

Social media giants hit with subpoena spree exposing their collusion in free speech suppression

House Republicans are demanding Google turn over internal information regarding the censorship of Americans in the Biden administration.

The GOP-led House Judiciary Committee announced that it issued a subpoena to parent company Alphabet on Thursday.

In a letter to CEO Sundar Pichai, chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) wrote that his committee was seeking communications between Alphabet and the executive branch and company communications with third parties that may have worked with the executive branch.

'The Committee on the Judiciary continues to investigate how and to what extent the executive branch coerced or colluded with companies and other intermediaries to censor lawful speech,' Jordan wrote in his letter.

DailyMail.com has reached out to Google for comment on the subpoena.

Republicans have long accused the Biden administration of pressuring major companies into censoring Americans as it worked to address the coronavirus pandemic.

Republicans launched an investigation into censorship after they reclaimed the House majority in early 2023.

+3

View gallery

House Judiciary Committee Chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) sent a letter to the CEO of Alphabet as his committee subpoenas communications between the company and the executive branch

Obama hit by yet another setback amid divorce rumors

I told the world I got my girlfriend and her MOTHER pregnant

Trump does U-turn on Mexico tariffs

US Politics Mailbox

Get all the biggest stories from Trump's historic second administration straight to your inbox

Privacy policy

'During the 118th Congress, our oversight uncovered how the Biden-Harris Administration repeatedly pressured online platforms, including YouTube, Facebook, and Amazon, to censor Americans directly and by proxy,' Jordan wrote.

The chair noted in his letter that Meta changed its tune in response to the House investigation, admitted it was wrong to bow to Biden administration demands, and committed to 'restoring free speech.'

'Alphabet, to our knowledge, has not similarly disavowed the Biden-Harris Administration's attempts to censor speech,' Jordan wrote.

'To inform legislative reforms to protect Americans' civil liberties, the Committee must fully understand the extent and nature of the Biden-Harris Administration's censorship efforts,' he continued.

According to Jordan, the committee's investigation found that YouTube was a 'direct participant' in the federal government's 'censorship regime.'

+3

View gallery

Alphabet is the parent company of Google and YouTube. The House Judiciary Committee is investigating the Biden administration and how it pressured such companies into censoring Americans

#BREAKING: @Jim_Jordan subpoenas Alphabet for internal information on Biden-Harris censorship of Americans.

Read here: <https://t.co/p4HTMZQzO4> pic.twitter.com/KmOYWnWtSP

— House Judiciary GOP 🇺🇸🇺🇸🇺🇸 (@JudiciaryGOP) March 6, 2025

He specifically identified documents 'showing that the federal government successfully pressured YouTube to censor certain lawful content, including content that did not violate YouTube's content moderation policies.'

Pichai was among the group of tech CEOs who had a front row seat to Trump's inauguration in January, seated between Amazon's Jeff Bezos and the world's richest man Elon Musk and just down from Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg.

Last summer, Zuckerberg wrote in a letter to Jordan that they will fight back against any attempts at censorship in the future.

The social network founder said the Biden administration was 'wrong' to demand Facebook censor what they deemed 'COVID misinformation' during the pandemic.

+3

View gallery

Google CEO Sundar Pichai standing second from the right at President Trump's inauguration. Elon Musk (far right) , Jeff Bezos (third from right) and Mark Zuckerberg (second from left) were also seated with him

Zuckerberg wrote that the White House 'repeatedly pressured our teams for months to censor certain COVID-19 content, including humor and satire, and expressed a lot of frustration with our teams when we didn't agree.'

'We made some choices that, with the benefit of hindsight and new information, we wouldn't make today,' Zuckerberg wrote.

Since Trump was elected for a second term, the Meta CEO has been cozying up to the new administration.

Zuckerberg, who has been on the receiving end of TrumHouse Republicans are demanding Google turn over internal information regarding the censorship of Americans in the Biden administration.

The GOP-led House Judiciary Committee announced that it issued a subpoena to parent company Alphabet on Thursday.

In a letter to CEO Sundar Pichai, chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) wrote that his committee was seeking communications between Alphabet and the executive branch and company communications with third parties that may have worked with the executive branch.

'The Committee on the Judiciary continues to investigate how and to what extent the executive branch coerced or colluded with companies and other intermediaries to censor lawful speech,' Jordan wrote in his letter.

DailyMail.com has reached out to Google for comment on the subpoena.

Republicans have long accused the Biden administration of pressuring major companies into censoring Americans as it worked to address the coronavirus pandemic.

Republicans launched an investigation into censorship after they reclaimed the House majority in early 2023.

House Judiciary Committee Chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) sent a letter to the CEO of Alphabet as his committee subpoenas communications between the company and the executive branch

+

3

View gallery

House Judiciary Committee Chair Jim Jordan (R-Ohio) sent a letter to the CEO of Alphabet as his committee subpoenas communications between the company and the executive branch

'During the 118th Congress, our oversight uncovered how the Biden-Harris Administration repeatedly pressured online platforms, including YouTube, Facebook, and Amazon, to censor Americans directly and by proxy,' Jordan wrote.

The chair noted in his letter that Meta changed its tune in response to the House investigation, admitted it was wrong to bow to Biden administration demands, and committed to 'restoring free speech.'

'Alphabet, to our knowledge, has not similarly disavowed the Biden-Harris Administration's attempts to censor speech,' Jordan wrote.

'To inform legislative reforms to protect Americans' civil liberties, the Committee must fully understand the extent and nature of the Biden-Harris Administration's censorship efforts,' he continued.

According to Jordan, the committee's investigation found that YouTube was a 'direct participant' in the federal government's 'censorship regime.'

Alphabet is the parent company of Google and YouTube. The House Judiciary Committee is investigating the Biden administration and how it pressured such companies into censoring Americans

+

3

View gallery

Alphabet is the parent company of Google and YouTube. The House Judiciary Committee is investigating the Biden administration and how it pressured such companies into censoring Americans

#BREAKING: @Jim_Jordan subpoenas Alphabet for internal information on Biden-Harris censorship of Americans.

Read here: <https://t.co/p4HTMZQzO4> pic.twitter.com/KmOYWnWtSP

— House Judiciary GOP  (@JudiciaryGOP) March 6, 2025

He specifically identified documents 'showing that the federal government successfully pressured YouTube to censor certain lawful content, including content that did not violate YouTube's content moderation policies.'

Pichai was among the group of tech CEOs who had a front row seat to Trump's inauguration in January, seated between Amazon's Jeff Bezos and the world's richest man Elon Musk and just down from Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg.

Last summer, Zuckerberg wrote in a letter to Jordan that they will fight back against any attempts at censorship in the future.

The social network founder said the Biden administration was 'wrong' to demand Facebook censor what they deemed 'COVID misinformation' during the pandemic.

Google CEO Sundar Pichai standing second from the right at President Trump's inauguration. Elon Musk (far right) , Jeff Bezos (third from right) and Mark Zuckerberg (second from left) were also seated with him

+

3

View gallery

Google CEO Sundar Pichai standing second from the right at President Trump's inauguration. Elon Musk (far right) , Jeff Bezos (third from right) and Mark Zuckerberg (second from left) were also seated with him

Zuckerberg wrote that the White House 'repeatedly pressured our teams for months to censor certain COVID-19 content, including humor and satire, and expressed a lot of frustration with our teams when we didn't agree.'

'We made some choices that, with the benefit of hindsight and new information, we wouldn't make today,' Zuckerberg wrote.

Since Trump was elected for a second term, the Meta CEO has been cozying up to the new administration.

Zuckerberg, who has been on the receiving end of Trump ire, went down to meet with him before he was worn in.

He also announced changes the company will change how it handles content, replacing fact-checkers with community notes amid accusations it censored conservative content. p ire, went down to meet with him before he was worn in.

He also announced changes the company will change how it handles content, replacing fact-checkers with community notes amid accusations it censored conservative content.