

Banking giants exposed by Australia as 'criminal cartel'

Get short URL

 Banking giants accused by Australia of running 'criminal cartel'

1559

Australia's consumer watchdog has announced that financial institutions ANZ, Deutsche Bank and Citigroup as well as several individuals will be prosecuted for an alleged criminal cartel arrangement.

The allegations concern arrangements for the sale of 2.5 billion of Australian dollars ($1.9 billion) worth of ANZ shares three years ago.

"The charges will involve alleged cartel arrangements relating to trading in ANZ shares following an ANZ institutional share placement in August 2015," chairman Rod Sims said in a statement.

He added: "It will be alleged that ANZ and the individuals were knowingly concerned in some or all of the conduct." ANZ, one of Australia's so-called "big four" banks, said the charges related to a placement of 80.8 million shares. The shares were offered to the institutional investors at a discounted rate of $30.95 per share.

RT
@RT_com

Oops, I did it again...on.rt.com/93qn

9:56 AM - Apr 21, 2018

Oops! I did it again... Another Deutsche Bank 'fat finger' mistake sends $35 billion out the door —...

Germany's biggest bank said an "operational error" led to the accidental collateral payment of €28 billion ($35 billion) to an exchange it does business with.
rt.com

♡ 47 💬 47 people are talking about this

The deal was fully underwritten by three big global investment banks (Deutsche Bank, Citigroup and JP Morgan) as part of a bid by ANZ to raise capital to meet regulatory requirements.

They face maximum penalties of ten percent of annual turnover, or three times the benefit gained from criminal cartel behavior. The suspected individuals could face up to ten years in prison if found guilty.

RT
@RT_com

#Australia's largest lender kept charging fees to dead clients for a decade on.rt.com/9317

2:30 PM - Apr 21, 2018

Australia's biggest bank charged fees to dead clients — RT Business News

Commonwealth Bank of Australia (CBA), which is the nation's largest lender, has collected fees from customers who it knew had died, a major inquiry has heard.
rt.com

♡ 34 💬 43 people are talking about this

The three banks denied any wrongdoing, saying they would fight the charges. ANZ said it believed that it had acted in accordance with the law and intended to defend itself.

Deutsche Bank's new CEO Christian Sewing told staff on Friday that "the news flow is not good" and he was "sick and tired" of bad news but promised to "prove that we have earned a better valuation on the financial markets." Germany's biggest bank's long-term credit rating was downgraded on Friday by S&P. The agency cited the bank's new restructuring plans as the main motivation.