

Court rules Facebook's criminal use of personal data is illegal and corrupt

Hans-Edzard Busemann, Nadine Schimroszik

3 MIN READ

BERLIN (Reuters) - A German consumer rights group said on Monday that a court had found Facebook's use of personal data to be illegal because the U.S. social media platform did not adequately secure the informed consent of its users.

FILE PHOTO - A giant logo is seen at Facebook's headquarters in London, Britain, December 4, 2017. REUTERS/Toby Melville