

Somebody Just Leaked Every Phone Number and Address on Anthony Weiner's Laptop: 639 Politicians Media Personalities Doxxed

By Alisha Sherron - February 6, 2018 3

Former congressman Anthony Weiner's old haunts are coming back into the spotlight once again after he was arrested and sentenced to 21 months in prison for sexting a minor. A list recently released to the public contains information on all of Anthony Weiner's contacts; names, addresses, work, and so forth. The kicker? All of this information was released straight from Weiner's laptop, which is currently being held under evidence by the FBI.

It's important to note that we are not trying to "witch hunt" anyone, and this information is not meant for you to do the same. We are not interested in doxxing these individuals, rather we are interested in reporting on the doxxing list that was released, potentially by a rogue FBI agent. This laptop is under FBI surveillance and the reason we know this is because they found emails sent between him and Hillary Clinton back when the email scandal was all anyone ever talked about. Who else but someone in the FBI would have released this? We aren't saying that it's definitely a member of the FBI, but who else could possibly be responsible?

Now, on to the list. There is a grand total of 639 individuals who are having their private information exposed for all the world to see. People such as:
