Silicon Valley bakery claims it lost \$16,000 after Tesla placed order for 4,000 pies to 'celebrate Black History Month' then capriciously CANCELED at the last minute'

The Giving Pies in San Jose, California, are accustomed to working with big corporations like Meta, Google, Apple and Amazon. However, a recent order made by Tesla for 4,000 pies cost the local bakery around $16,000 after the clean energy company allegedly canceled the order all of a sudden at the last minute. In a post on Facebook titled 'How Tesla's actions hurt my small black women-owned business,' bakery owner Voahangy Rasetarinera explained the series of events.
