

HOW TO WORK WITH BRAIN-DEAD, NAIVE, EASILY MASS MANIPULATED MILLENNIAL'S

I Walk Among Liberals. (whatever)

Where I work, there's a need to know popular culture, books and popular electronics. It's also a hive for numales, soyboys, blue haired warnings with weights that should be impossible, tattooed up women trying to compensate for bad childhoods, addicts, boomers thinking the world revolves around them and more. Indeed the wonderful world of retail.

I can't stand my coworkers. I blend in well enough and they all know not to politics with me as I've readily said times almost up on this planet and that we live in clown world. Here are some absurdities I've heard.

They all love Black Panther. They all thought Marvel Endgame 2 or whatever was fantastic. They love Funko pops. They buy video games with no interest in playing them. Just to show them off. They love Netflix and the original programming.

What's interesting to me is they are quick to judge others. Quick to cast out people they don't feel fit. Easy to manipulate. They all move as a flock.

My goal is to disconnect people. It's hard to do when they will realize that all pop culture, all they hold dear, is nothing but a facade meant for control. Meant to placate.

I like to play dumb and ask normies rhetorical questions about certain political / pop-culture topics. When they regurgitate the generally predicable leftist response, parley with more questions that makes them "discover" the truth for them-self. Try and avoid combative arguments and telling people "how it is". Most people don't like being told what to think and that is why pop-culture can be so attractive since it's easy to like while being naive. Also, I don't think when you say "that all pop culture, all they hold dear, is nothing but a facade meant for control" is entirely accurate. Most pop-culture is has been VERY heavily injected with satanism meant not to control but to dilute, corrupt and eventually destroy (It's been pretty successful) modern society.

This is an excellent strategy. There really needs to be a subverse for detailed techniques on how to redpill people.

I've had success at parties demonstrating that the means to earn a living is a gesture you do with your body, like a prostitute, a slave, or a worker. Because it costs time and effort to force you to do things, and they can't steal your work, they steal it the moment it becomes fungible, when it's converted to currency. If you can't own my body, you can't own what I do with my body, and you can't own the fruits of what I do with my body. Yet they can't, not because they deserve it, but because they stole it.

I essentially ask people, at what point exactly is my body not mine?

Play dumb. Say that someone said something to you and it really bothers you and try to get their opinion on it. Then make them justify to you why the strawman argument you created is wrong. For example, "some idiot actually asked me how many people I thought should be allowed into the United States and I said all of them. He then laughed at me and told me that there are over 5 billion people living in poverty, and how many did I think the United States could handle. It does seem like a lot but I couldn't answer him as to how many should be allowed to come. I'm going to run into him tomorrow, what should I tell him?" Something like that but well thought out. Get them to defend arguments that have no logical outcome.

Your on the right path but you have a few flaws that I need to point out. First, possibly most important, is that you engaged the person based on the premise that something really bothers you. This places the objective at helping your emotional response and NOT on red-pilling your target. Think of it like a child asking something. The perception of nativity is critical. If you are red-pilling someone it is because they have wrapped themselves in comfortable lies, they live in an illogical world. You are getting them to peel the lies off them-self to expose their own stupidity. Again, i'll say it, the perception of nativity is critical, you should be amazed and intrigued by their truthful answers yet still be able to inquire your way back to the truth when they attempt to shovel their lies onto you. Let me give you an example with my last point. Democrats want open borders so your red-pilling would have stopped at "all of them.". So probably would of worked better if you said something like "Man I don't know what the big deal with the boarder is, there's only like....actually I don't know how many people live south of the border, do you?" You get your answer you move to "Well geewiz golly, that's a big number, I guess I could live with 100 times more people everywhere in america but do you think that's good for the environment?" or being forced to leave their own country or whatever these self righteous retards care about. If they lie to you. Don't call them on their bullshit, that's combative. Instead act like your mind is blow by their answer, so blown in fact that it's almost unbelievable. ex: "There's only ~250M south of the border." "WHAAAAT that's crazy! Man I thought that place was HUGE! That's waaay different then the 160billion I was thinking....where did you find that out?" The more they feel like they are the ones educating the better. You get the idea.

Black Panther was great, IMO.

- Spearchucking niggers will always be hilarious, even if they're chucking futuristic laser spears made from space metal.
- Unintentionally preaching the value of a racially homogeneous society.
- Unintentionally showing that isolationism really does work in the best interests of your own people
- Best line of the movie: "If you let the refugees in, they bring their problems with them."
- Killmonger was your textbook retarded nigger, showing how niggers will always fuck everything up, even if you hand them the world on a vibranium platter.
- Shows that traditions and culture are in place for a reason, and once you lose that, you stand to lose everything.

- One of the characters acts like a literal monkey, grunting like a fucking gorilla whenever someone tries to speak. In the comics, they actually named him "Man-Ape." I don't care what you say, that's fucking hilarious.
- Provided no end of hilarity with clips of niggers chimping out in theaters and acting like Wakanda is a real place, despite it being something they'll never be able to achieve.

And they get away with all these subtle red pills because it's niggers doing it. If it were an isolated nation of whypipo, it would have been considered the most racist film ever made. I thoroughly enjoy laughing at the hypocrisy of all the niggers and whatnot who think it's some "meaningful cultural experience" instead of what it really is; a fun action movie that (unintentionally) drops a bunch of red pills, and was a great way to kill a couple hours.

I remember a clip from 'The View' where some hipster looking chick came on whining about Trump, saying something about how "he only likes Mexicans when they're mowing his lawn" or something like that.

One of the hosts disagreed with her or didn't approve of how she phrased Mexicans and she freaked the fuck out genuinely shouting, "No! No! Come on, no!"

What's interesting to me is they are quick to judge others. Quick to cast out people they don't feel fit. Easy to manipulate. They all move as a flock.

The only way out of this death cycle is if they want out. Being a lefty is exceedingly easy and most people are simple enough that it's all they can handle. The quickest way to force someone out of it is if they are kicked out for having one wrong opinion. So the best thing you can do for them is plant very very basic simple seeds of doubt about anything left wing.

Something they will eventually ask someone else about in confidence and find themselves on their ass. The left's greatest weakness is how quick they are to judge and condemn others. Use that against them.

It's the best you can do.

Worked retail. All my coworkers were degenerate drug addicts.

Suprisingly enough most of the guys were still either redpilled or pillable (when you're depressed as shit anything to blame the misery in the world on is like candy) one had a sister turned transformer who despised what used to be his sibling. I could openly joke about how we need to shoot all the politicians and bankers. The other guys would laugh then look at me like "alright bruh when we doing it?"

The stoned revolution may very well come before the alt-right nuts up.

It's literally junior high school except you can't beat the fuck out of anyone or even tell anyone to 'fuck off.' I will say that at least in retail you stay busy(hopefully). Sounds like you are mastering the art of swimming with the shit weasels well enough. That should be your goal, not changing anyone.

The way and only way I've reached anyone is to lift, date be as good of a dad as I can be, make all the money I can and just live by example. If they want to have a few beers and shoot at a few targets in the archery group, that's usually a good way to start them out. If one seems decent then get them lifting with you. Don't show your hand. Don't let them know anything. You can drop some dimes after you've hung out with someone or built up some trust but be very careful.

Don't worry about 'saving' any of these people. Most of them are lost in every fucking way imaginable and their lives will only get worse as they get older and they will only get more self destructive and outwardly destructive as they get older. If you find one or two you can trust to be decent references or grab a beer with then that's something nice but forget this idea of converting any of these assholes. You'll just end up making work life tough on yourself and it will cause financial difficulties. These people live to get into cat fights.

Facebook does A/B testing to make their platform more and more addictive and insidious over time. Media kikes do studies to determine what the human subconscious responds to and how to bypass the rational part of the brain to appeal to the more primal part. It's all designed to pray on weaknesses of the human psyche and corrupt their thought patterns to align with (((special interests))).

I occasionally watch clips just to remind myself why I don't watch this kind of filth, but sitting through hours of it is bound to turn your brain to mush.

I find with those types, speaking about history in an educated fashion will trigger submissive listening tendencies. Demonstrating expertise on Western art, architecture, literature, and classical music lulls them into a state of deference to a knowledgeable speaker likely due to the college indoctrination they received.

It serves as a soft red pill. They end up learning to admire their history and reflect on the greatness of Western civ by someone who isn't trying to shovel white male hate down their throats.

What an absolute shit show. Watch your arse.

The only way to deal with Cluster B's, especially if there are a lot of them - is to get the fuck out of there. If you try to engage, or even to sidestep things - eventually you will face a moment of weakness (be that something has happened in your outside-work life, or similar) and they will prey on you like a shark does when there's blood in the water.

The alternative is to go all Socratic on them and lead them down the pink-red-crimson pill path - though this really only works when its 1v1 or maybe 2v1. The idea is for them to redpill themselves, but with leftists you need to take tiny steps to do so, otherwise they get the 404-error deer in the headlights blank stare, or they will shut the conversation down entirely.

that all pop culture, all they hold dear, is nothing but a facade meant for control. Meant to placate.

BRAVO. clap clap clap

put your efforts towards people who share your politics, otherwise you are subsidizing commies.

fuck them
