

Sinister Monopoly Google Employees Discussed Suppressing Right-Leaning News

- students hospitalized after eating THC-laced candies during gym

Middle-Schooler Faces Multiple Felonies...

-  This week on "The Greg Gutfeld Show," Greg Gutfeld presented a WWE-style promo for Bill and Hillary Clinton's speaking tour.
- speaking tour.

WATCH: Gutfeld's Promotional Video for Bill...

-  Fox News' Griff Jenkins spoke to one of the organizers of the migrant caravan that has gathered near the U.S. border in Tijuana.

Caravan Organizer's Message for Trump: 'Let...

-  Country music artist Lee Greenwood appeared on "Fox & Friends" Monday to share his memories of George H.W. Bush, who he called "the most generous patriot."
- Bush, who he called "the most generous patriot."

'The Most Generous Patriot': Lee Greenwood...

-

'Shame on You': Ingraham Blasts New Jersey...

-

Democratic Rep. Joins Migrants in Tijuana,...

-

'Take a Lesson' from Trump: Gorka Blasts...

-

Iraq War Vet: VA Must Fix 'Deep and Systemic...

-

LOOK: Marine Veteran's Christmas Display...

'I Have Been Given So Many Lies': Grad...

-

'He's Not Even Trying to Appear Fair':...

-

CA Businessman: 'I Couldn't Be Happier'...

As seen on Tucker Carlson Tonight

Tucker Carlson said Google is a "sinister monopoly," and that the federal government continues to ignore its overtly partisan business dealings.

Carlson said Google is less of a "platform" as originally considered and has grown into a technological giant that is more like a media-related organization.

Through leaked communications, Carlson said a Google software engineer named Scott Byer discussed labeling right leaning media organizations as "blogs" and not "legitimate."

Carlson said Byer singled out Breitbart and the Daily Caller -- the latter co-founded by Carlson and former Dick Cheney aide Neil Patel -- in the leaked messages.

"How many times did you see the Election now card with items from opinion blogs (Breitbart, Daily Caller) elevated next to legitimate news organizations? That's something that can and should be fixed," Byer said, according to the Western Journal.

Byer also spoke of the "responsibility" Google has to "expose the quality and truthfulness of sources."

Carlson discussed the matter with research psychologist Robert Epstein, who said he was very concerned with Google despite sharing some of its ideological leanings.

Krauthammer Flashback: Did Charles Foresee Russia-Ukraine Clash Intesifying?

Bill Clinton's WH Spox: 'Donald Trump Sounds Like a Crime Boss'

Epstein called the case "frightening."

"This company with very strong political leanings has the possibility to shift opinions on a massive scale without the public knowing they're doing it," he said.

He and Carlson agreed that both Republicans and Democrats in Congress are not holding Google and other Silicon Valley companies accountable.

They discussed how Republicans are naturally averse to regulation and that Democrats often accept donations and lobbying on the part of the companies.

Watch more above.