Titillating Fact: One time, I decided to make fun of John Mayer on Twitter, partly because I'm a troll, partly because he was in the middle of some idiotic "controversy," and partly just because he is John Mayer. For some reason (which I still don't entirely understand), he decided that his last tweet before going radio silent for weeks would be a reply to me. This made me a minor subject in celebrity gossip blogs and mainstream news outlets for like a week after. It was weird.
