

FREE SPEECH ICON NOAM CHOMSKY SAYS BIG TECH WAS WRONG TO BAN INFOWARS

MIT professor defends Alex Jones' right to be offensive

Paul Joseph Watson |

 Free Speech Icon Noam Chomsky Says Big Tech Was Wrong to Ban Infowars

Editor's note from Alex Jones, August 13, 2018 – The plutocratic corporate elite led by Apple and Google have mainstream media in such lock-step control that in over two days not one publication has covered the incredibly newsworthy point that Professor Noam Chomsky has come out in defense of Infowars' right to exist and pointed out the obvious danger of monopolies engaged in coordinated censorship of speech.

The fact that it's only known to a larger audience now thanks to DrudgeReport.com breaking the blockade of news and information shows us we're two minutes from midnight, and that Chinese-style speech controls are coming to America via Google, Apple and their coterie of sycophantic servants.

Original article below...

MIT Professor and free speech icon Noam Chomsky has responded to the no platforming of Alex Jones by asserting that Big Tech was wrong to ban Infowars.

This week, Apple, Facebook, YouTube, Spotify and numerous other

Silicon Valley giants censored Infowars, with Tim Cook and Mark Zuckerberg personally taking the decision to do so in the case of Apple and Facebook.

Chomsky, who is internationally renowned as an authority on free speech issues, was asked by inventor and encryption expert Louis Buff Parry what his position was on Infowars being shut down by Big Tech.

Responding from his official MIT email address, Chomsky wrote, "What I've seen of what he does is outrageous, but unlike many civil libertarians here and especially in other countries, I don't think that the right way to deal with "hate speech" and crazed fabrications is to ban them; rather, to confront them, and to seek and confront the reasons why anyone pays a moment's attention to them."

(CLICK FOR ENLARGEMENT)

"The real story about marginalization of opinion and information is as always, radically different, and undiscussed," he concluded.

Chomsky also made clear that he was no fan of Jones, asserting that he thought the interview he did with the Infowars host in May 2001 was "ridiculous".

Parry himself strongly defended Infowars in the email exchange, arguing, "Free speech is free speech and multinational cabals must be checked, particularly when their monopoly corporate decisions lead to the reduction of our free speech rights."

Parry went on to explain how he was born into the free speech movement in Berkeley in the 60's, before asserting, "Multinational corporations with no duty or loyalty to anyone have set out to collectively undermine the free speech rights of us all."

"Who do these hidden rulers of the world think they are to form this kind of cabal?" asked Parry.

Noam Chomsky is one of a dying breed – a real liberal who still supports what used to be liberal principles.

He has consistently defended free speech, including when he asserted, "If you believe in freedom of speech, you believe in freedom of speech for views you don't like."

Professor Noam Chomsky defends Alex Jones/InfoWars against blacklisting by tech monopolies! <https://t.co/xS8Ny9dyqq>

— Alex Jones (@RealAlexJones) August 11, 2018

SUBSCRIBE on YouTube:

Follow on Twitter: Follow @PrisonPlanet

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/paul.j.watson.71>

Paul Joseph Watson is the editor at large of Infowars.com and Prison Planet.com.

Infowars has been banned by Facebook. Please support us by sharing this article on Facebook and breaking through the censorship!