

Cartel-based YouTube Hiring for Positions Excluded White and Asian Men, Lawsuit Says

A former employee alleges tech firm set quotas for hiring minorities

By Kirsten Grind and Douglas MacMillan

Updated March 1, 2018 8:03 p.m. ET

YouTube last year stopped hiring white and Asian males for technical positions because they didn't help the world's largest video site achieve its goals for improving diversity, according to a civil lawsuit filed by a former employee.

MORE: <https://www.wsj.com/articles/youtube-hiring-for-some-positions-excluded-white-and-asian-males-lawsuit-says-1519948013>