That is not the mission of DOD.

8 That is not the mission of Secret Service.

9 So that mission is very unique, and I think it was the wisdom of the Congress in

10 2018, and, frankly, the previous administration, in setting up CISA as America's civilian

11 cyber defense agency and as the national coordinator for critical infrastructure security

12 and resilience as a recognition that you needed to have capability capacity, talent

13 expertise to manage and reduce cross-sector risk. So that's really our focus.

14 And we play a very unique role with respect to election security. We don't do

15 investigation, we don't do intelligence collection. We are -- we provide resources,

16 capabilities, support, for cybersecurity and physical security directly to State and local

17 election officials, and that's not something that our partners do.

18 Q Does CISA collaborate with other Federal agencies when there is any 19 jurisdictional overlap?

20 A Say more.

21 Q Does CISA collaborate if there are issue areas that multiple agencies might 22 want to work on?

23 A I mean, we work closely with our Federal partners on cybersecurity all the 24 time, because we all have different authorities, different capabilities, different talents.

25 And so that's the -- that's sort of the beauty of a more coherent Federal cyber ecosystem.

1 And that's one thing we really try to catalyze, since I came to the Agency, was to ensure
2 that we have a much more coherent approach.
3 Because what I saw from the private sector was that government would be
4 reaching out in all kinds of different uncoordinated ways to sort of high level. I didn't 5 have direct interactions, but just broadly -- even if they put out products, they seemed,
6 from our perspective, to be very uncoordinated. So we've tried to take a much more
7 coherent approach to how we work with the private sector on matters of cyber threats
8 and best practices and mitigation.
9 So if you look at CISA.gov, you'll see myriad cybersecurity advisories and they have 10 multiple seals. So FBI, NSA, foreign partners, and that's, you know, a recognition that,
11 frankly, cyber is a team sport.
12 Q Some have called for CISA to be abolished because, quote, we survived for,
13 what, 248 years without CISA.
14 Do you have a response to that?
15 A I do. I won't share it. In particular, I'm not sure where that comes from.
16 What I will say, look, everybody's entitled to their own opinion. I think whoever said
17 that, I could make a very strong case for the importance of continuing to resource the 18 capability and capacity and talents of the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security
19 Agency. Remember that we're a $3 billion agency and the vast majority of our budget
20 goes to cybersecurity. We are dealing with a world, not just very serious threats from 21 Russia and Iran and North Korea, but perhaps the most serious threats that I've seen in 22 my lifetime from China, who we know are actively burrowing into our critical
23 infrastructure, both from an espionage perspective but also to disrupt, destroy our critical
24 infrastructure.
25 So I think unraveling the important work that's been done over the past several

1 years to somehow get rid of America's cyber defense agency seems like a terrible idea to
2 me.
3 Q I want to return to the topic of physical security threats. You mentioned
4 that you've been hearing reports that election workers are facing increasing threats to 5 their physical security. Is that right?
6 A Correct.
7 Q And that is in part because of false information about the 2020 election and 8 other elections?
9 A Yes. Well, unfounded claims that the 2020 election did not represent the 10 will of the American people.
11 Q Generally, in your experience, are the local -- State and local poll workers
12 and people who staff elections on election day, are they generally full-time employees or 13 volunteers or part time?
14 A In my experience, most of them are part time. Most of them are 15 volunteers. Most of them are retirees, which is what makes it so painful, frankly. You
16 think about people -- they're not doing it for money. They're not doing it for glory.
17 They're doing it because they believe in our democracy. And personally, I think that any 18 sort of threats to these public servants that are not faceless bureaucrats -- they're our 19 friends, our neighbors, they're folks we see in the community all the time. You know,
20 threats to poll workers, these public servants, I think are outrageous.
21 Q Have you heard reports about individuals being less willing to serve as 22 election workers because of these threats?
23 A Yeah. There's been -- there was significant turnover. I think the stats are 24 something like a third. But happily, what we heard most recently in the last sort of 4 to 25 6 months is, even though some have left, there has not been a significant issue in terms

1 of getting new volunteers in. So that's been a positive thing.

2 One of the very positive things, there's an organization -- I mostly know this

3 because I'm a veteran -- called Vet the Vote that is looking to have veterans serve as poll

4 workers, you know, continue their service to the Nation, which I think is super cool.

5 Anybody that I talk to, particularly people that are skeptical about the security of election

6 infrastructure, I say, Be a poll worker. Sign up. Join the process. Be part of 7 defending our democracy.

8 So, yeah, I think it's fantastic.

9 Q We talked about how these unfounded claims can contribute to threats to 10 poll workers. Do you think foreign influence campaigns can contribute to the threats,

11 with the example of the bomb hoaxes and things like that?

12 A Certainly. I mean, you know, if you look at what was put out by the Office

13 of the Director of National Intelligence, and this was a concern if you -- again, this is not

14 CISA, but ODNI put this out, that if there was a very close or disputed election, that our

15 foreign adversaries would take an active role in fomenting violence. And so there was a

16 real concern around that, and that's why you saw, I think, several governors put the

17 National Guard on notice, because there were concerns about violence that we know

18 from the intel that has been hopefully declassified that our foreign adversaries were very

19 focused on stoking partisan discord and pitting Americans against each other and

20 undermining American trust in our democratic institutions. So that was very important

21 for Americans to have that understanding.

22 Q And turning to you, your name has been in the public eye because of this

23 investigation and related litigation. Is that right?

24 A I guess.

25 Q For example, you were named as a defendant in the Missouri v. Biden

1 litigation.

2 A Biden's a bigger person, bigger headliner than I am, but I was in there.

3 Q Has that had an effect on your life?

4 A Look, at the end of the day, I took this mission because I believe in our

5 Nation. I've spent my entire life, including multiple times deployed, multiple times in

6 combat zones, sworn to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States of

7 America. As I've said over and over again, my agency has never acted in a way that has

8 been against the law or against the Constitution. Every day the men and women of CISA

9 come to work to protect and defend the American people in a way that comports with 10 law and constitution.

11 And from somebody who just after my 18th birthday when I went to West Point

12 for the first time raised my hand to support and defend the Constitution against all

13 enemies foreign and domestic and has been raising my hand for the last 35 years, it is

14 strange to me to be accused of things that I did not do, this agency did not do. The 15 allegations against my agency are riddled with factual inaccuracies. So I think it's 16 unfortunate.

17 Cybersecurity, infrastructure security should be a bipartisan issue. It really

18 should be. And to be very frank, separate from this, I have very good relationships with

19 many folks on the Hill, to include the chairman of my authorizing committee, Mark Green,

20 Dave Joyce, Mark Amodei, Laurel Lee, because they understand cybersecurity, election

21 security is national security. And so I believe that it is -- we are dealing with such serious

22 threats to our Nation, in particular threats from PRC actors who want to do serious harm

23 to our infrastructure, to the American people. I think it's incredibly important that the 24 leadership, both in the executive branch as well as the legislative branch, really focus on

25 what are the most serious threats to the Nation. And I would point to threats from PRC

1 cyber actors who we know are intent on destroying and disrupting the critical
2 infrastructure Americans rely on every hour of every day. And, you know, that's all I
3 have tried to do is to build an agency that can help protect America.
4 Q Have you faced threats because of your role as the director of CISA?
5 A Yes.
6 Q Are you comfortable describing any of those threats? You mentioned
7 swatting.
8 A The swatting was not fun. It was pretty scary. I can just say I'm grateful
9 that I was home alone, because if eight 6-foot-plus tall people in full combat gear with full 10 weapons loaded and shields came into my apartment and my son had been there and my 11 husband had been there, I think it would have been a very bad situation. Fortunately,
12 I've been in a combat zone. I have dealt with weapons my whole life, so I knew how to 13 handle that situation. But I can only imagine what would have happened if my son were
14 there.
15 So the only silver lining is the fact that it was December 30th and they were in 16 Florida and I was home working.
17 And then, of course, there's the garden variety threats on various platforms that I
18 don't spend any time on but people will let me know. Again, I spent my whole life as a 19 public servant, except for a couple -- 4 and a half years at Morgan Stanley. I believe to 20 my core in America as the greatest Nation on the face of the Earth, and I hope Americans 21 can come together and find a way to bridge the very serious divide that we face so we 22 can help protect this country from the very serious foreign threats that we face.
23 Q Thank you so much for your testimony.
24 [redacted]. We can go off the record.
25 [Recess.]

1 [redacted]. Can we go back on the record, please?

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I want to turn back to some interactions with Stanford, specifically the 4 Stanford Internet Observatory. Are you familiar with the SIO?

5 A Vaguely.

6 Q When did you first become familiar?

7 A I don't recall.

8 Q Okay. Did you have any familiarity prior to becoming director?

9 A No.

10 [redacted]. Director, can you speak up?

11 Ms. Easterly. No, I did not.

12 [Easterly Exhibit No. 11

13 was marked for identification.]

14 BY [redacted]:

15 Q Thank you.

16 I'm going to introduce a September 2021 email chain as exhibit 11.

17 A Thank you.

18 Got it.

19 Q Do you recall any conversations with Renee DiResta or [redacted]

20 regarding the Sanford Internet Observatory -- regarding CISA's relationship with the 21 Stanford Internet Observatory?

22 A I don't.

23 Q We've talked about this previously, but certainly one of the concerns that

24 members of the committee have raised have to do with how CISA interacted with the

25 Stanford Internet Observatory in --

1 A What is the Stanford Internet Observatory?

2 Q It's the entity within Stanford that helped set up the Election Integrity

3 Partnership.

4 A What is the Election Integrity Partnership?

5 Q It was the entity that worked with CISA and the Global Engagement Center

6 to flag posts for social media companies.

7 A That was all during the previous administration, right?

8 Q Yes.

9 A Okay.

10 Q The emails here show that Stanford, specifically Stanford Internet

11 Observatory, want to maintain their relationship with CISA.

12 Just trying to get a sense of your understanding if you were briefed on the

13 preexisting relationship, and then if you were given the opportunity to learn more about 14 the work that Stanford and CISA had done together.

15 A I don't -- I do not recall this interaction. It's more than 3 years ago. So -- I

16 don't. I'm not familiar with the -- what is it?

17 Q The EIP or the Stanford Internet Observatory.

18 A Yeah. I'm not familiar with either of -- as it relates to CISA, I don't think we

19 had anything to do with either of those things. I mean, maybe we did before I got there,

20 but I am not familiar. I think -- I don't remember having a meeting. If it was 5:30, I just 21 don't -- I can't say that I recall this.

22 Q Okay. Whether in the context -- just generally, because it's not just been

23 the committee. There have been journalists who have reported on the interactions

24 between the Stanford Internet Observatory and CISA, again, under your predecessor.

25 There's, of course, been litigation. Have you received any sort of briefing on the nature

1 of those interactions and whether they were consistent with the First Amendment?

2 A With the Stanford Internet Observatory?

3 Q Yes.

4 A No. I mean, not that I recall. I don't -- I'm certainly eye level familiar with

5 the litigation and the heart of that being the forwarding of the emails, but I don't know

6 anything about a relationship with Stanford or EIP on election security.

7 Q In some of our previous rounds, when talking about switchboarding, raises

8 the primary concern resources that CISA had available.

9 A Right.

10 Q If CISA had additional resources, would you reconsider whether CISA --

11 A I wouldn't.

12 Q How come?

13 A I don't think it makes any sense as a mission for CISA. I don't think the

14 whole idea of taking whether we had -- if I had -- [redacted], if the Congress decides to

15 appropriate more money to CISA and my successor asks me what to do with it, I would

16 say, you should put it to the cybersecurity mission to help protect our critical

17 infrastructure from very serious PRC cyber actors. There wouldn't be a world where I

18 would look to allocate resources to something that makes no sense to me.

19 Q Have you ever had a chance to review examples of switchboarding or what 20 CISA did in the lead-up to the 2020 election?

21 A Not that I recall.

22 [Easterly Exhibit Nos. 12 and 13

23 were marked for identification.]

24 BY [redacted]:

25 Q All right. So we're going to introduce two exhibits at the same time.

1 Exhibit 12 will be Sources Sought Notice for the Department of Homeland Security MDM
2 Analysis Support Services. And then exhibit 13 will be Third Party Mis-, Dis-, and 3 Malinformation Analysis Capability.
4 Do you recognize either of these documents?
5 A No.
6 Q Do you have any familiarity with the sources sought notice referenced in the 7 first exhibit here?
8 A I don't know what a sources sought notice is. No.
9 Q So for a document like this going through the National Risk Management
10 Center, is this some something that would typically come across your desk or is this 11 something that could --
12 A No. I'm not familiar with either of these.
13 Q The first exhibit, the sources sought notice, says, "DHS, CISA, and the 14 National Risk Management Center is seeking to procure support to identify and mitigate 15 information manipulation activities that have the potential to imperil national critical
16 functions. This support shall detect emerging mis-, dis-, and malinformation
17 activities -- tools of information manipulation -- provide component factors to aid in risk
18 analysis and inform potential risk mitigation activities."
19 First, do you think this is consistent with CISA's mission to your understanding?
20 A Which part is it?
21 Q Any part of it. Sorry. Do you need me to reread it, the first few 22 sentences?
23 A The first sentence? The "seeking to procure," "to identify and mitigate
24 information" --
25 [redacted]. And just to clarify the record, because it seems the director is not familiar with this, do you have a sense of when this was dated, if it's a final thing that went out? I see the other exhibit is marked as a draft, so it's not clear to me from where these documents came or the time period or if they're actually final documents that were used.

[redacted]. It's February 2022.

[redacted]. These documents were in a online Federal grant repository. It showed that at the very least the notice and those two documents were formally issued.

Ms. Easterly. February of 2022?

[redacted]. Around that time, yes. The response date is March 2022, so I believe it was early 2022.

Ms. Easterly. Tell me again your question.

BY [redacted]:

Q Looking at the first two sentences.

A Yeah. "Seeking to procure support to identify and mitigate information manipulation activities that have," "this support shall" -- what's your question?

Q Is this type of request consistent with CISA's mission?

A I don't want to speculate on what this is because it's first seen, but it does not seem consistent with the mission that I have laid out the vision and strategy for.

Q Do you recall any general discussions of requesting support from external partners to assist with identifying mis-, dis-, and malinformation?

A Not that I recall. I've never seen this document, but I'm happy to see that it says, "The scope of the work will ensure full compliance with the First Amendment and other constitutional and statutory rights, including privacy, civil liberties, and civil rights." So certainly that clause is consistent with my guidance and my understanding of everything that CISA does every single day, but the rest of it I'm not familiar with.

1 Q What sort of safeguards would be sufficient to ensure compliance with the
2 First Amendment, if receiving support in this nature?
3 A I mean, I wouldn't know because I don't know what this program is. But 4 everything -- everything we do with our mission is in alignment with law and
5 constitution -- and the Constitution, and we have a very robust and talented legal team, a
6 privacy team that works with all of my divisions and mission-enabling offices at the senior 7 executive level to ensure that there is a full review of everything that we do to ensure
8 that we are complying with the law and the Constitution.
9 Q The kind of subheading is folded at the bottom. The first page says,
10 "Specific objectives for such a project may include," and then -- it's at the bottom of the --
11 A Oh, this one here?
12 Q Yeah.
13 A Yeah.
14 Q "Identify and assess -- through cross/multi-platform analysis -- emerging
15 MDM narratives and campaigns likely to impair operation of selection national critical
16 functions."
17 Do you recall any discussions during your tenure as director about the need for 18 CISA to work on emerging -- to work on identifying emerging MDM narratives?
19 A Not that came to me. The only -- and again, I don't -- I inherited the term
20 "MDM." I don't really understand it. I don't really like to use it. The only focus that I
21 had as I evolved was ensuring that the American people had access to accurate
22 information about election infrastructure security. That was really the goal and the 23 focus.
24 Q The next bullet point, when you flip the page, "Analyze emerging MDM
25 campaigns." Do you recall any efforts or any discussions during your tenure at CISA about the need for CISA to analyze emerging MDM campaigns?

A No.

Q The final bullet point there says, "Coordinate with partners to develop options to produce risks of existing MDM campaigns and promote resilience to future MDM activities."

Again, do you recall any discussions in your tenure at CISA about the need to work with external partners to reduce the risk of existing MDM --

A I don't.

Q During your tenure at CISA, do you recall any discussions of the -- of potentially using external partners to engage in conduct that CISA was not able to do directly?

A No.

Q This next exhibit is a response to this solicitation. Hang on to these exhibits.

A Okay.

[redacted]. Is exhibit 13 the statement attached to this solicitation?

[redacted]. Exhibit 13 is the capability document, and then exhibit 12 is the sources sought notice.

And then we're going to do two exhibits at the same time, an email and the attachment to the email. So exhibit 14 will be the email describing what's attached.

[Easterly Exhibit Nos. 14 and 15 were marked for identification.]

BY [redacted]:

Q That exhibit 15 is the submission from Stanford Internet Observatory.

A Okay.

1 Q Exhibit 15, which is the response from the Stanford Internet Observatory,
2 begins to discuss the work of Stanford in the lead-up to the 2020 election with the EIP.
3 The next paragraph discusses The Virality Project.
4 Just taking one step back from all this. Do you have any familiarity with The 5 Virality Project?
6 A No.
7 Q Looks like four paragraphs down, it says, "The capacities developed in the 8 Election Integrity Partnership and Virality Project are now being adapted to listen for and 9 develop reports on emerging mis-, dis-, and malinformation narratives surrounding the 10 2022 midterms, as well as other emerging national and global events that may be targets
11 of MDM."
12 Do you recall any discussions within CISA about the capabilities of the Stanford
13 Internet Observatory?
14 A No.
15 Q On Bates No. 6422, the third page of exhibit 15, they list their previous 16 projects for the Election Integrity Partnership. Stanford describes it as, "This 4-month
17 project collected data on over 600 incidents of election-related MDM targeting the 2020
18 U.S. election."
19 Have you ever had a chance to review what sort of content that Stanford was 20 flagging leading up to the 2020 election?
21 A No.
22 Q Has anyone within CISA made you aware that the committee made that 23 information public?
24 A The committee? Say that again.
25 Q Has anyone within CISA made you aware that the Judiciary Committee made

1 that information public?

2 A No.

3 Q Has anyone within CISA briefed you on whether the posts being flagged

4 were, in fact, misinformation or if they were accurate posts?

5 A No. This is all before my time, right?

6 Q Yes.

7 A No. I'm not aware of any of that.

8 Q Were you aware in -- when preparing to take the role as director that Chris

9 Krebs and Alex Stamos were business partners at that point?

10 A I don't know if they were -- I forget when that happened. I know they

11 became business partners at some point in time. I don't know the timeline of it.

12 Q And did you have any familiarity about the degree to which CISA worked

13 together with Stanford Internet Observatory when Chris Krebs was the assistant director

14 and when Stamos was head of the Stanford Internet Observatory?

15 A No. No. I mean, I had never been at DHS before. I was really focused

16 on understanding the bulk of our mission, so understanding the cybersecurity, the 17 physical security, the risk reduction, the partnership engagement. So that was really

18 where I spent the vast bulk of my time during my preparation for the confirmation

19 hearing.

20 And I think as I mentioned, [redacted], it really came up in staff sessions as I was doing

21 the meetings with the staff and then the chairman had brought it up, and that was really

22 where this focus -- where the focus was raised and that's why I looked at it. But where I

23 landed was I thought the best use of our capabilities and our capacity and our talent was

24 all about the three things that I've mentioned several times.

25 Q Did you receive any sort of briefing from anyone within CISA about the

1 volume of content that the EIP had flagged ahead of the 2020 election?

2 A I didn't know anything about EIP.

3 Q Okay. Did you receive any briefing from CISA about that request from the 4 EIP received top priority from big techs' content moderation teams?

5 A I'm not tracking EIP or any of that.

6 Q Obviously we've been going several rounds at this point, and I've started to

7 discuss it. Based off what you've been able to learn either previously or with this

8 interview so far, I mean, is this a concern? Do you have, I guess, any interest in learning

9 more about CISA's role with the EIP leading up to the 2020 election?

10 A I don't -- I don't think it's relevant. I mean, there was decisions that were

11 made by my predecessor. The Agency is a very different agency. We received new

12 authorities in 2021 that allowed us to really build our capability and capacity and our

13 talent and our expertise to focus on the two main missions that the Congress had for us:

14 to be American civilian cyber defense agency and to be the national coordinator for 15 critical infrastructure, resilience, and security.

16 I've hired over 2,000 people since I came on board. We have built world-class

17 teams to do threat hunting and vulnerability management, to protect the dot-gov after

18 the SolarWinds incident, so -- and I think the work that the team did on election

19 security -- again, a very small part, $45 million of a $3 billion budget -- I think was

20 admirable, because it was responsive to election -- State and local election officials who

21 wanted cybersecurity support, physical security support. And as the chairman himself

22 noted, it was a free and fair and safe and secure election, and so I'm proud of the work

23 that was done.

24 I do think that the most serious threat to our critical infrastructure comes from

25 PRC cyber actors who we know are already burrowing deep into our critical

1 infrastructure: water, power, communications, transportation, aviation. You have
2 seen, hopefully, some of the reporting on impacts on our telecommunications. Those 3 are very, very serious things that my teams are actively engaged now, working with our 4 Federal partners and working with our critical infrastructure partners, to be able to 5 mitigate. That's where I focused the Agency and that's where I would hope my 6 successor would continue to focus the Agency.
7 Q Have you received any briefing or summary, made aware in any way of 8 whether what the steps CISA took in the lead-up to the 2020 election, if any of those 9 were harmful?
10 A I haven't, [redacted].
11 Q You've identified many times your focus and concern on the efforts of 12 foreign actors, particularly the PRC. Do you know of the individuals targeted by the 13 Election Integrity Partnership, how many of those posts were by Americans?
14 A I don't know what the EIP was and what they did.
15 Q The concern, of course, for our members is they have concerns about what 16 CISA did in the lead-up to the 2020 election, and appreciate the shift of focus under your 17 tenure based off your testimony today and previously, but trying to get a sense of if 18 there's a chance the Agency could revert back to a focus on mis- and disinformation,
19 including by Americans.
20 A I'm leaving the Agency on the 20th of January. I'm very sad to leave. I'm 21 very proud --
22 [redacted]. Director, can you speak up? Sorry to interrupt.
23 Ms. Easterly. I'm leaving the Agency on the 20th of January, as all good political 24 Senate-confirmed appointees do. I'll be very sad to leave because I'm incredibly proud
25 of what we've built to protect and defend Americans and the critical infrastructure we

1 rely upon every day. If my successor is named before I depart, if I have an opportunity
2 to speak with anybody on the incoming team or the transition team, I will make it very
3 clear where I have focused my efforts and my best recommendation on where I would
4 continue to prioritize. And that, again, is on the very serious threats to our critical
5 infrastructure from foreign adversaries, principally the PRC.

1 [2:19 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q I want to turn now to the committee's request to obtain your testimony.

4 First, when were you first made aware that the committee sought your testimony

5 for a hearing in July 2024?

6 A When was I first, like the date or something?

7 Q Uh-huh.

8 A I don't remember. If you say it was July 2024, then it could be.

9 Q The invitation to appear at a hearing scheduled for July 31st, 2024. Do you

10 recall being made aware?

11 A I don't recall the date, but I recall being made aware that the committee

12 was -- I was happy to do it, as I recall. I mean, I don't -- again, there's so much that

13 happens below my level in terms of, like, what's the topic, who else are the witnesses,

14 blah, blah, blah. And so I think there was all a back-and-forth on that.

15 As I recall, I have a 91-year-old mother who's very ill. So I think I was up helping

16 my father with her at one point in time. But as I recall -- my recalling -- I think there was 17 correspondence back and forth between the Leg folks.

18 I was very happy to appear between getting information from the committee, and

19 I think that was the back-and-forth, between taking care of my mom, and between being

20 on travel focused on supporting election officials. I don't think the dates ended up

21 working. But I'm very pleased to be with you here today, [redacted]. I've heard a lot about 22 you. So it's great to finally meet you.

23 Q Were you made aware that the committee had offered alternative dates,

24 three alternative dates in September for you to testify?

25 A I don't recall. I know there was back-and-forth to get information. But I

1 would have -- I think there's been a back-and-forth of -- between the Leg folks. So I'd 2 probably refer to those letters.
3 Q Okay. Did you ever provide a date that you were available?
4 A I don't know. Probably.
5 Q Okay.
6 A It might have been a back-and-forth between the committee and the 7 department. I think usually when I testify we get a lot of information about the 8 committee to help ensure that it's the best use of your time, the Members' time, and my 9 time. So I think we were just waiting, as far as I was -- but a lot of that stuff happens
10 below my level.
11 Q Who were you talking to within CISA about the committee's request for you
12 to appear at a hearing?
13 A It was probably the Leg staff, and then they deal with the department Leg
14 staff. So --
15 Q Do you recall which staff, in particular?
16 A My OLA staff. It was probably [redacted].
17 Q Did you ever provide [redacted] with a date that you'd be available to testify at a
18 hearing?
19 A I don't remember. I mean, certainly if he thinks I did, I'd defer to him.
20 But I don't remember. I might have. I just don't remember whether it was in 21 September or in -- but --
22 Q Did you provide [redacted] with any conditions that you needed prior to giving the 23 committee a date?
24 A What do you mean conditions?
25 Q Was there anything that you told [redacted] to tell the committee about you'd

1 only be willing to testify under certain conditions or with certain information?

2 A I didn't set any of that. I think, as per practice, there is always information

3 that is provided to us about, like, the other witnesses that might be there, specific

4 information that my team needs to make a recommendation to me and set things on the

5 calendar, because I often have to move some things around. But, obviously, time with

6 the committee would be a priority. But I don't remember.

7 Q Did you have any discussion with [redacted] about if you could actually do certain

8 dates and not do certain dates?

9 A I mean, he probably worked with my staff to look at my calendar. I

10 wouldn't -- so I have a front office that manages, helps to manage my calendar. So he

11 probably got with them. And I'm sure they would have discussed that.

12 Q In the lead-up from July up until early November, at no point did the 13 committee receive any dates that you'd be available to testify. I'm trying to understand

14 if that's at your direction or not.

15 A Again, the back-and-forth, I am really not involved in that. If there was an

16 agreement on topics and other witnesses, and we were trying to land a date, and, again, I

17 was really focused on ensuring that we were supporting State and local election officials,

18 so there was travel that was happening. And then I think the committee was out for a 19 period of time. So I think -- weren't you, like, out most of the summer?

20 Q There's the district work period in August. But we offered three dates

21 when we were in session in September.

22 A I don't know. I don't know. In September I was on the road a lot doing

23 the election security mission, and I had some things going on with my mom. But I don't

24 know. I'm very happy to be here with you today.

25 Q Did you ever instruct [redacted] or anyone else to not schedule a hearing unless

1 you had information regarding the other witnesses?

2 A All that stuff happens below my level. So there are specific actions that are

3 taken between Leg staff in order to ensure that we are best prepared to inform the 4 committee's oversight function.

5 Q Did anyone within CISA advise you to not appear at a hearing?

6 A No.

7 Q There were also requests from the committee for you to appear at a

8 transcribed interview in September and October. Were you made aware of these

9 requests from the committee?

10 A In September and October for a transcribed interview?

11 Q Yes.

12 A Maybe. Yeah, I think -- I want to say you all -- actually, I'm not a hundred

13 percent sure because I don't remember, but I think you all emailed something, and that

14 goes to my OLA.

15 Q Okay. There were letters from the chairman directly to you inviting you to 16 appear for a voluntary transcribed interview. Did you receive those letters?

17 A Did they come from Chairman Jordan, from his email address?

18 Q They would have been from our clerk. But, yes, the letter is from the 19 chairman.

20 A I mean, I get a ton of different emails on a regular basis. If something came

21 from Chairman Jordan's email, certainly, if it was from somebody I didn't recognize or

22 somebody that I didn't know, as long as it went to a staff member, that would make sure

23 that that staff member was responsive.

24 Q Did staff make you aware of the request for you to appear in a voluntary

25 transcribed interview?

1 A I'm sure they must have. But, again, there are mechanisms to work
2 through as we've done. I've testified a lot in different committees. The staff work
3 through topics, timing, any other witnesses. And when that is all sorted out, then we 4 begin the testimony prep and all of that.
5 And I don't think that that got to that point, because, as I understand, there was a
6 back-and-forth. And that's the best of the details that I know. There was some 7 back-and-forth information, and that kind of referred to what was ever -- what was in 8 those letters from Leg personnel.
9 Q Did CISA staff ever advise you to not appear at a transcribed interview
10 September or October?
11 A Advise me not to appear? No.
12 Q Did you direct CISA staff to not make you available for a transcribed
13 interview in September or October?
14 A Did I direct CISA staff to not make me available? I'm not sure I understand
15 your question.
16 Q So, again, the committee asked for dates that you would be available for a
17 transcribed interview. CISA never provided any dates prior to early November.
18 A I'm not sure what you're asking. I think we settled on a date. That's why
19 I'm here with you today. We have gotten past a free and fair and safe and secure
20 election. That was my focus.
21 So I'm happy to be here to answer all of your relevant questions. I don't -- I can't 22 speak to any of the specifics to that line of questions.
23 Q Well, I'm just trying to get a sense of if this is instruction coming from you or 24 if staff were acting on their own.
25 A What instruction?

1 Q To not provide the committee with any dates?

2 A Again, I have a calendar. I have a team that's focused. I have a very, very

3 busy schedule that is focused on the mission of CISA, which is to reduce risk to the critical

4 infrastructure Americans rely on every hour of every day. I have a lot of meetings.

5 So I don't think that anybody would think about -- you know, if there are reasons

6 that I couldn't appear, then that's why here I am with you. We were able to make this

7 date happen, and I appreciate the committee being here for it.

8 Q Were you notified that the committee had issued a deposition subpoena?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Why did you not appear on the date for the --

11 A What was the date?

12 Q October 11th, I believe.

13 A I would refer you to the letter that came from Leg.

14 Q Did you have an opportunity to review any of the letters from DHS' Office of 15 Legislative Affairs or CISA's Office of Legislative Affairs?

16 A I had an opportunity to review the letter about the deposition.

17 Q Just that one?

18 A I don't recall having -- I probably did, but I don't recall. Did they have my 19 signature?

20 Q The letters received from the committee were not from you. They were 21 from --

22 A Okay. I might have reviewed them, but I was on the road a lot. So I

23 assume I reviewed them. But I did review the one about the deposition.

24 Q Did CISA or DHS staff advise you to not comply with the subpoena?

25 A Again, I would refer you to the letter, which I think lays out the best advice

1 from the lawyers and OLA.

2 Q Who made the final decision that you not appear on your deposition date?

3 A I mean, I made the decision based on the information that I was given, which

4 I don't remember what the -- again, I'd refer you to the letters. But I think there was an

5 issue with having counsel appear.

6 Q At that point, did you direct anyone at DHS or CISA staff that you'd be

7 available for a voluntary transcribed interview?

8 A I did not direct anyone. No, I think -- I'm trying to remember. I think

9 they -- maybe you offered to do -- I don't know. Here I am, transcribed interview, so --

10 Q In terms of -- we've spoken a little bit about third parties. Do you recall any

11 interactions between other parts of Stanford [inaudible] the Stanford Internet

12 Observatory?

13 A The Hoover Institution.

14 Q Any others?

15 A No. My old boss works at the Hoover Institution. So I went out in 16 December of 2021. I think maybe 2022. I went to go see her and some folks from the 17 Hoover Institution.

18 Q Are you familiar with NewsGuard?

19 A NewsGuard?

20 Q Uh-huh.

21 A No.

22 Q Are you familiar with the Global Disinformation Index?

23 A No.

24 Q Are you familiar with the Center for Countering Digital Hate?

25 A No.

1 Q During your tenure as director, have you had any interactions with the
2 Atlantic Council?
3 A I think they hosted a panel on the National Cybersecurity Strategy. I
4 believe it was the Atlantic Council. I'm not a hundred percent sure. We did something
5 with the national cyber director and the cyber ambassador on the National Cyber
6 Strategy.
7 And I don't know if it was Atlantic Council, but I gave a talk on this idea of the 8 importance of private sector collaboration on cybersecurity. I think that was at the 9 Atlantic Council, but I'm not a hundred percent sure. And I think that those are the only 10 two that come to mind.
11 Q Are you familiar with the Election Infrastructure Subsector Coordinating 12 Council?
13 A Yes.
14 Q And to your understanding, what work does the EISCC do?
15 A My understanding is it brings together the election vendors that provide that 16 infrastructure for voting machines.
17 Q Are you familiar with the EISCC's Joint Mis/Disinformation Working Group?
18 A No.
19 Q Do you recall receiving any briefings related to the EISCC and its work on 20 MDM work?
21 A No. It would seem strange to me that the vendors would be focused on that.
22 But, no.
23 [Easterly Exhibit Nos. 16 and 17
24 were marked for identification.]
25 BY [redacted]:

1 Q We can introduce two more exhibits. This will be exhibit 16 and 17.
2 There's an example of meeting agendas, one from January 27th, 2022, and one from
3 March 31st, 2022.
4 Do you know if the EISCC is still meeting?
5 A The Election Infrastructure Subsector Coordinating Council?
6 Q Uh-huh.
7 A I would think so. It's one of the mechanisms that we use as part of CIPAC,
8 the Critical Infrastructure Partnership Advisory Council. So typically there's a sector for 9 the council, and then a government coordinating council. So I assume so.
10 Q If you wanted additional information about the mis- and disinformation
11 working group, who would you go to within CISA?
12 A As far as I understand, I don't know if that -- I mean, if I wanted to know
13 something, if I went back two and a half years and wanted to ask about that.
14 Q Or if you wanted to see if this is still part of the working group.
15 A I would probably go to the National Risk Management Center. But it
16 would -- that would not be a question I would ever ask.
17 Q Does it concern you that there's a mis- and disinformation working group?
18 A Well, this was in 2022. I guess I would have to know more about what the 19 mis- and disinformation working group was about.
20 If the mis- and disinformation working group had a focus that was aligned to what
21 my focus was, which is ensuring that there is a way to understand foreign adversary
22 tactics, ensuring that there is a way to provide accurate information, and then focused on 23 things like amplifying the trusted voices of State and local election officials through things
24 like #TrustedInfo2024, which is the National Association of Secretaries of State, or the 25 National Association of State Election Directors, if those are the types of things, then I

1 would think it would be fine.

2 Q Who is responsible for determining whether it's focused on those priorities

3 or if it's focused on content narratives?

4 A I mean, I've never seen these before. So I can't answer that question.

5 Q I guess I'm just trying to understand it a bit better. I understand the

6 direction that you intend to convey on priorities for the agency and how, if at all, focus on

7 mis- and disinformation relates. And then there are, you know, appear to be external

8 examples of reference to CISA's work related to mis- and disinformation. I guess walk us

9 through your understanding of how it's verified that there isn't anything concerning going

10 on.

11 [redacted]. Can you explain the external examples that you just 12 referenced?

13 [redacted]. Yeah. Like these meeting agendas.

14 Ms. Easterly. I guess I don't understand your question. I mean, there are a

15 thousand different meetings that go on. The subsector in this case, the election -- State

16 and local election officials -- help to inform these agendas.

17 Can you help me understand what you're getting at because I must be missing

18 something?

19 BY [redacted]:

20 Q We've tried to examine what CISA did in 2020.

21 A Yes.

22 Q So you pointed to that as previous director.

23 A Right.

24 Q And different administration.

25 A Right.

1 Q And then trying to get a sense of if things are different under your tenure,
2 how is that being verified?
3 A So is your implication that because this says Joint Mis/Disinformation
4 Working Group that there's some of the switchboarding continuing?
5 Q Not necessarily switchboarding, but trying to understand -- another example
6 is the support notice that we looked at earlier in the hour.
7 Are there any efforts within CISA to either work with external partners or CISA
8 directly to identify narratives, to work to combat those narratives?
9 A Not that I know of. My guidance has been very clear. And so whatever
10 might show up on an agenda from two and a half years ago that I've never seen before
11 with people at a meeting many, many levels below my work as the director, I don't see 12 how that implies that my guidance is not being implemented appropriately.
13 Q We're trying to get a better sense of, based off your testimony, a lack of 14 familiarity with what CISA did in 2020 with respect to Stanford --
15 A Why would you expect me to be aware of something that went on before
16 my time that didn't go -- that hasn't gone on. That was in the Trump administration. I
17 came in in July of 2021 with a new direction, new authorities, new priorities. That was 18 not anything that continued under my tenure.
19 Q Well, we've looked at, again, previous public statements about what some of 20 the priorities for CISA would be; that MDM was identified as one of them.
21 A Yeah.
22 Q We've looked at, again, external documents. Understanding that you're 23 saying this is the guidance that you gave, I'm trying to understand, whether it's the 24 solicitation for additional information and support or meeting agendas, about whether 25 that guidance is being carried out.

1 A [redacted], you seem like a very smart, nice person, but I don't understand how 2 these individual pieces of information are being connected into some sort of an
3 implication that we are doing anything amiss.
4 So I want to be really, really clear: CISA does not censor, has never censored.
5 And I'm using that word because I seem to think you're implying it. Everything the men
6 and women of CISA do every day is focused on reducing risk to the critical infrastructure
7 Americans rely on every day in a way that comports with the law and the Constitution
8 that we are sworn to defend.
9 I'm the director of the agency. I set the vision, I set the strategy, I set the 10 priorities, and I ensure that the guidance is carried out.
11 And as I've said over and over again, my guidance when it comes to disinformation 12 as it relates to election security has been focused on three areas: characterizing what 13 our foreign adversaries are doing, putting out accurate information, and amplifying the 14 voices of State and local election officials. No agenda or statement of work is going to 15 impact that that is the fact.
16 Q There's no -- I'm not seeking to make any implication or suggest anything in 17 the questions, but statements such as that CISA has never done something, and then 18 trying to understand your familiarity with things that CISA did previously, that seems to 19 be an inconsistency.
20 If there is any --
21 A Help me understand.
22 Q Sure. If there was anything concerning regarding how CISA interacted with 23 Stanford in the summer and fall of 2020, if you're not familiar with what CISA did, I don't
24 understand the statement to say that there's never been an issue with how CISA engaged 25 with --

1 A Is the implication that CISA was engaged in censorship activities before my 2 tenure?
3 Q The concern is, yes.
4 A Can you give me the evidence there?
5 Q Yes. We'll go through -- up to exhibit 18.
6 [Easterly Exhibit No. 18
7 was marked for identification.]
8 [redacted]. This is a reference -- excuse me, this is an internal email from the 9 Atlantic Council produced to the committee from July 2020 from one of founders of the 10 EIP.
11 I'll give you a moment to review. But to call to your attention to it, it's the last 12 sentence on the first page about setting up an Election Integrity Partnership at the 13 request of DHS/CISA.
14 Ms. Easterly. What is an Election Integrity Partnership? What does that mean?
15 [redacted]. It's the project that's referenced in the response that CISA received 16 from Stanford in 2022 that we looked at.
17 [redacted]. Can you say that again? This is dated 2020.
18 Ms. Easterly. I'm confused.
19 [redacted]. And you're saying this 2020 email relates to that 2022
20 solicitation?
21 [redacted]. No. This email that is in reference to the director's previous 22 response is one of the many pieces of evidence that the committee has put forward to 23 suggest that the EIP was created at the request of CISA.
24 [redacted]. Okay.
25 [redacted]. The committee has serious concerns that we've made public, that we

1 made the supporting documentation public, that the EIP was flagging Americans' posts,
2 posts that were true, not misinformation.
3 Ms. Easterly. I don't know anything about EIP, and I don't really want to be that
4 educated because it is completely in the past, but I'm happy to entertain this 5 conversation.
6 Where is that? I don't know anything about that. So --
7 [redacted]. Yeah. We can -- we'll introduce it as an exhibit.
8 Ms. Easterly. But I don't -- I also -- I don't know what this is all about. But I am
9 not aware of any request to set up an Election Interrogatory Partnership. So I would
10 challenge that. I don't know about the flagging of Americans' posts. But I can tell you
11 that, to the best of my knowledge, CISA does not censor and has never censored.
12 [redacted]. Okay. Can we go off the record?
13 [Recess.]
14 BY [redacted]:
15 Q We can go back on the record. Just have a few follow-up questions. But 16 we had a pretty extensive discussion off the record just now, and I wanted to re-ask a
17 couple questions to get your testimony on the record.
18 A Sure.
19 Q You mentioned that if someone were to ask you did you change how the 20 forwarding email process or the switchboarding process works because something wrong
21 happened in the previous administration, you had an answer to that. Could you repeat
22 that for the committee?
23 A Yes. No, it was not at all a rejection based on something untoward or 24 illegal or immoral or unethical. The idea of the program seemed like a terrible use of 25 our precious resources, and it didn't seem to make any sense to me conceptually.

1 So that's why I gave direction for us not to do it. And I gave that direction before
2 the 2022 election. So there was no forwarding of emails in the 2022 election.
3 Q Was there anything you wanted to say on the record about your work in 4 Ohio?
5 A Well, I would just -- as I said, we do fantastic work across the country
6 working with all sorts of partners, and we do great work in the State of Ohio, to include in 7 Chairman Jordan's district.
8 I've been out there and spent time with Frank LaRose, the secretary of state, who 9 has made fantastic use of CISA's election security resources. I've spent time on the 10 ground with Chairman Joyce talking to his constituents, walking through all of the 11 resources that we have to reduce risk to water facilities, to schools, to hospitals. And 12 there's a great appreciation for that.
13 I spent time, just not in Ohio, but just as an example, spent a great day with 14 Chairman Green, chairman of the Homeland Security Committee, along with myriad 15 partners from universities, from hospitals, from critical infrastructure, talking about all of 16 our work and resources that we provide to State and local entities and to critical
17 infrastructure to help reduce risk.
18 So I would hope that there is some recognition by the committee of the value of 19 the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, because at the end of the day it was 20 the Congress that set it up. And I feel very strongly that the Congress is, in fact, getting 21 its money's worth from the massive amount of work that we've been doing to reduce risk.
22 And those are the conversations that I'd very much like to have because CISA
23 should be seen as a crown jewel in the Federal Government in that if you talk to folks on 24 the ground in districts, people recognize how we are out there working as a trusted
25 partner in helping them.

1 Q And there has been some question. You've said multiple times today that
2 to the best of your knowledge CISA does not and has not censored American speech. Is
3 that right?
4 A Yes.
5 Q There were some questions about how you could know that if you didn't
6 have familiarity with all of the details of the previous administration's operations. Do
7 you have a response to that?
8 A Yes. First off, the major thing that I was briefed on was the forwarding of 9 emails, which in my judgment doesn't have anything to do with censorship.
10 But at the end of the day there is, to the best of my knowledge and what I've been 11 briefed on and what I know, there is no evidence that CISA has coerced the removal of 12 protected speech from any platforms.
13 And that would never, by the way, be part of CISA's mission. CISA is not a law
14 enforcement agency. We have no coercive powers. We're not a regulator. We are 15 not an intel agency or a military agency. We are entirely a voluntary partnership
16 agency.
17 And with respect to that forwarding of emails, I didn't think it made any sense for 18 our mission. But just broadly, I realize a lot has been written on this, but at the end of 19 the day I think dots are being connected which unfairly malign the incredible -- my 20 incredible teammates at CISA who work every day to protect and defend America.
21 Q Thank you.
22 I want to turn to a couple of the documents that were introduced.
23 We talked in the last hour about the sector coordinating committees, the Election
24 Infrastructure Subsector Coordinating Committee. That's not a part of CISA. Is that
25 correct?

1 A We are members of it, but it's a structure that is about bringing together.
2 It's a convening structure. We don't own it, but we are members of it.
3 Q The sector coordinating committees are self-organized and self-governing.
4 A Yes, exactly.
5 Q And CISA's appearance at meetings of the SCC does not mean that CISA
6 operates it.
7 A Correct.
8 Q Looking at the sources notice, Sources Sought Notice, you mentioned you're 9 not even familiar with what a Sources Sought Notice is?
10 A I'm not.
11 Q It's a preliminary step in the procurement process that Federal agencies can 12 use to seek if there's interest in a project, but it happens before any request for proposals
13 or any invitations to bid. And you mentioned you're not familiar with the Sources
14 Sought Notice?
15 A No.
16 Q You weren't familiar with the capability document that they introduced?
17 A No.
18 Q On the last page of the Sources Sought Notice, there's a couple of DHS 19 employee names listed as contacts. Do you see those?
20 A Yes.
21 Q Are you familiar with those employees?
22 A No. Not -- they're HQ, not CISA. So I don't know if they're CISA
23 employees.
24 Q Do you know if any actual awards or contracts happened because of this 25 Sources Sought Notice?

1 A No.

2 Q Do you know if this Sources Sought Notice ended up turning into a request

3 for proposals or an invitation to bid?

4 A I have no idea.

5 Q Would you be surprised if I represented to you that no awards had been

6 granted for this Sources Sought Notice?

7 A I would not be surprised.

8 Q And, lastly, you're here voluntarily today, correct?

9 A Very happily.

10 Q And you're the director of CISA?

11 A I am.

12 Q That means you're the highest level of the agency?

13 A Yes, I'm a tier two sub-Cabinet level director of a Federal agency.

14 Q Thank you. We can go off the record.

15 A Thank you.

16 [Discussion off the record.]

17 [redacted]. If we can go back on the record, please.

18 This will be exhibit 19.

19 [Easterly Exhibit No. 19

20 was marked for identification.]

21 Ms. Easterly. Okay.

22 BY [redacted]:

23 Q I'd call your attention to Bates No. 30783. There's an email from [redacted]

24 [redacted] to [redacted]. The third bullet point down in that email discusses -- it

25 says on the third page, Bates No. 30783?

1 A Yes, uh-huh, this one right here.

2 Q Yeah.

3 A "The goal"?

4 Q No, at the top.

5 A At the top.

6 Q Yeah, the bullet points. The third one says, "On the process point, there's a

7 broader level process discussion for this information-sharing that Director Easterly wants

8 us to have."

9 Do you recall any discussions with your team in February 2022 about meeting with 10 Facebook or other social media companies about information sharing?

11 A I don't recall, no. I had mentioned earlier that there was a concern about 12 Russian attacks against critical infrastructure in retaliation for U.S. support to Ukraine.

13 So it looks like, just looking at the dates, it looks like a similar -- looks like a similar thing.

14 Q Do you know [redacted]?

15 A I know him a bit, not a lot.

16 Q How do you know him?

17 A He was a cyber person in the NSC. I didn't really know him. And then he

18 was -- I don't know if he's still there -- he was at Facebook.

19 Q Do you recall any interactions with him while he was at Facebook?

20 A I think we might have had one interaction early in my tenure, but I don't 21 remember the details around it.

22 [Easterly Exhibit No. 20

23 was marked for identification.]

24 BY [redacted]:

25 Q And I'll introduce exhibit 20, an email between Director Easterly and Meta.

1 A Who is this with?

2 Q The names were redacted in the document, but it's a person from Meta's

3 U.S. Public Policy team.

4 A Okay.

5 Q Again, this is January 2022. It's a little bit earlier. That's one of the 6 documents we were looking at earlier. And do you recall giving any direction to your

7 team about having meetings with the public policy teams of social media companies

8 about their approach to the 2022 election?

9 A No, not at all. I think this was the one meeting. I'm not sure it ended up

10 happening. But this was the one meeting that -- and I don't have a recollection of what 11 the content of that meeting was.

12 Again, this was right before the Russian invasion of Ukraine, and I was very

13 focused on what we could do to protect critical infrastructure from Russian retaliatory

14 cyber attacks.

15 Q And this is reflected in this email that it was referenced to, the approach to

16 the 2022 elections. I guess just to have it clear on the record, are you tying that to

17 concerns of Russia's retaliation or --

18 A I don't know, because I don't remember this email. I don't recall. I mean,

19 that's what he says, it's not what I. All I said is we'll begin to follow up.

20 [redacted]. Director, that document is double-sided, too.

21 Ms. Easterly. Okay. Let's see.

22 Yeah, I don't remember this, but I'm not sure I ended up on the meeting, but 23 maybe.

24 [redacted]. Okay. Do you recall any other similar meetings that you may have 25 had regarding social media's approach to the 2022 election?

1 Ms. Easterly. No.

2 [Easterly Exhibit No. 21

3 was marked for identification.]

4 Q This will be exhibit 21.

5 You ready?

6 First, do you know who Kim Wyman is?

7 A She was the former secretary -- Republican secretary of state of Washington.

8 She joined as our senior election security advisor. And I don't know, I forget when it

9 was. She was there for most of 2022.

10 Q If I can call your attention under the "Discussion" tab, if you go down four

11 bullet points, the second to the last sentence in the next paragraph there says: "CISA is 12 currently transferring this work" -- referring to operation of the switchboard

13 function -- "to the Information Sharing and Analysis Centers."

14 Do you recall any discussion within CISA about transferring that type of work to 15 either the EI-ISAC, the multistate ISAC, or another ISAC?

16 A Say that question again?

17 Q Sure. I'm happy to give you a chance to read --

18 A Yeah.

19 Q -- the full paragraph, but --

20 A Yeah. Sorry. Ask the question again?

21 Q Sure. The notes says -- reported here -- says, "CISA is currently transferring

22 this work" -- and then referring back to the previous sentence -- "operating a switchboard

23 function to alert a media platform if a mis- or disinformation post is identified by another

24 user. CISA is currently transferring this work to the Information Sharing and Analysis

25 Centers."

1 Do you recall any sort of discussions within CISA about transferring that work?
2 A No, not at all.
3 Q Have you seen this document before?
4 A No, I haven't.
5 Q Does the description as put here give you any concerns?
6 A That seems to me -- it's not exactly clear "this work," because it talks about
7 "work to deliver products to the elections community." And then it says "to include."
8 So it seems very sloppily written.
9 But if what is intended is that CISA is currently transferring the switchboarding
10 work to the -- and I'm not even sure what the ISACs mean. There's only one EI-ISAC, and 11 it certainly doesn't do any of that work. So I have no idea what this is. No, it doesn't 12 make any sense to me.
13 Q To your knowledge, did the EI-ISAC used to alert media platforms of a mis- or 14 disinformation post?
15 A Not that I know of.
16 Q Do you remember generally what your reaction was to the 17 recommendations presented to you in 2022 from the --
18 A I don't. I don't really remember because they came to me with the other
19 subcommittee recommendations, and then the written ones come to me, like, a day
20 before.
21 So I don't -- what happens with these is I am completely firewalled from the 22 subcommittees, so I'm not allowed to see any of their work, be part of it, see the agenda,
23 see the meeting notes.
24 Right before the full meeting, the recommendations come, and they're published
25 on the website. So it's all transparent. I don't remember the recommendations, and I

1 don't actually recall what my thinking was around that. I don't.

2 [Easterly Exhibit No. 22

3 was marked for identification.]

4 BY [redacted]:

5 Q This will be exhibit 22. So this is a document produced to the committee

6 where the EI-ISAC appears to be serving a similar switchboarding function. And this is in 7 August 2022, a month after the previous exhibit we looked at.

8 Do you have any sense of what role the EI-ISAC was playing in the summer?

9 A I've never seen this before. So, no.

10 Q If you want to --

11 A This is not CISA-related in any way, so I wouldn't comment on the work of 12 other organizations.

13 Our relationship with EI-ISAC pursuant to a cooperative agreement is very focused

14 on cybersecurity. Our funding is entirely about the cybersecurity mission. If there's

15 something else that this organization is doing, it certainly is not doing it based on any

16 funding or guidance from the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency.

17 Q I guess how do you square the two previous exhibits here where there

18 seems to have been some discussion of whether CISA could transfer this work to the 19 EI-ISAC, and then a month later it looks like the EI-ISAC is doing switchboarding?

20 A I'm don't square it. I'm not aware of any movement of the so-called 21 switchboarding to EI-ISAC. I'm not aware of any of this work here. So I don't square.

22 I can tell you what CISA does and where I have focused the agency, and that is

23 entirely on the three missions, as I have mentioned: amplification of State and local

24 election officials, putting out accurate information, and explaining how our foreign

25 adversaries try to interfere and influence.

1 So I have not seen either of these two documents. So I can't speak to them or
2 square them. I can just tell you what I know, which is, to the best of my knowledge,
3 CISA does not censor, has never censored, nor do we leverage third parties to censor
4 information. Not that this is censorship, I don't really know, because you're just 5 showing me an email which it says please see report. But has nothing to do with us as 6 far as I can tell.
7 Q During the time in late summer of 2022, if you wanted to know more
8 information about CISA's interactions, either with the CIS or how the EI-ISAC was being 9 operated, who would you speak to among your direct reports?
10 A On the -- so the cooperative agreement is entirely on cybersecurity. So it's 11 actually managed by the Cybersecurity Division. So if I had questions about the 12 management of the cooperative agreement with respect to cybersecurity, that would be 13 through my cybersecurity folks.
14 Q And which -- who would be -- who was the head of that in 2022?
15 A Eric Goldstein.
16 Q Did you ever receive any briefing about whether the EI-ISAC was engaging in 17 switchboarding at any time?
18 A No. Not that I recall.
19 [redacted]. Director, if you can amplify more.
20 Ms. Easterly. Great. Not that I can recall. Sorry.
21 [redacted]. We can introduce an exhibit to this end if needed, but Senator Warner
22 came out publicly earlier in the year and said that CISA and the FBI were meeting with 23 social media companies again.
24 To your knowledge, did CISA restart any sort of standing meetings with social 25 media companies in 2024.

1 Ms. Easterly. Senator Warner? Based on what?

2 [redacted]. Based off his familiarity.

3 Ms. Easterly. It is not in our --

4 [redacted]. He is the chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee. I

5 believe it was in that capacity.

6 Ms. Easterly. Right, but he's not our authorizing -- we're not an intel agency.

7 So I'm not sure how he would know what we're doing. I certainly never gave him that

8 information. What's the context?

9 BY [redacted]:

10 Q We can introduce this as an exhibit. Mostly just, to your knowledge, if 11 there's been any resumption of talks between CISA and social media companies.

12 A If there are any talks -- again, if there are talks going on with technology

13 companies -- and there are technology companies that own social media

14 companies -- they are entirely about threats to election infrastructure. But I don't know

15 what he's talking about.

16 Q Okay. Any knowledge of, in these discussions regarding threats to election

17 infrastructure, whether that included any discussion of mis- or disinformation narratives?

18 A No.

19 Q Mis- or --

20 A Not that I know of.

21 Q Are you aware of any standing meetings that were paused during the

22 Federal litigation, the Missouri v. Biden, the Murthy v. Missouri case, that were restarted

23 after the Supreme Court decision?

24 A No. Again, there are no discussions with any companies about mis- or 25 disinformation. We are very focused on those three things, [redacted].

1 [redacted]. I'll just ask a clarifying question. Who's the source of this article,
2 if you don't mind me asking for the record? It's not clear to me by looking at it.
3 [redacted]. It's an online media publication called Nextgov that seemed to 4 focus on cyber issues.
5 [redacted]. Okay.
6 [redacted]. You can see it in the top left corner.
7 [redacted]. It's called Nextgov, is the source?
8 [redacted]. Yes.

1 [3:32 p.m.]

2 BY [redacted]:

3 Q In the preparation for this interview or otherwise, did you receive any

4 briefing about the Pennsylvania Election Threats Task Force?

5 A No.

6 Q In your preparation for this interview or just since September of 2024, did

7 anyone within CISA or DHS flag for you any concerns about the accuracy of the OIG report

8 from September 2024?

9 A No.

10 Q The committee in our correspondence had flagged the language in the OIG

11 report where, according to the OIG, certain personnel from CISA said they stopped their 12 direct contact with social media companies after the 2022 election.

13 Did you have any discussions with CISA or DHS staff about how that language

14 made it into the OIG report?

15 A No. I mean, to be very clear -- and we're assuming this is about the 16 switchboarding.

17 Q Not necessarily switchboarding. It could be verbally communicated if CISA

18 personnel --

19 A Yeah. I mean, certainly, this does not comport with my strong

20 understanding of what's happened during my tenure, as it's not sourced. I don't -- I

21 can't speak to it. But certainly that does not align with my direction or my

22 understanding. I don't know what it actually means, if there's greater context, works

23 directly with social media companies to counter disinformation. Is there any --

24 Q Are you aware of any practices that CISA's engaged with through the 2022

25 midterm election that they stopped after the 2022 election?

1 A Not that I know of. I mean, interestingly, you see that the final report is

2 that its role has been reduced. So that would certainly align with the direction that I've

3 given. So I would say overall it aligns with my direction.

4 [redacted]. Can we go off the record, please?

5 [Whereupon, at 3:36 p.m., the interview was adjourned.]
